THE LATE PROF. PHELPS.

The above is a portrait of the late Prof.

man, whose high literary and scientific worlds. It is not generally known, but it is, nevertheless, the truth, that Prof. Phelps was the discoverer of what is known to the Medical Profession and Chemists universally as Faine's Celery Compound, unquestionably one of the most valuable discoveries of this century. This remarkable compound is not a mere, an essence, a sarsaparilla or any devised article, but a discovery, and it marks a distinct step in medical practice and the treatment of nervous complications. It has been freely admitted by the best medical talent in the land, and also by the leading chemists and scientists, that for nerve troubles,

RE-BALLOTS NECESSARY IN MANY DISTRICTS

The General Elected for Montmartre District.

AN IMPORTANT DAY FOR FRANCE.

Republicans Support the Government.

PARIS, September 22.—The election passed off tranquilly in Paris, only a minor disturbance being reported between early this morning and night fall.

Reports from the provinces also indicate that no trouble has occurred in the country districts. There was a riot in the city of Avignon, where a crowd broke into the Boulanger Committee rooms, burned the voting papers and set fire to the building. Thence the mob proceeded to the Boulanger Club, breaking in the doors, wrecking the furniture and driving out the members of the club.

RESULT OF THE ELECTION.

In the first division of the Department of the Seine, Guyot, Republican, has 4,493 votes; Eurquet, Boulangerist, 3,688;

Despatis, Conservative, 2,103; Muzet, Republican, 1,462; Petit, Labor, 286. There will have to be a re-ballot, none of the candidates having secured the required majority of votes.

In Montmartre Boulanger received

7,186 votes; Joffrin, labour Socialist, 5,507;

Tuiband, Republican revisionist, 444, Boulanger being elected.

In St. George, Rieux, Boulangerist, has

5,080 votes; Berger, Republican, 2,957; Straus, Republican, 2,861. A re-ballot is necessary.

In the Pantheon district Naquet, Boul-angerist, has 4,560; Bourneville, Republican, 2,770. No candidate has a majority.

In the Faubourg, St. Honoré district, Passy, Republican, 3,952; Martin, Boul-angerist, 3,546; Serve, Conservative, 3,511.

A re-ballot is necessary.

The foregoing are Parisian districts.

Returns from the provinces are coming in slowly. M. Thevet, Minister of Justice, is elected in the second division of Lyons.

Re-ballots will be required in the other

Lyons divisions and also at Bordeaux.

In the first division of Havre, Siegfried, Republican, has defeated Mar-chand the Boulangerist candidate.

The Boulangerists gain two seats by election of Count Greffulhe at Meland and M. Millevale at Amiens—the latter defeating M. Gobel, Minister of Foreign Affairs.

M. Rouvier, Minister of Finance, is elected for the Grasse division of the Alpes Maritimes, and M. Meline, President of the Chamber of Deputies, for the Remeremont division of the Vosges.

1 a. m., Monday—Up to this hour the results so far as received show the election of 77 Republicans and 36 Anti-Republicans, including revisionists. Boul-angerists and Conservatives. Sixty-seven re-ballots are required. Only six candidates in Paris are known definitely to have been elected, namely, M.

Brisson, Republican, and M. Boulanger, Lagarre, Revet, Farry and St. Martin.

On eleven seats from the Department of Pas de Calais the Republicans win nine, and there will be a re-ballot in two.

2 a. m.—The returns up to this hour show the elections of 89 Republicans and 58 anti-Republicans, with 93 re-ballots.

Latter returns from the Montmartre district indicate a re-ballot will be necessary. It was thought at first that Boulanger was elected there.

HOW THE PARTIES STAND.

PARIS, Sept. 23, 4 a. m.—Leon Say is elected in Paris; Casimir Perier, Republiinto the conflict, unless for the protection of her Indian dominions, but they will stand in little, if any, danger. Of course France will be allied with Russia.

RULERS IN PETTICOATS.
Comings and Goings of the Emperresses.

LONDON, Sept. 22.—The dowager Empress Frederick will not, after all, visit Queen Victoria this year, as she is obliged to go to Athens to be present at the marriage of the Crown Prince of Greece.

It is probable that in the early part of the winter the Queen will go to Berlin on her way to spend a week with her daughter. This will be a fulfillment of the Queen's promise to the Emperor, who, however, prefers that the Queen should make her visit in the spring.

TAFFY FIGHTS THE TITHE PRO-

TORS.
Wales Will No Longer Pay an Alien

Church.

LONDON, Sept. 21.—The bitter feeling in Wales over the tithes question shows no signs of abatement. The opposition to the payment of the tithes is deeply rooted and has its origin in the fact that though the benefits for which this tax was an equivalent have long since ceased to be shared by the people, all complaints and efforts to secure a repeal or reduction of the burden have been disregarded by the Government. The office of tithes collector just now is by no means an easy one to fill, nor even a safe one.

In various places streets and houses are barricaded and it is a task of great difficulty for the collectors to reach the persons of whom they are to demand the tithes. They are then likely to find that those whom they are seeking have fled, as the approach of the official is heralded from afar by means of gun and horns, the inhabitants all working together in their resistance to what they consider oppression.

A PEACEFUL INVASION.

The Connecticut National Guards to arrive on Thursday week with the Governor of the State.

A joint meeting of the civic and military reception committees, appointed for the purpose of carrying out the details for entertaining the officers and men of the Connecticut National Guards and the guests who will accompany them, was held at the City Hall on Saturday. There were present Ald. Rolland (chairman), Cunningham, Stevenson and W. Kennedy, Lieut.-Col. Mattice, Brigade Major, and Lieut.-Col. Caverhill, of the Royal Scots.

Lieut.-Col. Mattice said that the officers of the city corps had decided to tender a dinner to their distinguished guests, including the Governor of the State and his staff of eighteen, also the staff of the Guards, numbering forty. They were not in a position, however, to extend an invitation to the men, who numbered 450. It rested with the city to see what they could do for the men by either bringing them down the Rapids or by a drive around the mountain. The military would assist them in whatever was agreed upon. The visitors expressed the desire to give a full dress parade, for which Lieut.-Col. Mattice had placed the Champ de Mars at their disposal. The Military Committee would provide enough men to keep the grounds clear for the visitors.

After some discussion the following programme was proposed and will be submitted to the Commander of the Guards for his approval:—

Thursday morning, October 3rd, 10 a.m.—Civic and military reception at the depot, after which the visitors will be escorted to the Windsor.

Afternoon, 2.30 p.m.—Full dress parade on the Champ de Mars.

Evening, 7.30 p.m.—Dinner to the officers by the officers of the active militia.

Friday morning, 8 a.m.—Train to Lacine, returning to the city by the Rapids.

Afternoon, 2.30 p.m.—The officers and guests will be driven to the Mountain Park.

In the evening the visitors will leave for home.

THE ELECTRIC LIGHT.

Mayor Grenier Replies to the Questions Put by the French Press.

Mayor Grenier gives the following replies to the four questions put to him by the French press in connection with the electric lighting of the city:—

1. Is Mr. Grenier quite sure that he will find another electric company ready to spend $500,000 for the lighting of our streets in presence of the opposition which it will find already established?

A. I am not aware that the Royal Company has spent more than $200,000. Then two offers have been made—one by the Gas Company and the other by the Craig Company. The former offers us electric lamps, at not cost us 34 cents per night, for 27½ cents, and the latter for 25 cents.

2. Is Mr. Grenier quite sure that the City Council will allow 8,000 more poles to be planted in the streets?

A. If we gave the contract to another company the Royal would be obliged to remove its poles, and I hope that before many years we will have devised some means of placing all the wires under ground.

3. Is Mr. Grenier quite sure that if permission were given, there would be found in the streets sufficient room to plant the poles, when it is known that the Royal already occupy one side of the streets and the two telephone companies the other?

A. According to its arrangement with the city the Federal Telephone Company are obliged to receive on their posts the wires for the electric light.

4. Does Mr. Grenier know that according to its charter, as well as according to its contract with the city, the Corporation cannot take away or forcibly acquire the poles of the Royal?

A. The answer to this question is conveyed in my reply to the second.

THE INCLINE RAILWAY.

The Park Commissioners Apparently Favorable to the Proposed Extension.

A meeting of the Park Commissioners was held on Saturday afternoon for the purpose of considering their report of July last, re the extension of the Incline Railway to Park Avenue. There were present Ald. Wilson (in the chair), Farrell and Clendinning.

The Commissioners are only in favor of the extension to the Golf House and spoke strongly against allowing any encroachment on Fletcher's field.

Mayor Grenier, as a Park Commissioner at the time the scheme was put into execution, stated that the then commissioners never intended that the railway should come on to Fletcher's field.

Ald. Stevenson contended that the Council never granted them such power. Ald. Cunningham was in favor of adopting the system which would be the best in reaching the mountain by the easiest possible means.

All the speakers were unanimous against allowing the Company to extend through Fletcher's field to Park Avenue. Mr. Ethier, Assistant City Attorney, was called in and requested to examine the deeds and plan and to give his opinion as to what powers the Company have for extending their line as they now propose, and to report at a meeting of the Commissioners to-morrow afternoon.

BREVITIES.

The Catholic school at Coaticook was destroyed by fire the other day. The loss will be $1,000, fully covered by insurance.

Messrs. Louis Nichol, Daniel Brenier and Prudent Theberge were ordained at Sherbrooke to the priesthood yesterday by Mgr. Racine.

The police have been notified to look out for two rascals, who raised $9,500 by false pretenses in Concord, N. H. A reward of $1,000 is offered for their arrest.

There was a serious bush fire in the township of Garthby and the mills at that place were in danger, but the heavy rain of the past week has extinguished the flames.

The suggestion made by the Cowansville Observer, to form an Eastern Townships Press Association, is being favorably received by the leading papers in the Townships.

The Eastern division of the fire brigade was called out last evening at 7.10 by an alarm from box 65 for a fire in rear of Mr. Joseph Leveille's furniture store, 1339 Notre Dame street. The damage was slight.

THE FIRE RECORD.

FIRE EPIDEMIC IN P.E.I.

HALIFAX, N.S., Sept. 21.—A despatch from Charlottetown says: A most disastrous fire swept over Kensington last night. It started about 2 a.m. in a meat shop occupied by Russell McMillan. Nearly the whole village is in ashes. All the stores are burned excepting Dr. Darnach's drug store and Hon. G. W. Bentley's general store. The probable loss is one hundred thousand dollars. Tuplin & Co.'s loss alone is estimated at fifty thousand. The property destroyed consists of R. Tuplin & Co.'s store and warehouse; H. McLeod's dwelling house and tailoring shop; Bowness & Anderson's store and warehouse; John Leslie's dwelling house; Chang & Hopwood's store; James Howard's house and workshop; the Kensington House, kept by John Burke; Edwin Proctor's dwelling and blacksmith shop; McMillan's dwelling house. The insurance on the buildings amounts to about twenty-seven thousand, Tuplin having about fifteen thousand.

The largest forest fires ever seen on the island took place west of Summerside Thursday and Friday; the damage cannot be estimated. Three saw mills and a large number of dwellings and out-buildings are destroyed. Several people had narrow escapes from being burned. Trains were delayed on account of sleepers being burned from under the rails. The rain which fell partly subdued the flames, but people are fearful lest the strong wind will again fan the flames.

The farm buildings of A. McNeill, of Lot 49, about five miles east of here, together with all his crops, were burned to the ground yesterday. A little boy, four years old, set fire to a stack of grain near the barn. The loss cannot be less than $1,500; no insurance. McNeill and wife were reading a letter informing them of their son's death at the time the alarm was given.

A Line From Gladstone.

My little son, aged two, was seized with diarrhoea, followed by piles. Two doses of Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry gave relief and half the bottle completed a cure. Mrs. J. A. McIntyre, Gladstone, Man. This medicine is a specific for all summer complaints of children or adults.

A commission of enquiry into its management will be opened to-day. THE QUEEN'S BENCH.

The Court of Queen's Bench was presided over by Mr. Justice Baby on Saturday morning, when the case of the Queen against Moise Demers, Isaac Sabaire and Omer Labelle was tried. DEATH OF MR. H. N. WHITMAN, J. P.

Mr. Whitman died at his residence, Stanbridge East, after a short and sudden attack of illness, at the age of four score years. He owned many broad acres, being one of the wealthiest farmers in his township, and in many respects he was not unlike a country squire in England, a man of strong physique and mental calibre and strength of will and purpose, which made him one of the most, if not the most, efficient magistrates in the district of Bedford. He was a terror to evil-doers and a friend to those who were law-abiding, rich and poor alike. In politics Mr. Whitman was a staunch Liberal. He leaves a widow with a young son and a married daughter by a former wife. The burial was performed by the Rev. Canon Davidson at the Stewart Memorial church, Fraleighsburg, P.Q., on Sunday, the 15th September inst.

CORRESPONDENCE.

A Money Question.

To the Editor of THE HERALD: Sir,—Having had much annoyance while in British Columbia from the discount put upon our paper currency, I would be glad to have your power evoked for the redress of this public nuisance. American money passes at its face value, nickels, silver dollars, paper and all, while even Bank of Montreal bills are discounted 5 per cent. This is an outrage upon the travelling community, and surely our Government could devise some means of redress, so that our paper, silver or copper money would pass at their face value all over this one country and Dominion of Canada. Another outrage is the discounting (20 per cent.) Bank of Montreal bills on a line of American steamships running from Victoria, B.C., to Tacoma, W.T. Lines connecting with Canadian shores should be forced to take money current at such ports at its face value. The present system is a grievous wrong. As matters now stand, travellers to our own Northwest or the Pacific should take no Canadian money, but provide themselves with American money, which is current everywhere, and thus save themselves from being fleeced by even their own fellow-countrymen.

Yours, CURRENCY.

only skin deep (which are not now to be con-a bad state of the blood, and which attack various parts of the body in different ways.

Skin diseases in the form of the HEAD, by an itching and burning of the scalp, which sometimes in the form of Dandruff, which is amount of itching and burning will get rid of the itching and burning of the scalp, which sometimes in the form of the face, by an eruption of the glands, commonly called Acne, which is a very disagreeable disease, and the inside of the ELBOWS, by an itching and burning of the skin, which is very painful when washed. In the HANDS, by deep cracks or fissures, which, if treated for a few days, speedily open up, or by horny-looking patches. In the LEGS, by hard, shiny and inflamed swellings, or by wounds more or less deep. And on the BODY, in Red Scaly Patches, which as often as rubbed off, form again, or in the discharge of a thin, watery fluid, or in a very disagreeable nature. In all these cases the treatment must be twofold. An Ointment is required to relieve the itching, and medicine must be taken to change the state of the blood, and render it pure.

that gave this order was deathly white and of that waxlike smoothness that told unmistakably that she was a habitual arsenic eater. The preparation of the drug called for was unhesitatingly handed out and the woman at once opened it in view of at least a dozen people, and placed two of the little pellets in the box in her mouth, took a sip of water from the fountain to hasten the dissolving process, and went on her way.

"Much call for that sort of drug?" inquired a reporter of the druggist.

"Lots," was the laconic reply, and further conversation brought out the fact that the complexion wafers and a liquid form of the drug known as Fowler's solution were being used by the women of Chicago in vast quantities. Mrs. Maybrick is one of several hundred thousand women who use arsenic.

"My trade in this drug," continued the druggist, "is of course confined to a comparatively narrow circle on the south side, and from out-of-town residents who pass the store going to and from the railroad depot, but there is no doubt in my mind that druggists throughout the city, especially in the fashionable residence districts, dispose of lots of the drug for the sole purpose of whitening the skin, or as most women would say, 'beautifying the complexion.' In fact, I do not hesitate to say that the higher up you go in society the more prevalent you will find the practice. It is just like the morphine habit. When you find an ignorant person indulging in it, it is generally because it has been recommended by a physician for some ailment, or perhaps the purchaser has read about it. Again, some poor and unfortunate girl may want a dose in order to end her misery by taking her life, but for every one of these I speak of you can find a dozen cases in the higher and more intelligent walks of life who are victims of the hab-bit. So with the use of arsenic for the complexion. It will be found in more general use among the women of fashion than any other. The drug has certain strengthening power, and perhaps the exhaustion attendant on the social duties of the rich leads to its use. I sell either the complexion wafers or Fowler's solution as they are called for, but use care in dispensing the liquid form. I ascertain just what it is to be used for and find out if the person knows how to handle it."

ARSENIC HAS MANY SLAVES.

Other druggists called on had the complexion wafers for sale and had calls for it, but denied that they would sell Fowler's solution without a physician's prescription. That this is true of many druggists there can be no doubt, for Fowler's preparation is a deadly drug and, dispensed indiscriminately, would probably lead in a number of instances to embarrassing complications if not serious trouble. At the same time it should not be lost sight of that a physician's prescription is not hard to get, and one can easily understand how a young woman of a fashionable matron, for that matter, could induce her family doctor to write a prescription that would enable them to procure the poison that would "beautify" their faces at the risk of their constitutions.

The color imparted is peculiar, and when once known cannot be mistaken.
It fills out the skin, giving a slight puffy appearance, and there is a glaze like wax. If the blood be warm and in circulation, a faint pink tint is seen under the glazed surface, but should the blood run sluggishly, then a paleness as of death pervades. The eyes are invariably bright and have a staring appearance.
As the habit grows the eyes become sunken and the pupils dilate, and a dark circle surrounds them. No matter how much improvement in the color may result from the use of the drug, it is certain that death lurks in every grain and it is only a question of time—and a short time—ere the blood becomes stagnant, the heart refuses to work, the brain and nerves numb, and then the end. A good many cases of death from so-called blood poisoning might be traced to the frequent and improper use of arsenic.

The skull and crossbones of the old canner, the insignia of murder and rapine, is indelibly engraven on the forehead of the modern woman of fashion who uses this beautifier of the complexion.

REVEALED BY HER DEATH.

The Secret Romance of Unfortunate Louisa Hancock.
(New York Times.)

A pathetic and romantic story has been brought to light by the death of the young woman, Louisa Hancock, who was drowned while bathing near Newman Springs, N. J., on Sunday. Miss Hancock, as she was known to all her acquaintances, lived with her mother at 217 West Tenth-street, and had been for many years the main support of her parent, who was a widow until recently, when she remarried. The girl was a diamond polisher by trade, and earned $18 dollars a week. Out of this income she paid a rental of $20 a month for the apartments in which she and her mother lived, and met all the other expenses of the home.

She was bright, handsome and high spirited, and wholly devoted to her mother. Her friends and acquaintances regarded this devotion as the absorbing affection of the girl's life, and were not at all surprised at her remaining unmarried, although she was twenty-seven years of age. Two weeks ago she went to Red Bank, N. J., for a well-earned vacation.
When the news of her death had been published a young man from New York appeared at Red Bank and claimed the body. At first he said that he had been betrayed to the young woman, but afterward declared that he was her husband, and that, through deference to her wishes, he had consented to allow her to continue to be known as "Miss Hancock."

Inquiry at the girl's residence yesterday revealed the fact that she had gradually the secret of her marriage most jealously, not that she was ashamed of it or that it was irregular in any way, but because she feared that a knowledge of the step she had taken would grieve and distress her mother. There was also another cause that actuated her to this secret. She was very proud and sensitive, and having always stood high in the esteem of her employer and her associates in the diamond polishing establishment, she disliked to have her marriage made public until she and her husband could go to housekeeping on their own account and possibly abandon the hard work of polishing diamonds. Still another reason was a fear that if it were known she was married she might lose her place.

For three years she kept her secret, for the ceremony was performed in Jersey City in 1886, and she told no one except a married sister when the labor was so ill as to be thought to be dying. Meantime "Miss Hancock" was carefully saving her earnings and was accumulating a small little bank account with which to go to housekeeping. She prospered so well in this that she and her husband had determined to announce their marriage this fall and to carry out their long-cherished plans of establishing a home of their own. The fatal accident ended all these hopes and brought out the circumstances of the romance of the girl's life.

The dead woman's mother and sister were almost distracted yesterday when seen by a reporter of THE TIMES. The mother was wholly incoherent and the daughter seemed to know very little of the man who had married her sister.
She said that he was a jeweler by trade and that his name was Benedict, but that he did not work in the same shop with his wife. He had taken charge of the body and had shown to them the marriage certificate. But where he lived or what his antecedents were she seemed to be wholly ignorant. He had given directions to the undertaker and had assumed general charge of the funeral, but he had gone away to some place unknown to her. The undertaker in charge of the body is W. H. Hawkes of 8 Sixth avenue, who corroborated the statement with regard to the marriage certificate and said that the name of the bride appeared there as Louisa Hancock and not as Louisa Hancock. He was acting under instructions from the husband. The funeral will be held to-day at 10 o'clock, probably from the Spring-Street Church.
Louisa was such a favorite with her employer that all the latter will furnish carriages so that all her former associates may attend the funeral.

CORNWALL VS. MONTREAL—THE CHAMPIONSHIP FLAG BELONGS TO MONTREAL.

The last lacrosse battle of the season as far as the championship is concerned, was fought on Saturday afternoon, and the much prized flags were won by the Montreals by a score of five games to two. It was a decisive victory, the home team from beginning to end playing all round their opponents at every point, and only by the greatest luck did Cornwall succeed in getting two games to their credit. They won the first game after nineteen minutes hard play, during which it is safe to say that the ball was in the Cornwall defence neighborhood for more than three-quarters of the time. The other game which they won was a complete fluke. The Montreal men were doing practically as they liked. Cornwall's home seemed entirely used up, and when the ball occasionally found its way near them they were powerless to make it count until Watson knocked it through. It was a great surprise, but too late to do them any good. The fourth game was probably one of the best fought games ever played here. It was the only game in which the Cornwallers appeared to be at all equal to their opponents. Their defence men worked for all they were worth, and during the eleven minutes which the game lasted it was simply impossible to even guess at the winner, the checking was close and heavy, and the excitement was intense. When at last the ball did go through through, making the score three to one in favor of Montreal, the spectators cheered and hurled, until they were exhausted, hats, canes, umbrellas, coats, shawls, etc., were waved and thrown in the air, and the Montreals came towards the grand stand they received a perfect ovation. The contingent of Cornwall men who came down to back up their boys were all together in one part of the stand, and as the game proceeded it was quite evident that they had backed their favorites heavily, in the certainty that they were going to win. But they were doomed to disappointment. Lewis played, and to his credit be it said that he did his best. But it was a poor best, and he was decidedly off, probably through want of sleep. He could not dodge and he couldn't run. The field would have done themselves more good and more credit if they had played one of their junior men. Of course Lewis was protested by the Montreals, not because they were afraid of him or any other man on the team, but because they are not allowed, according to the constitution of the N.A.A., to play with or against any professional, and since Lewis must be rated until the action of the Council on Thursday is proved to be legal. On the Montreal team every man played a great game without one exception, and several of them surprised their most ardent admirers. Cleghorn's game was one of the cleanest, sharpest and most brilliant ever seen on a lacrosse field, and backed up by Cheney and Shanks, they were a trio that was more than the Cornwall home could manage. Shanks made a mistake in being out of goal in the sixth game, but some of his clever stops at critical points more than excused his one blunder. McNaughton was, as usual, the star of the day. He was here, there and everywhere, and his check must have had a pleasant time following him. The field was not so bad as might be expected after the four day's rain which preceded the match. The immense audience which filled the grand stand to overflowing were most enthusiastic, and whenever the Cornwall men played extra well they received a fair share of applause. The spectators must have numbered over 6,000, and considering the miserable weather was far larger than the managers of the club had dared to hope for. Ladies were there in large numbers and proved by their presence that the national game is by far the most popular of any whether played in rain or shine.

Betting on the result of the match was as heavy as on former occasions. Cornwall men, before the match was started, asked odds of 10 to 3, in spite of their statements that Cornwall was going to win, but when the first game went in their favor they accepted bets at even. It was a good match and the Montreal team may feel proud of so fitting a climax to the brilliant showing they have made during the season. The championship flags belong to them, and have only been won by careful training, good practice and indomitable pluck and energy. They are worthy of their success, and well deserve the flattering remarks that greeted them as they left the field on Saturday.

Referee—T. Butler

The match was announced to commence at 3 o'clock, and sharp on time the teams lined up and after a few words from referee Butler took their positions and the game commenced. Quickly the Montreal men got the advantage and the rubber travelled into the Cornwall defence, putting Critch and Adams on their metal. Paton tried hard to score, but every time the boys in blue rallied around their flags and played for all they were worth. Every time the ball left the scrimmage in front of the flags McNaughton or Hodgson dropped it in again, and for ten minutes it was all defence for Cornwall. Seldom did the ball get past centre, and in a position which was held well by Elliott. Lacy, who was Elliott's check, although playing a good game, was not a match for him either as a runner or dodger. About the middle of the game the Montreal defence men were called upon to do a little work and well they did it. By dint of hard work the Cornwallers worked the ball west in spite of the clever work by Michael and Cameron. A struggle took place in front of the Montreal goals, but it did not last long, Cheney clearing in beautiful style. Carlind was the next man to get the sphere and he made a wicked shot, which was stopped by Critch. The ball, however, stayed right there, and it was an anxious time for the Cornwall backers. Geraghty and Hodgson were a great team; they worked hard and their opponents had their hands full. During a scrimmage Carlind had his nose hurt, which delayed the game for a few minutes. Montreal got the best of the face and again the Cornwall defence was attacked but without success. Suddenly the ball went towards the Montreal flags but Shanks saw any immediate danger by a capital throw. Carlind caught the ball and made a nice drop, but Watson cleared and the rubber went within a few yards of the home goal. Black was on the alert and catching the ball from Tudhope's stick passed it through the flags in just nineteen minutes from the start. The Cornwall visitors cheered as if their lives depended upon the result.

SECOND GAME.
The second game was a much shorter one and was characterized by loose and ragged playing. Neither team seemed to have properly awakened to the importance of close checking; they had hard work to keep their feet and the team play was weaker than in any other game. As usual, Montreal got the best of the face, Carlind being the first man to get a chance to throw, and he made the best of the chance by dropping the ball right in front of the visitors' flags. Adams sent it back and Cameron returned the compliment. Michael and Ellis had a sharp struggle for the rubber, in which Michael got decidedly the best of it. He passed to McNaughton and Cornwall had a very close call, Riviere being the man to send it back. Watson and Paton had a scrimmage, Watson tossing the ball right into Cleghorn's stick, he topped neatly to Paton and he in turn passed to Geraghty. Several hot shots followed, McNaughton finally passing to Paton and the score stood Cornwall one, Montreal one.

THIRD GAME.
From the face Elliott got the ball and running well he made a capital shot, but it went wide. Carpenter sent it back and Cleghorn got it. Gradually the ball was worked down into the Cornwall defence and Geraghty did some really fine playing. He dodged well and over and over again shot for the flags. Critch cleared well but the ball came back quickly. Riviere had a good chance to clear but lost to Cameron, he in turn losing to Lewis. Here Lewis made a bad mistake; he held the ball too long and lost a capital chance to relieve his goal from present danger. Critch was the lucky man to get the ball and as it went up field Cameron forced it back, where Carlind got it and tossed it into a nice position. Paton pushing aside friends and opponents alike was just in time to knock the ball through and win the second game for Montreal.

FOURTH GAME.
This was the best of the day and probably the game of the season. Entirely different from the second game, the teams played lacrosse in every sense of the word. Dodging, running and throwing well, the Montreals got the best of the play for some minutes from the start, and whenever the rubber found its way near the home goal the excitement was intense. A win for the Cornwallers would tie them, while if Montreal scored they would have a lead over their opponents which would be hard to overcome. Cornwall got the best of the face, but soon lost their advantage by a capital bit of play on the part of McNaughton. Paton had a fair chance to score, but Lewis collared the rubber and cleared by a capital throw. Shanks quickly returned, and the ball travelled up and down the field with great rapidity. Lewis once came near losing the game through a careless pass, the ball going straight into Hodgson's stick. He didn't keep it long, however, and it soon was worked down to the Montreal defence men. Cornwall was playing at this stage of the game better than at any other part of the match, and gave the home defence men all they could do for some minutes. Ellis made a capital lob shot and Shanks secured the ball and sent it journeying to the other end, and for once McNaughton lost to Adams. A catch made by Carlind was warmly applauded by the spectators. Excitement was at its highest when Black got the ball and made a fine effort to score. Several times the Cornwall home made a united effort to get the ball through, but it was no good. Shanks and Cleghorn worked probably as hard as they ever did before on a lacrosse field, and were soon rewarded by seeing the ball travelling from them. As the rubber approached the visitors' goal, Geraghty secured it but made a bad miss, Adams sending it back quickly. Shanks returned, and the ball did not again leave the Montreal home men. McNaughton and Geraghty put in some great work. Paton made a fine pass to McNaughton, he in turn dropped it nicely, and Hodgson made the winning shot. Time, eleven minutes.

FIFTH GAME.
After a close fight at the face Lacey secured the ball and passed it home-ward, Cheney returning it by a beautiful shot. McNaughton was again cheered for a fine bit of play, during which it looked as though the game would only last a few minutes. This would certainly have been the case had not Critch and Carpenter worked so hard. They saved the flags over and over again and at last got a rest through a good long throw by Lewis. Cameron, who has a knack of going all over the field at most peculiar times, did some good work, throwing well into the Cornwall flags. McNaughton passed it through after four minutes' play.

SIXTH GAME.
The sixth game was a surprise to everybody. From first to last it was all in Montreal's favor. The Cornwallers seemed discouraged and played a very loose game at every point except the immediate defence men. They certainly deserved the repeated attacks of Geraghty, Paton and McNaughton. Several times the rubber went near centre, but the watchfulness of Michael prevented it getting past. After eleven minutes' play the ball went towards the home goal and Watson scored for Cornwall.

SEVENTH GAME.
Everybody was happy except the Cornwallers. Only six minutes remained in which to play, but it only took two minutes to finish the game, Paton putting in the winning shot.

NOTES.
During the second and third game Shanks did not handle the ball once. That shows where the rubber was most of the time.

At future games something should be done to stop people from covering the grand stand with bills and dodgers of every description.
It is a noticeable fact that not one foul was called during the match, an occurrence which probably has not happened during the series just played.
The rumor that the Montreals would lose the game so as to get a share of the gate money at the final match, was proved as untrue as the statement that the Shamrocks would throw the match which they played with Montreal three weeks ago.

THE TURF.
OPENING DAY OF THE BEL-AIR JOCKEY CLUB'S FALL MEETING.

The notice of the postponement of the Bel-Air Jockey Club races on Saturday was very generally commended, as the extra attraction of the great Lacrosse match precluded anything like a good attendance. The condition of the track also precluded anything like good contests being brought off.

It is to be hoped that to-morrow "Old Sol" will pay a visit to the new race course to greet the numerous ladies and gentlemen who are sure to journey out to Bel-Air, to witness the opening day of the Jockey Club's Fall meeting. If the weather is only favorable they will be rewarded by witnessing some first class racing.

The bookmakers on the ground will be Messrs. O'Neill & Co., Woodstock; Forbes and Crahan, Woodstock; Haslam & Co., Toronto; Maloney & Co., Toronto, and Henry Brown & Co., Toronto. The pool-selling privileges have been let to Messrs. Henry Brown & Co., of Toronto. The club will also have a mutual stand on the grounds.

DONOVAN WINS THE LANCASTER PLATE.
LONDON, Sept. 21.—The race for the Lancaster Plate, valued at $12,000, run at Manchester to-day, was won by Donovan, Chitabob 2nd and Alicante 3rd.

FOOTBALL.
The McGill Football Club are preparing their work for the coming season, which they expect will be a very busy one for those who take an interest in football matters. The students commenced practice this week and will try and arrange to have practice with the medicine and science schools after four o'clock on Thursdays.

THE SEASON COMMENCED AT YALE.
NEW HAVEN, Conn. Sept. 21.—The football season was opened at Yale this afternoon. Forty '93 men appeared for candidates for the freshmen, and a match was played between 11 of the University men and a team picked from the different clubs. The Yale eleven played. Three men were carried off the field, and several others were quite badly hurt. Harvey, a half-back of the University eleven, was roughly tackled, and a severely sprained ankle resulted. He was carried from the field suffering great pain. It will be several weeks before he can play. His loss will cripple the 11.

THE ROD.
QUINACINCH FISHING AT LAKE ST. JOHN.

A gentleman who returned last night from Lake St. John, says that sportsmen here are having grand sport with the Quinacinch (land-locked salmon). These royal fish, he says, have left the Grand Discharge and are going up the rivers which flow into the lake, and numbers are captured by the Metabetchouan River. An American who fished that river from the 1st to the 17th of September caught 84 of these fish.
