Milk Discussions Continue In Ottawa -- Producers Active

Government Bombarded by Various Dairymen's Associations on Decreased Subsidy

By Beatrice Carr.

The delegation appointed to go to Ottawa by the milk producers' meeting, has delayed the proposed trip in order to gather information and permit other branches to participate.

A reply to the telegram sent by Mr. James Wallage to Hon. J. G. Gardiner was received as follows:

"If a flat rate is decided on milk subsidy it would be somewhere between the summer and winter rate."

The same telegram was sent to Mr. W. W. Moore, secretary-manager of Montreal Milk Producers in Montreal. Mr. Moore answered by the following telegram:

"Replying your telegram anything less than 55 cents will not satisfy producers. Meetings are being held throughout this province and feeling against the reduction is intense."

Ban Shipments to U.S.

In the meantime Mr. Wallace and Mr. John Walsh visited the Dairymen's League and Sheffield Farms plants in Chateaugay, N.Y. They found large tank trucks are going daily to New York City where there is an acute shortage of milk. The price is $4.10 a cwt., and it is expected to increase to about $5.00. An official of Sheffield Farms Inc. stated that he had recently contacted 20 milk producers in Kensington, Que., who were prepared to ship to his plant. However, when he went to Ottawa to make arrangements, export permits were refused by the Department of Trade and Commerce. Threats were made that if any attempt to send milk over the Line was made, a general embargo on milk would be issued.

With reference to publicity for the case of the milk producers in the present dispute, contact was made with Mr. A. J. Lallemand, of International Publishing Company, Montreal. Mr. Lallemand replied on May 7 as follows:

"I am very much in sympathy with the farmers with regard to the very unfair treatment they are receiving from our Dominion Government. I firmly do believe that in view of the many promises made by your local Member of the House of Commons, Mr. Donald Black, during the course of his last campaign, that he should demand from his political authorities the treatment which the people of Chateauguay-Huntingdon are rightly entitled; otherwise, I am inclined to think serious misunderstanding and suffering will be the outcome.

"If I can be any assistance to the farmers and the people of the whole community in any way whatsoever, please do not hesitate in calling upon me."

Questions Agricultural Minister

In the House of Commons on May 2, Mr. J. A. Charlton, member for Brant, directed a question to the Minister of Agriculture: "Owing to representations made by the Milk Producers' Association and the increased costs of production, would the Minister not consider continuing throughout the summer months the winter rates of subsidy on milk?"

Hon. J. G. Gardiner replied: "It is just a seasonal reduction from 55 to 35 cents. It is hardly necessary for me to say that if there are to be seasonal subsidies there is no possibility of having the same subsidy in the summer as in the winter. To ask anyone to continue the winter subsidy into the summer months would be asking something illogical if we are to base the decision on production costs."

Mr. Graydon: "The Minister spoke of the costs of production in the summer months as compared with the winter months, but is it not a fact that the production costs this summer to the farmer will be higher than they have been other summers?"

Two Groups Interested

Mr. Gardiner: "That is a question that would have to be considered in arriving at a figure. There are two different groups of producers of whole milk. One is part of a group living close to cities, and this group place emphasis on the importance of winter production. They breed their stock and conduct their whole business with the idea of supplying milk at a time when costs are high. I understand that this group will not be satisfied with a flat rate throughout the whole year, so there has to be a discussion with both groups—those who want a higher winter rate and those who want a flat rate throughout the year. I have some doubt whether any decision would satisfy both groups."

Mr. Graydon: "You could increase both rates."

There the discussion ended.

On May 6 and 7 Ottawa felt some heavy pressure on behalf of the Canadian dairy farmer. The Ontario Milk Producers' League sent a delegation to interview Ministers and Department heads in protest against the decrease in subsidy at this time. The annual meeting of Milk Control Boards of Canada was in session and an interview was held with Donald Gordon, chairman of the Wartime Price Board, at which all provinces were represented.

To Reconsider Price Control

Mr. Gilbert McMillan of the Quebec Dairy Commission reports that the entire question of Dominion price control of fluid milk is to be reconsidered. Developments that may take place in the near future include the removal of the consumer subsidy and return of control of the fluid milk market to Provincial Boards.

It is foreseen that this will mean a rise in price of milk to consum-

'Dime Parade' Realizes $250

Valleyfield Legion To Hold Another Later

Despite the wet weather on Saturday, the "Dime Parade" sponsored by the Valleyfield Branch of the Canadian Legion in support of their Memorial Hall Fund, was successful to the extent of $250. This is only one-hundredth part of the total of $25,000, the sum considered to be needed for the plan in mind, but it is encouraging to the Legionnaires that the people did this much on such a day as Saturday was. They are indeed grateful to the people of Valleyfield for the response to their appeal and efforts.

It has been decided that another such "Dime Parade" will be held where the last one left off on Main Street, on Saturday, May 25. It is hoped that the weather man will put on his best smile and bring the sunshine to make this a clear warm day. The parade will start at 1 o'clock and will be in charge of members of the Legion. Posters will announce the event and loud speakers will be used to acquaint the people of the purpose of the "Dime Parade."

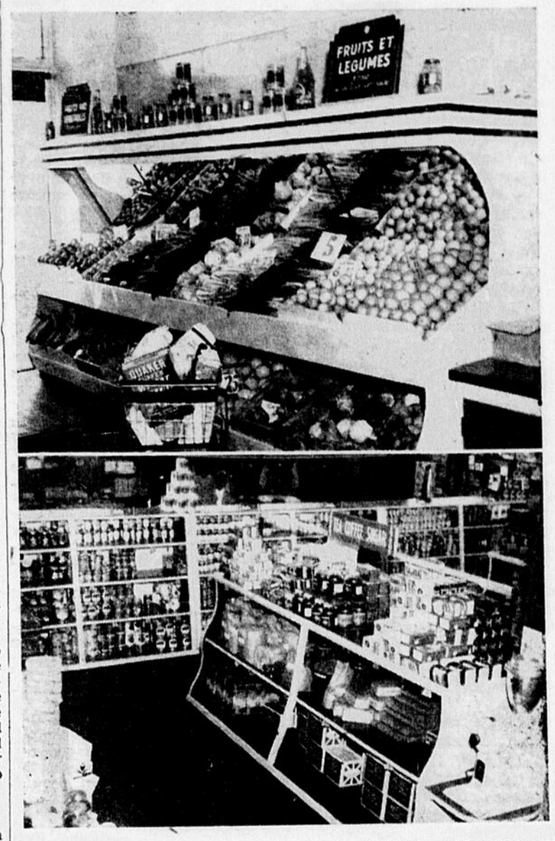

Has No Hall

Like so many other points, Valleyfield has no hall in which the Legion members can meet and no proper place where public meetings can be held. The Legion has been indebted to the city authorities and Montreal Cottons Ltd. for use of meeting places and they are very grateful, but they feel the time has come when a Memorial Hall should be erected and therefore are making every effort to raise the mony required to build such a hall. There has been a generous response to their appeal from many quarters, but they still have a long way to go before sufficient funds have been raised to make the plan a reality. Therefore, the citizens of Valleyfield and surrounding districts are urged to get behind this effort with their financial help and assistance. Much is owed to the boys who went out to fight the battles for all of us and it is little enough to do to contribute a few dollars to such a worthy cause. Contributions of any size will be gratefully received by the Valleyfield Branch of the Legion to help them realize their objective. Send them in now to the secretary or committee in charge of the fund. When you see the "Dime Parade" don't just pass it by—"Spare a dime for the Memorial Fund, Mister."

Fine New Self-Service Groceteria Dept. Opened By Pringle, Stark & Co.

At the right are two views of the new and most modern Self-Service Groceteria which has just been completed as a department of Pringle, Stark & Co.'s store. For several weeks past this great change has been taking place and a large portion of the store has been converted into this very latest style of self-service groceteria.

Display stands are all of the latest type with wide shelves and plenty of storage space to carry the very large stock of merchandise. The store itself is ideally situated for such a department and has high ceilings which give much air space so that there is not that stuffiness associated with many grocery stores. The amount of space allocated to the department allows for plenty of room for a large number of persons to shop in comfort.

Well Stocked Display Shelves

In the lower picture will be seen the shelves with their display of goods which gives one an idea that they are well stocked and the goods easily seen. The price tickets are of the hanger type, with clear figures and showing the prices quite plainly over the article.

The fruit stand shown in the upper picture is the most modern in the district. It is fitted with mirrors at the back, which have the effect of showing the vegetables and fruit off to good advantage. There is ample space for the display. As soon as they are available, fluorescent lighting fixtures will be installed in the overhead canopy so that plenty of lighting will be available. An elevator has been installed in the basement to bring the fruit and vegetables up from the basement to the department. All fruits and vegetables will be cleaned in the basement and prepared for the display stand, then brought up in the elevator.

Packaging Department

A packaging department has been set up in the basement and merchandise will be weighed and packed into suitable packages and placed on the display stands to replenish stocks as they decrease. This packaging will proceed all day long so that the stands will be kept well supplied.

The carriages and the shopping baskets are of the very latest design, the baskets being much deeper than ordinarily found in this type of store today. This allows for all requirements to be placed in the basket for checking at the checking counter. The checking stand is rounded at one end with a display stand at the back carrying cigarettes, tobacco, etc., and allows for fast checking of customers' orders. As soon as it becomes available a refrigerator for the storage of frozen foods is to be installed near the fruit stand and this type of goods will be carried.

Modern and Up-to-Date

The whole theme throughout this new department is along up-to-date and modern lines with the idea of giving the greatest possible service to the buying public and providing them with the fullest lines of merchandise at the lowest possible prices. Considerable expense has been gone to in order to make this the most modern self-service groceteria in the district. It is probable that no better store will be found outside of the larger cities.

Mr. N. E. Bourgon, who was formerly manager of the Dominion Stores at this point, is manager of this new department of Pringle, Stark & Co, and he brings with him a wide knowledge of the grocery business. To Pringle, Stark & Co. goes the credit of being the first store in Huntingdon to make such an after-the-war change in its business arrangements. It is certainly a wonderful improvement and must be seen to be fully realized.

Junior Pupils of High School Put on Splendid Concert

Capacity House Greets Young Performers With Encouragement

The Junior Concert, held under the auspices of Huntingdon Academy in the school auditorium, on Friday evening, was well attended and received by the capacity audience. It is a long time since so many people have attended one of these concerts and the attendance at this was certainly one that warmed the hearts of the staff and the pupils. The acts of the program were well carried through by the pupils of Grades 1 to 6 and no time was lost between acts so that the whole program went through in good time.

It would be very hard to single out any special part of the program as particularly outstanding, as all were very well carried out and the costumes were quite appropriate for each. There was evidence that much time had been spent in preparation of the pupils for their parts and in making the various costumes and the accessories. This was especially so in "Little Bo Peep and Little Boy Blue," "Belling the Cat," "The Wooden Soldiers" and "The Elves and the Shoemaker." In each of these either the whole or part required special costumes and accessories; in fact, it was these very things that helped to make the act.

Causes Many Laughs

"An Hour in School" by Grades 5 and 6 caused many a laugh at the antics of the pupils while their teacher was trying to have them on their best behaviour for the visitor to the school. The whole skit was well done. The songs by Grades 4, 5 and 6 girls at the beginning of the program, and by Grades 4, 5 and 6 boys, toward the end of the program, were quite well rendered. The Rhythm Band was a number that called for some praise as the young boys and girls certainly made a fine job of this number and also the encore which was asked for. Mending the shoes for the shoemaker, by the elves, made for lots of fun for the elves and a good deed done for the shoemaker; the audience also got many a laugh from the funny actions of the elves. Two acts by pupils of Grade 3, "Little Bo-Peep and Little Boy Blue" and "The Wooden Soldiers," brought forth great applause and they certainly deserved it. The opening recitation of "Welcome" by Lois Kyle and the closing recitation by Lois Tinker were added touches to a very fine program.

The selections by the Boys' Band were exceptionally well done and the band is showing a wonderful improvement from when last it was the privilege of the public to hear it. Much credit reflects on Mr. D. Moore, the bandmaster, and the boys themselves for the improvement shown and the fine contribution made to the program on Friday evening.

The Program

The following is the order of the program and the various acts:

Band, "O Canada"; recitation, "A Welcome," Lois Kyle; song, Grades 4, 5 and 6 Girls; Choral Speaking, "Little Bo-Peep and Little Boy Blue," Grade 3; dialogue, "Belling the Cat," Grade 1; drill, "The Wooden Soldiers," Grade 3; band; dialogue, "The Elves and the Shoemaker," Grade 4; intermission; Rhythm Band; band; dialogue, "An Hour in School," Grades 5 and 6; song, Grades 4, 5 and 6 Boys; closing recitation, Lois Tinker; band, "God Save the King."

The proceeds amounted to $78.33.

Mrs. C. G. Kingsmill, past president, in her talk, said that she felt she had gained more from her contacts with Red Cross than she had given it.

Makes Presentation

Mrs. J. M. Scott, on behalf of the Beauharnois Branch, presented Mrs. Kingsmill with a book in appreciation of her inspirational leadership of the Women's War Work Committee during several of the war years.

Mr. I. C. Watson, chairman of the Campaign Committee, spoke to the meeting about the current membership drive and urged that all support Red Cross as actively in the future as they have in the past.

Mrs. Willows, in her closing remarks, recalled that when the Beauharnois Branch was inaugurated September 13, 1939, Kirk Hall was placed at the disposal of the Red Cross. "Some 20,000 articles shipped to headquarters between September 1939 and January 1946 had gone out from Kirk Hall, which is indeed our Red Cross House." The hall is now open on the first and third Wednesdays of each month for the purpose of giving out and receiving work.

The hall was delightfully decorated with early spring blooms. The tastefully appointed tea table was centred with a glowing bowl of daffodils. The following ladies did the honors: Mrs. J. W. Kilgour, Mrs. Desgroseilliers, Mrs. R. Turnbull and Miss L. Gagnier. Members of the First Beauharnois Girl Guide Company served. These arrangements were carried out by Mrs M. Hill, chairman of the Entertainment Committee.

PERSONALITY BUILDER

"Summer must be around the corner!" say optimists "for look at the ice cream cones." It seems that every second youngster one meets on the street these days, is tackling one with his own particular technique. Some philosophers have a theory that one's handling of an ice cream cone is an indication of character and personality. —Val d'Or (Que.) North Star Miner.

Annual Convention W.I. Held at Dundee

Mrs. Franco Consiglio, Guest Speaker; Miss Walker, Demonstrator Also Present

The Chateauguay - Huntingdon Counties Women's Institutes met in convention in the United Church, Dundee, Que., on Friday, May 3. There was a good attendance at both sessions. Mrs. D. F. Orr, president, presided. Mrs. S. Cameron's very cordial words of welcome and the gracious response of Mrs. Roy Blair sent the convention off to a good start.

The financial statement read by the secretary-treasurer, Mrs. S. D. Cunningham, showed a balance on hand of $87.80. It was decided to continue membership for Barrie Memorial Hospital, and the obligation to the Huntingdon County Hospital is to be fulfilled.

The reports read by the presidents of the seven branches showed the combined membership now stands at 229. County conveners all gave splendid reports of work attempted and accomplished. Much interest was taken in School and Country Fairs, Farm Forums and other worthwhile work. Seeds were sent to Britain by some. Agriculture has been stressed in all branches, and rightly so, for it is urgently needed at the present time. Boxes and parcels were sent overseas and to the needy families, donations of quilts, second-hand clothing and much work done for the Red Cross, hospital beds in use in the community have been looked after, donations of jams and jellies, etc., have been sent to the Barrie Memorial Hospital. Obligations of the Q.W.I. are ditty bags, self-denial fund, A.C.W.W., F.W.I.C., Peace Garden. The self-denial fund this year amounted to $845.69, and ditty bags, $554. The W.I. is to try and organize Junior W.I.

Presents Address

Mrs. Thompson presented the Provincial President's address, which urged ways to improve the cause and assist in all ways to help build our country. It was also recommended that the W.I. would sponsor girls' camps, youth hostels, women on school boards, support fight against V.D., and report any house for sale or rent to Miss Dresser, Lennoxville, Que.

Mrs. Orr spoke on canned fruits and saving of flour, referring back to pioneer days when all canning and baking was done in the home. She concluded by saying, "Help to win the Peace by not buying any more than you need."

The afternoon session opened with the Salute to the Flag and "O Canada." Special speaker, Mrs. F. Consiglio, spoke on the subject, "Today's Frontiers." The work of the pioneer women is being threatened. Our work is not only to work for others, but we have to work for ourselves. Study and try to understand the other nations in the world. Learn to share your opinions and share the opinions of others. Know your country and love it. The liquor question is the biggest problem we have to face in this post-war world. This civilization that has been established for us is pleasant, our target today is not in carving our house but saving our home. If Hitler had worked toward the advancement of mankind, how advanced we could be today. Home life is the foundation of society—let the schools and homes get together and work out a solution to save our homes and young people.

Miss Walker, of Macdonald College, expressed pleasure in being able to attend the convention. All present were grateful to these ladies for arranging to be present. Special music was rendered by Mrs. Wood and much enjoyed by all.

Answers Questionnaire

Mrs. Smallman answered the questionnaire and explained quite clearly many phases of Institute work, which Mrs. Smallman with her varied experience in W.I. work is so capable of doing. A discussion followed regarding the exhibit for Ormstown Fair. Articles for exhibition are to be in on Wednesday, June 5, each branch president to be responsible for articles going in. Mrs. D. Orr, Mrs. Jas. Lang and Mrs. Sadler are to be in charge. A public speaking contest will be held in Ormstown High School on the afternoon of May 23.

The president, Mrs. D. F. Orr, whose term of office expired this year, said she deemed it a privilege and pleasure to have been president of the County Association, and thanked all for their support and co-operation. Mrs. Smallman expressed thanks to the retiring president.

The new president, Mrs. Jas. Lang of Howick, was asked to take the chair, and in her remarks she said, "Live up to our Creed and we won't go far astray. It is the small things that create differences, in the big things of life we are one."

County Officers

Mrs. Reddick read the County Officers slate for 1946-47, as follows: Hon. Pres., Mrs. D. F. Orr, Hemmingford; Pres., Mrs. Jas. Lang, Howick; 1st Vice-president, Mrs. W. Sadler, Ormstown; 2nd Vice-Pres., Miss Frances Turner, Huntingdon; Sec.-treas., Mrs. S. D. Cunningham, Hemmingford; War Service, Mrs. W. Blair, Franklin Centre. Conveners: Agriculture, Mrs. R. J. Blair, Franklin Centre; Welfare and Health, Mrs. J. Reddick, Aubrey; Education, Mrs. Cecil Bryson, Ormstown; Home Economics, Mrs. E. Gardiner, Dundee; National and International Relations, Mrs. F. Bruce, Huntingdon; Publicity, Mrs. M. Gruer, Riverfield.

Mrs. Alfred Greig read the resolutions. The convention will be held in Hemmingford in 1947. A delicious dinner and supper were served by the Dundee ladies to the members and guests, numbering about 100. The meeting extended appreciation of their hospitality and also thanked the congregation of the Dundee Church for the use of their building which made the convention possible. The singing of "God Save the King" brought the annual convention to a close.

Honour Roll Fund Still Increasing

$383.00 Now Raised; Drive Getting Into Full Swing

A very good response has been made to the circular letters that have been sent out with regard to making contributions to the Huntingdon Academy Memorial Tablet and Honor Roll. The fund has soared to almost the $400 mark and should not be long in reaching the half-way. It is very encouraging to those responsible for the project to find such a generous response from the people of Huntingdon district and it is hoped that those who have not already contributed, will do so in the very near future so that the order for the bronze tablet may be sent in as soon as possible.

The drive is now only just under way and it will be more intense from now on as the all-out effort goes into effect to raise the sum of $1,000 required to cover the cost of the Memorial Tablet and Honor Roll. Only the surface has been scratched as far as contributions are concerned and it is felt that there are many more persons who will contribute to this fund, but that they keep putting it off. The urge is now that all those who are intending to make a contribution, for them to do so at the earliest possible oportunity. The school year has only just over one more month to go and it would be nice to have all the money on hand by the close of that year and to have the order on its way by that time. The tablet could be made and erected during the summer holidays and the unveiling could possibly take place at the opening exercises in the fall. No date has been mentioned for such unveiling, but with the fund assured, it is possible that a date could be set.

Put Best Effort into Campaign

Now that the fund is gradually reaching the half-way mark, why not all put their best effort into seeing that the whole amount of the objective is raised within the time mentioned above.

The following have contributed toward the fund during the past week: Mrs. Neil Henderson, Sr., $5; Mr. and Mrs. Norman McCrimmon, $5; Rev. J. B. Maclean, D.D., $5; Miss Phyllis Nussey, $3; Mr. and Mrs. John Chambers, $2; Mr. Bret Lunan (additional), $5; Mrs. H. R. Graham, $1; Mrs. J. C. Moore, $10; Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Ferry, $5; Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ferns, $5; Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Sparrow, $10; Mrs. C. W. Thomas, $5; Dr. and Mrs. H. E. Purcell, $5; Mr. George Harrigan, $2; Dr. F. G. McCrimmon, $5. The total received to date amounts to $383.00.

St. Andrew's Fetes Members Armed Forces, Unveils Roll

Banquet Held Saturday—Unveiling Honour Roll Sunday Morning

St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, Huntingdon, sponsored a "Welcome Home" party on Saturday evening in the basement rooms of the church, for those of its members who have served in the armed forces. Unfortunately, many of those who should have been present were prevented from doing so as they have moved to a distance since receiving their discharges from the forces. However, the hall was filled by a jovial gathering and a very enjoyable time was spent.

The wet weather was not very conducive to attendance, but nevertheless a large number from a distance were present and joined in the activities. There were some veterans of the First World War and a goodly number of the Second World War, including one woman member, together with a number of relatives, friends and members of the church.

The banquet served was a most delicious one and there was plenty of food for everyone and to spare. A provender was given by the various members of the church and added that home cooking touch that is so much enjoyed by the returned veterans. After the usual toasts and a brief period of social intermingling, the evening came to a close.

Honor Roll Unveiled

At the regular morning service on Sunday, at St. Andrew's, the period was devoted to the unveiling of an Honor Roll, containing 62 names of those who served and including four names of those who made the supreme sacrifice. The roll was a specially engraved one supplied by the Federal Government and framed in an oak frame. Mr. Chester Oney read the name appearing on the Honor Roll and Mr. Harold Bickford did the unveiling. Both are elders of the church and both are veterans of World War I, thus they were especially fitted to take this part in the ceremony. The church was well filled for this special occasion and showed the interest which is manifest in whatever concerns those who did their bit to preserve civilization.

Rev. J. B. Maclean, D.D., gave an address of appreciation for the services of those whose names appeared on the Honor Roll and offered prayers in memory of those who fell: Harold Kelly, Robert Cluff, Douglas Hayter, Ross Cameron. His address was most appropriate for the occasion and to the solemnity of the service.

Opportunity is Knocking Your Help is Necessary

Men, are you answering the call? Men, do you realize the opportunity that is knocking at your door today? Men, arise to the occasion; lay a solid foundation upon which can be built a structure that will go down into posterity with admiration. Chaotic conditions of the universe today demand a definite acceptance of the challenge given to the churches, to give a positive leadership, and build for the future. Spiritual emphasis is a foundation upon which solidity can be created. The church alone supplies the means and the ingredients that will develop the spiritual life. During the past three months the leaders of the church have been presenting to their people, the demands of a reconsecration of life and development of a more spiritual being.

Money is required to place the churches on a financial basis, by which they can face their problems and carry into effect their policies that will give to the people, peace, comfort and hope. Few men, and more women have carried the tremendous load over the ages. It is now the duty; it is now imperative, and there is now a demand that the men arise to the occasion, in answer to the present challenge of the church. You can not stand idly by and let the other fellow do it. You are an important cog in the great machinery that is required to run smoothly and put over the appeal of the three big church organizations across Canada today, viz., the Anglican, the Presbyterian and the United. Those in control are issuing their messages, are giving their leadership, have studied the situation and they are now advancing that the church may hold her place and give her administrations for the consolation and solidity of the people.

Men, do not turn a deaf ear to this appeal. Utilize your God given talents to lay the foundation of the churches today, that they may so build, that the generations that are to follow will honor the names of the people of 1946, who have answered the challenge. Men, this is your job.

The Hospital Needs Your Help

THE response to the original drive to set up a hospital in Huntingdon was an excellent one. Through it the Huntingdon County Hospital became established. That the hospital has become an institution of value to the community has been proven many, many times since its foundation. While there are some who have only discouraging words to pass about the hospital, the majority are now of the belief that Huntingdon should have had a hospital years before it did. Those who have had occasion to use its services are loud in their praise of the treatment and attention they received. Thus the hospital is gradually building a sound and solid reputation for itself.

But the point of it is that the hospital is not able to carry itself on its reputation alone and the income from patients is not sufficient to carry it along without other help. As was pointed out right at the beginning, getting the hospital started was only a beginning and that it would need all the help possible for several years after. A large number of people have continued to help the hospital financially through regular contributions and the annual memberships, but this number has fallen off considerably since the first initial drive was made. It has tended to fall off each year since and with the rising cost of supplies needed by the hospital, the financial burden is greatly added to. We are therefore appealing on the part of the hospital to everyone in Huntingdon County, or friends who live at a distance, to send in their annual membership fees or other contributions at an early date to the Hospital Board.

The Provincial Government through the Public Health Dept. has been very generous in making grants to the hospital, but if proper service is to be given all who may need it, it must have the help of the membership fees and other contributions. There should be no falling off in this direction, if anything it should be increased. The hospital is well staffed and well equipped and it must always remain that way. It is providing a service that the people of the county have come to rely upon. Therefore its financial construction must be kept solid at all times and it must be able to balance its budget at the end of each year. Any going into the RED will show that the people of the county are falling down on the job they have undertaken. Founding an institution of this kind is one thing, and keeping it operating in good condition is another. The obligation is as great for one as the other and we are appealing to the generosity of the people to see that the obligation is met fully and at all times. We know they will show their appreciation in the weeks and months to come by sending in their membership fees and contributions to keep the coffers of the hospital in good financial condition.

It Is Encouraging

THE grand attendance at the School Concert on Friday evening must have been most encouraging to the Staff and to the pupils who took the parts. It was probably one of the largest crowds that has attended a school function for many a long day and we believe they were rewarded for their attendance in the concert that was presented. Those responsible for the various acts had taken great pains to see that the costumes were just right and each presented a pleasing appearance from the audience's point of view.

One thing that was very noticeable and which we believe shows the results of the encouragement it has received of late, was the band. The recent list of contributions that have been sent in by various people shows that the people really do appreciate the band and see the advantages that the boys who belong to this band have. All these things need encouragement from the parents and guardians and the friends of the students, as well as the support of the school board and the staff. Signs of appreciation work a marvelous effect upon the staff in giving them impetus to carry on what they are doing. This enthusiasm is passed on to the students and the whole set-up gets renewed life. Give praise where it is due and reap the reward. We are of the opinion and we believe it is general that the band has made remarkable progress of late and it is fast developing into a first class boys' band. The bass drum was a little shattering for an inside concert and possibly something could be done at future inside concerts to tone this down. For outside work this would be fine, but when inside a little lighter beat would be preferable. One selection played about midway through the programme was very well done and was pleasing to listen to. We would say that it was a rather difficult piece to play as the tempo changed quite suddenly in parts and that different sections were required to be more pronounced than others at times. Co-ordination of the players was there and the piece in our opinion was the best played of the evening.

We believe that the school could go into greater effort and stage even better things in way of concerts and plays that would draw the support of the people. We also believe that the people would appreciate such effort and that attendances would tend to soar rather than lessen.

Valuators Should Take Care

IT is noticed from the report of the Town Council meeting that the valuators for this year have been appointed. Actually this is a very important assignment and needs much care and consideration as well as research. A few years ago the whole town was revalued for assessment purposes and many properties were changed in the assessments, some higher and some lower. At that time there were numerous objections to the assessments and the council made a large number of revisions—some up and some down, mostly the latter. When the assessments were being made for 1945, the fact that these adjustments had been made by the council, was not taken into consideration by the valuators. Consequently, there were many complaints lodged with the council regarding the change in assessment of various properties.

From representations made to the council, it would appear that the taxpayers were also to blame in not attending to the revision of their assessments at the time notice was given of same. They relied on what the valuators told them that their assessment was not changed. On receipt of the assessment notices it was found in a number of cases that the assessment was higher than the year previous, even though no improvements had been made and also in view of the fact that the council had made a downward revision the previous year. It was discovered also that the valuators had used the roll that had been made up at the time of revaluation, that they had not taken into consideration the changes made by the council and simply placed the assessment at the value given on this roll. Owing to the fact that most of taxpayers had allowed their complaint to lapse until after the time given for revision, the council were unable to make the adjustments required.

With such an important job on hand and one that concerns so many, we say that the valuators should take great care in doing their work and make sure that when making the valuation that they have taken everything into consideration and that they have made a review of the changes allowed in the last roll. With many new buildings being completed in town care should be taken in seeing that the valuation is properly adjudged so as to avoid any possible resentment on the part of the owner that he has been assessed unjustly. New buildings today are costing much more because the labour and materials are priced high, these are matters that should be carefully considered when making an assessment for taxes. New houses look much better than old ones, but oftentimes the value of the old house is much greater than that of the new. Different methods of construction are used today in order to cut the cost of buildings.

When the valuator is making his rounds, we believe he will consider notifying the occupant of the premises that he is making the valuation for assessment purposes and the taxpayer should make it his business to know what is being done. When the time comes for making adjustments, the taxpayer should be interested enough to check his standing in order to know whether he believes a just assessment has been made or not. Don't blame the council for your own neglect, the law provides for means of adjustment, the council can only act within the meaning of the law.

Important to Farmers

ONE of these days you will be receiving in the mail or from your local school teacher the annual June 1 survey card from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. It is of vital importance at this particular time that every farmer in the country who receives one of these cards should co-operate with the Bureau and provide, immediately and accurately, the information requested.

Reports from overseas tell of increasing starvation conditions, not only in former enemy countries, but among liberated populations as well. Canada is sparing no effort to assist in alleviating the effects of famine in these stricken areas. Without accurate facts concerning her current live stock population and acreages sown to various crops, Canada would be like a wholesaler or manufacturer who is presented with a large order for goods but is unable to fill it because he has not anticipated the order, taken stock, nor made any arrangements for storage, transportation and distribution of the goods. It is to insure Canada against being found in this embarrassing position that the Bureau needs an overwhelming response to the current appeal for information.

Only the Canadian farmer can supply the essential data on crops and live stock. Without these data the quantity of food now available cannot be determined satisfactorily and there would be no basis for forecasting what may be available in the future. Without accurate facts regarding forthcoming supplies, export agreements cannot be safely entered into nor can the necessary arrangements for storage, transportation and distribution of the products be made. To procure these facts the co-operation of each and every one is essential.

OTTAWA —(CP)— One of the most touchy tasks of the House of Commons ever is called upon to face—that of parliamentary redistribution after every decadal census—may be solved with a minimum of argument if the government's present plan is adopted.

The plan, which must have the approval of both the Canadian and British houses, is to amend the British North America Act to permit addition of 10 seats to the 245-seat commons. This would mean all provinces would hold their present representation or improve it, except Saskatchewan, which would lose only one seat.

Under the B.N.A. Act, representation for Quebec is set at 65, with other provinces represented in proportion to their population as compared with Quebec. Population shifts since the last redistribution have been from western to central provinces, and under this system Saskatchewan would lose four seats and Manitoba three, according to the 1941 census figures.

Redistribution, usually undertaken shortly after each census, was postponed until after the war and western members were expected to raise the argument that the war-time population movement out of the west has reversed since the 1941 census, making the figures then established no longer applicable and not a fair basis of redistribution.

While there is little likelihood so contentious a measure as redistribution would pass the Commons without heated debate, even under the government's new proposal, the plan may temper the debate—slated for late in the session.

It is not proposed to change that part of the B.N.A. Act which allots Prince Edward Island a minimum of four members and the Yukon one, regardless of population. This system would be to divide the remaining 250 seats into the total population of Canada less the populations of P.E.I., Yukon and Northwest Territories. The quotient then would be divided into the population of each province and the result would be the number of members each province would be entitled to elect.

Quebec would gain seven seats, British Columbia two and Ontario and Nova Scotia one each. Saskatchewan would lose only one and the remaining provinces would hold their present representation.

Actual representation, according to the last census, would then be as follows (present representation in brackets): Nova Scotia 13 (12); Prince Edward Island 4 (4); New Brunswick 10 (10); Quebec 72 (65); Ontario 83 (82); Manitoba 17 (17); Saskatchewan 20 (21); Alberta 17 (17); British Columbia 18 (16); and Yukon 1 (1).

However, it is unlikely this change will take place during the present parliamentary session. By the time the measure went through the British House, was sweated out in committee here, and the constitution amended, it would be almost impossible to finish it without delaying the end of the session.

The monster United States coal strike, crippling drastically the economy of Canada's southern neighbor, was beginning to make itself felt similarly in Canada last week. Officials in the capital expressed alarm at the effects of the strike on this country's domestic and industrial front.

Only government steps to conserve the dwindling stockpiles of soft coal orders limiting deliveries to consumers other than householders to 10 days' supply and protecting hospitals and institutions by guaranteeing them a sufficient supply to last until June 30. However, officials of both Canada's major railways conferred with government authorities early this week to consider a more vigorous step.

The proposal was that Canada follow the lead of the United States in limiting passenger and freight railway traffic.

U.S. freight shipments were cut to the "bare necessities of life," and passenger traffic was reduced 25 per cent. In Canada this resulted in stoppage of shipments of sulphite pulp to U.S. points from the lakehead and blocked the heavy lumber shipments out of British Columbia.

Although strikers and coal companies declared a fortnight's truce, this was not expected to ease the Canadian situation. E. J. Brunning, coal controller, said the truce would bring little, if any coal to Canada. Meanwhile, officials tried to keep coal-hungry Ontario and Quebec industries supplied by shipments from Alberta and Nova Scotia mines, which normally produce less than half the Dominion's consumption quota.

Out of the confusion of 2,400 designs, Canada is gradually acquiring a new, distinctive Canadian flag. The joint Commons-Senate flag committee last week seemed to be focussing its attention on three.

Number one is the familiar red ensign, with a gold maple leaf replacing the present coat-of-arms in the fly. Number two, a diagonally-divided red and gold affair, with a green maple leaf in the centre. The third was more complicated—a white ensign with a red maple leaf in a red circle in the fly and bearing four diagonal blue stripes.

While committee members contined to stand on their own views—many and varied—observers explained that the actual choice might be a composite of several good designs, altered, if necessary, to achieve a tasteful proportion.

After being delayed by a handful of opponents in the Commons, the bill enabling the $1,250,000,000 loan to Britain passed through the Commons last week by an overwhelming 167-6 majority and shot through the Senate to await royal assent before becoming effective. Main reason for its abrupt passage through the Upper House was to beat a vote in the United States senate on the $3,750,000,000 U.S. loan to Britain. Passage of the U.S. bill also was required to make the Canadian loan effective.

OPINIONS Of Others

ADVERTISING SELF-ABSORBING BUT NON-ADVERTISER REALLY PAYS

In former editorials we have dealt with some aspects of newspaper advertising in which we have sought to introduce some facts which go to refute conclusions of some Farm Forums that the consumer bears the cost or that even the retailer shares in this apparent overhead. We have maintained that intelligent, legitimate newspaper advertising is a self-absorbing, self-liquidating asset. We have shown that paid-for advertising leads to mass production through inviting wider sales, which in turn lead to lower costs for consumers. A good example was given in the case of Hydro, a consistent advertiser. Their story is one of greatly lowered costs in both goods and services and a tremendous increase in better living standards. Their case admits of no argument. It is right before us in our daily lives.

But in search of an example to bring out the principle of the self-absorbing features of advertising we were aided by a local farmer, a member of the Farm Federation and of a Farm Forum. He gives a striking illustration of how he used money wisely to increase production and turn unproductive land into an active asset. He drained a field that for two decades and more had yielded little or nothing. It was part of a property worth $200 an acre. Since draining he has had annual, productive, cash crops that are wiping out former deficits. His investment, we observe, was self-absorbing, self-liquidating. That is exactly the case of advertising; increased production, greater returns, better living.

Now who really bears the cost of advertising? We suggest it is the man who is a non-advertising merchant. He pays and pays as his overhead goes up and his sales volume goes down as his advertising competitors get the business. Another who pays is the non-ad-reading customer who buys blindly, fails to read legitimate ads and gets stuck with inferior, non-advertised products for which he pays as much or more and then has to buy all over again. Without being specific, we can point to many cases to prove this principle. The real, wide-awake merchandiser who advertises regularly is selling in volume the best goods obtainable and at a lower cost than his non-advertising competitors and widens his clientele day by day. He earns their confidence and trade through legitimate newspaper advertising.—Times & Guide.

It's that brisk flavour that makes Lipton's the most popular tea in the world. Change to Lipton's the tea with that lively, brisk flavour.

What Every GO-AHEAD FARMER Should Know . . .

QUESTIONS & ANSWERS

Today, scores of farm improvements can be undertaken by farmers even though they may not have the ready cash.

How?

By borrowing under the Farm Improvement Loans Act from the Bank of Montreal.

The Farm Improvement Loan Plan is too detailed to set out in full, but here are some typical questions about these new loans and the answers to them:—

Q. What are Farm Improvement Loans?
A. They are advances authorized under the Farm Improvement Loans Act for the assistance of farmers who want to make their farms more productive, more profitable, more comfortable and convenient. These loans are obtainable at the special loan rate of 5% simple interest.

Q. How much can I borrow?
A. Up to $3,000, depending on your requirements for farm improvement.

Q. For how long can these loans run?
A. Generally speaking, for longer periods than have hitherto been possible. In certain cases, repayment may be spread over as many as ten years.

Q. How do I repay?
A. By monthly, quarterly, semi-annual or annual instalments . . . the terms are flexible and depend on your particular requirements . . . they can be adjusted to meet your convenience and individual circumstances.

Q. For what purpose can I get a loan?
A. For any of those mentioned in the check list in this folder and for numerous others. Like other farmers, you have your own particular plans and problems and we, at the Bank of Montreal, will be glad of the opportunity of working them out with you.

Q. Are there any other bank charges besides interest?
A. No . . . except for the interest, there is no fee or service charge of any kind made by the Bank.

Q. Is it true that a loan can save me money?
A. Yes. By enabling you to improve your production and by assisting you to install labour-saving equipment, a Farm Improvement Loan can actually earn money for you. Furthermore, it can make it possible for you to take discounts by buying for cash — a saving that is in many cases more than enough to cover the interest charge.

Q. How do I go about getting a loan?
A. Call on the manager of your nearest B of M branch. You will receive a cordial reception and will find a genuine desire to assist you. Naturally, your affairs are discussed in the strictest confidence and you need have no hesitation in "laying your cards on the table".

These questions and answers are taken from the Bank of Montreal's folder, "Quiz for a Go-Ahead Farmer". A copy is yours for the asking at your nearest B of M branch.

EGGS

"Sunshine in sealed packages", that is what eggs have been called. Can you imagine the plight of the homemaker and the chaos of the kitchen should our hens suddenly go on strike? Many homemakers from Great Britain know the difficulties and have had to face the problem during war years, when egg supplies were so limited, of preparing the family's favourite dishes without eggs. However, they have expressed their appreciation for Canada's contribution of dried eggs, which enabled them to treat their families occasionally to the old time dishes.

Eggs are a versatile, concentrated and economical food. They may be served at any meal, either by themselves or in a wide variety of combinations. There is an old saying—"eat eggs and live long"—which aptly describes their beneficial qualities.

Eggs are a perishable food. To maintain their original quality egss should be properly stored. Keep them in a clean, cool, dry, well-ventilated place. The temperature should never be above 60°F, and preferably around 45°F. Temperature also plays an important role in successful egg cookery. A low even heat gives a palatable, tender product, which is easily digested.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture, say that left-over egg whites will keep for several days if thightly covered and stored in a cool place. However, never allow them to freeze. They may be used in sauces, icings, meringue toppings, for pies and puddings, whips, souffles and angel food cake. Left-over egg yolks may be hard cooked by dropping them into simmering salted water for 15 minutes. They may then be sieved and added to sauces, French dressing or used to garnish a salad.

When cooked, sprinkle with grated cheese, crease through the centre with a knife and fold over. Serve immediately. Six servings.

An upside down meat loaf is an eye-appealing and palate-pleasing means of affording a party touch for week-end hospitality without infringing too greatly on your week's ration. To achieve such a goal, line the bottom of a greased baking dish with slices of cooked sweet potato, lightly sprinkled with brown sugar. Top with your very best mixture of ground meat (veal with pork or beef makes a good combination) artfully seasoned and strategically extended with crumbs and egg. When baked, turn upside down on serving platter and garnish with some vegetable greenery. As fat saved from meat cookery assumes a real significance these days, sausages are suggested for Monday to help you balance supply and usage. From the pound purchase you will be assured of a tasty dinner, as well as some extras to add a spark to a breaklast menu. While there's still an "R" in the month, an oyster stew will fit well into the meatless day pattern of Tuesday. For complete satisfaction accompany it with crisp crackers, strips of raw carrots, turnip and celery, and follow it with that favorite dessert you've been hesitating to have because it seemed a bit too much after the usual dinner. Middle of the week purchase is one pound of round steak. Half of this can be minced for Wednesday's meat patties. And these can be given that "something different" in flavor and texture by combining grated carrot with the seasoned meat. For Thursday, the rest of the round steak is scheduled to appear, along with unrationed kidney, in a succulent steak and kidney pie. You can ease the fat situation by exchanging its traditional pastry lid for a light biscuit one. An egg scallop is satisfying fare for Friday and is a quick trick if you combine mushroom soup with cooked macaroni and alternate it with sliced hard cooked eggs in a casserole . Cover with crumbs, oven heat until bubbling and browned, and partner it with some colorful vegetables. Lamb chops make a grand finale to the week's eating and go well with baked orange halves, scalloped potatoes and baked beets. The two remaining tokens will be useful to augment Saturday's purchase if you are in a convivial mood or to lay away for a roast day.

Q.—I know that some canning sugar coupons have become valid. When will the others become valid?

A.—Five sugar-preserves coupons which may be used to purchase sugar for canning became valid on May 2. The second group of five coupons, S17 to S21 inclusive, become valid on July 4.

Q.—Do I have to use my canning sugar coupons now or can I keep them until the fall?

A.—You may use the sugar-preserves coupons which have been declared valid for home canning at any time. These coupons will remain valid until after the regular canning season.

Q.—I thought that 80 fluid ounces of maple syrup could be purchased for one sugar-preserves coupon, but my grocer said that this had been changed on May 1 and only 40 ounces could be purchased. Was he right?

A.—No. Your grocer has made a mistake. The coupon value for maple syrup will not change until after May 31. At that time the value will revert to the usual 40 fluid ounces per coupon.

Q.—When the landlord raised the rent without permission and the Board ordered him to lower it why does the Board not get a refund for the tenant?

A.—If the landlord did not make a refund you may sue in the Civil Courts for recovery of the excess payments which have been made above the lawful rental. If you are still in possession of the accommodation you could apply excess payments against future rent. We point out, however, that it is as much of an offense for a tenant to pay more than maximum rental as it is for a landlord to charge more.

Q.—My grocer charges over ceiling prices for many items in his store. Two weeks ago he was charging 80c a lb. for bacon. Why is he not checked up for these dreadful prices? It has been going on for a long time.

A.—The reason he was not checked up was because someone like yourself did not report it... the prices you quote in your letter are certainly over the ceiling and as you have given us his name and address, we will check his prices at once. The only way to stamp out black market activities is to report them to the proper authorities. Thank you for sending us this information.

MORE LONG DISTANCE CALLS THAN IN WARTIME!

JUST two years ago we were serving 975,000 telephones.

There are now 120,000 more telephones and as a result Long Distance calling has steadily increased even though the war is over. Actually the volume of calling is now about 100% higher than when the war began.

That's why it is so helpful when you observe the proper sequence, as shown below, in making Long Distance calls.

We are building new lines and new switchboards but it will take some time to get them into use. In the meantime we'll appreciate your help and understanding, especially if your call is delayed.

WHEN YOU PLACE a Long Distance Call...

FIRST, give the operator the name of the distant city...

THEN, the telephone number of your party...

THEN, when the operator asks it, your own telephone number.

If you don't know the distant telephone number, please make a note of it for future use when you hear the operator repeat it.

Maple Leaf Grange

Mr. Clifford McGee spoke on the subject of "Pasture Improvement" at the Maple Leaf Grange, on May 7. He explained the difference between permanent pasture and rotated pasture. For localities with waste land that cannot be included in rotation crops, the permanent pasture plan can be successfully operated. Special commercial fertilizers according to type of soil are required. Special mixtures of grass seeds 20 start proper growth of plants that will continue to produce throughout the years. To commence 500 pounds of fertilizer per acre and after third years from 300 to 350 pounds per acre annually. To operate a permanent pasture successfully a routine grazing program must be followed, suitable division by fences and alternate grazing at about three weeks intervals.

Questioned as to danger of winter killings, Mr. McGee said the same treatment is required as with alfalfa. With permanent pasture you should not let the cattle on after September, as a month's growth is required to hold the snow.

Mr. McGee announced a contest for barley growing by the Dominion Brewery Association. It is hoped that ten from this district will take part and entries are to be made by June 1. Contestant buys own seed and sows three acres of barley. Forty bushels are to be prepared for inspection in fall and a sample of two pounds sent to the laboratory for analysis. All prize-winners will be given two bushels of No. 1 O.A.C. 21 registered barley seed. Cash prizes range from $75; fifteen $25 prizes and five $10 prizes. Mr. McGee will give further information on personal inquiry.

An amusing monologue was given by Mrs. Hugh Cameron, president, Dundee Women's Institute; Habitant Selections by Albert Fraser were much appreciated, as were the guitar selections and vocalizing of Harold Arthur. Vocal solo, "An Old Refrain," by Mrs. E. Salter, and song by Grange, "Stay on the Farm, Boys," completed the program.

The meeting was in charge of Mrs. George Paul, lecturer, who thanked all those who contributed to the program. She announced that the next meeting would be honored by the official visit of the District Deputy Master, Mr. Roy Jarvis, and Juvenile Deputy, Mrs. Jarvis, of Malone, N.Y.

Milk Discussion

ers. The payment of Family Allowance will cushion this increase for the lower income group. If the price of milk is not allowed to rise to the full market level some readjustment of subsidies through the Provincial Boards may be considered.

Mr. McMillan also attended the meeting of International Milk Control Boards held in Montreal the same week. Delegates attended from 13 states and all Canadian provinces. There was unanimous agreement that fluid milk was everywhere in very short supply and in United States the price is considerably higher than in Canada.

The subject of obtaining supplies of milk for New England States from Canada was seriously discussed. If this market can actually be made available for Canadian farmers along the border, prospects for the future will indeed be much improved—provided that a reasonable stability can be assured.

* * *

Political Importance

That milk is of paramount political importance at the present time was further demonstrated in the Senate when the Bill to remove the ban on oleomargarine was defeated. It is understood that there was a heavy lobby by the packing interests to promote the passage of this legislation and there was a good deal of doubt for a time as to the outcome. The storm in the House of Commons over the milk subsidy, 12½% rise in machinery costs and the beef dispute may have conveyed a warning to the honorable Senators. When the house is on fire it is not wisdom to add cottonseed oil to the flames.

* * *

Replying to the telegram sent by James Wallace, Mr. Donald Black, M.P., assured him that he would do all in his power to further the interests of milk producers in this district. It is expected that a delegation will go to Ottawa this week to present the views of dairymen.

Correction—An item published in this column the past week and referring to a visit of Mr. Clarence Cowan should have read as follows: "Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cowan visited over Sunday at the home of his aunt, Miss Mary Ann Sadler."

Mother's Day Service was observed in St. Paul's United Church, on Sunday morning, when the pupils of the Sunday school led the service of worship with Miss Shirley McEwen and Donald Walker reading the scripture lessons and Gerald Duncan telling the Mother's Day story. All took their parts most creditably. A choir of Mothers led in the music, Mrs. Harkness singing a solo.

The Baptismal service which for years has been a feature of Mother's Day service, was quite unique in that all the babies christened were cousins: Margaret Jean Bryson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Bryson; Anita Janet Bryson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bryson and Shirley Janet Sproule, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Sproule (née Hilda Bryson).

Change in Show Time

As most of the points surrounding Huntingdon are now working on Daylight Saving Time, the management of the O'Connor Theatre has decided to operate the shows at 8 p.m. on weekdays and Sunday evening and at 2 o'clock on Sunday afternoon, Daylight Saving Time. When the town first went on the fast time, the show was made one-half hour later in order to accommodate those on slow time, but this is not now necessary.

Firemen Get Two Calls Past Week

At about 8.35 on Wednesday evening the fire brigade was called to a rather stubborn chimney fire at the home of Mr. Gordon Smail, on King Street. The chimney was one of the offset type and had become blocked with creosote for about three feet. It was in this mass that the fire was concentrated and no efforts of the firemen could put it out. Chimney sticks were used to no avail and it remained for the firemen to dig out and pound out the mass. A hole was cut through the wall into the chimney and one near the roof in order to remove the mass. During this time the smoke was coming out through the walls of the house making it appear that the whole house was on fire. After working until 11.25, the fire was got under control with very little damage resulting. Another chimney fire occurred at a rented house on King Street belonging to Mr. Lanframboise, on Saturday at about 1.10 p.m. The fire in the chimney was quite bad, but no water was used and no damage to house resulted.

Correction

In the report of the meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary of the Canadian Legion which appeared in this column the past week, it was stated that a number had not paid their dues for 1946-47; this should have read 1945-46, that is for the current year. Due to an error in the copy, this mistake occurred.

Red Cross Campaign Soon

The Red Cross Work Rooms are now closed and the equipment loaned by different individuals has been returned to them. The officers and executive of the local branch wish to thank all those who helped to carry on the work, in this manner, with especial reference to the Town of Huntingdon for the use of the room, lighted, heated and rent free for the duration; to Riel Bros. for free cartage of parcels to and from the express office, and also to Mr. and Mrs. J. Macrow, who very kindly performed many special services.

The Red Cross membership campaign will open in the near future. The Red Cross is still carrying on many humane services at home and abroad, where its insignia brings the light of hope to many sufferers. The Campaign Committee is composed of Mr. Ivan L. Health and Mr. Dan Faubert, co-chairmen; Mrs. Chas. McConville, secretary, assisted by Miss Roberta McDermid and Mrs. L. Roy, publicity. A minimum of $1.00 will make you a member of the society and a participant in the great work done by it. Be prepared when your canvasser calls.

Mr. Francois Cleyn has accepted chairmanship of the Disaster, Preparedness and Relief Committee and the personnel will be announced later.

"Safety and Responsibility on the Highway"

Mr. Merlin W. Donald, Montreal, addressed the Rotary meeting on Monday on automobile insurance. Mr. McDonald referred to the three types of governing laws relative to automobile insurance: The law that makes it optional as to whether you carry insurance or not, and such as we have in this province; compulsory insurance whereby every auto owner must have his automobile insurance before he can have his car licensed, and such a type of policy exists in Massachusetts; thirdly, the type of insurance that prevails in New York State and in an even better form in Manitoba, where the owner of the car is held responsible for the car and is responsible whether he is driving the car when the accident occurs or otherwise.

Mr. Donald stated that where compulsory insurance prevailed, as is the case in Massachusetts, it was found that premiums went up 100% the first year and in five years time the rates went up five times what they were before such a law was made. With compulsory insurance the people involved in accidents knew all cars were insured and demanded high compensation amounts which in turn resulted in greatly increased insurance policy rates.

In New York State and Manitoba, if an automobile is in an accident, the owner must assume the responsibility, if the car is not insured. The car that is not insured is held by the law and the owner can't even drive it to his own garage, sell it, or allow anyone else drive it, until he has paid for the liability that he and his car created. With such a severe law it means practically every auto is insured that is on the road.

Mr. Donald viewed the Manitoba law as to the governing of automobile responsibilities as the nearest the ideal, and that which we have in Quebec as the poorest of the three systems referred to in his address.

Re-union of Old Friends

Former Howick Ministers Meet in London, Ont.

George Ellis, London, Ont., and who for several years was News Editor of The Gleaner, sends us a news item that we believe will interest many of our readers and more in particular the members of Georgetown Presbyterian Church. Mr. McDonald referred to the three types of governing laws relative to automobile insurance: The law that makes it optional as to whether you carry insurance or not, and such as we have in this province; compulsory insurance whereby every auto owner must have his automobile insurance before he can have his car licensed, and such a type of policy exists in Massachusetts; thirdly, the type of insurance that prevails in New York State and in an even better form in Manitoba, where the owner of the car is held responsible for the car and is responsible whether he is driving the car when the accident occurs or otherwise.

A happy re-union took place in London, Ont., over the week-end when Hon. Maj. J. W. Foote, V.C., only Canadian padre to win the Victoria Cross in the last war, visited his college friend, Rev. T. J. Watson, minister of New St. James' Presbyterian Church, London, and for five years minister of Georgetown Presbyterian Church, Howick, Que. On the invitation of Rev. Mr. Watson, Major Foote was the guest speaker on Sunday at the 113th anniversary of New St. James' Presbyterian Church.

At his home, 332 St. James St., London, Rev. Mr. Watson recalled happy bygone student days at Montreal Presbyterian College when Major Foote was also a student there. The two became fast friends and when Rev. Mr. Watson later became minister at Georgetown Presbyterian Church and Major Foote was still a student at the Montreal College, the latter frequently visited the former at the Georgetown Manse. On various occasions Major Foote preached at the Georgetown Church.

When Rev. Mr. Watson was minister at Rogers Presbyterian Church at Toronto, Ont., later, Major Foote spent his last evening in Toronto with the Watson family before proceeding overseas. This was in December 1939.

Bathes Infant Jean

Miss Jean Watson, now 12½ years old and a student at St. George's Public School, London, was only an infant in arms when the present Major Foote used to visit the Watsons at the Georgetown Manse. At that time it was the happy duty of Major Foote to frequently give the infant Jean her bath. Told of this service willingly performed during her infancy, Jean decided she would try to repay him now. So for Monday, May 13, she made arrangements with her school principal to escort Major Foote to her St. George's School where the latter will be guest of honor and will deliver an address to Jean's schoolmates.

Rev. Mr. Watson stated he often wondered how Major Foote would manoeuvre in the army because of an injury suffered by the latter during his student days. While Major Foote was in the Canadian West on holidays from Montreal Presbyterian College, he was riding a broncho which ran away, throwing Major Foote to the ground and severely injuring one of his feet. "But he managed to get by the medical board and into the army," laughed Rev. Mr. Watson.

Looking back to days spent at Georgetown Presbyterian Church, Rev. Mr. Watson pointed out that the present minister there, Rev. E. Bingham, was brought up in New St. James' Presbyterian Church, London, and there is a stained window in the latter church in memory of the parents of Rev. Mr. Bingham. Rev. Mr. Watson will be six years minister at New St. James' Presbyterian Church in June of this year.

Arriving in Ottawa about twelve thirty, they were entertained to lunch by Mr. Donald Black, M.P., in the Parliamentary dining room, with the Hon. Brooke Claxton as after lunch speaker, introduced by Mr. Black. During the afternoon the class was shown through the Parliament Buildings. They also sat in the gallery of the House of Commons where they heard some of the speakers.

A guide was procured by Mr. Black, who accompanied them through Ottawa, showing them the places of interest, including a visit to the Experimental Farm. Friday night the pupils stayed at the Lord Elgin Hotel.

Saturday the group returned to Ormstown via Montreal, where they lunched at the Berkley Hotel, and saw the Shakespearian play "King Lear", at Marpe Hall as presented by M. R. T. This ended a very enjoyable week-end.

The group of the Chateauguay Road Home Helpers of the United Church met for their regular meeting at the home of Mrs. Eddie Elliott. After the devotional and business meeting, the remainder of the afternoon was spent in quilting.

Miss Florence Bryson, a former member of the group, was present at the meeting and was especially honoured by the presentation of a towel shower, on the occasion of her approaching marriage. Miss Bryson, although taken by surprise, thanked all very graciously. Dainty refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by Mrs. Elliott, assisted by the ladies.

L.A.C. Gerald McCaffrey, of the R.C.A.F., who has been stationed in Halifax, has been transferred to Goose Bay, Labrador.

On Thursday evening, Mr. and Mrs. George Collum were pleasantly surprised, when about thirty-five of their neighbours, mainly members of the River Outarde Farm Forum group, arrived to spend the evening with them, before their departure from this vicinity. A social hour was spent in playing "500" and Chinese Checkers. Mrs. Collum held high score in the ladies and Mr. John McCaffrey in the gents, while the Chinese Checker prize was won by Mr. Royal Geddes.

Delicious refreshments were served by several of the ladies. The gathering was brought to order by Mr. Allan English, who expressed regret at Mr. and Mrs. Collum's departure from our midst and appreciation for their many acts of kindness.

After this address, Mr. Gerald Smith presented them with a purse, containing a sum of money. Mr. and Mrs. Collum responded, thanking their friends for their thoughtfulness and good wishes. After the singing of "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows", dancing was enjoyed for a short time to music, furnished by Mrs. Baird and Mr. Cowan, Sr. The group then joined in singing "For Auld Lang Syne" and "God Save the King". The gathering departed wishing Mr. and Mrs. Collum health and happiness in their new surroundings.

Shower For Bride-to-be.—

The bride-to-be was escorted to a chair, placed under a beautifully decorated umbrella in pink and white, to the strains of the "Wedding March", played by Miss Roberta Rember. The hostess then presented a corsage of pink carnations to Iona, after which little Errolyn Barrington entered the room drawing a wagon, decorated to match the umbrella, which was laden with lovely linen gifts. After these had been admired by everyone, the bride-to-be, although taken completely by surprise, thanked all those present and invited her friends to come and visit her in her new home.

Games and music were enjoyed and a delicious lunch was served by the hostesses. Tea was poured by Mrs. Ross Bryson and Mrs. Olive Bradley.

YOUTH ORGANIZES

In today's paper we publish news of the organization of the Kentville Youth Movement. This is an organization of the youth themselves. A group of teen-age boys and girls have at last succeeded in securing a place in which to carry on activities... In the sister town of Wolfville last week a similar youth organization held its first social affair. These are healthy signs, indicating that in the not too distant future the youth of our community will be back in full swing, with popular pastimes, heathy exercise and entertainment.—Kentville (N.S.) Advertiser.

Over 2,000 Children Immunized Against Diphtheria in March 1946

During the month of March, more than two thousand children were given three anti-diphtheric injections in the counties served by the County Health Units of the Province of Quebec. It is all very well to cure disease, but it is far better to prevent and avoid it. Certain diseases are avoidable and means must be taken to protect ourselves from them, health officers advise. Anti-diphtheric immunization saves a great many lives and the Health Units, which are entrusted with the task of spreading the knowledge of hygiene and preventive medicine throughout the Province, are placed at the public's disposal by the Ministry of Health and Social Welfare.

A summary of the work done by these organizations in March 1946 follows: MATERNAL HYGIENE: 1,331 demonstrations in homes, 1,510 pre-natal visits; INFANT HYGIENE: 419 child welfare clinics, 8,686 infants (0 to 1 yr.) were examined, 5,322 children of pre-school age (1 to 6 yrs.) examined, 9,172 infants visited in their homes, 12,144 children of pre-school age visited in their homes; SCHOOL HYGIENE: 809 lectures given, attendance 24,797 and 17,661 school children examined.

Hygiene, writes one authority, is the daily application of the teachings of science; by popularizing such teaching and bringing it within the scope of everyone, a great many dangerous prejudices are destroyed and the development of human beings, either singly or in groups, will improve. Such, in a few words, is the work of the Health Units of the ministry which is directed by the Honourable Doctor J. H. A. Paquette, Minister of Health and Social Welfare.

The fight against disease is directed mainly against tuberculosis. During the month of March, 169 anti-tuberculosis clinics were held in our Health Units and 5,954 persons were examined. The clinicians took nearly 3,000 tuberculin tests and made 1,300 house visits. By applying the teachings of hygiene, the development of human beings as individuals and as a species will be made easier.

GIVE THEM A BREAK

Hundreds of thousands of young men and women toward whose welfare so much was contributed during their time in uniform are once again back on civvy street, which for many a youth in his late teens and early twenties is "indifferent avenue." That the days of killing and hardship and blood-letting should be, for many a young serviceman, "the good old days" is an indictment of us all; the "good days" should be old and they should be here now.—Cilliwak (B.-C.) Progress.

Covey Hill

Rev. Dr. A. S. Reid, of Montreal, conducted a Communion service here on Sunday afternoon. Dr. Reid has made a remarkably rapid recovery from his serious operation.

On Friday, Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Day and Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Lowden and Master George Lowden, attended the funeral of Mr. James Steele in the city. The deceased was a son of Mrs. Day's sister. He had marked musical ability and supervised a boy's brigade, organizing the lads as a band and instructing them in music.

Miss Jean Lowden renewed her friendship with Miss Dorothy Griffiths during the latter's visit to Hemmingford. Dorothy and her mother plan to reside in New York.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Lowden and Roy attended special church services in Franklin, and were guests of Mrs. Lowden's aunt, Miss Eliza Wood.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Stacey and family and Mr. and Mrs. Brown have been guests of Mr. Wm. and Miss V. G. Semple.

Miss Florence Steele is spending some time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Robb, Huntingdon.

Mr. Allan Lowden was a recent visitor in Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Sutton have selected the name Shirley Jean, for their baby daughter.

In spite of the rain, Mr. J. C. Barr's sale last Saturday afternoon, was well attended and marked by lively bidding. The goods offered were mainly household effects and the present scarcity of such lines made for the success of the auction.

Mrs. W. A. Churchill was a visitor in the city last week.

Friends of Rev. Robt. McLean will be interested to know that he has taken charge of the church service at Riverfield, since returning from chaplain duty. Mr. McLean was student pastor of the Presbyterian congregation here previous to his call to St. Stephen's, N.B.

W. I. NOTES

FRANKLIN CENTRE BRANCH

The May meeting of the above branch was held on May 10th, at the home of Mrs. A. A. Rowe, 15 members and visitors being present.

The meeting opened with the Ode and Creed, followed by the roll call which was responded to by naming a most useful first aid article in the home.

Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved and business with the booth at Ormstown fair discussed.

Mrs. Geo. Goldie was called on for a report of the Convention held at Dundee, and this was given in a very able manner.

Rev. H. A. Pritchard, the guest speaker, took as his subject, his own and Mrs. Pritchard's native country, Wales, and his discription made it all seem very real. The mineral wealth of Wales is very great, and the wedding ring of Queen Elizabeth was made from Welsh gold. It is also a good Agriculture country and sheep raising forms an important part. It is a very extensive educational centre and has colleges of every denomination. It is also a very religious country and it was in Wales that the British and Foreign Bible Society was formed.

Music also is an important thing and choirs of 500 voices may be heard. The speaking voice of the people also is very musical.

Views of different parts of Wales were shown and Mr. Pritchard then sang some hymns in the Welsh language accompanied on the piano by Mrs. Pritchard.

Mrs. Geo. Goldie thanked Mr. Pritchard for his talk and the ladies all extended a hearty vote of thanks also.

Mrs. A. A. Rowe distributed literature on Welfare and Health.

Mrs. Geo. Williams was appointed delegate to attend the convention to be held at MacDonald College in June.

The meeting closed by singing "God Save the King" after which refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Frank Rowe.

HOWICK BRANCH

The regular monthly meeting of the Howick Women's Institute was held on Tuesday afternoon, May 7th, at the home of Mrs. Arthur Kerr, Fertile Creek.

After the opening exercises thirty members and visitors answered the roll call by naming a vegetable we should have in our garden. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and approved.

It was announced that a public speaking contest for the different schools of the county would be held in the Ormstown High School on May 23rd.

The Howick Institute also decided to give two prizes in two classes of the Howick High School for the most improvement.

Two institutes in the county are preparing plays and these will be presented in Ormstown the last week of May.

The conveners of Agriculture and Education were asked to meet with the Aubrey-Riverfield ladies to make further plans for the School Fair.

Members of the Blue Cross Hospitalization Scheme were reminded that fees may be paid at the next meeting.

Mrs. Ray Younie gave a brief report of the Home and School Association meeting held in Howick, the previous evening.

Mrs. Wallace Younie and Mrs. John Greig gave interesting reports of the County Convention at Dundee. All who attended reported a most profitable and enjoyable day.

Mrs. J. D. Lang gave a demonstration on the mending of aluminumware.

The guest speaker of the afternoon, Mr. C. E. Petch, of Hemmingford, told some of the diseases which a fruit grower encounters in his work and how to combat them. He also discussed D.D.T. and showed the ladies how to use an insecticide bomb.

The meeting closed with the National Anthem after which refreshments were served by the Fertile Creek ladies.

On account of the Ormstown Fair, the next meeting will be held on May 28th, at the home of Mrs. S. Peddie.

Huntingdon Branch

The Huntingdon W.I. met in the Library of the Huntingdon High School, on the afternoon of Tuesday, May 7, with an attendance of 28. The president, Mrs. Alex Robb, conducted the meeting. A letter was read from Mrs. Sherman Robb, thanking the W.I. for a basket of fruit sent her while in the Barrie Memorial Hospital. The president made an appeal for the clothing drive for Europe. Ten dollars was voted for the delegates who are to attend the Provincial Convention at Macdonald College, in June. Reports of the County Convention held in the United Church, Dundee, on May 3, were read by Mrs. Booth and Mrs. McEwan. It was decided to fill 12 ditty bags this year, also to send contributions to the W.I. booth at Ormstown Exhibition.

Four new members were added to the roll. After the meeting members and friends of the W.I. were served lunch in the domestic science room by the pupils. A nice display of sewing done by the pupils was on exhibit.

Two surprise moves highlighted the news from Britain's Middle East and Asiatic spheres—the British offer to withdraw all troops from Egypt at a date to be agreed in negotiations with the Egyptian government, and the resignation en masse of the viceroy's cabinet in India.

The offer to withdraw troops from Egypt came even before discussions with the Egyptian government on a new Anglo-Egyptian treaty had started formally and aroused a storm of controversy in the British House of Commons and the press. Observers saw in Prime Minister Attlee's move a gesture of friendship which, by removing one of the main causes of Egyptian dissatisfaction, would pave the way for co-operation on the new treaty. But critics chastised the labor government for what they considered a dangerous move in the light of the importance of the Suez Canal zone to Empire communications.

In this connection some of the most bitter critisism was aroused by Mr. Attlee's revelation that the decision to withdraw British troops had been made with only token discussion with the Dominions. Conservative leaders stated full discussions with the Commonwealth should have preceded such a move.

Tension on the Palestine side of the canal, however, prompted many observers to say that Britain might be acting wisely to have a completely friendly and co-operative power on the other side to guard her interests. That Egypt would guard Britain's interests in spite of the link with her Mohammedan brothers in Palestine, seemed certain because of the fact that Britain's interests in the Middle East also are Egypt's interests born of the economic interdependence of of the two countries.

Resignation of the Indian cabinet dispelled some of the clouds of pessimism which had hung over the latter phases of the tripartite discussions in Simla. It left the way clear for appointment of a governing body which somehow might reconcile the divergent views of the Moslem and Hindu factions and at the same time maintain the link of co-operation with the Mother Country on which India, as well as mandated Egypt, depended for her economic life.

Meanwhile the Palestine situation continued to cause alarm. Arab spokesmen mentioned a holy war to defend Moslem ambitions in the Middle East if Britain implemented the report of a commission of inquiry recommending immigration of 100,000 refugee Jews into the Holy Land. And the Palestine situation colored both the Indian and the Egyptian questions. Threats were made that the Moslem world would stand together to defy Britain in Palestine.

British post-war economy received a double shot in the arm Friday as the United States and Canadian Senates approved loans to Britain. But while the Canadian bill needed only royal assent to become law, the American measure providing a 50-year loan of $3,750,000,000 still awaited an uncertain fate in the House of Representatives.

Hearings in the lower house, scheduled to open Tuesday, were expected to last about two weeks but Democratic Whip John H. Sparkman predicted that the house would eventually pass the bill by a comfortable majority. The bill would implement an agreement signed between Britain and the United States last December.

The Canadian measures, providing a $1,250,000,000 loan to the United Kingdom, was passed by the Senate without a recorded vote following earlier House of Commons approval.

The crippling soft coal strike in the United States came to at least a temporary halt at the week-end as mine operators accepted an offer of a two-week truce by John L. Lewis whose 400,000 United Mine Workers had been out of the pits for 40 days.

Mr. Lewis's truce offer carried the proviso that any contract improvements eventually agreed upon would be paid retroactively to cover the two-week period.

Official sources announced, however, that no charge would be made in the government's sweeping coal conservation measures affecting railroads and electric and gas utilities for the present as the mines prepared to relieve the drain on the nation's badly depleted stockpiles.

At a White House conference in the presence of President Truman it was announced that Mr. Lewis and Charles O'Neill, spokesman for the operators had agreed in principle to one of the union's top demands, a health and welfare fund for the miners. Safety guarantees and wage and hour adjustments were other issues involved in the strike which remain to be negotiated.

In Paris the Big Four foreign ministers ended a turbulent week by reaching agreement on two disputed points in the Italian peace treaty when Russian Foreign Minister Molotov agreed to give Italy sole trusteeship of her colonies won in pre-Fascist days and consented to an Allied War Criminals' Commission inside Italy.

British sources said Foreign Minister Bevin had agreed to designate Italy as sole trustee of Tripolitania, to which the Russians had previously laid claims, and other portions of her African empire only if the Foreign Ministers' Council agreed to name Britain as sole trustee of Cyrenaica, adjoining Tripolitania, where British forces battled Marshal Erwin Rommel's Afrika Korps for three years.

The Italian regime took a long step toward stability when King Victor Emmanuel signed an official document of abdication in favor of his son, Prince Umberto, after a reign of 45 years and nine months which saw the rise and fall of Italian Fascism.

While there was some doubt whether Umberto could retain his throne in the face of growing republican sentiment, monarchists believed that he might prove more popular than his father as he did not bear the ultimate burden of responsibility for events of the last 25 years. A referendum June 2 will decide the fate of the Italian monarchy.

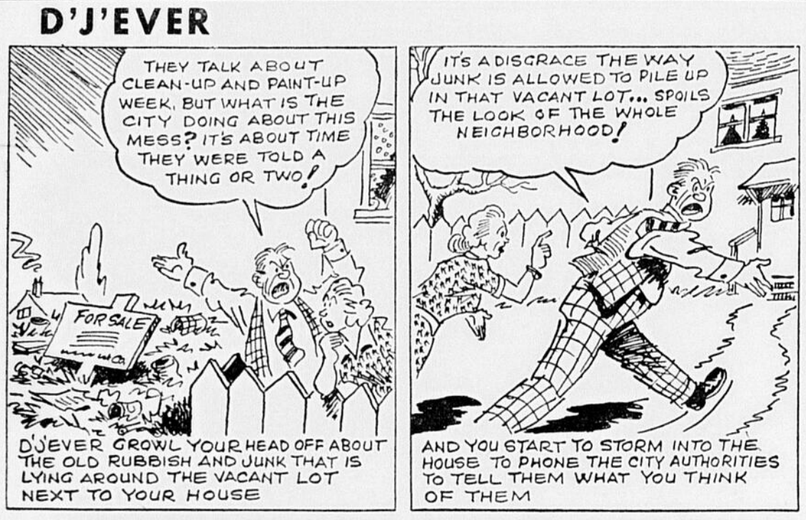

In Amsterdam a court martial acquited Brig. J. F. A. Lister of Quebec and Victoria, former chief of staff of Canadian forces in the Netherlands, of responsibility for misuse of Netherlands property requisitioned by the Canadian Army.

Dahlia's Whatnots

A FEW WEEKS ago The Gleaner carried, as one of its "Opinions of Others," an article on "Errors in Newspapers" which I thought was very enlightening on that subject. It explained that while a newspaper may contain as many thousand words as a novel, the latter can be read over in a leisurely way and errors corrected, whereas a newspaper has to be printed in a rush in order to have the latest news and still get it delivered sharp on time. It struck me as just a little amusing that there were a couple of errors in this column in the same issue. The name "Garabaldi" had attached to it a final "e", and the verb "espoused" was altered to "exposed." After reading the above-mentioned article on the difficulties of editors and printers, I told myself I ought to write more plainly. Said I: "'Woman, don't get all het up over one little letter or prefix or even a word. It might have been worse. 'Espoused' might have appeared as something more permanently disabling in a social sense, e.g. jilted or divorced, entailing a breach of promise suit or claims for alimony; and 'Garibaldi' with the help of that family pet suffix 'ie" might have been Jimmie or Johnie or, otherwise, Polonaise or Peplum. (How many readers, I wonder, are old enough to remember the garabaldi style of lady's bodice, cut on loose, blousy lines and ending with a belt, doubtless designed in compliment to the Italian patriot's jacket?)

As for aiming at literary laurels, if you do contrive to win a wee leaf or two for your brow, it has become quite a ticklish job to keep it on owing to the increased windiness of our climate due, I fancy, to the broadcasting of so many modern cults and so many new political parties. One needs an elastic guard, and that synthetic rubber isn't always what it's cracked up to be."

* * *

SOMEBODY has said that there is only a step between the sublime and the ridiculous, inferring, of course, that both effects are the work of one and the same agent. From the above nonsense away up "Wuthering Heights" is a very steep step, but let's take it.

"My great delight in living is himself. If all else perished and he remained, I should still continue to be; and if all else remained and he were annihilated, the universe would turn to a mighty stranger: I should not seem part of it. My love for Linton is like the foliage in the woods: time will change it, I'm well aware, as winter changes the trees. My love for Heathcliff resembles the eternal rocks beneath: a source of little visible delight, but necessary. Nelly, I am Heathcliff! He's always, always in my mind: not as a pleasure, any more than I am always a pleasure to myself, but as my own being."

In these words of the heroine, Cathy, the vehement passion which a poorer artist might have left us is calmed into sublimity by the genius of Emily Brontë.

Having read a book, one is disappointed in its reproduction as a radio play when the time limit forbids the repetition of passages of remarkable strength and beauty.

Emily Brontë was only 28 when she penned these lines and she died next year of consumption. The same malady shortened the lives of so many members of the brilliant Brontë family and has ended the careers of so many authors that the question has arisen whether the tendency to tuberculosis is apt to be accompanied by more than ordinary mental gifts, or whether it is that creative writing entails such an expenditure of nervous energy that the physical system cannot resist the disease.

Wherefore the all-consuming urge to write and write, which has kept authors "burning the midnight oil" and enduring rebuffs from publishers over years, to find themselves famous at last, perhaps—just perhaps—and perhaps only for a decade or so, and then consigned to oblivion by the fickle taste of a public overfed with reading material? But, apart from the great of the centuries and the near-great of the decades, what of the thousands who keep on writing short stories, poems, or those "pieces in the paper?" Why do they do it? For the same reasons that people do a score of other things, mainly for self-expression, usefulness, and beauty. The will to attain these may prompt you to write a play or to make a braided rug, even if you do not trouble to analyse motives.

If you decide on the rug you will think of its usefulness at a certain place, as a door or beside a bed perhaps, and you will achieve self-expression not only by the beauty of the colors you use but also by the firmness and smoothness of your work, and the last two qualities will increase the usefulness thereof, and do much to win for you an award at the fair which you can contribute to Red Cross funds—further usefulness. So there you have them!—self-expression, usefulness, beauty, intertwining and overlapping like the three strands of the braid of your rug.

* * *

IF YOU TURN to writing, and write anything that is worth reading, these same effects will be attained. Your writing may not be for publication, but in the way of correspondence. Your letters will doubtless be a channel of self-expression, possibly more satisfactory sometimes than conversation, they may be usefully informative, and as for beauty, what beautiful letters have come out of the dusty long ago to delight posterity! Pre-eminant in this category are the epistles of the New Testament. Indeed, the Book of Books may be regarded as a universe in miniature, of self-expression by God and mankind, of beneficent usefulness, and of beauty both spiritual and literary.

Coming down to earth, it might be argued that a purely humorous composition lacks usefulness, but it is Solomon who affirms that "A merry heart doeth good like medicine."

As for the joy of self-expression by letter-writing, it must be admitted that cases have occurred where this bliss was changed to bitter humiliation by the production of incautious epistles in hushed courtrooms.

In every sphere of human affairs man's evil propensities have turned blessings into ills, and it is painful to reflect that this is true of literature with so widespread and permanent an influence.

Writers of unquestionable genius have produced prose and poetry marked by a riot of self-expression and a wealth of beauty in word pictures, but lacking all trace of usefulness of purpose, even that of wholesome amusement. Worse still, the self they express is, in some instances, a dark, distorted spirit of base passions, a harmful contact.

But when an author offers us inspiring ideals and constructive thoughts and we do not trouble to assimilate them, we are as childish as the little folk, who, reading a poem, and carried along by the singsong of rhyme and rhythm, have little or no idea of the sense of the lines. Heedless of the author's attempt to present useful truths in attractive form, we are as one who enjoys the beauty of a stained glass window, but who forgets that the original useful purpose of a window is to admit light, and who fails to notice that the brighter the light, the more beautiful the colors appear.

Dominion insists on Social Security

The Dominion-Provincial Conference, for which this column expressed such optimism last week, has been indefinitely adjourned. After the meeting closed the Prime Minister stated that he did not intend to "assess the blame" now. "The people will have to decide in their own minds" he added.

The Montreal Gazette, prominent supporter of the Progressive Conservative Party, however, was quick to blame the Dominion Government. It said "when the conference met it was confronted with the argument that the Federal Government must have scope for taxing and spending, because it had seen fit to oblige itself, even in wartime, for a baby bonus (family allowances) bill of $250,000,000 a year." "At the conference the Federal Government was not only asking for scope to meet its election promises but to superimpose burdens of a social program which would amount to an additional yearly total of about $390,000,000."

The Ottawa Journal (Progressive Conservative) also criticized the Federal Government for its social security program which it termed "reckless." In an editorial on May 6 it said "But the Dominion Government, confronted by hard fiscal consequence of its own reckless commitments... needed still more money and was determined to have it". "To meet its promisory notes for social security it would reduce the provinces to practically its wards and pensioners."

Ontario Premier Criticizes

Opposition to the Dominion Government's coordinated measures of social security, which include family allowances, health insurance and improved old age pensions, was consistently maintained at the conference by Progressive Conservative Premier Drew who, on the last day of the conference said "A large part of the difficulty created for the Dominion Government was that, instead of dealing strictly with the tax agreements, they incorporated in these proposals a number of extraneous subjects which impose heavy additional burdens". "The difficulty is created by trying to bring all these things together and then trying to sell them with these added responsibilities."

Manitoba Hits Out

Premier Garson of Manitoba disagreed entirely with the Progressive Conservative newspapers and with Premier Drew of Ontario. He issued a short statement which said, "It is calamitous for Canada that the Ontario and Quebec governments could not have continued with those of the other seven provinces in the negotiation of a compromise of the small area of disagreement which still remains between the seven provinces and the dominion.

"Unless the dominion government is able to conclude an agreement with the seven provinces which are prepared to consider signing one it would seem that all of the provinces will very soon have to consider setting up machinery to collect provincial income and corporation taxes again on top of the dominion taxes in these fields.

What is the Answer?

Great pressure is being exerted on the government these days to abandon its price control policy. The packing companies are objecting, the mining corporations are complaining, and Opposition leader John Bracken wants to "relax" price controls on farm products. He would like to see the Canadian farmer get a comparable per bushel return for his wheat to the American farmer. It would also mean knocking the floor out from under the wheat market.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner voices a different view. He argues that, since 1901 at least, the main aim of western farmers and farmer's organizations has been to achieve a "stabilized price for the most important commodity which is exported from Canada, and particularly from the west."

Agriculture Wants Stability

The Minister of Agriculture claims that Canada today has a chance of obtaining a stabilized price for wheat and says: "To me, that is far more important than a price of $1.75 or $1.85 for the time being with the possibility of seventy-five cents in a year or two hence."

M. J. Coldwell, leader of the CCF, was equally emphatic when he said: "I wish to make it perfectly clear that we have stood wholeheartedly and solidly for the stabilization of prices." In strange contrast to his statement were the words of the CCF premier of Saskatchewan, Hon. T. C. Douglas: "If the Dominion Government were to make a full-scale retreat from the price ceilings.. it wouldn't be so bad. If the lid were taken off altogether, farm produce would quickly find its own level." Mr. Douglas did not say whether that level would be up or down.

Party Differences

According to recent gallup polls many Canadians have difficulty in defining the differences between the Liberal Party and the Progressive Conservative Party and equal difficulty in finding the differences between the socialists and communists.

To the Montreal Standard Lieut.-Col. Merritt, Progressive Conservative member from Vancouver commented "The Conservatives are a free enterprise party — the Liberals profess to be for free enterprise but in fact practise so many socialist principles that we have close to a socialist economy."

J. Gordon Fogo, President of the National Liberal Federation pointed to the record and the social program of the Liberal Party and intimated that no such progress had come or could come from the Progressive Conservatives. "The people of Canada have shown in a large number of elections over a long period of time that they recognize clearly, even instinctively, the great differences between the Liberals and the Conservatives" said Mr. Fogo.

Soccer, long overshadowed by hockey and rugby in the Canadian sports scene, is experiencing a post-war revival that holds bright prospects for the future.

The game may not attain the stage of popularity reached in the United Kingdom, Northern Ireland and other European countries, but you'll find it difficult to convince die-hard soccer fans on that point. This year's boom is an indirect outcome of the war when thousands of Canadian fighting men in Britain had the opportunity of seeing soccer played by some of the world's best players.

Many became enthusiasts and Canadian soccer officials, in planning for the future, are banking on their interest being carried over to the sport in this country. The game was also popularized by matches between Royal Air Force personnel stationed in Canada.

Soccer in the Dominion will always have many handicaps to overcome, principally the climate. Here football is played between May and October and midsummer heat is not conducive to good soccer because it is primarily a running game.

Sun-baked pitches work against scientific passing plays as developed in Britain where the game is played in winter, usually on heavy grounds that are ideal for ball control.

No longer do Canadian teams depend on former Old Country players as their bulwarks. Through the years the game has been popularized in the schools, especially in Ontario, where a number of good players have been developed.

"The efficiency of these players is a revelation," says Tom Holland, president of the Toronto and District Football Association and a former president of the Dominion Football Association. "All the teams now have a good number of Canadian boys on their rosters. They have learned the finer points of the game and they play splendid soccer."

Soccer followers will watch with interest Canada's entry in a newly-formed United States professional soccer league. If the team—Toronto Greenbacks—is able to attract good crowds and operate successfully the move may well lead to more entries from the Dominion.

It's still a long, long way to Tipperary and also to the World Series, but already Joe Cronin's classy Boston Red Sox have just about replaced baked beans as the people's choice in Beantown.

For the first time in years the staid New England metropolis is running a fever—and it's not spring fever—but the pennant kind. Not even the grim reminder that the flowers are hardly blooming and the World Series is played in October can cool them off. The Red Sox are a hot team and it seems at last that Tom Yawkey's millions have finally produced a ball club that is strong enough to win the pennant.

Three of the Red Sox—outfielders Ted Williams and Dom Dimaggio and shortstop Johnny Pesky are right at the top of the league batting race and second-baseman Bobby Doerr is setting a hot pace in the runs batted in department.

The DOW AWARD

PRESENTED TO

Mrs. O. Huneault

WHOSE COOL BRAVERY SAVED SIX YOUNG LIVES

IN her farm home, seven miles from North Bay Ontario, Mrs. Huneault was cooking dinner. Suddenly, she smelled smoke . . . smoke that quickly became flames sweeping through the frame house. Six of her children were in bed with measles . . . yet the mother, quickly and coolly, tackled the difficult job of getting the frightened youngsters outside.

Repeatedly she braved the flames and suffocating smoke. It was no easy task, for the children kept trying to follow her back into the blazing house. Less than two minutes after the last child was rescued, the roof crashed down. The house was gone, but the children were safe — thanks to the efforts of this brave Canadian mother.

We are proud to pay tribute to Mrs. O. Huneault through the presentation of The Dow Award.

"THAT'S A LOAD OFF MY MIND!"

Mrs. Mason's husband gets his pay in cash. Since he's working all day, his wife banks it for him, and she says she's always jittery 'til she gets it safely there. And her brother, who runs a store, says he worries too about the money from the cash register! Safeguarding your money is one of the prime services rendered by your bank.

What a relief it is when you have deposited your money in the bank! No more worry lest it should be lost or stolen! You need only keep a little ready cash in your pocket or in the house. Bills can be paid by cheque and your cancelled cheque is your receipt.

When the teller hands you your pass book, you glance at the balance and know to a cent how much money you have. You are so accustomed to your bank's accuracy that you seldom bother to check the figures.

The very fact that you—and some 5,000,000 others—take all these conveniences as a matter of course is a daily demonstration of your confidence in the dependability and efficiency of your bank.

A DEMOCRATIC LIGHT IS GOING OUT!

AN important cross-section of the people of this country are represented by the twenty-nine thousand shareholders of Montreal Light Heat and Power Consolidated. Their rights are the rights of all other Canadians. The injustices created by the past and present governments of the Province of Quebec place in jeopardy the rights of every single citizen.

THE Civil Code states that no man shall be deprived of his property until handed compensation to which he is entitled. Further, it states that ownership in a thing gives the right to all it produces.

HERE, then, in two fundamentals of the law and creed by which we live we find ourselves opposed by our elected representatives in the Legislature of our Province. It is two years since the enactment of expropriating legislation and the taking over of our properties. No compensation has yet been paid and none offered. It is now announced that the Hydro-Electric Commission has accumulated upwards of $30,000,000. from the operations of the expropriated properties.

THIS is a mockery of a Code which was created from centuries of striving toward equity and justice in the society in which we live. A Code to which each of the great races from which the bulk of Quebec's citizens stem, made valuable contributions.

THE ogre of expropriation without compensation raises its fearsome head in our midst. What man in Quebec with invested capital—no matter how small—can fail to wonder what the future holds with legalized confiscation staring him in the face?

DO YOU KNOW?

Five-sixths of the twenty-nine thousand shareholders of the M.L.H. & P. each own 100 shares or less, and ten thousand each own 10 shares or less.

Allyn Joslyn Escapes Stuffed Shirt Roles In New Comedy Hit

If you're anything of a moviegoer, Allyn Joslyn's name is familiar. He's the tall aristocratic chap with a rectangular face and eyes like a Scottie. He's also the personality guy who can warm audiences with a smile or curdle their blood and freeze them at the edges with sarcastic tone.

Because of these things, critics admit Joslyn to be one of the best actors in the motion picture business.

But Joslyn, signed to a long-term contract by 20th Century-Fox, hasn't always had the sort of parts he's dreamed of. Much of the time he has been an unhappy actor, Up to his present role of Harry Graves, small-time lawyer and badgered and perplexed father in "Junior Miss," Peggy Ann Garner's first starring picture, showing May 19 and 20 at the O'Connor Theatre, Joslyn has frequently played the mere stuffed shirt, the delicately mean individual, the nosey small-town male, the inquisitive clerk and even the superior type rat.

"And all the time I've wanted to play straight comedy," he tells you. "The more I asked for a high comedy role, the farther away I seemed to get from it. Then when the role of Harry Graves fell in my lap, I couldn't believe my luck. Here was the sort of thing I had dreamed about."

If the enthusiastic acclaim accorded Joslyn's outstanding performance in "Junior Miss" is any indication, his dreams will be getting better all the time.

Howick

The Evening Auxiliary of Howick United Church held a very successful afternoon tea in their Church Hall, on Saturday afternoon, May 4th. Mrs. Douglass Ness, in a few chosen words thanked Mrs. Ruddock, and hoped to have her back again some time.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Muir and Jean, accompanied by Miss Isobel Muir, motored to Montreal, on Thursday night, May 9th, to attend the graduation of their daughter Doris, at the Homoeopathic Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Anderson, Wilburn, Ruth, Mrs. Allan Logan and Mrs. John W. Logan, attended the graduating exercises on Thursday evening at the Homoeopathic Hospital when Miss Gladys Anderson received her diploma and pin.

Mr. Anderson Baxter, of Montreal, spent the week-end at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Anderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Barton, of Dundas, Ont., spent a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kerr.

Miss Laura Baxter spent part of the past week in Montreal.

Mr. and Mrs. Harmond Montpette, of Verdun, were week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Henderson.

On Wednesday evening, a farewell supper was tendered Mr. and Mrs. Frank Carey, Student Minister of the Howick United Church, before their departure to Scotstown, Que. A short programme followed the supper, during which time the Junior Girls Choir sang a few selected numbers. Mr. Mitchel Ness gave a humurous recitation which was very much enjoyed. The Misses Majorie and Margaret Ness favoured the Audience with their singing and Miss Morrison with her readings. At the close of the evening a silver cup was presented Baby Norma Jean Carey by the Women's Association and an envelope of money to Mr. and Mrs. Carey from the congregation. Everyone joined in singing "God be with you till we meet again."

Mr. and Mrs. John Young and son Bryan, of Montreal, and Miss Bernice Brennan of Ormstown were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stanly Rorison.

The many friends of Mr. J. Edgar McKell will regret to hear he is now a patient in the Barrie Memorial Hospital. Mr. McKell has been in poor health for some time, it is hoped he will soon improve.
