

Mounties seize drugs here

Royal Canadian Mounted Police Sunday night seized from an apartment at 4172 Dorchester boulevard west three chunks of hashish, eight grams of marijuana, a number of unidentified pills and a pipe with traces of hashish in it.

The seizure followed a discovery of similar drugs in a Montreal apartment by Montreal Police, who called in the RCMP. Three persons had been taken into custody in the first discovery and two of them, a man and a woman, accompanied the Mounties to the Westmount address, which is at Greene avenue.

DOING HIS THING IN WESTMOUNT PARK

Possibly his boss, or his wife, told him to "Go fly a kite!" and this man decided to do just that the other afternoon in Westmount Park. The hand-in-hand couple on the left appear to find the exercise an interesting one, as did freelance photographer Stephen Sammons, who shot the scene for Examiner readers.

Wild car-chase rap: 8 days

Denis Sauvé 19, of south-shore Lafleche, driver of the stolen car which led Westmount Police on an expensive, high-speed chase which ended in St. Hyacinthe in the small hours of April 28 last, finally was brought to book yesterday.

In the space of only a few hours he was located yesterday morning in Lafleche, brought into Municipal Court which happened to be in session, was found guilty on four charges — driving without a licence, driving without lights, speeding and passing through red lights — and was delivered to Bordeaux Jail to serve eight days' imprisonment.

Sauvé was confronted with an aggregate of $120 in fines plus $20 costs, choosing the concurrent jail terms instead.

Tracked down

On April 29 he and a companion received suspended sentences in Montreal Sessions Court for theft of the Chevrolet car in Lafleche. The Westmount traffic charges subsequently were laid against Sauvé, who had not been tracked down until yesterday.

It took a St. Hyacinthe Police pistol shot to stop the run-away car after the long distance chase, which had begun at Sherbrooke street west and Prince Albert avenue at 3:45 am when the car was approached by a Westmount patrol for driving without lights.

Sauvé evaded a Montreal Police car on Sherbrooke street east, a Provincial Police car at the south end of the Lafontaine tunnel and rammed another Provincial car off the highway along Route 9. One Westmount Police vehicle was damaged when it hit the wall of the tunnel and another's engine was burned out, necessitating costly repairs.

Neighbor's complaints cost dog's owner $26

Recent municipal warnings about dogs on the loose — also a recurrent topic at last week's annual Westmount Municipal Association meeting — were lent point in Westmount Municipal Court yesterday morning.

Cops catch pair with hotel silver

Curious about a duo walking west on Dorchester shortly after 2 am Monday, officers of a Westmount plain-clothes patrol saw them drop something into some bushes on Hollowell street.

Investigating, the object turned out to be a dozen steak knives wrapped in a Queen Elizabeth Hotel serviette.

Jean Guy Boisclair, 20, of St. Lambert, and his juvenile companion, were arrested and turned over to Montreal Police.

Search futile

Sgt. Brian Richardson and Westmount Police's dog were on duty at the request of Lachine Police Sunday from 1:15 to 9:45 am, searching vainly for a missing child who turned up safe in the home of a woman who had taken him in and put him to bed for the night without reporting the fact.

On one count, of permitting his dog to be unaccompanied in a public place and on the private property of others, between Oct. 7 and Mar. 31 last, there was a fine of $10 and $8 costs.

On a second charge also under the Dog By-law, Mr. Macleod was levied costs only of $8 when found guilty of permitting his dog on April 11 to be on the street unaccompanied.

Alderman objects to permit measure for city southeast

City Council overcame the objections of Ald. Douglas Robertson Monday night and passed three resolutions in the form prescribed by the Quebec Housing Corporation leading, hopefully, to the issuance of three building permits in the southeast urban renewal area.

The first is to repair some $15,000 worth of fire damage suffered to the property of Mrs. Dalphe Bruneau at 4128 Dorchester boulevard west; the second is for reconstruction and alterations to the Champlain Oil Service station at 4084 St. Catherine street west, and the third for some building changes at the Herbert Reddy Memorial Hospital, 4039 Tupper street.

Ordinarily such permits would be granted as a matter of course. However all three locations are parts of the zone in which the Quebec Housing Corporation will be concerned, under enabling Westmount by-laws, in renewal.

Undertaking

The provision which worried Lawyer Robertson was "that the City of Westmount undertakes to have the applicant abide by all the by-laws provided for in the urban renewal program."

Since QHC had not yet given final approval to the scheme, the city would be attempting to enforce laws not yet in force, he said.

Ald. D. O'C. Doheny, who moved the resolutions in the absence of Ald. John Birks, and Mayor Peter McEntyre explained that if the requested wording was not followed there was a risk that QHC approval of the permits would be denied or, at least, delayed and thus work a hardship on the applicants.

Both City Attorney Arthur Weldon and City Manager Norman Dawe took the same view.

The three resolutions finally passed, en bloc.

Hearings set for June 18 on renewal

Westmount urban renewal scheme objections, filed with the Québec Housing Corporation during the month subsequent to passage of the city's enabling by-law in late March and a subsequent display of the plans in St. Andrew's Church Hall, will be heard Wednesday evening, June 18, starting at 8 pm, in Victoria Hall by QHC officials.

Copies of objections filed within the legal delay were tabled at a City Council meeting on May 20, at which time also a resolution was passed by council at QHC request extending for up to six months the time required to complete formalities. The original year's period had lapsed May 16.

It is expected that once the June 18 hearings have taken place and decision made on the objections, final go-ahead will not be long in being given by the provincial authorities for the five-year program.

Boy, six, hurt when hit by car

Six-year-old Grant Brodeur, 76 Holton avenue, was taken to Montreal Children's Hospital by Westmount Police patrol car late Monday morning suffering abrasions to the right side of his body and the loss of two teeth.

Donald Angus of 636 Roslyn avenue said that he was driving slowly north on Roslyn past the side entrance of the school when Grant ran out from between two parked cars.

Boughs snapped

A number of boughs of trees were snapped in Westmount in Tuesday night's high wind. No specific damage, resulting from Monday night's thunder storm, was reported to Westmount Police.

Door thwarts

An attempted breaking and entry was discovered on Sunday at the Henrietta Dress Shop, 1357 Greene avenue. A lock had been broken off a rear outside door but an inner door stopped would-be burglars.

Isles erected

Islands have been erected in both crosswalks on Sherbrooke street at Prince Albert avenue, designed to protect pedestrians who may be caught at mid-street in traffic.

Famous violin teacher, Dr. Suzuki at WHS workshop here on Tuesday

Dr. Shinichi Suzuki, master violin teacher from Japan, is going to conduct a string workshop, demonstrating his method of teaching string instruments to young children, on Tuesday in Westmount High School under the auspices of the Westmount Schools Fine Arts Committee.

This Workshop will be open to the general public.

The man responsible for bringing Dr. Suzuki to Westmount is Ted McLearn, 352 Metcalfe avenue, string teacher for the Westmount school system and a resident of Westmount for the past 22 years.

Mr. McLearn first heard of Dr. Suzuki some 15 years ago, when he read an article in the now defunct "Etude" music magazine about the wonderful results a Mr. Suzuki was achieving in Japan with the training of children of pre-school age to play the violin. The article was complete with pictures of the tiny tots playing together in a Festival at Tokyo.

To Japan

Mr. McLearn's interest was aroused. He kept in touch with the movement by reading articles about it in the American Music Educator's Journal, in which it became increasingly evident that a force of worldwide importance in the field of music education had evolved. Mr. McLearn decided that he would have to go to Japan and become acquainted with the method at first hand.

In 1965-66 he took a sabbatical with the backing of the Protestant School Board of Greater Montreal and went to Japan where he observed Dr. Suzuki and his method at work in Tokyo, Matsumoto, Suwa, Nagoya, Kyoto and Nagano.

Mr. McLearn was greatly impressed with Dr. Suzuki's masterly teaching, his wonderful ability to attack any weakness which showed up in the pupil's playing the moment it appeared, and to work imaginatively at it. Mr. McLearn found it thrilling to attend a lesson and see the mother of the pupil present, usually with a younger child strapped to her back, taking in all the instruction so that she could help at home when the child was practicing, and to see how the pupil remained in the studio after his lesson, to take in the lessons of the rest of the class.

Mr. McLearn commented on Dr. Suzuki's gentle and disarming manner with young children, surely the key to successful teaching of them. Dr. Suzuki replied simply: "I respect children - children like me".

At Suwa (Hot Springs), a charming town on a lake in sight of Mount Fuji, Mr. McLearn heard what must be the youngest string orchestra in the world: 32 children of from five to seven years of age, playing 1st, 2nd and 3rd violin and cello. They played with wonderful intonation and tone. They played for almost an hour, with all the confidence in the world.

Mr. McLearn was struck with the far-reaching importance of Dr. Suzuki's original decision to teach all pupils the same repertoire, hence making possible massed performances in unison, both at the class and community level, and leading up to the annual festival in Tokyo. This, more than any other factor, brought talent education to the attention of the musical world.

The festival was held at the Nippon Budokan, a huge, oval-shaped building which suited the requirements very well, with the entire floor being filled with 2,000 violinists and the balconies around it filled with a huge audience. It made a tremendous impression hearing so many playing at the same time and doing it so expertly and musically, with never even a hint of any timing problems.

The workshop at Westmount High School will be similar to the teaching situations which Mr. McLearn witnessed in Japan, with the end results hopefully as successful.

Blind school returns two to its board

Leslie G. Ogilvie, 4300 de Maisonneuve boulevard west, last week was re-elected president of the Montreal Association for the Blind.

Among directors re-elected was Christopher W. McConnell, 48 Rosemount avenue.

They had participated in one of the most eventful terms in the association's 61-year history, culminating on Nov. 24 last in the opening of the new buildings and re-opening of the renovated original structures, which dated from 1912.

Government grants had been considerably increased, but are applied exclusively to operating the school for blind children and the Gilman residence for adult blind. Private donations are still important, and Mr. Ogilvie thanked the appeal committee, all four Westmounters, for their work. They are A. Deane Nesbitt, 3269 Cedar avenue, chairman; Robert C. Paterson, 627 Belmont avenue; Leslie N. Buzzell, 4734 Roslyn avenue, and Mrs. Donald N. Byers, 604 Clarke avenue.

Tight fit

Little damage was caused when yet another truck, this one driven by André Bélisle, 28, 11562 St. Catherine street east, became stuck in the CPR overpass on Greene avenue. The incident occurred after dark in a misjudgment of the relative heights of the truck and the overpass.

CHILDREN'S SHOW GOES ON THE AIR

Tante Lucille (Mrs. G. Danis, 443 Elm avenue) and CBC Announcer Jean Perreault face a group of children at Westmount's St. Paul's Academy last Saturday for her last story-hour radio show on CBF for the season. Behind (left) is Producer Roger de Vaudreuil enlivening the applause and, beside him, Lucie Doré, an older young admirer of Tante Lucille and a 1969 winner of Radio-Canada's Concours Jeunes Amateurs.

Children inspire Tante Lucille

Tante Lucille a French-Canadian author for children who lives in Westmount not far from l'Académie St-Paul, a French and English school, every day receives little girls and boys from that school, after classes are over, around 4 o'clock.

The children come without invitation, just because they want to hear a story. Tante Lucille always receives them with joy and tells the story she is writing for her next radio program over CBF (Radio Canada). Often she finishes the story with the children.

Tante Lucille has had a radio program for 21 years, every Saturday morning at 10 o'clock over the French network. From over the country she receives letters from her best friends, the children. She receives letters not only from French-Canadians but also English and from neo-Canadians, such as Dutch, Italian, Spanish and Polish.

Ends season

Last Saturday it was the last program of Tante Lucille for the season. On that occasion her program took place in public at l'Académie St. Paul. They enjoyed her show very much. Tante Lucille is very happy when she makes children happy by her stories. The program last Saturday at l'Académie St. Paul was one of the biggest successes of Tante Lucille's career.

Tante Lucille (Mrs. G. Danis, 443 Elm Avenue) will be on vacation for the summer and in the fall her radio program will be on the air again. During the summer she intend to travel in the Maritimes and Western Canada and bring back new legends for her young fans.

Academy rd. closing bid given prod

Monday evening's statutory June meeting of Westmount City Council lasted 20 minutes, followed by 4 1/2 minutes during which a citizen's inquiry regarding the possible closing of Academy road, between Melville avenue and Park place, was discussed.

The matter was the subject of the only floor resolution passed at last week's annual meeting of the Westmount Municipal Association. Proponents suggest the closing to protect Westmount Park School children using the playground in Westmount Park opposite.

The proposal is receiving considerable study by city committees and a decision was promised Monday night before school re-opening in September.

The same bid was made five years ago and study then did not favor closing the street. Neither traffic counts nor the accident record of the area supported such action.

We Say

'D' Day, Canada and the French

We agree with the mod youth on TV the other night who thought "D" Day was a good thing but it shouldn't be dragged up every year.

The events of that frightening, awe-inspiring, crucial day 25 years ago tomorrow have their real significance only for those who were there: vivid memories, tinged even with a sense of privilege in being part of the biggest assemblage of manpower of all time, a crucial undertaking.

We've long since given up trying to explain to our contemporaries what it was like going into the "sausage machine" that chilly morning, and our children cannot comprehend it - any more than we could ever get caught up in the reminiscences of old soldiers of the First World War.

It's a pity, in a way. While on the one hand abolition of war might be furthered by erasing memories of it, to fight in the uniform of ones country is one of the surest forms of instant national identity.

Today's youth are smart. Yet abstract history is not enough to assure a continuity of sense of national identity. Small wonder many of our young people are perplexed when asked, "Is Canada a nation?"

The real answer to that does not come from knowledge alone. Experience contributes even more. Canada is, of course, a nation only if you feel it is.

What is Canada's nationhood in the realities of today?

Some say we skate close to absorption by the United States, specially because we aspire to American standards which we cannot yet afford.

We're not so sure, and not out of any chauvinistic ideas stemming from June 6, 1944.

Most Canadians realize that those are not first cousins south of the border, but cousins twice or thrice removed. Their problems, like their way of life, are only superficially like our own.

The U.S. cultural or racial issues, white versus black, are something quite different from our own seeking to resolve English and French living together as one brand of unhyphenated Canadians.

Indeed, a country which does not excitedly reach out for outright absorption as part of the American republic well may find that this single question - the place of French Canada in our own Confederation - may prove to be the biggest unifying force of all, in keeping us Canadian.

A bigger force than, say, "D" Day.

We are certain that your article must have made the difference between only promises and the atmosphere of absolute friendly and helpful attention we are receiving at present from City Hall.

It is good to know that beyond the normal duties of standard news reporting you, and only you, had the moral courage to voice this gutsy and powerful stand for the kids.

While we lack the eloquence and polish to dramatize our case with properly selected words, you have captured this spirit in absolute depth, and may have tipped back to balance the minds of some of our cool-headed businessmen.

It is unfortunate that simple truth and earnest effort must travel such bumpy roads, but we consider your voice to be the voice of a real friend, and can only promise: the project will be done, despite whatever comes, or whoever tries to throw stones at it, and we will certainly remember you.

We should also like you to know that, for your incredible stand - should you be further interested - our elected public relations officer will give first-hand information to you, irres-

Québec's first national park

Like many beautiful regions, the Gaspé peninsula is generally not rich in soil, minerals or natural products. (There are of course, noteworthy exceptions, the cherished Gaspé salmon being one). But its beauty is a valuable asset economically as well as aesthetically, and the region attracts thousands of vacationers every summer.

Over the years, the Québec government has established several provincial parks both to preserve the natural beauty of the peninsula and to provide lodging and camping facilities for visitors. The use of these facilities accounts for a considerable part of the region's income.

A first

For a slow-growth region such as the Gaspé, the construction of a new park would, therefore, be considered a very worthwhile project, particularly if located near a depressed community such as the Town of Gaspé. An agreement signed by the Federal and Québec governments just over a year ago for the development of the Lower St. Lawrence area, the Gaspé peninsula and the Magdalen islands contained a section which would establish such a park - a national park, the first in the Province of Québec.

It was only very recently, however, that the section in question was approved formally by the two governments. The park will be situated in the Forillon peninsula, just to the north of Gaspé town.

The Federal Government will spend some $8.3 million for the development of the park during the next five years. A unique aspect of the agreement is that the park site will be leased to the Federal Government for 99 years (all of the other national parks are held in perpetuity by the Federal Government). Constitutional considerations apart, the important aspect of the agreement is that in the event of non-renewal of the transfer, the Québec Government undertakes to use the same site for purposes of conservation and recreation on a perpetual basis.

In recent months, it was becoming increasingly clear to Mr. Chrétien and his department that the Québec government, though more than willing to initiate most sections of the agreement of last year, was balking at the idea of a national park in its own backyard. This was frustrating indeed, both for that department which was gearing itself financially and operationally to start work on the park and for the people of the Gaspé peninsula, particularly those of the Town of Gaspé who were anxiously awaiting implement of the agreement.

'Le fait'

mentation of the agreement.

'Le fait'

This unfortunate situation no doubt prompted Mr. Chrétien to make his much-publicized speech to the Gaspé Chamber of Commerce in April. In it he set out clearly the Federal Government's position that a park would serve the economic priorities of the Gaspé community and that all aspects relating to the development and administration of the park should reflect "le fait français."

The outcome was predictable. Gaspésians wanted a park and the Federal Government had offered to develop such a park.

Québec had no choice but to acquiesce to the wishes of its own citizens, and Canada now is on the way to a nation-wide network of national parks.

Local men on board of hospital

St. Mary's Hospital, launched on a $14,400,000 expansion program to make it into a 500-bed, fully-integrated hospital, at its annual meeting last week elected three new members of its board of directors, all Westmounters.

They are Clifford S. Malone, 593 Argyle avenue, president of Chemcell Ltd.;

Herbert B. McNally, 4006 Montrose Avenue, partner in the law firm of Byers, McDougall, Casgrain & Stewart, and Kenneth A. White, 339 Cote St. Antoine road, executive vice-president, The Royal Trust Company.

Outlining the three-phase program to the meeting was the president, W. J. Bennett, 4304 Montrose avenue, who said the new west wing is expected to be completed by Dec. 1, rounding out the second phase. The first was a new dietary section built in 1965. Early next year renovation of certain areas of the present buildings will be undertaken as phase 3.

Some $2,400,000 of the total cost is being contributed by the public, the balance from Federal and Provincial government sources.

Bed occupancy of the hospital has reached 90 percent. Gross operating deficit during the past year was held to $19,462.

The United Nations Club, established this year, will be headed by Val Hanbidge. The club has participated in many general assemblies organized by other schools and had many lively debates in attempts to provide resolutions to world problems.

Being a president of a club is a job of great responsibility, for not only do the presidents have to organize all the clubs' activities but they also have important votes on the Students' Council.

Uniform men thwart fraud

A Westmount man, André Joseph Lefebvre, 44, of 4224 Dorchester boulevard west, was sent to Bordeaux Jail for three months last Thursday after being found guilty of attempted fraud with a stolen old age pension cheque.

The investigation and arrest, two days earlier, was the work of two officers of the Westmount Police uniformed branch. Normally such cases are handled by the detective office.

Lefebvre had approached an attendant in the Westmount Square parking garage with the cheque, which appeared not to be his own. The attendant relayed his suspicions and a description to Westmount Police with the information that Lefebvre had said he needed the cash for an out-of-town bus trip.

Lt. Priestly and Cst. Speirs headed down Dorchester boulevard and spotted their man, again attempting to cash the cheque in a small hotel.

That ended the game.

Ministers in sermon dialogue

At St. Andrew's, Westmount, this Sunday at 11 am, the ministers will engage in a dialogue sermon on the changing concepts of the ministry.

Entitled "Ministry for the Twenty First Century," Mr. Kirk-er and Mr. Ralph will explore some of the ideas and practices which are currently being discussed with regard to the church's ministry.

This Sunday also, the Church School will conclude its sessions for the summer months.

Might topic for sermon

Sabbath Services tomorrow evening at 8:15 o'clock at Temple Emmanuel-El will include a sermon by Rabbi Bloomstone on "Not By Might Alone."

The newly elected board and general membership will meet at dinner on Wednesday evening, June 18, at 6:30 o'clock. This is the fund-raising dinner of Temple Brotherhood held annually in support of its program. Chairman of fund raising, Robert Benson; co-chairmen, Soulie Levine, Peter Roston and Ted Nashman.

The youth installation dinner was held recently with Maj. Eli Halachmi of the Israel defense forces as guest speaker. The newly elected officers are: President, Cynthia Haichin, first vice-president, Freda Kramer; second vice-president, Jonathan Izenberg; treasurer, William Schleichkorn; secretary, Lynn Adelstein; NEFTY representative, Neil Poch, and membership chairman, Robert Whyte.

At the eight annual congregational breakfast meeting which takes place Sunday, June 15, at 9:45 the annual election of officers and trustees will take place. President Joseph Cooper will preside and present the annual report on behalf of the board of trustees.

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Harry Joshua Stern, the Book Lovers' Forum executive met last Wednesday morning, at which time the program for the 1969-70 season was formulated.

Under the direction of Rabbi Bernard Bloomstone and the members of the school committee, the new school program is now being arranged. Registration is rapidly proceeding through the mails.

Howard J. Lewis is Lenox graduate

Howard J. Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Crosby Lewis of 4998 de Maisonneuve boulevard west, graduated from Lenox School, Lenox, Mass., on Sunday. Jeff plans to attend Queens University, Kingston, next fall. While a student at Lenox, Jeff was active in varsity soccer and hockey.

Nestled in the Berkshire Hills of western Massachusetts, Lenox is a unique Episcopal boys preparatory school. Diverse in its student body, yet one community, Lenox believes it has the largest proportion of Blacks, of American Indians, and of other American groups of any independent school in New England.

Majors and Minors

By FRANCES COLTMAN

Up to number thirty-nine

The doorbell rang, my dog barked and I went to see who it was. My long time regular postman, Mr. Meunier (a very fine man) said, (after greetings) "Sorry, another eight cents for one of your daily brown envelopes."

My "daily brown envelope" is from the anonymous person who is sending me programs of celebrated pianists. So far I have had to pay extra on seven because they are heavier than the six-cent first ounce. Nevertheless, The Stratford Festival booklet, which was is the identical-size envelope, arrived in the came delivery as the last program - it was heavier and had on it, "Printed Matter Only" and same through with an eight-cent stamp. Goofy? I'll say!

Interest

It is surprising how many people have mentioned their interest about these programs. Why have I not continued to write about them? As I wrote on Nos. 11 to 20 in the May 1 issue, here come the next 10.

No. 21 is Alexander Brailowsky (Nov. 12, 1948) with a picture on the cover of the great pianist quite unlike the stooped, elderly figure he is today. There are long program notes and six encores

Steiner pupils will be heard in two recitals

Many Westmounters will be included among Karl Steiner's pupils who will perform in two recitals at the auditorium of the Fraser-Hickson Institute, 4855 Kensington avenue, N.D.G. The advanced students will be heard this Monday, at 8 pm while the others will play in a second recital on Monday, June 16, also at 8 pm.

Both concerts will be open to the public without charge and will feature a versatile program of music composed during the last 300 years, with special emphasis on 20th century music, particularly in twelve-tone style.

Among the performers will be numerous pupils successful in the festivals and examinations of the season who will be honored by announcements of their respective achievements.

Communion at Dominion

The Sacrament of The Lord's Supper will be administered this Sunday in Dominion-Douglas. Dr. Smith's sermon topic will be "For You and for All."

are written in this very large souvenir booklet.

Next Jean Dansereau (Nov. 22, 1938) in Plateau Hall, five encores and reviews by H. P. Bell and Thomas Archer enclosed. I heard recently that the Canadian pianist has been quite ill.

Claude de Ville, No. 23, gave a recital in Moyse Hall, Oct. 26, 1930, and Rachmaninoff, Oct. 12, 1931, performed the premiere of a new work, his Variations on a Theme by Corelli. Every number on the program is familiar and there is just one encore! You guessed, his Prelude in C sharp minor.

Another heavy envelope, Samson Francois, Jan. 27, 1951. This is 12-by-9-inch size and the 12-page program is filled with ads. Seven encores are added, all Chopin etudes!

On the cover is the list of five greats for the series called International Pianists Series: Claudio Arrau, Samson Francois, Rosalyn Tureck, Uninsky, Moiseiwitsch. Prices are here also and I do not remember seeing this before; seats on the right side were cheaper than the left. This is as it should be because the keyboard is only viewed by those on the left side of the hall.

Current

Emil Gilels is really up-to-date. Were you there? Jan. 30, 1969. No encores are written in but, believe me, I cannot forget that event. The manners of the audience were atrocious. Almost before Gilels finished the last note of the final piece, some people were getting up to leave. Salie Wilfrid Pelletier. Those who left did not hear the first encore, following which many more moved out. Those who had manners and remained heard the second encore.

Now jump back to Apr. 6, 1948. (No. 27 for Arthur Rubinstein at His Majesty's). This heavy program (16 cents extra postage!) has much interesting reading about the artist and the program. Three encores and, of course, the last, his theme song or trade mark, "The Polonaise" (even 21 years ago).

In the Orpheum Theatre, Oct. 26, 1924, (45 years ago) Robert Schmitz, late father of Mme Jean Leduc (one of the brothers of Leader Roland Leduc). Just one encore in program No. 28.

Next Henrietta Schumann, Nov. 15, 1936, in the YMHA Series with just one added number. And we end today with No. 30, Solomon, Nov. 25, 1949, a big program with three encores in Plateau Hall. For the record, the London pianist's name is Solomon Cutler but he discarded the surname.

Thanks again to the mysterious sender.

Miss Una Wardleworth, 168 Cote St. Antoine road, has been elected second vice-president of the Women's Art Society of Montreal for the 1969-70 activity year.

Mrs. H. J. C. Russell, 250 Clarke avenue, was named honorary corresponding secretary.

Among other posts filled was that of tea convenor by Mrs. H. H. Cotton, 345 Roslyn avenue.

The new president is Mrs. E. C. Chauvin of Town of Mount Royal.

Referral service quits Westmount

Westmount this week lost one of its several social agencies in a move to serve better its clients in co-operation with its French-language counterpart.

It is the Information and Referral Service of the Montreal Council of Social Agencies which has left the Red Feather Building at 1040 Atwater avenue to join forces with the Centre d'Information et de Reference at 381 Notre Dame street west, second floor.

The new bilingual service for community social service, welfare, health and recreational resources of metropolitan Montreal is the result of much study by the council and the Conseil des Oeuvres de Montreal.

Their phone number, since Monday: 842-9751.

Miss Alice Rawstron to exhibit her art

Miss Alice Rawstron, 288 Grovesnor avenue, is holding a joint art exhibit at the Cowansville Art Centre, June 7 to 22, with Miss Florence Holbrook of Pointe Claire.

They previously have had separate exhibits at La Sauvegarde, The Arts Club, Lakeshore Artists and Woman's Art.

The Cowansville show is open Saturdays, Sundays, Tuesdays and Thursdays from 2 to 5 pm.

having completed terms as members of the board of management, are Mrs. H. B. Godwin, 459 Strathcona avenue; Mrs. F. Greenwood, 725 Upper Roslyn avenue; Mrs. J. G. Loomis, 644 Victoria avenue, and Mrs. J. W. Tait, 642 Murray Hill.

Mrs. Eakin, the retiring president, was thanked by Bishop Kenneth Maguire, who chaired the meeting and welcomed Mrs. Kirkpatrick to the presidency.

Mrs. Montgomery noted that the residence had completed another successful year serving single girls of 16 to 25 years of age requiring comfortable, inexpensive and central accommodation.

reduced income through running below capacity were two problems facing the residence, Mrs. Montgomery warned.

Even so, Mrs. Apedaile was able to report that the mortgage on the property had been paid off.

Mrs. P. McG. Stoker, 455 Mount Pleasant avenue, a member of the advisory board, suggested that in view of changing conditions it might be of greater benefit to the community to cease to operate a girls' residence and cater instead to ambulatory convalescents.

MAN AND HIS HOME

QUESTION. My hobby is home repairs and my wife is fascinated with old doors. But, whenever I try to hang an old door, I always find that the hinges are incorrect and the doors are poorly hung.

ANSWER. It is very easy to apply a hinge but remember to select the proper hinge for its proper application. There are several points to remember and care will avoid most problems with the operation of the hinges of the doors.

Most hinges are made of flat strips of metal cut and bent into loops along one edge. These loops are called knuckles and there are usually more knuckles on one leaf than on the other, mating leaf. The hinge pin drops down through the knuckles when they are in perfect alignment and the two hinge leaves and the door jamb and the door are then hung in a pivoting complementary relationship.

In order to have greater top and bottom support for the door, the leaf with the three knuckles should be on the door jamb and the complementary leaf with the two knuckles should be on the door. Generally, two hinges will

Cheque signers are up-dated

City Council Monday evening updated an October 1967 resolution, setting out the names of those persons authorized to sign cheques, conforming with personnel changes.

Cheques from the general revenue bank account require three signatures, one of which must be of the mayor or one of the aldermen, the other two from among five city officials.

Accounts payable, salaries and wages are signed by any two of six specified city officials.

be used for each door and, before swinging the door, be certain that the hinge pins line up.

Use flat-head screws, as the screw holes in the hinges are recessed.

QUESTION. Even though I know you cater to homeowners I, an apartment dweller, have a problem which I am sure homeowners have also encountered. I tried to fix a three-arm towel rack to the bottom kitchen cupboard door and I became very frustrated as I could not drive the screw in straight. How should this be done?

ANSWER. The proper way to instal a wood screw is first to drill a small hole in the wood at the spot in the wood where the screw is to be inserted. This is called a pilot hole. As the door is probably made of soft wood, you can make this hole with an awl or even a nail.

Westmount's YMCA 'inn on the park'

Westmount YMCA might be called the "inn on the park."

In addition to its broad recreational facilities, the three-storey landmark on Sherbrooke street opposite Westmount Park has 26 residence rooms which let, with full Y membership privileges, for $17 to $20 a week or $2.50 to $4 per day.

Parking is thrown in for another $1.25 per week.

Friendship Club travels to Ottawa

The Westmount Friendship Club went to Ottawa in two chartered busses on a perfect spring day last week.

A most successful day started at nine a.m. when members gathered outside Victoria Hall and were driven to Carlton United Church in Ottawa for lunch, which was followed by a tour of the city ending at the Houses of Parliament where Hon. C. M. Drury had arranged a privately conducted tour and met the group.

Following this the group had tea in the East Lounge and returned to the busses for a last look at the tulips in early spring evening... and so home to Westmount.

McEwen goes

R. W. McEwen, a vice-principal of Westmount High School, has been appointed principal of Wilkingdon School in Notre Dame de Grace. A. E. Johnson, now at Wagar High, is his successor here.

Sports niche at Loyola for MacMullan

Dr. John F. McMullan, a dentist at 4484 Sherbrooke street west, is one of this year's four choices for Loyola of Montreal's Sports Hall of Fame, bringing to 18 the number so honored.

Their portraits will be unveiled as part of the 1969 Loyola homecoming events in October.

"Jack" McMullan is one of Loyola's greatest all-round athletes. He was in the class of 1953 and in his final two years captained both the varsity football and hockey teams. He was regular quarterback for three years. He later starred as football quarterback and hockey captain at McGill.

Kendrick, Irwin on national 'Y'

Among the 25 persons from Montreal who attended last week's annual meeting of the National Council of Canadian YMCAs were J. G. Kendrick, 250 Clarke avenue, president of Zeller's Ltd., and R. A. Irwin, 3555 Cote des Neiges, president of Consolidated-Bathurst, who were named to the board.

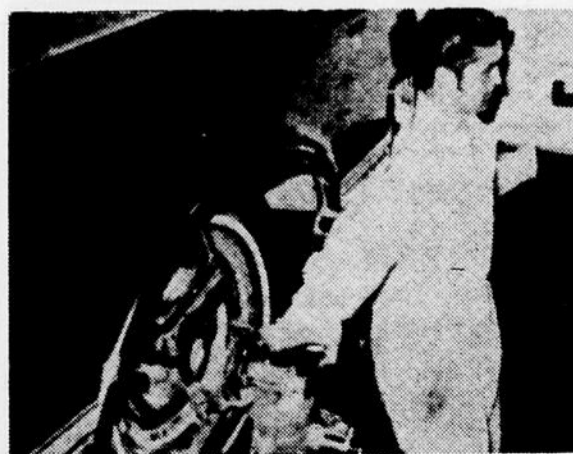

Susan Young, a 19 year-old fellowship student at Sir George Williams University, also was elected to the board - one of the first three women ever so named.

McKelvie urges implementation of sport ideas

Roy McKelvie, well known around the Westmount "Y" and now co-ordinating YMCA physical education activities in Greater Montreal from the Central Branch, urges implementation of some of the recommendations of the Task Force on Canadian Sports.

The YMCA is concerned mainly with adults and youngsters who never made their school teams and are unlikely to win any medals for performance in the years ahead. But it also promotes amateur athletics by providing basic skill instruction and opportunities for mass participation in physical education programs.

Sports governing bodies could take over the further development of youngsters with promise for competition. This would in turn enable the Y to concentrate on activities for people who take part in sports and fitness programs for the pleasure, recreational, social and health benefits they derive from them, says Mr. McKelvie.

Seminar probes elderly needs

The Golden Age Committee of Westmount Rotary held a seminar last Thursday, at St. Andrew's United Church to "pick the brains" of 50 highly qualified, community minded citizens to discover the delineations which should be made to establish a Senior Citizens' Centre that involves its members and serves both them and the community of which they are a part.

Among those present were: P. M. MacEntyre, mayor; N. T. Dawe, city manager; D. C. McLuskie, Rotary president; Miss J. Tansey, academic vice-president of Canadian Executive Service Overseas; Mrs. M. Allaire, director, Senior Citizens Forum; Dr. H. Grauer, psychiatrist, Maimonidese Hospital; R. T. Afleck, architect; Dr. H. A. Boright, city medical officer, and Miss S. Ross, director, and Mrs. J. Burns, member of the board, Leisure Time Services of Québec.

After a brief speech of welcome by Mr. McLuskie, David Room, chairman of the Rotary Golden Age committee, outlined Rotary's involvement with senior citizens to date and the nature of the present two year pilot project which Rotary is initiating in Westmount in the form of a five-day program for seniors.

The meeting adjourned for lunch and reconvened for a panel discussion in which Mr. Room was moderator and Mrs. Allaire; W. A. Eversfield, vice-president of Canadian Executives Overseas; Dr. Grauer, Mrs. Burns and Miss Tansey participated, each giving a brief outline of their encounters with mature people in their respective and diverse professional fields.

Following a question period the meeting broke into six smaller groups.

Subsequently the groups came together in plenary session to report to each other on their topics in a most informative half-hour. In a wide arc of thought the compass needle seemed to rest on the real difficulty of how to help people without making them helpless, how to preserve and foster growth throughout a person's life, how to help society to change its attitude on aging and the consequent rejection it inflicts on many members of the community, and how to reach those who are already isolated.

Good turnout expected for Mayor's parley

Approximately half of the 62 persons, representing clergy, social work groups, school, police and municipal officials, have accepted Mayor Peter McEntyre's invitation to discuss basic youth problems, including drugs at City Hall Monday evening. (Examiner, May 29, P.1.)

Westmount School Board has postponed for one night, to Tuesday, its regular statutory June meeting to enable Chairman W. T. Wood, Home and School presidents and other invitees, to attend the conference.

His Worship is hopeful that the simple agenda will foster to-the-point discussion and formation of a small action group which may report before summer heightening of youth problems.

FINE CROPS IN PROSPECT STREET

"A noticeable tendency towards self-improvement is evident," says an objection filed with the Québec Housing Corporation concerning homes in the southeast sector of Westmount. One aspect of self-improvement not evident this week in front of approximately half the homes on Prospect street was a tendency to cut grass. Between some well-kept lawns were fine crops of hay and weeds standing nearly a foot high.

Robb heads Roslyn H&S

Lawyer James A. Robb, 9 Renfrew avenue, defeated in last January's try for Westmount school commissioner in the first local school board election in 50 years, has made it without contest to the presidency of Roslyn Home and School Association.

Obscenity, insults draw fine of $50

Brian Ashby, 6 Park place, was given two weeks in which to pay a $50 fine when found guilty in Westmount Municipal Court yesterday morning by Judge A. McT. Stalker of, on Mar. 20, causing a disturbance and using insulting and obscene language.

On a second charge, of assault, he was found not guilty.

SPORT SWEATERS GIVEN TO BOYS BY POLICEMEN

The Westmount Police Association last Saturday invited in boys and their leaders of the Comité Jeune de Montréal-Nord and presented them with sweaters for use in team sports.
