Mideast accord

Deadline nears

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Indications are that the Big Four chief UN delegates, though nowhere near full agreement, may set an early summer deadline for finishing their talks on how to settle the Arab-Israeli conflict.

The four ambassadors—Lord Caradon of Britain, Armand Berard of France, Jacob Malik of Russia and Charles Yost of the United States—will meet privately Wednesday for their ninth session since April 3.

Diplomats directly or indirectly involved in the meetings say the ambassadors have been talking of winding them up at the end of June or the beginning of July, though they have not yet decided on a date.

One diplomat said the differences among them were "not unbridgeable" within that time. But he could not name anything they had agreed on. Others said they had not agreed on any specific issues but only on a few general principles.

But they may want to come up with recommendations for a settlement before the summer vacation break here. And they are under pressure from Secretary-General U Thant to hurry them up.

MAY BECOME WORSE
On visits to Geneva and Rome early this month, Thant told reporters the situation in the Middle East was deteriorating. If the four powers did not agree in two months or so on the substantive issues involved, he said, "I am afraid the situation may get out of hand."

The four powers are meeting as permanent members of the Security Council in accordance with a proposal made by France Jan. 17.

Diplomats said the four-power delegates had exchanged views on the resolutions in two readings and were about to start a third. They have agreed on two points contained in the resolution—that it should be the basis for a settlement and that there should be no acquisition of territory by war—and on a third point proposed by the United States that no settlement should be imposed on the parties.

Campaign speeds Nixon, Thieu to meet

PARIS (Reuters) — The French presidential race gathered momentum today after Gaullist candidate Georges Pompidou raised the spectre of Communist influence as an argument against voting for Alain Poper, the leading contender.

Pompidou, fighting an uphill battle, also suggested Britain could join Europe under some kind of new arrangement.

Fresh rioting

NEWARK, R.I. (AP) — Amid scars of the 1967 riot, racial turmoil erupted again Monday night after a Negro policeman shot a Negro youth to death during a scuffle.

Police and Negro leaders teamed up — aided by rain showers — to cool the disturbances after about 50 stores were looted, 50 persons were arrested, three Negroes were wounded by gunshots and two white newspaper men were hit by thrown missiles.

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon and President Nguyen Van Thieu of South Vietnam will meet June 8 on Midway Island in the Pacific to talk about the Vietnam war and efforts to end it peacefully.

The White House announcement, made simultaneously in Saigon, said the session would last one day.

The groundwork for the first meeting of the Vietnamese chief of state and the new U.S. president was laid in Saigon last weekend when State Secretary William P. Rogers held extensive talks there with Thieu.

The Vietnamese president said in a statement Saturday he hoped to meet with Nixon because he felt it was necessary to set up a common policy.

Midway is the scene of a turning-point battle in the Pacific in the Second World War—a dot of an island 1,149-miles west of Hawaii.

Before leaving Saigon Monday, Rogers agreed a summit would be useful.

Revamp Malaysian cabinet

KUALA LUMPUR (Reuters) — Malaysian Prime Minister Abdul Rahman today announced a new multi-racial cabinet to run the country in co-operation with a national operations council appointed to deal with a week-long emergency.

The council, directed by Deputy Prime Minister Abdul Rasak, was appointed earlier to co-ordinate civil and military operations to cope with racial violence which during the last week has cost 152 lives.

The violence erupted in the wake of general elections which vastly reduced the majority of the governing Alliance party.

Meanwhile, 86 persons in the capital and surrounding state of Selangor were arrested today,

Race unerringly to moon meeting

HOUSTON (AP) — The explorers of Apollo 10 hurtled deeper into the black void of space today, racing unerringly toward a perilous rendezvous with the moon.

Their target, a sliver of silver light, loomed larger and larger as their home planet, earth, shrank in the distance.

They'll zip behind the moon's hidden backside Wednesday and at 3:35 p.m. EDT, fire Apollo 10 into orbit just 69 miles above the surface. That will start a 2½-day lunar adventure intended to clear the way for two Apollo 11 astronauts to land on the surface in July.

Thomas Stafford, John Young and Eugene Cernan were well rested and in good spirits as their spaceship sped outward on its journey.

They had reason to be happy. Their command ship and the little lunar landing rocketship module, or LEM, attached to its nose, both were operating flawlessly.

They heard a reassuring roar from their command ship engine Monday when they fired it for the first time to make a minor midcourse correction to zero in on the desired lunar orbit path.

BURN WAS GOOD
"That was a good burn," said Stafford, the Apollo 10 commander.

"Beautiful," replied Mission Control in Houston.

The firing put the astronauts on a course that will enable them to orbit above the moon's equator, the pathway that Apollo 11 hopes to follow.

On this flight, Stafford and Cernan are to detach their LEM and descend to within 9.3 miles of the moon, over the same spot in the Sea of Tranquility where astronauts Neil Armstrong and Edwin Aldrin hope to land.

The engine that put Apollo 10 on course is the same that must fire to shoot it into lunar orbit—and fire again to propel the astronauts back toward earth.

Following their launching from Cape Kennedy Sunday, Stafford, Young and Cernan have had a leisurely voyage, resting for the busy days around the moon.

None of the pilots had shown any signs of a cold, flu or other ailment. Astronauts on the three previous Apollo missions were plagued with various illnesses.

"They're in great shape, as you can see by the telecast," reported flight director Glenn Lunney.

BEAM COLOR TV

He referred to a 24-minute color program beamed from Apollo 10 Monday shortly before the astronauts passed the halfway mark of their 251,307-mile flight to the moon.

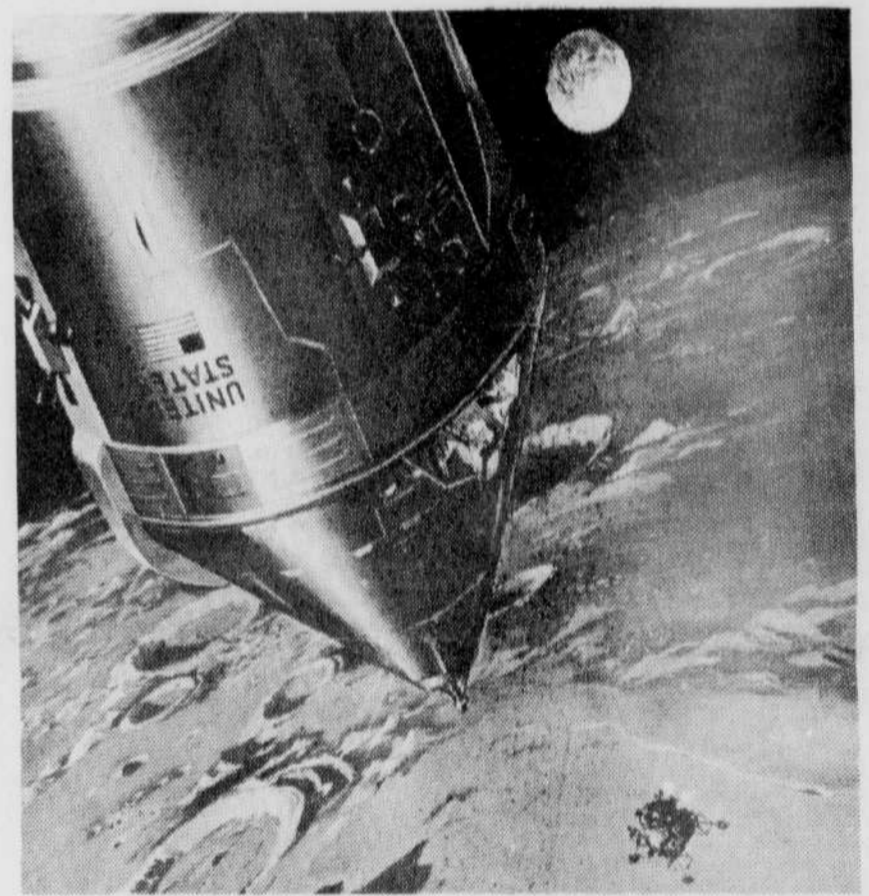

With the camera focused on his one-day beard, Stafford apologized. "We didn't have a chance to shave this morning. I hope it doesn't bother anybody."

That set the tone for a light-hearted tour of the cabin.

Young gave a boy scout salute and held up colorful drawings of the comic strip characters, Charlie Brown and his dog Snoopy. These are the radio code names the astronauts adopted for the command ship and the LEM, respectively, when the two craft separate for eight hours during the LEM descent to near the moon surface Thursday.

"Good grief, Charlie Brown," one of the astronauts said.

Pointing to Snoopy, Young said: "He's been quiet for the last two days but he's going to get a chance to do some woofing in a few days."

CRUCIAL MANEUVER in the Apollo 10 mission, shown in NASA artist's sketch, comes when the Lunar Module, with astronauts Stafford and Cernan aboard, detaches from the Command Module and descends on its own power to 50,000 feet. Young remains in the Command Capsule in a 69-mile-high orbit, ready to swoop down to the Landing Module's rescue if necessary.

Gambling casino stock benefitted foundation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The foundation headed by Justice William Douglas of the U.S. Supreme Court has cashed in a $2,000,000 jackpot in selling its stock in a firm which owns three Las Vegas casinos.

A foundation official said Monday the holdings were sold in early March—two years after Douglas had described the stock as "an irrevocable gift."

The Supreme Court justice has drawn fire in Congress over his salary as president of The Albert Parvin Foundation and its ownership ties with Las Vegas gambling palaces.

Tax records show that Douglas has been paid approximately $85,000 during the last seven years as the foundation's only salaried officer.

Douglas declined comment. Justice Abe Fortas resigned from the Supreme Court last week amid congressional rumblings of impeachment in the controversy over a $20,000 cheque from the family foundation of convicted financier Louis Wolfson.

ASK DOUGLAS PROBE
Congressmen have called for an investigation of Douglas and his foundation's stock in Parvin-Dohrmann Co., which owns the Stardust, Fremont and Aladdin hotels and casinos.

Harvey Silbert, the foundation's secretary and treasurer, disclosed in a telephone interview that 21,791 shares in Parvin-Dohrmann were sold during the first week of March at $91.75 each. This would result in a purchase price of slightly less than $2,000,000.

There was no indication whether the Parvin Foundation was still receiving its interest income from another hotel and casino on the Las Vegas strip, the Flamingo.

The $2,000,000 price was five times the value listed for the foundation's Parvin-Dohrmann stock when Douglas's role first became known to the public in cheque from the family foundation of convicted financier Louis Wolfson.

At that time, Douglas wrote Chief Justice Earl Warren: "There has been criticism of the (stock) portfolio of the foundation. Except for minor items, the selection of the portfolio was made solely by Mr. (Albert) Parvin and was transferred by him to the foundation as an irrevocable gift."

ENTERS IN RECORD
Senator John J. Williams (Rep. Del.), entered the letter to Warren in the Congressional Record this month in charging that Fortas had not returned the Wolfson cheque in 1966 "until after Justice Douglas had been caught with his hands in the same cookie jar."

Representative H. R. Gross (Rep. Iowa) called for an investigation of Douglas last week. Gross said: "The circumstances of the Fortas and Douglas 'fees' are strikingly similar except that in the case of the latter the money comes in part from the gambling tables of Las Vegas."

Seek to cut U.S. commitments
WASHINGTON (AP) — Two powerful Senate critics of United States military policy have reopened a campaign to cut long-standing U.S. commitments in Europe—an effort stilled by the 1968 Soviet-led invasion of Czechoslovakia.

Senator Stuart Symington (Dem. Mo.), chairman of the Senate subcommittee on security agreements and commitments abroad, said Monday some European bases are only conveniences that should be abandoned.

He said a reduction in American military commitments abroad and basic changes in defense policies—to the point of risk—must be taken to rescue the U.S. economy and meet unfilled domestic needs.

Senator J. W. Fulbright (Dem. Ark.), chairman of the Senate foreign relations committee, complained that many of those commitments were made in the first place by the executive department without the required consultation of Congress.

"Quite aside from questions of the merit or desirability of these commitments, the means by which they were incurred must be a matter of concern to anyone who is concerned with the integrity of our constitutional processes," Fulbright said in a speech to the National War College.

Fulbright called for an overhaul of what he termed a foreign policy of "chronic welfare and intervention" in international disputes that he said is leading the U.S. toward an authoritarian government.

Quebec 40 years behind in pollution fight

By CHARLES CATCHPAUGH

MAGOG — (Special) — Quebec Province is some 40 to 50 years behind Ontario or the United States in fighting water pollution, Peter Kohl of Montreal told a special meeting held at the Princess Elizabeth High School of Magog called by a Quebec Government Commission.

"La Commission d'étude des problèmes juridiques de l'eau," named to study water pollution problems, which began hearing briefs presented by delegates of the Memphremagog Conservation Inc. organization, the Massawippi Pure Water Association, and private citizens of the region.

Despite considerable publicity given the meeting emphasizing the importance of the hearings with regard to saving Lake Memphremagog and other lakes and streams in the region, less than 50 persons besides the government commission attended. Describing the small attendance, an MCI official, and a government representative said the lack of interest was typical of the apathy being shown by the public to fighting water and air pollution.

The commission headed by Judge Roland Legendre, consisted of three members of the Quebec Department of Natural Resources: Donald Guay, secretary and administrator and Charles E. Deslauriers, an engineer with the department, and Robert L. Menard, consulting engineers; Andre Cossette, a notary, one member of the commission, Paul Pelletier, also a consulting engineer, was absent Saturday.

Among the varied views expressed was one by Jacques Lemieux of Sherbrooke, the engineer who supervised construction of the Sherbrooke water pipeline which draws from Lake Memphremagog.

Mr. Lemieux said of the damage to Lake Memphremagog is being created by chemical fertilizers used by farms. He recommended that a study of upstream pollution be made before enforcing lakeshore controls.

Memphremagog Conservation Inc. asked that immediate legislation be passed to halt the damage being done at present and regulations which would ultimately lead to salvaging Memphremagog and other lakes and streams throughout Quebec.

Unfortunately, as a government officer pointed out, MCI did not have its briefs prepared in sufficient number to hand out as did the Massawippi Pure Water Association, but basically, both organizations are striving for the same goals, he noted.

The Massawippi brief of 15 articles outlining the problem at hand, were followed by recommendations and suggestions, offered for the commissions consideration.

It was pointed out that some $20,000,000 a year is being spent in Ontario to fight water pollution, and as much as $13,000,000 a year in other provinces, but Quebec's expenditure does not begin to meet these allocations. One spokesman said the funds should come jointly from all government levels, namely federal, provincial and municipal.

Abuse, is the big factor and the subject that should first be dealt with, according to Eric Reford of Magog. Mr. Reford said municipal bylaws designed to combat pollution were of little value, as many times they conflicted with the regulations of adjacent communities, provincial or federal rulings.

He cited the Sherbrooke pipeline's rejection pipe as an example. Mr. Reford said, that according to the terms of the Magog bylaw on pollution this city could take Sherbrooke to court for their infraction, but such a measure would be impossible for the Township of Magog, inasmuch that the legal costs alone would be prohibitive. So, Sherbrooke goes on throwing its algae and rejected particles back into the lake.

Mr. Reford made reference to last Friday's Record, and the repeat of a picture and story explaining the Sherbrooke pipeline rejection pipe.

While no public reference was made to the fact that the City of Magog did not have a delegation at Saturday's meeting, the absence was noticed and called regrettable as this is the largest community on the shore of Lake Memphremagog.

Magog owns some 8,500 feet of water front on Lake Memphremagog and the Magog River above the Dominion Textile dam which controls the lake's level.

Germain Rivard, a Magog surveyor was spokesman for the local Chamber of Commerce and suggested a program of systematic controls. Also active in the ARDA, he gave a lengthy presentation on his views on the inept measures being seen at present, which he said were staged as pretences to fighting water pollution.

While no definite statements were made by the commissioners, they individually expressed deep concern over the briefs, and stated they were well aware of the acuteness of the water pollution problem, both here and in other parts of Quebec.

Measures to be recommended by the commissioners will not be known until other similar hearings are held in other regions.

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "Supposing the director said, 'Okay, we're ready for the scene; take your clothes off.' I just wonder how I would react." Just thinking about it, Fred MacMurray reacted with what seemed to be a blush. He was talking about today's racy movies, and why he isn't appearing in them.

"Oh, they send me scripts now and then, but I couldn't do that sort of thing I just couldn't," he said. "I tried it once, in The Apartment (in which he played an office lecher), and that was a disaster, as far as my following was concerned.

"I wouldn't do it again. I guess I've got to preserve the Disney-My Three Sons image."

The Fred MacMurray image remains unchanged. He is reputed to be a poor interviewer (he isn't), wealthy (he is, but not by Hope-Crosby standards) and parsimonious (could be). At 60 he looks little changed from the years when he was playing in romantic comedies with Claudette Colbert. His hairline is high, but his face is smooth, figure trim.

kitchen at home. It's a golden ear of corn, and I got it for being in the movie that sold the most popcorn in theatre lobbies during one year. That was for The Shaggy Dog. But June says I shouldn't mention the Pop-scar."

The MacMurray television series, My Three Sons, won another kind of award. It placed No. 14 in the all-season audience ratings. Thus a 10th season for the series was assured.

"And I thought this might have been our last year," MacMurray commented. "NBC put The Ghost and Mrs. Muir opposite us, and their ratings were good in the beginning. I thought to myself, 'Dammit, maybe we should have quit while we were ahead instead of going down with a losing season.'"

But My Three Sons, like most of the veteran CBS shows, rose in the ratings as viewers became disenchanted with the newer opposition series. The Ghost and Mrs. Muir won a bunch of Emmy nominations but lost the rating war. It was cancelled by NBC and picked up by ABC for next season.

GETS NO AWARD

When I saw him, the season's Emmy nominations had just been released, and he had been overlooked again.

"My wife June (Haver) was upset about it, but I remained calm," he said with a smile. "I told her if they gave an award for durability I might get it some day.

"I've never been nominated for an Oscar, either. The only award I ever got was the Pop-scar, which I keep in my

Jim: "Why don't you take over today's article to write about your old friend Raymond Balle?"

Oswald: "He really was an old friend. When we first met I was a youngster just getting interested in bridge while Raymond, only a few years older, was already established as one of the great auction bridge players. Somehow he never took any interest in contract tournaments. He played rubber bridge daily at New York Regency Whist Club until several years ago when he had to stop because of illness.

"He never believed in using point count. He used to say, 'Numbers are fine but bridge is a game of aces and kings.'

"He never learned the fine points of bidding and in general overbid an average of a half a trick a hand, but he sure could handle the dummy. I was his partner when he made six diamonds with today's hand.

"He came to his hand with a spade at trick two and lost a trump finesse to East's king. He ruffed the club return, thought awhile and laid down his king of spades. When the queen dropped Raymond pulled the last trump and claimed his contract since he could ruff one heart and discard another on the 10 of spades."

Jim: "Quite a nice line of play. He took a chance that the second spade might be ruffed so as to keep two trump entries to dummy. If the spade queen hadn't dropped it was obviously his plan to take two heart finesses and discard two of dummy's spades on the ace and king of that suit."

Oswald: "Right. He risked a two-trick set but any good player will risk going down two to give himself the best chance to make his contract."

If you are a California reader you probably have heard of the team of Dick Walsh, John Swanson, Paul Soloway and Jerry Hallee. At 35, Dick is the old man of the team; the rest are under 30. Everyone except Paul has a full-time job away from the bridge table.

They have done extremely well in California competition. Paul won the McKenney Trophy in 1965 and they have just won the Vanderbilt Cup. It is the first national title for any of them but it won't be the last. It was also a very popular victory. They're four very nice young men and a credit to bridge.

Here is a hand from an early stage of the finals that might have discouraged a young team. When Walsh and Swanson held the North-South cards they stopped quite properly at four spades. Six made but the slam contract was a mighty poor one.

Against Soloway and Hallee at the other table the bidding went as shown in the box. North's five-spade call was a slight overbid and South might well have stopped there but anyway, they did get to six.

Jerry Hallee opened the ace of diamonds and shifted to a club. South gazed unhappily at dummy for some time and finally decided to play the hand as simply as possible. He led a spade to the king, finessed against East's queen and drew the last trump. Then he cashed his king of clubs, led the queen of hearts and played low from dummy when West played low. The heart queen held and the other three losing hearts went on the king-queen of diamonds and queen of clubs.

Never a word of reproach

Lennoxville told to re-hire chief

By RICHARD SPALDING
(Record Staff Reporter)

The Quebec Police Commission Friday ordered the reinstatement of Grant Smith as police chief in Lennoxville.

Mr. Smith had been informed by the mayor of Lennoxville, July 22, 1968, of the intention of the council to suspend him as chief of police, on the grounds that he had violated article No. 166 of the city of Lennoxville, dealing with other forms of employment.

July 23, 1968, during a special meeting of the city council, it had been decided to ratify the mayor's decision to suspend Mr. Smith as chief of police.

The resolution of July 23 to fire the chief was made on the grounds that Mr. Smith was involved in the sale of used cars, thus violating article No. 166 of the city of Lennoxville.

July 29, 1968, an appeal to the resolution was made before the Quebec Police Commission, in Quebec City.

During the hearing of the appeal, it was discovered that the city of Lennoxville had motives other than the sale of used cars to reproach the chief of police, principally the fact that he was difficult to locate during certain periods of the day.

Testimony heard was that Chief Smith was often busy investigating and verifying the work of his men without their knowledge.

Chief Smith testified that he worked an average of 50 to 60 hours a week.

The commission also noted that during all the years he was chief of police, complaints were never received in regard to his work.

Many witnesses testified that

Smith's conduct as chief of police was beyond reproach. The commission also recognized that the mayor of Lennoxville, Cecil Dougherty had never worded a reproach to the chief.

Contentions that Smith made any profits out of the sale of used cars were denied. It was established that Mr. Smith bought an estimated 30 cars over a period of two years.

Chief Smith added that all transactions relating to used cars were made after working hours.

The commission expressed the opinion that for a member of a police force to violate one article dealing with the force is not sufficient to bring about his withdrawal.

Mention was made that never had the mayor or any other member of the town council informed Mr. Smith of the in acceptability of his car business in his job as chief of police.

Testimony surrounding his unavailability proved to be controversial.

All things considered, the commission ruled that before June 15 the city of Lennoxville would have to re-instate Grant Smith as chief of police, at the same salary and under the same conditions as before, that he would not be paid for the time after he had ceased to be chief of police, that Mr. Smith cease all his transactions dealing with the purchase and sale of used cars.

The commission noted that Grant Smith would have to resume his functions on or before June 15, 1969.

Mr. Smith was represented during the hearings by Sherbrooke Attorney Ashton Tobin.

Two persons died and others were injured in traffic accidents over the long weekend in the region.

On Ascot road, early Saturday morning, a motorcycle accident killed one and injured another.

Dead is 19-year-old Andre Coullombe, of 715 Poulin Street, in Sherbrooke. Injured is 22-year-old Denis Guillemette, of 112, 12th Avenue, in Sherbrooke.

The pair were riding their motorcycle when it was hit from behind on Ascot road, the driver escaping from the scene. Coullombe died instantly while the other was transported to Hotel Dieu Hospital. He was well enough to attend his friend's funeral here yesterday.

In Sherbrooke yesterday, a 23-year-old man, Marc Pepin, of Sherbrooke, surrendered to police in connection with the accident.

Accompanied with his lawyer, Pepin went to police headquarters to explain the accident.

Pepin was scheduled to appear before the court this morning.

In Richmond, early Saturday morning, a man was killed when his car hit a telephone pole.

Dead is 22-year-old Lloyd Day, of Brockville, Ontario. The accident occurred at the corner of Main and King streets, in Richmond. Police reported that the victim was passing another car, when he hit gravel and ended in a crash against a telephone pole. The body was badly mutilated and the car a total wreck, police report.

In Bromptonville yesterday, three persons escaped injuries when the car they were occupying skidded near the bridge, jumped the siding and fell into the river.

The accident occurred about 5:30 p.m. yesterday. The driver, 20-year-old Roger Chaput, of Sherbrooke, and the two occupants, Jean Louis and Laurent Rousseau, of Windsor, escaped without injuries.

Police reported Chaput tried to stop his car near the bridge, but because of wet paving, it skidded, and jumped the side to fall 40 feet into the river.

A man and a woman miraculously escaped injury when the foreign-made convertible sports car they were driving went out of control and rolled on Cate Street in Sherbrooke early Saturday morning.

From skid marks at the scene near the corner of King Street West, police guessed the car went into a skid when the driver tried to stop at high speed.

The car, with its top down and not equipped with a roll bar, went up on lawns, headed for homes, and then flipped when the driver tried to pull it back into the street.

The car was completely demolished but the occupants suffered no injuries in the accident and escaped from the overturned car through the side door.

'Radish' Turnbull returns to Stanstead

STANSTEAD — (Special) — Graham (Radish) Turnbull, a student of over 20 years ago at Stanstead College, now a Hollywood singer and song writer whose professional name is Scott Turner, was a recent guest of his Alma Mater, Stanstead College.

Radish as he is known here came for the College Track meet in the afternoon and attended the Alumni Association banquet, annual meeting and program in the evening.

He was introduced at the banquet by a classmate, Boots MacLeod, who said Radish attended Stanstead College in 1948-50 and Bugbee Business College and was a student at the Eastern Townships Conservatory of Music at the College. His home was in the Town of Mount Royal.

Later, Scotty attended University and today he is extremely successful as director of country and western music for Liberty Records. Scotty has worked for Tommy Sands, Eddy Fisher, Herb Alpert, Dean Martin and many other celebrities. He has made an MGM movie and performed with Milton Berle, Perry Como and Mike Douglas shows.

Scotty now a life member of Stanstead College Alumni Association, set a 100-yard dash record while here as a student which has never been broken.

Scotty, acknowledging his introduction, recalled his days here at Stanstead, naming Sam Abbott, athletic coach, "who put strength in my legs"; Leonard McGillon, who knew about paper work; Mrs. Beth Smith,

"my first audience, but she gave me encouragement"; A. P. Gordon, "who went to school with my father, both were geniuses in maths and Mr. Gordon helped me"; Mr. Hackett, "who caught me one night reading a comic book when I should have been studying"; the late Dr. Amaron, principal, and his words of advice to Scotty; Lloyd MacPherson, director of drama "who put me on the first stage in the Haskell Opera House, frightened to death."

And there were a large number of Scotty's class mates and members on the staff who shared these memories.

"Be proud of yourselves, boys," he told the graduating class, "I'm proud of Stanstead, let's keep it this way." Scotty said he has played before an audience of 30,000 people in California for a benefit but felt more nervous, he said, as he spoke to the assembly here.

He said that he spends $8,000 a day of his company's money to make a recording and explained how records are made, demonstrating with equipment he had brought with him from California. He said five million copies were sold of one record which cost $35 to make in a garage.

"Herb Alpert taught me all I know," he said, on a father and son basis; now Scotty has 23 artists working with him of whom 10 are Canadians and he interviews many, many more.

To make a record, Scotty said, one first selects material; he then demonstrated how a record is made from start to polish to finish. He said that during the past 18 months recording has gone from the four track to the eight track and demonstrated with records and cue cards. He explained why a record costs $5.98 to buy, saying the cost to make the

MRS. SMITH'S SONG — Scott Turner, a graduate of Stanstead College and now a professional songwriter and performer, sang a song that he wrote especially for the alumni association banquet of his old school. The song was dedicated to Mrs. Beth Smith, who was his first audience, more than 20 years ago.

Emotional problems as cause of car fatalities

Engineers can design safer cars and safer highways, but until science can learn how to design safer people, mankind cannot hope to make more than a dent in highway accident statistics.

A study of 25 recent driver fatalities in the Houston, Texas, area, conducted by the Baylor University College of Medicine, shows that "80 per cent of the fatalities were maladjusted in that there were either alcoholics or had personality disorders, or both."

According to the Institute for Highway Safety, the Houston study found that 72 per cent of the drivers had significant content in their blood. Psychiatric stress, growing out of marital, financial, occupational or other factors within a 24-hour period before the crash, was present in 80 per cent of the fatalities.

The Houston study is only one of a number which have found emotional-personality factors present in an exceptionally high percentage of fatal traffic accidents.

Most anyone can teach a parrot to speak, but it takes a genius to make one shut up.

Space is ape business

With the American trio making another of its trips to the moon it might be time to ask you a question: Do you remember Enos the Astronaut?

If you do, you qualify either as an expert in space history or as an animal lover, first-class. Enos was a chimpanzee and the first "American" to be sent into earth orbit and returned way back in November, 1961.

Our primate friends are still playing an important role in space exploration. A little 15-pound pigtail monkey is scheduled to go into a 30-day orbit on June 18.

It is the first time a high form of life will be studied continuously in a state of weightlessness for such a long period. The knowledge is essential for the planning of permanent, manned space platforms.

The tiny creature will be wedged inside a spherical Bio-satellite amid a mess of instruments and other equipment and will be wired from head to toe. Surgically implanted electrodes will telemeter information on such things as brain temperature and muscle response. He won't be able to blink an eye without it being recorded on earth.

About the only diversion the monkey will have will be pushing buttons in two behavioral tasks. If he pushed the right buttons, he'll be rewarded with food pellets.

Here's a salute to the simian hero. A human being put through the same ordeal would go ape.

In some circles, it's "marry in haste and repeat at leisure."

Why tax reform

Millionaires escape but poverty groups assessed under present U.S. provisions

By ARCH MacKENZIE

WASHINGTON (CP) — United States government figures show that 381 Americans earning at least $100,000 in 1967 escaped paying a penny of income tax.

But 2,200,000 below the official poverty level—$2,200 annually for a married couple—contributed to the annual income-tax harvest of $165,000,000,000.

President Nixon appears to have had that in mind when he announced recently the first major U.S. tax reform program since income tax was introduced in 1913 at the rate of one per cent on the first $50,000 of income and two per cent beyond that.

"We shall never make taxation popular, but we can make taxation fair," the president said. His program, now embarked on the lengthy congressional voyage that may take two years, is a relatively modest one. It may emerge in drastically altered form.

But it signifies a recognition that the jungle of fine print in U.S. income tax law has provided tax shelters for too many on the high-income side of the American economy.

In 1966, four Americans each drawing incomes of more than $5,000,000 paid no income tax. On record is one individual who had an income of $20,000,000 and paid nothing.

FIND LOOPHOLES

Moreover, evidence shows, the growth has been sharply upward in the numbers of affluent Americans legally avoiding income tax by devices ranging from the oil-depletion allowance to expenses charged against farming operations conducted solely for that purpose.

The president's tax reform plans follow warnings of a general taxpayer's revolt and the finding of one public opinion poll that 69 per cent of Americans feel they are paying too much now.

That sentiment was sharpened April 15 as Americans for the first time felt the impact of a Vietnam war income tax surcharge—the necessity to pay 10 cents more on every tax dollar.

The Nixon program really aims at a reshuffling of the tax burden without altering the harvest—reallocation of something around $4,000,000,000.

Including the 2,200,000 Americans below the poverty line, 35,000,000 Americans earning below $20,000 a year pay half the income tax.

Despite the rule of thumb that the rich shall pay a proportionately greater slice of income tax, the American financial upper crust gets off easy—and in many cases scot free.

PAY LESS TAX

For example, those with incomes of more than $5,000,000 a year pay just half as much tax proportionately as those with one-tenth the income.

There are some special loopholes.

Americans choosing to invest all their income in state or municipal bonds free themselves from income tax liability. The Nixon reform doesn't touch this escape hatch.

Charitable donations loom large in tax-escape calculations.

It has been estimated that the U.S. treasury loses as much as $1,600,000,000 annually in tax revenue from the provision that 27.5 per cent of the income from an oil well is tax-free annually.

The provision, long attacked and adequately defended by the well-heeled petroleum lobby here, may be in for some revisions now, however.

One well-known example of the provision is the oil man who avoided paying any income tax over a 12-year period in which he sold at least $50,000,000 worth of oil.

New Zealand reactor decision worries UK

By A. C. GRAHAM
Canadian Press Correspondent

WELLINGTON (CP) — New Zealand's recent assurance to Canada that it will buy its first nuclear power reactor from the country offering a suitable unit at the lowest price is likely to cause consternation in Britain.

New Zealand has long sought assurances from Britain that the traditional supply of primary produce to millions of Britons under preferential trade arrangements will be regarded as a "special case" if and when Britain enters the Common Market.

Britain in return expressed no little annoyance in 1967 when New Zealand bought Boeing 737 jet airliners from the United States instead of the competing British-made BAC 1-11.

It made little difference to British lobbies that computer studies had placed the British jet a clear last behind both the Boeing product and the Douglas DC-9, also made in the United States.

The nuclear power assurance, made here by New Zealand Trade Minister John Marshall to visiting Canadian Trade Minister Jean-Luc Pepin, was not as potent as it would have been a few months ago.

Since then, the discovery of oil off the west coast of New Zealand may well delay—if the oil proves to be of economic quantity and quality—the commissioning date of the nuclear plant beyond the present target of 1977.

WILL DELAY NEED

If so, the nuclear station will not be needed for some years, by which time new political factors will apply.

But, if not, Britain is certain to put enormous pressure upon New Zealand to buy a British nuclear reactor, even if Canada has the best product going when the decision is made sometime late this year or early next year.

New Zealanders recently visiting Britain suggest the political furore over the jet aircraft choice will be minuscule compared with that likely if New Zealand buys a Canadian reactor.

So far, New Zealand technical experts strongly prefer the Canadian nuclear power system using natural uranium and heavy water to the British system using enriched uranium.

Natural uranium would be cheaper and could be partly manufactured in New Zealand, with a consequent saving in precious foreign funds. Heavy water, used as a moderator in the Canadian process, could be made in New Zealand, and probably exported to Australia as well.

So far Britain has no system using natural uranium. But it has a team working on a system and hopes to produce a workable system within two years.

Marshall told Pepin that New Zealand did not, as a matter of policy, buy power plant equipment at a higher price to meet political or bilateral trading arrangements.

If Canada could tender the lowest price of those bidders who could meet the specifications of New Zealand's nuclear station it would, in accordance with policy, win the contract, said Marshall.

Pepin told reporters here he was delighted with Marshall's assurance. He said: "I am cheered and optimistic because on that basis I believe we have a very good chance of making it."

WORLD ALMANAC FACTS

Ancient Rome suffered many of the ills vexing modern cities—poverty, pollution and traffic congestion. Crossing mid-town Rome became so frustrating that one of Julius Caesar's first acts on seizing power was to ban carts and chariots from the center of the city during the day. The World Almanac notes. At night, however, countless wooden and ironclad wheels clattered over paving stones, tormenting the sleep of many.

COMMENT

Lubor J. Zink

OTTAWA — (TNS) — It's interesting to note that Moscow is accusing the Mao Tse-tung regime of killing thousands of innocent people during the "cultural revolution," including many staunch Communists.

I hope the United Church of Canada, which portrays Mao's Red Guards as "idealistic youth" in its teach-ins on Red China, will note this authoritative confirmation of continued mass slaughter of people under Red fascism.

Our apologists of the brutality of the "dictatorships of the proletariat" usually shrug off reports of the horrors of Communist purges and persecution campaign by saying that "revolution is not a picnic" or "you cannot make an omelet without breaking a few eggs."

When the "few eggs" represent thousands and in the long run scores of millions of human beings, even their peculiarly selective conscience should take notice.

A few years ago I quoted the figure of 90 million people as the estimated number of victims of the Communist regimes since the Bolshevik Revolution in 1917. Many readers wrote saying that such a massacre could not have taken place because it was simply inconceivable in our day and age.

In his book The Assault on the West (published in England last year by the Foreign Affairs Publishing Co.), Ian Greig writes that "there is good reason to believe that the Communist bid for world domination has already cost between 80 and 100 million lives since 1917," while the one-party dictatorships responsible for this seemingly incredible crime present themselves as the peace-loving, socialism-building, justice seeking and peaceful co-existence promoting members of the world community.

"Even in the days of Stalin," Mr. Greig says in his introductory chapter outlining the character of the unorthodox assault on the West, "the Soviet Union continuously stressed its desire for peace in order to remove any suspicion from its policies."

Since his death, the theme of "peaceful co-existence" has become central to the propaganda line of the entire Soviet bloc.

"Yet years of experience have shown clearly that under the cloak of 'peaceful co-existence' the Soviet Union and its allies feel as free as before to carry on their campaign of attrition and subversion against the West."

Mr. Greig documents the Soviet concept of peaceful co-existence by citing Communist sources.

For example, in 1963 Nikita Khrushchev said: "A fight is in progress between these two systems (Communism and democracy), a life and death combat. But we Communists want to win this struggle with the least losses . . . That is why we are striving for victory, for the triumph of Communism, without unleashing a world thermo-nuclear war."

A pamphlet produced by the journal, World Marxist Review, says: "It is simply not true, as is maintained by the Chinese leaders, that peaceful co-existence is used by Communists as a pretext to liquidate the anti-imperialist struggle and to disclaim the international duty of supporting the revolutionary struggle of the people of various countries. Peaceful co-existence means the maximum support to the oppressed nations including arms. And peaceful co-existence is strengthened by the revolutionary struggles of the people."

Translated from the Marxist jargon, this means relentless war against the democracies by all available means short of nuclear weapons.

Examination of the various facets of the policy of peaceful co-existence leads Mr. Greig to the conclusion that "Soviet policy has undergone no fundamental change. The aim," he says, "remains the same: To secure the victory of the dictatorship of the proletariat" throughout the world.

"Peaceful co-existence, it is carefully explained (by Soviet authorities), is merely a tactical means toward this end; a means which does not preclude the use of force when necessary, as for example in 'wars of liberation.' A convenient term which can be used to cover practically any contingency in which it seems likely that the Communist cause can be advanced by the use of limited military operations."

This has direct bearing on Prime Minister Trudeau's re-orientation of our foreign and defence policy, for any weakening of the Western system of collective security before there is solid evidence of a workable East-West detente signals to Moscow and Peking that they are succeeding in their joint effort to demoralize, subvert and eventually destroy the democracies.

Mr. Greig documents the Soviet concept of peaceful co-existence by citing Communist sources.

For example, in 1963 Nikita Khrushchev said: "A fight is in progress between these two

BMP hospital continues to serve area

COWANSVILLE—(Staff)— The Brome-Missisquoi-Perkins Hospital is enlarging, and becoming increasingly more bilingual and multi-religious to better serve the citizens of the Cowansville district.

In his president's report to the 39th annual meeting on May 9, B. W. Draper outlined the progress and plans for the future.

Mr. Draper said the enlargement, which had been long awaited, was realized on August 22 when the Minister of Health accepted the lowest bid of $2,185 from Desourdy Construction and permission was granted to proceed with the work.

"In order to provide the necessary services for the district it was necessary to proceed with the enlargement."

Once the construction is complete BMP is going to need funds to equip the new services.

Mr. Draper estimates that private rooms will cost $1,100 to equip, $1,400 for a semi-private and $2,750 for each public ward.

He said the hospital has already received donations to help defer the expense of enlargement. "I can assure you that the Board of Directors would be very pleased to acknowledge by way of a plaque any donations received for this purpose."

BMP has been working in the area of bilingualism to better serve the needs of both language groups in the area.

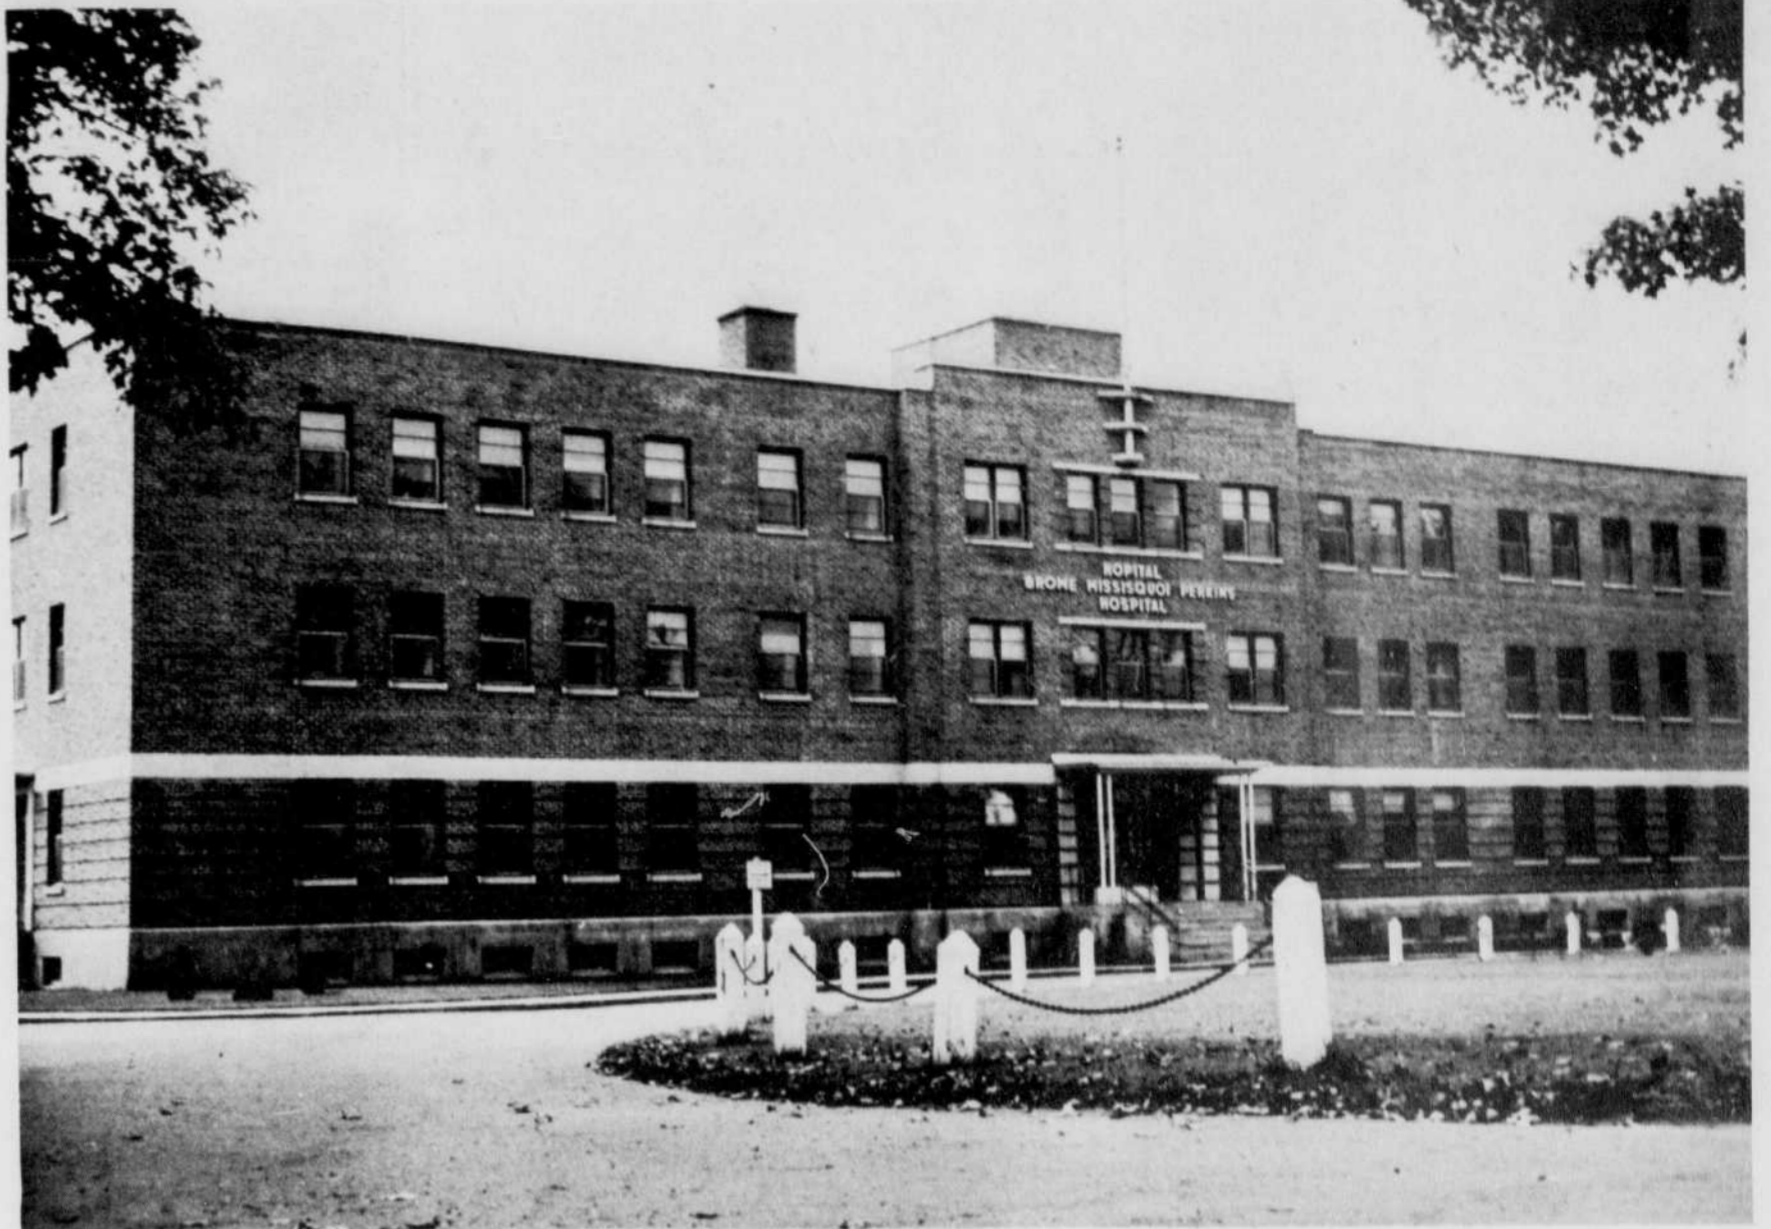

"The board has now adopted a policy covering the employment of bilingual key personnel in connection with personnel who come in contact with the public. We felt it was absolutely necessary that this type of personnel should be bilingual as we are catering to the services of the entire community."

To be sure that all religious groups realize they are welcome, the hospital employed in 1968 chaplains of the Catholic, Anglican and United Churches.

During the year a new employee hospital and medical insurance plan was adopted, including indemnity for loss of time from work.

During 1968 22,916 adult and children patient days were recorded at the hospital. Newborn days were down for the tenth year in a row to 2,883.

Expenditures before the audit are $1,132,766, up more than $129,000 from 1967.

Radiology workers are breaking records

COWANSVILLE — 1968 was the busiest in the history of the Department of Radiology of the Brome-Missisquoi-Perkins Hospital. An increase of 31.8 per cent was experienced in the number of radiological examinations. As compared to 7,184 examinations in 1967, 9,470 examinations were reached in 1968. An excess of 2,286 examinations.

M. Brouillette, department head said the increase was accomplished with a personnel increase of one part-time secretary who now works full-time. "We have in addition, an office clerk and two certified technicians. During the year we lost the services of Mr. J. C. Laflamme, who resumed his studies in order to teach at the Laval School of Technology in Montreal. Fortunately, we were able to obtain the services of a new certified person."

The smallness, or the lack of space, in the existing department, and the noise, are not conducive to good mental work. Mr. Brouillette said. "The work was accomplished under adverse conditions, which, fortunately, will soon be remedied."

During 1968 the department acquired an automatic film processor, which facilitates daily work.

"Naturally this developer required the adoption of a precise technique. This resulted in films of diagnostic quality never before realized. On the other hand, the old equipment in the X-Ray Department was the cause of many inconveniences during the year 1968, due to frequent breakdowns. Fortunately, this will be remedied in our new department with modern equipment."

Hospital operating costs climbing out of control

COWANSVILLE — (Staff) — Brome-Missisquoi-Perkins hospital is encountering the same financial problems as other medical centers across the province. Costs are climbing and revenue is having a hard time keeping up. While presenting his report, J. A. Ritchie said, "The audited financial report, concerning the Revenue Fund, shows that the cost of operating the hospital continues to increase. Many of the factors responsible for this trend are beyond our control."

The average daily expenditure for 1968 was $3,104. This compares with $2,633 in 1967 and $2,455 in 1966. The per diem ward rate has spiralled from $14.12 in 1961 to $30.03 in 1966 and $41.22 in 1968. "During the year $25,823 was added to the Nurses' Residence Fund. For donations received, we wish to express our thanks to Bruck Mills, the Women's Auxiliary, Albany Felt Company, Vilas Industries, Realmont, Missisquoi and Rouville Insurance and Mr. Alan C. Webster. This fund has also benefited from the income earned by the hospital endowments." The cost of equipment purchased during the year amounted to $26,672.24. Major items included two motorized high-low beds, safety bedsides, to equip all medical and surgical beds, an automatic film processor for the X-ray Department, an ice cuber, an accounting machine and cardiac arrest equipment. The Hospital was also fitted out with entirely new drapes. Mr. Ritchie said, the report would not be complete if tributes were not paid to over 190 full-time and part-time employees, as well as others who contributed toward the successful operation and services provided in the hospital. These include the Medical Staff, the Women's Auxiliary, private individuals and the Board of Directors.

Ritchie takes new job

COWANSVILLE — (Staff) — In presenting his report to the annual meeting President B. W. Draper announced the resignation of J. A. Ritchie from his post of hospital administrator.

"Mr. Ritchie is leaving the community to assume duties of Administrator at the Leamington District Memorial Hospital."

"He has been administrator of this hospital for 10 years, and his competence and devotion to duty will be greatly missed. On your behalf, I have written to Mr. Ritchie, reluctantly accepting his resignation and have extended on your behalf our very best wishes to both Mr. and Mrs. Ritchie for their health and happiness for the future."

Air Canada to fly today

MONTREAL (CP) — Air Canada's 6,330 striking machinists lay down their placards and pick up their tools today to end a four-week, nationwide strike for more money and benefits in a new contract.

The machinists, members of the International Association of Machinists, ratified an agreement Monday which will give them a 16-per-cent wage increase over 26 months.

The increase will provide wages ranging from $2.32 to $4.22 an hour, compared to a range of $2 to $3.97 an hour when the previous contract expired Dec. 31, 1968.

The increase is to be split over two periods—nine per cent for the first 14 months, retroactive to Jan. 1, 1969, and seven per cent for the final 12 months, effective March 1, 1970.

Also included in the new contract are special adjustments for employees at the top of the pay scale, a special benefit of four cents an hour after 11 years of service, changes in health and life insurance coverage, longer vacations and a paid meal period on the day shift.

The agreement was signed Saturday.

108 PLANES GROUNDED

The voting Monday ended nearly six months of negotiations, conciliation and mediation leading up to the strike which began shortly before midnight April 20. The 108 planes of the Crown corporation were grounded and more than 11,500 other union employees were put out of work on an unsalaried basis.

There are about 17,000 employees with Air Canada.

The agreement was worked out by federal mediators late last week with Labor Minister Bryce Mackay in close touch with all parties in the dispute.

Could you keep up those "easy" monthly payments if your pay stopped?

What would happen to you and your family if suddenly your regular pay cheque was cut off because of a serious accident or an illness? You, like most families, are probably making payments on your house, your car and other things that bring you a comfortable and enjoyable life. Without your regular income could you continue these payments or would there be a severe adjustment in your living standards?

Manufacturers Life can't guarantee that you'll always be able to work. Nobody can. What we can guarantee is that if you are laid-up with an illness or an accident you'll still receive a regular pay cheque. Month after month. Year after year.

Call the Man from Manufacturers. He'll be glad to help you with a plan tailored to your needs. A plan with a guarantee that the protection can be renewed to age 65 and which in the interval cannot be changed or cancelled by the Company, regardless of what happens to your health. The cost is reasonable; and with your family's financial security at stake you just can't afford to be without it.

mock Victoria Day celebration.

The officer was injured during a scuffle with students after they singled him out as a "police spy" and chased him from the gymnasium where the meeting was being held.

Extent of his injuries was not known.

Witnesses said he fired two shots in the air as a group of students approached him outside the building.

The crowd dispersed quietly after police reinforcements arrived and no arrests were made.

Organizers of the meeting said the trouble started earlier when students ejected two men as "police spies." Police would not say whether any officers other than the injured man were at the meeting.

The meeting was held to raise funds to help pay for a demonstration at McGill University March 28. The demonstration by about 6,000 persons was to show support for the conversion of the English-language university to a French-language institution.

Teachers talk

QUEBEC (CP) — Negotiations were to resume today between the government and representatives of Quebec's 70,000 teachers who have been without a contract since June, 1968.

Talks were held Monday, but no progress was reported on remaining major issues that include retroactivity, the teacher-pupil ratio in elementary schools and teacher participation in decisions affecting curriculum.

The talks today were to be held in the office of Marcel Masse, minister responsible for negotiating with civil servants.

The 60,000-member Quebec Teachers Corporation has set June 1 as the deadline for reaching agreement in the talks that started 22 months ago.

Raymond Laliberte, the corporation's president, has called for province-wide resignations if there is no settlement by then.

Rev. Graham Barr, Sherbrooke, a former student and later a member of the teaching staff, gave the blessing.

Alumni President, Joel Bonn, proposed a toast to Her Majesty, The Queen, and to the President of the United States. He afterwards voiced a warm welcome to everyone attending to make the evening a grand success.

Regrets of unable to attend came from Mrs. E. C. Amaron, and Lloyd MacPherson, both in Ontario and John Miner of Granby.

Jeff Roberts gave the treasurer's report, revealing the hard work and dedication of the Alumni executive. Mr. Bonn mentioned changes in the constitution all of which were ratified by the Alumni attending. Mr. Bonn said these will be printed and distributed to the members.

Giving the president's report, Mr. Bonn touched on many things. Membership fees are $5 per individual and $7.50 a couple. Life membership is $100, payable in installments. There is now a permanent Alumni secretary at the College.

Mr. Bonn noted on monthly meeting and activities socially of the Alumni and that June 21 is Day Students re-union

CAHA plans administrative changes

CALGARY (CP) — The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association has detailed proposed changes in its administrative structure which could lead to peace talks with the rival Canadian Hockey Association.

The changes call for councils composed of hockey operators to administer senior-intermediate, junior and minor hockey in Canada, a step the CHA has indicated would be conducive to holding discussions on its returning to the fold.

"The door has always been open," CAHA president Earl Dawson of Rivers, Man., said Monday in the president's report to the opening session of the CAHA's 53rd annual meeting.

He indicated that differences between the two groups can be resolved if the CHA is willing to abide by the CAHA constitution.

CAHA president Ron Butlin of Calgary said in an interview that under the proper circumstances "either myself or people designated by the representatives of our teams would be prepared to meet with the CHA or any other group interested in the hockey picture in Canada."

Butlin, who also announced Monday the board of governors of the Western Canada Hockey League was to open a two-day meeting here today, indicated that the proper circumstances would be a restructuring of the CAHA as recommended by the federal government's task force on sport.

BREAK RANKS
A dispute within the CAHA over junior hockey age limits resulted in the CHA being formed last year. In accordance with its agreement with the National Hockey League, the CAHA reduced the junior age limit by seven months last May to under 20 on Dec. 31. The CHA, in charge of the WCHL and the five-team Western Ontario Junior A League, set the age limit at 21 on Dec. 31.

The CAHA Monday night when proposed changes that would result in the formation of five-man councils and give senior-intermediate, junior and minor hockey people a greater voice in the organization's affairs.

Dawson said the changes, which still must receive plenary session approval today are designed to meet complaints that "there is a lack of communication" and that the voice of hockey operators "is not being heard."

The reorganization will create a 21-man board of directors. Dawson reported that the restructuring would cost an estimated $15,000 a year and councils will consist of one man from each of five regions—Atlantic, Quebec, Ontario, Prairie and Pacific.

NHL HOLDS LINE
The CAHA president said his association had some sympathy for opponents of the lower junior age limit and "is still pressing for a change," but had been advised by the NHL that the professional body's position in the matter had not changed.

Earlier, a resolution by Alf Taylor, a CAHA director from North Gower, Ont., sought creation of a major junior category open to players up to 22 years old.

It was defeated by the resolutions committee Sunday but Monday's plenary session refused to co-operate.

Joe Kryczka, president of the CAHA's Alberta branch, said the WCHL "had filled a lot of rinks and given a lot of youngsters an opportunity to play hockey in three provinces," and said CAHA branches should be given the option to establish a major junior category.

Delegates surprised the CAHA executive by voting to have the motion sent back to the resolutions committee.

"Someone must have done some lobbying," said Gordon Juckes, executive director of the CAHA.

The $603,700 received from the NHL in 1968 for developing and training hockey talent under an agreement signed in 1967 went primarily to administration ($75,000), minor hockey ($49,500) and junior development ($326,100).

The financial report noted that the money was derived through the universal draft involving CAHA clubs, the NHL and its affiliate leagues.

For the year ended March 31, 1969, the CAHA had a surplus of $101,361 in its development fund account, bringing its cash balance in the account to $163,178.

The national team program, which the CAHA has turned over to the federal government's Hockey Canada Corp., showed a deficit of $101,855 for the year ended March 31. This will be all but wiped out when the CAHA receives the last half of a $200,000 federal grant.

The number of players registered with the CAHA rose to 332,774 in the 1968-69 season, an increase of 68,480 over 1967-68.

The registration committee's report Monday said that the number of teams that competed under the CAHA's jurisdiction reached a record 16,698, an increase of 3,629 over the previous season.

Knudson shows endurance

Canada's George Knudson won a forced march of 54 holes in about 36 hours during the holiday weekend and came up with a pair of hot golf hands in Texas.

The Toronto professional played 18 holes Sunday in the closing round of the Colonial National Invitational tournament at Fort Worth. He scored a four-under-par 66, good enough for a share of sixth place with Dave Hill and Bruce Crampton and a cash prize of $3,890.

Monday, Knudson moved to Dallas and took dead aim on a bigger pay day in the U.S. Open championship. He produced rounds of 69 and 74 for 143 over 36 holes and advanced into the Open's sectional qualifying round.

At Fort Worth, Knudson finished five strokes behind the winner, Gardner Dickinson, who also scored 66 on the final round to end up with a two-under-par 278 and $25,000.

Dickinson said he has always wanted to win the Colonial. "Maybe it's because this course (7,157 yards) has eaten me up."

DILL SET THE PACE
Knudson's endurance test at Dallas again left him five strokes off the pace, set by Terry Dill who came through with 67-71-138. Other leading professionals to earn a shot at the U.S. Open, in the Dallas round, include Tommy Jacobs, Tony Jacklin, Art Wall, Phil Rodgers and Don Massengale.

At Badling of Toronto also advanced in the U.S. Open preliminaries.

Three other Toronto professionals, Ron Montross, Frank Whibley and Dave Clayton, also advanced along with Balding. Whibley and Montross managed rounds of 75 and Clayton scored 76.

Prince will not attempt Belmont

BALTIMORE (AP) — The Belmont Stakes still is to be run, but when the final jewel is added to racing's Triple Crown June 7, Majestic Prince will not be there.

Trainer Johnny Longden, who grew up in Tabor, Alta., says the Prince will not attempt to become a Triple Crown king by running in the Belmont. Owner Frank McMahon of Calgary and Vancouver also says so—but with less conviction.

For a time Saturday it appeared that no one would get a shot at the Triple Crown. A foul was claimed against McMahon's unbeaten colt after he finished first in the $182,000 Preakness, but the stewards disallowed it after deliberating 26 minutes.

A record Preakness crowd of 43,259 thrilled to the stretch duel between Majestic Prince and Arts and Letters, almost a carbon copy of their Derby battle, then waited out the foul claims.

"Boys, I'm taking him home" to Riverside, Calif., Longden told reporters when they appeared on the Pimlico backstretch Sunday to discuss Majestic Prince's victory by a head over Arts and Letters, who he beat by a neck in the Kentucky Derby.

McMahon said by telephone from his home in Florida: "I am pretty well convinced we are not going to run him. We are awfully close to not going. He is not sick. His condition is fine. He's just lost weight because of the campaign (seven wins this year added to two in 1968)."

PLANS LONG REST
Longden also said the chestnut's condition had nothing to do with his wanting to rest Majestic Prince until late summer or early fall. Then he said: "I've checked back and I can't find any horse that had a tough race in the Derby or Preakness that came out of the Belmont and amounted to a damn. I mean they never run back to their top form."

"Count Fleet was one of them. He was sound when he went into the Belmont. He never raced again after the Belmont."

Count Fleet, who won the Triple Crown in 1935, was ridden by Johnny Longden.

No previous winner of the Derby and Preakness was withheld voluntarily from the Belmont, in which just eight colts have clinched the Triple Crown—the last one Citation in 1948.

Braves beat Expos 8-3

National League relief pitchers had a frustrating afternoon Sunday, failing in four rescue operations.

The low point came when Chicago's Phil Regan walked pinch hitter Julio Gotay with the bases loaded and two out in the eighth inning, handing Houston Astros a 6-5 victory over the Cubs.

The Chicago bullpen ace, beaten for the first time in six decisions, almost pitched out of a bases-loaded, none-out bind before forcing home the winning run with his third walk in the inning.

Pittsburgh Pirates' Pedro Ramos and Bob Moose blew a ninth inning lead at Los Angeles, where Len Gabrielson's pinch homer and Wes Parker's two-out bases-loaded single gave the Dodgers a 6-5 nod.

San Francisco Giants' Bob Bolin retired two Philadelphia Phillies batters in the ninth, then yielded a single by Dave Watkins and a run-scoring double by Larry Hise that beat the Giants 9-8.

Atlanta Braves bombed Montreal Expos 8-3 in a rain-shortened game, scoring four wrapup runs in the seventh when Felix Millan, Hank Aaron and Cleve Boyer rocked veteran reliever Elroy Face with homers.

TWO WERE EXCEPTIONS
St. Louis Cardinals' Ron Willis and Gary Waslewski proved the exceptions, working out of late inning trouble to protect Dave Giusti's 6-5 victory over San Diego Padres.

Rain washed out the New York Mets-Cincinnati Reds game—and four perfect innings pitched by Reds' left-hander Jim Merritt.

In Saturday's games, New York trounced Cincinnati 11-3, San Francisco shutout Philadelphia 5-0, Houston edged Chicago 5-4, St. Louis downed San Diego 5-1, and Los Angeles blanked Pittsburgh 6-0.

Atlanta's game at Montreal was rained out Sunday and again Monday after being scheduled as the only game in the major leagues during the holiday.

Despite the loss, the first place Cubs remained six games ahead of the sinking Pirates in the East Division race.

The Pirates erased a 4-2 deficit when Willie Stargell's double launched a two-run eighth inning rally, then shot in front 5-4 on Stargell's run-scoring double in the top of the ninth.

THREE HIT HOMERS
Hise's fourth hit in five trips pinned the loss on Bolin and the Giants after the Phillies raked Juan Marichal for 12 hits and seven runs in the 6 1-3 innings he worked. Richie Allen, John Callison and Mike Ryan all homered off Marichal. Bob Burda socked a three-run pinch homer for the Giants.

Face came in to pitch at the start of the seventh with the Expos trailing 4-3 and was greeted by Millan's fourth homer. One out later, Hank Aaron bashed his eighth homer—and the 518th of his career. Then, with two out, Tommie Aaron doubled and Boyer slugged his fifth homer, putting the game out of reach.

It was called with the Braves batting in the eighth after a 47-minute rain delay.

Ron Reed, 5-1, went the distance for the Braves, who lost outfielder Rico Carty, with a dislocated right shoulder, and first baseman Tito Francona, with a dislocated right thumb.

Willis choked off a three-run San Diego rally in the eighth inning and Waslewski came on to get the last out in the ninth, stranding two base-runners and saving Giusti's third victory in seven decisions.

Lou Brock cracked three singles, drove in one run and scored another and stole his 12th base to pace the Cards' 12-hit attack.

CAHA approves curved goal

CALGARY (CP) — The Canadian Amateur Hockey Association has approved a rule change which will result in a curved goal crease.

The group's annual meeting approved a goal crease which will run in a semi-circle six feet in radius to three feet outside each goal post.

The goal crease now is rectangular, running at a right angle from the goal line one foot from the outside of each goal post for a distance of four feet. It has an area of 32-square feet, while the new crease would have an area of 39.28-square feet.

Aerofoils banned
MONTE CARLO (AP) — The International Sporting Committee Thursday banned aerofoils from Grand Prix racing cars competing in events under its jurisdiction.

The aerofoils, or stabilizers, have been in use since last year.

Unlike the moveable aerofoils initiated on the Chaparral prototypes—to aid braking for the automatic transmission racers—the devices on the formula one cars are stationary.

Though the committee gave no reason for its action, it was thought concern for spectator safety was the motive.

Gordon Juckes of Winnipeg, the CAHA's executive director, noted that many centres would be unable to introduce the new crease immediately because they share rink facilities with professional clubs, who still favor the rectangular crease.

Another rule change does away with a clipping penalty if, while committing the infraction, the defending player hits or knocks the puck from his opponent's stick prior to making actual body contact. It also calls for a major penalty to be imposed if a player injures a player through clipping.

A third change rewards the rule covering the leaving of the player's or penalty bench during an altercation on the ice.

The rule now stipulates what to do if more than two players from each team leave their bench, calling for a major penalty to two players of each team. The amendment changes the word "each" to read "either."

Approval was also given to changing the rule which states that a player who is actually propelling the puck shall not be considered offside if he crosses the blue line ahead of the puck.

Joe Pepitone blasts two game-winning homers

Joe Pepitone thanked his good fairy Monday, or was it the Angels?

Pepitone, the slumping New York Yankees first baseman, blasted game-winning homers in both ends of a 3-1 and 1-0 doubleheader sweep over California Angels Sunday.

He had four hits in the twin bill and six in his last eight swings during the weekend.

The spree raised his batting average to .254.

The shrunken average is the result of a two-for-39 slump which had saddled Pepitone until the Angels pulled him out of it.

"During my slump I wasn't even hitting the fast ball down the middle," said Pepitone, "and that's my pitch. I had two cheapie singles and I didn't even hit the ball hard once."

His three-run shot in the seventh inning of the opener gave Mel Stottlemyre his sixth victory of the year. In the nightcap, he broke up a scoreless game with his 11th homer on reliever Hoyt Wilhelm's first pitch in the bottom of the ninth.

In other American League games Sunday, Baltimore Orioles shut out Kansas City Royals 5-0, Detroit Tigers rapped Minnesota Twins 8-2, Seattle Pilots pounded Boston Red Sox 9-6 and Washington Senators won a pair from Chicago White Sox both 3-2. Oakland at Cleveland was rained out.

POUND THE ANGELS
New York pounded the Angels 6-0 Saturday, while Baltimore downed Kansas City 4-2, Detroit shut out Minnesota 6-0, Chicago blanked Washington 6-0, Cleveland edged Oakland 5-4, and Boston trounced Seattle 6-1.

No games were scheduled in the American League Monday.

Liston batters Johnson

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (AP) — Former heavyweight champion Sonny Liston battered George (Scrap Iron) Johnson into submission Monday night but it took the one-time scourge of the fight game seven rounds to put the baby bull from Los Angeles away.

The 37-year-old Liston, weighing 217, hit the fighter 10 years his junior with so many punches no one could keep track of them.

But Johnson, who had lasted 10 rounds with Joe Frazier in 1967, was knocked down only once, that in the first round of the scheduled 10-rounder. He was still on his feet when referee Harry Krause stopped it after two minutes, 55 seconds of the seventh.

Chalking up his 13th straight ring victory in his current campaign since Cassius Clay knocked him out in one round in their second fight in 1965, Liston put Scrap Iron on the deck in the first round.

He speared Johnson with a long left and a right and, in a delayed reaction, Johnson reeled backward across the ring and came to rest on the seat of his pants.

Johnson took the mandatory eight count and from then on it was an evening of frustration for Liston, a man who would once devastate a rival with one punch from his huge fists.

ATTACKED BODY
Johnson was something else. As long as he could manage to stay in close, Johnson dealt the former champion misery with his body attack. But when Liston, four inches taller, and with an advantage of reach of more than seven inches, could keep Johnson at a distance, his lefts and rights rocketed off Scrap's head like bullets.

The crowd of about 4,000 in the Las Vegas Convention Centre rooted for Liston, their adopted fighting son, but the cheers mounted as the rounds went by for the man who wouldn't go down under the punishment.

Both fighters staked their reputation on a possible title encounter with Jimmy Ellis, who is recognized as the world champion by the World Boxing Association.

Reportedly Liston will get the match, but where or when is not known.

SHAVING STROKES

1-The Mental Approach

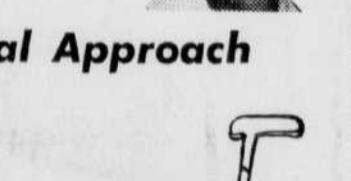

Teaching professionals place much emphasis on keeping that head down and that right elbow in, which is all right with me, too. For myself, though, the most important ingredient in a successful golf game is mental attitude.

I've seen many fellows with wonderful mechanical techniques who were not good golfers simply because they were too wrought up or, to be blunt, were just ignorant. Not bookkeeping ignorant, but they just were not completely up on the game of golf.

They didn't know about the swing itself and they didn't handle themselves in a mature way on the golf course. And I've seen these fellows—guys who, as you look at them on the practice tee, should be winning tournaments every week—go right down the drain.

There is no doubt in my mind that if you could pick one area in which you could excel at golf, you would have to pick proper mental adjustment. The mechanics would come second.

Some men are born with it. I have been blessed with good self-discipline. I've never had any trouble with my temper. I seem to be able to corral my emotions and channel them productively. I mean, when the adrenalin gets flowing, instead of me blowing my top or getting nervous and losing control, I seem to be able to use it as a catalyst and it spurs me on.

I've also seen men who were not born with a good mental approach work on it as you would homework and develop it to a passable grade. This is what we are going to try to accomplish in our next 14 lessons as we study the mental approach to golf.

THE DOCTOR SAYS

Diabetes Cause Is More Than Lack of Insulin

By WAYNE G. BRANDSTADT, M.D.

The cause of diabetes, once thought to be a deficiency of insulin production by the pancreas, has been found to be more complicated than this. Some diabetics whose onset of the disease occurs after they are 40 appear to have an insulin level in their blood that is above normal. This is explained by the fact that a precursor of insulin called proinsulin is included in the blood insulin estimation, yet this proinsulin will not reduce the blood sugar level. It must be converted into true insulin by another enzyme, which is lacking in these patients.

To further complicate the matter it appears that in a person with a heavy layer of fat the fat competes with the muscle tissue for insulin. Such a person often shows no evidence of diabetes after he loses a substantial amount of fat. The new oral anti-diabetic drug, phenformin, will effectively control the diabetes in these obese persons if they find it next to impossible to reduce.

Other factors causing diabetes are being studied. In some cases the disease may be caused by large doses of benzothiazides and drugs of the cortisone group.

Q—Are there different kinds of diabetes? Can one who has it eat honey?

The Ladies Guild of St. James Anglican Church held its annual spring rummage sale and tea in the Anglican Church Hall, on May 7. Following the sale and tea a business meeting was held. A committee was appointed to meet with the United Church Women to plan the dinner for the July 1 celebration, taking place on the village common. Mrs. W. Cutler gave a detailed report of the popular dances held during the winter months in conjunction with the Athletic Society. Proceeds were gratifying. It was decided to have an afternoon tea in June and an ice cream social some time in July.

The U.C.W. of the United Church held its annual spring clean-up day on May 7, when the ladies cleaned the church and vestry and the men of the congregation the yard and cemetery. At the noon hour the ladies served a baked bean and hot dish dinner with several of the town folks attending.
