RESIDENTS HAVE FINAL OPPORTUNITY TO ENTER LIMERICK COMPETITION

Last Set of Uncompleted Rhymes Appears in This Issue Of Westmount Examiner — Contest Is Sponsored By Business Association — Many Valuable Prizes Will be Awarded Winners

The second and final set of uncompleted rhymes in the limerick contest being sponsored by the Business Association of Westmount appears in this issue of the Examiner and all residents who have not yet submitted an entry or who intend increasing their chances of winning by sending in additional "last lines" should bear in mind that this is their last chance to do so.

The contest, which has attracted wide interest, offers as the first prize a beautiful squirrel scarf having a value of $22 and donated by Bleau and Rousseau, furriers. The second to the seventh prizes, respectively, are as follows; Nestle permanent wave, value, $5, donated by Lafrance Beauty Parlor; picnic jug, value $3.50, donated by J. Pascal Hardware; Yardley's toilet set, value $2.50, donated by Harte's Drugs; basket of fruit, value $2, donated by Thrift-Stop and Shop; two-pound box of chocolates, value $1.50, donated by Denyse Chocolates; carton of Davidson's assorted jellies, value $1.50, donated by Davidson's Pure Food Products.

Closes May 20

The contest closes on Monday, May 20, and all entries received later than store closing hours on that date will be automatically disqualified. All entries must be taken to the firm whose name appears on the ad containing the limerick. Contestants may submit last lines to any or all of the limericks on the full page jointly-sponsored advertisements in last week's and the current issue of the Examiner. While the number of entries received from individual contestants will in no way influence the decision of the judges in awarding prizes the more completed limericks a person submits, the greater his (or her) chance of winning.

Confined to Residents

The contest is confined to residents of Westmount and all entrants must be 16 years of age and over. Limerick "last lines" should rhyme with the first two and be in the proper meter.

All prizes will be awarded at the "Citizens' Night" of the Business Association in Victoria Hall on the evening of May 30.

The contest, sponsored by merchants here, is designed solely to acquaint residents with the desirability of dealing with Westmount firms. There is nothing to buy and no obligations of any kind on the part of the contestants.

Submit to Firms

Simply complete all or any of the limericks, submit them to the individual firms whose names are on the ads, and take your chance along with hundreds of other contestants, of winning a valuable prize. Writing limerick "last lines" is one of the most entertaining of all publication contests demanding sufficient thought to be interesting yet in reality so simple that all have an equal opportunity of winning.

There is no reason why you should not receive one of the valuable prizes when the awards are presented on May 30!

Will Speak

Howard S. Ross, K.C., D.C.L., will be the guest speaker at Grace Church, Lachine, on Monday May 20. Pastor of the church is Rev. William G. Berry, M.A., B.D.

ROTARY CLUB HEARS TALK ON TRUST FIRMS

Bob Stanger Addressed Regular Weekly Luncheon Meeting Yesterday

"There are plenty of reasons why a trust company, if it is a good one, can do better than an individual with other people's money. A good trust company could take over the funds of a blind men's home and invest them all in one morning so solidly that the men would never need to look at them again, even if they got their seight back," Rotarian Bob Stanger declared when addressing the regular weekly luncheon meeting of the Westmount Rotary Club on Other People's Money," in Victoria Hall yesterday.

The speaker, who discussed the operation of trust firms, in a classification talk, stated, "In our business we run into many funny experiences. Confidence and estates mature with time; we come to know a great many things that interest people, and their preferences. We have to be prepared to operate a store, sell a business, run a stable or manage a transportation company."

In conclusion Mr. Stanger gave a brief resume of the various services offered by trust companies, including the handling of estates, real estate administrations, collections and investments.

He was introduced by Tom Stoakes and thanked by Dent Harrison. The president J. E. DeLalanne, was in the chair.

ISSUANCE OF PERMITS DOWN

Building permits having a total value of $30,000 have been issued in Westmount so far this month, a slight decrease for the same period last month, it was reported by city building inspection officials. A number of plans are now being studied and if sanctioned permits will be issued.

For the full month of May last year the aggregate was $92,155. Whether this figure will be attained or exceeded will depend on the number of construction jobs to be commenced before the end of the month.

ARRANGE FINE PROGRAM FOR "CITIZENS' NIGHT"

Meeting Open to Public Will be Held by Business Association in Victoria Hall May 30 — Executive Committee to Complete Final Plans at Session May 27

All but last minute arrangements have been completed for the "Citizens' Night" meeting of the Business Association of Westmount taking place in the large auditorium of Victoria Hall on Thursday evening, May 30, it was announced by committee chairmen in charge of the function, yesterday. Final plans will be drawn up at an executive meeting of the organization scheduled to be held in the office of W. G. Kenwood, immediate past-president, on May 27.

Don Ross, chairman of the entertainment committee, stated that an excellent program of diversified acts, featuring local artists, had been drawn up. It includes presentations by the Norma Darling School of Dancing; Evans Sisters School of Dancing; Betty Spiers School of Dancing, and R. Jacobson in a novelty act. The Y.M.C.A. Senior Leaders' Corps will be seen in a group tableau. Mr. Ross is to act as master of ceremonies.

Keen Enthusiasm

Keen enthusiasm in the meeting has already been expressed by residents here, the majority of whom are familiar with previous functions sponsored by the association to which they have been invited, and a record attendance is expected to pack all available space in the hall.

Noted Guests

Apart from the program of entertainment, outstanding speakers will be heard during the evening and guests of honor are expected to include Mayor Walter A. Merrill, K.C., members of the aldermanic body, D. C. Abbott, K.C., M.P., W. Gordon Hyde, K.C., M.P.P., and other notables.

A large number of door prizes, expected to exceed both in quality and in quantity, that of previous public meetings held under the sponsorship of the association, will be awarded to lucky ticket holders, as will the prizes offered in conjunction with the limerick contest being sponsored by member-merchants in this newspaper.

The association, now operating under the leadership of a newly-elected executive committee, is determined to make the event the most successful function which it has yet supported. The benefits which its members have derived as a result of a closer relationship between merchants and residents, brought about by similar ventures, have been amply demonstrated and for this reason the organization is sparing no effort to assure the success of the forthcoming event.

Prominent Member of Shaar Hashomayim Synagogue Is Laid to Rest

Considerable Damage Is Caused By Runaway Horse

A runaway horse caused damage to an automobile, street car and wagon when it became frightened and bolted down Greene avenue on Friday afternoon.

Walter Sullivan, of 3454 LaSalle boulevard, a salesman for Toilet Launderies, told police that the animal ran away when he released its leg strap in a lane running off Greene avenue by the Westmount Realties building. Just as he was about to step on the rig a truck entered the lane, apparently scaring the horse. Sullivan said he had no chance to catch hold of the reins as they were on the far side of the wagon.

The animal raced down Greene, the wagon grazing the side of a parked car owned by Raymond Cardwell, 5190 Queen Mary road, apt. 15, on the way. When it reached St. Catherine the horse and wagon crashed into a stationary street car, breaking windows in the front of the tram and almost completely wrecking the wagon. The horse was but slightly injured.

Harry Gordon, 4210 St. Catherine street, held the animal until arrival of the driver.

100-FOOT AERIAL LADDER FIRE-REEL WILL REPLACE MACHINE NOW BEING USED

Council Also Approves Plan to Modernize Other Equipment — $175,000 Loan By-Law Will be Prepared to Supply Funds for Part Payment of Collector Sewer — Contract Awarded for Shelter

Westmount City Council authorized purchase of a 100-foot aerial ladder fire-reel of the latest type, at a regular meeting on Monday night. The new piece of apparatus will replace the 75-foot ladder machine now in use.

The Council also approved plans to modernize existing equipment.

The new ladder truck, which is powered by a 240 horse power motor and is tractor pulled, will be among the most modern pieces of fire apparatus in Canada. Its equipment, besides the aerial ladder, includes 300 feet of duralumin ground ladders.

The aerial ladder, which will be able to reach the roof of any building in Westmount, is equipped with telephonic communication facilities in order that instructions may be sent with ease from the ground to firemen on the top.

All ladders on the reel are of metal construction, those on the aerial being made of steel.

Prepare Loan By-Law

Other matters attended to by the Council Monday included instructions to the City Manager's office for preparation of a $175,000 serial loan by-law to provide funds for the city's share of the cost of construction of the St. Pierre collector sewer. The city's share in the cost of the sewer is dependent upon the extent to which it uses it and the laying of new sewers throughout Westmount, commenced some time ago, will greatly increase the demand. The bonds are payable over a period of 30 years.

A contract was awarded to J. J. Shea for construction of a shelter on the north side of Prince Albert Playground, facing south. The shelter will provide rest rooms for boys and girls, attendant's quarters, and storage space for park apparatus and tools.

Authorization was given the Parks Department to purchase a pick-up truck for speedy transportation of men and materials to the various parks and lawn centres throughout the city. The truck will greatly facilitate and speed up the work of weeding, planting, and the general care of the parks.

The meeting was presided over by Mayor Walter A. Merrill, K.C.

TEMPLE PLAYERS TO PRESENT "SKIDDING"

The first major production of the Temple Emanu-El Players, who make their debut on Saturday and Sunday evenings in the Temple House at 8.30 o'clock, will be the delightful three-act comedy "Skidding", under the direction of Miss Dorothy Davis. This is one of the well-known Hardy series which have been so successful both on stage and screen. "Skidding" enjoyed a year's run on Broadway and an amusing evening's entertainment is promised.

INCREASE IN MEMBERSHIP OF CHURCH SHOWN

Westmount Baptists Succeeded in Meeting All Obligations During Year

Reports submitted at the annual meeting of the Westmount Baptist Church showed that all obligations were met in full and a small balance carried forward for the ensuing year. The meeting was held in the school room of the church under the chairmanship of L. C. Haskell and the report of the pastor, Rev. J. A. Johnston, disclosed that there had been a substantial addition to the membership. A total of $21,634.09 was contributed from all sources, with $7,897.08 going to missionary purposes. The women's organizations raised over $2,000 for missions, and $1,270. was subscribed to the Jubilee fund.

The following officers were re-elected: F. E. Dufty, treasurer; W. H. Gill, recorder of weekly offerings; Harold Hamilton, clerk; L. C. Haskell, chairman of General Committee; and Miles Birkett and W. E. Cooper, auditors. C. E. Grearson and D. Nasmith were elected to fill vacancies on the Trustees board and E. Owen, S. C. Simpson, Thomas Todd and K. G. White were elected the Board of Deacons.

In addition to the regular expenditures there was a substantial outlay for repairs and renovations to the auditorium and schoolroom.

Narrowly Escapes Serious Injury

Prompt action on the part of a passing pedestrian, Raymond Reynolds, probably played an important part in saving from serious injury five-year-old John Durand, 4850 Westmount avenue, who fell from his tricycle over the edge of the sidewalk into the path of a slowly moving truck at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon. The mishap occurred in front of the youngster's home.

The youngster fell in front of the truck, driven by Yves Glazio, 2334 Nellada Street, just as it was about to pull out from the curb. The driver stopped immediately, however, when he heard a warning shout from Reynolds.

As it was the tot suffered an injury to his thigh.

WESTMOUNT, THURSDAY, MAY 16, 1940

BRITAIN'S NEW CABINET

Mr. Winston Churchill's new war cabinet takes office under circumstances that will try their mettle to the utmost. But Britain has been fortunate in the past in that every crisis has brought forth great leaders, and the Empire is united in the belief that we again have the greatness in leadership necessary to successfully meet the critical period which lies ahead. Great significance is attached to the fact that the influence of the extreme right wing of the governing party has been almost eliminated in the new set up. It was this extreme right wing that allowed its political sympathies for Hitler, Mussolini, and General Franco to outweigh its sense of Empire security to such an extent that the ring of steel which once encompassed an impotent Germany was deliberately allowed to disintegrate. Today, the buffer that was to protect us from Communism is driving toward the Channel in order to rain bombs upon us. Mr. Churchill, Mr. Eden, Mr. Duff Cooper, Sir Roger Keyes, and Mr. Sinclair saw it coming and warned us long ago, but the warnings fell on ears deafened by prejudice. The new Prime Minister, however, has lost no time in getting these very men — whose patriotism, disinterestedness, and earnestness is self evident — into the new Cabinet. It has been a housecleaning long overdue, and it will be a great thing for Britain and the Empire — a tonic at a time when most needed. Of particular interest to Canadians — and, we believe, of considerable significance, is the appointment of Sir Archibald Sinclair to the Air Ministry. Sir Archibald is an intimate friend of our own Prime Minister, and as Canada is to be the chief source of strength for the British air arm, upon which our ultimate triumph will largely depend, a co-operation with a background of personal friendship and mutual esteem will be invaluable.

BREVITY EFFECTIVE

"For heaven's sake, say it briefly!" Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt appeals, advising Democratic women to include a peace plank in their platform. Thereby Mrs. Roosevelt demonstrates once again that she knows her practical psychology.

Entirely too many platforms and policies have been wrecked for no other reason than that they were couched in such lenghty and ponderous phrases that the people to whom they appealed for support lacked both the perception and the patience to study them and find out just what they meant. ..... .... ....

FARES ON CREDIT

Canadian railways, seeking ways and means to compete with bus traffic, would do well to consider a plan which is being put into effect by 66 American lines. These roads announce that they will sell tickets on credits, allowing travelers to purchase their transportation, including Pullman accommodation and the popular all-expense tours, and pay for it in monthly instalments.

The railways have need of every means they can find to encourage travel by train. The American roads are taking the step only after the most careful investigation convinced them it would be sound and profitable. There seems no reason why the same system would not work in Canada, and to the benefit of our own rail lines.

BITING OFF TOO MUCH

Hitler's mania knows no bounds.

The latest dictate from Berlin is that a dress company shall be set up with the avowed purpose of freeing German women from the style domination of Paris. Even those who might have believed that Germany had a chance of winning the war must admit that this time the Fuehrer has bitten off more than he can chew.

ONIONS AND DIVORCE

"That sounds like grounds for divorce to me," says a Detroit judge after hearing a woman complain that her husband made a practice of eating onions just before bedtime each night.

STOP ME..

IF YOU'VE HEARD THIS ONE

WHO TOLD YOU THAT?

"How's business?" asked one business man of another in a Berlin street.

"Better," said No. 2.

"Really!" queried the surprised No. 1.

"Yes, better than tomorrow."

His Idea of Bills

Business Man: "I had a surprise this morning. I put on another suit, and in one of the pockets found a big roll of bills which I had entirely forgotten."

Pessimist: "Were any of them receipted?"—Grit.

That Long Walk Back

"It's no good, my lad," the officer said to a rather young recruit, "you couldn't possibly stand the long marches."

The youth's face dropped, and he looked so utterly miserable that the officer asked him what was the matter.

"Well, sir," he explained, "I walked 200 miles to get here and I can't bear the thought of walking back!"—Children's Newspaper.

So It Seems

"Mother, isn't it funny that hats cost more than radios?"

Mother: "But they don't, dear. What makes you think so?"

"Well, a sign in a window back there said 'Hats, $10 up,' and we just passed another window with a sign that says, 'Radios, $10 down'."—Santa Fe Magazine.

"Lovely Chicken, Isn't It?"

"Why do you set such a tough chicken before me?" indignantly asked a young lady in a restaurant the other day.

" 'Age before beauty,' always, you know, ma'am!" replied the tactful waiter. — East Sussex News.

THE FORUM

Conducted by HOWARD S. ROSS, K.C., D.C.L.

In Which Subjects of General Interest Are Discussed

The opinions expressed in this Forum are not necessarily those of this newspaper and it does not accept responsibility for them.

After a year of intensive discussion the Rotary Club of Chicago has opened two classifications to members of labor Unions. One will be available to labor union associations," and the other to "railroad brotherhoods." The retiring president of the Chicago club, William Ayer McKinney, who deserves the major credit for the new rule, said: "The man we know is the only man we can understand." Chicago Rotary is not the first in the organization to admit union members.

A friend wrote to the novelist Turgeniev, "It seems to me that to put oneself in the second place is the whole significance of life." The novelist answered, "It seems to me to discover what to put before oneself, in the first place, is the whole problem of life."

It was said of a learned cleric that "His archeology and his divinity resided in the same mind as mutual strangers."

Reminding the people of the U.S.A. that "it was while business had a free hand, practically undisturbed by government intervention, that the first crashing evidence of the failure of the economic machine appeared," the National Economic Committee investigating monopolies filed with the Senate a preliminary report recommending extensive revision of anti-trust legislation to break up so-called "monopolistic brakes" on national recovery.

Happiness seems to be getting old-fashioned and is being replaced by a synthetic but unsatisfactory substitute—excitement.

"All history is contemporary history."—Croce.

New water-power installations in 1939 (in Canada) aggregated 97,040 horse-power, which with an installation of 1,400 horse-power omitted from the 1938 figures, brings the total for the Dominion at the end of the year to 8,289,212 horse-power.

"It might be thought that his (President Roosevelt's) uniqueness lay in his ability to use other people's brains, and that the distinguishing feature of the New Deal is his "brain trust." Certainly he has an unusual kind of intellectual curiosity, which draws him to those with more intellectual powers and more fresh ideas than he himself possesses." — Alfred M. ## Letters TO THE Editor

EX. LETTER TO ERITOR
The Editor,
The Examiner.
Dear Sir:

The school year will soon be ended and many parents are wondering if our educational authorities are taking steps to provide for the teaching of conversational French in our schools. There has been no public announcement to that effect and as far as parents are aware, the sacred curriculum must not be tampered with. Sometime ago, a number of parents wrote to the Press on this subject and one of the "higher-ups" had the temerity to reply that such letters were found "amusing" by the aforesaid higher-ups, further, that no changes could be made unless parents were prepared to dig deeper into their pockets and to pay an enlarged number of teachers. Those who pay the piper are proverbially entitled to call the tune and if parents prefer an education that will be much more of a preparation for life, than spending years on Latin, geometry, algebra or a swattering of science they have a right to so express themselves. Educational authorities sum to forget that they are the servants — not the masters of the public.

In a recent address before the Sherbrooke Rotary Club, Mr. J. A. Blanchette, M.L.A. for Compton, made the following remarks which many parents will fully endorse:

"Any school or education institution in this country today, which does not do its utmost to turn out bi-lingual graduates, whether that institution be French or English, commits a breach of educational trust. For the coming generation not be fully aware of the importance of bilingualism is to count failure, irrespective of the vocation to be chosen in life or, if not failure, at least mediocrity in any given pursuit. Mr. Blanchette went on to speak of job seekers he had met, of one language only, who were in dire need of work for themselves and families but who were unable to qualify because of bi-lingual requirements. He hoped that educational institutions would recognize the importance of the matter and would strive to the very utmost to remedy this situation, with the least delay possible, even at the risk of forsaking other items of their study programme, in many instances not as important from the economic viewpoint as bi-lingualism.

In the newly adopted 6-3-3 arrangement every pupil finishing the 6-year course should be able to read, write, but above all, to speak, English and French fluently before tackling Latin, algebra, geometry or a swattering of what passes for science.

Can this be done? Yes, when the desire and determination to do it exists but never by the existing system.

A future letter will contain some suggestions as to how, without incurring needless expenses, this could be accomplished.

DEBORAH.

Final Tribute . . .

Rose Pauline Goldstein, daughter of Adolphe Golstein, of Montreal, on June 12, 1894.

In 1885 Mr. Friedman became associated with the firm of Moses Vineberg and Company, wholesale furriers, from which he retired as a partner in 1915. Since that time he has acted as an authorized trustee under the Bankruptcy Act.

Mr. Friedman's outside interests were wide and among his many connections were the Montefiore Club, of which he was a charter and life member; the Montreal General and Jewish General hospitals, in each of which he was life governor; the Federation of Jewish Philanthropies, of which he was one of the founders, and the Elmridge Golf Club and the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association, of which he was a member and life member, respectively.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES

"Mortals and Immortals" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, throughout the world on Sunday May 19.

The Golden Text is from I Cor. 15: 53: "This corruptible must put on incorruption, and this mortal must put on immortality."

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "Blessed is the people that know the joyful sound: they shall walk, O Lord, in the light of thy countenance. In thy name shall they rejoice all the day: and in thy righteousness shall they be exalted." (Psalm 89: 15, 16)

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science Textbook "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "Mortals must look beyond fading, finite forms, if they would gain the true sense of things. Where shall the gaze rest but in the unsearchable realm of Mind? We must look where we would walk, and we must act as possessing all power from Him in whom we have our being." (Page 264).

Why Locomotives Called 'She'

Here is why railway locomotives are called "she."

"They wear jackets with yokes, pins, shields, and stays. They have aprons and laps. Not only do they have shoes, but they have short pumps and even hose, while they drag trains behind them. They also attract attention with puffs and mufflers, and sometimes they refuse to work. At such times they need to be switched. They need guiding and require a man to feed them. Many of them smoke and are much steadier when they are hooked up."

T. Kearney To Head Home-School Group

A report on the activities of the King's Westmount Home and School Association was rendered at the annual meeting held this week. The following slate of officers were elected: President, T. Kearney; vice-president, Miss Doreen Jeffrey and R. Gregor-Pearse; recording secretary, Mrs. D. Gommery, corresponding secretary, Mrs. A. W. Swan; rteasurer, Hugh Nourse; ex-officio, G. Lessard.

The secretary reported that a box of clothing containing about 120 pieces had been collected and sent during the summer, to a school at Codette, Sask. A donation of $40.00 was also sent to the Superintendent of Schools in Saskatchewan, to be used for various purposes.

The association held a father and son banquet in the fall in honor of the four championship teams of the school. The teams won the football, baseball, basketball and hockey championships during that season.

Christmas parcels were also sent to the children in the Alexandra hospital.

During the season, the Association held three teas and two monthly meetings. Many interesting and instructive addresses were given by well-known speakers during the course of the year.

The War Work committee reported that members had made 2500 dental swabs since the commencement of the war. Among the articles made for the Navy League were, 24 caps, 6 pairs of socks, 3 pairs of mitts. Refugees, 1 sweater, 1 afghan. 3 hats, 3 pairs of mitts, 1 pair of wristlets and 2 pair of bootees. For the Royal Montreal Regiment, 47 pairs of socks, 68 caps, 1 sweater and 2 pairs of wristlets.

OFFICERS ARE ELECTED FOR NEXT SEASON

Lyric Operatic Society Holds Annual Meeting—W. L. Johnston Re-Elected President

The eleventh annual meeting of the Lyric Operatic Society, Inc. was held on May the 8th at the Westmount YMCA. The meeting, which was well attended, heard with interest a review of the season's activities, given by the president, W. L. Johnston. The president in the course of his remarks, dealt with the artistic and financial success that the Society had achieved with the production of Gilbert and Sullivan's opera "Patience." This production was sponsored by the Women's Auxiliary of the No. 9 Field Ambulance C.A.S.F. He stated that this branch of the Montreal Soldiers' Wives League had raised by this means some $780. for their war charities.

Mr. Johston pointed out that the Society was very fortunate in having Mr. and Mrs. Harry Norris as musical and stage directors. The Lyric Operatic Society was the first amateur operatic group in the city to be conducted by Mr. Norris.

Discussion followed concerning the selection of next year's production. While no definite decision was arrived at, Gilbert and Sullivan's "Pinafore" would appear to be a popular choice. It was decided to hold a picnic for the members some time during the month of June.

The President thanked all those who had assisted in any way with the production of "Patience." Special mention was made to the work of Miss Kathleen Hilliard, the Society's accompanist, and Mr. W. W. Rooney who was in charge of the scenery and lighting.

The following officers were elected for the season 1940-1941: Hon. Pres. Brigadier C. B. Price. D.S.O., D.C.M., V.D., A.D.C; Hon. Vice-Pres. Mr. Thomas Irving; Pres. Walter L. Johnston; Board of Directors, Lawrence E. Lister, William Saddler, Frederick Sheward, Mrs. R. M. Whitmore and Miss Betty Lydon; secretary Miss Helen Pope; treasurer James Paterson.

EXPECT RECORD TOURIST HERE THIS SUMMER

As no changes have been made in the generous regulations permitting the free and unhampered interchange of tourist traffic between Canada and the United States, it is confidently expected that the coming summer tourist season will be a record one in the entry of American citizens into Canada, according to C. W. Johnston, general passenger traffic manager of the Canadian National Railways. "Operators of Canadian resorts, merchants and others conducting relative activities may therefore expect unprecedented business to come their way this summer as millions of Americans cross the international 'peace border' for a vacation holiday in the Dominion."

"Canada, with a wide variety of interests and attractions to the tourist, should be more widely known as a great vacation playground" Mr. Jonhston said, "and with this in view, tourist folders in color, describing Canada's finest vacation lands, have been distributed all over the continent by the Canadian National Railways as a reliable guide to the vacation seeker." As a result of this distribution, inquiries have been pouring into our passenger agents' offices throughout the United States seeking further information about Canadian resorts, added Mr. Johnston.

Great Year

"Following the proclamation of the president of the United States, the greatest travel year in American history is about to begin" said Mr. Johnston, "and with pathways from all points in the United States leading northerly into friendly neighboring Canada, we have an exceptional opportunity as Canadians to benefit from this great migration of vacationists."

"There is also the important duty of extending a cordial welcome to visitors from the United States and to maintain a strictly Canadian atmosphere" added Mr Johnston "which is what the American visitor wishes to see when he comes to this country."

CONTINGENT TO GET TRAINING AT MT. BRUNO

Cadets of the McGill University Contingent, C.O.T.C., under Lieutenant Colonel J. M. Morris, M.C., V.D., will receive intensified training in tactical exercises and in the care and handling of troops in action, when they go under canvas at Mount Bruno on June 14. The cadets will remain in Camp until June 23, and during this important phase of their training will receive instruction in the practical handling of the new weapons. Specific arrangements for the artillery, machine gun and mechanized cavalry branches are under consideration.

The Camp and training at Mount Bruno will be an official parade for all ranks. Colonel Morris and his officers have chosen the earliest possible date in order to facilitate the attendance of University under-graduates intending to leave the city for the summer. The period of nine days has been adjusted to include two week-ends so that demands made on the time of professional and business men will be as light as possible.

Major O. B. Rexford, commanding the Infantry Wing and Major C. A. Parker commanding the Specialists Wing of the Canadian Officers Training Corps, are, with Colonel Morris and the corps' Adjutant, Major E. deL. Greenwood, arranging a comprehensive series of tactical operations calculated to illustrate lessons being learned from events in the actual theatres of war.

LOCAL DIRECTORY IS BEING PREPARED

Harold Harris, 5309 Brodeur Avenue, is at present undertaking the compilation of a new phone guide for householders in Westmount N.D.G. and Snowdon.

Interested and associated with writing and advertising work, Mr. Harris states that the new directory is being designed to scientifically list all types of business establishments in the localities mentioned.

It will tell the householder at a glance whether the store or business wanted, is in the neighbourhood, giving its name, number and address in alphabetical and categorical arrangement.

Should the work of compilation proceed as planned, Mr. Harris expects to publish his new directory some time during the month of September.

LIBRARY RECEIVES ROSICRUCIANS BOOK

A volume treating on the subject of Rosicrucianism has been added to the collection of Rosicrucian philosophy at the Westmount public library. This book "The Rosicrucian Manual" gives an outline of the work of the Rosicrucians. The Grand Secretary of the Rosicrucian Order with national headquarters in Can Jose, California, states that because of the demand for works on this subject, it has been necessary to donate a copy to the library.

Since the Rosicrucian Order, known as AMORC, is not a religious organization, all its publications are treatises on philosophy, metaphysics, the sciences and arts—the object of the organization being to acquaint the student or member with the nature of existence and to give an understanding of the fundamental laws of life so as to permit him to realize a fuller and more abundant existence.

Britain's 400 Closed Coal Pits

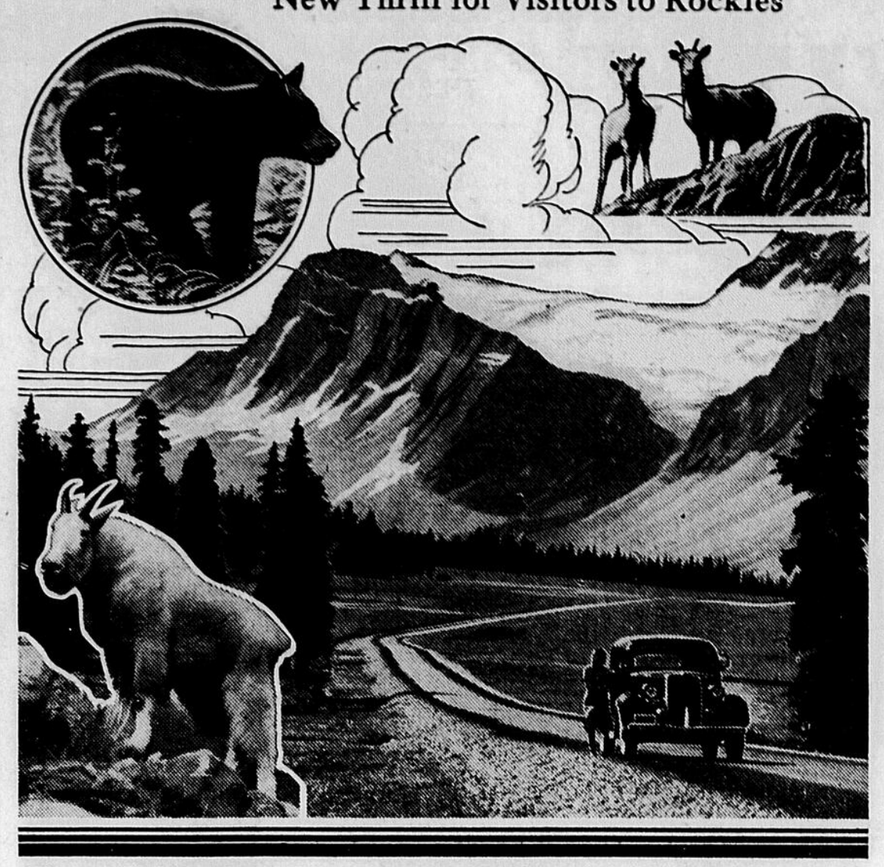
One half of the miners of Great Britain who were unemployed at the outbreak of war are now at work as a result of the Government drive to increase the peace time output of 240,000,000 tons a year by 40,000,000 tons.

Lord Portal, chairman of the Coal Production Council, is now touring British coalfields to speed production up to the full 280,000,000 tons required to meet the enormous world demand created by the blockade of German exports. When war began Germany was selling abroad some 24,000,000 tons a year and Poland 14,000,000 tons, almost half of which trade it is estimated, has now been cut off by the British Navy.

France, Italy, the South American countries and overseas bunkering stations are all clamouring for supplies and inquiries are also coming in from Canada. Portugal, Greece, Egypt, and Algeria. Italy lost 2,000,000 tons of coal when shipments from Rotterdam were held up: now she is second only to France as a buyer of South Wales coal and there is no doubt that she would take far more if it were available.

Beautiful Columbia Icefield Highway New Thrill for Visitors to Rockies



The newly completed Columbia Icefield highway, leading northward from Banff and Lake Louise in the Canadian Rockies, will provide unique motoring thrills when it is officially opened for traffic in July. The new road, which cuts through one of the most beautiful sections of the mountain playground, furnishes direct access to the great Columbia Icefield, 150 square miles in extent, whose melting ice is the source of rivers which eventually find their way to three oceans, the Pacific, the Arctic and the Atlantic via Hudson Bay.

The highway runs through the very heart of the great mountain chain. It follows the valleys of a succession of wild, tossing rivers; skirts impressive, age-old glaciers; runs along the shores of tumbling streams and jade-green lakes; passes roaring cataracts and rapids.

This mountain region is not barren or colorless. Instead, beneath great snow-capped peaks are great spruce and pine forests, glittering glaciers, translucent bodies of water, peaks looking for all the world as though huge paint pots had been spilled down their cliffs and terraces. Bears, elk, moose and other big game can be seen along the roadside and there is good fishing in the waters of the district.

This new highway promises to be an important factor in attracting greatly increased numbers of visitors to Banff Springs Hotel, Chateau Lake Louise and Canadian Pacific mountain lodges this summer. An interesting programme of special events has been planned in view of the record numbers of visitors expected from all parts of this continent and includes the Indian Days celebration at Banff, July 18-21; Trail Riders of the Canadian Rockies, July 26-30; Sky-Line Trail Hikers, August 2-5; Banff Golf Week, August 18-24; Alpine Club of Canada outing to Glacier Lake, July 14-30; and Banff School of Fine Arts, August 1-31. The annual Stampede at Calgary, Canada's greatest Wild West show, will be held from July 8 to 13.

SPEIRS PUPILS GIVE EXCELLENT PERFORMANCE

Betty Speirs scored a brilliant success with her dance recital which was held in Victoria Hall on Saturday evening. A feature of the evening was 'There are Fairies' in which the younger children were given unlimited scope to display their talents. Peter Miller is to be congratulated on the staging of this presentation in which comedy and artistic ability were skillfully blended. From the rise of the curtain the tiny tots had the audience won over, and kept them so from then on as each little artist wove herself in and out of the story. The natural and enjoyable manner in which the children performed proved conclusively that Betty Speirs deserves her splendid reputation as a teacher of very young children. June Sidaway as the Fairy Queen was daintiness personofied and had a splendid partner in Jane Allen as the King. The bunnies who madde for such hilarity by their lovable antics were Claudette Coupal, Mariette Durand, Michele Durand, Isobel Ann Carson, who also was a riot as Cupid, Suzanne Moseley and Helen Holbrooke. Gail (Pudgy) Regele surprised everyone by singing 'Happy Day.' This young lady must have been all of three years. The junior class who delighted as the fairies and who also contributed a snappy tap routine were Pat Parham, Emily Ann Robertson, Joyce Shiller, Aileen Albert, Corinne Lyman, Raymonde Grant, Ann Wellsford, Lois Klein, Joan Regale, Maureen McCann, Dundi and Sonia Weintraub, Joan Bullis and Mary Entwistle. Mary also was to the fore with a little song and dance which made the audience smile. Joan Regele in addition to taking her part in the line work was seen in a smooth acrobatic number and in an old fashioned number in which her costume was much admired. Then we had a sweet number 'Alice Blue Gown' in which Rayetta Schacter, Nancy Telfer, Lisanne Coupal, Joan Watts and Joan McCormick scored decisively. Numerous solo items were presented during the scene, most prominent of which were Lois Albert and Barbara Pettit with snappy tap routines and Gwen Smith in acrobatic and Nancy Telfer in 'Sunbonnet Sue.' Hazel Fitzgerald displayed a beautiful voice for one so young in 'When You Wish upon a Star'. The Ballet ensemble supplied the artistic atmosphere prominent being Jean Barnes, Audrey Jones, Jean and Hazel Fitzgerald.

A beautiful sacred presentation 'Come unto Me' was another tribute to the showmanship of Peter Miller. The scenic and lighting effects here were beautiful. Jean Barnes as the Madonna had the support of Nancy Telfer, who displayed remarkable histrionic ability as the waif. Maureen McCann as the Angel child and the senior class as the Angels. Mrs. Andrew Webster sang 'Ave Maria' in a rich contralto voice to a violin obligato by Arthur Davison which lent itself to the spirit of the tableau.

We have always looked forward to the boys in a Speirs' show and once again we were not disappointed. The little fellows appeared in a scene 'Tally-ho', redcoats spurs and all, and with the company of the lovely June Sidaway, they sang, danced and recited themselves into the hearts of the audience. They seem to get better as years go on. Worthy of mention were John Lyall, Bobbie Matthews, Billy Madigan, Billy Martin, Kenneth McNiece and Peter Robertson. The senior class in a novelty tap 'Minuet in Swing' and a precision routine came in for their share of the applause. Noted among these were Gene Dufty, Doris Jackson, Jean Barnes, Dorothy Fitzgerald, Audrey Jones, Jean Fitzgerald, Barbara Pettit, Hazel Fitzgerald, Peggy Jean Ross, Isobel MacLellan, Peggy Copper, Therese Landry, Winifred MacDonald, Gwen Smith, Mary McLean, Nessie MacLean, Mary Ledoux, Yolande Neulard and Barbara Smith, Joan Layton, and Alice Milne.

In the supporting program variety was the keynote with the result that there was not a dull moment. Special mention must be made of excellent tap work by Lisanne Coupal, Peggy Jean Ross, Violet Finnick, Gwen Smith and Jacqueline Lecluyse. Acrobatic specialties which were well received were given by June Sidaway, Winifred MacDonald, and Peggy Jean Ross. Janie Allen scored heavily as the little Dutch girl and also did a dainty polka, while Raymonde Grant as the French maid and Joan Layton in a smooth soft shoe routine were well received.

Ballet

The senior Ballet ensemble of Jean Barnes, Jean Fitzgerald, Audrey Jones and Hazel Fitzgerald were accorded an ovation for a splendid rendition of the Strauss ballet. Other items noted were a tap number by Winifred MacDonald and a lovely 'Dying Swan' by the youthful Peggy Jean Ross. Tap dancing has always been synonymous with Peter Miller and once more we had the best that the ace tappers of the school had to offer. Therese Landry in a ballet tap routine was accorded an ovation while the work of Peggy Copper in a 'Poet and Peasant' number was of professional calibre. These two young ladies teamed up with Mr Miller later in a smooth soft shoe routine 'Tea for Two', which was accorded an encore. The acrobatic class took the spotlight with a clever display. Prominent here were Isobel MacLellan, Audrey Jones, Jean Fitzgerald and Jean Barnes. Next we had a colorful scene 'Cabaret', in which Mr. Miller appeared with his exhibition ballroom class in a very pleasing demonstration of Fox Trot, Tango and Exhibition Waltz which met with the approval of the huge audience. Noticeable were Mr and Mrs. Max Heybeard, Lillias Swinden and Jim Hogarth, Evelyn Madigan and Lawrence Henderson, Simonne DesRoches and Peter Ewart. Mr. Miller had as his partners' Dorothy Fitzgerald and Molly Usher-Jones. Specialties in this scene were given by little Nancy Telfer who in the full dress of a kilty brought down the house with her 'Oh Johnnie Oh', and a sensational adagio routine by Jean Barnes and Em. Orlick. Another notable act here was the finished acrobatic work of Isobel MacLellan which shows distinct promise of being in the 'second to none' class.

Fine Program

One of the artistic triumphs of the evening was undoubtedly scored by Jean Barnes in a 'Water Lily' number which she duplicated when she later appeared in a beautiful 'Russian Caprice' on toe. Concluding the program was a tap scene in which the junior starlets Audrey Jones, Barbara Pettit, Hazel and Jean Fitzgerald and Gwen Smith scored with a smart routine while little Nancy Telfer was equally successfully in a fast number. The entire company for a finale 'went to town' in Mr. Miller's well-known time step routine for which they had to give an encore. Altogether a splendid, and to our way of thinking, the best recital which this talented school has yet produced. The costumes were breathtaking, and the scenic effects were very pleasing to the eye. Miss Florrie Jenkins, as in past years did a prodigious and splendid evening's work at the piano. While the lighting of the sacred scene by John Bradley, Roy Richardson and Ewart Fogerty was a work of art. Miss Speirs and Mr. Miller should feel very gratified with their efforts.

Annual Meeting Of The Scottish School Club

Progress and satisfaction with the results of the closing season's activities of the Club, were the keynotes of the annual meeting of the Scottish School Club of Montreal, Inc., when the retiring President W. P. Montgomery made his annual report.

A slight decrease in membership due partly to the outbreak of war last September was noted but there was an increase in the average attendance. The Annual Robert Burns celebration held in January was again a pronounced success and another outstanding evening was the "Open Night" when wives and friends of members werer invited to hear an illustrated talk on the Royal Visit by W. W. Swinden and J. M. Hay, both of whom are members of the Club and accompanied the Royal Train throughout the trip. The Treasurer's Report showed the finances of the Club in a healthy condition despite some extraordinary expense incurred in having the Club incorporated.

The Education Committees' report submitted by the Chairman Andrew Gemmell, proved very interesting to the membership showing as it did gratifying results of the efforts of the Club to ensure a High School education to a selected group of six boys and three girls. All of them were visited regularly in their homes by the Committee assisted by several members of the Club.

Votes of thanks to the retiring president and other officers and to the Education Committee were passed and officers selected for the current year were T. G. Smith, president, Alex Watt, vice president, D. A. Grant, treasurer and Jas. Becket, secretary were re-elected.

War Lands Represented By Children in Drama

Little boys and girls of Chinese, Finnish, and Polish ancestry staged one of the most colorful ceremonies New York has seen in a long time when they met at the offices of the Colonial Trust Company, in New York, to open the first of 40,000 cans of nickels, dimes, and pennies received by the Children's Crusade for Children. The money was contributed by pupils of 850 New York City public schools and will be disbursed among needy youth throughout the world.

The ceremony was attended by Mrs. James Roosevelt, mother of the President, and William Allen White, Editor of the Emporia, Kansas, Gazette and nationally known writer.

Dressed in native costumes, children representative of their little brothers and sisters in lands across the seas voiced their gratitude for the efforts made by the Children's Crusade for Children to relieve distress. Among these speakers was Eileen Chin, from the heart of New York's Chinatown. She wore a flowered blue Cantonese tunic, and her black hair hung in two long tresses.

Laura Bialkoski, 97 East Seventh Street, wore a red-and-white dress of a Krakow peasant and a wreath of field flowers on her hair, while Finland was represented by Rita Honkanen, of the Bronx.

Mrs. Roosevelt said she considered it a privilege for American outh to be able to help distressed youth all over the world that needs assistance.

Italy Penalizes Hoarders of Food

Police, who are bearing down on food hoarders and profiteers, disclosed recently that 28,150 persons had been penalized for violating regulations since outbreak of the European war. The drive brought a total of 32,410 persons into court.

Eight offenders were sent to prison, five more placed on probation, 15,089 fined, while for 7,578 their places of business were temporarily closed or their licenses suspended. Others were let off with a warning.

At the outbreak of the war special food vigilantes were organized among the regular police to combat food hoarding and profiteering.

For Sheep as Lamb

"How do you spell 'graphic?'" asked the young man: "with one 'f' or two?"

The old man sighed. "Well," he said at last, "if you are going to use any you might as well go the limit."

MOVIES teach them how to DRESS

Few players look stylish when they first set foot in Hollywood. Designers soon fix them, however

Alice Faye looks smart in an ordinary afternoon dress, above. In fact, she looks smarter than in the photo in the oval, taken when she wore a black satin on Broadway.

By Lucie Neville

AND the fairy godmother gave Cinderella a beautiful golden dress but warned her to be home by midnight or her contract wouldn't be renewed."

Hollywood is full of ex-cinder Ellas who now are the Princesses Charming—actresses who have become stars by the clothes-horse trail. Some of them recall those early days with grins at their greenness, others with haughty unconcern. Almost all gratefully acknowledge the guidance of studio designers and fashion photographers. Because even considering the movies' passion for making over every newcomer, few players looked stylish when they came here. It wasn't bad taste that made them look all wrong. They were just wearing what they always had worn. Small-town beauty contest winners clung to their ruffles. Singers wanted to keep their sausage-casings of black satin and tap dancers their floppy-bowed shoes. If those clothes had been good enough for Podunk, they were good enough for Hollywood.

But it takes more than the wave of a wand to transform glitter girls into glamor gals who set styles all over the world. Sometimes, instead of a wand, studio designers thoughtfully consider using a baseball bat.

They have had to dress stubborn ones like Frances Farmer, whose favorite costume was overalls and canvas sneakers. She said belligerently that if she wasn't a good-enough actress to make audiences forget clothes, she was a flop. And willingly would be one rather than a clotheshorse.

Greta Garbo at first demanded belts on everything from evening gowns to riding habits. Jean Parker, still under the "Little Women" and "Sequoia" influence, carefully guarded her girlish type.

An executive gloomily said, "She was Miss Peter Pan. We couldn't get her into a hat unless it had a quill on it. Everything was baby pink and blue. And when she'd go to a style show, she'd hold a dress up to her chin and ask, 'Does this make Jeanie-Weenie look too sophisticated?' We finally convinced her she could wear suits without looking like a grandmother."

ALMOST as exasperating to studio stylists—who have grown gray in the business of creating glamor girls—is a high-minded conservative such as Olivia de Havilland was at 19. She now is a favorite fashion model for her studio and completely crazy about clothes.

"I'm a pretty good case history," Miss de Havilland said cheerfully. "I lived in Saratoga, a town of 1800 conservative people, that had three grocery stores but no department store.

"We drove 12 miles to San Jose for that. I believe Joan (Fontaine) and I were the best-dressed children in America as long as mother made our clothes—lovely prints with handwork, and English tweed coats. The other children regarded us with slight suspicion, though. They couldn't decide whether we were ultra-chic or just queer because we didn't wear what they did.

"Then when we got in high school, we wore sweaters and skirts because we wanted to look like the crowd. By the time I was 18 and thinking about teaching school, I was buying something navy blue for spring, and something brown with a little fur to keep me warm—very practical—for winter. The only time I got away from being a lady was when I bought a dress I had seen in a snooty fashion magazine—it had violets right in the middle of the bosom. And when I wore it to a dance, I was mobbed!

"But I thought it showed weakness to like clothes and even when I got into movies, I wouldn't buy any. I was going to save my salary. I knew what happened to actresses who threw away their money on furs and jewels: they ended up in the poorhouse!

"And along with that idea, I had the one about keeping my home life and studio work separate. So when I was going to New York and Warner's wanted me to wear clothes they had selected, I refused flatly. I had talent—oh, yes indeed—but I wasn't a movie actress. I was of the noble De Havilland family of Norman descent! Nobody knows what I thought a movie actress was—a hussy probably.

"Then last year, two things happened: they took me out of costume pictures and put me in modern clothes in 'Four's a Crowd.' Miriam Hopkins still is begging Orry Kelly to make her a copy of the evening gown I wore in it—that gives you an idea.

"Then mother and sister decided I ought to have a fur coat. So Joan went out and bought me a mink one. It was such a bargain I said to myself, 'Oh, don't be an old skinflint!' Then I had to have the clothes to live up to the mink. So between the problem of having my new fur coat on my hands and being exposed daily to those perfectly divine clothes in the picture, I gave up.

"I haven't learned it all from designers, though. Errol Flynn and Donald Crisp gave me a lesson about hats. I was so proud of one," Miss de Havilland said unhappily. "A $40 Paris original—I was ashamed to tell anybody I paid that much—with a big pink rose smack in the front. I wore it to a broadcast and when Errol saw it, he said, 'My God! What have you got on—a headlight?' He and Donald took it off my head and made me hide it under my chair until the broadcast was over.

"Maybe I've changed from conservative to slightly flamboyant. But it has made life much more interesting, and I'm having fun. I'm so crazy about clothes now that I kid myself into thinking movie fans expect me to dress for them. I even quit wearing old clothes to the studio, and got special things for the beach, and if they fit tight, that's fine. That's the evolution of a clothes-mouse for you!"

You would scarcely recognize the glamorous actress above as the same girl in the prim togs at right. It's Olivia de Havilland before and after the movies taught her how to dress.

ANOTHER young actress who is studio-trained is 20th-Fox's Marjorie Weaver. As a Louisville belle, she remembered, she was intent on looking pretty, like most southern girls, and it was more important to have a different dress for every date than to have a few good frocks.

Streamlining was so much Greek to her, but she won beauty contest after beauty contest at college—partly by going in for slinky satins and pendant earrings, which made her different from her ruffled sisters.

One of the contests sent her to New York and working there as a photographer's model, she had to have a varied wardrobe. On practically no money, which meant hunting for bargains. When studio designers took the collegiate-vamp out of her—or rather, Miss Weaver out of the clothes—she emerged in simple styles that are Junior League but not collegiate.

Shining example of what the movies can teach a woman who really wants to learn is Marlene Dietrich, one of the best-dressed actresses. When she arrived, a plump hausfrau, her clothes weren't very different from her movie costumes. On her first visit to the Paramount lot, she wore a baby blue chiffon dress, a big picture hat, and pale pink satin pumps with huge bows.

But, anxious to learn, she even submitted her off-screen wardrobe to Travis Banton, then head stylist, leaving new hats and shoes on his desk with little notes, "Are these right?" pinned to them. Completely confident in him, she cabled him weekly, when she went abroad, to ask what Paris gowns to buy.

Everybody wants to help them. Blanche, once Jean Harlow's faithful shadow and now serving another glamor girl, Hedy Lamarr, as maid, is anxiously concerned that the star dress to Hollywood standards. Called unexpectedly to the studio for a talk with a big-time producer, Miss Lamarr thought a pair of slacks and a topcoat would be all right. Not with Blanche. By gentle suggestion, she finally got Miss Lamarr off to her date wearing her pearls, her furs, and a pair of hose that Blanche herself had okayed for correct color.

Sometimes they learn much less kindly. Ilona Massey, whose post-war childhood was a nightmare of hunger and wearing charity clothes—paper shoes and coats that covered but didn't warm—met Hollywood at its worst. Invited to a swank party soon after she arrived, she showed up in her very best—a Hungarian peasant gala costume, complete with vivid embroidery and white apron. And one of the guests said a little too loudly, "Where's the masquerade?"

MARTHA RAYE, criticized for plunging on clothes—a different fur coat every day, they said—bought a white fox scarf with her first week's movie salary, though at that time they had been out of style for five years.

Joan Crawford still luxuriates in being able to buy what she likes and her collection of furs is famous. When she came here fresh from Harry Richman's night club and Shubert musicals, her idea of bucking Hollywood was to wear four-inch bows on her shoes when everybody else was wearing one-inch ones.

Alice Faye remembers that when she was singing in New York night clubs, $25 was a tremendous amount to pay for a dress. It had to be a knockout at that price—usually satin, because it looked rich and showed off curves.

And Miss Faye was dressing then for Broadway and show business, which said, "Some doll!" when she stood in the spotlight singing "Oh, You Nasty Man!" The dress she wore in her first picture, "Scandals," almost duplicated her night club costume: black satin, with a dug-out back, a plot of purple orchids on the shoulder and diamond bracelets.

She arrived here in a "When do the races begin?" checked outfit which she thought quite restrained.

Studio stylists put her into tailored suits, which she always had liked but which Broadway called corny, and in wash dresses that Hollywood wears but show business believes are bought only by farmers' daughters.

MARGARET BARDEN

Mrs. Clarence Gross

Because of the laws of the Province of Quebec, Mrs. Clarence Gross is a lawyer without a practice. Following her graduation from Baron Byng High School, Mrs. Gross entered McGill University, where she completed her Arts Course and graduated with first class honors in Political Science. nI 1936, she entered McGill Law School and graduated in 1939. She was awarded the Adolphe Mailhot prize for being the best law student of her class. She was a member of the last honor class taught by Stephen Leacock.

When Mrs. Gross entered McGill she was in favor of taking Law, but among a dozen other women who had taken the course, none had accomplished very much in this Province. She consulted with her future husband, to whom she was engaged at the time, and then decided on a legal career. Clarence Gross was also taking law. In 1937 they were married and continued their studies, graduating together in 1939. Mr. Gross later joined the Louis Fitch Company, but Mrs. Gross is unable to practice. She could work in a law office, but this has no appeal to a fully qualified lawyer.

Her ambition is to do legal work in connection with juvenile delinquency, family welfare and domestic relations, which is, in the opinion of Mrs. Gross, strictly a woman's field. She is constantly invited to give addresses at various women's organizations on "Legal Aspects of Marriage," and "The Legal Status of Women in the Province of Quebec."

She has recently been asked to give a series of lectures to field workers of a well known social welfare organization. While conditions for women in this province are extremely backward, Mrs. Gross is quite confident that in the very near future, many old and out-dated laws, concerning women, will be changed. When this comes about, Anne Gross will hang out her shingle.

A member of the League for Women's Rights, she also serves on the Executive Board of the Jewish Branch of the Canadian Red Cross, and is a member of the Delta Phi Epsilon sorority. Elected president of the Shaar Zion Sisterhood last fall, Mrs. Gross is the youngest in America to head such an organization.

In connection with her work at the Sisterhood, Mrs. Gross has inaugurated the Golden Book system. The names of all the children of the Synagogue will be inscribed in a golden book, and placed in a glass encasement in the entrance hall of the building. The main feature of the book being the rotating pages, a different page will be automatically turned each day.

Under the direction of their president, the members of the Sisterhood will endeavor to raise $5,000 as their contribution to the new building, the first sod of which was turned last week.

TESTED RECIPES

Beef Pot Roast

Get the butcher to give you a piece a suet with your pot roast. "Try out" or fry suet in pot in which roast is to be cooked, and when smoking hot, add pot roast which has been wiped with damp cloth. Brown thoroughly on one side, turn and brown the other, add onion to pan and brown also. Season with pepper and salt, a wee piece of bay leaf, if you like the flavor, or a stalk of celery. You may also stick one or two cloves in the meat. Add a small amount of hot water, about one-half cup, cover pot closely and cook very slowly until tender. Watch to see that water has not evaporated and add more, a little at a time. As the pot roast is not the tenderest part of beef, allow fully half an hour's cooking for each pound of meat, or more, and continue cooking until meat is very tender. Remove meat from pan. If too much fat is left, pour off all but about two tablespoons, add two tablespoons flour, mix smooth, add hot water gradually, about two cups, stirring all the time. Taste to see if there is enough salt, then strain into gravy boat or bowl. You don't want your gravy too fat, and it must be well seasoned or it tastes flat.

NEWS OF THE THEATRE WORLD

THEATRICAL ATTRACTIONS

"Grapes Of Wrath" To Be Shown At Westmount

Most important screen news of the year is the announcement that Darryl F. Zanuck's production of "The Grapes of Wrath" will be presented at the Westmount United Theatre this Sunday.

The film version of John Steinbeck's stirring best-seller was wildly acclaimed at its world's premiere run at New York's Rivoli Theatre, where it broke all records with the biggest opening attendance in the entire 22-year history of that theatre.

Under the direction of Academy Award Winner John Ford, the stirring human adventures of the Joad family are reported to have been brought to the screen with all the power, drive and humor that characterized the book.

To insure absolute fidelity to the original story, Associate Producer Nunnally Johnson, who wrote the screen play, conferred with Steinbeck over the completed script. Steinbeck heartily applauded Johnson's work and expressed particular pleasure that all the humor of the original story had been kept intact in the picture.

Careful Casting

Casting for "The Grapes of Wrath" was undertaken by Zanuck with exceeding care. Emphasis was placed not only on the resemblance of the actors to the characters as described by Steinbeck but the mood and humor of the Joads was also taken into consideration.

Henry Fonda, whose portrayals of humble, real people have won him plaudits in the past, stepped naturally into the shoes of dogged fighting Tom Joad. That unconquerable woman of the soil, Ma Joad, who battled to hold her homeless family together, was found in the person of Jane Darwell. Lanky, tall John Carradine became Casy, the courageous, crusading preacher. Grampa, that tough, cantankerous old man, took form in Charley Grapewin. Dorris Bowdon, the Louisiana State University co-ed, who was discovered only two years ago by a 20th Century-Fox scout, won the role which every young actress in Hollywood coveted, that of Rosasharn.

Russell Simpson became Pa Joad. O. Z. Whitehead, a protege of Katharine Hepburn, was brought on from New York to play the part of Al, John Qualen became Muley, while Eddie Quillan was given the role of Connie, Rosasharn's deserting husband. Granma, the acidulous, carping old woman, who won for the Joads entry into what appeared to be a promised land, came to life in the person of Zeffie Tilbury, long noted in Hollywood for her many excellent characterizations.

"The Bluebird" Unforgettable Motion Picture

Predictions are abundant at 20th Century-Fox that for many years to come, moviegoers will remember Maurice Maeterlinck's "The Blue Bird" as the most beautiful picture ever made and the most human story ever told.

That you may see it as it should be seen, it is advisable to come at the beginning of the picture to enjoy to the fullest its mood of rare beauty. Such is the opinion of those who saw "The Blue Bird" at its showing in the Hollywood Theatre in New York, where it was presented twice daily as a road-show, with all seats reserved at advanced prices.

Into the making of this film Darryl F. Zanuck is said to have poured the utmost effort of his hit-making talents. This famous story has been presented on the stage of 45 nations and has been translated into 32 languages.

Under the deft direction of Walter Lang, "The Blue Bird" was filmed in the new Technicolor. It is among the first pictures to use this amazing new development and the result is a beauty and fidelity of color hitherto unknown, with a highly increased effect of third dimension that makes the characters on the screen actually come alive before your eyes.

For this remarkable production Zanuck selected an outstanding cast, featuring Shirley Temple, Spring Byington, Nigel Bruce, Gale Sondergaard, Eddie Collins, Sybil Jason, Jessie Ralph, Helen Ericson, Johnny Russell, Laura Hope Crews, Russell Hicks, Cecilia Loftus, Al Shean and Gene Reynolds.

The screen play by Ernest Pascal is a faithful adaptation of Maeterlinck's masterpiece. The author got his idea for the play from the folklore of Lorraine, in France, where the natives long have treasured the legend of "The Blue Bird." An odd fact is that Maeterlinck had never seen a blue bird when he wrote the play; in fact it wasn't until many years later that he saw one on a visit to the United States. The reason, of course, is that blue birds exist nowhere in the world but in this country!

"The Blue Bird" is now playing at the York United Theatre, where it will remain until Friday. From all indications it will be a picture for everyone to see—and long remember.

Wrong Number

Thirteen-year-old Guy had just brought home from the store his first pair of long trousers, and had donned them for Mother's inspection. Five-year-old Bobby was also in the audience.

"Are they all right, Mother?" anxiously inquired Guy, rotating slowly to allow a thorough examination.

"I think so," said Mother cautiously.

But Bobby, whose keen eyes had caught a glint of white pasteboard, uttered a note of warning: "They're all right, Guy, except the license on the back."

ENGLAND'S COMEDY QUEEN

Gracie Fields, toast of London's musical comedy circles, as she appears in a scene from "Shipyard Sally," now enjoying its first-run in Montreal at the Snowdon Theatre.

"THE FIGHTING 69th"

Pat O'Brien, James Cagney and George Brent in a scene from the thrill packed story of the fighting Irish regiment, "The Fighting 69th," opens at the Monkland United Theatre Sunday playing until Tuesday.

"IT'S A DATE"

Deanna Durbin, Walter Pidgeon and Kay Francis form a romantic-comedy triangle in Universal's musical drama of Hawaii, New York and a Maine summer school, "It's a Date." The film opens at the York United Theatre Saturday playing until Tuesday.

"BROADWAY MELODY OF 1940"

Fred Astaire, Eleonor Powell and George Murphy, bringing together the world's greatest dancers in "Broadway Melody of 1940," now playing at the Westmount United Theatre until Saturday.

"Shipyard Sally" Being Held Over At Snowdon

Most film stars would like to make personal appearances in hit plays, but not Gracie Fields, reputedly the highest paid actress in the world.

She recently turned down an offer to star in a new comedy because she had read the script and knew it would be a hit! The queen of comedy has appeared in only three stage plays in all her long career. The first ran for six years, the other two wore out a series of S.R.O. signs in their four-year runs.

"I doubt if I will ever take on another play," Gracie declared. "I don't want to sign away three or four years of my life at one time, repeating the same role day after day. If one movie is a hit, it can go on playwhile I make another."

This is just what Gracie has done.

American audiences were first introduced to her in Gracie's sensational comedy with Victor McLaglen, "We're Going To Be Rich," which Gracie immediately followed up with a second hit, "Smiling Along." Now she has done it again, starring with Sydney Howard in "Shipyard Sally," which is being held over at the Snowdon United Theatre.

Included in the cast of "Shipyard Sally" is Oliver Wakefield, young comedian famous on the radio for his "double-talk."

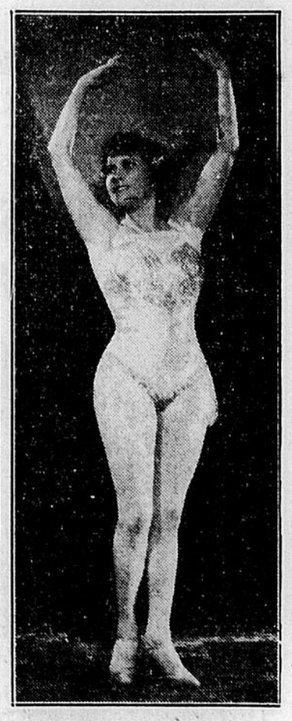
Comedy - Drama Was Directed By Ernst Lubitsch

The most interesting star-director teaming of the year is featured in "The Shop Around the Corner," which will be playing at the Monkland United Theatre until Saturday. It marks the return to the screen of Margaret Sullavan for the first time since her memorable performances in "Three Comrades" and "The Shining Hour," and it co-stars her with James Stewart, who is still winning acclaim for his outstanding portrayals in two recent film hits, "Mr. Smith Goes to Washington" and "Destry Rides Again." And it was produced and directed by Ernst Lubitsch, who directed Greta Garbo in "Ninotchka," hilarious satirical comedy.

This time the famous "Lubitsch touch" has turned to realism and brings to the screen a gentle romantic comedy-drama woven around the everyday events in the everyday lives of a leather goods and novelty shop owner and his clerks. There is nothing pretentious about "The Shop Around the Corner." Instead of glamorous settings, costumes and spectacle, it has a delightful quality of honest truth, as the gruff but kindly employer and his employees move in and out of the picture, giving it life, warmth, drama, suspense, comedy and romance.

Every duty brings its peculiar delight, every denial its appropriate compensation, every thought its recompense, every cross its crown; pay goes with performance as effect with cause.—Charles Mildmay.

AT BELMONT PARK



Winifred Colleano, world's premiere woman trapeze artiste, at Belmont Park starting Saturday.

OFFICIAL OPENING OF BELMONT PARK THIS SATURDAY

During the past few days, workmen have been putting the finishing touches to the Midway which now assumes a glorious aspect. All attractions will be in operation from today and patrons are assured of a grand and glorious time. The new attractions are "The Hey-Dey Ride" which is novel, amusing and thrilling; "The Caracole" consisting of six cars on a fast moving train travelling over an undulating track, providing thrills galore; "The Laugh In The Dark Ride" which is spooky, thrilling and amusing. Other attractions incude "The Crystal Maze" with its laughing gallery; "The Flying Scooters" with new streamlined ships; "The Magic Carpet"; "Lindy Loop"; "Scenic Thriller"; "U-Drive It"; "Loop-A-Plane"; "The Scooter Boat"; "Merry-Go-Round" and "Kiddies Ride" among others.

The free outdoor attraction will feature Miss Winifred Colleana, unmatched in her aerial trapeze work. Performing at a dizzy height, Miss Colleano goes through the usual acrobatic and gymnastic routines on the flying trapeze, then leaps from her swaying trapeze to a slender rope to which she hangs by the hooks of her heels. This stunt is so perilous that she has to work with a safety net. Miss Colleano is from a famous acrobatic-trapeze family and is the sister of the famous 'Con' Colleano, the only man in the world to do a forward sommersault.

The many friends and admirers of Stan Wood will be happy to know that this famous maestro will once again supply the dance music in the beautiful dance pavilion. Stan Wood has increased the personnel of his talented band of musicians with Fernand Perron, noted French-Canadian tenor, as vocalist.

All important News Broadcasts of the situation in Europe will be relayed over the Public Address that all Uniformed-Men . . . be System. It is further announced he Soldier, Sailor or Aviator will be admitted Free to the Park. Those attending in groups will obtain other advantages in the Park by getting in touch with the management in advance.

Richard Crooks Heard In Stirring Recital

By FRANCES GOLTMAN

Concerts by singers of Mr. Crooks standing are all too rare in Montreal and to assume Lawrence Tibbett's place, who was suddenly taken ill, on such short notice is a feat that only the greatest can do. There is certainly no tenor voice before the public to day with such an even scale and no singer who uses his voice with more artistic ability than Richard Crooks, leading tenor of the Metropolitan Opera. The moment Mr. Crooks made his bow on the stage of the Verdun Auditorium one was impressed with his dynamic personality and the recital was a delight for the listeners from the beginning to the very end.

Mr. Crooks announced his numbers himself and as it was this reviewer's misfortune to have a distant seat in the large arena, we were not able to catch names of unfamiliar composition.

The audience, which should have been larger was nevertheless highly demonstrative and called for many encores which were generously given. Mr. Crooks began his program with a group of Handel numbers first "Where'ere You Walk" followed by two operatic selections. These were sung with perfect diction and as an encore we heard "Have You Seen the White Lily Grow."

Three Italian compositions were given next, a familiar one by Resphigi was sung with dramatic intensity and again the audience demanded an encore, which was an Itatlian classic. The third group comprised "Slumber Song" from the opera "May Night" by Rimsky-Korsakoff, followed by the beautiful aria from "Manon Lescaut" by Massenet which was sung with the sweetest tone imaginable.

After a short intermission the celebrated tenor sang "To The Children" by Rachmaninoff, a plaintive Russian Melody; "None But the Lonely Heart" which possesses all the emotional pathos of Tschaikowsky and the popular "Song of India" from the opera "Sadko" by Rimsky-Korsakoff. A encores Mr. Crooks rendered Schubert's famous "Serenade," "Songs My Mother Taught Me" by Dvorak and a Spanish Serenade.

Final Group

For his final group this wonderful singer sang four English songs by modern composers the favourite "Now Sleeps the Crimson Petal" by Roger Quitler and works by Morgan, Watts and Coleridge-Taylor. To give a review of this concert one must only use superlatives and the audience cheered at the close, Mr. Crooks adding "Mother of Mine" and "Neapolitan Love Song."

The accompanist was none other than our own Dr. Wilfred Pelletier, conductor of the Metropolitan Opera whose excellent support at the piano was of the same quality as Mr. Crooks vocal powers. One could not have heard a finer accompanist for his co-ordination and blending of tone with Mr. Crooks singing was a delight seldom heard. The concert, sad to relate started a half hour late and people were still arriving at 9.20.

Reminiscent

Reporter: "I suppose your success has been achieved only after a hard struggle."

Actor: "Oh, yes, there was a time when my name appeared oftener on a board bill than on a bill board."

Remembrances

"Cheer up! You'll soon forget all about that girl and be happy again."

"Oh, no, I won't. I've bought too many things for her on the installment plan."—Exchange.

How's That

"I believe I shall have to give up taking part in amateur theatricals. It always makes me feel that I am making a fool of myself."

"I know; everybody feels the same way."

Priceless

Guide: "This picture is two hundred years old and is worth $25,000."

Visitor. "Oh, dear! One can just imagine how much it would cost if it were new!"

NEW SOFTBALL SQUAD FORMED IN WESTMOUNT

Pascal's Hardware Organizes Team to Play in Snowdon Senior League

A softball team composed entirely of Westmount players, and organized by the J. Pascal Hardware, has been entered in the Snowdon Senior League, it was announced by Joe Richman, manager of the store's sporting goods department, yesterday.

Mr. Richman stated that there is still room for a fairly large number of additional players, particularly pitchers, and boys wishing to join should communicate with him at the store.

The squad is holding workouts practically every week night at Westmount Park and players are improving rapidly in speed and style, it is reported.

The opening loop game will be played on Sunday afternoon and during the season matches are expected to take place twice weekly.

Toronto Aspires To Safety Mark

Officials of the Police Safety Bureau hope that Toronto may qualify as the safest city of its size on the American continent during the past year. Official figures showed a decrease of 23.7 per cent in the number of fatalities as over 1938, or a drop from 80 to 61. In 1938, Toronto was in sixth place for cities of 500,000 population.

The number of accidents during the year dropped from 7,482 to 7,151, and figuring the average cost of an accident at $150, which is considered a low estimate, it was suggested that Toronto motorists saved themselves $49,650 in 1939. The number of persons injured in traffic accidents on city streets was cut from 3,493 to 3,423, or 7.3 per cent.

Feller's No-Hitter Was Inevitable; He's Frank Merriwell Come To Life

It was inevitable that Robert Feller would pitch a no-hit, no-run game.

The Iowa farm boy is Frank Merriwell come to life.

Striking out a major league hitter is one of the more difficult athletic feats.

Yet before he was 18, Bob Feller struck out eight of the nine who faced him in his first big league assignment . . . in an exhibition game against the St. Louis Cardinals.

In his initial effort in the American League, he set down 15 Browns to fall just one short of the American League maximum hung up by the immortal Rube Waddell, July 29, 1908. In his next start, he fanned 10 of the same Browns.

Then he struck out 17 Athletics for a new American League record that tied Dizzy Dean's National League mark . . . giving him the astounding total of 42 strikeouts in his first three full contests.

Two years later, on the last day of the 1938 season, he struck out 18 Tigers for a new major league record.

He fanned 246 batters in 1939, 240 in 1938 . . . has a higher average in that department than the great Walter Perry Johnson.

LITTLE TO DO

Feller did not become of age until last November, so in 1939 won 24 American League games before he was 21.

The Van Meter Wonder missed no-hit fame by one hit on three occasions. Billy Sullivan, then of the Browns, beat out a bunt on the second day of the 1938 season.

Bobby Doerr of the Red Sox and Earl Averill of the Tigers spoiled the other two performances.

CLEANS UP

Bob Feller shaves now, which is more than he did when he started setting strikeout records.

Feller gave the White Sox one measly hit in 10 innings in Chicago last summer, but lost to blond Edgar Smith, 1-0.

It was nothing new to the Indians to see the White Sox blanked inning after inning the other afternoon. There had been only one run scored off Feller since the Cleveland club's first squad game at Fort Myers this spring, and that was unearned and cost the All-Star game in Tampa.

The more you see, read and hear of Feller the more amazing he becomes.

The story of his father raising him to be a pitcher, for example . . . teaching him all he knew out behind the barn.

The chances against such a boy clicking would be something like a million to one, yet here he is the best in the business.

TAKE LIFE OUT

Feller has it all, including the perfect temperament, the inclination to apply himself and good habits. Modesty is not the least of his many assets. His comment following his opening day masterpiece in Chicago was typical.

"Thanks, everyone, for the congratulations," smiled Rapid Robert. "But don't forget the support I got. The important thing was not pitching a no-hitter, but winning. When you pitch a no-hit game you've got to be lucky. It is when you strike out a lot of hitters that you've got it."

And speaking of remarkable pitching feats, how about the 40-year-old Robert Moses Grove having an opening day no-hitter up to the second out in the eighth.

Feller and Grove make a show of those pitchers who everlastingly complain about the lively ball.

Young Bob and Old Mose certainly show them how to deaden it.

Bicycles Play Role In Football Schemes

The warm days of spring football practice at Cornell are marked by the issuance of 55 bicycles to the members of the squad. Simultaneously Carl Snavely, head coach, banned the use of automobiles for members of the squad during the training season for the second year. Head trainer, Frank Kavanagh, togther with Coach Snavely, believes that the use of bicycles last year played an important part in conditioning the athletes, who went through the season undefeated and received national recognition.

Leg drive, stamina, and general fitness were some of the benefits received from the use of the bikes, according to the Cornell authorities. They cite the cases of Mort Landsberg and Alva Kelle as examples of a direct tie up between the use of bikes and proficiency on the football gridiron.

At the end of spring practice last year, Mort Landsberg was the fourth-string fullback. Mort was determined to break into the charmed circle. He went about his training seriously. He rode his bike all during practice and after the season ended. He then took two days pedalling his bike to his home in Mamaroneck, Long Island. During the summer he piled up additional mileage, and he rode the bike all the way back to Ithaca to report for fall practice.

He came back in such superb condition that when Captain Eichler, regular fullback, suffered a knee injury the coaches picked Landsberg for the number one slot, along with Co-Captain Kenny Brown. Landsberg emerged so suddenly that the first football program did not even carry his picture. He proved a sensation during the undefeated season, and now is regarded as one of the best men on the team.

Al Kelley of Tarentum, Pennsylvania, was a sophomore candidate for right end last spring. He trained hard and used his bike conscientiously. Like Landsberg, he rode his bike home and all during the summer. When he came back in the fall he was in fine shape. He had no difficulty in capturing the wing position. He played brilliantly all season and drew from Coach Snavey the highest praise. "Kelley is the best end I have seen at Cornell," said Carl.

Besides these two notable examples, there are many others in which the use of bikes as an adjunct to training proved successful. That's why Carl Snavely secured 15 new bikes this spring and issued them to the new men on the squad. "I am all for bikes as a spring training feature," says Carl Snavely. "They play an important part in building and in addition introduce an element of fun in training which, of necessity, is pretty rigorous."

Trainer Kavanagh has organized "The Big Red Wheelers," and every Sunday he plans long bike hikes with picnic suppers at the end of the trail.

Hogan Is Number One Threat To Beat Nelson

It would be a marvelous story if Ben Hogan, golf's latest professional sensation, should win the National Open championship this Summer, just one year after Byron Nelson grabbed the big crown.

For Ben and Byron have been pals for years. They grew up together down in Texas. Both were caddies and learned the game by playing in the early morning and late afternoon, when the members weren't using the course.

Nelson is six months older than Hogan and has always managed to be just a stride ahead. He left Texas first, obtained an Eastern pro job first, broke into the victory column first and won the national championship first.

Hogan Close Second

But Hogan has followed close behind. His latest feat of winning three successive tournaments—at Pinehurst, Greensboro and Asheville—tops the best set of consecutive performances that Nelson ever put together.

And it wouldn't surprise anyone should Hogan follow Nelson's example and win the Open in June at Cleveland.

The players have known for some time that Hogan, who is pro at a White Plains club, had the game to win—but something or other always kept him from garnering first prize.

Few professionals are willing to practice as much as Hogan and Ben believes that is the reason he is finally winning. Practice did it, he says.

Long Driver

Although only a little chap, weighing around 140 pounds, Hogan is among golf's longest drivers. And, even more important, he is straight off the tee.

His putting has always been good, but this Spring it has been phenomenal. He went 216 holes and had only two three-putt greens. During the stretch he was 34 under par.

'Robot' Assistants Cut Pilot's Tasks

Maj. R. W. Schroeder, operations committee chairman of the Air Transport Association of America, says instruments are cutting airline pilot's job to a minimum.

Major Schroeder, United Airlines Vice-President, told the Association recently.

"The human factor is being instrumentalized out of existence. Soon the pilot will have an 'out' for every procedure—spare fuel, spare engines, spare airports and spare instruments."

SENIOR BALL LEAGUE WILL MEET FRIDAY

Annual Session Will be Held Tomorrow Night in Victoria Hall

The annual meeting of the Westmount Municipal senior Softball League will be held in Victoria Hall tomorrow evening commencing at 8 o'clock.

Four teams at the moment have signified their intentions of entering the league; the 1939 champions, and the other two teams which finished second and third have been practising regularly and early season predictions give the Granites and Grads a good chance of ending the reign of the Blues. Each of these teams have done considerable reorganizing to strengthen their weaker positions.

A new team to Senior circles is one which is to represent Westmount High School this year. As several of the players in last year's league were from the "High", this new team should be a worthwhile aggregation.

All other Westmount teams which are organized and are thinking of playing in the Senior Division are invited to send two representatives to the Friday meeting, at 8 p.m. sharp.

PEARSON AND TARSHIS AT YMCA COURTS

Canadian Davies Cup Stars Will Play Exhibition Match Next Thursday

Phil Pearson and Ellis Tarshis, members of last year's Canadian Davies Cup team, will play an exhibition game of tennis at the local Y.M.C.A. courts next Thursday, it was announced at the branch yesterday.

Hugh Noble, physical director of the branch, stated that activities at the "Y" tennis courts are well under way. The courts are in fine shape and an active season is anticipated.

During the month of May and the first part of June the courts will be used by girls of the Westmount High School.

There are still vacancies in the "Y" tennis club for those wishing to become members, Mr. Noble said. He pointed out that the branch operates six fine courts at the corner of Victoria and Western avenues. Facilities include lockers and a tuckshop which carries soft drinks and tennis equipment.

A splash party and dance will be held by the club every Friday evening.

Shirley Burnett will instruct ladies tennis classes each Monday and Thursday evening.

What other drink adds so much to the joy of living?

BLITZKREIG

Hollywood, May 15. — Should reaction of the film industry be taken as indicative of sentiment in other branches of American business, the United States is far from neutral in the present international conflict.

Hitler's jaunts into Austria, Czechoslovakia, Poland, Denmark and Norway slashed Hollywood's foreign markets to a minimum — and his current ventures in Holland and Belgium have added insult to injury by minimizing even this minimum. Conservative estimates are that Uncle Adolf's several grabs have cost Hollywood an annual profit of over $50,000,000.

If for no reason other than this, American film interests hope the Munich Flash gets a shiny bayonette in his back. However, pro-Ally sentiment here is built on firmer than financial foundations. A bond of friendship based upon common ideals of freedom and fair play binds America to Britain, an existence of this bond has never been more in evidence than during these past few days.

Chamberlain's speech of resignation burst upon Hollywood last Thursday at noon, and work came to a sudden halt. Cameras were silenced and lights were killed on sound stages throughout the town as stars, technicians and executives crowded around portable receiving sets to listen while history was being made.

"The hour has come when we shall be put to the test", said a weary but determined voice coming from Number Ten Downing Street.

"You and I must put our full support behind our new leader. We must stop this mad beast who has leapt from his lair to destroy us."

Few eyes were dry when the companies disbanded for luncheon. Chamberlain's speech had packed more drama than the 10 best films of 1939. In fact, Louie B. Mayer is reported to have cabled him an offer to join Metro's scenario staff, but Neville is said to have declined!

WHISPERED REPORTS

Mae West is back in bed writing another screen play in which she hopes to star. The opus is tentatively titled "Not Bad".... Now that Shirley Temple has retired to a life of luxury, Jane Withers is being boomed at 20th Century.... Did you know that the three NBC chimes are G, E, and C — and that they stand for General Electric Company?.... Carol Bruce, who once starred with Lloyd Huntely on the Normandie Roof of the Mount Royal Hotel, is to headline the new Irving Berlin musical, "Louisiana Purchase." Zorina, Billy Gaxton, Victor Moore and Irene Bordoni will co-star.... George Melford who directed Rudolph Valentino in "The Sheik", is now playing bit parts at 20th Century....

Remember Virginia Cherrill, the lovely young actress who starred with Charlie Chaplin in "City Lights"? She is now the Countess of Jersey, and has just added a sixth home to her collection of mansions in England and Wales.... It is interesting to note that the net profits coined by candy sales in Paramount-controlled theatres last year were more than sufficient to pay all interest on the company's multi-million dollar indebtedness....

THIS WEEK'S HARVEST

Approach of summer has had no ill effect upon the local film factories. They continue to grind out their usual quota of tripe — plus the occasional fine example of cinematic art.

Fortunately, the past week brought two examples of this latter type production. "Our Town", directed by Sam Wood — who gave you "Goodbye, Mr. Chips" — and "Waterloo Bridge", which co-stars Vivien Leigh and Robert Taylor, are both superior films.

Inasmuch as transmission of this column has already begun, we are unable to discuss either picture at length. Suffice it to say that "Our Town" is the strangest film yet witnessed by this reviewer. It is a story of the little things of life; the joys, the sorrows and the folk we know so well. A masterful remake of the Pulitzer Prize play, it revolutionizes the technique of screen writing and boasts a starless yet superb cast.

"Our Town" is a screen experience you'll not want to miss.

"Waterloo Bridge" brings Robert Taylor into prominence as a thespian of talent. He is no longer the pretty boy, and the mustache which he displays for the first time would seem to have imbued him with a new and more stable personality.

of the last World War, Taylor Robert Sherwood's play, a tale of the last World war, Taylor plays an aging British officer who recalls his whirlwind courtship and the unforseen orders which cause him to leave for the front before marriage. His performance is superb, and Vivien Leigh again proves herself a gifted actress.

"Waterloo Bridge" will make you weep — and like it.

FINALE

Eddie Cantor may replace Fred Allen on the air next autumn, with Allen possibly returning for another sponsor. Montreal's Helen Morgan is here to co-star with John Boles and Paul Robeson in a stage revival of "Show Boat". Miss Morgan played in the original production and in the screen play.... A London film concern is to produce "Mein Kampf", but the company is experiencing difficulty in finding an actress to impersonate Leni Reifenstahl....

Gene Raymond, whose well-manicured mug once graced the bedrooms of lovesick gals throughout America, has returned to films after a 3-year absence. Raymond would appear to have signed his new contract with an eye-brow pencil, for he succeeded in winning a come-back only after darkening his blond locks with the common beauty application.... And that's the news from Hollywood. Adios....

TEACHER WILL HOLD ANNUAL CONCERT SOON

Pupils of Frances Goltman Will Perform in Victoria Hall

Many clever students will take part in the Seventh Annual Concert of Miss Frances Goltman, Lic. Mus., and First Medalist of McGill University, well-known young teacher and widely read music columnist of 'The Monitor' in Victoria Hall on Tuesday evening, June 4.

This important event will include compositions by classical composers and as usual Miss Goltman has arranged an artistic and entertaining program consisting of solos and duets. As in the previous outstanding recitals that have been presented by this eminent teacher, the pupils all play from memory and many types of music will be rendered. Mozart's "Turkish Rondo" from the famous Sonata in 'A' will be Gameroff and Glorianne Schwartz; Sylvia Marks and Suplayed in duet form by Phyllis zanne Cohen are playing the favourite "Neapolitan Dance Song" by Tschaikowsky arranged for by four hands and "Old Folks at Home" by Foster will be rendered by June Denison and Ronald Denison. Two very young pianists who will be heard in a duet are Connie Rosenhek and Ronald Cape.

Dr. Dan Gilbert, young author, former Washington correspondent and Hollywood news reporter, who is at present covering the entire United States in a nation-wide tour in which he is visiting the principal cities of America. He is speaking in the largest Presbyterian, Congregational and Baptist Churches on the Continent. During an interim in this heavy schedule he pays this visit to the Dominion of Canada. He will speak on "Youth in the Arms of an Octopus," in the Verdun Baptist Church on Wednesday, May 22 at 7.45 p.m. and in St. James United Church Hall the following evening.

Through his journalistic work he has been brought in touch with the nerve-centres of religious, social, economic and educational life of America. He has been active with his pen and has published thirteen volumes in spite of the fact that he is a comparatively young man. He deals with the problems of youth realistically and recognizes in his writings the fact that young people are faced with tremendous difficulties in this modern age. His book, "The Biblical Basis of the Constitution," has been favourably reviewed by metropolitan newspapers with a combined circulation of more than 20,000,000. His latest book, "A Manifesto of Christian Youth," presents graphically the inevitable choice that young people must make today. His stories and experiences while a news reporter in Hollywood are arresting.

HOUSEWIFE'S DUTY ON FOOD POINTED OUT

"Every housewife can do her bit—and help others do theirs—by keeping her family's health at a high level."—Canadian Medical Association.

Thus ends the introduction on the inside front cover of a new booklet just now coming off the presses, entitled "Food for Health in Peace and War."

Prepared by the nutrition experts of the Canadian Medical Association, and embodying knowledge gained after years of study and research, including the very latest, the booklet is published by the leading life insurance companies in Canada.

It is written in the simplest language, and instead of rambling on about vitamins and calories—about which the average housewife knows very little of practical use in the kitchen—quickly turns into a set of weekly food budgets for single persons, children, and various size families. So many quarts of milk, pounds of cheese, bread and so forth, for a family of five. Cost, $8.95—on the basis of city prices. For those living on the land, the quantities are given in pounds and fractions of a pound.

It all boils down to this: Eat first the kind and amount of food required to maintain normal disease-resisting health, then add whatever you wish or can afford after that. But GET THE ESSENTI-ALS—and thwart the germs that may descend on the as did the 'Flu in 1919.

On page five is a special note: "The Canadian farmer produces all the foods necessary for good health," a real boost for Canadian agriculture.

Nearly 1,200 foxes are being reared on a fox farm in Chile.
