TULIPS: are the thing this time of year. Samuel Smyth, 22 Burton avenue, retired CPR employee, has 2,000 of them in his back yard. They form a two and a half foot border to his 25 x 40 foot garden of daffodils, dutch hyacinths and anemones. His neighbors term his tulips 'gorgeous'.

MISS G. THORNER

Funeral services were held last Wednesday for Miss Gladys Thorner, 39, who died suddenly May 13, at her parents' home, 4275 Western avenue.

Miss Thorner, a deaconess of the United Church, studied at the United Church Women's Training School before being commissioned for Women's Missionary Society work in Ratlam, India in 1950.

In a tribute to her eight year service in India where she dedicated her life to "village evangelism," Reverend Callum Thompson, officiating minister at the service which was held in Westmount-Park Emmanuel and Calvary Church, said, "Her life was an effective witness to a growing faith."

Born in Fort William, Ontario, Miss Thorner graduated from Westmount High School, Sir George Williams College and Union Theological College, New York.

In 1958, Miss Thorner returned to Westmount from India and worked in city missions and other local church activities.

She is survived by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Thorner; three sisters, Eileen (Mrs. A. Mayotte), of Regina, Joyce, (Mrs. F. McPhee) of Kimberley, B.C., Jean, (Mrs. G. Cann), of Ottawa, and by a brother, John of Toronto.

Vollett; 2—Bernard Lefebvre; 3 — Yvan Tourigny; Recognition — Charles McMahon, Lynne Lawson, Harry Lange and Colin Sweet.

In addition to the regular show, the "Amazing Randi" provided a touch of comedy plus some amazing "Magic" and the King of Comedy, Mr. Danny Dean, gave a performance which rocked the audience with laughter. Danny is a former Boys' Club member, who made good in

Radar, turbos available to all

By Larry McInnis

Pilots of small aircraft may look to England for a new navigational aid that will take the guesswork out of cross-country flying, an announcement from London says. Although the machine is not yet on the market, it is fairly well along in testing, and will go into manufacture soon.

The idea came to a businessman named Bennett Halpin, a radar and electronics expert, who decided to learn to fly last year as a result of his efforts to have the government put the huge princess flying-boats into service commercially.

During his instruction he saw that relatively few aircraft were adequately equipped for proper cross-country flight, and felt a low-cost aid was needed to replace the not-too-accurate map reading chore of most pilots.

The machine has been named Adas (aircraft directional accuracy system) and it will be cheap enough to fit in the budget of most private aircraft owners, Mr. Halpin says.

The prototype worked, but Halpin felt it needed improvement. In the one-year period he put it on his own Cessna aircraft, making modifications as they seemed necessary.

Adas consists of three black boxes, a control box, a small radio and a miniature cathode-ray tube.

By selecting the frequency of any radio beacon on the route, Adas receives on the screen the morse coding of the beacon's identification letters. These morse letters can be replaced with two small dots which operate in a vertical scale. A flick of a switch and the dots move.

If the dots move upwards, the aircraft is travelling toward the beacon. If they move downwards, the aircraft is moving away from the beacon.

As long as the pilot is flying towards the beacon, or away from it, the dots will stay close together. If he strays off course, they move further apart.

Steering in a direction which keeps the dots as close together as possible brings the aircraft directly over the ground beacon.

About half Canada's CF-100s will be sold for scrap this year, starting early in June, it has been announced by the Department of National Defence.

Four of nine home-based squadrons will be disbanded, putting 72 of the $700,000 aircraft on the scrap heap. This will leave five home squadrons to defend Canada with their CF-100s, first made in 1951, unless a final decision is made to equip them with more modern American fighters, such as the F-101.

Radar, guns, and maybe engines, will be taken from the aircraft before they are turned over.

The RCAF admit that there is no market for the surplus CFs. Belgium owns about 50 of the craft, received over the years as a gift from Canada.

Also, hundreds of others were retired over 10 years, but the Crown Assets Corporation, which handles their disposal, refuses to say where and how they were sold.

This week in Westmount

By VALENTINA RAHR

Events at Westmount Schools this week are varied and many:

Mr. M. CRAIG, principal of Queen's school, has issued invitations to all parents of kindergarten age children, residing below Sherbrooke street west and east of Metcalfe, to register their children for the 1961-62 school year on Tuesday, May 30, from 1.30 to 2.30 p.m. Children must be five years of age on or before September 30, 1961. Parents are requested to bring along birth and vaccination certificates.

This new program will eliminate the need for registration in the fall. It will give the children an opportunity to meet the kindergarten teacher, and to find out some of the things to look forward to in school. It will also give the school more time to adequately prepare for the new class.

The last class assembly at King's School, conducted by Grade IV, took place last Wednesday morning. MR. FRANK SHARPE turned over the program to ANNE ANGELUS and DONALD SEDGWICK who chaired the meeting with aplomb. Songs were sung by Grade IV girls and boys, followed by a skit in French based on the well known "Au Magasin Poirier." A sketch sung by the choir and acted out by three boys attired as sailors followed. One of the boys wore an original sailor hat from Greece which was brought back by the father of Anne Angelus when he travelled to Greece last Christmas.

Others who took part in the actions were Louise Levins and Christina Rahr. There followed a piano duet by Heather Morrow and Louise Levins, poems by other pupils, a solo by Melvin Michaels and school news by Howard Lewis, all ended up with favorite songs of the students. Mrs. Forrest played the piano accompaniment.

ROSLYN SCHOOL pupils will be taking part in a Bicycle Rodeo, on Saturday morning at 9 a.m. on the school grounds. Students of ten years of age and up, as of June 30, will be tested on how to handle a bike, and former Home and School president Bonar Hodgson, will be there to check on them. About 150 participants are expected for this safety event.

About 36 boys from Grade VI,

Jailed drunk found not guilty attempted suicide

The conflict between the legal and medical interpretations of 'intent' was interestingly highlighted in a case Wednesday before Acting Municipal Court Judge Alex McT. Stalker in which the accused was charged with and found not guilty of attempted suicide. Dr. Donald Mackay, medical officer for Westmount, opined that the accused in jail on a drunk charge when he hung himself with a strip of mattress covering intended only to draw attention to himself and not to do away with himself. He conceded that if no one had gone in to the cell to cut down the accused, he might very well have died.

Officer O'Sullivan testified he arrested accused at Sherbrooke and Victoria on May 22. He saw two fellows half dragging, half carrying accused out of a car on to the street. One of the men approached the constable and asked him to take accused off their hands.

When he asked if there was any money available to send accused home in a cab they advised him they did not wish to become involved any further.

Propped up on the steps of Macy's Drugstore, accused told O'Sullivan, "Give me a break. Lock me up for protection for the night."

Sergeant Joel Schaeffer testified the accused came in to the Westmount police station about 9:45 p.m. and was charged with being a common drunk. He said, "When I asked the accused to come back with me so I could search him he told me, Leave me alone, don't touch me. He was very drunk and vituperative, cursing and yelling at the police."

"We put him in a cell and about 10:15 we heard yelling and very much noise, a loud banging. I went and looked and saw accused hanging from the top of the door of his cell with a piece of cloth around his neck. He was trying to regain his balance by hanging on to the door and yelling. I held him up on my shoulder and called Officer Bain to get a chair and untie the knot in the cloth around his neck."

"He had got the strip from the mattress cover and made a reef knot. His neck was very, very red where the cloth had been. We got him down and the accused went into a rage. He tried to pull the toilet bowl, the basin and the bunk loose from the wall."

"I got him down on the floor and held him until Jamison, Miller and several others arrived as reinforcements and we got restraints on him."

"The rope was about four feet long." He held it up to show to the Court. "The rope was tied to the bars over the door. The door is eight feet high. His right foot was about 18 or 20 inches from the floor. He was trying to get purchase on the door with his left foot. He was yelling but he was losing strength when we cut him down."

"He said, 'I want to die'. He cursed and had a fit and said, 'I want to kill myself'."

Dr. Mackay testified, "I received a call around 11:10 p.m. to go see a prisoner who was said to have attempted to commit suicide. The prisoner was noisy and under restraint straps."

I observed a considerable smell of rubbing alcohol on his breath and noted he had a dry tongue indicating dehydration. I predicted he would have no recollection of what took place, administered a sedative and when he calmed down a bit freed his left hand so he could smoke a cigarette."

"The man had too much to drink. He was so toxic I would not attach the same importance to the incident as I would if recollection were there. My interpretation is that he was simply trying to draw attention to himself which he did, fortunately for him."

"People who drink to excess try to commit suicide all the time. Doctors view it as part of the toxic reaction to drink. Frequently, they have a change of heart in the midst of their attempt, which to me shows they did not have a true intent."

The accused remarked from the prisoner's bench that he had a hard time getting attention the next day banging on the door, complained of the worn condi-

Biernacki faces new spy charges, bail sought

The five charges of collecting data for the organization of an espionage ring and attempting to pass useful information on to an unnamed foreign power brought by the Crown against Westmount resident, Tomasz Biernacki, 34 Thornhill avenue, were thrown out Wednesday by judge Peter V. Shorteno.

Said the judge, "From a legal standpoint, the stand taken by the crown is untenable."

The prosecution obtained a preferred indictment against Biernacki covering the same five charges dismissed by Shorteno from the Provincial government in anticipation of the dismissal today. His announcement of the new indictment at the close of the reading of the hour-and-a-half opinion by Judge Shorteno apparently took Joseph Cohen, attorney for the defendant by surprise.

Cohen immediately announced he would seek bail before another judge that same afternoon. Later it was announced arrangements were made for Judge Lazure of the Court of Queen's Bench to hear the application by Biernacki for bail at 2:30 p.m. Wednesday.

Biernacki, who has been in custody since April 9, rented quarters in the basement of the home of the widow of Superior Court Judge R. T. Stackhouse and is employed by Surveyor, Nenniger and Chenevert, consulting engineers, 1440 St. Catherine street west.

He is married and has two small daughters. His family is presently in Poland. Biernacki has been in Canada for just over a year.

Bail was refused earlier to the Polish immigrant hydraulic engineer by Sessions Judge Paul Hurteau during arraignment

Firemen go to blazes

It was a quiet week at the Fire Department with a few minor fires soon brought under control and the tracking down of a defective fire alarm at 4129 Western avenue.

A fire in one of the apartments at 254 Metcalfe avenue on May 17 caused fire and smoke damage before being brought under control by the Fire Department within 15 minutes after the call was received at the Station house.

On the same day, in new construction opposite 222 Metcalfe avenue a pile of scraps, lumber and refuse caught fire in the basement. This fire was deemed under control by the Fire Department upon arrival. It is not known if the fire was set or the result of spontaneous combustion.

Car nicks garage

It was a tough night for everybody when Gerald Meaney, 3420 Kensington avenue, pushed his car on to the Texaco Service Station lot, 4400 Cote des Neiges road, following an accident involving his car at 2:20 a.m. May 19.

J. Sas, proprietor-lessee of the service station, told Westmount police, according to their reports, he had the pump bases freshly painted May 18. Then on May 19, when the station was opened in the morning, "a guard pipe was broken out of the cement, the cement line was broken, the outer cover of the gasoline pump was dented and knocked off and the pump pushed out of line."

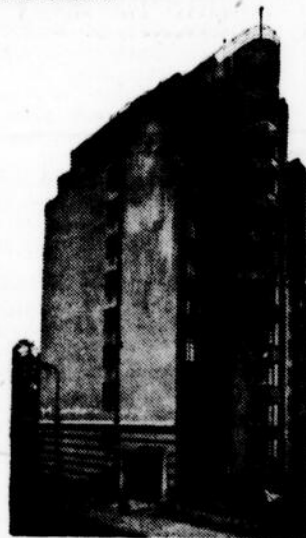

Sas reportedly added, "When Meaney's car was towed away I noticed the rear bumper was damaged, apparently where it struck the post."

Meaney is reported by the police as denying having caused the damage. He said, reportedly, "When the tow truck came from Latimer's I released the handbrake and let my car roll back so that it could reach the tow truck hook. At this time I noticed my car was moved about 30 feet from where I had left it the night before. When I left it, I left the keys in the car. They were returned to me in the morning at 8:45 by the man on duty."

Both nice people;
but marriage? No!

ANNOUNCEMENT Last winter that this fall the Boy Scouts would become Welfare Federation's 34th agency receiving Red Feather campaign funds caused little comment. We withheld ours. Here it is.

The Scouts, of course, are now split. The non-Protestant boys must now be financed on their own or else be taken in, in turn, by the Federation of Catholic Charities, the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies, etc.

The addition of the Scouts to the Red Feather drive was designed, obviously, to eliminate a campaign from the crowded charity calendar.

But will this move thereby increase Welfare Federation's campaign results by the amount of the Boy Scouts' requirements? This remains to be seen.

Both the Scouts and the Federation are wonderful people, deserving of widespread support. But this doesn't mean we must approve of their marriage.

The 33 "appeals in one" represented by the scarlet plume seemed unwieldy, big-business and impersonal as it was.

The good biblical word "charity" seems to have been getting rather changed in meaning over the years.

Sorry. But the tattered image of a hungry child, of a sick mother, of an old man just doesn't seem to go with the conventional conception of a well-fed, red-cheeked, well-privileged and, perhaps even, spoiled boy in Scout uniform.

BOURNEMOUTH'S campaign to keep out naked shows, and to present cultural entertainment instead, may lead to an offer from the Nudist Thespians of the Fotherham Colony to present their naked version of "Julius Caesar," in pursuance of their Shakespeare in modern undress movement.

Next year's rent is worrying our reader

Sir:

I haven't heard rent control in Westmount mentioned lately and I suppose as I only pay $70 per month for 7½ rooms, plus utilities, I should keep quiet and let well enough alone.

However, I am curious. My lease still has another year to run. The leases of the other tenants in my apartment block expired and the landlady only signed one year leases with them. The net result is that all the leases in our apartment block will expire at the same time next year.

I know our rent will go up at least $5 a month as that is what happened to the other tenants this year. The landlady installed new electrical wiring and used that capital improvement as an excuse to raise the rent. To my knowledge this has worked quite a hardship on at least one of the other tenants.

I am just wondering if $5 a month is all I have to worry about or whether the landlady has some information on the future status of the rent control law which has escaped my attention to date. Could you please check on this matter and let me know. It might make an interesting story, at least to other tenants and probably landlords.

—Jean Smith.

Reader sees crow
dining on pigeon

Dear Sir: —

The attached is quite interesting to the writer, inasmuch as it is the first time I have witnessed a crow making ready a dinner it had killed. This crow I write about was a large sized bird and I imagine more than a match for any pigeon. They have beaks that can deal a very sturdy blow, and the pigeon would not live beyond the moment of the first blow being struck.

It would have been interesting to have seen the crow in action, and I am sorry that I did not witness same, not that I would have enjoyed it, but that it could have been detailed to those who would be interested.

I would not willingly kill any bird. But nature is demanding if birds and fish and wild animals are to live, and there-

Bud Drury aiming for meaningful centenary

That Canada's celebration of 100 years of Confederation in 1967 will be more meaningful than just another excuse for holiday is practically a certainty with Westmounter C. M. (Bud) Drury, 579 Roslyn avenue, as president of the Centenary Council.

This dynamic son of a dynamic father, Victor M. Drury, and of the former Pansy Jessie Louise Mills, began his business career after McGill University Law School, studies of civil and international law at the University of Paris and admission to the Quebec bar by practice of law in the firm of Montgomery, McMichael, Common and Howard in 1936.

In 1939 the militia unit of the Second Montreal Regiment to which he belonged was mobilized and he went to Aldershot, England as adjutant of the second medium regiment of the Royal Canadian Artillery.

Before he left, in September, he married Jane Ferrier Counsell of Toronto. They now have four children, two girls and two boys.

His military career took him back and forth across the water from England back to Nova Scotia, Washington, D. C. and then to England and to France. He saw service first as captain, then as major, lieutenant colonel, colonel and finally as brigadier. He served with the artillery, as military attaché to the Canadian embassy in Washington, D. C. and as a student at the Staff College in Camberley, England.

Following the war he went to Warsaw as chief of UNRRA for Poland for a year and a half and upon his return to Ottawa as a political officer for the Department of External Affairs.

In 1949 he was appointed deputy minister of National Defense.

He left the government in 1955 to become president of the Provincial Transport Company. It was at about this time he moved to Westmount. In 1960 he left PTC to become president of Avis of Canada.

Mr. Drury is very much challenged by his new position and is busy getting the organization into smooth running condition.

He said, "We have no final plans at the moment. Right now we are collecting ideas from the 115 member associations and collating these to see which are the most urgent and appropriate to the purpose of the Council."

"Our purpose? I would say it is to encourage, promote and coordinate the efforts of Canadians to celebrate the centenary of Canada Confederation in 1967 and to see, insofar as possible, that such celebrations are more meaningful than mere holiday occasions."

Asked about the possibility of the council taking steps to get a Canadian flag and national anthem, he half snorted, "Don't you think it is about time some action was taken? It has been nearly 100 years. Not everyone agrees on the red ensign and 'O Canada' but, certainly, some decision should finally be made."

"No, I am not saying something will be done. The council will have to decide what action will be taken and on what problems. We are studying all kinds of suggestions."

Some have suggested the building of a national theatre in Canada. This is something that cannot be done in a day or even in as short a time as a pageant."

"Prime Minister Diefenbaker's suggestion of a freedom train is being studied along with all the others. We have received a vast volume of correspondence from Canadians from all over writing in with their suggestions. I wouldn't even try to guess how many thousands of letters have come in. They will all be considered."

"We have no staff — no paid staff. The government does not intend to give any money. The entire burden for the Centenary will fall upon individuals and organizations."

"We will hold our first annual meeting late next winter. In the meantime, we will be holding committee meetings as the need arises."

He disclaimed knowledge of what qualifications caused his selection for this very important job. "You'll have to ask Colonel Hugh M. Wallis across the street at the Montreal Museum of Fine Arts. He nominated me."

Colonel Wallis had this to say, "That is easy. Besides all of the things you already know, he has terrific experience of leadership in such a wide number

Bus collides with girl on a bicycle

A girl on a bicycle collided with a Provincial Transport Company bus on Sherbrooke street Tuesday with the only disastrous consequences abrasions to both legs suffered by Madelin Reid, 12, 527 Lansdowne avenue. She was taken to Children's hospital by patrol car.

Donald Poulin, 7725-12th avenue, Ville St. Michel, bus driver, reportedly advised police, "I was proceeding east on Sherbrooke street. As I approached the Clarke avenue intersection the traffic lights facing me were green. I saw a girl on a bicycle start to cross the street on the red light. I applied my brakes and the girl struck the front right side of my bus."

Madelin is reported to have told Westmount police, "I was driving my bicycle east on Sherbrooke street alongside the curb and on arriving at Clarke avenue the traffic lights were red. I then proceeded to cross Sherbrooke and as I did so an autobus crashed into my bicycle."

The skid marks from the moment of application of the bus brakes measured 32 feet.

Car mows down man

According to police reports, James C. Morris, 71, 4278 Sherbrooke street west, retired, was struck by an auto traveling along Western avenue Monday afternoon. Mr. Morris was taken by patrol car to Montreal General Hospital and was reported suffering from a laceration to the top of his head, pains in his chest and shock.

Paul Emile Racine, 97 Stinson street, Ville LaSalle, taxi-driver, reportedly told Westmount police, "I was proceeding east on Western avenue approaching its intersection with Greene avenue faced by a green light."

"When I was about to enter the intersection I suddenly saw a man in front of my car. I applied my brakes but could not stop in time to avoid the accident. I did not see in what direction the car came from."

Mr. Morris is reported as saying, "The traffic lights facing me as I crossed the street were green."

Someone smelled sulphur

A Thornhill avenue resident complained on Sunday of the heavy odor of sulphur in the neighborhood.

He was reassured to learn from the Fire Department it was not the day of judgment but only the refineries on the east end of the island which refresh Westmount when an easterly breeze is blowing.

J. A. Messenger to teach history

John Aubrey Messenger, 23, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Messenger, 494 Victoria avenue, will receive a Bachelor of Science degree in Teacher Education from Springfield College, Springfield, Massachusetts, on June 11.

Mr. Messenger, who will teach history in Rosemount High School this year, received his earlier education in Westmount. He took an active part in football throughout his high school career.

During his stay at Springfield College, he was active in the Glee Club and Scotchmen, college singing groups. He also reached the semi-finals in the Golden Glove

Speeders pay pound of flesh

Two speeders learned Wednesday Acting Judge Alex McT. Stalker does not set the amount of fines levied upon receipt of pleas of guilty to driving in excess of 30 miles per hour on Sherbrooke street. They paid the statutory amount of $50 plus costs.

A not guilty plea to a parking ticket was remanded to next Wednesday.

A newcomer to Westmount, a life long resident of Verdun, received little sympathy for his impassioned plea for leniency as a first offender. Said the judge, "If you had just parked until 8 a.m. the next morning, I might see things a bit differently. But you left the car there until 2.15 the next afternoon. $2."

A man who pleaded guilty with an explanation to a charge of entering the intersection of Sherbrooke street and Clark avenue on a red light averred, "The light turned yellow too late for me to stop so I went on through." Inspector Lawson said, "I would like to have the case remanded so the constable can be here if there is any doubt."

There was none. He was found not guilty.

Another accused found not guilty was a man who explained his parking unlawfully as due to his sudden stomach trouble and having to leave his car to seek emergency medical assistance.

Then there was the wordy gentleman charged with failing to obey a proper order by a police officer and going off without exhibiting his license and registration upon the request of the officer.

He explained, "I have worked in Westmount for the past three years. I live in Verdun. I always park my car on Elm avenue. I drive from there to St. Catherine street, turn right and go to Greene avenue where I make a left hand turn."

"On May 2 it was raining slightly so when I got to Greene avenue I signalled I was going to make a left hand turn without putting my hand outside the car. I am sure the officer saw me as he looked right at me when he signalled the other St. Catherine street traffic to go straight as much as to say, 'I'll get around to you and your left turn later.'"

"Then he signalled me to go straight. I pulled up a few feet from where the constable was standing and asked him if something were wrong that I could not go left. I thought there might have been an accident or a fire which would prevent my making a left turn."

"He told me very brutally, 'When I tell you to go straight ahead, you go straight ahead'. I started to go ahead as he had told me and I heard him

Cable lifters reformed by John Howard Society

The value of the work of the John Howard Society proved out in a case involving two juveniles who lifted $600 worth of cable belonging to Marconi Company last June.

The blue jeaned clean cut blond youths flanked by a John Howard man appeared before Judge Stalker Wednesday on a case remanded since last June.

Said the John Howard man, "I have kept in close touch with both of these boys and their families. They have both done very well. I am proud of them. This was a first offense for both of them and I think they are on the right path now. They are both employed and doing well."

The judge, pleased to see rehabilitation successful, gave suspended sentences and cautioned the boys, "I am sure you will do well now but if you are ever tempted to step in the wrong direction again just remember, now you have a record and it won't go so easily with you another time."

Crown prosecutor:

'Special board' necessary to review first offenders

A Montreal Crown prosecutor this week demanded that a "board of review" should be set up to determine sentences for first offenders.

Addressing the Progress Club of Montreal at a meeting at the Windsor Hotel, Kenneth C. Mackay stressed that a board set-up to study each offender could "determine what degree of punishment is necessary and at what point punishment constitutes tyranny and denies rehabilitation."

Mr. Mackay, who is also vice-president of the Quebec Liberal Federation, former Liberal candidate in the N.D.G. Federal riding and prominent West End youth worker, said that in his opinion "such boards would reduce recidivism considerably."

He quoted California as an American state where the system is in use and "the number of recidivists in prison has been reduced by 19 per-cent."

The speaker also called for an amendment in the Criminal Code ensuring that even the most hardened criminal gains complete justice.

"If an accused with a lengthy record testifies, he can be asked by the Crown prosecutor whether or not he has had a previous conviction."

"If he has, he starts off with a strike against him even though he may possibly be innocent of the particular charge against him. The change I suggest would ensure that even a hardened criminal could not be examined on his record unless he began testifying as to his previous good character," the Crown prosecutor added.

Turning to the "non-existent" probation system of the province of Quebec, Mr. Mackay said that "young offenders must be judged as closely as their crimes."

He continued: "The Salvation Army and other welfare organizations do probation work voluntarily but they are limited in their opportunities of examining the background of an offender."

Ask before trial

"On the other hand, a probation officer would be called in after an accused has been arraigned and before his trial. He would examine the accused's background and the possibility of rehabilitation and would make a complete and full disclosure to the trial judge who would then have the information available when the accused is sentenced," Mr. Mackay explained.

Discussing the length of sentences, Mr. Mackay said that "short sentences are almost useless."

He added: "One thing which causes more bitterness amongst the prison population is the fact that two cellmates may have been convicted for roughly the same offence and for the same value, and one finds that he has received five years and the other two years."

The Crown prosecutor explained that although "judges do try, and are often successful, in assessing the proper length of sentence, the varieties of sentence for the same offence are incredible."

say something about 'Stupid' so I stopped again."

"I told him I was a taxpayer and a citizen, that I had been turning left at that corner for three years and I did not see why I could not do it that day but that if he wanted me to go straight ahead I would."

"He then told me to pull over. I thought he wanted to argue some more. I thought what's the use and so I left."

"I did not hear him ask for my license and registration. The woman who was in the car with me that day told me this morning that she heard him ask me but I did not hear him. I was so angry and excited, I just did not hear him."

$5 and costs for failing to obey a proper order by a police officer and costs for failing to exhibit his license and registration as the judge could not understand that he might not have heard the officer under the circumstances.

City Hall Beat

with Jane Hendershott

The new chief of Police, to replace retiring Richard Edmonstone, has already been chosen. This is admitted by City Hall. What they won't say is who he will be.

The strongest rumor and one which does not meet with either admission or denial is that the plan is to combine the Police and Fire Departments as they were earlier under Chief William Wren and place Fire Department Chief E. C. Harper in overall charge. It won't be long before we can stop guessing. We will know.

The magnolia trees on Forden avenue and on the island on Forden Crescent are in bud now.

The X-ray clinic x-rayed the chests of 2,130 Westmounters this year as compared to 1,862 last year. This is the first year the clinic broke the 2,000 mark.

The place where the floral clock is installed annually has been cleared of its earlier plant of tulips preparatory to the time marking action of the Parks Department.

The most popular driving infraction of the week was entering an intersection on a red light. A surprising factor in most of this week's cases is that in each case involving a collision at an intersection controlled by traffic lights is that both drivers invariably claimed that the other car entered on the red light. In each instance the traffic lights were checked and found to be working properly.

There was a dog sans collar or tags moseying around the front of the Police Station on Wednesday. Quipped one of the officers, "He had better look out or a cop will come along and pick him up."

With the increasing number of laws and regulations we have these days it is well to note we no longer have to heed Articles 22, 29, 34 and 53 of By-Law 501 of the City of Westmount.

The public works department reports that we spent $28,700 less for snow removal this past winter than we did the winter before. This is despite the costliness of the storm of February 26.

More than twice the number of radar tickets for speeding were issued this year as compared to last year, 445 up from 213. Parking tickets were up too, to 3,847.

We still have no traffic accident fatalities for 1961. More people were injured and had to be taken to hospitals in patrol cars this year than last.

tion of the mattress cover and advised the court he did not after all wish to make a statement or give testimony.

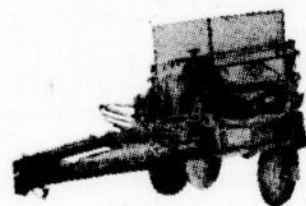

The accused pleaded guilty to the charge of being a common drunk and causing a disturbance and was given two days on each of the charges to run concurrently with credit for the time already served. The judge instructed him to come back this afternoon and pay the city for the mattress cover he tore up.

Said Judge Stalker, "I think I am giving you a break but if you come back I am going to throw the book at you."

The accused explained his failure to appear last November on a charge of causing a disturbance September 24 by saying, "I was arrested on my way home from work over in Bordeaux and held for three months until I could be tried by a judge and jury and found not guilty."

"Your camera will make your memories live forever"

By J. H. PURKISS

Your stamp dealer can, and should be a most important help to you, the collector. He should take as much trouble to sell you the best 10c item as he would if you were buying a $10. one. Unfortunately this is not always the case. Some dealers will try to foist their worst copies on the unfortunate beginner who is usually too shy to display his natural ignorance of the importance of centering, perfect perfs etc.

This type of dealer is soon found out, of course, because sooner or later a collector will be tipped off about a dealer who really tries to give the very best every time. So, when you go to a dealer, be fussy. Don't take the first stamp he offers until you have compared it with any others he may have. You will know by his attitude whether he is interested in helping you in your hobby or whether he simply wants to grab your money.

A word about catalogues. Collecting stamps without a catalogue is like trying to ride a bicycle without pedals. You get nowhere. A catalogue is actually a price list. Stanley Gibbons of London, England, who might be termed the pioneers of stamp collecting, being one of, if not the oldest dealers in the world, have published their catalogue for so many years that it has become the veritable Bible in the hobby or study of stamp collecting.

They have a staff of experts constantly checking issues, looking for errors in printing, color shades, watermarks in odd positions, cancellations and so on. They are able to judge pretty closely the available supplies of this or that issue and on these and may other factors they base the value of stamps and determine the market value.

Gibbons, being British, show their prices in sterling which some people on this side of the Atlantic find rather confusing. Actually it is nothing of the kind. There is a table in the beginning of Gibbons Catalogue which shows how to convert pound values into dollar values.

However, over here most collectors use Scotts, published in the United States. Scotts is a good catalogue as far as it goes. It does not go into detail like Gibbons. For instance, in the case of the famous Penny Black, Gibbons list three main types with their values, then they list prices of penny blacks from the various plates. Then they follow with a list of about 20 known varieties and their values. Scotts simply list the penny black and price it unused and used, and let it go at that.

Jewish Appeal chairmen named

Associate chairmen for the Jewish Appeal and United Israel Appeal to take place November 6 to 20 were named this week by general chairman Gordon Brown. The list included two Westmounters.

Cecil Pascal, 645 Lansdowne avenue and Boris G. Levine, 649 Victoria avenue, were named in the Campaign for $3,905,800.

Vice-chairman of the corporation division in last year's Joint Campaign, Mr. Pascal is now associate chairman in charge of the Trades division.

Boris Levine is associate chairman in charge of the Planning Committee for the 1961 campaign and was a keyman in the Special Names Division last year.

MR. A. DE F. HERON, of The City of Westmount Light and Power Department has alerted residents to its plans for converting its power system to a higher voltage. This will not affect power supplied to premises, but will increase efficiency and capacity of the cables used to carry the power to the areas.

It will be necessary to perform switching operations which will interrupt the supply of power for a few seconds on approximately four occasions during the coming summer weeks. In addition there will be one occasion when the power in the area will be off for approximately thirty minutes. The department requests residents co-operation and patience during these service interruptions.

The realm of scouting

Jamboree and Regatta set for July

New Scout Council President — Mr. R. C. Berkinshaw, CBE, LL.D., Chairman of the Board, Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company of Canada Limited, has been elected President of the National Council, Boy Scouts of Canada. Mr. Berkinshaw, a former Scoutmaster and a member of the National and Toronto Scout Councils for many years, succeeds Mr. Rhys M. Sale, who served as president for the past eight years.

Joins Inter-American Conference — The Boy Scouts of Canada is now a full member of the Inter-American Scout Conference, an organization which embraces all the Scouting countries in North, Central and South America. The Conference, which came into being in 1946, is a mutual help organization for the development of Scouting, and is under the auspices of the Boy Scouts International Conference whose headquarters is in Ottawa.

Three New Scout Stamps — A set of two stamps, eight cents and 25 cents, was issued last month by the Government of Trinidad and Tobago to commemorate the Second Caribbean Scout Jamboree. The design, common to both values, shows four Scouts against a background of a map of Trinidad and Tobago and symbolizes the Jamboree motto of "Unity." A medallion portrait of Her Majesty the Queen surmounts a picture of the Gold Wolf Scout Award, of which the Queen is the only holder.

West Germany also issued a Scout stamp last month. It is a 10 pf. green honoring the Scouts of Germany. The Pathfinders, as they are called. St. George, patron saint of Boy Scouts, is portrayed on the stamp, astride a horse and slaying a dragon.

PAGANINI — PADWA

There are many great works in the literature of music. None is more beloved by violinists than Paganini's 24 caprices. These melodious masterpieces are the aspiration of every serious violinist. Transcribed for the piano by Schumann, Brahms, Liszt and Rachmaninoff, they are likewise the goal of every professional pianist and many dilettanti. Students would like to play this great work but these wonderful piano transcriptions are too difficult for the average performer.

Shevchenko fete at Vic

The Ukrainian immigrants among us will take to the boards of Victoria hall on June 3 to give us a lively two hour festival of Ukrainian songs, music and dances. Over 150 young men and women in native costumes to the music of a Ukrainian orchestra will demonstrate the famed skills of their former homeland in honor of the 100th anniversary of the national poet of the Ukraine, Taras Shevchenko and the tenth anniversary of the erection of the first statue to the poet on this continent at Palermo, Ontario.

The two-hour show is hosted by M. Roshko, who has managed similar show in former years. Admission will be $2, $1.50 and $1.25. Curtain is at 8 p.m.

Turini just gave a memorable rendition of Rachmaninoff's popular arrangement "Rhapsody on a Theme by Paganini" with the Montreal "Pops" Orchestra under Walter Susskind in the initial concert of this new series in the Montreal Forum. It stood out as the highlight of the concert as a demonstration of the colossal gifts of the 26-year-old Canadian pianist.

Vladimir Padwa, a contemporary pedagogue who was one of the specially fine adjudicators in the recent Quebec Music Festivals, sent me a number of his piano works with a beautiful letter that I shall treasure. Presently conducting examinations at the New York College of Music, Mr. Padwa is a composer, accompanist (to such greats as Mischa Elman), a member of the celebrated First Piano Quartet and a noted teacher.

The compositions he sent to me are interesting material for elementary and junior students: "Little Suite", published by Oliver Ditson (Toccata, Lullaby, Polka, Barcarolle, Marching Song) . . . Six Little Preludes (Associated Music Publishers Inc., N.Y.) Each a separate piece: 1. Little Barcarolle, 2. Interlude, 3. Little March, 4. Dialogue, 5. Shadows, 6. March. Parade of the Pookas (Oliver Ditson Co.) is an attractive little recital number and March of The Minute Men (Theodore Presser Co.) would certainly appeal to boys.

A 17-page volume entitled Musical Rainbow is a set of eight studies with this note . . . To the teacher: each of these "Studies in Color" is intended to present a different technical problem for left and right hand, alternately, and at the same time to offer the student a taste for contemporary harmony and counterpoint. They also may prove to be useful little pieces for pupils' recitals. And — last but not least — I hope they will add "color" to the student's practise period, and brighten his efforts to reach the end of his "musical rainbow". Vladimir Padwa.

I have purposely left for last Padwa's exhilarating transcription of the Paganini Variations from the 24th Caprice as 12 elementary studies for piano. He has caught every important phrase, theme, harmony and has made such use of each significant technical problem that any student, regardless of the type of music he likes best, will enjoy this momentous work.

The very fact that Mr. Padwa has been able to sustain the Paganini structure in elementary form, without losing the magnetic melody is a worthwhile feat. I for one am going to use these with a number of students. Doubtless instructors will enjoy teaching them as much as the pupil will in studying them.

Platter Matter

Roulette: Carol Channing in Show Girl. Original Cast Recording R 80001. Viewers who have seen Carol Channing on the Ed Sullivan show know her as the naive mimic whose particular vocal talent is a sort of Al Jolson - Ethel Merman combination. This is well demonstrated in this musical revue most of which is built around Miss Channing's unusual delivery and on the disc comprises a dozen numbers from her alone. These are all in comic vein, running the gamut of plain farce: "The Inside Story", "The Story of Marie", "Join Us In A Little Cup of Tea", to the innuendo type such as "Calypso Pete" one of the funniest on the disc. She is also assisted by Jules Munshin and a talented French group Les Quat' Jeudis who score heavily in "The Girl Who Lived in Montparnasse" and "Mambo-Java". Good for laughs and Carol Channing fans.

Deutsche Grammophon: Had the opportunity to listen to a brace of discs from this imported label which deserves a nod for their fine packaging and quiet recorded sides. On LPEM 19225 Russian Orchestral Music with the Orchestra Lamoureux, Paris, conducted by Igor Markevitch there are some Russian fireworks in Tchaikovsky's description of Dante's Inferno, the "Francesca da Rimini" fantasia, not one of his most popular work; the quietly descriptive "In The Steppes of Central Asia" by Alexander Borodin; Glinka's peppy "Ruslan and Ludmilla" overture; and the brilliant, typically Russian, orchestral showpiece "Fragment de l'Apocalypse" of Anatole Liadov, a rarely-heard composer. Performance and recording are excellent.

For collectors of opera 'excerpts', we heartily recommend LPEM 19224 Don Giovanni by Mozart, sung in Italian with an excellent European cast headed by Dietrich Fischer-Dieskau. This one successfully captures the Mozartian old-world charm in superb solos, duets, groups and choruses, maintained with a lively pace and fine balance, backed by the Radio Symphony Orchestra of Berlin conducted by Ferenc Fricsay. The Libretto is provided in English and Italian.

James Wilson was born in 1763 in Derry, N.H., and was the maker of the first pair of terrestrial and celestial globes in America. Derry is the home of America's first Space Man, Commander Alan B. Shepard, Jr.

New opera company is formed

"Werther" and "The Barber of Seville" are the first two of four operas the newly formed opera company, Petit Opera de Montreal, hopes to present during its first season's program.

Mayor Jean Drapeau is honorary president of the company, which has been granted a provincial charter, and will have an authorized capital of $40,000.

The executive committee is composed of: René Gerge, president; Nathan Karczmar, co-ordinator and vice-president; Fernand Bérubé, administrator and secretary-treasurer; Jean-Paul Denis, CA, auditor; Rolland Blais, legal advisor; Jacques Létourneau, stage director, and Fernand Gratton, musical director.

Anyone who wishes to assist "Petit Opéra" in its efforts to bring culture to Montreal can become an honorary member. The office is at 3008 Lacombe avenue.

Summer visitors to New Hampshire will find that the 10-mile stretch that was opened last Autumn on the Central Express Turnpike — from Concord to Tilton — will speed up travel time to the White Mountains and the Lakes Region of the Granite State. This turnpike is the extension of Route 3 in Massachusetts, coming north from Tyngsboro, connecting in Burlington, Mass., with Route 128 and the Massachusetts Turnpike.

Let's play chess

Chess and vacation-time

By M. MOSS

The present is as good a time as ever to start thinking of combining one's vacation with chess. This thought occurred to us as we were perusing the May issue of The Chess Correspondent and read an article. The Tournament Trail, by Dr. Erich W. Marchand. The article, which is written in humorous vein, describes some of the "trials and tribulations of the travelling chess player, who not only plays regularly in his local club championship and city championship, but also journeys to regional and national tournaments within a reasonable striking distance."

The author goes on to describe various tournaments in which he participated, how he beat the strongest players in the Rochester City Championship, but lost to some high-school boys! He is not certain whether his poor showing in the U.S. Open at St. Louis was due to too much night-clubbing the evening before each round, or perhaps due to eating too many home-cooked meals, or because of early rising to play golf, and so on! A very enjoyable article indeed, replete with dry humour and a few sombre thoughts.

For example, after losing a tournament to a 14-year-old boy,

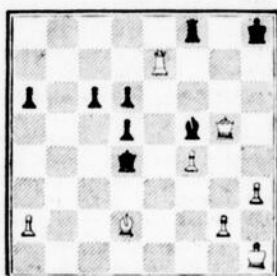

Dr. Marchand comments that "It is not always the one who knows the most about chess who wins the game. More often, it is the one who can play as well as he knows how to play, who handles his time well and who does not let the emotional pressure of tournament play affect his objective thinking."

(The Correspondent is published by the C.C.L.A., 816 South Cecelia, Sioux City 6, Iowa.)

Torevert to the thought expressed in our sentence, there are many tournaments scheduled for the months of July and August. These are planned especially in order that students may be able to participate, also that others may plan their vacations to coincide with the playing dates. The most important events "within a reasonable striking distance" will be the U.S. Open, to be held early in August, and the Canadian Closed, to be held toward the end of August. Also, a Canada-USA team match is being discussed, to take place either prior to the start of the Canadian Closed or immediately following that event.

More details about these events will appear in next week's column.

White To Play And Win

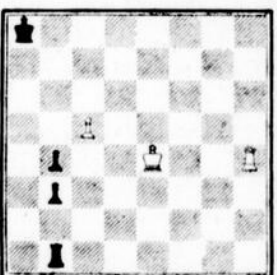

White employs the pinning motif to win in two moves, as follows:

1. Q-R4 ch K-N1
2. Q-N3 Resigns

Black resigns because he has only the one reply, K-R1, after which White plays the Bishop to B3, winning the Queen and the game.

Following is an instructive diagram, to encourage players who would otherwise be tempted to resign in an apparently lost position.

Diagram 96

White To Play And Draw

We will not comment on the diagram except to assure our readers that (a) it is correct; (b) Black promotes his pawn before White does; (c) White DOES GET A DRAW.

Solution will appear in next week's column.

LOCAL NEWS

How do I save?

If there's a fool-proof way to save, I've yet to hear of it. But one thing I do know. The "Royal's" 2-Account Plan makes saving a whole lot easier. Try it: use a "Personal Chequing Account" to pay household and other bills...

and keep your Savings Account separate—an account reserved for saving only. The plan works. Because when you have two separate accounts you can curb that natural urge to dip into savings; you actually see your savings grow.

Coveteousness,
which is idolatry

by

The Venerable
R. Kenneth Naylor, D.D.
Rector, Trinity Memorial Church

There is in the Decalogue a commandment which the Jews called the Hedge of the Law. It is the Tenth Commandment, which says: "Thou shalt not covet." There is no other ancient Law Code which contains such a rule. All the other commandments have their parallels more or less exactly.

Even the rule "Thou shalt have no other gods but Me" might be paralleled in the worship of one god by one city state. But "Thou shalt not covet" has no parallel. Yet if it were obeyed it would not commit adultery; if you do not covet his goods you will not steal; if you do not covet his reputation you will not bear false witness against him. It is the protector of all those commandments.

Yet it is something which does not call for legal action. I cannot prove that my neighbour covets my car until he steals it. Then I take action not for coveteousness but for theft.

Yet St. Paul puts coveteousness on a level with idolatry; that is, the worship of false gods. There is one goal in life, to know God and to love and worship Him. When we set anything up in our lives as an object to covet we brush God aside and set our heart on material things — we worship the thing created rather than the Creator — we have committed idolatry.

This may seem a battle of words, but it is not. It is on the other hand a very practical matter. It means that we have lost our sense of values and have turned everything upside down. We have put things at the centre of our desires.

A wave of indignation has swept over North America because a congressional committee has discovered that strikes for higher pay have disrupted the American space program. The men have thought of their pockets rather than of their country. I trust, however, that the committee will widen its inquiry to consider whether the suppliers of essential goods for the space program have not made exorbitant profits. It is just as easy for capital to go on strike as for labor.

The trouble is that we are all in the same boat together: we worship money and the things money will buy. We gradually build up wages and salaries and profits, and thereby raise the cost of the products we have to sell. Note that I said salaries as well as wages. There is no reason why there should be such a spread as there is between the foreman in the factory and the middle grades of management. They are equally necessary to the well-being of the firm. They have gone to the same schools and have learned to enjoy the same things. But when they go beyond enjoying and take to worshipping things, then there is bound to be a clash between them.

I have been reading Karl Jaspers' "The Future of Mankind" and have been deeply moved by it. Jaspers is a German philosopher for whom I have a great deal of respect. He says the Future of Mankind depends on the nations being ready to renounce war—not unilaterally but completely and honestly — and to surrender the desire for power. He sees no signs of surrender, and his argument is

Graduation and confirmation attract large congregations

Sabbath Services: Friday evening, May 26 at 8:15 p.m. at Temple Emanu-El. Dr. Stern will speak on "Prime Minister, Shepherd and Scholar", a tribute to the Prime Minister of Israel, the Rt. Hon. David Ben-Gurion, who is guest of the Canadian government the weekend of May 24-27.

Large Congregations at Graduation and Confirmation Services: At the worship on Friday evening, May 19, 28 young people were awarded their diplomas in honor of their graduation from the High School Department of the Temple Emanu-El Religious School. Rabbi Dr. Harry J. Stern, complimented both parents and students for their devotion to Jewish education. Miles Wisenthal, MA, educational assistant, brought a stirring message to the young people and the diplomas were awarded to the students by George Hollinger, president of the Congregation and Reuben Ginsberg, chairman of the School Board. Along with the diplomas the graduates were each presented with the gift of a Union Prayerbook.

Temple Emanu-El was crowded to capacity Sunday morning at the Shabbath and Annual Confirmation Service when 30 young people pledged their loyalty to the faith of Judaism. The Confirmation Procession was led by Messrs. Hyman Grover, George Hollinger, William Gittes, Samuel Wechsler, Reuben Ginsberg, Lawrence Marks, QC, Alfred N. Miller, Samuel Paperman, Joseph J. Cooper. Assisting with the Torah were: Abraham Izenberg and Alfred B. Grossman. Rabbi Dr. Harry J. Stern gave the charge to the confirmands and bestowed the blessings upon them. The entire theme of confirmation was devoted to "The Jew and Judaism," with special emphasis on the observance of the 13th anniversary of the founding of the State of Israel.

Hyman Grover, honorary president of the congregation and George Hollinger, president, presented the confirmands with the certificates of Confirmation and a copy of the Hebrew Bible. Following the worship a reception in honor of the confirmands was held in the Temple social auditorium under the auspices of Temple Sisterhood.

Prizes and Certificates of Honor at annual closing of Religious School: Temple Social Auditorium was crowded to capacity with parents and pupils at the closing rally of the Religious School held Sunday morning, May 14. After a brief service of worship a dramatic presentation "Whither Thou Goest" in observance of Shabbath was presented by members of Class 5a, written and directed by Howard Schwartz. Among those who shared in the distribution of prizes under the chairmanship of Reuben Ginsberg, chairman of the School Board were the following: Mrs. Abbey Sankoff, Thomas Shustack, Mrs. Samuel Schwartz, Alex Carsley, Simpson Lightstone, Cantor Otto Staeren, Jack Carrick, Mrs. Stanley Davis, Mrs. Leon Pappelbaum, George Hollinger, Asher Gerstenfeld.

simply a call to us to repent, and change our way of thinking. That is the need on the grand scale — nations have worshipped power rather than justice, mercy and truth. They have been idolaters and idolatry brings its own punishment.

It is not equally true of the perpetual war between capital or management and labor. During World War II there was a degree of co-operation and the war was won. When the war — the war for survival — was over the internal war began again with all its evil consequences.

"The devil was sick; the devil a monk would be;

The devil got well; and devil a monk was he."

Our Lord summed the matter up: "Except ye repent ye shall all likewise perish."

Campaign of Seals launched by Oratory

Saint Joseph's Oratory has just launched its fourth campaign of seals for the purchase of stained-glass windows for the Basilica.

Most of the work to be carried out in 1961 in the internationally-known Shrine founded by Brother André in 1904 will be concentrated on the setting of 24 stained-glass windows in the Basilica.

The various scenes illustrate the miraculous interventions of the Virginal Spouse of Mary in Canada. They are the work of a Quebec artist, Marius Plamondon, who is professor at the School of Fine Arts in Quebec City. His art is reminiscent of that of the Gothic cathedrals, but his inspiration is quite contemporary.

The main purpose of the stained-glass windows is to create in the Basilica, facing Queen Mary road, an atmosphere of prayer foreseen by the architects and indispensable to the communion with God.

LITTLE LEAGUE BASEBALL

Unity's Little League Baseball Team, the Indians, started off the 1961 season with a bang last week winning both the opener 19-2 against the Orioles and the second game 7-1 against the Red Sox.

Billy Holden, last year's All-Star pitcher, in the Kiwanis West Little League, pitched a no-hitter, striking out 17 of the 18 batters and hit two homers, a triple and a double. Dalton Barnoff also hit two homers, and Mietek Raddoman had one home run and a double.

In the second game, Dalton Barnoff pitched against the Red Sox. Unity won 7-1 and thus earned undisputed first place in the League, with two straight wins and no losses.

Coach Manny Barnoff is prepping his team for the third game versus the White Sox, last year's champions.

Christian Science

How the sacred rights of each individual become unassailable as God's complete power and wisdom are spiritually understood, will be brought out at the services in the Montreal and Westmount Christian Science churches this Sunday, in the reading of the week's Lesson-Sermon on this provocative subject: "Ancient and Modern Necromancy, alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced." Resistance to subversive influence of every sort is epitomized by this text from Proverbs: "There is no wisdom nor understanding nor counsel against the Lord." And illuminating passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include: "Evil thoughts, lusts, and malicious purposes cannot go forth, like wandering pollen, from one human mind to another, finding unsuspected lodgment, if virtue and truth build a strong defence."

Spring

Now, budding trees and flowers and grasses,
Where all before had been dark and cold,
Now through a thousand golden trumpets,
Gay jonquils shout, from the bursting mold.

The earth is clothed with beauty,
Washed clean by showers and sun,
And the sleep of winter is over
The time of waking has come.

Beyond all power of man's design,
Its beauty springs from winter's dearth,
It was in God's thought, when time was new,
To bring this miracle to earth.

League president outlines year's major events

A total of $5,654, over half the funds raised by the Jewish Junior Welfare League during the past year, was donated to welfare causes it was disclosed by the president, Mrs. I. Sedlezky, at the annual meeting of the group held Tuesday. The new slate of officers elected at the meeting included Mrs. Don Boyaner, 460 Bertrand street, Saint Laurent, and others from the Notre Dame de Grace and Westmount area.

A total amount of $10,547 was raised through the Souvenir Program Book, a venture conducted by Ways and Means Bureau, and the only money-raising venture of the year. Of this, sum, $2,000 was contributed to the program of Recreation for the Handicapped, a demonstration project of the Montreal Council of Social Agencies, $1,000 each to the Learning Clinic at the Montreal Children's Hospital, and the McGill School of Social Work for bursaries.

A further donation of $650 was made to the Language Disorder Clinic for aphasic children at the Children's Hospital, a set of Encyclopedia Britannica was purchased by the League for the School of Social Work Library and a $250 scholarship was given to Youth Aliyah in Israel. The Montreal Girls' Association received $300 from the League and the School for the Hearing Handicapped, received $200.

The three sections of the League work were reviewed: education, administration and finance. In the education field, the primary aim of the League is education of members for responsible community participation, the President said. Supervised volunteer service programs and an orientation program as well as four leadership training sessions are included in the education plan.

The League's third conference was sponsored this year in co-operation with the Health Section of the Montreal Council of Social Agencies and the Occupational Therapy and Rehabilitation Centre.

In the administration field, the League was frequently requested by community organizations to sit on their committees and boards.

"This involvement of many of our members enables us to broaden our awareness of the functions of other agencies and at the same time to make a worthwhile contribution," the President said.

Members have served in this manner at the Montreal Girls' Association, Montreal Volunteer Bureau, Montreal Citizenship Council, on several sections of the Montreal Council of Social Agencies, and on committees of the be Miss Maude Paradis and Mrs. Yvonne Benesh. Miss Mary Beetles will direct all three Recitals, she has also designed all the costumes, which have been made in The School's Costume Department.

Baron de Hirsch Institute. Two League members served actively on the planning committee of the Women's Community Conference.

These affiliations were described by Mrs. Sedlezky as "a great source of strength to the League."

The President expressed the group's gratitude to the board members, program chairman, bulletin committee and telephone committee for the smoothness of administration.

The Placement Projects Bureau, sponsored by the League, supervised the placement of 57 provisional, 72 active, and 124 senior active members and recorded the hours of service contributed by the 253 volunteers. Simply expressed, the underlying theme of the Placement Bureau might be, "volunteers plus service equals placement projects," the project supervisor, Mrs. Annette Werk explained at the meeting.

In closing, the President commented that the League could not continue to grow without the support of community, which was greatly appreciated at all times.

The Eastern Townships, Newport and Stowe

North Hatley in Quebec and Vermont's Newport have two very important attractions in common.

Besides an abundance of golf courses within reasonable distances, North Hatley has the beautiful (this is the description in the advertisements — and they lie not!) Lake Massawippi, and Newport is situated on the southern end of the equally wondrous Lake Memphremagog.

Some of the best boating is to be had on either body of water; the beaches are ideal for bathing and sunning, and according to the officials of the Lake Massawippi Fish and Game Protection Club, you haven't fished until you've done so at Massawippi. (Walt Woodward, the agile barkeep at the Connaught Inn, North Hatley, gave us the Indian interpretation of the name, but it has eluded us.)

At Newport, Vermont, we heartily recommend to you John and Dorothy Prouty's Governor Prouty Inn. This tasteful and charming spot is famous for food, and equally so their Terrace Lounge for libations. The lodgings, you may be sure, are up to the same standards.

Another swell spot is the Hunter Lodge. This is a well-run place with 28 self-contained units — in other words you may cook to your heart's content — and is operated by Theresa and Austin Lahar. Both establishments are pleasantly familiar to Montrealers.

At Ayer's Cliff in Quebec, Archie Stafford's community of lodges, cottages, two bars, tennis courts and nearby golf courses, the Ripple Cove Inn is actually something to see and visit. The Anchorage Bar attached to one of the attractive buildings has a smart landing area directly off one side to receive cruising guests from Lake Massawippi who have developed a thirst. Very handy, indeed!

Mogy Campbell has taken over the Brae Mor in North Hatley and renamed it the Terrace Club. Not only a new name, but a complete face-lifting from stem to stern, within and without, is currently being done by the enterprising Mogy, and when this hits the newstands it will be a fait accompli. (Love writers who slip in little French phrases like that. Don't you?) More on this spot later.

The Hovey Manor under the very capable direction of Bob Brown is still the same unassuming, but very smart location. Lovely surroundings, magnificent view with an excellent cuisine, and very comfortable rooms — and what a bar!

North Hatley may well be proud. And golf, tennis, swimming, sunning, boating and what-have-you at your door step.

At Stowe, Vermont, Burr Vail is again directing traffic for the Stowe Area Association after an absence of a few months.

Vail sends in a partial list of coming activities planned for that terrific resort area.

They are as follows: July 8, Mountain Top Festival; July 15 and 16, Sports Car Rally; July 16, AKC Dog Show; July 20, Rotary Auction; July 27, 28 and 29, Invitational Juried Craft Show; Golf Tournament scheduled for sometime in August; August 12 and 13, Stowe Horse Show; August 14 to 20, Stowe Invitational Tennis Tournament, and August 26 and 27 Antique Car Rally.

There's a further schedule planned for September and October which we'll give you later. Of course, as the Summer progresses and the events take place, we'll dutifully keep you posted.

That's all for this week, kiddies. Drive carefully, and stay happy!

Census facts

The 1961 Census begins Thursday, June 1. The bulk of counting is expected to be completed in cities in two weeks, and in rural areas in three weeks.

In the Middle Ages censuses were taken to levy taxes and raise armies. But Canadian law forbids the use of census data for any such purposes.

Canada has the distinction of taking the first "modern" census. This was the Census of the Colony of New France in 1666, ordered by Louis XIV. It recorded a population of 3,215 compared with an expected 18,200,000 this year.

Answers given to the census taker are strictly confidential. Every census taker is under oath not to reveal a single item about any individual, under penalty of fine, imprisonment or both.

For the 1961 Census, Canada will have 1,336 census commissioners and about 26,000 census takers. Each census taker will travel from door to door collecting the facts required.

Red Shield appeal nears top

Carman A. Jerry, general chairman of the Red Shield Appeal, today reported that the campaign was within $73,000 of its goal of $335,000.

"We now have subscriptions totalling $262,700 and there are still enough cards outstanding to put this appeal over the top," he said. The Advance Gifts Division is already over the top and the Men's and Women's Special names are close to it," he said.

He said the response from employees had been particularly good but had not quite reached its quota, while the Metropolitan Division, representing the household-to-house canvass was edging up. Division represents about one-third of total objective but it is naturally slower in attaining its mark due to the large number of people and cards to be covered. I am confident that we will reach our objective. But it will take the concerted efforts of our canvassers and the customary fine generosity of the people of this area to achieve this," he said.

Lake Placid COEC plans reception

An Adirondack reception for New York State Commissioner of Commerce, Keith McHugh is being planned tonight by the Lake Placid Chamber of Commerce. The Chambers of Commerce in a 12-county area of northern New York are being invited to send members and their wives to what promises to be a combination social function and business conference.

Commissioner McHugh will be accompanied by Deputy-Commissioner Ronald Peterson, J. Victor Skiff, deputy commissioner of the State Conservation Department and E. Burton Hughes, Deputy Superintendent of Public Works have been invited to be present as guests of Lake Placid by Chamber president, William Hovey, Jr.

39th District Senator Eustis Paine and Essex County Assemblyman Grant W. Johnson have been asked to invite their colleagues from neighboring counties to be present to mark the start of another season.

Guest of Honor, Keith McHugh is a former president of the New York Telephone Company. He joined the Rockefeller team in 1959. Under his leadership the Commerce Department has been reorganized and expanded with new offices in Chicago and Los Angeles successfully competing for new industry. New legislation to assist the small businessman is being developed to compete with States like Pennsylvania, where package plan plant construction with long term, low interest loans has been successful. Travel promotion has been aided through a budget increase that allowed greater travel show

Cancer

Registry planned

An organization, unique in Canada, which will permit accurate assessment of cancer treatment results in the Province of Quebec has been made possible by the Quebec Department of Health's financial backing of a Tumor Registry Office.

The registry, which will be located in the Department of Pathology at Laval University, was first promoted by Dr. A. J. Phillips, statistician for the Canadian Cancer Society, who has long realized that a central clearing house in each province covering all cases of cancer is essential to a proper understanding of treatment results. So far, the only province in Canada which has been able to provide such information has been Saskatchewan where all treatment has been government-supported since 1932.

In the rest of the country, data are gathered on patients who are treated by radiation therapy or chemotherapy but rarely on those treated by surgery. This means that information is not available on cases of cancer of the stomach, intestine, rectum and some cases of breast cancer.

The first move towards a tumor registry in Quebec was taken last November when the Canadian Cancer Society sponsored a meeting in Montreal of representatives of 24 hospitals and clinics in the Province of Quebec where cancer is treated. Delegates were in unanimous agreement that a registry was necessary. A working committee of five, plus Dr. Phillips, was set up and the Provincial Government was approached.

The result is that nearly $16,000 has been approved to finance the registry for the first year. It will be established at Laval. A registrar has not yet been named.

Teams debate on Red China

Debating teams from Lower Canada College and Stanstead College met in Montreal on Friday, May 19, to decide the Final of the Inter-school Debating Contest held annually between Ashbury College, Bishop's College School, Lower Canada College, and Stanstead College.

After a keenly contested debate on the resolution "that Red China should be admitted to the United Nations", the Stanstead team was pronounced victorious by Robert Speirs of Selwyn House, who acted as chairman of the judges' panel. Carlos Barbooth, from Argentina, and Graham Sleeth of Thetford Mines, were the Stanstead representatives.

Hat-tricks, not-out Centuries tops cricket play long holiday week-end

The long holiday weekend provided cricket fans with plenty to talk about this week.

Three hat-trick feats were registered on Saturday along with a no-out century. Then on Monday, Bill Scutt of Wanderers hit 110 runs not-out when his team drew with Adastrians. This was the club's second century on the weekend.

Reg Docking, Mount Royal, and Glen Gibson, Wanderers 'B', each claimed a hat-trick while Dave Boys Wanderers 'A' had four wickets in four balls. Ralph Williams, also of Wanderers 'A', hit 101 not out, including 16 fours and one six.

Adastrians won their second straight 'A' Division match, defeating Mount Royal by 32 runs.

Mike McLean, batting 10th, was chiefly responsible for the league leaders good score, making 55 not out after 8 wickets had fallen for only 80 runs.

In the other games, Wanderers overwhelmed Verdun, and Canadair played out time to enable them to gain a draw with the Westmount team.

Apart from Gibson's hat-trick, other top performances in the 'B' Division came from L. Farley (West Indians), with 84 runs, Cockayne Stelco with 7 wickets for 23 runs, and E. Gibson Rolls Royce with 6 for 22.

Best for the Adastrians on Monday were bowler Ian Rennie, with 6 wickets for 61, and J. Sadeck with 59 runs. As was the case on Saturday the Adastrians had to recover from a shaky start to attain their highest score of the year.

In other A Division action the powerful West Indian side easily defeated Canadair by 8 wickets.

Fast bowler Len Simpson had 5 for 20 for the winners, including the hat trick — the fourth such effort of the weekend.

For the losers, John Law with 62 and Charlie Hurford with 44 were top scorers in a total of 119. West Indian batsman Hendy Wilkinson hit 40 not out for the winners.

There were three games played in the B Division with Rolls Royce narrowly defeating Canadair, West Indians just scraping home against TCA and Mount Royal losing their second straight, this time to Stelco who thus maintained their perfect record.

ALTHOUGH IT WAS not the best-weekend for weather, (tell us if we've had one) we headed for Lyndonville, Vermont, rain or no rain. On the chance that maybe we would have time to fish, my 12-year old son thought it would be a good idea to take our outfits. We did, and it turned out just as we hoped. We started out late Saturday p.m. and headed some 20 miles up into the Green Mountains from Lyndonville. With B.J. (whose name is also Rice) we headed for the wild country and a couple of dirt roads. We were about 2,000 feet above sea level and hit this lake, about one-half mile long and 1,000 yards wide.

IN 45 MINUTES my son and I had caught our limit, 12 trout each and B. J. was the busiest 'guide' you ever saw. No time to 'wet' his throat. By the time I had put in the second anchor, my son had his hook baited with a worm by B. J. and he landed one about seven inches long. It was like that until we had our limit. Never have I experienced such excellent fishing. The trout that day even took the hook with so little worm on that you wonder how they saw it. Trout were jumping at the hook even if you held it about six inches above the water.

ON SHORE WAS Chippy, another good Lyndonville friend. He later joined Scotty, one of the bantam baseball coaches in years gone by and brought in their limit. Luigi (Louis) who operates one of the local grills was presented with the catch and one hour later my wife and I had a lovely feed of fresh trout. The boy likes to catch fish but won't eat them. It was nice visiting Lyndonville and seeing old friends and we hope that that exhibition bantam or pony baseball series can be played this summer. We have another invitation to try it again in two weeks but this time, walk in a few miles and try for rainbow. Who wants to get a paper out this week after a fishing weekend which was supposed to be just a visit.

UNITY BOYS' CLUB annual track meet is slated for Westmount Grounds Saturday, which will start in the morning, break off for lunch and will continue in the afternoon. The Dawson club from Verdun have placed 100 entries and plus Unity's and other entries, it will be the largest Unity meet ever held. Only good weather will make the meeting a real success.

AT THE CITY of Westmount Annual Award Night it was like Old Home Week as this reporter gathered with Ken Reardon of the NHL Canadiens club, who presented a trophy and Norman Dawe, son of the late QAHA hockey official, who is now the manager of the City of Westmount. Ken and this reporter were mates in the RCASC during the last war, Ken had the motor bike and we had a 3-tonner. Young Norman, who has a son as tall as himself, also called Norman, started out as a teacher and moved into Westmount, where he has risen to the office of city manager.

JIM RILEY, new president of the Canadian Lawn Bowling Council, has already started to make his rounds of the district clubs. Jim Brodie, of Verdun, president of the Quebec branch, will also make his rounds around the district greens. The Dominion event is set for Town of Mt. Royal last week-end in August. There is no sponsor this year and the Canadian body with the help of the branches have started a $1.00 per member campaign to help pay for the costs. A whiskey outfit withdrew their sponsorship.

BOB KELLY, who played much of his basketball for Southwestern YMCA and other Montreal teams is home after graduating from Mount Allison. GEORGE LUSTE, N.D.G. boy, is also home with high honors. He majored in Physics and received a scholarship and teaching fellowship to the Johns Hopkins University. Luste was first-string tackle on the Mt. A grid team. His Coach, Gus MacFarlane, is also home, but pushed on to Toronto for RCAF duty.

WHEN THE GREATER Montreal Schools gather on Friday and Monday for their annual track meet, Verdun stands high. In their own school meet, 29 new times were set in 55 events. All schools have been working hard for this meet, but the biggest will be the Invitation which is set for early next month. Allan Scott, John Gibb, Brian Warnock and Peter Besson were the Verdun division winners.

Saunders wins Caledonia 'Spiel'

Bill Saunders skipped his Ste. Anne de Bellevue rink to a 12-5 victory over Bryant Hawkins of Mount Royal to win the Hillside Trophy in the Caledonia Curling Club's closing bonspiel. The 'spiel' wound up the 1960-61 curling season in the Montreal area.

Saunders jumped into a commanding 10-1 lead and coasted home easily. Playing with him were lead Lloyd Bentley, second Art Hincks and third Lynn Bunting.

In consolation events, Roy Bown of Wentworth defeated Ken Weldon of Caledonia 11-8, Don Bussiere of Pointe Claire defeated Doug McEwan of Outremont 6-5 and Wilson Parsons of Pointe Claire defeated Wilf Merchant of St. George 9-8.

Following are the results:

Main Event
Ste. Anne's: Lloyd Bentley, Art Hincks, Lynn Bunting, Bill Saunders, skip (12).
Mount Royal: Frank McCarthy, Phil Everson, Tom Doran, Bryant Hawkins, skip (5).
B Event
Wentworth: E. Armstead, J. Hogg, J.

O'Keefe golf

Some 150 sport scribes and professional golfers from all over the Province will congregate at Rosemere Golf Club, Monday, May 29, for a colorful and unique sport event, the 4th Annual O'Keefe Pro-Press Golf Tournament.

Last year's Pro-Press Tourney, held at the Marlborough Golf and Country Club, saw the journalistic honors go to Jacques Barrette, Sports Editor of La Patrie, who will, this year, try to extend his record of three consecutive win-

St. Leo's bantam softballers win over Lower Canada College 11-10 and 14-3

St. Leo's Spring sports program is well underway, with only a few weeks remaining before the curtain is drawn down on another scholastic year.

The bantam exhibition softball club is a pleasant surprise, having registered two wins over Lower Canada College. The first game played at Westmount Park was a thriller with the young collegians battling all the way before losing out 11 to 10 to the Saints.

Jimmy Fennell came up with the big blow for the winners with a towering homer over left field to Academy road. The return game at the LCC grounds found the St. Leo's crew still at top form behind the steady pitching of Andre Camilli to score an easy 14-3 victory.

Roger Lefebvre was the hitting star for the Academy, connecting with a base-loaded home run in the fourth inning. Third baseman Jerry Cairns also had a field day at bat with a four for five average.

In class softball, Peter Rasant's third high eked out a 11-10 win over Tony Tyrrell's second high at Westmount Park. In a previous game played at King George Park second walloped third 28-6.

Class softball is catching on and Michel Valois claims he is organizing his class team and will be ready to challenge. Graham Sherriffs and Phil Loftus are ready for action with their second grade team.

TRACK AND FIELD

Efforts to revive this fine sport at St. Leo's is meeting with a good response and coach Andy McGillis has about 15 candidates in training on the modern new track at Westmount Athletic Grounds.

Training facilities were not ready until recently and it is not likely that any boys will have time to get in shape for the Twilight Meet on Friday May 26 at McGill Stadium, however track hopefuls like Jean-Paul Robitaille, Neil Capper, Jimmy and Pat Fennell, Roger Lefebvre and Paul Stubbs are showing good form.

This sport is a fine conditioner and more candidates should avail themselves of the opportunity to train in Track and Field.

With St. Leo's new gym available for pre-season training next Spring, there is an excellent chance that Track and Field will blossom out into a major Spring activity.

TENNIS

Registration for the forthcoming Tennis Tournament is slow but more action is expected in a few days. Peter Rasant, Billy McKay, Frank McMahon and Len MacDonald are early entries. No decision on whether the girls at St. Paul's Academy will participate or not.

Clues to Cashword Explained

ACROSS —

8. Rugged is preferred. A losing candidate may call for a recount after a rugged, or turbulent, election, for violent competition might have led to irregularities in balloting. Rugged is not as certain; he is not likely to have any way of knowing that the vote was manipulated. Rugged is remote.

11. Dozing, to be sure. A dozing mother may fail to put a halt to her child's reckless behavior, for she may remain asleep and unaware of what he is doing. A dozing mother is likely to put an immediate halt to his recklessness, for she may have more than ordinary fears for his safety.

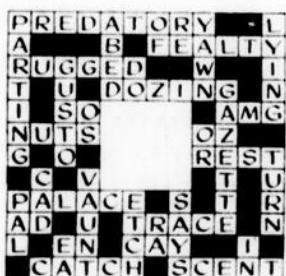

16. Nuts, yes. People may fatten on nuts, for they are high in calories. Nets, or profits, may be too small to permit high living.

18. Rest is likely. An elderly retired man may depend on rest to keep him going, or he might have chosen to go working. Rent is remote without knowing more about his financial situation.

22. Palace over Palace. One may consider nothing but the best suitable for a king's palace, for such an establishment would not be run on an economical basis. One may consider that a king's palace, as his tastes, whether culinary or intellectual, would be a matter of personal preference and lean to simpler things.

31. Catch is best. A girl's indifference may cause her to lose a good catch, as a young man worth catching for a husband, as he may prefer some show of esteem. Match suggests that an understanding already exists, in which case the young man may have been attracted to begin with. It takes little attention to keep from losing a watch.

DOWN —

1. Parting is favored. Parting, as a leave-taking, may be a problem for a diffident individual in a crowded place, for he may be embarrassed by any emotion-alism that attends it. Parting in a crowded place could be a problem for the most aggressive individual, as well.

2. Abed is best. A robber is not likely to be intimidated by a victim who is abed, for the latter is not likely to have any means of self-defence close at hand. An aged victim might have been able to grab a gun. Awed is remote.

5. Yawn, yes. A yawn may enliven a dull club meeting, for it might so exactly express everyone's sentiments as to cause general laughter. A yawn, or tale, might be as dull as everything else that has taken place.

9. Gusto is wanted. A man's placid friend may find his gusto, or enthusiasm, disturbing, for sharp reactions from others may rattle a quiet temperament. Gusts, or fits of temper, may disturb anyone.

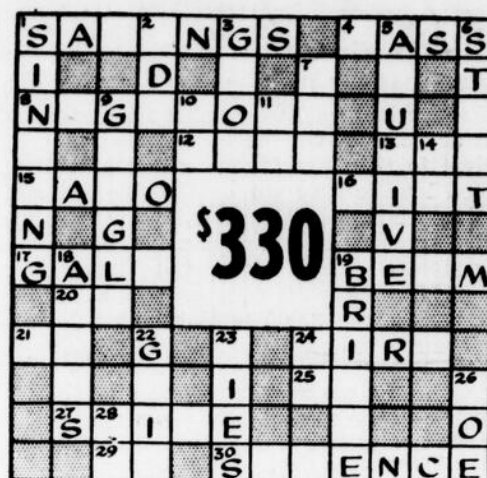

12. Gazette is favored. Speed may be essential to a gazette, or newspaper, so that its competition won't scoop it on news events. While a gazelle is a naturally swift animal, whether its speed is essential to it would depend on the situation.

19. Turn is better. An unexpected turn, or crisis, may interrupt a hike, for it may not be able to continue until the emergency is resolved. One needs more information to determine that an unexpected turn, or mountain lake, would hold up the hikers.

21. Vaunt, to be sure. One may regret an ill-timed vaunt, or boast, as when it may be made in the presence of someone who can refute it. One can always turn back from an ill-timed jaunt, as when weather or other conditions become unfavorable. There is never a good time for a taunt. Haunt is remote.
