Slight Improvement In Condition Of Injured Man

Slight improvement was reported yesterday in the condition of W. Dick Field, 1109 Greene avenue, who is a patient in the Montreal Neurological Institute as the result of injuries sustained in an automobile accident.

Details of the accident which occurred on Sunday on the highway between Granby and Farnham, were lacking when the Provincial Police opened an investigation into the case. The victim, a 27 year old Westmount Artilleryman told Det. Sgt. L. Forest that he was asleep in the back of the car when the accident happened, from which he sustained a fractured skull, a broken nose, badly cut hands and a possible dislocation of the jaw. Investigation into the case will be continued during the next few days. Det. Lt. Albert Marineau said yesterday. He added that only one accident had been reported to the police in the Farnham district last Sunday morning, and in that case an officer of the Fusiliers de Mont Royal

Children in these classes not only learn the rudiments of piano playing but are trained to listen and derive an intelligent appreciation of music.

The former drudgery of learning to play the piano has gone forever and in its place we have children enjoying the social art of music in the company of their playmates.

Pupils attending these classes may be prepared for the McGill University local entrance examinations, held each May. These conservatorium classes do not exclude children attending private schools or junior high. The registration of pupils will continue until October 1.

WESTMOUNT, THURSDAY, SEPTEMBER 19, 1940

CANADA'S GOLD AND THE WAR

Of an importance more far-reaching than the average person realizes is Canada's gold production, for gold provides the sinews of war. In the midst of war comes this cheering news from the Dominion Bureau of Statistics: According to preliminary statistics of world production, Canada probably ranked second as a gold producing country in 1939, being surpassed in output only by our sister Dominion of South Africa. Production of gold in Canada from all primary sources totalled 5,094,379 fine troy ounces in 1939 compared with 4,725,117 fine troy ounces in 1938. The gross value of output in 1939 amounted to $184,115,951, or an increase of nearly eleven per cent. over the corresponding value of the preceding year. The quantity and value of gold produced in Canada during 1939 were the greatest ever recorded in the history of the Canadian mining industry.

GUNS OF SPORTSMEN

There has been a good deal of misunderstanding about the guns of sportsmen in this year of War. These are the facts.

Sportsmen from the United States and other countries who have been in the habit of visiting Canada for the hunting season or for gun club or trap shooting may continue to bring their firearms with them under the provisions of an Order in Council which permits the Commissioner of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police to grant individual permits to bona fide tourists. Ordinarily, aliens are prohibited from carrying firearms in Canada or having them in their possession.

Under the new regulations, intending hunters and others desiring to bring their firearms, together with a reasonable supply of ammunition, into the Dominion, are required to apply in advance by letter or telegram to the Commissioner of Customs at Ottawa, or to the Commissioner, Royal Canadian Mounted Police, Ottawa. Each applicant must state his name, address and occupation; purpose and duration of visit; destination in Canada; description, make, and serial number of each firearm; and the prospective Canadian frontier port of arrival. The application should be supported by suitable references.

The bona fides of the applicant having been satisfactorily established, a permit will be forwarded to the Collector of Customs at the Canadian frontier customs port designated in the tourist's application, where it will be delivered to the tourist on arrival. No permits will be granted for automatic firearms, and ammunition imported is subject to the regular customs charges.

HAPPY VETERAN

Reaching 80 years of age, General John J. Pershing finds his lot in life considerably happier than most others who, like himself, have sounded the call to their respective countries to prepare to meet dangers from without. He has lived to see his native land wake up to the need for defense without being plunged into warfare to learn its lesson the hard way.

In the years preceding 1914, two voices were raised in Great Britain, sounding the same warning. They were the voices of Earl Roberts and Mr. Rudyard Kipling. They finally saw their lessons taken to heart, but through the agency of a terrible war which took an awful toll of life in its early stages because of the unpreparedness against which they had clamored. Rt. Hon. Anthony Eden and Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill went through the same bitter experience in connection with the present war.

General Pershing at least has the satisfaction of seeing the United States do most of the things which he said months ago had to be done. Of course, the country did these things under the stress of a war which carried an actual threat to American security, but the preparations have begun before hostilities come to American shores.

THE FORUM

Conducted by HOWARD S. ROSS, K.C., D.C.L.

In Which Subjects of General Interest Are Discussed

The opinions expressed in this Forum are not necessarily those of this newspaper and it does not accept responsibility for them.

When Wisconsin passed workmen's compensation laws it was provided in order to encourage individual initiative that each company should stand on its own feet. The factory that provided the most effective safety measures did not have to pay for the factory which neglects safety measures. As a result the workers of Wisconsin receive the highest benefits in the U.S.A. But equally important is the fact that the total cost to business and industry is less in Wisconsin than in any other state. By working together employers and labor have so reduced accidents that Wisconsin has the best record for industrial safety in the U.S.A.

We now live in a world where there are many problems which the individual cannot solve alone. This change in the world compels common problems. But the danger in taking collective action is that we will destroy the initiative, enterprise, self-reliance and responsibility of the individual.

There should be more uniformity in the spelling of the important word—"defence"—which in the U.S.A. and GB IS AS A RULE SPELLED "defense." Fortunately the dictionaries give us our choice, and our official circles use "defence."

They that can give up essential liberty to obtain a little temporary safety deserve neither liberty nor safety.—Benjamin Franklin.

Wilkie, presidential nominee, a red-hot advocate of the conscription of youth for military service made a strong attack upon the senate-approved amendment to the conscription bill. When the senate heard reports that munition makers were sitting down on national defence until they were sure of better profits they passed by 69 to 16 an amendment authorizing the president to take over corporations which fail to cooperate in producing the nation's defence materials and equipment. Our Government took this power soon after the beginning of the War.

"CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES" "Matter" is the subject of the lesson-sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist throughout the world on Sunday September 22.

The golden text is from I John 5:21. "Little children keep yourselves from idols." Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "If we live in the Spirit, let us also walk in the Spirit." (Gal. 5:25).

The lesson-sermon also includes the following passages from the Christian Science textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "We must destroy the false belief that life and intelligence are in matter, and plant ourselves upon what is pure and perfect. Paul said, 'Walk in the Spirit, and ye shall not fulfil the lust of the flesh.' Sooner or later we shall learn that the fetters of man's finite capacity are forged by the illusion that he lives in body instead of in Soul, in matter instead of in Spirit." (Page 222).

Pacifists Called To Fasting Clan

An appeal to pacifists "to give up one meal each week as their witness against war and hunger blockade, and to contribute this money to help speed American food ships to Europe on peaceful invasion and hunger-blockaded lands," featured the closing session of the twenty-fifth annual conference of the Fellowship of Reconciliation. The fast was recommended as "a symbol of national humiliation, prayer and sacrifice" and as a demonstration of "positive religious pacifist faith." The meeting, which closed recently, scored the British and German blockades and declared they must be broken.

The Fellowship, which is strongly on record against the Burke-Wadsworth Compulsory Military Service bill, also called on its membership for "a total fast day to be observed as a day of national humiliation, prayer and sacrifice" as a protest against the draft.

At the evening service Mr. Johnston will speak on "Crashing the Gates of the Kingdom." This will be based on that rather startling statement of Jesus—"The Kingdom of Heaven suffereth violence and the violent take it by force."

Under the direction of Dr. G. A. Clarke, minister of First Baptist Church, Malden, Mass., a school of Discipleship, or a University of Christian Life and Christian Living, will be conducted from October 10th to 16th. These sessions will be open to all who care to attend. Dr. Clarke is a preacher and leader of outstanding ability.

THEATRICAL ATTRACTIONS

Jean Parker, Carlson In Film "Beyond Tomorrow"

Paired for the first time, Jean Parker and Richard Carlson will be seen as the romantic leads in RKO Radio's newest screen hit, "Beyond Tomorrow," which is now playing at the Snowdon United Theatre. Other members of the all-star cast include Charles Winninger, Maria Ouspenskaya, Helen Vinson, C. Aubrey Smith and Harry Carey.

"Beyond Tomorrow" is being acclaimed as one of the most entertaining and unique films of the year; entertaining because of the deftly woven love story built around the too rapid success of a young singer, played by Carlson, whose love is sought by Jean Parker, the sweet, unsophisticated girl, and Helen Vinson, the selfish, cold-blooded type. The uniqueness lies in the fact that three players are seen in the picture in spirit form.

Charles Winninger, C. Aubrey Smith and Harry Carey are three partners in a construction engineering firm. On Christmas Eve, Winninger gives presents to everybody and brings the spirit of Christmas into the home where the three men live together with a charming housekeeper, Maria Ouspenskaya, to look after them.

Comedy Romance Now Playing At York United

"Private Affairs," the new Universal film starring Nancy Kelly, Robert Cummings, Hugh Herbert and Roland Young, which opened yesterday at the York United theatre, is a comedy of bright contrasts.

Modern and breezy in spirit, its action is played in counterpoint against a background of Boston's staid Back Bay, where tradition holds sway and family sometimes means more than reality.

Roland Young, long famed as the familiar "Topper" of that popular film series, wins new laurels in a sympathetic role that finds him as an estranged member of a Boston clan who chose to be a "black sheep" rather than be dictated to in his choice of a bride.

Important Role Nancy Kelly is his daughter, a pretty girl who has grown up with her crochety grandfather, Montagu Love, in the Back Bay atmosphere without ever having seen her father. Action of the film hinges on the fact that Miss Kelly faces the same romantic quandary that engulfed her parent twenty years before.

Marlene Dietrich is introducing, publicly, the swank sailor trousers and jacket which she wears in her current Universal picture "Seven Sinners."

Johnny Mack Brown will defend his studio championship when the Universal Studio tennis tournament gets under way early next month.

MASKS and MIKES by Jack Hirshberg R. I. P. Hollywood, September 18—They buried him ten years ago this month—an emaciated hulk, eaten away by time and disease. He had died six years previous, his casket resting the meanwhile in the crypt of his benefactor. He wasn't old—only 31. When 21 he'd been healthy but broke. Today he was wealthy but dead. What a man! Born to a middle class family in Genoa, he had forsaken a future in the Italian cavalry to sail for America when 18. America! Land of romance and golden opportunity! He found New York indifferent to his presence, but Manhattan's coldness didn't phase him. He grabbed a job slinging hash, saved up his pennies and drifted into vaudeville. The boy was a born dancer. And a smooth talker, too—five feet, ten; dark burning eyes; a profile that made most women squirm! In 1916 he joined a musical comedy company, only to find himself stranded in San Francisco when the outfit went broke. At that time the famed Cliff House was the swank spot of the coast. The lad donned his dress suit, invaded the Cliff House with 65 cents in his pocket—and set about teaching "Frisco to tango! But he wasn't well. Friends slipped him $100 and shipped him south to Los Angeles where the sun and air were conducive to better health. Working as an extra in pictures he was spotted by June Mathis, a writer, who had him cast as a dancing Gaucho in her current film, "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse." This film zoomed him to success. Almost overnight his name became immortal, his dashing figure proved a magnet at the box-office. Films were still in swaddling clothes, and what he accomplished with the rise of an eyebrow requires pages of dialogue today. He became the cynosure of feminine eyes. Women hastened to marry him before his divorces were legal. His charming, simple manners, innate courtesy and jet black hair mowed 'em down in quick succession. In short, he had "arrived." He was a surprisingly good actor, too—and not half as amorous as he looked. He loved fine things: good books, well-bred horses, beautiful paintings. Despite his unending marriages he was never woman-crazy; he longed for a family and the quiet of his home. "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" was followed by "The Eagle," "The Sheik," "Return of the Sheik." United Artists paid him $7,000 a week—but he was usually penniless. He was generous and extravagant to the extreme. However he never fully regained his health. He lost his teeth, his verve, his dash. In 1926 he underwent an operation in New York, and failed to pull through. His death proved an international catastrophe. Women actually went mad with grief. Men collapsed at the funeral. More than 1,000,000 gaping citizens lined the avenues of Manhattan as his

THRILLING ROMANTIC!

Joan Fontaine and Laurence Olivier the romantic duo of the film "Rebecca," which opens at the Monkland United Theatre on Sunday playing until Tuesday.

SCARLETT AND TAYLOR TOGETHER

Jeffrey Lynn Plays Fine Role At Westmount

One of the most charming films of the season, Warner Bros. "My Love Came Back," which opens at the Westmount United Theatre starting Sunday, playing until Tuesday night, is a sparkling Hollywood product that puts Jeffrey Lynn in the front ranks of actors headed for top flight stardom. Playing opposite Olivia DeHavilland, Lynn has an excellent opportunity to display the effortless personality that first demanded attention in "Four Daughters." The clean-cut, handsome fellow has gone far in his short time in films. "Yes, My Darling Daughter" — "It All Came True" — "All This, And Heaven Too" — and now "My Love Came Back" — all varied roles that have proven him to be an actor as well as "personality boy."

Lynn's role in the new film is that of the efficient business manager of Charles Winninger. The old boy falls for Miss DeHavilland and it is left to Lynn to straighten things out when complications set in. Olivia, unaware of the scandal she has caused, is dumfounded when Jeffrey admonishes her, and the comely Melaine of "Gone With The Wind" does an about face. MOVIES OF THE WEEK William Cagney's initial production for Warner Brothers starring his kid brother, Jimmy, is one of the finest films yet to emerge from the Burbank plant. Titled "City for Conquest," it fairly sings the symphony of the metropolis against which it is set—hunting, bustling, greedy, hateful, lovely, painful, kaleidoscopic New York. The tale of a boy and a girl from the slums, it is a triumph for the two Cagneys, Ann Sheridan, Donald Crisp and Arthur Kennedy. Here is a mighty film, a picture in which every sequence, every character, every motivating force fits quietly and unobtrusively into a moving whole. You won't want to miss it.

"Four Sons" Stirring Drama; At The Monkland

"Four Sons," unanimously hailed by previewers as "an emotional masterpiece, splendidly convincing," which is now playing at the Monkland United Theatre until Saturday night. The compelling power and the force of the emotional drama of the new 20th Century-Fox film moved critics to label it in advance as "a picture that must be seen."

For this "great picture" Darryl F. Zanuck drafted the talents of outstanding players including: Don Ameche, Eugenie Leontovich, Mary Beth Hughes, Alan Curtis, George Ernest, Robert Lowery and many others. Surpassing anything he has ever done, Don Ameche heads the brilliant cast. Fresh from his great triumph in "Lillian Russell," he is said to "reveal a new manner in a truly outstanding performance." Previewers claim that his portrayal outshines even his "Alexander Ragtime Band,"

"Hollywood Cavalcade" and "Swanee River" triumphs. Powerful Role Said to be the most powerfully dramatic role of them all, the character of the mother is enacted by Miss Leontovich. By her portrayal in "Four Sons" previewers agree that she "promises to be a new screen sensation." She was persuaded to perform in her first screen role after starring on the stage for fifteen years in New York, Paris and London. Alan Curtis is splendidly convincing in his role. He has a part which calls for strength, force and determination. His portrayal should add greatly to his reputation for fine performances. As a reward for the excellent work she did in recent pictures, Mary Beth Hughes was selected to play the leading romantic role in "Four Sons" opposite Don Ameche. She takes a long step forward with a beautiful performance which is said to prove conclusively her potentialities as a major screen personality.

The Way to a Man's Heart

Cottage cheese salad is appetizing and economical

Every meal must be nutritionally adequate in any food economy program. Just a snack at lunch time may cost very little, but unless the body's nutritional requirements are satisfied by that meal, you have cheated yourself even though the "snack" cost you very little.

An economical luncheon should contain protein, minerals and vitamins, fiber and water. Economy consists in supplying these essential food elements in an appetizing way (food that isn't eaten can never be economical) and from the most abundant and reasonably priced stocks in your local shops. The two luncheon recipes given here do just that. Remember this—cheese and fish are excellent protein foods and can be substituted frequently for meat. They are usually cheaper than meat, too.

Women's Symphony Give Second Concert On Oct. 9

The Montreal Women's Symphony Orchestra has announced its intention of giving a second concert on the evening of October 9 in the Verdun Auditorium under the distinguished patronage of His Excellency, the Earl of Athlone and Her Royal Highness, Princess Alice. The net proceeds of this concert will be given to the Red Cross.

It is interesting to remember that when the Montreal Women's Symphony Orchestra announced its first concert, which was given in the Chateau in July, there was some doubt in the minds of the members as to how it would be received. It was a completely new venture, for not only is this organization the only symphony orchestra in Canada with personnel entirely feminine, but, as far as is known, it is the only one on the North American continent, and therefore probably in the world today—where the members of the orchestra and the conductor are women.

At the time of that concert the organization was prepared to handle a moderately sized audience, which, it was expected, would consist of personal friends of the orchestra. They were quite unprepared for the enthusiastic crowd which receive them.

No one who was present at that concert will forget the hundreds who could not even obtain standing room.

While it may have been true that a good many of that audience came out of curiosity to see what women could do, they remained through the heat and humidity until the last note was played out of sheer musical enjoyment. In fact, so loud was their demand for more music, that it was with difficulty that the chaperon was cleared. Some of those who had come doubtfully, found that far from suffering at the hands of women musicians, much of the music had gained in romance and color from the feminine touch.

Had the committee been influenced by the thousands of telephone calls received during the days following the concert, they would have given a second performance immediately, but they preferred to wait until the autumn, when with a larger hall, the proceeds could be used for some patriotic cause.

At this concert, Miss Ethel Stark, who, with Mrs. H. B. Bowen, the President, founded the orchestra, will once more conduct, and the musicians will be the same fifty Montreal women who comprised the original orchestra.

COURAGE WILL BE NECESSARY NURSES TOLD

"Two attitudes are possible in the face of the problems that you will meet," Rev. Alex Carter told nurses of St. Mary's Hospital at their graduation exercises at Loyola College. "One is a defeatist attitude, a horror-stricken contemplation of the evil brought about by a war and terror-filled anticipation of the unpredictable days that must inevitably follow."

"The other, and the more courageous attitude," he said, "is to face the situation realistically... and even heroic sacrifices. The difficulties of the times can only bring out the best in those who are not weaklings."

Prizes were awarded as follows: General proficiency and highest aggregate marks, Miss Ida Olney; general proficiency, Miss Kathleen Culligan; art of nursing, Joan Egan; nursing technique, Miss Dorothy Mullins; social activities, Miss Pauline McCarthy; excellent choice of language, Miss Georgina Gillin; loyalty to school, Miss Mary Healy.

The pins were presented to the graduates by Rev. W. McDonagh, pastor of Ascension parish, Westmount. Msgr. Joseph Charbonneau, Archbishop of Montreal, was represented by Rev. M. P. Reid, of St. Augustine's parish.

The graduating students were: Vera Bedford, Cote St. Paul, Que.; Kathleen Culligan, Bathurst, N.B.; Agnes Dorais, Montreal; Joan Egan, St. John, N.B.; Georgina Gillin, Montreal; Mary Gillis, Sydney, N.S.; Mary Healy, Argentina, Newfoundland; Constance Hipwell, St. John, N.B.; Sister "Columbia" Kish, Stockholm, Saskatchewan; Frances Mossey, Montreal; Dorothy Mullins, Bathurst, N.B.; Pauline McCarthy, Coteau du Lac, Que.; Ida Olney, Danville, Que.; Claire Pechie, Sherbrooke, Que.; Estelle Theriault, Trudel, N.B.; Rita Wood, Verdun, N.B.; A. ## MUSIC TEACHER WELL QUALIFIED FOR TEACHING

Anthony Zaplaski received his early musical training at the School of the Montreal Association for the Blind, later studying under such outstanding musicians as Stanley Gardner, Miss Rose Goldblatt and George M. Brewer.

This year he had the distinction of gaining the degree of Licentiate of the Royal Schools of Music, London.

For some years now he has held the position with the School for the Blind, of Assistant Director of Music, Mr. Zaplaski does not confine his teaching to sightless children alone, but has a number of private sighted pupils. During recent years some of Mr. Zaplaski's pupils have entered for the local examinations of the Associated Board of the Royal

Bloodhounds Are In The Doghouse

The Sheriff is looking into the pedigrees of two of his bloodhounds.

One, called upon to follow the scent of a man who threw a dynamite cap under an oil refinery, apparently picked up a lead. With the posse following, the dog ran straight to a hamburger stand — and stopped.

Another was taken to Columbia, La., to hunt for six escaped Arkansas convicts. The dog found the fugitives all right, but struck up such a warm friendship with them that they had to tie him to a tree to get rid of him. Officers rescued him.

Schools of Music, and it is with some pride that he points out the fact that none of his entrees have ever failed.

From his early days at the Institution he was taught to do things for himself and has developed this faculty to a considerable degree. He travels all over the City without a guide.

Being ambitious and desirous of making himself financially independent, he has searched around for additional means of earning a livelihood and recently has engaged in the business of selling magazine subscriptions and Christmas Cards. He is a strong believer in the theory that enemies of idleness are never happy unless their time is filled with plenty of work.

He is following in the footsteps of other great musicians who in spite of blindness, attained world fame. To our reporter he pointed out that Dr. Alfred Hollands of Edinburgh, who ranks as one of the greatest organists of all time and one of the outstanding composers, is blind. He also recalled that the late Septimus Fraser of this city taught for a great number of years with distinction in spite of the lack of sight.

BUSY SEASON ANTICIPATED AT DANCE STUDIO

What looks to be the busiest season in the history of the School finds Betty Speirs and Peter Miller all ready and eager to get started. In addition to the usual activities, which include the day classes in ballet, adagio, tap and toe dancing, and the evening classes which will feature Ballroom and Exhibition ballroom dancing under the supervision of Peter Miller and the classes for Business Girls which provides body culture and tap dancing, the School will operate its own Concert Party and entertain the soldiers twice monthly. In addition to the soloists of the School led by Mr. Miller the company will be augmented by such well known artists as Frae Williams, Wilf Sidaway, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Webster and the Exhibition Ballroom Ensemble who scored such a hit in the last recital. Peter Miller, who trained the dancers in the M.R.T. Tin Hats has lined up a snappy line of girls from among the seniors and Business Girls Class, and the first show takes place next Tuesday evening. This week-end will see Betty Speirs and Peter Miller in Sherbrooke where they are to be the guest artists at The Khaki Ball in the Country Club under the auspices of the Sherbrooke I.O.D.E.

Good Character Set High Above Beauty

It should be comforting to the somewhat plain girls to hear that, according to famous Hollywood experts, plain or unusual faces are much more photographically interesting than the perfect-beauty type.

Charles Lang, head photographer at Paramount, says that after 20 years with cameras he has come to the conclusion that young girls who have beautiful, regular features, although they photograph wonderfully, haven't much chance to get anywhere in films.

"Girls who get ahead have character in their features," he claims. "They have a quality above and beyond beauty, something that stands out."

Many of the great performers on stage and screen are far from the perfect beauty standards. There are very few of the best of them who could be rated really beautiful so far as perfect features. Scientific make-up can always give the illusion of facial beauty, so the important thing is to have a distinctive personality, and this applies to every girl, even those who have no desire to grace the stage or screen.

The encouraging thing about this is that everyone can develop an attractive personality. Even the dull backward girl may blossom into a fascinating beauty by making the effort. Just remember that those who have achieved success had to work for it, no matter how careful and irresponsible they may act.

Respect and consideration for others is the first principle in building fine personalities. We can't be selfish and at the same time agreeable. We must try to understand that others are just as important and clever as we are.

The impression we make will depend on the way we present ourselves to others. When we have pride in our personal appearance it is generally safe to assume we are neat, orderly and dependable. Clean, healthy complexions are the result of good care and intelligence. Those who forget to keep well groomed in every sense are likely to fail in other things.

The mouth and teeth must be kept perfect. Offensive breath will detract from the good points. Physical perfection can be acquired with observation and practice, then mental poise, good speech, posture and grace is just a matter of education.

We all know girls whose features would never be called beautiful but who are far more attractive and lovely than the perfect model type. We even find ourselves loving them for their so-called plainness. Every girl has beauty to develop and when she has made the most of nature's gifts she will be loved.

MUSICAL Sharps, Flats and NATURALS

by FRANCES GOLTMAN

Music lovers will be glad to hear that soloists of outstanding merit have again been engaged for the Montreal Symphony Orchestra, which gives its first concert of this season Sunday afternoon, Nov. 3rd.

Among those to be heard are Charles Naegele, pianist, who has performed here several times; Bela Bartok, celebrated composer - pianist who was educated at the Royal Academy of Music in Budapest, Hungary. This musician has taken the folklore of his country and woven the melodies into his compositions in a fascinating manner and thus become famous in early life, having been born in 1881. One of his most popular orchestral works is the "Dance Suite" and it doubtless will be played by the orchestra when he appears, or it should be.

Anis Fulehan, and Shura Cherkassky, who played for the Ladies Morning Musical Club in 1921 and 1933, and Leonard Shure, prominent Boston teacher, complete the list of pianists.

Georges Enesco will again be a solo violinist although he is equally famous as composer and conductor. It is interesting to know that Enesco was born in 1881, the same year as Bela Bartok. Enesco is the best known living Roumanian composer and his two Rhapsodies are in the repertoire of every important symphony orchestra. They were first performed in Paris in 1908 with Pablo Casals, who gave cello recitals in Montreal many times as the conductor. Their success was a triumph, a triumph at first performance. An Oriental colouring in this music makes it very delightful and another favourite composition of this contemporary artist is his Suite, Opus 9. Kathleen Parlow, eminent American violinist and Maria Marova, soprano are soloists also engaged for the series under the conductorship of Douglas Clarke, Dean of McGill University Conservatorium. We hope that these concerts will again be well patronized, since all the musicians of this ensemble, which is now entering its eleventh season, are among the best of local talent. Every year their artistry has improved and the fact that many eminent artists have been engaged should appeal to the general public.

HEAVY ENROLMENT AT HILDA GALT SCHOOL

Although Hilda Galt's School of Dancing began its sixth season in operation last Monday, classes are already being rapidly filled. Pupils who have not yet enrolled, and girls and boys desirous of taking up dancing either as a career or for pleasure are requested to call Miss Galt at the studio.

Miss Galt does all her own teaching and employs the New Wayburn method. Miss Galt has performed on many occasions during the past season and also presented her own revue.

NEW BUILDING READY FOR THE BEETLES SCHOOL

A new building has been specially designed by Norton A. Fellows, B. Arch., A.R.I.B.A., well-known architect of Montreal for The Mary Beetles School, located at 4956 Decarie Blvd., near Queen Mary Rd. Every effort has been made to make this building one of the most outstanding and distinctive institutions of its kind in Montreal.

Special attention has been given to the ventilation, heating and lighting of the spacious studios, reception halls and dressing rooms. For those wishing to reduce or have health exercises, there is a massage room and showers and special arrangements have been made on the second floor for a Nursery School, where the tiny tots may have their daily session in the open air, weather permitting. The Mary Beetles School holds a foremost position in the dance world of Montreal.

The personnel of the school this season will be Jeanne Rodier, Norma Darling, Vera Hudspeth, Lorraine Gaboury, Marie Daoust, Patricia Norris and George Erskine-Jones. Miss Beetles is pleased to announce that Miss Norma Darling, well-known teacher, dancer and choreographer of Montreal will be associate teacher of the school. Another new member will be Miss Patricia Norris, A.R.C.M., from London, England, who will give violin lessons.

A person inspection of the school is cordially invited and an appointment may be made for an interview with Miss Beetles concerning suitable courses of instruction.

WESTMOUNT CRICKET SQUAD SCORES A WELL EARNED WIN

L. ROMNEY SHOWS POWER IN AMASSING 71; TEAM TO PLAY PICKED MONTREAL GROUP

Westmount cricketers showed fine form on Saturday at Westmount Park when they defeated an 11 under the leadership of L. Romney. The Westmount team will play against a picked Montreal squad on Saturday afternoon at 2.30 at Westmount Park.

In last Saturday's match Westmount batted first and made a total of 143 runs of which Pentecost with 71 scored practically half. The only other batsman to get double figures was Morrow with 17, and after batting two hours and a quarter the closure was applied for the loss of nine wickets.

Romney's team, on going in, started fairly well with the first wicket going down at 19, and the second at 34, but after that the innings became a veritable procession, and the whole side was out in 55 minutes for the paltry total of 47.

It was an eleven composed entirely of players from six of the seven "A" Division teams, but it found the bowling of Robinson and Pentecost to be too much of a problem.

Two "E" Division League matches were played also Saturday, and by Vanderers "B" defeating Lachine, the latter was prevented from tying with Mount Royal for the championship of this division. In the other match, St. Paul's had an easy victory over Wanderers "C" team but this result had no effect on the leadership.

Fry-Cadbury defaulted to Maisonneuve which thus gained two points—its first this season.

There are still three unplayed games in this division.

Saturday's score were:

WESTMOUNT
A. C. Sweeting, b Briggs	1
W. Morrow, c Yates b Bott	17
K. M. Pentecost, b J.	71
Plumley	17
J. Churchill-Smith, c Harford	1
b Vale	6
W. Page, c Carter b J.	1
Plumley	9

Better Protection, Timing Big Reasons For Pros' Superior Passing, Says Hall

Game's Greatest Aerialist Prefers A Spot Throw To Leading His Man

Photographers clustered around the big fellow who wore No. 16 on his jersey and asked him to perform a dozen different stunts.

The big fellow jumped into the air and whipped a football past his ear, straight over the line. He whirled, swung off to the right and passed with a side-arm motion. He passed with his hand on the ball, showing his grip. He worked up a sweat, just going for pictures.

Parker Hall didn't quite understand the fuss, the lensmen were making over him, but he cooperated politely and with animation.

It was, as he admitted, a penalty he was paying for being the greatest passer in the National League, which is tantamount to being the best flinger in the business.

Last season the Cleveland Rams' 295-pound allback shattered Sammy Baugh's aerial record by 25, completing 106 out of 293 attempts for 1227 yards.

Nine went for touchdowns. Not only that but the former Mississippi star in his first year as a professional was the fifth leading ground gainer with 458 yards and also led in punting. He wound up being named the most valuable player in the league.

Preparing for his second year in the money game Hall explains why he enjoyed such phenomenal success as a recruit.

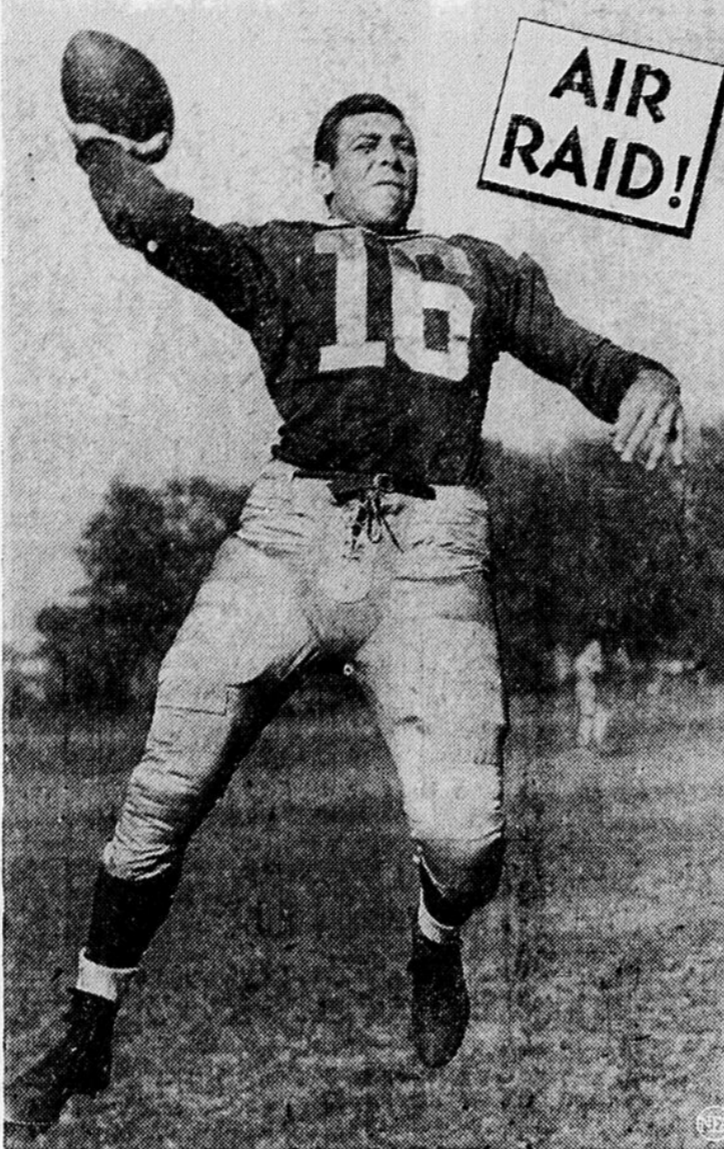

"A passer gets more protection from professional teammates than he does in college. Everyone knows the plays, which results in superior timing.

"I know pretty close to the exact number of steps I must take in fading back. In pro football the emphasis is more on the spot pass than in leading your receiver.

"My receivers were a big reason why I was able to set that record. Vic Spadaccini has large hands and a big body. He's very elusive for a big man. It's hard to reach around him.

"I consider Jim Benton a better receiver than Don Hutson when it comes to actually hauling down the ball.

"Hutson's merely faster and a more deceptive runner."

Parker Hall . . . football's Deadeye Dick.

KEEPS COOL Hall believes the theory that a good passer throws from behind the ear.

"Often, you don't have time. I advise high school kids to throw overhead as much as possible, but there'll be situations when they'll have to flip it with only a half windup."

Dutch Clark has high praise for Hall's coolness.

"It's difficult for a passer to stand back there and keep his mind and eye on a potential receiver when linemen are breaking through on him," asserts the Cleveland coach.

"Hall has another asset which I have never seen to any extent in any other passer. He is extremely fast. Often when he's trapped, or can't spot a receiver, he'll put the ball under his arm and run it wide for a big gain.

"No other great passer has been as successful at this. Baugh is a more remarkable thrower, perhaps, but that's all he can do. He lacks the running threat. Davey O'Brien can't run, either. Passers just don't seem to be able to run. Hall is an exception. Another was Dixie Howell, who passed to Hutson for Alabama.

Dixie Howell did not play professional football, but Parker Hall went on to put Cleveland in the front rank of the money clubs.

might be of greater advantage than a rule book.

Six years ago many players in the first national semipro tournament hitch hiked to Wichita and slept in tents rimming the field.

This year the California entry, Burbank, came by plane.

Winter City, Miss., is the smallest town ever to have a representative.

Its population is 72 and every player on the squad is from that town.

Five fans made the long trip to Wichita and saw their favorites lose their first start, 6 to 5, in 10 innings to Natrona, Pa.

The club had 100 per cent home-town support when it travelled to Louisiana for the regional playoff.

A team made up entirely of Oklahoma-born big leaguers will oppose Enid, the Sooner semipro champions, in October.

Carl Hubbell has promised to pitch and Ben Warren of the Phillies will catch.

The second World Series for the semipro opens in Puerto Rico, Sept. 21.

Mount Pleasant, Texas, Cubs doffed their caps and halted infield drill as the band played "The eyes of Texas are upon you."

Dumont, President of the National Semipro Congress, already has devised the electric plate duster and the retractable microphone which permits arbiters to announce lineup changes directly to the fans.

The instrument also can be used to relay home plate arguments, but games the first three days of the 1940 tournament have been placid.

With the advent of the "magic eye" an electrician's union card couple of clubs would like to have Johnny Berardino of the Browns at shortstop and will make offers during the coming off-season, if they haven't already.

The best way to make yourself unpopular at Fenway Park is to mention Pee Wee Reese's name.

CONGLE MACK rates Bob Kennedy, rifle-arm third baseman of the White Sox, ahead of Ray Mack and Lou Louden of the Indians in the rookie field.

Lefty Grove probably could have saved at least half a dozen games for the Red Sox this year, if he stayed in the bull pen.

As the Washington pro Redskins open their home season Sept. 15, they figure to hurt the Senators' baseball attendance at Griffith Stadium.

Fil Rizzuto, ticketed for the Yankees next spring, is well in front of the American Association batting race.

He is the sensational Kansas City shortstop.

Looks like a dark 1941 for Frank Crosetti.

Y BASKETBALL TEAM IS READY FOR SEASON

The Intermediate Basketball team of the Westmount "Y" held their first meeting of the season last evening at the local "Y."

Although the turnout was small the interest of the players was keen, and judging from various conversations held with the players it is quite likely that a strong team will represent the Branch.

Those present were: Mr. John Eaves (Captain), Howard Eakin, Bob Ashley, Bill Gridley and Coach Hugh Noble.

The events of last season were gone over, and after careful consideration it was decided, that should the Montreal Basketball League operate a senior league that Westmount would enter a team.

When ever the first practice will be called the following players have indicated their desire to be present: Eaves, Hall, Olsen, Eakin, Crombie, Bob and Bill Ashley, Chowan, and several of the Junior players.

It will be remembered the Westmount team as city champions of the season 1939-1940.

Let brotherly love continue.—Hebrews 13:1.

WESTMOUNTERS DROP MATCH In the opening game of the season, the Bombers showed much of their last season's form, taking a 10-0 win over Westmount. Bombers scored their points in the last quarter, Bill Long and H. Dunn getting touchdowns.

The first touchdown was scored on an end run, the other on a Westmount fumble.

The line up for the game was as follows: B. Aber, snap; H. O'Brien and H. Dunn, insides; R.

Terry Moving To Indians? Bruited About Ball Fields

Caught between the bases . . . if Colonel William Terry should decide to leave the Polo Grounds and take charge of the Cleveland Indians, as rumor has it, the boys in the press row are wondering how he would handle a certain few of his athletes—the ones who went upstairs behind Oscar Vitt's back . . . In the event that Terry makes this shift, you can be sure that he will sign an ironclad contract, giving him complete control of the club—minus interference from the office.

Incidentally, the Cleveland club points out that 80,600 persons could be seated for each World Series game at Municipal Stadium . . . League Park accommodates a mere 21,000 . . . The classic this year opens in the National League city, which means Cincinnati . . . Several former Indians have recently risen to block the Tribe's path to the series—Earl Averill, Billy Sullivan, and Bruce Campbell at Detroit; Steve Sundra and Bill Kniekerbocker at New York; Skeeter Webb, Moose Solisters, Thornton Lee, and Clint Brown at Chicago; Buddy Meyer at Washington, and Joe Heving with the Red Sox.

Eight of the first 10 National League batters were not in that group a year ago . . . When complete unofficial averages were last released, the top 10 included the following: Dixie Walker, Frank McCormick, Bama Rowell, Stan Hack, Harry Danning, Johnny Mize, Ernie Lombardi, Ernie Koy, Jimmy Gleason and Johnny Cooney . . . Just 12 months ago the first 10 were: Mize, Morrie, Arnohick, McCormick, Joe Medwick, Zeke Bonura, Buddy Hassett, Debe Garms, Ival Goodman, Mel Ott, and Arky Vaughan . . . The Red Sox describe Charley Keller as "just a big strong man with a bat in his hands." . . . They further call his base running and fielding very mediocre . . . Lombardi has not stolen a base since 1937.

Win Green, Red Sox trainer, already is talking about the approaching hockey season and his pals, the Bruins . . . If Win had his way, they would play hockey from July 1 through June 30 . . . Ted Williams, who hits better on the road than he does at Fenway Park, may clinch the American League batting crown while the Bostonians are touring the hostile West . . . Rogers Hornsby aroused a stir in the Texas League this year when he took over the leadership of the second-division Oklahoma City team and drove it into a play-off berth.

A new rumor has Freddy Lindstrom, once a popular third baseman and outfielder in the National League, moving in as 1941 manager of the Jersey City Giants . . . Bert Nighthoff is the present skipper there . . . Bill Terry's friendship with Lindstrom makes him a logical choice . . . It looks like Frank McCormick for the National's most valuable player award . . . Either Jimmy Foy or Bob Feller in the American . . . Take your pick . . . With the Yankees and Dodgers in the pennant battles most of the way, the second division Giants have lost many of their followers . . . A

MAGIC EYE TO UMPIRE NEXT YEAR'S GAMES

He's already taken the stoop and squat from among the umpire's duties with his automatic plate duster. Now Raymond Harry Dumont plans to take out the plate umpire himself.

The emancipator of the arbiters is negotiating for a "magic eye" and an automatic ball and strike indicator for use in the 1941 national semipro baseball tournament.

A strike would be registered if a pitcher's offering broke the eye's rays by crossing the plate. Similar devices are used in many states as traffic tabulators. Automobiles are counted automatically as they flash through the field of rays.

Dumont, President of the National Semipro Congress, already has devised the electric plate duster and the retractable microphone which permits arbiters to announce lineup changes directly to the fans.

The instrument also can be used to relay home plate arguments, but games the first three days of the 1940 tournament have been placid.
