Fifty-sixth Year

World News In Brief

Cairo, Egypt, Sept. 16.—(Reuters) — Foad Serag El Din, wealthy secretary-general of the anti-western Wafd, has resigned from the party, it was officially announced today.

Serag El Din sent his letter of resignation from the military college where he and other political leaders are held in custody by Premier Mohammed Naguib's government.

The 42-year-old millionaire had already been suspended by party president Mustafa Nahas. Nahas had acted with the letter of Naguib's political reorganization law, which calls for purging of corrupt elements.

Honolulu, Sept. 16.—(AP)—A raging typhoon with winds up to 140 miles an hour lashed tiny Wake island yesterday, demolishing living quarters and communications and sent the sea crashing over the entire island.

Mountainous seas and torrential rains battered the island, which is only 15 feet above sea level, all afternoon, subsiding only late at night.

Air-sea rescue planes left Honolulu's Hickam field and Kwajalein today with food, water and medical supplies for the 600 men, women and children marooned on the coral speck 2,300 miles west of here.

Washington, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Georgi N. Zarubin, one of a small group of top-flight Soviet diplomats who are believed to hold the Kremlin's full confidence, today took over as the new Russian ambassador to the United States.

An impressive heavy-set man of 52, Zarubin is expected to pay a formal call on State Secretary Dean Acheson in the next few days, before presenting his credentials to President Truman at the White House.

Whatever he has to say on either occasion will get careful attention, on the off chance that it might forecast a change for the better in Soviet-American relations.

Underworld Fears Boyd

Toronto, Sept. 16.—(C)—Fear of gangland vengeance may be keeping the Toronto underworld from tipping the lid on the hideout of the Boyd gang.

Senior police officials said yesterday the absolute lack of information of any kind from tipsters and petty criminals who are usually willing to talk to police was the most baffling aspect of the search for Edwin Alonzo Boyd, Steve Suchan, William Jackson and Leonard Jackson.

Officers say there are signs of nervousness and fear among petty criminals caught in the raids on houses suspected of sheltering the four notorious criminals who broke out of Toronto's Don jail eight days ago.

With the possibility of death hanging over their heads even the $26,000 reward out for the four Don fugitives isn't enough to tempt a tipster," said one officer.

There was no progress yesterday in the intensive country-wide search for the four, all accused of bank robbery and two of murder. Police pin their hopes of a break on a lack of money forcing the fugitives to make a move.

Mountain, Western States May Switch To Eisenhower

(Editor's note: This is the second of a series of five stories on the political situation in the Mountain States, as presented as seen by newspaper editors and political writers in all 48 states.)

By DOUGLAS B. CORNELL, New York, Sept. 16.—(AP)—The mountain and western states, almost as solidly Democratic as the south in Presidential elections over the last 20 years, now are regarded by editors and correspondents as leaning Republican but still a 1952 toss-up.

An Associated Press survey, based upon individual county estimates by editors and political writers in each state, indicates their combined opinion is that only one of the 11 states could be considered reasonably safe for the Democrats if the election were held now. The Democrats captured 10 of the 11 in 1948.

If present trends hold good through Nov. 4—and many of the states still must be kept on the doubtful list—the newspaper men say the 79 electoral votes of the mountain and western states should line up this way behind the Presidential nominees:

For Republican Dwight D. Eisenhower: California 32, Oregon 6, Washington 9, Idaho 4, Utah 4, New Mexico 4, Montana 4, Nevada 3, Wyoming 3, total 69.

For Democrat Adlai E. Stevenson: Arizona 4.

Undecided: Colorado 6.

Ike Given Big Welcome In Midwest

Washington, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Dwight D. Eisenhower, cheered by standing-room-only crowds in Illinois and Indiana, today carries his midwestern campaign into Minnesota.

The Republican Presidential nominee made 13 speeches before more than 225,000 persons yesterday, often blasting at what he said was Governor Adlai Stevenson's light treatment of serious subjects.

Eisenhower said he could see nothing funny about Korea, corruption, taxes, communism and high taxes—an obvious slap at the Democratic candidate's practice of spicing his speeches with jokes and quips.

It was a new tack for the General, and his aides said they were "entirely satisfied" with audience reaction and the turnout, some of which set local records.

Stevenson was in Springfield, Ill., working on campaign strategy—a strategy, some feel, which may be re-drafted in view of the Eisenhower-Taft meeting.

The Governor says Eisenhower's "great crusade" has become the "great surrender" and that Senator Robert A. Taft of Ohio has taken over the General's campaign.

So far Stevenson has been pegging away at what he said was disunity in the Republican party—a split between Eisenhower and Taft's supporters. Now that Taft has come out for the General, Stevenson is expected to change his attack.

He also is stepping up his drive for the estimated 15,000,000 independent voters in the United States, as well as what he calls the "Republican Progressives." There is a feeling in his camp that the Taft-Eisenhower get-together will help swing large numbers of both to Stevenson.

Massachusetts holds a primary election today, nominating a Governor, Senator and 14 U. S. Rep. representatives. Among the better-known candidates, Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Republican, has no opposition. Neither does his Democratic opponent, U. S. Representative John F. Kennedy.

Late returns today from Rhode Island's Monday primary showed that James O. Watts easily won the Republican nomination for U. S. Representative. His Democratic opponent in November will be Representative John Fogarty.

Meanwhile, administration leaders wooed the A.F.L. holding its 71st annual convention in New York. The A.F.L. is expected, for the first time, to endorse a Presidential candidate this year. Indications are that Stevenson will win the nod.

Washington, Sept. 16.—(AP)—The Marine Corps reported today that six fighter pilots flew into a cloud-shrouded hillside in Korea last Thursday and were killed.

An announcement said the pilots, flying Panther jets, were returning from a combat mission in bad weather and were trying to approach a strange landing field.

No further details were given.

New Agreement Announced Following Top-Level Soviet-Chinese Talks.

Moscow, Sept. 16.—(AP)—The Soviet Union announced today that it is handing back control of Manchuria's vital Changchun railway to communist China this year but that Russia will continue to use the Manchurian naval base of Port Arthur—190 miles west of Korea—until Japan signs a peace treaty with the communists.

The new agreement, announced by the Soviet news agency Tass, came at the conclusion of top-level Soviet-Chinese talks which have been going on since Aug. 17.

The Tass announcement included four important points:

1. The new agreement on Port Arthur, which was occupied by Soviet forces at the end of the Second World War. Under the 30-year Russian-Chinese treaty of friendship signed Feb. 14, 1950, the Soviets agreed to get out of Port Arthur by the end of 1952. In a note published today Red China's premier and foreign minister Chou En-Lai asked the Soviets to stay because in the absence of the Japanese peace treaty with the communist powers, "conditions have arisen dangerous for peace and favorable for a reiteration of Japanese aggression."

2. A communiqué said that "important political and economic questions concerning the relations between the two countries were discussed. Details were not given. Under the 1950 pact, Russia granted China $300,000,000 in credits toward the purchase of materials and equipment for the Soviet Union. Western observers had suggested that China probably was asking for additional aid because of her expenses in the Korean war.

3. Return of the Changchun railway by the end of 1952, as provided in the 1950 agreement. A separate communiqué said the railway would be returned to full Chinese administration by the end of this year.

4. The absence of any reference to the port and rail centre of Dairen, 25 miles east of Port Arthur. The 1950 treaty provided that the future of this city would be considered after the signing of a Japanese peace treaty. The city has been under Chinese administration since 1945.

The Changchun railway is the shortest rail route from central Siberia to the Russian port of Vladivostok on the sea of Japan.

Washington, Sept. 16.—(AP)—The Russo-Chinese agreement on Manchuria gives both parties benefits based on their recognition of Japan's potential ability to swing the balance of power between the free and communist worlds.

The results of the month-long conference in the Kremlin, announced yesterday, called for (1) agreement to prolong Russia's lease on Port Arthur in Manchuria, and (2) Russia to turn to China full administration of the Changchun railway in Manchuria by the end of this year.

American officials said results of the conference are specific on only one point: That Russian military power will remain in Manchuria until Russia and Red China conclude a peace treaty with Japan—on communist terms.

Officials saw as much significance in what the published texts left out as in what was announced: China, it was said, didn't "request" Russia to stay at the Port Arthur naval base for nothing.

U. S. experts agreed that undisclosed provisions of the economic and political agreements contain assurances of more armaments for China to use in Korea, or to strengthen her military power at home whenever it suits Moscow and Peking to approve an armistice in Korea.

The announced agreement "to begin measures" for turning over Manchuria's principal railway system to the Chinese will be heralded by Chinese Red leaders as proof that Russia stands by her promises.

These leaders know, however, that as long as Soviet Russia has a military base at the southern tip of Manchuria she will expect to have uncontested access to it, and that Chinese administrators of the railway must run it the way Moscow wants it run.

The announced reason for Russia's acceptance of China's invitation to remain at Port Arthur was because "conditions have been created which are dangerous to the cause of peace and favorable to a repetition of Japanese aggression."

Washington officials saw in this wording both a pointed threat and a timely appeal to a trade-hungry Japan.

Moscow and Peking have, in effect, told Tokyo that as long as Japan goes along with the scheme of becoming the northwestern anchor of the American defence chain, Russia will remain in near-by Manchuria to see that Japan gets none of the trade she needs in China to keep alive.

Tunis, Tunisia, Sept. 16.—(AP)—French authorities have begun liberating 467 Tunisians who have been held in concentration camps because of recent political activities against the French protectorate over this north African Moslem land. The number who will remain in the camps was not disclosed.

Confidence Vote Given Mossadegh

Tehran, Iran, Sept. 16.—(Reuters)—Premier Mohammed Mossadegh today won a parliamentary vote of confidence for his policy of refusing to yield to British and American proposals for settling the Anglo-Iranian oil dispute.

The Majlis (legislature) voted its support after hearing a long statement in which the Premier threatened to "go so far as to sever relations with Britain to vindicate Iran's rights."

Mossadegh once more turned thumbs down on the U. S.—British proposal for referring compensation claims of the nationalized Anglo-Iranian Oil Company to the international court, and reopening negotiations with company on the marketing of Iran's oil.

He said he was prepared to submit the compensation claims to the court only if a long list of conditions were accepted. They outlined the terms under which disputes between the company and the government could be settled, and demanded a payment of $137,000,000 from the British-owned company.

Mossadegh said the U.S.—British offer was unacceptable. His proposals, he said, represented the limit to which Iran was prepared to go. His statement said that if diplomatic relations were severed "the fault would be entirely British."

His terms of submitting compensation claims to the international court, which only recently ruled itself unable to order a settlement of the dispute, were:

1. Compensation would be payable only in respect of Anglo-Iranian installations at the refinery town of Abadan, virtually idle since the company withdrew a year ago.

2. Disputes and claims would have to be settled under terms of existing oil agreements between the company and Iran.

3. No claims by Anglo-Iranian since nationalization would be admitted.

4. Anglo-Iranian must pay $137,000,000 in U. S. funds "which it owes Iran."

Seoul, Korea, Sept. 16.—(AP)—United States Sabre jet pilots today shot down four communist Mig-15s over North Korea and raised to a record 46 the number of communist planes destroyed in one month, the U. S. Fifth Air Force said.

The four destruction claims, plus confirmation of a Sept. 4 kill, pushed September's figure past the previous high of 44 set in April. The April figure included 41 Mig-15s destroyed in combat and three propeller-driven fighters caught on the ground.

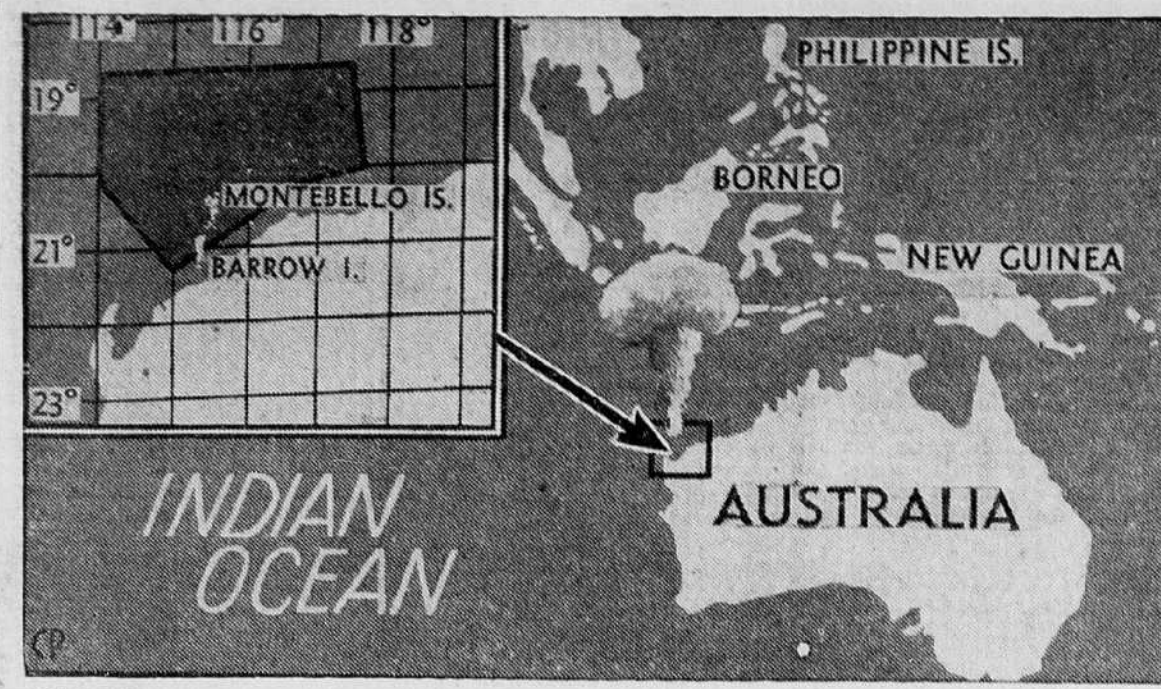

In September allied pilots also reported three Mig-15s probably destroyed and 36 damaged. Comparative allied figures were not announced.

The sleek Sabres were flying protective cover for F-84 Thunderjet fighter-bombers near the Manchurian border when 55 Mig-15s swarmed out from their Manchurian sanctuary. Five air battles ensued.

In addition to the four Red jets destroyed, Sabre pilots reported two damaged, U. S. losses in the battles, if any, will be included in a week-end report.

The fighter-bombers attacked a military boat concentration on Korea's west coast in the Sinui Island area near Sinuiju. Pilots said one 35-foot boat was destroyed and two damaged, and six smaller boats were destroyed and 22 damaged.

Further south, other fighter-bombers attacked two troop concentrations near Sariwon. The air

EXPLOSION SITE — Canada is going to participate in the British atomic weapons' test off Australia this fall. A team of scientists, headed by Dr. O. M. Solandt of the Defence Research Board, will become the first Canadians to take an active part in a controlled nuclear explosion. Britain's first atomic explosion tests are expected to begin this month in the lonely Monte Bello Islands, off the west coast of Australia. Inset is the 23,500 square miles testing area "declared dangerous to aircraft and shipping until further notice" by Australian and British naval authorities. The explosion area is about 200 miles long. (Photo)

Indo-China Civil War Is In Virtual Stalemate After Six-Year Conflict

Canuck Ship "Damaged" In Exercise

By JOHN RODERICK

Aboard USS Wasp with Operation Mainbrace, Sept. 16.—(AP)—Sixteen United States planes engaged in the west's "Mainbrace" manoeuvres claimed today to have damaged an "enemy" raider as a big international task force set powerful air-sea blows to eliminate the threatening warship.

The 16 planes from the U. S. aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt, last night 50 miles from the task force. The role of the raider in this big naval exercise by eight North Atlantic countries is taken by the Canadian cruiser Quebec.

A vast fleet of 160 ships and more than 80,000 men is involved in the test of allied operation plans. From this armada, a 52-ship task force is moving northward in the North Sea. At the heart of the force are three of the world's biggest carriers, Britain's Eastern and the U. S. ships Midway and Roosevelt.

A bigger force of air fighters was scheduled to attack the raider today while three allied cruisers raced to engage her. Winds of up to 65 miles an hour were predicted for the battle area.

The task force is speeding to the aid of N.A.T.O.'s northernmost member, Norway, menaced by an "enemy" which theoretically has conquered much of continental Europe. The games will also range south to Denmark.

The fleet has been attacked by submarines of the enemy "orange" forces but no "losses" have been reported. Empires ruled that the Midway and the U. S. battleship Wisconsin had been hit by torpedoes but were able to continue operations.

The "Blue" forces claim to have sunk an "Orange" submarine. Admiral Sir Patrick Brind, N.A.T.O. commander in northern Europe who is in charge of the games, announced last night that a major convoy is assembling in Scotland's Firth of Forth to carry reinforcements and equipment to Bergen, Norway. Imaginary "Orange" sabotage groups have been landed near Copenhagen, Denmark, but local authorities have the situation under control, he reported.

The Red-organized Vietnam air is estimated to exceed 300-600 men.

Against them are 600,000 French and Viet Nam troops. The government of France pours half its annual military budget into the war. For six years it has made life turmoil for the 30,000,000 population of Viet Nam and of Cambodia and Laos, the other two associated states of Indo-China.

The country was Japanese during the second world war. When the Japanese were beaten in 1945, communist leader Ho-Chi-Minh seized power with the help of a nationalist clique.

For a year the returning French administration dealt with the country, promising to withdraw completely in due course. But Ho denounced the French, announced formation of a communist "people's republic of Indo-China," and rallied the country's nationalists in an outright war for independence.

French officials concede that even now, when it is clear Ho's aim is to set up a communist state in addition to ejecting the French, two-thirds of his soldiers are not communists but nationalists who think force is the best way to gain independence.

If Ho succeeds, world communism will have a new bastion against India, Pakistan, Burma and Thailand to the west, Japan and the United States to the east.

But as long as France maintains her influence in Indo-China,

Editor's Note: The political fate of southeast Asia may be decided in the rice paddies of Indo-China. A Chinese-trained Red army is trying to eject the French and push the Iron Curtain 900 miles toward Singapore. To give Canadians a first-hand picture of the hair-trigger situation, Bill Boss, Canadian Press Staff Writer, has spent a month in Indo-China. He interviewed French, anti-communist Viet Nam and communist Viet Nam leaders. In this story, first of series, he assesses the military and political situation. For almost two years Boss has been CP correspondent with the Canadian forces in Korea. He was an army officer and later a CP correspondent during the second world war.

Saigon, Indo-China.—(C)—At this moment, neither side is winning the crucial civil war in Indo-China.

French and their anti-communist Viet Nam allies claim they are getting the upper hand. Their situation seems a little better than a year ago.

But neutral observers say the civil war has reached a temporary stalemate.

They maintain the French will never clear Indo-China of the communist-led Vietminh unless political factors change abruptly. Equally, Vietminh chance of driving the French from Indo-China before they want to go are nil.

This isn't a war in which you can put your finger on the enemy. War is everywhere.

There isn't a "safe" place in Indo-China, except for large cities like Saigon, Hanoi, Haiphong and Hue along the bulging eastern coast and a few areas where Vietminh activity is sporadic.

French and Viet Nam say they can go anywhere safely. So they can—if they travel by day, in convoy, along roads guarded by blockhouses less than a mile apart. Two hundred yards off the roads death lurks constantly.

By night most of Indo-China, including all of the independent state of Viet Nam which skirts the south China sea from Red China to Indo-China's southern tip, is in the hands of the Vietminh.

Traffic stops. Roads must be swept each morning for Vietminh mines. In villages the stores, thrown from the blockhouses the Vietminh hold communist meetings, collect taxes, recruit men for their army and women porters for their military supply trains.

The Red-organized Vietminh air is estimated to exceed 300-600 men.

Against them are 600,000 French and Viet Nam troops. The government of France pours half its annual military budget into the war. For six years it has made life turmoil for the 30,000,000 population of Viet Nam and of Cambodia and Laos, the other two associated states of Indo-China.

The country was Japanese during the second world war. When the Japanese were beaten in 1945, communist leader Ho-Chi-Minh seized power with the help of a nationalist clique.

For a year the returning French administration dealt with the country, promising to withdraw completely in due course. But Ho denounced the French, announced formation of a communist "people's republic of Indo-China," and rallied the country's nationalists in an outright war for independence.

French officials concede that even now, when it is clear Ho's aim is to set up a communist state in addition to ejecting the French, two-thirds of his soldiers are not communists but nationalists who think force is the best way to gain independence.

If Ho succeeds, world communism will have a new bastion against India, Pakistan, Burma and Thailand to the west, Japan and the United States to the east.

But as long as France maintains her influence in Indo-China, southeast Asia can retain some semblance of stability.

That is why France and the United States are pouring billions of dollars into Indo-China to bolster the anti-communist Viet Nam.

Neither side so far has managed to "pacify" the country.

In the Tonkin mountains and marshes along the China border, French and Viet Namese mobile groups of brigade strength are trying to cordon off 120,000 Vietminh troops grouped in six regular divisions.

In the central coast area and Cochinchina district of the extreme south, the Vietminh have perhaps 170,000 men. Along the coast they wage heavy attacks, seize French and Viet Namese posts and inflict heavy casualties. In Cochinchina their operations are along guerrilla lines.

In Laos and Cambodia, where the French hold is strongest and the population more prosperous and less congested, 15,000 Vietminh can conduct only sporadic raids.

But throughout Viet Nam, the Vietminh have the political advantage.

Their network through Indo-China can work almost openly without fear of disclosure to the local military authorities. The peasants, who have suffered from both sides, will not compromise themselves until order is established.

Most of the popular leaders, and most of the country's small educated group, are with the Vietminh. Many have deserted but nevertheless the Vietminh take no part in the anti-communist campaign because, they say, there is no real independence in Indo-China and the present associated states are just French puppets.

Church Report Reference To Peace Congress Dropped

By CRAIG ARMSTRONG
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Hamilton, Sept. 15.—(C)—A reference to the leftist Canadian Peace Congress was struck out of a report of the committee on international affairs yesterday at the general council of the United Church of Canada.

The deletion came after one delegate said the reference to the reference might lead some people to think the left-wing group is doing "Christian work."

A young chemistry professor at McMaster University moved an amendment to the committee's report, brought in by its Secretary Rev. J. R. Mutchmor, which wiped out mention of the congress.

The controversial section of the report which caused heated debate among the 400 commissioners now reads: "Our communion believes that now is the time for a larger program of peace-building by the churches. It should be done in a more public way and reveal the Christian bodies have taken the initiative. A vigorous campaign for peace will surely have the support of the United Church people who believe that of all men, Christians should most patiently and most persistently seek peace and pursue it."

The original report read: "A vigorous campaign for peace will have the support of many United Church people, who believe that this area of Christian work and witness has been left too exclusively to the Canadian Peace Congress and related groups."

Only half the committee's report was adopted and one of the sections still to come before the commissioner's deals with recognition of the communist Chinese regime.

Professor L. H. Craig of McMaster University, Hamilton, said the council had been talking about peace in an ambiguous manner.

"We should phrase it in a positive way. There is room for misunderstanding. People could probably read into this that the congress was really working in the area of Christian peace and progress."

Courses Start At St. Johns On Monday

By STEWART NEBBS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

St. Johns, Que., Sept. 16.—(C)—From now on, things will be different for Jean Carriere of Montreal.

Carriere was one of 80 students who registered yesterday at the College Militaire Royal de St. Jean, Canada's third and newest services college.

Before the week is over, Carriere, son of Brig. J. P. Carriere, commander of Montreal's eighth infantry brigade (reserve), will be one of the 125 students who settle down to serious business Monday.

That's the day when the college, set up primarily to prepare French-speaking youths for commissions in the three services, officially starts its courses.

The students, from across Canada and ranging in age from 16 to 20, will take the courses in their mother tongue but it is estimated some 80 per cent are French-speaking.

Professors for the course, mainly a science one, are drawn from colleges and universities in Quebec province. It is designed to train technical officers and leads to a degree in engineering.

Army candidates at the centre, 25 miles southeast of Montreal make up about 55 per cent of the student body. Commander is Col. M. L. Lahaie of Montreal who recently returned from Germany where he commanded the 79th Field Regiment of the Canadian 27th Brigade.

When Monday rolls around the boys will find their time pretty well taken up with military affairs but they'll also find that it is not all work and no play.

Obligatory sports form an important part of the curriculum and a fulltime sports staff of three instructors will see to it that they participate.

Then, too, there are certain periods of free time but the students are not permitted to leave the college until Christmas—when they get two weeks leave. The course winds up early in May.

Arise 6:05. Physical training 6:15-6:25. Church services 6:30-7: breakfast 7; classes 7:40-12 noon; dinner 12-1; classes 1:30-5; sports 4:30-5; supper 5:30-7; supervised study 7:30-9; rest period 9:30-10; lights out 10.

For most of the boys, however, the schedule will be made easier when meal times come around.

Here's an average menu:

Soup: Pea or tomato; meat: hot or cold ham, hot chicken sandwich; cold plates

Nature's best reservoirs to store winter water for summer use are the deep snow banks that form in high mountain country and melt slowly as hot weather approaches.

Hollywood — The New Movie Faces: PHILIP CAREY—A look-alike to Charlton Heston and Montgomery Clift on Warners' shoot-for-stardom list. Rugged blond and over six feet tall, Carey began his flicker career in "Operation Pacific" and currently is emoting in "Springfield Rifle."

He was spotted in a Long Island summer stock play by a movie talent scout after serving a hitch in the U.S. Marines and attending college under the G.I. Bill of Rights.

Carey replies to the what's-your-advice-to-young-actors question: "Let Hollywood bring you out from the New York stage. In Hollywood an extra is an extra all his life. It's too tough to break through."

LYDIA CLARKE—By pitching in to help her husband, Charlton Heston, make a screen test for "Come Back, Little Sheba," the brunet beauty landed the feminine lead in "Atomic City" after a big role in "The Greatest Show on Earth." She's been Mrs. Heston for nine years and is a Broadway and TV star in her own right.

Afraid of the Hollywood prejudice against actresses who are the wives of top male stars? Not Lydia, who says, "Our careers were always separate. Surely, they're not going to penalize me because I'm Charlton's wife."

CAROLE MATTHEWS—A zippy blonde with comedy skill who stepped in as Dan Dailey's dancing-and-singing partner in U-I's "The Great Companions" when Kyle McDonnell left the cast in a cloud of temperment.

Carole started up the golden stairs as a disc jockey in Chicago, became a photographic model in New York and was brought to Hollywood for Paramount's "No Man of Her Own" after a talent scout bombarded the studio with telegrams about her star possibilities.

GENE BARRY — Paramount's white hope and a click already in "Atomic City" is this strong-chinned, American-guy type, who will be seen in "War of the Worlds" and "Pleasure Island" before the year is out.

Gene began his career on the New York stage, vetted movie bids left and right, but finally drove out to Hollywood with his family after a stock engagement last year. Within a few hours, a movie agent, Paul Wilkins, had lined up a screen test.

Many Prizes Are Awarded At School Fair Sponsored By Cookshire W. I.

Cookshire, Sept. 16.—The Women's Institute is to be congratulated on the very successful School Fair which it sponsored on Wednesday, September 10th, on the Cookshire Exhibition Grounds. There were 252 exhibits, no small feat for a small school.

The W. I. members feel very much indebted to the Hon. C. D. French, who procured the seeds for the children in the spring, and who gave a liberal contribution towards financing this project, to the merchants of the town, and to the other interested friends, who ably supported the Fair Committee's efforts, both financially and with their time and talents.

Special thanks are due to the following who acted as judges: Mr. W. MacDougall, of the Agricultural Office of Sherbrooke County, for flowers and vegetables, and his daughter, Margaret, for cooking and sewing. Rev. P. W. Jones, for arts and handicrafts, Mr. Buchanan, his staff of teachers, to the parents and children for their co-operation, to Mr. Donald Macmillan, Compton County Agriculture, representing the Quebec Department of Agriculture, and to Mr. Walter Hodgeman for their invaluable assistance, to the Directors of the Cookshire Fair Board, for the use of the grounds and the buildings.

Due to the weather, the sports were curtailed, but will be completed at a later date.

There was a short program on the grand stand when Rev. Mr. Dunn addressed the children, and the following friends discussed with the children the good and bad points of their exhibits: Miss W. Hodge, Rev. P. W. Jones and Mr. Donald Macmillan.

The results were as follows: Girls' Oatmeal Cookies: 1 Marion Hodge, 2 Charlotte Taylor, 3 Margaret Richardson.

Standard Cake: 1 Barbara Bewick, 2 Mary Spalding, 3 Georgina Gill, 4 Shirley Lafontaine, 5 Corinne McCallum.

Graham Muffins: 1 Beverly Gilbert, 2 Barbara Bewick, 3 Marion Hodge, 4 Margaret Richardson and Charlotte Taylor.

MGM's attention when she brought her "As You Like It" touring company to Los Angeles. A blond, boyish type, John finished his run-of-the-play contract, then reported to Hollywood for a role in "Shadow in the Sky" with Nancy Davis. The Army tagged him as he was about to go into a role in "Westward the Women," but now he's back with a strong part in "Rogues March."

ANNE BANCROFT—It's swift stardom for Anne of the Olivia de Havillandish face as Mrs. Sol Hurok in Fox's "Tonight We Sing."

Anne was plucked from New York television where she was known as Ann Marno (her real name is Anne Italiano) and she spurned earlier contract offers from Goldwyn, Warners and Columbia "because these days young actresses don't want to start in pictures. Everybody wants to make a reputation in TV first."

Anne entered the American Academy of Dramatic Arts as a singer and dancer, switched to straight acting in her first year and was found by TV producer Worthington Minor at graduation time.

Two Priests From Seminary, Four Boys Are Injured In Car Accident

Two priests from St. Charles Seminary, and four young boys are in hospital today following an early morning accident on the road to Capelton.

The six victims, occupants of a jeep, were taken to St. Vincent de Paul Hospital and it was found necessary to rush one of the priests, Rev. Gilles Veronneau, 35, to the Montreal Neurological Institute. He was unconscious at the time, suffering from a fractured skull. Hospital authorities stated that his condition is critical.

Rev. Roger Thibault, 24, a deacon who is soon to be ordained, has lacerations to his face but his condition is not considered serious. He is under the care of Dr. R. Boisvert.

RCAF Association Plans Important Meeting Thursday

"The Treasurer's Reception" will be one of the highlights of the R.C.A.F. Association meeting on Thursday evening, September 18. The meeting, which is to be held at the Air Force Building on Depot Street, will commence at eight o'clock and all members are requested to attend this opening meeting of the season. Treasurer Ed Power, anticipates good business at this meeting and is hopeful that all members will ante-up.

Another matter to be discussed is the possibility of awarding two flying scholarships next year in conjunction with the Rotary Club, to deserving air cadets of the Rotary-sponsored No. 67 Squadron.

This year one such scholarship was awarded, to Sgt. Graydon Reed who went on to win his certificate at the Ancienne Lorette flying school.

Paul Allard Is Optimist Golf Champion

A short classification talk by Jack McCabe and the announcement that Paul Allard was the club's golf champion highlighted the weekly meeting of the Optimist Club held last night in the La Salle Hotel.

Mr. McCabe, who is with Northern Electric, spoke on safe wiring and urged the members to have their home wiring done only by qualified electricians. He told them to avoid dangerous "booby traps" such as the placing of coins as substitutes for burned-out fuses.

Golf chairman Guy Labrie announced that Paul Allard had won Vice-President Paul Nadeau's trophy as best Optimist golfer of the year at the club's annual tournament held Sunday at Waterville.

Mr. Allard shot a scintillating 81, over 18 holes. Mr. Allard moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Labrie for the outstanding success of the day of golfing.

Henry Crochetiere reported on the district meeting which was held in Montreal over the weekend. He said district 23 of Optimism was going ahead with plans for a youth oratorical contest this year and would pay the expenses of finalists to the district convention, which, incidentally, is being held in Sherbrooke next spring. Winners from the districts are then entered in the international finals, at the international convention which is slated for Washington next June.

Two guests were introduced at the meeting, Jack Dunn by Ivan Dugre and Gordon Breen by Jack McCabe.

President Erich Marquardt was in the chair for the meeting and seated at the head table with him were: Guy Labrie, Henry Crochetiere, Gordon Breen, Jack McCabe and Frank Edwards.

Four Scholarships Worth $4,000 Each Awarded By Canadian Johns-Manville

Asbestos, September 16 — J. O. Eby and J. E. Morrison, respectively mine and factory managers, announced today the names of the winners of the Canadian Johns-Manville Scholarships for 1952. They are: Jean-Marie Bruneau, son of Wilfrid Bruneau, restaurant owner; Laval Rondeau, son of Mrs. and Mr. Leo Rondeau, foreman in the Underground Mine Maintenance Department; Gerard-Albert Cote, son of Mrs. and Mr. Henri-A. Cote, farmer; and Charles Elton Webb, son of Mrs. and Mr. E. Y.

CHARLES WEBB

Webb, foreman in the Company's Machine Shop. The first three are graduates of St. Aime Superior School and the latter a graduate of Asbestos-Danville-Shipton High School.

"I am happy to congratulate very heartily these deserving students and to wish them still further success in their studies to outstanding graduates of the local schools on the basis of intellectual attainment, academic record, character of candidates and other circumstances such as financial status, parent's affiliation with Canadian Johns-Manville, etc. The plan thus provides an incentive to local students to achieve a university education so as to occupy some day a leading position in industry."

GERARD-ALBERT COTE

said, "Canadian Johns-Manville thus recognizes, along with other industries, its responsibility to contribute to the training of competent young men who will become leaders in industry tomorrow," explained Mr. Morrison.

Each of these scholarships is valued at $4,000 to be expended over the five year period of a university course in either commerce or a college degree.

Mr. Eby said, "Canadian Johns-Manville thus recognizes, along with other industries, its responsibility to contribute to the training of competent young men who will become leaders in industry tomorrow," explained Mr. Morrison.

Swimming Pool Proposed For Victoria Park

A proposal for the construction of a swimming pool at Victoria Park was presented to the City Council at its regular session last evening by Ald. Sylvio Rousseau, chairman of the Public Works Committee and for many years head of the Parks and Recreation Committee.

Ald. Rousseau tabled a petition signed by several hundred citizens from all parts of Sherbrooke asking the Council to consider the construction of such a pool, stating that it would add to the comfort of a large portion of the population.

After the project had been explained briefly by the East Ward alderman, it was referred to the committee of the whole for further study.

Ald. W. H. Bradley, chairman of the Protection Committee also presented a report on the recent convention of the Canadian Police Chiefs Association at Winnipeg which he attended with Police Chief Edouard Moreau.

Several routine committee reports were also adopted.

Tenders Exceed Budget For Bridge; Further Loan By-Law Must Be Voted

With the lowest combination of tenders for the construction of the proposed Jacques Cartier bridge across the Magog river exceeding the $950,000 voted in the loan by-law for this purpose, the City Council is today faced with the problem of raising the additional money required to finance the project.

In all, four tenders were received for the sub-structure of the bridge, which will link the north and west wards in the vicinity of Jacques Cartier Park, and four for the super-structure.

The lowest tender on the sub-structure was entered by Fabi et Fils, Ltee., of Sherbrooke, whose figure was $495,522.55, while Mackinnon Structural Steel Corporation, Sherbrooke, made the low quotation on the super-structure of $825,940. This made a combined total bid of $1,321,462.55, to which must be added the fees payable to the architects and engineers and the purchase of certain land under option for the approaches, bringing the estimated final cost to approximately $1,250,000, or about $200,000 above the amount provided in the loan by-law.

After debating the issue in committee for almost four hours, the aldermen finally decided that the only solution was to seek approval of a further loan by-law for $300,000 and notice of motion for such a by-law was given at the public meeting which opened at midnight.

The by-law itself may be given three readings at a special meeting to be held in a few days in order that the awarding of the contracts may be speeded up.

In addition to the bid of the Mackinnon Structural Steel, the following tenders were received for the super-structure: B. & H. Metal Industries, Montreal, $627,470; Lord and Co. Ltd., Montreal, $662,670, and Metallurgie Moderne, Ltd., Sherbrooke, $884,670.40.

For the sub-structure, comprising piers, abutments, etc., the following tenders in addition to Fabi et Fils: J. A. Verret, Ltee., Sherbrooke $537,890; Vincent and Freres, Sherbrooke $538,000; and the R. E. Stewart Construction Corporation, Ltd., Sherbrooke, $591,544.70.

This is the second time within the past year that the City Council has under-estimated the initial cost of civic projects. Following the destruction of the baseball stadium by fire last September, the Council submitted a by-law to the ratepayers for $100,000 to rebuild the structure. Later they had to submit a supplementary by-law for another $100,000 when the initial sum proved insufficient to meet the tender price.

Masons Of District Of St. Francis Elect James Corfield To High Post

Worshipful Brother James Corfield of Sherbrooke, was elected district Deputy Grand Master at North Hatley Saturday when the Masons of St. Francis District held their annual meeting at the town hall.

Other officers elected were as follows: Right Worshipful Brother G. W. Galbraith, of Drummondville, representative to permanent committee of the Grand Lodge of Quebec, re-elected; his son, D. H. Galbraith, of Sherbrooke, re-elected district secretary for his fourth term; Worshipful Brother Rev. George Harrington, of Richmond, elected district grand chaplain.

Approximately 100 Masons from the 15 lodges which make up the St. Francis district were present for the meeting. Guest speaker at the meeting was Most Worshipful Brother J. W. Buckland, of Montreal, Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Quebec.

Highlight of the address was his description of his trip to England for the installation of the Grand Master of the United Grand Lodge of England, Lord Derby. Mr. Buckland presented a masonic apron to Right Worshipful Brother A. S. Hall, of East Angus, in recognition of the latter's service as past district deputy Grand Master.

Mr. Hall gave a report of activities in the past year and Right Worshipful Brother Rev. George Robins, of East Angus, gave an inspiring address on Masonic work.

More than 200 persons attended the dinner and dance at the Pleasant View Hotel, Saturday night. On Sunday morning, a church parade was held from the Masonic hall in Magog to St. Luke's Church in the textile city where Brother Rev. John Comfort preached the sermon on a masonic theme.

The parade was a colorful affair of Knights-Templar and Royal Arch Masons and was preceded by bagpipers and bands.

Among those attending the weekend activities were: Right Worshipful Brother Dr. C. L. Roman, of Valleyfield, Deputy Grand Master of the Grand Lodge; Right Worshipful Brother K. W. Bryant, of St. Lambert, Grand Senior Warden; and Very Worshipful Brother F. Wright, of Montreal, Grand Director of Ceremonies.

Teacher Hurt At Boundary

Rock Island, Sept. 16.—D. McG. Hackett, a member of the teaching staff of Stanstead College, suffered bruises Saturday when he was knocked from his bicycle by a car on Main Street in Rock Island, in front of the Del Monty Hotel.

Mr. Hackett was treated by Dr. A. R. V. White and is at present confined to his home. He expects to be able to resume his teaching duties at the end of this week.

NATO'S RECORD WARNS REDS

The career of NATO has been beset by differences among the Western nations, by setbacks, downward revisions of goals, confusions and dire predictions of final failure.

But despite all, the organization was effectively put in being and latest reports indicate it is not far from achieving the reasonable goals set for it last winter at Lisbon.

U. S. officials at the Pentagon say the objective of 4000 combat-ready aircraft by Dec. 31 will be missed by only five or six per cent.

The aim of 50 land divisions, 25 fit for combat and 25 in reserve, will be "comfortably close" to fulfillment. By this Pentagon men mean the 25 combat-ready units will be fully manned and equipped and the 25 reserve units will be well on the way.

These figures are somewhat tentative. The complete and exact state of readiness achieved this year will not be known until NATO holds a meeting Dec. 15 to set fresh goals for 1953 and 1954.

Pentagon officers declare NATO commanders are happy both over the quality of their troops and the kind and amounts of their equipment. They stress it never was an Allied goal to match Russia and the Iron Curtain countries division for division.

The intention was and is to deter the Soviet Union from aggression by creating a force which, in combination with our atomic potential, would be of sufficient stature to convince the Reds that any invasion would be ruinous for them.

If the 1952 goals are even roughly approved, this constitutes substantial accomplishment. The record of 1952 should serve as a healthy guide to NATO planning for 1953 and beyond.

It should serve also to notify the Kremlin that the West, for all its intra-family differences, is capable of doing what it sets out to do. The story of NATO to date ought not to be lost on Moscow as a lesson of what would lie ahead if Russia and her compulsory friends dare to move aggressively.

THE SECRET OF GOOD GOVERNMENT

Seventeen years ago the Social Credit Party swept into power in Alberta under the leadership of a man who did not know the first thing about the problems of government, and who had no understanding whatsoever of the financial theories he preached.

He had a foggy notion that governments could produce all the money they needed with a fountain pen, and he promised the people that, if elected to power, he would pay every adult in the province a monthly dividend of twenty-five dollars in that kind of money.

When he got into power he began to learn some of the realities of life and the limitations of what governments can do.

He made no attempt to implement his promise of monthly dividends, but concentrated on giving the province the best administration of which he was capable.

He is dead now; but his party is still in power, and the recent election showed that their hold on the people is as strong today as ever it was.

What is the secret of this phenomenal record? What has the Government of Alberta got that inspires the implicit confidence of the people and that no other government has?

It has nothing but plain common sense, common honesty and devotion to duty. It has never yielded to the demands of any of the pressure groups that are the bane of modern democratic governments.

Since the collapse of its first vision of fountain pen money, it has never allowed itself to be misled by any quack remedies with which some politicians try to win favor with the public.

Fortune has favored it in the discovery of oil and gas in the province, the revenues from which have enabled it to practically wipe out the public debt.

But in all this flood of wealth the government has never lost its head, or allowed itself to drift into habits of extravagance. It has shown that it can stand prosperity as well as adversity.

The most encouraging lesson we can learn from the Alberta experience is that popular demands for quack remedies for our social ills are generally worked up by politicians who ought to know better, that if the politicians are honest with the people the people can be trusted to do what is best, and that the secret of good government lies in the ability of the people to select trustworthy and able citizens to rule over them.

CASES OF WHITE HOUSE BATHTUB REVEALS PRESIDENT IS "ALL WET"

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — President Truman's latest attack—the one he directed at the Saturday Evening Post—has now been fired back at him in a nice, polite and unintentional way.

The President took his swing at the Post because it had printed an article charging that the farmers had been given false information on grain storage in the 1948 campaign.

In his press conference, the President commented that he didn't read the Post very often because it was wrong on most things. Later he added insult to injury by saying it was always wrong.

It just happened that in the same week, the Post had an article by its Washington editor, Beverly Smith, on "The Curious Case of the President's Bathtub."

Smith got interested some months ago when the first bathtub was installed in the White House. He had a terrible time running down the answer. In the course of his research, he came across a remark President Truman had made on that subject four years ago.

It was in a press conference during which the President was defending his plan to build a balcony on the White House south portico. The same objections arose, the President said, when the first bathtub made its appearance. Why, they wanted to lynch Mrs. Fillmore, wife of the President, who sponsored that first bathtub.

That would have put the first bathtub in the White House around 1850. Smith ran that clue down and found it stemmed from a great fake H. L. Mencksen had put over on a dull day in World War I to spoof the public. Not a word of truth in it.

Smith never could find any reference to any one wanting to lynch Mrs. Fillmore. Instead, he found a voucher dated Jan. 1, 1814, for a $30 expense in installing one large tin tub painted green in the White House.

That would have been in James Madison's second term. And the first regular bath was installed by Old Hickory Andrew Jackson between 1829 and 1833.

Who's wrong now?
Ex-Gov. M. Q. Sharpe of South Dakota has been circulating around his state a story on his delegation's interview with General Eisenhower at Chicago after the convention.

South Dakota had gone for Tait in the primary and its delegation to Chicago wanted to find out how the general stood on some of the things they were most interested in. The conversation finally got around to rural electrification. How did the general stand on that?

"Well," Ike is quoted as saying, "I think the farmers should have lights."

Though both General Eisenhower and Governor Stevenson favor a change in Senate rules to limit filibusters, the prospects for getting anything done about it don't look too good in case the Democrats win the presidential election and control of the Senate.

The reason being given is that if the Democrats win, Vice President John Sparkman of Alabama would be presiding officer of the Senate. Sen. Richard Russell of Georgia would probably be majority floor leader, and Sen. Walter F. George of Georgia would probably be president pro-tempore of the Senate.

Senator George will be senior member, with 30 years of continuous service. He will succeed Sen. Kenneth McKellar of Tennessee, who had 35 years service, but was defeated in the recent Democratic primary.

The combination of George, Russell and Sparkman could effectively hamstring any change in Senate rules if they were of a mind to do so.

That worm's-eye-view photograph of Governor Stevenson, showing a hole worn in the sole of one shoe, probably won him a lot of votes from many common people similarly afflicted. With Governor Stevenson, however, this is not an act.

He is naturally very much old hat, old clothes and old shoes. There is nothing of the haberdashery salesman about his sartorial appearance.

There is a story around Springfield, Ill., that all the time he was governor, Stevenson never bought a new suit. His wardrobe finally got so disreputable that his sister, Mrs. Ernest Ives, told him he would have to get some new clothes.

Under pressure, Stevenson went to the store but couldn't find anything he liked. He came home without having bought even a new necktie. Desperate, Mrs. Ives went back to the store herself and bought a suit for him.

There's another story about those old shoes, too. A reporter who fancied himself something of a sharp dresser noted the shoes and commented, "That's a fine pair of shoes you have on there, governor."

"I'm glad you like them," said Stevenson, obviously pleased. "I bought them 14 years ago. Most comfortable shoes I ever had."

PRESS COMMENTS

MARK OF A CHRISTIAN

Lord Pakenham in London Spectator
I have often thought, I hope not heretically, that humility, even more than charity, is the distinguishing mark of the Christian. Charity, in the sense of benevolence, may spring from many sources. Humility is, in my experience, almost inseparable from a Christian conception of the relationship between God and man. For by humility I do not mean a neurotic self-contempt or self-distrust, though there are forms of Christian, as of non-Christian, neurosis. The Christian realizes, on the one hand, that he is worthless apart from God, but on the other, that, as a child of God, he is infinitely precious, and dear to his Father. He appreciates the tremendous responsibility for action cast on him by the gift of life.

RISK OF WAR

Wall Street Journal
Any foreign policy risks war; there is no such thing as peace at any price. But a crusade to remake in haste the world as we wish it, that invites war.

It was General Eisenhower himself who once wisely said: "The security establishment of our democracy must always remain representative of our way of life. It must not be a belligerent and noisy horde, screaming threats of destruction, disrupting world harmony."

To scream threats of fostered revolutions and unremitting strife is not the way of our democracy. And if it becomes our foreign policy it will embark us upon a most dangerous crusade.

'Doesn't Anybody Love Us, Daddy?'

LOVE FOR ALL MANKIND

Today the world is fraught with war;
Men ask, "What are we fighting for?"

The right to worship as we choose;
To fear no man, no deed, nor rise;
To speak the thoughts that free men think,
And from the cup of plenty drink.

We must have faith for all these things,
Courage to face what each day brings,
Strength to fight and power to win,
Yet far above the battle's din,
We must have love for all mankind,
For only as we bear in mind
That love in man must be unfurled,
Can peace be felt throughout the world.

Erosion May Soon Make Dust Bowl Of African Grassland

By L. M. WILD
Johannesburg, (Reuters) — The vast, rich veld grasslands of South Africa, left open to erosion by a combination of white men's greed and natives' ignorance, are ripe to become a "dust bowl" like the United States mid-west of the 30s.

The start of the erosion goes back to wars waged against African tribes at the turn of the century. British soldiers and Boers (white South Africans of mainly Dutch extraction) drove the tribes to the mountains and left the great plains to be divided among the white settlers.

On the heights, the natives with their primitive husbandry have devoured everything trying to get enough to eat.

In their tireless search for firewood, bands of girls and women have stripped and uprooted practically every tree in hundreds of miles of country covered with woods and forests not more than a hundred years ago.

In the catchments they have ripped up the spongy natural vegetation which collects water, and plowed up the "eyes" of most of South Africa's streams and rivers.

Goats and cattle cropped the grasses on even the sheerest slopes.

And in stripping the hillsides the natives also destroyed the watersheds that supplied the white man's fields.

In the lands below, windmills and pumps have multiplied during the years and always the drills must go deeper to find the sinking level of the country's underground water.

The rivers carry off an increasing tonnage of irreplaceable top soil and the biggest irrigation plans silt up in a few years.

On the great fertile plains of the Transvaal and Free State, the soil has been exhausted by continuous crop production and by overgrazing. Birds and animals which maintained the balance of nature have been exterminated.

END PLAY CAN BE PLAYED VERY EARLY

The end play usually takes place, as the name suggests, at the end of a hand. Sometimes, however, an "end" play may be staged very early. In today's hand, for example, my good friend, Abe Wechsler, produced an end play at the fourth trick.

West opened the king of clubs and then pondered mightily over his best contribution. After some thought, he correctly shifted to the six of hearts. Wechsler won with the king in his own hand and craftily led the ten of spades.

West uncautiously played low, and the ten of spades held the trick. Wechsler next led a low heart and finessed dummy's seven. East had to win the trick and was now end played. If East returned a club, South would discard diamond while dummy ruffed. If East returned either red suit, dummy would get a free finesse.

Instead, he must go up with the ace of spades at the third trick, he would have given declarer more trouble. His best return is a heart, and South must refuse the finesse. In fact, South must not finesse in either red suit.

Instead, he must go up with the ace of hearts and run all of his trumps. Declarer reduces to two diamonds and one heart in each hand. East must do likewise, and he is then thrown in with the queen of hearts for a normal end play at the eleventh trick.

Test New Process To Preserve Wood

Quebec. — Laval University scientists this autumn will begin anti-decay experiments on wood by applying modern engineering techniques to a century-old method.

They hope to find an economic way of applying creosote under pressure to lumber used in railway cross-ties, power line poles and wooden bridges. Creosote-treated wood resists the effects of humidity four or five times longer than untreated wood.

Creosote long has been known to protect wood from decay but until fairly recently the chemical was always applied like paint. Now there is a "pressure" process for which improvements are being sought by technicians at a new laboratory in Laval's school of land surveying and forest engineering.

Under this system, thoroughly-dried lumber is placed in an airtight cylinder filled with creosote. Pressure of more than 100 pounds per square inch is applied and the dark, oily liquid is forced into the wood. M. A. Bourget, director of the laboratory, said the process at present is too expensive for wide industrial use but experiments are continuing.

crease, and South Africa's bill for fertilizer and insecticides grows yearly. Crop yields wane.

Soil experts now warn that the limit of this destructive process is in sight. T. C. Robertson, general manager of the state-subsidized conservation organization says that South Africa, to save itself from famine, "has five years at the most because its soil no longer holds its moisture. . . and if you get even a small drought your crops will die."

The South African government has a three-phase plan for dealing with the situation. But there are big snags to it.

For one thing, agricultural officers supposed to spread the latest knowledge are desk-bound by mountains of administrative work caused by South Africa's complicated system of agricultural controls and subsidies.

There is also the task of getting the conservative, fiercely-independent, Boer farmer to co-operate. The Boers react violently to even a hint of compulsion—and in the end it is their votes which control the government.

The Record Short Story

LIGHT BEFORE THE DAWN

By LEORA WALTERS

A lean, gray-templed man with broad shoulders, and disposition as calm as those pine fringed lakes he loved to fish in, Doc Bannister was tired as he finished driving the two miles from the Valleyport hospital to his country home on Meadow Slope. It was past midnight, and he hoped he could get to bed without waking Laura, who wasn't a very good sleeper. Quiet as a thief, he turned on the light in the closet of the upstairs bedroom; and saw even that faint illumination kindle little fires in the bright, golden brown hair pillowed on the bed by the window, a window through which drifted the lazy breeze of the Summer night.

Laura stirred. Blue eyes opened. Drowsily, contentedly, she said, "Night prowlers in my boudoir again. Why didn't I marry a man who would stay home and protect me, instead of a doctor—so called?"

Doc smiled. "And why did I marry the world's worst waker-upper?" A gal that rises before daylight to brush and brush and brush her shining tresses—while I snore on?"

"Was the Eldridge boy badly hurt in his jalopy wreck, Doc?" He'll pull through easily enough. A broken arm, multiple bruises and the usual glass-splinter-picking job. His mother was beside herself, poor woman. Now, will you turn over and go to sleep, or must I beat you again, my little firefly?"

"I'd rather nag a while. Did you come directly home from the hospital, or did you call on some red-headed or blonde enchantress who—"

The telephone rang. Laura and Doc groaned in unison. It was Jim Fleming, Valleyport night marshal. Doc was needed at the hospital again. Old Mac Neill, druggist, had been stabbed; and robbed of the key to his store by a masked assailant who, the marshal guessed, might be either Link Caston or Rocky Greer, both of whom were drug addicts. The assailant hadn't plundered the drugstore, however. He had been scared away. Had probably hopped the local freight train passing through about that time.

Doc hung up, sighed, and said to Laura, "Poor old Mac. Well, here I go again."

"Dear old Mac," Laura repeated, "Tell him we both love him, Doc." The road to Valleyport again. Down Meadow Slope. Across the bridge spanning the brook. Uphill, through Oval Grove, the big gray car sweeping the road with fast moving headlights. . . . The little white hospital at the edge of town.

The elderly druggist, victim of knife wounds, had lost considerable blood. To the doctor working over him he said, "That's a hophead for you, Doc. Carving me up instead of simply conking me over the head with a club and taking my store key."

"Any ideas, Mac?" Doc asked. "Rocky Greer, I think. Could have been Link Caston. It was pretty dark and things were happening fast."

"When are those two morons going to be put where they belong, and kept there, I hope?" It was well after four a.m. when Doc weary but just a little proud of the job he had done on old Mac, headed for home under the light of a late risen slice of moon. He wasn't driving fast as he rounded a bend of the road leading through Oval Grove, a bend from which he could see his hillside home on the opposite slope of the narrow valley. If he had been speeding as he had en route to town, he would have crashed into a barrier of small trees blocking the thoroughfare.

He slammed on the brakes and stopped a few feet short of it. A tall shadow moved from behind a growing tree and jerked the driver's door open. Doc's hands tightened on the wheel as he said with remarkable casualness, "So, you're the busy little beaver who's been felling trees and damming the road with them, Mr. Caston? While I've been in town patching Mac Neill up? Or have you and your pal Greer, heard about Mac's misfortune?"

"We've heard about it—yeah," Link Caston said. "Get out of your car, Doc. I've got to borrow it for a while. Leave your little black case in it, though."

Coal Strike Is Expected Next Week

Washington, Sept. 16. — (P) — John L. Lewis today appeared to be shaping up an early strike of about 300,000 eastern soft-coal miners in a divide-and-conquer strategy against coal producers.

But the United Mine Workers chief said a walkout isn't likely to produce a national emergency among coal users.

Breaking his silence on a month of private negotiations, Lewis said yesterday he has reached a "most disturbing" impasse with northern soft-coal operators, with only four more days to go before their present contract expires Saturday.

Similarly, Lewis said, "no conclusions" have been reached in frequent talks with southern soft-coal producers, whose contract expires Sept. 30.

Lewis plainly implied both groups of miners would be shut down as their contracts run out. Traditionally, the miners work without a contract. Together, the two groups turn out about 70 per cent of the United States coal — or 7,000,000 tons a week. About 200,000 miners work in the northern group, 100,000 in the southern.

Contrasting with the picture the mine chief stressed that western and midwestern soft-coal mines which are not members of the (northern) bituminous coal operators' association "will be permitted to work."

Also, Lewis reported, he expects to reach an agreement this week with the Pennsylvania anthracite (hard-coal) industry, whose contract also expires Sept. 30.

His plan is for both these groups, which he said employ about 40,000, to continue producing. They would operate whatever terms are negotiated later with the bigger northern and southern soft-coal associations.

Lewis said the present coal stockpile plus production in the western and hard-coal mines would "preclude any possible national emergency." The stockpile alone would supply normal needs for 85 days.

The mine chief apparently had an eye cast to skirting the Taft-Hartley law, which permits the government to court orders against a strike that creates a national emergency.

Lewis talked to reporters after meeting behind closed doors with union district presidents and then with his 300-man policy committee another brief session of the policy committee — plus talks with hard-coal operators — were scheduled today.

Lewis is reported asking a boost from $16.35 to about $18 in the standard basic daily pay for miners, an increase in the employer's contribution to the miners' pension fund, and perhaps a reduction from an eight-hour day to seven.

London, Sept. 16. — (Reuters) — Vesta Till, music hall idol here and in the United States during the great years of British vaudeville, died today at her home at the age of 88.

Her career as a top-hatted singer began when her father saw her "performing before a mirror in his hat and overcoat. At 10 she made her first public appearance in London playing three halls a night. Her last music hall show here was in 1920.

Some of her best known songs were "Following in Father's Footsteps," "Jolly Good Luck To The Girl Who Loves A Soldier" and "Burlington Bertie."

Some of Vesta's hits were composed by her husband, Sir Walter de Frece. He died in 1935 after they had been married 45 years.

Lions Club Hears Talk About Horses

Members of the Sherbrooke Lions Club last night were told the story of horses, and were given several valuable tips on what to watch for at horse shows and barns.

R. S. Bowker, business office supervisor of the Bell Telephone Company in Sherbrooke, was the guest speaker and his novel and interesting address covered the history of horses from the earliest period of which we have records to the present day.

Some of the points that Mr. Bowker brought up were that horses were domesticated for the first time in about 2,000 B. C., and that they became extinct in America at about the same time for a reason never accurately determined.

They returned to the North American continent in comparatively recent years.

Asian tribesmen were the first to use them for fighting purposes, for carrying their slings and other implements of war. Later, however, human labor was used instead and from this the coolie system, still in existence, came into being.

The only really wild horse in existence today, Mr. Bowker said, is a Mongolian beast, known as the Piegvalsky. In appearance, this horse resembles a dog more than the horse that we know and today it can be seen only in zoos.

Mr. Bowker then told the Lions what to watch for at a horse show, explaining the various terms and the points used by a judge in deciding the winners of the different classes.

He told, too, about harness racing, which, he said is today a sport enjoyed by more people than ever before, and more by horse lovers.

Introduced by Ossie Goyette, Mr. Bowker was thanked by Al-beric Julien.

SWEETSBURG
Master John Sharp and Miss Sonja Sharp have returned home from Bristol, N.H., where they spent several weeks at "Red Fox Lodge."

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Patten were in Montreal to attend the Patten-Griggs wedding. They accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Earl Patten and Mrs. Eliza Patten, to Brome, to Montreal, who also attended the wedding.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Beaudoin and Colette and Bernard spent a day at Audville with Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Hurlbut.

Miss Helen Patten has returned to work at the B.M.P.M. Hospital, after a month's leave of absence.

Miss Lillian Peron has been assisting Mrs. Harry Strang.

Mrs. Thomas Simpson and Miss Pearl Barber accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Freeman Ashton, of Springfield, Mass., on a motor trip to Oshawa, Toronto, St. Catharines and Niagara Falls, Ont., during the Labor Day week-end.

GREENSHIELDS' MARKET REVIEW

The market drifted into lower territory in moderate trading yesterday. Among wider losers, International Petroleum was off 1-1/2 at 27, Howard Smith and Imperial Oil at 18 and 32-1/2 respectively.

Among gainers Aluminum was up 1/2 at 103 and Industrial Acceptance 3/8 at 25-5/8.

Canadian purchases of outstanding securities from other countries exceeded sales in the first six months. At $5,800,000 the purchase balance compared with a sales balance of $57,100,000 in the first half of 1951.

It is reported that the U. S. National Production Authority is trying to obtain larger shipments of Canadian aluminum in the coming months to make up for the cuts in domestic production resulting from power shortages in the Pacific Northwest.

The new president of the Elk Falls Company at Duncan Bay, B. C., started production yesterday.

The Canadian railways, which had previously applied for a 16 per cent increase in freight rates, have given notice to the Board of Transport Commissioners that they will ask for a further 1 per cent increase, to yield an additional $5,000,000 gross and refining Ltd. reported net profit for the six months ended June 30, 1952 of $541,695 as compared with a loss of $98,337 in the corresponding period of 1951.

London, Sept. 16. — (The Times, in its leading editorial today, says of Canada's 27th Infantry Brigade in Germany: "The Canadians, who arrived virtually untrained barely a year ago, are known to have attained a high standard of individual training."

The reference occurred in an editorial on current allied training exercises, principally exercise "hold fast" in which, the Times said, the Canadians "will have an opportunity of showing their mettle in really large-scale movements under active-service conditions."

Exercise "hold fast" land and air counterpart of the naval exercise "mainbrace," started last night.

Sheffield, England, Sept. 16. — (Reuters) — X-ray photographs show that babies suck their thumbs even before they are born. Prof. R. S. Illingworth of Sheffield University wrote recently in the British Medical Association's magazine "Family Doctor." He said the habit is harmless.

air battles near the anchurian border Monday.

Red casualties for the week ended Sunday were announced as 3,743, the highest figure since January. South Korean troops fighting around Capitol Hill and Finger Ridge in the central sector accounted for more than one-half of the toll, the United States Eighth Army said.

IN MEMORIAM
WILSON — In loving memory of our dear son and brother, George Short Wilson, who left us so suddenly ten years ago, Sept. 16, 1942.

We long to hear your voice is still; To feel the clasp of your welcome hand.

Is a wish we cannot fulfill. We do not show we are lonesome, A smile hides many a tear, But a whispered prayer when we need you most.

Seems to bring you near. Deeply loved and sadly missed by MUM AND DAD; JOY AND HUGH; BUD AND FREDDIE.

CARDS OF THANKS
I wish to express my sincere thanks to all my friends who so kindly remembered me with cards, gifts and flowers, and to all who visited me during my stay in the Sherbrooke Hospital. I stay especially to thank Dr. Ed. Hume, Dr. Marcus, and all the nurses on the second floor, for all their kindness to me.

MRS. ETTA LINDSAY, Lennoxville, Que.

We wish to express our sincere thanks and deep appreciation to all our neighbours, relatives, and friends who were so kind to our dear husband and father during his long illness and at the time of his death and burial. Especially do we want to thank the Rev. Canon Russell Brown, the choir, bearers, those who loaned cars, sent food, flowers, cards and telegrams, and those who assisted in any way during our bereavement. Thanking you all for your kindness.

MRS. NORRIS MCGEE, MR. & MRS. DONALD MCGEE, sons; MR. & MRS. WINSTON BILLINGS, daughter; and grandson PETER.

We wish to take this opportunity to express our sincere thanks and deep appreciation to all our friends, neighbours and relatives who shared in

The Doctor Says

PENICILLIN OR SULFA DRUGS
GIVE BEST RESULTS IN SCARLET FEVER

By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

One of the serious childhood contagious diseases is scarlet fever. In recent years, it has seemed to be on the downswing; that is, there have not been as many cases of the disease as there were in the past, and it has also been comparatively mild, but is still a serious condition.

In 1942, for example, there were over 125,000 cases of the disease reported in the United States, and 425 deaths from this cause.

The germ which causes scarlet fever is a streptococcus. Scarlet fever is contagious; that is, it is spread from one person to another, especially during the early part of the disease. It attacks at any age, but is most common in children and partly for this reason is most frequent during the school year.

The disease develops from one to seven days after exposure. Generally, the symptoms come on suddenly with chills, sensations of real chills. Vomiting is common. Headache is also often present.

The fever develops rapidly and rises quickly to 104 or 105. The throat is usually sore, the tongue coated and a cough may be present.

Prevent Complications

Many doctors recommend active

immunization, that is, the use of injections of scarlet fever toxin

aimed at building up a resistance.

This is probably particularly desirable for nurses or others who are especially likely to be exposed.

The treatment is aimed at the relief of symptoms, the shortening

of the disease and the prevention of complications.

Among the complications are

CURRIER

The School Fair was held in the Community Hall, on Saturday, August 30. Over fifty people were present, and a fine lot of exhibits were shown. All kinds of races were run by the children. Soft drinks and chocolate bars were furnished everyone. Lunch was served by the ladies of the Women's Institute.

Mrs. A. Hofacker and two children and Mrs. F. Graham and two children, of Portland, Me., spent the past week with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Stone. Their husbands were guests at the same home over the week-end. Miss I. Stone returned to Portland, Me., with them, where she will spend a month.

Mrs. Sutherland, of Drummondville, is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. L. G. Taylor, and Mr. Taylor.

Mayor H. P. Bryant attended the County Council meeting, at Ayer's Cliff.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Wilson, of Westmount, were callers at "Bonnie View Farm."

MASSAWIPPI

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. Galen Young and family were his sister, Mrs. Walter Mott and young son, of Central Cambridge, N.B.

The Misses Beverley and Barbara Blanchette have returned to their home in Richmond, after spending the summer with their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Armstrong.

Week-end guests at the Taylor home were Mrs. Charles Taylor, of Richmond, and Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Taylor, of Montreal.

Ten guests of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Shipway were Mr. and Mrs. F. J. Shipway and Mrs. M. A. Eves of Stanstead, also Mr. and Mrs. R. Bean and Bobby, of Beebe, Vt.

Mrs. Allan Mattison and family, of Lennoxville, spent last week with her father, Mr. E. T. Ham.

Bright's disease, or nephritis, swollen glands, arthritis, bronchitis or bronchopneumonia, and infections of the ear.

Antitoxins or serums obtained from convalescent patients have been used with good results, but today penicillin or one of the sulfa seem to give the best results.

One attack of scarlet fever usually gives immunity for life, though second and even third attacks have been reported.

Coaticook Men's Club Resumes Activities Following Summer Recess

Coaticook, Sept. 16.—The opening meeting of the Men's Club of the Anglican Church following a summer recess was held on Thursday, President Percy Bishop was in charge of the business meeting. Among the various items of business was the decision to hold the club's annual turkey supper on Thursday, October 23. The men have gained a reputation for providing a real tasty supper at a reasonable price, and in years past have had to provide for second settings at their annual money-raising suppers. It is expected that this year's event will surpass all previous efforts.

The matter of social members was brought up. The secretary, Mr. S. A. Meade, pointed out that any man or boy might join the club by paying the usual annual fee and become a social member entitled to all the benefits of the club. It was mentioned that men from other churches might care to enjoy the social evenings of the club, especially the bowling privileges. The men will be glad to welcome any who care to join.

A donation of $45 was made to the Ladies' Guild towards the expense of heating the hall.

After the business meeting the members enjoyed a social hour and a period of carpet bowling. The Anglican Men's Club is the oldest continually functioning group of its kind in the Quebec diocese. The next regular meeting will be held on Thursday, September 25.

LEGION MEETING

The regular monthly meeting of the Canadian Legion, Branch 26, was held on Monday night of last week at the Legion Home. President Roger Jean-Marie was in charge.

A report from the secretary, Murray Woodman, confirmed that the net proceeds from the recent indoor fair and dance were nearly $1,000.

The next major event planned by the Legion is their annual reunion banquet and Memorial Day parade and poppy drive. Mr. Albert Sage is chairman of the poppy campaign. Mr. Hubert Rousseau is in charge of the Remembrance Day program.

POLICE BENEFIT

Plans are under way for the annual police and fire department benefit night to be staged shortly. Police Chief Gerard Groleau announces that the proceeds from the evening will be used to provide Christmas cheer for the needy folk of the town.

Merchants will be asked to donate items to be used for door prizes and awards for various events of the evening.

It is hoped that the townfolk will generously support this worthwhile cause sponsored by these loyal departments of the town administration.

FILM COUNCIL

Mr. Wilfrid Garceau, head of the local Film Council, states that all arrangements have been made to provide the various organizations of the town with a fine program this coming season.

New films have been procured for the library and the council welcomes any interested groups to join the already large number of local clubs who are enjoying the use of these films. At present 31 groups are benefitting from the enjoyable programs supplied by the council.

General Notes

Master Robert Beerworth, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Beerworth, celebrated his tenth birthday on Thursday.

Dr. Rupert Pyne, Mrs. Pyne and two children have been spending a few days with Mrs. M. Pyne.

Man Ends Lifelong CONSTIPATION

Orillia, Ontario. "I came from England 4 years ago. Up to then I was constantly troubled with constipation. Then I began eating Kellogg's ALL-BRAN every day and ever since I've enjoyed regularity." Mr. Percy E. Gray, 10 Olive Crescent.

If you suffer from irregularity due to lack of diet bulk, see what Kellogg's ALL-BRAN can do for you. How effective—delicious it is! Enjoy ½ cup ALL-BRAN daily; drink plenty of liquids. If not satisfied after 10 days, send empty carton to Kellogg's, London, Ont. DOUBLE YOUR MONEY BACK!

Mr. Sylvio Boulay, of Sherbrooke, is visiting with relatives in town.

Mr. A. C. Jenks is away on a business trip in the Laurentians. Mr. Murray Woodman, of the Canadian Customs staff, had the misfortune to receive a painfully sprained ankle this past week and

Windsor Mills W. I. Enjoyed Talk On Labrador

Windsor Mills, September 16.—"Strange how simple life in barrenness and solitude can teach one so much in hospitality."

Thus Mrs. H. Moret, of Upper Melbourne, expressed herself on Wednesday evening, at the September meeting of the Windsor Mills Women's Institute meeting held at the residence of Mrs. Clifford Robinson, where she was the guest speaker.

Mrs. Moret, who has spent five years in Newfoundland's coastal Labrador in company of her husband, Dr. Moret, in charge of the Battle Harbour Hospital, a Dr. Grenfell Institute, a decade ago, spoke vehemently of this land which is now our tenth province.

Mrs. J. C. Watson, convener of Education, and a member of the Q.W.I. county executive, introduced the speaker who went on to describe, in the most interesting fashion, the primitive days of Labradorians, when in 1897, Sir Wilfred Grenfell, sailing from London, found only a handful of deep-sea fishermen settled along the coast. Returning to England, Dr. Grenfell brought back with him more settlers, essentials of life, and nurses followed to establish a first medical centre on the coastline.

"Population increased, and soon fishermen's huts grew in the coves until, in the early 1940's, with the Hudson Bay trading posts, industrial centers, modern hospitals, its fishermen, hunters and traders live in relative prosperity."

"In 1935, life was still a hard struggle at Battle Harbour," said Mrs. Moret, "one had to eke out an existence from fishing or game trapping and precious vegetable seeds sent north by friends grew only under great difficulties, still," declared Mrs. Moret, "we lived happy and contented in barrenness and solitude. Brave people they are, those Labradorians, and what wonderful patients they are in hospital, accepting sickness and disease in a cold, matter of fact way, which could teach lesson to many of us."

"Having no contact then with the outside world from the last outgoing steamer in October, till late spring, those kindhearted gentle people taught me much on hospitality. They are wonderfully cheerful, self-reliant, and always ready to open their door with the greeting, 'Come in, welcome to the best we can offer.'"

Often times, upon a 150 mile journey north by dog teams, visiting coves strewn along the coastline dispensing medical supplies the Dr. and Mrs. Moret would put up for the night with their driver and their ten dogs at a hut, after a hearty welcome, good hot tea and home-made bread, only to learn long afterwards that their hosts had probably given them their last supplies.

"Present day conditions of living, in coastal Labrador are much better however. The Goose Bay Airport and the new T.B. Hospital, which the Government has subsidized mark essential progress."

"However, there was satisfaction in measuring up with the situation a decade or so ago," said Mrs. Moret, "and I am ready to affirm that those gentle people up north taught me much in hospitality and self reliance."

The president, Mrs. James Allan, thanked the speaker, and presented her with a box of floral vogue stationery.

Delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses and the two co-hostesses, Mrs. M. Dubuc and Mrs. F. Hess.

During the short business meeting Mrs. Yves Alain, the secretary, read an acknowledgment from the Dominion Textile Company, of the key to the wardrobe trunk of garments, so graciously lent by the Company to the Windsor Institute for its August fashion parade, which netted a profit of $18.90.

FIRST RESERVE

The first United States forest reserve, the Yellowstone park timberland reserve, was created by President Harrison on Sept. 16, 1891. Land included within this reserve now forms part of several national forests in Montana, Idaho, and Wyoming, adjacent to the Yellowstone National Park.

Annual Boundary Rotary Fair Will Start Thursday

First Boundary Rotary Fair Was Held In 1945, Patterned After Sherbrooke

Back in 1945, Claude Willard and Roland Roy decided that what the Rotary Club of the Boundary needed was a Rotary Fair, patterned after the Rotary Fair at Sherbrooke that had been so successful.

When the club gave the go-ahead sign, the work started, and with Claude Willard as chairman plans were underway to get the first fair off to a grand start. The Sherbrooke Rotarians were called on for help, and as always they came through with plenty of good practical advice, and even came up to the first fair and showed the booth chairmen how to keep things moving.

Paintings of Maritimes Draw Favorable Word

Y.-k. England. — Stanley Royle, the Sheffield landscape painter and former director of fine arts, drawing and painting at Mount Allison University, Sackville, N. B., has received acclaim in his home country.

Members of eight Yorkshire art clubs, who attended an exhibition of paintings and drawings here, said, after viewing his paintings:

"There should be a gallery in London devoted specifically to landscapes of Commonwealth countries."

Royle's works such as "Fishing Village of Port, N. S." and "Evening Light, Prospect" are outstanding examples of traditional painting. He received a silver medal at a prominent Paris salon for them.

A judge at Scarborough said Mr. Royle's work has a special gift of the "bold management of large canvasses" despite the fact that most artists are seen at their best in small scale.

chairman in 1946-47 and 48, and was president of the fair for the year 1947-48. Under his leadership and with a great deal of the work being done by him, wheels were made, layouts planned, and the fair placed in a form that made it a lot easier than it was the first year. Without the hard work put into the fair by Claude Willard it would not have been so successful and might well have stopped within a year or two.

In 1949-50 and in '51, Elwin Chadsey was chairman of the fair, and in spite of the difficulty of operating a business in Ayer's Cliff and still looking after the fair, followed in the paths already established, and the fair continued to prosper.

For the 1952 fair, the eighth annual, Maurice Moore is chairman. President of the Rotary Club of the Boundary in 1949-50, Maurice took over the job early this year, and since that time has been busy engaged in making plans so that the fair would operate as smoothly as possible.

The emphasis this year is on prizes of high quality and attractiveness, and it has required many hours of hard work to locate and secure the variety and quantity that is needed. The results of all this labor will be seen at the Rock Island Armory when the fair opens, and we believe you will agree that it was a hard job very well done.

The slogan of the fair, "Fun for all — all for charity," was originated by Earl Heath, who has handled the advertising and publicity since the first fair in 1945. The slogan has a real meaning throughout the Boundary Communities, and this year there will be more fun than ever. With your patronage, the amount available for charity can likewise be increased.

Colleges Report Enrolments Fewer For 1952 Classes

By THE CANADIAN PRESS
Students at most Canadian universities will have more working room this fall than in recent years. Many veterans graduated in June and with fewer registrations for classes it is expected living accommodation will be easier to obtain.

With the exception of the University of Western Ontario, most large Canadian colleges report drops of from three to four per cent in registrations from last year, a Canadian Press survey shows. The University of Toronto dropped 500 from last year's enrolment of 12,500.

Similar percentage drops are reported at McGill University in Montreal, and the Universities of British Columbia, Alberta, Saskatchewan and New Brunswick.

The University of Manitoba reports a drop of five to seven per cent. The lower birth rate of the 30s is held responsible for decreased enrolment at the University of Alberta.

But interest in higher education is still high. The University of Western Ontario at London expects registrations to jump slightly as applications from high school students are heavier than in 1951.

Bigger-than-last-year enrolments are reported from most Nova Scotia colleges and Mount Allison University in New Brunswick. The Calgary branch of the University of Alberta expects boosted enrolment over low 1951 figures.

Students are expected to find shelter easier to get but in many centres the problem is still a real headache. Married students in Montreal and Toronto are having difficulty.

Edmonton is building new residences and Newfoundland Memorial University at St. John's is planning new accommodation.

In the west, arts and science courses are most popular while at Montreal engineering and medicine get the biggest nod. Medical and dental faculties at Montreal, Toronto and other points are over-run with applications months in advance and many would-be doctors are turned away.

Special courses reflect the country where the university is situated, with students often travelling long distances to get the training they want.

Vancouver draws students from the east with its courses on lumbering and commercial fishing. The University of Toronto has introduced an extension course on forest conservation, a pressing problem in Ontario.

At Carleton College in Ottawa, a graduate course in public administration—reflecting the interests of Ottawa's 28,000 civil servants—is being offered this year. And the University of New Brunswick's forestry course is still drawing students country-wide.

The University of Montreal has dropped Greek as a compulsory subject for a B.A. degree and nearby McGill University has introduced a study of Islam. Carleton College is reworking its curriculum to intensify study in specialized fields.

The University of New Brunswick's new business administration course is gaining wide attention in the Maritimes. Great interest in this field is also being shown at Windsor's Assumption College and London's University of Western Ontario.

Canadian universities this year will still attract a good number of students from overseas lands. Vancouver and Toronto report many students enrolling from countries outside Canada and the United States.

Youthful Explorers Plan B.C. Expedition

London. — Preliminary plans already are being laid for next year's expedition to British Columbia by some 70 young members of the British schools exploring society.

Since 1932, hundreds of British boys between 15 and 18 have taken part in such scientific "dream trips," organized by the society.

It is estimated the Canadian undertaking will cost about £15,000, of which more than £5,000 will be set aside to meet the expenses of boys selected but unable to meet the outlay of £150 for each member of the expedition. A campaign to raise the required funds now is in progress.

This year the society sponsored an expedition to Iceland, which claims its Viking adventurer, Lief Ericson, discovered North America about 400 years before Christopher Columbus was born.

The society's party of 74 youngsters, was led by Capt. J. A. Taplin, assistant leader on the first post-war expedition to Newfoundland in 1947.

During explorations of Iceland's rugged interior, the budding scientists tramped over miles of jagged lava fields, visited inactive and smouldering volcanoes, and saw giant geysers in action.

From base camps, miles from settlement and inaccessible to vehicles, many of the boys who have been studying special subjects in school, were conducted on surveys featuring meteorology, animal and plant life as well as filming of glacial formations and mineral deposits.

For the most part, the youthful explorers roughed it on their own. The party, however, was supervised by experienced men, qualified to cope with any emergency. Among them were officers of Britain's armed forces, doctors and technicians.

In some instances maps and data brought back from previous expeditions have served as the basis of official cartography of territory hitherto uncharted.

Underground Steam Sought As Source Of Electric Power

By R. A. KENNER
Auckland, New Zealand. — New Zealand is pushing round-the-clock drilling tests in an intensified effort to find out whether she can develop enough electricity from underground steam sources to make up for the shortage of hydro-electric power.

Experts believe that the limit of hydro-electric capacity from North Island plants will be reached between 1960 and 1970, depending on the rate of increase of load and the speed at which power sources other than water can be developed.

At that stage, the installed generating kilowatt capacity of the North Island system would be approximately 1,500,000. After that, the probable hydro-electric developments might be not more than about 250,000 kilowatt in 10 or 12 stations.

As a consequence, every effort is being made to step up the drilling operations at Wairakei, in the centre of North Island, where the tests on the power possibilities of the island's underground natural steam deposits are being made.

Several hundred tons of new drilling equipment have arrived at Auckland from the United States and a drilling rig for use at Wairakei has been sent south in a 20-ton trailer.

More drills, and bigger ones, are to come. Engineers are seeking enough steam for an experimental 20,000 kilowatt generating plant which the state proposes to build at a probable cost of $2,240,000.

All members of parliament joined readily in passing the geothermal steam bill which vests in the crown the sole right to generate electric power from geothermal steam unless a license is issued to a private applicant by the government.

W. Stanley Goosman, minister in charge of the hydro-electric department, said in parliament that a much bigger field can be exploited at Wairakei than at Larderello, in southern Italy; and Larderello is now producing 315,000 kilowatts.

Three weeks after round-the-clock drilling began at Wairakei, a six-inch geothermal bore, the first of a number which will drive the 20,000 kilowatts pilot experimental plant, was opened at Wairakei.

The new development bore—the 14th to be sunk at Wairakei—has a depth of 607 feet, and the latest report is that a second bore in the accelerated development scheme is more than 200 feet deep.

Present plans are to drill bores of 500 feet to 1,000 feet to a known horizon of steam.

The next two bores will be spaced up the thermal valley at intervals of about 1,000 feet, which appears to be the distance which will separate the development bores as a whole.

Fun For All, All For Charity, Is Slogan Of Rotary Fair

Prizes Have Been Increased For Three-Day Boundary Rotary Club Fair That Will Start On Thursday

"The emphasis is on prizes this year at the Eighth Annual Boundary Rotary Fair at the Rock Island Armory, Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, Sept. 18, 19 and 20," says Rene Monty, president of the Rotary Club of the Boundary.

"Each year the requests for donations and help seem to increase, and we like to be able to respond to as many of them as possible. The only way we can do this is from the money raised at the annual fair."

"We would like to increase the amount raised and we believe the only way to do it is to increase the quantity and quality of the prizes. You will see a much larger variety of winable prizes at every booth, and they will be the kind of prizes that you will certainly want to bring home. We believe that you are going to be very pleasantly surprised when you take a look at the Fair on opening night."

"The slogan of 'Fun for All—All for Charity' has real meaning not only for the members of the Rotary Club but for you as well. We keep our expenses down to as small an amount as possible, and return a good share of the money received in prizes; the balance is returned as it is needed for local charities, donations, and help."

"It is up to you how much we make on the fair. We have the best fair yet, we honestly believe, and we hope you will agree with us and prove by your patronage that you believe in the idea of lots and lots of extra fine prizes."

"The people of the Boundary District have backed us in our previous seven fairs. We ask their support again this year."

Ottawa Actress Happy To Return To Europe

By HAROLD SIEVE

Paris. — Ottawa-born Suzanne Cloutier is glad to be back in Europe after four idle months in Hollywood. She returned to Paris recently and already has a choice of three possible jobs.

"I'm trying to make up my mind whether to make a movie in France, a movie in Italy, or appear on the Paris stage," she said in an interview.

Daughter of Queen's printer Edmond Cloutier of Ottawa, she first hit the headlines with her portrayal of Desdemona in Orson Wells' "Othello," joint winner of the 1951 Cannes international film festival.

Then came "Derby Day," an English picture in which she co-starred with Michael Wilding, followed by a Hollywood contract requiring her to spend four months a year on the Paramount lot.

She went to Hollywood, was lined up to star opposite Alan Ladd in "Persian Gulf" when things went wrong. Ladd couldn't be obtained, and there were script difficulties.

"And I found myself without anything to do," said Miss Cloutier, a green-eyed brunette.

But though she's disappointed because she did no movie-making while in Hollywood, she said her tie-up with Paramount is "an ideal situation" because it allows her eight months free-lancing a year. She claims it will keep her from "becoming too typed and too Hollywood."

"Most European actresses are disappointed in Hollywood if they spend too much time there," she explained. "They do not fit into any stock pattern. They haven't the Hollywood kind of personality."

Early next year she'll return to Hollywood for another 16 weeks.

Miss Cloutier was educated in a French convent and learned no English until she was 18. Before playing Desdemona, she spent hours every day perfecting her English with a teacher "who ruthlessly corrected every mistake."

She spoke proudly of the advantages of being a Canadian abroad. "You feel you belong everywhere," she said.

"The British feel you are one of them. The French have a kinship with the French-Canadians. The Americans accept you, since you belong to the new world, and the Italians seem to have developed a fondness for Canadians during the war."

games and booths at the Eighth Annual Boundary Rotary Fair, and there will be some new offerings as well. Chairman Maurice Moore promises that everyone who visits the Rock Island Armory during the Fair will see lots of items they will want to take home and games that they will want to play. It would be telling secrets to mention much about the new offerings, but the old favorites will be there, furnished with the largest assortment of "super-duper" prizes you ever saw.

For instance, that old "corny" game will have a display that should make your grains itch to get hold of many of the items. With Romeo Rodriguez again announcing the numbers, and with C. R. McLean and C. R. Derby again in charge, this game should prove to be even more popular than in the past. Prizes for one win are really grand; prizes for two wins will be good enough to keep you playing and wait until you see the three-win items! There will certainly be a large number of people sitting down and playing steadily the whole three evenings.

The Chancery booth, the one with the big wheel, with a winner every time the wheel spins, will have an assortment of items that will certainly keep the girls busy selling tickets. Prizes that you could hardly buy for $20 to $25 each will be there, and somebody will have their choice of any of the items several times each evening.

E. J. Struthers will again handle the booth, and you will see blankets, auto-ropes, sets of china, and lots and lots of prizes that you cannot resist. If you win, you will have something to take home that will really make you happy, and somebody wins every game.

There will be booths for hams and chickens, groceries and fruit, genuine English bone china, and even the chance to win some cash. There will be a large number of happy people strolling around the Rock Island Armory, Thursday, Friday and Saturday evenings, September 18, 19 and 20, with prizes. You may be one of the lucky ones. Even if you are not too lucky, remember it's "Fun for All—All for Charity," and you will certainly have a lot of fun.

Married Schoolma'ams Demand Pay Equality, South Africa Problem

By BERNARD DUFRESNE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Johannesburg. — Married women teachers in Transvaal province are preparing to walk out of their jobs if the provincial education authorities do not accede to their demand for "equal pay for equal work."

There are about 2,200 married women teachers in the Transvaal, all employed on a temporary basis. Many have decided on mass resignations unless they are granted the same salaries and working conditions as members of the permanent staff.

A walk-out would paralyze many schools which rely largely on temporary women teachers to maintain their staffs. The strike is planned for Sept. 10 unless the Transvaal education department indicates it is prepared to negotiate.

Women teachers, when they marry, must resign their positions on the permanent staff. They may then be employed on a temporary, 24-hour basis, but for less pay—nine-tenths of the salary of permanent teachers.

This is reported to mean an average salary discrimination of £30 a year against married women teachers under 1947 salary scales, and as much as £160 a year under present-day scales.

The association is receiving strong support from several organizations, including the national council of women, Transvaal labor party, teachers' organizations and parent bodies.

While all married women teachers are united in the demand that there should be no salary discrimination, not all of them are in favor of such drastic action as a walk-out to give effect to their demand.

The married women teachers' association's membership is 50 per cent English-speaking and 50 per cent Afrikaans-speaking, but while nearly all English-speaking married women teachers belong to the association, many Afrikaans-speaking married women teachers are members of the Transvaal Onderwysersvereniging, whose members are mainly Afrikaans permanent teachers.

Married women members of this Afrikaans body have decided definitely not to join the walk-out although they too are pressing for higher wages.

Dr. Theo Vassenaar, member of the Transvaal's executive committee which administers affairs on behalf of the provincial council, says that if the teachers carry out their threat of mass resignations, steps will be taken to fill their places. He says that the shortage of teachers is most serious in English medium schools which would suffer most if the threat is carried out.

"Volunteer" Grain Part Of Big Yield

Regina. — Prairie farmers with possibly the greatest harvest in history on their land will also reap "volunteer" crops of wheat and coarse grains which may run into hundreds of thousands of bushels.

The "volunteer" crops are the result of the wet harvest season last year, when thousands of bushels of grain had to be left on the ground. Much of this grain sprouted and in many cases has developed into a crop as good as any seeded by the farmer.

There is always some "volunteer" growth on western farms but few farmers can remember anything to compare with this year's proportions.

One Saskatchewan farmer said he had seen nothing like it in 50 years of farming. He has 125 acres of "volunteer" wheat, which he estimates will yield 12 to 15 bushels an acre.

Another Saskatchewan farmer has 175 acres of "volunteer" wheat and expects to get 20 bushels an acre. On a third farm there are 17 acres of volunteer oats, expected to yield 30 bushels an acre.

Most of the farmers had no intention of seeding the patches this year. But the grain left on the ground seeded itself, and now they are preparing to reap the greatest "volunteer crop" ever seen.

Western Traveler Gives Stuff Away

Prince Albert, Sask. — F. W. (Chick) Terry of Goldfields on Lake Athabasca, some 500 miles northeast of here, might be called a travelling salesman — but he gives his wares away.

He's a 38-year-old junior field officer of the fur and game branch of the provincial resources department. His territory covers 50,000 square miles, and he does his travelling by dog team, plane, canoe and on foot.

After three years in the service he admits he hasn't yet covered every corner of his field, but he's made a pretty good attempt.

"My job is to give information to trappers on conservation, check beaver houses, and look after migration of caribou—the main food of North Saskatchewan natives," he explains.

He travels by canoe in the summer, and by dog team in winter. Sometimes he has flown into an area and worked his way out again with dogs and maps.

Terry has had 20 years' experience in the far northland. He was a trapper in the Whitefox country of Northern Saskatchewan before joining the government service.

"I really like this work," he says. "It's got everything beat for weather and travel. I grew up in the bush, so it's natural surroundings for me."

Ancient Portents Of Weather Shift Are Still Useful

By BERNARD DUFRESNE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Quebec. — Weathermen of the Quebec lands and forests department have finally admitted what farmers knew all along: look to mother nature for signs of the weather.

In its latest bulletin to some 325 observers throughout the province, the weather bureau of the lands and forests branch lists a number of weather signs, said to have come down from generations of Quebec farmers. It is part of the campaign for increased watchfulness against forest fire hazards.

The weather forecasters themselves will stick to their scientific instruments, and the bureau has told its observers to use their modern equipment for such things as measuring humidity, rain and snow fall, wind velocity and other factors in forecasting.

But the regional observer may also watch and listen to birds, barnyard animals and insects for "accurate" indications of the next day's weather.

Here are some of the traditional symbols which are said to be still valid today:

There will be a change in the weather if roosters flap their wings and crow at irregular intervals.

Great winds are due if cats run around at top speed, but if they spend much time washing themselves they will be calm.

High-flying swallows and singing birds are signs of good weather.

A good storm signal is provided by bees when they stay close to the hive.

Cows gathering in the centre of the pasture are a sign of rain.

The Lands and Forests Weather Bureau is mostly concerned with the weather as it affects the fire hazard in the forests, and says that nature's own weather signs have been proved "almost infallible."

It mentions many other indications that can be gained by watching the behaviour of hogs, bats, toads, frogs, ducks, goats and even spiders.

Outdoor Expert 82, Swims With Classes

Timagami, Ont. — At 82, Arthur Cochrane still is coaching youths in swimming, canoeing and woodcraft at the camp he founded near here 50 years ago.

At that time he was a physical education instructor at Upper Canada College in Toronto. One summer he brought a party of students into the area on a three-week canoe trip through the bush from Toronto, nearly 300 miles to the south.

He selected a pine-studded campsite including five islands and founded what is perhaps the oldest private boys' camp in Canada. Only Hudson's Bay Company traders had preceded him in the Timagami country.

Nowadays he still goes swimming with the boys, surprising them with his agility in the water. He will not accept any boy at his camp for less than four weeks, believing it takes that long "to get a boy thinking as he should about the outdoors."

Hits South African Methods Of Farming

Johannesburg. — South African farmers are annoyed by a statement of Herman Steytler of the National Veld Trust that the country's dwindling food resources are the result of unscientific farming methods due to the "appalling lack of intelligence among farmers."

Mr. Steytler told a meeting of Capetown university students that he thought the country's efforts to feed its population would fail because of the lack of intelligence among farmers.

He quoted figures from an official 1932 report that about 8,000 boys left school each year to earn a living from the soil. Of these 58.3 per cent only reached the fifth standard in school, and they were the farmers who today were in the prime of life, who did not realize that farming was a science.

One farmers' association has protested that the Veld Trust, which represents townsmen and farmers and aims to stimulate public interest and action in the conservation of the natural resources of South Africa, about Mr. Steytler's statement.

Junior Rangers Do Useful Work In Summer Camp

Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. — At Garden Lake, 50 miles northeast of here, nine boys this summer developed their muscles for the football season while working for the Ontario lands and forests department.

The work was typical of forestry training camps spread throughout the province, primarily designed to lead youths into forestry work if they are so inclined. Each summer the department hires 250 boys — they generally have about 1,300 applicants — to spend their summer vacations clearing and cutting brush, putting up telephone poles and doing a multitude of other jobs necessary to keep the forests and wild life of Ontario in good condition.

The boys at Garden Lake were assigned the tasks of clearing away brush and trees to make a tourist camping site. They were Jim Dolph of Galt, Ont., Carl Newton of Oakville, Ont., and seven from Toronto — Ed King, Bill MacDougall, Bill MacDonald, Owen Tilley, Bob McCabe, Bob Lyons and Fred Gotzman. They range in age from 16 to 18.

After the camp site project, they cut brush along the local telephone line between Ranger Lake and Searchmount, about 10 miles from their camp.

The boys worked a seven-hour day. Leisure time was spent fishing, berry-picking and in other forms of relaxation. A 10-o'clock curfew got the boys to bed early except on Saturdays when a dance at Ranger Lake proved a popular attraction. The young rangers also went to Sault Ste. Marie for the annual community night celebrations.

During the course of the summer instruction was given in the use of tools and in equipment essential in forest-fire fighting. The camp also received instruction in the use of the gas-operated fire pump and heard a talk on entomology given by a representative of the department's insect laboratory.

Another part of the educational program was made up of visits to plants of Algoma Steel Corporation, the Abitibi Pulp and Paper

Company and the modern forest insect laboratory here.

Under the experienced supervision of Ron McDonald, veteran forest ranger, and Bob Thain, his assistant, only one accident occurred. One lad cut his toe with an ax and the injury required four stitches.

"I am well satisfied with the work of the boys," said Ron. "In fact they are the best bunch that I have yet had."

Cook Byron Frost had a lively appreciation of the boys' appetites, and several made it a regular pastime that they eat like seasoned lumberjacks," he said. "They would make a good bunch of rangers."

Wild life is abundant in the neighborhood. At times the young workers came across deer, bears, and foxes. Fishing was excellent and several made it a regular pastime to head for the better streams. Others became expert canoeists.

Five Players Selected From St. Hyacinthe By Philadelphia Athletics

Montreal, Sept. 16. — (CP) — Philadelphia Athletics of the American League have selected five players of St. Hyacinthe Athletics of Quebec's Provincial Baseball League to report for training next spring, President Albert Molini of the Provincial League announced yesterday.

Players selected are rightfielder Al Pinkston, with a .360 batting average, pitcher Robert Lee Trice, second baseman Al Brathwaite, centerfielder Joe Taylor and shortstop Hector Lopez.

Darts Meeting Called For Thursday Evening

Dart clubs in the Sherbrooke district which are interested in playing in the Southern Eastern Townships Darts League this winter will hold a meeting at the Tuque Rouge Snow Shoe Club on Thursday evening to discuss plans for the Sherbrooke section of the League.

The Southern E.T. League, at a meeting last week, decided to break up into four sections this year because of the large number of teams interested in playing. The other sections are North Hatley, Magog and Ayer's Cliff, and the Boundary.

Sherbrooke had three teams in the 11-team league last year and from present indications there will be half a dozen or more this year. Any Sherbrooke clubs interested in playing in the league are invited to send a representative to Thursday's meeting which will be held at 8 p.m., under the chairmanship of Denis Hunt-Duke.

Rain Halts Proceedings In I.L. Semi-Finals

Montreal, Sept. 16. — (CP) — The sixth game of the International League semi-finals between the Toronto Maple Leafs and Montreal Royals will be played here tonight, weather permitting, following postponement of the game last night because of rain. Montreal leads the series 3-2 and can clinch it with one more victory.

The winner meets Rochester in the best-of-seven final series for the right to play the American Association playoff survivor in the Little World Series.

Mal Mallette is scheduled to pitch for Montreal while Toronto will rely on either Vic Lombardi or Johnny Hetki.

Experts Think Yanks, Who Finish On Road, Have Better Chance Of Winning Flag Than Dodgers, Who Finish Home

The Yankees lead Cleveland by 2½ games while Brooklyn leads the Giants by three. The Yankees must play eight of their remaining 11 games on the road while the Dodgers have eight of their 11 at home.

Yet the experts figure the Yankees a cinch to win the American League pennant and declare the National League race a toss-up between the Brooks and Giants.

Why? "The Yankees have the confidence of champions," a veteran baseball man said. "They win the big ones. They don't scare easily. They have the solid men in Allie Reynolds, Vic Raschi, Ed Lopat, Yogi Berra and Phil Rizzuto."

"The Indians may be a better all-around club. But they have proven that they are unable to win the big ones. They tighten up under pressure. And they have no leader—no take-charge guy."

"If the American League race were all even today, the Yankees would still win it."

And the Dodgers? "If it were any team but the Dodgers," the learned baseball man replied, "I'd say I don't know how they could lose with a three game edge."

"But the trouble with the Dodgers is they cannot forget last year. Especially when this race is following last year's script almost to the letter. Every time the Giants win and they lose, the Dodgers are reminded of last year's debacle. They know it can happen because it already has happened."

"The Dodgers are in trouble even with their big lead. Their pitching staff is in a bad way. If the Giants had the services of Larry Jansen to go along with Sal Maglie and Jim Hearn, they'd be sure to pull off another miracle. As it is, it's going to be another squeaker right down to the finish."

Neither manager—Leo Durocher of the Giants nor Charlie Dressen of the Dodgers—is doing any talking these days. Not even after yesterday's victories that left them still three games apart with 11 left to go.

Brooklyn received another shoddy pitching performance — this time from Carl Erskine — but their big bats atoned for the pitcher's lapse as the Brooks pounded out an 11-5 triumph over Cincinnati Reds. Jackie Robinson and Duke Snider hammered two homers apiece and Gil Hodges hit one in one of the biggest Brooklyn barages of the season. Erskine couldn't go beyond the seventh inning but he was credited with his 13th victory with the help of relief ace Joe Black.

Rookie Jim Greengrass hit a three-run homer for the Reds in the seventh inning. Sal Maglie looked like the Maglie of old as he pitched the Giants to a six-hit, 12-1 victory over St. Louis Cardinals. He was never in trouble as he hurled his first complete game in nearly three weeks to register his 17th success. A nine-run sixth inning—the biggest single inning of the season for the Giants—made it easy for the 35-year-old righthander.

The Indians and Yankees were idle yesterday, both in the American League. Rocky Krsnich, for the second straight day, smashed a winning bases-loaded single, scoring two runs in the eighth, to give Chicago White Sox a 4-2 victory over Boston Red Sox.

Rookie shortstop Harvey Kuenn tripled and scored the winning run on Fred Hatfield's single in the last of the ninth to give Detroit Tigers a 5-4 victory over Washington Senators.

Canadian Champ K.O.'s Whittle, Salt Lake City

Edmonton, Sept. 16. — (CP) — Canadian heavyweight champion Earl Walls last night knocked out Ron Whittle of Salt Lake City at 1:45 in the fifth round of a scheduled 10-round boxing match here.

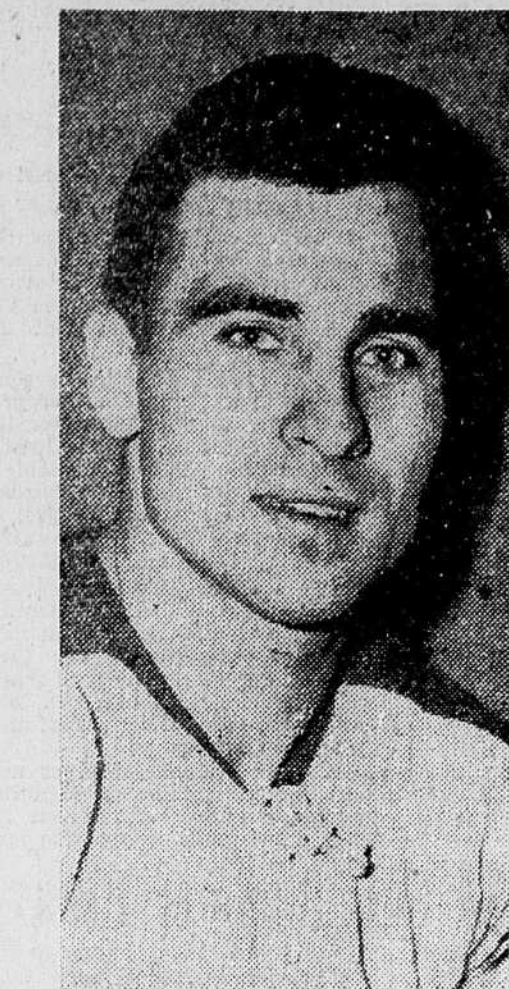

The 190-pound champion, formerly of Windsor, Ont., and now of Edmonton floored Whittle twice in the fourth round.

Doping Case Revealed At Hawthorne Park

Chicago, Sept. 16. — (AP) — The fourth thoroughbred doping case of the Chicago turf season was reported yesterday by Hawthorne Park Stewards.

They said that a urinalysis of the horse, Urbanite, winner of the third race last Friday, showed presence of amphetamine, a stimulant.

SAINTS SIGN SMELLE TWINS—The Sherbrooke Senior Hockey Club came through with another good boost when they got Tom and Carl Smelle of Hamilton, Ont., to agree to terms. Tom Smelle, left, plays on the forward line while his twin brother, Carl, is a rearguard. Tom patrols left wing and tips the scales at 170 pounds and stands 5'9". He is married and is 25 years old. Tom is a little heavier than his brother and is the same height. He is also married and his one child while his brother has two.

Both brothers commenced junior hockey with St. Catharines Falcons where they played three years before joining Hamilton Tigers in the Ontario Senior Hockey Association. Last year both played with Saint John, N.B. with the Beavers in the Maritime Major Hockey League and played against the Aces in the Eastern finals last year.

Jersey Joe Walcott Looks Spry In Drills For Marciano; Says He May Fight Until He Reaches 50 Mark

Atlantic City, N. J., Sept. 16. — (AP) — If old age is creeping up on Jersey Joe Walcott, you can't tell it by the workouts of the ancient ring warrior.

The 33-year-old heavyweight champion moves through his boxing drills with a bounce in every ounce of his 197-pound frame as he prepares for his Sept. 23 title bout with Rocky Marciano in Philadelphia.

He looks faster and in far better condition now than he did in preparing for his June 5 title defence against Ezzard Charles. "He should," said manager Felix Bocchicchio. "He's always in good shape and he's never really broken training since he started working for Charles."

"And he's more confident now," added the manager. "Charles is the toughest heavyweight around. Marciano is a crude guy who can hit but he's not Charles."

Asked how he measured Charles and Marciano as opponents, Walcott said "you really can't compare them."

"Charles is a fighter who can do everything. He can hook or jab with his left, hit hard with his right, can hit moving back or forward, can feint you out—he can do everything. This Marciano is a tough fighter... rough, crude and he can wallop."

Joe has been using his old walk-away shuffle, his battered sparring mates. He steps away to the side and then pivots, tossing a left hook or a heavy right in flashing movement.

He looked so good in a Sunday workout that a reporter wondered out loud how long Joe intended to keep fighting.

"So long as the good Lord blesses me with health and strength; I may go on until I'm 50," said Walcott.

American Hockey League Holds Special Meeting With N. H. L. President Clarence Campbell

Buffalo, N.Y., Sept. 16. — (AP) — The American Hockey League Board of Governors scheduled a meeting today to consider a proposal by the National Hockey League for relaxation of the no-recall rule.

The governors met with Clarence Campbell, N.H.L. president, all day yesterday and into the early hours today.

Campbell outlined a draft rule under which N.H.L. teams would be allowed to keep 22 players, including the 16 regulars, on a protected list, while all others could be drafted by lower-ranking clubs for $10,000.

Campbell told a reporter after the session the National League would institute the rule immediately if it were accepted by the American League.

The present A.H.L. rule prohibits N.H.L. clubs from recalling before the end of the season players sent to the A.H.L. on loan.

Campbell said the present N.H.L. rule allows each club a reserve list of four goalies and 40 other players. He said this arrangement permits many players of National League calibre to be held down in the minors.

Campbell said he was unable to predict the outcome of yesterday's session, but added:

"It looked as though an arrangement was in the making."

A.H.L. To Increase Schedule To 70 Games

Buffalo, N.Y., Sept. 16. — (AP) — The American Hockey League Board of Governors met in closed session last night with Clarence Campbell, president of the National Hockey League.

On the agenda were a discussion of the N.H.L.'s no-recall rule and consideration of drafts of two schedules.

Emory Jones, league president, said Saturday he would present one schedule calling for 33 home games in a 66-game season and another for 35 home games in a 70-game season.

Last year's schedule had 68 games.

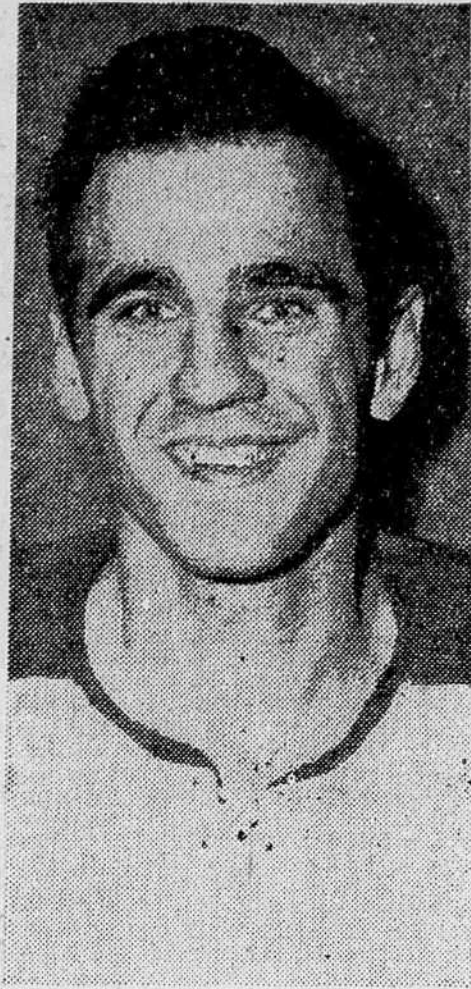

The recently-adopted no-recall rule prevents teams in the N.H.L. from recalling players sent to the A.H.L. on loan.

The Governors are expected to continue their session today.

National Hockey League Season To Open Oct. 9 With Canadiens Hosts To Hawks While Rangers Visit Wings

Montreal — The 1952-53 National Hockey League season will open on Thursday, October 9, when Montreal Canadiens play hosts to the Chicago Black Hawks, while the Stanley Cup champion Detroit Red Wings entertain the New York Rangers. This marks the earliest opening of the National Hockey League, beating by two days the opener in Detroit a year ago.

Each team will again play 70 games and the season will end on Sunday, March 22. Games are scheduled for every night of the week with the exception of Fridays.

The 36th National Hockey League season gets underway in Montreal on Saturday, October 11, with the Leafs meeting the Chicago Black Hawks. Boston fans see the 1952-53 edition of the Bruins for the first time on Sunday, October 12. Montreal Canadiens, playoff rivals of the Bruins last Spring, supply the opposition. The season opens in Chicago on Sunday, October 12, with the Black Hawks clashing with the New York Rangers. New York Rangers, last club in the N.H.L. to open their season at home, do so for the first time on Wednesday, October 22. Boston Bruins meet the Rangers in the curtain-raiser at Madison Square Garden.

The two Canadian clubs, Toronto and Montreal, still play the majority of their home games on Saturdays. The Leafs are engaged in 24 Saturday night contests, while the Canadiens play 22 games on that night. Toronto are at home on 11 Wednesdays, while Montreal plays 13 games in the Forum on Thursdays.

Chicago, Boston and Detroit play most of their home games on Sundays. The Black Hawks are scheduled for 17 Sundays, the Bruins for 17 and the Red Wings for 15. The Hawks play 15 games on Thursdays and three on Tuesdays to round out their 35 home tilts. Boston plays 14 games on Thursdays, three on Saturdays and one on a Tuesday. The Bruins have switched from Tuesdays to Thursday this season. Last year they played 17 games on Tuesdays, while this year they only participate in one.

Detroit has the most diversified schedule at home. Besides playing 15 times on Sundays, the Wings play two games on Mondays, one on a Wednesday, 13 on Thursdays and four on Saturdays. New York Rangers play 18 games on Wednesday and 17 on Sundays. Toronto plays 25 doubleheaders (games on successive nights) during the season. Montreal plays 23, New York 22, Boston 20, Detroit and Chicago, 19 each. Toronto offers a fresh team (not having played the night before) to its fans in all 35 home games. The Canadiens can ice a fresh team in 32 of the 35 games they play in Montreal. New York fans see a fresh Ranger team in 26 games, while the Red Wings are fresh for 25 tussles at Detroit. Boston Bruins and Chicago Black Hawks are each a fresh team at home in 22 of their 35 home games.

New York plays four games in five nights on six different occasions. Toronto plays four games in five nights four times, while Montreal and Detroit do it three times, and Chicago and Boston each do it twice.

Rain Halted Proceedings Last Night In Industrial Softball Playoffs; Meet Tomorrow Night

Textile were ahead 14-1 at the end of three innings last night in the second game of the Sherbrooke Industrial Softball League final against Shermae when rain halted the proceedings for the night.

Conditions underfoot were not so good for the players and in the three innings played Shermae had committed no less than four errors. Phil Dion had put Shermae in the lead on a mighty drive to centre field which was good for four bases.

Textile came back with a bang and scored no less than fourteen runs in the next two innings. This was all for the night as the umpires called the game owing to the continuous downpour.

The teams will meet again tomorrow night at 7.15 p.m. at Dufresne Park. Textile are ahead one game in the three-out-of-four series.

Maurice Richard Signs 11th Canadian Contract

Montreal, Sept. 16. — (CP) — Maurice (Rocket) Richard yesterday signed his 1952-53 contract with Montreal Canadiens of the National Hockey League. This is the starry winger's 11th straight season with the Montreal team. The terms were not disclosed.

Richard was the first player signed by the Canadiens this year. Last season he was the last to come to terms. Defenceman Tom Johnson also signed yesterday.

Richard said he was satisfied with terms after a short conference with General Manager Frank Selke. He said he was anxious for the season to open so he could beat the all-time scoring record of Nels Stewart of 324 goals. Richard has 319 goals and 204 assists and needs six to beat "Ole Poison's" record.

Gonsalves Earns Split Decision Over Araujo

Boston, Sept. 16. — (AP) — Johnny Gonsalves, Lanky Oakland, Calif., lightweight, removed his defensive wraps at a late stage and then attacked in stinging two-fisted fashion to gain a split decision over New England titlist George Araujo of Providence, R. I., in their return 10-round bout tonight at the Boston Garden.

Gonsalves weighed 134 and Araujo 133½.

They battled to a draw here a month ago and during the first round Araujo had the Californian on the verge of a knockout.

Canadian Johns-Manville Company Quarter Century Workers Honored

Asbestos, Sept. 16. — Thirty-one men and one lady, all veteran employees of Canadian Johns-Manville Company Limited from both Mine and Canadian Products Divisions, were guests of honor at a complimentary dinner tendered in the A.A.A.A. Clubhouse on Wednesday night by the company to mark their admission to membership in the Johns-Manville Quarter Century Club. Each new member was presented with a suitably engraved gold watch and a certificate. A. R. Fisher, president of Johns-Manville Corporation, made the presentations.

Mr. Fisher paid tribute to the long service and loyalty of the employees who were being honored. He expounded on the progress of Johns-Manville during the past year and explained how this progress resulted from what he called "the spirit of Johns-Manville."

Mr. Fisher mentioned that the Jeffrey Mine was producing only 27,000 tons of fibre in 1915. "Only seven years ago, in 1945, production was about 200,000 tons. This year production will be about three times as much, or more than 500,000 tons. At present our asbestos fibre is being shipped to about 41 different countries."

Further, Mr. Fisher added: "We are all one team and the prosperity and progress of one division are dependent to a large extent on the activities of the other divisions. And what keeps us together is what I call the 'spirit of Johns-Manville.' I consider it so important that I have discussed it at a number of meetings in Canada and the United States. I sincerely believe that those who acquire the spirit that has made Johns-Manville so successful are bound to succeed in our organization. And because of this spirit, we who are responsible for the management of Johns-Manville have the utmost faith and confidence in the future. And you men and women of the Quarter Century Club, with a wealth of experience acquired over the years, are the cornerstone of that faith."

J. O. Eby, Jeffrey Mine manager, was acting as chairman. Other remarks were made by Karl V. Lindell, vice president of Canadian Johns-Manville and general manager of the Asbestos Fibre Division and R. S. Gardner, production manager for the Canadian Products Division.

The elected officers gave the following appointments: President, N. P. de Valois; first vice

Ex-Headhunters May Fight Red Guerillas

By WILLIAM PARROTT
Kuching, Sarawak—(Reuters)—A "state of emergency" now has been declared in this British colony in north-west Borneo to deal with communist terrorists.

But the terrorists here have little chance of repeating their successes in Malaya where for four years they have kept British and Malayan troops busy fighting a hit-and-run, guerrilla war against an enemy they seldom see.

Here the jungle and former headhunters are against them. Unlike Malaya, the jungle in Sarawak does not offer the hospitality of the Malayan forests from which forays for food, supplies and information may be made by convenient tracks and roads to nearby villages and towns. In Sarawak, vast stretches of the jungle are trackless. There are few roads, and only a handful of large towns.

In Sarawak, too, where the communist movement has so far proved to be entirely Chinese in character, the jungle is mostly controlled by sea Dyaks who are barely tolerant of the Sarawak Chinese as is, and would need little encouragement to start a campaign of their own against them.

The possibility of using these lusty warriors against Chinese terrorists is, in fact, receiving serious attention from the authorities. But the authorities fear that the sea Dyaks might wage an anti-terrorist campaign too enthusiastically and show little discrimination about the political principles of the Chinese attacked.

They also fear that the sea Dyaks might, at the slightest pro-vacation, revert to their traditional head-hunting practices.

There are other reasons why communist terrorists, whatever their race, might not have the successes in Sarawak that they have achieved in Malaya.

For one thing the essentially agrarian industries in Sarawak are less vulnerable to communist influence than in Malaya, where it had been possible to disorganize labor.

Sarawak does not provide the "ammunition" for communist propagandists which more developed territories do.

The many races that compose Sarawak's population of about 600,000 are, by and large, contented with their lot and have no serious economic problems.

Nor are there any important grievances against the government which could be used to stir up unrest.

Summer Theatre Found It Tough In Old Quebec

By TOM MCCUSKER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Quebec. — Quebec's first summer theatre group packs up its props as September arrives, convinced that "truth is certainly stranger than any of the fiction it presented in five plays this summer."

The players led by producer Hal Walkley, 30-year-old native of Olds, Alta., did not follow the pattern of summer stock groups elsewhere who establish themselves in barns and on hillsides. They played from the sanctuary of a century-old deserted Methodist church to small audiences seated in straight-backed pews.

The group, equipped with grammar-school French, landed with five English plays straight into the thick of a French-language congress that was rallying French-speaking Canadians away from the "influence" of English and American culture.

It was that, Quebecers never before had seen summer theatre, and some had never even heard of it. They expected slapstick comedy or some sort of burlesque.

With these odds against them, the group of five, ranging in age from 19 to 25, ventured Oscar Wilde's "Importance of Being Earnest" for a while, it appeared the newcomers would outnumber the audience.

But Hal Walkley, a navy veteran, showed his players in the grand old 19th century English theatre. They performed one night at Quebec's Dufferin Terrace to a crowd of what seemed to be the only potential clientele—the tourists.

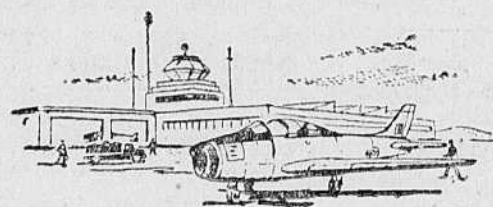

From then on audiences averaged 100, of whom 70 per cent were tourists and the rest Quebecers, French and English-speaking. French-Canadians liked the English version of Sardou's "Cyprien." Noel Coward's "Hay Fever" played three weeks, one week longer than the scheduled fortnight of four performances a week.

"For some reason or another," said Walkley, "we're winding up financially solvent, even though we had to pinch somewhat and at one time were down to $47."

And pinch they did. John Rutherford of the University of Toronto and Weldon Anglin of Ottawa moved into a dingy rooming house. Daphne Goldrick of Vancouver, Olga Skov of Toronto and Mary Ellen McDermid of London, Ont., lived in an apartment loaned by a benevolent theatre lover.

Walkley had never set foot on a stage until he played in some short house productions at University of Toronto, after his discharge from the navy in 1945. He was a co-producer of the R.C.N. revue in Halifax a few seasons back.

He'll revive the show here next summer with nightly performances, and expects a better reception now that the ice has been broken.

Historic Valley Has Many Assets For Air Student

By STEWART MacLEOD
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Greenwood, N.S. — The largest R.C.A.F. operational training unit in Canada is deep in Nova Scotia's famed Annapolis Valley at Greenwood airport.

The O.T.U. is designed for newly-commissioned officers who still have to be brought up to the required operational standards. This training is received mainly by everyday flying conditions, actual patrols and mock battles.

The Greenwood airport is regarded as Canada's best for this purpose. Within striking distance of the far north, crew members are able to receive training in sub-zero weather conditions on various flights.

Down in their own valley they can undergo training in humid weather. The fog which often surrounds the Nova Scotia coast gives opportunity for blind and instrument flying.

Only a few minutes by air from the North Atlantic, the trainees are able to stage mock bombing and gunnery raids. When the Atlantic is closed in by heavy weather, the planes can revert to the Bay of Fundy on the opposite side of the airport.

A big factor favoring Greenwood is its nearness to Halifax. From that old seaport ships of the Royal Canadian Navy, planes from the Shearwater naval air base and the Lancasters of the O.T.U. here stage sea and air manoeuvres.

Much of the actual patrol flying is with the Maritime squadron, also at Greenwood. The Maritime is the sequel of the wartime coastal patrol and included in their many duties is anti-submarine work.

The O. T. U. like all other squa-

Villagers Enjoy Wonders Of T.V. In Rural France

Paris. — Despite their lowly financial status, villagers of France are showing how rich cultural benefits can be reaped from television.

Television sets placed in the school hall in 40 odd villages are instruments of learning for parents as well as children, and afford new social meeting places. The development is being watched closely by the United Nations educational, scientific and cultural organization with a view to its introduction elsewhere.

The move started at Nogentel, 60 miles east of Paris, where television was regarded as one of those miracles of science—like atomic bombs or air-conditioning—which belongs to a world far removed from the simple peasant life.

Now the villagers gather several times a week to watch television programs in their one-room school. They are proud that their idea has spread to many other communities, in most of which the inhabitants make their living as laborers, small farmers and wine growers.

The idea of using TV for entertainment and education in these villages originated among a group who had tried to organize film clubs but found them much too expensive, according to a current Unesco report.

The clubs quickly saw the possibilities of TV. They are guided mostly by primary school masters, who take an active interest in adult education and spend a good deal of their after-school time bringing cultural activities into the lives of adults.

They worked out an agreement with TV manufacturers by which a set is placed for a limited period in a school and the villagers are invited to come and see the programs.

At first they see the programs free; later a small admission fee is charged. After a few weeks, the teacher enquires whether the villagers will buy the set. In all but one village, the answer was yes.

Soon the villagers get into the habit of calling into the school for entertainment, and also for education and informal discussion. A closer link develops between schoolmaster and community.

Essential conditions of this plan are that the set is made available during day-time for educational programs for the children, and that it will become school property once it has been fully paid for out of admission fees.

The viewing groups have been found severely critical of such things as gangster plays on TV. Knowing that television is playing a powerful part in their children's education, they take a keen interest in its productions.

Foreign Vessels Ply Canadian Waterways, Seaways Trade Magnet

By CRAIG SWAYZE

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Toronto. — Foreign shipping firms, determined to share in Canada's industrial expansion, have invaded the Great Lakes in force.

Tailoring their freighters to St. Lawrence River canal specifications, they have built up a substantial—and annually increasing—flow of commerce between Great Lakes and European ports.

Eberhard Thost, president of the Hamburg-Chicago line, has summed up the views of European ship owners in a recent statement. He said:

"There is a great industrial development taking place in Canada and we're looking for the growth in trade between Canada and Europe. There's plenty of business now and we're building up connections so we'll be ready when the seaway is."

The Seafarers International Union at Toronto has called for a ban on foreign vessels working Canadian inland waters, and urges a heavy tax on foreign ships until a complete ban can be imposed.

A ship-owner, James Norris of Lake Forest, Ill., said in a speech recently he would like to see all overseas shipping banned from the Great Lakes. Norris, a Canadian-born industrialist, said foreign merchant vessels could undercut North American ship operators by at least one-third because of their low wages and operating costs.

The summer of 1952 has seen this business hit a post-war peak. Hardly a day goes by without one or two ships flying foreign flags locking through the complicated St. Lawrence canal system.

The majority are specially built for the Great Lakes run. Rugged enough to withstand the severest of north Atlantic blows, they must be small enough to squeeze through the St. Lawrence canals with 260-foot locks and 14-foot depth.

But even with limited dimensions, these freighters will carry a payload of 3,000 gross tons—a cargo that can be decreased inbound and increased outbound at Montreal.

As compared with four in 1935 and none during the second world war, there are now 41 of these salt-water ships in operation on the St. Lawrence.

The pioneer in this modern European-Great Lakes service was a Norwegian firm, the Fjell line. In 1938, the Orange line, a Dutch company, began operations and the Swedish-Chicago line followed suit the next summer.

However, the boom has come since the war. In 1950, the Fabre line, a French company, had two ships connecting Mediterranean ports and Great Lakes cities. This year the line ran six ships and is planning on adding two more in 1953.

In 1951 west Germany was represented in the trade by the Hamburg-Chicago line. All motor vessels, the German company scheduled regular sailings for seven ships during 1952.

British ships appeared for the first time this summer. The Manchester line scheduled monthly sailings with two new motor ships, F.A.R.M., another British line entered the lakes services this year. The India-America line plans to link Bombay, Madras and Cal-

Former Film Board Head Makes Film Of Mine-Disaster

London. — "The Brave Don't Cry," a film based on a Scottish coal-mining disaster, opened here to enthusiastic reviews.

This is one of the first pictures produced by the experimental group 3, headed by documentary pioneer John Grierson. The purpose of the group, which has government backing, is to spend £250,000 a year on low-budget films with the object of training new stars and directors.

Critics agreed that "The Brave Don't Cry" is one of the best British pictures in a long time. The Manchester Guardian said it has a "mawkish title," but of all the films about Scotland so far it is the one that rings truest. In London, the Evening News called it a "first-class" picture.

Grierson was wartime head of Canada's National Film Board.

cutta with lake cities in monthly sailings.

What commodities make up the cargoes of these ships?

Westbound, they carry construction steel, liquor, Swiss cheese, machine tools, chemicals, precision instruments, wood pulp, fish oil and porcelain. On the way back it's asbestos, autos, metals, synthetic rubber, milk products, agricultural machinery, washing machines and wood products.

These ships aren't idled by the winter freeze-up. In late November they shift to the European and African coastal trade. Many ply the Far Eastern shipping lanes.

Despite this, the Great Lakes summer trade is still their biggest business. In 1949 they carried 20,000 tons in imports and 12,500 in exports. In 1950 the figures jumped to 25,000 tons in imports and 30,000 of exports. Last year saw a total of 26,500 tons of imports and 35,000 tons of exports. This summer's figures are expected to exceed by far all existing records.

Modern Equipment Speeds Road Job

Spiritwood, Sask. — A. C. Cadieu finds his job today a far cry from that of 21 years ago when he and his crew first constructed the road they now are rebuilding.

Mr. Cadieu is the contractor for reconstruction of a portion of the highway between Shell Lake and Mildred, straight west of Prince Albert.

When the first road went in, Mr. Cadieu had 50 men working with him. They used man power, horses and mules to clear the brush, move stones and build grades.

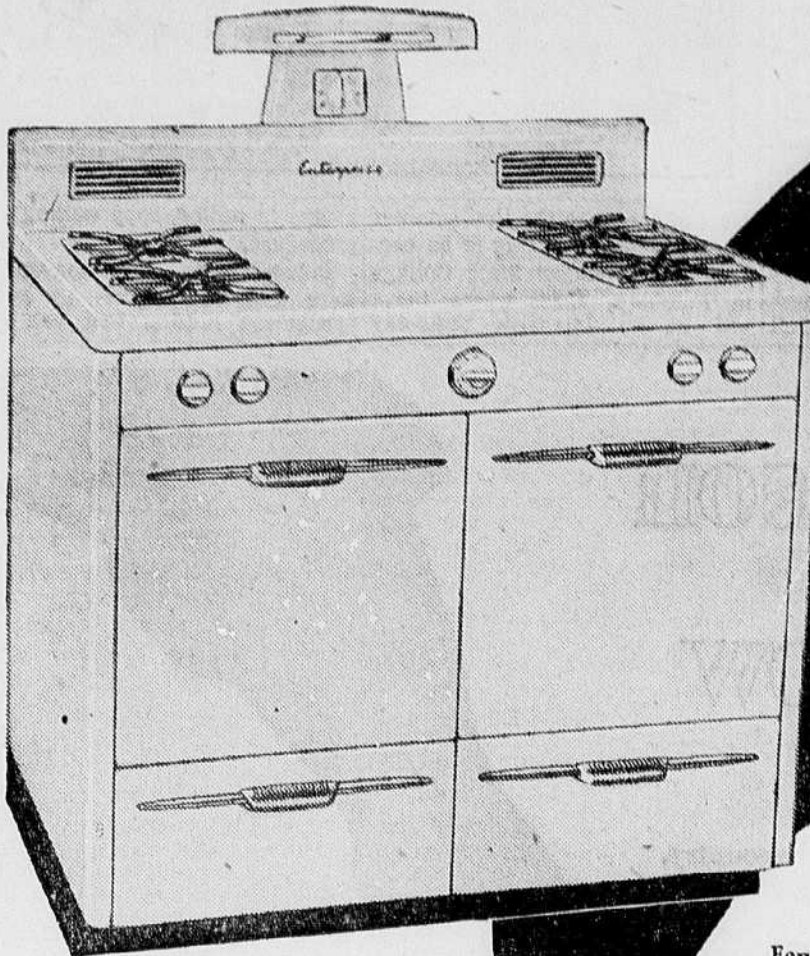

Today, eight men equipped with bulldozers, brush cutters and huge mechanical scrapers are doing a much tougher job in less time. Rugged land has to be straightened and huge stones and hills have to be cut and moved to make way for the highway. It will be completed in a matter of a few months.

Mr. Cadieu has been reeve of Spiritwood municipality for 17 years. He owns the Cadieu Construction Company and has done road work in this area for 25 years.

Advertising Managers Hold Convention

Announcement of the completion of incorporation of the Association and the hint that head offices will be established in Toronto were made by President James C. Anderson, of Kitchener, at the fifth annual convention of the Newspaper Advertising Managers Association of Eastern Canada at Mount Royal Hotel, Montreal, Thursday.

About eighty delegates from newspapers between St. John's, Nfld., on the east, and Sault Ste. Marie, on the west, were in attendance. The convention was called to order by Eric M. Wilson, of the Montreal Star, the convention chairman. John Toogood, of the Vancouver Sun, brought greetings from the Western Advertising Managers' Association.

"To be a good salesman, it is best not to look like a salesman, it would be much better to look like a plumber," J. H. McQuaig, president of J. H. McQuaig and Co., Toronto, industrial psychologists, told the delegates in the afternoon session.

He said that it was impossible to get away from the personality factor in selling and told of the results of an analysis of one company's sales force made by his company.

"But personality is not enough," he warned, "to sell a product, to change the buying habits of a client requires more than personality. An advertising salesman must feel that he is doing a client a favor by calling on him."

Advising all publishers and advertising executives to be salesmen for the classified department, Walter S. Campbell, classified advertising manager of the Detroit Free Press, made the key speech in the afternoon session.

Mr. Campbell pointed out that most of the important users of display space in today's newspapers started in the want ad columns. Tracing the history of classified, he said that it was the oldest form of advertising even though in some newspapers it is treated as a sort of stepchild of the advertising department. As proof of the continued reader interest in classified ads, he told of a want ad, costing $3.50, resulting in the sale of a $45,000 building. Another small two-line want ad located a rare set of H. Rider Haggard books.

Dwelling on the fact that classified has grown up, Mr. Campbell drew attention to the first seminar of classified advertising to be conducted at Michigan State College in February, 1953, where there will be an intensive three-day course in selling, copy writing and procedure. Delegates to the convention were told to "oppose by every means the illusion that you can get something for nothing."

Stuart Richardson, public relations assistant of the Northern Electric Company, Montreal, said: "We have to work hard at this because the forces of the opposition are strong and organized and because the drug they peddle is pleasant to take."

"We have to face the fact that every gift we get from the government is first taken from someone else so that we may benefit and that every gift, irrespective of the good intention, is an encroachment on our freedom."

Charles G. Fenn of the London Free Press Saturday told the convention of methods used by newspapers to curtail internal costs in an attempt to offset the rise in newsprint prices.

He said 20 newspapers sent in full reports on economics which show costs have been reduced by various methods — installation of newsprint rewinding equipment, advanced deadlines, installation of plastic engraving machines and reduction of column widths.

He said a small number of member papers are planning rate advertising increases next year and that a large number of papers put increases into effect this year. Whether these papers would establish further increases depended mainly on business conditions generally.

Other reports presented by Mr. Fenn brought general discussion on reduction of publishing days to five a week instead of the generally-accepted six, bonus plans for advertising salesmen, the increase in the use of color in Canadian dailies and uniformity in charges for the use of color and the minimum size of acceptable color advertisements.

Another feature of the sessions was a dual presentation by Martin Livingston, of the Halifax Herald, and Al Horn, of the Montreal Star, on "keeping an account sold," in which they brought out ten main points.

(1) Sell soundly and securely in the first place. (2) Work out an advertising plan and theme which can get results in the first year. (3) Back up the plan with adequate copy service. (4) Take a personal interest in the advertisers' welfare. (5) Check with the account frequently to find out how the advertising is working. (6) Keep the account reminded about the advantages of the newspaper medium. (7) About two months before the account contract is due to end, start negotiations for the coming year. (8) Be just as helpful in the next year as in the previous year. (9) Create new angles to keep the account's advertising interesting. (10) Make sure the right man handles the account.

Other highlights of the day included explanation of a sales promotion that proved highly successful by W. J. Garner, of Peterborough, and a report of an all-time high of 82 in membership by Jack Dawdy, of Welland. Ian MacDonald, general manager of C.D.N.A., was among the speakers.

Delegates attending from Sherbrooke were Walter H. Wood, advertising manager, and Robert Butler, in charge of local advertising, both of the Sherbrooke Daily Record.

WHO'S GOT THE BUTTON?

In normal years, 300 factories in the United States turn out about 10,000,000,000 buttons annually, or about 70 for each man, woman, and child in the country.
