World News In Brief

Margate, Kent, England, Sept. 2.—(Reuters)—The British Trade Union Congress, representing 8,000,000 workers, today made its first united attack on the Conservative government by calling for the abolition of all new charges in the socialized health services.

Charges for medical prescriptions and dental and other services were introduced by Prime Minister Churchill's administration earlier this year in a move to economize on the hitherto "free" health services.

Moving the resolution, which was unanimously accepted, B. Cardew declared that the charges deterred people from going to the doctor, and he pointed out that 15 per cent fewer prescriptions had been issued in June.

"It is not a coincidence that the biggest drop should be in the county (Lancashire) which has suffered from the depression in the textile industry," he declared.

The main issue to be debated today is rearmament, when a bitter clash is expected between the official leaders, who will call on the Congress to endorse the existing arms program, and the left-wing supporters of Labor rebel Aneurin Bevan, who want it cut.

Dover, England, Sept. 2 — (Reuters) — Philip Mickman, 21-year-old British airman, during the night became the sixth person to swim the English Channel this summer.

His coach reported today that he made the crossing from England to France in 18 hours, 44 minutes. It was his second attempt this season—he was forced to quit witnin one-half mile of the French coast last month.

Mickman also swam the Channel from France to England in 1949.

Two Egyptian swimmers, Mahmoud Assam and Mustafa Davud, originally due to start from Cap Gris Nez, France, at dawn today in an attempt to reach England, postponed their attempt until this evening. Their escort boat broke adrift last night and was damaged.

Manila, Sept. 2 —(AP)— The typhoon-torn Philippines tonight braced for another tropical blow as the known death toll from disastrous winds and floods last week-end rose to 121.

Delayed reports said 16 persons were believed drowned when a motorboat sank in a typhoon off northeast Luzon Island Sunday.

Additional deaths were reported on the Zamboanga peninsula of Mindanao Island in the southern Philippines. Heavy rains there inundated villages, sent crashing landslides over small villages and turned mountain streams into raging torrents.

The new tropical disturbance was reported 400 miles east of Samar island.

Karachi, Pakistan, Sept. 2— (Reuters) — A Moslem laundryman named Ahmed slit the throat of his only daughter, aged 18 months, in sacrifice during yesterday's Moslem Id-Uz-Zuha festivities at Nawabshah, near Hyderabad.

On this day Moslems commemorate Abraham's sacrifice on the mountain by slaughter of goats.

The man, when arrested last night, told police he had dreamt it was God's will that he should sacrifice his dearest possession.

Four Persons Dead, 14 Hurt In Eastern Townships From Holiday Week-End Accidents

Fifth Dies In Local Hospital From Injuries Received A Week Ago.

Four persons died and 14 were injured in miscellaneous accidents in the Eastern Townships over the holiday week-end.

A fifth man succumbed in St. Vincent de Paul Hospital Sunday to injuries he received last Tuesday when struck by a vehicle at Stratford.

Dead are:

Bernard Chevrier, 35, of Rosemount;
Marc Laurendeau, 26, of Shawinigan Falls;
Arthur Lecuyer, 27, of Montreal;
Armand Morin, 24, of Asbestos;
Gerard Leblanc, 42, of Stratford.

Chevier and Laurendeau were killed outright at St. Nicephore near Drummondville late Saturday morning when the Chevrier-piloted light private aircraft nosedived and crashed on the airport.

Det. C. Farrah-Lajoie, Victoriaville detachment, provincial Police, said the plane — a Cesna 120 — left Montreal about an hour earlier and circled twice above the St. Nicephore airfield before the fatal nose dive, from almost 150 feet. It buried its nose in three feet of earth a very short distance away from the airport.

Arthur Lecuyer was the victim of a freak drowning at Georgeville.

His third attempt at exploring the bottom of a body of water proved fatal to him when the oxygen mask on his diving suit was forced off under about thirty to thirty-five feet of water.

Det. Andre E. Labbe, Sherbrooke detachment, Provincial Police, who investigated with Traffic Officer Maurice Lecours, says the diving suit was similar but not the same thing as the type used by the U. S. and Canadian Navymen for underwater work in the War.

The diving set consisted of a mask with oxygen tent, slung over the back and lead weights around the waist. It can be used safely for diving at 25 feet but is dangerous at anything over that because of the increased water pressure.

Lecuyer was accompanied by three of his brothers at the time of the tragedy. Artificial respiration was tried for several hours to no avail.

A coroner's inquest at Magog yesterday, presided over by Dr. Armand Voyer, returned a verdict of accidental death but recommended that the manufacturers of such diving sets give instructions on how to use them.

Armand Morin, of Asbestos, suffered a fractured skull when he fell off his motorcycle on the Asbestos-Wooton road, Saturday afternoon. The young man, described as being in none-too-good health, was taken to the Canadian Johns-Manville Hospital by Desrochers ambulance and later transferred to St. Vincent de Paul Hospital, Sherbrooke, where he died Sunday afternoon.

A coroner's inquest at Asbestos, under Coroner Dr. Louis Gagnon, yesterday returned a verdict of accidental death. Det. Andre E. Labbe and Traffic Officer Rene Delorme investigated for Provincial Police.

Gerard Lablanc, of Stratford, has been in grave condition at St. Vincent de Paul Hospital since he was admitted last Tuesday. Leblanc was pulling an eight-year girl on a little wagon on a street in Stratford when he was struck by a truck driver by a Mr. Cyr, of St. Julien. The little girl suffered only a few bruises but Leblanc received critical head injuries.

A corner's inquest has been ordered for either today or tomorrow at Stratford.

The week-end was a wild and woolly one as far as motor mishaps were concerned. As might be expected, the overwhelming majority of them were out of town as thousands of vehicles streamed onto district roads on the holiday.

Provincial Police in Sherbrooke, who cover the St. Francis district, investigated 17 motor accidents over the week-end, it was reported today by Rene Lebrun, day despatcher at headquarters here.

Most of these accidents, fortunately, involved only material damages to cars and trucks.

Most spectacular was a seven-vehicle pile-up on the Montreal Road, three miles east of Sherbrooke. This is recounted elsewhere in today's Daily Record. Three were injured in this mishap.

In Sherbrooke itself, a head-on collision between two automobiles on Depot street Saturday night sent eight persons to local hospitals and damaged quite heavily the two autos.

Municipal Police Constable Emilien Champagne and Det. Henri Boisvert reported that a 1950-model Pontiac sedan, driven by Roland Labrie, 41, of 203 Galt street, heading north on Depot, collided with a 1948-model Dodge sedan, driven by Rosaire Pepin, 28, and carrying Pepin's wife, mother, father and three of his children, all of the 10th range, Sawyerville.

Ambulances from Monfette's and Brien's took the following to the Hotel Dieu: Mr. and Mrs. Ulric Pepin, 65 and 51, respectively; Mr. and Mrs. Rosaire Pepin, 28 and 25 years; and children, Claude, Raymond and Clement. All have since left the hospital.

Jap Premier Gives Views On Sentence

Tokyo, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The Foreign Office today made public a letter by Japan's Prime Minister advocating that United Nations personnel involved in crimes in Japan be turned over to their own authorities for trial or temporary custody.

Prime Minister Shigery Yoshida wrote the letter May 31 to the United States Ambassador, Robert D. Murphy.

Foreign Minister Katsuo Okazaki said the text was released because of "various unfounded conjectures circulated among the public about this letter."

An international storm was ransed over the question last month by the conviction of two British sailors in a Kobe court for assaulting a Japanese cab driver and stealing 1,700 yen (about $$5). The men were sentenced to 30 months in prison.

Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden and the British Ambassador in Tokyo, Sir Esler Dening, protested the Japanese action. They argued that the men should have been turned over to their own naval officials for trial.

Ambassador Dening was quoted in the press as saying the action was in violation of Prime Minister Yoshida's written pledge.

Political opponents of the Prime Minister used the letter to attack him as having surrendered Japanese jurisdiction over criminal cases involving foreign military personnel.

It was apparently to meet this double criticism that the government released the letter. In his letter, Yoshida made four main points:

1. Court authority over U. N. armed forces should be governed by "international law and usage."

2. If there was confusion as to the law, decision should be reached through consultation between the Japanese and the government concerned.

3. If any U.N. forces personnel were arrested, the Japanese would "see to it that, in principle, the offender is surrendered to the military authorities of his country."

4. In special cases of importance, the offender would be surrendered to his own authorities for custody within 48 hours but would be turned back to the Japanese if they so demanded.

Okazaki said the Prime Minister's policy statement was in effect now and would continue to govern Japanese treatment of U. N. personnel who committed crime. He stressed that it was a unilateral action which would be revised in accordance with the agreement now being negotiated between the Japanese and the U. N. command.

Okazaki implied strongly that he felt the policy would enable Japan to avoid a repetition of the Kobe case. He said poor liaison between the national government and local authorities and between Japanese and foreign officials was to blame in the case of the British sailors.

The sailors, Derek Smith and Peter Stinner, both 21, have appealed to the Osaka higher court. They are still in the Kobe Jail.

New Cabinet Formed For Netherlands

Amsterdam, Sept. 2.— (AP) —A new four-party Netherlands cabinet took office today, ending a 12-week government crisis that began after June 25 national elections.

Eleven members of the 16-man body were sworn into office by Queen Juliana. Four other ministers, including Prime Minister Willem Drees, were members of the previous cabinet and did not need to renew their oath.

The post of Minister of Domestic Affairs has not yet been filled.

The cabinet contains two new ministers—for Social Welfare and for Industrial Organization — and two ministers of Foreign Affairs.. The appointment of two Foreign Ministers followed parliamentary criticism that frequent and long absences abroad of the previous minister, Dr. Dirk Stikker, delayed legislative work.

Political observers consider the new cabinet differs little from the previous government which resigned in accordance with tradition when the elections were held. The Labor and Roman Catholic parties operated as a coalition in that government.

The two parties won the same number of seats—30—in the lower house of Parliament as a result of the June 25 voting.

The long cabinet crisis followed when parties were unable to agree on a distribution of the government posts among the members of any possible coalition.

Prime Minister Visits Okanagan

Penticton, B.C., Sept. 2—(CP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent today got a harvest-time eyeful of orchards in the valley of the Okanagan.

He was to attend a civic luncheon here and then travel by automobile up the lakeshore to Kelowna, home of Social Credit Premier W. A. C. Bennett, Vernon and on to Sicamous on Shuswar lake. There he will board a train tonight for Vancouver, where he will address the Canadian Bar Association Wednesday night.

Opening an eight-day tour of the Province, he arrived at Castlegar, 20 miles from Trail, by plane yesterday. Brightly-costumed Orthodox Doukhobors were among the crowd of several hundred which greeted him at the airport.

Brome Fair Attracted Ten Thousand On Labor Day Despite Threatening Clouds

By MARGARET DOHERTY

Brome, Sept. 2 — The weatherman relented yesterday and for the first time in a number of years Brome Fair did not operate on a rainy Labor Day.

A few drops fell in the morning and skies remained cloudy, but in spite of this a crowd of more than 10,000 thronged to the grounds and parking space was at a premium.

Brome has often been called the "Biggest Little Fair in the Country" and it seemed to be living up to its name yesterday as, from morning till night, the grounds were a beehive of activity.

W. G. MacDougall, of Sherbrooke, president of the E.T.A.A. and one of the cattle judges, said he thought the show was a very fine one, with a good breed of cattle. He also added that the three new barns constructed to replace those destroyed by fire, are excellent and a wonderful addition to the grounds.

According to Hugh Gilmore, of West Brome, a director who is also chairman of the grandstand, 1952 is a record year for exhibits in all departments. The Midway, operated by the Green Amusement Company of Toronto, is twice as large as usual and there are a number of thrilling rides for patrons of all ages.

In the afternoon yesterday thousands filled the Grandstand and lined both sides of the track to watch the huge livestock parade, the races and the Garden Brothers' Grandstand Attractions.

Two clowns were in attendance, to take care of any lull in the proceedings and the Knowlton High School Band, under the direction of Harry Long, is providing the music throughout the Fair days.

Industrial exhibits also seem more numerous than usual, with many concessions operating outside because of lack of space in the main building. On the grounds, in addition to the Midway, the well patronized games of chance and the ever popular restaurants, the Marionette show offered by Shell, free of charge, is attracting record crowds, with the grown-ups showing as much interest as the small fry.

Exhibits in the Fine Arts Department include knitted and woven articles, cut work, crochet, patchwork quilts, bedspreads, tablecloths, needlepoint, watercolors, a few oils and charcoal studies, as well as several photography entries.

Judging was not completed in the floricultural building but, as in past years, the standard seems quite high. There were some particularly attractive displays of gladioli and potted plants and the usual varied assortment of vegetables and fruit. Two large harvest baskets, filled to overflowing are worth seeing, as are the ex-

Resume Work In Soft Coal Mines Today

Pittsburgh, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Coal miners across the United States revived their giant industry today with 475,000 diggers ending another United Mine Workers' memorial holiday.

The 10-day memorial period, called by U.M.W. President John L. Lewis to honor miners killed or injured in mine tragedies, ended last midnight. The shutdown began Aug. 23.

The mine closings whitted the U.S. pile of stored coal from an 84-day supply to about 74 days at a time when Lewis is negotiating a new contract with coal operators. Nine million tons of coal were lost. The lower coal stockpile will bulwark Lewis' bargaining position. The current contract gives Lewis the right to call memorial holidays and he has used the device several times in the past.

Coal miners began their trek into the pits shortly after midnight but the bulk of them picked up their tools again at the start of day shifts at 8 and 9 a.m. EDT. Most coal producing companies expect normal operations by late afternoon.

Lewis served notice several weeks ago that bituminous (soft coal) contracts will expire Sept. 20. That makes a full-fledged strike possible on Monday, Sept. 22.

Lewis has not spelled out his demands, but he is expected to ask a substantial pay boost and possibly an increased share of royalties for the U.M.W. pension and welfare fund. Miners in the soft coal pits now average about $16.35 a daily. Anthracite workers get slightly more.

Tokyo, Sept. 2—(Reuters)—Prime Minister Shigeru Yoshida today appointed three new Liberal cabinet ministers from the Upper House as state ministers without portfolio.

Political observers interpreted this as a move to strengthen his party, the Liberals, in the Upper House in the event of its being called into an emergency session—as provided for under the constitution—in the period between dissolution of the government and opening of a new one.

National elections are to be held Oct. 1.

Five Die In U.S. Storms At Week-End

Chicago, Sept. 2 —(AP)— Severe wind and rain storms lashed wide areas of the eastern and southern United States over Labor Day, causing millions of dollars damage to property, including several B-36 bombers at Carswell air force base in Fort Worth, Tex.

At least five persons were killed in the storms.

Winds of 90-mile-an-hour velocity struck near the Carswell base, destroying one $3,000,000 B-36 bomber, causing major damage to six others and lesser damage to several others. Several buildings suffered "severe damage."

One woman, a civilian, was killed by the storm in Fort Worth. In Michigan two persons were killed by lightning as thunderstorms struck the state and two others were reported missing and presumed drowned in Saginaw Bay after their boat capsized.

Damage estimated at $500,000 resulted from a sudden flood which struck the small town of Ellicott City, Md., outside Baltimore. The town's main street was littered with broken store fronts, wrecked automobiles and water-logged merchandise as Tiber Creek raged through the business and residential sections. Several persons were forced to flee.

Heavy damage was reported yesterday in areas around Baltimore, Washington, and parts of Pennsylvania, New Jersey and New York, all hit by the tail end of the season's first hurricane. The hurricane earlier had battered the Carolina coasts.

A new tropical hurricane whirled up in the Atlantic today about 400 miles northeast of Puerto Rico and 1,300 miles east southeast of the Florida coast. There appeared no immediate threat to any land area.

Rain fell early today over most of the New England states. There also were showers and thunderstorms in the Middle Mississippi an Ohio valleys and the southeastern Great Lakes region. Fair to partly cloudy weather was reported in other areas.

Eisenhower Blasts U.S. Corruption

Washington, Sept. 2—(AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower today cut loose at the Truman administration in earnest for the first time, calling it a mess of corruption and scandal that needs a wholesale clean-up.

"This Washington mess is not a one-agency mess or a one-bureau mess or a one-department mess—it is a top-to-bottom mess," the Republican Presidential candidate said in an Atlanta, Ga., address opening a southern tour.

He said corruption and scandal were brewed by "too many men who are too small for their jobs, too big for their breeches, and too long in power."

The tone of the speech lived up to advance word from his aides that he would pull no punches on his first campaign tour—a quick run through traditionally-Democratic Dixie. Other stops today included Jacksonville, and Miami. He visits Tampa, Birmingham, Ala. and Little Rock, Ark, tomorrow.

The address and the swing through the South emphasized the fact that today the 1952 presidential campaign officially was in full swing.

Governor Adlai E. Stevenson, the Democratic presidential candidate, was back in Springfield, "very well satisfied" with his Labor Day sweep through industrial centres of Michigan which formally opened his drive.

President Truman, who made his first major campaign speech in Milwaukee yesterday, also indicated he is satisfied with the Illinois Governor's program so far. Truman headed for home with plans to make whistle-stop talks in West Virginia.

Stevenson yesterday delivered four speeches, mainly about Labor and foreign policy. Highlight probably was his Detroit address in which he denounced the Taft-Hartley Act as "biased and politically inspired." He said the labor-control statute should be written off the books.

Truman began his swinging yesterday in his typical give-'em-hell style. He was interrupted 46 times at a rally in Milwaukee where he described Eisenhower as the "lonely, captive candidate" of Republican "special interests" trying to "hide behind a new face."

Political Experts Doubting Power To Curb Filibusters

By EDWIN B. HAAKINSON

Washington, Sept. 2.—(AP)—Political campaign promises of an effort to end Senate filibusters are producing some knowing smiles from Senate veterans.

They recall that it has been attempted many times, most recently in 1949, and has invariably failed.

Both Governor Adlai Stevenson, Democratic presidential candidate, and Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, (Rep. Mass.), booster for Dwight D. Eisenhower, the Republican nominee, have pointed up the filibuster issue during the current campaign.

A filibuster is simply a protracted debate or talk to prevent a vote on a controversial issue. In recent years in the Senate this usually has involved such civil-rights legislation as anti-poll tax, anti-racial segregation or similar legislation.

Under a long-respected tradition of unlimited debate, Senate rules now make it virtually impossible to end a filibuster unless at least 64 Senators—two-thirds of the 96—are willing to do this and stay on the job for long hours to accomplish it.

Technically a test of cloture—or limiting debate to obtain a vote—can be obtained if 16 Senators sign a petition.

The difficulty comes in mustering enough Senators to approve what opponents always call "a gag rule."

The Democratic platform this year—in an obvious bid for Negro and other minority votes—contains some general statements about improving congressional machinery to assure majority action.

Stevenson last week pledged that as President he would use his influence "to get the Senate to change its rules under which filibusters have killed civil-rights legislation."

Stevenson noted, however, that the "precise nature of the changes that should be made in the rules of Congress is, of course, a problem for the Congress itself—as President, I could not make the decision."

Lodge promptly accused Stevenson of a "pious, insincere piece of double-talk," noting that Democrats had controlled the Senate for four years.

Lodge now is ranking Republican on the Senate Rules Committee and a candidate for re-election. If he wins and Republicans get control of the Senate, Lodge said that as rules chairman:

"I will fight filibusters as long as it takes to end filibusters. It never has been done and I am the boy who wants to do it."

Veterans agree that as few as eight Senators could conduct a permanent filibuster that would prevent action on any legislation.

The Knowlton High School Band, under the direction of Harry Long, was in fine form as it provided the music on Monday for Brome Fair. These young musicians may be heard again today and tomorrow, on the Grandstand. (Record photo by Gerry Lemay)

New Discovery Aids Fight On Foot And Mouth Disease

Paris, Sept. 2—(AP)—A French scientist today reported a new and faster way of producing foot-and-mouth disease virus—needed for vaccine against the ailment affecting cattle in many countries.

Prof. Andre Thomas, 47, of the University of Paris, told a press conference that his new method increases, by many times the amount of virus which can be produced in any one cow.

He said he also hopes to develop a new, dry, non-perishable vaccine which will knock out all types of the ailment. He read a report on his findings to the French Academy of Sciences yesterday.

Thomas and Education Minister Andre Marie declined to say when the new technique can be developed commercially.

Thomas said the shortage of virus has always been one of the stumbling blocks in the manufacture of foot-and-mouth disease vaccine. The big reason the virus is difficult to obtain is because it must be produced on living tissue, and under carefully-controlled conditions, he said.

The easiest and most common method of producing virus was to inject some into a cow, let it become stricken with foot-and-mouth and then draw off a few grams of virulent matter for the manufacture of vaccine.

This makes it necessary to sacrifice one cow to treat 100 others and the virus sometimes varies, Thomas said.

He explained that his method is to inject several litres of a solution containing bits of tissue of the tongue or a foetus of a healthy cow into the stomach or anywhere under the skin of a cow to be used for virus production. The solution makes the tissue low on protein needed by the virus, thereby giving the tissue a better chance to survive.

This injection, he added, causes a half-inch-thick layer of tissue ideal for the culture of the virus to be formed under the skin of the flanks of the cow. Some virus is then injected into this tissue.

"Where formerly a cow could produce only a few grams of virus," Thomas said, "under this method it can produce 15 kilograms of virus."

The Canadian outbreak of foot and-mouth disease announced last Feb. 26 has ended. Canadian restrictions and quarantines were lifted Aug. 19. Although only 2,000 cattle had to be destroyed, the damage to the Canadian economy may go as high as $100,000,-

CENSORS WATCH IN HOLLYWOOD WHEN COUPLES GO TO 'SLEEP'

Hollywood — Movies Without Popcorn: Olivia de Havilland in a blue negligee is brushing her hair and swapping dialog with British newcomer Richard Burton in a key scene for "My Cousin Rachel." The stars are letter-perfect in their lines, but Director Henry Koster is worried because Olivia and Burton are framed against a four -poster bed.

He holds a conference with the cameraman and a few minutes later the camera set-up is changed. So when you'll see "My Cousin Rachel" in movie theaters you won't see the bed.

In real life when couples go to sleep, the angels watch.

In Holywood, the censors watch.

An Everglades swamp filled with quicksand has been constructed on the U-I lot for "Seminole," a story of U.S. cavalrymen and Indians in 1835. I arrive on the set as Director Bud Boetticher is about to film a scene in which Rock Hudson, Richard Carlson, Jimmy Best and 14 stunt men sink into the sucking mire.

It's done by means of a hydraulic jack, hidden under ground cork, and there's tension in the air as the camera turns.

When the lights go on and a rescue man in a diving helmet reports that all the actors are safe, Boetticher, who directed "The Bulfighter and the Lady," sighs, "Bulls are safer.'

MGM Economy

Elizabeth Taylor, Fernando Lamas, William Powell and Gig Young are the principals at work in MGM's "The Girl Who Had Everything." Lamas, on one side of the room, and Gig, sitting with Liz and Powell on the other side, are bidding against one another for a thoroughbred yearling.

Extras crane their necks as the stars start at $10,000 and raise their bids. At one point, Lamas exceeds the figure in the script and the director calls for another run-through before trying for a "take."

"Twenty thousand, 40 thousand," shrugs Lamas. "Who cares? —it's MGM's money."

Betty Grable, John Caroll and Dale Robertson, coached by Jack Cole, are in the midst of a dream ballet sequence for "The Farmer Takes a Wife" at Fox.

Shapely Betty is dressed in filmy, transparent draperies and there's nothing to indicate that the story takes place on the Erie Canal in 1850.

When I ask about it, I'm told that Betty is indeed a period heroine.

"It's just that she has modern dreams," my studio informant explains.

Ida Lupino, dressed as if she were on her way to a lawn party, is directing Edmond O'Brien and Frank Lovejoy for a tense, brutal scene in "The Difference." It's the story of a maniacal killer, played by Bill Talman, who kidnaps two businessmen on a fishing trip and holds them as hostages.

Says frail, delicate Ida: "All I can say is that I hope my next film will be against the background of a Freach boudoir."

That TV Influence

"The Pony Express" company is shooting outdoors on the Paramount lot and there are more than the usual quota of visitors on hand to watch Charlton Heston, Rhonda Fleming, Jan Sterling and Forrest Tucker at work in front of the studio's permanent western town.

Wranglers guide horses past the camera and dust clouds rise from the ground as a prelude to a gun fight between Heston, as Buffalo Bill, and Tucker, as Wild Bill Hickok.

A small TV-minded boy who is watching the scene with his parents suddenly blurts it out: "If that's Wild Hickok, where's Andy Devine?"

Pretty Debra Paget, whistle stuff in emerald-green leotards, and a group of dancers are being put through their paces by Dance Director Nick Castle in a musical number in the Sousa biography "The Stars and Stripes Forever," at Fox.

As the dancers rehearse, the camera follows them as it will when actual shooting begins. This is Debra's first chance as a musical comedy queen and I'm told that the voice ringing from the play-back machine is her own.

"But not her costume," whispers a studio onlooker. "Betty Grable wore it a couple of pictures back."

AT THE NEW PREMIER

Newlyweds, played by Yolande Donlan and Douglas Fairbanks, indulge in some by-play in this scene from "Mister Drake's Duck", a new British comedy hit which starts tomorrow at the New Premier Theatre, with "The Small Back Room", a gripping and exciting new British picture starring David Farrar and Kathleen Byron.

The annual ice cream social and sale, under the auspices of the United Church, was held recently on the church grounds, with a record crowd attending. The weather was ideal. It was noted with regret that the Bedford Band, which had played during the past years, was not present, that organization having disbanded. However, the band was well replaced by music from the Hammond organ with Mr. A. MacArthur at the keyboard.

It was especially gratifying to those who have worked with the young people to see several of the Junior Choir among those who helped Mrs. MacArthur in serving. Last, but not least, Mr. J. C. Holland was on hand to put the finishing touches to the big job of cleaning up, leaving the lawn looking "as usual."

During the past week, two C.P.R. constables have been in Bedford, checking up on the manner in which the C.P.R. Railway bridge is being used as a public thoroughfare. This bridge is used as a short cut to several factories situated on the other side of the river. At this point where the bridge crosses the river, Pike River, is deep and the bridge is a high one. Recently it has been only by luck that several serious accidents have been averted by some persons using the bridge.

The bridge is conspiciously posted with non-trepassing signs. The constables on their visit to Bedford took the names of all those found using the bridge, who at that time received a warning, not only as regards the danger of crossing, but of the penalties that could be incurred for the use of private property, which was fully posted, as to non-trepassing. Another visit will be paid to Bedford in the near future, by the C.P.R. constables, to again check on the situation, and drastic steps will be taken against all those whose names were taken on the first visit, and who were thoroughly warned against the use of the bridge, if they are again found to be using the bridge.

A concentrated drive will be carried on, until the desired results are obtained. Every effort is being made to bring home to the users of the bridge, the danger of doing so. In addition to the usual daily trains, there are frequent freight trains to take out stone from the quarry of the Shawinigan Chemicals Company's plant, which run at various hours.

JACOBY ON CANASTA

STOCK PILE RULE ISN'T CONFUSING

By OSWALD JACOBY

Written for NEA Service

"Please explain the rule that applies after the last card of the stock pile has been taken," requests a Portsmouth, Ohio, reader.

'In a recent game, the player at my right took the last card of the stock pile. He discarded a king, which I promptly picked up for a meld. This left no cards at all in either the stock pile or the discard pile.

"I then discarded a ten. My opponents had already melded five tens. If the next player picked up the ten, she would have to discard one of the three cards in her hand—and any of them would have given our side a natural canasta.

"What is the rule in this situation? Is she obliged to pick up the ten even though that will force her to make a costly discard? Or does she have a choice in the matter?"

Let's begin by answering the question. The player is obliged to pick up the ten even though that forces her to make a costly discard. She has no choice.

Now let's examine the entire rule. When a player takes the last card of the stock pile, the game may proceed. It doesn't automatically end.

Let's suppose that North draws the last card of the stock pile and dicards a king. It is now East's turn to play.

If East can take that king and add it to a meld that he already had on the table, he must pick the king up; he has no choice. This would not be so, of course, if the discard pile were frozen, for then East would need a fresh pair of king in his hand. But if the pile is unfrozen, and the discard matches a meld on the table, East must take the pile.

Suppose East has no meld of kings on the table, but he does have a pair of kings in his hand, or perhaps one king and a wild card. Must he pick up that discarded king? No. He may pick up the king or refuse it, just as he pleases.

If East has no way at all of melding the king, he naturally cannot act. And if East has kings in his hand (but not on the table) and chooses not to take the pile, he likewise does not act. In such

If East takes the pile and disa case the hand comes to an end. cards, the same rule now applies to South (the next player). She must take the card if it matches a meld that she has on the table. She may refuse to act if it matches cards in her hand that are not on the table.

If South fails to act (which is permissible if the discard does not match one of her previous melds), the hand ends at once. If she picks up the discard and melds it, her discard now puts West (the next player) in the same situation.

This continues until somebody melds out, or legally fails to act. East player in turn may be obliged to pick up a discard and then discard. These forced discards may be very costly at times.

There is one exception to the rule. A player with one card in his hand may never take a discard pile that consists of only one card. If this situation is brought about after the stock pile is exhausted, the hand ends immediately.

Almost 500 Present For Opening Of Syrian Orthodox Church Here

By ARNOLD BARON

Sunday was a proud day for the Syrian Community of Sherbrooke, indeed for all Syrians in North America. The occasion was the consecration of the new Syrian Orthodox Church on Thirteenth Avenue, first church of this denomination in Canada.

Almost 500 persons figured in on this great week-end. They came from many parts of the Province of Quebec, other points in Canada, and from many States of the Union.

His Eminence Mar Athanasius Yeshue Samuel, Archbishop of the Syrian Orthodox Church in North America, officiated at the consecration ceremony and at the first mass immediately after, assisted by Very Rev. Elias G. Sugar, of West New York, N.J., prime mover in the founding of such a church in Sherbrooke; Very Rev. Peter Barsoun, Worcester, Mass.; and Rev. Father Stephen Dorhaly, Detroit, Mich.

Deacons of the consecration and first mass were: George Yaschi and Denis Komery, both of Sherbrooke; Isaac Darakshi and Mr. Becker, both of West New York, N.J.; Aziz Shamo, Detroit; Albert Albert, Boston; and Father Barsoum's son.

Services are held in Aramaic, the language of Jesus Christ. Members claim theirs is the oldest Christian Church.

Among the special guests were: Mayor Emile Levesque, Hon. J. S. Bourque, Provincial Minister of Lands, Forests and Hydraulic Resources, and Mrs. Bourque; Rev. A. J. Oakley, of St. Barnabas Anglican Church, Lake Megantic; Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wark; and Rev. Thomas Hardy, of St. Peter's Anglican Church, Sherbrooke, where the Syrian community had held some of its services before it had a church of its own.

The week-end was one of great rejoicing and thanksgiving for the many persons attending, some of whom hadn't seen each other in years.

Great generosity was shown by members of the church and visitors. Realizing that while the church was now a reality much money would be needed for its upkeep, cash and check donations came thick and fast throughout the day.

Camille Morad, of St. Anne de la Pocatiere, paid $300 for the privilege of being the first person to officially open the door of the new church.

Mike Cassar, of East Angus, paid for the beautiful-sounding bells of the church.

At the reception, held Sunday afternoon in the headquarters of the Dollard Snow Shoe Club, Montreal Road, a building which had also served as a place for religious services of Syrian Orthodox members, Very Rev. Mr. Sugar and the men's and women's committees of the church, which Father Sugar formed, were the recipients of much congratulations by those attending, in English, French and Syrian.

Committees are composed of the following, Men's: Michel Anto, St. George de eBauce, president; George Batrie, Magog, vice-president; Calil Hadad, East Augus, treasurer; S. M. Khazoom, St. Casimir, secretary; A. Zako, Disreali, assistant treasurer; members, Salim Haroom, Victoriaville; Joseph Komery, Denis Komery, Thomas Hendy, all of Sherbrooke; Aziz Hendy, Montreal; and Camille Morad, St. Anne de la Pocatiere.

Ladies: Mrs. Michel Abdalla, Montreal, president; Mrs. Salim Elkas, Sherbrooke, vice-president; Mrs. Mike Cassar, East Angus, secretary; Mrs. Denis Komery, Sherbrooke, treasurer; members, Mrs. Thomas Henry, Mrs. George Cassar, both of Sherbrooke; Mrs. A. Zako, Disraeli; and Mrs. J. G. Jarjour, Montreal.

Father Sugar was master-of-ceremonies at the reception and banquet and a number of speakers were called upon. Formal part of the day concluded with the reading of a list of benefactors of the new church.

In recounting the history of the new church, Louis Cassar, of Sherbrooke, said that a resident priest would arrive from the Middle East in October. He is Rev. Father A. Karmie.

Mr. Cassar said the opening of St. Ephram's Church was the realization of fond hopes of the Mar Ephram Association, hopes which were first kindled many years ago. The impetus behind the Association, indeed, the founder of it, he said, was Father Sugar and he thanked Father Sugar most sincerely on behalf of the Association.

He said the arrival of Archbishop Samuel to this country added strength to the efforts of Father Sugar and the Mar Ephram Association.

Father Sugar, in a few words, said his one hope was to see his people worship in the same way as did their forefathers. "But," he said, "the church door is open to all and everyone who wishes to join in prayer with us."

Father Sugar urged the members to join in welcoming and assisting their new clergyman when he arrives. "My work with you is finished and when I come here again it will be only as a visitor. I urge you to welcome with open arms Father Karmie."

Archbishop Samuel told his "spiritual children" that this was "the happiest day of my life.

"I and many members were afraid of the large finances necessary to build this church in view of the small numbers of our people in this country. So I thank God who helped every one of us to finish the building of this church. I ask our Lord Jesus Christ to bless you all and to bless all the members who have helped to build this beautiful church."

Father Barsoum, pastor of a Syrian Orthodox Church in Worcester, Mass., added his own personal congratulations and those of his congregation. "I have seen thousands of churches in Canada," he said, "but this is the first Syrian Orthodox Church in Canada."

Father Dorghaly added his congratulations and best wishes, speaking in Syrian.

John Strombolly, president of the Board of trustees of a church of this denomination in New Jersey, said: "You must strive to bring in your young element to this church. You must have a Sunday school. The older people, mothers and fathers, must give in to the young priest who is coming to serve here."

Mr. Strombolly invited all to attend the 25th anniversary of his church, St. Mary's, at North Bergen, N.J., October 12. On behalf of his congregation, he donated $100 to the Sherbrooke church.

The new church, located on Thirteenth avenue, between Belmont and Council streets, has pew space for more than 100 but with temporary chairs can accommodate about 200 comfortably, including the balcony where it is expected the choir will be seated. It is a red-brick building with a white-washed interior. The basement has a stage and auditorium space only slightly smaller than the main part of the church itself.

Council Resumes Regular Talks This Evening

Sherbrooke aldermen end their summer recess this afternoon when the regular sessions, suspended for the summer months, will be resumed. From all accounts, this meeting will be dull, the aldermen spending most of their time in the adoption of committee reports which have accumulated during the period when no regular gatherings were held.

The lull in municipal activities is expected to continue for another week. Mayor Emile Levesque is planning to attend the annual convention of the Quebec Union of Municipalities being held this week at Dixville Notch, N.H., as several of the aldermen have indicated their intention of attending at least some of the conferences.

The staff of the City Clerk's office is depleted. City Clerk Antonin Deslauriers is still absent on sick leave and Dan Cupid has played his part in removing two other members for a week at least, Henri-Paul Emond, the Assistant City Clerk, and Miss C. Lemieux, the stenographer in the office, now enjoying a honeymoon after being married at Ste. Jeanne d'Arc Church yesterday morning.

During the absence of Mr. Emond, Albert Rivard, the City Attorney, is charged with the responsibility of administering the City Clerk's office.

Exhibitions And Parades Highlighted Canadian Celebrations Of Labor Day

Canadians celebrated Labor Day week-end, the last holiday of the summer, in generally fine weather with sports and exhibitions among the main attractions.

In the Eastern Townships, Labor Day parades and sporting events were infrequent, although the holiday brought out over ten thousand persons to the annual Brome Fair.

Large crowds of holidayers were reported at the Canadian National Exhibition in Toronto, the Pacific National Exhibition in Vancouver and the Fredericton Exhibition, New Brunswick, as well as at labor parades, regattas, horse racing, baseball, football, boxing and church services.

Festivities were marred by the violent death of 70 persons across Canada. Four others were reported missing. There were 37 traffic deaths, 19 drownings with four missing, and 14 deaths from other causes.

Last year, the total was 53 deaths of which 31 were traffic and 14 drowning.

Ontario had the heaviest number with 26 deaths.

Some 272,000 flocked to the C.N.E. where a five-mile procession of 6,000 members of the A.F.L. and C.C.L. paraded with bands and heard speeches by union leaders. In Hull, Catholic Labor Syndicates held a week-end festival of games and field events, topped by a Pontifical High Mass taken by Archbishop Alexandre Vachon of Ottawa. Labor Minister Gregg, who opened the Fredericton Exhibition, sent out his annual message, while a parade for miners and steelworkers in Sydney climaxed celebrations in Nova Scotia.

Some parts of Canada had poor weather, ranging from frost in parts of West Alberta to cold and wet in Winnipeg where the 46th annual Highland Games were held. Vancouver had perfect weather, but most of Ontario had showers. Rivers, Man., had six inches of rain Saturday and North Bay, Ont., was lashed with heavy rains and winds of hurricane force.

Sportsmen were active from coast to coast. Western golf enthusiasts turned to the Alberta Open Golf Tournament at Calgary and football in Ottawa, Hamilton and Sarnia drew Ontario fans to the season's opening games. Newfoundland celebrations were topped by the annual air show of the Newfoundland Flying Club.

Trans-Canada Bicyclist Escapes Death

A Vancouver man, making a trans-Canada tour by bicycle, narrowly escaped death or injury at Eastman over the week-end when he drove right into the path of a truck and underneath it.

John B. Griffith, 27, is the fortunate individual.

He went underneath a truck, driven by Normand Blouin, 22, of Simplex Automatic Phonograph. The trunk was going down a hill near the railroad tracks and the bicycle was going across its path. The bike skidded on the wet pavement.

Neither the truck nor the bike were seriously damaged and with a few minor repairs to it, Mr. Griffith will be able to cycle home again to Vancouver.

Traffic Officer Maurice Lecours investigated.

Three Injured In Seven-Car Mishap On Montreal Road; Traffic Tied Up

A spectacular pileup of seven vehicles on the Montreal Road, three miles east of Sherbrooke Sunday night, sent three persons to city hospitals, badly damaged several of the vehicles involved and tied up traffic briefly for a mile.

Injured were: Rev. Maynard W. Booth, 51, of Montreal, who is in the Sherbrooke Hospital receiving attention for abrasions to his arms and a fractured vertebrae; Horst Abel, 29, of Asbestos, and Mrs. Abel.

Mr. and Mrs. Abel were allowed to return home after receiving first aid at St. Vincent de Paul Hospital.

Damaged were cars owned by Yvon Hazzard, of Hamilton, Ont.; Rev. Mr. Booth; Jack Gladwich, Armand Nadeau, Q.C., Clovis Lemieux, all of Sherbrooke; and the Abel car.

In sequence, this is the way the strange tie-up occurred: Hazzard's car, coming from Magog to Sherbrooke, near Range 6, was cut out of its path by a truck which swung onto the highway from a rural lane. The truck continued on its way but Hazzard's 1950 Chevrolet met that of Mr. Booth in a head-on collision as the clergyman was driving from Sherbrooke.

Then three cars stopped to see the accident. In order they wer: Mr. Gladwich, Mr. Nadeau and Mr. Lemieux .

The three cars were parked on the side of the highway when a seventh vehicle, driven by Mr. Abel, came upon the scene, going from Magog to Sherbrooke. When the driver saw the disorder on the road, he attempted to put on his brakes, it is reported by Traffic Officer Maurice Lecours. Being a new driver, he got excited and stepped on the accelerator instead.

In order, he hit the cars of Messrs. Lemieux, Nadeau and Gladwich.

Traffic was so tied up that Officer Rosario Bergeron was despatched to the scene to assist Mr. Lecours in straightening up.

The minister's car, a 1950-coach, was demolished in the first wreck. Hazzard's car was badly damaged and the Abel car will cost about $400 to repair. Lesser damage was inflicted on the other vehicles.

The injured were taken to hospital by Gerard Monfette ambulance.

Jean Kelly Is Showered At Scotstown

Scotstown, Sept. 2.—Mrs. D. D. MacLeod, assisted by her daughter, Miss Anne MacLeod, and Miss June Sherman, entertained at a miscellaneous shower for Miss Jean Kelly, a popular September bride-to-be. The guest-of-honour who was completely taken by surprise was, on her arrival, led to a gaily-decorated chair over which hung a large festoon of multi-coloured balloons, which, when popped, showered the bride-to-be with confetti.

Miss June Sherman then pinned a lovely corsage on Miss Kelly, after which she was presented with a prettily decorated basket, filled to overflowing with gifts. She was assisted in opening the daintily wrapped packages by Misses Anne MacLeod and June Sherman. After the gifts were passed around and admired by the many guests, Miss Kelly, in a few well-chosen words, thanked all those present and invited them to visit her in her new home.

Delicious refreshments were then served by Mrs. MacLeod assisted by the young hostesses and their friends. The guests then dispersed to their homes after spending a very pleasant evening.

THE BIG TEST FOR EISENHOWER

General Eisenhower stands on the threshold of what may prove the most gruelling experience of his life. He is entering the intensive phase of his campaign for the presidency.

Since his nomination by the Republicans in early July, the general has been mapping strategy and boning up on many major issues which lay beyond his ken as a soldier-diplomat. Green in politics and untutored in domestic matters, he inevitably has had to listen to a great deal of counsel.

Now the testing time is at hand. The nation will see in the next two months what capacity. Eisenhower has for learning quickly — and from scratch — a host of important things. It will see also whether he has the talent for adaptability that a man needs when he tries to switch occupations in his sixties.

His greenness is really a double handicap. Very probably he has had too much advice. He has been pulled out and hauled in every direction, sometimes by men who merely want a piece of the nominee for their own selfish purposes, sometimes by men who believe they know the one and only way for Eisenhower to win.

If the signs are accurate, all this must have left the general considerably confused, and perhaps beset by doubts of the value attaching to the simple tenets of faith he preaches sincerely whenever he finds opportunity.

To crown his initial political labors with victory, Eisenhower must shed doubt and confusion and give forceful notice that he has learned his lessons well.

In other words, from the welter of advice that has showered upon him since nominating time, he must somehow extract the elements of a positive program that will act as a magnet drawing large blocks of the American electorate to his standard.

The people accept Eisenhower as a man of character and as a man of achievement in certain well-defined spheres. He was nominated because a sufficent number of convention delegates felt the people might easily believe these factors qualify him for broader responsibilities.

Whether these factors do indeed so qualify him is now for Eisenhower to demonstrate. He must show the courage to reject bad advice while he accepts good counsel. He must put his own unmistakable stamp on the constructive, positive ideas he selects from the avalanche that has hit him.

The moment is here, plainly for Eisenhower to be himself above all. Individuals will be angry at the general for rejecting them or their advice. But the voters will have cause for anger — and disappointment — only if he fails to act forthrightly upon the advice he likes.

Only, that is, if he fails to lay before them a program of real promise for America, with the Eisenhower imprint of sincerity and faith marked indelibly upon it.

DESTROYING DEMOCRACY

The government of Prime Minister Daniel Malan of South Africa passed an act to disfranchise colored natives, including those who are half white. The natives took the matter to the courts, and the highest court in the land decided the act was ultra vires of parliament.

Thereupon the government passed another act creating a High Court within the membership of Parliament which would be the supreme legal tribunal of the Union. That body yesterday reversed the decision of the Appeal Court and thereby affirmed the validity of the Act removing natives from the voters' list.

The position adopted by the Parliament of the Union of South Africa is the reverse of that practiced in all other British countries and also in the United States. It is true that parliaments are composed of the elected representatives of the people, but parliaments in turn, appoint lawyers to interpret the laws passed by these legislative bodies. The appeal courts are a buffer between Parliament and the people so that discriminatory laws shall not operate against sections of the people. It is quite easy for a glib tub-thumper to whip up a large following, get himself and them elected to Parliament, and by force of numbers railroad some pet type of legislation through the House. It has happened in our provincial legislatures.

The contention of Prime Minister Malan is that the sovereignty of Parliament is supreme and unchallengable. That is not so. If it was, no government would ever take a case to an appeal court. They do that frequently, and always bow to the decision of the court even if the court says the law is against them. The Alberta government did that some years ago when it attempted to put Social Credit into effect. The Dominion government even asked the Supreme court to give a ruling on the validity of removing the ban on the sale of margarine. Chief Justice Hughes in handing down a decision on an important issue stated that the Constitution of the United States was what the Supreme Court said it was

In the final analysis it is the members of the bench of the highest court in the land that says what is legal and what is not. There are no partisans or crackpots in that court. They have nothing to do except preserve the rights of the people. In South Africa the right to vote has been taken away.

FTC'S OIL CASE MAY DISRUPT FOREIGN POLICY IN MIDDLE EAST

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — The U.S. government's foreign policy and its international defense policy face serious embarrassment as a result of Federal Trade Commission and Department of Justice investigations into an alleged world oil cartel, or monopolistic agreement.

Center of focus in this case is the Middle East. This area now known as Iran, Iraq and Saudi Arabia today contains the world's largest proved oil reserves. It is also one of the world's most sensitive political spots.

This area is important to the United States because all the oil produced here to supply non-Communist Europe and Asia relieves by that much the demand for petroleum products of the western hemisphere.

The two major European producers in this area are Anglo-Iranian Oil and Royal Dutch Shell.

Principal American companies in this area now include Standard Oil of New Jersey, Socony-Vacuum, Arabian-American (which is jointly owned by Texas Company, Standard Oil of California and Standard of New Jersey), Gulf Oil (which shares a concession with Anglo-Iranian) and Bahrein Petroleum. These are the companies which are now on the FTC-Justice Department grill.

When the government of Iran first seized the Anglo-Iranian properties with their world's largest refinery at Abadan, on the Persian Gulf, it completely disrupted the Old World's petroleum supplies. The shortages could be made up only from the western hemisphere.

Defense Agency Got Companies Together

To accomplish this the Petroleum Administration or Defense, operating under Secretary of the Interior Oscar Chapman, organized a voluntary agreeemnt among all U.S. oil companies to work together.

The purpose of the voluntary agreement was to permit the oil companies to give the government information on all oil stocks — where they were and how much they amounted to, week by week.

Then, to supplement the voluntary agreement, what was known as "Plan of Action No. 1" was put into effect by PAD — the Petroleum Administration for Defense. The Plan of Action permitted the oil companies to pool their resources, pool their tankers ,exchange cargoes of oil and petroleum products and fill each others' orders, all over the world.

This was done to relieve the shortage caused by the loss of Iranian production. It made the American "cartel' all the more effective. But this again was done with Department of Justice approval, though it was contrary to the anti-trust laws.

It was stipulated, however, that this Plan of Action was to be limited only to the Iranian crisis. Last month it was decided this crisis was ended. Plan of Action No. 1 was therefore dissolved. The oil companies were turned loose to handle their world trade as full competitors under the free enterprise system and the usual restrictions of the anti-trust laws.

Voluntary Agreement Felt Essential

The original voluntarry agreement remains in effect, however. Department of State, Department of Defense, Department of Interior and its Petroleum Administration all consider the voluntary agreement essential. It furnishes them with complete intelligence on world oil stocks and movements.

It helps the Department of Defense plan its movements of military gas and oil to Korea and Europe. It is essentiel in planning to meet crisis like the recent U.S. oil industry strike. And it helps State Department in its touchy Middle-Eastern diplomatic negotiations.

To keep consistent with its investigation, Department of Justice will move soon to compel PAD to break up its voluntary agreement with the oil companies. And the U.S. foreign oil policy may thereby be thrown into a tailspin.

ECA and MSA claim they were over-charged that much in furnishing $1,2 billion worth of petroleum products to European countries under the American aid programs over the last four years. This claim is now being pressed by Department of Justice. The amount of claims for refund to the government may eventually grow to $100 million.

PRESS COMMENTS

NEGROES' NEWEST

Time

Speaking at of all places, South Africa's Roodepoort Rotary Club luncheon last week, a white anthropologist told his all-white audience that Negroes are the most advanced type of human. "If you can swallow it, the Negro is the true human," declared Dr. Mervyn David Waldegrave Jeffreys. "Man's common ancestor was dark-skinned . . . You." Jeffreys assured his astonished listeners, "are just bleached specimens of original, dark-skinned primitive man . . . While we (whites) were still dark-skinned, the Negro sprang from our dark ancestor. He is the newest species of man . . ."

To defend his thesis, Anthropologist Jeffreys noted some anthropological facts. Gorillas have very thing lips; white's lips are thicker; Negro lips are thick.

Gorillas and whites have abundant hair emerging straight from their bodies; Negroes have little body hair, and what there is grows obliquely.

Whites are thick-skulled, with heavy bones resembling those of early mammals; Negroes have thin skulls, slender bones.

Dr. Jeffreys pointed out that the white man's heart is typically mammalian, with two arteries. Many Negroes have a third large artery supplying the wall of the left ventricle. Better coronary circulation, he feels, explains why Negroes rarely suffer from angina pectoris.

Was the doctor merely pulling the legs of South Africa's Negro-phobes, Said he: "I am perfectly serious . . ."

Labor Camps Figure Prominently In Bulgarian Socialist Economy

Vienna, Sept. 2. — (Reuters) — The concentration camps in Bulgaria have become an important part of that country's economy.

Only a handful of Bulgarians have managed to survive their term in one of the "work-education" camps and escape to the West. Reports they have brought to Vienna build up this picture of the Bulgarian concentration camps:

The number of persons in these camps has remained constant ever since the beginning of this year. There are some 60,000 Bulgarians imprisoned in the forced labor camps for so-called "administrative" prisoners who have not received court sentences.

Another nearly 12,000 Bulgarians are living in separate camps in even worse conditions than the "administrative" prisoners.

These have been tried and sentenced to terms of forced labor. The fact that they are in prison, and their number, is about all that people in the free world know about their fate.

The 60,000 "administrative" prisoners are housed in 20 different "work-education" camps. They were sent to the camps by their local authorities without any right of appeal against the decision.

The camps are divided into six groups according to their place in the national economy:

Coal miners: Some 15,000 prisoners at five camps; power plant: 12,000 at five camps; agriculture: 10,000 at three camps; drainage and water systems: 12,000 at three camps; railway construction: 6,000 at two camps; road construction: 5,000 at two camps.

Of those 60,000 prisoners, about 25 per cent are women who work under slightly better conditions than do male prisoners. Usually the women do not work for more than 12 hours a day — after which they are "re-educated" for at least another hour every day.

The men work a minimum of 12 and a maximum of 15 hours a day. The period they have to serve is usually one year but many do not survive that length of time. There is no account of the dead and they are replaced immediately to keep the work going.

Food is issued to the prisoners only twice a day. Daily rations consists of about 14 ounces of bread and about two quarts of a thin cabbage soup.

A few months ago there were meetings called in all the camps during which the commandants informed the prisoners that their output has been at least 20-percent short.

They were warned not to keep up their "stubborn hostile attitude," and that if they did, punishment would be deportation to the Soviet Union.

Sugar Deficiency Lowers Mentality

London. — Dr. John Matheson, medical officer of Brixton jail, says in a current report that new tests are being tried on criminals who claim loss of memory at the time of their offence.

The test is based on a theory that if certain persons go without food for some hours, the amount of blood sugar falls to an extremely low level.

As the brain depends on blood sugar for nourishment, the doctor's report states, after a period of hunger these people may suffer blackouts and behave abnormally.

As a result of some tests carried out already, Dr. Matheson stated, some criminals have been given lighter sentences. Some have been acquitted. In several cases of minor infringement of regulations at Brixton jail, said the report, it was found that the rules had been broken after the men had been without food for a period.

The report referred to a murder charge of a year ago when a man was found guilty but insane. He had committed the crime after two days without food and authorities were able to establish, to medical satisfaction, that lack of sustenance was a major factor. In the legal sense, said the report, it was considered the man was insane.

The Record Short Story

CHINESE FEAST

By SANFORD JARRELL

It all came about when Miss Gallagher came down with the flu. And while Anne Carter, who usually batted for her, was on vacation Miss Gallagher was private secretary to Hank Vetter, who bulked large physically and in most other respects at Fairfax Studios, where he was publicity chief.

When Hank returned late in the afternoon from one of those endless conferences which are the staff of life to filmland bureaucracy he was astonished and not overly enthusiastic to find his pretty niece, ensconed in Miss Gallagher's office.

"I sent Helen home, darling," Polly explained. "I was in here passing the time of day with her while I was waiting for you and I saw she was a mighty sick girl. Her fever was way up yonder. So I told her I'd take over."

"I guess it's all right," Hank said dubiously. "I'll get one of the girls from the pool tomorrow."

"You will not," said Polly firmly. "She might ball things up right."

"But," protested Hank, "you can't spell. You can't punctuate. You're a lousy typist."

"It has been," purred Polly, "ten years since you dictated a letter to Helen. There are so many stenographers around this joint that they get in each other's hair. Helen Gallagher is your secretary, remember? Makes appointments for you. Keeps all the nuisances away, that is, all but the big nuisances in the high income brackets. Tells you when to go to the dentist. Reminds you that you're to steer some nitwit blonde through a press interview with the boys and girls. Makes you get a haircut. Buys birthday presents on time for Cousin Susan and Aunt Laura. Even goes up to your hotel during her lunch hour and sends out your laundry and dry cleaning. Makes out checks to pay your bills before they start to attack your fat paycheck. That's me, till Anne gets back from her vacation, or Helen is feeling fit again."

And that's how it was a couple of days later when the Chief called for Hank and Polly told him she was sorry, Mr. Fritts, but he had to go to San Francisco last night and won't be back until tomorrow sometime.

The Chief then gave implicit instructions for a job of work for Hank to do the minute he got back and to drop everything else if necessary because there wasn't much time. Next Wednesday night Mr. Darr, the New York banker who was heavily interested, with his associates, in Fairfax would arrive at the airport. He wanted to confer with the Chief and a handful of top studio executives and he would be in town just five hours, leaving on a midnight plane heading north. Mr. Darr thought it would be a splendid idea to "break bread" with the Fairfax execs at the same time, he had informed Mr. Fritts on the phone just now.

"Tell Hank,' 'the Chief continued, "that this is a large order. Mr. Darr is what they call a gourmet. He also is a big eater, like Diamond Jim Brady, eats big and it's got to be just so. He always tells me that he can't get a decent meal anywhere around here; that's why he generally passes up L.A. for 'Frisco when he's on the coast. And makes New Orleans a stopover because of Antoine's.

"See what I mean, Miss Gallagher?" The Chief thought he was talking to Hank's regular secretary. "It's important that we send Mr. Darr away from here feeling good. It's up to Hank. Tell him I'm depending on him to deliver. Dinner for fifteen or twenty; you can get the list from Miss Richmond tomorrow. Seven-thirty sharp Wednesday."

A couple of hours later a wire from Hank arrived. He was flying to New York and would be back Tuesday. This delighted Polly. She would make those dinner arrangements herself.

Hank didn't know he was supposed to be in charge of arrangements until they were tooling down the Hollywood Freeway and he was fit to be tied. Polly wasn't in on the dinner, of course, but was going down to check on things. And she was at the wheel, well aware that her uncle would explode and if he were driving might ram a light standard and cut it in two.

"This is it!" he groaned, after the more sulphuric part of his inner man had burst at the seams. "Taking Darr to New Chinatown! Chop Suey and Chow Mein! What did the Chief say?"

"I don't know, sweetheart," said Polly demurely, "I gave the message to Miss Richmond this afternoon and then ducked out."

"You should. I wonder if I can get a job on one of the papers tomorrow. Or on a city street repair crew? I might even soft-soap one of the railroads to hire me as a gandy dancer; I know the words of 'The Gandy Dancer's Ball'."

He continued along this vein until they parked near the glittering lights of New Chinatown.

"Tourist trap," he growled, as they entered a gawdy structure and Polly guided him down a corridor to a private room in the back. "Imagine bringing a big wheel like Dallas V. Darr into a tourist trap!"

Polly left him at the door of an exquisitely appointed dining room where several of the Fairfax top brass already were sipping cocktails. She heard one of them say, "This your bright idea, Hank?"

Hank Vetter was a big man, not fat but very big, but Dallas V. Darr, the financier, loomed much larger at the table, seated at the right of the Chief. The latter glared at Hank as the twenty guests sat down. Darr himself appeared puzzled but curious, but he seemed pleased when the chicken was brought in. Only it wasn't really chicken, just the shell of the fowl. Whole chickens had been emptied to the skin and then restuffed and what was in them was anybody's guess. Whatever it was it was delicious.

There wasn't much of a "conference" at that many course dinner. Mr. Darr was too busy eating. He did not merely sample the dishes, as Hank and many of the others did. He dived right in and his prowess as a trencherman exacted the awe and admiration of his fellows. A few of the dishes:

Soup made from imported sharks' fins; chicken smothered in walnuts; fried squab and squab soup; Pekin duck with strange, snow-white soft Chinese muffins; frogs' legs baked in vegetables; bacon and shrimp rolled around chicken liver and broiled; mushrooms measuring eight inches in diameter; stuffed lobsters, and a cake of vast dimensions, soaked in rum.

It was after eleven when they had finished and they hadn't yet talked any business. Not once had the Chief been able to bring up the subject of the supercolossal picture they had in mind, based on the battle of Waterloo, and which would call for a lot of financing. It was approaching time to leave for the airport, a long way from North Broadway, and he suggested, a little timidly, that it might not be a bad idea for him to accompany Darr to San Francisco, with some of the other to follow tomorrow.

"Have someone cancel my reservations," the great banker said. "I'm going to stick around a few days. Meantime, I want to meet the chef."

The ageless Chinese Mo who owned the restaurant hurried back with a young man whom he proudly introduced as "my nephew." There was something familiar about the chef, and then it dawned on Hank. He was Tom Ling, a Chinese actor who occasionally had a bit role in a Fairfax picture; last was as a corporal of the South Korean army in a film based on the war there.

While Tom Ling was accepting the enthusiastic praise of Mr. Darr, Hank moved toward the head of the table and got in a word edgewise.

"Tom Ling," he said, "is an actor, I'll bet a dollar to a doughnut."

"We can use," said the Chief, "Mr. Ling in 'Waterloo'."

Hank wondered how a Chinese actor could play a role in a Napoleonic film, but of course a way could be found if the Chief so decreed.

"Keep him around, Fritts," commanded Mr. Darr. "By all means keep him around. I'll spend more time in L.A. if you'll lend him to me when I'm out here. By the way, Tom, why are you working here?"

"My income," explained the chef (he was a Stanford graduate, and spoke excellent English), "my income from the studio is not exactly steady, so when I'm not busy there I help my uncle."

"There will be," said the Chief, "a change made and a contract, Tom. Can you see me tomorrow morning at eleven?"

* * *

On the way back to his hotel, Hank told Polly, "Well, my adorable and unpredictable niece, you have scored again. How come?"

"One of my best friends," said Polly, "is Tom Ling's wife. I've been to their place lots of times. They have the cutest baby. And all he needed to get places at the studio was a break."

"He's got it now," said Hank, who was driving, and Polly reached over and kissed him on the cheek.

HURRYING TO DRAW MAY CAUSE TROUBLE

When you're playing a difficult trump contract, don't be in a hurry to draw all of the trumps. Drawing trumps is the best plan on most easy hands, but is seldom the right way to begin difficult hands.

In today's hand, for example, South had to leave one trump out to make his contract. The reason is easier to show than to explain.

West opened the king of spades and continued the suit, South ruffing. Declarer could now afford to draw two rounds of trumps with the ace and the king, but then he had to stop.

Declarer next switched to diamonds, and East shrewdly allowed dummy's king of diamonds to win the first trick in that suit. Declarer continued diamonds, and East won with the jack.

Now East led a third round of spades, and South was glad that he had left two trumps in the dummy. He could ruff the spade with dummy's low trump, ruff out the ace of diamonds, and return to dummy by leading a trump to the queen in order to take the rest of the tricks with the established diamonds.

See what would happen if South made the mistake of drawing three rounds of trumps at the very begining. East would refuse the first diamond trick, but would win the second with the jack. He would then return a spade.

If South ruffed in dummy, he would thereby use up the last entry to dummy's diamonds. If he ruffed in his own hand, it would use up his own last trump, after which it would be quite impossible to bring in dummy's diamonds.

Allies Halt Red Attacks On Defences

Seoul, Korea, Sept. 2 —(AP)— United Nations infantrymen today repulsed three light Chinese thrusts against Allied defences in the Old Baldy and Bunker-Siberia hill sectors on the Korean western front.

The battle-scarred terrain was won in recent weeks by United States troops in especially bitter fighting.

Clouds cut Allied air raids over North Korea after the U.S. navy's spectacular strikes yesterday near the Manchurian and Siberian borders. Carrier planes blasted the Aoji refinery, Musan iron works and the big northeast port city of Chongjin.

Fighter-bombers cut through the mist and hit Red supply areas behind the western front.

Pyongyang radio Monday reported the death of a prominent North Korean official and it is possible he died in the big Allied air blow at that Communist capital last Friday.

The radio said only that the official, Kim Yong San, chief of the North Koreap government's electric bureau, died "in action" Friday. It did not say where. Among the targets in the Pyongyang raid was the underground used by Red leaders.

The new Commonwealth division commander in Korea, Maj.-Gen. Michael M. Alston-Roberts-West, arrived today in Tokyo by air from Britain by way of Canada.

Alston-Roberts-West will leave for Korea Thursday to take over command from Maj.-Gen. A. J. H. Cassels, who is returning to a British army command in Germany.

Communist truce negotiators at Munsan again today quickly followed a United Nations announcement of a prisoner-of-war incident with a protest.

It was the third such note in four days—a strong indication that the Reds closely monitor Allied news broadcasts during the current recess in armistice talks.

The U.N. said yesterday that 16 captured Reds on Koje island were injured by guards quelling a demonstration Saturday. Another prisoner was found hanged — an apparent suicide — the U.N. added.

Lie Urges Early Korea Armistice

United Nations, N.Y., Sept. 2—(AP) — Secretary-General Trygve Lie said last night that public opinion in most of the United Nations would enthusiastically welcome a Korean armistice arranged approximately on the basis of present battle lines.

In his annual report to the U.N. General Assembly which convenes here Oct. 14, Lie said disappointments in the Korean truce negotiations had "given rise to impatience, resentment and doubt." Most of these reactions would disappear if the truce talks were successful, he added.

The report said the U.N. was almost universally regarded as the main hope for peace in the long run. But there is a general tendency, he added, "to believe that the United Nations cannot be considered as the sole or even the main, instrument for the preservation of peace at present."

New Offer Halts N.S. Steel Talks

Sydney, Sept. 2. — (CP) — A Sydney union official said last night delay in handing down a conciliation board report on a contract dispute in this Cape Breton industrial centre was caused by new proposals from the Dominion Steel and Coal Corporation limited.

Ben O'Neill, president of the 4,700-member Sydney local of the United Steel Workers of America (C.I.O.-C.C.L.) said the company proposals suggested a review of the job evaluation issue, a stumbling block in reaching a settlement.

A meeting of the conciliation board scheduled for yesterday at Halifax was called off while the union considered the company offer.

The board had previously failed to reach a settlement on wage demands, blocking a new contrast since March. The union, seeking wage parity with Ontario steel plants, rejected a company offer of an eight-cent hourly wage boost and demanded an 11-cent increase over the present basic salary of $1.32½ an hour.

Kure, Japan, Sept. 2.—(AP) —A Korean sued an Australian soldier and the Australian government for 2,000,000 yen ($5,500) for the death of his child, allegedly run over by the solider's jeep, Kyodo news agency reported today.

A suit filed with the Kure district court by Ri Sho Sho, 46, also demanded that the court impound the salary of Cpl. Hanley pending court decision.

Iran Attacks Truman For British Aid

Tehran, Iran, Sept. 2.—(AP)—The Nationalist newspaper Shahed today bitterly assailed President Truman for joining Prime Minister Churchill in their joint proposal to end the Anglo-Iranian oil dispute. The paper said Truman should tell Britain the "only way open to them is unconditional surrender to the rights of the Iranian people."

The editorial was the first comment by an important newspaper here since the United States ambassador, Loy Henderson, and the British charge d'affaires, George Middleton, submitted the proposal to Prime Minister Mohammed Mossadegh last Saturday. The aged Nationalist leader at once rejected it verbally.

Mossadegh has called Parliament's lower house, the Majlis, to meet Sept. 10 to help him frame a formal reply to the proposal. Iran is observing important religious holidays.

Shahed was particularly displeased with the American offer to loan $10,000,000 if Iran would agree to let the International Court of Justice arbitrate the Anglo-Iran Oil Company's claim for compensation for its nationalized properties in the country.

"We request Henderson," the paper wrote, "to inform his master this country is not for sale at any price. We are willing to sell our oil, but we cannot trade in terms of our independence."

The paper indicated it believed Iran might turn communist if the West was not careful how it deals with the situation here.

Four Persons

Labrie still in hospital with face, tongue and other cuts and bruises.

At North Hatley, three young women were injured in front of the Pleasant View Hotel when a bus started up without the efforts of the driver.

Blake, Johnston's ambulances and Dr. Wells drove the following up to the Hotel Dieu after the mishap about 7.15 o'clock last night: Therese Madore, 25, of Montreal; Madeline Lauzon, 25, Cartierville; and Constance Leblanc, 26, of Montreal. The girls suffered lacerations and bruises when they jumped or fell out of the open door of the North Hatley bus as it started by itself while it was loading up in the driveway of the Pleasant View.

The flight of the bus was arrested by a crash against a tree just before reaching the main road.

But most of the accidents didn't injure humans, such as the one's reported below.

Traffic Officer Hubert Lawrence, of Bury, reports the case of a Sherbrooke taxi driver who was given a literally hot seat Sunday morning.

Florian Boutin, 25, of 98 St. Michael street, Sherbrooke, driving a 1942-model Dodge sedan on the Bury-Bishopton road, felt warm in his car about 9.45 o'clock Sunday morning. Getting out of the auto, he discovered that the under part of the vehicle had caught fire. Before anything could be done about it, the "whole thing was burned right back from the windshield.

Although Boutin wasn't hurt, the car cannot be used again.

Mr. Lawrence reports another accident which happened about four o'clock Sunday morning. Marcel Houde, 20, of St. Isidore d'Auckland, was driving to that village from Sawyerville when two cows "jumped" onto the road. Though he tried to avoid the animals, one of them, a 7-year-old, valued at $150, was killed instantly, while Houde's car, a Monarch sedan, 1946-model, was damaged, also to the extent of $150 as the front end of the car was "jammed up."

Provincial Officer Ernest Cote, whose beat is the Windsor Mills district, reports the following:

At 1.40 o'clock Sunday morning, a 2-ton Ford 1945-model truck, driven by Alfred Cote, 37, of Bromptonville, coming from Stoke, tried to get on the Bromptonville bridge before another car would meet him at the entrance and he would have to stop.

The other car, a 1949 Meteor coach, coming in the opposite direction, was about sixty feet from the entrance to the bridge when Cote started up. Cote struck a brace on the bridge and the car spun off and hit that of Maurice Desruisseaux, Ascot Corner.

About $300 damage was inflicted on the car and $500 on the truck. There is also the matter of the bridge to repair. Officer Cote says it is a miracle that neither of the two drivers was injured, if not killed.

Officer Cote also reports a three-car pile-up on the road between Windsor Mills, Sunday afternoon around 12.30 o'clock.

Albert Paquette had parked his 1940-model Dodge coach on the side of the road, three miles out of Windsor Mills. A car driven by Levis Bolduc of Windsor Mills, going to Richmond, hit the first car in the rear. A third car, a 1951-model Dodge sedan, plowed into the rear of the second car. The last car was driven by Thomas Bernier, a visitor from New Hampshire. Damages on the cars, in order, were: $10, $150, and $100.

No one was injured.

Chicago, Sept. 2.— (AP) —More than 500 persons lost their lives in accidents in the United States over the Labor Day holiday, but the toll was far below the record of 658 violent deaths a year ago.

The death toll for the holiday, the last long week-end of the summer season, was 524.

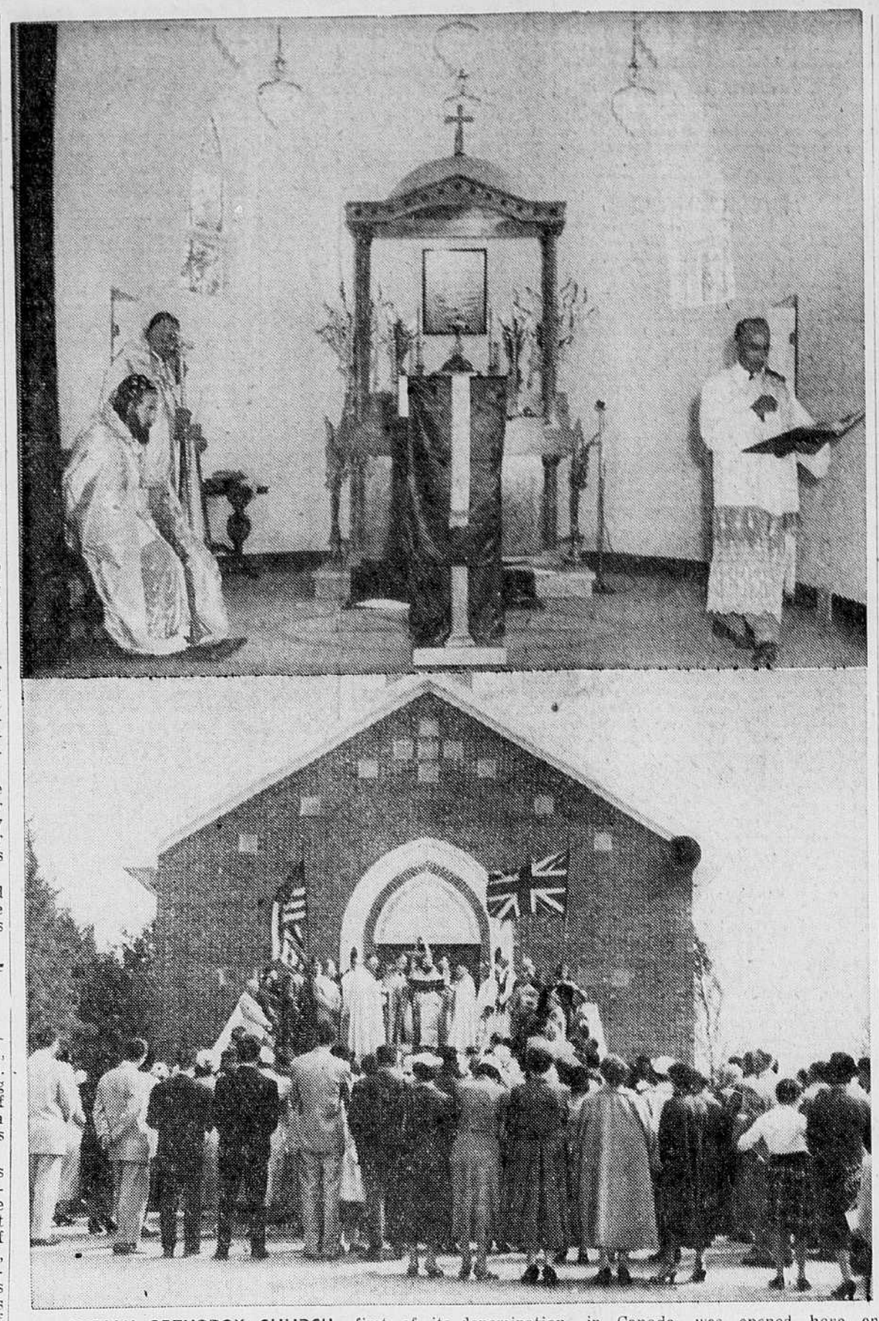
Accidents on the highways, as usual, took the heaviest toll, with 403 killed in traffic mishaps. Fifty-two persons were drowned and 69 others lost their lives in miscellaneous accidents.

The traffic total compared with last year's record 461 deaths. It was below the 480 deaths estimated for the three-day holiday by the National Safety Council.

However, Council President Ned H. Dearborn said it was "a shocking thing to think that the (traffic) figure cauld rise over 400 on a day dedicated to rest and relaxation. The people of America should wake up to this inexcusable slaughter."

Rainy weather over wide areas of the east and midwest was considered a possible factor in cutting down the traffic toll, keeping many persons at home. However, the wet highways made driving conditions more hazardous for the millions who made trips.

The accident toll covered the period from 6 p.m. Friday to midnight Monday (local time).



SYRIAN ORTHODOX CHURCH, first of its denomination in Canada, was opened here on Sunday. The top picture was taken during the consecration service immediately before the first mass which was celebrated by His Eminence, Archbishop Samuel, head of the Syrian Orthodox Church in North America. His Eminence is shown at left. Almost 500 persons from many parts of the United States and Canada came to Sherbrooke to join with the local Syrian community for this happy occasion.

Bottom photo shows part of the large crowd assembled outside the church, which is located on Thirteenth avenue, between Belmont and Council streets. "Old Glory" and the Union Jack wave after the service and mass which was conducted in the ancient Aramaic tongue, the language of Jesus Christ. Members of the Syrian Orthodox Church claims theirs is the oldest Christian church. (Record photos by Gerry Lemay).

Tunis Reform Plan Opposed

Tunis, Tunisia, Sept. 2.— (AP) — Representatives from nearly every walk of life in Tunisia yesterday advised the Bey of Tunis to reject Paris-proposed reforms for this troubled French protectorate.

The government now is administered by a French Resident-General under the direction of the French Foreign Ministry. Resurgent nationalism is strong.

After a stormy session with the Resident-General last month, during which the Bey refused to sign the proposed reforms, the Bey called in 40 leading Tunisians to advise him on the plan.

A commission of 12 chosen by the 40 reported yesterday that the French proposals represented a backward rather than a forward step for Tunisia.

The reforms provide for more Tunisians in the now half-French cabinet, but with the French retaining the key defence and foreign affairs posts; a civil service open only to qualified Tunisians; a Supreme Court half French and half Tunisian; a two-house consultative assembly consisting of an all-Tunisian Legislative Council and a half Tunisian, half French financial council; an elected municipal council in towns and cities.

hibits of maple products in both the main building and the floricultural.

Once again the names of Marshall Miller, B. A. Ryan, Warwick and Percy Fox are high on the list of prize winning exhibitors in the cattle department.

In the Jerseys, Mr. Ryan's Shadybrook Farm, at West Brome, showed the junior male and female champions and copped a number of other firsts, including the fine team of Belgian horses which has been a winner for the past four years.

Lorrie Eden, of Knowlton, showed the male senior champion, and the Fox brothers also took a number of firsts, in Guernseys and Scotch shorthorns.

Sheep entries although less numerous than usual, were of a good standard, but no facts were available yesterday on the hogs. However, complete prize lists in all these departments, will be published as soon as received.

Brome Fair continues in full swing today and tomorrow and, given fairly decent weather, should top all records of previous years.

Cairo, Egypt, Sept. 2—(AP)— Prime Minister Aly Maher has told army officers that the United States promised sizable point-four aid for the industrialization of the country and reclaiming of the desert, Cairo newspapers reported today.

The U.S. already has announced that $150,000 in point-four funds will be advanced to help the land-recalamation scheme. The Egyptian government has drawn up elaborate plans for reclaiming about 3,000,000 acres of now useless desert.

Moscow, Sept. 2—(AP)—The Soviet press today voiced strong support of the Veteran Indo-Chinese Communist leader, Ho Chi-Minh, and his anti-French Vietminh Forces.

Editorials in every important Moscow paper praised the Vietminh's "stubborn struggle against the French Interventionist armies" and predicted the communist-led troops will win final victory.

The editorials were published in observance of the seventh anniversary of the proclamation of Ho's "Democratic Republic of Viet Nam," which the Soviet Union has recognized.

(Most major western powers do not recognize Ho's fugitive government, but have established diplomatic relations with the French-sponsored republic of Viet Nam headed by former Emperor Bao Dai.

(The United States also is supplying arms and military advisors to French and Viet Nam forces in Indo-China.)

Phyllis Rowe Was Honored At East Angus

East Angus, Sept. 2. — Miss Phyllis Rowe, a popular bride of the month, was guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower on Friday, August 22, at the home of Mrs. Ransom Hayes.

Upon arrival, Miss Rowe was escorted to a prettily-decorated chair. Later two huge baskets, laden with gifts, were brought in and the bride-to-be, assisted by her aunt, Mrs. H. Migneault, unwraped the attractive gifts. She then thanked her many friends for the lovely gifts and invited them to visit her in her new home.

A few games were played, after which the hostesses, Mrs. E. Fearneley and Miss Louise Hayes, served refreshments.

The Ladies' Guild of Christ Church held an afternoon tea at the home of Mrs. Robins on August 14th, in honor of one of its members. Mrs. T. Moorse who is leaving shortly to make her home in Montreal. Several of the members being away on holidays including the President, Mrs. Bailey, the tea table was presided over by Mrs. Willard who poured.

The table was attractive with a lace cloth and a center of summer flowers and candles in silver holders.

JUPITER PLUVIUS MAY HAVE HAND IN DECIDING PENNANT RACE

Ray Scarborough, Red Sox Castoff, Turns On Former Mates As Yanks Win; Indians Split; Giants Divide Bill

Jupiter Pluvious may have a hand in deciding the American League pennant this year.

No, Jupiter Pluvius is not another castoff plucked by the New York Yankees for their stretch drive although he proved to be as helpful to the world champions as Ray Scarborough, the refugee from the Boston Red Sox.

The two combined to increase the Yankees' first-place margin to 2½ games over Cleveland yesterday. Scarborough, purchased last week from the Red Sox, handcuffed his former mates with three hits last night, pitching the New Yorkers to a 5-1 triumph.

Old man rain helped the St. Louis Browns defeat Cleveland, 2-1, in the second game of the double-header after the Indians had won the opener, 9-3.

St. Louis failed to score in the fifth and the Indians rallied for three runs in the top half of the sixth to take a 4-2 lead. As the Browns prepared to bat in their half of the sixth, a rain storm broke. As a result, the three runs were wiped out and the score reverted back to the fifth inning with St. Louis winning, 2-1.

Rain washed out Brooklyn's scheduled twin bill in Philadelphia but the Dodgers retained their nine-game lead in the National League as the second place New York Giants divided a double-header in Boston. The Braves came back to win the second game, 5-1, after the Giants had captured the opener, 3-1.

In addition to washing out the scheduled twin bill between the Detroit Tigers and White Sox in Chicago, the rain forced the Yankees and Red Sox to call off their two afternoon games in New York.

The Yankees, however, managed to salvage something by playing one of the games in the evening to mark the first time a Labor Day game ever was played at night. A crowd of 16,529 saw it. But for a first-inning home run by Billy Goodman, Scarborough would have had a shutout.

Joe Collins smashed two round trippers. Irv Noren and Yogi Berra hit two others and Mickey Mantle got a triple. The homer was Berra's 29th, tying the American League record for a catcher in a single season. Bill Dickey of the Yankees hit 29 in 1937. The major league mark of 37 was set by Gabby Hartnett of the Chicago Cubs in 1930.

Splits marked all other double-headers. Philadelphia's fourth place Athletics won a 10-inning 9-8 opener from Washington but the Senators came back to take the nightcap, 4-2.

Cincinnati emerged with a split, winning the second game, 3-2 after the St. Louis Cardinals had walked off with a 6-0 opening win. Chicago's Cubs thrashed Pittsburgh, 6-0, but the Pirates won the second game, 5-4.

Early Wynn registered his 18th triumph as the Indians backed him with a 14-hit attack against loser Gene Bearden and Tommy Byrne. Two-run homers by Luke Easter and Wally Westlake highlighted the Indians' victory. Clint Courtney two-run homer in the second inning off Bob Lemon accounted for all St. Louis' second game runs. Satchell Paige went the curtailed distance to register his 10th victory against nine defeats.

CALVERT CUP PRESENTED: Rene Pepin, third sacker of the Sherbrooke Athletics, of the E. T. Intermediate Baseball League, Sunday was presented with the Lord Calvert Trophy as "Player of Distinction" with the local baseball Club this year. Pepin, who is also a hockey player of distinction with the Sherbrooke Saints of the Q.S.H.L., is shown above receiving his trophy, made possible by the votes of local ball fans, from Henry Delorme, area manager of the Calvert company.

Looking on at left is Billy James, business manager of the A's and, at right, Tony Pinard, president and coach of the local club. The Athletics dropped the Sunday game at Dufresne Park, 13-12, to Megantic Giants but defeated the Giants 5-1 at Megantic Monday to take the semi-finals series 4-2 in games. Sherbrooke now meets Asbestos Canadians for the league championship. A protest over the result of the first game of the semi-final was accepted by League authorities and gave Sherbrooke their third win, going into the week-end contests. (Record photo by Gerry Lemay).

Football Season, Hardly Past Warming-Up Stage, Is Evident That No Team Will Win In Walkaway

The football season, hardly past the warming up stage, has already provided ample evidence that no team in the West and East is going to make their league race any walkaway.

Calgary Stampeders, who trailed in the Western Union the last two seasons, got off to a great start this year with three straight wins but Edmonton Eskimos took them down a loop last night, coming from behind in the final quarter to score a 17-10 decision and hand the Stamps their first defeat.

The Eskimos' triumph gave them a split in the two week-end games against the Stamps. Saturday night the Stamps opened the season in Calgary with a 14-7 victory over the Edmonton club, still yet to see playing coach Frank Filchock in action because of a pre-season injury.

The Edmonton victory was as surprising as Toronto Argonauts' 33-13 trouncing of Hamilton Tiger-Cats in the Big Four opener at Hamilton yesterday. The Tiger-Cats, picked as the team to beat in the east, played dismally before a home crowd of 16,000 who were amazed to see a high-powered Argonaut team directed by quarterback Nobby Wirkowski manhandle the highly-favored Tiger-Cats.

The other Labor Day action saw Winnipeg Blue Bombers come from behind to beat Saskatchewan Roughriders 16-8 and Sarnia Imperials wallop Toronto Beaches 46-0 in the opening game of the Ontario Rugby Football Union season at Sarnia.

The week-end wasn't a total loss for Beaches for on Saturday night in Brantford they whipped that city's new entry in the league 17-11. The Windsor-Brantford game scheduled for Monday night in Brantford was postponed because of rain.

Calgary's split with Edmonton left them still on top of the Western League with three wins and one defeat. The Blue Bombers, off to a bad start with a loss and a tie in the first two games after being rated the team to beat in the west, are in second place one point behind.

Their two victories and a tie gives them a two-point edge over Edmonton who has one win and tie against two losses. Saskatchewan is in last place with only one win in four games.

Argos are tied for first place with the Grey Cup champion Ottawa Rough Riders, who won their league opener 32-28 against Montreal Alouettes last Wednesday night. The Tiger-Cats and Als are tied for third place, both teams having lost their only game they have played.

Beaches and Sarnia are tied for the top in the O.R.F.U. with one win each.

St. Hyacinthe Splits With Cubs To Remain On Top In Provincial; Braves And Three Rivers Win Doubleheaders

St. Hyacinthe Athletics remained atop the Provincial Baseball League standing Monday, spliting a doubleheader with Drummondville Cubs. The Cubs won the opener 3-2 but the Athletics came back in the nightcap to win 7-3.

In other games played Monday, Quebec Braves took both ends of a doubleheader from St. Johns Canadiens, 4-2 and 6-2. Three Rivers Yankees trounced the lowly Granby Phillies 9-0 and 9-2 in another doubleheader.

In the first game at St. Hyacinthe, the Athletics opened the scoring with a run in the third inning and another in the fifth. Drummondville got one in the fifth and two more in the seventh for the victory.

Ackroyd Smith pitched for the winners and Byers was the loser.

In the second game both teams played errorless ball. George Carpentier pitched the Athletics to victory while Smith was tabbed with the loss.

At Quebec, two runs in the sixth inning were enough to give the Braves their victory. Quebec got off to a flying start with two runs in the first frame but didn't score again until the sixth. The Canadians scored twice in the fourth inning.

Ray Lague toiled for the Braves while Herb Taylor hurled for St. Johns.

In the second game, Quebec played errorless ball and started off with five runs in the opening frame. Robinson pitched the Braves to victory and Bobby Long toiled for the Canadiens. At Granby, Three Rivers played errorless ball to defeat the last place Phillies. The Yanks bunched two runs in the fourth inning, three in the fifth and four more in the sixth.

Hamers toiled for the Yankees and Jones was the loser.

Waters hurled the Yanks to victory in the nightcap. He allowed eight hits and made only one error. Bob Fiocchi was the losing pitcher.

Three Rivers came through with a run in the first frame, two in the sixth and five in the ninth. Granby runs were scored in the second and seventh innings.

Jimmy Carter Scores Decision Over Marie

Dartmouth, N.S., Sept. 2.—(CP)—Former world lightweight boxing champion Jimmy Carter last night won a unanimous 10-round decision over Brooklyn's Basil Marie under the lights at the ball park here.

Carter, pressing all the way, used a hard right hand to keep Marie at bay. Both fighters weighed 133. Carter is the leading contender for the lightweight crown now held by Lauro Salas.

In the six-round semi-final Harry MacLean decisioned Dartmouth's Bob Ledley. The Bathurst, N.B., fighter at 158, was two pounds lighter than Ledley.

Maritime amateur featherweight champ Clarence Doucette of Westville, N.S., dropped a six-round preliminary decision to LeRoy Jones of Halifax.

Ivan Carr Paces New Westminster To 4-2 Win Over Montreal Stelco In Canadian Soccer Championships

Winnipeg, Sept. 2.— (CP) —New Westminster Royals, paced by inside right Ivan Carr, last night took a one-game lead in a best-of-three series for the Canadian soccer championship, defeating Montreal Stelco 4-2 before a crowd of 10,000 fans.

Carr scored three goals for the British Columbia winners as the two teams slipped and slid on a field made greasy by intermittent rains.

The second game will be played here Wednesday.

Gogie Stewart, showing brilliant footwork, scored the other New Westminster goal. Montreal scorers were John Godley and John Serrati.

Royals opened the scoring at 10 minutes of the first half. Carr counted on a low shot from close-in after taking a header from Lex Henderson, centre forward.

Godley tied it at 25 minuaes, heading in right fullback Maurice Cockburn's good crosslin shot. Carr made it 2-1 at 37 minutes. He booted in the rebound after Bill Gill, Montreal goalie, had saved a hard drive by Paul Fabris.

Royals surged ahead 3-1 at 10 minutes of the second half, Carr scoring on a penalty shot awarded after Bill McKenna tripped Fabris. Carr, coming in with a strong boot, hit the right lower corner of the net.

Montreal cut the lead to 3-2 about ten minutes later when Serrati was tripped. He took the penalty shot and caught the lower right-hand corner.

Stewart ran the score to 4-2 at 30 minutes, ending a double relay from Fabris and Carr. The ball, shot from 30 feet out, struck the cross bar and bounded into the net.

Bitter Battle Rages For Last Playoff Spot In International; Syracuse Cops Second Position

With less than a week to go on the regular International League schedule, a bitter battle still rages for fourth place, the last spot in the Shaughnessy Cup playoffs.

Fourth-place Toronto and Buffalo's Bisons, 3½ games back in fifth, split a doubleheader yesterday. The Bisons copped the first game, 5-4, and the Leafs the abbreviated nightcap, 5-2.

Buffalo scored the deciding run in the first contest when Bill Tuttle tripled in the fourth inning and scooted home on a fly ball. Babe Birrer gained his eighth victory and Johnny Hitki suffered his seventh setback.

In the second game, the Leafs went ahead 1-0 in the third and added two more runs in both the fourth and fifth as Wilmer Fields slashed a double and single to drive in two runs. Hal Hudson scattered five hits for his 10th triumph.

Syracuse Chiefs, following Montreal's example, clinched second place by sweeping a doubleheader from the third-place Rochester Red Wings, 7-3 in 14 innings, and 4-3. The Royals sewed up their second straight flag Sunday.

The Chiefs, currently the hottest team in the loop with a nine-game winning streak, had Arnie Landeck stagger to his 10th victory in the marathon opener. Landeck gave up 16 hits, walked two and fanned one. Syracuse pounced on Fred Martin, fourth Red Wing hurler, for four runs in the 14th on four hits and a walk to sew up the battle.

Bobo Holloman yielded nine hits in posting his 15th victory in the afterpiece. The Chiefs won out with two in the eighth on a walk, a sacrifice Carden Gillenwater's single and Fenton Mole's double.

Rain washed out doubleheader between Montreal and Ottawa and Baltimore and Springfield.

St. Aloysius Edges Verdun Bulldogs 11-10

Montreal, Sept. 2. — (CP) — Montreal St. Aloysius Orphans yesterday edegd Verdun Bulldogs 11-10 in the opening game of the Quebec Rugby Football Union.

Joe Dicenso and Al Russell scored majors for St. Als. Andy Bernoff's got the convert for the winning point.

Sport Takes Over Labor Day At C. N. E. As American Athletes Cop Spotlight With Top Performances

Toronto, Sept. 2— (CP) —Labor Day at the Canadian National Exhibition is spelled S-P-O-R-T.

The union men had their traditional holiday parades with dozens of bands and 2,000 C.I.O. men and 4,200 A.F.L. men marching, but the rest of the two-week show's eighth day was turned over to the athletes.

There were several events in the track meet for union men and their families—ranging from three-legged to donkey races—but most of the 25,000 spectators' acclaim went to three United States Olympic team members. Rev. Bob Richards, Olympic pole vault champion, swung up and over the cross bar at 15 feet 1⅛ inches to break the Canadian open and meet records of 15 feet ⅛ inches he set Saturday.

Wes Santee of the University of Kansas set another meet mark, covering the one-mile handicap in 4 minutes 22.6 seconds, while Jim Gathers, United States Air Force man, won both the 100-yard and 220-yard handicaps.

The first in a week long series of Canadian motor boat championship races opened at the waterfront. Top award went to Harry Stone of Toronto.

The women's world softball championships tournament also opened today. Three Canadian and 16 United States and Hawaiian teams will meet in the tournament which continues to Saturday.

The C.N.E.'s top social event, the six-day National Horse Show, was officially opened last night by Exhibition President J. A. Northey. Top-hatted first-nighters were treated to their first performance by the Do-Si-Ettes, a square-dancing troup of 24 orphan children from Calgary, who will perform nightly at the blue-ribbon show.

Knobby Wirkowski Hurls Argos To 33-13 Win Over Tiger-Cats With Brilliant Display Of Throwing

Hamilton, Sept .2.— (CP) —Little Knobby Wirkowski, his firing arm working like a charm, guided Toronto Argonauts to a 33-13 victory over Hamilton Tiger-Cats yesterday in the opening game of the Big Four Football League.

Wirkowski shook the pre-season forecaster and the 16,500 fans with a brilliant display of passing that baffled the favored Tiger-Cats from the start.

The shifty quarterback took to the air early in the game when it was obvious that Toronto's ground offensive was getting nowhere. Before the first quarter ended he had hurled two touchdown passes. From then on, it was just a question of how many payoff passes he could make.

Four of the five Toronto touchdowns—by Doug Smylie ,Ulysses Curtis, Al Bruno and Doug Pyzer—were scored on Wirkowski passes. The other game from Kirkowski himself on a plunge through the line. Bob Heck converted all majors and booted a three-point placement in the final quarter.

Hal Waggoner scored both Hamilton touchdowns. Tip Logan got the converts. The other Hamilton points came on a kick to the deadline by Bill Brady.

Argos' defensive line gave Wirkowski all the protection he needed to hit his receivers. The receivers rarely missed a catch.

Bruno started Argos off early in the first quarter when he snagged a short pass and went over the line on the run. Doug Smylie got the next touchdown on another short pass after Wirkowski had pitched the ball downfield from the Tiger-Cats' 40.

Winnipeg Blue Bombers Come Up With 16-8 Win Over Saskatchewan To Consolidate Hold On Second Spot

Regina, Sept. 2.—(CP)—Winnipeg Blue Bombers yesterday came from behond to defeat Saskatchewan Roughriders 16-8 and consolidate their hold on second place in the Western Football Conference.

Playing coach Glenn Dobbs came off the Regina bench in the last quarter after Winnipeg took the lead and the ace quarterback of last year's Western champions filled the air with passes.

But an old rival, quarterback Jack Jacobs' great forward-passing display that assured Winnipeg of victory.

A holiday crowd of 12,000 saw Riders come from behind a 1-6 deficit at half time to take an 8-6 lead in the third quarter. But a single in that frame plus a field goal and a converted touchdown in the fourth quarter gave Bombers victory.

Gerry Palmer and Mel Embree scored touchdowns for Winnipeg and Bud Korchak booted a field goal and two converts. Jacobs added another point for Winnipeg on a kick to the deadline.

Doug Belden scored Riders' major. Butch Avenger booted two singles with Joe Masnghetti kicking for another point.

It was the third straight defeat for Saskatchewan after a win over Edmonton in their

Harry Matthews Puts Lowry Away In 5th

Boise Iraho, Sept. 2. — (AP) — Harry Matthews, 179, of Seattle, last night uncorked a devastating body attack to knock out Tiger Ted Lowry, 178, of New Bedford, Mass., in 36 seconds of the fifth round.

A crowd of about 7,000 watched Matthews in his first step back to big-time boxing since his loss last month to Rocky Marciano.

"It was the body blows that did the job," Matthews said immediately after the fight.

The Seattle slugger concentrated almost entirely upon Lowry's mid-riff in the first four rounds and had Lowry groggy at the end of the fourth.

Rev. Bob Richards Sets New Pole Vault Marks

Toronto, Sept. 2—(CP)—Rev. Bob Richards, Olympic pole vault champion from Laverne, Calif., yesterday smashed Canadian records for the second time in three days at the Canadian National Exhibition track and field meet.

He cleared 15 feet, 1⅛ inches to break the Canadian Open and Meet records he set Saturday. Saturday he sailed over the bar at 15 feet ⅛ inches. Previous Canadian Open and Meet records were also set by Richards.

Yesterday he made two attemps to break the world's record by clearing 15 feet 8 inches, but on both attempts he passed under the bar.

Two other Olympic team members competed again yesterday. Jim Gathers of the United States Air Force, stationed at Geneva, N.Y., won the 100-yard and 220-yard dashes, taking the shorter distance in 9.8 seconds and the longer event in 22 seconds. Wes Santee of University of Kansas set a meet record for the one mile run, covering the distance in 4 minutes, 22 6/10 seconds.

One other record was set as the girls' team of the Montreal Olympic Athletic Club won the 240-yard shuttle relay in 31.1 seconds.

Hank Edwards Bought By Chicago White Sox

Chicago, Sept. 2. — (AP) — The Chicago White Sox announced yesterday they had bolstered their bench by acquiring outfielder Hank Edwards from the Cincinnati Reds of the National League.

Edwards, a left- handed hitter, had a batting average of .287 this season and a major league average of .284 over the last 11 years.

Edwards has been in the National League for three years at Chicago, Brooklyn and Cincinnati. Before that, he was with Cleveland in the American League. He is 33.

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

Forest Mills, N.Y., Sept. 2.—(AP)—It is ironic that the best amateur tennis player in the country today, Vic Seixas from Philadelphia, is so little known to the general public that the average fan can't even pronounce his name, much less tell you the salient facts of his career to this point.

Perhaps a score of times within the past year we have been asked "Who is this guy Sex-us?" with the added observation that "I never heard of him." This was since Vic reached the finals of the 1951 national championships, where he was defeated by Frank Sedgman of Australia.

It has been necessary in each instance first to explain that the name is pronounced Say-shus, and that somewhere in the dim past it was Portuguese. From there on it has not been easy to tell the questioner what the Philadelphia plumbing heir was doing the first 28 years of his life. He turned 29, incidentally, only three days ago.

The easiest way to explain about the country's handsome, mild-mannered No. 1 player probably is to say that he's one of those occasional athletic stars who matures comparatively late. For example, Big Bill Tilden, another well known Philadelphian, did not win his first national tennis title until he was a ripe 27.

Vic began playing tennis when he was six, and he has been playing it steadily ever since except for a 3½-year hitch as an army fighter pilot. He won the national interscholastic crown when he was 17, and that was about the best championship he ever won until he captured the New South Wales tournament at Sydney last winter from a great field which included the American, Australian and Swedish Davis Cup squads.

In between, it is not unfair to say that the name Seixas meant little more to the tennis world than that of a very nice, graceful fellow who always showed up for the championships and played a spanking good game until, somewhere in the later rounds, he ran into one of the tigers and got himself chawed up.

He says now that the trouble probably was that, until last year, he never had a chance to play an extended stretch of tennis against the world's best.

Partly because of his own experience, Seixas refuses to concede victory to the Aussies in the cup challenge round at Adelaide next winter.

"Nothing is certain in tennis," he insists. "Any player can be beaten on a given day. Who could have foreseen a year ago that I would reach the top of my game the way I did in Australia? Who can say for certain that the Australians will be at their top in the next challenge round?"

Veteran Cleric Of Rugged West Man Of Talents

Calgary. — A quiet, ordered existence in a peaceful parish never would have suited Canon W. E. Herbert of Calgary, who has just celebrated his 50th anniversary in the service of the Anglican Church.

Now assistant rector at Calgary's Cathedral of the Redeemer and 78 years old, Canon Herbert pioneered Anglican missions in northern Alberta in the early part of the century. His career is greatly different to the accepted version of a minister's life.

His first mission field when he came to Canada in 1903 was an area of 1,000 square miles in untamed country north of Edmonton, and despite its extent had only about 1,200 persons on it. For Canon Herbert, as much at home on horseback as behind a pulpit, this was not too much of a problem.

But on his visits through the territory with archdeacons of the diocese, he had more than his share of worries.

On one trip, a visiting archdeacon fell into a stream and missionary Herbert pulled him out of the mud. On another occasion an archdeacon was thrown from a wagon. A third deacon, who vowed he would never return to the territory, had to eat his meals from the mantleshelf after following Herbert on a tough horseback round.

Canon Herbert acquired his first automobile in 1928, as a gift from the parishoners at Stettler. He was tempted to abandon it when he found he had more trouble making it run than he ever had with his beloved horses.

Before he "retired" to Calgary 11 years ago, his nomadic missionary life was packed with humorous anecdotes gained from many years of work among the homespun Alberta people.

He recalled one rural church in Stettler where a hen insisted on laying an egg on the altar once a week. He could never figure out this unusual offering until one day he caught the hen in the act.

That led to an argument with the farmer who owned the hen, and who wanted the eggs back. Canon Herbert convinced the farmer that all such gifts were the property of the church.

Mice were another of his early problems. The mice had a habit of storing grain in the church organ for the winter ahead. When they started eating the felt out of the organ, that was too much.

Canon Herbert recalls a few astute farmers who took advantage of his love for horses. They would offer him the use of young unbroken colts. And when the Canon had the colts nicely broken into the saddle or harness, the farmers would suggest they be returned.

He'll tell you that city life was never like that.

Old German Fair Now Display Case Of Red Propaganda

By TOM REEDY

Berlin—(AP)—Communism's biggest economic showcase is being dusted off again for another whirl at world trade.

It is the Liepzig fair, created by German fur traders more than five centuries ago, patronized by Saxonian kings, marveled at by foreign lands as German enterprise grew in international importance.

Now it is a rank display of Red propaganda.

Ever since the second world war, the poverty-stricken Soviet zone has been trying to put Liepzig's fairs back into the business limelight. Despite what help the Russians and the satellites would give, the fair never has quite made the grade.

This year's fall fair, scheduled for September 7-17, is not expected in western commercial circles to be any exception. The east German managers admit that only seven western countries have applied for exhibits at the fair—Great Britain, France, Italy, The Netherlands, Switzerland, Austria and Morocco.

Business men maintain that so long as the arrogant east regards its currency as equal to the West mark, the tag on any item bought through the Leipzig fair exhibit is bound to be a fairly high price.

No amount of tub-thumping by Gerhart Eiseler, Red propaganda chief, has disguised the fact that business was poor the last two or three years and that the communist world simply did not have enough wares of new or startling variety, ready for delivery.

The registration of only seven western countries so far has been like a dash of cold water to the communists. It is particularly discouraging viewed from the expense involved in maintaining Leipzig fair "offices" in 43 countries.

The 28 halls will be dominated, as a result, by the Soviet Union, Red China, East Germany and the satellite lands. The fair management says it will have the latest machinery from the Soviet Union, including threshers, lathes, power shovels and drill presses. Silk from China, tapestries from the Balkins, machine tools from ea Germany, and chinaware make the bulk of the exhibits plann

East zone poster painters ready are hard at work plas ing Leipzig with signs bear the legend of this year's then song: "The construction of soc ialism." The theme alone demon strates how much of an all-east party it will be.

One of the more blatant acknowledgements that Leipzig is growing into a show window for the east only is the attitude toward the western press. Last year, for the first time, the communists refused to permit western journalists to visit the fair. There have been as yet no invitations in sight for this year's fair.

One of the big aims of the fair this time is to impress the east Germans with "the successes of planned socialism." Unable to see anything else for comparison, the isolated east German may be impressed by any collection of goods.

Brigade Excercises To Be Filmed For TV

Sennelager, Germany. — Training exercises of Canada's 27th Infantry Brigade are to be recorded in a television film, marking a precedent in Canadian military history.

Following preliminary experimental work, the public relations unit under Maj. Alex Stirton of Calgary will produce a 16-millimetre film depicting phases of training. Camera man will be Sgt. George Gadde, formerly with the Canadian defence department in Ottawa.

Lieut. Michael Gausden of Montreal, of the public relations staff, said it is hoped the film will be shown in the CBC's new television service.

Ammonia Fixes Smelter Fumes

Trail, B.C. — It doesn't matter if it's a bit misty around here on calm days—it's good for the plants.

The Consolidatel Mining and Smelting Company decided it's better to see what's coming out of the giant stacks and to know it's doing no harm.

In former years the chief exhaust from the factory chimneys was sulphur dioxide, which killed or damaged foliage in the surrounding country. Now the company has worked out a system of "scrubbing" the fumes with ammonia.

The exhaust from the stacks now is ammonium sulphate and steam, and experts say it's not much different from the ammonium sulphate that's sold as commercial fertilizer.

The misty effect comes when the air's moisture content is high and the wind is light, so that the exhaust particles act as nuclei for moisture.

Fire Rescue Squad Has Vast Equipment

Montreal. — Claimed to be the most modern and best-equipped in Canada, Montreal fire department's rescue squad performs a multitude of tasks, the most common being rescuing injured workers from tops of building and reviving firemen overcome by smoke.

Since its inception in 1938 the big red van with "Rescue Squad" emblazoned on its side has showed up at every important fire. Operated by an officer and three men, it carries equipment capable of handling almost any problem.

This includes a gasoline-powered air compressor, hydraulic jack, circular saw and acetylene torch, portable transmitting and receiving radios, resuscitators, anti-gas and anti-acid suits. The equipment is valued at about $50,000.

The squad was created by Director Telesphore Ouimet in 1938, first of its kind in Canada.

Says Forest Areas Can Be Town Asset

Vancouver. — Establishment of municipal forest areas as "a hedge against inflation" was urged by Leander Manley, an executive of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association, in an address here.

He said such forests could triple the municipality's investment in 30 years, while earning a steady income.

In Europe where communities have large forest holdings for their own use, he said, reserves of standing timber are often held just like bank assets.

"These reserves are obtained by under-cutting, and can be expended at a time when timber values are high and the community is in need of a new public building or improved facilities," he said.

Farmer Is Popular With Small Racers

Regina. — Jim Ryan is a district farmer who became a success in the entertainment field—down on the farm.

There's a miniature racing circuit on the Ryan farm where children take delight in driving four small, motor-powered cars that have independent steering.

The idea grew when he built a tiny vehicle for his seven-year-old son to drive, after the boy had outgrown his pedal car.

Now the track on the farm is a popular place on evenings and Sundays. He can look after the racing business without giving up his farm work.

Occasionally he takes the cars into the country for various celebrations. They are equipped with farm utility motors of two and half horsepower, and attain a speed of about six miles an hour. They have just two pedals—an accelerator and a brake.

There's a nominal fee of 10 cents a ride, but Ryan isn't fussy about it. "I like to have children around me and I enjoy seeing them have fun," he says.

DANVILLE FAIR PATRON — Above is Karl V. Lindell, general-manager, Asbestos Fibre Division, Canadian Johns-Manville Co., who is one of the patrons of the Danville Fair.

Pioneer Workers Had Lively Time Founding Guelph

Guelph, Ont. — The jubilant celebrations and hard work surrounding the founding of this city in 1827 are described in a 75-year-old booklet that has just come to light.

Author Robert Thompson says in the booklet he was a 10-year-old resident of Galt, about 12 miles south of here, when on April 22, 1827, a party which included John Galt headed here.

Wagons were loaded with pork, flour, whisky and other "necessary supplies."

Galt, at that time, was a "place of about 70 or 80 inhabitants, with one store, a tavern, grist and saw mill, a distillery and 10 houses."

The trip to Guelph took nine hours. Here the party slept in a log shanty, erected earlier by surveyors, and under wagons and wigwams.

"CONVIVIAL CHEER"—

"They had grand jollification that night. What was lacking in domestic comfort was more than made up by convivial cheer."

The following day a giant maple was felled and surveyor John McDonald placed his compass on the stump and declared it the centre of the proposed city.

The King's birthday on July 12 was cause for great celebration and about "500 strangers" from surrounding districts joined the fun. An ox was roasted on a windlass and this, along with potatoes, was served with "plenty of bread, hemlock tea and whisky."

Later the cornerstone of Guelph's first stone building was laid followed by a ball for notables, "some of whom consumed too much grog and started to fight."

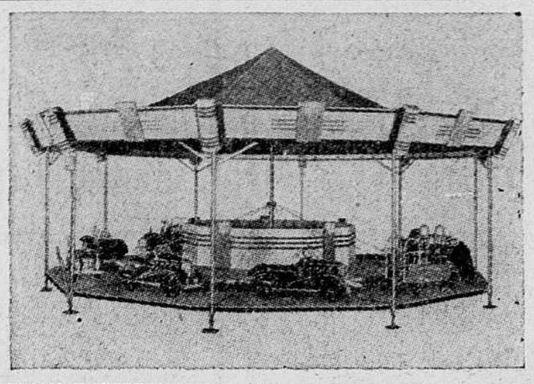
Constable Thomas Brown was injured while trying to restore order. Later, his daughter, Letitia Brown, first white child born here, was presented with a house and lot.

Next occasion for celebration was the city's first fair. It too ended in a fight which started in Charles McTague's saloon, between the Irish and the Yankees.

"The Irish, since there were more of them, won. The only real casualty was John Galt's horse. Its tail was cut off."

A barrel of whisky was bought to celebrate the King's birthday the next year.

"A popular vote chose this method of celebrating in preference to roasting another ox."



MIDWAY ENTERTAINMENT—The merry-go-round is always one of the features of a Fair and at Danville this attraction is bound to be popular with the crowds.

Bury Guild Had Active Summer Meets

Bury, Sept. 2. — The last two regular monthly meetings of the Ladies' Guild of St. Paul's Church were held in July at the home of Mrs. Wilbert Buchanan, and in August at Mrs. Russell Dougherty's. Both meetings were well attended.

At the July meeting, Mrs. Buchanan was assisted by Mrs. Lloyd Pehlemann and Mrs. Rayfield Ross.

In the absence of Rev. Mr. Foreman, who with Mrs. Foreman, was away on his vacation, the meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. A. J. Hunt Minutes of the previous meeting were read by the secretary, Mrs. Ross, also several letters of thanks from those who had been remembered with cards and fruit.

Mrs. H. B. Lawrence, treasurer, reported that additional donations to the sunshine bags had brought that fund to the amount of $36.20. Following a discussion in regard to the new roof to be put on the church, it was decided to give $150 to the wardens to help defray the expense of that undertaking. A donation of $15 was also voted to be given a family who recently lost their home by fire.

A dainty lunch was served by the hostesses.

On August 6, the Guild was entertained by Mrs. Russell Dougherty, with Mrs. Hannah Morrow and Mrs. Freddie Martin as co-hostesses.

The Guild is very appreciative of the gift of two charming dolls, given by Mrs. Alex Ross, who with her husband, has been spending some weeks at the home of Mr. Ross' brother and sister, Mr. Gilbert and Miss Amy Ross. It was reported that very satisfactory progress was being made in roofing the church. The meeting was closed by the Rev. Mr. Foreman.

Delectable refreshments were served by the hostesses, assisted by Miss Muriel Dougherty.

The next meeting of the Guild will be held on September 3 at the home of Mrs. Douglas Harrison.

In order to save time and eliminate innumerable phone calls, the president, Mrs. Hunt, has asked that all those who wish to attend this meeting and have no means of conveyance will please contact her in time, and she will make the necessary arrangements.
