

PLANES ATTACKED BRITISH WARSHIPS

Raid Made During A Naval Battle - Prize Rebel Cruiser Sunk

Two British Destroyers on Patrol Duty Off Cartagena Believed Victims of Mistaken Identity—British Ships Rescued Several Hundred Survivors From the Torpedoed 10,000 Ton Rebel Cruiser Baleares, Destruction of Which Left a Gaping Hole in Insurgent Fleet Blockade of Spanish Government Ports.

London, March 7.—(P)—The Admiralty disclosed today the British destroyers Blanche and Brilliant had been attacked—but not hit—by five unidentified bombing planes.

The attack occurred yesterday off the Spanish coast in the same general area where the Spanish Government fleet torpedoed and sank one of the insurgents' prize cruisers.

An Admiralty official said he presumed the attack on the British vessel was a result of the naval clash. He added, however, that it obviously was a case of mistaken identity.

(Spanish Government aircraft took an active part in the naval engagement, bombing insurgent warships and strafing their decks with machine-gun fire.)

Authorities at Gibraltar said they believed that the attacking planes belonged to the Spanish Government. Seamen from the Blanche said the British destroyers did not return the fire.

The British destroyer Boreas, which rescued several hundred survivors from the torpedoed insurgent cruiser, arrived at Gibraltar bearing the body of Able Seaman George Long, killed during rescue work. Three wounded British seamen were taken to a military hospital.

The Blanche and the Brilliant were on Nyon patrol duty, protecting neutral shipping in the western Mediterranean against so-called "pirate" raids.

Although the attacking planes were unidentified, the Admiralty official said he presumed they were "mopping up" for one side or the other after the naval clash and mistook the Blanche and Brilliant for enemy ships.

"They went for them," he said. "Unfortunately they were ours."

None Of Bombs Struck Destroyers. The planes dumped several bombs, none striking the destroyers, and then wheeled away.

The Blanche has been involved in two other incidents. She rescued the British steamship Thorpehall from the insurgent warship Almirante Cervera off Bilbao last April and she was bombed by an insurgent plane near Melilla in 1936.

The Blanche and Brilliant are 1,300-ton vessels.

The Admiralty, at the same time, announced it had received reports from the British destroyers Boreas and Kempenfelt which left no doubt that the insurgent cruiser destroyed in the naval clash was the 10,000-ton Baleares.

These reports said the Baleares sank after being torpedoed by a destroyer. Warplanes also dropped Continued on Page 2, Col. 3.

Death Of Mounted Police Head Closes Life Given To Service

Brilliant Military Career of Sir James MacBrien, Who Turned the "Scarlet Rider" of the Plains into a Model of Modern Mechanical Efficiency, Ends Quietly in Toronto Hospital—Full Military Honors Accorded at Funeral Services Today.

Toronto, March 7.—(P)—Old comrades of Sir James MacBrien, men who fought with him in two wars and who followed him in the days when the Royal North West Mounted Police brought law and order to Canada's frontiers, today terminated his death a national loss.

The fifty-nine-year-old Commissioner of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, who turned the "scarlet rider" of the plains into a model of modern mechanical efficiency, died quietly in hospital here Saturday night after a two-month illness. Though his death was not unexpected, it came as a shock to those who knew him throughout a brilliant career.

Major-General MacBrien entered hospital last December 15th. After undergoing an operation for an internal ailment, he appeared to be rallying until two weeks ago when he suffered a relapse and steadily grew weaker. Lady MacBrien was at the bedside when death came early Saturday night.

Full military honors will be accorded Sir James at funeral services in St. Paul's Anglican Church here this afternoon. Escorted by a detachment of the Royal Canadian Dragoons, the body will be borne on a gun carriage through downtown Toronto to the Union Station where it will be placed Continued on Page 2, Col. 1.

BELIEVES HIS KIDNAPPED SON IS STILL ALIVE

New Rochelle, N.Y., March 7.—(P)—Murray Levine, father of kidnapped twelve year old Peter Levine, said today he believed his son still was alive, despite continued failure to make actual contact with the abductors. He also said he believed he was dealing with the true kidnapers.

Police expected to complete sometime today the draining of Indian Lake in the Bronx in a search for the boy's body. They began draining the lake on a telephone tip but were skeptical of its veracity.

CLAIMS ALBERTA'S SOCIAL CREDIT IS "CRUMBLING" Edmonton, March 7.—(P)—Alberta's Social Credit is "crumbling," Hon. Ian Mackenzie, Minister of National Defence, said here Saturday night and described Social Credit as a "fantastical, chimerical theory."

Main speaker at the first large public meeting of the campaign for the March 21st Edmonton East federal bye-election, Mr. Mackenzie spoke in support of R. C. Marshall, Liberal candidate.

EX-COMMANDER OF CHINESE ARMY ASSASSINATED

Shanghai, March 7.—(P)—General Chow Feng-Chi, former commander of the Chinese Twentieth Route Army, was shot to death today by two unidentified men as he was leaving his home in the French concession. Police said Chow was negotiating with the Japanese for a high post in a Japanese-sponsored government.

Vigorous Debate On State Medicine To Feature Commons Session Today

Daniel McIvor's Resolution Urging State Medicine Be Established in Canada Was Considered Certain to Arouse a Considerable Measure of Opposition.

Ottawa, Mar. 7.—(P)—The House of Commons resumes sittings today with prospect of a glorious debate on state medicine scheduled to be launched by a resolution of Daniel McIvor (Liberal, Fort William).

QUEBEC BUDGET SPEECH DEBATE OPENS TUESDAY

Peter Bercovitch, Liberal for Montreal St. Louis, Will Be First to Speak on Fiscal Programme Announced by Provincial Treasurer.

Quebec, March 7.—(P)—Debate on the budget speech of Provincial Treasurer Martin B. Fisher who announced to the Legislature last week a fiscal programme by which the Government intends to balance its accounts will start in the Legislative Assembly Tuesday.

First to speak will be Peter Bercovitch, Liberal, Montreal-St. Louis. Right after the Provincial Treasurer's speech last Tuesday, the Montreal member asked for time to examine carefully estimates of revenue for the Province's financial year 1938-39, about $52,000 greater than expenditures estimated for the forthcoming period.

Mr. Fisher said that the Province's surplus for the year would have reached more than $7,000,000 were it not for the Government's intention to make extraordinary disbursements of almost the same amount for social welfare purposes.

GENERAL JOHN PERSHING CONTINUES TO IMPROVE Tucson, Ariz., March 7.—(P)—General John J. Pershing looked forward to basking in the sun again today as he continued his slow improvement.

SEEK TO AVOID PESTILENCE IN FLOOD REGIONS

Typhoid Inoculations Ordered as Sanitation Conditions Are Reported Dangerous in Southern California.

Los Angeles, March 7.—(P)—Health officials, alert against the threat of pestilence, made typhoid inoculations today throughout flood-devastated southern California, where 183 were believed dead.

No cases of the disease have been reported, but sanitation conditions were reported dangerous. Typhoid serum was flown to Colton, near San Bernardino, where the water supply was cut off.

Dead and missing in the giant deluge by prolonged torrential rains last week increased to 183 with reports from the San Bernardino region last night.

Most recent estimates of damage to private and public property still stood at $65,000,000. Armies of workmen labored to dig the flooded area out from under Continued on Page 2, Col. 4.

Britain Will Speed Up Rearmament Programme If Goodwill Talks Fail

London, March 7.—(C.P. Cable)—"I am convinced that the course we are pursuing is the surest way of avoiding the dread necessity of fighting at all."

As, in these words, he concluded an hour's speech in the House of Commons today, Prime Minister Chamberlain told the world no doubt as to his grim determination to make Great Britain secure, be the cost what it may.

The Prime Minister was telling the story of Britain's vast rearmament. He warned the House to expect a "substantial increase" on the original estimate of £1,300,000,000 ($7,300,000,000) over the five-year period.

Mr. Chamberlain declared that if the vital peace talks with Italy and Germany, opening this week, fail, Great Britain will speed up her already gigantic rearmament programme.

But he said if the negotiations succeeded disarmament would follow in due course.

Praising Great Britain's "economic stability," Mr. Chamberlain said it was a "powerful deterrent against attack." He continued:

"Unless a nation can feel it possible to knock out its opponent by a sudden blow—and recent experience is not very encouraging to that theory—then the strongest people may hesitate to risk a struggle with a country whose staying power may indefinitely prolong its resistance."

NOTED GERMAN TENNIS PLAYER UNDER ARREST

Baron Gottfried Von Cramm, Listed in "First Ten" of World Tennis Players Since 1932, Taken in Custody on "Serious Charges."

Berlin, March 7.—(P)—Baron Gottfried Von Cramm, Germany's great tennis player, was arrested today by the criminal police on "serious charges."

While admitting Von Cramm had been arrested, police headquarters declined to divulge the nature of the charges. It was admitted authoritatively later, however, he had been taken into custody on "suspicion of moral delinquencies."

The tennis star arrived home only a few days ago after a world-wide competitive tour.

Now twenty-eight years old, Baron Von Cramm has been listed in the "First Ten" of world tennis players since 1932. He ranked second to Fred Perry in the world rankings for 1935 and second to Don Budge last year.

Von Cramm won the German championship four times and the French title twice and reached the final round at Wimbledon three times, losing to Perry in 1935 and 1936 and to Budge last year.

He figured in one of the most sensational matches of all time last summer, a losing five-set battle with

Revolutionary Heroine Tells Plans For Assassinating Soviet Leaders

Barbara Yakovleva, Former Head of Dreaded Secret Police, Now Fallen from Grace, Tells of Plot Against Lenin and Stalin for Signing Treaty with Germany.

Moscow, March 7.—(P)—Barbara Yakovleva, once a heroine of the Bolshevik revolution, came from prison today to testify against Nikolai Bucharin, like herself fallen from the highest ranks of Russia's leadership.

On the witness stand in Moscow's greatest treason trial, Madame Yakovleva, a large, faded old woman of fifty-three, testified she heard in 1918 that Bucharin wanted Nikolai Lenin and Joseph Stalin assassinated if they insisted on peace with Germany.

Madame Yakovleva, like Bucharin, was a close associate of Lenin in the early stages of the revolution. Once she was head of the dreaded Cheka, or secret police, and only last year she occupied for a time the post of Commissar of Finance, from which she went to prison.

Her testimony, delivered nervously in a slow, weak, quavering monotone, was a high spot of the afternoon session of the trial of Bucharin and twenty others on charges of treason and murder.

Standing stiffly erect before a microphone in front of the judges' stand, clad in a plain blue serge suit, her bobbed hair still dark, Madame Yakovleva said Bucharin had admitted instigating talk of despoiling Lenin, Stalin and Jacob Sverdlov, an early leader of the revolution.

Bucharin, she said, was the ideological leader of a group within the Moscow inner circle of the Commun-

HITLER WILL REAPPOINT SCHACHT PRESIDENT OF THE REICHSBANK

Berlin, March 7.—(P)—Re-appointment of Hjalmar Schacht as president of the Reichsbank was reported imminent today.

The German financial wizard, often credited with saving the Reich from economic chaos, previously had been expected to resign when his term expires in ten days.

His continuation as head of the German Bank of Issue is expected to have a favorable effect on Germany's external financial position.

The question of the Reich's foreign indebtedness was raised by Walther Funk, who replaced Dr. Schacht as economics minister, in a speech at Leipzig Sunday. A new basis for the settlement of German external debts must be found "since the present situation and the low level at which German shares are quoted abroad are shameful," Dr. Funk declared.

A BETTER ROAD NETWORK BUILT AT LOWER COST

Roads Minister Announces More than 2,100 Miles of Quebec Highways Worked on Since Union Nationale Government Took Office.

Montreal, March 7.—(P)—More than 2,100 miles of Quebec highways have been worked on since the Union Nationale Government took office. Roads Minister Francis J. Leduc said yesterday in an address here. Work on these roads will be completed during the summer, he said.

The Minister said his department sought to serve all the needs of industry, including transportation. "We will take you where you need to be taken at the least expense possible and the roads we build will be just as modern as anything to date," he told the members of a Montreal curling club. "We have adopted the latest methods in order to save your taxes."

There were three principles underlying the Roads Department policies, he said. Plans called for the linking of large centres by "decent" highways, and roads to get smaller municipalities "out of the mud." The Government had been able to effect a reduction in the cost of material, he said.

"All this was done out of a budget of only $17,000,000," Mr. Leduc said, "where in 1930 $18,000,000 was spent by the previous administration and results were not nearly as good."

MANY SLAIN AS TROOPS BATTLE ARAB DISORDER

Two Terrorists Killed Today as Clashes Which Took More than Hundred Lives Over Week-End Continue

Jerusalem, March 7.—(CP-Havas)—Two Arab terrorists were killed and five others wounded today as widespread disorders which took a toll of more than one hundred lives over the week-end continued.

British troops attacked a band of terrorists barricaded in several buildings in the village of Mindeh, near Nablus. After a fight lasting more than an hour the Moslems fled, leaving five wounded.

In the Acre district two armored police cars were attacked. The occupants of the cars killed two of the attacking band before it was routed. One of the dead Arabs was dressed in military uniform.

In the Nablus-Nablus zone, which is completely encircled by planes, troops and motorized units, mopping-up operations are continuing. Continued on Page 2, Col. 4.

Aberhart Flays Methods Of Supreme Court In Killing Alberta Measures

In Urging Reference of "Whole Question" to Privy Council, Alberta Premier Declares Decision Based on Ruling Out an Act Not Referred to Court.

Edmonton, March 7.—(P)—Reference of the "whole question" to the Privy Council appeared to be the next step, said Premier Aberhart last night at the Edmonton Prophetic Bible Conference in speaking of Supreme Court of Canada judgments ruling against Alberta legislation and constitutional questions. Premier Aberhart said Prime Minister Mackenzie King had been quoted as saying the judgments

Eight Are Mentioned For Conservative Leadership Relinquished By Bennett

Veteran Statesman Announced His Irrevocable Determination to Retire Owing to Impaired Heart Action Which Renders It Necessary for Him to Place Stricter Limits on His Activity—National Conservative Convention to Be Held as Soon as Possible After Parliament's Prorogation.

Ottawa, March 7.—(P)—Political soothsayers in the Capital gazed into the crystal glass today, seeking the name of Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett's successor as leader of the Liberal-Conservative party.

Mr. Bennett announced on Saturday his irrevocable determination to retire owing to impaired heart action which renders it necessary for him to place stricter limits on his activity.

His announcement came at a plenary session of a two-day national conference during which the party decided to call a national convention here as soon as possible after Parliament's prorogation, to recommend to that convention a new party name, "National Conservative," and to elect a leader to replace the veteran Mr. Bennett who was named at a 1927 convention in Winnipeg. Meanwhile Mr. Bennett will carry on.

Whether the Conservative leader, Prime Minister from 1930 to the fall of 1935, will retire from politics altogether, he did not say. If he does, he will end his political career forty-two years after it began in Northumberland County, N.B., when he was elected to the municipal council. Some speculated he would retain his Calgary West House of Commons seat till the end of the present Parliament, others that he would resign as soon as the Ottawa convention names his successor.

Eight names were mentioned by those who sought to see one clearly in the political crystal. They were those of Hon. Robert J. Manion, former Minister of Railways and Canals; Rt. Hon. Arthur Meighen, Conservative leader in the Senate; Senator A. D. McRae, who successfully organized the party for the 1936 election; Hon. W. D. Herridge, Mr. Bennett's brother-in-law and former Canadian Minister to the United States; M. A. MacPherson, former Saskatchewan Attorney-General and Treasurer; Hon. J. Earl Lawson, former National Revenue Minister; Hon. Earl Rowe, Ontario Conservative leader; and Denton Massey, House member for Toronto-Greenwood.

A partial survey of party adherents indicated heavy support would be forthcoming for Dr. Manion, Mr. MacPherson and Senator Meighen. It was said, however, that Senator Meighen, a former Prime Minister, probably would not accept the post if it was offered him.

To Appoint National Organizer. The conference instructed Mr. Bennett to appoint a national organizer. He was said to have mentioned the name of R. K. Finlayson, his secretary, who has announced he will return to his Winnipeg home where he formerly conducted a law practice.

Delegates received from Chairman Joseph Harris, Toronto-Broadview House member, the report of the policy and convention committee recommending a new party name and the national convention and endorsing the policy of Empire preferential Continued on Page 2, Col. 2.

Alarm Spreading In Japan As Chinese Increase Resistance

After Eight Months of Fighting, Japanese Appear as Far Away as Ever from Goal of Conquering China—Public Rapidly Becoming Tired of War Which Has Brought Perplexity to Government and Strait-Jacket to Businessmen.

(By Reiman Morin, Associated Press Foreign Staff.) Tokyo, March 7.—(P)—Japan is tired of the war which is eight months old today. Also she is quietly alarmed.

The war has brought victory to the Japanese army, perplexity to the Japanese Government, a strait-jacket to the Japanese business and mixed emotions, but chiefly boredom to the Japanese people.

On the night of July 7, 1937, Japanese soldiers drilling in North China fired what their officers said were blank cartridges. They clashed in the dark with Chinese troops and soon real bullets began to fly.

Japan and China accuse each other of the original attack. Whatever the truth, war developed from an unimportant incident and quickly spread.

Despite a succession of military defeats, including the loss of the capital at Nanking, China appears to be as belligerent as ever. Her leaders state they will not consider peace that does not include complete withdrawal of Japanese troops from Chinese soil.

Japan never expected such intransigence. China, far from collapsing, still is on her feet and fighting. For Japan, it is a dilemma with sharp horns. She either can push deeper across Asia's vast, dusty-yellow stretches, spending more blood and money in an effort to control 400,000,000 submissively hostile people or she can retreat to the coastal area with Continued on Page 2, Col. 2.

RIGHT HON. R. B. BENNETT

ARCHBISHOP OF EDMONTON ENDS WORTHY CAREER

Most Reverend Henry Joseph O'Leary Died Suddenly While Visiting Friends in Victoria Hospital — Was Brilliant Student.

Victoria, March 7.—Ending a brilliant career of service in the Roman Catholic Church, Most Rev. Henry Joseph O'Leary, Archbishop of Edmonton, died suddenly Saturday from a heart attack while visiting friends in hospital here.

Archbishop O'Leary, who would have been fifty-nine March 13th, arrived three weeks ago from Honolulu after a vacation necessitated by his heart condition.

Funeral services will be held Friday in Edmonton.

Born in Richibucto, N.B., March 13th, 1879, he had a brilliant career as a student, first at the University of St. Joseph, at Memramcook, N.B., then the Seminary of Philosophy and the Grand Seminary at Montreal.

In four years he completed a six-year course at Rome taking in addition a course at the Sorbonne in Paris before he was ordained as a priest in 1901.

In 1907 he became pastor of Bathurst, six years later Bishop of Charlottetown. His labors to develop educational facilities bore fruit in Prince Edward Island and, after 1920 when Pope Benedict made him Archbishop of Edmonton, in Alberta.

Further honors came to him in 1926 when, as he celebrated his silver jubilee in the priesthood, he was given the title of Count of the Apostolic Palace and made an assistant at the Pontifical Throne.

trade which bore fruit at the 1932 Ottawa Economic Conference of which Mr. Bennett was chairman.

At the same time the conference recommended the committee map a new policy for the party to be delivered to the summer convention.

The conference appointed a national Conservative Council, described as a temporary committee and including representatives from every province and the Yukon Territory.

The council will be replaced by a permanent council.

EXPECT BENNETT MAY RESIDE IN BRITAIN

London, March 7.—Retirement of R. B. Bennett as Canadian Conservative leader was prominently announced today but as yet only the Yorkshire Post (Conservative) has editorially reviewed his career.

"If times (the depression years) worked against Mr. Bennett as against President Hoover," the Yorkshire Post editorial concluded, "Englishmen were swift to recognize his proud faith in the British Commonwealth. After he had relinquished office Premier Bennett proved the quality of his faith by making an exhaustive tour of the Empire. He has been greeted on several occasions in this country, and Canada can still look to him to play the indispensable part of older statesman."

From time to time rumors little paragraphs in the British press of Mr. Bennett's eventual retirement to a country estate in England, ranging from Stratford-on-Avon in the Midlands to Sussex in the South. Occasionally these rumors have been denied but a majority of the British people would not be surprised to learn he had settled here before long.

Investigation of any suggested scheme of health insurance that might be evolved.

The Association draws a strict distinction between state medicine under iron-clad government control and voluntary health insurance in which the people pay contributions entitling them to medical attention and a measure of hospitalization. It is its contention contributors to such a scheme should be free to engage the doctors of their choice.

State medicine has been debated in the House in other years and the preponderance of opinion has been adverse.

Cesar Boulanger (Liberal, Bellechasse) has next on the order paper a resolution suggesting that "in order to conform with the constitution, to respect the provinces' desire for autonomy and to favor the betterment of Dominion finances, the Federal Government should cease making financial contributions toward the execution of projects which are entirely within the jurisdiction of said provinces."

Speculation over the budget has started in this capital despite the fact Finance Minister Dunning is not expected to produce it before May. Observers have expressed belief it will contain no tax changes but may provide for lowering of tariffs on some items including those on which concessions may be granted in a new trade agreement with the United States.

It may be influenced to some extent by the trade agreement now being negotiated between the United Kingdom and the United States.

out having achieved her avowed objectives—"to uproot Communism from China, chastise the anti-Japanese element in the Chinese Government and win China's friendship."

JAPS SWEEP DOWN SHANSI RAILWAY

Shanghai, March 7.—(P)—Japanese troops swept down the Shansi Railway today to the extreme southwest corner of Shansi province and, from six strategic "jumping off" points along the north bank of the Yellow river, struggled to cross into the heart of Central China.

The victorious drive southward through Shansi was climaxed by the capture of Chaotun, railway terminus near the "Big Bend" of the Yellow River. Chaotun is just across the mighty river from Tungkwang, on the important east-west Lungai railway.

Chinese forces defending the south bank of the river have resisted thus far, but military observers believe the Japanese are ready for a decisive effort.

For days they have been "softening" Chinese resistance with incessant shell fire and airplane bombardment. These aviation and artillery attacks became severe today, apparently to forestall any Chinese counter-offensive and to clear the way for a crossing.

their slogan of "getting their man." Born at Myrtle, Ont., in 1878, Sir James in recent years made his home at Aylmer, about ten miles up the Ottawa River from the Capital. A constable in the old R. N. W.M.P., he had a brilliant military career, serving in the South African campaign and in the Great War, at the close of which he was appointed Chief of the General Staff Overseas for Canadian forces.

Sir James retired in 1925 after eight years staff service at Ottawa. But retirement did not suit the tall, weather-beaten soldier. Three years later, when offered the Commissionership, he accepted without hesitation the task of re-organizing and developing to high modern efficiency the famed mounted force. He was knighted in 1925.

ALL ON BOARD KILLED WHEN AIR FRANCE LINER CRASHED

New Delhi, India, March 7.—(P)—A west bound Air France liner crashed today near Dattia, Central India.

First reports said all aboard were killed.

The aircraft was in the regular service between Hanoi, French Indo-China, and Paris. It left Calcutta last night.

The plane carried three passengers, all French, and a crew of three when it left Calcutta. It was understood to be a new airliner capable of carrying twenty-four persons.

The crash occurred shortly after the plane had left Allahabad for Jodhpur. The plane was reported to have fallen in flame.

Raid Made During A Naval Battle—Prize Rebel Cruiser Sunk

incendiary bombs on the cruiser. Had Been Conflicting Reports.

There had been conflicting reports from Spanish sources which left doubt whether it was the Baleares or her sister ship, the Canarias.

"Our destroyers were alongside and the officers could not have made a mistake," the Admiralty official said.

(The Boreas and Kempenfelz rescued several hundred survivors from the cruiser.)

The attempted bombing of the Baleares and the Brilliant was the first serious incident involving British vessels off Spain since February 4th, when a coal-carrying freighter, the Akira, was sunk in an insurgent aerial attack.

The destruction of the Akira without loss of life came four days after the torpedoing of another British coaster, the Enymin, with the loss of eleven lives. Both ships had cargoes for Government ports.

TO AFFECT OUTCOME OF LONG FIGHTING

Madrid, March 7.—(P)—Destruction of a 10,000-ton insurgent cruiser in a naval clash off Cartagena left a gaping hole today in the insurgent fleet blockade of Spanish Government ports.

Reports to the London Admiralty from the British destroyers Kempenfelz and Boreas said they rescued more than four hundred men from the stricken ship before it sank in flames, ripped by a torpedo and pounded by aerial bombs.

These reports definitely identified the cruiser as the Baleares, whose normal complement was 765 men. The fate of the others of the crew was not determined.

Spanish Government authorities here had not determined whether it was the Baleares or her sister-ship, the Canarias, which was destroyed. Both were new—the Canarias was completed in 1935, the Baleares in 1937—and they were almost identical in appearance. Both participated in the clash yesterday.

But regardless of which cruiser it was, the loss was regarded as a jubilant Spanish Government authorities as certain to decrease the insurgents' chance of effectively enforcing their blockade of the Spanish Mediterranean coast. The Government fleet returned unharmed to its Cartagena base.

The engagement, which may have an important effect on the outcome of the Spanish civil war, resulted from a chance encounter of Government and insurgent fleets Sunday about seventy miles off the port of Cartagena.

The cruiser was struck amidships by a torpedo fired from the Government destroyer Lepanto as the insurgent warships manoeuvred in battle line. There was a tremendous explosion, followed by an outbreak of flames, and the vessel began to list heavily.

Government aircraft increased the damage by strafing the cruiser with machine gun fire and peppered it with incendiary bombs.

Each cruiser's crew strength is 765 men. Loss of life on the torpedoed cruiser was believed severe, despite the rescue efforts of the British destroyers, which carried survivors to other insurgent vessels.

One British sailor, Able Seaman George Long, was killed and eight others wounded slightly when a Government plane dropped a bomb near the destroyer Boreas while it engaged in rescue work.

SPEDY AGREEMENT SOUGHT ON ISLANDS

London, March 7.—(P)—Informed sources said today the British Government intended to examine the United States' formal claim to Canton and Endorbury islands in the Central Pacific with a view to speedy conclusion of some friendly agreement.

These sources predicted such an agreement would not be difficult, adding ownership of the islands for some time had been a subject of diplomatic consultations between Great Britain, those of the Dominions concerned, and the United States.

President Roosevelt challenged Great Britain's claim to the islands by issuing an order placing them under the jurisdiction of the United States Interior Department. The islands are on the air route between the United States and Australia.

AIRPLANE MERCURY TO VISIT CANADA

London, March 7.—Unofficial announcement was made today that Imperial Airways' plane "Mercury," upper unit of the Mayo composite craft, will visit Canada and possibly the United States this summer, participating with the Empire flying boats in this year's experiments in postal service across the Atlantic.

Taking off in mid-air from the lower unit of the pick-back arrangement, the Mercury will fly from Foynes, Ireland, to Botwood, Nfld., Montreal, and possibly New York. The mid-air takeoff is to facilitate the carrying of a heavy load, the ship being carried off the ground by a powerful lower unit. The return journey will be made with less weight to enable the Mercury to take off under her own power.

EX-NEW YORK BELLE DIED IN OBSCURITY

Pittsburgh, March 7.—(P)—A belle of the gay nineties and once toasted as "the most photographed girl in New York," Evelyn Granville died here penniless and in obscurity.

The identity of the lame, sixty-six-year-old former actress, known to fellow workers in a Works Progress Administration sewing room as Mrs. Evelyn G. Scott, was disclosed today by a newspaper clipping in her room at a boarding house told of the one-time glamour girl who was a friend of Lillian Russell, "Diamond Jim" Brady and "Teddy" Roosevelt.

URGES COMPULSORY EDUCATION LAW

Montreal, March 7.—The Montreal Youth Council, in a brief submitted to the committee surveying Protestant education in Quebec, recommends adoption by the province of a compulsory education law. The brief noted the proportion of illiterates in Quebec was larger than elsewhere in Canada.

Children should attend school until the age of sixteen, the Council believes, and to make compulsory education operative, such obstacles as school fees, cost of text books and lack of clothing should be considered.

taining permission from Mr. Hearst's agents, Parish-Watson and Company art dealers, discloses most of the articles are carefully crated, placed in seemingly endless rows and piles on the four floors of the structure.

Semi-glass windows were standing around unpacked, and about two hundred paintings were to be seen on sliding racks in a vault which has a combination lock on the door and is protected by an electric signal system.

Also open to view are a number of suits of armor, German, Italian, French and Saxony.

Enclosed in the thousands of boxes are the walls and furnishings of more than fifty rooms taken from the castles of British nobility.

Perhaps the most legendary object in the warehouse is a complete Cistercian monastery, founded in the early twelfth century near the village of Sacramentia by Alfonso VII, King of Castile.

Revolutionary Heroine Tells Plans For Assassinating Soviet Leaders

Ingrat, but that Stukoff told her later he acted on Bucharin's instruction. This was confirmed to her, she said, by Bucharin, who ordered the minutes of the meeting destroyed in May, 1918.

At this point Bucharin interjected:

"Under no circumstances did we speak of killing them."

Taking charge of his own defence, Bucharin obtained permission to question Madame Yakovleva after a recess. The woman, her heavy face deeply lined, entered and left the court room through a spectator's door at the rear, with uniformed guards before and behind her. She presumably is held for later trial.

Bucharin stoutly defended himself against accusations of seeking the assassinations of Lenin and Stalin and of spying. But the hopelessness of his defence—the Moscow press indicates he and his twenty defendants are doomed to death—was indicated by his readiness to accept responsibility for espionage activities of his subordinates—for Germany, Britain, Japan, Poland—even though he knew nothing about them.

He declared Leon Trotsky, now in Mexico, was "the real instigator and leader" of plots against the Soviet regime.

"As one of the leaders," he added, "I am responsible for everything, but as far as concrete things are concerned I believe it is necessary to say the Trotskyists were the leading forces in criminal activity."

Referring to Trotsky's alleged negotiations with Germany, in which he was said to have promised the Ukraine to Germany, Bucharin said he had derived the impression "Trotsky carried on these negotiations not as a member of a plot but as boss of a Soviet country with which he could do as he liked."

PLAN JOURNEY INTO AFRICA'S INTERIOR

New York, March 7.—Plans were completed here today for an expedition into the interior of Africa, to be led by Harry M. Snyder, Montreal oil man.

The expedition will form at Mombasa, where Mr. Snyder will be joined by Colonel A. J. McNab, president of the Camp Fire Club of America, and George G. Goodwin, assistant curator of mammals for the American Museum of Natural History.

The first leg of the journey will be completed by rail to Maktou, from where the expedition will head into the jungle in a motorized transport, following a trail beaten out by an advance hunting party. The trek will lead through the Teita district of Kenya Colony, British East Africa. Still and motion pictures will record the wild life of the area.

Mr. Snyder, fifty-five and a native of McArthur, Ohio, is the holder of many rifle championships and is well known as a big game hunter.

PAWN OF HATE

Martha Harris, 27-year-old daughter of David Harris, 69, told humane society investigators that because the rickety-crippled, under-nourished 5-year-old girl pictured above was her unforgiven "second sin," her father forced her to keep the child tied to a chair for five years in the lightless, unventilated storage room of their farm house near Uniontown, Pa. The child was rescued and father and daughter arrested, charged with negligence of a minor.

He was referring to the Social Credit Act, which although not mentioned in formal reference to the Court, was considered and declared unconstitutional. Using the same method, the Court could declare many pieces of legislation unconstitutional, he declared. A cure for economic conditions was required, said the Premier.

The financial system was not functioning as it should. It was a debt-creating system and there was only enough currency to pay twenty cents on each dollar of debt, the Premier said.

WINTER ROAD BLANLETED MUNICIPALITIES

Fine Results Attained On Highway To Border

Highway from Sherbrooke to International Boundary in Excellent Condition Although More than Seventy Inches of Snow Has Blanketed this District Since Beginning of Winter—Motor Traffic Has Been Heavy All Along Route.

Although more than seventy inches of snow has blanketed this district since the beginning of the winter season, the highway from Sherbrooke to the International boundary at Derby Line has been open to motor traffic continually and is in excellent condition today. Cleared to an approximate width of twenty-five feet and remarkably free from ruts, the road is a tribute to the Southern Counties Winter Roads Association and its president, Henry Downs, Mayor of Lennoxville. Georges Turcotte, of Sherbrooke, employed by the Association on an hourly basis, has been responsible for the actual task of keeping the highway open, while erection of snow fences and graveling icy spots has been in charge of J. E. Bouffard, a Stanstead councillor.

Fifty dollars a mile towards the cost of clearing the thirty-four mile route was given by the Provincial Government, the remainder of the money coming from various municipalities and interested individuals. One thousand dollars was voted by the City of Sherbrooke. Unless this month proves exceptionally stormy, the Association expects to finish the season with a balance to the good. Approximately one mile of snow fencing was purchased by the Association and placed at strategic points along the highway, and it is believed by Mr. Downs that this fence has done a great deal towards keeping down the cost of plowing the road. Mr. Downs told newspapermen who accompanied him to the border on Saturday afternoon that snow fences play an important part in keeping roads open during the winter.

Heavy traffic all along the route has been reported this winter, the Association head stated, and the municipalities affected have benefited accordingly.

Four snowplows are utilized in keeping the highway open to motorists, two of the one-way type and two V-plows. Plowing is started soon after the beginning of a snow storm and continued until the storm is over. In addition, if high winds threaten to block the road with drifts, the equipment goes into action.

DEPLORE LACK OF EDUCATION FOR FARM BOYS

Roman Catholic Archbishops and Bishops Issue Pastoral Letter Urging Greater School Attendance in Rural Districts.

In a pastoral letter dealing with the problems of farm life released on Saturday, the archbishops and bishops of fifteen Roman Catholic dioceses in Eastern Canada describe as lamentable the neglect of educational facilities in the agricultural districts of the dioceses. In addition to urging parents not to allow their children to leave school for work at the age of twelve or thirteen as happens in many cases, the letter deprecates the tendency to leave the farms for the city because of hardships associated in the minds of many people with farm life and the attractions offered in the present day by the thickly populated centres. The diocesan leaders advocate leaving the children at school until they have reached sixth grade even in rural schools.

When dealing with the educational question the letter regrets that so many school commissioners hesitate to seek the services of religious lay male teachers in municipalities where the number of boys demands they be not committed to the care of female teachers.

Stimulation of interest in farm life by parents is suggested by the Bishops who analyze the conditions of life at length in farm districts. Less than thirty-three per cent. of the population in the so-called agricultural province of Quebec is of the farming class, according to the letter. An attraction in the city is the "remuneration" that accompanies unemployment, remark the ecclesiastics, adding that with the laws governing hours of labor and wages in manufacturing everything tends to "uproot the farmer from the soil."

In the matter of scientific advance in agricultural methods one result has been that the farmer has abandoned so-called domestic agriculture the farmer has not bettered his condition in the face of well-organized competitors. The church is opposed to economic liberalism which permits exorbitant profits by any and all means and does not sanction equalitarianism, state socialism or collectivism which has reached its climax in Russian bolshevism, declares the pastoral letter.

CHURCHILL'S NEW BOOK WAS RECOMMENDED

"Modern Contemporaries," by Winston Churchill, Was Termed Highly Entertaining by Wesley Bradley in Library Broadcast.

Termed a "highly entertaining picture of a great and stirring epoch in our history seen through the lives of the leading public figures of that day," Winston Churchill's "Modern Contemporaries" was highly recommended to the radio audience last night by Wesley Bradley, B.A., B.C.L., in an interesting address given under the auspices of the Sherbrooke Public Library. The broadcast was the twenty-third in the series.

"The task of the biographer is not an easy one," Mr. Bradley pointed out, "and because there are comparatively few biographies, it is a wise precaution in studying a particular individual to examine him through the eyes of more than one of his biographers." In line with this, he suggested the reading of "Modern Contemporaries."

Referring to Mr. Churchill, the speaker said he would be famous for his contributions to the world of literature and letters had he never glimpsed the floor of the House of Commons or the chamber of the Privy Council. His three volumes of a monumental life of his great ancestor, the first Duke of Marlborough, give Mr. Churchill some claim to be a biographer. Mr. Bradley maintained, "and in his latest book he has sketched in his inimitable and delightfully clear style portraits of a score or more of soldiers, statesmen and kings."

Speaking of the first sketch in the book, that of the Earl of Rosebery, Liberal leader and sometime Prime Minister in the nineties of whom Mr. Churchill has written, "Lord Rosebery outlined his future by ten years and his past by more than twenty," Mr. Bradley said "he was too big a man ever to achieve a goal of life and affairs in an altogether unusual degree." Of the Conservative leader, Mr. Churchill wrote, "Arthur Balfour did not mingle in the hurly-burly. He saw a great deal of life from afar."

Included in "Modern Contemporaries" are illuminating portraits of the former Kaiser, George Bernard Shaw, Lawrence of Arabia, Alfonso XIII of Spain, Georges Clemenceau, Leon Trotsky, Adolf Hitler and others. Dealing with Trotsky, Bradley said, "The author has written the biographical material and gave full play to his considerable powers of ironic thrust. Mr. Bradley declared.

Mr. Churchill concludes his volume with a warm and sympathetic tribute to the late King George V. As a Minister of the Crown who came into close and frequent contact with the King, what the author has written is especially interesting, Mr. Bradley stated.

Members of the Sherbrooke School Commission will be heard at the first session and arrangements will be made to hear other persons who wish to submit recommendations about Protestant education. Invitations to visit a number of the school boards of the counties of Sherbrooke, Compton, Shefford, Brome and Stanstead, and representatives of these may be heard tomorrow.

On Wednesday the Committee will go to Lennoxville to hear members of Bishop's University staff, and others. The Committee will return to Montreal on Thursday. Consideration of briefs already submitted goes on steadily in Montreal, W. A. F. Hepburn, chairman, and the members of the Committee have already visited a number of schools, rural and urban, in order to watch the system work and get first-hand information upon which

DR. WALTERS PRESENTS CUP FOR FANCY SKATING

Through the kind action of Dr. A. R. Walters, of Sherbrooke, a further interest has been added to the outstanding programme to be presented at the Fancy Skating Carnival on Saturday night at the Arena. To stimulate interest in fancy skating in Sherbrooke, Dr. Walters has generously donated a trophy for walking to be competed for annually among the members of the Sherbrooke Winter Club, and this cup will be awarded on Saturday night to the couple making the best showing during the waltz number, with which the members of the Sherbrooke Winter Club open the entertainment.

The judges will be chosen from the members of the Montreal Winter Club, who are kindly coming to Sherbrooke to provide eighteen numbers on this delightful programme.

"Y" BEAVERS ENJOYED GAMES
A series of competitions in ping pong, crokinole, billiards and checkers provided a very interesting Saturday afternoon programme for the members of the "Y" Beavers Club. After the regular half hour Bible Study period, led by their mentor, W. H. Walter, the boys adjourned to the game room to participate in the series of competitions arranged for them.

Despite the fact that a number of the boys had not had a great deal of practice in some of the contests, most of the competitions were keenly contested. Five points were awarded for each win and three points to the loser. When all points were tallied, Eddie Allison, Robin Stewart, Douglas Ombler, John Colter and Albert Allison were tied with eighteen points each.

The afternoon was a really enjoyable one for the boys and they look forward with keen anticipation to their meeting next Saturday.

LONG LIFE OF SERVICE ENDS AT WATERVILLE

Mrs. Francis G. Gale, Actively Connected Throughout Her Lifetime with Church Work and Missionary Activities, Died Yesterday.

Waterville, March 7.—Prominently identified throughout her lifetime with church work and missionary activities, Mrs. Francis G. Gale passed away at her home here yesterday. She was in her seventy-seventh year.

Mrs. Gale, a member of a widely known family, was born Olivia Jean Laberge at Buteau on June 28, 1861, the daughter of Benjamin Rufus Laberge and Mary Jane Wakefield. She attended school at Coaticook and later taught school at Pittsburg, N.H., Bury and Waterville.

On December 31, 1885, she was married at Buteau to Francis Gilbert Gale, who died on November 18, 1927. Five children were born of this union, of whom the sole survivor is Royce L. Gale, of Waterville.

For many years Mrs. Gale was president of the Ladies' Aid of the Waterville United Church, holding this office for the last time during 1935. She also took a great interest in the civic affairs of the community. The day school and all organizations that made for public welfare were objects of her interest and service.

To mourn her loss Mrs. Gale leaves her son, R. L. Gale, her daughter-in-law, Mrs. R. L. Gale, three grandsons, Francis G., Royce L. Jr., and Philip C. Gale, of Waterville, and a brother, Avery W. Laberge, of Buteau.

The M.P., being anxious to see the procession, and thinking he was well known to the people locally, "lapped a burly native on the shoulder, demanding, 'Make way, here!' " "Garn, who are yer pushin'?" was the reply.

"Do you know who I am?" inquired the indignant M.P. "I am a representative of the people."

"Huh," grunted the native, standing unmoved, "but we're the bloomin' people themselves."

PERSONALS AND REPORTS FROM LENNOXVILLE

Interesting Sermons by Rev. F. R. Matthews—Successful Rummage Sale—Fire Brigade Called Out Twice.

The congregation at the Lennoxville United Church on Sunday morning listened with interest to a splendid sermon by their pastor, Rev. F. R. Matthews, whose subject was "Christ's Conversation at the Well." The beautiful anthem, "Father of Mercies" (Handel), was sung by the choir, under the direction of James P. Keough, with Miss Patricia Watson at the organ. During the service the Misses Hazel Crosby and Fern Coates were heard in a duet, "When the Mists Are Rolled Away."

"The Foolishness of Preaching." was the subject chosen by Rev. Matthews in the evening. He based his sermon on a text from the first Epistle of St. Paul to the Corinthians. "The Radiant Morn Has Passed Away," was sung as an anthem by the choir.

TWO CHIMNEY FIRES

The Lennoxville fire brigade was called into action for two chimney fires yesterday morning. Both blazes were extinguished before any serious damage was done. One occurred at the Hunting and Loach Restaurant and the other at the Perault block, both on Main street.

General Notes

The splendid sum of twenty-one dollars was realized from the successful rummage sale held on Saturday afternoon by the Parish Guild of St. George's Church, under the capable convensership of Mrs. M. H. Pegg, assisted by Mrs. James Arnold and the other members.

Mrs. Roy S. Clarke was hostess to members of the Ladies' Bridge Club at her home on Prospect street, when cards were played at three tables, the prizes being won by Mrs. Stewart Messenger and Mrs. R. MacCombe. At the conclusion of the card games the guests assembled in the dining room, where a dainty lunch was served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. Norreys Hunting.

The tables were most artistically centered with a bright bouquet of yellow daffodils in a cut glass bowl and tall yellow tapers in gleaming copper holders.

Curlers who travelled to Montreal from Lennoxville over the week-end, to compete in the Elgin Trophy competition included Messrs. Rupert Atto, Roy S. Clarke, W. R. Baker and Lee M. Watson.

Miss Rosamond Staples journeyed to Quebec City over the week-end to attend the Dominion badminton finals. While in the Ancient Capital Miss Staples was the guest of her uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Martin.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley R. McCurdy and little Peggy, of St. Catharines, Ont., Mrs. William Mitchell and two sons, Kenton and Eric, of London, Ont., and Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Tirrill, of Canaan, Vt., have returned to their respective homes after being called here by the death and funeral of their father, Mr. George Glanville McCurdy, Mr. McCurdy and family and Mrs. Mitchell and sons made the journey by motor.

Miss Jean Campbell, of Lennoxville, who is a teacher of music at the Conservatory of Music, Stanstead College, was heard on the radio station CHLT on Sunday afternoon. The solo, "O Divine Redeemer," was very suitable to Miss Campbell's beautiful soprano voice.

The beautiful tenor voice of Miss Thelma Crawford was heard over the air from the morning service of Trinity United Church, Sherbrooke, on Sunday, through the local station. Miss Crawford's solo was "Lovely, 'In the Secret of His Presence."

$2,000 DAMAGE WAS CAUSED IN GARAGE BLAZE

Flames Saturday Guttled the Wooden Building Used as Repair Shop by Deveault's Garage.

Damage estimated at close to $2,000 was caused early Saturday afternoon by flames that gutted the wooden building used as a repair shop by Deveault's Garage, 168 King street west.

The fire started a few minutes before noon from some undetermined cause. Mr. Deveault discovered the outbreak and immediately telephoned in the alarm.

Firemen battled the blaze for over two hours and prevented it from reaching the gasoline tanks and spreading to near-by buildings. The fire ruined an automobile that was inside the garage to undergo repairs.

The building was the property of Louis Blais and the loss is partly covered by insurance.

"Lend me twenty-five dollars, old chap."

Economic Democracy Is Essential For Canada

Ideas that Are Basis of European Fascism and Principles that Destroy Political, Personal and Religious Liberties Are Rampant in Canada, People's Forum Told by President of Co-operative Commonwealth Youth Movement.

Canada, standing at the crossroads, must move forward and expand its political democracy into economic democracy or lose its political liberty and descend into the box of Fascism, Thomas Clement Douglas, M.P., for Weyburn, Sask., and president of the Co-operative Commonwealth Youth Movement, stated before the People's Forum yesterday afternoon.

"The battle of the last century has been a battle to obtain political democracy which was fought for us by our forefathers at a great price," Mr. Douglas said. "But while we have been busily engaged since the 18th century up to the present day winning political democracy, we have been slowly but surely losing our economic democracy and freedom, with the result that for the last seventy-five years great masses of the people have had less and less control over the means of production and their means of livelihood."

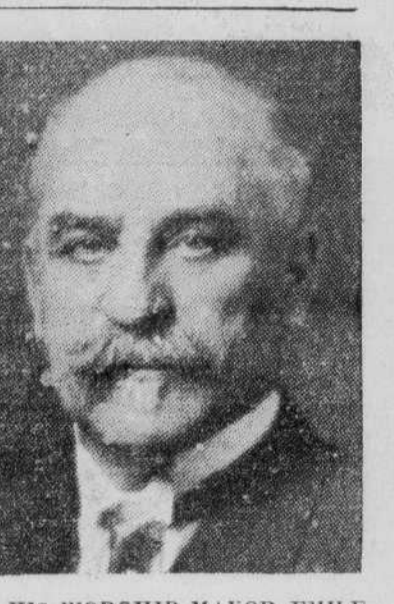

As the realization of this fact grew, the speaker pointed out, movements such as trade unionism and co-operatives arose. "These represent an attempt on the part of our people to obtain economic democracy and to get a voice in the means whereby they live."

Fascism, Mr. Douglas explained, is a social mechanism by which the privileged classes try to deprive the masses of the people of their political democracy and thus of the means of achieving economic liberty. "Fascism," he continued, "is based on four negative principles: the negation of parliamentary democracy, of personal freedom, of freedom of speech and thought, and finally of freedom of religion. It is the mechanism that denies the principles on which our democracy is based, and that is used to prevent a people from extending their cherished liberties and equality in politics into the field of economics."

"One of the greatest dangers for most of us," the speaker went on, "is that the liberties and privileges we enjoy today were paid for by others; when we shall have to pay for them ourselves, we will appreciate them more. It was due to complacency and disinterest such as we manifest in government that the Nazi dictatorship was forced on the German people. The price of democracy is eternal vigilance."

The speaker warned that "the same ideas that are the basis of European Fascism, the same principles that destroy political, personal and religious freedom are rampant in Canada."

"In my belief," he remarked, "Canada is at the same point in her history as Germany was in 1931 before the Nazi dictach. Either, we must push on to economic democracy or stand by, as did the Italian and German peoples, and watch our political democracy being slowly whittled away.

"What can we do?" the speaker asked. "Our people must stand shoulder to shoulder to defend their fundamental liberties despite differences of opinion in other spheres. All of us, all true democrats, who believe in genuine freedom, must speak with one voice against curtailment of our liberties and against injustices inflicted on our people. We must defend the privileges we already have and be prepared to go forward into some type of economic democracy. Only on those conditions can our Canadian democracy survive. There are men," he declared, "in various parts of the world, who are laying down their lives in defence of the principles on which our democracy is founded. We should not and must not be found wanting in the desire to perpetuate the principles these men and our forefathers died for. For only through their survival can we hope to be able to march forward to build a new and better world."

Professor Chadwick Burt, Professor of Economics at Bishop's College, acted as chairman and thanked the speaker, Mr. W. Walter, on behalf of the executive committee of the People's Forum, thanked those present for their support in the Forum's activity and announced that this was the final meeting for the present season.

Let me be weighed in an even balance, that God may know my integrity.—Job 31:6.

Conservatives Need Youthful Leader.

Now that the Right Hon. R. B. Bennett has announced his irrevocable decision to relinquish the leadership of the Conservative party, the selection of a new leader is uppermost in the minds of all loyal Conservatives who go about the task with renewed hope that brighter and more fruitful days face the party.

Mr. Bennett's decision to give up politics and public life was announced at the National Conservative conference held in Ottawa on Friday and Saturday. It did not come as a surprise, as it has been known for some time that Mr. Bennett's health has been none too good and he has been advised by his physicians to lead a more quiet life.

There was a note of renewed enthusiasm among the delegates to the conference, and there is every indication that new life and vitality is to be put into the old Conservative party which has been slipping, it would almost seem, into oblivion.

A stronger and more influential Conservative group in Canada is of great importance at this particular time. There has been an altogether too strong a trend throughout the nation to off-shots of the two old parties. The Liberals have retained their prestige, but the Conservatives have lost much of their old influence and weight.

But now the turning point seems to have been reached. Mr. Bennett has conscientiously served the party. He is a patriot whose loyalty has never been questioned. He has worked hard for his party. He has impaired his health in his determination to serve his people, but he has not always taken the course which resulted in complete accord among his followers.

Despite hard times and troubled days, Mr. Bennett and the party have stuck together and have tried to weather the storm. But now the time has come when the condition of his health forces him to relinquish the task of leadership.

Who will be selected as his successor is still to be decided, but there is vital need for a young man—a man of vision and action who will be able to put the party on a sound platform and will be able to rally the followers to the colors again.

It may be taken for granted that careful consideration will be given to the selection of a leader and that a young, energetic and able man will be selected for the task.

Major-General Sir James MacBrien.

The death of Major-General Sir James Howden MacBrien, who came out of retirement in 1931 to head the Royal Canadian Mounted Police, will be keenly felt throughout Canada.

The life of Sir James MacBrien was crowded to the utmost with service to his country. A veteran of the old North West Mounted Police, Sir James had had a brilliant military career before taking over command of the red-coated police force, re-organizing it and bringing it to its present state of efficiency.

In twenty years Sir James MacBrien rose from the ranks to the post of chief of the general staff of Canada's defence forces. He attained the ultimate of a military career in Canada and in due course retired on a comfortable pension. But he was a civilian only three years before he assumed the task of re-organizing and developing to high modern efficiency one of the world's most famous law-enforcement bodies, the Royal Canadian Mounted Police.

The services which Sir James rendered to Canada have won him undying gratitude and his name will live in the history of the country he served and in the hearts of his fellow-countrymen who honored him in life and cherish the memory of his life—a life which he gave willingly to the service of his King and country. Such a life cannot be given in vain.

No Justified Cause For Delay.

Slight, weasel-eyed John Seadlund has pleaded guilty to the kidnapping and murder of Charles S. Ross, of Chicago. He told his attorneys he wanted no aid, disliked the idea of a long trial, preferred to die rather than to serve a long sentence.

For once, it seems, the defendant, the prosecutor and the public eye to eye about justice. Seadlund is at least consistent. In his own role of executioner, the young outlaw killed his own partner in the kidnapping so that he would not have to divide the spoils. Then he killed his victim apparently because that was the simplest way to dispose of him and to prevent future identification.

Seadlund was captured and confessed. Now he wants to "get it over with." The facts of the crime are evident. There is a confession. Why delay further? There is no logical reason for delay or misdirected mercy.

Wanted—A Job!

Grenville Kleiser.

A college graduate recently complained that he had tried in vain to secure employment. After weeks of futile effort he said: "I've tried to analyze myself, but I can't find much that's wrong." We would commend to his serious attention the following incident:

This advertisement, inserted for three successive days in a large newspaper, did not bring a single reply:

WANTED—Situation by a practical printer, who is competent to take charge of any department in a printing and publishing house. Would accept a professorship in any college. Has no objection to teach ornamental penmanship, geometry, trigonometry, and other sciences. Has had some experience as a lay preacher. Versatile athlete, actor and trombone player. Would have no objection to form a small class of young ladies and gentlemen to instruct them in elocution and radio broadcasting. To a dentist, chiropodist or lawyer he would be invaluable, or he would cheerfully accept a position as bass or tenor in a choir. Willing to travel. Driver's license.

One day the advertiser added these lines to his advertisement: P.S. Will saw and split wood at the usual rates.

He secured a position at once. The moral is obvious: If you can't get the work you want to do, do the work that you can get to do.

When you apply for a position be sure that you have the qualifications to fill it. Think what you would desire in an employee if you were the employer. Among other things you would expect him to have intelligence, efficiency, promptitude, loyalty, and trustworthiness.

It is surprising how many young men seeking positions have not first taken the time and pains to make themselves really efficient. An applicant who applies for a position as stenographer is presumed to have a fair degree of speed in writing shorthand and in typewriting. But in many instances an applicant has been known to offer the excuse that his typewriting was fairly good but he was out of practice in his shorthand.

A wide-awake man, while seeking a position, will in the meantime do everything possible to fit himself for the prospective job. To be half-fitted for it is to be unfitted. Employers do not usually engage men of this type.

A big business man said to his employees: "Give me more than I expect and I will give you more than you expect. I can afford to increase your pay if you increase my profits."

Ask yourself pertinent questions: "Am I making daily progress in self-development?" "Are there still better ways in which to use my abilities?" "Do I read and study to improve my mind as I should?" "Am I making good use of my spare time?" "Have I a definite purpose in life?"

Thirty Years Ago Today

From the Files of the Sherbrooke Record. March 7th, 1908.

Mr. B. E. Reed was elected Mayor of the Municipality of Ulverton.

Mr. H. F. Pierce, of Stanstead, has sold "Frank Bogash," the fastest racing stallion in Canada, to Mr. W. C. Kidd, of Listowel, Ont.

The following officers were elected by the Dunham Village Council: E. A. Buchanan and E. F. Baker, road officers; Charles Stephen, Charles E. Baker and James L. Gilbert, valuers; Michael Curley, rural inspector, and A. E. Selby, auditor.

The death occurred at Ulverton of John Smith, who passed away at the home of his son, at the age of eighty-three years.

Mrs. Andrew Steele, of Sherbrooke, is the guest of her sister, Mrs. Carnock, East Angus.

Mrs. M. J. Purvis, of Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Smith, of Farnham, and Messrs. Robert and John Kerr, of New York, are in Sherbrooke, summoned by the death of their father, Robert Kerr.

Thomas Boun, of Lennoxville, was called to Court-cook owing to the death of his sister, Mrs. Cook.

Mrs. E. A. Woodgate has returned to Sherbrooke from Stanstead, where she stayed for three weeks with her sister, Mrs. P. Caron.

George B. Cohoon, who spent the winter months in Alberta, has returned to his home in Capetown, Ontario. A Morris chair was presented to Mark Gill, of Abbotford, by his friends on the occasion of his birthday.

Miss M. and Mr. A. E. Stone entertained at a very enjoyable euchre party at their home at West Shefford, when the prize winners were Mrs. Henry Booth and Mr. C. E. Hayes.

Messrs. John Whyte and John Parker, of Leeds Village, have gone to Quebec to attend the meeting of Presbytery.

Mrs. F. T. Ansell returned to Sherbrooke from Montreal, where she spent a few days.

THE GOVERNMENT AND HIGHWAYS

To the Editor, Sherbrooke Record. Dear Sir:—In reading your edition of March 1st, I find where our Hon. Francois J. Leduc, Provincial Minister of Roads, gave quite a lengthy talk on the subject of the importance of good roads where, as he states, "Those persons who claim that we desire to kill the economic life of villages by by-passing them are guilty of untruths." This may not be a desire to kill our small towns, but that is just what it is doing and it could be avoided in many cases.

I wonder how many of our small town merchants and business men Hon. Francois Leduc has talked to on this subject before stating this untruth. I feel quite sure that if our Government would consider our small towns and villages it would be of much more benefit to those concerned and also our Province. It would help to build up our small towns instead of putting them off the map and forcing the inhabitants to seek larger places of business. After all, if one is depending on the public for their aid in our towns, I'm sure that "by-passing," as our Minister of Roads puts it, is a great drawback. Just recently we had an example of this on Route No. 22, where ten tourist camps were removed from this highway pending rumors of this route being changed. I would suggest that anyone who builds a home in this age built it in such a way that it could be moved at any time our Government may decide to move our highways.

PLIGHT OF FARMER NOT SO BAD

To the Editor, Sherbrooke Record. Dear Sir:—In reading your farmer's lament in Friday Record it sure makes a young man think he will do anything but farm. Now to me, it doesn't seem so bad as printed. Of course, one doesn't become a millionaire on a farm, but he has a place to live and if he keeps his nose to the ground he can be sure of enough to eat and can have a little laid away for a rainy day.

I think the farmer boy and girl have a fair chance of a healthy and prosperous life than the ones who work in the sweatshops. They work from eight to ten hours a day for from seven to ten dollars a week. They have to pay from five to ten dollars a week for board and room. Take that and clothes and dentist's and doctor's bills and what have they left? The officials look the shops over and tell the bossesses they have got to pay more wages per week, but the "bosses" say "No can do," my help aren't all making what I'm paying them now. But if these officials would look at the rate they are paying for piece work they could easily see why the help are not making up to the standard wage limit. Soon, some of the help are laid off because they are unable to keep up to the amount of their pay with work accomplished. They begin to drift and are put out of their boarding places, and, as a last resort, decide to do anything in order to live. Which, to many, is a sorry thing to look back over.

Therefore, as hard as a farmer's sustenance is, he is far ahead of thousands of others whose the farmer thinks gets things easy. Yours truly, "DILL."

HOW LENNOXVILLE GOT ITS NAME

To the Editor, Sherbrooke Record. Dear Sir:—Together, I suppose, with several thousand of your subscribers, I have received most gratefully the Anniversary Issue of the Sherbrooke Daily Record. Particularly attractive to me was your admirable review of the history of the Eastern Townships.

In the section dealing with the early history of Lennoxville, the narrator expresses some uncertainty as to the origin of the name of the little town situated at the junction of the St. Francis and Massawippi rivers. But he makes a plausible conjecture in regard to it. He visualizes an early settler of the name of Lennox who so impressed his fellow citizens by his character and capacity that they called the little community after him. However, he does not seem entirely satisfied with this conjecture for two reasons.

Firstly because nothing has been heard of this estimable gentleman before or since; secondly because he does not appear to have left behind him any descendants.

Pending the collection of further information concerning Mr. Lennox, may I make an alternative suggestion?

In the early days of settlement in this region, the Duke of Richmond was Governor of Canada. His title was given to be the name of the flourishing community a few miles down the river below Sherbrooke. But this nobleman possessed a double title. In precise and formal language he was described as the Duke of Richmond and Lennox. His term of office was cut short by an untimely and tragic accident. He was poisoned by the bite of a fox, and died in great distress and agony.

In the absence of direct evidence to the contrary, is it not reasonable to suppose that this gentleman, whose career was cut short in such a distressful fashion, should have been commemorated in this district

PRESS COMMENTS

CANADA HAS RIGHT TO BE CONSULTED

(Detroit Free Press) A spokesman for backers of the Parsons bill, which would permit the diversion of water from Lake Michigan to fill the Lakes-to-Gulf Waterway down the Chicago River, asked the Rivers and Harbors Committee of the House: "Why should we consult Canada?"

The answer is simple enough. Canada and the United States are joint owners of the waters of the Great Lakes, which form part of the boundary of the two countries.

While it is true that Lake Michigan lies entirely within the borders of the United States, any diversion of water from Lake Michigan, which affected the level of the other four lakes, which lie partly in Canada, would be something in which our Canadian friends would have a direct interest and concerning which they have a right to be consulted.

The waters of the Great Lakes are indivisible. The International Joint Commission was organized a quarter of a century ago, as a board of trustees of these waters, with jurisdiction over all cases involving the use or obstruction or diversion of boundary waters between the United States and Canada, and "set our affections on things above, where Christ sitteth at the right hand of God."

Now, this effort on our part to grasp the Higher Values life affords, and to overcome the craving for the honor, is likened by St. Paul to a race, a wrestling-match, a battle, a march "through the night of doubt and sorrow." And, indeed very real and stern is the conflict, though it is not against external foes, but must be waged within our own souls. The Lenten season issues a call to all Christian believers to battle against sin.

The great apostle speaks as a warrior to warriors. He tells his followers to put on the "whole armor of God and fight against the wiles of the devil."

When a recruit enlists in the army or the navy he vows to be true to the King and the Flag. So we, in Baptism, enlisted as Christ's soldiers and servants, and vowed true allegiance to the Banner of the Cross.

It is hardly logical, then, for us to imagine the Service to be a mere suncure. Like all good soldiers we shall have to face "many a conflict, many a doubt," but we know that the fight is worth while, that its goal is peace. When our toll is over, the warfare, accomplished we shall "be safe under the shadow of the Almighty."

"To him that overcometh," says Christ, "will I grant to sit with Me on my throne." I am quite aware how difficult it is to adjust our thoughts to this sort of battle-field, to turn from "reeking tube and iron shard" to the spiritual warfare. And yet it must be done. All Europe shakes with the nervous tread of armed hosts. More and more perfect engines of destruction are being prepared in a hundred arsenals. For, the true conquerors, the greatest heroes in God's sight are not necessarily the mighty, the valiant, the influential of the earth, but those whose struggle is against sin by the love of Christ; like Moses, who "considered the reproach of Christ greater riches than the treasures of Egypt; or like Joseph, the Old Testament Galahad, "sans peur et sans reproche."

As we run our eyes down the long Honor Roll of martyrs and saints, who in all ages have fought the good fight, and finished their course, and kept the faith, we realize that the title "Soldier of Christ" is the proudest and loftiest attainable by man! And yet, let us bear in mind, a title means little unless it is in some small measure deserved. It is no easy matter to be worthy of a place in the Lord's host of fighters against sin, to keep honest and truthful and pure in the face of temptation, to turn manfully away from what is pleasant and easy to what seems disagreeable and hard, and "against the grain."

A great source of weakness in the Christian Fellowship in these days—apart from disunity—is what may be styled "minimum Christianity." So many professed followers of Jesus Christ are content to give and do not the most, but the very least, they "can get away with" for

SOME PEOPLE LACK UNDERSTANDING OF NEWSPAPER WORK

(Le Droit, Ottawa) Some people have a curious conception of newspapers. If they are invited to a banquet they think that the paper the next day must publish the names of the guests present. That shows complete lack of understanding of journalism. A newspaper is not a Hansard. The custom is that the names of guests of honor are published, whether they are placed at the head table or not.

You can explain in vain how it is, some people will refuse to understand. Those who have never studied or practised newspaper work know better than you how a newspaper should function. They have bought a ticket, and they imagine that they have paid for a newspaper to give their names publicity. Those people are of kind that think they are the light of the universe. There is nothing to do about them.

FAVORS PROTECTION OF LOBSTERS

(Le Progrès du Golfe, Rimouski) The Provincial Government has forbidden lobster fishing along the North Shore for the next five years. Few people seemed willing to take stock in the fact that our supply, which has been placed so plentifully along the northern shore of the St. Lawrence, was diminishing rapidly from year to year. And yet it is the truth. The case of the lobster supply gives us one of several examples. Statistics show that in 1937 there were 36,000 pounds of lobster taken along a shore-stretch of 200 miles. In 1900, figures show, 200,000 pounds more than in 1937 were taken along a strip of only 60 miles of shore.

The comparison shows strikingly that the supply is being cut at an alarming rate.

By giving one vigorous little community the name of Richmond, and the other the name of Lennoxville.

Yours faithfully, F. G. VIAL, Bishop's College, Lennoxville.

Victory Through Christ

I Cor. XV, 57: "Thanks be to God Who giveth us the Victory through Our Lord Jesus Christ."

The return of Lent comes almost as a surprise to most people. Life is so absorbing these days, and makes so many demands upon our thoughts and energies, that we find it difficult to break away from "the trivial routine," and "set our affections on things above, where Christ sitteth at the right hand of God."

Now, this effort on our part to grasp the Higher Values life affords, and to overcome the craving for the honor, is likened by St. Paul to a race, a wrestling-match, a battle, a march "through the night of doubt and sorrow." WORDS OF WISDOM

Let us give this new year, nothing to keep which will not prove an honor to God's name and a blessing to the world; nothing which we shall not be willing to learn of again when we stand before the great white throne.—J. R. Miller, D.D.

When one steps into the solitude, one passes from time to eternity, where there is no age, neither beginning nor ending, sorrow nor strife—simply existence, peaceful, restful, calm and free.—Dresser.

If we have need of a strong will in order to do good, it is more necessary still for us in order not to do evil; from which it often results that the most modest life is that where the force of will is most exercised.—Count Mole.

The secret of calm cheerfulness is kindness; no person can be consistently cheerful and calm who does not consistently think kind thoughts.—Arnold Bennett.

SO THEY SAY

Swing music, orchestra "jam sessions" and the Big Apple are responsible for increasing use of this weed (marijuana).—Joseph Bell, federal narcotics inspector, who believes that if children look up to policemen, juvenile delinquency will decrease.

Courting is natural. To regard it lightly is to encourage an unwholesome attitude toward forming of relations which should lead to establishment of good homes.—Miss M. M. Richardson, West Texas Teachers College.

Be heroes to the kids.—Albert B. Moore, of the Bureau of Criminal Investigation of New York State, who believes that if children look up to policemen, juvenile delinquency will decrease.

There are no obstructions more fatal to fortune than pride and resentment.—Goldsmith.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS Author of "You Can," "Up," "Just Among Friends"

The Will To Do

Alphonse Legros, who, for so many years, was the famous teacher of the Slade School, in London, used to tell his pupils that anyone who could draw might attempt anything in art.

But I would say that anyone who can will may attempt anything in life. First there must be the will to do. That is the one important beginning. Without it one merely stands still—stagnant and confused.

There must be the will to attempt something, no matter how unimportant it may seem at the moment. The will of the child is, by instinct, to stand up before trying to run. Mastery over small affairs is the preparation for the larger ones. Every great enterprise has been built by will. The motto of Chicago is known everywhere. It's the "I Will" city! Hardly more than a hundred years ago it was but an Indian trading station, situated upon a marsh. New a city of teeming millions.

Will and work can lead any man or woman to the heights! The testimony of achievement, all over the world, is evidence of this truth.

There are forever new orders springing up. Life is the story of change. And with change there is always opportunity. Incentive is stimulated by this will to do. And every time you attempt something new this will of yours is given new life, new hope, and a baptism of courage.

With more things to be done, more people are needed to do them. More people with wills to attempt them.

The holiest thing in this world is discontent! Discontent with only mediocrity, with merely "just a job," with just something with which to get by today.

No man can increase his physical stature by taking thought, but he can increase his mental and spiritual stature a thousand times by willing to do! Just ask the one who has proved it.

Cookshire Couple Celebrate Golden Wedding Anniversary

Cookshire, March 7.—The fiftieth wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Farnsworth, of this place, was the occasion of a very unusual and pleasant social event, when a reunion was held in the old home, the living room and dining room of which looked very attractive with the holiday decorations.

A family dinner was served at 1:30 o'clock on January 3rd, when covers were laid for twenty-one. The bride's table was arranged with a snowy white cloth which was a gift to her from the groom's mother in the year 1888, and had for its centerpiece a lovely three-tiered wedding cake decorated in gold and white. Yellow candles in silver candlesticks completed the decorations.

Mr. and Mrs. JOHN A. FARNSWORTH, of Cookshire, Que., who were guests of honor at a family dinner and reception on the occasion of their fiftieth wedding anniversary.

A very interesting feature of this occasion was the presence of Mrs. H. J. Bennett, from Lancaster, N.H., niece of the groom, who, as a very young child was also a guest at the marriage of fifty years ago. Mrs. Bennett is now an accomplished impersonator and composer of music, and under her leadership, one of her productions was sung during the dinner hour, after which toasts and speeches were made, Mr. Arthur L. Farnsworth acting as toastmaster.

Mrs. Farnsworth was wearing a becoming gown of navy blue crepe trimmed with lace, her only ornament being a necklace of gold.

Members of the family who were present included the Misses Mary E. Farnsworth, of Westmount; Emma A. Farnsworth and Clara W. Farnsworth, of Cookshire; and Messrs. Arthur L. Farnsworth, of Cornwall, Ont., and Orrin C. Farnsworth, of Pembroke, Ont.

Other relatives and friends were Mrs. H. J. Bennett, of Lancaster, N.H., Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Edwards, of East Angus; Mr. R. D. French, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Edwards, Mr. Joseph Edwards, Rev. R. W. and Mrs. Carr, Mrs. Ethel Gillander, the Misses Florence French and Hazel Edwards, Messrs. James R. French and Patrick J. Cassidy all of Cookshire.

It was much regretted that owing to the wintry weather, Mrs. Arthur L. Farnsworth and little daughter, Margaret, Mrs. Orrin C. Farnsworth and two children, Master Jack and Miss Mary-Jean, together with other relatives were unable to be present. During the evening, Mr. and Mrs.

Farnsworth were "at home" to their friends. Tea was served in the dining-room, Mrs. Walter Edwards, and Mrs. R. H. Edwards doing the honors at the tea table; while Mrs. Ethel Gillander, Mrs. H. H. Moe, the Misses Florence French, Grace Cromwell and Hazel Edwards were among those who assisted in serving.

A photograph of the dinner guests was taken during the evening, after which old-time songs and music were enjoyed.

Lovely gifts, including cheques, were received and much appreciated. The immediate members of the family presented their parents with a silver tea service and Kroehler chair.

A large number of cards and telegrams bearing messages of congratulations were also received, among them being a letter from the Hon. R. H. Pope in which he expressed a wish that the bride and groom of fifty years might live to celebrate their sixtieth anniversary.

On behalf of those present, Mr. A. W. Pratt presented Mr. and Mrs. Farnsworth with a beautiful floor lamp and purse of money. Mr.

Farnsworth, on behalf of Mrs. Farnsworth and himself, expressed his sincere thanks to all for their beautiful gifts and kind words.

Mr. John Avery Farnsworth is a son of the late Thomas Farnsworth and his wife, Mary Ann Sage French. Mrs. Farnsworth, (Margaret Ruth Edwards) is a daughter of the late John Edwards and his wife, Mary Mackay of St. Sylvester, later of Cookshire. They were married at the home of the bride's parents on Tuesday, January 3, 1888, Rev. W. W. Weese, pastor of the Methodist Church, Cookshire, officiating.

Mr. Farnsworth, who is one of the oldest residents of Cookshire is occupying the house in which he was born, which was built by John Farnsworth, father of General John Farnsworth, for whom the present owner was named and where he has always lived with the exception of twelve years spent in Eaton Corner directly after the death of his father.

Mr. and Mrs. Farnsworth are both enjoying good health, and their many friends join in wishing them continued health and happiness.

Miss Ella Mullin, manager, and Miss Marguerite Sinclair, captain, received the many guests who patronized the delightful bridge-tee given by the girls' basketball team in the Sherbrooke High School Auditorium on Saturday afternoon.

Bridge was played at thirty tables, the merchants of Sherbrooke generously donating the lovely prizes which were given at each table at the conclusion of the game.

Additional guests came in at the tea hour when Mrs. W. Wright Gibson, wife of the principal, and Miss Nellie Keillor, the team's coach, did the honors at the beautifully appointed table, which was covered with an exquisite lace cloth and charmingly arranged with mauve tulips and daffodils, a gift from Stevenson's, in a silver basket and mauve candles in silver candlesticks.

The following members of the team served, the Misses Mary Donahue, Marg. Sinclair, Ella Mullin, Clare Brown, Etta Mileman, Edith Burbank, Fernande LaBonte, Mary Earnshaw, Frances Martin and Audrey Cross, who were assisted by the Misses Ellen Seeley, Thelma Saunders, Peggy Wilcox and Ora Standish.

He was a member of the Russian section of the Peace Commission and on his return he lectured at the Harvard School of Business Administration.

During the early Roosevelt Administration, he was highly important member of the famous "Brain Trust." His specialty was foreign affairs, which took him abroad on several highly confidential missions.

During the first LaGuardia Administration he served as New York City Chamberlain. He told the Mayor on the job was dated and should be abolished. LaGuardia agreed with him, and Berle went to work eliminating his own job. He succeeded, and quit when the new charter eliminated the City Chamberlain.

Social and Personal

The many friends of Mrs. Walter Caunter, who is a patient in the Sherbrooke Hospital, where she underwent an operation, will be pleased to hear that she is progressing favorably.

Mr. George Cochrane, of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, Windsor Mills, is spending a few days in Saint John, N.B., where he is a guest of his aunt, Mrs. I. F. Archibald.

Mr. and Mrs. Wynn Robinson, of Westmount, were guests for the week-end of Mr. Justice and Mrs. C. Gordon Mackinnon at "Sherryroom," their country home in Bondville.

Mr. Justice and Mrs. Gordon Mackinnon, who have spent two weeks at "Sherryroom," their country residence at Bondville, are returning today to their home in Westmount.

Mr. T. C. Douglas, M.P. for Westburn, Sask., who was guest-speaker at the People's Forum yesterday, returned to Ottawa last night. During his stay here Mr. Douglas was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Milligan, Wolfe street.

An exceptionally jolly and large-ly attended sleigh drive was enjoyed by St. Peter's Crusaders on Saturday evening, when about eighty Sunday School children and their teachers spent a few hours driving in the moonlight and singing in chorus with the jingle of the sleigh bells. All arrangements for the successful party were carried out under the supervision of Mrs. P. M. Robins, assisted by all members of the Sunday School staff. Later the party returned to the parish hall, where a delicious hot supper was served.

On Saturday afternoon at the Sherbrooke Winter Club skating party, ten hosts and hostesses entertained the many skaters and their visitors at the tea hour. They were the Misses M. Siddall, Nancy Hume, Ruth McQuat, Margaret Hovey, Shirley Wolter, Margaret Sutherland and Marguerite Hopkins, with Edward Ames, Gordon Peabody and Billy Fuller. Doing the honors at the long tea table, which was efficiently done with lighted green candles in silver candlesticks placed in a symmetrical line, were Mrs. Wilbur Fuller and Mrs. John Hovey.

Miss Ella Mullin, manager, and Miss Marguerite Sinclair, captain, received the many guests who patronized the delightful bridge-tee given by the girls' basketball team in the Sherbrooke High School Auditorium on Saturday afternoon.

Among those from Sherbrooke who spent the week-end at Connaught Inn North Hatley, were Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Skelton, their children, John, Ames, Jeffrey and Mary, Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Holham, Mr. and Mrs. Lennox Wilson, Miss Marguerite Robins, Messrs. David Robins, Norman Welsh, Jimmy Lowe, John Blue, Mackenzie Hume, Kenneth Paton, Gordon Hodges, C. J. Griffith and John Bassett, Jr. Friends who spent the week-end at the Inn were Miss Betty Bassett, of Montreal, Mr. and Mrs. E. P. Wilson and Miss Diana Wilson, of East Angus.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Armstrong and young daughter, Helen, of Richmond, were guests on Sunday evening of Mr. Armstrong's sisters, the Misses Dorcas and Irene Armstrong.

Mr. Thomas J. McKenna, of Little Long Lac, Ontario, is visiting at his home on London street.

Miss Isabel Sherman spent the week-end in Scottsview visiting her mother.

Congratulations are being extended today to Mr. Jules Ives, Queen street, on the occasion of his seventy-seventh birthday.

Mr. Daniel McLeod, of Marsboro, was a guest for the week-end of his brother, Mr. Milton McLeod, Lennoxville.

Mrs. Frank W. McCrea and Miss Pauline Gustafson returned last night from Montreal, where they were guests for a few days at the Ritz-Carlton.

Mrs. E. E. Gilson, of St. Andrew's Church, and Mrs. J. E. Barnes, of the Salvation Army, gave the short devotional addresses at the World Day of Prayer in St. Andrew's Church Hall on Friday.

Mr. Norman Tracy entertained a large audience of music lovers very delightfully in Trinity United Church last evening, when he gave a short organ recital of familiar Lenten hymns, prior to the regular church service.

Miss C. Harwood spent the week-end in Ayer's Cliff a guest of Mrs. J. A. Bourque. Mr. Bourque, who is spending a few days in Sherbrooke to be near his mother, who is ill, also spent the week-end at his home on Lake Massawippi.

Friends in Sherbrooke of Mr. and Mrs. H. Campbell, of Montreal, formerly Miss K. Rippen, of Lennoxville, will be interested in the fact that Mr. Campbell has just published a rhapsody on the apocalypse entitled, "Christ's Coming Day," the book being dedicated to his wife.

That Mr. T. F. L. Cohoon, Queen street, who has been a patient in the Protestant Hospital, Montreal, for several days, is very seriously ill with double pneumonia and that there is little hope held out for his recovery, will be a great shock to his hosts of friends.

Messrs. William and Douglas Cohoon, of Sherbrooke, and their uncle, Mr. A. H. Slack, of Ayer's Cliff, returned last night from Montreal, whither they journeyed to spend the week-end near Mr. T. F. L. Cohoon, father of the two former, who is very seriously ill in the Montreal Protestant Hospital.

Among those from Sherbrooke who spent the week-end at Connaught Inn North Hatley, were Mr. and Mrs. P. H. Skelton, their children, John, Ames, Jeffrey and Mary, Mr. and Mrs. B. N. Holham, Mr. and Mrs. Lennox Wilson, Miss Marguerite Robins, Messrs. David Robins, Norman Welsh, Jimmy Lowe, John Blue, Mackenzie Hume, Kenneth Paton, Gordon Hodges, C. J. Griffith and John Bassett, Jr.

Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Armstrong and young daughter, Helen, of Richmond, were guests on Sunday evening of Mr. Armstrong's sisters, the Misses Dorcas and Irene Armstrong.

IOWA'S LEAHY STEERS U.S. NAVY

Before the United States entered the World War there was a lot of talk about "preparedness." It was supposed to keep us out of war and a lot of people were very much of it.

I don't suppose there will be any parades for preparedness this time; it looks as if we're just going to "prepare" if the testimony of Admiral William Daniel Leahy, announced "Lay-he" before the Senate Committee means anything.

Admiral Leahy was born to Michael and Rose Leahy in Hampton, Iowa, in 1876. Iowa is far away from the sea, but little Bill was destined to be an Admiral just the same. They moved to Wisconsin, which still is a long way off from the ocean, where Leahy got the itch to attend Annapolis. He did attend the famous naval academy and served in the Spanish-American War.

Leahy served on the U.S.S. Oregon when it made its famous 15,000 mile dash around Cape Horn to engage in the Battle of Santiago. He saw service in the Philippine insurrection and the Boxer rebellion and came through without a scratch. But the bullets didn't get him; the microbes did, and he fell ill with yellow fever in Panama in 1904.

After recuperating, he served in the Haitian campaign of 1912 and the World War in which he commanded the Maticoka, a troop convoy ship. He changed ships, however, and later commanded a mine squadron. After the war he became Chief of the Bureau of Ordnance.

In 1932 he was commander of the U.S. destroyer fleet. President Roosevelt appointed him Chief of Naval Operations in 1936, a title which makes him the head-man of the Navy.

Modern Women

A MAN TELLS WOMEN THE SECRET OF THE WAY TO A MAN'S HEART, BUT IS HE RIGHT?

Our grandmothers once believed that the way to a man's heart was through his stomach, and I haven't a doubt that they had very good reasons for this theory.

However, the way to his heart, according to John Beckman in a new book, is a far more complicated route.

When a man is willing to give away the secret of how to get your man, one cannot help wondering what his game is. Why should a man play such a low-down trick on his fellowman as to sell him out to his natural enemy, woman?

"The point of this book can be stated in one short paragraph. Men know very little about women, but they do know a great deal about men. Among other things, they know what men want from women and what they don't want. This knowledge is a secret from women, simply because they are not men. Hitherto it has been set forth only in very scientific books which, in some way or other, have made it a little even darker secret than it was before."

Intuition Does It. It's seems unmanly on my part to quarrel with this opening statement, or at least part of it, but I am sure that I don't agree and probably you won't either, that women don't know what men want from us. Even so, it is amusing and enlightening, too, to be told by a man how to attract men and how to carry on from there.

First of all, he says that "in spite of a common belief that a man's woman is either a wit or a hussy, this is very infrequently the case. She is a woman who has the disposition to be diverted."

Now it seems to me that he might well have added, also, the talent to be diverting. Further on, Mr. Beckman stresses woman's intuition which is important because "Charm in women, from a man's point of view, is the successful use of her intuition." He points out, however, her intuition must be civilized and kept under cover, which may seem a bit oblique, but it's all right, apparently, if the man also has intuition enough to feel its presence in the woman.

One thing I gave John Beckman full credit for—he has come out in the open and admitted that men like gossip. He admits that the woman "who has tapped the living spring of gossip" gets her man—his attention, at least.

He also freely admits that "no matter what his age, tastes, vocation or intelligence may be, every man wants a woman to think him sexually attractively. Which seems to establish the fact that men are human and subject to human frailties."

Don't Try too Hard. There is certainly nothing new in the theory that any sympathetic response between men and women, or between friends of both sexes, is based on physical attraction. One does not feel drawn to, or become friendly with, anyone who is physically repulsive to them. We are just naturally bound to consider our friends attractive, otherwise they would not be our friends.

Conversation between a man and a woman is based on sex, not sense," this little book tells us. It is the exception man who is interested in a woman's mind. There are exceptional men who demand that the woman of their choice must have a "good mind," and I am both amused and delighted by his explanation of

You And Your Child

LET THE PUNISHMENT FIT THE CRIME

On the way to school, Tom saw an accident and waited until the wreck was taken away. Arriving late, he found the door on the boy's side of the school locked. This meant that he would have to use the main entrance, and pass the principal's office on the way to his classroom. Courage failing him, he decided that the easiest way out would be to play hooky that day.

After three o'clock the boy returned, presumably, from school and the next day he made it his business to get to school on time. He answered "present" when the roll was called and was relieved when teacher did not question him about his absence the day before. So far so good. But the minute he entered the house that afternoon mother grimly handed him a postal card from school reporting his absence.

When father heard the story he took the boy severely to task. He raged and scolded, and all that evening, whenever he thought about it, he started fuming. Tommy was informed that he would have to remain in the house all the next day as punishment for playing hooky.

The next day was Saturday. At breakfast father scowled and grumbled unpleasantly. "Your mother will see that you are kept busy," he announced and assigned the boy to two chores which he knew were Tommy's pet aversions. This was laying it on a bit thick and made Tommy angry. But father evidently was determined to have his full revenge, and for almost a week he did not speak to the boy except to criticize.

Just keeping the boy in for a whole day would have been punishment enough. It would have deprived him of two major pleasures, mingling with his gang and taking a movie later. Tommy had it coming to him, and if it ended here, he would have considered himself justly punished. But when unpleasant chores were added to the punishment, and father continued being unfriendly, the boy, filled with resentment, developed a devil-may-care attitude that was to lead him into more trouble with his father.

A good mind. "It does not mean an erudite, or deep, or informed, or a brilliant mind," he explains. "It simply means an attractive mental process; in other words, a mind that walks through a man's imagination."

There is a great deal more than I can discuss or quote here. Whether the book is really a road map and the most direct route to a man's heart, I wouldn't know—not being a man. But there's one thing I think I do know and that is that the woman "who has what it takes," whatever it may be, just naturally takes the right road. Maybe it's that intuition our author sets such store on.

Another thing I think I know, although I am not as positive as I might be, since circumstances alter cases. That is that no matter how hard a girl tries to find the way and how much thought she gives to technique, she is generally sure to lose her way and miss the man's heart by a mile.

SKILL PLUS NEW SKILLET PLUMBS DEPTHS OF TASTY TENDERNESS

Breast of veal, prunes and sweet potatoes cooked together on top of the stove in the aluminum skillet not only cuts down fuel, shrinkage and costs of meat, but enhances the flavor.

Within the breast of veal lies hidden tenderness. But there is nothing like a modern skillet to bring it out.

Breast of Veal with Prunes

(Serves 4 to 6)
One small breast of veal, 2 pounds, 1 cup cooked chopped prunes, 2 cups soft bread crumbs, 3 tablespoons melted shortening, 1/2 teaspoon salt, dash pepper, 1 tablespoon lemon juice, 1 tablespoon butter, 2 tablespoons vegetable shortening, 4 medium sized sweet potatoes.

Have the butcher slit the veal breast to form a pocket. Wipe the meat with a clean cloth. Season well with salt and pepper. Mix the ingredients for the dressing and pack loosely into the cavity. Sew securely. Place the skillet with the fat over medium heat (350 degrees F.). When butter begins to brown add meat and brown thoroughly on all sides. While meat is browning peel the potatoes and cut in halves. When meat is brown pack the potatoes around meat, cover, and leave on medium heat until cover is too hot to touch and vapors begin to escape from under the cover. Reduce heat to low (300 degrees F.) and cook until tender—about 1 1/2 hours.

Budget Dinner (Serves 4 to 6)

One pound lean beef, ground, 1 tablespoon salt, dash pepper, 1/2 small onion, chopped, 2 tablespoons vegetable shortening, 1 tablespoon butter, 1 tablespoon flour, 2 cups hot water, 1 cup canned tomato soup, 1 tablespoon chili sauce. Mix beef with salt, pepper, onion.

Shape into small cakes. Place skillet with fat over medium heat (350 degrees F.). When butter begins to brown add meat cakes and brown well on all sides. Remove cakes. Stir flour into drippings in pan, add water, soup and chili sauce and bring to a boil. Return cakes to pan and drop 1 tablespoon dumpling mixture on top of each. Cover and leave on medium heat until the cover is too hot to touch and vapors escape from under the cover. Reduce heat to low (300 degrees F.) and cook until done—about 10 minutes.

OFFICE JOBS INCREASE NEW SURVEY SHOWS

Business demand for new office and clerical help has turned upward in many localities since January 1, after dropping rapidly all over the country during the last two months of 1937, according to a survey of business college employment departments in ninety-five large and small cities.

The survey, conducted by a life insurance company, indicated that the number of new clerical jobs available in January, 1938, was much lower than in January of 1937, however, and considerably under the employment demand of last autumn.

Small businesses, attorneys' and doctors' offices, and insurance companies are principal sources of demand for new office help, according to the report. Many schools commented on the slackness of demand from the larger corporations, which were described as doing much of their new hiring on a temporary basis.

Small business concerns in particular have a tendency to seek "combination" office employees at present, such as stenographer-bookkeepers, whereas in better times they would hire a specialist for each job.

"Any downward swing in employment is usually accentuated by a prompt decrease in the normal replacement demand." When jobs are known to be scarce, women hold fast to positions which in better times they would relinquish in order to get married, make a trip, or go back to school.

GETS PROMOTION IN NAZI SHAKE-UP

As Reichsfuehrer Adolf Hitler hastened fusion of the Nazi party and German state by seizing direct control of the army and concentrating more power in a few immediate subordinates, Gen. Wilhelm Keitel, above, was among those elevated in army ranking. Formerly state secretary in the War Ministry, he assumes cabinet rank as Hitler's deputy warlord with title of 'chief of the high command of the armed forces.'

PROVIDING A BIRD'S-EYE VIEW FROM FOUR MILES UP

If there's anything to see up in the sub-stratosphere, the pilots of the unique strato-plane pictured above certainly should be able to get a good look. That glass-enclosed portion is in the nose of the plane, which is driven at 200-miles-an-hour speed by a pusher propeller mounted in the rear. The ship, exhibited at the International Air Show in Chicago, is designed to fly at about 21,000 feet, and is equipped with mechanism to maintain sea-level oxygen content in the cabin, even in rarified atmosphere.

CHURCH'S TASK WAS DISCUSSED AT INVERNESS

"The Church in Action in the Nation" Was Theme of Interesting Women's Missionary Society Meeting.

Inverness, March 7.—The February meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Church was held at the home of Mrs. Winnie Robinson. The theme was "The Church in Action in the Nation" and some of the members read comments on the task of a living church, what it should stand for and work for in the life of a nation.

After the devotional leaflet by Mrs. W. G. Larmouth, the president led in prayer. This was followed by the reading by Mrs. D. Appleton of "Cancelled Prayer" and a paper on "Sacrificial Giving" by Mrs. W. Robinson, after which Mrs. L. Beattie gave a reading by Robert J. Burdette entitled "The Golden Days." The president read a very interesting letter from Japan on the attitude of the Christian Japanese towards the war.

Announcement was made of the meeting to be held in the Anglican Church by the women of the Protestant churches on the World Day of Prayer.

After spending three weeks in Florida, Mrs. C. W. P. Ramsey has returned home.

UNITED CHURCH HELD MEETING The annual meeting of the United Church were held at Inverness and Lower Ireland. Reports presented were very encouraging.

GOULD LADIES' GROUP RECORD NOTABLE YEAR

Satisfactory Reports from All Departments Submitted at Annual Congregational Meeting of Immanuel Church.

Gould, March 7.—A large number attended the annual congregational meeting held in Immanuel Church. The pastor, Rev. A. D. MacLellan, of Scotstown, presided and led in the devotional exercises.

Very good reports were heard from the different departments of the church. The treasurer reported all expenses met and the secretary of the Ladies' Aid Society reported a very successful year. One supper was held in the Town Hall and regular monthly meetings held in the different homes. The year closed with $250 in the treasury after sixty dollars have been donated to the Board of Managers.

The retiring managers by rotation were Murdo Beaton, who was re-elected for another term of office, and Kenneth Macdonald, who was replaced by Jack Matheson. Murdo N. McKee was appointed in charge of subscriptions for the Presbyterian Record and their delivery. Other minor matters of business were disposed of and a vote of thanks extended to all branches of the Church work and to the pastor for his aid and for help offered.

The meeting closed with the singing of the Doxology. A social hour followed when refreshments were served by members of the Ladies' Aid Society. Proceeds from the tea amounted to the gratifying sum of ten dollars.

AT 83 SHE DEFIES RHEUMATISM

After Suffering Acute Pain for Years

Rheumatism first attacked this old lady in 1931, and gradually spread from her arms to other parts of her body. Then she started to take Kruschen Salts, and now she sends the following letter in her own handwriting:

"I have suffered from rheumatism since 1931. At first, I felt acute pain in both arms. I could not sleep for pain. It grew worse, and gradually crept down to the tips of my fingers. Next it reached my knees and ankles, which made me quite helpless for a long period. A friend recommended me to take Kruschen Salts. I find they do me more good than any other medicine, liniment or ointment I ever used. This is my own writing, though I am in my 84th year."—(Mrs.) H.

The pains and stiffness of rheumatism are often caused by deposits of needle-pointed uric acid crystals in the muscles and joints. Kruschen Salts stimulate your liver and kidneys to healthy, regular action, and assist them to get rid of the excess uric acid which is frequently the cause of your suffering.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning

The liver should pour out two pounds of bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas builds up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sick and the world looks pink.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes these good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get those two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "top and up". Harsh laxatives and pills make the bile flow freely. They do the work of a laxative but have no action on the liver. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. 25c.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

THE CHANCE FOR GAME

Vulnerable Players Prefer Chance at Ending Rubber to Penalty Against Non-Vulnerable Opponents.

BY WILLIAM E. McKENNEY
Secretary, American Contract Bridge League

Solution to Previous Contract Problem

World Bridge Olympic hands, through which the theoretical rubber bridge championship of the world will be determined on the evening of April 20, under the auspices of the American Contract Bridge League, are not prepared on a double dummy basis. They are designed to fit the conditions of play, and to give to the players who correctly measure the possible rewards for a vulnerable game, over small penalties against non-vulnerable opponents, the reward for boldness. This is true even though later in the defense the other players find the "killing" play and defeat the contract.

Contract Problem (Solution in next issue)

In baseball we have the sacrifice play, making a deliberate "out" to advance a man or to score a run. There is a nice sacrifice play in today's hand. Can you find it? If so, it will help you make South's contract of five diamonds.

General Notes

South West North East
1 ♠ 1 ♠ 2 N.T. Pass
3 N.T. Pass Pass Pass
Opening lead—♠ 6.

This seeming paradox is entirely sound, as is illustrated by one of the hands from last year's Olympic, in which North and South got par for a minus score of 100, when they preferred to go after a game rather than accept a penalty of 300 points for doubling a non-vulnerable overcall. If the vulnerability situation were reversed, North should double one spade for penalties, but with North and South vulnerable and East and West not, even a set of three tricks is not of equal value to the game which appears almost certain.

The West player has the defensive problem on this hand. If he plays the queen or king of spades to the first trick, then North will make his contract. He can duck the first spade and win the second, thus gaining time to establish the needed trick in clubs. However, West played the nine and North won the first trick with the jack. He now led a club, and East put up the king and returned his last spade. West's spades were established and North could now do nothing, as West held the club ace for entry to his established spades.

Dick Jones Earns

$150 a Month..

But He's Worth $36,000 to His Family

TODAY, throughout Canada, there is a growing realization of the "financial value" of thrifty men to their families and to the nation as a whole.

Consider Dick Jones, for example. He earns $150 a month or $1,800 a year. To replace this income, it would require $36,000 safely invested at 5%.

Dick Jones is typical of tens of thousands of Canadian men, who, out of limited incomes, could not save enough money to replace their earning power, but have been able to do so through Life Insurance. In Canada over Six and a Half Billion Dollars have been provided for this purpose—a great bulwark of financial protection against the future.

These men are the backbone of the nation. Individually, they provide financial protection for themselves and their dependants. Collectively, they are banded together in a great co-operative enterprise whose joint savings, when invested, promote national development and stimulate employment throughout the Dominion.

LOCALS TWO AHEAD IN CHAMPIONSHIP PLAY

Tallied Five In Final Frame For Second Win

Sherbrooke Swamped Valleyfield Eight to Three in Hard Bumping Match—"Hank" Harris, Laforest and Gagnon Outstanding for Raiders—Deneault Was Best for Braves—Next Game at Valleyfield Tuesday.

Scoring five goals in the final frame the Sherbrooke Red Raiders chalked up their second straight victory over the Valleyfield Braves, in their best of seven series for the Provincial Hockey League championship, by the score of eight to three before thirty-five hundred enthusiastic fans at the Sherbrooke Arena yesterday.

After Deneault had picked up Gerry Philbin's pass to catch all the Sherbrooke team up the ice and coast in on "Patsy" Seguin to put the Valleyfield team one up in a thrill-packed and rough first period, goals by Laforest, Gagnon and Roy gave the locals a three to one lead in the second session.

The Red Raiders blew their lead when Roy and Bastien drew penalties within a half-minute of each other and, with a two-man advantage, Lilly and Deneault swept in to even the count for Valleyfield.

In the final frame the Sherbrooke team flashed the power that brought them through the regular season as leaders in the Provincial League and has carried them through the playoffs without a defeat so far. Led by those brilliant centres, "Hank" Harris and Majella Laforest, the locals drove home five goals that clinched the victory.

The first period opened with rough and hard checking hockey, and referees Carroll and Mallinson had their hands full. Sherbrooke was forcing the play, as Valleyfield were intent to present an air-tight defence and wait for the breaks. The first break came when Gerry Philbin grabbed the disc, with all the local leads in Valleyfield territory.

He stepped over the blue line and passed ahead to Deneault, who went fast up left wing and sailed right in to score on a corner drive into the lone marker of the first period.

Sherbrooke fought back hard in the second session and tallied three goals. Paul Gagnon took the puck and passed out to Majella Laforest in center, as all the Red Raiders swept around Lascelles in the Valleyfield net. Laforest made no mistake as he blasted the disc into the cage.

After eleven minutes of play Gagnon put Sherbrooke ahead two to one on a pass from the steady Harris. The little centreman checked a Valleyfield rush in the Braves' own territory and slipped a pass over to Gagnon. The speedy left winger split the defence and drew the goal-keeper out to push the puck into the net for a lovely score.

"Guidoo" Roy broke fast down left wing and passed to "Hank" Harris in center. Harris swerved at the Valleyfield defence and slipped the puck back to Roy, who faked a shot and then tallied the next local score on a hard corner drive.

Sherbrooke seemed to have the game on ice when Roy and Bastien drew penalties within a minute of each other. Valleyfield swept in around Seguin and evened the count. Lilly tallied first after Hamel had made a lovely play, supplying a perfect pass at the Sherbrooke defence. The tying goal came from the stick of Deneault, after a passing bout in front of the net with Reeves and Hamel.

Camille Henri started off the Sherbrooke scoring parade in the final frame with a shot after Laforest had passed the puck back to him from a face-off in the Valleyfield zone. Henri missed his first drive, and then scored on his second effort.

The next marker came from the stick of the brilliant Harris, who picked up the disc in his own territory and dashed through the whole Valleyfield squad for a spectacular solo marker. Laforest put Sherbrooke still further ahead by picking up "Spiky" Kelly's pass in centre and splitting the defence to go in for a fine tally.

"Guidoo" Roy scored the Red Raiders' seventh goal with Laforest getting the assist. The big local defence man broke fast up right wing with only a Valleyfield man to beat. He slipped the disc straight across the rink to Roy who dashed in to tally on a fine corner shot. The final goal of the match came from the stick of Kelly. Laforest broke clear and passed across to Kelly, who swooped in to give Lascelles no chance as he pushed the disc around him to make the final score eight to three for Sherbrooke.

Harris, Gagnon, Roy, Laforest, Kelly and Leroux were the best for the locals while Deneault, Hamel, Reeves and Lilly were outstanding for Valleyfield. The next match of the series will be played at Valleyfield on Tuesday night with the fourth tilt scheduled for Sherbrooke on Thursday.

The teams were: Valleyfield: Seguin goal; Lascelles defence; Philbin defence; Harris centre; Hamel centre; Gagnon r.wing; Lilly r.wing; Sherbrooke subs: Laforest, Kelly, Henri, Bastien, Roy, Garand, Ranger, Larochele.

Valleyfield subs: Reeves, Guilbeault, Deneault, Deschamps, Landreville, Haworth, Laplante. Referees: George Mallinson and Larry Carroll. Timekeeper: Anatole Choquette.

SUMMARY First Period 1—Valleyfield Deneault (Philbin) 6:05 Penalties: Gagnon (2), Laforest (ten minute misconduct), Larochele, Reeves, Deschamps, Landreville.

MILLAR'S RINK LOST FINAL OF ELGIN TROPHY

Heather Quartette Scored Sixteen to Three Victory in Final Encounter of Elgin Granite Trophy at Montreal Over Week-End.

Montreal, March 7.—The strongest Sherbrooke threat to ever enter the Elgin Trophy competition for granites, Bruce Millar's quartette, fell before W. E. Markham's Heather aggregation the final event Saturday evening by a score of sixteen to three.

The Lemoville rink skipped by Rupert Atto previously succumbed to Markham in the semi-final, taking the short end of a five-to-two count while Millar nosed out J. H. Stewart, of Rideau, eleven to ten in an extra end encounter.

In the final game, Millar made a strong start, registering two on the first end and one on the second. But from then on he was held scoreless and was forced to concede the event on the thirteenth end.

In the third draw of the first stage, Sherbrooke defeated J. H. Isabelle's Granby quartette nine to six and Lennoxville won over Caledonia, represented by D. A. Finlay, to the tune of twelve to seven.

The rink and scores in the final stages were:

Norm Welsh Nosed Out John Blue In Ski Meet

Won Championship of Connaught Ski Club for Second Consecutive Year in Keenly Contested Meet at North Hatley—Welsh Won Downhill and Slalom Races While Blue Was First in Cross-Country—Mack Hume Came Third in Aggregate.

Norman Welsh won the championship of the Connaught Ski Club, nosing out John Blue for the second straight year in a closely contested meet at North Hatley yesterday.

The two Sherbrooke boys fought neck and neck all the way with victories in the downhill and slalom races turning the tide in Welsh's favor after Blue had won the cross-country in the morning. Welsh's total aggregate, out of a possible three hundred points, was 292.14, while Blue was close behind with 287.10. Mack Hume, of Sherbrooke, was third in the final standing with a 275.40 total.

The cross-country race was run off in the morning with crusty and difficult snow conditions prevailing. Blue put up a fine race to finish first ahead of Gordon Hodge, who came second, Norman Welsh third, and Kenny Pa on fourth. Paton's performance was one of the highlights of the meet as the diminutive skier flashed over the course of three and a half miles less than three minutes behind the winner.

The downhill and slalom races in the afternoon were both held down the Spier Trail on Mount Massawippi, over a fast and crusty course. In the downhill Welsh showed perfect form to come out with a lead of difficult course in thirty-nine seconds, just one second faster than Gordon Hodge and Blue, who were tied for second place.

Welsh repeated his victory when he came down the slalom course one minute and nine seconds behind Blue, who was second by eight seconds. Mack Hume tied with Blue for second place in the slalom, negotiating the course in one minute and seventeen seconds.

The complete results were as follows:

Cross-country Race		Time
1—Blue	29.30
2—Hodge	31.38
3—Welsh	32.02
4—Paton	32.10
5—Hume	32.32
6—Griffith	32.40
7—Marien	35.10
8—Arnold	37.15

Even with a game in hand Wings seem to have little chance to catch Harkins and win the opportunity of defending their world title.

Americans' winning goal against Rangers was Stewart's 29th National League counter and increased his chances of making it an even 300 before the play-offs. He has seven games to do it.

Smith scored the tying goal in the first period after Lynn Patrick had to enter the first of four lines in Joe Jernin in the third added to the Amerk margin.

Rangers may have lost the services of defenseman Art Coulter for some time. He suffered a severe charleyhorse and it is feared he may be out of action for the rest of the season. He was injured in the first period and aggravated the condition by playing in the second.

A crowd of 10,500 saw Leafs take Canadians in the first Sunday game played in Montreal in two years. The big turnout probably will influence Montreal hockey leaders to stage more Sunday games next season.

The Canadian defence was wide open for two periods. Leafs scoring six in the first and four times in the second period. Gordon Drillon, Leafs' scoring leader, got two leaf goals and Syl Apps, Harvey Jackson, "Buz" Boll and Bob Davidson the others. Pit Lepine, Toe Blake and Don Wilson scored for Canadians. Wilson getting his first N.H.L. goal.

The Maroon-Leaf game was a rugged affair that brought out sixteen penalties, four of them majors and two misconducts. Both goals came in the first period, with Apps and George Parsons scoring.

The seven goals Hawks scored over Maroons was a new high for them this season. Their best previous mark was six. Earl Selbert and "Mush" March got a pair each and Paul Thompson, Cully Dahistrom and Johnny Gottlieb picked up the others. Bob Gracie scored for Maroons.

The standout performer of the Detroit-Brant clash was Herbie Lewis who scored three goals while playing centre on a line with Ron Hudson and Syd Howe. He usually plays left wing. Howe got the other Detroit marker and Milt Schmitt, with two, and Ray Gettiffe were the Boston marksmen.

PRESIDENT McKEEVER OF BROOKLYN DODGERS, DEAD
New York, March 7.—(AP)—Stephen W. McKeever, eighty-five year old president of the Brooklyn National League Baseball Club, died here today of pneumonia at his home in Brooklyn. He had been ill a week.

Connected with the club for more than a quarter century, McKeever had been president since 1932, when Frank B. York resigned in a Dolger reorganization.

Oldest president in the National League, McKeever, called "Judge" by his intimates, was the central figure in the storm that raged over Brooklyn management for nearly fifteen years, between McKeever and the fifteen heirs of the late Charles H. Ebbets.

BLACK HAWKS WERE SWAMPED BY STANSTEAD

Collegians Chalked Up Sixteen to One Victory Over Black Hawks in Final Game of Border Hockey League—Sisco Starred for Winners.

Stanstead, March 7.—With five men laid up and the Black Hawks keeping open house, the Stanstead College hockey squad ended the Border League schedule by swamping the Stanstead team sixteen to one in a one-sided game.

In the first period Sisco, Woodley and Mackay chalked up four goals for the Collegians. At the start of the second stanza, Langevin went in alone in front of the College's net and slid the puck home for the Hawks' only tally.

After that it was no longer a hockey match for the powerful Red and White machine scored practically at will. Varney, Fee, Sisco, Kelly, Gordon, Woodley and Pare were the marksmen in the last two periods for the Collegians.

Sisco turned in the best game for the Red and White and Varney and Pare played a great game on defence, while all three lines worked some nice combination plays.

For the Black Hawks, Royer, Langley and Pepin showed up to advantage.

The teams were:
S.W.C. goal: Black Hawks Wells
Morton defence: Langley
Pare defence: Copp
Varney centre: Pepin
Schofield wing: Rodrigue
Sisco wing: Disteano
Fee wing: MacKay

S.W.C. subs—Woodley, MacKay, Gordon, Kelly, Poopst, Balfry, McCutcheon, Abbott.

Black Hawks' subs—Royer, Langevin, Curtis, Cooper.

LENNOXVILLE WON IN CLUBS' HOCKEY—ST ANDREW'S AND ST PETER'S TIED
Lennoxville finished up its regular Club Hockey League schedule with a four to nothing win over St. Paul's, while St. Andrew's held a one point lead in the league standing by tying St. Peter's three-all. Both matches were played at the Sherbrooke Arena on Saturday.

Saturday.
Earl Robertson, Americans: Held high-scoring Rangers when Americans took three to one decision.

Earl Selbert and "Mush" March, Chicago: Scored twice each in Hawks' sweep to one win over Maroons last night.

Herbie Lewis, Detroit: Kept Red Wings in battle for playoff position by scoring three goals in four to three triumph at Boston.

HOCKEY'S BIG SEVEN
Syl Apps, of Toronto Maple Leafs, vaulted to within two points of the National Hockey League's point-making leader during the week-end with two goals and two assists as Leafs defeated Maroons by two to nothing and Canadians six to three.

His team-mate, Gordon Drillon, held the top by scoring twice against Canadians. Paul Thompson, of Chicago, made the most significant gain, taking first place in the American division and third in the league with a goal and two assists as Hawks won over Maroons seven to one last night. Clint Smith, of Rangers, got an assist when his club was beaten three to one by Americans, strengthening his hold on last place in the "Big Seven."

The leaders:
Drillon, Toronto 22 24 46
Apps, Toronto 40 24 44
Thompson, Chicago 20 19 39
Mantha, Canadiens 21 16 37

KEEN CONTESTS FEATURED "Y" BOXING BOUTS

Midgets Gave Interesting and Amusing Exhibition in Their Series of Competitions—Tigers Leading in Close Race for Honors.

A series of boxing matches proved a very interesting and amusing feature in the competitions held by the Midgets Class of the Y.M.C.A. on Saturday morning. All matches consisted of three one-minute rounds and the first brought together Leonard Young, of the "Y" Stars, and John Colter, of the Raiders. These two boys were evenly matched in weight and ability, and the bout resulted in a draw.

Andy Mentis, of the Tigers, gained a decision over Bertie Haffenden, of the Buffaloes. Haffenden, slightly the smaller of the two, put up a splendid exhibition, losing the first, winning the second, and losing the third round. The bout between Phil Harris, of the Tigers, and Douglas Onions, of the Raiders, was a trifle slower than the other matches, but nevertheless interesting. The result was a draw.

Bobby Matthews, of the "Y" Stars, and his twin brother, Billy, of the Buffaloes, gave a splendid exhibition of boxing, as they always do when brought together. Their boxing ability is very equal, Bobby winning on some occasions and Billy on others. Saturday's match resulted in Billy winning the first and third rounds and dropping the second, which gave him the decision.

Allard, of the Tigers, won from Sonny Holtham, of the Buffaloes. This decision was expected before the boys started, as Paul was somewhat the heavier of the two.

Total points for the day, including attendance, was as follows: Tigers, twenty-three; Raiders, fourteen; Buffaloes, twelve, and "Y" Stars, ten. This makes the total points to date: Tigers, 102; Raiders, 101; "Y" Stars, 100 and Buffaloes, slightly behind. The competition ends on Saturday, March 12th, and with points standing as close as they are some very interesting competition is anticipated at their next meeting.

By way of Winnie Richards comes word that Bill Tiddan has been located. He is in Rangoon, India, trying to make both ends meet with a pro tennis troupe that includes Henri Cochet.

Windsor Mills turned back the determined bid of Cowansville by the score of three to one here yesterday in their second match of a two game, total goals to count series in the semi-finals of the Eastern Townships intermediate hockey playdowns. Cowansville lost the first game by six to two so Windsor Mills take the round nine to three and will play Magog in the E.T. finals. The first final game will be played at Windsor Mills on Tuesday night and the second at Magog on Thursday. Total goals will decide the series.

After a scoreless first period Gauvin, former Magog and Sherbrooke player, put Windsor Mills ahead on a goal, with Eric Bailey supplying the pass halfway through the second session Gauvin started a rush at the defence and passed to McLennan, who slipped the puck across to Bailey. Bailey went in and scored back to Gauvin, who gave Goodin no chance as he blasted the disc in for a marker.

Bobby Morey put Windsor Mills ahead two to nothing by taking Alfred Frenette's pass in the centre zone and knitting right in for a goal. Grant Dunsmore, of Windsor Mills' defence, broke down centre ice and scored with a hard shot, from the Cowansville blue line to put Windsor Mills ahead three to nothing early in the final frame. The lone Cowansville marker came from the stick of A. Lee after a pretty passing play with Viens to make the final count three to one for Windsor Mills.

The teams were:
Windsor Mills goal: Cowansville Goodin
Landy defence: B. Johnson
G. Dunsmore defence: Daguire
M. Dunsmore centre: G. Johnson
Bailey wing: Lee
McLennan wing: Viens

Windsor Mills subs: Alfred Frenette, Antonio Frenette, Morey, Coedre, Gauvin.
Cowansville subs: Craigie, Stone, R. St. Jean, Leonard and Dunison. Referees: Wolfe and Pergau.

SUMMARY First Period No score. Second Period 1—W. Mills Gauvin (Bailey) 10:13 2—W. Mills Morey 13:49 Penalties: Viens, G. Dunsmore, Morey.

Third Period 3—W. Mills G. Dunsmore 4:45 4—Cowansville Lee (Viens) 14:04 Penalties: Frenette and M. Dunsmore.
