was spent.

The Line bridges are still closed with little prospect of its being repaired or renewed in the near future. Some of our business men near the bridge, and particularly those at the south end, are growing restless. There is a conviction among some of them that the bridge could be repaired at a cost of a few hundred dollars. The cost is a serious one for a place of this size. If the bridge could, as they think, be fixed up for a few hundred dollars, the outlay might be warranted. But the corporation would not be justified in going into thousands for something which, at best, would be only a makeshift. Neither would the corporation be justified in paying out twenty or twenty-five thousand dollars for a new iron bridge. Really, we must confess that we do not know exactly what should be done. The chief difficulty is that there are too many bridges for the size of the place.
These, added to the high cost of maintaining narrow streets, without proper gutters and of keeping up hilly roads with material which is largely washed away by every heavy rainstorm, make this a very costly municipality to keep up. There is need for conservation and economy all the time.

TOWN TOPICS.

The band concert Thursday evening closed the series for this season.
These concerts were a credit to the band and the community. Each season shows improvement in the class of music given and certainly a very marked change for the better in the work of this successful organization.
Mr. Hovey merits the hearty appreciation shown by the attendance, which generally exceeds a thousand.

DEATH OF MISS MARY HALL.
Miss Mary J. Hall died somewhat suddenly at her home here Monday morning. She was a victim of diabetes, from which disease she had suffered a long time. During the past ten years Miss Hall has spent most of her time in Boston and vicinity, although she retained the old home here after the death of her mother some sixteen years ago. Miss Hall arrived here Thursday evening, and to friends complained of an uncon-fortable journey. Saturday evening she was taken seriously ill and a physician was called. Then friends were told that nothing could be done for the patient; it was the crisis at the end of the disease. At midnight Miss Hall became unconscious and remained in that state until 4 a. m.
August 31st, when she passed away.
The funeral took place Tuesday afternoon, Rev. G. Ellery Read of Sherbrooke conducting the service; interment at the Derby Line cemetery.

Miss Hall was born at Rock Island in 1861, and leaves no known relatives.
Her parents came here from Stafford, Vt. Miss Hall left an estate roughly estimated at ten or fifteen thousand dollars. The only will found so far was registered at Stanstead fifteen years ago. By this $200 was left to the Roman Catholic Hospital in Sherbrooke, where her grandfather was cared for near the close of his life, $150 to the Derby Line Cemetery and the balance of her estate to the Mary Fletcher Hospital, Burlington, Vt. It is believed by some that she must have made a later will in Boston, as she had frequently talked of doing so.
One of her advisers there, Mr. Eugene Allard, an electrical contractor, was in town yesterday, and expressed strong conviction that another will would be found.

THE IMPERIAL EVAPORATOR

A Popular Favorite among the enterprising sugar makers of Stanstead County from the time we took it out of the crate at the Ayer's Cliff Fair. The many words of commendation and praise were certainly most gratifying to us.

There is a place for many an Imperial in the good sugar places so abundant in the Eastern Townships, and we are ready to supply the goods, either the Evaporator only to fit the purchaser's arch, or the complete Boiling Rig if an entire outfit is required.

We want to take this opportunity to express our appreciation of our courteous treatment by the Fair Management, and to commend them for the manner in which these Fairs are being conducted.

SERIOUS RUNAWAY ACCIDENT.

Man Badly Injured and Boy Had Narrow Escape.

A serious runaway occurred at Rock Island Friday afternoon. John McLean, familiarly known as "Scotch Johnny," with one horse and a lumber box wagon from the Nettleton stable, had undertaken to move some household effects for a tenant leaving the Lee block on the Plain Hill. McLean had barely more than started when he slipped from the load, falling across the shafts behind the horse which ran away. On the west side of the street, near the Melloon store, stood a horse and buggy, headed north. In this wagon was Leo Francis, the sixteen-year-old son of Ellsworth Demick of Judd's Mills, and with it the runaway outfit collided. The buggy was stripped from the horse turned completely over and left upside down with the boy beneath it. Mr. Demick the owner, was in the Pike store, and hearing the crash, rushed to the street in time to catch his horse before the frightened beast had attained any considerable speed. In the collision McLean fell between the shafts and was run over. He was unconscious when picked up; his head was injured, one rib was broken, and his body badly bruised, but he is making a fairly rapid recovery, in spite of the fact that he is somewhat advanced in years.
The boy in the buggy escaped injury.
The Nettleton horse was brought to a sudden stop at the bridge, the end of which is boarded up. The runaway animal veered to the left to take to the sidewalk, when the wagon came in contact with the frame at the northeast corner of the bridge. One shaft was broken but the substantial wagon was otherwise undamaged. The buggy fared worse.

BULLET SPLIT ON BONE.

Boy Shot in Leg by Accidental Discharge of Small Rifle.

An unfortunate accident occurred at the old electric light dam on the Beebe road, Friday afternoon, when Albert Seguin, the thirteen-year-old son of Israel Seguin was shot in the left leg and painfully injured. The injured lad's home is on the old road, a short distance north of the railway bridge. With two of his brothers he had gone down to the old dam to play.
A little later another lad, Willie Dorman, happened on the scene with a small rifle. The boys were fast friends and the new arrival was more than welcome. All hands had been given a "shot" and the weapon was being loaded for a second "round" when it was accidentally discharged, the ball striking the bone from the front, a few inches above the ankle.
The manner of contact was such that the bullet was split in three pieces, these glancing off in different directions. The injured lad was hastened to his home, to which two physicians were summoned.

The wound is a rather bad one; the bone was only slightly fractured, but three different openings were necessary to locate the shattered bullets and provide proper drainage. The lad has suffered much, but is getting along as well as could be expected.

The affair was purely accidental.
When seen by a JOURNAL man, Sunday, Mrs. Seguin spoke earnestly and feelingly in regard to this matter, even expressing sympathy for the parents of the other boy, who were greatly worried and grieved over the affair.

WHAT THE RECOUNT MAY MEAN.

A recount of the ballots cast on August sixth is being held at the court house in Coaticook to-day. This recount was asked for by the liquor party some two or three weeks ago, and granted by Judge Globensky, then in Montreal. Recounts are usually held in cases where there is only a small majority and the defeated party hopes to cause the rejection of a sufficient number of ballots to turn the balance in its favor. In this case there was a large majority, so that nothing of that sort could be hoped for. But after the first shock of defeat the liquor party began looking for flaws. It was first announced that the election would be contested because the ballots were not printed in two languages. Then it was said that something or other had been omitted from the counterfoil. As a matter of fact the heading, including date, seems to have been omitted.
The Act prescribes the following form of ballot:

Voting on the petition to the Governor General for the bringing into force of Part II of the Canada Temperance Act.

For the Petition

Against the Petition.

The words printed in small type at the top of the ballot were omitted.
It is understood that the petition for the recount is based principally upon this omission and the alleged failure of some of the deputy returning officers to number the counterfoils or stubs, which do not enter the ballot box, being detached and destroyed by the deputies. The omission of the date and heading might be a serious matter if it were not for Article 105 of the Act, which reads:

"No polling of votes under this Part shall be declared invalid by reason of a non-compliance with the provisions of this Part, as to the taking of the poll or the counting of the votes or of any mistake in the use of the forms contained in the schedule to this Act, if it appears to the tribunal having cognizance of the question that the polling of votes was conducted in accordance with the principles laid down in this Part, and that such non-compliance or mistake did not affect the result of the polling."

It would appear that this clause was inserted in the Act to guard against just such an omission as was apparently made by the returning officer in Stanstead county. While article 105 may seem to leave a great deal to the "tribunal having cognizance of the question," it is hardly conceivable that any superior court judge would take the responsibility of upsetting an election upon such trivial complaints as those named.

It may be thought by some that the article above quoted is rather broad in its scope, but the same principle appears in other laws. An analogous enactment may be found in Article 16 of the Municipal Code, which reads:

"No objection founded upon form, or upon the omission of any formality, even imperative, can be allowed to prevail in any action, suit or proceeding respecting municipal matters, unless substantial injustice would be done by rejecting such objection, or unless the formality omitted be such that its omission, according to the provisions of this code, would render null the proceedings or other municipal acts needing such formality."

In connection with this article many decisions are cited, the whole trend of which is in support of the principle that formalities are not essential so long as they do not effect the root of the matter concerned. It was however, reported here the first of the week that affidavits would be forthcoming from a considerable number of electors who would declare, under oath, that they had been misled by the omission of the heading from the ballot. It will be interesting to know

WHEN YOU ARE NERVOUS

you have the first symptom of a run-down system, and nervous people too often conceal their aches and pains and suffer in silence, while, if neglected, this condition often foreruns more serious trouble.
If those so afflicted would stop taking medicine containing alcohol or drugs which menace the foundations of health, and just take the pure, strengthening nourishment in Scott's Emulsion, it would create new blood to pulsate through the organs, refresh their bodies and build up the whole nervous system. It is rich, sustaining nourishment, free from wines, alcohols or drugs. Shun substitutes.

who these men are, and to what station in life they belong. Every intelligent citizen of Stanstead county must realize that the ballot as taken fairly expresses the opinion of the electorate. He must also know that, so far at least as the winning side is concerned, there can be no suspicion of bribery, corruption, or intimidation of any sort. Indeed there is no such hint in the petition. The ballot prescribed by the Canada Temperance Act is admitted to have been somewhat confusing, but the omission of the date and heading could not possibly have added to the confusion. Every elector knew what date it was, and ought to have known the object of the ballot. To admit that he did not is equivalent to admitting that he is a fool. The only chance for confusion was in the case of the two important lines "For the Petition" and "Against the Petition," but these were thoroughly explained by the press, by public speakers, by specimen ballots and circulars sent out by both parties, so that there could have been no excuse for marking a ballot wrong on election day.

The present attitude of the liquor party can be regarded only as an effort to thwart the course of justice by foisting the license system upon the people against the wishes of a very substantial majority. More and more the liquor party is being shown up in its true light. It cares nothing for public opinion and even boasts of its ability to corrupt both courts and legislatures. A considerable number of temperance workers would really welcome invalidation of the ballot and the ordering of a new election, because they would like to show their strength in anything like an open fight with the liquor supporters outside of their trenches. A feeling that the position of the liquor party was well nigh impregnable added not only to the strength of the license faction but to the weakness of its opponents. Then, too, the former must have been convinced that, in a contest of this kind, money is not the factor they thought it to be.

The liquor party does not want to have another election called, in which event it would have to spend a lot of money with a practical certainty of being beaten worse than ever. What the liquor dealers most desire at present is to have the Canada Temperance Act held up by litigation until within two months from the expiration of the present license period, in which case those in municipalities registering "wet" majorities would stand a show of getting their licenses renewed for another year. Municipal councils in places like Rock Island and Beebe which registered substantial "dry" majorities could hardly be expected to sanction the granting of licenses.
Neither could the council of Stanstead Plain, where, under very extraordinary tactics, there was a "wet" majority of only four.

"BOOZE" AND CONSERVATION.

The sudden prohibition of the sale of liquor in Russia was one of the first results of the war. This action of the Russian government was announced in the early despatches from that country, in which it was stated that the move had been made, to conserve the national finances and national strength. The attitude of the world towards alcoholic liquor has undergone wonderful change during the past fifteen years. At a time no more remote than the South African war, whiskey was a regular part of the British rations. But the British soldier will not be incapacitated by whiskey in the present European war operations. If it be necessary for Russia to cut out booze in war-time, why would it not be good business to cut it out in times of peace? When at war a country needs a large revenue more than at any other time, and yet when the Russian government issued its drastic order cutting out the national booze bill no one said anything about the loss of revenue, and we will venture to say there was no great shouting about the failure of prohibition to prohibit. In these days much is being said and written about conservation. Does it not sound silly to talk about conserving the products of the waters, lands, woods and mines while permitting the continuance of a waste which is not only greater than all others but which unites a large section of the population for productive occupations. Conservation should begin with cutting out the booze.

JUDGE FERRIN'S OPINION.

"Tell the editor that if I live to be a thousand years old I shall always have the Stanstead JOURNAL; the fight was the best I have ever read." The above statement was made by Judge E. A. Ferrin of Vermont, while discussing the recent No-License campaign with a resident of Derby Line. Judge Ferrin, although well known in Orleans county, is not personally known to the editor of this paper, nevertheless the kindly message is deeply appreciated.

Writing to the editor under date of August 31st, Mrs. F. M. Needham, Boston, Mass., says: "I think the grand temperance campaign was worth ten years' cost of the paper, and wish to thank you for your personal efforts in the struggle."

MOSTLY EMPTY PIPES.

Did Not Ridicule Signs—Not Told to Stop Smoking.

Editor of the Stanstead Journal.

Dear Sir,—Will you kindly publish the following statements in regard to the item which appeared in last week's JOURNAL concerning the alleged disturbance created by the seven young men on the evening branch train of August 17th.

In the first place, the trip to Beebe was thought of only on the spur of the moment and with no intention of causing any disturbance or trouble whatever. We left Rock Island on the 8.47 train and returned immediately by the same train, arriving at 9.45, and not eleven o'clock as stated.
The only transgression of the rules of the railroad was that a part of our number were smoking in the passenger car, and while perhaps we all had the "clay pipes" in our mouths, only three or four at the most were actually smoking. There was absolutely no spitting done in the car and no attention was called to the prohibitory signs in the sense of ridicule. Conductor Huntley collected the tickets from each one of us and no word of reprimand was uttered by him, nor was there any conversation between us and him. A word of warning would only have been necessary to stop those who were smoking.

Furthermore, a week after the occurrence word was sent by messengers to the parents of two of our number, whom Mr. Huntley for unknown reasons called "ringleaders," saying that unless there was an apology made to him for personal insult, legal action would be taken. A lawyer had already been consulted by Mr. Huntley and also approached a parent of one of the two boys in regard to the affair.
On Tuesday evening, the day before the matter was reported to the JOUR-NAL, these two of our number went to Mr. Huntley's house and apologized to him for the breaking of the railroad rules by the party and also assured him that no insult was even imagined or intended by the boys and that they did not consider the smoking in the train a personal insult to him. In view of the fact that so many actual disturbances have been made on the branch trains, it seems more like spite than anything else that action should be threatened in a case of minor consequence like this and then against only two of our number. We consider we have done all we should to amend matters and we think any fair minded person would judge the stand taken by Mr. Hartley as unwarranted.

Thanking you for the use of your valuable space,

Yours very truly,
"THE SEVEN."

ORIGIN OF NAME.

Christened Dufferin Heights in Honor of Distinguished Visitor.

Dear Mr. Editor,—Having read with much interest the account in your columns of the "Flag Raising on Dufferin Heights," I would like to ask how and when the place received the name.
In my early recollections of that beautiful section of country I seem to have heard the high point of land on the Caswell road designated only as the "Morrill Hill," and it would be interesting to know when it changed its name, and who gave it the very musical and appropriate one by which it is now known. Had it any connection with a visit of Lord Dufferin, Governor General of Canada?

Col. Morrill's generous and patriotic gift of the Dufferin Heights as a public park must be a lasting honor to himself, to his family and to Stanstead, and should win the warmest thanks of the community.

The suggestion of "Old Home Week" is welcomed by many former residents. Now that you have so nobly "won your spurs," Mr. Editor, in the recent temperance campaign, could you not promote an Old Home Week for dear old Stanstead?

A FORMER RESIDENT.

In 1878 the place was visited by Lord Dufferin, then Governor General of Canada, who was a guest of the Pierces at "Sunnyside." Lord Dufferin was much impressed by the beauties of the surrounding country, about which he made some very complimentary remarks. Up to that time this commanding position had been known as the Morrill Hill, but after that it was, by common consent, called Dufferin Heights, in honor of the distinguished visitor.—Ed.

The dwelling house owned by H. N.
Corey, Upper Bedford, and occupied by T. Ducharme and family, was burned at about 3 a. m. Friday morning. The fire started in the kitchen.
Mrs. Ducharme and daughter Cora, who slept down stairs were first awakened by heat and smoke, and gave the alarm to occupants of the chamber. The building was situated in rear of the Central House, which was saved. Nearly all of Mr. Du-charme's furniture was saved.

A hundred thousand dollars has been placed by the Dominion Government with the Acting High Commissioner in London for the relief and assistance of Canadians abroad.

ROVING CORRESPONDENT.

During the past few years there has been a tendency towards leaving the farms on the part of Protestant English-speaking farmers, and their places are being filled by French Roman Catholics, and by the Provincial Law called the Separate School System, the Protestant schools are gradually growing smaller in sections where these above changes have taken place. In some few sections consolidation of schools has been proposed and talked about, but the measures for adopting this have not yet been taken. It seems to be spoken of very favorably by the members of the Protestant Committee at Quebec and has been advocated by one or more local inspectors but I am not quite sure yet as these men are in a position to fully understand the feelings of the intelligent country ratepayers. Now, a distance of two or three miles seems to sound but small, and at first thought one would be led to think there would be no difficulty in conveying children comfortably to school, but when we consider the state of the country roads in winter before eight o'clock in the morning where the thermometer stands 30° below zero, two and three miles is long enough to freeze the ears and noses of little girls and boys from the ages of seven to ten, and nearly all mothers will agree that it is an impossibility to send their children to school under such conditions and especially when the person in charge is a reckless boy; and the expense of hiring a responsible man with a comfortable conveyance for each part of a district is far more than the salary of a teacher in the old schoolhouse which has in many instances lately been renovated and put into good condition. Farmers are now prosperous and have good homes and never objects to paying taxes, and in many cases the Catholic friends are willing to join hands in school matters, if only their language could be taught; this could easily be done in all elementary schools and thus prevent many dissident taxpayers. Elementary teachers are now being supplied from three sources, viz., Macdonald College, Lachute Summer School, and from the Protestant Board of Examiners, through the II Grade Academy System and this supply will fill the demand of the elementary schools in a few years, and the boys and girls of the country district schools with few exceptions are far superior to those who have been brought up in villages where idleness is apt to be their lot in vacation time and who often form habits which are not in keeping with the best school methods, besides, the rural districts furnish the means for school gardens and infuse the young minds with agricultural ideas. It is sometimes necessary to unite two or three small schools and convey the pupils to the one most central in a proper, legitimate manner, but to take a village as the centre and close the surrounding schools which are flourishing and doing good work, against the will of the intelligent farmers who are willingly and ably paying the bills for the purpose of creating a model school, is not the idea of consolidation.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system.
They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials.

make elegant automobile robes and are very nice to use on a couch, priced $5.95, $6.50, $6.95, $7.50 and up to $12.50.

The great European War will soon affect prices on a great number of articles that are necessary in every family and while we have bought very heavy in lines that will be most affected and made a special trip to market to protect our customers we would advise those who can do so to buy goods they know must be higher in quantities to last for some time.

DAMASK AND NAPKINS

Must be higher and we have bought above the amount we would have bought under usual circumstances, over one thousands yards of damask and over one hundred and fifty dozen napkins and while this stock lasts our prices will not have to be raised.

CRASH AND TOWELS

Will also be higher and we have protected our customers to the extent of buying more than double the quantity we would if there had not been the certainty of a higher price.

FANCY LINENS

Cluny Lace Sets, Maderia Embroidery Sets and Napkins, also Scarfs and Oblong Doilies to match each set and many other pieces of linen that is usually received just before Christmas has been received as we could not get any line of these goods later even at greatly increased prices.

HANDKERCHIEFS

While we had bought the handkerchiefs we felt we would need for Christmas trade months ago we were able to place another order and did so for several times as many as the first order which should give us plenty of stock so there will be no need of substituting any poorer quality for any of our regular numbers. In fact it will not be our policy to reduce quality and we shall not raise prices on any lines until we are absolutely obliged to do so.

NEW FALL DRESS GOODS

An elegant showing of all kinds of dress fabrics and silks are here for your inspection and while there will be plenty of dress goods for every one this fall there may not be as choice a line to select from as at present as many of these goods are imported and very few can be brought in at present.

READY TO WEAR DEPARTMENT

Is simply crowded with Suits, Coats and Dresses and at no time during the season will there be any better time to make a satisfactory selection than the present.

FOR EFFICIENCY.

"Total Abstinence from alcoholic stimulants," runs a cable dispatch from London, "will be strictly observed during Sir Ernest Shackleton's trip across the South Polar continent. He and his men propose to work long hours, including eight hours' marching every day, but for stimulants they will rely on nothing stronger than tea or cocoa." This is not the freak of an enthusiast, but a common sense decision, based upon the facts concerning alcohol. For maximum efficiency, the explorer cuts out the booze. The question is: Shall the rest of us be equally efficient in shouldering a share of the world's work?—Collier's.

MASSAWIPPI.

E. Bennett, and Ernest McCann. Mr. and Mrs. McClary and Mrs. Marcel Frappier chaperoned the crowd.
Some of the pleasures were motor boat trips round the lake, and a corn roast which were fully enjoyed by the young people.

Mr. and Mrs. Ham Cory of Barnston, and daughter, were in town Sunday, guests of Mr. and Mrs. B. Kent, and lot at Crystal Lake Cemetery.

Mrs. Demick had been in failing health since the death of her husband two years ago, but was not confined to her bed until about six weeks before her death when she was stricken with paralysis.

Mrs. Demick was a life-long resident of Stanstead Township and a daughter of the late Andrew Forbes, one of the pioneer families of Stanstead.

She leaves to mourn her loss three sons, Perley A. Demick, Montreal, Eddie A. Demick, Orleans, Vt., Lewis A. Demick, Stanstead, and three daughters, Mrs. Edwin Hills, Brooklyn, N. Y., Mrs. Arthur Breaky, Libbytown, Mrs. Albert Corlies, Stanstead, also three grandchildren, four sisters and two brothers, besides a host of other relatives and friends.

She will be greatly missed in the neighborhood where she lived, as well as in the home, as she was a kind friend and loving mother.

There was a profusion of beautiful flowers, showing the esteem in which the deceased was held.

Much sympathy is felt for the bereaved family in their great loss.

PATRIOTIC ASSOCIATION.

The meeting of the Ladies of Stanstead and Rock Island, held at St.
Joseph's Hall last Saturday afternoon was not as well attended as it no doubt would have been under more favorable weather conditions. However, those present were very enthusiastic over the work to be undertaken and listened with pleasure to the interesting address given by Mrs. Bowen of Sherbrooke, and also to personal experiences of present conditions in the Old Country as related by Mde.
Poutre of Sherbrooke. It was decided by resolution that an association be formed, to be called "The Stanstead and Rock Island Patriotic Association" for the purpose of raising funds for patriotic uses and to aid in all emergencies which may arise during the present war. Moved and seconded that this resolution be accepted. The following officers were elected: Honorary President, Mrs. Chas. Colby; President, Mrs. B. P. Ball; 1st Vice-President, Mrs. J. F. Paquette; 2nd Vice-President, Mrs. W. A. Grant; 3rd Vice-President, Mrs. Chas.
O'Rourke; 4th Vice-President, Mrs.
John Colby; Treasurer, Mrs. H. P.
Stockwell; Secretary, Elinor Bisson-net. This meeting was closed with a vote of thanks for the ladies who had so kindly come up from Sherbrooke to explain the work, and a silver collection was taken up for the Hospital ship fund.

A second meeting of this Association was held on Tuesday afternoon, in Pierce Hall, at which different committees were named for the purpose of carrying on the campaign. It is to be hoped that the canvassers, for this worthy cause may meet with every consideration and success which they deserve.

LATE MRS. LUKE L. KNOWLTON.

Last Thursday evening there entered into "the rest that remaineth for the people of God" one whose gentle face, wise words and deeds of mercy will long be remembered by all who knew her.

Mrs. Luke Knowlton, of Ingleside, Knowlton, Que., had been in ill health a long time before she was taken suddenly worse on July 4th; from that time till she passed peacefully away on Aug. 27th, she never left her bed.

The funeral service was held on Sunday, Aug. 30th, at the family home. Rev. Mr. Nelson of the Knowlton Methodist church officiated, and several members of the choir, who were present, sang appropriate hymns.
The pall bearers were: Mr. Bedee, Mr.
Jones, Dr. Harris and E. H. Brown.

Mrs. Knowlton was the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles England of Dunham, Que., where she was born June 7, 1842. On Dec. 28th, 1876, she was married to Luke L.
Knowlton, of Knowlton, Que.

Five children were born to them:
L. Morgan of Knowlton; Charles E., Toronto; Arthur R., North Bend, Oregon; Mrs. D. J. Mackey, Munson, Alberta, and Lucia A. of Knowlton.

Mrs. Knowlton is survived by three sisters and one brother: Mrs. W. A.
Martindale, Boise, Idaho; Mrs. F. J.
Bevan, Oakland, California; Mrs. A.
Clement, Colgate, Sask., and Silvester England, Lowell, Vermont.

One who knew and loved Mrs.
Knowlton said, "When I first saw her I thought, 'Blessed are the pure in heart for they shall see God,' as I looked upon her face, calm in its last sleep, the same words came to mind with a still greater sense of their fitness."

The sympathy of friends and neighbors throughout a large section of the country goes out in full measure to the bereaved family.

ABOUT OUR NEIGHBORS.

The Somers Butter and Cream Association of Somers, Conn., have purchased the Holland Creamery in Holland, Vt., which will be converted into a pasteurizing plant for cream and made a feeder for the Connecticut business. This means that the farmers of Holland are to enjoy the benefit of the maximum price for their dairy product. It is "up to" the farmers to cooperate and stand by this home industry.

The defeated liquor interests in Stanstead county have attacked the recent election on the ground that some of the deputy returning officers failed to number the counterfoils and that the heading was omitted from the ballots. This is something of a novelty; "bribery and corruption" usually take first places on such petitions.
No man will have cause to be ashamed of his connection with the no-license forces.

Albert J. Dyer, a well-known resident of Sutton, died on Friday morning and was buried on Monday afternoon.

points are organizing an excursion to

BETTERMENT A MATTER OF COURSE

To say that our store is better this Fall than ever before, is trite.
To say less, would be to pronounce the death of the institution. Where there is life there is growth. Those who have seen on progress will agree that the growth has been as rapid as good sturdy health could allow. While the merchandise so far as space is concerned, cannot really grow except by condensation, it is wonderful what necessity can contrive in the way of creating space where there is none. Many of the merchandise lines are greater and broader than ever before. Everywhere there is a satisfying fullness in variety, which is amply shown by most careful comparison to students of fashion as well as experts in Merchandise.

TWO WOMEN SAVED FROM OPERATIONS

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound—Their Own Stories Here Told.

Edmonton, Alberta, Can. — "I think it is no more than right for me to thank you for what your kind advice and Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound have done for me.

"When I wrote to you some time ago I was a very sick woman suffering from female troubles. I had organic inflammation and could not stand or walk a distance. At last I was confined to my bed, and the doctor said I would have to go through an operation, but this I refused to do. A friend advised Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and now, after using three bottles of it, I feel like a new woman. I most heartily recommend your medicine to all women who suffer with female troubles. I have also taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Liver Pills, and think they are fine. I will never be without the medicine in the house."—Mrs. FRANK EMMLEY, 908 Columbia Avenue, Edmonton, Alberta.

The Other Case.

Beatrice, Neb. — "Just after my marriage my left side began to pain me and the pain got so severe at times that I suffered terribly with it. I visited three doctors and each one wanted to operate on me but I would not consent to an operation. I heard of the good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was doing for others and I used several bottles of it with the result that I haven't been bothered with my side since then. I am in good health and I have two little girls."—Mrs. R. B. CHILDS, Beatrice, Neb.

A Household Remedy

Political Tares

By REV. JAMES M. GRAY, D.D.
Dean of the Moody Bible Institute, Chicago

TEXT—"While men slept, his enemy came and sowed tares among the wheat." Matt. 13:25

The approach of our national holiday gives occasion for a discourse on our political situation from a Christian standpoint. This nation is a trust from God for whose wise administration we shall all be held proportionally responsible. More over the maintenance of God's honor and the progress of his truth in the earth are so affected by human governments that he is not only a weak citizen but a weak Christian who, making one in a republic, allows himself to become indifferent to its administration.

There have been those who have believed this nation to be a peculiar favorite of God. They have felt that he led thither those who laid its foundation upon Plymouth Rock. That he nerved the hearts of its successors who cemented its masonry with the blood of Bunker Hill and Yorktown. They have felt, to change the figure, that these men sowed good seed in this field, but while men slept, while we have all been engrossed in our schemes for wealth, an enemy hath sowed tares. The situation today is not the harvest our forefathers would have wished. It is not the legitimate outcome of the Declaration of Independence.

I. One of our political tares is the peculiar tide of immigration to our shores, the character of which has changed radically within a few years. Our first settlers had an inborn spirit of freedom and a past history of conquest and success, and their immediate successors, though sometimes inferior in other respects, were of kindred blood, and came from lands where the spirit of liberty and the political duties of the individual have been cherished. They have thus been easily assimilated and have helped to build up the prosperity of the country. But it is not so with reference to the present immigrants, many of whom have been down-trodden politically, and have no ideal of citizenship. We should rejoice, indeed, at an opportunity to be a blessing to them, but we should not swallow more of them than we are able to digest.

II. Another of these "tares" is the liquor traffic, lying as it does at the center of all political and social mischief, and paralyzing energies in every direction. The responsibility of Christian citizens lies in their willingness to permit it to exist, and worse still to permit it to exist for a consideration! It is impossible to destroy the appetite, but it is not impossible to deny the opportunity to gratify the appetite by law. Has not the time come for Christians who know the meaning of the Declaration of Independence, to say nothing of the Decalogue, to break the shackles which bind them to a social custom, to a blind prejudice, or even to a political party, in order to serve their homes, their God and their native land in driving this rum demon from our shores?

III. Another of these "tares" is the secularization of the Sabbath day—a growing tendency to change that day from a holy day into a holiday, to convert it from a day of rest into a day of labor, to neglect the public worship of God, the sacred observance of his laws for the sake of social pleasures and business gains.

Who is responsible for these things? Could secular enterprises prosper on the Lord's day if Christians frowned upon them? And has not God a controversy with us for these things? Will he not avenge himself on such a nation as this? How can we have religion without worship? And how can we have worship without a Sabbath? What can we do about these things?

(1) We can throw the weight of our example on the right side. We can certainly do this so far as the keeping of the Sabbath is concerned, and so far as the liquor traffic is concerned. God would have saved Sodom had there been ten righteous men in that place.

(2) We may throw a ballot on the right side. As Joseph Cook once said: "The managing politicians care for nothing but arithmetic and, therefore, one of our supreme duties is to stand up, and stand together, and be counted." The powers that be are ordained of God, and as God's servants we are to see that his will, and not the will of Satan, is carried out in the selection of them.

(3) There is a third thing we can do, and that is pray. The effectual fervent prayer of a righteous man availeth much. Remember Abraham's intercession for Sodom and Gomorrah for Jerusalem. But alas, how little do we pray for these things! Alas for our patriotism when we are besieging the throne of grace!

HAD SMALL BEGINNING

ORIGIN OF THE BANK OF THE MANHATTAN COMPANY.

May Be Said to Have Started From "a Well of Water," Though It Had the Genius of Aaron Burr Behind It.

The uncovering of an old iron tank in Center street recalled a piece of ancient history in connection with the Bank of the Manhattan Company, the Wall Street Journal states. A spring well 35 feet deep, covered by the iron tank referred to and the present site of the bank, 40 Wall street, constituted the first property owned by the Manhattan company, parent of the bank now bearing that name.

The Bank of the Manhattan Company sprang from a little water company which commenced business with "a well of water." The charter of the company was drawn by Aaron Burr, and its granting was opposed by Alexander Hamilton because it contained a clause permitting the company "to employ all surplus capital in the purchase of public or other stock or in any other money transactions or operations not inconsistent with the constitution and laws of New York or of the United States."

This clause was the joker in the charter of a company started for the purpose of "supplying the city of New York with pure and wholesome water." In 1798 New York city suffered from an epidemic of yellow fever which was attributed to an inadequate and inferior water supply. Here was Aaron Burr's opportunity for starting a bank, in which effort he had, for many years, been opposed by his political enemy, Alexander Hamilton, who had a monopoly of the banking business in New York state until the charter was granted the Manhattan company.

Upon the assembling of the legislature in 1799 an association of individuals, among whom Aaron Burr was a moving spirit, applied for the water company's charter with a capital of $2,000,000. The project was an ambitious one for those days, and as there was considerable uncertainty about the probable cost of the water system the clause for the employment of idle capital was inserted. A great effort was made by Alexander Hamilton and the federalists to defeat the charter on account of the clause granting the company banking privileges. The necessity for a proper water system which could only be procured by the organization of a responsible company with large capital carried it through the legislature on April 2, 1799, and it received the governor's signature.

By April 22 books were opened for public subscription of the $2,000,000 capital stock (par $50 per share), and by May 15 the entire amount had been subscribed, the city of New York having taken 2,000 shares. This was the first financial victory of Aaron Burr over his political enemy. The bank is the oldest in the state, save one. Its capital was raised to $2,050,000 in 1808, to permit of the state purchasing 1,000 shares. Both the state and city are stockholders in the Bank of Manhattan company, this being the only bank stock owned by the state of New York.

Result Certain. Foote could not bear to see anybody or anything succeed in the Haymarket theater but himself and his own writings, forgetful that a failure of the new scheme might possibly endanger the regular payment of his annuity. His pique broke out sometimes in downright rudeness. One morning he came upon the stage during the rehearsal of the "Spanish Barber," then about to be produced. The actors were busy in the scene of a piece when one servant is under the influence of a sleeping draft and another of a sneezing powder.

"Well," said Foote to the manager, "how do you go on?" "Pretty well," was the answer, "but I cannot teach one of these fellows to gape as he ought to do."

"Can't you?" replied Foote. "Then read him your love comedy, 'The Man of Business,' and he'll yawn for a month."—London Tit-Bits.

Vaccinate Against All Diseases. A discovery of the highest importance as to a substitute which confers immunity against disease was communicated to the Academy of Science of Paris by Professor d'Arsonval a few days ago.

Since Buchner in 1890 gave the name of alexine to this discovery a great amount of investigation has been devoted to the subject, but the active principle of the serum had always remained unknown.

Doctor Tissot of the Museum of Natural History has succeeded in analyzing its elements, defining accurately its action.

This opens the way to the realization of immunity from such diseases as tuberculosis and syphilis, as well as greatly improving the efficacy of the serums already in use against lockjaw and diphtheria.

Companion of Medicine. "My doctor ordered two weeks at the seashore."

"He's a homeopath, isn't he?"

"Yes, Why?"

"Two weeks is a small dose. I'd go to an allopath and see if I couldn't get a trip to Europe."—Cincinnati Enquirer.

LATEST MODE OF THE YEAR

Fashionable Style That is Carried by the Girl Who is Strictly in "Society."

This is the modish maid who peeps at you over her fan from a box seat at any popular play in a New York theater these evenings. She wears the very latest coiffure, with a beau-catcher curl escaping on her cheek—or rather, to be strictly truthful, anchored fast on her cheek by a specially prepared cosmetic from the hairdressers. Her rock is cool and summery in suggestion—of machine embroidered mull and lace—with a decollete cut that makes it appropriate for the evening; and long, abbreviated sleeves of tulle. A fan is the order of the day—or evening—now that warm weather has made itself felt, and this theater maid carries a very smart new fan with Mexican reds and yellows hand painted in bold futurist design on white quills. Peacock feathers weaving from the edge of the fan deepen the color scheme and are a challenge to luck.

VEILS IN BECOMING COLORS

Bright Shades Are the Most Largely Used, Though a Wide Choice is Allowed.

The desire for bright colors is included in the new veils in lovely shades of violet, gray, green, taupe, tan, purple and blue. There are most charming shaded veils of chiffon and a marquisette-like fabric, which shades from a light blue to deep tones of the same color at each end. Flesh color over the face, shading to deep rose red at the ends, is a becoming shading. Palest lavender shading by degrees into deepest purple of a royal tint is another lovely veil. Then there are pale yellows shading to rich orange, faint greens to dark green and many others.

The new all-over patterns on veils are on exceptionally sheer, fine meshes. The designs are delicate in character and scroll-like or trailing in effect, accomplished by means of a woven or hand-run thread combined with dainty leaves and flowers. Borders are narrow and very fine in effect.

Little silk auto caps, made in a soft style to be pulled down over the head, have the plain colored and shaded veils run through the turn-over rims and designed to be crossed in back and brought front to tie under the chin or ear.

VERY LATEST IN LACE CAPES

This striking model by Trent, Paris, is of black lace arranged in tiers and trimmed with old blue ribbon. Color is of old blue silk.

VERMONT ITEMS.

Mrs. W. H. Wilmarth, of Lyndonville, despite her 91 years is one of the most active women in the village and her home is frequently cheered by reunions in which two lines of four generations take part. She was born in 1823, daughter of Hubbard and Clarissa Graves, who were among the first settlers of the town of Lyndon.

At the Republican caucus at Derby Center, Tuesday evening, August 25th, the following delegates were elected to the Republican state convention to be held at Montpelier, September 9, 1914, to nominate a candidate for congress in the second district, senator, governor and other state officers: T. F. O'Rourke, J. T. Gardner and W. M. Taylor, delegates; alternates, O. M. Carpenter, W. E. Tripp and A. C. Fellows. The delegates were instructed for P. H. Dale for congressman, W. P. Dillingham for the senate and Charles W. Gates for governor.

Urges Infantile Paralysis Quarantine.

Dr. C. F. Dalton, of Burlington, as secretary of the state board of health, is sending out letters to the physicians of the state urging them to aid in complete quarantining of infantile paralysis cases. There have been a number of cases of this disease reported from various parts of the state and the board of health feels that something should be done to check the spread.

The cases and deaths reported to date are four cases and one death in Burlington, 13 cases and three deaths in Barton, two cases in Monkton, two in Coventry, four cases and two deaths in Middlesex, one case in Cambridge, one in St. Albans, one in White River Junction, and one in Winoski.

Although infantile paralysis is known to be a germ disease and is known to spread by contagion, it is not known just how the contagion is carried from one system into another. The house fly was supposed to have carried it, but that theory seems to lack confirmation and the other explanations are equally uncertain. The mystery about the transmission of the disease making complete quarantine the more necessary.

The disease, which is one of the most terrible, usually attacks only children, although one of the cases mentioned was a girl of 18 years. The child attacked by infantile paralysis, or acute anterior poliomyelitis, as the physicians term it, may be playing happily one day, become ill that evening, and the next day may be paralyzed for life in whole or in part.

Plenty of Gubernatorial Timber.

We seem to have plenty of gubernatorial timber. Mr. Clement is out for the place as a Republican. Frank E. Howe is also a Republican and he would accept the place although health and finances prohibit his making an active canvass for the place. F. G. Fleetwood is also a candidate, of the whole people, and Charles W. Gates would accept the nomination if it came to him, but since he is road commissioner and every action connected therewith might be misconstrued as a political move, he will not announce himself as an active candidate. With the others who will undoubtedly come into the field, Vermont ought to be able to get a competent executive. The more the merrier.—Bradford Opinion.

Increasing Grain Production.

Many farmers, when urged to try growing fall wheat, have excused themselves on the plea that it did not pay; but it is likely that for the next year or two, there will be ready sale at good prices for every bushel of wheat grown in Canada. Every farmer should endeavor to increase his production of grain next year by putting into use every acre capable of producing it. There are hundreds of acres in Central and Eastern Canada that would successfully grow fall wheat. By preparing the land immediately, a great number of farmers could sow at least a few acres this fall. No risk is being taken in so doing, as the extra cultivation for the fall wheat would increase the yield of a spring sown crop in the event of the wheat being winter-killed. The land would need only to be disked or cultivated to prepare it for spring grain.

The grain production can also be increased by ploughing up the old unproductive meadows at once and sowing to grain in the spring. They should be ploughed shallow now and packed and disked and kept worked until autumn, when they should be thoroughly ploughed again, ready to be worked early next spring. The importance of ploughing the land for next spring's crop early this fall and keeping it worked during the autumn cannot be too strongly emphasized. Those who are now practicing a systematic rotation might profitably increase the grain crop area next year, and to those who are following the old meadow plan of farming, a better opportunity was never offered to change to a systematic rotation by breaking up the old sod and putting in grain. It will pay to make use of every acre possible in producing grain, as it is sure to be needed. F. C. N.

PAY-DAY FOR REBELS

Methods Used in Paying Off Carranza's Troops.

Ill-Clad Men Wait in Line for Their Miserable Stipend, Which is Soon Spent for Candy, Mescal and Cigarettes.

By JOHN K. WINKLER.

Tampico.—One of the most amusing manifestations of martial law life in Tampico these days is furnished when the rebel soldiers are paid off.

One morning I watched the men of a "crack" company of the Third regiment receiving their daily stipend of one peso. The company consisted of 18 men and two boys. The boys wore shoes. So did some of the men. Two of the men were attired in a costume that might have passed for a uniform. Each sported a pair of khaki trousers and a shirt. The undershirts of the other men were a symphony in color. Vivid carmine vied with imperial Roman purple.

The company was drawn up on the veranda of the customs house. The soldiers carried their rifles, some on their right shoulders, some on their left. One of the boys, who could not have passed the age of ten, had sawed off half the barrel of his rifle. It was still too heavy and he held it between his legs while he rolled a cigarette.

The company paymaster was the second lieutenant. He squatted on the steps in front of his men and thumbed a tiny pile of new one-peso constitutionalist notes. He called the roll from a peacocked list and—shades of West Point!—he maintained his sprawling position while he did.

While their names were being read the demon warriors stood in a line about as straight as a "punkin" vine. Some scratched furtively at their tattered trouser legs. Others stolidly smoked their cigarettes and flat-footedly clumped forward when their names were called. They examined the money carefully on both sides, rubbed their hands over its surface, rolled it up in a tiny ball and tightly clinched their fists over it.

Impatiently they maintained the line formation until all had been paid. Then, the two boys leading, the entire company scurried over to the market place. The soldier kids invested their money in large sticky gobs of fly-laden sweets, while the men bought mescal and cigarettes.

Within half an hour most of the redoubtable warriors were stretched along the railroad track, in the shade of a line of freight cars, in sweet and blissful slumber—slumber that would be voluntarily disturbed only when another pay morning rolled around.

These pay mornings, by the way, are by no means daily affairs. Very often the soldiers must rest content to receive nothing for a fortnight. Their stipend depends upon a variety of things—chief of which is the amount of constitutional money engraved and shipped from the interior.

Also, very often the officers and men must wait until sufficient "voluntary" contributions and "loans" have been made to the cause by the citizens of Tampico and foreign business men. Strange to say, the "voluntary" contributions come almost invariably from townfolk, who are known in the past to have been friendly with the federales.

SURGEON'S KNIVES SCARE BOY

Youthful Culpit Prefers Prison to Being Operated Upon By Physician.

Norristown, Pa.—When John Moskovitz, a Pottstown boy, was arraigned before Judge William F. Solly for larceny physicians impressed upon the jurist the idea that the boy was not responsible for his criminal tendency, but that it was due to a pressure on the brain caused by a blow from a club his father had thrown into a chestnut tree. The court agreed to suspend sentence and try the experiment of an operation. So the boy was sent to the State Institution for Feeble-Minded Children at Spring City, with the idea of having an operation performed.

But the lad had no sooner been safely stowed in the asylum than he took leave. He was captured in Chester county and was brought to the jail here and locked up. It is understood that Judge Solly will now sentence him to imprisonment instead of the scalpel.

Plan Novel Punishment.

Sydney, N. S. W.—Criminologists in Australia are greatly interested in the experiment of Judge Eagleson of the Melbourne county court in prescribing a novel form of punishment for men whose offenses are due to drink. A young man who pleaded guilty to embezzlement was allowed his freedom on condition that he should make good within two months the amount stolen and should abstain from drinking intoxicants and gambling "during the rest of his natural life." The slightest infraction would render him liable to a ten months' sentence. A laborer, found guilty of assault, was released under similar conditions.

Champaign, Ill.—Twenty-nine years after he had been suspended by the faculty of Illinois university for "quitting chapel," Wester North, now stoop-shouldered and wrinkled, was given the degree of bachelor of science at the commencement exercises.

EASY TO HAVE SHAPELY FEET

May Not Be Perfect, but it is One's Own Fault if They Are Deformed.

A perfect foot is very rare. I heard a fashionable shoemaker say that out of every ten women who came in to be fitted, not more than one has a shapely foot, and the greater proportion have more or less deformed ones. Their feet have been spoiled by carelessness and neglect, by ill-fitting or cramping shoes and by ungainly, ungraceful walking.

If you want to keep your feet as shapely as nature made them, and free from corns, calluses and similar disfigurements, observe the following rules:

1. Never forget that the feet are hard workers and have to bear the burden of the whole body. Sit down when tired. Do not rest one foot at the expense of the other.

2. Bathe the feet every night. Use soft warm water, and be liberal with soap. A little salt added to the bath water braces and tones the muscles and skin. A few drops of eau-de-cologne in the rinsing water is soothing when tired.

3. Thoroughly dry the feet, dusting with a mixture of equal parts of boracic powder and the finest powdered starch. Keep the toe nails short and square.

4. Massage the feet for a few minutes every night. Begin at the toes and rub with firm, but gentle, pressure with an upward movement toward the leg. Put a little warm oocob butter on your hands. This treatment helps to make the foot narrow and arched and ankle slender.

5. Change the stockings every day, and see that they are not overworn.

6. Never wear cheap shoe leather. It is the reverse of economical. See that your shoes are well made, and not only wide enough, but sufficiently long. Short shoes are a frequent source of corns and bunions. Also they cause the joints to contract and enlarge and otherwise distort the foot. Do not constantly wear the same shoes, however comfortable they may be.—Chicago Journal.

PLUMPNESS NOW IN ORDER

Day of the Slim and "Slouchy" Woman Has Disappeared for the Present.

The craze for slimmness is passing, and the thin, bony woman is disappearing before the plump, bonny type. Women cheerfully own now to a waist of from 26 inches to 36 inches. In fact, the very slim, "slinkers-slouch" woman is now considered to be ugly and deformed.

The craze for slimmness, a beauty specialist said, produced the irritable woman, the nervous woman, the neurotic woman, the poseuse.

"To be healthy," said the specialist, "a woman should, as everybody knows, have a full bust and an uncramped waist."

"If a woman adopts the kind of 'slinkers-slouch' figure her chest contracts, and nothing is worse for the general health than a contracted chest."

"If you want to grow beautiful or to retain your beauty, do not indulge in sarcasm."

This is the advice given by another beauty doctor.

"Why should anyone be habitually sarcastic?" she asked. "The person who is always on the alert to 'take it out' of someone else has probably just as many faults as those on whom he or she looks with contempt."

"The sarcastic woman has the least chance of any woman to keep beautiful. Nothing draws out the wrinkles as much as a sneering countenance."

"A woman who really has suffered can retain her beauty even though she is somewhat lined, but the sarcastic woman can never hope to be beautiful. She becomes dyspeptic and miserable."

Temperance

(Conducted by the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union.)

A LIQUOR EXHIBIT.

Neither the liquor industry nor its partner, the government, nor the people, who by their votes support and protect the traffic, ever ask for space in which to exploit its products at state or national or international expositions. The saloon has no window display of its workmanship and no inspection of its processes is invited. On the contrary, wherever permitted, it puts up screens in an endeavor to hide its work and the manner of it from the public eye.

Apocryph of this point is the following story told of the noted reformer, John B. Gough:

As Mr. Gough hastened along the street of a great English city he found a drunken man lying on the sidewalk outside a saloon door. Going across the street he obtained a piece of paper and with a colored pencil wrote on it the words, "SPECIMEN of the work done inside." He then pinned the paper to the drunken man's coat and stood aside to watch the effect produced on the passersby.

The attention of the saloon keeper was attracted by the crowd, which soon gathered, and when he observed the cause of the interest, he angrily asked: "Who did it?" "Which?" asked Mr. Gough. "If you mean what is on the paper, I did that. If you mean the man, you did that. This morning when he started for his work, he was a sober man; when he went into your saloon, he was a sober man; when he came out he was like that, and he is what you made him. If he is not a specimen of the work done inside, what is he?"

POPE EXPRESSES HIMSELF.

Under the direction of the International Catholic League Against Alcoholism, 200 leading Catholics, representing various total abstinence societies throughout the world, recently journeyed to Rome to ask the blessing of the pope on their work for temperance. Pope Pius assured them, through Cardinal Merry Del Val, of his approval and sympathy. "How useful it is," he said, "to show the scourge of alcoholism in its economic, moral and physical effects, putting it in correlation with the decay of individuals, whose health, intelligence, conscience and liberty it ruins; with the ruin of families, in whose bosom it engenders confusion and disorder; with the ruin of society, whose greatest interests it menaces! And among social endeavors there are none more urgent." He especially expressed the desire that "the clergy everywhere take part in this work of education and of social preservation, by teaching and by example, in the very heart of the strife against an evil which sows so much opprobrium among the faithful, especially in certain countries."

BETTER BUSINESS.

Regarding the manner in which temperance affects the money problem, two men doing business in a dry town are quoted by the Ottumwa (Ia.) Courier. One, a banker, asserted that deposits showed a steady increase which could be attributed only to the closing of saloons. He said also that merchants were finding it much easier to collect bills under a dry regime. The other, a manufacturer, states that the checks with which the shop's employees were paid now came back injured by grocers, butchers, clothing stores and other dealers in life's necessities, instead of by saloonkeepers. Experience had taught him, he said, that men spent much or most of their money where they cashed their checks.

ARMY CANTEN IN GERMANY.

Word comes that commanders of four German army corps have issued instructions doing away with orders requiring soldiers to drink beer on holidays. Heretofore the soldiers have received checks on holidays good for beer. In future the checks will be good for coffee and soft drinks. The commander at Strasburg, General von Der Imling, has ordered that the price of non-alcoholic drinks at canteens shall not exceed the price of beer. At maneuvers neither wine nor beer are to be dispensed at outpost bivouacs. This doubtless is the beginning of the end of the army canteen in Germany.

FIVE-MILE ZONE.

For years the National Woman's Christian Temperance union, through its department of work among soldiers and sailors, has urged legislation providing for a five-mile dry zone around naval training schools and stations. It is most gratifying to know that Secretary of the Navy Daniels strongly advocates such a law in the state of Illinois and in other parts of the country.

PUBLIC NUISANCE.

A saloon is a nuisance. Its influence for evil cannot be confined to the building in which it is conducted any more than can odors of a slaughter house be confined to the block in which it is located.—William J. Bryan.

COMMUNITY LOSES.

Considered solely from the standpoint of dollars and cents, the community which tolerates saloons is always the loser. This has been proved time and again.

KNOCKED DOWN ON STREET.

Two Women Assaulted by Man Supposed to Have Been Crazy by Drink.

ASSAILANT ESCAPED TO STATES.

An assault case of very unusual character occurred on Monday night and gave rise to considerable excitement at Rock Island. Mrs. Joseph Ritchie, who lives at the foot of Foundry Hill, had been calling on her sister, Mrs. Laroche, living near the junction of Railroad Street and Passenger Avenue. At 9.15 she started for home, accompanied by her niece, Miss Lea Laroche. When about opposite the residence of W. T. Nurse they were knocked down by a man whose approach they had not noticed. The two women were walking with arms clasped, and Miss Laroche was first attacked. Mrs. Ritchie, when seen by a representative of the JOURNAL, Tuesday morning, said she was unconscious of the presence of any one else until her niece screamed and she realized she had been struck. Miss Laroche had no sooner fallen, face downward, than Mrs. Ritchie was attacked. She said she was so frightened that she scarcely knew what was happening. She thought she was first seized by the shoulders then struck in the back. Fortunately both Mrs. Ritchie and Miss Laroche fell on grassy ground instead of upon the sidewalk. Both were bruised more or less, but neither seemed to be seriously hurt, although Mrs. Ritchie has since been suffering from a minor injury to her right hip.

IDENTIFIED ASSAILANT.

Miss Laroche saw the man strike her aunt. After Mrs. Ritchie had fallen the assailant ran across the street where another man seemed to be waiting in the shadow of some obstruction and the two men disappeared between the buildings.

At that time no one else was to be seen on the street, but the assault was witnessed by Mrs. George E. Crawford, who happened to be sitting on the piazza at her home, almost directly opposite the point where it occurred. Mrs. Crawford told the JOURNAL man that she saw the assailant approaching along the north side of Railroad street, from the direction of Passenger Avenue, that he turned into the lane between the Crawford and Seguin houses, then wheeled about, walked hastily across the street and attacked the two women, striking each of them two or three times before they fell.

The assailant was recognized as John Côté, who has been employed as bartender at the Rock Island House during the past year. The two women were soon on their feet, and Mrs. Ritchie watched the man until they disappeared behind the buildings while Miss Laroche went into a house to telephone Constable Cross, who, not having witnessed the assault, declined to arrest the offender without a warrant. Miss Laroche had considerable difficulty, first in getting a lawyer to make out a warrant, then in getting a magistrate to administer the oath and sign the document. She had been obliged to go to Stanstead Plain in the first case, and it was after eleven o'clock when the warrant was finally completed by Dr. Ball, J. P. In the meantime the offender had taken refuge in Uncle Sam's domains.

Lack of any motive for the assault is the most puzzling feature of the case. It is said that the assailant had been drinking and that he must have been momentarily crazed by drink.

TIME WAS OPPORTUNE.

Lake Park Collection Helped to Prevent Curtailment of Good Work.

In the last issue of the JOURNAL there appeared a report of the annual service at Lake Park at which a special collection of $140 was taken, and, according to custom of past years, divided equally between the Boston Floating Hospital and the Children's Fresh Air Fund, Montreal. The following acknowledgments have since been received:

THE BOSTON FLOATING HOSPITAL 54 Devonshire Street, Boston, August 26, 1914.
Rev. G. Ellery Read.

Dear Sir,—Responding to your recent letter, I ask you to give heartfelt thanks to those concerned in the collection which resulted in the check for $70 which came to hand as Boston's half of the contribution, given by the "summer congregation" at Lake Park.

The subscription comes to us at a time when we are apprehensive lest lack of funds may cause curtailment of our work. Such friends as those of the international colony, with others, may make it possible for us to complete our whole season, and we thank you most heartily.

Very truly yours,
G. LORING BRIGGS,
Manager.

Montreal, August 20, 1914.

The committee of the Fresh Air Fund beg to acknowledge with thanks from children and mothers your generous and timely subscription of seventy dollars to the fund.

G. F. DEWEY
Secretary.

ELECTION SUSTAINED.

Majority 430—Costs Against Liquor Party.

A telephone message just received from Coaticook at 6 o'clock this evening announces that the election of August 6th has been sustained, with costs of recount against the liquor party. This settles the matter; the Canada Temperance Act will come into effect May 1, 1915. The recount has raised the temperance majority to 430.

IN PARIS WITHOUT MONEY.

Principal Trueman Tells How It Seems to be "Broke" in War Time.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. J. Trueman arrived at Stanstead Tuesday morning, after a brief visit to their old homes in New Brunswick. They arrived at Quebec, August 26th, via the S. S. Andania of the Cunard line, which, although several days late in leaving England, made an unusually quick trans-Atlantic passage. There were twenty millionaires on board, all in steerage quarters. Mr. and Mrs. Trueman booked for passage on this boat several months ago with the result that they had splendid accommodation. They did not visit Germany, as some of their friends here expected they would. They were in Paris when orders for mobilization of the French army were given having left Switzerland only three days before. After mobilization orders had been issued foreigners were ordered to leave Paris within twenty-four hours, and the whole transportation system was paralyzed. It was almost impossible to obtain hacks and people were to be seen carrying their own trunks through the streets. The railroads refused to check baggage or sell tickets. Only those already holding tickets could travel. Baggage was piled to the ceilings in the railroad stations, and many who had tickets refused to leave their trunks, some sleeping on their belongings. Hotels were crippled by the sudden departure of waiters, cooks, porters and other employés. Guests accustomed to elaborate meals had to be content with dry bread and no butter. In crowds everywhere weeping women were common, husbands, sons and brothers having been taken from them and rushed to the front. Mr. and Mrs. Trueman were fortunate in having tourist tickets to London; their heavy baggage had already been forwarded and next day (Sunday August 2nd) they succeeded in getting aboard a train for Boulogne, where they arrived just in time to see their boat leave port. A special steamer was summoned from across the Channel and within an hour and a half they were steaming for Folkestone. Their tickets from Paris to London read via Calais and Dover, but that made no difference. "Anything goes in war-time," was the cheerful note of pursers and conductors, transportation companies having evidently made some hasty "exchange" arrangement. Lack of funds was the only real inconvenience experienced by Mr. Trueman. Remittances from Canada failed to reach him. It was then, he learned for the first time in his life, that a few sovereigns to jingle in one's pocket could make all the difference between misery and happiness. It was unpleasant, he said, to see a hotel bill running up, with no money to pay it. How financial matters were disturbed by the opening of the war may be judged from the fact that a discount of 33 1/3 per cent was exacted on French money exchanged in London. No unusual events marked the trans-Atlantic passage.

Mr. Trueman seems to have quite recovered from his lameness, although the muscles of the affected knee are yet weak, and may have to be favored for some time.

Citizens of the Three Villages and of the Eastern Townships are rejoicing over the safe arrival of Mr. and Mrs. Trueman, after an absence of fourteen months, and are giving them a most hearty welcome.

SLAVES OR FREEMEN, WHICH.

Editor Stanstead Journal.

Dear Sir,—As a former resident of Stanstead county I watched with interest for the result of your noble fight for the prohibition of the liquor traffic, and rejoiced with you in your glorious victory, because I knew it meant increased happiness and prosperity to your people. I was proud of the fact that Stanstead county had such a large majority to take their stand against the greatest curse of our age.

Now, I see that some interested parties are seeking to have a recount of the ballots, having searched out what they think to be some technical flaw by which they hope to turn the tide and perpetuate the traffic in your county.

Not because they do not think the large majority vote did not voice the wish of the people, but simply because they think they have discovered a little defect in the instrument through which that voice is heard.

Who are these people who for such a trifling cause would thwart the desire of the people, defeat your efforts to free your fair county from the clutches of the liquor traffic with all its attendant horrors?

Oh, when will our Christian civilization be rid of such inhuman Ghoulis? Again I ask who are they? Where do they live? In your county, or elsewhere? What is their occupation? What has been their past career? Cannot you give us their names? Couldn't you furnish us with a snapshot of them; and let us post it up, and illuminate it, that we may know and avoid them as the enemies of all that is good and pure and true—so that we may watch their future course, and observe, and learn, that the "woe" pronounced upon those who will give the drink to others is sure to be visited upon them? What a pity that a lawyer could be found in our fair land who would so demean his profession as to espouse their cause.

We would not forget that these men are all our brothers and capable of good and noble deeds, if they would only let God have a chance at the life they are prostituting to such ignoble deeds. We all know the drink traffic to be an unmitigated curse. We know that those who would legalize and protect it are the foes of our dearest interests. All this bolderdash about licensing being the best way to regulate the traffic is gotten up by people who would make gain by wrecking the souls as well as the bodies of their fellow-men—by taking the bread and clothing from suffering wives and helpless little children.

We don't want to regulate it. We want to abolish it altogether. To say that we cannot do it, is to confess that we are weak and unimportant race—that we are slaves, and have no right to them ourselves a few people.

We will watch to see what this noble (?) effort in the interest of—will result in.

Yours for God and home and every land,
P. J.

STRAWBERRY BEDS AFTER FRUITING.

Method by Which Same Vines May be Continuously Fruited.

If the strawberry beds are to be fruited more than one season the results obtained will depend, to a great extent, on the care of the beds after fruiting.

If they are grown in matted rows, as is usually the case, they must be thinned or the mats will become so thick that the plants will be crowded and the fruit the next year will be small and the plants likely to suffer from drought. Insects and disease may also be controlled by proper handling after fruiting.

The first step is to mow the tops immediately after the last picking is made, rake them off the bed and burn them. This will kill many insects and disease spores and will stimulate the plants to a new growth. The next step is to cultivate thoroughly between the rows several times, cutting a little wider each time until the mat of plants is only three or four inches wide. The third step is to cut out about half of the remaining plants in the narrow rows with a hoe, so that the plants will not stand closer together than six or eight inches. This looks like heroic treatment, but is a kindness to the remaining plants.

After the first rain they will grow rapidly, will send out fresh runners, and by fall they should have made full matted rows again. A dressing of nitrate of soda sowed broadcast at the rate of 150 or 200 pounds to the acre or a light dressing of well-rotted manure will be of great advantage.

Keep out the weeds in the row by hand-hoeing, and cultivate once each week during the summer and, unless weather conditions are very adverse, the bed should be as vigorous by fall as it was the year before. Strawberry beds may be fruited satisfactorily for several years when treated in this manner.

Mrs. Maxime Malouin, of Rose Hill has been quite ill for the past few weeks, but is reported a little better at this writing.

The Backbone of National Prosperity

FARMING is by common consent the basis of our national wealth and prosperity. The farmers of Canada have, for the past two years, been getting top prices for what they have had to sell and have been able to obtain what they have had to buy at moderate prices. The war means better times for farmers.

Where the foundations of national wealth and prosperity are sound and assured, hopefulness may build her structures with confidence.

Business in Canada can and will be good if our business men will do their utmost to keep the bottom in business. Advertising is a good workman for this purpose.
