SUPPLEMENTARY ESTIMATES

Brought down Amounting to a Little Over a Million Dollars—Quebec Items.

(Special to Chronicle.)

Ottawa, Ont., May 10.—Hon. Mr. Fielding presented to Parliament today the supplementary estimates, amounting to $1,016,657, of which $833,087 is chargeable to consolidated fund, and $83,550 to capital. This brings the total estimates for the fiscal year, 1909-10, to $11,506,462. To-day's batch is indirect violation of the promise made earlier in the session that there would be no supplementary estimates this year. Another commission is estimated by appropriation of $10,000 to provide for expenses of the commission to investigate the swine industry of the United Kingdom and Denmark. Quebec items include $3,000 additional for improvements and repairs to Riviere Ouelle wharf and $20,000 to wharves and breakwaters on the St. Lawrence. Two hundred dollars is provided to increase the salary of L. J. E. Larue, assistant post office inspector at Quebec, from $1,350 to $1,550 a year. For dredging in Quebec rivers $75,000 additional is asked. In spite of the fact that the Militia Department secured $7,000,000 in the main estimates, $2,000 additional is asked for contingencies. Dr. Greenfield, the famous missionary, gets $1,000 for expenses with remainder in Labrador. Twenty thousand dollars is asked for expenses for Canada's representatives in trade conventions between the West Indies and the Dominion. Surprise was expressed that pledge of Government was broken regarding supplementary estimates, in view of professed policy of retrenchments.

A YOUNG LIFE-SAVER

St. Catharines, Ont., May 10.—On Sunday afternoon, Sydney Martin, the ten year old son of Sydney Martin, of this city, for the second time within a year, by conspicuous bravery saved a young companion from drowning in the Hydraulic Raceway. With Albert Kraft, aged seven years, he was playing on Sunday in the vicinity of Hedley Shaw, mija. Young Kraft ventured too far and fell into the water which at this point is six feet deep and the current very rapid. The little fellow had gone down twice before his playmate was able to get hold of him and pull him out.

TWO BOYS DROWNED.

Ottawa, May 10.—Napoleon Valiquette, aged 11 years, and Duval Valiquette, aged 9 years, sons of Mr. Omer Valiquette, of Grenville, Que., were drowned here this afternoon as the result of the sand embankment on the edge of Ottawa River caving in, and carrying them some distance out into the stream. Oscar Major, aged 14, who was with them had a marvellous escape, swimming to shore and clinging for nearly half an hour to an overhanging tree, from which he was rescued by Constable Daly. The three boys had played truant from school and had gone down to play on a part of the shore used as a dump. The sand here is undermined by the river and caved in. The bodies have not yet been found.

STOLYPIN PLANS RETIREMENT

St. Petersburg, May 10.—A near relative of Premier Stolypin declared to-day that the retirement of the Premier was imminent as he had resolved to decline the Emperor's request that he remain in office. It was rumored in the Duma to-day that a telegram already had been sent to former Premier Goremykin, who is at Wiesbaden, bidding him return to St. Petersburg to assume the Premiership and the portfolio of Foreign Affairs. This report, however, cannot be confirmed. The Cabinet was in session until 2 o'clock this morning and decided to renew its presentation on the impossibility of remaining in office if the naval staff bill is not confirmed in its original form. Premier Stolypin goes to Tsarskoe-Selo this afternoon. The fate of the Cabinet will not be known until tomorrow. There are some indications to-day that the decision of the ministers to resign if this matter is decided against them is not unanimous; some of them, it is said, would be willing to retain their posts even if the finding is adverse.

KINRADE FAMILY LEAVES HAMILTON

Florence and Her Mother Will Take a Trip to Europe According to Popular Report.

Hamilton, Ont., May 10.—The Kinrade family left here last night. The Crown Attorney, however, knows nothing of their movements. The Montreal despatch to the effect that Mrs. Kinrade, Florence, and C. M. Wright were in that city lends color to the story that Florence and her mother are going to take a trip to the Old Country. At noon to-day Mr. Kinrade and his youngest daughter, Gertrude, were seen going east on a King street car. Mr. Kinrade carried a small suit case. They had apparently come from the Grand Trunk station.

Toronto, May 10.—What is to be done if Mrs. Kinrade and her daughter Florence leave the country for Europe? This is the question that will be discussed at a council meeting at the Parliament Buildings to-morrow morning, over which Sir James Whitney will preside. The Crown officials are very close-mouthed over what action, if any, they will take. It is known that the united finding of the alienists, Dr. Bruce Smith and Dr. C. K. Clarke, who were detailed on the case by the Attorney-General's Department, is in favor of immediate and drastic action, and it is also known that Mr. G. T. Blackstock has recommended that action be taken in accordance with this. The contemplated step, however, involves great responsibility, the more so as the Crown has nothing definite upon which to proceed. Careful consideration is therefore called for.

Montreal, May 10.—It was reported here to-day that Florence Kinrade, her mother and Mr. Wright had come down from Hamilton to Montreal and were stopping at one of the leading hotels under an assumed name. At the Queen's Hotel are registered Mrs. Lackland, Miss Isabel Lackland and Mr. Norman Lackland, of Washington, D.C. They are supposed to be the Kinrades, but whether they are or not cannot be positively asserted.

DEATH PREVENTS MURDER

Niagara Falls, N.Y., May 10.—The hand of death was all that prevented Willis White from killing Joe Thomas here this afternoon. White, armed with a revolver and a razor, went to a barn where Thomas was employed and demanded some money. Meeting with a refusal he drew the revolver. For several minutes Thomas managed to elude him by dodging in and out among the vehicles. He was finally driven into a corner but just as White lifted the revolver and fired he was attacked with hemorrhage of the lungs. The shot went wild. With blood pouring from his mouth White staggered forward several steps and fell dead.

MONTREAL CIVIC INVESTIGATION

Montreal, May 10.—At to-day's session of the Royal Commission investigating Montreal's civic affairs several saloon-keepers who had charges made against them of selling liquor on Sunday dropped, testified that they had subscribed to the election fund of Ald. Proulx, the Chairman of the Police Committee. Capt. Baiguet, who was retired from the force some time ago, on a pension, swore that while he was in charge of No. 11 police station he had the C.P.R. stockyards hotel reported for selling on Sunday and had later been notified by Inspector Lamareche that the hotel had been taken out of his district and placed in another district, an action he regarded as very strange.

REGINA MAKES A BIG BID

Regina, Sask., May 10.—The all-star gathering of players with which Regina fondly expects to capture the Minto Cup, is rapidly taking on the appearance of the real thing in lacrosse teams. Under Ollie Davidson, the executive, on Saturday handed out the following list of players who will be eligible to play for a place:—Bun Clark, Steven, McLellan, Davidson, Shee, Ross, Lalonde, Gorman, Warwick, Murken, McGee, McLaughlin, West, Dunn, McLean, Munroe. Several others who may make the team are due in a day or two, among them being Bones Allen. The team, however, is none too anxious to lose Bones, but if on his arrival he accepts the offered terms he will be given a fair chance. One thing sure is that McGregor and McDougall, of Regina, will be fixtures and in spite of reports to the contrary there are none on the field who can play their positions better. There are many here who consider the Tecumseh players the whole goods and there has been some comment on the executive taking on Ottawa players for they are not up to the mark. Every man who comes to Regina will have to make good before he is played.

WHITLA BOY KIDNAPPERS

Pittsburg, May 10.—James Boyle and his wife, Helen Boyle, were lodged in the Western Penitentiary here to-night shortly before 8 o'clock, the former under a sentence of life imprisonment, the latter sentenced to serve a term of 25 years. The prisoners were taken first to a side room and told they would have to say good-bye, as the rules of the prison would not permit them to see each other again. Mrs. Boyle threw her arms around Jimmie's neck, and kissed him. She said, "We must take it the best we can." The prisoners then shook hands and the matron escorted Mrs. Boyle from the room. When she reached the corridor, she burst into tears and asked to be permitted once again to see her husband. The request was granted and she again kissed and embraced Boyle. The man maintained silence.

THREE SITTINGS EACH DAY

Legislature Making Efforts to Get Through Its Work—Workmen's Compensation Bill Adopted.

This week in local Parliamentary circles will probably be the busiest of the session, as commencing to-day, both Houses will sit three times a day. Yesterday there were, as usual, two sittings, and although the Assembly sat until 1.15 this morning very few items on the order paper were disposed of, although a number of Government measures were put through their last stage, but not without considerable objections by the Opposition members. In this respect, Hon. Mr. Taschereau's bill respecting compensation to workmen injured through accident, was again discussed last evening during several hours. No less than seven amendments were offered by the Opposition, but they were all defeated on straight party votes, and the bill finally adopted amidst the applause from the Government benches.

At the opening of the afternoon sitting, Premier Gouin introduced his bill to amend the Revised Statutes respecting terms and sittings of the Superior Court. The object of this bill is to establish concurrent jurisdiction of the Superior Court at St. Jerome and Ste. Scholastique.

Hon. Mr. Weir introduced his bill to amend the law respecting pensions of public officers. He explained that the object of his measure was to allow officials who joined the service since 1893 to take advantage of the pension fund by paying up their arrears. Both bills were read a first time.

Hon. Mr. Weir's bill to amend the Quebec License Act was read a second time in the afternoon.

The Provincial Treasurer remarked that the bill was amended at last session and now was one of the best in the Dominion.

Among the principal amendments was one giving the majority of the electors of a municipality the right to oppose the granting of any license by the Council; another increases the fines for the sale of spurious liquors and for the refilling of bottles with inferior liquor.

Hon. Mr. Weir's bill to amend the Quebec Insurance Act was also read a second time in the afternoon, and finally disposed of in the evening. This act obliges foreign insurance companies to take out a license in this Province, otherwise they cannot carry on business, and manufacturers and companies cannot take out policies with these companies if not licensed in this Province, excepting the case when they cannot receive insurance at reasonable rates in the Province, and this must be proven to the satisfaction of the Provincial Treasurer.

Another clause of the bill provides that an interim receipt should not contain all the conditions of the policy.

Hon. Mr. Weir's bill respecting the construction of a new jail for the Montreal district caused a lengthy debate. The first bill authorized a contract of $750,000, but it has been found necessary to advance a similar amount for a second contract. Additional expenditures will be issued to cover the second amount and they will be issued for five years instead of twenty-five, as originally proposed, but the Government will have power to release them after the first twenty-five years.

Several members of the Opposition objected to the bill, Messrs. Provost and Bourassa in particular delivering strong speeches and denouncing the Government for providing such work, before the money was voted by the House. The bill was read a second time.

The bills incorporating the Montreal and Quebec Technical Schools were adopted in third reading after a certain discussion. Premier Gouin replied to some of the remarks made by the Opposition members on Friday last and outlined the number of technical courses to be introduced and the hours which the pupils would spend in each day.

The architects plans were also laid on the table and examined by several of the members.

Mr. Bourassa did not think that the school would be such a benefit for the workmen as at first supposed and favored the smaller institutions. He wanted to know if the school was to be affiliated to Laval University. Sir Lomer Gouin replied that Laval and McGill Universities had no greater admirer than himself, but he did not think this was the proper time to discuss affiliation.

The bill was then adopted in third reading. In the evening the discussion again arose on the Montreal jail bill. Mr. Bourassa again charging the government for allowing an extra $700,000 to Mr. Pauze before consulting the House.

Hon. Mr. Taschereau replied that the government, by the bill of 1907, was authorized to advance money to complete the Montreal jail.

Mr. Bourassa insisted that the bill of 1907 only authorized the expenditure of $750,000.

Mr. Provost also attacked the Government for voting moneys away without consulting the members. Municipal councils might transact business in that manner, but they could be brought to court. Continuing, Mr. Provost remarked that last year the House voted $200,000 to the Montreal Technical School and without the consent of this House $500,000 more were granted. In 1907 the Government was authorized to advance $750,000 for the Montreal jail and again a similar amount was voted this year without permission of the House. Governor Vallee, of the Montreal jail, had more to say in the matter than the members.

The House then rose and reported progress and will consider the bill again to-day.

Hon. Mr. Taschereau's workmen's compensation bill was then taken up for third reading and was discussed at length, several amendments being proposed by the Opposition members.

Mr. Tellier wanted the clause, limiting the maximum compensation to $2,000 withdrawn.

Mr. Plante wanted the clause to read not less than $2,000, nor more than $3,000, and also suggested that no appeal be allowed to the Supreme Court.

Mr. Bourassa wanted to strike the clause reducing the indemnity in case of inexcusable fault of the workmen and increasing it in the case where the employer was at fault.

All these amendments were defeated on strict party lines and the bill passed a third time.

SEAWEED CAUSE OF MAN'S DEATH

Orangeville, Ont., May 10.—Benjamin Bradley, 78 years of age, of East Garfield, who had been living in Orangeville for the past 15 months, having retired from his farm, is dead, on account of seaweed growing in his stomach. Six months ago Bradley coughed up six inches of this weed, which was of a dark green color. Dr. Gibson, of Hillsburg, who was the family physician before he came to Orangeville, applied a stomach pump and succeeded in bringing up the growth. At various times since Bradley has coughed up portions of it, which have been sent to a well-known analyst, who describes it as a variety of seaweed, the seed of which had likely been concealed in a raw oyster which Bradley had eaten and the seed had taken root in a fold on the lining of his stomach. Bradley went against the advice of his physician and refused to submit to an operation.

The Quebec Chronicle

QUEBEC, MAY 11, 1909.

TRAFFIC AND ITS CHANNELS.

In yesterday's issue of The Chronicle we appealed for the dispassionate and non-party consideration of the great question of the development of our resources in the Northern part of this Province not only on the grounds of general political economy but also on the peculiar circumstances of the case. Our argument was, to put it in brief and more easily grasped terms, that the Province of Quebec, and this part in particular, must rely principally on itself for an expansion of trade and the provision of freight over the St. Lawrence route in order to secure it, and not upon what has been so long considered as the principal factor thereof, namely, the grain trade of the North Western Provinces. That these should in any way be diverted from going eastward via Quebec in summer and the Maritime seaports in winter does not seem to have entered into our calculations, and doubtless there are many to-day who will scout the idea; but it is nevertheless true for all that. Freight, as the Toronto News declares, does not always follow the shortest line, or take the most direct route to its destination, and, in support of this contention it instances the shipments of goods from such places as Buffalo and Detroit, and even places as far west as Chicago, Milwaukee and India, which might have been expected to go straight by rail to San Francisco, but which, as a matter of fact, are sent to New York. Here they are put on board a steamer for the eastern terminus of the Tehuantepec Railway in the Gulf of Mexico, taken across the Isthmus to Salina Cruz, and thence taken by boat to San Francisco, Portland, Ore., or Seattle. A round-about way of transmission, in which time is evidently not taken into the count, and the secret of which is low freight rates. A great deal of eastern American freight also goes around Cape Horn to the Pacific, and with the opening of the Panama Canal its volume will certainly increase.

"A similar development," says The News, "is about to occur in Canada." In "World's Work, Miss Agnes Laut dwells upon the tendency to ship Alberta wheat—not to Asia and Japan but, "to Liverpool via Vancouver and the Suez Canal instead of via Montreal." Never before in the history of railroading on this continent has grain been carried west across the Rockies for Europe. The stream of wheat is being turned backward in its course. The Dominion Government is asked to build elevators at Vancouver, and with the completion of the Panama Canal the volume of the export traffic via Vancouver will rapidly develop.

Like water, freight traffic follows the path of least resistance. The Grand Trunk Pacific will be completed to the Pacific Coast in 1911 and later on Prince Rupert will rival Vancouver as an exporter of Alberta wheat via the Panama route. Sooner or later the Canadian Northern will reach the Pacific, and engage in the same west-bound export grain business. The proposed road through the Prairie Provinces to Hudson Bay will provide a new short line that may compete successfully with the west-bound routes for export business, and help turn the Far-West traffic again in an easterly direction. In any event Western Canada is going to have outlets for what it produces. The three transcontinental railways will provide three spurs leading to the Atlantic, and three leading to the Pacific. The Hudson Bay route will be a seventh, and there is a possibility of grain going down the Mississippi, and thence to Europe.

The situation has therefore materially altered since it was first considered. Then it was calculated that the largest portion of the North-western freight, if not the whole of it, would ultimately be brought down to Quebec and the Maritime seaports for shipment to Europe; now three alternative routes have been, or are shortly likely to be, opened, that by the Pacific Ocean and Panama Canal, that by the Mississippi and the Gulf of Mexico, and that by the Hudson's Bay, and our great expectations must be considerably discounted. We have built upon the fact that in the St. Lawrence we possess the shortest and quickest route to Europe from the North-west, but, as The News points out, it is not so much a question of time that influences the flow of freight so far as non-perishable, or quasi non-perishable goods are concerned, but freight rates and insurance, and the route that is lowest in these will be the route that gets the preference. It is good, no doubt, to procure the swiftest vessels possible, but it is better still, and in point of fact imperative, to secure cheap freight rates, and low rates of insurance, and it is to these two points that the attention of the friends of the St. Lawrence route should be mainly directed.

That is the first thing, and the second is of almost equal importance. Cheap freight rates must depend, amongst other things on the certainty of full cargoes available for the vessels that use our route, and to secure this it is becoming evident that we must more and more rely on internal resources rather than external ones. Hence the rapid colonization and cultivation of our hitherto unexploited territory in the Northern part of this Province, and the opening up of lines of inter-communication between the settlements we may succeed in planting there, and the provision of ready access to Quebec for their products is the great question of the day for our statesmen.

NUMBERS VS. EFFICIENCY.

It is a striking fact that in all this clamor for the building of Dreadnoughts, so vast an amount of attention has been given to numbers and such little attention to the more vital element of efficiency.

After all, it is not German numbers but German efficiency that Great Britain has to dread. Neither in ancient nor in modern history have wars been won by numbers alone. From the days of Drake right up to the present, naval victories have generally fallen to the smaller squadrons and not infrequently to the smaller vessels. In the recent war between Russia and Japan, the Japanese naval forces were outnumbered by those of Russia and it was solely due to Japanese promptness and efficiency that the victory rested with that country.

In the present conjuncture Napoleon's celebrated motto that God is on the side of the heavy battalions has been quoted time and again. Those who quote this statement forget that Napoleon's own career gives it the lie. His earliest and most glorious victories were won against superior numbers. It was only when he had superior numbers on his own side that his star began to wane.

This is no plea for an inferior naval or military force. It is a plea for that common sense which recognizes that no matter how large a force a nation possesses, that force must above all things be properly disciplined, organized and prepared. It is not weight of metal but marksmanship which renders artillery effective, and the same rule holds true in every phase of national life.

If England has anything to fear from Germany's naval strength or military preponderance, she has still more to fear from the German schools which make every workman, no matter what his rank, a scientist thoroughly trained and equipped for the tasks he has to fulfill.

Austria-Hungary, a power which a little while ago was regarded as likely to fall to pieces when the Emperor Francis Joseph would be gathered to his fathers, followed up its display of vitality and strength in the Bosnia-Herzegovina coup by ordering the construction of four Dreadnoughts. Now the statement is made by a Vienna paper that the number of such ships to be added to the Austrian navy will be increased to seven. We do not believe all the news that comes from Vienna. It too often deceives us. If this should happen to be true, it will be interpreted as another proof that Austria-Hungary is acting in concert with Germany. The increase, if decided upon, will not affect the British two-power standard, but assuming Austria to be solid with Germany, it would greatly affect the British two-power standard. Italy, though still a member of the Triple Alliance, would have to be left out of the account, for she would not join in naval operations against Great Britain. Popular feeling in Italy has never been reconciled to the alliance with the hated Teutonic, and still holds the British in affectionate regard for the part they took in aiding the United Italy movement, led by Garibaldi. There has also been a drawing together of the Latin nations, France, Spain, Italy and Portugal, with Great Britain in sympathy with them. An entente between Great Britain and the United States would be the natural, as it would be a final response to all such plottings for world supremacy.—Witness.

BRITAIN DID NOT SACRIFICE US.

Against the delusion frequently voiced at meetings of Canadian Clubs that Great Britain, either from cowardice or from a failure to appreciate the value of this half of the continent, has made it a practice to sacrifice us when boundary and fishery questions have been up for settlement with the United States, this journal has often protested. Now we have the satisfaction of receiving support from no less an authority than Mr. Justice Longley, of the Supreme Court of Nova Scotia, who has just delivered an exhaustive address on this subject. Judge Longley maintains that while in the old controversies with our neighbors we have not secured all we may have desired, we have done very well on the whole.

One of the issues in respect of which we are alleged to have been "thrown down" by the Imperial Government is the boundary between this country and Maine. The State of Maine runs up into Canada in the shape of a wedge, and is an inconvenient feature of our geography. It is often said that if Britain had done her duty the line would have been different. But the facts tell their own story. The present boundary is the old colonial boundary. The Imperial statutes which fixed the limits of Nova Scotia and of Quebec, and divided these colonies from what was then Massachusetts—Maine not having been set apart—called for this line, and it followed as a consequence, after the rebellion, that the same line should be recognized. Moreover, there was a claim on behalf of the United States that Massachusetts extended to the Gulf. This claim was resisted, and the half-way line adopted. The boundary is not what we should have liked, but it is based upon the colonial boundaries and is not unjust. The western boundary, the 49th parallel, is often mentioned as a proof of the readiness of Britain to sacrifice us. But here we were not badly treated if history speaks correctly. Both countries had claims upon the Pacific coast, Britain demanding the sovereignty as far south as the mouth of the Columbia River, and the United States holding out for the extension of its jurisdiction up to where Alaska begins. The battle cry of the United States was on this subject "54.40 or fight," which meant that the entire coast should be conceded, otherwise there should be war. It was good diplomacy that secured a settlement on the basis of a compromise which gives us so splendid a province as British Columbia.

The efforts to make it understood that in later controversies, such as those arising out of the sealing question and the Alaska boundary, Britain failed to stand by us are as unfaithful to history as are the criticisms with respect to the earlier issues, for in these matters Canada really conducted her own diplomacy. We did everything which resulted in the Behring Sea settlement, and our Government carried through the Alaska arrangement, and even chose Lord Alverstone to assist in the adjudication of that dispute. We have not much to complain of, when the facts are carefully considered. If we had not had Britain behind us could we have done better than we did?—Mail and Empire.

CORONATION OF MEHMED

Constantinople, May 9.—Reviewing stands are being put up in the principal streets of Stamboul to-day in preparation for the procession to-morrow, following the girding of the sword upon Mehmed V. This ceremony, which corresponds to that of coronation, will take place in the Mosque Ayoub, the single Mosque in Constantinople which Christians are not allowed to enter or even congregate about. It will last but a few minutes and no foreign eyes will witness the ancient rite of the spiritual power consigning the temporal power to the Sultan. A stand has been erected for the diplomatic corps, and distinguished foreigners, some eight or ten blocks from the Mosque. The Sultan will proceed from the Dolma-Bagiche Palace to the Mosque which stands at the water's edge in a launch and from there, attended by the Grand Vizier, the Sheikh-ul-Islam, the members of the Cabinet, the chiefs of the army, the two higher grades of Ulema and many other functionaries, will go to the Top Kapou Palace, about six miles distant, to kiss the robe of the prophet. The Sultan's train is expected to make a rich display of fabrics, jewelled arms and fine horses.

The Reason why We Feel Tired

The system is overloaded with poisonous matter.

This may be the result of over-exertion or of derangements which are corrected by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

You expect to be tired when you have been working hard, for the activities of the muscles or brain cause a breaking down of cells, or burning up, as we might say, and after while the system becomes clogged with this waste matter or ashes and you get tired.

But you are often tired when you have not been working hard and in this case the conditions are much the same but the presence of the poisonous waste matter is due to the derangements of the excretory organs—the liver, kidneys and bowels.

Besides feelings of fatigue there is likely to be aching of the limbs, headache, pains in the small of the back and feelings of dizziness and weakness.

The filtering and excretory systems being clogged, digestion is interfered with, appetite fails and you feel generally miserable, out of sorts and irritable.

Under such circumstances you cannot possibly do better than use Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for they have a direct, specific and combined action on the liver, kidneys and bowels, affect prompt action and a thorough cleansing of the excretory system and restore healthful digestion.

There is no medicine of more frequent or effective use in the family than Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills for they have no equal as a cure for constipation, biliousness, liver troubles and kidney derangements. One pill a dose. 25 cents a box, at all dealers or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto.

IMPORTANT

JUDGMENT

St. Anne Fishing Company Against Riviere Ouelle Pulp Company.

Following is the text of an important judgment delivered on Wednesday last in the Superior Court of this district:

Canada, In the Province of Quebec, Superior Court.
District of Quebec.

The fifth day of May, one thousand, nine hundred and nine.

Present, Hon. Judge Ernest Cimon.

No. 1658.

The St. Anne Fish & Game Club, a body politic and corporate, having its principal place of business at Quebec,

vs. Plaintiff;

The River Ouelle Pulp & Lumber Company, a body politic and corporate, having its principal place of business at St. Pamel, County of Kamouraska,

Defendants.

The Court, having examined the procedure and evidence of record and heard the parties by their counsel upon the merits, the present case having been referred for proof and hearing at the same term;

Whereas, by deed assented to by the Minister of Lands, Mines and Fisheries of the Province of Quebec, in March, one thousand, nine hundred and five, His Majesty rented for a period of nine years, from the first of March, one thousand, nine hundred and five to the twenty-eighth February, one thousand nine hundred and fourteen, to the plaintiffs accepting thereof:

"The fishing rights in the big and little St. Anne Lakes in the Townships of Ixworth, Chapais and Lafontaine, in the Counties of Kamouraska and L'Islet, and their outlet, pursuant to a sketch (annexed to said deed) with a right to make use in the exercise of their fishing rights, of a reserve of three chains of land on the lots already conceded, and the rights upon waters covered by the present deed, wherever that reservation exists and also of a similar extent of land on lots not already conceded and also bordering upon the waters covered by the present deed, the Crown, however, reserving the right to sell any part of said lots during the continuance of said deed."

Whereas, by another deed, also assented to by the Minister of Lands, Mines & Fisheries, in March, one thousand, nine hundred and five, His Majesty leased for a term of ten years from the first of March, one thousand nine hundred and five, to the twenty-eighth day of February, one thousand nine hundred and fifteen, "for hunting purposes only" to the said club, according thereto:

"A certain extent of land, measuring about thirty-eight square miles, in the Townships of Lafontaine, Chapais and Ixworth, in the Counties of L'Islet and Kamouraska, and described as follows, to wit:—Northwest, by a line parallel to the line separating the Townships of Ashford and Lafontaine, to a distance of half a mile northwest of the latter line, from a point situated on the prolongation of the line of lots 45 and 46 of the first range of Lafontaine township, as far as the line between lots 8 and 9 of Ixworth township, and north by Tache road; southeast, by the front of the sixth range of Township of Chapais, from lot No.
38, inclusively up to lot No. 31 and its prolongation towards the southwest, as far as the line between lots 45 and 46 of the sixth range of Lafontaine; on the northeast by the lines 8 and 9 of the thirteenth and fourteenth range of Ixworth, by lots 18 and 19 of the first and second Chapais ranges and by lots 38 and 39 of the south-east of Tache road, extended to the front of the sixth range of that township; finally towards the southwest of the separating line between lots 45 and 46 of Lafontaine, from about the half of the depth of the sixth range of that township, going towards the northwest as far as the northwest limit, hereabove described in Ashford Township."

Whereas, the said two St. Anne lakes and said outlet, as well as the lands mentioned in the said fishing deed, are included in the fishing territory already described;

Whereas, the company defendants are proprietors, according to letters patent, dated the 23rd January, one thousand, nine hundred and four, of the lot of land No. 5, of the thirteenth range of Ixworth Township, which lot of land adjoins the extremity of little lake St. Anne, where the outlet exists and is crossed by the latter;

Whereas, the company defendant, pursuant to "licenses or permits" duly issued in their favor, detain the "timber limits" in said Townships of Ixworth, Chapais and Lafontaine, which limits include the plaintiffs fish and game territory and that they held these "timber limits" even before the year nineteen hundred and three;

Whereas, the big St. Anne Lake communicates with the small St. Anne Lake, which is on a lower level, so that the waters of the big lake naturally fall into the small lake, the outlet of which is also used by the big lake, and that reciprocally when the waters rise in the small lake, they are driven back to the big lake. Considering that this outlet of the small lake, when leaving the latter, falls about seven or eight miles further down, in the large Riviere Ouelle, upon which several mills below, at St. Pamel the defendant's mills are erected.

Whereas, the large Riviere Ouelle, above its junction with the outlet from the small lake, receives also the waters of several other rivers;

means of this dam the company turns both St. Anne lakes into a large reservoir which it makes use of to swell the waters of the big Riviere Ouelle, when they require it, as being unable to place all its logs at the same time in the pool at their mills, they bring them down during the season, just as they need them for manufacturing purposes and in quantities from twenty to thirty thousand logs;

And whereas, by its action, dated the twenty-fifth of April, one thousand, nine hundred and eight, and served on the eleventh of May, one thousand, nine hundred and eight, the plaintiffs thus complain of that dam.

"The company defendants have erected at the outlet of the said lakes, that is at the mouth of the small one, a dam by means of which they drive back the waters in said lakes, in enormous quantities, raising the level, at least, five feet in the small lake and two and a half feet in the big lake. The dam is, therefore, closed and the elevation of the level constantly maintained until, at a certain time, the defendants open the gates of the dam, allowing that mass of water to suddenly rush into the outlet, which results in considerably lowering the level of the lakes, destroying everything and especially the fish and game. The gates are then closed again and the same thing repeats itself. The defendants constructed and maintain that dam and use it for other purposes than for those provided and recognized by law, and this illegally and in violation of the plaintiffs' rights and therefore knowingly, maliciously and illegally prevent them exercising the greatest part of the rights, conceded to them by said deed, and causing them thereby, considerable damage.

This is specially the case with hunting which is now out of question on the borders of said lakes. . . . the water having inundated and covering on an average, four or five acres of land, bordering on the lakes which are surrounded with wood, and the plaintiffs are thereby deprived of the best portion of the hunting grounds upon all the territory conceded to them. Moreover, there was so driven back, carried away about a year ago, a bridge erected over the river running through the Tache road and the plaintiffs suffered thereby, and also for the reconstruction of a strip of new road necessitated by the inundation and also for the reconstruction of a bridge opposite the club house, such damages amounting to two hundred dollars. The inundation at certain points, forces the members of the club, plaintiffs in the case, to take a round-about way from two to three miles, on their trips and, moreover, it is impossible to land at any place around the lake and this sudden change in the level of the lakes have upset everything in connection with fish and game. The damages sustained by the plaintiffs, particularly during the past two years including the sum of two hundred dollars, above mentioned, amount to two thousand dollars."

And whereas, the plaintiffs conclude as follows:—"That it be stated and declared that the defendants had not, nor have they the right to continue and maintain said dam and that they be ordered to pull down and remove said dam . . . to act in every way so as to allow the waters of said lakes in the said outlet, their free natural course, and in default of the defendants so doing, that the plaintiffs be authorized to carry out all said necessary works at defendants' risks and expenses, and the plaintiffs further conclude that in any case the defendants be condemned to pay them the sum of two thousand dollars, interests and costs, the plaintiffs reserving all further legal recourse."

Whereas, the said company, defendants pleaded to the action as follows:—"In the year one thousand, nine hundred and three, the defendants constructed a dam at the foot of little Lake St. Anne, upon property belonging to them, to facilitate the descent and floating of their timber and run it to their saw mill situated in the parish of St. Pamel. These works were carried out according to law and the rules of art without that dam the defendants would be unable to continue their forestry and industrial operations.
The defendant only uses that dam for the floating and bringing down of their timber . . .
don't upset anything nor are they in any way a nuisance to plaintiff . . . defendants pretend . . .
that the decrease of fish and game, if such a thing exists, is not due to the construction and maintenance of the dam, but, moreover,
to the considerable clearing of land, to the large railway works carried on in that neighborhood, and above all, to the excessive and inconsiderate fishing and hunting by the members of the club and their guardians . . . without in any way admitting the damages to bridges and roads complained of by plaintiffs, nor admitting their responsibility, the defendants allege that the damages were caused four years ago and are prescribed. . . . The defendants did not, nor do they cause any damage to the plaintiffs, by their dam, which is so indispensable for the bringing down of their timber that, without the dam the defendants would be obliged to close their mills and discontinue their forestry operations."

Considering that the club plaintiffs in this cause have established the essential allegations of their action, that is to say, that the defendants,
by the use they make of that dam, inundate a part of the lands conceded to plaintiffs for fishing and hunting purposes, and thereby, drive away the game (deer, caribou and moose) from the sides of said lakes and render the approaches to the lakes difficult and dangerous to those who wish to fish there; that the fact of the defendants keeping the shoals of the dam closed during a certain time, thereby considerably raising the waters of the lakes so as to inundate the neighboring lands and then suddenly to open these shoals, which the defendants frequently do during the season—upsets both lakes as far as fishing is concerned, and considering that the defendants have thereby caused considerable damages to the plaintiffs.

Considering that no law authorizes the defendants to cause damages to plaintiffs and that consequently they acted illegally.

Considering that plaintiffs have instituted said action to defend and protect their rights.

Considering that if there is no occasion to order the pulling down of that dam, there is cause to grant that part of the conclusion of the action praying that defendants use it no more to the detriment of plaintiffs' rights.

Considering that the action only asks for damages sustained during the two years preceding it.

Estimating at four hundred dollars the damages which the defendants caused to plaintiffs during the two years preceding the action.

Doth adjudge as follows: Both order the defendants not to use that dam any more so as to inundate the lands conceded the club, plaintiffs in this case for fishing and hunting purposes and as regards the dam, "to act in any case so as to allow the waters of said lakes in said outlet, to take their natural course" and that as long as the plaintiffs fish and game deeds are in force, and doth condemn the defendants to pay to plaintiffs for the damages caused during the two years preceding the action, the sum of four hundred dollars, with interest, from the eleventh day of May, one thousand nine hundred and eight, and costs of action.

RECORDER'S COURT.

Yesterday morning six disciples of Bacchus made their bow to Recorder Dery. They had all sorts of excuses to offer for their presence, but the plea of drunkenness only prevailed.
Four were fined $5 and costs or eight days' jail; 1 $2 and costs or a similar imprisonment, and one was discharged.

STOMACH DERANGEMENT

Her Limbs Ached.
Worn Out—Tired.
Headaches, Dizziness.

Mrs. Scholes case like that of thousands cured by the celebrated tonic Ferrozone.

This is but one example of the sickness, the dull aching weariness that afflicts so many homes to-day.

Hundreds of women, single and married, will recognize in Mrs. Scholes' statement symptoms from which they suffer continually.

Almost instant in its wonderful results, better than any other tonic in the world is Ferrozone. All other medical discoveries seem as nought compared with the vital bracing health Ferrozone so surely brings.

FROOF OF CURE.

"People in ordinary circumstances find sickness the greatest burden of all," writes Mrs. W. S. Scholes, of all, of a well-known citizen in Russell. But the mother with young children must keep going whether sick or well. This was my plight just before my third child was weaned. I became weak and pale, and at night
I was so weary that I ached all over.
I slept poorly, suffered with indigestion and headaches that almost blinded me.

"At last, when thin, wrinkled and hollow-cheeked, I was urged to use Ferrozone. For the first time in years I enjoyed freedom from headaches, my appetite picked up, I grew stronger, felt better and slept soundly. You can't imagine my joy in seeing my strength, color and spirits returning.
Week by week I improved, gained eleven pounds and have been robust ever since."

Because Ferrozone invigorates—braces—builds up—because it will make you feel the exultant thrill of vitalizing blood and strong nerves—because it will give you comfort, energy, sound lasting health, there are a few of the reasons why you should use Ferrozone. Sold by all dealers, 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50.
Try Ferrozone. Do it to-day.

THEO. HAMEL'S CLOSING LETTER

New York, May 10—While some of the leading stocks reflected lower prices at the opening on weaker tone abroad, there was considerable strength in some sections of the list and despite the very heavy selling from abroad and some local bearish aggression the market maintained a fair degree of strength and in some respects was strong. There was, however, decided irregularity throughout the day. Foreigners sold about 50-600 shares principally in our metal stocks. There was good buying in the traction stocks. Outsiders did considerable buying here and helped the tone of the market.

The first line on May earnings were very favorable. We expect to see some uneasiness during the afternoon.
Several of the most prominent traders of the Street commenced to take profits, causing the market to close uneasy. Total sales, $63,200 shares.

BOULDERS FALL FROM THE CLIFF

SIR A. PELLETIER AT COMMERCIAL

Others Ready to Follow—Authorities Should Take Action at Once.

If the proper authorities do not adopt some means, and the immediately to remove the loose rock and boulders from the cliff beneath the ramparts, facing Mountain Hill, it is probable that a fatal accident will have to be recorded in the near future. Yesterday morning a number of boulders, one of them weighing at least 500 pounds, rolled down the cliff and lodged on the sidewalk. Fortunately no one was passing at the time, or a fatal accident might have resulted. These stones have been threatening to fall for some time, and it is certainly the duty of some to have the remainder of them removed before serious consequences result.

HARRIERS MEETING CALLED OFF

The meeting of the Quebec District Harrier League, which was to have taken place at the St. Louis Hotel last night was postponed till Monday next, owing to the fact that two of the clubs were not represented.

COURT OF SESSIONS.

Yesterday in the Court of Sessions a man giving the name of Napoleon Cote alias Ouellet, convicted of stealing jewelry, etc., was sentenced to six months' imprisonment. A man charged with failing to keep the peace was reminded to jail for eight days.

FOUND DROWNED.

Coroner Jolicoeur received a telegram from St. Jean, Island of Orleans, yesterday afternoon, stating that the body of Louis Lachance had been found floating in the river off there and requesting the presence of the Coroner this morning. Lachance is said to have been light-keeper at St. Petronille, Island of Orleans.

ENJOYABLE EUCHE.

A very enjoyable eucure was held last evening by the Young Men's Sodality, in their rooms in St. Patrick's Hall. Fifteen games were played, and the prizes were awarded to the following contestants:—1st, Mr. Egan; 2nd, Mr. D. Malloy; 3rd, Mr. X. Francis; 4th, Mr. J. Collier; 5th, J. Benedict.

BURIED IN QUEBEC.

Captain Higgs, Superintendent of the Chicoutimi Port Co., died in Chicoutimi last Thursday. Yesterday the remains arrived in this city and were conveyed to St. Matthew's Church, where the funeral service was conducted by Revd. Mr. Templeman. At the conclusion of the service the body was taken to Mount Hermon Cemetery, where the interment took place.

THE NICKEL.

The Nickel management have an all-round general good programme of change of programme which took place this afternoon. Among the subjects of the views are "Hunting Hippopotamus on the Nile," "The Clever Reporter," "A Pair of Garters," "One Touch of Nature," and "The Master of Black Rock." These, together with a pleasing illustrated song sung by Mr. Alex. Craig, "There'll Come a Day," a very pretty ballad, constitute an entertainment of pleasing excellence, besides being both interesting and instructive.

WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE SS. LAURENTIC.

The White Star Line office here had arranged to entertain their friends, and give them an opportunity of inspecting their magnificent new steamer next Saturday afternoon, but owing to the tide it will be impossible for the Laurentic to reach here before six o'clock Saturday afternoon, and as she has to sail with the mails at 7 p.m. the entertainment has had to be postponed until the next trip.

A number of experienced travellers, who arrived by the Laurentic, state that her passenger accommodation is equal to any steamer now on the Atlantic in comfort and elegance.

PASSED AWAY.

Much sympathy will be extended to Mr. Walter Henderson, representative at this port of the Allan Steamship Company in the loss he has just sustained in the death of his amiable wife. It is but a few months ago that death snatched from him his only daughter, and now he is called on to mourn the passing away of the beloved partner of his joys and sorrows. The late Mrs. Henderson, by her amiable and lovable disposition, endeared herself to a large circle of friends, who will deeply regret her taking away at a comparatively early age. To the bereaved husband and other relatives the Chronicle extends its deepest sympathy.

DARING ROBBERY AT ST. LOUIS HOTEL.

Something original in the shape of robberies was successfully carried out last Saturday afternoon at the St. Louis Hotel. About five o'clock on that day it was discovered that one of the telephones to which was attached a slot machine, containing a considerable sum, had been carried away. Evidently the thief had attempted to get away with the slot machine containing the money but finding this impossible he unscrewed the telephone box and made off with the entire apparatus. Although this must have taken some time, strange to say, no one saw him at work nor was he noticed leaving the hotel. Considering that this was accomplished during the afternoon almost at the entrance to the hotel elevator, it would be hard to imagine a more daring piece of work.

After the programme had been completed Master R. Pelletier read an address to which his honor replied. After expressing his appreciation of the evening's success, which he said recalled many pleasant recollections, his honor remarked that he considered this reception as a mark of loyalty for he was there not in his private capacity but as the representative of the sovereign. OPERA WAS WELL PRODUCED Offenbach's "Fille du Tambour Major" at the Theatre Populaire.

Offenbach's timely opera of "La Fille du Tambour Major" was the bill which the company at the Theatre Populaire presented last evening for its second week of its engagement. There was a large audience in attendance, and the performance was in every way a meritorious one. The opera enlisted the whole strength of the company, and principals and chorus, all did their utmost to make the presentation a success. That they did so seems to have little doubt, judging by the hearty applause which the large audience presented awarded their efforts. Mlle. de Juv's made a great hit as "Stella," her charming presence and vivacity winning for her well-deserved success. Mmes. Nozere and Dubouin also were prominent, while among the gentlemen performers Messrs. Dubieson, Valubert, Delbe, Villard and others were all that could be desired. The piece was well mounted, the costumes handsome, and the opera well sung and acted.

CLOSE OF TERM.

The present term of the Criminal Court closed yesterday morning, when Judge Carroll presided. Some motions were made and then Mr. Davidson, Crown Prosecutor, moved that a special term of the court be called for June 7th next when the cases against Lucien Gosselin for fraud, Helene Jarrard for theft, Alfred Poirer for obtaining money under false pretences and George Atkinson for forgery will be heard.

PUZZLED THE WORKMAN.

Mr. Pett Ridge, whose "Sketches from Life," published in The Strand Magazine, have been attracting so much attention, overhears many good things through listening to the conversation of "the man in the street." He was once in a railway carriage when he became interested in a graphic description of a battle which a soldier was giving to a typical working man. The soldier told of a fight which had begun at eight o'clock in the morning and continued until seven o'clock at night. His description was most realistic, and he worked himself up to a great state of enthusiasm as he lived through the dreadful scenes again. When he had finished his story the workman shook his head. "There's one thing I can't understand about that story," he said. "You say the battle began at eight o'clock in the morning and lasted until seven o'clock at night? 'That's so,' was the reply. 'Then,' retorted the workman, 'what I can't make out is this: how did you manage about your dinner-hour?'"

AN "ENGLISHMAN'S HOME" PRESENTED

Large Audience Last Evening Witnessed First Performance of Famous Piece in Quebec.

"An Englishman's Home," the drama of Major Guy du Maurier, which had its first presentation at the Auditorium last evening before a large audience, was received with apparently every mark of appreciation of the aims of the author, who has evidently tried to set before the public of Great Britain two very disquieting ideas, firstly that the nation is dangerously apathetic in the matter of national defence and secondly that the militia is wholly unprepared to cope with the situation which may evolve at any moment with continental nations. No one who saw the play last night failed for a moment to recognize the overdrawn character of the work, but everyone recognized that this was necessary in order to bring the question intended prominently before the inhabitants of the world wide Empire.

Of course by this time everyone probably knows the story told, how an enemy having landed upon British soil under cover of dense fog, makes its headquarters in Mr. Brown's house in Essex in spite of the attack of the local militia to hinder it, and how aforesaid enemy is finally repulsed by the arrival of the British regulars. Incidentally some really capital satire and many object lessons are worked into an entertaining play which was acted by a splendid company and staged as few plays seen here this season have been staged. The manner in which the last act was handled was sufficient to make any kind of a play go, the battle scene and wrecking and burning of the house of Mr. Brown being one of the most realistic stage pictures ever seen here.

The play is interpreted by a splendid company, among whom Mr. Wm. Hawirey stands out in striking prominence as "Mr. Brown," but every character is well represented. The final scene, where "Brown" stands at bay in face of the invading force, supplies a lesson of the intility of unorganized resistance. Major du Maurier simply means, as a critic says, that fights are not won by the heart alone, but by the head. Dramatic exigencies force him to use the do-or-doer. Broen as a symbol of this idea. His execution for using weapons, allowed by law only to regular soldiers, fulfils the purpose of the play and should terminate it. As already said, the arrival ex machina of a British force is merely a concession to patriotic force whose expediency under the circumstances the critic will realize, though he regrets it.

The British authorities have found Major du Maurier's play a great assistance in strengthening the ranks of the territorial army. Theatregoers over here, if they be not totally unacquainted with Englishmen's homes, will find in it a very telling satire and a melodrama by no means devoid of ordinary theatrical entertainment.

THE HAINS CASE

Flushing, N.Y., May 10—One hour or more of summing up by the prosecution, afterwards the court's charge—then the case of Captain Peter C. Hains, Jr., for the killing of Wm. E. Annis, at the Bayside Yacht Club last August will pass into the hands of the jury. When adjournment was taken to-day, Justice Garretson announced that he would allow former District Attorney Geo. A. Gregg just an hour in which to complete his remarks tomorrow morning. The court will then charge the jury, and the case should go to the jury shortly after noon.

Mrs. Virginia Hains, the mother of the defendant, with her husband, General Peter C. Hains, and their son, Major John P. Hains, sat in court during the hours of the vivid plea for the life of the prisoner. The mother embraced Captain Hains, when she first entered and clung to her boy until gently led away by Gen. Hains, and throughout Mr. McIntyre's remarks wept quietly. A strong contrast to the grief of his parents, was the attitude of Peter Hains, Jr., except for a few moments, when his lawyer forcefully took hold of the prisoner, and asked the jurors to study him as the living evidence of an insane man, Captain Hains displayed no emotion or interest in the proceedings. While Mr. McIntyre's address was basically an argument to show the insanity of his client, he nevertheless seized every opportunity to emphasize the dramatic and the pathetic and to hint at times at the "unwritten law." One of his melodramatic declarations was that Annis met death by "an act of God." All reference to the "unwritten law" was promptly objected to by the prosecution and the objections were sustained by the court.

With the beginning of the summing-up by the prosecution in the afternoon the prisoner's mother and father withdrew, and Mrs. Helen Annis, in deep mourning, appeared with her mother and sister. They remained in court while Mr. Gregg was speaking. The former District Attorney bitterly denounced the insanity defence, declaring that it was conceived and manufactured by the defense's lawyers as a last resort. He asked the jury to discard the testimony of insanity experts on both sides, and to decide for themselves on the strength of the lay testimony. Instead of an "Act of God" he branded shooting "a cowardly murder, committed with deliberation and premeditation."

"HEADACHE, WEAKNESS, HEART TROUBLE"

"I Suffered With for Years—Pe-ru-na Cured Me Entirely."

Miss Albina Chauvin, No. 50 Rue Agnes, St. Henri, Montreal, Can., writes: "I consider Peruna better than any other remedy, as it cured me when nothing else could. I suffered for years and years with heart trouble, headache and weakness. I never expected to find anything to cure me. I saw one day, in 'La Presse,' that Peruna was excellent and I tried it. One bottle produced a change in me and if the price had been $100 a bottle I would have paid it gladly. I have taken six bottles and am entirely cured. Please accept my thanks and best wishes for your Peruna."

"Please Accept My Thanks and Best Wishes For Your PE-RU-NA."

ALBINA CHAUVIN

Many cases of heart trouble are caused by reflex disturbances.

Derangements of the stomach and liver produce symptoms of heart trouble.

Catastroph of the stomach is a very frequent cause of sympathetic heart disease.

Palpitation, shortness of breath and bloating after meals are the most prominent symptoms.

Such a condition of the stomach is also liable to produce headaches of the worst sort.

Medicines that palliate the symptoms will never lead to a cure.

It is the effect which Peruna has upon the stomach, healing the mucous membranes and restoring the natural function of the stomach, that causes Peruna to bring such prompt relief.

FIRST LACROSSE MATCH OF SEASON

Montreal and Shamrock Will Meet on M.A.A. Grounds Next Saturday.

Montreal, May 10.—Next Saturday will see the opening of the lacrosse season, when the old rivals, Montreal and Shamrock, will meet in an exhibition match on the M. A. A. grounds. The proceeds of the match will go to the Western Hospital. It is not to be expected that the teams will be in anything like championship form, as they have had very little indoor practice, but whether engaged in a championship or an exhibition match, the Shamrock and Montreal teams never fail to fight hard to down each other.

The majority of the men who were with the teams last season will be seen on the field. It is said that Geo. Roberts will line out with the Montrealers, while the Shamrocks claim they will have a couple of men in line who were out of the game last season, one of whom it is known will be Eddie Robinson.

It was rumored Saturday that Pete Luddy, who played point for the Shamrocks a few years ago, and Mike Kenny, a former goal keeper and defense fielder of the Irishmen, who has been out of the game since he dislocated his knee on the National Grounds two years ago, will be with the winged-wheel team.

The Shamrocks had a workout on their grounds at the Mile End on Saturday when about twenty players were in uniform, including, Fyon, Kavanagh, McIlwaine, Toban, Munday, Hughes, Robinson, Hogan, Collins and O'Reilly. They will have another practice this evening, when Brennan, Howard and Rochford are expected to be out.

Montreal also had a big turnout after the Longboat-Shabb race, and among the ones to make a start was George Finlayson.

YESTERDAY'S BASEBALL (Eastern.)

All games of the Eastern League, scheduled for to-day, were postponed on account of rain.

(National.)

Boston, May 10.—Inability to hit Raymond's pitching with men on bases cost the locals the game to-day. New York winning 2 to 1, the fourth time in this series that the same score has prevailed. Batteries:—Raymond and Schlei; White and Bowerman. Umpires, Johnston and Cusack.

Brooklyn, May 10.—To-day's game was played in a continuous rain. Brooklyn batted Coveloskie out of the box for the second time during the series and Bell scored his second victory this time by 4 to 2. Bell had splendid control also made two hits which figured in three of the runs. Bergens catching was a feature. Pitcher Langren, who has been purchased from Chicago by Brooklyn, is destined for Toronto. Owing to the number of foul balls appropriated by the spectators, President Elbette will give away passes to those returned them in the future. Score:— R.H.E. Philadelphia.....000010010—2 7 2 Brooklyn.....12000010x—4 9 3

Batteries:—Coveloskie, Sparks and Dooin; Bell and Bergens. Umpires, Truby and Rigler.

Chicago, May 10.—Chicago to-day defeated Washington, the first of the eastern teams to appear here, in a hard fought 11 inning game, 1 to 0. Both White and Johnston pitched good ball up to the eleventh. In the deciding round, Johnson weakened and successive hits by White, Hahn and Weldon gave Chicago the winning run. Score:— R.H.E. Chicago.....000000000—1 6 3 Washington.....000000000—0 4 1 Batteries:—White and Sullivan; Johnson and Street. Umpires, Connelly and Egan.

OPTIMISTIC JOE PAGE.

St. John, N.B., Sun.—Among the visitors in the city yesterday was Joseph Page, the well known sport promoter. Mr. Page registered at the Tufelin Hotel. He remained over in Montreal on Thursday to witness the opening of the baseball season in that city. Newark and Montreal were the opponents, the home club winning out by a score of 9 to 1.

Mr. Page declares that Montreal has some fine material for the present season.

Regarding the local situation, Mr. Page was of the opinion that a league with the Maine towns would prove highly advantageous. He stated that there was no reason why Bangor, Houlton and other centres would not form a league and have St. John included. Mr. Page stated he considered that matters would finally reach this stage and St. John would witness these fast teams in league contests or in exhibition games.

Mr. Page has an all-star aggregation, the "Reserves," on the diamond, and twenty games have been already booked. Those desirous of communicating with Mr. Page may address him in care of the Montreal Baseball Grounds, Montreal.

HOW ATHLETIC WAR STARTED

Peace Proposals Now Seem to be Reaching a Satisfactory Conclusion.

Toronto Star.—In view of the fact that the first actual steps towards athletic peace have been taken, it seems opportune to present a brief review of the greatest athletic war that ever took place in Canada. But while it was the greatest war of its sort, it was not by any means a disastrous one, although it now threatens to become so on account of its being too long drawn out. The main issue is being lost sight of, and the various side issues that have grown out of it are liable to bring discredit and ridicule upon sports in general.

There are three principal parties to this fight.

First and oldest, the Canadian Amateur Athletic Association, which for years was the controlling power of amateur sport.

Second, the Y. M. C. A., which as a result of the quarrel, has managed to make itself stronger than ever before as an athletic body, although it has been a factor in sports for many years.

Third, the Athletic Federation of Canada, the newest body, although composed of organizations that are as old as the first organized athletic body in Montreal.

When the war started, the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union was the whole thing, the Y. M. C. A. merely a contributory power, and the Union as a whole was on the decline.

It had done good work at times, and it had almost reached the height of its usefulness, in its restricted and harassed position, when under men like Mr. Harry Brophy and Major Macaulay, it began to broaden out and take in associations in the West, in the Lower Provinces, and elsewhere.

For a couple of years it went on with increased prestige, and then came the debacle.

Gradually the combination in control of the Union weakened, and the leaves of professional sport, which had been slowly introduced years before, began to show its baneful influence. The men in control of C. A. A. U. affairs tried to ignore it, and dallied with it till it obtained such influence that it got beyond their control.

If any one athletic body was more to blame than another for the present state of affairs, that body was the Shamrock Lacrosse Club, the main-spring of the Shamrock Athletic Association. In all the years of its history, the Shamrock Club has never failed to get what it wanted, and on this particular occasion they wanted to play for the Minto Cup with a professional team from Ontario. They set about getting permission from the Canadian Amateur Athletic Union, the most amateur body in an amateur country, which was most strenuously opposed to amateurs and professionals playing together, or against one another, to do this, and that permission was the straw that broke the camel's back.

It was very nice for the Shamrocks, but it was very bad for the Union. Its backbone was broken, and when over two years ago the clubs in the Montreal district, tired of the hypocrisy of hidden professionalism, attended the annual meeting of the Union they demanded sanction to play amateurs with and against professionals, as in certain sports of Great Britain, and when the Ontario representatives and those of the Y. M. C. A. refused to agree to this a schism resulted, the Athletic Federation of Canada was born, and the war was on.

What happened and why, though bitter, the war was not disastrous up till now, will be told in another story.

MEADOWS-HOLMER RACE.

15 Couillard Street, Quebec, May 10th, 1909.

Mr. D. Watson, Chronicle Printing Co., Quebec, Que.

Dear Sir.—I wish to thank you for the hearty and sincere support you extended to me in the promoting of Saturday's race.

I think you will agree with me that it was an honest, sterling contest and each man ran for all that was in him.

The track was re-measured after the race and found to be 40 yards over for the 15 miles. I caught the time in 1:24.56 and 2:5 seconds, and I believe you caught it a shade better than this. Taking the track into consideration this performance equalled that of Shabb on the M. A. A. as there is not a minute's difference in the time.

Very respectfully yours,

EDGAR A. SHEE.

LYNCH AND DUFRESNE.

Montreal Gazette.—"On the night of December 18th, 1906, Alf Lynch, the clever Irish-Canadian boxer from Quebec, met Kid Dufresne, the French-Canadian champion in an exciting fifteen round contest at the Shamrock Club House. The bout between them proved to be one of the hardest, fastest and most stubbornly contested battles ever seen in the history of the local arena. Lynch was declared the winner on a foul that the French boy's supporters claimed was a physical impossibility for their favorite to commit. All efforts to rematch the pair have failed until now, after over two years of bickering, they have finally been matched to battle it out, and will face each other in the ring once more on the night of Friday, May 21st, at Sohmer Park. Dufresne is being backed by a syndicate of his fellow countrymen now living in Lewiston, Maine, who have engaged a well-known New York trainer for the French boy, and it is said that they will back their favorite to win a knockout.

WITH HORSE AND BREEDER

Items of Interest to Horsemen Culled From Many Sources—Notes and Comments.

Toronto Telegram.—King Edward's success in the first of the year's classics, namely the Two Thousand Guineas, arouses general hope that Minoru will go along and win the Derby. It will be recalled that a year ago last winter, his Majesty's spindleg-legged hulking Perrier was favorite for the Derby. He came out in the spring and won the Newmarket Biennial Stakes, and his victory was popularly interpreted to mean that the Derby was at his mercy. A fortnight later, he was belatedly trounced by Mr. August Belmont's Norman III. Then the race at Epsom was conceded to be between the pair. As a matter of fact, neither of them showed any class, and if Perrier is any good it is as a cab horse.

MINORU'S SECOND VICTORY.

Minoru won once last season as a two-year-old, and as it was the rather important Great Surrey Foal Stakes, it was expected that he would be a strong factor in all the stakes in which he was entered. He was started several times subsequently, but never did anything to justify his early promise, and was supposed to be a counterfitter. Then another good one turned up in Princess de Galles of the King's stable, and it was on the filly rather than the colt that the Royal hopes wintered.

NOT BRED BY THE KING.

Both Minoru and Princess were bought or leased by the King from Mr. Hall Walker, their breeder. His Majesty's own young stock was so poor that he had either to go outside for his stock or do without any candidates for the classics of 1909. It looks now as though he had been extremely lucky. Of course, the Two Thousand is only a mile, and in less than a month Minoru and the rest will be called on to gallop a hard mile and a half. The vital question of staying remains to be solved. No matter what happens in the future it is a great triumph to win even the least of the classics; and to beat such a crack horse as Bayardo into the bargain.

RAILWAY GUARD'S HEROIC FEAT

Stops Runaway Train and Averts Great Disaster—Perilous Task.

London, May 10.—An act of heroism which undoubtedly averted a great disaster was performed on Monday by John Bates, the guard of a goods train on the Banbury and Blechley branch of the London and North-Western Railway.

The engine of a goods train, composed of about a dozen trucks, loaded with coal, granite, etc., which had been shunting on a siding at Padbury Station, was for some reason left unattended for a few seconds by the driver and fireman, and in some unexplained manner started off down the line.

Bates, who was in his brake-van, knew that if the train was not stopped it must inevitably dash into a passenger train that was due to wait at Westbury Station. He therefore, without a moment's hesitation, leaped down the brake in his brake-van and then scrambled from the latter into the last truck, and, hanging over the side with the train dashing along at over twenty miles an hour, dropped the lever brake.

Then he went from truck to truck, repeating the operation. Meanwhile the train had dashed through Buckingham Station, to the consternation of the officials, who, seeing there was no one on the engine, telegraphed to the next station.

Bates had also tried to reach the engine, but the smoke between the leading truck and the locomotive was so great as to make this an impossible task. Presently he was encouraged by the slackening of the speed. The drag of the trucks with the brakes on was too much for the engine and it stopped on a little rise just outside Westbury Station, where the passenger train from Banbury was standing.

But for the coolness and pluck shown by Bates an awful catastrophe must have resulted. The goods train was brought back to Buckingham, where the driver and stoker had already arrived, having run the three miles from Padbury. They had feared a disaster, and were much relieved to find that no damage had been done.

Interviewed on Monday night by a Lloyd's News representative, Bates said he entered the service of the railway company in 1882, and during the past few years had worked the goods train from Blechley daily, returning by the four o'clock passenger train to Winslow, then back to Buckingham and back again to Blechley by goods train.

Asked as to how he saved the two trains, he said: "I don't want to say anything about it; I only did my duty." "But," said our correspondent, "if the train had gone on to Westbury Station there must have been a loss of life." "Yes," he replied: "I thought that as I got into the truck; but after then there was no time to think about anything else but stopping the train, and I am glad I was able to do it."

A POISON EPISODE.

When a Famous Chemist Was Silenced
—In Court by a Judge.

There was a famous poisoning case in England many years ago in which the strong point of the defense was to show that the accused, who was an expert chemist, would not have used a poison which could be so easily found after it had been taken into the human system. Sir Robert Christeson, professor in Edinburgh University, a famous expert on toxicology, whose works are still standard on that subject, was put on the stand to prove this point. When he declared that a chemist would certainly use some poison which would leave no trace, the prosecuting attorney asked him if he meant to say that there were such poisons.

Sir Robert replied in the affirmative. The prosecutor asked, "Then Name them!"

"No!" shouted the Judge. "I forbid you to answer that question!"

In spite of the protests of the prosecutor the Judge would not allow the expert publicly to give the name of a poison which would leave no trace, and the question remained unanswered.

Now comes the curious part of the story. During the next two years Sir Robert received more than 4,000 letters from all parts of the world asking, begging, offering to buy, the name of the untraceable poison alluded to in his testimony. Many of these he kept as curiosities, showing them to his friends as evidence of the depravity of human nature. Some of the exchanges for wanting the name of the poison were very ingenious. One man was writing a novel based on a poison plot and wanted to make use of the untraceable poison idea. He did not want to give the name of the poison in his book, but just wanted to have it by him in case any scientific critic should deny the possibility of such poisons, when he could send him the name in a private letter and quote the "distinguished authority" from whom it came, etc. Several persons professed to be studying chemistry and asked for the information on the ground of professional courtesy. To all such Sir Robert would send the advice to pursue their studies and they would soon know as much about it as he did. Many offered large sums of money for the secret, usually pretending they had but still larger amounts that they could find it out in a given time and were willing to share their profits liberally with Sir Robert.

The thing which most impressed Sir Robert was the number of persons all over the world who seemed desirous of possessing the secret of an agent that would kill, but leave no trace, and the amazing falsehoods to which they would subscribe their names in order to obtain the information. It is said that whatever poison Sir Robert had in mind at the trial he never mentioned it, not even to his classes, so strongly was he impressed with the danger of letting such a thing become matter of public knowledge.

SCRAPING THE STOMACH

Dangerous and Painful Operation Avoided by Taking "Fruit-a-Tives." Guelph, Ont., Aug. 6, 1908.

I suffered for many months with dreadful Stomach Trouble, with vomiting and constant pain, and I could retain practically nothing. My doctor stated that I must go to the hospital and undergo an operation of scraping the stomach and be fed by the bowels for weeks. All the medicines the doctor gave me I vomited at once. I was dreadfully alarmed, but I dreaded an operation and had refused.

I had heard of "Fruit-a-Tives" and the great success they were having in all Stomach Troubles, and I decided to try them. To my surprise, the "Fruit-a-Tives" not only remained on the stomach, but they also checked the vomiting. I immediately began to improve, and in three days the pain was easier and I was decidedly better. I continued to take "Fruit-a-Tives" and they completely cured me.

PEARL PIN'S ADVENTURES

Paris, May 8.—In the last twelve months a pearl pin has had a strange history. A charwoman picked it up last summer in the gravel of the Champs Elysees, and, having no idea of its value, she showed it to a jeweller, who dishonestly took advantage of her ignorance and gave her two francs for it.

He was not very much wiser himself, however, as he sold it for $4 to a dealer, who easily found a purchaser at sixteen guineas. The latter got $40 for it with equal ease from a fifth person, who in his turn went over to London with the pearl pin, and disposed of it for £200 to a jeweller.

In his turn the jeweller showed it to a detective, who recognized it (says the "Telegraph") as a pearl worth £1,600, which had been lost or stolen a year before in Paris, and which as had been commissioned to trace and, if possible, recover.

The detective started investigating, step by step, the history of the jewel in the twelve months, and was able not only to ascertain exactly through whose hands it had passed, but to annul each successive deal of which it had been the subject, from the £200 paid by the London jeweller down even to the two francs which the charwoman had got for her find.
