France Refuses To Join A-Ban

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. —(AP)— France's blunt warning that she will not feel bound by any U.S. - British - Soviet agreement to suspend nuclear weapon tests aroused fears today for the chances of the Geneva arms talks opening Oct. 31.

Diplomats wondered whether Russia — quick to blast the French position — might use it as an excuse to refuse agreement and continue its own tests.

Jules Moch, the French disarmament expert, caused a stir in the UN's political committee Monday by serving notice that any agreement reached at Geneva would be "drawn up without the participation of France and not applying to her."

The French government has been pressing to develop its own atomic bomb so that France can join the "nuclear weapons" club.

LAYS DOWN CONDITIONS
Moch made plain that France would call off her plans for nuclear weapon tests only if the Geneva talks produced agreement on (1) control over cessation of tests (2) controlled reduction of atomic stockpiles and (3) a controlled end to production of atomic weapons.

Valerian Zorin, the Soviet deputy foreign minister, said he interpreted Moch's statement to mean France "does not intend to contribute to the reduction of the atomic threat or take any concrete steps in the field of disarmament."

Some diplomats felt the Russian might try to depict the French position as evidence of Western bad faith on the eve of the Geneva talks.

Russia, which has a resolution before the UN calling on the Big Three to stop tests at once for all time, already has accused the United States and Britain of attaching too many conditions to stopping test explosions.

The two Western powers are pushing a resolution calling for suspension of tests for one year starting Oct. 31.

Russians Drive On Drunks

LONDON (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has warned Russia that the government is planning a crackdown on drunks and moonshiners.

"We must proclaim the sternest struggle against drunkenness and put an end to this evil," Khrushchev told a group of farmers at the village of Malinovka last Friday. Moscow radio broadcast the speech today.

"Drunkenness is anti-social and profoundly alien to our order and times," he said. "One cannot shut one's eyes to the fact that in our society there still are drunkards, thieves and swindlers. Drunkenness saps man's health." The Soviet leader added, "The drunkard disfigures family life and damages society."

NO PROHIBITION
The premier said this didn't mean the Soviet Union is in for prohibition.

"Nobody will prosecute a man who drinks a glass of wine," he said. "Our people have their own customs. Of course, at a family party, among friends, why shouldn't one have a glass?"

"One may drink, but not to excess so as not to disgrace oneself and one's neighbors."

Khrushchev said the Soviet government is working out a bill to provide sterner action against drunkards and "those who contribute to drunkenness." One law will limit restaurant customers to one glass of vodka or other spirits.

"If there are people who like their five tots, they will have to go to five restaurants," Khrushchev told the farmers.

Reserved Bench

NEW YORK (AP) — Bernard Baruch has made a bench in Central Park his informal headquarters. Monday, the park department gave him, so to speak, a title on his office door. It dedicated a plaque beneath the bench which reads, "Elder statesman's bench, reserved for Bernard M. Baruch."

Ottawa Rumor Duplessis To Retire — Le Droit

OTTAWA — (CP) — Le Droit says in a front-page story that Premier Duplessis of Quebec is thinking of retiring from politics for health reasons.

The French-language Ottawa daily says it learned of the 68-year-old premier's plan "from a source very close to the leader of the Union Nationale government."

It adds: "Mr. Duplessis would wait until his name has been cleared of any doubt concerning what has been called the 'natural gas scandal' in Quebec before retiring definitely from politics."

It quotes informed circles in Montreal as saying that the main contenders for the Union Nationale party leadership would be Welfare Minister Jean-Paul Sauve and Hydraulics Resources Minister Daniel Johnson.

The paper's reference to the "natural gas scandal" deals with Mr. Duplessis' damage suit against Le Devoir, Montreal daily newspaper, following a series of articles about the sale of provincial gas distribution facilities in Montreal to a private company.

Doukhobors Stall Move To Russia

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Sons of Freedom Doukhobors, due to make up their minds by midnight tonight on whether they'll move to Russia, have accused government leaders of insincerity and want more time and new guarantees.

Set leaders Monday night demanded an extension to Nov. 15 of the deadline to file applications for government - assisted passage to Siberia. The deadline, first set for Sept. 30, was later moved to midnight tonight by Justice Minister Fulton.

A delegation on its way to Victoria to present application forms to Attorney General Robert Bonner of B.C. said here the forms will be held back until the federal and provincial governments agree to three-point "protocol" worked out by the sect's fraternal council.

ASK CHILDREN'S RELEASE

The points:
1. The governments "immediately cease tormenting our children in New Denver, B.C., and release them, at least for the period of time when the government of the U.S.S.R. will take them into their country and look after them until we arrive."

2. The governments announce immediately a final extension to Nov. 15 the deadline for receipt of the application forms.

3. The governments produce "documentary evidence indicating how much per person will be assigned to each of the migrants to Siberia."

More than 100 Freedomite children are held in a provincial school at New Denver because their parents refuse to send them to school. The Doukhobors claim the children are taught militarism at the school.

P. Miquelon Appointed To Bench

OTTAWA (CP) — Appointment of a new Superior Court judge for Quebec was announced today.

Paul Miquelon, 57, of Quebec City, is appointed to the Superior Court for Quebec district, filling the vacancy caused by the death of Mr. Justice O. L. Boulanger last July 22.

Mr. Justice Miquelon, a native of Sherbrooke, was educated in Danville, at St. Mary's College, Montreal; St. Hyacinthe Seminary and Laval University, graduating with a law degree in 1924.

A senior Crown prosecutor in Quebec, he has acted in many of Quebec's most famous criminal cases, including the Guay case which saw three persons hanged for murder in the time-bombing of a passenger aircraft in 1949.

He has appeared about 15 times in appeals to the Supreme Court of Canada and has carried on a private civil practice.

Three Governors Resign At McGill

MONTREAL (CP)—McGill University Monday announced the resignation of J. W. McConnell, B. C. Gardner and S. G. Dobson from its board of governors. No reasons were given.

Mr. McConnell has donated more than $13,500,000 to the university since 1911. Mr. Gardner joined the board nine years ago and served as chancellor from 1952 to 1957. Mr. Dobson has been a member since 1947.

Police Arrest 1,000 Women

JOHANNESBURG (Reuters) — Nearly 1,000 Negro women were taken into police custody today after a protest march against having to carry identity documents.

Some 500 were arrested for staging an unauthorized procession while 460 others surrendered voluntarily to police, saying they felt the same as those arrested and should be held as well.

Vatican Stamp

VATICAN CITY (AP) — New stamps marking the Vatican's period without a pope went on sale today. The stamps are issued between the death of Pope Pius XII and the election of his successor. They show the crossed keys of St. Peter and the canopy of a cardinal's throne.

The inquiry involving Prof. Riccardo Galeazzi-Lisi, the Pope's personal physician for 19 years, will take about three weeks. A finding of guilty could result in a reprimand, suspension or ouster from the medical profession.

The association's governing council voted the inquiry Monday night at a meeting called to consider a storm of public demands that Galeazzi-Lisi be disciplined.

The Roman Catholic Church's College of Cardinals earlier had accepted Galeazzi-Lisi's resignation as Vatican health services director.

Galeazzi-Lisi has contended that his articles betrayed no professional secrets because his obligation of secrecy ended with his patient's death. He attributed the criticism to jealousy of doctors who were not called to treat the Pope.

Articles signed by the doctor were sold to a number of Italian and foreign publications, but some Italian newspapers decided they were too explicit for publication. Rome papers also raised pointed questions about published photographs of the dying pontiff taken with a miniature camera.

In reply to a question in Parliament, a spokesman for Premier Fanfani said any government action would have to be based on an official complaint by the Vatican or the late Pope's family.

Italian law forbids publications offensive to the chief of a sovereign state, including the Pope as head of the Vatican state. There is considerable belief, however, that this applies only to a living chief of state.

Unofficial sources said today the fact the cardinal has not replied to the invitation has caused some surprise.

One Vatican source said that Mindszenty, who took refuge in the American legation when the 1956 anti - Russian revolt was crushed, would be allowed to leave Hungary — provided he never returned.

As a result of this information the source added, workmen were erecting 53 cardinals' thrones—one more than was planned—in the Sistine Chapel. This is where the princes of the Roman Catholic Church will gather Saturday for the first of the solemn ceremonies connected with the election of a new pope.

The spokesmen would not comment on reports circulating Monday night that the Vatican had received indications that Mindszenty, in sanctuary for the last two years in the American legation in Budapest, would arrive in time for the conclave.

Shelling Continues Today

(AP) — John Foster Dulles and Chiang Kai-shek opened talks today in a new atmosphere of crisis produced by the resumption of Chinese Communist bombardment of Nationalist offshore islands.

The Red action stiffened Nationalist opposition to any reduction of forces on the Quemoy Islands. Dulles had favored a reduction in hopes of a permanent cease-fire in return.

The American secretary of state met with the Chinese Nationalist leader exactly 24 hours after the Communists broke their self-imposed cease-fire following a 15-day lull in the Quemoy. After a heavy barrage Sunday, shelling was reported light today.

NO NEW FACTS
Dulles arrived in mid-morning in a military jet tanker that flew the polar route from England. He said his talks with Chiang "are not aimed at reaching any new agreements."

"We hope, through re-examination, to consolidate a relationship of mutual trust and confidence which is of immense value to all the free world," Dulles said.

The U.S. state secretary had been expected to press for a smaller garrison on Quemoy equipped with more - powerful weapons—a garrison the Reds could not consider an invasion threat but which would be sufficient to protect the offshore islands from a Communist landing.

Dulles went from the airport to conferences with U.S. officials on Formosa before meeting Chiang.

BRINGS ASSISTANT
Dulles was accompanied on his visit to Chiang by Walter Robertson who, as assistant secretary of state for Far Eastern affairs, is credited in Washington with moulding U.S. policy on China.

As Dulles left the airport, a Nationalist C-46 landed with the first load of casualties from the renewed bombardment of the Quemoy.

Reports from Quemoy said a number of civilians were among the casualties. The Nationalists said 11,520 shells fell in about 24 hours and then after a lull sporadic shelling continued through the night.

The Quemoy garrison commander claimed his counter-fire knocked out two artillery emplacements and destroyed four ammunition dumps.

NAME SHIPS
Peiping radio said the bombardment was resumed because U.S. warships escorted Nationalist supply ships to Quemoy. Both Washington and the Nationalists denied this. Today, Peiping radio said it had "incontrovertible proof" and named three U.S. destroyers it said were involved.

"Any denial by the command of the U.S. aggression forces in Taiwan (Formosa) can only make its crime more obvious," said a Red broadcast heard in Tokyo.

Officials in Washington expressed hope that the Communists would reinstate the cease-fire. The state department accordingly said American escorting of Nationalist ships would not be resumed unless military necessity dictated it.

Bridegroom Wasn't Jilted For Long

TAIPEI, Formosa—(Reuters) —A bridegroom jilted at the altar in a nearby town solved his problem by marrying one of the bridesmaids, the newspaper China News reported today.

It said the 34-year-old bridegroom arrived Monday for the marriage ceremony in Taoyuang but the bride did not show up. It was then found she had been missing for several days.

The groom proposed to a 23-year-old bridesmaid, was accepted and married her on the spot.

They Travelled Far Looking For Markets

SEIGNIORY CLUB, Que. (CP) —Members of one committee of the Canadian Exporters' Association travelled more than 500,000 miles last year in their search for business in nearly all countries of the world.

This fact was brought out in the report of the 22 - member policy and recommendations committee, presented at Monday's opening sessions of the association's two-day annual meeting.

The report was presented by K. C. Clarke of Montreal, export sales manager of Shawinigan Chemicals Ltd.

The committee took cognizance of the negative attitude towards exports when it said:

"The committee in the last year solicited inquiries from members on all phases of export and gave an open invitation to members to attend our meetings. Results were disappointing. They would indicate that either you didn't have any export problems and none of us are naive enough to believe this—or that you have been reluctant to discuss them."

IMPORTANCE NOT KNOWN
The association feels that too many Canadian businesses fail to realize the importance of exports whether or not they are in the business directly.

J. S. Vanderploeg of Toronto, president of Anaconda American Brass Ltd., said in an interview Monday:

"Everyone is in the export business whether they know it or not."

Mr. Vanderploeg, a past president of the association who has himself brought in 32 new members in the last two years, added:

"Many firms which do not themselves export, sell their products to people who earn their salaries in the export business—and such firms should give more support to the export drive."

Working Force Decreases

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadian employment began its yearly seasonal downturn in September, but the number of jobless looking for work fell off slightly from August.

Compared with a year earlier, employment in September was lower and unemployment higher according to the federal government's monthly job survey issued today.

Number of persons without jobs and looking for work at Sept. 20 was estimated by the bureau of statistics at 271,000, down 10,000 in a month but 74,000 higher than a year earlier. In addition, there were 14,000 persons on temporary layoff, compared with 37,000 in August.

Total employed at Sept. 20 stood at 5,888,000, against 6,025,000 in August and 5,939,000 in September, 1957.

VACATION PERIOD ENDS

Reason for the drop in employment during a month of declining unemployment was the withdrawal from the labor force of students and other short - term workers with the end of the vacation period and the completion of harvesting and some food processing operations.

Besides the estimates of actual employment and unemployment, the government also released figures showing that at Sept. 18 there were 327,112 persons registered for work with its National Employment Service. This compared with 357,687 a month earlier and 255,896 a year previously.

The registrations are not regarded as a gauge of actual unemployment since there is an inevitable — unspecified — percentage of persons seeking to change jobs or who have found work after registering.

The bureau of statistics figures are based on a sampling of 30,000 households.

DOWN IN ALL REGIONS
The employment estimates showed declines for all regions.

On the other hand, the employment service registrations also were down for all areas. The bureau of statistics did not break down its unemployment estimates regionally.

Most of the drop in employment between August and September came in agriculture, where the number of those at work fell to 774,000 from 868,000. This compared with 810,000 in September, 1957.

Non-farm employment at Sept. 20 amounted to 5,114,000, down during the month from 5,157,000. A year earlier, the figure was 5,129,000.

Small-salaried workers make up 90 per cent of the general population but their children represent only 40 per cent of the university population, the association said. The cost of education was too high for them. It would not be fair to collect money from those who would get no direct benefit.

It said governments should assume greater responsibility for financing universities.

Prisoner Writes From Jail

Rehabilitation Could Aid Geniuses

OTTAWA (CP)—An anonymous prisoner, recalling the words of the judge who sentenced him, says rehabilitation could return men "bordering on genius" to fruitful lives.

The prisoner writing in the current issue of Montreal's St. Vincent de Paul federal penitentiary publication, Pen-o-Rama, recalls the remarks of Judge Wilfred Lazure before sentencing him in Montreal Superior Court.

"If you applied the ingenuity and initiative your criminal activities show you to possess, you could without doubt succeed in any walk of life or any enterprise you chose to enter."

COULD BE CREDIT
"It is to be regretted that this court does not possess a means to orient your natural resourcefulness. You could then be a credit to society instead of a liability."

The prisoner continues with his post-sentencing story:

"At the time, the learned jurist's words made no impression upon me. Maybe this was because I was young, uneducated and inexperienced. Or maybe I was in no mood to heed the recommendations of a man about to sentence me to the penitentiary."

"A little older, if not much wiser, I often ponder those words."

MUST BE RESOURCEFUL
With crime detection grown to a science, he continues, the criminal soon realizes that "unless he is endowed with an abundance of initiative, a certain degree of ingenuity, plus the capacity to think clearly in difficult, unexpected and sometimes dangerous situations, he hasn't got a chance of committing one solitary crime without detection."

He adds:

"There is in every penitentiary in Canada, a good percentage who are bright and intelligent men. Some even border on the genius. They possess qualities to succeed where ordinary men would fare poorly or fail completely."

"Were the natural talents and inherent resourcefulness of these men redirected into proper and honest channels . . . they could, as Judge Wilfred Lazure so aptly said to me, become credits instead of public liabilities."

Plan Reorganization Of City Council Committees

Notice was given at last night's city council session that the procedure by-law would be amended to provide for a new committee for tourism and town planning.

To make way for the new body, the market committee would be combined with the hygiene committee.

Tourist and town planning at present are grouped with the industrial promotion and transportation committee under Ald. Paul Gervais.

The Hygiene committee is presided over by Ald. Gerard Berard who would become head of the market which is Ald. Marcel Savard's responsibility at present.

Ald. Gervais would retain the presidency of the industrial promotion and transportation committee.

Likeliest candidate for the new committee chairman seems to be Ald. Savard.

The introduction of a new committee was suggested by Ald. Gervais during a discussion recently.

DANGEROUS INTERSECTIONS
Thirty-one intersections were judged dangerous by Police Chief Edouard Moreau, it was disclosed in a report submitted to the council.

In the West Ward, only one corner is listed, Federal and Short.

In the East, 15 are named. They are King East - 2nd Ave., Papineau - 7th Ave., Thérien - St. Michel, Murray - Woodward, Ave., Bowen - Woodward, 4th Ave., La Fontaine, 7th Ave., Papineau - Codere, Council - 8th Woodward, Mt. Pleasant - Park, Chicoyne - Terrill, St. Francis - Terrill, Châlioux - Normandie.

In the North Ward, at least one intersection which was "improved" by the city has been condemned.

The corner of Moore and Prospect where existing stop signs were re-arranged recently in favor of through-traffic from Bromptonville and Prospect was condemned.

The council had decided to order a hedge located at the north-east section of the corner to be cut to improve visibility for motorists. Nothing has been done so far.

Other intersections mentioned are Argyle-Prospect, Moore-Prospect, Prospect-Crespe, Vimy-Dominion, Prospect-Argyle, White-Bryant-Prospect, High-Cliff, Quebec-Portland, Argyle-Portland, Heneker-Portland, Cliff-Island, Ontario-Beckett, Portland-Vimy and Durham-Argyle.

No date has yet been fixed for the preliminary hearings.

Delay Granted Le Devoir To File Defence

Details of defence by the Montreal newspaper Le Devoir, against a suit by Finance Minister J. S. Bourque, to be presented this morning in Superior Court here, were put over to November 18.

The Court has ordered the newspaper to clarify certain points in its defence following a $1,000 suit brought against it by Mr. Bourque.

The step is standard procedure during the preliminaries leading to the hearings.

The action stems from a series of articles in which the Montreal daily criticized the sale of the Montreal household gas distribution facilities of Quebec Hydro to the privately-owned Quebec Natural Gas Company.

Magog Kiwanians Hear Address On Life In Moscow

MAGOG — Taking his listeners on a word-picture tour of life "behind the Iron Curtain," Lt. Edson Warner of Lennoxville, last night told members of the Magog-Ayer's Cliff Kiwanis Club of his recent trip to Moscow to participate with the Canadian team in the world rifle championships.

Illustrated with dozens of colored slides, the talk by Lt. Warner delved into the various aspects of the world shooting competitions, the difficulties of language, the organization of the event and the results of various teams.

Lt. Warner said that the Canadian representatives had to buy their own equipment, and supply their own blazers, while teams from other countries wore distinctive uniforms and in many cases were recipients of special concessions from their governments.

In Canada there is little or no grass roots training to build up competitors in many sports and no government-sponsored program as in many countries. Aside from hockey, with its widespread farm club system, he said, there is no program to develop competitors in most sports.

Lt. Warner noted that the Russian people are being educated in basic English, that everyone works for the State, hotels and government buildings spring up beside shacks and hovels, food is good but supplies are scarce, prices are sky-high and people cannot afford to dress well.

Canadians were besieged for such things as nylon shirts, hosiery, etc., and he himself sold two pairs of ordinary blue jeans for $30.

Lt. Warner showed a world competition target, comparing the much smaller "bull's eye" to that of a Canadian target.

Introduced by Archie Stafford, Lt. Warner was thanked by Wallace Browning, President Gordon McHarg presided. The meeting took place at Ripplecove Inn, Ayer's Cliff.

Urge Special Committee For Slum Clearance Plan

Mayor Nadeau, at last night's city council session, proposed the appointment of three interested citizens and three Council members to form a slum-clearance committee.

The council amended the proposal to include the mayor as well as three aldermen.

In making the recommendation, the mayor said the most pressing need for slum clearance was in Assumption Parish in the East Ward.

He said preliminary steps could be taken during the winter so that the actual work could start next spring.

For the committee, he suggested the citizens could include men with technical backgrounds such as an architect or an engineer.

SIMPLIFY LAW
At the recent federal-provincial conference in Ottawa, the mayor said, the ministers "seemed interested" in simplifying the law to make slum-clearance grants more easily accessible to smaller municipalities.

He said the federal government was prepared to turn over 75 per cent of the cost, the remaining 25 per cent to be absorbed by the city.

"The city's share would be minimal," he said.

Asked by Ald. Everett Nicol whether the province contributed, Mayor Nadeau said no.

The mayor congratulated the Assumption Parish priests and an order of teaching brothers in that area for their work.

He coupled his proposal with the remark that once the project is undertaken, the building laws should be applied more severely.

He asked the aldermen to give the matter serious study and to submit their findings. Effective work could be realized before the new year, he said.

West Ward Ald. J. M. Jeanson offered his services.

Modern Papacy Outlined At Kiwanis Club

Rene Monty, local attorney, addressed the Sherbrooke Kiwanis at their weekly dinner meeting last night on "The Papacy Today."

Mr. Monty said that "although the late Pope has not been seen by one percent of all those who are mourning him, his greatness nevertheless has somehow so affected the people in the world that they are suffering to a great extent a very personal loss in his death."

The speaker said the Pope is the head of a small sovereign state of 108 acres with a population of about 1,000 persons but that "to 500,000,000 Roman Catholics, the world over, the Pope is the direct successor of St. Peter. The future Pope will be the 261st successor of St. Peter."

Mr. Monty added "the Pope has 380 Archbishops, each of whom head an administrative district in some part of the world, followed by 1067 bishops and finally 380,000 priests administer directly to the faithful. In addition there are numerous religious orders of sisters and brothers."

Mr. Monty filled that "the man required to fill this position must be saintly, humble, persuasive, strong, gentle, he must be an idealist, a realist, he needs strong health, he must have diplomatic training, must speak several languages, and have other qualities needed to endure the job of being the supreme head of such a vast and complex organization."

The speaker added that years ago, papal elections often marked crucial international cold wars because the Pope wielded vast temporal powers. Today the Pope has no such temporal power, although his moral prestige and spiritual influence is greater today than at any other time in modern history.

"Anyone can be elected Pope," said Mr. Monty, "even a layman, but for 60 years, the choice has always been from the cardinals."

The guest speaker was introduced by A. G. Cross and thanked by Harry Grundy.

At the head table were: J. Hodge, J. Chamberland, A. G. Cross, President Sam Gillman, Mr. Monty and Mr. Grundy.

Communists Embarrass Mr. Dulles

The resumption of shelling of Nationalist-held Quemoy Island by the Chinese Communists on the eve of U.S. Secretary of State Dulles' visit to Formosa has dampened hopes for a peaceful solution of the Far Eastern crisis. The Communist attack was undoubtedly timed to embarrass the United States and Mr. Dulles in particular. It was also designed to show the world that the Chinese are willing to push the world as close to the brink of war as anyone.

The excuse for resumption of shelling was that the Americans had begun again to escort Nationalist supply vessels to Quemoy. This charge has been flatly denied by the Americans and there is every reason to believe that the Chinese were merely manufacturing a military excuse for political purposes.

The shooting ends a cease-fire which began October 5 and had been extended once by the Communists. The cease-fire had raised Western hopes that the U. S. — awakened to the dangers of allowing Chiang Kai-shek to garrison the offshore islands with 100,000 troops — would be able to persuade the Nationalists to withdraw. Chiang will now be able to justify his provocative actions by accusing the Communists of using the cease-fire only as a political tool. Mr. Dulles had hoped to persuade Chiang to reduce his offshore forces to the point where the Communists would not consider them an invasion threat.

Mr. Dulles will be hard pressed now to complete his mission. However, the basic position of most of the Western powers that Chiang has literally brought the Communist shells down on his own head, or the heads of those unfortunate enough to be on the offshore islands, is correct. Unfortunately, solution of the problem is complicated by the fact that the West must deal with an untrustworthy and unscrupulous adversary in the Chinese Communists. The West must stick steadfastly to its purpose if peace is to be brought to the Formosa Strait.

Signs A Traffic Hazard

The Lions Club of Ridgely, N.J. recently put a badly-smashed car on display along the highway as part of the group's "slow down and live" campaign. Two cars slowed down to have a look. The third didn't. The result was a three-car collision.

Members may have been chagrined at the outcome of their little dramatization. But they needn't have been. For, while the wreck's purpose was not to cause an accident, but to help prevent mishaps, it provided an example of a traffic hazard seldom mentioned as a factor in the mounting carnage on our highways.

How many drivers have slowed down to look at an eye-catching neon sign at roadside, and found themselves suddenly involved in the same sort of accident? How many have taken their eyes off the road ahead for a split second to read a message on a billboard, and found themselves crashing into a ditch?

Alarming statistics are quoted daily to show what can happen when a motorist takes his eyes off the road for an instant. Traffic safety authorities have said time and again sudden slowdowns on the highway without signals can cause serious accidents.

Billboards and roadside signs are designed to entice the motorist to commit these two motoring sins — that is their express purpose.

We would not suggest such advertising be abolished. But a little common sense on the part of those erecting the signs would go a long way. If the signs were kept simple, and well back from the road, their accident-producing potential would be greatly reduced.

On approaches leading to and from large communities, such distractors invariably increase in number and luridly. The motorist who gave each of them even a passing glance would be a long time reaching town, if he lived that long.

Municipal authorities, for their part, would help reduce the accident toll in their district if they would impose some sort of sane limitation on the number, type and position of roadside signs.

This And That

A capitalist disease is plaguing the Soviet Union these days. Government officials in Moscow lament that their country is suffering from traffic bottle-necks.

LABOR UNION SUPPORT AND LIBERALISM

(Editorial in Hamilton Spectator)
There seems to be a lot of confused thinking over this proposal for a new labor-backed party in Canada. Apparently it has infected even that most logical of men, Stanley Knowles, now vice-president of the Canadian Labor Congress.

Mr. Knowles is quoted as declaring that labor unions must jump into the political field if they are to consolidate their economic gains. Labor has made very substantial economic gains but it is difficult to see how any political party is going to consolidate them, unless Mr. Knowles is suggesting that a labor government in power would impose wage demands by law, other than the law of contract.

The trade union movement in Canada has also made substantial political gains. Canadian laws recognize the right of workers to organize for collective bargaining and have established machinery for such bargaining. There may be room for improvement in these laws. If so, it is a political decision depending on the will of the majority. For this, it might even be suggested that labor is in a stronger position selling its voting support to the highest bidder as it has done in the past than committing itself in advance to a particular party. But to confuse economic gains obtained around the bargaining table with political action is to entertain a dangerous fallacy that can lead to nothing but class warfare.

Mr. Knowles himself is obviously not advocating that type of political movement because in the next breath he speaks of liberal-minded Liberals seeking another party. Perhaps he is confusing the term with "left wing," but he should be reminded that the dictionary definition of liberal is clear and precise. It means "pertaining to a free man." What he does envisage obviously is a party that can count on the support of trade union membership. To gain this solidarity he seems ready to rob the individual union member of the right to vote as he chooses. Ironically enough, those who would be exempt would be members of the United Electrical Workers of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers who, according to Mr. Knowles' brother vice-president, William Dodge, will be outlawed from the new Labor party because their unions are Communist dominated.

THE WEIGHT ON MANHATTAN ISLAND

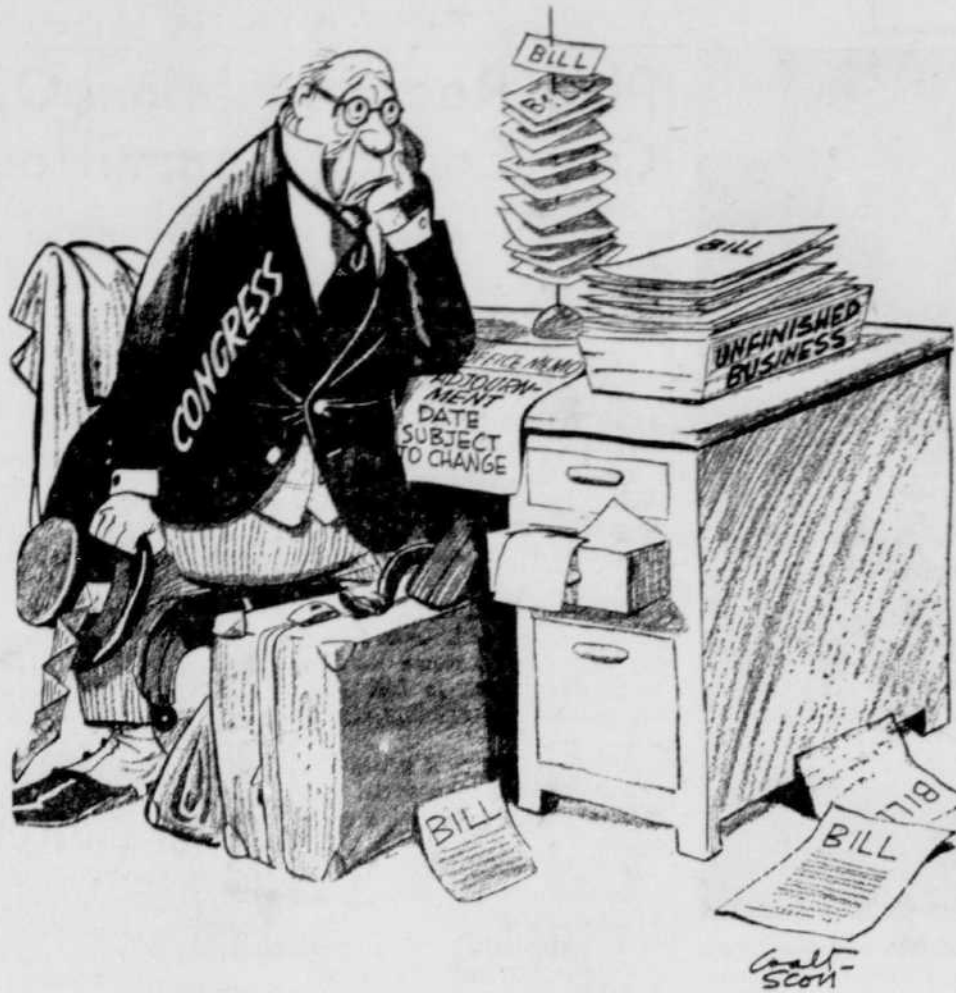

(From the Ottawa Citizen)
Is Manhattan Island slowly sinking under the weight of its skyscrapers, as some reports allege? Water mains are said to have been burst at times during recent decades as a subsidence of about a foot took place. With the building boom continuing, a foot may soon become feet, and then yards, and then—who knows?

A steel unit weighing more than 40 tons was gently lowered 100 feet below street level yesterday. Thus the New York Times opens its account of the latest giant among buildings, the Chase Manhattan Bank. There will be 40 of these units in a two-and-a-half-acre excavation. More than 50,000 tons of structural steel will be used including some of the heaviest supporting columns ever fabricated. The bank will rise 60 storeys and 792 feet into the sky, pushing the Woolworth Building out of sixth place among the world's tallest structures. A minor effort by the First National City Bank of New York will have only 41 storeys.

So the weight of steel and concrete piles up on Manhattan, until even that solid rock begins to founder. In the end, the Hudson River may be flowing through the subways and the East River lapping at store windows. But American ingenuity will be equal to the disaster. New York will be advertised as the Venice of the New World—fabulous Gotham in-the-sea; take the Wall Street plunge on a surfboard; see the sunken lights of the Great White Way; join the fishing at United Nations headquarters; get into the Fifth Avenue swim; cruise by moon-light on Central Park Lake.

Aid For Puerto Rican Immigrants

By DAVID ROWNTREE

NEW YORK (CP)—"The laws throughout the United States prohibit the carrying of deadly weapons, including firearms, machetes, daggers, razors, blackjacks, clubs and switch-blade knives."

"Winter... is the season most dangerous to health. To dress adequately is of extreme importance."

"In many states the law prohibits a couple who are not legally married from living as husband and wife."

Quaint advice to young people setting out into the world alone? Not for the biggest wave of migrants to New York since the war. They come from Puerto Rico, a tropical Caribbean possession of the United States.

It is here that they find the bright lights and hope to find the good life that the migrant dreams of. At last count there were 622,000 Puerto Ricans in New York. Few seem to move farther inland.

The quotations above are from a series of pamphlets put out by the Puerto Rican government designed to help the newcomers adapt to a complex society.

The pamphlets try to explain the unbearable and unbelievable cold of a northern winter after sunny Puerto Rico's gentle climate; how to handle credit buying and what to look for when signing sales contracts; the importance of birth and marriage certificates; and how customs differ in accepting or not accepting informal marriages and family groups.

Involved dealings with government agencies and the paperwork that it entails is one of the main threads of a book by Christopher Rand called The Puerto Ricans, just published by the Oxford University Press.

The other main finding Rand makes in his study of the new migrants to New York is that they are welcome here, as similar groups are in other big cities, because there is always a need for a reserve of cheap, unskilled labor to man the service businesses and public facilities that don't attract many of the older city dwellers themselves.

Until recently these jobs fell largely to Negroes and it is the Negro that the Puerto Ricans have replaced on the bottom rung of the city's economic and social ladder.

As have other immigrants on first arriving here, the Puerto Ricans, because of the low wages they can command, at least in initially, find their way to the slums. Their diet is changed, usually not for the better, and youths are caught up in gangs.

Philip A. Holman, chief of the information section at Puerto Rico's labor department office in New York, says housing is probably the biggest problem.

"Some of the prices they have to pay for dilapidated housing is exorbitant," Holman said.

If they wish to live in a better neighborhood, the dark-skinned Puerto Ricans experience obstacles in trying to rent or buy a place.

Rand mentioned as a sidelight that in the 1920s and 1930s many Negroes came to New York from the British West Indies until immigration restrictions checked that flow.

The West Indians now go to London and the big industrial cities of Britain where they create the same sort of rivalry for jobs and cheap housing as the Puerto Ricans do here.

Besides their brown skins, the Puerto Ricans encounter hostility for other reasons: Nationalist party fanatics tried to shoot their way into President Truman's house in Washington in 1950 while another group tried to kill Governor Munoz Marin in San Juan at about the same time. Four years later five congressmen were wounded in a shooting incident in Washington.

It is said the Puerto Ricans don't assimilate. There are three Spanish-language daily newspapers published here and there are Spanish television and radio stations.

School curricula have to be changed to accommodate slower Puerto Rican children who are still learning English. It appears that it might be best to teach them separately but with segregation a hot issue this option is bypassed.

Some mainland Americans are uneasy at the big influx since the war.

The main reason Puerto Ricans come here is because of the shortage of work on their island home, a place about 1½ times the size of Prince Edward Island but with more than 20 times the population, about 2,250,000.

The rate of increase among Puerto Ricans in New York is more than twice that of white residents.

Until 1940, the mainland government largely ignored Puerto Rico — described officially as a commonwealth. It has been part of the U.S. since 1898 but its residents can't vote in federal elections. On the other hand, they pay no federal taxes.

In recent years, a big attempt has been made to bring more industry to the island, providing more jobs and more money.

Gerald Waring REPORTING

OTTAWA — A gnawing worry for the government today, yesterday and tomorrow is the imbalance of trade.

While the deficit with the United States is less than it was in 1957, it will still be around a billion dollars, which represents an awful lot of red ink in our trade books.

Some idea of the concern felt here may be conveyed by the fact that Trade Minister Churchill rushed off from the Commonwealth Economic Conference on a selling mission abroad, and Prime Minister Diefenbaker used the first of the CBC's fall series of free-time political broadcasts to call on the Canadian people for more exports, more sales abroad.

Up to now, the government's main efforts to achieve a better balance of trade seem to have been directed toward the United Kingdom and the Commonwealth. Yet it is quite apparent that the switching of purchases across the ocean is no cure for the real problem, the huge deficit with the U.S.

And actually, no one in authority here now talks about the diversion of 15 per cent or any other amount. In fact, the mere mention of the 15 per cent diversion plan broached by the PM in his celebrated press conference of July 6, 1957, has come to be regarded in official quarters here as almost indecent. The prime minister, with a political agility close to legerdemain, has virtually expunged the idea from the record.

It is admittedly a slow and difficult task to get the nation's commerce out of the red when the government is limited to the more or less indirect methods of persuasion, publicity and negotiation.

If the government were to take direct action and impose restrictions and quotas against American goods, it would invite retaliation. Worse still such a move would cause unemployment in this country as well as lowering the standard of living and slowing down expansion. So it would seem to be out of the question at the present time.

One method of persuasion and publicity which the government has tried is the trade mission. There is no doubt that the Canadian trade mission to the United Kingdom, which was so large it needed a special train, did have a considerable impact. It drew the attention of Canadian business men to an alternate source of supply, and it made the British aware of Canada as a growing market.

The return British trade mission, which traveled from coast to coast last spring, was not of the same spectacular size, but it too served to increase interest in Anglo-Canadian trade.

The method of negotiation is exemplified by the Commonwealth Economic Conference which met at Montreal last month.

However, these measures point only in the direction of British and Commonwealth trade, which is but a fraction of our total trade. Even if they were entirely successful, they would not cut down our billion dollar deficit by much.

Almost two-thirds of Canada's trade is with the U.S.; a little more than a third with the rest of the world combined. No matter what is done, the bulk of our trade will continue to be with our neighbor to the south. So if the government hopes to balance our books, it must tackle the problem of trade with the U.S.

This means selling more to the U.S. And that means that somehow we must hammer down the Americans' resistance to opening their market to goods we produce which compete with goods they produce. This is shaping up as the problem that in the next few years will make or break our economy.

QUEEN DOUBLET POSSES PROBLEM

The play of today's hand starts out simply enough. West opens the king of diamonds and continues with the queen. East over-takes and plays a third diamond which South ruffs.

South takes two rounds of trumps, plays the ace of hearts and ruffs his small heart in dummy.

South's next play is a low club and if East plays the deuce, South can make the hand. All he has to do is to go right up with the ace of clubs and lead the three spot.

If West plays the king he will drop his partner's queen, and if he plays the ten East will win with the queen and have to lead a red card. This lets South make the hand since he will be able to discard his jack of clubs and ruff in dummy.

When Jerry Lewis of Dallas held the East hand in the recent Ardmore tournament the play went exactly as shown up to the first club play. Jerry, who has been playing tournament bridge for as long as I can remember, has been on both ends of enough plays of this type to recognize one when it rears its ugly head. He simply played his queen of clubs and left South no way to avoid the loss of two club tricks and his contract.

CONSUMER IRKED

(Kitchener-Waterloo Record)
When a customer examines an article in a store and sees evidence that the price has been marked up he wonders whether the merchant bases his price on what he paid for the article or what it would cost him to replace it.

Even if this practice is followed in the case of only a few articles it irks a customer. He may feel he is being "gouged." It is the sort of thing that puts a push behind runaway inflation. It became rampant in Germany in the days leading up to the collapse of the Weimar Republic. Runaway inflation became so "runaway" that many German merchants failed because they didn't mark their prices up fast enough.

The average Canadian weekly wage as of August 1st, 1958, was $70.75.

Matter of FACT

The Andes Mountains of South America are the longest mountain chain in the world, 500 miles longer than the North American Rockies. Geologists say they are among the youngest mountains on earth. The highest large body of navigable water, Lake Titicaca, is on the plateau of Bolivia and Peru. The lake is 125 miles long, 12,507 feet above sea level.

done to curb traffic accidents at this point.

The last meeting of the Town Council brought out the news that the CNR will install the signal lights here. Considerable work was done by the Town Council, the Richmond and Melbourne Board of Trade and the Junior Chamber of Commerce to bring the project to realization.

Costs will be divided as follows: 80 per cent, not exceeding $5,600, by the Railway Grade Crossing Fund, 12 1/2 per cent by the Provincial Government, 7 1/2 per cent by the Canadian National Railway.

The Town of Richmond is not expected to bear any of the installation costs, except for work done at the point, such as moving the fence along the park near the bridge in order to improve the visibility at this point.

A year ago, after discussions on the project, it was expected that the Town would have to spend about $8,500, due to the traffic lights at the corner needing to be synchronized. This is apparently not necessary now and the project should be completed in the very near future.

With installation of these signals, traffic accidents should be reduced to a minimum. For

Agency Men Told:

Advertising Helps End Recession

NIAGARA FALLS — (Special) — Extensive, well planned advertising has been a major factor in bringing back the Canadian economy so quickly out of the recession period, was the contention of Elton Johnson, speaking as retiring president of the Canadian Association of Advertising Agencies, at the annual meeting at the Sheraton-Brock Hotel in Niagara Falls.

Mr. Johnson was succeeded in office by D. E. Longmore, president of McKim Advertising.

Mr. Johnson as Chairman of the Board of Stanfield, Johnson & Hill, emphasized the fact that during the past year consumers maintained, and even increased, their total purchases.

"Without this confidence on the part of the buying public... a confidence supported by the continuation of advertising investments at records levels... the recession would have been felt more keenly by all sections of Canadian economy."

Presidents and senior executives of 42 advertising agencies attended the two day conference. It was reported that agencies which were members of C.A.A.A. placed over two hundred and seven million dollars worth of na-

Rev. Paul Busing Guest Speaker At Waterloo Kiwanis

WATERLOO — "Why Most Of Us Are So Little Grateful" was the topic of the address given by Rev. Paul F. Busing, of St. Luke's Church, to a large group of Kiwanians and guests at the weekly meeting.

Mr. Busing began his talk by reminding his listeners of the story of the 10 lepers, stressing the point that only one returned to say "Thank You". People try to convince themselves that the majority is always right. But man's unwillingness to say "Thank You" disproves this conviction. It is so easy to say "Please" when help is needed, but people soon forget the help that has been rendered them.

The speaker was introduced by Walter Hughes, and thanked by Arthur Reed.

A short business meeting was conducted before the address. Among the items discussed was the proposal of a letter of thanks to Jim Cook for his work in making the attendance board for the contest. Past President Alden Perkins reported that the Holland bulb sale was nearly completed. Only a few hundred more bulbs were left to sell.

Seated at the head table were Mr. Busing, President Frank Makinson, Vice-president, Wally Jenks, Past President, Alden Perkins and Kiwanians Walter Hughes and Arthur Reed.

Quiet Atmosphere Essential For Efficient Homework

WINDSOR, Ont. (CP)—A quiet atmosphere minus television or radio is essential for students to do homework efficiently, says Mother M. Gerard, principal of a high school here.

"The high school schedule is so heavy," she told a meeting of her school's parents' club, "that the student must cover every phase of study at the proper time if he doesn't want to be left behind."

"Proper lighting and a quiet atmosphere are necessary for efficient study, and a pupil cannot be expected to give his all to a subject with the radio or television blaring at his side."

"Learning in a high school is not child's play, and cannot be accomplished when the student is bothered with distractions."

Beauty Tips

Tall women usually are proportioned on a bigger scale than shorter ones. And their feet are larger and longer. However, flat-heeled shoes do not flatter such feet, although they do cut an inch or two from a towering frame. High heels tend to cut foot length and should be worn by taller women.

JENNE-BILLING

The marriage of Lina Lillian Billing, daughter of Mrs. W. Benjamin Billing and the late Mr. Billing, of St. Elie d'Orford, to Frank Arlington, son of Mr. and Mrs. Llewellyn F. Jenne, of Lennoxville, took place in a colorful autumn setting in St. George's Church, Lennoxville, on September 27, Rev. R. S. Jervis-Read of Sherbrooke officiated, assisted by Archdeacon T. J. Matthews, of Lennoxville. The wedding music was played by Mr. A. E. Bartlett, who also accompanied the soloist, Mr. Andrew Paton, in the rendition of "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register. Autumn flowers were used to decorate and white satin bows marked the guest pews.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. John Billing, the bride was gown in white peau de soie, the full floor-length skirt featuring a bustle effect at the back, and fell into a chapel train. The fitted bodice, fastened at the back with tiny buttons, was fashioned with a portrait neckline outlined in guipure lace, and long sleeves ending in lace encrusted points over the hands. Her tiered veil of tulle illusion was held by a Victorian crown of matching lace, and she carried a cascade bouquet of pink sweetheart roses. Her only ornament was a strand of pearls, a gift of the groom.

The bride's attendants, Mrs. Edward Flynn, as matron of honor, Mrs. Nelson Richards, as bridesmaid, sisters of the bride, and Miss Jo-Anne Flynn, niece of the bride, as junior bridesmaid, wore identically styled ballerina length gowns of deep plum blue velvet, with bouffant skirts, the dropped waistlines accented with large bows at the back. They wore matching headdresses of pressed leaves and carried bouquets of white Shasta mums.

Mr. Ross Jenne acted as best man for his brother, and the ushers were Mr. Ronald Jenne, brother of the groom, and Mr. Roy Billing, brother of the bride. Mrs. Billing, mother of the bride, received in a gown of old rose Chantilly lace over tulle, with which she wore a mink neck-piece, black feather hat.

Homemaking

Homemakers work hard but not as hard as housewives did in the 1890's. A study using modern soaps and detergents and a automatic laundry equipment showed that a 1958 homemaker uses 12 times less energy than her 1890 counterpart.

Think of this when the bathroom needs a face-lifting. One idea is to exchange the standard curtains for louvered shutters. These offer privacy as well as a change and are practical when finished with a washable paint.

She's Not Disillusioned by TV Quizzes---Just Relieved

Everybody seems upset at the recent wrangle about some of the quiz shows on television.

But I, for one, am sort of relieved by even the faintest suspicion that maybe some of those wonder boys and girls with the filing card memories weren't as smart as they appeared to be.

Having a memory more like a sieve than a filing cabinet, quiz programs always had a depressing kind of fascination for me.

If you can't be sure of getting home from the supermarket with a loaf of bread, a head of lettuce and a bottle of ketchup without making out a grocery list, there is a kind of fatal fascination in watching a brain (that seems more like an electronic than a human one) dig deep and come up with the answer, no matter what the question.

It's depressing and deflating to one's own ego — but fascinating all the same.

It's different with the westerns. The fact that the "good guy" is bound to win out in the end doesn't spoil my pleasure one bit. A western is supposed to be rigged, with all the breaks going to the good man and the bad men always getting their comeuppance in the end.

That's what I expect in a western. But I certainly hope it's not the same on a quiz show.

MANNERS MAKE FRIENDS

An easy way of remembering how to correctly introduce a man and a woman is this: the woman's name is spoken first. "Mrs. Smith I want you to know Mr. Black." You never, under ordinary circumstances, introduce the woman to the man.

It was reported that Mrs. Allan Morrison, Sherbrooke, has accepted the office of press secretary to replace Mrs. Laurison, who has resigned.

Miss Dolina Nicholson, guest speaker, was introduced. Miss Nicholson, who, with Miss Alene Morrison, was delegate from the Quebec Presbyterian to the W.M.S. Training Centre at Albert College, Belleville, gave a report of the week's studies there.

Winnipeg Blue Bombers Win Pennant; First Time In Five Years Eskimos Failed; Edge Roughriders 21-15

For the first time in five years a team other than Edmonton Eskimos has won a bye into the Western Interprovincial Football Union playoffs.

Winnipeg Blue Bombers did it Monday night when, with 50 seconds left in the game, fullback Charlie Shepard scored on a one-yard touchdown plunge to defeat the third-place Saskatchewan Roughriders 21-15 in Winnipeg.

The win sent Bombers five points ahead of second-place Edmonton. Each of the league's five teams have two games left in the regular schedule. Eskimos already have won a semi-final berth, and with British Columbia Lions out of the picture, Saskatchewan now must battle with Calgary Stampeders for the other playoff spot.

Riders, leading Calgary by a single point, could decide the issue by beating Stampeders in Calgary Saturday. If Stamps win that one they could take third place with a victory over Bombers at Winnipeg Monday night. Riders' last game is against Eskimos in Regina Nov. 1.

BLOW 14-0 LEAD
Riders blew a 14-0 halftime lead, built on Frank Tripucka's 34-yard touchdown pass to Jack Hill and a 66-yard punt runback by Mike Hagler for another touchdown. Hill converted both and Larry Isbell added a single to give Riders a 15-14 lead in the third quarter.

Shepard scored two touchdowns and Canadian half Ron Latourelle got the other. Quarterback Jim Van Pelt converted all three.

With Van Pelt doing most of the passing, Bombers completed 15 of 24 tosses for 200 yards. They gained 222 yards along the ground. Tripucka, the WIFU's leading passer, completed 19 of 28 throws for 252 yards. His backfielders, led by Bobby Marlow, back in the lineup after missing four games with a neck injury, made 106 rushing.

The Roughriders were heading for victory until Bombers marched from their own 51-yard line to the Saskatchewan one with minutes remaining in the game. Shepard went over from there.

Two firemen were injured.

NHL Takes On Familiar Look With Canadiens Back On Top; H. Richard Ties For Lead In Scoring Race

MONTREAL (CP)—The National Hockey League standings and scoring race both have that old familiar look. It took just two weeks for things to settle.

Montreal Canadiens, Stanley Cup champions for three years running, have taken over the leading team position. And three Montreal players have climbed into the top contending positions in the scoring.

The Canadiens, in second place a point behind Chicago Black Hawks last week, collected five of a possible six points during the week's play with two wins and a tie in three games.

Official league statistics released today show Montreal with nine points, good enough for a two-point bulge over the plucky Hawks, who salvaged but one win in three games.

WINGS TIE FOR THIRD
Detroit Red Wings won two of their three games and edged into a third-place tie with Boston Bruins, a point behind the Hawks. The Bruins broke even with a win, loss and draw.

A penchant for ties hung with New York and the Rangers played to two more standoffs in three games to retain fifth spot with four points, all earned singly through draws.

Toronto Maple Leafs picked up their first win of the season—a 3-2 victory over Boston—and are two points back. It left the Rangers the only winless club this season.

In the individual scoring, Montreal's lone representative in the top nine last week, Claude Provost, was held pointless and dropped far behind the leaders.

But Henri Richard, Bernie Geoffrion and Maurice (Rocket) Richard, all with two points last week, picked up the slack.

DEADLOCK ON TOP
Henri, the Pocket Rocket, runner-up last year to scoring leader Dickie Moore of Montreal, collected a goal and five assists to vault into a tie for the lead with Chicago's Eddie Litzenberger.

Both have a goal and seven assists and also head the league in the play-making department. Chicago's Tod Sloan, bracketed with Litzenberger atop the parade with four points last week, got only one assist and fell from the top nine.

Vic Stasiuk of Boston and New York's Andy Bathgate share the runner-up spot with Geoffrion. All have seven points, but the hustling Bruins forward takes preferred billing because his total includes four goals, one more than Geoffrion and two more than the lanky New York right-winger.

Geoffrion garnered three goals and two assists to push into the deadlock. Stasiuk fired three goals and picked up an assist while Bathgate scored one and helped set up three other goals.

FOUR-WAY BATTLE
Grouped with six points are the Rocket and three other players, including leading goal scorer Jerry Toppazzini of Boston.

The Topper brought his output to six goals by scoring three times. The Rocket got three goals and an assist, boosting his total to four goals and two assists.

They share the spot with Detroit ace Gordie Howe and Boston's Norm Johnson. Howe added four assists to his two goals while Johnson picked up three more assists and now has six.

Moore, with four goals and an assist, is tied with seven other players for the next position.

Swiss Hockey Group May Ban Russian Team

GENEVA (AP)—The Swiss Ice Hockey Federation has decided to ban the participation of a Russian team in an international tournament in Geneva next month, the Conservative newspaper Tribune de Geneve reported Monday.

The paper said the ban "has nothing whatever to do with sport and is most regrettable and embarrassing to the organizers."

Teams from Switzerland, Italy and Britain are also scheduled to take part in the tournament.

Officials of the Swiss Ice Hockey Federation refused to confirm or deny the ban, and said all comment on it is "premature."

Aussies May Set Dates For Final Tennis Round

MELBOURNE (AP)—Unless the tennis authorities in the United States, Italy and the Philippines agree this week on the dates of the second inter-zone Davis Cup final, the Lawn Tennis Association of Australia will set the dates. They probably will be Dec. 12-14.

The match, sending the U.S. team against the winner of the first inter-zone match involving Italy and the Philippines, is slated to be played in Perth, Western Australia.

Italy and the Philippines clash a week earlier in Sydney but the Italians are asking that the dates be moved back a week to permit better preparations for the second match.

The challenge round, in which Australia will defend the cup against the inter-zone survivor, will be played in Brisbane, Australia, Dec. 26-28.

Racing Officials Will Meet To Solve Problems

LONDON (AP)—Auto racing officials from 11 countries will meet here Oct. 28-29 in a desperate bid to solve the controversial problem of a new formula for grand prix racing.

Britain wants the present formula limiting engine capacity to 2½ litres unsupercharged to continue. The United States, planning its first entry into European grand prix racing, wants the engine capacity to be raised to three litres.

France and Italy are among European countries pressing for a limit of 1½ litres.

If the meeting breaks up without any decision, the present 2½-litre formula, due to end in 1960, will continue for the 1961 season.

Wally Hergesheimer Battles Back From Serious Setbacks To Return To Hockey's Big League With Rangers

NEW YORK (AP)—Wally Hergesheimer, a little guy with a world of courage, has battled back from two broken legs, a fractured shoulder and a "washed up" reputation to retain a position in hockey's big league with New York Rangers.

The 31-year-old right winger was assured of a regular job Monday by Ranger general manager Muzz Patrick who said Hergesheimer is "going to help us a lot."

Hergesheimer was brought up from Buffalo of the American Hockey League a week ago on a three-game trial. He scored a goal Sunday night as New York dropped a 5-3 decision to Montreal, the defending National Hockey League titleholder.

"I never thought I'd make it back up here," said Hergesheimer when told of his promotion.

A five-foot, eight-inches, 155-pound native of Winnipeg, Hergesheimer first joined the Rangers in 1951. He scored 83 goals in his first three seasons to become one of the leading marksmen in the NHL.

HITS INJURY JINX

However, toward the end of his third year he suffered a fractured leg. He came down with the same injury in his 14th game the following season and sat out the remainder of the campaign.

Completely recovered, he scored 22 times in the 1955-1956 season and then was traded to Chicago Black Hawks for George (Red) Sullivan. A broken shoulder again sent him to the sidelines in the 42nd game with the Hawks. Last year, Chicago shuffled him off to Buffalo.

Signs Contract For Second Straight Year; Maurice Parr And Bob Bedard Are Doubtful; New Players Expected

Sherbrooke Beavers, champions of the Eastern Townships Intermediate Hockey League last year, will commence their training with coach Gilles Dube at the helm. The locals will be following in the footsteps of Victoriaville, Drummondville and Asbestos who have already commenced their training.

Gilles Dube was more than satisfied with his new contract which Manager Bob Beaudry offered him and it was only a matter of minutes before he agreed to terms and affixed his signature. It will be his second year as coach of the Beavers.

Coach Dube returned to amateur ranks last season after performing with the old Sherbrooke Saints, Cincinnati, Chicoutimi and ending his sojourn with the Cataracs of Shawinigan. Dube was satisfied with his first experience as coach and stated he was more than surprised with the brand of hockey played and could understand why the league moved to "A" calibre.

Last year Dube formed with Ray Cyr and Real Rousseau one of the top forward lines in the circuit. Dube won the league scoring championship with 23 goals and 41 assists while St. Cyr picked up 32 goals and 29 assists. Rousseau, the youngest member of the club, garnished four goals and 10 assists.

Coach Dube is hoping that all his young performers from last year will return. Lionel Robidas, Claude Gagnon, Pierre Langlois, Real Rousseau and Reynold Beaudry are a few. But in keeping with past years it is quite possible that a few will leave for other places.

The Beavers may be without

the services of two of their last year's stars in Maurice Parr and Bob Bedard. Parr, who performed on the blue line and who was one of the pillars of the club, may retire from the game. Bedard, on the other hand, has taken a new position at Bishop's College School and may not have the time. Nothing official has been given out yet.

Score Of Rookies Battling For Jobs In NHL, Boston Only Team To Remain With All-Veteran Club; Hawks Leads

MONTREAL (AP)—The accent is on new faces in the National Hockey League this season with more than a score of rookies battling for regular jobs and only the Boston Bruins content to go with an all-veteran club.

"This is one of the best first year crops we've had in many years," said league president Clarence Campbell Monday. "Our teams have come up with the best talent from the minors. I expect Chicago, in particular, to be helped by its three rookies and six other new players picked up since the end of last season."

The Black Hawks, who finished in last place in the 1957-58 season, acquired Earl Balfour, who had 27 goals for Rochester of the American League; Howie Glover, a 38-goal scorer with Winnipeg of the Western League, and Jack McKenzie, a right winger from St. Catharines, Ont.

BIGGEST TURNOVER

The Hawks had the largest personnel turnover among the six teams in the league. In addition to their rookie trio, they also obtained Dollard St. Laurent from Montreal, Danny Lewicki and Jack Evans from New York, Al Arbour from Detroit and Tod Sloan from Toronto. Ken Wharham, who was in the league a couple of years ago, was brought up from Buffalo of the American League.

One of the most talked-about first year men is Charlie Burns, a forward making a good impression on Detroit Red Wings' management. Burns was a member of the Whittier, Ont., team which won the world amateur title in Oslo, Norway, last season. Gerry Ehman is another highly regarded Detroit youngster, he scored 40 goals for Springfield of the American League. Len Lunde, a centre, and Claude Laforge, a forward, also are looking to remain with the Wings.

The champion Montreal Canadiens have spiced their veteran outfit with three newcomers—Ab McDonald, Al Langlois and Ralph Backstrom. McDonald found the mark for 30 goals for Rochester last year. Backstrom scored 45 for the Hull-Ottawa Canadiens. Langlois is a defenceman.

RANGER ROOKIES

The New York Rangers' rookies include forwards Eddie Shack, Les Colwill, Earl Ingarfield and Jim Bartlett and defenceman John Hanna.

Toronto's lone first-year man is Carl Brewer, up from the Toronto Marlboro juniors.

Shack and Backstrom are given the best chance of winning the rookie-of-the-year award (Caldor Memorial Trophy), captured last year by Frank Mahovlich of Toronto.

Bernard Quinn, with the hat-trick, was the big star in St. Patrick High School 5-0 win over Magog High School in an Inter-Scholastic Soccer league game played Monday afternoon. Reggie Jones and Guy Fabi counted the other two markers.

The teams battled it out on even terms for the most part of the first half and it was not until the closing minutes of the half that Jones put the St. Patrick boys in the lead 1-0.

The second half opened up with the St. Pat having most of the play and in the early moments Quinn came up with the first of his three second half goals. He followed this with two more and his line mate, Guy Fabi, closed out the afternoon scoring with a clean shot just before the final whistle.

Larochelle Club Still Setting Pace In Darts

RICHMOND — Hotel Larochelle has come up with their sixth straight victory in the Richmond Darts loop and are keeping ahead of the Asbestos Hotel.

The Legion team, holding down third place in the standing, lost a close tilt to Valcourt. Both games were played Friday night with Legion at Valcourt and Larochelle at Trenholm.

Larochelle walloped Trenholm 31-9 and had their twenty-one points before the Lampron crew could start their darts. In Valcourt the 21-19 win was Valcourt's second and by this victory moved ahead of RDC to take over fifth spot. Jimmy Smith, captain of the Valcourt club, teamed with Gerry Rondeau to win the twenty-first game of the night giving their club the win. It was their only game that they won all night.

The schedule resumes Tuesday night when Windsor Mills meets Trenholm at the Brunswick Hotel. They will have a chance Tuesday to get in the running and try to cop their first tilt of the season. They lost all four played so far.

One tilt is on tap for Thursday night when RDC travels to Asbestos to clash with the Asbestos Hotel crew.

Jimmy Tessmer Fails Again To Register Ace

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — With $10,000 riding on his swing, an amateur golfer failed in a bid to score a hole in one for the third straight day on the same hole.

Jimmy Tessmer scored aces last Thursday and Friday on the 162-yard par 3 fourth hole at the Desert Inn Country Club. The club offered him $10,000 if he could do it Saturday.

His chances were estimated at 16,000,000 to one. Tessmer's first shot was only a few feet from the pin. He putted it in for a deuce.

No Reason Clubs Shouldn't Have Approved Type Of Elbow Pads, Says President Clarence Campbell Of NHL

MONTREAL (CP) — President Clarence Campbell of the National Hockey League said Monday there is no reason why clubs shouldn't have approved type of elbow pads or at least have had a former type modified to conform to regulations.

Campbell's comment was made following reports from Chicago that Boston Bruins officials were furious about the pads used by Toronto Maple Leafs.

General manager Lynn Patrick of the Bruins said that jaw fractures suffered by defenceman Doug Mohns and centre Bronco Horvath resulted from illegal pads worn by the Leafs.

Campbell, just back from Chicago, said he had not heard from the Boston officials there but is investigating the situation. He declined to indicate what might be the outcome.

National Hockey League Waiver Rules Are Hurting Calibre Of Big Time, Says Punch Imlach Of Leafs

TORONTO (CP) — National Hockey League waiver rules are hurting the calibre of big time hockey, George Imlach, assistant general manager of Toronto Maple Leafs, said Monday.

"How can you discipline players you know are dogging it?" he asked. "You can't even send them to a minor league club."

NHL rules stipulate that a player must be waived out of the league by all clubs. The waiver price is $15,000.

Imlach, indignant over Leafs' 3-1 loss to Detroit Red Wings Sunday, said only the waiver rule is preventing him from sending three players to Rochester in the American Hockey League.

He identified the three as Dick Duff, Frank Mahovlich and Billy Harris. He felt certain other NHL clubs would snap them up if they went on waivers.

Imlach said each club should have a protected list of 17 or 18 players and be able to play them wherever they wish, even in a farm club.

"You can't run a hockey club any other way."

MR. BEEP: "Say Pal, you sure look as if you had a tough time getting your boss here before the kickoff!"

JADED JALOPY: "Pal — I did. All those stops and starts and creeping along in traffic really knocked me for a loop! Boy, I need a long rest."

MR. BEEP: "You don't need a rest. What you need is a change — a change to BP. Once your boss starts feeding you that BP Super Gasoline and Visco-Static Motor Oil you'll actually find yourself loving traffic."

JADED JALOPY: "Sounds good! Next time we see one of those green and yellow BP Shields, I'll cough and stall and, I'll bet my boss will take the hint and drive in."

MR. BEEP: "Sure he will. He's anxious to avoid traffic trouble, too. BP can't control traffic but it sure helps you forget it!"

SEA BATTLE OF THE FUTURE?—Since the advent of atom-powered submarines and sub-launched missiles, many military strategists warn that America's greatest danger lies in a sudden nuclear attack from the sea.

In order to counter this possibility, a number of antisubmarine weapons have been devised. Tracking exercises in both the Atlantic and the Pacific are continuously being carried out in order to improve their use.

Artist's drawing above, with perspectives compressed for clarity, envisions the actions that could take place in an undersea attack, based on information that has been declassified.

One of the most important defensive weapons is the helicopter. In the scene above (1) it has picked up the sounds of a submarine pack by means of the sonar device trailing from it.

Land-based planes (2), a carrier (3) and a destroyer (4) are called to the area. Depth charge explosions can be seen in the wake of the destroyer, while both a conventional torpedo and one fired into the air by rocket seek out a sub. Locating another sub, a tracker plane (5), either from land or from a carrier, drops a homing torpedo which scores a kill.

But one sub (6) has eluded detection long enough to surface and fire a nuclear-armed missile, in this case a winged, nonballistic type. Perfection of a ballistic missile capable of being fired underwater will greatly increase dangers of submarine effectiveness. Also in development are submarine vs. submarine weapons and tactics.

In this drawing, one city has been hit. The outcome of battle is still in doubt, although, as of today, the odds favor the attacker.

Montreal Lady Is Showered By Warden Guild

WARDEN—The regular meeting of the Guild of St. John the Divine was held at the home of Mrs. Lyle Ashton. Mrs. J. Marcotte presided and also read the minutes in the absence of the secretary.

Details for the party following the Hallowe'en collection have not been completed but it is understood there will be food and treats for all the children.

In addition to the Hallowe'en campaign, the UNICEF committee is selling UNICEF Christmas Cards. It is pointed out that out of every dollar spent for a box UNICEF cards, fifty cents goes to UNICEF, and fifty cents is enough to give 500 hungry children a glass of milk! Committee members may be contacted by those wishing to purchase UNICEF cards.

The children will be taking home printed material on UNICEF to their parents. Included in this will be a paper for parents to sign, stating whether or not they want their children to spend this Hallowe'en collection and it is hoped that every parent will get behind this worthwhile humanitarian effort.

Plans were made to hold another "500" party in the Parish Hall on Friday evening, October 17th. The surprise packages were won by Mrs. L. Ashton, Miss Clara Mountford, Mrs. H. McGovern and Miss A. Ashton.

Mrs. Kenneth Ashton, of Montreal, was invited as she thought to a Guild meeting, but when she was escorted into the dining-room she found herself to be the guest of honor at a pink and blue shower. Mrs. Croft Caw assisted her in opening her many gifts which were passed around for the 25 friends and relatives to see.

Refreshments were later served by Mrs. L. Ashton assisted by her five daughters and Mrs. S. Cummings and Miss Sandra Smith.
