GOVERNOR WILL NOT INTERFERE

Left No Instructions as to the Wolcast - McFarland Fight at Milwaukee.

Spring Lake, N. Y., Sept. 11.—Gov. Francis E. McGovern of Wisconsin declared tonight that he would not interfere in any way with the plans for preventing or permitting the proposed Wolcast-McFarland fight in Milwaukee next Friday night. He was not in possession of information sufficient, he said, to enable him to act.

"I left no instructions with the Mayor of Milwaukee, as has been reported," Mr. McGovern added, "and I am unable today at long range to say whether the exhibition will be a boxing match or a prize fight. Under the laws of Wisconsin a boxing match is not objectionable, but prize fighting is prohibited by law. Practically all I know about this matter is what I have read in the papers, and the accounts have been so conflicting that I should not wish to pass judgment on the question of these reports alone and at long range. Therefore, I shall have to leave the question to be decided by the local authorities and Acting Governor Morris, should he see fit to investigate it."

GIRL SHOT TO DEATH MURDERER KILLS SELF

Calgary, Alb., Sept. 11.—At 11 o'clock this morning, Emily Gruta, a servant girl employed by G. T. Robinson of this city, was shot to death by Charles Steadman. Steadman afterwards shot himself to death. Two bullets were discharged into the girl's forehead.

MEETING OF N. L. U. IN MONTREAL TODAY.

Montreal, Que., Sept. 11.—At a meeting of the executive committee of the Cornwall Lacrosse Club today, President J. E. MacPhee was appointed delegate to the special meeting of the National Lacrosse Union, to be held in Montreal tomorrow evening. He was instructed to vote against the replaying of the entire National-Montreal Labor Day game, but to use his own judgment as regards the playing of the unplayed time.

TRUE BILL FOUND IN MONTREAL MURDER CASE

Montreal, Que., Sept. 11.—At the criminal assizes of the Court of King's Bench today, a true bill was found against Arthur Peachey, held on a charge of murder, and true bills against Giuseppe Proietto, Nicholas Patris, and Joseph Vaillancourt, on charges of attempted murder.

Peachey is the watchman who got into an altercation on the street, and after several blows were struck, fired three shots, fatally wounding Emile Lisotte, one of the men with whom he had been fighting.

STEAMSHIP PASSENGER POOL DISSOLVED

Hamburg, Sept. 11.—The passenger pool of continental and English steamship lines doing business with Brazil and Argentina has been dissolved. The subject was discussed at a meeting held several days ago at Scheveningen, The Netherlands.

The North-German Lloyd Steamship Company demanded an increase of its percentage, which was rejected. The company thereupon refused to continue the arrangement. The dissolution of this pool also terminates existing arrangements between English, Dutch and German lines regarding business for English, Dutch and German ports on September 30.

BORDEN GREETED BY GREAT CROWD

Conservative Leader Was Given an Enthusiastic Reception at Sydney Mines.

Sydney Mines, N.S., Sept. 11.—Sunday and today were spent by R. L. Borden in Sydney. This morning he met many friends and had consultations with some of the leaders in Cape Breton. This evening he spoke in the town of Sydney Mines, in the north riding of Cape Breton, where John McCormick is the Conservative candidate in opposition to D. D. MacKenzie, who held the seat in the last House with a majority of about twenty.

The intention had been to hold the meeting in the largest hall in the place, but that would seat only 400, and as the crowd that gathered numbered a couple of thousand, the managers decided to hold the meeting in the open air.

Sydney Mines is the scene of the operations of the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Company, the mines and blast furnaces here giving occupation to a couple of thousand men. It was not these alone who gathered tonight, however, for contingents came in from an extensive farming country round about.

Mr. Borden was given a hearty reception, and the cheering was repeated at intervals all through his address, which took about an hour in delivery. Mr. Borden's voice was in good condition, and he was looking well after the rest of the day before.

Mr. Borden, in the course of his speech, pledged his party to Federal assistance for the construction of permanent highways, and proceeded to discuss the Liberal-Conservative policy for the development of the agricultural and industrial resources of the country. That party stood, he said, for our policy east and west, and on a score of platforms he had told western audiences definitely and distinctly that his party stood for such reasonable encouragement and protection for the industries of Nova Scotia as would permit of legitimate development.

Mr. Borden argued that the reciprocity pact was but a means to an end, and that was the reversal of the entire Canadian fiscal system. He quoted American authorities to support this. The government of the United States had offered Canada unrestricted continental reciprocity and the reply of Sir Wilfrid was that the time for it had not yet come.

R. L. Borden laughed at the Government's pretense to half dozen different Canadian ports that they were to have contracts for the building of Canadian cruisers. He said this could not create a ship building industry. The Conservatives were prepared to promote and assist in the development of a legitimate ship building industry in Nova Scotia and elsewhere in Canada, where conditions exist that make such an industry possible.

Turning to the reciprocity question, Mr. Borden pointed out that conditions which might have made it desirable forty, or even twenty years ago, did not exist now, and that Canada must legislate for the present, not for the past. The Liberal leaders had said that Canada was prosperous—why turn away to untrodden paths?

Mr. Borden warned the people against entanglement with a market that exported 450,000,000 worth of natural products, and held that the whole tendency of the reciprocity pact was to send out our unfinished products to be finished by the labor of a foreign people, a system that he called bad business.

"The agreement, once entered into, cannot be dropped when we choose," Mr. Borden said. "Thing of the enormous influence of American trusts in this country under conditions created by this compact, and you will realize that there cannot be any withdrawal except on American terms."

Mr. Borden concluded amid applause with an appeal to Cape Breton North to send a representative to Ottawa with a message that for Canada there should be no "parting of the ways."

LAURIER'S LAST ADDRESS IN MONTREAL

Montreal, Sept. 11.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier will speak here on Tuesday night, Sept. 19. The place of speaking and other details have not as yet been announced.

NEW GOVERNOR SENDS CONGRATULATIONS

Toronto, Sept. 11.—The Duke of Connaught cabled his congratulations to the R.C.Y.C. upon the success of the Patricia in the Fisher Cup series. The R. C. Y. C. is named after the Duke's daughter.

JUDGE CONDEMNED CHILDREN'S MOTHERS.

St. Catharines, Ont., Sept. 11.—Judge Carman, in sentencing a prisoner to 6 months in the central prison for assault on a 14-year-old girl, severely scolded the mothers who allow their young daughters to run the streets at night and attend the moving picture shows. The Judge said these cases were all too numerous lately, and the mothers were largely to blame. Girls and boys of the present day are given too much freedom, said His Honor.

TRANS-CONTINENTAL FLIGHT BY AIR

Robert Fowler Leaves San Francisco on His Long Trip to New York.

San Francisco, Cal., Sept. 11.—Robert G. Fowler left the stadium, Golden Gate Park, in a Wright biplane on his trans-continental flight to New York at 1:37 o'clock this afternoon. The start was made under the most favorable weather conditions. The aeroplane was christened with a bottle of Pacific Ocean water by James Rolph, Jr., a director of the Panama-Pacific Exposition.

Fowler carries a message from Brig-General Daniel Brush, commander of the United States Army of the Pacific, to General Frederick D. Grant, commander of the east, whose in New York harbor.

With a trade wind at his back the airman climbed into the sky and doubled back over the trial of the Forty Miners.

Fowler will attempt to jockey his biplane to New York by easy stages via Sacramento, Elko, Salt Lake City, Granger, Cheyenne, North Platte, Omaha, Rock Island, Chicago, Fort Wayne, Pittsburgh, Buffalo and Albany, reaching the end of his journey by Oct. 10.

He regards the crossing of the Sierras as the most difficult portion of his journey, but expects success. As the field, rimmed with verdured hills, dropped beneath him, Fowler flipped the tail of his big kite to the westward, nosed his way up into the sky until he found the inbound wind and winged away to the north-east across the roofs of the city.

Throngs crowding the roofs of skyscrapers and office buildings cheered his passing.

A special train containing all the necessary parts for repairs, left the station the moment the cheers of the immense throng assembled showed that a successful start had been made.

Fowler crossed the bay at a height of 500 feet and passed from sight at 1:57 p. m.

He was reported passing Suisun, 48 miles from here, at 2:34 p. m., and passed Davis, 75.6 miles away, at 3:06 p. m. He reached Sacramento, his stopping place for the first leg, at 3:23 p. m.

Fowler was flying about 500 feet from the ground when he reached Sacramento. He circled around the north side of the city, finally making a beautiful turn, and pointing the nose of his machine down toward Agricultural Park, in the State Fair grounds, he landed at 3:28 p. m. He was taken in an automobile to the office of Governor Johnson, who welcomed him and offered his good wishes for the success of the first transcontinental flight attempted.

Fowler left Sacramento for Colfax at 5:55 p. m.

Auburn, Cal., Sept. 11.—Aviator Fowler landed here at 6:3 o'clock, and will stop for the night.

Auburn, Cal., Sept. 11.—Fowler expects to make the transcontinental trip in 26 days. He will leave Auburn early tomorrow, cross the mountain range through the treacherous gusts of the Truckee Pass, and land for the night at Reno.

He will follow the tracks of the Southern Pacific, Union Pacific and Chicago & Northwestern railway to Chicago.

HON. CLIFFORD SIFTON WELL RECEIVED AT AYLMER

Aylmer, Ont., Sept. 11.—Hon. Clifford Sifton tonight addressed a meeting in the Town Hall Auditorium in support of the Conservative candidate, David Marshall. He was well received. He repeated practically his speech at Milton.

WESTERN CROP PROSPECTS BRIGHT.

Toronto, Sept. 11.—Sir Donald Mann, Vice-President of the Canadian Northern, returned to-day from an extended trip through the West, and spoke enthusiastically of the crop prospects. He denied the reports of a traffic arrangement with the Minneapolis and Atlantic Railway. A. K. Mitchell, Comptroller of the McKenzie Mann Co., stated that the first division of the Toronto-Ottawa line—the hundred miles between Toronto and Trenton—will be inspected by the Dominion Board of Railway Commissioners on Sept. 23, and that regular trains would be operating on this line, commencing October 11.

SIR WILFRID AT VICTORIAVILLE

Made the Start of His Final Appeal to the French-Canadians of Quebec.

Victoriaville, Que., Sept. 11.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier arrived here today to commence his final appeal to the French-Canadians before the fate of his government is decided. Two facts lent peculiar piquancy to the Premier's visit here. Here was the centre of the famous Drummond-Arthabaska bye-election in which the Nationalists first showing their strength by the election of Arthur Gilbert over the administration candidate, and it was in this district that Sir Wilfrid Laurier passed the greater part of his early days.

The Premier evidently took both these facts into consideration, for, though he dealt briefly with reciprocity, his speech consisted in, for the most part, a personal appeal and an attack on Henri Bourassa and his Nationalist doctrine. The Premier made a long and emphatic speech in support of Mr. Ovide Brouillard, the Liberal candidate, calling upon the electors to avenge that black November day when the falsehoods of the Nationalists so influenced the electors that they, temporarily, he hoped, turned against the administration.

Twice he characterized as lies the insinuations of the Nationalists with regard to conscription, and he made the accusations that the Conservatives and Nationalists were working together to accomplish his downfall and that Mr. H. B. Ames, Conservative candidate in St. Antoine, was supporting Mr. Bourassa's organ, Le Devoir, from the Conservative campaign fund.

Sir Wilfrid was accompanied here by several hundred supporters from Montreal and on his way addressed gatherings from the rear of his car at the various villages along the route.

Five thousand people attended the meeting here.

He was accompanied on the platform by Senators Lavergne and Mitchell and Hon. Charles Devlin. The meeting opened with the reading of an address to Sir Wilfrid from the townsmen immediately after which the Premier rose to speak, and was received with a burst of applause from his supporters in the audience.

From the start the personal note was introduced. He reminded his hearers that he still retained his seat in the local church, and his Arthabaska office, and stated that he always would remain an elector and citizen of the county.

After briefly reviewing the reciprocity question and pointing out the wider market that it would afford to the farmers of the district, the Premier proceeded to the plea that Canada had enjoyed unequalled prosperity under the Liberal regime.

He said: "Formerly all eyes were centered upon the United States, but there is a new star in the firmament, and this change has taken place since the Liberal party came into power during the past 15 years. Previous to that time Canada was only a geographical expression."

The Premier claimed that the Liberal party represented the cause of the common people against the trusts and against monopolies. The Conservatives had given the Liberal party a grand chance to come before the people and he was not afraid.

Then, discussing Nationalism, the Premier attacked Mr. Bourassa. The Liberals only asked for 11 vessels, which would cost only $3,000,000 yearly, less than two per cent of the surplus.

The country had need of a navy on account of its development, just as it needed railways.

As to allegations that conscription might follow, he said: "There is not a government that can take your children away unless the bill be changed, and, if any government ever proposes to do so, I tell you to vote against it. But Bourassa says conscription will come. He is like the old maid who used to go down to the sea coast and on looking at the sea, say: 'Oh! If I had a son he might be drowned!'"

Continuing, he said that the Nationalists were demagogues and without reason.

He concluded with the appeal: "Though I have visited crowned heads of Europe, still I have the same heart and love for my compatriots and I assure you it is as much pleasure to shake the hands of my old friends here as to shake the hands of Kings and princes, even that of the King of England himself."

Immediately after the meeting the Premier proceeded to Quebec.

GERMAN ARMY MANOEUVRES

Are Being Witnessed by the Kaiser With the Deepest of Interest.

Neu Brandeburg, Mecklenburg-Strelitz, Sept. 11.—Today's operations in the German army manoeuvres, in which 15,000 men are taking part, were occupied in the energetic efforts of two invading armies to close in and capture the advance division of the army defending Berlin, before Field Marshal Baron Von Der Goltz can bring his main force, by forced marches, into the field. The invaders are commanded by Prince Friedrich Harold.

Emperor William and a staff of distinguished generals are acting as umpires.

The defenders for a time today completely deceived the scouts, on foot and in aeroplanes, by dummy lines of stones representing men, but the trick later was discovered and the advance vigorously pressed.

The operations showed that not even the German officers have fully learned the war game; cavalry and infantry regiments marching in three closed columns within easy range of concealed batteries.

Both armies used signals extensively. The dirigibles and aeroplanes, which explored every inch of territory, interested the thousands of spectators even more than did the presence of Emperor William and his suite. Of the foreign officers who are guests of the Emperor, the Americans easily were the most business-like in their serviceable khaki uniforms. The other officers wore parade uniforms.

The soldiers this afternoon were storming one position after another, with the main army of the defense still miles away. The operations did not cease with nightfall. Both commanders were so anxious to get an advantageous position that the weary troops manoeuvred in the moonlight, bringing about two sharp night conflicts. No decisive stroke, however, has yet been made.

The feature of the operations today was the work of the air scouts, which convinced many German skeptics that the aeroplane is entitled to a place beside the dirigible. Two dirigible balloons were aloft the whole day, while the aeroplanes made only limited flights, but the ability of the latter to start immediately behind the line of battle won over the doubters.

THE DISCIPLINE LOSING ITS GRIP

From all quarters comes the intelligence that the party discipline of the Laurier invention and enforcement is fast losing its hold, even on the thick-and-thin supporters of the Laurier administration. Black is no longer being accepted as white, even by the rank-and-file of the Laurier end of the Liberal party; and this is being brought about from the conviction that the great main question at present before the electorate, as its details become more and more closely understood, is redolent with every kind of danger to our Canadian autonomy. Sir Wilfrid Laurier has allowed himself to be deceived by Messrs. Taft, Fielding and Paterson. The reciprocity pact is a bad business in every respect, as far as Canada is concerned. It is being proved so on the hustings and in the non-subsidized press. It has been proved that Canada cannot possibly gain anything, commercially speaking, from the enforcement of its foolhardy terms, as it certainly gains nothing from the proposals embodied in it towards the consolidating of a wholesome Canadianism. And this is why so many Liberals are turning their backs upon the scheme and refusing to favour any longer the absolutism that stands by this time fully convicted of persistency in advocating a wrong thing for the country. These are mere statements; but they are statements of fact, as the principles of economics verify, beyond the shadow of a doubt. And now that the old discipline forbidding disobedience to the "call of the boss" is weakening, and hundreds of honest-minded Liberals are taking to thinking for themselves, there is every reason to believe that what may lead, and is leading, to the disintegration of the Laurier absolutism will eventuate in a fuller growth of intelligence in the constituencies as the days go by.

It is well to notice that now the dread of party discipline, the loss of a Government job, the threat of denied preferment and such like, is losing its grip, there can be no fear as to what is going to happen to Mr. President Taft's reciprocity proposals on the 21st of the month. These are going to be snowed under as sure as Canada is Canada. Even the Liberals are now saying that if Sir Wilfrid Laurier be returned to power his majority will be so small that he will not dare to pass his reciprocity bill. The disciplinary hand will by that time have completely lost its nerve to attempt the stereotyping of another following in the House of Commons such as that which has justified so many departmental scandals, and has been all but willing to back him up in his efforts to deprive Canada of its individuality. The man who says he is going to vote for reciprocity, not because he believes in it as a good thing for Canada, but because Sir Wilfrid Laurier, self-deceivingly, says it is a good thing for Canada, is a back number, and rightly ought to be, in these days of thinking for one's self in political matters. And one may at last proceed with some confidence in placing the arguments against the pact, now that the tide of party self-seeking is being so manfully withstood by the honest elements of the country's electorate, be the majority in it Liberal or Conservative. The subsidized press are by this time claiming that there is no politics in this question of reciprocity; but they still keep in harness to the powers that be and pour out the vials of their partisan wrath against all oppositionists who venture to say a word against it. In that quarter, at least, the discipline has not lost its grip. But abuse is no argument, and, considering the amount of abuse there is that comes from that quarter, we may be safe in supposing that they have no sound arguments to advocate in favour of the notorious pact, that has virtually agreed upon a price for which Canada might be sold if we were all traitors.

LET US KEEP ON HOEING OUR OWN ROW.

For many years Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Fielding have been unwavering promoters of reciprocity with the United States. Notwithstanding that the people of this country declared against unrestricted reciprocity in 1891, notwithstanding that the Joint High Commission of the late nineties failed to bring about reciprocity, Sir Wilfrid and his colleagues kept on clinging to the hope that agreement for freer trade between the two countries would be reached. Reciprocal trade with the United States was the object of their greatest yearning.

Failing to attain that object, they had, to content themselves with the policies of their party opponents. They had, it is true, an alternative. They could have given effect to the desire they often expressed for free trade as it is in England. But free trade as it is in England was never so fascinating to them as reciprocity with the United States. They were prepared in 1891 to keep the tariff high at our seaports if only Customs houses on the international boundary line were removed. Unable to arrange a reciprocity agreement with the United States, and finding it impossible to launch the country into free trade, they were obliged, as we have said, to make the best of the principles for which the Conservative party stood. The National Policy has been largely adhered to. The preferential trade idea that had been long advocated by the Conservative leaders was adopted by the Laurier Government. For this latter change of front Mr. Fielding made the explanation that, as the United States could not be persuaded to come into closer commercial relations with Canada, it became advisable for us to cultivate closer commercial relations with the Mother Country. But, like the love-lorn swain who remains true after the object of his adoration has caused him to be kicked out of the house, the Laurier Government continued to regard the United States with undiminished fondness. President Taft needed but to harken in order to bring our Ministers to his foot-stool. Once there, they were under the spell of his sunny smile, and the Washington compact followed. And they had promised there would be no more going to Washington.

Canada has been advancing by leaps and bounds under the Conservative policies that have been allowed to prevail. While in the matter of reciprocity Ministers were experiencing the hope deferred that maketh the heart sick, this country was expanding and developing in such a way as to cause the whole world to fix attention upon her. Our history during the last ten years should have taught the Laurier Government that the right policy is in effect. The country flourishes beyond the dreams of the hopeful Canadians of the end of the century. Vaster prospects than these men of vision had a glimpse of are opening out into realities for Canada. Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. Fielding must surely admit that the failure of their mission to Washington in 1896 and of their negotiations at that capital some years later has been a blessing to the country. Let us stick to the policy of building up Canada.

MR. CAOUETTE'S MISTAKE.

At the contradictory meetings on Sunday, Mr. Caouette told the farmers that the United States took far more of their produce than Great Britain did.

Mr. Caouette furnished no figures to prove his contention. We prefer to think that this was due to ignorance, for the very good reason that the statistics compiled at Ottawa by the Liberal Government utterly refute his statement.

According to figures printed by the census and statistics bureau, the exports of agricultural produce to the United States in 1910 had a total valuation of $8,204,250. Exports to Great Britain in the same period totalled $71,004,416.

Since confederation the exports of agricultural products from Canada to the United States have totalled $278,864,941. In that period Canada has exported to the British Isles agricultural products to the value of $694,730,000.

The exports of animals and their produce to the United States in 1910 reached a valuation of $10,629,614. In 1910 Canada exported of this product to Britain $41,860,777 worth. Of animals and their products we have exported and sold to the United States since confederation $243,654,797 worth. In that period Canada has exported to Britain $1,093,392,591 worth.

These figures are taken from the official documents issued by the Dominion Government. They are supposed to be authentic, and we doubt if even Messrs. Caouette and Delage will have the hardihood to dispute their accuracy. And if they are authentic, as blue books are generally considered to be, what becomes of the argument that the United States is our best customer for farm produce.

THE NICKEL INDUSTRY AT SUDBURY, ONTARIO.

In enlarging on the nickel industry of Sudbury, Sir Wilfrid Laurier in his recent speech in that district, tried to throw dust in the eyes of the electors, as he had learned that every pound of nickel matte, the product of the smelters of the Canadian Copper Co. of Copper Cliff, a purely United States concern, was shipped to that country. He said: "I ask you. Were this product subject to a duty of 25 per cent, like some agricultural products, would Sudbury be as prosperous as it is today?"

If Sir Wilfrid has only now discovered the destination of all that nickel matte, he merely exposes his ignorance concerning this important Canadian natural resource, which the United States has been freely exploiting for many years, as far as the Dominion is concerned. Moreover, he surely has been aware that Canada holds the monopoly of nickel ore. The only other place where there is nickel in any quantity is in New Caledonia, a French island off the coast of Australia. France looks carefully after its own interests. Therefore the United States must have our nickel to go into American, German and other foreign armor-plate and other industries.

Nickel matte and ore enter the United States free of any customs duty, while the refined nickel in any shape or form is subject to a duty of one hundred and twenty dollars a ton. Hence if the Canadian Government placed an export duty of not less than one hundred and twenty dollars a ton on nickel ore and matte the refining company of the Canadian Copper Co. would have to refine on this side of the frontier, and Sudbury would become double as prosperous as it is now. Besides, there is no doubt that the English companies who operate there in a smaller way would also refine the matte in Canada.

All this demonstrates how Canada's natural resources are being gratuitously exploited by the foreigner, as far as the Dominion Exchequer is concerned. However, the Province of Ontario receives royalties on all her minerals. But the costly part of the manufacture of the finished article is done in a foreign country.

AN AVIATION TEST.

Stimulated by a prize of $50,000, America's airmen are about to begin one of the severest tests to which the airships has yet been put, a flight across the continent from San Francisco to New York. Mr. William R. Hearst is offering the prize for the first man to accomplish the feat and there is no reason to doubt that it will be accomplished. The date set for the winning of the prize is between Sept. 10 and Oct. 10.

Already some of the American aviators have started. Fowler was to leave San Francisco last Saturday. Rodgers was due to follow him yesterday and Ward to-day, Parmelee on Thursday and Ovington on Sunday.

Some will fly from the West to the East, others will try to make it from New York to San Francisco. Undoubtedly one or the other of these men will win success and the prize and the mere attempt of such a flight—in some cases it will be only 3200 miles, in others over 5,000 miles—shows how far, in the short space of five years, the science of aviation has advanced. Such an undertaking was undreamed of a decade ago.

Some of the aviators propose to cross the continent directly, flying over the Rockies undaunted by the altitudes they will have to conquer. Others will take the southern route, avoiding the mountains so that in their cases the tests will simply be one of straight flying and endurance. On all the competitors in the test the eyes of the world will be fixed during the next thirty days, though the successful accomplishment of the cross-continent flight will hardly prove anything save the endurance of the airship machinery and the hardy spirit of the operators. But one wonders, in view of such a long flight, how long it will be before a trans-Atlantic flight is attempted. In view of what has been accomplished in a science that is, in spite of progress made, yet in its infancy, it would be absurd to say that a flight from this continent to Europe is not among the possibilities, even among the probabilities, of the near future.

THE AUTUMN SEASON.

The Wind moans in the Wood,
The Leaf drops from the Tree;
The cold Rain falls on the graves of the Good,
The cold Mist comes up from the Sea.

That, in the "Autumn Song" of Bryson Forsythe Wilson, shows what the autumn season signifies to some poets; dreariness, the season of death and chill. It is not, let us be thankful, the true view of autumn.

The passing of summer is marked by the shortening of the days, by the clouds that so frequently overhang the sky; by the lengthening nights, grown chill and sombre now. By this the earlier harvests are garnered, and the fields, denuded, lie flat expanses of yellow and brown; the brooks are swollen, and having lost their summer smiling freshness, run sluggish on their never-ceasing journey to the sea. Day by day the crackling leaves, crisp and brown now, flutter downward from the trees, leaving the stalwart limbs bare and creaking in the wind.

Pale in her fading bowers the summer stands,
Like a new Niobe with clasped hands,
Silent above the flowers, her children lost,
Slain by the arrows of the early frost.
The clouded Heaven above is pale and grey,
The misty Earth below is wan and drear,
The baying winds chase all the leaves away,
As cruel hounds pursue the trembling deer;
It is a solemn time, the Sunset of the Year.

Solemn, but not a pessimistic time. The "sunset of the year" describes the season fully to those that have faith. For even as the sun sets only to rise again, so does the autumn season come upon us, preceding the long winter, the rest time of nature, so that when the Spring rolls around again, the appointed work may be taken up with renewed vigor and hopefulness.

That is the lesson of Autumn—faith! Faith to know that because of this season that is upon us the coming spring will be more glad. The birds are leaving us for the warm southland only to return, ere very long, with sweeter song and purer harmony. The clouds that cast their pall about us will in due time roll away and show God's heaven as perfectly blue and wonderful as ever they were. Once again shall the brooks laugh and ripple musically; the trees shall leaf again and bring forth fruit and the fields that now are fallow shall be blessed with stores of ripening grain.

Let us take, not the pessimistic view of autumn, but the brave and hopeful view; let us think with Longfellow:

Magnificent Autumn! He comes not like a pilgrim clad in russet weeds. He comes not like a hermit, clad in grey. But he comes like a warrior, with the stain of blood upon his brazen mail. His crimson scarf is rent. His scarlet banner drips with gore. His step is like a flail upon the threshing-floor.

That, too, is the spirit in which we should think of the influence of autumn upon ourselves, our lives and our endeavors. So far through the year have we not striven? Through the spring's promise and the summer's sun we have, in common with nature, performed the tasks appointed. But there are tasks yet to do and in these days of chill and vigor we may find the strength to do them.

The benefits which the United States expects to realize from the reciprocity agreement are concisely set forth by former Senator Beveridge of Indiana, one of the most energetic advocates of the pact. He says:

"There must be reciprocity with Canada. Our tariff with the rest of the world does not apply to our northern neighbor. That policy already has driven American manufacturers across the Canadian border, built vast plants with American capital on Canadian soil, employing Canadian workmen to supply trade. That capital should be kept at home to employ American workmen to supply Canadian demand."

Which is equivalent to saying that reciprocity will benefit the United States because it will drive American manufacturers who have located in Canada back to the United States, transfer their plants from Canadian to American soil and leave several thousand Canadian workmen to the peaceful but highly ungenial occupation of looking for work.

WOULD SCREAM FOR HOURS WITH ECZEMA

Baby Dreadful Sufferer. Could Not Keep Him from Scratching. Every Joint Affected. Used Cuticura Soap and Ointment and He is Well.

"Enclosed find my son's photo and I feel by writing these few lines to you I am only doing my duty, as my son was a dreadful sufferer from eczema. At the age of two weeks he began to get covered with red spots on his legs and groins, which moths scratched and he was in great pain; but day by day it grew worse until every joint and crevice were affected and baby started screaming for hours day and night, such a thing as sleep was out of the question. I took him to two of Sydney's leading doctors; one said it was one of the worst cases he had seen, the other did not think it so serious; one ordered ointment for rubbing in, the other a dusting powder. I followed their prescriptions for over four months and still baby kept getting worse. I could not keep him from scratching so great was his agony.

"When he was five months old I tried the Cuticura Remedies and I am very thankful to say my baby is to-day free from all his suffering. His groins were bleeding when I started and other parts affected were the lower part of his body, under the knees, arms, in arm joints, eyebrows and neck; but after twice using Cuticura Ointment I began to see a difference and by the time I had used one tin, along with the bathing with Cuticura Soap, baby was nearly cured. I still kept on using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment, and now, thank goodness, he is quite well and although he is now ten months old, has not had any further return of the trouble. (Signed) Mrs. G. Martin, 2 Knight St. Brisbane, Sydney, N.S.W. May 11, 1911.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment are sold throughout the world, but a liberal sample of each, with a 32-page book on the care and treatment of the skin and hair will be sent free on application to Foster Drug & Chem. Corp., 50 Columbus Ave., Boston, U.S.A.

HOW TO TREAT HAY FEVER
TAKE "FRUIT-A-TIVES" IF YOU WANT RELIEF

Hay Fever is not a nervous trouble. The real cause is impure blood, due to defective action of bowels, kidneys and skin. In ninety per cent of the cases of Hay Fever, there is Chronic Constipation, Weak Stomach or Indigestion.

This is proved by the fact that sprays, gargles and other local treatments do not cure Hay Fever.

One or two "Fruit-a-tives" every night will stimulate the bowels, kidneys and skin, and thus remove the poisons in the body which produce the fever and nervousness.

"Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine in the world made of fruit juices.

50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial size, 25c. At all dealers, or from Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa.

TURNED RIGHT ABOUT FACE

The Conversion of the American People from Enemies to Friends of Reciprocity.

By John V. Borne.

Nothing more remarkable in international trade has ever been seen than the complete change in regard to reciprocity that has occurred in Canada and in the United States.

Canada used to ask for reciprocity, and when she did not get it, she went her way rejoicing, and the Prime Minister said, "We have turned our backs upon it."

The United States grew accustomed to answering Canadian seekers after reciprocity with cold water and a few civil words, and continued to believe that Canada, being only a country of woods and wastes and waters, would surely seek the shelter of the United States.

But, presently, the woods and wastes and waters changed their aspect, and began to show all sorts of money-making possibilities. There had been an immigration from Canada to the United States. Gradually it dawned upon discerning people that the incoming Canadians were fewer and fewer, and that manufacturers were beginning to talk about their branch plants in Canada. And, in a little while, good farmers began to go north on trips that led them to sell their farms and take carloads of stock and implements away to the Saskatchewan country.

It set people thinking. Canada was a real country and not a wilderness of snow-covered rock. There was another pebble on the beach after all. And, strangely enough, while the United States had been expanding industrially, Canadians had also been building factories and keeping them going, because they had taken a leaf out of the book that had been written against them at Washington; they had copied the tariff, and had, in effect, imposed a residential qualification for leading places in the market.

It did not seem right, and Senator Beveridge, of Indiana, reflected faithfully the mind of his observant countrymen about this thing.

There must be reciprocity with Canada. Our tariff with the rest of the world does not apply to our northern neighbor. That policy has already driven American manufacturers across the Canadian borders, built vast plants with American capital on Canadian soil, employing Canadian workmen to supply trade. That capital should be kept at home to supply American workmen to supply Canadian demand.

HOW CANADA WAS DUPED

Donald MacMasters Give Interesting History of Reciprocity Negotiations.

The sinuities of the reciprocity deal are better understood when we follow up the proceedings by date from the official papers laid before Parliament at Westminster. (Command Paper 5523.)

1. Mr. Bryce, the British Ambassador at Washington, on the 12th of May, 1910, received a letter from Mr. Knox, the American Secretary of State, informing him that it is "the wish of the President of the United States to initiate and carry on tariff negotiations on broad and liberal lines," and asking to be informed through which channel the subject was to be broached to "the Canadian."

2. On the 13th of May Mr. Bryce telegraphed the substance of this request to Sir Edward Grey, the British Foreign Secretary, and on the same day confirmed his telegram by letter—stating that he had communicated the request to the Governor-General of Canada and had asked the latter what reply he should make to the American Government. We have only an extract from Mr. Bryce's letter to the Governor-General.

3. On the 16th of May the Governor-General telegraphed to Mr. Bryce that "the Canadian Ministers had reason to believe that the President thought it would not be possible to take up negotiations before the autumn."

4. On the 17th of May Mr. Bryce advised the British Government of the Governor-General's answer. On the same date 17th of May Mr. Bryce also advised the American Government of the Governor-General's answer and stated:—

"The Dominion Government will doubtless apprise me of the time when it will be possible for these negotiations to be entered on, and it will then be my pleasure to inform you not only of the fact, but also to inform you, in reply to the enquiry which was contained in your letter of the 12th instant of the methods by which His Majesty's Government and the Government of the Dominion think that it would be most convenient to conduct the negotiations."

THE LONG SILENCE.

5. That was in May, 1910. Then came the long silence. Mr. Fielding and Mr. Patterson went to England "upon public business of importance"—to quote Mr. Bryce. They returned before "autumn," but made no sign. November came. Still no notice of going forward with negotiations. Then came the Drummond and Arthabasca election in which the Canadian Government received a stunning blow from the Canadian Nationalists, but still the official communication promised by Mr. Bryce—not only of the time when it would be possible to enter on the negotiations—but also to answer the enquiry—as to "the methods by which His Majesty's Government and the Government of the Dominion think that it would be most convenient to conduct the negotiations—came not—and in fact never came so far as the return shows. To the end of the year the British Government and the Canadian Government were dumb.

Had they arrived at an understanding during the visit to England of Mr. Fielding and Mr. Patterson or did the pilgrimage to Washington, once anathema to Sir Wilfrid Laurier only occur to them after the rout in Drummond and Arthabasca?

HOBOS AT WASHINGTON.

6. It is inconceivable that Mr. Fielding and Mr. Patterson did not discuss this important question with the British Government when in England, and it is equally unthinkable that the Canadian Government did not notify the American Government of the coming of the Canadian Ministers unless indeed it is to be assumed that they turned up in Washington as tramps. In the papers brought down there is not a scrap of correspondence on these points from the 17th May, 1910, to 10th January, 1911.

7. In a telegram of 10th January, 1911, Mr. Bryce informed Sir Edward Grey that Mr. Fielding and Mr. Patterson arrived in Washington on the 6th January "to discuss (mark you) with the United States Government trade and tariff relations between Canada and the United States." No proposals were so far submitted by the United States, and the two Ministers had as much authority to discuss the terms upon which Canada might renounce its allegiance to the British Crown as to discuss trade and tariff relations with a foreign country—unarmed and unauthorized as they were by the mandate of the Crown or of the people in Parliament.

8. Mr. Bryce in his telegram of the 10th January informed Sir Edward Grey that he presented Messrs. Fielding and Patterson "to the President who received them very cordially." "The conference began to-day (the 10th) and will continue during the next few days."

Everything was apparently pretty well understood, cut and dried—and not much difficulty was anticipated. But in Mr. Bryce's letter of the same date to the British Foreign Secretary he contradicts the statement in his telegram that the conference commenced on the 10th of January for he states that he introduced the Canadian Ministers on the 7th January, and adds: "On the same day (that is, the 7th) the conference between the two Ministers aforesaid and the Secretary of State and his officials on the part of the United States was opened. It was continued to-day, and may probably last through the week." Then follows in Mr. Bryce's letter of the 10th January the following significant observation:—

"I have been in constant communication with the Canadian Ministers, and gather from them that the difficulties incident to any general reciprocity still appear serious." The Ambassador was in no way shocked at this proposal.

FREE TRADERS IN THEORY.

9. There can be therefore no doubt that the "general reciprocity" here referred to was free trade in manufactures as well as in natural products—between Canada and the States—and that question must have been discussed before the 10th as the word "still" indicates. But doubt if any (there is none) is dissipated by the President's statement a little later at Atlanta that he authorized his Commissioners to offer reciprocity in manufactures as well as in natural products to Canada—a proposal, if adopted that would have reduced Canada to the rank of a State in the American Union. Our free trade representatives being only free traders in principle but protectionists in practice ran away from that proposition. The Western free trade farmers might take note of this.

10. But what was the answer of the British Government to Mr. Bryce's letter of the 10th January which was received at the British Foreign Office on the 19th January. Note that Mr. Bryce in his telegram of the 10th January did not inform the British Government that the discussion opened on the 7th and that there was still serious "difficulty incident to any general reciprocity." Nor did the British Government appear astounded that such a subject came up for discussion and might be decided "during the next few days." They appear to have been perfectly indifferent, they made no remonstrance and gave no instructions to Mr. Bryce and the latter complacently stood by while a proposal was under consideration that meant the denationalization of Canada and the dismemberment of the Empire whose ambassador he was. The reason will appear presently.

WHERE WAS ASQUITH?

11. There is no record disclosed in the public returns that the British Government intervened or gave instructions to their ambassador in a matter that so vitally affected not merely their country's trade and Canadian autonomy—but also concerned the very existence of the Empire.

12. On the 12th January Mr. Bryce telegraphed to Sir Edward Grey that "the reciprocity negotiations with Canada are now proceeding in a more favorable way, etc." This telegram was received at the British Foreign Office on the 13th January. On the 19th January, the very day on which the Foreign Office received Mr. Bryce's letter of the 10th January announcing that the offer of "general reciprocity" was meeting with serious difficulty, Mr. Bryce telegraphed to the British Foreign Office (and his telegram was received there on the same day) that "The Canadian Reciprocity agreement with the United States has almost been completed and the Canadian Ministers hope that it will be signed on Saturday, the 21st January."

Still no comment by the British Government of the offer of "general reciprocity" or of its being dropped—or that the ambassador pointed out the proposal was attended with serious difficulty.

MR. BRYCE'S COMMUNICATION

13. On the 22nd January, 1911, Mr. Bryce telegraphed to Sir Edward Grey that the reciprocity agreement was signed "yesterday."

14. The meaning of this agreement and the wisdom or unwisdom of its sanction by the Parliament and people of Canada, and the Congress and people of the United States form a separate chapter for impartial consideration.

15. I have taken the foregoing extracts from the correspondence brought down in the Imperial Parliament, and these constitute all the letters submitted in reference to matters connected with the initiation, conduct and completion of the agreement—by the signing of it.

I myself moved in the British Parliament on the floor of the House the answer of the Prime Minister that at present the Government did not intend to "lay" any papers then, except a short telegram from the Governor-General. Later, however, the Government brought down the papers I have referred to and these are all the papers submitted on the subject up to the date of signing the agreement.

A RED HERRING WANTED.

1. The Canadian Government were sadly in need of a new cry to divert the public mind in Quebec from the unpopularity of the Navy Question—the failure of the Government to submit their policy on that subject to the people, and from scandals attaching to their administration. They saw in their route in Drummond and Arthabasca the handwriting on the wall. The public attention must be turned away from Mr. Bourassa's vigorous onslaught and their own reckless expenditures.

TAFT, THE EMPIRE-BREAKER.

11. The American President wisely saw that the natural resources of the United States had been wantonly wasted and were rapidly dwindling—that it was of the first importance to his country to get free entry to the wheat fields and forests of Canada and to the Canadian market. For this he was willing to make some concessions in regard to tariffs that in the interest of his countrymen must come down or come off in order to let in the supply necessary to make good the deficiency of the American productions. He, too, recognized, to use his own words at the New York Post dinner on the 2nd April last that:—

"The forces which are at work in England and Canada to separate Canada by a Chinese Wall from the United States, and to make her part of an Imperial commercial band reaching from England round the world to England again by a system of preferential tariffs, will derive an impetus from the rejection of this treaty. "If we would have reciprocity, we must take it now or give it up forever."

And he said in his message to Congress that "the bond that binds Canada to the Mother Country is light and almost imperceptible," and that "Canada was at the parting of the ways." He wished to smash preferential trade between Canada and the Mother Country, to take Canada out of that Commercial bond around the Empire and that meant death of Reciprocity and to entangle her in American trade alliances that farsighted and candid statesmen and observers in both countries regard as the first step in the annexation of Canada to the United States. From this point of view his objects were praiseworthy.

WHERE WAS ASQUITH?

111. The official papers cited show that the British Government made no remonstrance, that they publicly gave no instructions to their ambassador, that in fact they were acquiescent in the absorption of Canada in the Commercial sphere of the United States—with the enormous loss to British trade that "General reciprocity" between Canada and the United States saw—as Mr. Taft thought he saw—that Reciprocity would kill tariff reform and Imperial preference, and they wished to kill them. The chief of the British Cabinet said in Parliament that the Imperial Preferential Trade bonds was "the greatest imposture of modern times"—and spoke of the Reciprocity Agreement as involving "the obsequies" of the Preferential trade movement.

Each of these parties from its own separate point of view was interested in promoting a reciprocity agreement, one in order to draw a red herring across the political scent in regard to naval and other matters in Canada, the other to destroy the forces that threatened death to American absorption of Canada, and a third to destroy the force that was undermining the Moribund system of Free Trade in England. The Canadian Ministers were interested in the first, the American President and his commissioners in the second, and the British Government in the third.

BRYCE, THE ANNEXATIONIST.

IV. And what of the British ambassador at Washington? Well he was apparently allowed to "gang his ain gait"—which was the gait of his masters—who appointed him to represent the interests of the Empire! Here are his views as contained in a book recently published by himself:

"The material growth of Canada would probably be quickened by union (with the United States) and the plan of a Commercial League or Customs Union (with the United States) which has lately been discussed might, if carried out, lead to a political union; indeed, it is hard to see how otherwise Canada could have her fair share in adjusting such tariff changes as might from time to time become necessary."

This is the man who was shepherding the interests of the British Empire—and of Canada—at a time when our very existence as a self-governing autonomous nation was at stake. He is the fourth party. And the British Government were either acquiescent or asleep. Canada's real interest was a side issue.

FIGHTING FOR EXISTENCE

V. There is a fifth party that is now being consulted at the polls—and the question is not one of narrow party politics. It is a grave national issue—involving not merely our self-respect but the very existence of our country as an independent political entity in the British Empire. It is a time for every patriot who values the rights, the liberties, and guarantees that we enjoy, to make fast what we hold and not depart from the safe road that experience has shown ensures individual contentment and national prosperity.

THE DUTY OF THE HOUR

Never was a people more loudly summoned to announce their unflinching adherence to the institutions under which they were born, and their emphatic condemnation of a conspiracy to sell their country for a mess of pottage.

A young man named Napoleon Thomassin, residing in St. Agnes street, St. Sauveur, attempted to commit suicide last evening by cutting his throat with a razor. OPENING OF THE CIVIL COURTS.

As a large number of the legal fraternity are just at present busy in the political campaign, very little legal work was proceeded with.

The many friends of Master George Groves, son of the late Edward Groves, will be sorry to learn of his death. He took sick with pneumonia Monday, Sept. 4th, and died yesterday morning at 10 o'clock. Those who already know of his sad death can only offer his mother their deepest sympathy in her sad bereavement.

THE COLDSTREAM GUARDS.

There is hardly need to remark the magnetic conductorship of Dr. Rogan and the fine musician ship of the Coldstream Guards Band which appears for one concert at the Auditorium, Saturday evening, Sept. 16th. As a body the band is superbly drilled in technique and in playing discloses the qualities of an expert symphonic orchestra. The instrumentalists in ensemble passages utter a full bodied sonorous tone, shade finely from the loudest crescendo to whispering almost inaudible pianissimo, the precision of attack is perfect, the unanimity is as if one voice were sounding. But this must be noted, Dr. Rogan knows how to make a programme which will not only delight or entertain, but which also will have decided educational value in teaching the auditors to appreciate what, because of its complexity in rhythms and harmonics is usually named deplorably "classic music."

SIR WILFRID'S STRENUOUS TOUR

Liberal Leader Arrived at Quebec Last Evening and Starts Out Again Today.

Sir Wilfrid Laurier addressed a large meeting at Victoriaville yesterday afternoon, and last evening he was a guest at the Chateau Frontenac, where he was visited by a large number of the friends of the party.

Sir Wilfrid had a meeting of two thousand or more at Victoriaville, but the cheers which greeted the Premier were not over enthusiastic.

Sir Wilfrid was waited upon last evening by the leaders of the local Liberals, and he held a reception in his room at the Chateau.

Among those who called upon him were Sir Lomer Gouin, Premier of the Province.

Sir Wilfrid will to-day again resume his tour, going to Beauce.

MR. HONE IN QUEBEC CENTRE

Large Gathering Last Evening Assembled to Help the Independent Candidate.

There was a large gathering at the Central Committee room of Mr. Jules Hone, the independent candidate for Quebec Centre, last evening at Pageot's Hall. There were few speeches, Mr. Hone announcing himself as an independent and business man's candidate, a fact which was received with enthusiasm, and all present at once entered upon the work of making his organization perfect. Judging from the enthusiastic manner in which Mr. Hone was received last night, and the energetic manner in which his friends and committees are working, there promises to be a keen contest in Quebec Centre, and Mr. Lachance will have to exert all his influence to escape defeat.

The Young Men's Independent Business Club is to hold a meeting tonight at the Salle Bertrand, on Cote d'Abraham, when a number of speakers will be heard.

A HURLEYA THING.

We deem it a hurleya thing to rush up to the ticket window for a local ticket with only a minute to spare, and find some one propped against the counter, who is planning a trip around the world or negotiating the purchase of three yards of tourist paper, with a handsome disregard of the downtown office kept for that purpose.—Chicago Tribune.

DUKE OF CONNAUGHT'S HOUSEHOLD STAFF.

Ottawa, Sept. 11.—It is understood that a household staff numbering fifty persons, will be in Ottawa when the Duke of Connaught arrives. Some of these will arrive at the end of this month.

During Earl Grey's tenure of office six uniformed non-commissioned officers were in constant attendance at Rideau Hall. This number is being increased to ten.

VOTERS' LISTS IN NEW ONTARIO.

Ottawa, Sept. 11.—It is now practically certain that the voters' lists for all of the New Ontario constituencies will be ready and distributed by election day and that there will be no necessity for deferred elections. The lists for Thunder Bay and the Rainy River are now in hand and will be printed by the middle of next week. Parts of the lists for east and west Algoma and Nipissing have been received. There has been a heavy registration of voters in Cochrane and the new mining camps of the north.

FINE BILL AT AUDITORIUM.

The bill at the Auditorium this week is a splendid one. Manager Cardinal having secured a fine line of attractions to follow up the "Beauty Spot." Among the vaudeville attractions are Alice Farnsworth, a singing comedienne, who made a great success at yesterday's performances. Wylies and partner in a singing act also made a good appearance, and Alf Jaff, a blackface comedian, helped to make the performance one of the best. The moving pictures are of the best and the Auditorium has as usual one of the most interesting bills of the season.

GENERAL SYNOD ANGLICAN CHURCH

Remodelling of the Prayer Book of the Canadian Church Now on Tapis.

London, Ont., Sept. 11.—The General Synod of the Anglican Church this afternoon passed the recommendation of the commission on the adaptation of the book of common prayer. By so doing the first step was taken in remodelling the prayer book to meet the needs of Canadian church and the requirements of Canadian associations, something that one wing of the church has been agitating for in many synods for years. The recommendation was not passed without a bitter opposition, however.

The evening session was devoted to the business end of the new prayer and finally it was adopted that the Cambridge press would have copies of the new amended prayer book for the next general synod.

The Ne Temere was brought about at the morning session, Hon. S. H. Blake, of Toronto, making two motions, first to have a joint committee appointed from both upper and lower houses of the General Synod to confer with other religious bodies to conduct the fullest investigation into the matter and to recommend any change in legislation to remedy the existing evils of the marriage law. The second was a memorial to the Government to set aside the Court of Exchequer as a court to which all questions of the validity of marriage would be referred. Neither resolution was put to the house, the noon adjournment coming before the conclusion of the debate upon them and according to the other sheet, the prayer book question had to be settled first.

James Jones, K.C., of Toronto, and Mr. Davidson, L.L.D., of Montreal, lead the opposition against the resolutions, both declaring that the Ne Temere did not affect the marriage laws of Quebec—the decisions and rulings on the cases in question being made on the civil law of the Province which had been broken when the marriage contract had not been solemnized in the manner prescribed by that civil law. The debate was a warm one.

TORONTO POLICE OFFICIAL TO RETIRE

Toronto, Ont., Sept. 11.—William R. Davis, police inspector in No. 1 division and one of the best known officers on the force, is to retire at the end of 1911. On Dec. 31 he will end his 30 years of service since the benefit fund was established, and he will then be entitled to draw a pension equal to half of his salary. As a police inspector's salary is $1650 his pension will be $825.

CONGRATULATED ON ANTI- RECIPROCITY STAND

Welland, Ont., Sept. 11.—W. M. German, former Liberal member for Welland in the last House of Commons, who broke with the Liberal party on the reciprocity pact and whose election by acclamation on that issue is practically assured, has received from A. M. Campbell of the Plymouth Cordage Company, a letter endorsing his stand on the trade agreement. The Welland branch of the cordage company, whose headquarters are at North Plymouth, Mass., is Welland's largest industry, owning 175 acres.

FIERCE FIRE IN TORONTO.

Toronto, Sept. 11.—A fire, which threatened the whole plant of the British American Oil Company at the foot of Cherry street, was discovered this evening shortly after 6 o'clock. One of the large tanks burned fiercely for three hours. Workmen at great personal risk built a trench around the burning tank while the police kept crowds away and the firemen confined their efforts to keeping the other buildings wet. Pumps were used to remove the oil from the burning tank to another one at a safer distance and this saved a good quantity of oil. The loss will be only about $200.

ITALIAN VIOLINIST SUICIDED AT TORONTO

Toronto, Sept. 11.—Joseph Sarli, an Italian violinist, aged 42, committed suicide this morning by jumping from the Centre Island ferry boat Kathleen as she was returning to the city.

Sarli, standing at the rail, gave no intimation of his intention until about two hundred yards from shore, when without warning, he leaped over the rail and disappeared in the water below.

Sarli was at one time a violinist and played in the D'Alessandro Orchestra, the leader of which was his uncle. He was well known around the city and had an excellent reputation.

CUBAN DUEL NOW ON TAPIS.

Havana, Sept. 11.—Mariano Gomez, son of the President of Cuba, has challenged Representative Armando Andre, editor of El Dia to a duel. Recently a pistol fight took place between Gomez and Andre in the Hotel Inglaterra, in which neither was injured. The seconds for Gomez in the proposed duel made an unsatisfactory report after a visit to Andre today. The editor explained that he could not fight a boy and also pointed out that a criminal case was pending in the courts against Gomez, the charge being assault.

Vancouver, B.C., Sept. 11.—The salmon pack of British Columbia for the year is estimated at 750,000 cases, which is a fair average for a season's work.
Vancouver, B.C., Sept. 11.—Estevan, on the west coast of Vancouver Island, last night spoke to the steamer Canada Maru, 2,000 miles at sea, creating the longest record for wireless so far on this coast.

Correspondence

TO WORKINGMEN.

To the Editor of the Chronicle :
Dear Sir,—The Liberal press and speakers are very much interested in the farmer's welfare nowadays. They say the farmer will get a higher price for his hay, cream, butter, etc., etc. Well, Sir, if the farmer get higher prices from Uncle Sam, it stands to reason the poor city workingman, who is put to the pin of his collar to make both ends meet, must pay a higher price for what the farmer pleases to sell in his home market. How the farmer and city man will be benefited by higher prices puzzles me, as it must puzzle every voter in the Dominion. Do Liberals think the city workers are fools to believe such nonsense? If the farmer gets four or five dollars more a ton for his hay, will not the carters, milkmen and horse owners in cities be obliged to pay at least the same price? The price of milk will not be less than fifteen cents a quart. Do not the poor men consider that the present price of milk is far too high? The workingman who votes for a Liberal will live to rue the day he did so. Should this country be cursed by reciprocity, rioting will take place in every city in the Dominion against the high price of foodstuffs, and the authors of reciprocity may have to flee the country to save their lives.

Workingmen, a fellow workingman asks you if you consider the price of provisions at present high enough, and if you do how in the name of common sense can you vote to raise the price twenty-five per cent higher? The poor lunatics in Beauport Asylum would not do so.

Therefore, make up your minds to vote against the men who, if elected, will confine you and family to two meals a day owing to the high price of provisions. Uncle Sam's gold must be scattered liberally among the authors of reciprocity, else they would not dare to force this abominable question on the voters of this country. Let the workingmen of the Dominion stand shoulder to shoulder on this, to them, important question, and teach the Liberal grafters a lesson they shall never forget.

A Workingman.

Merger of Interests of Two Leading Piano Houses at Montreal.

It is announced that the Nordheimer Company of Toronto, and the Lindsay Company of Montreal have merged their interests for the districts of Montreal, Ottawa and Quebec, and that the Lindsay Company will hereafter have the exclusive representation of the different agencies controlled by both houses including the Steinway, Nordheimer and Aeolian Companies' pianos.

The far-reaching importance of this arrangement will be of general interest and indicates the prevailing tendency of business concentration whereby the duplicating of plants for the marketing of goods is avoided.

The high business standard so long enjoyed by the pioneer House of the Nordheimer Company is well known throughout the Dominion and elsewhere, and in now transferring their interests to the enterprising and successful firm of the Lindsay Company it will mean an exceptionally attractive combination of piano representation under one roof, the advantages of which the purchasing public will readily recognize.

LAURIER MADE

ATTACK ON BOURASSA

Actonville, Que., Sept. 11.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier, on his way to the meeting at Victoriaville, received an ovation here, a large section of the population being at the station to meet him. After Mr. L. J. Gauthier, the Liberal candidate, had briefly addressed the crowd, Sir Wilfrid spoke from the rear of his car.

After paying a tribute to the lamented Mr. Beauparlant, the Liberal leader dwelt briefly on the reciprocity and navy questions, concluding his speech with an onslaught on the Nationalists and their leader.

"Mr. Bourassa," said Sir Wilfrid, "must be ashamed of the disgraceful campaign of hypocrisy he is conducting. Mr. Bourassa, the autonomist, champion of the pure among the pure, and the ally of the Ontario jingoes, should also be ashamed of the personal attacks his paper, the Devoir, is making, and of having his organ circulated throughout the province with the funds of the anti-reciprocity league.

"The statement has been made, and it has not been denied, but the bullet that will kill me is not cast yet, and on Sept. 21, I have no doubt Mr. Bourassa and his allies will be left to their hatred. I am no more a young man, but I am sound of foot and eye, and my heart is young. Why should it not be, since after travelling all over the country I have found that the people were still in sympathy with the cause I represent. I am confident the Liberal party will be returned to power with an increased majority."

Besides beautifying the hair, one application of Danderine dissolves every particle of Dandruff; cleanses, purifies and invigorates the scalp, forever stopping itching and falling hair.

It's exhilarating, stimulating and life-producing properties cause the hair to grow abundantly long, strong and beautiful. It at once imparts a sparkling brilliancy and velvety softness to the hair, and a few weeks' use will cause new hair to sprout all over the scalp. You can surely have pretty, soft, lustrous hair, and lots of it, if you will just get a 25 cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter and try it as directed.

MORE DETAILS OF QUEBEC BRIDGE

How Mr. Parent's Company Lost the Guarantee of $100,000 to the Country.

Three interesting details came out of the story of the Quebec Bridge loss. They are:—

1. The bridge was being built by the Phoenix Iron Company, a very large concern situated at Phoenixville, in Pennsylvania. This company has ample financial resources. But the Quebec Bridge Company had no contract with this strong and responsible company. Its contract was with the Phoenix Bridge Company, and this has a capital of only $50,000. In plain terms the Phoenix Iron Company, the real concern, created this subsidiary company, a company of straw, for the purpose of making contracts. The work was done by the big company; the risk and responsibility were borne by the fake company. There is no recourse against the builders who drew the plans and made the mistakes.

2. The Phoenix Bridge Company gave the Quebec Bridge Company a Security Company's Bond for $100,000 as guarantee for the due performance of a work running up to three millions of dollars. It was trivial security at best.

It now transpires that after the fall of the structure the Quebec Bridge Company (Mr. Parent's Company) neglected, whether purposely or not, to give the notice required by the security company within the specified time, and in the session of 1910 the Minister of Railways confessed that he had little hope of recovering a single dollar of it.

Here is a loss outright to the country of $100,000 because of the indifference or worse of Mr. Parent's Company.

3. The Province of Quebec had granted $250,000 and the city of Quebec $300,000 to the Quebec Bridge Company on the condition that the structure which it was to erect was to have provision for street car and vehicular traffic. The Quebec Bridge Company spent the money and the bridge it undertook fell down. The contract which the Dominion Government awarded made no provision for street car and vehicular traffic, and the Dominion Government therefore returned their $550,000; though it was granted, not to the Dominion Government but to the Quebec Bridge Company.

Thus Mr. Parent's Company did not take the trouble to see that it was making its contract with the right company. It did not take the trouble to cash its guarantee bonds. For this its members are rewarded by being paid back money they never put in, and interest and bonuses, up to half a million dollars.

A WORLD'S TREASURE HAS BEEN STOLEN

One of the three world's greatest treasures has been stolen, and the police of two continents are on the lookout for its recovery, says the Toronto Mail. This is none other than "Mona Lisa," Leonardo da Vinci's great portrait, which has mysteriously vanished from its place in the Louvre in Paris. The theft of Raphael's Madonna from the Sistine Chapel or the disappearance of the Venus de Milo would equal the loss to the world of art of Da Vinci's masterpiece. The three are often classed together as works of supreme genius which have been preserved to us. Perhaps Rembrandt's "Night Watch," now in the Ryks Museum at Amsterdam, and the Appollo Belvidere, in the Vatican Gallery, might be included in this group of works of genius, but no group is so small that it would, not include "Mona Lisa," which art critics are almost unanimous in declaring the greatest portrait ever painted. Compared with it, such paintings as Rembrandt's "Mill," and the score of other pictures that have made in their time world's records, are as "Atalanta in Calydon" is to "Lear."

The Woman With the Smile.

"Mona Lisa" is a corruption of Madonna Lisa del Gioconda, the lady whom Leonardo painted some time in the beginning of the sixteenth century. She was the third wife of the Florentine, Francesco del Gioconda. The wonderful charm of the painting lies in the inscrutable smile on the face of the woman, a mysterious lighting of the mouth and eyes that possesses the power to hypnotize the beholder. It is said that Leonardo spent four years in painting this portrait, working at intervals upon it. The smile was what fascinated him as it has fascinated generations who have looked at it. Even when it was finished the artist said that he was not satisfied, and that he had failed somehow to get the true expression on the wonderful face. It was this enigmatical smile that baffled him, as it has baffled millions since. The artist employed musicians and jesters to play and talk to the model as he worked, and there is a tradition that says her peculiar smile appeared only to the coaxing of a certain strain of music.

The Great Portrait.

However, true this may be, it is known that Da Vinci labored for years to transfix this fleeting expression, and if he did not succeed, he at least produced a masterpiece of portraiture that no other artist before or since has surpassed. The hands in the painting, too, are said to be the most beautiful ever painted. The strange background to the figure is another feature into which interpreters have sought to read a message. "Mona Lisa" was one of the two great portraits painted by Leonardo in the second period of his residence in Florence. The other, that of "Ginevra Benci," has long since disappeared. It is said by some authorities that another of Leonardo's pictures, that known as "La Belle Ferronniere," also in the possession of the Louvre, is a portrait of Lucrezia Crevelin, but points differ on this point. In any event the existence of other great pictures by Leonardo will not reconcile the people of France to the loss of one of their chief treasures.

Thief or Lunatic.

The object of the thief or thieves has provoked as much discussion as their identity. What can they do with it? There is no collector in the world who would buy it. Either his conscience would restrain him, or fear of punishment in the event of the picture being discovered in his possession. Every connoisseur in the world knows "Mona Lisa," as well as he knows his own name. There is a possibility, however, that the possessors of the painting can induce the French government to ransom it; and this is the only possible way in which a profit can be made out of the crime. It has been suggested that the theft was the work of some joker who wished to impress upon the Louvre authorities the fact that their treasures are not well guarded. Another theory is that it was carried off by some more or less insane person who had a grudge against the government of France. Likelier still, the great picture was stolen by some crank for sheer love of its beauty. It is said that the attendants at the Louvre frequently find letters addressed to "La Gioconda," so deeply has the painting impressed some minds. If some lunatic of this class has stolen the canvas, the chances of its return are small indeed.

Treasures Unguarded.

There can be no doubt that at the Louvre and in other great art galleries there is too much laxness on the part of the authorities who are supposed to guard the treasures. If, instead of being a piece of canvas, "Mona Lisa" had been so many diamonds, it would never have been left unprotected, night or day. But the theft of a thousand Kohinoors could not inflict such a loss as this four-hundred-year-old square of canvas. Its disappearance has given M. Lepine, the veteran prefect of police, a chance to become a historical character by tracking down the thieves and recovering the woman with the smile.

WORK FOR RED CROSS.

Miss Mabel Boardman, national secretary of the Red Cross Society, has not been idle during the summer, as far as her work is concerned, but recently had charge of a bag sale at Manchester, Mass., that netted quite a neat little sum for the cause. Mrs. Taft and Miss Helen Taft came over from their summer home and the summer visitors all along the coast of Massachusetts lent their aid to the cause.

Look at this Grate Bar!

The reasons for its saving of fuel and simplicity of operation are surely worth a minute of your time.

THAT'S the King grate bar. And in every sense it's a great bar. For, no other grate unites the simplicity, convenience and ease of operation with the same substantial fuel economy. Not a bolt or split pin anywhere to require cold-chisel-and-hammer treatment. Working independently of each other, it takes but a moment and a pair of hands to remove or replace them. In shaking or dumping, the operation can be so regulated that clinkers or large coal cannot clog the grates or partially burnt or fresh coal drop below. The fire in the boiler is dumped by simply reversing the shaker.

KING BOILER & RADIATORS

Another point of special interest is: The shaker, instead of being a separate part of the grate, is joined to and forms a complete part with the grate. No need for fumbling in the dark when you want to use it; no need to remove it when through to avoid stumbling over it. It's always in position, but never in the way. The connecting rod of the King being placed at the side, instead of the centre, allows the draft to be completely and evenly distributed over the whole grate surface, causing perfect combustion and the abstraction of every unit of heat energy from the fuel.

PAYING THE PRICE.

To retain a discredited party in power means the lowering of the political morality of the country. A doomed party must resort to political devices that injure the country. The question of price supersedes the question of principle.

The Laurier party is so discredited that thousands of its best supporters have left the party. To attempt to avert defeat, the government has instituted a campaign of political de-bauchery, unparalleled in the history of any country. Judgeships, senatorships, lieutenant-governorships, are being, and have been, sold to the highest bidder to raise funds, or are being used to placate insurgents. Qualification for the position is unnecessary. The bench has been degraded, honorable positions are now political pawns, and the public treasury a huddle fund.

Edmonton has furnished an example of the political morality of Canadian public life as it has become through Laurierism. A discredited cabinet minister has placated the insurgents. The price will not be known until after the election. Is the bench to be disgraced by another incapable? Is a discredited provincial politician to be forced again upon the people, and permitted to renew his reign of boodles, graft and corruption? Is the finest court in Canada, the Railway Commission, to be disgraced by a disgraced minister of the crown? The price has been paid and Canada will pay for it in a degraded judiciary and a lowering of the standard of our public life until, in the language of Joe Martin, "It stinks in the nostrils of the British people."

Canada must pay the price when a discredited government is determined to retain power. The price is our good name and the sacrifice of the honor and integrity that should be the principles of our public life.

THE AESTHETIC COCKTAIL.

We hate to take issue with our friend the New York Times, but in an editorial on "The Cocktail Cherry," while admitting that the article of which it speaks is "a tasteless, indigestible thing," it adds "originally a fruit of the cherry tree." The only hope we find in this statement is in regard to the habits of the gentleman who wrote it; it shows so plainly that he has abstained for a long time from the cherry cocktail. It is true that he assails the liquor known as maraschino, which he declares is found, on analysis, "to contain bezeldehyde, glucose and other objectionable ingredients," but this liquid is used for many other things besides its office of preserving cocktail cherries.

As a matter of fact the alleged cocktail cherry of present-day bar-room commerce is a cherry only in form, and is very far indeed, in most cases, from being "the fruit of the cherry tree." So well is this known to be the fact by steady cocktail consumers that the mere fact of eating the "cherry" is a sure give-away, betraying the amateur; the unsophisticated youth who has not yet forgotten that his first taste of genuine liquor came with brandied cherries in the innocent old homestead. Nobody dares to eat the cocktail cherry nowadays, even though the immaculate barkeep impales it on a toothpick for greater elegance in handling, and so far as consumption of cherries goes the ordinary bar might just as well keep a half dozen of 'em in stock to use over and over again as, doubtless, many of them do.

So far as we know, and our knowledge comes only from hearsay, the only people who are brave enough to tackle the artificial cocktail cherry of today are women, and they are moved thereto chiefly because the impaled cherry lends the cocktail an aesthetic look, being made largely of glucose, and because they taste sweet. To the ladies a "dry" cocktail is an abomination, while to the masculine mind it appeals very largely because it requires an honest olive to be substituted for the pretended cherry.

But to speak of the cocktail cherry as "the fruit of the cherry tree"—which solecism on the part of the New York Times led us to this dissertation—betrays a happy state of unsophistication that, in these days, is delightful to contemplate.

OPENING OF GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP MEET.

Rye, N. Y., Sept. 11.—The sun had disappeared behind the Westchester hills when the last of the 170 starters in today's 18-hole qualifying round for the 17th amateur golf championship holed out on the final green and it was discovered that only those having cards of 84 or better could continue tomorrow. As there were 60 players who made 83 or better the ten who scored 84 for the round will play off tomorrow for the remaining four places, for only 64 players can compete in the final medal round of the 18 holes tomorrow forenoon. The best 32 scores for the 36 holes will then be taken for the first round of each play in the afternoon.

Thomas M. Sherman of Utica, N. Y., a son of Vice-President Sherman, carried off the honors of the day by making the 18 holes in 75 strokes. This was one stroke better than was shown by the cards of H. H. Hilton, the British champion; W. C. Fowles, Jr., of Pittsburgh, the American title holder; Charles Evans, Jr., of Chicago; Robert A. Gardner, also of Chicago and Yale, and A. H. Rhett of the Crescent Athletic Club.

There were a dozen others who bettered 80, and in this number appeared J. Douglas Brown of the Murray Field Club of Edinburgh, Scotland, who in 1907 was the Irish champion. Brown is regarded tonight as a dark horse and has been coupled with Hilton in the betting on the possibility of the Havermeyer Cup going to Great Britain. Hilton was easily the golfing magnet of the day and drew after him a gallery of more than a hundred. The greater part of this crowd left him at the 16th green, however, in order to watch "Chick" Evans, who was then on his outward journey.

George S. Lyon of Toronto, who was one of those who had to play in the driving rain, qualified with a card of 84.

THE RAIN.

It was so wet up in th' sky,
Th' Rain came down where it was dry—

An' 'cause he was all dripping wet
He went a-huntin' round to get
Some place to stay in—s' w'y, I s'pose
He liked our Katie's clean white
clo'es,
But she jus' jerked 'em off th' line,
'Cause Katie ain't a-goin' to min' 'a

If all his feelin's does get hurt—
N'en he jus' tumbled in the dirt.
Bime-by he saw th' folks a-sittin'
On our piazza—Gramma' knittin'.
But soon as he climbed up th' stairs
W'y ever 'body pulled their chairs
Away back in. "Oh-ho!" says he,
"They're 'fraid to 'sociate with me!"

So he went off an' had some fun
A-makin' all th' chickens run.
But he'll get in, in spite of that,
'Cause here comes Grampa an' his hat!

Th' Ole Rain rode 'long on th' brim,
An' w'en my Grampa he saw him
He slapped his hank-chuf, so's he'll get
The worstest whippin' he's had yet!
—Marie Louise Tompkins, in Harper's Weekly.

DOCTOR TOLD HIM

THE WORST.

"My wife has been having some trouble with her throat," confided a friend, "and I got pretty worried about it and sent for a doctor. He examined her and looked very grave, and that scared me even worse."

"So I said, 'Tell me the worst at once, Doc,' and he whispered, 'She will recover her voice.'"

"And my wife overheard the question and the answer, and now Doc and I are both in bad."—Boston Herald.

CANARY BIRDS AS LUNCHEON FAVORS.

There was a pretty luncheon in the Orangerie of the Hotel Astor yesterday, in which yellow was the color scheme, and canary birds the souvenirs. A dozen of these songsters were in small gilt cages, arranged in a pyramid in the centre of the table. The birds sang merrily during the luncheon and were carried away by the guests. Each plate was on a large doily, embroidered in yellow, to represent a sunflower. These were also taken as favors.—New York Herald.

SCHOOL GARDENS

IN ENGLAND.

Miss Grace Parsons has just returned from England, where she went from New York to superintend the forming of a school farm under the auspices of the Countess Camilla Hoyos. Miss Parsons found that London has enough waste places to make possible 50,000 gardens for poor children. She found that there are many unused cemeteries that might be used for gardens. Miss Parsons started a garden in the city of London and stayed long enough to see radishes grow.

A NEW PORCUPINE

FLotation.

A new Porcupine company which seems to have decided merit in its offering, has just made its appearance. Heretofore it has often been the custom in organizing Porcupine companies to capitalize them at very high figures per claim or acre. In fact many prospect stocks have been sold where the offering price, considering the large capitalization, to have any intrinsic value behind it, would have need of a very large developed mine to warrant the prices.

In analyzing this new property, Porcupine Southern, one notices the company owns outright fourteen claims and holds under option two claims located in Tisdale and Whitney townships, which at the present time are making by far the best mine showings in the Porcupine district. This large acreage has been capitalized for one million $1 shares, of which 600,000 shares have been placed in the treasury for future purposes, and of this treasury stock 150,000 shares are offered at 60 cents per share to net the company's treasury 57 cents per share. The money realized from this sale is to be used for development purposes. The company's holdings are distributed throughout the important sections and will profit by the discoveries of the many operating companies in the immediate neighborhood of its claims.

Application will be made to list the stock on the Toronto Standard Stock Exchange on the New York Curb and on the Boston Curb.

In the meantime till Sept. 12th, subscription to the stock will be received by J. Thomas Reinhardt, 38 Broad Street, New York.

The Present Offering

In the six months or more which have elapsed since Porcupine Central and Porcupine Northern were publicly floated, remarkable developments have been of almost daily occurrence in Porcupine, and valuations have been established which six months ago were hopes, rather than realizations. Nevertheless today Porcupine Southern Mining Company is being brought out along the same conservative lines as its predecessors.

Through Porcupine Southern Mines, Ltd., an Ontario Corporation, it virtually owns fourteen claims (560 acres), and has under option two additional claims (80) acres favorably located in the centre of active operations.

These claims have the further advantage of being so scattered that important developments can occur hardly anywhere in the heart of Porcupine without benefitting one or another of them.

The following letter speaks for itself:

No. 42 Broadway,
New York City,
September 7, 1911.

Mr. J. Thomas Reinhardt,
No. 38 Broad Street,
New York City.

Dear Sir: The Porcupine Southern Mining Company has been organized under the laws of Delaware with a capital stock of 1,000,000 shares of a par value of $1.00 (full paid and non-assessable). This Company owns practically all the stock of the Porcupine Southern Mines, Limited, a corporation formed under the laws of Ontario, which owns fourteen claims, and has under option two claims, all located in the Townships of Tisdale and Whitney, Porcupine Mining Division, Ontario, Canada. These claims are specifically described as follows:

Held Under Option—No. 13,174, S.E. ¼ S. ¼ Lot 1, Concession 4; No. 13,848, N.W. ¼ S. ¼ Lot 1, Concession 2.

Owned Outright—No. 13,173, N.E. ¼ S. ¼ Lot 1, Concession 4; No. 13,849, S.W. ¼ S. ¼ Lot 1, Concession 2; No. 13,625, N.W. ¼ S. ¼ Lot 1, Concession 6; No. 12,797, S.W. ¼ S. ¼ Lot 3, Concession 3; No. 13,913, N.E. ¼ S. ¼ Lot 8, Concession 5; No. 13,914, S.W. ¼ S. ¼ Lot 8, Concession 5; No. 13,918, N.W. ¼ S. ¼ Lot 8, Concession 5; No. 13,917, S.W. ¼ S. ¼ Lot 8, Concession 5; No. 13,252, N.E. ¼ S. ¼ Lot 9, Concession 5; No. 13,251, S.E. ¼ N. ¼ Lot 9, Concession 5; No. 13,620, N.E. ¼ S. ¼ Lot 12, Concession 1; No. 13,619, S.W. ¼ S. ¼ Lot 12, Concession 2. The foregoing claims are located in Tisdale Township. No. 14,128, S.W. ¼ N. ¼ Lot 10, Concession 6; No. 14,129, S.E. ¼ N. ¼ Lot 10, Concession 6. The last two are located in Whitney Township.

The above claims are undeveloped. 600,000 shares of this stock have been put in the treasury of the Company. Your Syndicate has underwritten 150,000 shares of this treasury stock at 60 cents per share, less underwriters' commission of 5 per cent.

The Company proposes to begin active operations immediately. The Company will make application to list this stock on the New York Curb, the Toronto Standard Stock Exchange, and the Boston Curb. The distinguishing features of the Porcupine Southern Mining Company are:

LOW CAPITALIZATION.

LARGE HOLDINGS.

FAVORABLE LOCATION OF PROPERTIES.

WIDE DISTRIBUTION OF PROPERTIES IN PROVEN AREA.

CONSERVATIVE FINANCING.

The Board of Directors of this Company are the same as the Porcupine Central and Porcupine Northern Mining Companies.

Yours very truly,
(Signed) JOHN C. HICKS,

President, Porcupine Southern Mining Company.

The Previous Offerings.—The Results of the Previous Offerings

In the latter part of December I offered 200,000 shares of underwritten treasury stock in Porcupine Central Mining Company for public subscription at 40 cents per share. In the latter part of May, I offered 150,000 shares of underwritten treasury stock of Porcupine Northern Mining Company for public subscription at 50 cents per share. Today Porcupine Central and Porcupine Northern are listed in three markets, the New York Curb, the Toronto Standard Stock Exchange, and the Boston Curb, the former now ruling around $1.00 per share, and the latter around 76 cents. Porcupine Central was the first Porcupine Company to list its stock on the New York Curb.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.
McDonald & Lesperance, stock brokers, private wire to New York and Montreal, Hochelaga Bank Building, Telephone 1227.
Canadian Press Service.
New York, Sept. 11.—After opening on a considerably level stock fell to the lowest point of the year today and then recovered. Net changes were slight in most cases and the final rally was so spirited that many of the active issues closed with small gains, running up to a point in Reading and Southern Pacific. But the market was not freed from the nervousness and unsettledness of last week. During the morning's decline most of the representative issues were included in the list of low records, not only for the year, but in several instances for a longer period. The range of prices for the day ran from more than 3 points in a number of cases.

Opening gains, ranging from 1 to 3 points were due to the earlier rise of prices in the London market. Traders took advantage of the rise to sell stock. The selling had the appearance of being renewal of liquidation such as was the chief depressing factor for several weeks. The market was unable to resist the pressure and broke abruptly. The weakness was pronounced during most of the morning, and there seemed to be an utter lack of substantial support. Many weak-bill accounts, dating from the recent brief upward movement, were closed out. The recovery, which was in progress most of the afternoon, seemed to be chiefly the result of short covering.

The influence of the European markets was again a considerable factor. London, following the advances in American's there, bought moderately here at the opening, but as the market broke, faced about and sold. There also was heavy direct selling by Berlin, chiefly of Atchison, Union Pacific and Canadian Pacific. Total sales for foreign account were estimated at more than 30,000 shares. Reports in regard to the difficulty between France and Germany were conflicting, although more optimistic advices on this subject were received later in the day. Local bankers with interest connections received reports intimating that both Paris and Berlin were engaged in the further curtailment of German credits. London's market was somewhat feverish by reason of the approaching fortnightly settlement, while Paris exhibited nervousness.

Some relaxation of the tension in Berlin have been suggested by the decline in discounts there. Home news included despatches from the west indicating brighter prospects for peace on the Illinois Central. The pressure against United States Steel was coincident with reports that operations at the corporation's mills are now on a smaller scale than at any time during August. It was also said that the company's foreign business had suffered a decided setback, but this was denied in authoritative quarters. A cut in the dividend of the Texas Oil Company from 10 to 5 per cent occasioned no surprise, even in speculation circles. The prevailing quotations for this stock, which is lightly held, long before discounted the change in rate.

Bonds were heavy but rallied somewhat late in the day in sympathy with the prominent stocks. Total sales, par value, $2,205,000.
United States bonds were unchanged on call.
MONTREAL CLOSING LETTER.
Montreal, Sept. 11.—Few changes are recorded in the closing prices of the local market from Saturday's close. The undertone was strong and dealings were on a limited scale. The market shows little tendency to be influenced very much by the action of the American market. We do not

CLOSING LETTER.

New York, Sept. 11.—Although London sent quotations this morning well above the closing of Saturday and our market opened with a jump stocks were freely supplied from the start and liquidation followed in volume. Union Pacific sold ex-dividend of 2 1/2 per cent at 164, a gain of 1 1/2 from previous closing, but soon dropped back under the tremendous pressure to 160 1/2. Steel opened up 1 1/2, but lost this and one point additional. Lehigh Valley gained a point, then dropped three points and Northern Pacific was particularly weak, showing two points decline. In the last hour a rally set in, showing recoveries of 1 to 2 points, the latter in Union Pacific and Reading. Many stocks made new low records for the year this morning and had not support been forthcoming they might have developed into a small panic, as it was, the shorts took quick notice of the support extended and commenced to cover, with the result that the market closed strong, with the recovery as stated previously. Many rumors were in circulation concerning the stability of international bank firms, also rumors of defalcations, but none of them was at all specific and we doubt they had any merit whatever. The Southern Pacific Railway earnings fell off about $500,000 for July in net results. Foreign buying was reported in volume during the early hours, but later there was considerable heavy selling by foreign houses. The closing was fairly active, at the recovery, with total transactions 743,000 shares. The market may rally somewhat further, but up to the present there seems no sufficient basis to warrant one to advise buying except on a very moderate scale.

Montreal—Unlisted sales, afternoon session: Wayagmack, 50 at 3 1/2; Western Canada Power, 35 at 5 3/4. Quotations—Mexican Northern, 20 at 20 1/2; Hillcrest preferred, 73 sellers; Canadian Power, 48 at 49 1/2.

NEW YORK CLOSING LETTER.

New York, Sept. 11.—A new low range was established in the more important issues on a selling movement that occurred shortly after noon. Union lost down to below 161 and Steel common sold under 67. The pressure seemed to be immediately withdrawn after this movement and the only supply in the later afternoon came from speculative element aggressively committed to the bear side. This selling, however, was without the same influence as that regarded from distribution of large holdings and a moderate amount of buying was sufficient to cause a rise of one point or more in nearly all the active stocks from the extreme low of the day. At the close Wall street was surprised by the announcement that President Mellan was to resign from the New York, New Haven & Hartford. It is said that a difference has arisen between him and some influential directors as to the dividend policy. Mellan thinking that the dividend should be reduced from 8 to 6 per cent. The market, however, refused to notice this bearish news and closed steady to strong, close to the best figures of the day. Total sales, 743,500. Bonds, $2,300,000.

FRANCO-GERMAN NEGOTIATIONS

French Cabinet Makes Reply to Proposals of Germany in Business-Like Manner.

Paris, Sept. 11.—France's reply to Germany's counter proposals in the Moroccan negotiations has been written, and will be laid before the French cabinet tomorrow for approval. The task of drawing up the reply proved simpler than at first expected, doubtless because the German demands were such as could not be accepted by France.

The Premier, M. Caillaux, with characteristic activity, after conferring with several colleagues, made up his mind tonight to convoke a meeting of the cabinet for 4 o'clock tomorrow afternoon, and notices were at once sent out to the various Ministers. M. Caillaux will lay before them his answer to Germany, after which it will be despatched by special courier to the French Ambassador at Berlin, who will hand it to the German Foreign Minister, Herr Von Kiderlen-Wachter.

It is understood that the reply, while it is written in a spirit of conciliation, is absolutely firm with regard to the position which France has assumed concerning questions of principle, from which France will not depart a hair's breadth.

The Premier's energetic and business-like manner of proceeding has had a good effect. It is regarded as another proof of the absolute unanimity and firmness of the Government as to its policy, and as a manifestation of the Government's desire to do its utmost to shorten the period of uncertainty which is having such prejudicial effect on the markets of the world. It also removes any possibility of charges that France, by delay, assisted in bringing about further financial distress in Germany.

The broad outlines of Germany's proposals have been communicated to the public, because the Government believes that the people have a right to know at this period of tension what was being done. Foreign Minister De Selves has also indicated in a semi-official note that France's reply would be a refusal to accept Germany's conditions. In this French opinion appears to be wholly united and prepared for any contingency.

One point of view in official quarters is that Germany's financial situation, which is expected to reach a climax by the end of September, may tend to moderate Germany's demands. Berlin, Sept. 12.—The German newspapers generally have adopted a more optimistic tone relative to the Moroccan negotiations. The Cologne Gazette's semi-official Berlin dispatch declares that the French reply to Germany will arrive at the end of week, after which Germany will be in a position to prepare further proposals.

Strong Advances in Porcupine Central and Porcupine Northern.

Considerable interest was attached to the upward move in Porcupine Central and Porcupine Northern. In the case of the former a new high record was reached and early predictions were realized. Porcupine Central advanced from 85c. to $1.03, while Porcupine Northern sold up from 64 cents to 77 cents.

The advance in Porcupine Central was due to private advices of important developments at the property, resulting in hasty covering by the short interest. The scarcity, however, of the floating supply of stock caused wild bidding and brought about considerably higher prices. The short interest is still of quite large proportions.

Porcupine Northern moved up largely in sympathy and more than equalled its previous record. There is also quite a large short interest in this stock, and the advices for the property are equally as good.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

FATE OF MONTREAL YACHTING PARTY

Montreal, Sept. 11.—Of five Montrealers, Mr. and Miss Parent, Mr. and Mrs. and Miss Allard, who left here on Sept. 2 in a gasoline launch to camp at Ile Aux Corbeaux, near Sorel, nothing has since been heard, and it is thought that the rumor from Sorel of Thursday last to the effect that a yacht had exploded on the St. Lawrence may have a tragic connection with their disappearance.

The friends of the two families have become apprehensive for their safety and it is likely that the island will be searched to see if the party ever arrived at their destination. If the yacht exploded and sank in midstream there is little chance of anyone surviving to tell of the accident.

TWENTY-TWO CHINESE

ARRESTED IN HOP JOINT

Winnipeg, Man., Sept. 11.—Twenty-two Chinamen are under arrest here as the result of a raid upon a King street joint. Gambling is the offense alleged. A dozen police, pounced down unexpectedly, and it is alleged that several games of chuck luck and fan-tan were in progress. The Chinks will be tried Wednesday.

HOLD-UP GAME IN MONTREAL

Two Men With Rag Pickers' License Have Been Making Trouble.

Montreal, Sept. 11.—Wearing a rag-picker's license, which somewhat resembles a constable's badge, and carrying a dark lantern, two men have been conducting a hold-up game in Westmount and Notre Dame de Grace. Sauntering along some of the less frequented streets they flash their lantern in likely places to find spooning couples. On finding a young man and girl, there game is to go up, flash the badge, and tell them they have to come along to the police station. It was not hard to convince such people that they had committed some offence against the by-laws. These two "officers" would gently insinuate that if a little cash was forthcoming the matter might easily be fixed up. The game was a good one until last night a young gallant on Cote St. Antoine road, refused to produce the coin when "arrested" and notified the police. One constable was sent out and arrested a man on the charge of loitering and he appeared in the Westmount Police Court today.

Here he was confronted by two girls who identified him as a man who had stolen a purse from them. The girls had been so frightened when confronted by the men on a dark street that one of them dropped her purse on the sidewalk and the men immediately made off with it.

Accordingly the man the police arrested last night was remanded for a couple of days until the police can locate the other man.

GUN PLAY IN MONTREAL CITY

Four Cases of Shooting Were Up in Court Yesterday at the Royal City.

Montreal, Sept. 11.—Gun play seems to have been the order of the day during the week-end just passed. There were four cases of shooting on the court dockets and eight prisoners today.

Antonio Cotoio, who was assaulted, he claims, by a fellow countryman, and who fired two shots at his fleeing assailant, put up such a fight when Detective Fafard tried to disarm him that it took four constables to subdue him. Brought before Judge Lantier, his revolver was confiscated and a permit which was given him by Judge Leet to carry a firearm was cancelled.

John Dacker, whom it is alleged shot Elise Jette in the head, was brought before Judge Lantier charged with attempted murder. Andrew Smith and Jack Skringue, accused of abetting his act, were also arraigned. All pleaded not guilty to the charges and were remanded until the 14th for enquete.

Nicolas Hayes was charged with having shot Juliette Van Mar three times because she refused to submit to his advances. Brought before Judge Lantier he pleaded not guilty and was remanded until the 18th for voluntary statement.

Three Italians arrested on the charge of shooting squirrels in Mount Royal Park, were condemned to pay fines of $5 and costs.

The officers of the Provincial Association for the Protection of Fish and Game were also busy yesterday.

Twenty prisoners, 60 birds, 15 shotguns and rifles, a pile of ammunition, a cartridge belt and half a dozen game bags were the trophies of the day.

All of the 60 birds found in the possession of the prisoners were of the insect class, robins, yellow hammers, woodpeckers and meadow larks. The prisoners were mulcted $5 each by Magistrate H. R. Ives.

Wizer, Liverpool; J. P. E. Carneau, Nicolet; W. Gauthier, Deschambault; J. Boucher, Quebec; Mr. and Mrs. W. Lebel, Ste. Helene; E. Boutet, Murray Bay; B. Tanguay, Montreal; E. Rice, London.

It is her own soul that Canada risks to-day. Once that soul is pawned, for any consideration, Canada must inevitably conform to the commercial, legal, financial, social, and ethical standards of the United States
