Vet of Two Wars is P.C. Candidate J. deLalanne

A varied and interesting life is the main feature of James A. deLalanne, who was unanimously selected Progressive Conservative candidate for St. Antoine-Westmount riding, on Monday night, for the next federal general election.

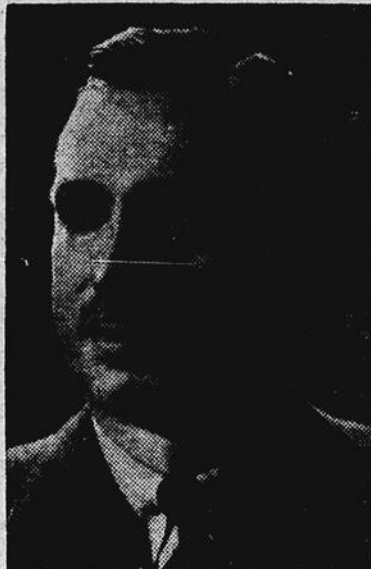

Born in Westmount, Mr. deLalanne was educated in King's and Queen's Schools, Westmount Academy, Victoria School, Lachute Academy and McGill University. He entered McGill on a scholarship from the Lachute school but his course was interrupted in 1915 when he joined the army as a private at the age of 18 and proceeded overseas to France in August.

He quickly rose to the rank of sergeant and then lieutenant, emerging from battle as a captain at 21 years of age. He was wounded three times and received the Military Cross and bar for his gallantry in action.

Back at McGill after the war, he received his B.A. degree before taking chartered accounting, where he took the prize for the highest marks in the examinations that year.

Mr. deLalanne returned to the active army in July, 1940. He finished this war as Vice-Adjutant General of the army at National Defence Headquarters and received the decoration Commander of the Order of the British Empire, and the Order of the White Lion from the Czech republic.

In Westmount he has been on

Past Presidents Honoured By Westmount Rotary Club

The Wednesday meeting of the Rotary Club of Westmount was a special day set aside to honor the past presidents of the club. As many as possible of the former leaders who were present were asked to speak and first was Jim deLalanne, newly nominated candidate for the Progressive-Conservative party in St. Antoine-Westmount riding.

Mr. deLalanne recalled that 20 years ago Rotary found it possible to give more service to the community than it did now and said he hoped the clubs would go back to their old ideas. He stated that "People today think of Rotary as more of a collection agency," because of the large number of financial campaigns it sponsors.

Reminiscing, John Coulton told of how he remembered the day when he joined the club, when the idea of a service club was comparatively new. He also made reference to the time when the Westmount club was actually the "baby" of the Montreal club and told of the many meetings with the parent club, which have become more and more infrequent of late.

Each Rotarian's "original debt" was the subject of Bud Close's short talk. "The original debt," he said, "is the charge put to each Rotary member to leave the club better off than when he found it." Also speaking of Rotary's financial campaigns, he said that the Westmount unit had in the past raised and distributed $250,000 since its inception. "This amount," he stated, "is more money than any other service club in Montreal, no matter what the club's size."

"What can Rotary give me?" was the choice of topic of Ewart Everson. And his answer was "friends". He spoke of how he had first moved to the Montreal area with the desire to live in Westmount. No sooner did he come to this city than he was asked to join the local club and in no time at all, his position changed from one of not knowing anyone to that of having many friends — friends he has kept to this day.

COUNCIL PLANS BUSINESS TAX RAISE

Several Other Items On Agenda

Among the items passed by the City Council on Monday night were:

Police were instructed to check up on motorists who do not stop 10 feet behind trams.

The Council authorized the expenditure of approximately $4,000 for the purchase of a new battery and rectifying system to replace the present battery system supplying the police and fire signal system.

Permission was granted to the Westmount Taxi Co. to establish a stand at the Avenue Theatre for three cabs.

The spring flower show at the greenhouses will open next Thursday at 8 p.m. and will be open for the public's inspection from 10 a.m. to 10 p.m. each day except Sunday when it will be open from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m.

Unity Club Campaign Reaches $19,274

Subscriptions to the Unity Boys' Club building drive totalled 323 in number since the drive opened about two weeks ago, it was announced at the regular weekly meeting of the Rotary Club of Westmount on Wednesday. These subscriptions bring the amount brought in up to $19,274, of which $16,601 is in cash and $2,673 has been pledged.

Add this to the $72,000 already set aside by the Rotary Club for the project and they now have over $91,000 of the $175,000 objective.

Fees Will Be Up 2 1/2% When By-Law Is Passed

A new by-law concerning the raising of business taxes and license fees was given second reading at Monday night's meeting of the Westmount City Council and if passed will jump business taxes two-and-a-half per cent on the average, from the six per cent now in force to eight-and-a-half per cent. This tax is based on the annual value of the premises of all businesses.

The purpose of the change is to consolidate and simplify the by-law that has had eight amendments since first put in force in 1914, making it difficult to interpret. Its substance, however, has not been changed since 1918. The rise in percentage is in direct relation to the increase in the cost of services, City Hall officials say.

A completely new section of the by-law levies a tax of eight-and-a-half per cent on the annual value of the property in which professions are practised, also. This tax is based on the annual value of that part only that is used for professional services.

A third section levies an annual tax based on the annual value of premises referred to as "less desirable" businesses such as stone cutting establishments, undertaking parlors, bowling establishments, shooting galleries, pawn brokers and transient traders. This tax amounts to 10 per cent but has various minimums and a maximum of $600 per year.

The fourth section provides for an annual tax in the form of a license fee and is set at varying amounts. It affects agents and canvassers ice delivery vehicles, bakers' and milk delivery wagons, and any vehicle delivering from door-to-door. If the man making the actual call does not have a vehicle, the license must be carried on his person.

The fees for such licenses have in general been increased by the by-law 20 per cent where the fee has been less than $50. License fees for bicycles and dogs will not be changed.

Firemen Escort Baby Sitter From Burning Building

One woman had to be escorted from the building by Westmount firemen when fire broke out Monday at 1.51 p.m. in a commercial building at 1215 Greene Avenue.

Mrs. M. Lordly of the Baby Sitters Service Bureau whose office was immediately across the hall from where the fire broke out, was trapped for a while in the office by smoke, before being rescued.

The alarm was given by L. F. Harding, of Sprad Show Card Designers, who reported that he lit a match and the head accidentally flew off and landed among some paint. He strove to put out the fire himself but his attempts were unsuccessful.

One stream was used and the blaze was kept within the one room but the hallways of the building suffered smoke damage. The premises at 1217 Greene, occupied by J. H. Hill, photographer, and May's Rite Fit store at 1219 Greene suffered water damage.

Young Pro-Cons At Convention

Young Progressive-Conservatives of the district played an important part at the convention which nominated Brigadier J. De Lalanne, M.C., as the P. C. candidate in St. Antoine-Westmount riding on Monday night.

Brig. De Lalanne's nomination was seconded by Jean Ducharme, representing the Young Progressive Conservatives, and in his acceptance speech, Brig. De Lalanne stressed the fact that he was counting on the Young P. C.'s for assistance in his forthcoming campaign.

Of the 111 voting delegates present at the meeting, eight were members of the Young Progressive Conservative Association, including Mrs. A. H. Brown, Kenneth MacDonald, Peter Greenwood, P. N. Blakeney, Art Wilks, G. H. Cairns and Reg Torne.

LIBRARY CLOSED ON GOOD FRIDAY

The Westmount Public Library, 4574 Sherbrooke Street West, will be closed all day Good Friday and Easter Monday but will be open as usual on Saturday from 10 a.m. until 6 p.m.

Sixty Years a Minister and People Still Flock to Rev. W. D. Reid for Aid

Sixty years ago this month, April 1889, Rev. W. D. Reid, D.D., pastor emeritus of Stanley Presbyterian Church, Westmount, preached his first sermon at Avoca.

Graduating from McGill University in 1890, he acted as student in charge of the old Victoriatown Church while following his Theology course at the Presbyterian College, graduating in 1894.

He then accepted a call to become officially ordained pastor of the Victoriatown Church in which charge he continued until 1896, when he resigned to follow a post-graduate course at Edinburgh and Glasgow.

Returning to America the next year, he attended Harvard University until May, 1898, when he became the pastor of Taylor Presbyterian Church in the east end of Montreal.

During the following 11 years the congregation of Taylor Church showed steady growth under his pastorate and many of Montreal's older generation of businessmen look backward with satisfaction to the Bible Class established there in the early years of the century.

The spirit of the pioneer came to the fore in 1909 when he accepted the post of Superintendent of Missions for Alberta, a role which he filled for three years at a time when Western Canada was being settled by a steady influx of immigrants from Britain and Europe.

It was his responsibility to visit all the Presbyterian preaching stations in the entire province of Alberta and also establish new ones where he considered the need urgent.

When he undertook this work there were 110 stations and when he left the territory in 1912, the number had increased to 166.

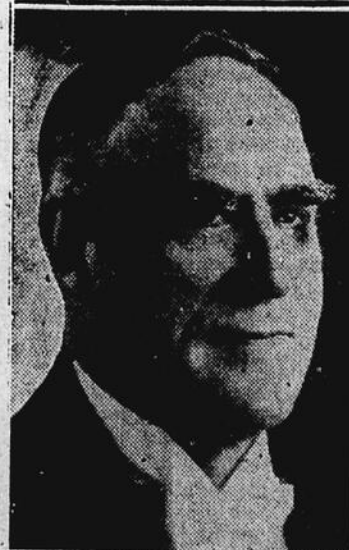

The year 1912 found him back in Montreal when he accepted a call to the pulpit of the old Stanley Street Church which was located beside the Windsor Hotel.

Foreseeing the westward trek of Montreal's population he advocated transferring the old church's activities from its downtown location to a site on the upper level of Westmount, an opinion which was not shared by those of less foresight and vision.

The new Stanley Church at the corner of Victoria and Westmount Avenues was opened for service on October 4, 1914, when pastor and congregation set to work in their new field of endeavor.

The new church grew with the district, due in large measure to the fact that every home was visited by the minister.

The degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred on him by

MESSAGE TO WRITERS

This week I address myself to those furtive citizens of this thriving suburban city who harbour secret ambitions to replace Sinclair Lewis, Ernest Hemingway and Faith Baldwin on the best seller lists. For this is spring and spring is the annual Writer's Digest short story contest. But leave us save labour by having the W. D. people relate their own tale:

You are cordially invited to enter the Write's Digest short-short story contest which opens February 1st and closes April 25th, 1949. Scripts may be any length up to 1,500 words, but not over that length. There are no tabus as to subject matter, characters or themes.

This is the 15th annual contest sponsored by the editors of Write's Digest. Among the 2,000 previous winners are many free-lance writers who got their very first break this way. The contest is open to all writers.

Three impartial judges will read each story entered in the contest and their decision is final.

The editors of Write's Digest, in addition to awarding $3000 in prizes, will, if requested by the winning authors at the time they are advised of their prize, undertake to sell the copies they consider marketable. No commission or marketing expense is charged, and we usually sell 30 per cent of the winning scripts.

As a prize winner, however, you are under no obligation to us, and may dispose of your story in any way you wish.

Send in your best short-short, or write one now. There is a constant need for this word length in editorial baskets.

Here are a few points that may help you write your story:

1. If possible, face your main character with a real problem;
2. See that his desire to solve that problem, rather than run away from it, stems from strong, good reasons;
3. If he solves the problem, be positive his method is creditable, not something put too easily into his hand by Fate;
4. If he fails to solve the problem, you may have a good story provided a philosophy or theme is implicit, and your character's failure to solve his problem is essential to the story.

Mail your entries to the Contest Editor, Write's Digest, 22 East 12th Street, Cincinnati 10, Ohio.

Calvary Pack is justly proud of Cub Ronald Nichol who won the recent essay contest, on "Why I Am A Wolf Cub" in competition with the Cubs of six other Cub Packs. Ronnie's reward was an afternoon with the "Mounties", touring through the R.C.M.P. stables, saw the Sportsman's Show, went through Radio Station CFCF and enjoyed supper away from home. Ron is not yet nine years of age, so winning this prize was quite an accomplishment.

St. Luke's Pack

Stewart Caryer held the totem pole and John Moulard led the Pack in a slightly different version of the Grand Howl at St. Luke's Friday evening when the Brown Six won the inspection. Akela Swales gave the boys a short talk on the coming Hobby Show and reminded them of the Parents' Night slated for May. Get busy on those Hobby Show entries now, boys! During instruction period, David Cochrane and Roger Anderson passed Union Flag, Charles Debell, Physical Exercises and Richard Powell, Peter Ellis and David Rennie, Folding Clothes. The meeting closed with a sing-song around the camp-fire, followed by the usual closing ceremonies. the Presbyterian College in 1920.

Dr. Reid completed 25 years of service as pastor of Stanley Church in 1937 at which time he retired from active service.

At three periods of his busy career he has found time to act as Professor of Theology and Homiletics; in 1904-5 and 1926-30 at McGill University and at Queen's University in 1919.

Although confined to his home for the past few years, scarcely a day passes without some of his former parishioners soliciting his fatherly advice on spiritual matters. During his ministry he has received over 2000 people into full communion on profession of faith.

Fortunate in having a retentive memory, Dr. Reid recalls that the text of his first sermon 60 years ago was, "Now are we ambassadors for Christ."

Based on his record during the intervening years he appears to have worthily played that role.

YOUNG ADULT SECTION

Easter is nearly here and with it comes thoughts of summer. Summer brings thoughts of holidays. Holidays — Camp Otoreke here we come. The newcomer to this area of Canada will be wondering just where to spend his time. Those who have been to the YMCA young adult camp in the Laurentians know the answer to this problem. A holiday at Camp Otoreke is a never to be forgotten experience, and one which bears repeating many times. Enquire at the program office for full particulars.

With Easter comes the last of some of the winter activities. The Leathercraft and Dance Instruction groups will hold their last meetings this next week, but their benefits will continue. The success of these two additions to the program has been outstanding and it is certain that they will be held again next season. With the coming of Daylight Saving time on April 24th, the Sunday evening firesides will stop until the warmth of a fire is needed again. The warmth of friendship will still be needed but that will be maintained throughout all the activities during the summer months.

The Bridge Club will continue to meet on Monday evenings at 8 p.m. The continued popularity of this activity should carry it through the summer as happened last year. Here is your opportunity to meet new people, make new friends, and learn or play a popular game. Come in next Monday.

The Friday Social Dance will be held as usual tonight at 9.30 p.m. These events continue to draw the crowds, but the men appear much earlier than their partners. Does the thought of square dancing keep you late? This preliminary session of Virginia Reels and square sets is plenty of fun to watch if not to dance. Just come out and you will be wanting to join in. 9.30 is the time.

The Young men's Fellowship had a farewell party for Al Curran, their popular secretary. The main feature of the evening, after the presentation, was each member of the group trying to outwit the others with his pet poser. What do you use to puzzle others — matches? coins? or mental problems? They were all used last Tuesday.

The YEBA Club are meeting on Wednesday evenings but they are now using the gym at 7.30 p.m. and are holding their regular meetings after a good workout. This group of young men will welcome you. Come out next week.

The Music Appreciation Group have planned a program of Easter Music for their meeting next Thursday evening at 8.15 p.m. The arrangement of the recordings is being made by Anne MacFeely. A pops concert was held last Thursday evening, and the program as arranged by Walter Ramshaw proved very interesting.

BOYS' DIVISION

Suyung-Ok Pyun spoke at a general meeting of YMCA Teenagers last week at the Westmount "Y". Mr. Pyun told an interesting story of Korea, "land of morning calm."

Representatives were present from the Westmount Hi-Y Clubs, St. Henri B.B.C., St. Henri Tri-Y, Westmount Junior Hi-Y, Triangles and Teenagers.

Mr. Pyun spoke of the language of Korea and illustrated his talk with blackboard drawings.

A general meeting of this sort is planned to take place every six weeks. At which time, all YMCA Clubs in the Westmount Area will have a chance to assemble and listen to a speech on current events. After which will follow a general question period and light refreshments.

Teenagers' Saturday Nite—The Westmount "Y" has been the scene of a series of Saturday Night Parties for Teenagers, featuring the music of Randy Whinfield and his orchestra.

A successful attempt has been made to expand the regular Saturday Night Dance into a number of other features of interest. Dance instruction of an informal nature has been held each Saturday evening at 8 p.m., immediately preceding the dance at 8.30, films on sports, teenagers' social etiquette and of a comedy nature have been shown, while at 9 p.m., fellows and girls have joined in a mixed swim.

The plans of the Westmount Y.M.C.A. Teenagers' Committee is to add a number of activities such as, ping pong tournaments, bridge instruction, etc., to the regular Saturday Night evening. Westmount "Y" Teenagers' parties are operated by a representative group of fellows and girls from the various "Y" clubs in the Westmount area.

President of this year's club is Morley Swan, who is ably assisted by a committee composed of the following: Bill Wright, Llu-Amoy Wheatley, Ruth Luck, Lois Foreman, Letha Taylor, Lydon McKeown, Derek Dawson, Margaret Martin, Milton Nish, Lillian Hibbs, Pat Burden, Jean McKinley, Kenneth Hale, Kenneth Eisler and Jimmy Waller.

"Y" Swim Club — Westmount "Y" Swim Club holds its regular meeting at 7.30, Tuesday evenings. All boys interested in taking part in the specialized instruction period are required to complete a 3rd Intermediate Level YMCA Swimming Card.

SPCA Appeals For Care of Pets

The Canadian Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals issues an appeal to people who are moving this spring to take care of their pets.

"If you cannot keep your dog or cat any longer or do not want them, do not leave them behind or purposely lose them when you move," they ask. "If people considered for a moment, they would realize how cruel they are in deserting animals; yet thousands are left to starve and run the streets.

"When animals are moved from one house to another, it is wise to keep them shut in for a few days, as they may become frightened in the strange surroundings and try to find their way back to the old familiar homes. Many animals are lost this way.

"A telephone call to the Society will bring the ambulance to take unwanted animals to their headquarters. There is no charge. The home is open from 8.30 a.m. to 9 p.m. and the telephone number is WI. 2109."

R.C.A.S.C. SMOKER

Westmount Branch (Quebec No. 39) of the Canadian Legion will hold a smoker at the R.C.A.S.C. Armoury, Hillside Avenue, Westmount, April the 20th, at 8.30 p.m.

Refreshments will be served.

NATURE'S ASSISTANTS

The Spring Exhibition of flowers in the Westmount Conservatories has small beginnings, as Eric Aho and Robert Eaglesham, gardeners, can tell you. Here, they are shown at their daily routine — Eric making the cuttings, "Bob" planting them in rich black soil.

Exhibition To Open Thurs.

BY PAUL McCAFFERY

A trip to the City of Westmount greenhouses situated on the west side of scenic Westmount Park may not be a trip to a foreign land but the language used therein is just as hard to understand.

Such words as schizanthus, muscari, primula malacoides, primula obconica, antirrhinum and cineraris are used with evident abandon. The innocent bystander would never realize that antirrhinum is merely the botanical name for the common snapdragon.

The superficial sight-seeing tour many residents of the district take during this time of year completely fails to uncover the hidden drama that lies behind the growth of these admittedly beautiful plants. A conducted tour is not only helpful but an absolute necessity. We were fortunate in that we secured the services for an afternoon of James Armstrong, for the history of the greenhouses is his history, also.

It will be 30 years this June since Mr. Armstrong first joined the parks department under whose control the conservatories lie. His promotion to supervisor in the parks department which became effective April 1, is the culmination and reward of two years of general work outside in the parks as a gardener, 18 more working in the conservatory, and ten as parks general foreman. His is more of an executive job now, assisting parks superintendent E. J. Anderson, supervising the maintenance of all work connected with the department, such as playground areas, beautifying the parks, tree trimming and looking after the conservatory and decorations for Victoria Hall.

ASSORTED ARRAY

Always at this time of year, the complete staff turns its hands to the difficult task of preparing for the Spring Exhibition, scheduled this year to run to three to four weeks, starting April 14th.

Opening day will find the year's work of the department on display. Groups of daffodils, narcissus, hyacinthes, roses, spirea, hydrangeas — all will be there in colourful array, thousands by number, hundreds in classification, and in dozens of sizes.

The many coloured cinerarias with their centres of mixed gold and blue are not the least beautiful. In fact, in order to truly appreciate this child of nature's magic, it is necessary to use a microscope. With only the naked eye, their centres appear to have dust on the beautiful blue, but with a microscope it can be seen that the gold "dust" is one of its finer points.

The ever popular, and expensive, orchid will be there, too, in all its glory, but these are not destined to grace Madame's bosom, despite the fact that a few have been surreptitiously picked in the past by ogling tourists.

THE FINISHED PRODUCT

That's over $200 worth of orchids (if you bought them from a florist) that James A. Armstrong is putting the finishing touches on. Mr. Armstrong has been connected with the Westmount Conservatories for 30 years, working both outside and inside.

Stamp Club Hears Talk On British West Indies

Rex Stollmeyer, Trade Commissioner for the British West Indies, British Guiana and the Bahamas, gave an excellent illustrated talk on the Islands of the West Indies at the last meeting of the Westmount Stamp Club.

Mr. Stollmeyer, who was born in Trinidad and educated at St. Andrew's College, Toronto, and the University of Dartmouth in the United States, brings you, with his easy and informative way of speaking, down amongst the beautiful tropical islands which unfold on the screen with almost unbelievable coloring.

Dominica, which was portrayed first on the screen, proved very mountainous and seems to be one of the most tropical of the islands

W.E.H. Society Closing Meeting Set April 14th

Thursday, April 14th, will be the big night of the year for members and friends of the West End Horticultural Society, the final meeting of this season taking place at 8.15 p.m. at the Boy Scouts Hall, 5867 Cote St. Antoine Road, and the drawing for prizes in the War Memorial Rose Garden subscription campaign will be made during the evening.

Principal speaker will be Louis Perron, B.L.A. (Cornell) a member of the Canadian Society of Landscape Artists, who will talk on "How To Landscape Your Small Home". Mr. Perron will illustrate his address with 'Before and After' landscaping pictures and the subject should be especially interesting to the many new-home owners in this district.

A. R. B. Taylor, a pioneer member of the Society, will trace the growth of the organization during the past sixteen years, which should prove enlightening to those not familiar with the background of the West End Horticultural Society.

The big event of the meeting will be the drawing for War Memorial Rose Garden prizes. Nearly 100 prizes will be awarded, including a $500 Dominion of Canada bond, power lawn mower, floor polisher, vacuum cleaner, silver fox neckpiece, silver fox muff and other prizes. Subscriptions to the Rose Garden campaign may still

Miss Frances Sweeny, Holder of Many Art Awards, Stages Exhibition

A letter of thanks from Queen Elizabeth's lady-in-waiting for a painting of some trilliums sent the Queen, a prize for an art competition held in the United States and seven prizes from well-known artists in Montreal are some of the rewards gained by Miss Frances B. Sweeny, who resides at 337 Kensington avenue, Westmount, for long hours spent with the easel and brush.

An exhibition of her paintings has been going on all this week at her residence.

Miss Sweeny's first art studies were under the direction of Edmund Dyonnet, R.C.A., and subsequently under Miss Sandborn and John Johnson at the Monument Nationale. Further study followed under Mr. Dyonnet at the Montreal Art Gallery, then a year of drawing at the Beaux Arts and four years modelling under Alfred Laliberte.

Travelled Overseas

While spending a winter in Bermuda, Miss Sweeny sketched many important scenes and then exhibited and sold many of these and other pictures. In 1928, she went to England, Scotland and Ireland for the purpose of attending the important galleries in these countries. While there, she made sketches of over 100 scenes and views. Again returning to the British Isles, including Wales this time, in 1934, she added many more sketches to her list of paintings and sold quite a number in London and elsewhere.

Most of her trips have been financed by her paintings.

Since 1920, she has exhibited annually at the Women's Art Society and since 1925, has put on shows at her own studio. From 1933 to 1936, she had paintings in the Spring Exhibitions at the Art Gallery and at various times since. Three of her flower pictures were purchased by the Public Schools of Lachine.

Art Convener

Miss Sweeny is a member of the Women's Art Studio and this year has been made convener. Her picture show harmony and a remarkable blending of colours. She has travelled extensively in Canada and the U.S. She attended Mr. Beatty's School of Art at Port Hope for two summers.

It is readily evident that she loves her work and she believes and hopes she can continue it for many more years. "A wonderful outlet" is the way she describes her work, and she believes everyone should have a hobby of some kind.

Her letter from the Queen's lady-in-waiting came after the Queen had admired Canadian wild flowers while on her tour of Canada.

meters of over nine inches, pelargoniums — a variety of the geranium family, and many, many other are there for inspection.

However, perhaps the most interesting part of the whole many-aisled building is the tropical house where the night blooming cereus, (cactus), blooms but one night a year, where the streptocarpus (bird of paradise) comes out each autumn with a bloom shaped like a bird's head, and where there are pineapples, sugar cane with stalks 12 to 15 feet high, banana trees, anthuriums whose leaf is like an elephant's ear, calceolaria whose flower is similar in form to a lady's purse, and the cannibalistic "fly catcher".

Known among the intelligentsia of the plant world as the dionaea muscipula, this latter plant actually entraps and "eats" flies and other insects, body and all.

Small hairs on the surface secure the unfortunate victim to the leaf and while he is struggling vainly for freedom, the sides of the leaf fold ever so neatly around him and devour him, only releasing their grip when all the "digestible" parts have been consumed.

All in all, a more interesting pastime of, for that matter, full time job, could not be found for who can be closer to nature's intrigues than those dealing day by day directly with nature?

due to the great rainfall there. There are around 365 small rivers which also help to produce the heavy vegetation.

The island of Antigua, which produces sugar, is rather flat but has some good bathing beaches. The Beach Hotel there is quite well known to most of the tropical travellers.

A film on fishing, showing tarpon, the huge grouper and the flying fish boats proved very interesting. The most exciting fishing of course in the islands is the turtle fishing, done with the aid of a harpoon. Turtles up to 300 pounds, were caught there, and Mr. Stollmeyer had quite a fascinating bit of film on this.

Mr. Stollmeyer who only recently returned from Nassau and the Bahamas with Mrs. Stollmeyer, from a business trip, expects to leave shortly for England and the continent.

Westmount Had First Air Cadets

Air Cadet Week was launched across Canada on Wednesday and continues until next Tuesday . . . but how many people know that the whole movement had its origin right here in this city?

A few years prior to World War II, few people realized the problems that lay ahead of them. However, an active group of former officers of the Royal Flying Corps and the Royal Naval Air Service had already gotten together planning for just such an eventuality. Their idea was to get young boys interested in aviation.

They figured that the only logical way to obtain recruits for the auxiliary squadron of the R.C.A.F. operating in the city was to form a cadet squadron. But war broke out and the auxiliary squadron became an active squadron.

Nevertheless, certain prominent Westmount citizens, led by Major Hugh M. Scott, M.C., decided to advance the idea of the formation of air cadets, especially since war made it necessary to have a steady flow of young air crew ready.

Representations were made to the government at Ottawa, especially through the late Walter A. Merrill, K.C., who made many visits to that city. The outcome was the authorization to form what was to become No. 1 Westmount Squadron, Air Cadets of Canada.

Running concurrently with the formation of the squadron was the idea of an Air Cadet League and this, too, was finally brought about through Mr. Merrill's energetic leadership. The league now numbers 30,000 members in its ranks.

Today, the squadron has been reorganized and is known as No. 1 West Montreal Squadron, sponsored by the Air Force Veterans' Association (Quebec) Branch 84, Canadian Legion and has an enlistment of over 120 cadets. The Commanding Officer is F.O. Hugh S. Greene who was a cadet with the original squadron.

"YANKEE STRANGER" By ELSWYTH THANE

Yankee Stranger is an historical romance against the background of the American Civil war. The setting changes from peaceful Williamsburg to Richmond. It is a vivid picture of the wounded being brought in, and of the hardships endured by the Confederates.

It is the story of lovely Eden Day, who falls in love with the Yankee Stranger, Cabot Murray, on the eve of war, of the hardships, happy and unhappy moments of Eden while Cabot is fighting for the enemy. Eden's family is wholesome and colorful, from wise and understanding Gran, to youthful and happy Myrta, as compared to Cabot's family, his father, taciturn, his step-mother grim and bent on doing her duty, and his lonesome sister, Millicent, and her love of music.

Yankee Stranger is delightful reading, you will enjoy the vivid picture of war nearly a hundred years ago, the many complications that arise when a family is interrelated, and what happens when you fall in love with a Yankee Stranger.

"SIR NIGEL"

By SIR ARTHUR C. DOYLE

Among Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's lesser known books, are the White Company and Sir Nigel. Sir Nigel deals with the first part of the hundred years war between England and France, the book is exciting at all times, and it gives a clear insight into the customs and manners of those days.

The house of Loring had been impoverished, and Nigel wishing to restore the lands and fortune of the Lorings, took service with an English captain, Sir John Chandos, an outstanding officer. Pledging his troth to the Lady Mary of Dupplin, Nigel goes to France, and his journey and campaign in Brittany and Aquitaine are full of adventures and dangers.

The climax of the story is reached when Nigel, having fought bravely at Maupertuis or Poitiers, for his valour was knighted by the Black Prince. Nigel loaded with favors returns home to England and marries the Lady Mary.

World Service In Action

PHILIPPINES

The YMCA of the Philippines has climbed to a peak position in membership, services, and public support even though postwar building reconstruction is nowhere near completion, and swimming pools, gymnasiums, and classrooms still lie in ruins. When last checked, the number of active members equalled the high-water mark of 1941 when war first struck the Philippines. Though the rebuilding of cities, bridges, and 15,000 schools all demand refinancing, friends of the Association have been giving to Y work three to five times the amount contributed before the war. The number and particularly the high quality of volunteer workers make it possible for the 53 secretaries to promote programs far beyond the range and power ever attempted before. The three youngest men on the YMCA's National Board were recently offered posts in the Cabinet of the Philippine Government. And Judge Manuel Camus, National President of the YMCA, received the honors this year awarded to the outstanding civilian in contribution to public welfare.

Associations have been reorganized in 11 major cities with trained Filipino secretaries financing in full all current expenses. The smallest city Association, Lucena, has 1,600 members, 8 Red-Triangle Boys' Clubs, one of the 10 Y's Men's Clubs in the country, a Collegiate Association, and at its Community Education meetings, varying attendance records of between 2,500 and 5,000 weekly. Its Y's Men's Club, with a membership of 90, was awarded the Benet Trophy, by the International Committee for outstanding work last year. The extension work carried on by this single Association included the showing of educational movies in 15 surrounding towns.

Like the Lucena Association, each of the 11 major YMCAs promoted student, community and boy's work that carried over into other larger villages and municipalities. YMCA influence has thus permeated vast numbers of the general public. A National College Conference and 3 Hi-Y Conferences, held during the last Christmas holidays, brought large segments of the membership together from all over the Islands. Camping throughout the year was a prominent program feature, with 50% more boys passing through camps this year than last. Delinquent and underprivileged boys continue to be the majority in attendance, financed for the most part by public spirited citizens.

Mrs. R. Gilbride Legion Women's Guest Speaker

On Wednesday in the Legion Memorial Building on Mountain Street, ex-service women from all branches of Canadian and Allied services met for their second reunion since the end of the war. About 400 women crowded the auditorium to discuss old times, listen to speeches and partake of the refreshment and entertainment offered.

Guest speaker of the evening was Mrs. R. G. Gilbride, 7 Brock Avenue N., Montreal West, who was instrumental in helping to get the Memorial Building for the Legion. Mrs. Gilbride's address was on the topic of racial discrimination, and she belaboured those whose prejudices prevented members of any minority group from living the full and happy life to which he is entitled in Canada.

Other speakers included Pete Laing, 2nd vice-president of the Legion, Father O'Brien, R. C. Padre for many Legion Branches, Mrs. W. Macintosh, president of Edith Cavell Branch 93, Mrs. M. Portelance, president of ANA 155, Mrs. A. Copping, president of General Price Branch 206, Miss Dorothy Roy, 1st vice-president of Dunbar 104. All spoke on the Legion and its activities.

Miss Annette Beauchamp, chairman of the Women's Zone Committee of the Canadian Legion welcomed the guests, and Mrs. Ina Bogle, who was chairman of the evening, introduced the speakers.

The entertainment which consisted of monologues and tap dancing plus a sing song, accounted in large part for the evening's success. A similar get together will be planned for next year if possible.

LENTEN SEASON—AND DISABLED VETS

At this time of year a great many people crack down on the cigarette or candy habit, and apart from its spiritual implication, for some the result probably is a very good thing physically in resting up from these for a while.

As this self-denial has its origin in religious beliefs it is to be presumed that the money saved should be handed over to the church or expended in good deeds of some kind; bereft of this feature the procedure becomes mere discipline of the senses for economic benefit. Yet there are many proud of their resolution and determination who do not complete the sacrifice. Quite a few are not regular church-goers and have not thought of turning over the saving involved to benefit their fellow-beings who need comfort or help.

As a suggestion to these latter — why not go ahead and buy your cigarettes and candies but (and this takes doing, too) instead of taking delivery, arrange with your dealer to deliver them to either of the Veterans' Hospitals?

Would this not lend a real meaning to your self-denial?

Forsaken By God?

"Now from the sixth hour there was darkness over all the land unto the ninth hour. And about the ninth hour Jesus cried with a loud voice, saying, Eloi, lama, sa-bach-thani? that is to say, My God, My God, why hast thou forsaken me?"

(The Bible, Matthew 27: 45, 46)

These words bring us into the inmost sanctuary of our Saviour's mediatorial ministry and into the deepest abyss of the mystery of His passion. Read them again. Have you ever attempted to answer that question?

Jesus apparently got no answer from heaven at the time. It was mid-afternoon, yet it was dark as night, for the blackness of hell had settled over land and people. Nature, convulsed with horror, shuddered, the earth quaked and draped itself in darkness.

But this darkness in nature only faintly suggested the awful desolation within Jesus' soul when He felt Himself forsaken of God in the moment of His intensest ordeal. We should look for such an outburst of dereliction from a lost soul, an exile of heaven, consigned to the bottomless pit and doomed to the torment of hell; but not from Jesus, lover of God and men. Had not heaven declared; "This is my beloved Son in whom I am well pleased: hear ye him?"

Some, shrinking from the horrible implications of this orphan cry, have suggested that in the fever of suffering Christ only imagined Himself forsaken. It was, they feel, utterly impossible for such an innocent sufferer ever to be abandoned by His God. A profounder insight, however, senses that in this moment Christ, in His role as the obedient servant and the sin-bearing substitute, assumed the full weight of heaven's deep frown on the guilt of man's sin. For a holy God turns finally away from the soul that goes into eternity incorrigibly wedded to his sins. And Christ must taste also this forsakenness of hell's fearful exile and final despair in the place of those who trust in Him as the only confidence that the sin-and-guilt question of their lives has been forever settled.

But these words lift the veil also on the ultimate darkness of every soul that rejects Christ and wants to be rid of Him and His insistent claims. This blackness of forsakenness is a picture of the soul who leaves this life refusing Christ thereby casting himself out of the fellowship of heaven's eternal security.

Friend, are you living today on the wrong side or the right side of Calvary? If on the wrong side, will you ask the crucified, risen, ascended Saviour to receive you? Honestly confess your sin and guilt and your need of such a Saviour as this One who was forsaken of God that we might never be forsaken, but always be accepted of him?

Christian Science
 "Are Sin, Disease and Death Real?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday. The Golden Text is from Psalms 103: 2-4. "Bless the Lord, O my soul, and forget not all his benefits: who forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thy diseases; who redeemeth thy life from destruction." Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible: "And, behold, there was a woman which had a spirit of infirmity eighteen years, and was bowed together, and could in no wise lift up herself. And when Jesus saw her, he called her to him, and said unto her, Woman, thou art loosed from thine infirmity. And he laid his hands on her: and immediately she was made straight, and glorified God." (St. Luke 13: 11-13.) The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science & Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "If sickness is true or the idea of Truth, you cannot destroy sickness, and it would be absurd to try. Then classify sickness and error as our Master did, when he spoke of the sick, "whom Satan hath bound", and find a sovereign antidote for error in the life-giving power of Truth acting on human belief, a power which opens the prison doors to such as are bound, and sets the captive free physically and morally". (Page 495.)

Westmount Baptist
 "The Judges Who Tried His Case". This will be the theme of the morning sermon in Westmount Baptist Church. In the approach to Easter Dr. J. A. Johnston is speaking of "Men Around The Master". A request has recently been presented to the Supreme Court of Israel to review the case of Jesus Christ. On that momentous morning of the long ago, Jesus appeared before three courts, that of the Sanhedrin, presided over by Caiaphas, that of Herod and that of Pilate. In this sermon we shall examine the Presiding Judges, as well as the Court Procedure. In the evening the sermon theme will be "The Man Who

Calvary United
 Palm Sunday, April 10th, the services in Calvary United Church, Westmount, will be of special character, and will be broadcast, the morning service over Station CBM and the evening service over CJAD. The preacher at both services will be the Very Rev. T. W. Jones, M.A., D.D. At the morning service the last of the Lenten series will be on the theme "God Speakes to Men Today; through the Cross of Jesus Christ, Towering o'er the Wrecks of Time" At the evening service

Made The Cross". It is quite unlikely that the actual Cross was made by a Jew, since Crucifixion was not the Jewish method of capital punishment. Have we any clue as to who made the Cross of Christ?

Westmount Young Married Couples Fellowship will meet on Tuesday at 8. The speaker will be Dr. R. V. V. Nicholls, Associate Professor of Chemistry at McGill University. Professor Nicholls is one of two Canadian chemists awarded a Scholarship of $1500 by the Royal Society of Canada. Westmount Married Couples are fortunate in having secured this outstanding speaker. Easter Services will be observed in "Westmount", morning and evening, on Sunday, April 17th. An unusually fine programme of music will be provided by the choir, under the direction of Herbert Troop. Dr. Johnston will preach at both services.

the theme suggested by the address of the Rt. Hon. Winston Churchill will be of more than usual interest, "The Flame of Christian Ethics is Still Our Highest Guide." Wednesday of Passion Week at 8 p.m. the Calvary W.M.S. will hold its regular meeting in the Church Parlours, when Maxwell Reader, B.A., will bring an Easter message. Good Friday, in the Church Auditorium, at 8 p.m., Dr. Jones will tell the wonderfully moving story of the Passion Play at Oberammergau, with colored slides, which never fails to inspire and challenge those who are privileged to attend. This year the choir will be associated with the Minister and will render a Passiontide Cantata at this service. The doors will be open at 7 p.m. for those who so desire to enter for quiet meditation. The Communion of the Lord's Supper will be shared both morning and evening on Easter Day, and new members will be received into the fellowship of the Church. Soak utensils in which egg or flour mixtures have been cooked or mixed in cold water. They'll wash more easily.

Local Club Women Present Comedy At Victoria Hall

"Crime for Tea," a one-act comedy, was one of the bright items on the sparkling program presented on Friday afternoon by various groups and classes of the Notre Dame de Grace Women's Club on Members' Day, in Victoria Hall.

Versatility Of Club Groups Seen At NDG Members Day

A variety of interests was demonstrated in the programme presented by groups of the Notre Dame de Grace Women's Club at the final open meeting of the season, in Victoria Hall, Friday afternoon April 1st. Over 500 members and guests witnessed results of group study and training that had been one phase of the club's activities for the season.

The meeting opened with the singing of "O Canada, led by the club choir. Mrs. J. W. Perks, president of the club, welcomed the members and guests, and commented upon the entry of Newfoundland as a tenth Province of Canada. The Notre Dame de Grace Women's Club along with fellow Canadians welcomed them to our Dominion, said Mrs. Perks.

First item on the programme was given by the 28-member choir under the direction of Mrs. R. Uden, L.R.S.M., accompanied by Mrs. S. S. Beamish. Numbers sung included Life's Lullaby, Shortenin' Bread, I Love Life, Sunbeams, Huntsmen, Trees, Month of Maying, which were deservedly applauded. Their performance showed a year of very careful work and study. The attacks and releases were well finished at the light and shade of expression well adapted to the gaiety of the music. Taking part were Mesdames F. D. Crawley, H. Giles, J. H. Maude, J. B. Rice, T. Patterson, J. S. Miller, C. Jackson, G. J. Mallinson, S. England, W. A. Falconer, S. Turner, F. Luxton, W. D. Kirk, E. R. Cass, G. Irvine, N. B. Muir, J. P. Zeran, F. H. Stanway, G. H. Morgan, W. Robertson, C. Scurrah, G. A. Sheen, W. V. Toole, A. Watson, J. Murray, T. Dawson, E. F. Mount and W. G. Stevens.

Round Table Discussion
The Civics Group presented a round table discussion entitled, "That we be not a House Divided," Racial prejudice in regard to minority groups was deprecated and the need for national unity discussed. The desirability of bilingualism was stressed, and it was felt that, since adults often found it difficult to learn a new language, teaching and practice should begin with the children. Participating in the discussion were the chairman, Mrs. W. M. Hick, and Mesdames R. W. Varey, J. S. Miller, H. S. Marion, C. T. Groome, R. H. Grant, T. D. Hanrahan and Geo. Wilmot.

Dressmaking Class
Another highlight of the programme was a display of dresses, and suits modelled by the club women who had made them, some of them also wore hats they had fashioned at the newly-formed millinery class. Mrs. O. W. Miess, instructor of the Dressmaking

Class, acted as commentator. Mrs. Miess was wearing a beautiful spring print with a black background and white variegated flowers, with side-draped skirt. Mrs. L. Unsworth was in a navy and yellow print having soft pleats from shoulder to side, and draped skirt; Mrs. R. G. Harries, in a brown print two-piece dress; Mrs. C. F. Walker in powder blue crepe draped at hip line; Mrs. Percy Walsh, in a two-piece dress crepe; Mrs. H. T. Mitchell, in a navy blue crepe dress; Mrs. T. WEDDING

TREMAINE-HYDE

In Erskine and American United Church at four o'clock on Saturday afternoon, the marriage was solemnized of Shirley Anne, daughter of the late Hon. G. Gordon Hyde, K.C., M.L.C., and of Mrs. Hyde, of Westmount, to Mr. Arthur Robert Tremaine, of New York, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence P. Tremaine, of Sparta, N.J. The Rev. Gerald R. fitted bodice, neckline, outlined with pearl embroidery, the same embroidery trimming the points of the fitted sleeves, and the full skirt ended in a long train. Her veil of blush tulle illusion was held by a bandeau of heirloom lace, caught with two strands of pearls. She carried a bouquet of Rapture roses and her only ornament was a string of pearls.

The three attendants were dressed alike in taffeta having fitted bodices and very full skirts, and wore matching shoulder-length veils, caught with half wreaths of flowers. Their bouquets were of spring flowers. The maid of honor was in rose and the bridesmaids in pearl grey.

Polka-dotted trim on this girl's hat makes a fashionable tie-up with matching trim on new washable white leather wallet.

As far away from a manstyled wallet as a girl's can go is a new washable white leather billfold banded with polka dots. This wallet is offered as an alluring inducement to a lady to confine her change, bills, house or car keys, theater tickets or what-has-she into a case which is available in a handbag with no need for searching.

For And About Women

Gloved in the Latest Mode for Springtime

Easter is the time for gloves—gloves to complement your chosen colour scheme; gloves for all occasions and for all tastes. Sometimes the shoes and gloves match, sometimes the gloves and handbag, with scarf complementing shoes.

For instance, if you have chosen a navy basic costume, you may like navy kid gloves and shoes, with portrait blue stockings, and contrast only in the blouse, scarf or the blossoms on your bonnet. Again, you may choose a rusty tan for shoes and gloves that can also be worn with browns and greens, or a gunmetal grey that can double for navy or black.

With a dark basic costume, glove and purse combination may be chosen that will be wearable later with your summer dresses. The new wheat colour, or green and fuchsia shades can be worn with summer whites, and, of course, the classic white washable doeskin is perfect either for Spring suit or Summer dress.

This season, for the first time in history, the shortie glove is outselling the classic slip-on. With an endless array of dainty ruffles, cut-work patterns, turn-back cuffs and slim, buttoned wrists, they Charming is the word for these brand new glove shorties with more than a bit of Parisian influence. They come in dark staple colours, and are trimmed with a flashing white cuff that is cut on the diagonal. The cuff tapers from wide on the inside to a point low on the outside of the palm.

J. H. Thomson, blue print with white; Mrs. Griffiths, a summer dress and jacket; and Mrs. W. Robertson also modelled her hat and dress.

The Drama Group presented a one-act comedy "Crime for Tea" by Wilfred Massey, produced and directed by Cecile Wright. The unusual theme of a woman detective instead of a man was greatly appreciated by the women's club and audience. The comedy had high suspense value, no one knowing who the guilty person was until the end. In the cast were Margot Trenchard, Pamela Crossington, Mrs. Cayster, Mrs. Dacre, Marion Gresham, Laura Fabian, Julie Hicks, Gilda Crayle, Sheila Morgan, Peggy Seller, Amy Luxton, Janet Campbell, Helen Cairns, Leonore Thompson, Bobby Rice, Frances Lindsay.

The hats on display at the entrance were much admired as well as the articles made by the leathercraft class.

Mrs. G. D. MacKay expressed the appreciation to the various participants of the show.

Mrs. R. H. Grant, chairman of the House and Hospitality, in her usual cheerful and co-operative manner directed the serving of tea, with Mrs. H. J. Everett as hostess, and Mrs. E. B. Nilson and Mrs. R. Drain pouring.

The circus touch in the nursery now finds expression even in rugs for the very young. At a recent showing the Edward Field Company display a gay circular all-wool rug which took its cue directly from the circus, with a motif of plump smiling elephants performing in a ring.

In the center of the rug the four elephants circle a large ball striped in blue, natural, yellow, and red, colors which are continued throughout the rug pattern. Each elephant is outlined in red, and the circus ring is simulated by a three-inch border of red and natural vertical stripes which bands the entire rug. The rug measures 7 feet 6 inches in diameter.

Add Colored Hems To Smarten Towels

No matter how many guest towels a woman may have she is always interested in acquiring some new and prettier ones. The quickest way of making towels interesting is by the addition of hems of colored linen—blue, green, yellow, rose—according to the surroundings in which they find themselves. Cut a strip of fadeless colored linen the width of the towel and allow a half-inch turning at each end; the strip should be twice as wide as the hem required, plus turnings of not less than three-eighths of an inch at each side. Having either pressed down these turnings with an iron or tacked them, fold the strip in half lengthwise. Slip the end of the towelling inside the fold, put into place, and machine-stitch near the edge. If stitching is disliked, withdraw two or three threads of the huckaback and either hemstitch or spoke-stitch (which is hemstitching on both sides of the drawn threads) the colored hem into place. This is not as strong as stitching by machine, and therefore, it is worth working a couple of little overcast or buttonhole bars at each end of the hem to resist pulls in the laundry.

A Samurai was a member of the military caste in Japan.

The first use of the American flag occurred in a military ceremony on Aug. 2, 1777, the flag having been made from crude clothing material found in a fort under siege by the British.

Hocks 'n Kraut Are Zestful Menu Change

Hocks 'n' kraut is too good a dish to leave exclusively for country supper tables. It belongs wherever good food and economy are welcome. This recipe, as well as the others, come from "Twenty Recipes That Men Like," by Fred Waring—a booklet of really delicious suggestions.

Hocks 'n Kraut

Two and one-half to 3 pounds of hocks (the hocks may be either fresh pork or cured pork (ham), should serve three or four unless you need to provide three helpings around. In that case, get more, and select a bigger kettle. Wipe off hocks with damp cloth. Brown slowly but thoroughly in hot pan, Dutch oven, or heavy kettle. Pour off and discard excess fat. Barely cover browned hocks with boiling water; add 1 teaspoon salt and a soup bouquet. Bring to a boil; cover closely and reduce heat to simmering.

Cook 2 to 3 hours or until very tender. Discard soup bouquet about halfway in the cooking period. During the last 30 minutes of cooking add 1 quart well-drained sauerkraut. Cover and simmer for remaining time. If kraut is not cooked with the hocks, they will need more salt, probably up to 2 teaspoons or more.

When you serve hocks 'n' kraut put a big handful of parsley on the platter. Men actually have been known to eat parsley when it looked as if it belonged to the dish.

Spring Potatoes and Peas

Select 12 small uniform-size new potatoes; wash, scrape, and cook in boiling salted water until tender. Drain. Make two cups of the best and smoothest medium white sauce you know how to make. Usually this amount of medium sauce takes 4 tablespoons flour; this time use only 3.

Add the cooked whole potatoes to the sauce, then 2 cups, or thereabouts, of cooked peas. If you like herb flavors, add some minced chives, or some minced parsley, or a good sprinkling of mixed herbs. Reheat all together and serve it up in your prettiest vegetable dish.

Shrimp and Peas

Mix a pound of fresh cooked and shucked shrimp or 2 small cans of shrimp (in either case, veined) with a 17-ounce can of giant green peas, drained. Season with salt, pepper, a few drops of onion juice and 1 tablespoon lemon juice. Bind together with 1½ cups rich cream sauce, and 1 tablespoon of sherry, if desired.

Sprinkle with buttered crumbs and bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) about 20 minutes or until bubbly and brown. Note: Even if the people in your life are hearty feeders, this recipe is ample for 4 to 6. Baked in individual scallop shells instead of a casserole, it will do nicely as a luncheon dish for 8 people.

A female figure used in architecture as a pillar is a caryatid.

Whimsy in Easter Motif

Try a new garden hat, spilling over with colorful spring flowers for Easter table decoration.

Let your Easter table symbolize renewed hope, joy in the return of spring and the upsurge of vitality.

To achieve this use an abundance of bright spring flowers, your finest Irish linen cloth, either in white linen damask or colored plain linen, and then for seasoning a dash of light-hearted whimsy.

Here's a lovely bit of Easter table whimsy. Begin with an inverted straw hat. Lay a couple of loops of rich green ribbon across the brim and set a small bowl in the crown. In the bowl, arrange a profusion of tulips, hyacinths, freesia, daffodils and perhaps a spray or two of blossoming fruit branches. If you have a blown glass Easter egg, nestle it in among the flowers. A porcelain rabbit or a group of ceramic lambs are also in the spirit of the season.

Another idea is to use a milk glass hen, either an old one or a modern reproduction, for a tropical centerpiece in a nest of flowers. Fill the nest with chicken wire so that it comes about an inch above the rim. Set the hen on top and thrust the stems of spring flowers through the exposed section of wire. A realistic pottery hen can be used instead of a milk glass one.

Real Eggs Useful

Real Easter eggs can be used in many different ways to decorate a table, and seem particularly appropriate with a pastel linen tablecloth. Eggs of many colors can be arranged in a nest of cut flowers or they can be converted into winsome ladies on parade.

To make the ladies, after the eggs have been boiled and dyed a pale flesh pink, paint them with lash-fringed eyes, heart-shaped mouths and smart hairlines. Paste a lace paper doily on the top of each egg, turning the edge back into a rolled brim off-the-face hat and trimming with tiny artificial flowers. Stand the eggs in egg cups and use a larger size paper doily to make into a flared skirt nipped in at the waist with a ribbon sash.

MRT Producing Three One-Act Plays This Month

The next Montreal Repertory Theatre's Studio production will be shown April 21st, 22nd, and 23rd at MRT Playhouse, Guy Street. It will be remembered that the Studio was re-opened last year, after a lapse of several years, when two productions were given. A feature of their work was the production of plays by Canadian playwright Robertson Davies. The Studio will again offer the work of Canadian playwrights in their forthcoming production.

Three one-act plays will be presented. "Legend", which was written by Hilda Hooke of London, Ontario; "Bus to Nowhere", written by Janet McPhee of Westmount and "Right About Face", written by Dorothy Pfeiffer of Westmount.

"Legend" weaves a charming story around a universal theme. This play offers scope to the younger generation as many of the characters are children. Charlotte Forster is directing this production. Miss Forster studied play directing at Columbia University, New York. She has had great success with her productions in the High Schools of Montreal.

"Bus to Nowhere", will be directed by the author, Mrs. McPhee, whose work in Montreal theatres is well known. Recently she was awarded the Canadian Drama Award for achievement in the advancement of Canadian Drama.

Mrs. McPhee's play Divinity in Montreal won the Sir Barry Jackson trophy in 1938 Dominion Drama Festival. In addition to her position as Chairman of the Studio Committee she is also conducting a course in playwriting in the MRT School of the Theatre.

"Right About Face" will be directed by Dorothy Pfeiffer. Mrs. Pfeiffer studied dramatics at Hart House Theatre, Toronto. She was also one of the founders of the Quebec Little Theatre where she produced many plays. As a result of her splendid work in that city Mrs. Pfeiffer was given a C.D.A. She has directed Hope Deferred by Robertson Davies and Lord Byron's Love Letter, by Tennessee Williams, in MRT Studio.

"An Act of Murder" Second Week At Snowdon

REMAINS SECOND WEEK AT SNOWDON!

Fredric March and Edmond O'Brien argue a point of law in the thrilling drama "An Act of Murder," which will be held over for a second week at the Snowdon Theatre.

"An Act of Murder", which remains a second week at the Snowdon Theatre, is a tense, imaginative film that keeps the pulse hopping. Co-starring Fredric March, Florence Eldridge, Edmond O'Brien and Geraldine Brooks, the picture tells a story that will stun you with its impact, for never before has the screen been so shockingly frank.

The story of "An Act Of Murder" centres around March, a Pennsylvanian judge, who insists on judging cases by the letter of the law . . . clashing both in and out of court on his principle with O'Brien, a criminal lawyer who thinks laws should be upheld in spirit instead of the letter. Matters are further complicated because O'Brien is in love with March's daughter, played by Geraldine Brooks. It's only when March finds himself a defendant in court and O'Brien becomes his attorney that the former learns much about law from the other side of the bench.

Trinity Players Will Present 'John Loves Mary'

"John Loves Mary", by Norman Krasna, which the Trinity Players are presenting at Trinity Memorial Hall from April 27 to April 30, is described as a "farce-comedy," and is a comedy of situation, rather than character. It is listed in the Best Plays of 1946-47, was an outstanding success on Broadway and had a long run in Chicago and San Francisco.

It is the story of a G.I., who returned, after five years overseas, to the girl he loves in England, he has married his buddy's sweetheart, in order that she may come to America, planning to get an immediate divorce and marry his Mary. Complicated situations then arise and Mary feels he has lost all interest in her until things all turn out happily.

Basil Donn, C.D.A. will direct the production for Trinity, with Howard Angers and Bruce LeDain doing the set.

Hendryk Hudson's ship was named the Half Moon.

LION-TAMER'S KITCHEN CHAIR

HOLLYWOOD, April 7—Incidental intelligence gained in covering the Hollywood reportorial beat is oftentimes of greater interest than the day's so-called major news stories. Typical is the tale of the lion-tamer and the kitchen chair.

It was at the smart, new Nassour Studios that I met Clyde Beatty recently. He had come to town to join Abbott and Costello in a hunk of celluloid hokum, "Africa Screams". I'd seen Beatty work with the Hagenbeck-Wallace Circus at Montreal's Forum 17 years ago, but we didn't meet.

So, as we paused for mid-afternoon refreshment, I asked Beatty how he made of the common kitchen chair something more than just a stoop to sit on.

"It began in December 1922," Clyde commenced. "Until then most animal trainers used a long, forked pole to control their beasts.

I was working up a circus act with two bears, two leopards and two lions at Montgomery, Alabama, winter quarters of the Gollmar Brothers Circus. All the animals were seated on chairs in a circle. But suddenly a leopard snapped at a bear, and the bear pounced back."

It was then that Beatty grabbed the handiest weapon, which happened to be a kitchen chair, and used it as a prod to dislodge the leopard. The device worked and Clyde has used it ever since.

"Actually," laughs the leathery-faced veteran of the sawdust ring, "there is no reason a kitchen chair shouldn't be carried on a safari. It has many uses."

Beatty's chair is not a gilded, costly specimen. Just an ordinary, painted chair . . . that's all.

With the chair in his left hand, Beatty also carries a revolver loaded with blanks. In his right hand is a crackling whip. This he snaps in an effort to keep the jungle kings tractable and submissive.

However, Clyde is nothing if not frank.

"Soon as I see a lion who looks ready for a fight I get out of the way as fast as I can," he smiles.

Sometimes he is not fast enough. Lions have outguessed him 32 times, and that's how often he has been carted off to the hospital with deep claw wounds.

He came through his current film chore minus injury, however, and there's a suspicion around Nassour offices that Beatty's

British Musical Remains 2nd Week At The Avenue

When Hollywood's talent scouts began their search for good-looking young actors to round out the cast in the super-colossal production of the best-selling novel "Forever Amber," one of their first choices—and naturally so!—was handsome, dashing Richard Greene. They were proven right when he scored so heavily as Amber's swashbuckling lover, that fan mail literally poured into the studio.

Now, the producers will have another chance to pat themselves on the back. Greene is currently starred in "Gaiety George," which is being held over for a second week at the Avenue Theatre. He plays the greatest of all musical comedy showmen, and it is the kind of role most stars pray for, since it will certainly delight movie fans of all ages and both sexes. Co-starring is another British star who has won the ardent approval of American audiences, vibrant Ann Todd.

This latest film marks the culmination of a lifetime of training for Greene, who began to study dramatics at a comparatively early age, and has since devoted himself exclusively to the pursuit of stardom and success. The war interrupted his career just when he had scaled the heights. After four years with the British Army, he was medically discharged in 1944. Greene refused to admit that his war job was over, and was soon back on the battlefronts, touring with a George Bernard Shaw play. "Gaiety George," marks his reappearance as a top star, and it is most welcome.

Victor Mature, whose latest screen role is opposite Betty Hutton in Paramount's "Red, Hot and Blue", was educated at St. Paul's parochial School, St. Joseph's College and the Kentucky Military Institute.

A story that will stun you with its frankness . . . its IMPACT!

Navy League Will Hold Ship Model Exhibition

The president of the Montreal Division of The Navy League of Canada, C. Kirkland McLeod, has announced that an exhibition of model ships and yachts will be held at the Headquarters of the Navy League, 1429 Crosse Street, on Friday and Saturday afternoons and evenings, April 22nd and 23rd. This is probably the first exhibition of its kind ever to be held in Montreal, and should prove of great interest to all lovers of ships and boats, whether "stick and string" or "teakettle". The long and the short of it are, respectively, a giant model of the Canadian Pacific Line "Empress of France", which was presented to the Division last year by Harry Beaumont on behalf of the Canadian Pacific Steamship Company, and a model of the renowned clippership "Cutty Sark", fully rigged, including sails, measuring a scant three inches from tip of jibboom to spanker boom.

Warships, ancient and modern, will be represented by models of

Lord Nelson's flagship, H.M.S. "Victory" (after which the Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corp is named, in whose barracks the exhibit is being held) and a scale model of H.M.C.S. Athabaskan (which was sunk in the English channel during the war). This latter is only 4½ inches long and is made to scale from photographs

Fun Parade's Proceeds Aid Rotary Services

The tenth annual visit to Montreal of Roy Ward Dickson and his Gang, sponsored by the Rotary Club of Montreal in aid of its Crippled Children's Fund, Boys' Camps and Community Service Work, was a great success, judging by the reaction of close to 10,000 persons in the Forum last Friday night.

The "Fun Parade" lasted for nearly three hours during which time the whole building "rocked" with laughter.

One of the contests in which the audience were asked to participate was one in which a woman was attired in Santa Claus garb and told to parade up and down St. Catherine street, ringing door bells and singing Christmas carols. The woman who took an active part in this contest received an electric refrigerator as her prize.

Before the show had really got underway, Roy Ward Dickson asked for two women weighing 240 pounds. When their contest came up, the two fat women were asked to go out on the street, away from the Forum building, and bring back on the stage with them, the two fattest men they could find. The winner of this contest, who received a coffee percolator for her efforts, had brought back a man with a 68 inch waist. The loser of the contest, who also was given a coffee percolator, had brought in a man with a 64 inch waist. The two "fat men" were each given an electric razor as prize.

Two young boys were later called on the stage and were given a kid's trick to perform. They were blindfolded and told that there was, before them on the stage, two pieces of paper. The idea was for them to blow them off the stage, on the opposite side from where they were standing. The winner of this contest was given a brand new bicycle.

All in all, it was a night that will long be remembered by young and old alike.

Those who heard Captain Allan Villers speak at Victoria Hall recently will be especially interested in a beautiful replica of the four-masted barque "Parma" which figured in his lecture. It is being loaned to the exhibition by Humphrey Grove, a former Sea Cadet Officer.

Sailing Models Also

Sailing models will also be represented. Members of the Montreal Model Yacht Club have kindly consented to exhibit a number of the racing yachts which have created much interest in sailing on Beaver Lake, Mount Royal.

Mr. McLeod expressed the appreciation of the exhibition committee of the co-operation of those who are loaning their models, which in many cases, represent long hours of loving labour on the part of their owner-builders. He also made the request that anyone owning models which they would be willing to lend to the exhibition, contact the Managing Secretary, Charles Hutchins, at FI. 9633, so that arrangements could be made for transportation in time for entry in the exhibition.

RECORD CUTTER

Between carera set-ups of "My Friend Irma", which she is currently making for Hal Wallis at Paramount, Diana Lynn practices a series of piano arrangements of Cole Porter songs which she will record at some future date for Capitol.

Unified Sports Arrangement Near

Protestant, Catholic Loops Plan Amalgamation

A long cherished wish by St. Leo's at last seems close at realization. That is the amalgamation of the Catholic schools and Protestant schools into one athletic union.

At present the Protestant schools are grouped in one league and the Catholic schools in another loop. An important meeting was held at St. Leo's Academy last week with prominent representation from both leagues and these school officials met for the expressed purpose of laying the groundwork that will eventually bring all the schools together into one association. A good number of educators are convinced that it is hardly convincing to teach tolerance in the classroom and practice tolerance in the field of sport. This moves to eliminate the religious barriers that separate schools in sport will have a far reaching beneficial effect on school sport in general and small schools like St. Leo's in particular. In the interest of better citizenship, keener competition and a better deal for small schools, we welcome this proposed new deal for school sports in Montreal.

Sport Shorts

St. Leo's, which has had more than their share of successful brother acts on their sport front, now have another promising trio in the Pee Wee Boxing class that should be heard from in the near future. This time it is the Ramsey boys: Paul, Gerry and Phil.... This year's turnout for the boxing has exceeded all expectation with over a hundred students working out regularly... Permission to use the city Tennis courts around the end of May has been sought and if successful a full scale tennis tournament will be run off.... Gerry Pecknold is showing fine form in the senior boxing class and with a little more aggressiveness should turn out to be a top notch fighter....

Congratulations Harry and Jimmy

This week we would like to salute the two boys who have been selected by coach Andy McGillis as St. Leo's two top athletes of the year. 17 year old Harry Wolfe took the honors in the senior division while 16 year old Jimmy Cotter was named in the junior class. Harry will receive the Rev. Father Wilfrid McDonagh Cup emblem of senior athletic supremacy at the Academy for 1949. In selecting the senior award coach Andy McGillis had to pass up some pretty strong candidates but there is no doubt that Harry Wolfe proved a popular choice and well received by all who knew the true worth of this popular and hard working athlete. Captain of the Senior B Hockey Club where he finished up the season with a wonderful display of hockey, he is now busy at boxing and will occupy a prominent spot on the 1949 Boxing Show. Harry is also a worthwhile asset on any football squad. An aggressive athlete with a fine sense of team play it occasioned no surprise when the official announcement was made on senior athlete honors for 1949.

The rise of Jimmy Cotter to top ranking junior Academy athlete was indeed phenomenal as a year ago he was just another small athlete who drew less than the average attention. Jimmy seemed to blaze into prominence suddenly last Autumn with a brilliant and clever display as quarterback on the 1948 Junior Football Club. Showing he was no flash in the pan, he carried over into hockey and here again his brainy and smart playing was one of the features of this junior hockey sextet.

SPORTIVELY SPEAKING

By George Cochrane

THE GREAT AMALGAMATION

Most Snowdon Senior Fastball League meetings are called for eight o'clock. They usually get underway about half an hour later than the announced time. There are a few gentlemen (and I employ the term advisedly) on the executive who have, at some time in their illustrious careers, acquired the rather pleasing habit of punctuality.

These few, among them the obese but reducing Ken Smith, Harold "Olds is the best" Bowan, Pat Patterson, President Clarence Strathcona Booth, and your humble scribe, usually gather at the zero hour, find that aquorum is lacking and then launch into a discussion of William "Pat" Patterson's latest troubles with tramways employees or the general sports picture.

At the last gathering of the fastball clan, Mr. Bowen was reporting to the punctual birds on the Loyola-Westmount High city championship hockey game.

Mr. Smith ventured the opinion that any one of the three teams in the Catholic section of the schools' Senior A puck circuit, could have beaten Westmount, a statement borne out by the fact that in the course of the regular schedule each of the Catholic teams did just that.

Wen went on to opine that the idea of having a Catholic section and a Protestant section was rather illogical and did nothing to abate any religious animosities that might be abroad in the town.

It seems that Mons. Smith is not the only man with that opinion. For at a banquet tendered members of the high schools' Senior A all stars last Friday evening at Lower Canada College, it was formally announced that the Protestant and Catholic leagues will next season be amalgamated into one union.

This is a big step in the right direction.

JOTTINGS

Phil Wimmer hopes to have 900 youngsters out for his "Champions' Night" at Community Hall on April 22. West end puck titlists will be honoured and there'll be movies, sing songs and probably Bill Durnan and Frank Selke... Both Steinberg's and Robitaille Motors hope to trot out their boys for a practice this week-end...

All will be made welcome and given a fair trial announce managers Gerry Snyder and Pat Patterson... The Monitor's Thomas Malty quite put out, and justifiably so, after losing his sponsor for the team he was planning to enter in the Verdun Independent Softball league... Royals' Chuck Connors' wife, the former Betty Riddell, seen tramping along Sherbrooke street west last week. She's a native of Westmount... Red Fisher, The Standard man and Northern Electric's publicist, hopes to have a softball column of chit chat in the week-end newspaper this summer... He was on hand for the school pucksters' banquet last Friday... So was Mel James, former Monitor hired hand, and now generalissimo of the Montreal offices of Canadian High News.

Pat Patterson has signed Bill Hitchcock, last year with Hampton intermediates... Linton Crook, who handled the Hampton inters in 1949, has joined Steinberg's expanding fastball organization. Head man Gerry Snyder says that Linton will look after the grocers' farm system and be his second in command as far as the seniors are concerned... Lorne Ashton is planning to try out with Steinberg's... Snyder would like to hear from out of town players now stationed in Montreal... So, no doubt, would every other manager in the Snowdon loop.

Phil Wimmer reveals that there'll be no senior fastball league in the east end of the city this summer.

Wolves Top Whizs 29-25 in Inter Basketball Loop

All 6 teams saw action last week in the Westmount Municipal Intermediate Basketball League, with three games taking place.

The Wolves defeated the Whizs 29-25 in a very exciting game. At half time the Wolves were leading 16-11, but the Whizs came back to outscore the Wolves 14-13 in the second half. Dave Binmore was again the big gun on the Wolves with 14 points, Cliff Gill came up with 9 points, Eddie Moore 3, Bruce Thompson 2 and Wendy Young 1. For the Whizs Jack McKissock notched 7 points, Tom Maltby and George Presho banged in 6 each, George Cochrane came up with 4 points and Roy McKissock scored a basket for 2 points.

Kentucky, playing their first league game, waltzed through the Royals to the tune of 65-21. Bert Kelly, the set shot artist, put on a great display scoring 31 points. Other Kentucky scorers were Mike Bernard 14, Doug Reed 12, Bob Forrest 6 and John Noel 2. Eddie O'Brien led the Royals with 7 points, while Logue MacDonald and Huard Read scored 4 points each, Bill Graham, Buck Knott and Dave Harvie banged in a basket for 2 points each.

In a very close checking game the Avenue Stars defeated the Alouettes 22-18. The Alouettes were leading 10-8 at half time, but were outshot 14-8 in the second frame. Will Manolson paced the Stars scoring 5 baskets and 4 free throws for a total of 14 points. Other Star scorers were Buddy Selby 3, Allan Turner and Graydon Easton 2 each, and Pat Lomasney 1. Ray Binmore was the high man on the Larks with 8 points, John Piers scored 2 baskets for 4 points, Bob Grant, Bud Iredale and Pete Lovell come up with 2 points each.

THOSE UTILITY MEN

The 1949 baseball season opens within three weeks and the opening-day lineups probably won't include the names of the men who will mean the difference between a pennant and second or third-place in the National or American Leagues. Those are the unsung utility men, the ones who sit in the shade of the dugout until an accident befalls one of the regulars, and then fill in for the injured hero. And they're the difference at the end of a season, as any baseball man will tell you.

Look at every pennant winning club in the past years, and you'll find the truth in the above statements. Last year's race in the American League was the closest ever, and the four-team battle was decided, not by the regulars, the players before the public eye, but the men behind the men, the humble reserves. The Athletics, with the best pitching staff in the country, held up for over four months, but blew completely apart when Eddie Joost went out of action in August. While Joost's fielding and batting weren't world-beating, nevertheless, he was the spark of the club, and as such, he couldn't be adequately replaced. In fact, with the men that Connie Mack had on the bench, he couldn't have replaced anybody.

The other three clubs, Cleveland, Boston, and the New York Yankees, were just about even, but Cleveland had the best reserves, and they won the pennant. They had such reserve infielders as Johnny Bernardino, who could play for most other major league teams, and Al Rosen, a solid 300 hitter, who lacks only Kenny Keltner's experience and fielding ability. Then they had six or seven outfielders, all good enough to play regularly. Compare this to the New York club, who couldn't even replace a crippled and half-speed Joe DiMaggio in the dying days of the season. Granted Joe did as well as anyone else during the last few days, but still, one more good reserve could have meant the pennant for the Bronx Bombers.

In the National League, the Boston Braves, no better than the St. Louis Cards or Brooklyn Dodgers as far as regulars were concerned, won the pennant on their substitute strength. Any other team in the league would have folded up like an accordion had they lost a player like Eddie Stanky, but Billy Southworth dropped Sibby Sisti into Stanky's slot, and the substitute played better than the Brat had. Then, Southworth had a great clutch player, Clint Conatser, filling in for his first-string outfield trio of Jeff Heath, Mike McCormick, and Tommy Holmes.

The utility man will probably win the 1949 pennants too, for very few ball-players can go through an entire 154-game schedule without missing a few days. It's the fellow who takes his place when he's out of action who makes the difference.

THE COMEBACK KID

They laughed at poor Pete Reiser last season, when he sat on the Brooklyn bench, getting into action all too infrequently, and when he did, acting as if he'd never played the game before. In fact, at times it almost looked as if the only rookie ever to win the National League batting title had forgotten all he'd ever known about the national pastime.

So during the winter, Branch Rickey, never a man to keep $15,000 sitting on the bench, when he could have $10,000 playing left field, dealt Reiser off to the Braves for Mike McCormick. That was the best thing that has ever happened to hard-luck Pete, for in going to Boston, he will now play under baseball's most thoughtful manager, Billy Southworth. Pete finished himself in Brooklyn as far as Rickey was concerned when he made a mild protest against his chief's dismissal of $62,500-a-year Leo Durocher for $15,000-a-year Burt Shotton. Reiser maintains that he's always been a Durocher man, and that he would like to have played out the string with the fiery Leo.

So, as has happened so many times to Rickey, who seems to use a cash register for a brain in dealing away his stars, Reiser has blossomed forth in spring training, hitting and fielding as of old. So, when Reiser, or Dixie Walker, or Eddie Stanky, or Kirby Higbe knock the Dodgers out of the pennant race in a clutch game, as Walker and Higbe did last year, the good citizens of Brooklyn can think happily back to the days when Larry McPhail spent money and bought ball-players and won a pennant, the first in 21 years for the happy borough. His biggest mistake was selling his stock to Mr. Rickey.

Why Send Your Child To Camp?

By ROY D. LOCKE

(Ed. Note: Because winter is over and only 12 short weeks bring school closing for summer vacations, this newspaper is starting a series of six articles designed to show parents the values of camping experience as set forth by Roy D. Locke, Executive Director, Y.M.C.A. Camp Kanawana and Camp Perrot, believing they will arouse much interest among readers. These six articles will consider the reason why a child should go to camp; what to look for when selecting a camp; preparation for camp; visiting days at camp; co-operating with the camp of your choice; and finally, camping dividends. This series of articles will be well worth clipping and pasting in your scrap book for reference.)

Many people doubt the advisability of sending their children to camp. The reasons advanced are many, but they mostly fall in the following categories: our child is too young and unable to care for himself; he would be homesick; he might have an accident or become ill; we have a cottage where our children have everything they need; none of their friends are going to camp.

In some cases these arguments are true and these children are better off with their parents. All aspects must be carefully considered, however, because there are many positive values in the camping experience for children.

Most camps pay special attention to their younger campers. Counsellors are carefully selected and trained with a view to the age group of the campers for whom they are responsible. Health measures are strictly enforced. Most people will agree that at some point a child must learn to "stand on his own two feet" and camping can help him tremendously here. It has been proven that the greatest single factor leading to non-adjustment in the American Army was the fact that these young men had not learned to untie themselves from their mother's apron strings. Parents had taken such good care of their children that they were unable to face their problems without parental help. This opportunity to develop self-reliance is one of the greatest single factors of camping.

Some people think "homesickness" is the prerogative of the youngest campers. Forget it! If the truth were told more mothers are homesick for their children than the reverse. Many parents, through their emotional letters and visits, at camp, are the direct cause of "homesickness." Camps have many techniques to help a camper through the homesick period. Counsellors are trained to look for the symptoms and how to treat them when they do arise. Solving that personal homesick feeling in a stepping stone to greater emotional maturity for any youngster.

Re Accidents

It is true that an accident, particularly at drowning is possible in camp. However, the percentage of drownings in Canadian Camps in infinitesimal compared to those occurring at cottages and summer resort areas. Contrast the supervision that swimming receives at camp with that in the typical cottage life situation. Father is in the city most of the time and mother still has to spend many hours in the kitchen or in the garden. The children swim with little or no supervision on many occasions. At camp, trained lifeguards are on duty at all times, camps provide skilled instruction and graded testing in swimming, boating and canoeing. Instruction in these skills is standard procedure in any good camp. Most camps have a resident doctor and nurse, or on call. Health examinations are frequent.

So many families have invested in a cottage or have some similar holiday plan that the question arises as to the need of a camp experience. In addition to the added safety factor indicated above, the camp brings other values. Your child moves into a cabin or tent family where he learns to share and cooperate with others to a degree that is often impossible at a cottage in this era of small families. At camp there are responsibilities that are sometimes lacking in ordinary home life. Day by Day, he performs a multitude of simple tasks like making bed, sweeping cabin, cooking simple meals. The challenge and adventure of overnight hikes and canoe trips have particular importance for older boys and girls. The sense of comradeship that is developed in situations like these is important in the social life of an adolescent.

Evening Hours

Many parents, as well as campers, appreciate the cabin vesper periods featured by some camps. In the quiet period before "lights out" the counsellor and his group sit around a smoldering fire to discuss and evaluate the day's happenings. This is by no means the most unimportant phase of camping progress.

There are of course many other reasons why a child enjoys a camp experience. It can also have a real value for parents. It gives mother a relief from the constant grind of cooking meals, washing dishes, laundering clothes. Through the reports presented to parents at the close of the camping season, they are provided with an objective insight into their child's personal growth and character.

However, if you just asked a youngster why he goes to camp he would quickly reply, "It's fun," — and that is the best reason of all.
