Election guessing game

Number of conclusions possible from speech

By CUTHBERT JONES
(Record Staff Writer)

When it comes to interpreting the mind of a politician, you can read almost anything you like into anything he says — until his final intentions are cleared up by action.

Take the Throne Speech at the opening of Parliament Thursday, and its possible indication of an election date.

The majority of observers are prepared to take it at its face value — to accept the argument that Prime Minister Diefenbaker will implement his program of social welfare improvements. Then he will go to the country on the basis of accomplishments having taken the wind out of the opposition sails. To place his program on the statute books and get it into operation will take months. Logically an election should not be held before fall.

But the proponents of an early vote — late in May or in mid-June — are not silenced. The Prime Minister has a joker up his sleeve, they say, and it is revealed by the single sentence that there will be a bill concerning the Senate.

June election enthusiasts argue thus:

The Prime Minister will rush some controversial bill through the Commons — perhaps that providing for Senate reform and it will be killed in the Liberal-dominated Upper House.

At this first rebuff, Mr. Diefenbaker will dissolve the Commons and appeal to the people, claiming the sovereignty of the voters is being frustrated by an appointed Upper House.

Constitutional issues have proved good election material in the past and judging from some of the arguments now going on they should prove effective for a few years to come.

However, this argument for an early election requires Senate co-operation, which may not be forthcoming. Perhaps the Senators, in an effort to delay their own execution, may argue against the various Government measures but finally pass them on division — without a recorded vote.

Time alone will tell.

NEW SCAPEGOAT — Union Nationale Opposition Leader Daniel Johnson has found the person responsible for the inferiority complex among French-Canadians — General James Wolfe, whose British armies defeated the French at the Battle of the Plains of Abraham in 1759.

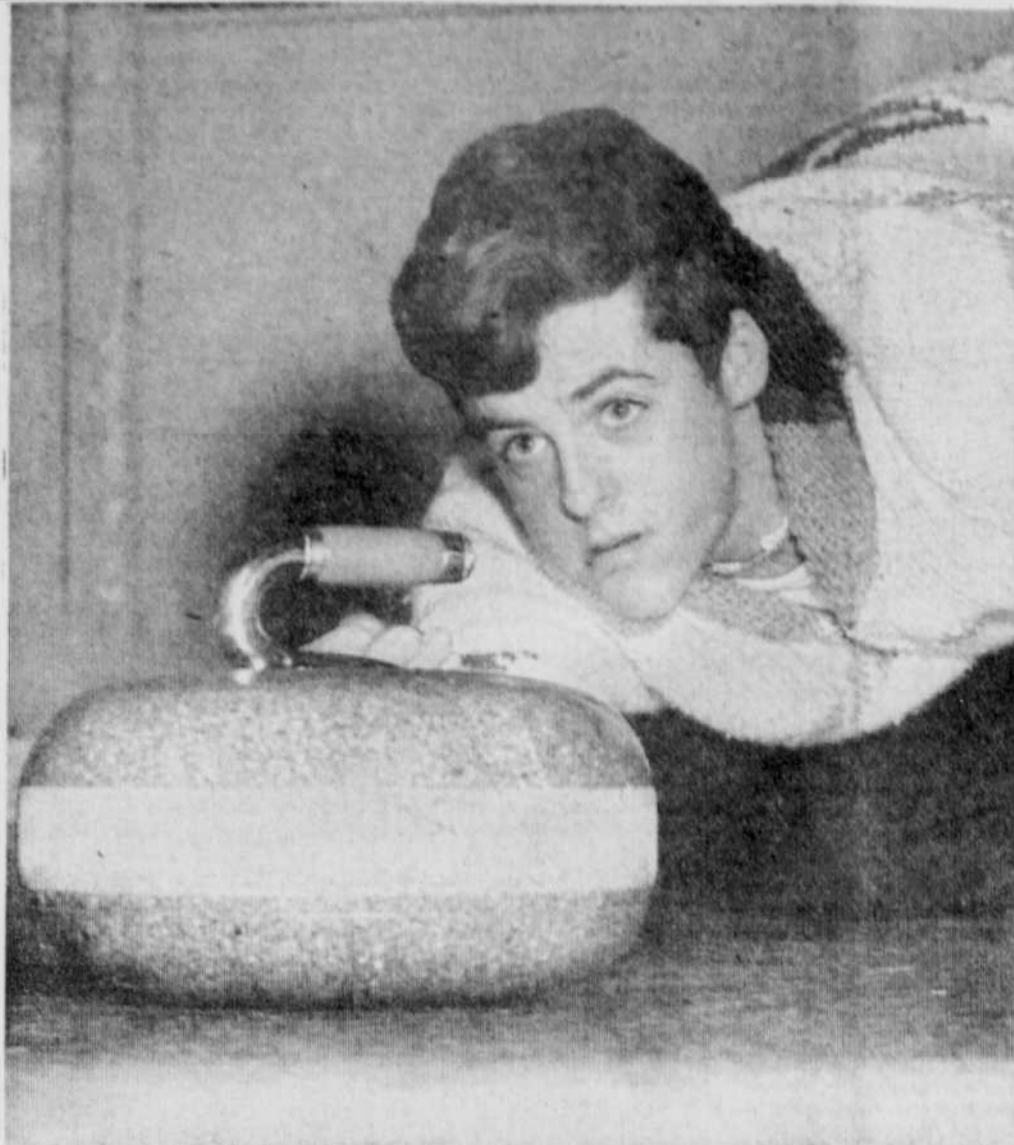

Mr. Johnson made the remark during a speech in the Legislative Assembly Thursday by Glen Brown, Liberal member for Bromo, who said the former Union Nationale government had preached it was progressive.

Yet, said Mr. Brown, when Mr. Johnson was a Union Nationale cabinet minister he had said French Canada's "inferiority complex is our worst enemy."

"Mr. Speaker, who caused this complex?" demanded Mr. Brown.

"General Wolfe," said Mr. Brown.

At massacre scene

Congolese fire on UN jets

LEOPOLDVILLE (Reuters) — Congolese soldiers today opened fire on United Nations jets flying over the Kongo area in Katanga province, scene of a recent massacre of white missionaries, the UN announced here.

A U.S. spokesman said the column of soldiers opened fire after two fighter-bombers sighted a burning village south of a mission station at Solo which the Congolese were feared to have seized.

The spokesman said the UN planes did not return the Congolese fire. Neither of the two British-built Canberra jets was damaged.

The jets also reported seeing burnt-out houses north of Solo at Kongo, where 19 Roman Catholic missionaries were massacred New Year's Day.

Two UN Ethiopian jet pilots reported Friday that several houses were ablaze at the Roman Catholic mission at Solo on the border between Katanga and Kivu provinces.

The only sign of life at the station was two soldiers who ran for cover in the mission church when the jets appeared overhead.

At Kabonga, in North Katanga, radio reports reaching Elisabethville said rebel troops had killed four missionaries and 11 civilians.

Another attack also was reported to have been made on seven clergymen at St. Paul's College in Bagira, Kivu province.

Consider Cuban sanctions

PUNTA DEL ESTE, Uruguay (AP) — Foreign ministers from 21 American republics were gathering here today for a conference to consider possible diplomatic and economic action against Cuba.

On the eve of Monday's meeting, some key Latin nations were reported threatening to balk at any drastic sanctions against Cuban Premier Fidel Castro despite U.S. charges that his pro-Communist regime threatens the security of all Latin America.

The United States, Colombia, Venezuela and some Central American countries are reported ready to ask the Organization of American States for sanctions to try to curb Cuba. The United States warned in a white paper Jan. 3 that Cuba has become "a bridgehead of Sino-Soviet imperialism" in the Western Hemisphere and that Castro's prime objective is to spread his doctrines through propaganda and subversion.

Mexico, Brazil, and in a minor key, Argentina, were said to be opposing any sanctions. The official explanation of their position was that Latin America should stand squarely behind the principles of non-intervention and self-determination.

Production rises

TORONTO (CP) — Canadian motor-vehicle production this week is estimated at 8,992 units compared with 7,313 last week, says the Canadian Automobile Chamber of Commerce. Production to date this year is estimated at 24,618 units compared with 22,676 in the corresponding period last year.

Little was known of the attack on Solo, just north of Kongo, where rebel troops were reported to have massacred 18 Roman Catholic priests and a lay brother New Year's Day.

About 30 priests and some Franciscan nuns were believed to be based at the Solo mission, which contains a college and a girl's school.

The Ethiopian pilots were sent to the isolated mission after UN headquarters in Leopoldville received a report from Red Cross officials that the rebels were mounting an attack.

The rampaging troops were believed to have been formerly under the command of Col. Alphonse Passaka, now under house arrest in Stanleyville.

The same troops also were held responsible for the Kongo massacre and the deaths of 13 Italian airmen at Kindu in Kivu province last fall.

New immigration regulations based on skill, not on color

OTTAWA (CP) — A formula to remove racial discrimination from Canada's immigration laws without opening this country's gates to a flood of immigrants whose skins are black, brown or yellow was announced Friday by Immigration Minister Fairclough.

She told the Commons that new immigration regulations, effective Feb. 1, will make it possible for immigrants in all parts of the world to enter Canada if they have the levels of education, training and skills necessary for them to become absorbed in Canadian economic and social life.

The new regulations also provide for the admission of a somewhat wider list of non-white immigrants who have relatives in Canada and provide for a broadening of the type of appeals which may be taken before the Immigration Appeal Board.

Mrs. Fairclough said the regulations mean that any suitably qualified person from any part of the world can be considered for immigrant to Canada entirely on his own merits and without regard to his race, color, national origin or country.

The chief beneficiaries would be Asians, Africans and nationals of Middle East countries.

CRITICIZES BILL

J. W. Pickersgill (L—Bonavista—Twillingate), immigration minister in the former government, said the new regulations applying to non-whites substitute "one set of criteria for discrimination for another."

There was no racial discrimination in the old regulations and the minister had admitted it, he said. The new regulations would create an administrative problem which would be impossible to cope with.

Mrs. Fairclough said later at a press conference that she does not think the new regulations will alter the current pattern of immigration to Canada. There would be no change in the predominantly-white complexion of this country.

Referring to immigration this year, she said there might be an increase over 1961 because of Canada's improved economic climate and the broadening of admissible classes of immigrants. A total of 56,188 immigrants arrived in Canada in the first nine months of 1961 down from 83,843 the previous year. Final figures are not yet available.

Pension increase promised Dutch, Indonesians class B Block Dominican Takeover

Canada's legislators went back to work Thursday with visions of ballot boxes in their minds.

The weather was crisp and snowy in Ottawa so Governor-General Vanier drove to Parliament Hill in a limousine instead of the usual horse-drawn landau to read the government-prepared speech from the throne.

Other than that, there was little unusual in the opening of what is expected to be an election-year session.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker's government disclosed plans for higher old age pensions and other welfare benefits; increased university grants and possible Senate reform.

The good news was aimed at voters in all parts of the country — acreage payments for drought-stricken Prairie farmers, a railway for Quebec's Gaspé region, a floodway for Manitoba, a new car ferry between Nova Scotia and Newfoundland.

As usual, there were few details. There was no indication whether a general election will come this year.

LIBERALS GAIN

More political news came a few hours after the session's opening.

In live Ontario byelections, the Liberals took one seat from the Progressive Conservatives, held two and put up a good showing in the two other Conservative strongholds.

RECORD BUDGET

Americans also were concerned with governmental matters Thursday as President Kennedy sent to Congress a budget calling for expenditures of $92,537,000,000 in fiscal 1963 from a projected national income of $93,900,000,000.

Biggest expenditure would be for defence — $52,700,000,000, up $1,500,000,000 from last year.

The biggest question was whether economic expansion — and an increase in postal rates Kennedy wants from Congress — would develop to provide the forecast surplus of a slim $463,000,000.

U.S. scientists meanwhile were getting ready for what could be their biggest week in space exploration. On Monday they hope to launch an instrument package on a 66-hour trip to the moon. On Wednesday the crucial attempt to rocket astronaut John Glenn into an earth orbit is scheduled. A project aimed at orbiting five satellites simultaneously is

REPORT NAVAL CLASH

Elsewhere, world attention centred on the continuing crises in Algeria and The Congo, political turmoil in the Dominican Republic and a naval clash between The Netherlands and Indonesia in their dispute over West New Guinea.

In the last incident, Dutch naval forces fought with three Indonesian torpedo boats Monday night, sinking one and setting another afire. Thirty-two Indonesians were reported killed and another 52 were taken prisoner.

Stamp club secretary

Defends opposition

In a statement made to The Record last night, Patrick Cangle, secretary-treasurer of the Sherbrooke branch of the Eastern Townships Stamp Club, said that at the OTJ meeting last Sunday, when he voted against the $2 recreation tax that the city proposes to impose to help recreational organizations of Sherbrooke, he was doing so according to the desires of the members of the Stamp Club.

He said that even though the president of the Club, Abbe Hector Lafrance, said he was stunned when he heard that Mr. Cangle had voted against the tax, "he knew that I was to vote against the tax before I went to the OTJ meeting."

His statement follows: "I was delegated by the members of the Stamp Club and I was not the personal representative of the president."

"Even though the president told Alderman Pinarid that he was stunned when he heard that I had voted against the tax, he knew that I was to vote against the $2 tax before I went to the OTJ meeting. I voted according to the desires of the members to whom I was responsible. The whole matter will be discussed at the January 25 meeting. 'Some members have given me their entire support on this question and could not understand the attitude taken by the president.'"

"The president had in the past attended the meetings of the OTJ council and not a mention of this was made to the members of our club. "Another fact is that our club pays $2 to the OTJ for every meeting held there and how we became part of the OTJ is beyond some members. The club never made application to become a member of this organization. The action was taken

Indonesia expert sent to UN

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Prospects of negotiations aimed at settling the Dutch-Indonesian dispute over West New Guinea brightened today with news that Indonesia is sending an expert on the territorial issue to United Nations headquarters.

The Indonesian delegation disclosed that Sudjarwo Tjondronegoro, a top aide of Foreign Minister Subandrio, will arrive here Sunday. Sudjarwo, former chief of the delegation, represented his government in past UN debates on Dutch-ruled West New Guinea.

Delegates expressed belief Subandrio is being sent here in response to Acting Secretary-General U Thant's appeal that Dutch and Indonesian representatives discuss with him the chances of a peaceful settlement.

The Netherlands government has accepted Thant's offer to act as mediator and proposed in turn that the UN chief send observers to West New Guinea where opposing naval forces already have clashed.

Sukardjo Wirjopranoto, Indonesia's present chief UN delegate who told a reporter Subandrio's aide was coming, said there was "something in the air." He did not elaborate.

Sukardjo made the remark after conferring for half an hour with Thant.

on the president's own and personal feeling."

Mr. Cangle said that at a meeting of the Stamp Club held before he went to the OTJ meeting the members voted that he should oppose the $2 tax. He said that there were 21 members of the club present but the president Abbe Lafrance ruled that out of town members could not vote on the subject.

"This left 8 voters," Mr. Cangle said. "Six of them voted that I should oppose the tax and two voted that I should support the tax. One of the two who were in favor of the tax was president Lafrance," Mr. Cangle said.

Dominica council faces problems

SANTO DOMINGO (AP) — The Dominican Republic's fledgling state council got down today to the business of bringing democracy to this troubled Caribbean nation.

The council faced a mountain of economic and social problems left over from the regime of dictator generalissimo Rafael L. Trujillo, who was assassinated last May. But the council had promises of U.S. economic assistance and the apparent support of most Dominicans.

Bishop's attempting monopolathon mark

A group of Bishop's University students set out last night at 5 p.m. to break the world monopoly playing record.

The 100-hour monopolathon world record was set last month by McGill's University in Montreal.

Approximately 100 people signed up to play at Bishop's. To break the record, they will have to continue playing, non-stop, until 9:01 p.m. Tuesday. If

The Sherbrooke Optimist Club has suggested that the city set up a commission to work with all groups providing cultural and recreational facilities.

In a statement discussing the proposed $2 a year tax to finance civic recreational activities, the club says the commission should be given an annual budget sufficient for its purposes, "the whole in accordance with detailed estimates submitted in advance for approval, then allow the committee to administer same."

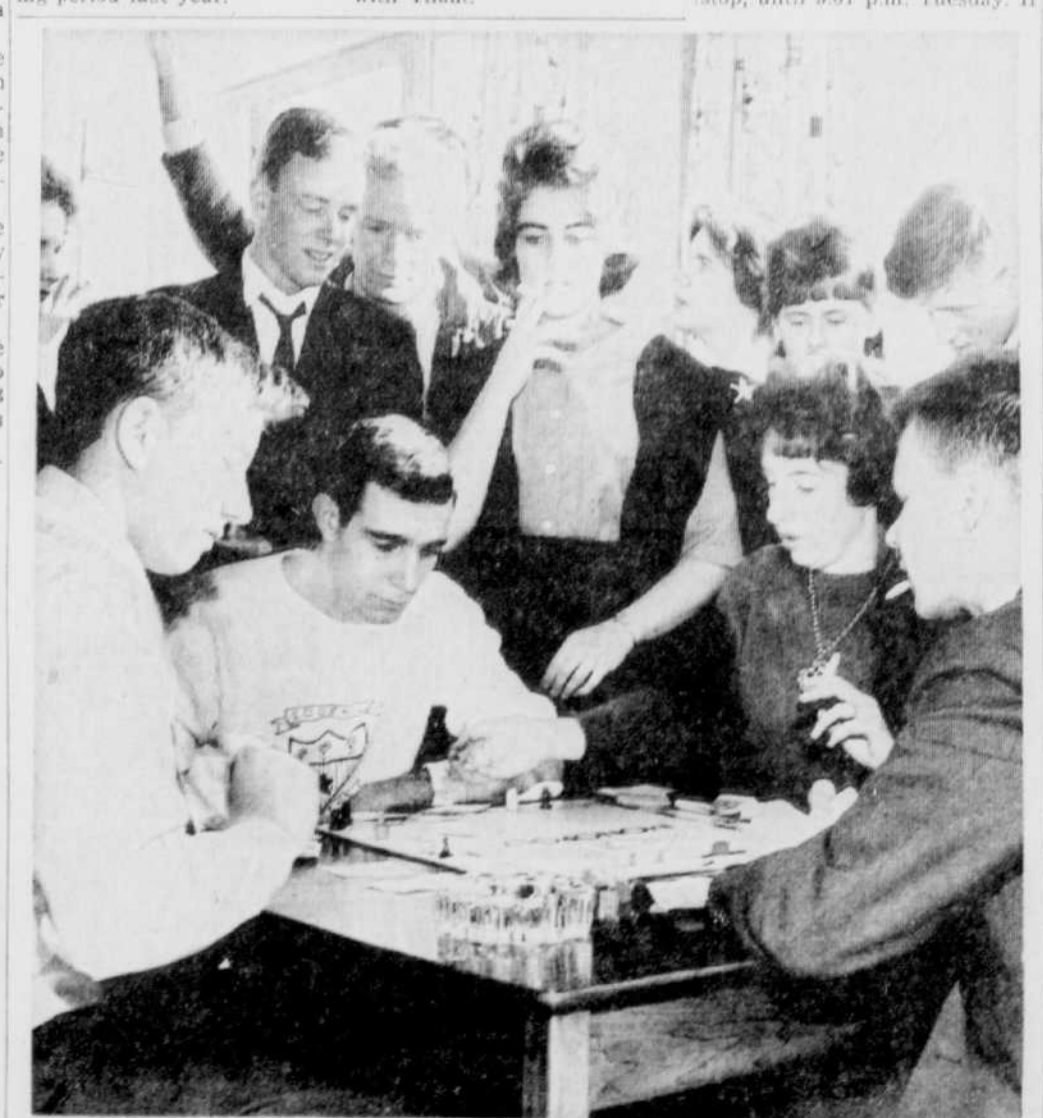

The club suggested that "under reserve of all provision necessary to protect the city council with respect to such allocated funds, the city would allow this commission to take all necessary decisions on questions of recreation without the necessity of seeking further ratification by the council."

In a statement opposing the commission proposals, the Optimist Club said that the city council should not look upon the results of the meeting called by the OTJ French-language playground association on Jan. 14, "where the majority of the groups present voted in favor of the $2 tax, as being a public endorsement of such a step."

"The majority of the groups present," the statement says, "were closely allied with the OTJ while those organizations actively engaged in the organization of recreational activities in the city were not invited."

The statement was prepared following a meeting of the executive of the Optimist Club Thursday night.

It goes on to say: "The Optimist Club, which for the past fourteen years has actively participated in the organization of recreational activities"

MONOPOLATHON — If Bishop's University students can keep playing monopoly until 9:01 p.m. Tuesday they will break the world monopoly playing record. At 5 p.m. yesterday, the students set out to break the present record of 100 hours set by McGill University of Montreal last month. A crowd watches, left to right, some of the players taking part, John Young, Ron Kaulbach, Pat Young, and Al Henderson. (Record Photo by Doug Gerrish) and when they do break the mark they will then concentrate on setting a really big mark for prospective challengers to shoot at.

Pat Young, one of the four Bishop students who started the game rolled the first dice at 5 p.m. last night. The players play 24 hours a day in Norton Hall, a centrally-located university recreation room.

The Bishop's run for the record is being held in conjunction with the annual World University Service SHARE campaign on the Lennoxville campus. Objective of the campaign is $500.

The officials have scheduled round-the-clock three hour shifts of WUS Committee members, campus staffers, Students' Council members and others interested.

Dr. Leslie Bell dies at 55

TORONTO (CP) — Dr. Leslie Bell, 55, leader of the famed Leslie Bell Singers, died here Friday of cancer.

He was taken to hospital for surgery a week ago, the day before he was to have inaugurated a new radio show.

Dr. Bell formed his all-girl choir in 1939 and it carried his name to international fame in radio, television and in personal appearances.

He was staging a neighborhood circus at the age of five when he fell from a rooftop and severely injured a leg. He spent the next four years in bed, the leg in a cast. His convalescence was spent listening to a small phonograph and practising the clarinet.

He came out of it with a permanent limp and an abiding love of music.

About Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—Although one out of three Americans is overweight, only one out of 10 seems to be able to diet successfully, and anyway, some psychiatrists aren't certain that all overweight people should try to slim down. (When they fail, they lose self-confidence.)

That was a sample of the information purveyed to the calorie and cholesterol conscious public Thursday night. CBS Reports, which assembled the TV program, may have caused a number of dietician backsliders today.

It was a thorough, although discouraging, summary of a national problem — excess pounds—with an excursion into the associated diet problems of cholesterol, the substance which seems to be clogging America's arteries. Viewers who missed ABC's Yves Montand on Broadway special earlier in the season will have an unusual chance to catch the show May 11—on NBC.

It just means that ABC doesn't own the show — just rented out its facilities to broadcast it. Now NBC is doing the same thing.

OBITUARIES

MISS C. F. DUNKERLEY, OF ULVERTON.

ULVERTON — The death of Cora Frances Dunkerley of Ulverton, on Sunday, Dec. 31, 1961, in the Sherbrooke Hospital, after a short illness, closes an era in the Dunkerley and Alexander families.

She was born in Ulverton on July 7, 1870, daughter of the late William Dunkerley and his wife, Caroline Alexander, and granddaughter of the late Rev. David Dunkerley, founder of the Congregational Church in 1837, since church union called the Dunkerley Hall, and of the late Captain George Alexander, of the Royal Navy.

A brother, James, and two sisters, Isabella and Agnes, predeceased her a number of years ago. Her only living relatives are cousins.

Miss Dunkerley received her education at Ulverton School and McGill Normal, where she received her diploma. She taught in the Eastern Townships and Quebec City, where she made many friends.

After the death of her father and mother, an uncle, Alex Alexander, and Mary left their home farm to live with her on the Dunkerley farm, and she gave up teaching.

Since the death of her uncle and aunt, she had been living alone, taking an interest in church work. An excellent musician, she had been organist in the Congregational Church and since union in the United Church.

On Wednesday afternoon, after prayers at her home by Rev. Eleanor Carr, minister, the cortege proceeded to the United Church for service. The hymns chosen were Unto the Hills and O God Our Help in Ages Past. The Richmond and Ulverton choirs rendered the anthem Saved by Grace. Miss Carr spoke briefly of the deceased.

The bearers were all neighbors of Miss Dunkerley. Interment was in the family lot in the Congregational Cemetery.

Say food and he'll come a running.
 Say "Box Social" and he'll still come.
 And grade eleven girls at Ayer's Cliff High School know it, for the box social they are sponsoring January 26 at 8 p.m. is sure to draw the hungry crowd and give them a boost in raising funds for their annual class trip.

To organize a box social girls make up baskets full of assorted goodies. The boys bid on the best looking baskets, completely unaware of their owners. The highest bidder not only gets the food, but also allowed to spend the rest of the evening with the young lady.

This is the way it's supposed to be. It's no secret though that many boys violate the rule and get a firsthand tip on whose basket is whose from the girls themselves. Therefore they are not bidding on the best looking basket. More than likely they are bidding to spend the evening with their favorite girl.

HIDDEN MOTION — Although there are no people in this photograph there is action just the same. The smoke from the chimneys and the cloud provide a focus of action and make the picture come alive.

Find hidden motion
Action should be somewhere whatever the type of picture

On cold winter mornings all the atmosphere one can wish for can be found almost anywhere, especially around industrial plants. The slightest presence of vapor turns into huge white clouds which form a pattern against the clear blue sky.

This is what sets the mood in this type of picture. But it is also a graphic illustration of hidden action, in other words, motion is there without you knowing it.

This type of action is what we are going to discuss today.

All still pictures require that alive look which is created by this sense of motion in the form of winding rivers, roads, etc.

Some forms of action are created by the artistic way a tree is growing or a fence as it goes across an uneven field.

Motion is not confined to pictures of an athlete on the run or a car speeding by. This is just another obvious form of action.

Action is the lively look desired in photographs and even in a photograph of a quiet summer pastoral scene the action appears in the form of cattle or a winding stream. Even the mountains with their irregular lines create action.

Perhaps an illustration of this hidden motion can be seen if one takes a ribbon and stretches it tightly across a contrasting color. Now with ture is achieved. Through the use of filters you will have tone, balance and control.

Good pictures have tone balance, sense of motion and good composition.

Passes school bus local man fined $10

A Sherbrooke man was ordered to pay a $10 fine in Sherbrooke Court of Sessions Friday morning following his guilty plea in connection with passing a stationary school bus.

Gaston Beaudoin readily admitted that he passed the school bus while it was loading and unloading school-age children, but said he was heading in the opposite direction to the bus.

The accused added that he realized it was an offence to pass a stationary school bus from behind but that he had never believed it to be an offence if a motorist passed a parked school bus while heading in the opposite direction.

Judge Joseph Marier told the accused that the law had been amended two years ago, and that it was now an offence to pass a parked school bus whether travelling in the same direction or in the opposite direction.

Beaudoin claimed that the public ignored such a law. He was told, however, that ignorance of the law was no excuse, and was fined accordingly.

Beaudoin was charged last December 5 in Richmond when a local police officer, standing near the parked bus, took his

Last Saturday afternoon the 5th Sherbrooke Scout Troop took off through the fields on snowshoes and skis, enjoying a winter outing. The object of the hike was to practice outdoor cooking and under the guidance of Skip John Burt, and Assistant Bruce Gillam, a meal of hamburger, baked potatoes, bacon and toast was enjoyed by the twelve boys.

Three badges were awarded to Cubs from third Sherbrooke Pack last week. David Collinson and Robbie Atlas were awarded their Collectors badge, and Robbie also received his Swimmer's.

A Second Star was also awarded to Robbie Atlas which means that Robbie has worked hard to learn the ways of the Jungle, and now has two eyes open. Now that Robbie has his Second Star, he is qualified to work for the other badges available, and we hope to hear of another presentation in the near future.

Twelve boys from 3rd Sherbrooke Pack enjoyed a vigorous game of hockey last Saturday afternoon, and the close match provided much excitement.

The Bury Cubs and Scouts are quite active now, with approximately fifteen boys in each group. The Scout Troop are looking forward to the chicken pie supper which they are holding on Saturday, January 20.

The swimming course at the Y.V.C.A. resulted in several awards last week. The Life-Saving Medalion was awarded to Cub leader David Lobdell of 2nd Lennoxville, to Martin Taylor and David Dutton, also of the 2nd Lennoxville Scouts, and to Terrance Crowley of the Waterville Troop. Donald Hutehison of the 7th Sherbrooke Scouts was presented with his Royal Life Saving Badge. This week, Ken Smith, a Cub from 3rd Sherbrooke, was nominated as the boy making good progress in the course.

In the 5th Sherbrooke Cub Pack last week, Jamie Sutherland was awarded his Guide Badge. Jamie is working hard to complete the tests for his Second Star so he can earn more badges to decorate his sleeve. A New Chum was welcomed into the 5th Sherbrooke Pack this week. Craig Bishop is now busy learning the meaning behind the Grand Howl and the mysterious two-finger salute, and will soon be wearing the red neckerchief of St. Peter's Pack.

The annual madness of elections is almost upon us again. The Students' Executive Council (SEC) decided this week that nomination day for the posts of Senior Man, Senior Lady and Secretary-Treasurer will be January 26, with elections for these positions February 2.

Campaigns for these main positions will be followed in two weeks by elections for the remaining six elective SEC posts. The new Council inherits the whole happy mess March 1.

That 'must' affair on the social calendar of all male students — the Women's Dance — was scheduled this week to be held Saturday, February 3, but only after some last-minute wheeling and dealing.

The dance, the one event of the year where the women pay and act as escorts a la Sadie Hawkins, was originally voted into limbo by the girls. None-too-subtle pressure by male SEC members "upon the Senior Lady won a reconsideration of the matter in the Women's Society, and eventual reinstatement of the dance.

Pressure? Well, it included some very broad hints that the male population of Bishop's would no doubt frown at the news that Women's Dance had been cancelled. Their displeasure, it was mooted, might even become so great that most of them would feel impelled to import dates for Winter Carnival week-end, set for February 22 to 24.

The Senior Lady noted this all very sagely — and the next day (Surprise) it was announced that the dance would be held after all.

Dilys Francis (3 B.A.) has been named one of 40 Canadian University students and professors to attend the 13th annual World University Service Inter-National Seminar, to be held this summer in Poland.

Miss Francis was picked from several applications at Bishop's. Subject of this year's seminar is: The Role of Science and Culture in the Development of Nations. Following six weeks of study in Poland, the students will have a chance to travel on their own in Europe.

Bishop's delegate last year was Ann Stockwell, who studied various aspects of life in Sweden.

A full house in Bishop Williams Hall was treated to an hour of sweet nothings Tuesday on the situation in Latin America by Professor Thomas Greenwood of the University of Montreal.

Professor Greenwood very entertainingly presented the obvious to his audience, but provided little for those who went to hear something new about Latin America.

The Population Explosion was treated thoroughly and well by Paddy Elliott Thursday, in a paper for the Biology Club.

Quoting Jawaharlal Nehru — "Population control will not solve all our problems, but other problems will not be solved without it" — Mr. Elliott outlined the situation existing in different areas of the world plagued by a mushrooming population and too little food. Of the three billion people presently on the earth, said Mr. Elliott, approximately two-thirds go hungry.

He outlined various problems connected with birth control, among them the illiteracy of one-half the world's population, the attitude of the Roman Catholic Church and the cost of contraception.

"Perhaps, if we were to devote to the problem of human reproduction half as much as we do to the release of the atom, the problem could be solved," said Mr. Elliott.

Bishop's hopeful debaters begin spraying their larynxes and striking dramatic poses next week, in preparation for their defense of the Canadian university debating title, won last year in Ottawa.

Set to debate next week in the Quebec section of the Inter-University Debating League are David Marler and Bill Guest (negative), and David Murray and Norman Webster (affirmative).

Subject for debate is a real stinker this year: Resolved, that in order to defend itself, North America is destroying its democratic ideals.

The debaters meet McGill and Sir George Williams of Montreal next weekend.

Bishop's Civil Defence group warned this week against "nuclear-phobia" in the event of a national emergency.

The Committee's aim is to help educate people with the basic facts of nuclear life and death, and to attempt to provide planning that would prevent panic in time of disaster.

A worthwhile and commendable effort.

Another most commendable effort was blessed with success this Christmas, when the campus Samaritan Society collected more than 150 gifts from students and distributed them to needy families in the area.

Liberals jubilant at Ontario vote

The disappointment expressed by New Democratic party leaders over the sorrowful showing made by their candidates in Ontario's five provincial by-elections this week is understandable.

Full of enthusiasm and convinced that they would be an impressive factor in the voting, the leaders were hopeful of taking one or two seats at least. But in four of the five races their entry came in a poor third, behind candidates of the major parties.

On the basis of the popular vote, they showed little improvement in their position from the last election. Contesting all five seats this year, the NDP received a bare seventeen per cent of the popular vote, compared with eleven per cent in 1959 when they entered candidates in only three of the five ridings involved in yesterday's vote.

Liberal jubilation is understandable, not only over the winning of an additional seat but because of the sharp increase in their percentage of the popular vote, which was boosted from thirty-five to forty five per cent while the Progressive Conservative share dropped from fifty to thirty-eight per cent.

The campaign was based on strictly provincial and local issues and thus cannot be taken as a complete criterion of what may happen in the approaching federal election.

But it does serve one warning on the federal Progressive Conservatives. The provincial party organization may find itself so involved in repairing its own fences before the next provincial vote rolls around that it can lend little help to the federal forces.

In the 1958 election the assistance given by former Premier Frost and his organization proved valuable to Mr. Diefenbaker.

Calf Club improvement in Townships

For some years now, Calf Clubs for teenagers in the Eastern Townships and throughout the country have been doing invaluable work in furthering good business and farming methods and high standards of citizenship among our rural youth.

Like all worthwhile organizations, E. T. calf clubs have developed and expanded over the years. Just how eagerly the farming community takes part in this continuing process of improvement was never more clearly demonstrated than during recent discussions carried out by local Farm Forum following a radio broadcast on the subject.

One of the most common themes running through the discussions was the need for the Calf Club movement in this province to provide further services for young people.

The Cowansville Calf Club put it this way:

If you think you're in the groove, be sure it isn't just a rut.

Nothing impossible—unfortunately

Napoleon had a high estimation of his troops and, at times, his enthusiasm was so expansive that he had a tendency to take his pronouncements too seriously.

At one point in his career he is credited with saying that nothing is impossible. Whether Bonaparte ever said this is probably a matter of conjecture. Modern science, however, is doing its best to prove the point.

For example, in 1962—not to be outdone by 1961 which had the doubtful honor of being the year when the neutron bomb was formally introduced to humanity—we are presented with the staggering concept that man can move small planets to devastate not just a city, not just a province but a whole continent.

Danderidge Cole, a member of the American firm of General Electric, points out that one of the asteroids circling earth could be moved from its position with the help of a hydrogen bomb and dropped on an "unfriendly" continent.

He says this weapon has the added advantage that the nation which triggers the "space bomb" could blame natural causes for the catastrophe. Besides, there would be little risk of retaliation, he notes.

Napoleon, if he was indeed the author of the statement must be chuckling with macabre satisfaction wherever he is.

Deciding goals for Fitness Council

Canada's woeful state of physical fitness has long been like the proverbial weather: Everybody talked about it, but nobody did anything about it.

Now the federal government has determined to do something. Parliament at its sessions allocated $5,000,000 to encourage and develop physical fitness and amateur sport in this country. Health Minister Monteith has announced the establishment of a National Advisory Council of 30 members to help Ottawa get a worthwhile program launched.

The big question remains: Just what is going to be done, and how?

Because it is a brand-new organization, the personnel of the council have no precedents to guide them, unless they study the experience of other countries in the fitness-promotion field.

Their purposes and objectives will doubtless be clarified considerably when they hold their first meeting later this month. It may well be that Ottawa will give them little in the way of specific instructions but instead, as they are an advisory council, ask them to advise.

There is likely to be some lively and vehement debate in the council about objectives.

Already, in the comments made by some of the appointees, there is evidence of conflicting viewpoints.

The Montreal Gazette's sports columnist Vern DeGeer, immediately suggested a project: Financial help for the Galt Terriers, Canada's entry in the world hockey tournament. Somehow this doesn't seem to us to be in line with the general aim of stimulating national fitness and amateur sport.

We think Weekend's sports editor Andy O'Brien is much closer to the spirit of the thing when he says, "We have been low men on the totem pole in the world amateur sport too long. But the purpose of this council is to raise the fitness of the mass in the hope that Olympians will rise to the surface."

In other words the essential aim should be to get our young people—and middle-aged people too—out of their comfortable armchairs and into activity in recreation and sport that will benefit their physical well-being, and perhaps incidentally produce some future champions, rather than underwrite existing top teams.

We need more participants—not more spectators. (Saint John Telegraph-Journal)

OTTAWA—Come with me into the Commons chamber and see the like of which may not be seen again in our lifetimes.

For, assuming an election in 1962, we are witnessing the last session of the most lopsided Commons in this country's history. All those rows on the right side of the chamber: Tories. Half the rows on the left side: Tories.

In all, 203 Conservatives opposed by 50 Liberals and nine New Democrats, and three seats vacant.

This "embarrassment of riches", as Prime Minister Diefenbaker has called his parliamentary legions, gave the country stability of government after the uncertainty of the first minority Diefenbaker administration. But it did not make for a strong Parliament. Most Tory MPs are light on experience and ability, and in the great amorphous mass of government back benchers they have had little opportunity to gain the former or develop the latter.

The reverse of the coin is that the two opposition parties are so weak numerically that they cannot properly fulfill their functions. They don't have enough members to fill their quotas on committees and maintain adequate representation in the House. The fact that the opposition has not been wholly ineffective is due partly to the response of Grit and CCF members to necessity, and partly to the government's own judgment errors and performance failings.

The lopsidedness of party representation is not likely to be repeated in the next Parliament. A substantial number of Conservative MPs know their chances of re-election are slim to negligible.

Indeed, political observers are suggesting the trouble with the next House will be that no party will have a majority, as in 1957. One prominent West Coast politician has put the thought concretely, with a prediction that an early election would return 116 Conservatives, 106 Liberals, 32 New Democrats, 11 Social Crediters and Independents.

In such a situation the New Democrats would hold the balance of power, as the CCF did in 1957. At a press conference the other day someone asked NDP leader Tommy Douglas what his party would do in such circumstances. Instead of answering the question, he offered his opinion as to what the Tories and Grits would do. They would form a coalition government, he opined—a result that would delight the NDP, however unlikely it seems to supporters of Messrs. Diefenbaker and Pearson.

Ideally the government should have a small but workable majority, with the opposition strong enough to maintain a close check on the administration, and to give pause to those who might abuse their power. The last time an election produced this result was in 1945, but none of the lopsided Parliaments since then was as bad as this one.

Whatever the mistakes and failures of the government, only rarely have they involved abuse of power, as when the PM tried to intimidate the Senate into passing his tariff legislation last year.

With those 200 MPs down there voting at the flick of the whip, if Diefenbaker were less a Common man, less a democrat, things might have gone worse for the country these last four years.

Going to rot on walls of homes

Industrialists neglect artworks

OTTAWA (CP)—Many hard-headed Canadian industrialists, who devote a mother's care to their factories and machines, are letting valuable art works rot and fall apart on the walls of their homes, says a leading art expert.

Dr. Nathan Stolow, who looks after the National Gallery's $20,000,000 collection of paintings, prints and drawings, says this neglect may one day rob Canada of many art treasures.

"The majority of art works in Canada are badly neglected from a physical point of view," says the head of the gallery's conservation and scientific research division.

In many homes, and even small museums, across the country paintings were deteriorating chiefly because of general disregard for their care. Only import specialists from abroad in the major museums was an attempt being made to rectify the situation.

Art works are literally falling apart on the walls of many homes. We will continue to have these troubles until such time as people wake up and do something about it.

At 33, Dr. Stolow, a Montrealer who is a chemistry graduate of McGill and the University of Toronto and has decided to apply his academic knowledge to art, is regarded as perhaps Canada's outstanding authority on the care, preservation and restoration of art works.

One of the main difficulties facing the private collector was that Canada had few professionally trained men and women in the art preservation field. Dr. Stolow said Canada should never store valued books in damp conditions and be careful of using some types of adhesive materials.

Adventures with God

Paying the tribute of faith is greatest thing man can do

By JANE SCOTT

The least and the greatest thing man can do is to pay God the tribute of faith. Many millions respect God as a great architect and they appreciate the amazing universe He has created. But they think of Him as an impersonal force rather than the loving father who not only created us in His own image but who also created us for His pleasure.

As a human parent thrills to the response and implicit faith of his child, so God is pleased when His sons pay Him the tribute of faith.

In the previous column we referred to the rejoicing of Jesus when His disciples assured Him that they believed His words and were ready to respond to His love and follow Him. They paid Him the tribute of faith which is usually followed by the tribute of personal devotion.

One cannot know God and believe in Him. His love, wisdom, power and concern for His creatures without some reaction. And the normal reaction is to reciprocate and respond in the same way as one responds to gestures of love on the human level.

DEEPEST EMOTIONS There may be degrees of faith and there are degrees of response. Some people cannot let themselves go and express their deepest emotions to anyone, even faith in their most beloved one is never fully revealed or demonstrated.

But God knows the thoughts and intents of the hearts of all men and He knows when natural reserves may hinder one from expressing his or her deeper emotions.

We considered these implications of faith as we reviewed the record of Abraham when "he staggered not" at the seemingly impossible promises of God to give him a son and heir.

Humanly speaking, the promise was ridiculous. Abraham and his wife Sara were too old to give birth to a child. But Abraham paid God the tribute of faith and we read in Genesis 15:6 "And he believed in the Lord; and He counted it to him for righteousness."

Abraham's tribute of faith

Only those who pay God the tribute of faith experience the miracle. For these God will prove himself faithful even if it takes centuries to do it.

He will vindicate the faith of the 20th century believer as He vindicated Abraham's faith and gave him a son.

But Abraham not only believed God when He promised him a son but he believed God when he climbed the mountainside to a lonely thicket and built an altar on which he would sacrifice His only son Isaac, because he believed that God was able to raise him from the dead, Heb. 11:19.

CRUCIAL MOMENT What a tribute of faith that act was! God recognized the depth and devotion of Abraham's faith and at the crucial moment when "Abraham stretched forth his hand, and took the knife to slay his son, the angel of the Lord called unto him from heaven, and he said: Lay not thine hand upon the lad . . . for now I know that thou fearest God, seeing thou hast not withheld thy son, thine only son from me."

No wonder God accounted Abraham's faith as righteousness. It is not surprising that the account of this man's adventure with God has been given prominence in both the Old and New Testaments.

Such uninhibited faith is the basis not only for our salvation but for the unhindered fellowship between God and man.

"Without faith, it is impossible to please God," and it is impossible to prove Him brought pleasure to God as the tribute of faith brings pleasure to a parent, a friend or merely a business acquaintance.

To doubt ones word is to cast reflection upon ones character and question ones integrity. In the spiritual as without faith for "according to our faith be it unto you."

ABLE TO HEAL Two blind men were healed because they believed that Jesus was able to heal them.

"Believe ye that I am able to do this? And they answered, Yea, Lord. And their eyes were opened, and they departed and spread abroad His fame in all that country."

Their tribute of faith pleased God and released His power upon them, and gave them sight.

"His touch has still its ancient power" but we stop the flow of power through us to others because we doubt Him. But to "as many as received Him, (Jesus) to them gave he power to become the sons of God, even to them that believe on his name."

The tribute of faith is the factor that makes reconciliation and regeneration possible. And God counts such faith as righteousness.

IN AND OUT The climax of long-boiling Dominican troubles came Tuesday night as a military-dominated junta, amid widespread rioting, ousted the seven-man council of state headed by President Joaquin Balaguer.

But only 48 hours later a counter-coup brought six of the seven council members back to power. In swift developments junta strongman Gen. Pedro Rodriguez Echa-varria was arrested. Balaguer's resignation was accepted and Rafael Bonnelly, a 57-year-old law professor, was installed in his place.

During the robbery, in which the burglars smashed through the floor of a vault and then rifled more than 375 safety deposit boxes, Lemay directed the initial operation from a building across the street by a walkie-talkie and then joined the gang to direct the looting of the boxes, Lajoie testified.

Spotlight On Business

By PETER DUNN

Canadian Press Staff Writer A speculative splurge, whopping volumes, toppling industries and a power failure—all were highlights of this week's stock market action.

Northgate Explorations continued its winning ways Monday and Tuesday, recently inactive mining issues had climbed on the bandwagon.

Northgate was overshadowed in the torrid trading and ranked well down on the exchange's most active list for Tuesday as Wayne Petroleum, Werner Lake, Atlin Ruffner, Iso Mines and Head of the Lakes were volume leaders.

Closing volume for the day was 7,068,000 shares — highest since Nov. 30 when 7,620,000 shares were traded. Dollar volume was the greatest since Dec. 8 at $13,000,000, and the number of transactions reached 12,141, the most since Nov. 29.

INDUSTRIALS FALL Industrial issues went into a decline in mid-week as well, tumbling more than 11 points on index before staging a slight recovery. Some losses were heaviest in weeks, banks, steels and refining oils the weakest groups.

Losses in bank issues ranged around $3.25. Motor issues were also lower. Goodyear Tire fell $8.00 to $152 Tuesday but closed Friday at $158. U.S. Ford went down $5.00 to $110 early in the week but sold at $112 at the close Friday.

Slavida - Shrifff gained 37 1/2 cents Monday on announcement of an extra dividend. Harding Carpets moved to a 1961-62 high of $18.75 following news that the company plans to make a tax-free preferred stock dividend to shareholders.

Western oils traded heavily and ended the week slightly ahead. New highs were scored by Home A and B, Medallion, Royalite, Asamera and Pacific Petroleum.

Base metals declined more than two points on index over the week. Noranda moved to a new high of $62.50 on Wednesday, but eased back to end the week at $60.75.

A late-week trading burst in golds had not significant effect on prices as the group remained steady.

EXCHANGE CRIPPLED In the midst of Monday's hectic buying, a power failure crippled electrical recording equipment and threw the exchange into confusion. Messengers had to rush information of transactions from the trading floor to the statistics department, where volumes, price changes and indexes were computed by hand.

More than 400 ticker tape machines across Canada and in the U.S.—all supplied with statistics by the Toronto exchange—were idle for 2 1/2 hours.

Volume at Toronto this week was 31,573 shares compared with last week's 21,407,000. Dollar value was $63,338,444.

On index at Toronto, industrials fell 10.87 at 608.80, base metals 2.39 at 211.24 and golds 61 at 91.04. Western oils advanced .46 at 119.10.

POLITICAL ROUNDUP

Johnson in an aside. SEEKING MOUNT ROYAL SEAT — A former Sherbrooke attorney, John P. Hume, now practising in Montreal, has announced he will seek the Progressive Conservative nomination in Mount Royal division.

The seat is held at present by Alan Macnaughton, who was first elected in 1953. For the past ten years Mr. Hume has been a resident of the Town of Mount Royal.

PREPAREDNESS — The key man at the constituency level in any election is the Returning Officer, who is charged with the organization of the election machinery.

To assure that an election can be called at any time the Chief Electoral Officer names these officials periodically, whether an election is planned during the next few months or not. Thus no special significance can be attached to the publication of a new list of Returning Officers which appears in this week's issue of the Canada Gazette.

For the Eastern Townships, the same men will act as in the 1958 voting, namely: Brome-Missisquoi — J. Rodolphe Arsenault, merchant, Cowansville.

Compton-Frontenac — Paul Beaudoin, broker, Scottstown.

Drummond-Arthabaska — J. Andre Vanasse, merchant, Drummondville.

Megantic — Admond Beaudoin, merchant, Disraeli.

Richmond-Wolfe — Jean-Guy Lemieux, agent, Asbestos. Shefford — Paul Langlois, agent, Granby.

Sherbrooke — J. Nestor Boucher, inspector, Sherbrooke.

Stanstead — Louis Gerin, notary, Coaticook.

THAT PROVINCIAL HANSAID — Optimists hope that a plan for recording debates would be in operation for the opening of the present session of the Quebec Legislature brought only disappointment. But the fact official reporters were lacking from the floor of the House does not mean the scheme has been abandoned.

Certainly difficulties have delayed the operation of the plan — especially lack of personnel. The reporters must be able to take down speeches at a high rate of speed and some of them at least must be fluently bilingual.

And, as one member remarked: "Such men are not hunting for jobs."

Border group plans card party

STANSTEAD — Planning a card party for the evening of Feb. 23 was the main item of business at the meeting of the Border Business and Professional Women's Club held at the home of Mrs. Maurice Gerrard.

The party will be held in Sunnyside School cafeteria, where bridge, canasta and 500 will be played. Several members took tickets for advance sale. Prizes will be awarded and there will be a door prize.

To complete plans for the party the next meeting will be held earlier than usual, Feb. 12 at the home of Mrs. George Winter with Miss Dena Leblanc, co-hostess.

Mrs. Winter read a letter from Miss Louise Cardo relating to National Membership Week, Feb. 11 to 17.

Mrs. Gerrard, president, presented the immediate Past President, Mrs. George Hatch, with a club crest in appreciation of her work as president for a two-year period. Mrs. Hatch expressed thanks.

After the meeting a social hour was enjoyed listening to recorded music and Mrs. Gerrard served lunch.

WATERLOO — Mr. Alfred McKergow spent the weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Alan McKergow.

Mrs. Bruce Macfarlane returned to her home in Lindsay, Ont., after three weeks with Mrs. A. F. Robinson.

Three-year-old is given party

BEEBE — Mrs. George Rediker entertained several young mothers and their children on the occasion of the third birthday of her daughter, Tammy Joy. The little tot enjoyed an hour of fun and frolic while the mothers chatted.

Attending were Mrs. Laire Tilton, Judy and David, of Rock Island; Mrs. William Stuart and Brian, of Stanstead; Mrs. Carroll Cooper, Garry, Randy and Schott; Mrs. Lawrence Goodsell, Jeffrey, Greg and Cathy; Mrs. Leslie Rediker and Dorcas; Mrs. James Elliott and Janet; Mrs. Charles Rediker and Timmy; Mrs. Winfred Rollins and Gail.

Tammy received many lovely little gifts, and party refreshments served included a birthday cake, iced in white, topped with three candles, and decorated with candy figures of Mary and the little lambs.

activities in Sherbrooke, regardless of race or creed, feels that the imposition of such a tax is premature and should not be imposed for the following reasons:

1. No private organization should be permitted to organize a programme running into thousands of dollars and expect the City to pay its deficit. Especially when the city has not had any say in the setting up of this budget.

2. Groups such as Little League, Y's Men's, Progress, Lions, Kiwanis, St. Pat's, Rotary, etc., organize recreational activities for youth. The members of these groups give of their time and energy without any thought of remuneration. Apart from a small city grant in some cases, these groups go out and raise the money necessary to carry out their programs.

3. The City, in announcing its intention to seek permission for the imposition of this tax has not clearly defined how this additional money will be allotted. In the 1962 budget, provision has been made for those groups who have received grants in the past to receive the same this year. That is with the exception of the O.T.J. for which no amount has been set.

Last year this group received from the City $15,000, in addition to a grant from the provincial government.

4. The imposition of such a tax on all the ratepayers is but a temporary measure which will not bring a solution to the problem of recreational organization. It can only create a precedent for further special taxes of larger amounts, the proceeds of which, although municipal funds, would be spent by an organization or organizations which are not obliged to account to the City or taxpayers for such expenditures.

5. The problem of providing recreational activities is a major one and is becoming more important and acute. This is shown by the activity presently being undertaken by the Federal and Provincial Governments. This problem requires serious efforts to find a formula for long term settlement and the creation of the necessary structures for that purpose.

6. The city council, being responsible for the welfare of its citizens, is the institution properly qualified to take the first steps to organize within its limits recreational facilities on a basis that will insure continuity in the work of all benevolent groups already engaged in organizing recreational activities.

The combination of the work of the existing groups with the services and material resources of a municipal commission, would bring the same excellent results in Sherbrooke as in other cities where such a commission exists.

A full time paid director, under the jurisdiction of this commission, would serve as an intermediary between the commission and all groups engaged in the organization of recreational activities coming under the jurisdiction of the commission such as playgrounds, vacation colonies, sports etc.

Such a set up would place those organizations interested in this work in a position to benefit from any financial aid forthcoming from Government sources, without for that reason losing their identity, individual character or means of action.

Finally it is felt that because of the investigation presently being carried on by the Federal and Provincial Governments, and a local group which has offered to spend a considerable sum to investigate the needs of recreational activities in Sherbrooke, the imposition of a $2 tax is premature and that the City should continue, for the present, its habit of giving grants whenever an organization can prove that through sound administration, it has been unable to raise sufficient funds to carry out its recreational programme.

VALE PERKINS

Miss Joan Guibault has returned home from the hospital at Sweetsburg, where she had been confined since Christmas with bronchial pneumonia. Miss Irene Guibault, of Montreal, was a weekend guest of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Guibault.

Miss Sandra Jewett and five of her friends enjoyed a birthday party arranged by her mother on the occasion of her 14th birthday on Jan. 15. Miss Marcia Chappell, of Mansonville one of the guests, was 14 on Jan. 13. Following the birthday dinner the young people played games and later in the evening the birthday cake and other refreshments were served. The gifts were opened and the girls expressed pleasure at the lovely gifts from their friends.

How spiritual understanding will resolve the conflicting demands of life in the hurly-burly world of today, is to be set forth at the services in the Christian Science churches this Sunday, in the reading of the week's Lesson-Sermon on the subject "Life." Emphasizing the view that eternal life can be glimpsed right here and now, is the selection of this verse from John as the Golden Text: "This is life eternal, that they might know thee the only true God, and Jesus Christ, whom thou hast sent." Explanatory citations from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include: "Truth, Life, and Love are the only legitimate and eternal demands on man, and they are spiritual lawgivers, enforcing obedience through divine statutes"

ST. PATRICK MISSION CIRCLE
The January meeting of St. Patrick Mission Circle took place in the church library. Various business matters were discussed by the president, Mrs. M. Farrell, and tentative plans were made for a rummage sale in February and a food sale in March. After the business meeting the members were privileged to hear a talk given by Miss Eva McConnell on the highlights of a trip she and her sister Mary had taken to the British Isles last summer. Miss McConnell gave a delightful resume of their tour, punctuated with humorous incidents which occurred and, so vivid and colorful were her portrayals, for a pleasant hour her listeners were transported to stately castles in England, heather-clad hills in Scotland and a cosy tea room on the shores of beautiful Lake Killarney in Ireland. She also had numerous photographs and souvenirs on display which were most interesting.

Miss McConnell was thanked for her picturesque travelogue by the president, Mrs. M. Farrell. Refreshments were then served by the hostesses, Misses Helen Slattery and Elizabeth Roy.

ST. ANDREW'S GUILD
The St. Andrew's Guild met in the church hall with twelve members present. The president, Mrs. Don McIntyre was in the chair and the meeting was opened by repeating the Lord's prayer in union.

The Scripture was read by Mrs. Clifford Goodfellow. The treasurer Miss Jean Miller gave a very gratifying financial report for the past year. It was decided to hold the Annual "Spring Concert" sometime in March.

Refreshments were served by Mrs. J. Leckie and Mrs. Douglas Jones.

BETA SIGMA PHI XI CHAPTER
The regular meeting of the XI Beta Chapter of Beta Sigma Phi was held at the home of Joyce McMillan on Maple Street, Lennoxville.

The president Ann Hansford announced that a joint meeting of the two Beta Sigma Phi chapters would be held shortly to discuss the art exhibition to be sponsored by the chapter sometime in March.

After the business meeting the program chairman presented the speaker of the evening Ann Hansford who gave an interesting talk on "Abstraction" "the painter and the world we never see." The speaker used as an illustration of abstract work, "The Artist in his Studio" by Vermeer and "The Studio" by Picasso. Pointing out that though they were painted many years apart there was a fundamental similarity. Other illustrations used were "The Wyndham Sisters" by Sargent, "Les Femmes d'Alger" by Picasso, "Rhythm of Straight Lines" by Mondrian, "Rocks and Forests of Fontainebleau" by Peyanne and others.

Doreen White thanked the speaker.

The next meeting will be held at the home of Dolly Lattin in Sherbrooke.

Mrs. F. Bampton presented ideas for a membership book to be made for each member, giving information and dates concerning activities and dates for the Auxiliary during the coming year.

This was well received and will be adopted by the members.

Jottings

In the book publishing field there have been a number of recent changes which might prove of interest, at least to those who habitually order their books directly from the publishers. For their benefit we note that the MUSSON BOOK COMPANY will henceforth be handling all United States titles of LONGMANS, GREEN AND COMPANY while McCLELLAND & STEWART will be Canadian distributors for ATHENEUM PUBLISHERS of New York. J. B. LIPPINCOTT COMPANY of Philadelphia and GROVE PRESS INC. of New York.

Arthur Hailey has triumphed again! Established as a top-ranking TV writer with his first play, FLIGHT INTO DANGER, EL AWARD of $10,000 and was selected for this financially rewarding honor by such eminent literary judges as Thomas B. Costain, William Arthur Deacon, dean of Canadian book reviewers, Edward Fitzgerald, Editor-in-chief of the Literary Guild of America, George Nelson, President of DOUBLE-DAY CANADA LTD., and Timothy Seldes, Managing Editor of DOUBLE-DAY & CO. In addition to receiving the DOUBLE-DAY AWARD, Mr. Hailey's new novel has also been selected by the Literary Guild and will no doubt go on to still greater success. Arthur Hailey, who was born and brought up in England, but chose to return to Canada to live after taking his Air Force training here, has become a name to conjure with in the Canadian writing world—and all in the comparatively short space of time of five years.

A woman who stamped & glided

EUGENIE by Hester W. Chapman — CLAPKE, IRWIN & CO. — $4.75 — 504 pp.

This book is meant for the reader who loves to curl up in a corner and stay there with a good meaty book as companion!

Pleasure in this book is likely to be enhanced if you have read other books, so popular this year, on the Napoleonic era. However even if you come to the book "cold", so far as Napoleonic lore is concerned, you will probably still enjoy it.

The story of Eugenie is told through the eyes of her nurse-companion. So thoroughly researched has it been—and so well presented is it—that all the many characters in it come to vivid life—with Eugenie of course dominating them all.

Incidentally this picture of Eugenie as a dominating woman—stamping, stomping or gliding, as the mood takes her, through the court, — is in sharp contrast to the rather pallid creature described by Queen Victoria in her LEAVES FROM A JOURNAL. It would appear that the Empress Eugenie, no more than her scheming husband—showed Victoria her true side,— though probably for different reasons. Empress Eugenie lived in an era of turmoil. But this outer turmoil was no greater than the conflict which raged within her. And it is this inner conflict alone that makes it possible to believe that a woman with as strong a character as Eugenie could yet be enamoured of the brazen, corrupt Sesto. Or that a woman such as she could make such a mess of her relationship with Napoleon III.

Whatever Eugenie's strengths or faults, one thing about her is sure. She exerted such an inescapable fascination that it can still be felt—down through the years and through the pages of this book.

As a final comment it might be pointed out that this book—doubtless without intending to do so—points up the tragedy and waste of lives lived in exile.

Highly recommended to the lover of historical romance.

Makes use of reporter's methods

Reading Great Canadian Disasters Longmans Green you get a feeling that they might have happened only yesterday, or the week before. Author Frank Rasky, former newspaper man now editor-in-chief of Liberty magazine at Toronto, has achieved this by the reporter's method of interviewing hundreds of survivors and eye-witnesses.

There are survivors today with keen memories of the earliest in Rasky's selected disasters, the rock slide that buried at least 100 people in Frank a town of 1,000 in the Alberta Rockies, in 1903. He quotes David Bayne, now 86 and living in Medicine Hat, first to cross the jagged gauntlet after the slide, as being told by one survivor that a particular boulder which crashed in the main street weighed at least 500 tons.

There are intimate memories of the Northern Ontario forest fire that took 73 lives in Porcupine in 1911 and of the Regina tornado of 1912 that cost 41 lives and made 3,000 homeless, of the collision sinking of the Empress of Ireland in the St. Lawrence in 1914, with a loss of 1,012 lives, and the great Halifax explosion of 1917, with 2,000 dead.

Artistic masterpiece is worth a fortune

The extremely rare "Petition Crown" of King Charles II is an artistic masterpiece of the English coinage, and worth a fortune at today's prices.

The significance of this beautiful silver crown piece, executed by the English engraver Thomas Simon, is a controversial subject, although the inscription around the edge partly tells the tale. It reads, in two lines, "Thomas Simon Most Humbly effort to regain his position as engraver, petitioned King Charles with this special coin, this "trial piece."

Some numismatic authorities claim the two men were engaged in trial of skill to find who could present the best coins. The king examined the pattern pieces submitted by the two and decided which man appeared more artistically capable to fill the position. This coin was Simon's entry.

However, as the Petition Crown is similar in design to that of Roettier it seems safe to surmise that Roettier's piece had been accepted by the monarch, and was seen by Simon, who then worked from that basic pattern and elaborated upon it with finer engraving and a more delicate and skilled touch to produce this final work of art as his "petition" to the king.

The petition crown shows a draped bust of the king wearing laurel wreath over long flowing hair with inscription "Carolus II Dei Gra." and on the reverse, the Empire's four shields, each topped by a crown, at angles to form a cross with the garter in the centre and words "Mag Bri Fr et Hib Rex 1663."

Simon was ordered to engrave the Scottish coinage, and all the new coins of Charles II reign are the work of the Dutch engraver Roettier.

Prays Your Majes' To Compare This His Tryall Piece With The Dutch and If More Truly Drawn and Embossed More Grace Fully Order'd and More Accurately Engraven To Relieve Him."

Thomas Simon was Chief Engraver at the mint under Oliver Cromwell's Commonwealth government and when King Charles II came into power, Simon was dismissed in favor of a Dutchman, Jan Roettier.

COOKSHIRE PM 10 X2 61 P.Q.

MYSTIC PM 11 X2 61 P.Q.

The last meeting of the Eastern Townships Stamp Club was fairly well attended, although the bitter cold night probably kept a few members at home. The auction lots were fewer in number but the bidding was spirited and several lots were sold at very good prices. The trend seems to be towards items that are seldom seen in normal approval selections or dealers' stocks. More Canadian material would be welcome, but the problem here is simply that most members do not have duplicates to sell of the scarcer stamps. Ted Pilgrim did an excellent job as auctioneer and Bob Meiss acted as clerk. The next meeting of this club will be on January 25th at the usual place, and I might add here that the room is now ideal for a gathering of philatelists, well lighted and clean. The St. Francis Club will have met for their first get together of 1962 this past Wednesday, and once again the writer will not be in attendance, although I hope this situation will right itself soon. Too many meetings are always a problem.

The Crown Agents have announced the commemorative issue for the Centenary of the City of Nassau in the Bahamas. The first day of sale will be January 30. Nassau is situated on New Providence Island in the centre of the Bahamas archipelago, and is the capital city. The Bahamas are famous as the first landfall in the New World made by Christopher Columbus in 1492. The islands were originally inhabited by a race of Indians who were later transported to Haiti by the Spaniards to work in the mines. The Spaniards made no attempt to settle the islands and they remained uninhabited until 1629 when they were included in the Royal Grant to Sir Robert Heath. Several different grants were made in the next few years and considerable time elapsed until the islands were permanently settled. The 8d stamp of the commemorative issue will feature Christ Church, the Cathedral of the Episcopal See. It is worthy of note that in the grant to the Lords Proprietors in 1670 they were instructed "to build Churches and Chapels in furtherance of the Christian Religion". The 10-d stamp will show the Nassau Public Library, a picturesque building, octagonal in shape and with an interesting history. In fact, it once served as the Nassau Prison. In 1878 it was converted into a library, and the cells which once contained the island's criminals were transformed into alcoves for the thousands of books which form the library's present collection.

MUSIC ON RECORDS

By HUGH DOHERTY

ANDRES SEGOVIA, guitar: Boccherini-Cassado, Concerto for Guitar and Orchestra in E major; Bach, Suite No. 3 in A major with the Symphony of the Air, Enrique Jorda, cond. (DECCA stereo DL 10043) — Both of the compositions played by guitar virtuoso Segovia were originally composed for the cello as solo instrument. Transcribed for the guitar, they take on a completely different complexion; a Spanish flavor, certainly, but more than that, liveliness and movement. This is especially true of the Boccherini concerto. Segovia's playing tinges the measured phrases of the Bach suite with flamboyance. He is especially impressive in the lower ranges, where he plucks rich, booming sonorities from the guitar strings.

RAVEL: Concerto for the left hand, Robert Casadesu, pianist; MOZART: Concerto for two pianos, K. 365, Robert and Gaby Casadesu, The Philadelphia Orchestra, Eugene Ormandy cond.; (COLUMBIA stereo MS 6274) — In the Ravel work, Robert Casadesu pulls off a towering, sumptuous performance of this difficult test of the concert pianist's skill. His playing ripples with strength and firmness. The Mozart work by the husband and wife team is full of those cascades of bell-like notes which are Casadesu hallmarks. The performance of this delightful concerto is fresh and zestful. Eugene Ormandy and the Philharmonic are at their magnificent best.

GALINA VISHNEVSKAYA, Russian pianist sings Russian arias by Rachmaninoff, Shostakovich, Prokofiev, Tchaikovsky, Glinka (RCA VICTOR mono LM 2497) — Miss Vishnevskaya, a leading artist of the Bolshoi opera, demonstrates beautifully controlled singing and an extremely flexible voice. Some of the Russian songs she sings have an Oriental flavor to them, which may account for a curious flat thinness at times in the singer's tone, occasionally verging on shrillness. Best of the selections are a plaintive Caucasian love song by Rachmaninoff, and a soft Tchaikovsky lullaby.

Bizarre beliefs

"The Way-Out World" — 'Long John' Nebel, Prentice-Hall, Inc.—225 pages—3.95. On the face of the dust jacket of this book, which represents Mr. Nebel's first appearance on the literary scene, there occurs the following introductory outline: "A fascinating collection of strange and bizarre beliefs, 'experiences', and observations of Americans in the realms of: extra sensory perception; unidentified flying objects; visits to other planets; extra-terrestrial visitors; healers; reincarnation; spiritualism, mediums, and mystics; strange creatures of the earth; time travel; unusual inventions."

It is seldom that such a book as this appears on the literary scene, and although the author readily admits that he is not a writer, the content of the book partially compensates for the lack of good literary form.

All of the "beliefs," "experiences," and "observations" described here are based upon Mr. Nebel's personal experiences during the past six years as conductor of a "way-out" programme on radio and T.V.

It is somewhat alarming at times to suppose that even some of these unusual phenomena might have their foundations in truth although the author himself frequently emphasizes that he doesn't "buy" any of it.

E. B. OSLER

MEET AN AUTHOR: Though combining the selling of insurance and the writing of books is not considered standard behaviour among Canadian writers, it is the way in which E. B. Osler of Winnipeg, fills his days. Born in Manitoba, Mr. Osler is the grandson of Sir Edmund Osler and possibly the fact that one of his forbears appeared for the prosecution in the well-known trial of Louis Riel had something to do with the fact that his latest book is the widely read THE MAN WHO HAD TO HANG: Louis Riel. "E. B." as he is familiarly known to his friends, writes during the mornings and in the afternoons sells insurance for the family firm of Osler, Hammond and Nanton. He takes a keen interest in the theatre, serves on the Advisory Board at St. Paul's College, University of Manitoba and is an active member of the Canadian Authors Association. In addition to his latest book, he has written a novel entitled LIGHT IN THE WILDERNESS, several short stories and a one-act play produced in the Dominion Drama Festival.

Short stories to be studied

TALES FROM THE DON by Mikhail Sholokhov translated from the Russian by H. C. Stevens, Putnam, London, 285 pgs. $4.00 — There can be no question of Mikhail Sholokhov's ability to draw fine pictures of the Russian countryside and of his skill to portray "the violence of civil war, the agonies of starvation and disorder" as revolution and counter-revolution rolled over Russia. TALES FROM THE DON is a collection of short stories written in 1925 and 1926, while the Communist struggle was still in its early childhood, and the stories bear the marks of violence and hate on every page. In every story brother is set against brother, fathers murder their sons, children betray their parents, neighbours expose neighbours: communist and anti-communists alike (though the author is disposed to be less harsh with the communists) are brutal and ugly in their dealings with themselves and their enemies. What Sholokhov does lack is the ability to make his characters arouse either passion or compassion in his reader who never gets to know anyone in the stories. Noise, murder, desperation make the characters merely actors, shells with no "insides" even when "steppe birds... pecked black-awed barley from the ripped-up belly."

TALES FROM THE DON is an excellent book to read if one would like (and we all should like) to widen his knowledge of the dreadful forces at work during the early days of the communist upheaval, to learn from an authentic, if fictional source, just what the people on both sides had to suffer. "DON'T SEND — TAKE YOUR BOY TO THE ARENA" That is the slogan for Minor Hockey Week which opens today in Canada and Maurice Parsons, minor hockey con-

Minor Hockey builds character and citizenship. Time and money is spent to help the youngsters. Last year there were 124,682 players registered with the CAHA with close to 20,000 in the Province of Quebec.

The sum of $5,533 was spent in the Province alone while $46,871 was spent by Minor Hockey Branches throughout Canada. The CAHA grants for Minor Hockey totaled $27,000.

The organizers of Minor Hockey in Sherbrooke are asking for the support of parents and fans for the coming week. This is the time to honor the individuals who do so much for minor hockey. Their reward for their fine work is just a few kind words of appreciation.

We believe that these men are certainly playing a big part in our community in molding good citizens for the future. The various managers and coaches of the Quebec Minor Hockey Association receive no reimbursement for the long hours they put in. They have no paid monitors like some other groups. Everybody works free of charge.

Their greatest thrill is to see some of their youngsters develop into outstanding citizens and players. It's not easy to be a minor hockey coach.

He must be an optimist and yet at times appear a pessimist; seem humble and yet be very proud; strong but at times weak; confident and yet not overconfident, enthusiastic but not too enthusiastic. A good coach is a politician, a judge, a public speaker, a teacher and a trainer.

He must be willing to give freely of his time, his money, his energy and some of his family life. In return he must expect little financial reward, little comfort, little privacy, little praise but plenty of criticism.

But a good coach is respected in his community, is a leader, is loved by his team and makes lasting friends wherever he goes.

His association with athletes helps keep him young in mind and spirit, and he, too, must grow and improve in ability with his team. In his heart he knows that, in spite of the inconveniences, the criticisms, and demands on his time, he loves his profession for he is THE COACH.

That about sums up the duties of a good coach and we think it is about time that these gentlemen who devote long hours towards helping the youngsters should receive the full appreciation of their fellow citizens.

The Dow Alpine championship is being held tomorrow at Thetford Mines. This is open to both ladies and men, seniors and juniors of all classes, A, B and C. It is the fifth annual event and last year the Thetford Club won the Dow Trophy.

An executive meeting of the Sherbrooke Racing Club was held this week and plans were outlined for the general meeting of the shareholders which takes place at the end of the month.

The plans for the new grandstand were discussed and with a few changes should be ready for final approval. At the present some eighty horses are training at the local track and the fans should have another good year ahead. It is rumored that several good stakes will be held and this should bring a good bunch of horses to add a little extra interest for the rail-birds.

Bishop's sports squads are in for a heavy weekend according to their schedule. The hockey team played Carleton last night and clash with Ottawa University today. These are tough battles as both these colleges possess fine hockey teams.

In the basketball scene it was about the same story. Last night it was Loyola College at the local gym while today at 2.30 the Royal Military College squad takes the floor against the Galtiers. Coach Garth Smith is hoping for a couple of victories to get his team back on a winning streak.

In answer to queries from our golf friends CBC-TV, channel 6, will carry the final 90 minutes of play in the Big Crosby golf tournament commencing at 5.00. This should be quite a battle as the best pros in the game are taking part in the event along with the best amateurs.

The 18th hole at Pebble Beach is considered by many golf experts as one of the most challenging finishes in the world and we agree after watching the players last year battle the ocean winds on the 540-yard hole that doglegs along the rugged shore of Carmel Bay.

The NHL All-Stars for the first half of the season certainly caused plenty of comment. Doug Harvey and Frank Mahovich are the only repeaters from last year with Harvey receiving the most number of points for any position.

No doubt a lot of fans don't agree with the selection in certain spots but the boys who picked them have watched the players in action all season. Coach Toe Blake voiced his complaint about the picking but it will be interesting to see what happens in the second half and where the members of the first half team will finish.

Rollie Leclerc of Drummondville Rockets retained his lead in the race for individual scoring honors in the Eastern Townships Intermediate Hockey League according to figures released by Jean Chartier, league statistician, yesterday afternoon.

Leclerc has compiled a total of 43 points to hold a six-point spread over his closest rival, Leon Michelin also of Drummondville. Coach Lou Poliquin's squad holds six of the top ten spots in the race while Granby has three and Montreal Olympics one to complete the top ten.

Tomorrow all four clubs in the loop will see action with Sherbrooke at Drummondville and Montreal at Granby. With only nine games left on the schedule the top scorers will be out to try and better their present positions.

Leclerc has registered the most number of assists in the loop, 28, and has 17 goals to go with it. Michelin, on the other hand, has the most number of goals, 19, to go with his 18 assists. Ray Laplante of the Vics is third just four behind Michelin.

Claude Aubry of Drummondville is just one in the rear of Laplante while Gilles Bedard of Granby follows with 27 points. Claude Richard of Montreal is tenth with 22 points just eleven off the pace set by the leader.

In the goaling department it is Andy Payette of Granby who is the top man and has an average of 2.27 for the 22 games played to date. Claude Groulx of Drummondville is next followed by the Sherbrooke combination of Joe Lacoursiere and Andy Pratte.

Payette has the most shut-outs in the O'Donnell circuit, five, while the bad-man honors go to Noel Picard of Montreal with a total of 53 minutes spent in the cooler. Drummondville is the most penalized club with 295 while Montreal is next with 285 and Sherbrooke has collected 235 compared to Granby with only 212 minutes.

Windsor at Richmond, Border Jets play Miners in weekend action, First place at stake in league

First place is at stake Sunday afternoon in the St-Francis Valley Intermediate Hockey League.

Action will see the Windsor Paper Makers travelling to Richmond to clash with the Braves and the Asbestos Meteors playing host to Rock Island Jets.

As a result of Thursday night's games, when the Braves won a 6-5 squeaker over the Paper Makers and the Magog Aces pulled an upset in defeating Asbestos Meteors 3-1, the Braves pulled to within one point of the pace-setting Asbestos team.

A Richmond win on Sunday would put the Braves on top of the heap with a slim one point lead.

In Richmond the Braves are heavily favored to dispose of the Paper Makers. In four previous meetings between the two clubs, Richmond has walked away with victories in all the games. In these the Braves hold a 12-point goal advantage over the Paper boys having scored 20 to Windsor's eight. Richmond also is on a winning streak whereas Windsor has met defeat in their last three games.

Windsor have been without their star goaler Jacques St-Laurent for the past three games and this could be the cause for the poor showing in their last three outings. It is not known whether he will be in nets on Sunday.

Ken Brown joins Argos as head of publicity

TORONTO (CP)—Ken Brown, former publicity director for Montreal Alouettes, has been appointed promotion and publicity director for Toronto Argonauts of the Eastern Football Conference, managing director Lew Hayman announced Friday.

REMEMBER WHEN

In the first tribute of its kind in National Hockey League history the NHL 26 years ago today ordered the Toronto Leafs-Montreal Canadiens game scheduled the following night to be postponed, in respect to King George V, who died Jan. 20, 1936. The Chicago - Maroons game at Montreal Jan. 28 also was called off, that being the day of the royal funeral.

There are slightly favored over the Border Jets. Another disadvantage to the Jets is that they haven't played for a week whereas the Miners have taken to the ice twice this week. Both tilts are slated for 2:30 p.m.

Jacques Plante earns votes as top goalie in NHL and a controversy could easily be stirred up now

MONTREAL (CP)—There seems good reason to believe a controversy could easily be stirred up over the redoubtable Jacques Plante.

Were the NHL all-star selectors right a few years ago in more or less belittling the Montreal Canadiens goalie when Canadians were early prancing from one title to another in runaway fashion?

For five years in a row Plante won the coveted Vezina trophy as low-average goalie. But only twice in those five years was Plante named to the No. 1 all-star team.

If it is contended that the Vezina award doesn't mean automatic No. 1 all-star ranking, there's no argument, but the selectors in those days reasoned this way: Anybody could play goal with that team in front of him, so phooie on Plante.

But now the selectors appear to have come around to the view that perhaps after all it was Plante carrying Canadiens instead of vice versa.

MAIN ASSET Few will disagree that Plante definitely carried Canadiens through the first half of this season. And the selectors promptly plumped for him, piling up 73 points for Plante against 49 for Johnny Bower of Toronto Maple Leafs and 26 for Glenn Hall of Chicago Black Hawks.

The recognition was virtually obligatory. Time and again the masked Plante was outstanding. A weaker team has been in front of him. Gone are Doug Harvey, the league's ace defenceman, and two other formidable Tom Johnson missed six games. Up forward, scoring strength was lost through injury layoffs to Jean Beliveau, Dickie Moore and Bernie (Boom Boom) Geoffrion.

The comparative weakness of the whole team in front of Plante is shown in the number of shots he had to handle. In the first 42 games this season he was pelted with 1,209 drives, the most any goalie faced except Don Head of the lowly Boston Bruins. Head, and his relief in four games, gave 1,296 shots. Plante gave up 99 goals and Head and relief 183 in the same number of games.

"Next time I get a day off, I'm taking it," he told the coach. Imlach, puzzled at the at-titude, retorted: "I used to like that drill when I played."

St. Francis High School of Richmond downs Notre Dame in two straight and sweep series for Southwood Cup

In the final period, six goals were scored with Notre Dame picking up their only point when Hill tallied late in the period on a pass from B. Fulker.

St. Francis picked up five points in the period when T. Rodgers, J. Tibbetts, P. Dunn,

Bruce Kidd not to run again until foot heals

TORONTO (CP)—Bruce Kidd won't run again until he has regained the form he had before he injured his right foot last year.

Coach Fred Foote doesn't plan to race Kidd until a Los Angeles meet, Feb. 10.

Despite his injury, the runner was third in last Saturday's Knights of Columbus run at Boston.

"He's just not in the shape he was in at this time last year," his coach said.

At the moment, Kidd is slated for only a minor role in the Meet of Champions at Winnipeg a week from Saturday. He will run a leg on East York Track Club's relay team.
