LORD GREY'S LETTER CAUSES MUCH COMMENT Many Important Real Estate Transactions Are Reported

MANY BOLSHEVIK AGENTS TRAVELLING BETWEEN BERLIN AND SOVIET RUSSIA WITH MESSAGES AND PLANS—SEVERAL HAVE BEEN ARRESTED

Two Men on Their Way to Moscow Were Found to Have Messages Concealed in Their Neckties — German Agent Arrested Stated that the German Independent Socialists would Attack and Overthrow the Present German Government as Soon as They Were Assured of Support from Lenin.

(Associated Press Despatch)
LONDON, Feb. 2.—Bolshevik agents entrusted with messages regarding sensational widespread Red plans have been for a considerable time travelling between Berlin and Soviet Russia on false credentials, it is stated officially. They usually travel as United States delegates of the Red Cross, on the pretext of arranging for the exchange of German prisoners from Russia.

A number of the agents have been arrested in Lithuania. Two men on their way to Moscow via Berlin were found to have letters concealed in their neckties. One was a German, the other a Swiss Socialist.

The German carried a letter to Tchitcherin, Soviet Foreign Affairs Minister, from the head of a Spartacist organization in Germany emphasizing the Communist sympathies of that body. Another letter described a system of forged United States, French and German passports. The Swiss had a letter from the head of a Red society in Bern asking for further supplies of Bolshevik literature.

The German courier, under examination, said that the German Independent Socialists would attack and overthrow the German Government the moment they were assured of support from Lenin.

REPORT CONFIRMS THE CAPTURE OF ODESSA

(Associated Press Despatch)
LONDON, Feb. 2.—A Vienna despatch to the Exchange Telegraph Company, under date of Friday, says that according to the Ukrainian Press, the capture of the town and port of Odessa was effected by Ukrainian regulars, reinforced by irregulars of the Kherson Government.

There was hard fighting against General Denikin's troops, most of whom were taken prisoners, while the remainder retreated into Rumanian territory, where they were disarmed.

TRIBUNAL ORGANIZED TO TRY ADMIRAL KOLCHAK

(Associated Press Despatch)
LONDON, Feb. 2.—Formation of a tribunal by the Soviet of Irkutsk to try Admiral Kolchak, former head of the all-Russian Government in Siberia, is reported in a despatch to the Daily Mail from the Manchuria station, on the border between Siberia and Manchuria.

It is said that belief exists in the far east that Kolchak will be sent to Moscow to be tried by a higher court. The despatch, which was filed on Saturday, stated that the situation in Eastern Siberia had quieted down under martial law and the gold fields along the Lena river had been nationalized.

MOSCOW DESPATCH CLAIMS ADVANCES

(Associated Press Despatch)
LONDON, Feb. 2.—A Moscow wireless dated Saturday gives the following official communication:
"In the Elizavetgrad region, our troops occupied Glodas and a series of villages 25 to 30 miles west of Elizavetgrad."
"In the Kansk (East Siberia) region we occupied Nijnie Udinsk. The enemy is retiring in a panic eastward."

EX-EMPEROR MAY GIVE HOSPITAL

PROPOSES GIFT TO AMERONGEN TO COMMEMORATE HIS STAY THERE

(Associated Press Despatch)
AMERONGEN, Feb. 2.—The former German Emperor expects to pre-empt to Amerongen a small hospital in remembrance of his stay here. Preliminary construction of the hospital is under way on ground donated by Count von Bentinck. It was the former Emperor's interest in the survey for this structure that occasioned rumors that a house was being built at Amerongen for one of his sons.

THE WEATHER

MILDER TODAY, TURNING COLDER AGAIN.

Pressure is very high over the greater portion of the continent with another marked cold wave covering the Western Provinces. The western has moderated considerably from Ontario to the Maritime Provinces, attended by a few local snow flurries. Fair and milder today and for the most part of Tuesday, then turning colder again.

WEATHER RECORD SHOWS EXTREME TEMPERATURE

Saturday Night and Early Sunday Morning Reported as Coldest Since 1915.

Everybody was glad to say good bye to January, but the way February said "Howdy," was, at the least most unexpected. Saturday was an ideal winter day with the mercury at 10 degrees above until toward evening, when the temperature began to lower, and at 9.30 p. m. when Dr. J. C. McConnell's thermometer on Wellington street registered thirty-two below. This accompanied by a thick frosty air, caused much discomfort to those whose duties or pleasures took them out of doors, during the evening hours. Saturday night will be long remembered as the coldest on record for several years. The records kept at the Experimental Station, Lennoxville, show that on January 30th, 1915 the temperature was forty-six below, and from then until the passing of January into February 1920 when the mercury went down to forty-seven below at the Experimental Station, there has been no such record of cold in this section.

Dr. McConnell's thermometer stood at thirty-two below from nine o'clock Saturday night to Sunday 3 a. m. and at noon today was at zero point. The weather report for the month of January 1920 as taken at the Experimental Station is as follows: Maximum 35, lowest temperature 44 below; average temperature, 1.60. (Continued on page 10.)

SHERBROOKE BUILDING PLANS CALL FOR EXPENDITURE OF $2,500,000

1920 Construction Promises to be Important — Many Buildings Called For — Include Business Blocks, Factories, Homes and Charitable Institution.

INDICATIONS point to a busy season in building operations in Sherbrooke. The public seems to have the present high prices for material as representing a fairly permanent condition and see no advantage in postponing longer necessary constructive work.

BANK OF COMMERCE BUILDING
One of the notable buildings to go up this year will be the new Bank of Commerce building at the corner of King and Wellington. This will be a five storey block and a most modern construction. Notice has been given to tenants on this corner to vacate before May 1st. This block will have a large frontage on Wellington street but will not take in the whole of the bank property on King street.

NEW OLIVIER GARAGE
It is announced that Mr. L. H. Olivier will erect another building this year. This will be located on Wellington street, south of the Motor Mart building and will be a commodious and well constructed building.

ST JEAN STORE BUILDING.
Mr. C. O. St. Jean who recently purchased the Skinner lot on the West side of Wellington street, it is expected, will erect a building for store purposes during the year. This location is a fine one for retail trade as the city is developing and the erection of Mr. St. Jean's new store will be one of the interesting features of the year's construction work.

CONTINENTAL HOTEL CORNER.
The Bank National will not carry out this year its changes at the Continental Hotel property as some leases have two years yet to run. In addition to the hotel building they have secured the Odeon property at the rear for $25,000.

It is understood to be the intention eventually to put a stone front on the building and reconstruct it along modern lines.

THE MODEL CITY.
The Sherbrooke Housing Company will go ahead this spring with its model city plans. The programme for this year will call for a hundred houses costing approximately $300,000.

VON REUTER IS WELCOMED BY THE GERMANS

Sank Hun Fleet at Scapa Flow — Now Released and Arrives Home.

(Associated Press Despatch)
WILHELMSHAVEN, Feb. 2.—Admiral von Reuter, chief of the German fleet at Scapa Flow, who gave the order for the scuttling of the German warships there last June, arrived here yesterday aboard the steamship Lisboa. The Admiral, who had been set free by the British authorities, was greeted by thousands along the harbor front which was brilliantly decorated. Chief of the Admiralty, Admiral von Trotha, in his speech of welcome, said to von Reuter:
"I have come here deeply moved to bid you the warmest welcome on behalf of the German navy and our dear fatherland. You stand before me as the last of our German high seas fleet, which was so accustomed to victory. The ships you have not brought home. You at your lonely post gave the order to sink the fleet when you regarded the resumption of war as a fact."

GERMANY HAS LEASED NAVAL PORT OF KIEL

(Associated Press Despatch)

LONDON, Feb. 2.—A Berlin wireless message says that the Government has leased the former naval port of Kiel to the town authorities, who will make an initial expenditure of two million marks for the purpose of transforming it into a commercial harbor.

GEN. TOWNSEND DEFENDS HIS ACTION AT KUT

LONDON, Feb. 2.—Major General Townsend, the defender of Kut-el-Amara, who recently tendered his resignation to the War Office, declares, in answering critics who claim that he showed lack of resolution in not attempting to fight his way out, that he refrained from such a heroic sortie because he had positive orders from General Sir John Nicol, the Mesopotamian commander-in-chief, not to make such a move. The fact that his small force was surrounded on three sides by the 1500 foot wide Tigris, with a net work of flooded trenches blocking the other exits, General Townsend declares rendered the cutting out project a mad undertaking.

LORD GREY'S LETTER REGARDING TREATY HAS CREATED PROFOUND IMPRESSION IN UNITED STATES

Republican Senators Declare Letter Confirms Them in What They Had Known for Some Time, Namely, that Britain and France Would Be Willing to Have the United States Enter the League on Her Own Terms — Democrats Inclined to Regard Letter as Likely to Become Important Factor in Present Effort to Break Deadlock in Senate.

(Associated Press Despatch)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 2.—The letter of Lord Grey to the London Times dealing with the attitude of the United States in regard to the League of Nations has created a profound impression here. In his letter, which was printed by the New York Times yesterday, and is reprinted in many morning papers by permission of the Times, Lord Grey asserts that his observations regarding the United States' attitude are merely his personal views, but there is a strong belief here that before publishing his letter, he submitted it to the London Foreign Office and the members of the British Cabinet.

The point of vital interest in the letter, as seen here, is the statement by Lord Grey that he would be willing to accept the treaty with the reservations proposed by Senator Lodge, which have been the bone of contention in the long and bitter partisan fight upon the treaty.

"If the outcome of the long controversy in the Senate has been to offer co-operation in the League of Nations, the letter declares, 'it would be the greatest mistake to refuse that co-operation because conditions are attached to it, and when that co-operation is accepted let it not be accepted in a spirit of pessimism.'"

This statement is expected to have considerable effect in the treaty fight. Republican Senators declared this morning that the Grey letter merely confirms them in what they had known for some time, namely, that Great Britain and France would be willing to have the United States enter the League on its own terms. Democrats generally are re-entire, but were inclined to regard the letter as likely to become an important factor in the present effort to break the deadlock in the Senate.

It is asserted by reservationists that the letter opens a way for President Wilson to reach a compromise with the Republicans of the Senate over the League project, and that if he should fail to avail himself of this opportunity, the effect would be to strengthen the fight for the defeat of the treaty unless the Lodge reservations are accepted.

A striking development this morning was that during informal talks which he had with many Senators in order to secure the various shades of sentiment existing in Washington, in regard to the treaty, Lord Grey made it plain to different Senators that the British Government was willing to accept the reservations; and that even the Lodge reservations, which have served as the basis for the treaty fight in the Senate, would be acceptable to the British Government. Lord Grey is said to have been in close touch with the British Foreign Office while he was here.

Several Senators, who had been interviewed by Lord Grey, said this morning that they had understood him to imply that so far as Great Britain was concerned she was not worrying about the proposed United States reservation on this point, but it was felt that it might give rise to some difficulty in the self-governing Dominions of the British Empire if they were deprived of their votes in the League Assembly.

Despite the opinion of the Senators, it is evident from the text of the letter that Lord Grey means that Great Britain will insist on the overseas Dominions having a full voice in the Assembly of the League.

"The self-governing Dominions are full members of the League," the letter says. "They will admit and Great Britain can admit no qualification of that right. Whatever the self-governing Dominions may be in the theory and the letter of the constitution they have in effect ceased to be colonies in the old sense of the word. They are free communities, independent as regards all their own affairs and partners in those who concern Empire at large."

Bringing Up Father

EUGENE CHABOT HAD SUFFERED FOR 25 YEARS

Was Unable to Find Anything to Help Him Until He Took Tanlac.

"It may sound unreasonable but since taking Tanlac my twenty-five years of troubles have all left me and I am now enjoying the very best of health," was the remarkable statement made recently by Eugene Chabot of 1314 Ethel St., Verdun, Quebec. Mr. Chabot is a barber, having followed that trade for a past forty-three years and is known by practically everybody in Verdun, where he runs a barber shop at the corner of Wellington and Hickson Streets.

"During the last twenty-five years," continued Mr. Chabot, "I have spent large sums of money and have tried all kinds of medicine but in spite of all I could do nothing. I had gradually been getting worse. I ate very little of anything and my stomach was so badly upset that I had to take a long walk after every meal to try and digest my food. I filled up with gas until I could hardly breathe and I had severe cramps in my stomach and pains all around my heart. A heavy, suffocating feeling worried me all day long and while I would be shaving a man or cutting his hair I would get so short of breath I would have to stop and nearly faint for air. I had terrible headaches, especially in the forehead and temples and at night I could not sleep more than three or four hours and all during the day I felt weak and tired-out."

"But now I am glad to say that after all these years I have at last found a real medicine in Tanlac and since taking it I have been made over into a new man altogether. My appetite is fine and I can now eat just whatever I want and digest it without the least trouble. The gas has stopped forming on my stomach and I am not bothered any more with pains around my heart or with cramps in my abdomen. My breathing is free and normal and I don't know what it means to ever have a headache now. My sleep is sound and restful and when morning comes I get up feeling brimful of life and energy. I have gained several pounds in weight and am in such fine health that I just can't possibly say enough in praise of Tanlac."

Tanlac is sold in Sherbrooke by Griffiths Drug Store and A. E. Duberger, under the personal direction of a Special Tanlac Representative. (Adv.)

His most brilliant works are "Mare Nostrum," "Blood and Sand," and "The Shadow of the Cathedral." Lord Dunsany, who has established for himself a definite place in the world of drama, will come with Lady Dunsany for a two months' lecture tour. To the reading world Dunsany is the third of that trilogy of dramatists of the Irish Renaissance, the other two being W. B. Yeats and J. M. Synge. Lord Dunsany is one of the oldest titles in Ireland and in Great Britain, being the eighteenth holder of the baronetcy, created in 1439.

Col. Arthur Lynch, one of the most versatile men in England, came here last October, to acquaint us with the intricacies of the Irish problem. He studied medicine in various hospitals in Europe and then became an electrical engineer. He was a colonel in the Boer army and in 1918 was made a colonel in the British army. He was active in recruiting work in Ireland and is well equipped to speak on "The Irish Question."

William Butler Yeats, a leader in the Irish literary revival, has contributed much to Irish literature. Mr. Yeats already has made one tour and on this second visit here in February he will travel as far as the Pacific coast.

Lieut. Sir Arthur Whitten Brown, who made the transatlantic flight with Alcock, has already been in Canada with Lady Brown, whom he married soon after his successful flight. Lieut. Brown is telling his audiences of his epoch-making flight, which won for the two young airmen the $50,000 prize offered by the London Daily Mail.

A Roosevelt Story.

Maurice F. Egan, the U. S. ambassador to Denmark and an admirer of Roosevelt, tells us that Roosevelt was writing an article for the Century at a time of "tremendous rows in the senate" during his presidency. "Mr. President," said Egan, "how could you find the quietness of mind to write a paper like this when you and the senate seemed to be on the verge of an open war?" "It was just the time for quiet and interesting work," replied Roosevelt. "It took my mind off that caterwauling."

UNSELFISH NEIGHBORS!

How Canadian Coins are Being Used in the United States.

The high prices which bar silver has been commanding in the metal markets of the world may, necessitate a reduction of the fineness of the alloy from which Canadian silver coins are struck. It is authoritatively stated here. With bullion prices at the present level, there is too great a tendency to withdraw coins from circulation and melt them for commercial uses. Indeed, such has been the demand for silver coinage of late that the belief is strong among officials of the Finance Department that a considerable quantity of it is being converted into bullion.

Bar silver has sold recently as high as $1.13 an ounce on the New York market. More recently it has sold at $1.32 1/2 an ounce in New York, and at 74 pence in London. In years gone by the value of Canadian silver coins as bullion was in the neighborhood of one-half their face value. It is calculated that with silver worth $1.33 and $1.34 an ounce the intrinsic value of Canadian coins and their value as money are about equal. At present the rate of exchange between Canada and the United States also enters into the situation. With Canadian funds at a discount of five per cent., or thereabouts, it must be remembered that a dollar's worth of Canadian silver coins can be purchased for about 95 cents in United States money. This circumstance tends to make it profitable to withdraw Canadian coins for circulation for sale in the United States as bullion, even if the price of bar silver does not greatly exceed $1.34 an ounce. Indeed, it is believed here that a good deal of Canadian coin has been exported to be melted and sold. At any rate, the Mint at Ottawa has been kept busy of late to meet the demand for silver coinage in the country, and minting is not a profitable business with bar silver so expensive.

Canadian coins, like those in use in Great Britain, are struck from silver alloy of .925 fineness, that is to say, containing 92 1/2 per cent. of pure silver. The silver coinage of the United States is of fineness .900, or contains 90 per cent. pure silver. The silver coins of Scandinavian countries and of other places, such as the Straits Settlement and Hong Kong, are .800 in fineness, or contain 80 per cent. of pure silver. To lessen the temptation to withdraw Canadian coins from circulation to be melted and sold for bullion it is now proposed to reduce the percentage of pure silver in them. Just what standard may be adopted has not been indicated.

Cat-tail Flour.

Long ago the Iroquois Indians used to dry and pulverize the roots of the cat-tails that grow so lavishly in American swamps and make flour for bread and puddings, but the fact seems to have been forgotten until quite recently. Remembering this incident in Indian domesticity, a later American has made such flour, and food experts have tested it. "Even 100 per cent. cat-tail flour," they report, "made biscuits that were not so different from those made with wheat flour," and "puddings made with cat-tail flour in them in place of cornstarch proved to be entirely satisfactory. The flavor produced by this flour is pleasing and palatable." There are thousands of acres of cat-tail in existence, capable of producing, it is estimated, more than two tons of flour to the acre. One digs and peels the roots, much as one digs and peels potatoes.

Sir Evelyn Wood Dead After Splendid Career As a Builder of Empire

FIELD MARSHAL SIR EVELYN WOOD, who died in London on December 8, was the youngest son of Sir John Page Wood. One of his ancestors had been mayor of London for nine successive terms.

Born at Braintree, in the County of Essex, in 1838, he was educated at Marlborough. In 1852 he entered the navy and served as midshipman in the Russian War. He was employed ashore with a naval brigade which was operated before Sebastopol. Later he was severely wounded at the assault on the Redan, in 1855.

When he had recovered he left the navy and almost immediately entered the 13th Light Dragoons in the British army. He received his lieutenantcy in 1856 and was transferred to the 17th Lancers. He served with them through the Indian Mutiny and won great distinction as brigade major of a flying column. He was decorated shortly afterward with the Victoria Cross. In 1861 he became a captain in the regular army and in 1862 a brevet major. He transferred to the Black Watch, but after three years returned to the cavalry.

He served as aide-de-camp at Dublin and was next employed on the commanding general's staff at Aldershot until 1871, when he was appointed regimental major of the 2nd Scottish Rifles. In 1867 he married Mary Paline Southwell, sister of the fourth Lord of Southwell. Sir Evelyn served in South Africa, in the Ashanti War and in the Kafir War. In 1879 he was in command of the left column of the army which crossed the Zulu frontier. At the close of the South African war he received a K. C. B. for his services and was appointed brigadier general commanding the Chatham district. In 1881 he was again in South Africa and negotiated the armistice with Gen. Joubert. He was promoted for this to the substantive rank of major-general of the Chatham district. In 1882 he was made G. C. M. G., and commanded a brigade in the Egyptian expedition. He remained six years in Egypt. During the Nile operations, in 1884 and 1885, he commanded the forces in the lines of communication under Lord Wolseley. He was made a local lieutenant-general in 1886 and appointed commander of the Aldershot district. His lieutenant-generalcy was confirmed in 1891 and he was also given a G. C. B.

He then entered the War Office as quartermaster-general. Four years later he became adjutant-general and in 1895 he was promoted to full general. He was then assigned to the command of the Second Army Corps and the Southern Department. He served there four years. In 1903 he became field marshal and in 1907 returned to active list as brevet colonel of the Royal Horse Guards.

After he had retired from active service he took an active part as chairman of the Association of the City of London in organizing a territorial force. He is an author of some note. His books on cavalry are in use in most of the armies of the world. One of his best known writings was "From Midshipman to Field Marshal." He was especially prominent as a tennis player in his youth. He was an excellent huntsman and an expert shot.

The country seat of his family is at Brixton, near Plymouth.

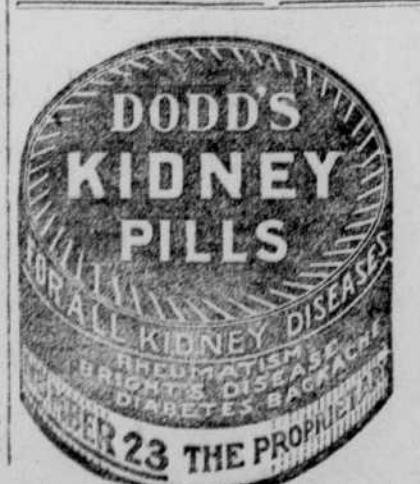

St. Catharines' Population.

The population of St. Catharines, Ont., is nineteen thousand, one hundred and ninety-five, an increase of six over last year. The large number of foreigners who went back to their native land after the war, is given as the reason for the small increase, the smallest on record. The assessment of the city is sixteen million and forty-three thousand, an increase of a little over half a million. Income tax assessment decreased two hundred and ninety thousand.

This has been excavated in successful trenches, so that it approximates to the "quarries" of gold mentioned by certain writers. But the workings are now far below the foot of the hill. However, they have yielded a quantity of gold so great as to render Mount Morgan unique in the history of mining. Since its discovery in 1886, according to the latest figures available, this ore deposit has yielded in excess of 3,650,000 ounces of gold worth $73,000,000, besides 33,000 tons of copper. The company owning the mine has distributed more than $27,500,000.

Cost of British Army. British army estimates for 1919-1920 provide for the expenditure of £405,000,000. These figures, made public recently, forebode an army strength at the end of the fiscal year, March 31, 1920, of 300,000 British troops and 100,000 Indian troops. These forces, however, will be reduced later.

When estimates were made in March, 1919, an army of 2,500,000 men was provided for, of which 1,548,000 were in process of demobilization, and since have been released.

"MOUNTAIN OF GOLD" A MYTH. It Would Lessen the Value of Gold Standard.

The nearest approach, literally, to a "mountain of gold" is Mount Morgan, in Australia. And they have for thirty years. The net proceeds have been $38,000,000. This so-called "mountain of gold" has yielded, on an average, half an ounce or less of gold to the ton.

This has led many persons to ask seriously, "What would happen if a mountain of pure gold were found?" For ages men have dreamed and writers have written yards about "mountains of gold," but just what would happen if one were found is still a question with as many sides as a quartz nugget of the precious yellow stuff.

That it would lessen the value of the gold standard goes without saying, and yet some other rare metal or substance would undoubtedly be found readily enough to take its place in coinage if this should happen. Concerning this interesting question, mining experts have talked most interestingly. Those of us, they say, who are familiar with gold mining, and more especially, the big bonanzas of the world, need not strain our imaginations to conceive of an ore body or even a mass of gold big enough to upset international monetary standards. Many a prospector frying his bacon at a camp fire and stimulated by a concentrated cup of coffee must have seen visions of a golden mountain or a streak of pure gold that ran across creation as if it would never stop. Every now and then we hear of fabulous mineral discoveries, like that of Bitter Creek, in June, 1910, and when the irresponsible scribe of the Daily Scream has exhausted his vocabulary he usually ends by talking about a "mountain of gold."

When the stampee to the Australian diggings was at its height in 1852, the ignorant emigrants, having heard that gold was found in quartz and not knowing that pervasive mineral, supposed it was "quartz," and hence expected to gather the gold in pints and pails. This fact is vouched for by F. J. Dunn, the Australian geologist, who as a boy went to the diggings at that time.

And why not? We may laugh at simplicity from the farm, and we may sneer (and we do) at the perfunctory scribbles of the untechnical paper, but it is doubtful whether even that peripatetic philosopher known as the man in the street could give adequate reasons for the improbability of such a golden discovery.

For instance, what is the biggest mass of native copper ever found? Of course it was in the Lake Superior region. It was in 1857, in the Ontonagon district. At a shallow depth there was discovered a mass of copper 45 feet long, with a maximum thickness of 8 1/2 feet. The mean width was 12 1/2 feet, and the mean thickness four feet. The total weight actually recovered was 420 tons.

No such masses of gold as this, of course, have ever come to light. Yet gold in great quantities has been won in brief periods. California river beds yielded $31,294,700 in 1851 alone, and the shallow diggings of Victoria gave $63,000,000 in 1853. In the Klondike more recently one miner cleaned up $46,000 in eight hours and took out $750,000 from a claim about 80 x 50 feet.

Much of this gold was in coarse pellets and nodules, and yet the largest nugget ever found was picked up near Dunolly, Victoria, Australia, in 1869, and weighed 190 pounds. Another weighing 184 pounds and including some quartz brought in nearly $42,000. There have been others nearly as big, yet this is very far from masses such as the huge copper nugget above described, and farther still from a "quarry" or "mountain" of gold. The nearest approach to this as yet imaginary possibility seems to be Mount Morgan, in Queensland, Australia, a hill about 500 feet high, the crest of which was a "gossan" containing several ounces of gold per ton.

This has been excavated in successful trenches, so that it approximates to the "quarries" of gold mentioned by certain writers. But the workings are now far below the foot of the hill. However, they have yielded a quantity of gold so great as to render Mount Morgan unique in the history of mining. Since its discovery in 1886, according to the latest figures available, this ore deposit has yielded in excess of 3,650,000 ounces of gold worth $73,000,000, besides 33,000 tons of copper. The company owning the mine has distributed more than $27,500,000.

Cost of British Army.

British army estimates for 1919-1920 provide for the expenditure of £405,000,000. These figures, made public recently, forebode an army strength at the end of the fiscal year, March 31, 1920, of 300,000 British troops and 100,000 Indian troops. These forces, however, will be reduced later.

MANY NOTABLE GUESTS LITERARY PEOPLE ARE PAYING VISITS TO CANADA.

Other Men Who Have Won Fame in Politics, War and by Acts of Darling Like Ben Tillett, Col. Lynch and Sir Arthur Whitten Brown, Have Been Making Tours of the Dominion and Lecturing on Their Experiences.

CANADA during this winter will not lack lectures. Already the invasion has begun and it will continue until the robins nest again. Famous men and women writers, dramatists, scientists and what not are here or coming here, each with a mission, a tale to tell or a moral to impart.

Maurice Maeterlinck, the mystic poet of devastated Belgium, is coming to attend the premiere of his opera, "The Bluebird," under the auspices of the Metropolitan Opera House, for the benefit of the devastated regions of Belgium and France. Mr. Maeterlinck will lecture throughout the continent, his subject to be "The Unknown Shore."

Siegfried Sassoon is among the many brilliant poets whose stars have risen during the last five years, until now he has achieved an enviable reputation as one of England's new poets. Previous to the war Mr. Sassoon was not interested in world affairs, but after several years' experiences in the front lines he soon felt vastly different about these problems, and the change in his viewpoint became evident in his two volumes, published since 1918, "The Old Huntsman" and "Counter-Attack" and other poems. He returns to this country from Germany, where he was a lecturer in February. Lieut. Coningsby Dawson won his fame with "The Garden Without Walls," which placed him in the front rank of modern fiction writers. At the outbreak of the war he obtained a commission in the Canadian Field Artillery, and throughout the war served in France except when home recovering from wounds. He returns to this country from Germany, where he has been revisited, and in his lecture on "Re-making the World" he will give the first thrilling, vibrant account of the whole war era through which we have passed. His war books, "Out to Win," "The Glory of the Trenches," and "Carry On," have won for him a new place in literature.

Hugh Walpole is fast making for himself an abiding place among the British novelists of the twentieth century. His latest novel, "The Secret City," is one of the best books of the year and a subject of conversation among men of letters. Among the best works which he has produced are "Maradick at Fort," "Portside," "Mr. Perrin and Mr. Traill," "The Prelude to Adventure," "The Duchess of Wrex," "The Green Mirror," "The Dark Forest" and "The Secret City." He will reach Canada shortly.

St. John Ervine has written many plays for the Irish Players. His plays have been ranked with those of Synge, Yeats and Lady Gregory. His recent work, "Chancing Winds," proves him to be a novelist as well as a dramatist. After service in the war, in which he was badly wounded, he comes soon to speak on literary topics and the Irish question, his subjects to include "My Own Works," "Solving the Irish Problem" and "Impressions of My Elders."

Ben Tillett, M.P., as a Labor member of the British Parliament and secretary of Dock Workers' Union, is one of England's great labor leaders, attacking existing conditions where they needed correction and standing by the Government in its time of need. Mr. Tillett came to Canada to attend the British Trades Union Conference, and delivered several addresses here. He is a personal friend of Samuel Gompers.

Vicente Blanco Ibanez is well known as the author of the most brilliant novel of the war, "The Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse." His visit here will be the first trip which this distinguished Spanish novelist has made to Canada. He will make a lecture tour, his subjects being "The Spirit of the Four Horsemen" and "How I Write My Novels." Some of Short of Breath Could Hardly Walk Without Resting.

When you go to a physician to be examined for any heart trouble one of the first questions he asks is: "Are you short of breath?"

Now, when the heart becomes affected there ensues a feeling of a choking sensation, a shortness of breath, palpitation, throbbing, irregular beating, smothering sensation, dizziness and a weak, sinking, all-gone feeling of oppression and anxiety.

On the first sign of the heart becoming weakened or the nerves unstrung, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills are just the remedy you require. They regulate and stimulate the heart, and strengthen and restore the whole nerve system.

Mr. Stephen Crouse, East Clifford, N.S., writes:—"I suffered for five years with heart trouble. I could hardly walk from the house to the barn without resting as I used to get so short of breath. Doctors could not help me. My wife told me to get a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and I felt better after taking them; three boxes made me quite well. I am now helping my son to work the farm, and can truthfully say I feel like a different man."

DEWS OF EVE

No More Gentle Than
"Cascarets" for the
Liver, Bowels

It is just as needless as it is dangerous to take violent or nasty cathartics. Nature provides no shock absorbers for your liver and bowels against calomel, harsh pills, sickening oil and salts. Cascarets give quick relief without injury from Constipation, Biliousness, Indigestion, Gases and Sick Headache. Cascarets work while you sleep, removing the toxins, poisons and sour, indigestible waste without griping or inconvenience. Cascarets regulate by strengthening the bowel muscles. They cost so little too.

High Tribute to Lloyd Harris

THE dinner to Mr. Lloyd Harris on the eve of his departure from London was reported in the London Daily Telegraph, as follows:—

Mr. Lloyd Harris, chairman of the Canadian Trade Mission, was the guest of the Canadian Association at Prince's Restaurant last night, when Lt.-Col. W. Grant Morden, M.P., presided, and amongst those present were: Earl of Reading, Viscount Furness, Lord Desborough, Lord Beaverbrook, Bishop of Birmingham, Hon. Arthur O. Crichton, Sir George Perley (High Commissioner for Canada), Sir John Alder, Sir Park Goff, M.P., Sir Herbert Ames, M.P. (financial director of the League of Nations), Sir Henry Dalziel, M.P., Sir C. Kinloch-Cooker, M.P., Lt.-Col. L. S. Amery, M.P. (Under Secretary for the Colonies), Lt.-Col. the Hon. Cuthbert James, Col. Sir George McLaren Brown, Sir Roderick Jones, Maj.-Gen. Sir Hubert Gough, Mr. Horatia Bottomley, M.P., Lt.-Col. Sir Campbell Stuart, Col. Sir J. Koper Parkinson, Sir Reginald Macleod, Sir James MacKechnie, Mr. C. G. Edwards, M.P., Commander Sir A. Trevor Dawson, Sir John Cadman, Mr. R. D. Blumfield, Mr. Edmund Bristol, M.P., Mr. G. R. Hall Caine, Capt. Jas. O'Grady, M.P., Mr. J. A. Seddon, M.P., and Lt.-Col. Claude G. Bryan (hon. secretary).

The chairman in proposing "Our Guest" said Mr. Harris came to this country with great knowledge of the Canadian people and the whole scope of industrial life in that Dominion. He did not think there was to-day a living man with the same extensive knowledge of the industrial and trade position of Canada or one more capable of developing Canadian trade than their guest.

Lord Beaverbrook in supporting the toast said he had been associated with Mr. Lloyd Harris in almost every business that gentlemen had undertaken in Canada. It was of the utmost importance that Canadians should be properly interpreted to the United States, and they must also interpret to the United States the whole spirit of the British Empire. If Canada succeeded in making a complete understanding between these two branches of the English-speaking race she would have accomplished a great task. In conclusion Lord Beaverbrook said he hoped it would be a long time before they lost the services of Sir George Perley as High Commissioner for Canada. Sir George had done a great work during the war.

Mr. Lloyd Harris, replying, said that when the armistice was signed the Canadian Government immediately took steps to investigate and take advantage of opportunities which might exist in Europe and other parts of the world to extend and develop the Canadian export trade, and thus enable Canada to maintain her position so far as possible with the extension of her export trade, which had so greatly increased during the war period. It was also decided to take advantage of the experience which they in Canada had gained during the war with the great development of their industries. For that reason the Canadian Mission was organized, and he was asked to proceed to London for the purpose of carrying out the objects mentioned. It had been a great experience, and he had been surprised at the opportunities offered throughout the world to establish new markets for Canadian exports. He had also made a new discovery—how great a heritage they possessed who were fortunate enough to be citizens of the British Empire. Instead of spending too much time in talking about Imperial Parliaments and Imperial conferences, we should set up an Imperial trade council, on which there would be representatives from all parts of the Empire. The members should be chosen for their ability to the service of the Empire for the purpose of making a survey of the requirements and all resources of all parts of the Empire, and suggest ways and means for best developing and bringing together of the supply and demand of such resources. It was good enough to have the administration of government as an important function of government as trade and commerce to a bureaucracy which knew nothing about trade and commerce. They must do something to bring our great Empire closer together, and make it one consolidated unity. (Cheers.)

Lt.-Col. Amery, who proposed the toast of "Canada," after referring to the great services of the Dominion throughout the war, said that the Empire was a practical necessity to Canada. The Empire belong to Canada just as much as to England. (Cheers.) He hoped Canada would rise to the height of her responsibilities, and would show that sense of power and energy which her imperial outlook demanded.

Sir George Perley and Sir Herbert Ames responded.

"The Imperial Forces" was proposed by Lt.-Col. Sir George McLaren Brown, and Maj.-Gen. Sir Hubert Gough replied.

The concluding toast, that of "The Press," was proposed by Mr. Edmund Bristol, and acknowledged by Viscount Burnham and Mr. Horatia Bottomley.

A Canadian in Command.

A Canadian, Maj. A. E. McIvor, of the R.A.F., has just been appointed commander of the famous Minneola airdrome at an initial salary of $10,800 a year. Maj. McIvor is a Listowel man, who had a splendid record of services with the flying corps overseas. The American Government recently asked the British Government to name an Imperial airman for the position, and the latter suggested Maj. McIvor, who has been offered and accepted it.

Utilizing Time.

"Ladies" announced the president of an afternoon bridge club. "It has been moved and seconded that there shall be no conversation at the card tables. What shall we do with the motion?" "I suggest," said a sprightly member, "that we discuss it while we play."

Suffered With Boils

LAST 5 YEARS.

Boils are simply a breaking out of bad blood, and anyone who has suffered from them, knows how sick and miserable they make you feel. Just when you think you are cured of one, another seems ready to take its place and prolong your misery. All the poulticing and lancing you can do will not get rid of them.

While the skin appears to be the cause of the irritation the real disease is rooted in the blood, and to get rid of these painful pests it is necessary to get right at the seat of the trouble. When the blood is purified, cleansed and vitalized, by Burdock Blood Bitters, the boils will quickly disappear, your misery is at an end, and health and strength come back again.

Mr. Robt. Johnson, Barkway, Ont., writes:—"I have suffered very much, during the last five years from boils, having as many as five on one. I tried different remedies without any relief. I was advised to try Burdock Blood Bitters, which I did, and after taking just one bottle I have had no more boils."

Most Famous Chinese Dish.

What has been considered by Oriental epicures as the delectable dish in China, the birds' nest, is the product of the sea swallow, which constructs its nest of a gelatinous substance taken from sea moss. The Chinese method of preparing the nests for the table is to soak them and boil them in milk until they are very tender. Then they are placed in clear soup and are ready for use. On his trip to China, General Grant was much feted, and one of the dishes set before him was the birds' nest.

QUEER GREETINGS.

Ladies of Manila Are Not Too Coy.

Strange forms of greeting are prevalent in various parts of the world. In Manila it is customary for women to caress the face of their man caller. In Lemuria, near the Philippines, two natives on meeting take hold of each other's foot and rub their faces with it. In the Fiji Islands they tickle each other's nose with red feathers carried for this purpose. In Burnham they grovel before you while uttering the melodious words "Hibush" whatever this means. In the South Sea Islands they swing before you their necklace of shark's teeth.

The inhabitants of Scotia, an island in the Indian ocean, kiss the person to be honored on the shoulder, while those of the Great Cydades, in the Aegean sea, pour water on your head. A Laplander greets you by rubbing his nose against your forehead, while a negro of Cape Lopez will kneel down before you and clap thrice with his hands. The Japanese takes off his wooden shoes and the Chinese, while shaking his own hands and inclining his head, will greet you with his "Tsin-tsin," etc.

All this may seem ridiculous to a Canadian, but after all, it is not any more ridiculous than our own modern custom of almost crushing one another's fingers in shaking hands; nay, the custom of Manila women will appeal to many as the more acceptable one.

Taking off the hat by men, which for ages has been the accepted mode of greeting in the western world, was originally a sign of disarming or defenceless or destitution in the presence of a superior. Polynesian and African chiefs require more or less stripping, such as uncovering to the waist, which is the custom in Tahiti. Eastern nations, on the other hand, are apt to show disrespect in baring the head but insist on the feet being uncovered.

"Striking hands," used in the west to make the greeting more hearty is the emphatic form of the original gesture of grasping hands, which makes its appearance in antiquity as a legal act symbolic of the parties joining in compact, peace and friendship. The Canadian variety, called "shaking hands," appears not to have become unusual until the middle of the last century, when the middle parties press their thumbs together.

The English have been particularly generous in the conferring of women's names upon their cities and states. In far-away Australia the name of Victoria is honored in two states, Queensland and Victoria, while the most beautiful city in that country is Adelaide, named in memory of the queen of William IV. of England.

In Canada there is the Province of Alberta, named for Princess Louise Alberta, daughter of Queen Victoria and wife of the Marquis of Lorne, who was Governor-General of Canada in 1882. Queen Victoria has undoubtedly a larger number of geographical names to her credit than any other woman in history. The largest lake in Africa is the Victoria Nyanza, and Victoria Falls were named for the Queen, as was also the capital of British Columbia.

In a catalogue of geographical feminine names there should also be placed given to the Aleutian Islands marked on an old chart as Catharine Archipelago in honor of Catharine the Great of Russia—and the Jungfrau, meaning maiden or virgin, most beautiful of the Swiss Alps, should not be overlooked.

Not Wanted.

The home-going parson who is said to make a church-going people must be prepared for an occasional rebuff. A young and zealous curate was going his rounds recently and at one house his knock was answered by a little girl. "Mother is suited with a clergyman, thank you," she said, and shut the door.

On the Contrary.

"Did you see Hooker come in from fishing?"

"Yes, I was on the pier."

"Was there any fish lying about him?"

"No. He was lying about the fish."

Is That It?

Bix—I wonder why a Scotchman always says "hae" for "have"?

Dix—Possibly it's on account of his thrift. He saves a "v" every time he does it.

Concerning Names.

Said the observing cuss, "When an actress starts out to make a name for herself she has to think up a good one to start with before she makes it."

Opposed Brothers' Church.

There were three of the Westleys, although only two of them had anything to do with founding the Methodist church. Sons of an English clergyman, and well educated they were all pious men, but the older brother, Samuel, took no stock in "Methodism." In fact, he combated it, and wrote of it upon one occasion as "a spreading delusion."

To Be of Influence.

If you can't swing things your way in life the sensible thing is to swing with things the way they are going. To be sure you can just abruptly cut away, but that leaves you out of touch with things. It may be a relief to your conscience to be beyond the reach of compromise. But you are also beyond the reach of influence. You can not hope to be able to mold character or even contribute anything toward bending it.

Many wonderful bargains are recorded in connection with old books. The priceless Coverdale Bible in the British Museum library, for instance, was bought by an amateur book collector from a butcher who was delighted and astonished on being offered ten shillings for it. He was about to use its valuable leaves to wrap up his meat.

"Inventor" of Pork and Beans.

An eccentric Englishman, Daniel Day Good, is accredited with the invention of pork and beans. The first Friday in each July he would assemble a party of friends under an oak in the forest and feast them on bacon and beans. From this festival grew the popularity of the dish.

REV. MR. RUSSELL TALKS ON "EVIL SPEAKING"

At St. Peter's Church last night, the Rev. E. C. Russell spoke on "Evil Speaking," taking as his text "Speak not evil one of another, brethren," St. James, 4-11. The preacher pointed out what a very dignified and important member the tongue is. Life and death lie in the power of the tongue. It is desirable that it should be sanctified to God, and always under the holy restraint of religion. "Evil speaking consists in divulging the faults of others needlessly. It is not necessary to the commitment of this sin that we circulate what is false. What we say may be partially or wholly true, and yet we may violate the prohibition of this text. Instead of pernicious talk, let us cultivate the habit of charity, and only say those things that will make the world brighter, cleaner and more godlike," said Rev. Mr. Russell.

Edwards Annual February Sale

For weeks past people have been asking us if we were to hold our Annual February Sale, and our answer has been invariably NO. We were absolutely sincere in this statement, as stock was slow in coming in, manufacturers could not fill our orders, prices were advancing, and our present marked prices were much lower in proportion to new goods coming in.

BUT

And we have purposely printed this BUT in big type—things have happened in the last few days to completely change our plans. Adjoining our store we had rented from the Canadian Bank of Commerce six flats for the storage of our reserve stock. In the last few days they have served notice on us by registered letter to vacate these premises for March 1st, as they are to commence immediate building operations for a new bank building.

Just where to place all this reserve stock is a puzzle. Our main store of eight floors is already crowded, our three other storage warehouses are crowded, and the only apparent solution is to use this entire month of February to reduce stock at lowest possible prices.

Starting Tuesday morning, February 3, 1920, we offer discounts of off practically everything in stock. For the benefit of those who may not have been in our store recently, our stock today consists of all grades of Furniture, Beds and Bedding, Carpets, Rugs, Oilcloths, Linoleums, Stoves, Sewing Machines, Pianos, Phonographs, Shades, Draperies, Kitchen Cabinets, Trunks, Club Bags, etc., etc.

10 to 33 1/3%

We very much prefer that you take delivery at once, but if for any reason you cannot do so, we will allow you free storage and insurance until May 1, 1920. Remember the opening day, Tuesday, February 3, and sale will last the entire month.

Miss Emma Miller returned to Phillipsburg today, after a short stay with friends in town and Lennoxville, and to visit her sister, Miss Mary Street, who is ill at the Sherbrooke Hospital.

Miss Marguerite Campbell, Prospect Street, left yesterday for Montreal, to meet Mr. and Miss Casavant, of St. Hyacinthe, whom she will accompany on a six week's trip to California, via New York, Chicago and Denver.

Mr. W. H. Pinkham announces the engagement of his daughter, Miss Eva M. Pinkham, of 47 Queen Street, to Mr. Rupert Carter, 88a Marquette Street. Wedding will take place in November, 1920.

A specially fine programme is being

CITY BRIEFLETS

Yesterday in the Church's calendar was Septuagesima Sunday, or seventy days before Easter.

Mr. A. C. Howard, of St. Johnsbury, Vt., recently of Toronto, has arrived in Sherbrooke to assume his duties as manager of the E. and T. Fairbanks Company's works in this city.

The regular monthly meeting of the Victorian Order of Nurses will be held Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock in the Assembly Hall of the Y.W.C.A. The meeting will close at time to allow members and others to attend the Musical Hour at 4.30, given by Mrs. Alberta LeBaron-Adams at her studio in aid of the Victorian Order.

SPOKE ON "FORWARD MOVEMENT."

At the Sunday evening service at the Church of the Advent, the Rector gave a practical sermon on the national side of the "Forward Movement." He brought out the fact that "we who have been helped so long, must now do our best in helping others," and in referring to mission work among the Indians of the Canadian Northwest, he said, "We have not done enough for them in the way of religion and education, and our debt to them must not be forgotten." During the service the hymn, "Eternal Father, Strong to Save," for those at sea, was sung for Mr. H. Fox, who is now on his way from England to Canada.

CANDLEMAS OBSERVED TODAY.

Today being the festival of the Purification of the Blessed Virgin, Holy Communion was celebrated in St. Peter's Church at ten o'clock.

Candlemas, as the day is commonly called, has been observed since early days of the church, and in the Roman Church the ceremony of blessing the candles marks the day.

Weather predictions are also especially associated with Candlemas, the one connected with the groundhog being most popular. It is said that if this sagacious animal comes out of his snug retreat on February 2nd, and sees his shadow on the snow, immediately returns for another six weeks' sleep; for Spring is still far away. Another saying is: "If Candlemas Day be bright and clear, We'll have two winters in one year."

GAVE INTERESTING LECTURE.

The great music hall of the Convent Mont Notre Dame was crowded to the doors Thursday evening on the occasion of a lecture by Miss M. J. Gerin-Lajoie, B.A., of Montreal, before the Cercle Marguerite Bourgeoys, on the subject of "Answers to some social enigmas." Mr. Paul Larocque, president, and among those present were the clergy of St. Charles Seminary and the Bishop's Palace, and many leading French citizens. Miss Gerin-Lajoie was introduced by Mrs. Louis Codere, president of the Cercle, and proceeded to set forth in a most eloquent and unaffected manner the views of a cultivated and thoughtful young woman, who has been brought in contact with many deep thinkers, and has given much study to the subject upon the problems and vexed questions of the day.

The solution often lay nearer at hand than some pessimists believed, in more education, and in religious faith. The speaker appealed to all the highest and best in human nature, and was frequently interrupted by bursts of applause.

A delightful musical programme enlivened the evening, the opening overture being contributed by the pupils of the convent for pianos and violins with fine effect.

Miss Marguerite Codere was heard in a pretty voice, accompanied by Mrs. Codere and Mr. Antonio Gerin also sang. Mr. L. E. Codere accompanied.

An essay written by Miss P. Cote, of Richmond, was read by Miss Brule, and Mrs. Maurice Shea and one of her pupils rendered a brilliant piano duet.

Mr. Larocque thanked Miss Gerin-Lajoie on behalf of the Cercle Marguerite Bourgeoys for her interesting and lucid address, expressing his own appreciation of her wide and sane outlook.

Indian Gamesters.

Although the natives of India do not operate on the stock market, they have adopted a unique form of gambling for which the cotton market reports are responsible. Every day five quotations are cabled from New York announcing the cotton situation. The natives looked upon this as a direct invitation to them to establish a simple but none the less absorbing form of gambling. The gambling consists simply in guessing what the five figures will amount to, and the man getting nearest to the right amount takes the stakes.

Nineveh's Pathetic Ruins.

Past Mosul the river Tigris rolls its ancient, almost legendary, waters and opposite on the left bank, the dream of antiquity continues undisturbed. There in the blazing sun or in the shimmering Persian moonlight, lie the ruins of Nineveh, the last and greatest capital of the Assyrian empire. The wall of the disappeared city still stands to a height of 50 feet and is 12 miles in circumference. Close by the bank of the river are the still imposing remains of two citadels.

The Fast Breaker.

Just for the sake of giving us something to start an argument, will some body please suggest that as it makes a baby cross to cut teeth it must make him cross-eyed to cut eye teeth.

arranged for the "hour of music" to be given at Mrs. Adams' Studio, Art Building, in aid of the Victorian Order of Nurses, Tuesday afternoon. Those who will contribute to the programme are Mrs. Schwartz, Miss Austin, Miss O'Callaghan, Mrs. Adams, Rev. G. Elery Read, Mr. Ernest Armittage and Mr. Albert Blier. Similar events, given through the efforts of Mrs. Adams' have been much appreciated by music lovers, and the worthy cause for which this is given will be an incentive for many to be present on Tuesday. The programme will begin at 4.30 p. m.

The Old Crane of Andernach

MANY and varied are the old castles along the Rhine. In a trip from Cologne to Coblenz and beyond the tourist has one old schloss or another within his range of vision practically all the time. Many of the castles are mere heaps of glorified ruins. Others are in a fair state of repair. But, one and all, they have been preserved for all time by countless photographs and drawings.

Not so well known as these relics of a romantic and adventurous age, yet as old as many of them, is the Rhine Crane, situated at the northern end of Andernach, on the very edge of the river, says The Watch On The Rhine. This crane and the Round Tower, a few hundred yards further upstream, are landmarks of the district.

The crane was built in 1555, and was used for loading and unloading the river boats, which even in those early days carried quite a commerce. Power for moving the long arm of the crane was furnished by a treadmill, in which prisoners of war passed miserable hours doing old-time fatigue duty.

There is more than a commercial, labor-saving device. It is an architectural gem, as much pains being taken with its ornamentation as though it was an abbey or a schloss. The stonework is seen to-day in its original setting. It has not required restoration. Some of the interior woodwork, however, has had to be replaced to make good the ravages of time.

A view of the interior mechanism gives an interesting insight into the engineering methods of the sixteenth century. The main pillar of the crane is an immense oak beam more than ten meters high. It is set in a basalt socket and supports the arm of the crane, which travels in a wide arc.

Leaving the interior arrangements for a view of the exterior, it will be seen that the crowning glory of the attic is the cornice, which is embellished with a dado of running acanthus leaves, which give a late Gothic effect. As the coronation differs from the heavier decorations of the groundwork, so the light ceiling cornice is in studied contrast to the chief cornice, and while the eye follows the pleasing convolutions of the leafy ornaments, it glides involuntarily upward from one decoration to another until it includes the medallions, and rests finally on the laurel-adorned "imperator's knopke." The delicacy of the leaf ornamentation, combined with the individual treatment of the portraits, compels admiration for the masterly cunning of the sculptor. The decorations are carved in sandstone.

Four fantastic, grimacing water sprites lean out below the attika, forming supports for draining the gutters of rain. But the full splendor of the sculptor's art is seen in the picture work of the entrance.

On the Rhine side a winged genie of Andernach holds the city's armorial decorations, two crossed keys on a quartered shield. On the land side two figures hold a similar shield.

A late addition on the river side of the crane is a stone ice breaker, built of basalt, which, without association with the architecture of the crane building proper, is ornamented with carved symbols. It was built in 1604, and it may be assumed that this year saw a great rise in the river, with heavy ice floes, and the old Andernachers began to have fears for their useful and ornamental crane.

The fact that the crane has been able to withstand the attacks of the river these hundreds of years is a credit to the lasting quality of the stone used and superior workmanship with which it was put together.

The old crane served the purposes for which it was built for more than 300 years. With the advent of the railroads the crane was put to greater uses. Untold tons of stone from the volcanic rock district of the Lacher See were brought to Andernach to be loaded on the river barges for other points in Germany.

With the investment of new capital and the adoption of new inventions, three electric cranes were erected further up the river, and since 1910 the old hoist has been given a well-earned rest. In 1912 thorough repairs of the crane were undertaken.

Fortunately, the story of the old Rhine crane has been preserved for the present and future generations in records now in the city archives, including the "Kranenbuecher" from 1511 to 1743, in which is told all that concerns the crane. In these books one may read the Town Council's yearly record of receipts and expenditures.

Important as these documents are there are others as interesting; for instance, the original drawings of the builder. Another record of absorbing interest is a parchment bearing two seals of the year 1554, with the following inscription:

"Archbishop Adolf van Koeln sanctions the building by the city Andernach of a new crane house on the Rhine, August 15, 1554."

In the following year the building of the crane began, reaching completion in 1557.

That there was a still older crane on the bank of the Rhine at Andernach is understood from the decree of Adolf von Koeln in which he speaks of building a "new" crane house, an indirect reference to an earlier hoist. According to the "Kranenbuecher," the older crane dated back to the year 1511.

Fair Play Imperative.

"Business is business" is a motto all workers should keep before them. They should demand their rights, but should remember that those in authority have rights also, and are entitled to fair, honest treatment from the people they employ. Therefore, one must learn to be punctual, non-talkative and kindly to their associates. The employee who swerves from this code is not playing fair with employer and certainly should keep silent on the question of equal rights.—Exchange.

RETIREES AFTER 43

YEARS OF SERVICE

J. Quinlan, District Passenger Agent of Grand Trunk, Resigns.

J. Quinlan, District Passenger Agent at Montreal, is Succeeded by E. C. Elliott.

The following circular has been issued by the Grand Trunk Railway System:

Mr. Joseph Quinlan, after faithful service of forty-three years, will retire under the provisions of the company's superannuation fund on April 1st, 1920; meanwhile he has been given leave of absence. Mr. E. C. Elliott is appointed district passenger agent, to succeed Mr. Quinlan's office. Bonaventure Station, Montreal. Effective February 1st, 1920.

The circular is signed by Mr. W. S. Cookson, general passenger agent, and approved by Mr. G. T. Bell, passenger traffic manager.

Mr. Quinlan, the retiring district passenger agent, has long been one of the most popular of railroad officers. He has occupied the position of district passenger agent of the Grand Trunk at Montreal for eighteen years, who do not know him, as he has been unfailing in his courteous attention to the needs of the travelling public.

Mr. E. C. Elliott, the new district passenger agent, was born in Montreal forty-two years ago, educated at Mount St. Louis College, and entered the service of the Grand Trunk as a junior clerk. He has occupied various positions in the passenger traffic department, and has been directly associated with the passenger traffic manager for the past few years.

Prince as Business Man.

There is such widespread interest in the public activities of the Prince of Wales that there is timely importance in an article in an English magazine on the work of the prince as a business man in the management of his great estates of the Duchy of Cornwall, his Dartmoor Reclamation Scheme, and the latest plan for the improvement of mean streets in London.

The published statements and reports of the Duchy of Cornwall tell an extremely interesting story. Among other things they inform the prince of the progress of the oyster industry which he has established, and also what his estate derives from the sale of the practically wild ponies which he breeds on Dartmoor and "crosses" with a famous Arabian stock.

These balance-sheets and statements also inform the prince how much has come to him through "post groats," which are rental fees, and also through "white" rents. He also learns what he has made through the sale of any unclaimed wrecks that may have been cast up on the Cornish coast, for the proceeds from all such belong to him, as Duke of Cornwall, as do also those from any stranded whales or sturgeons and from any gold or silver discovered in the duchy.

The extent of the Duchy of Cornwall is upwards of 124,000 acres; but of this the greater part is only rough moorland. It includes, however, valuable house property in London, and tin and coal mines in Cornwall and Somersetshire.

ANOTHER BEAUTIFUL SCENE.

POLITICAL REPORTEER.

Ready Retorts Heard on the Public Platform.

Gladstone always awarded the palm for political repartee to his great opponent, Disraeli, because of a retort he made to an unfriendly crowd quite early in his career. The future Lord Beaconsfield, then scarcely known, was standing for Parliament against Col. Grey, who had the powerful backing of the great Whig family of that name. The audience was inclined to regard the brilliant young Jew as an alien and an upstart.

"We know all about Col. Grey," some one shouted, "but, pray, what do you stand on?"

"I stand on my head," was the instantaneous reply.

If there has been nothing in recent years to match this famous clash of wit, there have been some excellent answers, in which the heckled candidate has got the best of the heckler.

When the ship-owning millionaire, Sir Donald Currie, was asked at Greenwhich if his father had not been the local barber, he admitted promptly:

"It is true—and if your father had been a barber you would have been the same."

When the present Premier, Lloyd George, who is proud of his lowly birth and bringing up, was asked a similar question he scored as swiftly and even more severely. The heckler unwisely inquired if he remembered that his grandfather used to drive a donkey and cart.

"You will have to forgive me, ladies and gentlemen," Lloyd George apologized, "the car had quite escaped my memory, but I see the donkey is living yet!"

A parallel case in which the young aristocrat proved as able as the self-made man to hold his own when jeered at was that of Viscount Lewisham, a protectionist, or, as the English say, "tariff reform" candidate, who was suspected of a lack of sympathy for the poor because of his too fortunate birth.

"Yah!" cried a ragged listener as he began to speak. "You want to tax our food!"

"Be calm, my good man," the viscount reassured him. "We don't intend to tax thistles."

A prohibition orator, speaking during the same campaign, was so frequently interrupted by a rowdy in the crowd that the rest, even those who had been at first hostile, turned against the offender and there were lusty shouts of "Turn him out!"

"No, don't turn him out!" suggested the speaker mildly. "Turn him upside down and let the beer run out of him."

Germany's Year of Peace.

Results of the first year of the revolution in Germany are summarized by the Socialist Monthly as comprising a decline in the value of the mark, increase in the cost of living, decreased production of coal and steadily mounting public debts. The paper casts a balance for the year in a bitter and sarcastic vein.

It points out that the mark has declined in value within the year from 72 Swiss francs to 26.25 francs. It gives a long list of articles of food showing increases ranging up to 100 per cent. for butter, and nearly 200 per cent. for eggs. The paper states that the cost of transportation has increased.

The production of coal is asserted to have declined from 150,000,000 tons a year before the war to 70,000,000 tons in the first year of the revolution. This is notwithstanding an increase in the number of persons employed in the mining industry exclusive of war prisoners who now have been sent back to France and Belgium.

Debts and taxes are declared to be steadily growing into an unbearable burden for the taxpayers. The paper asserts that Germany's debts will aggregate on April 1, 1920, 212,000,000,000 marks, exclusive of debt to the Entente. The deficit of the Prussian railroads for the year of the revolution is declared to total at least 3,962,000,000 marks.

In conclusion the paper warns the people of Germany that they must pay for those "achievements of the revolution."

Odd Uses of Sawdust.

Sawdust, which most of us regard as waste, has many uses besides the manufacture of paper, for which a century-old invention is to be applied. Oxalic acid is made from it; it is used for packing as well as smoking fish. Carbonized, it makes a better fuel than ordinary charcoal.

Box wood sawdust is used for cleaning jewelry, and rosewood sawdust is compressed into artificial ebony. Furriers use it for dressing skins, while even small fragments of some woods, such as pencil cedar, are made to yield perfumes.

A peculiarity of saw dust is that it sinks in water, although the wood from which it is cut floats.—London Chronicle.

MONTREAL LEAGUE RESULTS

(Associated Press Despatch) MONTREAL, Feb. 2.—In the Montreal Hockey League double-header on Saturday, Leval defeated the surprise by defeating Hochelaga by 5 to 1, and St. Francois-Xavier defeated Garnets by 3 to 2.

ST. REGIS TEAM WON VICTORY OVER VETERANS

Saints Tallied the Odd Goal in Thre on Saturday—Again Tied with Knights of Columbus.

The St. Regis team once again climbed on even terms with the Knights of Columbus in the race for the City Hockey League pennant, when they took the Great War Veterans into camp to the tune of two goals to one on Saturday night at the Stadium Rink. With the thermometer registering around thirty degrees below zero, not a great many fans cared to venture out-of-doors to witness a hockey match. However, the few faithful that lined the rink were treated to one of the best exhibitions of the season, for the game was not only fast, but a very exciting contest from start to finish.

When the game was started both teams set out at a real fast clip, but in a very short time the players began to feel the effects of the cold weather and as a consequence many opportunities to score were passed up owing to poor shooting or bad passing at the critical moment. Finally Eddie Baker opened an account on the score sheet for the St. Regis aggregation with a quick shot from a scrimmage in front of the Vets' nets. This break appeared to liven up matters, but no further scoring was done during the period.

Shortly after the start of the second "frik" Parker tallied what proved to be the winning goal for the Saints when he swooped down on Murphy and slammed in the rebound of the shot of one of his team mates. However, the Veterans came back stronger than ever after this reverse and before the bell announcing the end of the stanza sounded, Wolfe broke into the scoring column.

With only one goal separating the two teams, the players started out in earnest in the final game. The Veterans made a desperate attempt to even up the count, but they were unable to break through the strong defence offered by their opponents, Joe Atto making several brilliant stops. The game was very clean, only two minor penalties being handed out.

The teams lined-up as follows: St. Regis—Joe Atto, Goal; Claud Atto, Point; Johnston, Cover Point; Pop Conley, Forward; Baker, Forward; Parker, Forward; Subs. Murphy, Robinson and Fuller.

Veterans—Murphy, Goal; Bryant, Point; Trudeau, Cover Point; Cloutier, Forward; Wolfe, Forward; Conley, Forward; Subs. Martin, Reed and Legare.

Refs. Fred Povey and G. B. Macle handled the game.

SPORTING NEWS

HOCKEY

THE INTERMEDIATE LEAGUE GAMES TONIGHT.

Two good games are assured this evening at the Stadium, when the intermediates offer their second card in a regular league fixture. The first game is between Dillard and Bishops College. This game alone should prove an interesting one, as both teams are evenly matched, and supporters of both teams are confident of victory for their favorites.

In the second game the champion St. Regis will line-up against St. Patricks. No doubt this game will be the feature of the evening, as it is well known that whenever these two teams meet, it is hockey from start to finish, and the game is never won until the last gong is sounded. The team that secures a lead in this game will have a strong hold on the championship, and each team is trying to secure the necessary advantage as soon as possible. The sporting public should turn out in larger bodies and support this league better than they do, as the brand of hockey that they put up is very fast and clean.

A LARGE CROWD IS EXPECTED TO BE ON HAND TUESDAY.

A large crowd is expected to be on hand at the Stadium on Tuesday night when the "All Stars" will line-up against the La Tuque. This will be the first time since 1915 that hockey fans have seen the Stars of Sherbrooke line-up in a body to play an outside team. In the good old hockey days gone by when Sherbrooke would line-up against Grand Mere, Westmount and other out side teams, large crowds would journey to the rink to witness the game and when ready to come away, they would be loathe from yelling for the home team. Those days were put down as gone by, and never to return, but appears not. For once again the lovers of hockey will be able to see Sherbrooke and the "All Stars" with a hockey team that they will be proud of on Tuesday night, when they will meet the fast French La Tuque team. The visitors will arrive in town early Tuesday afternoon and the game will start on schedule time.

QUEBEC WON FROM TORONTO

(Associated Press Despatch) QUEBEC, Feb. 2.—The Quebec Bulldogs defeated Toronto by 10 to 6 on Saturday, closing the first half of the N.H.L. schedule. Although four goals ahead at the end of the game, the issue was always in doubt until Wilson was given a major penalty by Robert Smith in the third period for hooking Carey, when the score was 7 to 6. During his absence the locals ran in the goals that put the game on ice.

CANADIANS WERE BEATEN OUT

(Associated Press Despatch) OTTAWA, Feb. 2.—The Senators defeated the Canadiens by 11 to 3 before the largest crowd that ever patronized a match in Ottawa. Honors were about even in the first period, Ottawa leading 1 to 0. Canadiens cracked under the terrific pace in the second stage, when 5 to 1 was notched up against them. In the third period the Senators overwhelmed the Canadians and the goals came in a landslide. The Duke and Duchess of Devonshire witnessed the game.

Stage and Screen Attractions at Local Playhouses This Week

AT HIS MAJESTY'S THEATRE

A very attractive variety programme is offered the patrons of His Majesty's Theatre this week. While the usual movie features will hold sway during the greatest part of the week, a feature climax is reached on the last day of the week in the offering of the noted actor Tyrone Power in the well-known play "The Servant in the House."

Today and tomorrow Bessie Barriscale will be seen in "Her Purchase Price." This is a story of an infant child who was captured and brought to Cairo by a desert pirate when her parents were killed in a battle. An Englishman saves her as she is about to be auctioned off by her captor and brings her to London. Thereafter love and jealousy play a leading part, the play ending up to the satisfaction of all in happiness.

MR. TYRONE POWER who will appear at His Majesty's Theatre, Saturday, Matinee and Evening, February 7, in "The Servant in the House."

cast in the person of Mr. Galwey Herbert, while the other artists are all well-known players of established reputation.

The play is half-drama, half-allegory, and in this fact lies half its power. The scenes are singularly dramatic, and as the play develops they grow in intensity. The role enacted by Mr. Power is one of the most gripping in modern drama as known to the American stage.

AT THE PREMIER THEATRE

Marguerite Clark, Dorothy Gish and Owen Moore are the three screen stars who will be seen playing the leading roles during the ensuing week at the Premier Theatre, during which an attractive programme is offered the movie fans. Popular Marguerite Clark will be seen in "Luck in Pawn," today and tomorrow. The story is of Annabel Lee, a country girl with ambitions to be an artist, is furnished the money by her mother for a course in art in the city. She goes to a fashionable summer hotel to ask a noted painter's opinion of her work and is told that she can never hope to become a great artist. As she is about to leave discouraged, she is approached by a very rich young man, who sees in her a welcome contrast to the sophisticated folks who are pursuing him for his money. A pretty romance springs up between the two. Aided by a kind-hearted pawn-broker, she becomes the guest of her admirer and his mother at the hotel, and despite the efforts of a designing dowager to discredit the girl she finds happiness at the end.

On Wednesday and Thursday, Dorothy Gish will be seen in "Turning the Tables." In this story Doris Pennington is an heiress under her aunt's guardianship. Next door lives Monty Faverill, whose mother has induced to believe he is a chronic invalid. He goes through exercises daily with a trainer. The aunt is in love with a quack spiritualist, Professor Palmer, who is discovering that Doris is wealthy in her own right, tries to gain the girl's affections. The aunt his Doris adjudged insane and shipped off to a sanitarium. By a trick Doris persuades the asylum officials that the nurse accompanying her is the expected patient and she herself is installed as nurse in the institution. The professor finds out where Doris is and has himself admitted as a patient. Monty Faverill's mother, struck by her husband's odd behavior since he caught sight of Doris over the wall, places him in the asylum for treatment. Monty's arrival makes things pleasant for Doris, but her aunt pays a visit to see how matters are developing. Doris persuades the head doctor that her aunt is a patient. She is locked up, the proprietor thinks she is an heiress and marries her. Monty and Doris escape, the former's athletic trainer interrupts them but Monty knocks him out. The lovers secure a clergyman and are united.

"Piccadilly Jim," featuring Owen Moore, which will be shown on Friday and Saturday, comes highly recommended. No doubt many have read the story, and the play is said to be even better than the story. In the story Piccadilly Jim, James Braithwaite Crocker, to give him his full title, has been involved in more scrapes than any man in all England, and when his last one—punching a nobleman's nose—makes the atmosphere of the Crocker home too cool for comfort he decides to go to America. Jim goes to America; not with his aunt and uncle, however, and not until he meets the girl. She is beautiful and young, he is young and impressionable and the spark is kindled. In America all sorts of complications arise. After a series of screamingly funny adventures, Jimmy convinces the girl of his heart that marriage with James Braithwaite Crocker—once known as "Piccadilly Jim"—might not be such a bad thing after all.

Many people will doubtless recall the sensation created when this play was first produced in America in 1908, and the remarkable performance given by Mr. Power in the intensely dramatic role of Robert, the "Drainman." He will enact the same role in the forthcoming revival.

AT THE PRINCESS THEATRE

A very interesting programme this week at the Princess Theatre opens today and tomorrow, with Constance Talmadge in "Mrs. Leffingwell's Boots." Miss Talmadge is cast most happily as Mrs. Leffingwell, the dainty young matron, who to please her husband and make him "loosen up" with his coin, flirts with another man. Then the boots make their appearance. Little Mrs. Leffingwell is strong for fancy clothes, and she simply can't resist the impulse to buy a pair of handsomely embroidered slippers, the replica of a pair which another young man has purchased to give his fiancée. In the end the young lady breaks off her engagement with the young man, and the latter gives the boots, or slippers, to his housemaid. Mr. Leffingwell knows his wife has a pair of the same kind, so when he looks into the young man's windows and sees someone trying on the slippers, he naturally thinks it is his wife. Trouble follows thick and fast, until house party throws the whole group together and the complications are explained. Then the whole thing is cleared up, and the boots land in a muddy brook.

Gladys Leslie in "The Midnight Bride" holds sway on Wednesday and Thursday. The story tells of Jeanne Sterling who upon her first visit to New York, becomes infatuated with Forrest Fenoweth. She loses all interest in her home and people and returns to the city to marry Forrest. He marries her with a license secured to wed Helen Dorr. Soon after the wedding, Forrest, while drunk, gets killed. Jeanne flees, leaving the marriage certificate behind. Helen Dorr secures the certificate and establishes her claim as bride of the deceased. Jeanne in disgrace is forced to battle alone for the love of a true man and after many intensely dramatic scenes wins.

Friday and Saturday the ever popular William S. Hart will be seen in "Square Deal Sanderson," a play full of thrills.

NEW ZEALAND VETS ARRIVE AT NEWPORT NEWS

Programme for Their Entertainment Had to be Cancelled Owing to Flu Cases.

Newport News, Va., February 2.—Three hundred New Zealand world war veterans arrived here Saturday aboard the White Star liner Athenis, enroute from Plymouth, England, to their native land. Twenty war brides are accompanying the soldiers.

Because of the influenza epidemic here, only a few of the soldiers were allowed to come ashore and the elaborate programme for their entertainment had to be cancelled.

Among the New Zealanders was Colonel T. H. A. Valentine, Director General of New Zealand's health service.

"What's in a Name?"

The French island of Reunion has changed its name four times in 50 years. In 1793 it was Bourbon, as it had been for a century and a half, but the convention changed it to Reunion. Under the empire it became Isle Bonaparte; at the Restoration it reverted to Bourbon. Finally, in 1848, it became Reunion once more.

History and Material Wealth.

It is time we remembered that history does not concern herself about material wealth—that the life-blood of a nation is not that yellow tide which fluctuates in the arteries of trade—that its true reveries are religion, justice, sobriety, magnanimity, and the fair amenities of art.—Lowell.

Got It Printed.

HELD FORWARD MOVEMENT MEET AT COOKSHIRE

Interesting Addresses Were Heard
—Mr. Wood's House Destroyed
by Flames.

COOKSHIRE, Feb. 2.—(Special)—On Thursday afternoon an informal conference on the "Forward Movement" was held in the Methodist Church under the chairmanship of the Rev. T. P. Perry, of Sherbrooke. Representatives were present from Cookshire, Burry, Angus, Broughton, Eaton, Sawyer, Island Brook and other surrounding places. The session opened with the devotion exercises, after which a discussion took place upon the progress and prospects of the campaign in this district. The following facts were elicited.

First.—That there is a real Forward Movement in the church and that it is earnestly striving to adapt itself to changing circumstances and to be of real service to humanity in these days of reconstruction. The church is sympathetic to all movements of moral value and uplift.

Second.—That the members of the churches in the district are enthusiastically supporting the movement and are attaining the objectives spiritual and otherwise allocated to them. Each charge is determined to go over the top.

Third.—That co-operation among the various denominations in the "movement" is developing a wonderful spirit of unity and brotherhood. All churches are one in the tremendous task differences are being forgotten and denominational barriers are being broken down.

Fourth.—That the financial drive February 9-16 is going to be the acid test of the genuineness of many people's religion.

After this meeting concluded the Ladies' Aid gave an oyster supper to all representatives attending this meeting.

Starting at 7.30 in the evening a public service was held in the auditorium of the church at which the Rev. T. P. Perry presided.

Rev. Mr. Rice, of the Congregational Church, Rock Island, was the first speaker, and gave in a very clear and comprehensive manner a general outline of the "Forward Movement."

Rev. Mr. Hart of the Union Church, St. Anne de Bellevue, followed, speaking along much the same lines. Both speakers were listened to with keen interest by a large gathering.

DEATHS REPORTED

MR. JOHN DUROCK, EAST FARNHAM.
EAST FARNHAM, Feb. 2.—Mr. John Durack passed away on Thursday morning, at the home of his son, Mr. G. Durack, at the advanced age of seventy-six years. The deceased has been in failing health for some time. He was a highly respected citizen and he leaves to mourn his loss, two sons and one daughter and a sister.

Wood has been using a gas lighting system in his house. In some manner, yet to be explained, this exploded at about four o'clock Saturday morning, setting fire to the house, the flames spreading rapidly. Mr. and Mrs. Wood and children escaped in their night clothes, going to a neighboring house for shelter.

General Notes.
Mr. Charles Sawyer, town foreman, met with a painful accident recently. While working on a water pipe, which crosses the river, he slipped and in some manner wrenched his right knee quite badly.

A very persistent rumor is going the rounds that the property known as the Learned Hotel, recently purchased by Mr. Weyland, of Sherbrooke, has been sold to local parties at a fancy price.

Mr. George Woolley has sold his property on the Angus Road and purchased the house and lot owned by Mrs. Rogers, located on corner of Eastview and Birchton Road. Mr. Woolley has already taken possession of his new home.

A very important meeting of the War Veterans will be held in basement of Victoria Hall, on Monday evening, February 2nd, inst., at 8 p. m. All members are requested to be present as considerable business is to be transacted.

Commencing February 3rd, inst., all the stores in Cookshire are to be closed at 6 p. m. on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday nights. Mr. Weyland, proprietor of the Commercial House (Learned Hotel) has purchased the hotel at Lennoxville and intends taking possession shortly.

On account of the extreme cold weather the passenger trains are running considerably behind their schedule time. The Halifax Express going to Montreal and due here at 8 o'clock in the morning, arrived Saturday at 1 p. m. Other trains are running from a few minutes to an hour late.

Dr. Hight, chiropractor, will be at Leonard's Hotel, Cookshire, Wed. and Thurs. of this week, Feb. 4 and 5.

ST. JOHNS

Mr. J. C. Don, who has been a valued employee of the Singer Company, is sailing from Portland, Me., by the "Cassandra" next Wednesday, to join Mrs. Don in Paisley, Scotland, where he expects to reside in future. Mr. Don will be much missed, especially in theatrical circles.

THE KNOWLTON LIBERALS HELD A BIG MEETING

Hon. Sydney Fisher, Mr. Monk and
Mr. McMaster, M.P., Addressed
Large Gathering.

KNOWLTON, Feb. 2.—(Special)—There was a large attendance of gentlemen and ladies present at the Liberal meeting held in Lake View Hall, Knowlton, on Friday night. Mr. Edward Caldwell acted as chairman for the evening, the speakers on the platform being the Hon. Sydney Fisher, Mr. Frederick A. Monk, of Montreal; Mr. Andrew McMaster, M.P., of Bromfield; Mr. W. R. Oliver, M.L.A. was unavoidably absent, being retained in the ancient capital by his duties there.

The Hon. S. A. Fisher first spoke of the campaign going on via Canada to erect a monument to the memory of the late Sir Wilfred Laurier, over his grave at Ottawa by public subscription, none of which were to exceed $5.00. He said he hoped that everyone who had not already subscribed would do so and have their name enrolled among those who delight to do honor to one of Canada's greatest men.

The speaker's next point was "What the Liberal Party is Doing." Being hampered by having no press, people are unable to read what is doing, said Hon. Mr. Fisher. "At the National Liberal Convention held in Ottawa last year, every poll in the Dominion, from the Yukon to Cape Breton, was represented, all representatives, live, active, energetic men and women. A certain platform was laid down, a leader was chosen, the Hon. Mackenzie King, the Liberals were united," said the speaker.

"The administration of Liberals in public affairs was next dealt with, under three heads, first, honesty; second, efficiency; third, what we do in interest of the masses of people (contending that the Union Government of Ottawa is doing quite the reverse)."

Hon. Mr. Fisher then spoke on high cost of living, holding that to overcome this, farmers must produce more, etc., closing his remarks with the hope that the electors of Bromfield would retain a majority of Liberals at the next election.

Mr. P. A. Monk, first addressing the audience in French and afterwards speaking in English, said, after diagnosing the condition the country finds itself in, he would offer a few suggestions. "We have a debt of $2,500,000,000 to be paid by seven and a half million people with no assets to pay with and minus fifty or sixty thousand brave boys; we have a place in the League of Nations, but we need development of national spirit so that Canadians will rule Canadian affairs. The main effort should be to secure a rapid increase in population by bringing in a good class of farmer immigrants, offer them personal freedom and other attractions, to make them feel true Canadians," said Mr. Monk. The speaker referred to the question of reciprocity in elections of 1911, also the cry of conscription in the elections of 1917. He hoped the people of Canada would think these various suggestions out for themselves and be better prepared to cast a vote for the good of the country in the next election.

Mr. A. McMaster then discussed some problems and some solutions. "He said the radical and religious questions can be overcome by unity. The language of our country was also referred to, the speaker stating that both languages were essential. "The first point in a Democratic country is to get the right government, a good government, an honest and efficient government and the first question to deal with after obtaining same is, bread and butter and how life should be made comfortable and happy," continued Mr. McMaster.

Mr. McMaster gave many comparative figures how money stood before and after the war, and also dwelt on the tariff question, giving several illustrations which were of interest. Owing to the lateness of the hour he only touched briefly on the high cost of living, shorter hours, increased salary problems. In his closing remarks he mentioned the fact that while he was critic for the opposition in Parliament, he would deem it a favor if any of the readers of the press, either Liberal or Conservative, who approved of his criticisms, would write him or even drop him a card telling him if they approved or they disapproved. He would appreciate receiving their views on the same.

KNOWLTON CREAMERY REPORT.

General Notes.
Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Rawlings and children returned home on Saturday. Mrs. M. Barcelo went to Montreal on Friday for a few days.

SOUTH ROXTON

Mr. C. C. Savage unloaded a car of feed wheat last week, which he sold at the car for $3.15 per cwt. at the siding. Mr. C. C. Savage expects to unload a car of corn on Monday. The price at the car is $3.15 per cwt.

The teams are all busy hauling wood and logs to the saw mills and track. Mr. Bettele, a man of seventy years or so, suffered a shock on Tuesday last at his home here. Dr. Rumels, of Granby, attended him. He is reported to be on the gain today.

The Rev. George O. Tredinnick, of West Shefford, attended the cottage prayer meeting at Mr. N. Smith's on Wednesday evening.

BEDFORD

The remains of the late Miss Millette, who died at Farnham, were brought here on the arrival of the C.P.R. noon train on Thursday, interment in the Roman Catholic cemetery. The funeral service was held at Farnham.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Skeels, of Swanton, Vt., have been the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Borden, Dutch street. A dance for the benefit of the Hockey Club will be held in Victoria Hall on Feb. 5th. Burrough's orchestra from St. Johnsbury, Vt., will furnish the music and Messrs. Dewis Currie and Foster Draper have charge of the other arrangements.

Inspector Parker was in town recently and visited the Academy. Miss Kathleen Corey is in Montreal the guest of friends.

Miss Cathleen Sheltus and Miss A. Hastings were in Montreal for the week end.

Owing to illness among several of the cast, the production of "Charlie's Aunt" by the Bedford Dramatic Club will be postponed for some time.

The regular monthly communication of the Bedford Masonic Lodge will be held in the local lodge rooms this evening, Feb. 2nd.

The bearers at Mr. Selby Laraway's funeral should have read, instead of Messrs. Z. E. Cornell and S. Coslett, Messrs. Harvey Corey and William Harbinson.

WILLING TO OBLIGE.

A woman who was troubled with chronic nightmare, and who frequently cried out in her sleep, advertised for room and board "with a family who would not object to screaming in the night."

Among the answers she received was one which asked:—

"How often would you require us to scream?"

Should women be put on trial for their faults?

Should women be put on trial for their faults? And should they be tried by men? Are their so-called weaknesses due to the mediocre demands of men? Do women know how to stick to ideals that are not social assets? What is the type of girl that invariably becomes an old maid? Do men put a premium on virtue?

These are a few of the questions that are discussed and answered in a tremendously stimulating article called "Supply and Demand." Every woman in America owes it to herself to read it.

This'll make you laugh for thirty minutes

If you were once a real boy or if you ever knew one, you will enjoy "Brite and Fair," the funniest story published this year. You'll enjoy the pranks of Plupy Shute, Flunk Ham, and Chick Randall. Their humorous escapades combine the glow of gentle humor and sympathetic reminiscence. "Brite and Fair" is by Judge Henry A. Shute, the author of "The Real Diary of a Real Boy."

The real yellow peril is the Japanese Kimona

The causes of divorce are many. One of them, however, is the use of the kimona with its frequent, unattractive carelessness. In this article by Anne Shannon Monroe, the writer outlines fearlessly some of the very simple causes for marital estrangement—causes which could quite easily be removed for the betterment of the human race.

PHONE 1446 w. LENNOXVILLE, QUE.Paris Forts to be Destroyed

AFTER all, "Big Bertha" is going to "get" the fortifications of Paris, even if it is altogether different way from that calculated by von Hindenburg when he invited his imperial master to that famous "dinner" at Paris by April 1, a dinner which never came off. To be more explicit: The lessons of the super-cannon is the late war have induced the French Government to raise the famous fortresses which for more than half a century guarded the "city of light."

Very logically, the French have come to the conclusion that it is more waste of perfectly good real estate to maintain around a city walls which would be ground to dust in a few hours by modern artillery. The event elicits the following comment from Robert Bell, formerly Paris correspondent of the Manchester Guardian:

"If Alphonse Karr could know that the Senate has unanimously passed the bill authorizing the demolition of the Paris fortifications, which have now become law, he would rejoice exceedingly. Seventy-eight years ago when the fortifications that are now to disappear were made, he soundly rated the Parisians for allowing their city to be thus encompassed. They have destroyed the Bastille," he said "in which they could hardly be said except successively and a few at a time; to-day an immense Bastille is being constructed all around Paris at their expense, in which they will all be put, with their houses, their children, their wives and their dogs are delighted." The Bastille of 1841 is doomed after a much shorter life than that of its predecessor, and the Parisians seem just as much pleased as their ancestors were when it was created, but I am on the side of the Parisians of 1841. In my opinion they were right and Alphonse Karr was wrong.

"All of us have a conservative side and I confess to being as intensely conservative where historical or sentimental associations are concerned as I am revolutionary in more important matters. The French in the majority are just the opposite; conservative in politics and economics and even in their business methods and other concerns of practical life, but ruthlessly iconoclast and utterly indifferent to historical associations. Witness their mania for changing the names of streets, sometimes for political or religious reasons, but sometimes for no reason at all except that of a desire to commemorate some local worthy who would no doubt otherwise soon be forgotten. When one sees at a street corner in some French provincial town the inscription 'Rue Emile-Zola, ancienne Rue Notre-Dame' one understands without approving, but it is impossible to restrain one's indignation when some beautiful mediaeval street name with no religious or political significance disappears in favor of that of an obscure general or a mediocre politician.

"French municipal councils seem to be bent on obliterating the history of their town. I appreciate the desire of the Paris Municipal Council to do honor to the King of the Belgians, but could not some better method have been found than that of changing an historic name like 'Cours-la-Reine' into 'Avenue Albert-Premier'?

Manon Lescaut went to the fair in the Cours-la-Reine.

"To me any change of this sort is misguided. One no more desires change in a town that one loves than in a woman that one loves—the very faults of either are adorable. I hate town improvements. I shall never cease to deplore the old houses and gardens that were done away to make room for the Boulevard Raspail—that monument of the modern architect's bad taste, than which Berlin at its worst is not more ugly. And I shall mourn the Paris fortifications for the rest of my life. No doubt modern warfare has made them useless for military purposes. M. Paul Strauss, who reported to the Senate the bill that doomed them, may be right in saying that they will make room for open spaces, cheap dwellings, garden cities and homes for large families, and thus diminish tuberculosis and infantile mortality. I should have thought this rather a large program for the area concerned. It is also true, I admit, that the 'forts' have been during long years the resort of undesirable persons whom it was unpleasant to meet at night. But why should one ever visit the fortifications at night? Rash people that embarked on such an adventure had only themselves to blame. It is not merely for the sake of the fortifications themselves that I deplore their disappearance. True, they have a charm of their own and they give a character to Paris which it will lose when they are gone. But that is not the worst. With the fortifications Paris itself will go, not perhaps at once, but inevitably sooner or later. Like London, it will one day cease to be a town and become a monstrous excrement on the face of the earth."

IN MEMORIAM.

HADLEY.—In loving memory of our dear Gertrude, who went away February 2, 1919.

After years of patient suffering, God gently bore our loved one To His eternal resting place. But, oh, how much we miss her. It is hard for tongue to tell. The cheery smile, the thoughtful way, That greeted us with every day, We miss her most who loved her well.

HUSBAND AND MOTHER.IN MEMORIAM.

Inserted to the loving memory of Miss Ethel M. Sterling, who departed this life Feb. 1, 1919.

Reckoning hands were at the gateway. Voices calling soft and low, And tho' I would fain have kept her, Yet, the Master bade her go.

But tho' Thou hast claimed my loved one For her life was well begun. And my heart is bleeding, breaking, I would say "Thy Will be done."

Father, help me in my sorrow, Hard to learn you Thy breast, Drink the cup which Thou hast given, Knowing it is for the best.

And when life is so ended, And I hear the gentle call, Grant that we may meet in Heaven, "Where the night comes not at all."

Serving the New Canadians

DURING the past twenty years Canada received three million new settlers of whom about one million were of foreign speech. The war interrupted immigration, but soon the march westward will begin again.

Mutual Requirements

What do we expect of these new citizens? Respect for Law and order, a measure of diligence, that they may not become a charge upon the community, and a willingness to adjust themselves to a new environment.

What do they expect of us, the native-born? Justice, sympathy and kindness. They are entitled also to the stimulating influences of great Canadian Ideals. They have a right to the Gospel of Christ, not only explained in theory, but worked out in practice by Christian men and women.

The Church Hampered

The Church has not been neglectful of these new Canadians, whether settled in the crowded cities, or on the Western plains. But the effort to reach them with the ministry of Religion has been made difficult for lack of Missionaries to overtake the work, and by inadequate financial means.

A Case of Misunderstanding

"Many Church Members do not realize the magnitude of the task. Lacking complete understanding of the situation, they have not sought out spiritual leaders for these new Canadians, and have been content with former standards of giving. Even with a slowing-down of immigration, the needs have not been met. What will happen when the flood-tide rolls in again?"

Look! A Study in Contrasts

In the year 1800, the United States had a population of 5,308,483. During the next twenty years, 184,000 immigrants arrived in American ports.

In 1901, Canada had a population of 5,371,315. During the next fifteen years, the immigration to this Dominion reached a total of 2,906,021.

From 1904 to 1914, Canada accepted 250,000 MORE immigrants than the United States received in the same period—despite the fact that the population of the Republic was ten times that of Canada.

Israel Zangwill and others speak of the United States as the melting-pot of the world, and marvel at the task of assimilating the newcomers. WHAT WOULD THEY THINK OF THE PROBLEM IN CANADA?

Moulding the National Spirit

The great majority of immigrants now settled in the Dominion are men of good-will, with an aspiration for useful citizenship. They are helping to do the day's-work of this land for the advantage of us all. The future public opinion of Canada, the future moral stability of the nation depends upon the will and power of the Church to fulfil its trust to these New Canadians.

Motives for Activity

You are a Canadian, proud of your country, and deeply concerned for its future. You are a Christian, believing that the Gospel is the only dependable and invincible civilizing agency. You are urged to pray, to serve and to give, that the Home Missions of your Church may be properly sustained in this day of national emergency.

What It Costs Us.

The evidence adduced and official statements submitted to the committee of the House of Commons considering soldiers' re-establishment showed that the total expenditure for pensions and various forms of re-establishment work to March 31, 1920, will amount approximately to $314,568,726.62, made up as follows:

Pensions	$ 53,536,498.74
Gratuities	153,686,557.98
Dependents' transportation fares	1,916,578.00
Department S.C.R.	57,045,654.26
Soldier Settlement	48,228,103.12
Labor Department	155,324.52

To carry to completion the various classes of re-establishment work now carried on there must be provided amount of $176,971,896.88, made up as follows:

Soldier Settlement	$126,771,896.88
Department S.C.R.	50,000,000.00
Labor Department	209,000.00

$176,971,896.88

This latter figure does not include a sum of approximately $30,000,000 which must be expended annually on pensions.

From these figures it will be noted that the total amount heretofore expended for re-establishment work now carried on amounts to $431,540,235.50, together with $30,000,000 annually for pensions. Yes, war is an expensive business.

Antiquity of Gloves.

Gloves are of great antiquity, having been worn in England as long ago as in Saxon times. Practically the only change which there has ever been in styles of gloves has been in their decoration. Sometimes they were richly adorned with jewels, 45 having been paid for a pair in the fourteenth century.—St. Petersburg Times.

Smoking Harmful to Women.

"Many of the women here smoke as many as a hundred cigarettes a day," writes James Gail, of Glasgow, to the London Daily Express.

"The effect of smoking on university students has been a bad one," he added. "At the last big examination the results were poorer than ever before—a fact which may be safely attributed to the detrimental effects of smoking on the students' mentality."

A Harley street physician, discussing the subject with a London Express representative, said it was difficult to say whether the smoking tendency among women was due to the nervous strain of the war or was an outcome of the community life which had been developed.

"A few cigarettes a day," he continued, "cannot hurt the normal, healthy woman, but when the thing becomes a habit, and one cigarette is lighted from another, it is most injurious to the eyes, heart, nerves, lungs and entire system."

"I can quite believe that the families of hard-smoking women would be less

STEEL & CO. LEASE POUTRE BLOCK HERE

American Firm Secures Sherbrooke Stand — Mr. Poutre will Continue Store Till September 1 Next.

It is understood that Mr. J. E. Poutre has entered into a contract by which he leases from September 1st next his entire block to Messrs. L. R. Steel & Company, Limited, for a term of fifteen years. The lease includes an extension which he will erect during the year.

The lessees are an American firm who operate a chain of stores similar to the Woolworth stores, excepting that their range is from 5-cent to $1.00 articles.

Mr. Poutre is understood to have received a rental consideration which sets a new high mark in Sherbrooke. The stand, however, is about the best available in Sherbrooke, and this means much in the case of retail trade. Mr. Poutre went to Buffalo in connection with the transaction, returning last week.

Mr. Poutre has been in Sherbrooke for the past fifteen years and has made a remarkable success in the retail trade. It is understood his plans for the future have not yet been formulated.

QUICK ACTION SAVED A LIFE AT WATERLOO

Accident in Railway Yards Narrowly Escaped Being Fatal — Other General News of Town.

(Special to the Record)
WATERLOO, Feb. 2.—An accident occurred in the Bedford Works yard on Friday shortly after seven o'clock, which though serious, only narrowly escaped fatality.

A car of heavy birch logs was being unloaded. One end of a log had fallen but the other end of it was held fast on the car. Mr. Almus E. Hayes loosened the stick that held the log and as he jumped quickly to get out of the way, he slipped on the ice and soft snow and fell and the logs began falling on his leg.

The man who worked with him saw the danger, and with great presence of mind placed his canthook so that two or three logs rolled right over Mr. Hayes instead of remaining on him.

Mr. Hayes was immediately removed to his home on Lewis street on a stretcher and Dr. Blake summoned. The leg was found to be badly crushed but the bones were not broken.

The wounds are very painful but it is expected that in a few weeks that if complications do not develop that Mr. Hayes will be able to resume work.

SEED FAIR TO BE HELD.
The Sheffield County Agricultural Society held its second annual Seed Fair in the Council room recently. The exhibits were not so numerous as a year ago but the quality was certainly of a very high order. The president, Mr. W. W. Phelps, and nearly all the directors were present as well as many members and friends of the Society. Mr. E. Lods, of Macdonald College, was the judge and discharged his duties satisfactorily. Mr. J. P. Reddy, demonstrator, was secretary.

The list of prize-winners is as follows:

GENERAL NEWS.
The young ladies of the town will give a Leap Year dance in the Town Hall on Friday evening, Feb. 6th. Turcotte's orchestra will furnish the music. Much interest is being manifested in this dance and it is fully expected that it will prove a most enjoyable function.

A largely attended meeting of the Ladies' Aid was held on Thursday afternoon and evening with Mrs. A. Allen and Mrs. A. J. Brown, Foster Square. The gentlemen were invited for tea.

The changes suggested at the Rural Deanery meeting of the redistribution of parishes throughout Sherbrooke County will not come into effect until after Easter, and then not until ratified by the Bishop of the Diocese.

Miss Miller, of Bedford, is the guest of her cousin, Mr. C. W. Miller and Mrs. Miller for a few weeks.

The W.M.S. will meet with Mrs. Whitcomb, Western Avenue, on Tuesday afternoon.

Mr. A. C. Miller has been the guest of his brother in Leominster, Mass., for the past two weeks.

Mr. Leonard Moore left on Friday for Sherbrooke, where he enters in the employ of the Massey-Harris Company.

CONTRACT LET AT RICHMOND—AGR. SOCIETY MEETS

Interesting Notes of News Around the Lively Town of Richmond.

RICHMOND, Feb. 2.—The contract for the construction for the factory for the Dominion Narrow Fabric Limited was awarded this week to A. F. Byers & Co., and it is expected that work will be started at once.

Arrangements will be made with the Council for the immediate supply of water for construction purposes.

The greatest problem is that of labor and housing accommodation. It is hoped that the citizens will do all in their power to aid the contractors in providing lodging.

'HELLO, MARS, IS THAT YOU?' A POSSIBILITY

French Academy of Sciences Offers Prize for Means of Communication — German Astronomer Believes Rays of Light Best.

(Associated Press Despatch)
PARIS, Feb. 2.—The academy of science evidently considers communication between the earth and the planets as among the possibilities, for it has undertaken to act as judge for a prize of 100,000 francs to be given for the best means of making a sign to a heavenly body and the receipt of a reply.

It has been the custom of the academy always to refuse to handle prizes for any feat which it considers a mere waste of time. In presenting the present prize for competition the academy makes the proviso that "the planet Mars is included as being sufficiently known."

"Until a solution is obtained" says the academy's announcement "the interest on the prize money will form a prize for scientists making the greatest progress in knowledge of the planets and their relation to the earth."

BELIEVES RAYS OF LIGHT BEST

(Associated Press Despatch)
LONDON, Feb. 2.—Professor Albert Einstein, the German astronomer whose theory that gravitation deflects the rays of light recently has been the subject of considerable discussion, in an interview with the Daily Mail's Berlin correspondent asserted that he believed the mysterious signals referred to by Signor Marconi as having been heard on various wireless apparatus are due either to atmospheric disturbances or to experiments with other systems of wireless.

Professor Einstein, who believes that Mars and other planets are inhabited, added that if intelligent creatures on other planets tried to communicate with the earth he would expect them to use rays of light, which could be much more easily controlled.

MONTREAL CUSTOMS RECEIPTS

MONTREAL, Feb. 2.—Customs receipts for the port of Montreal for January have created another record, being the greatest in the history of the port. Total receipts were $5,117,927, as compared with $3,331,848 for same month in 1919, the increase being $1,786,079.

CHIMNEY BLAZES DUE TO THE EXTREME COLD.
At six o'clock Sunday morning No. 1 brigade had a call to 57 Gillespie street to put out a chimney blaze, from which the damage was slight, this being one of the coldest experiences of the firemen this winter. Another call from 59 Galt street this morning at 5.45 for a chimney blaze was answered.

No. 4 Brigade was called out last night at 11 o'clock for a blaze at No. 75 Bowen Avenue. The fire had worked into the partition, and took some little time to get it under way.

A call to Hebert and Fortier's store on King street East this morning at 7.30, proved to be an unnecessary run for the brigade "just went there and back." Considering the extreme cold which means the overheating of stoves and furnaces, in many cases, the record for fires was good, and was greatly appreciated by the firemen.
