Victim of Plane Crash Laid To Rest at Powerscourt

Flt. Sgt. Stanley S. McHardy, R.C.A.F., Buried With Military Honors on Sunday

On Wednesday afternoon, the community was saddened to learn of the tragic death of Flt. Sgt. Stanley S. McHardy, at Debert, N.S., who along with three others was killed Tuesday night, in a plane crash while on patrol duty at Debert Military Camp. The two English airmen were buried in Nova Scotia, while the bodies of the other two were entrained for their homes in Ontario and Quebec following the funeral services held there, and they too, were buried with full military honors in their respective home cemeteries.

The official escort which accompanied the remains, was composed of Lieut. Ascah L.M.R. of the R.C.A.F., at Debert; the bearers, firing squad, bugler and drummer were also members of the R.C.A.F.

Flt. Sgt. McHardy was the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur McHardy of Powerscourt. He enlisted in July 1941, and trained in Toronto, Camp Borden, Guelph, Ont., Ancienne Lorette, Que., and Debert, N.S. He received his wings last October at Mountain View, Ont.

The deceased was in his 23rd year and possessed a quiet pleasing personality, beloved by all who knew him. He was a member of the Powerscourt United Church, where the service was held on Sunday afternoon. Rev. J. H. Woodside, his pastor, conducted the service and gave a very comforting and impressive address from the words found in Acts 20.35 "It is more blessed to give than to receive". Mr. Robert McMillan, Presbyterian Minister of Athelstan, assisted.

The funeral service was largely attended by relatives, and a large company of sympathizing friends. Members of the Veterans of the last war, from Huntingdon, attended in a body. The floral tributes were many and beautiful, being silent reminders of the high esteem in which the deceased was held. The deepest sympathy of the entire community goes out to the bereaved parents, sisters, brothers and other relatives in this their hour of great sorrow.

THE LATE FLT. SGT. STANLEY S. McHARDY

The flag-draped casket was borne on the shoulders of fellow airmen to the family plot, where the burial service took place. A white cross placed at the head of the grave with the following inscription "R.C.A.F. Flt. Sgt. McHardy, S. S." marks the final resting place of one of His Majesty's servants, who has given his all in the service of his country.

Smuggles Cigarettes is Fined and Loses Car

A citizen of St. Chrysostome, Que., who had established himself in the business of selling smuggled cigarettes to employees of the D.I.L., of the City of Valleyfield, and the surrounding district, was fined $60.00 and costs, total $79.80, by Magistrate A. Regnier, at Valleyfield, on Friday, September 17th. To top this his car was seized by the R.C.M.P. in charge of this case of smuggling.

This illicit business is well expanded in our district, this being due to the proximity of the American Border, but the Mounted Police are occupying themselves with these cases and are surveying those whose manners seem doubtful. A hope is expressed that the lesson which has been taught to our 'business man' of St. Chrysostome, will give cause for reflexion to those interested in such affairs.

The enquiry into this affair had been confided to officers Cahill and Forsythe of the R.C.M.P. detachment of Hemmingford.

First Civilian Blood Donor Clinic to be Held Here

Red Cross Mobile Clinic to be at Soldiers' Club, Tuesday, Oct. 12th—At Least 150 Donors Asked For

Today is a period of discovery and among such discovery, a way has been found to store human blood in such a manner that it can be transported to various points for transfusion purposes. Gone are the days when a matching blood had to be found before a transfusion could be made.

Thus the Red Cross Society is able to send around to different places, a mobile Blood Donors' Clinic, for the purposes of obtaining the blood of persons willing to give it. A mobile clinic of this nature will be in Huntingdon, on Tuesday, October 12th, and will be located at the Soldiers' Club on that day from 9 a.m. until 6 p.m.

Enrollment of persons willing to offer their blood will be accepted immediately and this can be made with Miss Mabel Durnin, at the office of O'Connors Inc., by a personal call, or by telephoning 821. Enrollments received after midnight, October 6th, may not be used for the present clinic, but will be filed for use at a future clinic. Each person accepted for the clinic will be notified by special card of the time of the appointment; these cards will be mailed on October 8th, so that plenty of time will be allowed for preparation.

The cards contain special instructions as to diet for a period immediately preceeding the blood donation, and careful study is asked for this as otherwise the blood will be useless. It is important that no fat of any kind be eaten for at least eight hours before the donation is to take place. One of the local doctors will be in attendance at the clinic at all times during the day. The nurses who gave their services at the clinic held at Chateauguay Barracks a few weeks ago, will also be in attendance at this clinic.

The clinic is being conducted under the auspices of the Huntingdon Branch of the Red Cross Society and at least 150 donors are wanted for enrollment at this clinic. If this one is successful, it is expected that return visits will be made every eight weeks.

It is a duty to offer your blood and shows great patriotism, or your blood may be the means of saving the life of a member of the armed forces. That member may be near and dear to you. Such a gift is truly a sacrifice and a worthy one, because it may mean so much in the end. Make your enrollment today and make this first civilian Blood Donor Clinic a success in Huntingdon.

Hunters Urged to Take Precautions

With the hunting season now in full swing, hunters must bear in mind the common everyday hazards which fall in its wake, declared a statement issued by the Province of Quebec Safety League. Although numerous, such hazards are preventable through the adoption of adequate precautions.

For example while walking all sporting guns should be kept open as to avoid any injury should a shot go off through a hunter falling or the trigger being pressed down by a hanging branch.

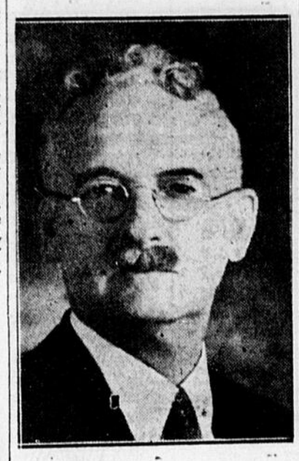

Rifles are provided with safety catches and these should be locked, while a safe practice is to carry the gun under one's arm, the barrel towards the ground.

Whilst walking in Indian file, care should be taken to observe all safety measures.

In conclusion the League pointed out that all hunters should take every precaution to be dressed in a conspicuous way so that they may not be taken as some piece of game.

Letter of Local Interest Received From D. J. Anderson

Describes the Part Played by Canadians in Battle of Sicily

The following letter from D. J. Anderson, who writes about the Sicilian battle should be of interest to the people of this district. The writer is the son of Mr. Wilbert Anderson of St. Lambert, who was formerly a resident in the Huntingdon district, and he is also a nephew of Mr. Roy McWhinnie of Huntingdon.

D. J. Anderson, Gnr.
Canadian Army Overseas.
Saturday, Aug. 21, 1943.

Dear Mom and All:

Well believe it or not, here I am again. I know how much mail means to you, so now that I have more time, I am trying my best to write regularly. Here is hoping that Germany doesn't sink the ships they go on.

Practically all that is new is that yesterday we were paid another visit by General Montgomery. He came to congratulate the Canadians upon the part we played in the fall of Sicily. He said that we had lived up to all his expectations and that he was very proud to have us as a part of the Eighth Army. I believe that the full text of his talk, is to be given to Canadian newspapers so you'll probably read all about it.

I don't know if you are familiar with the Canadian advance, so I'll try to give you a rought outline.

The landing itself was really a walk over. We had all been counting a great deal upon surprise, but we did not expect to find the shore battery crew asleep at their posts. That is how the Commandoes and marines found most of them when they first set foot on shore. Not only the landing, but our advance of about fifty miles, was also comparatively easy. Of course, this was due to the fact that about 95% of the enemy in this area were Italians, and the ground surface was comparatively flat. If it had been like this all through it would probably have been all over in two weeks. Of course, Jerry had picked the country for his defence lines, and believe me they were good ones. It was when we reached the hills that we met the German troops. They were well dug in, and they also knew the country we were advancing on. It was these factors along with the good fighting qualities of the German Soldiers, that slowed down our advance. Now because we were slowed down don't think our casualties were heavy, they were not. Whenever we reached a strong fortified point, Montgomery would hold us there. He would then bring up all artillery possible, and along with the air-force, he would set up a steady barrage for maybe hours. Then when the Germans were disorganized, and in many cases their morale shaken, the infantry was sent in to put him on the run. By this method a little time was lost, but in the end many lives were saved. We feel that the success of the Eighth Army has been due to this system. This type of warfare kept up for about two weeks until we came to Germany's key defence point, Mount Etna. In the meantime the rest of the Eighth Army on our right flank had moved up to Catania. This left the left flank behind. To bring the Army back to one straight line again, the Etna defence line has to be broken. It was here that we received our biggest operation of the campaign, as Montgomery gave this task to the Canadians. The going was tough, but within three days Jerry was cleared from the slopes of Etna, and was in retreat. Once again the Eighth Army was in a straight line. After this we received our first real rest. The Americans and mostly fresh British troops carried on until the enemy was driven to the sea, off Messina. We hoped to be there for the finish, but we know what the Etna defence line meant to this campaign, so we feel contented and proud to know that the Canadians broke it. Well, that is a rough outline of our side of the campaign.

I must close, but I'll be back again in a few days. There has been no mail in since I last wrote to you so we are still hoping. I am in the best of health, so please don't worry.

All my love.

Opening Exercises Well Attended

School Band Played Selections During Programme

The auditorium of Huntingdon High School was well filled on Wednesday evening, when pupils and their parents and friends gathered there for the opening exercises. The programme was scheduled to get under way at 8 p.m., but there was a slight delay due to the mysterious disappearance of one of the Band Boys' music score. However, the delay was amply repaid in the quality of the music rendered by the Band, under the able direction of Bandmaster Moore.

The programme opened with the hymn "O God, Our Help in Ages Past", followed by the Invocation and Lord's Prayer, by Rev. Thomas Knowles. Short messages of greeting and good wishes were given by the following clergymen: Rev. J. B. Maclean, D.D.; Rev. W. S. Hatcher; Rev. James Woodside and Rev. Thomas Knowles.

Dr. H. R. Clouston complimented the teachers and students on the results attained during the past term, and added several witty remarks and gave the pronounciation of the name of a Welsh town for Rev. Thomas Knowles.

Commissioner E. C. Martin gave a brief talk in explanation of some of the pertinent points in the New Compulsory Education regulations.

Cardinal Villeneuve Says Social Study Necessary

Addresses 20th Session Les Semaines Sociales at Valleyfield, on Theme "Temperance"

Cardinal Villeneuve asked at Valleyfield, Saturday night, for a study of "present political and social problems" for, if this were not done, "it might mean complete disaster to the ship of state."

Speaking at the 20th sessions of Les Semaines Sociales — a study group of social and political problems in the light of the Catholic social doctrine—he said "Temperance may be more needed than anything else by the capitalists and possessing class in dealing with social questions begging an answer nowadays." The theme of the conference is "Temperance."

"Temperance is more usually thought of in connection with our everyday behavior, in the matter of over-indulgence in eating and drinking. However, circumstances have made it apply to the fair distribution of wealth.

"A fair distribution of wealth necessarily involves an adjustment of conditions in the light of human justice. Therefore it first requires a perfect self-control which may only be attained through temperance in the full meaning of the word."

Cardinal Villeneuve added that a "fair distribution of wealth could not consist, and never had consisted, in a purely arithmetical division of all by all.

Property Inviolable

"Property rights must remain inviolated and inviolable, while careful measures must at the same time insure the welfare and the well-being of everyone in the community, including the less fortunate ones."

He said further "rich men in the community must bear in mind they have no right to dispose of all their available resources and revenues at will. Their duty is to see that industries, for instance, are progressing at a rapid pace so that workers are provided with continuous labor and communities are faring well.

"Those who are possessed with riches should always remember wealth was meant to insure work and production and the welfare of society at large."

He recalled that several papal encyclicals outlined the responsibilities of those endowed with riches. He especially cited the late Pope Pius XI's "Quadrigesimo Anno" decree.

"The work accomplished by students and lecturers at Les Semaines Sociales during the past 20 years," Cardinal Villeneuve said, "clearly shows what may be done in that field.

"All those who might help solve our problems must study the present political and social questions, for, if they would not, it might mean complete disaster to the ship of state."

"Fair Distribution"

Professor Maximilien Caron of the University of Montreal, also speaking on "a fair distribution of wealth," said "at all times salaries and wages must have priority over dividends."

He added: "The time has come when family salaries must be paid to heads of large families. "We should do away with the need for mothers going to work instead of tending their little ones at home. We should take steps to prevent boys and girls working while still in their early teens."

"The state has set up a kind of legalized charity," Professor Caron said, "under the guise of taxes. Capitalists, at first a bit perturbed, finally agreed to the new plan.

"They saw in it an insurance against being dispossessed of their wealth as they otherwise might have been."

Party Spirit Sound

Camille L'Heureux, editor of the Ottawa Le Droit, condemned the "party spirit" and said it might result in government of the people, by the people for the people becoming government of the party, by the party, for the party. The common weal was subordinated by political machines to the particular interest of the party.

Adelard Leduc, of the University of Montreal faculty and also of the Ecole Sociale Populaire, spoke of Canada's special need for temperance in the attitude of the English and French races toward each other.

Barrack's Team Loses To R.C.A.F.

Airmen Triumph 19-0 In Q.R.F.U. Tilt

A large crowd of spectators attended the Air Force vs. Army Rugby game held at Chateauguay Barracks, on Saturday afternoon, the spectators included a large number of civilians as well as army and air force rooters. It is some time since rugby has been played in Huntingdon and it therefore created a good deal of interest among local sport fans.

The Royal Canadian Air Force entry in the Q.R.F.U. pounded a 19-0 win over Huntingdon Army. The Airmen gained second place in the standing behind Verdun Grads.

The game was won and lost in the first seven minutes, when the winners went over for two touchdowns. Lorne Barcley kicking in grand style, accounted for nine of his team's points, while Joey Richman crashed for 10 points in touchdowns.

R.C.A.F. pressed from the start, with Barcley and Johnny Fripp figuring in plays that carried to the Army's ten-yard line. Three minutes after the start Barcley carried three Army players over the line with him for the first score of the tilt. Fripp failed to convert.

Barcley kicked a rouge at the seven-minute mark and then tossed a 45-yard forward to Libman, to put the ball on Army's 10-yard line. Richman tore through standing up for the second touch, with Barcley converting as the Airmen led 12-0.

Army tried desperately to even things up in the second and third quarter. Airmen added two points midway through the period and in the last play of the game, Richman snared Fripp's forward pass to again cross the Army line. There was no convert.

Roast Chicken Supper at St. Joseph's Hall Great Success

850 Suppers Served Realizing $510.00—Proceeds For Alteration of Parish Hall

The roast chicken supper sponsored by the Ladies of Ste. Anne of the Parish of St. Joseph, Huntingdon, took place on Thursday, September 23rd, 1943, in the newly erected St. Joseph's Hall, Huntingdon. The basement of the hall which was used for a dining room for this event, was beautifully decorated with garden flowers, flags and bunting. The tables which were under the supervision of the Ladies of Ste. Anne with the Children of Mary acting as waitresses, were artistically decorated. Fifteen tables were in use continually from 5 p.m. till 10.30 p.m., in order to cater to the large number of persons wanting to be served. Those in charge of the arrangements for the supper report that 850 suppers were served. People from all parts of the surrounding district as well as members from other denominations were present.

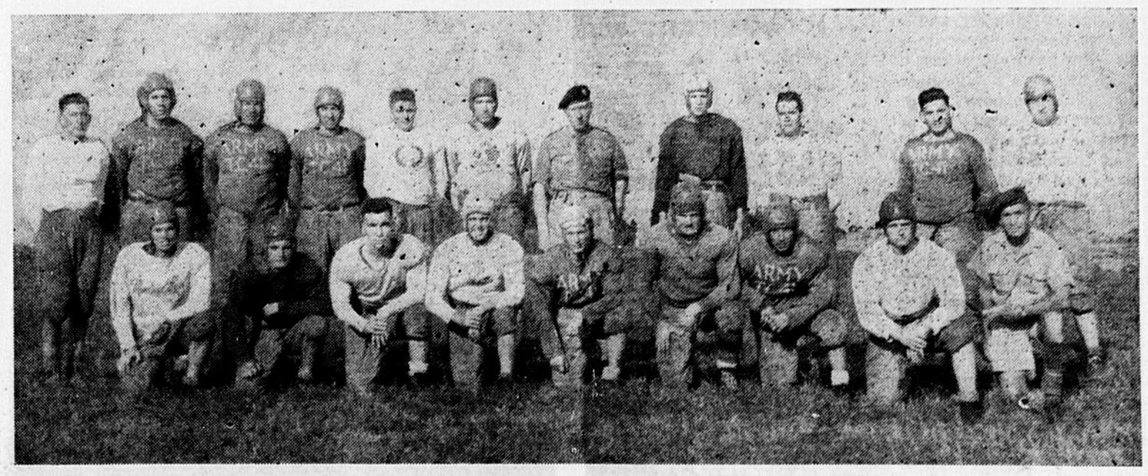

A check room was arranged for and was under the supervision of a few members of the Children of Mary Society, this service was appreciated by patrons and was a decided success.

Thanks are due to the management of the Huntingdon Chateau, for their generosity in providing free services in connection with cooking the chickens and making the coffee. This service provided a great help to the Ladies of Ste. Anne owing to the large amount of provisions required to supply the huge number of suppers served.

Proceeds derived from this supper will be used to defray the expenses occasioned by the alterations made on the ground floor of the Hall to provide accommodation for the sisters of the Congregation of Notre Dame and their pupils.

Proceeds of this supper amounted to $510.00, an amount never before realized in such an undertaking. Expenses are estimated at $85.00, the total profit of the supper will be $425.00 in favor of the hall. A number of pies left over, were sold and are included in the above proceeds.

Pupils to Get Free Books

Bouchard Says Plan Will Take Time

The hope was expressed by Hon. T. D. Bouchard, Minister of Roads, and Mayor of St. Hyacinthe for 30 years, that before many years have elapsed there would be free school books in the province.

Mr. Bouchard said that the cost of this would be formidable, around $3,000,000, in fact, but it would be undertaken by the Government in continuation of its policy of continuously working to improve the conditions of the population of the province.

Suffer Little Children

ONE hears a great deal today of lowering birthrates and of small families, which will have the affect of decreasing the peoples of the English-speaking world after the war. It has been suggested that means be sought to encourage the building of larger families in order that these people will not be in the minority in the years to come. In Great Britain the birthrate is said to show an alarming decline, despite the number of births registered as a result of the war marriages.

Part of the plan for new social legislation is centred around granting of allowances for children on a weekly or monthly basis and with providing maternity grants. Another idea behind this portion of the plan is to encourage the propagation of more children and larger families, to prevent the decline.

Hitler's plan in occupied countries where he wishes to reduce the population to the point of annihilation, is known as race suicide. The birth of children is discouraged in every possible way and by every possible means, while the elder people are slowly put to death in various ways. This process has been used against the Jews with devastating effect, as is known by the stories reaching this country from Poland. As far as Hitler is concerned, it is all part of a scientific plan for the annihilation of undesired peoples from his new world order.

The English-speaking peoples are not interested in Hitler's new world order, they have their own ideas of what should constitute a new world order. The authorities are anxious to see the perpetuation of English-speaking peoples in ever growing numbers, they do not want race suicide. But unless more notice is taken of the situation, it is feared that unconsciously the race will drift toward that suicide.

But it takes more inducement than offering a few dollars toward the upkeep of children. It takes the co-operation of all people in tolerance toward children, in tearing down the barriers that have been erected against children. There are some people who forget that they were once children themselves, and look with hate upon a child or with disgust that they have to live with children. If we follow the principles of the Church's teachings of Christ, we will find that Christ loved little children and rebuked one of the Bible characters by saying "Suffer little children to come unto me". There is also a children's hymn which has a line "Jesus Loves Me, This I Know, For the Bible Tells Me So". There is no hate in these teachings.

Looking over the classified advertisements in different newspapers all over the country, one will find apartments or houses to rent with words to the following effect added—No children; No children wanted; Persons with children need not apply. There was a case not so very long ago of where a young couple took an apartment and the regulations were strictly that no animals or children were allowed. During the course of occupancy, a child was born to the couple and some of the other occupants of the building complained to the landlord that the child crying bothered them. The landlord knew he had not rented any apartments to persons with children, and promptly told the young couple they were to move out. The situation caused some legal arguments something along the lines that the couple rented the apartment quite within the regulations set forth in the lease and that they had no children or animals at that time, but the lease did not say what was to happen if a child was born after occupancy. We will not go into the aspects of the above case nor the results obtained, we merely cite these few items to show some of the obstacles placed in the way of people who try to raise families in this day and age. Then there is the matter of people who are always quarrelling over what the neighbor's children are doing, the noise they are making. There are those who are always ready to make suggestions as to how they would bring up the other person's children, and the number of spankings they would administer, etc.

We quote the foregoing as just a few of the many reasons why people today are not raising large families. We might add another reason and that is selfishness on the part of parents to sacrifice some of their pleasures for their children. If you have to raise a family, it means sacrifice to a certain extent for a certain period, but it need not mean being barred from renting a house or apartment, or quarrelling between other occupants, neighbors or landlords. If the birthrate is a concern, the only obstacle is not a monetary one, more tolerance must be given and greater co-operation between those with families and those without. If we believe in the Christian faith and teachings it would be well to remember that Christ once said "Suffer little children to come unto me".

Signs of Possible Election

RECENT announcements and activities in political circles, both Provincial and Federal seem to indicate that elections may take place in the very near future. If this does happen, the political battle may have surprising results. In Quebec Province, some radical parties have been set up which will try to wield an influence on the people by discrediting the present government, the war effort, the older parties and most everything else. Everything will be wrong except their own particular line of thought. We warn the voters here and now, don't be misled by the stories you will hear told you by the various political speakers. Look the whole situation over and decide for yourselves what you think will be the best solution. Fiery oration can sometimes do much to lead people to condemn this or that, if proper thought is not given to the subject.

There seems to be a great possibility that the C.C.F. will have candidates in the field at the next election, its recent affiliation with a labour organization will tend to strengthen its popularity in that field. The "Bloc Populaire", a radical party if there ever was one, will no doubt be seeking to install members in the Provincial Legislature, if the people will cast their votes in favor; but watch them.

The platform of the C.C.F. seems to have possibilities on the surface, but it should be studied in greater detail to discover what would happen should this party actually gain power. It advocates a system of control that flavors much of the Soviet regime, control which a large number of people are already complaining about as is practised under wartime conditions. Such control under ordinary peace time conditions would be intolerable to most people. We are freedom loving people and hate regimentation in the ordinary way of our lives, we tolerate it at the present time because we realize it is a means to an end. If we do not achieve that end, conditions could be much worse, that is why we are willing to put up with the regimentation of our lives as part of the war effort. But once peace has been won, we will want this interference removed quickly. Social planning is no doubt on its way and will come after the war, but such plans must be for betterment, more security and greater protection, and not interfere with the liberty of a person to live his life in his own way. The C.C.F. talks of exploitation of labour, of wealth and so forth, but we wonder if these things are exploited as much as the C.C.F. would have us believe, or as much as they would be if the C.C.F. was voted to power. State control has its advantages in some respects, but total State control leads to dictatorships. We have seen what the latter led to in this present war and we prefer the real democratic way of life. The C.C.F. claims to be democratic, but can we remain democratic under a system of State control? We do not believe that we can.

The Army Carries On

BRASS bands marching men off to war may cloak its music with harsher, martial strains, shuffling feet on crowded pavements may muffle its trumpets, many-colored uniforms of half the world now on the sidewalks of Nova Scotian towns may subdue its once unique uniforms—but the Salvation Army band, like the great force it symbolizes in the public mind, still carries on.

In war, as in peace, it summons to thought; it is the outward evidence of a great work that silently and ceaselessly goes on in the world—among men broken by adversity and their own weaknesses, among children who are waifs, among mothers, the aged, the sick or the despairing.

The Salvation Army is an amazing organization, though today its achievements, no longer unexpected, may often be overlooked. It is backed by no church, but is possessed of faith. It boasts no titans of finance or industry among its leaders, but is built, instead, upon the broad shoulders of common, Christian folk.

Started in a London slum's degradation, it reaches today to the topmost levels of a thousand communities in a hundred countries.

Survivor of one Great War, it finds in this second world conflict new trials yet greater opportunities to serve.

With all it is doing for men and women in the armed services of the United Nations—in enemy lands it is banned because Christian and democratic—it has not neglected the field to serve which it began; the meeting of human emergencies wherever and whenever found with an understanding and compassion born of experience and with practical measureable help.

Nutrition in Canadian Industry

NUTRITION,—the science of food and its use in the body, is a subject of first importance to Canada at war or at peace.

Long overdue, a national program is now going ahead at Ottawa. Compared to what is being done in the British Isles and United States on foods the Canadian effort is still small and insignificant. Nevertheless, the basis for better health for all Canadians through better feeding habits is being laid. The efforts of the nutrition service deserve every support.

"Nutrition in Canadian Industry" by Dr. L. B. Pett fills a great need. An outstanding authority on nutrition, Dr. Prett, the director of Nutrition Services at Ottawa, has the gift of being both interesting and scientific. This booklet, published by the International Labor Office, Montreal, sells for 30 cents a copy. Every industrial executive in Canada should read it and if the knowledge upon the subject which it contains were sprinkled more freely amongst us working Canadians we should all enjoy much better health than we do at present. For instance, Dr. Pett has this to say of the problem of Absenteeism:

"Part of the difficulty in explaining the significance of nutrition in industry and in absenteeism, is that it has so many direct and indirect effects. For example, a lack of Vitamin B1 in the diet may give a man digestive disturbances that will keep down his direct production all day; or it may just affect his nerves so that he picks a quarrel with his neighbor, and put them both off production; or it may affect the sensitivity of his fingers so that he spoils more pieces even if his total production is as great as usual".

Dr. Pett goes on to enumerate the ill effects caused by a Vitamin C shortage in the human system and advocates as a solution to all these dietary problems the dissemination of correct knowledge regarding food laws throughout Canada's factories. He says furthermore that workers should enjoy short rest periods between their shifts and should have something to eat during these times out.

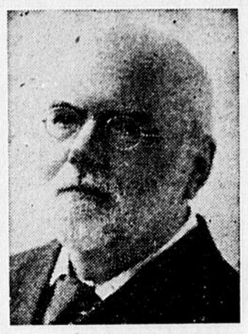

Dr. Pett's booklet, dealing with a science which is relatively new is both interesting and instructive and should, in the interest of Canadian industry and Canadian health, be widely circulated.

CHATEAUGUAY, BEAUHARNOIS and HUNTINGDON COUNTIES

From Manuscripts of
The Late ROBERT SELLAR

WILLIAM BOWRON, 23 Feb. 1821. I reside at Foucault, Caldwell's Manor. Born and educated at village of Catherstone, near Richmond, Yorkshire from whence I emigrated with my parents in 1793 and settled at Champlain, where remained until late war when I moved to Canada and have lived at Montreal and Caldwell's Manor. Have been 16 years engaged in clearing wild land and in lumber business.

Roads are bad because people unable from poverty and only medium barter to pay for laying out and homologating roads, and because of the set out of laws held by non-residents and crown and clergy reserves.

In Hinchinbrook 11000 to 12000 acres held by nonresidents. Hemmingford kept back by land being in hands of those who asked too high prices.

-o-

WM. HALL, Quebec: I won 700 acres in Godmanchester bought from one Cunningham and I got patent issued in my name. Have visited the land and found it settled without my consent. There was a number of settlers in Godmanchester but cannot give number. I paid Can. £120.

A trade circular of Peter McGill and Co. dated Dec. 1/27 states that the wheat crop in Quebec during the past summer had been an almost total failure, while good in Ontario. Export from Quebec had been 390,000 bushels of 60lb of wheat, Ontario gave 136,000. Flour was worth 28 to 30s. 94,306 bbls. had been brought in from Ontario while total reports at Quebec had been 54,000 showing how much had been kept here. Peas 3/2 to 3/5 per minot and 4s to 5s doing shipping at Quebec. Rye and corn 3s to 3/4. Pork, prime $12 to $13.50. Prime mess $13.50 to $15; mess $15 to $21. Dressed hogs $4.50.

That year restriction had been removed on importing meats of all kinds from U. S.

Bouchette explored Godmanchester, Hinchinbrook and Hemmingford with a view to report on fitness for settlement in August and September 1820 and was paid £43 4/4.

Report of Agricultural Society for Montreal for 1821 states that 19/20 of cattle consumed in city was imported from States and speaks with approval of a bull that weighed 1000 lbs. There had been extreme drought in summer of 1820 with failure in turnips.

James Milne appears as inspector of rafts and scows at Chateauguay in 1820. Office created in 45th of George 3. The rafts were measured and inspected and pilots regulated.

Great panic caused about 1800 by arrival of 41st Regiment at Montreal which spread fever in epidemic from selling their blankets to habitants along route of March from Quebec.

EMIGRANTS: Royal Edward from Belfast in 1817 with 300 to 400 passengers in shocking state of filth and disease. 10 died on passage, 3 died on boat, 40 to 50 sick with fever. General Brock from Cork in 1818, majority sick. Every ship from Ireland in 1822 had fever on board. One woman removed to lodgings but refused: returned to ship when Captain forbade bringing her on board. She died on the wharf. Crew fled.

JOHN SIMPSON appears to have been appointed collector at Coteau 1st May '23. W. Irvine became teacher there in 1822.

Bouchette estimated Protestant population in then County of Huntingdon in 1823 at 5097 of whom 4797 were in townships.

Old county went as far as Longueuil and included LaSalle, Deberry and Lacolle.

Donald Livingstone, Deputy Provincial Treasurer.

A full report of Jesuits and estates is contained in appendix for 1824 under head of education.

-o-

BENJ. SPEARMAN on 18th January 1823 petitioned for relief. On 11th April 1873, he, at command of Capt. Wm. Wallis with others of his company, marched under Lieut. Elias Wallis to apprehend John Kenny, Michael Kenny and others for recruiting when he got a wound in left shoulder from guns fired by John Kenny.

-o-

SEIGNIORIES petition of censitaires in 1825 stated seignors refused to concede best lands, that laws had been evaded and bush lots sold by 2nd parties, that they stripped lots of best timber before selling, that conditions were unseated in deeds of concession and authorized by law, as not selling wood off lot, that mills unfit to manufacture flour fit for exportation and do not erect them where needed.

Letter of Papineau and J. Neilson, 10th May 1823 inveighs strongly after the proposed union with U.C. Speaking of E.T. says:

The interests and feelings of these inhabitants correspond more with the populations of Upper Canada than with that of the Lower Province—they are separated by a wilderness from the old settlement of Lower Canada along the St. Lawrence River and have very little intercourse or community interest with the body of the people of Lower Canada. Oppose giving them the representation proposed.

Jitterbugging Gets Recognition

New York.—The not too gentle art of jitterbugging has received official recognition. The New York Society of Teachers of Dancing, Inc., voted to teach the jitterbug as a pastime fitted to accompany the waltz, tango and rhumba on dance programs. The society said that youth was dancing the jitterbug and youth not dancing masters, decreed what should be danced.

Nazi-Russian Meet Planned?

Stockholm.—A Tass dispatch announced that Mme. Alexandra Kollantay, Soviet envoy to Sweden, had been elevated to the rank of Ambassador extraordinary and plenipotentiary.

Her promotion led the pro-German newspaper Aftonbladet to speculate that Stockholm might become the stage for an important political conference involving Russia, perhaps to discuss post-war European political plans.

Aftonbladet said various peace rumors had developed around Stockholm and "it is not impossible that a German-Russian meeting is in preparation."

PROTECT CHILDREN

September almost invariably marks an increase in the number of automobile accidents, with children the victims in most cases.

A child is naturally lighthearted, and somewhat careless or imprudent. Reopening of school, after the summer holidays, is a source of new distraction and, engrossed in either his homework or play, he leaves home or school and starts crossing streets without thinking of any traffic that may be coming his way. At the call of a playmate, or for any one of a hundred reasons, he darts across the street without looking to right or left and, should it be in front of a moving automobile, an accident which may be painful, if not fatal, is the result.

Children must be protected. Motorists should do everything in their power to prevent accidents of any kind, and because of the rapidity with which modern machines cover ground, should be on the alert at all times. On nearing schools or anywhere where group of school children gather, motorists should always slow down, ever keeping in mind the fact that at any moment a child may dart out from the group and fall under the wheels of his car. Even though a motorist may be in no wise responsible for an accident, he who strikes a child with his machine will ever suffer a remorse of conscience for not having done his utmost to prevent the accident.

Parents and teachers, constantly preach caution, and frequently renew their recommendations. But a child forgets easily. Think in his place, and protect him.—Shawinigan Standard.

A DUTY—GO TO CHURCH

Never were words more true than those of the Barrie Examiner when it said, "September is here, school is open, and summer holidays are over. This should mean a return to church. Church going is one of those powerful influences which help to make any community a good community in the widest application of the word. We know there are a lot of people who seldom go near a church. A lot of them make the excuse that the church has failed, or that they get nothing out of it. A few more don't go because they fear a financial obligation. Still others will tell you they can get just as much good by communing with nature in the great outdoors. At this time when the world is enduring the stress and strain of war there is an obvious duty to go to church. We are living in a country where we don't know the real meaning of the word hardship. We have had no food shortages. There has always been plenty to eat, to drink, and to wear. We have had no enemy feet marching across our soil, nor have enemy bombs desecrated our homes and buildings. Surely these are causes for thanksgiving, and the place to offer up that thanksgiving is in the corporate worship of the church."—Collingwood Enterprise.

Hour Of Action Sounds For Greeks

Cairo.—M. P. Woulgaris, Minister of Aviation in the Greek Government, told the Greek Air Force in an order of the day that "the hour of your most intense action has sounded." "We are convinced your next objectives will be bases and airdromes of Greece still infested by our enemies," he said.

Italian Empire Lost Irretrievably

London.—In one significant part of his speech, Prime Minister Churchill said that the Italian Empire had been lost "irretrievably", suggesting that it would not be re-established after the war.

"The Italian people have already suffered terribly," he said. "Their manhood has been cast away in Africa and Russia. Their wealth has been squandered. Their empire has been lost irretrievably."

WEEK AT OTTAWA

With the meeting here of members of parliament and other Liberal representatives from all parts of the Dominion there is naturally a crop of rumours current on when the next general election is likely to be held. It is an interesting but rather futile game, guessing on elections, when they're to be held and what might be the results.

Mr. Churchill's words that a reason why it isn't easy to set a date for a meeting of commonwealth prime ministers is that some of the nations have either had elections or are on the way to having them, make a pretty slender support for the idea that the election in Canada will come this fall or early winter. There is only one man who could tell when it will come off and he may have made his decision. That is prime minister King.

There are doubtless general strategic as well as domestic political considerations to be weighed in the decision. The election would be held when it would mean a minimum of diversion of attention from any part of the war effort. There has been a free and open discussion among representatives of the nine provinces and of course complaints on some war restrictions which it is said raise a nettle rash on sensitive skins have been aired. A point made by some representatives—there are ten from each province as well as members of parliament—is that if unnecessarily irritating regulations could be removed or modified, criticism of the whole system of control would be much less severe. Its necessity as a war measure would be more readily recognised and acknowledged.

In the general canvas of the political situation Quebec presents of course the most baffling problems and the situation is further complicated by the absence of Mr. Cardin and some other members from the meeting. At whatever time the election may be held between now and the end of 1944, the general opinion among the delegates seems to be that a major task before the Liberal Federation will be to bring about a closer liaison between the government and the people. During the course of the war the lines of communication and understanding, it is said, have got into disrepair.

The meeting of commonwealth prime ministers which Mr. King has stated he will do his utmost to attend, will be of assistance not only in further co-ordinating the war effort of the nations of the British Commonwealth but will aid in the tremendous task of strengthening the front against a renewal of wars of aggression when peace comes.

It is part of the general movement to ensure a solid front of the United Nations in the difficult times immediately following the war. This growing movement is seen in the projected arrangements for discussions of British and American foreign ministers with the Russian officials, which will deal not only with combined war efforts but with guarantees for making the peace secure.

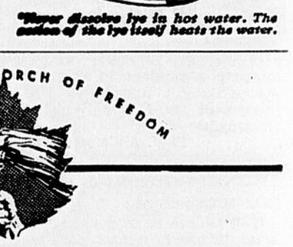

It is also expressed in the Fulbright resolution which passed the house of representatives in Washington, favoring "the creation of appropriate international machinery with power adequate to establish and maintain a just and lasting peace . . and favoring the participation of the United States therein".

Any treaty can be defeated by one-third of the votes of the U. S. Senate, but at present at least it looks as if the great majority of the people in the United States—one congressman said at least 90 per cent—feel that continental or hemispheric isolation would be a policy that would continue to menace the security not only of the Eastern but of this hemisphere as well. Mr. Churchill called the Atlantic and Pacific "respectable oceans" surrounding the American continent but with every mile addition to the range of bombers this "respectability" will decline carrying with it a corresponding decline in the "respectability" of isolationism.

Last week's announcement from the department of labour that labour in essential industry would be "frozen" and that permits would be required for transfers from one industry to another is expected to reduce waste time to a minimum if the regulations are wholeheartedly supported by labor and management.

Experiments in Consumer Kitchen Deal With Low-Sugar Pickle Recipes

The spicy fragrance of pickles and the smell of burning leaves—both are sure signs of fall and who is to say which of the two conjures up the more pleasant mental pictures?

Since no sugar is allowed for pickling, other than what can can be saved from the weekly ration, most pre-war recipes are no longer of much use. But pickles have morale value, if but little nutritional worth, for they add interest to meals which are becoming simpler and less varied. With this in mind, the Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture has been doing much experimenting to evolve the best pickles and relishes calling for the least amount of sugar.

These and other low-sugar pickle recipes are available on request from the Publicity and Extension Division, Dominion Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. Ask for Wartime Pickles and Relishes.

Carrot Relish

2 cups chopped sweet red peppers
2 cups chopped green peppers
4 cups chopped cabbage (1 small head)
3 cups chopped carrots
2 cups chopped onions
1 cup sugar
1 quart vinegar
3 tbsp. salt
1 tbsp. celery seed
1 tbsp. mustard seed

Combine sugar, vinegar, spices and salt and bring to boiling point. Add chopped vegetables and heat just to boiling point. Pour into hot sterilized jars and seal. Makes about 5 pints.

Vegetable Marrow Chutney

5 lbs. vegetable marrow
1 cup salt
1 tbsp. mustard
3½ pints malt vinegar
1 lb. onions, chopped fine
1 tsp. ground ginger
¼ cup brown sugar or honey
3 sweet red peppers
2 tsp. turmeric

Peel a ripe vegetable marrow, cut in half and remove all seeds and stringy parts. Cut marrow into small pieces, cover with the salt and leave for 12 hours. Mix mustard and turmeric with a little of the vinegar, add remaining vinegar and all other ingredients except the marrow, and boil 15 minutes Drain and wash marrow, add to boiling mixture and cook until marrow is soft. Pour into sterilized jars and seal. Makes about 2½ pints. Malt vinegar gives a colour and flavour that approximates that of imported chutneys.

Mustard Pickles

3 quarts pickling cucumbers
1 medium cauliflower
1 quart pickling onions
2 sweet red peppers
4 quarts water
2 cups cooking salt
1 cup flour
6 tbsp. mustard
1 tbsp. turmeric
1 cup sugar
2 quarts vinegar

Prepare vegetables by peeling onions, cutting other vegetables into desired sizes. Make a brine of salt and water, pour over vegetables and let stand overnight. In the morning, bring to boiling point and drain. Make paste of flour, mustard, turmeric, sugar and a little vinegar, add remaining vinegar, stirring until well blended. Bring to boiling point and cook until sauce is slightly thickened, about 10 minutes. Add prepared vegetables, bring to boiling point, pour into hot, sterilized jars and seal. Yield about 4 quarts.

Children's Corner ...

RECIPROCITY

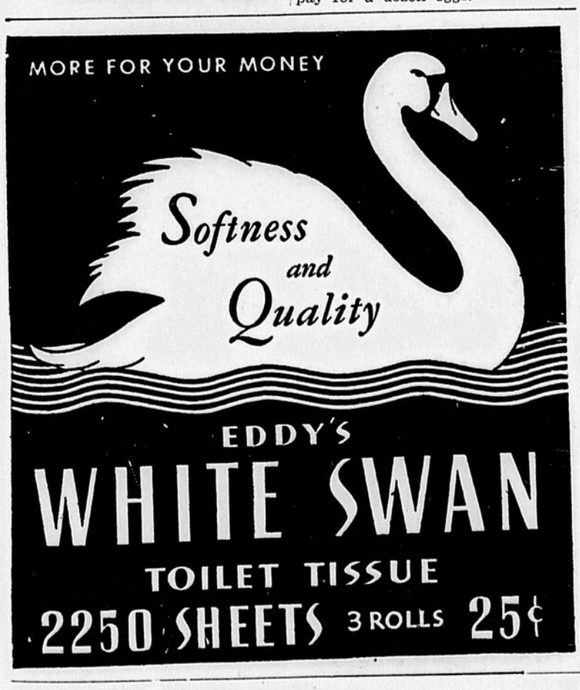

One zero night last winter I was fixing the furnace for the night when I heard a peculiar tapping sound. I looked around but could not tell where the sound came from. I continued laying the fire. Again I heard it, only louder. It sounded as if someone were deliberately trying to attract my attention. "Yes," I called, but no one answered. Then came the tapping again.

I put the shovel aside and went in the direction of the noise. It took me toward the small basement window. I looked up and imagine my surprise to see a white hen pecking at the windowpane. I was astonished as no one in the neighborhood had chickens.

I went out in the blizzard and brought her inside. The poor thing's feet were frozen and she could hardly stand. I applied the age-old remedy for frostbite, snow to her feet. Then I got her some crumbs and water. She ate ravenously. When she felt better, I found a sack and made a nest for her in the warm basement.

She was droopy for several days but with plenty of food and warmth she grew quite lively and tame. I named her "Waif". I could not find her owner and came to the conclusion that she had fallen off a truck and finally made her way to my basement window where she was attracted by the light. There is no question in my mind but that she was deliberately trying to attract my attention.

I invested thirty-two cents in feed for her, which, supplemented by table scraps, has kept her in food for several months. In return, when I go to the basement each night, I find a big, brown egg waiting for me. In all she has presented me with one hundred and ten eggs, all for a little kindness and an investment of thirty-two cents which would not pay for a dozen eggs.

DAHLIA'S WHATNOTS

The Gleaner Of Our Day

The Gleaner, like other newspapers, has the opportunity, which spells duty, of acting as "guide, philosopher, and friend" to its subscribers. It tells the public what is good for it, and when it sees that public aiming at a laudable course, but floundering about in a haphazard way, a good deal off the track, the editor seizes the chance to reduce ideas to concrete shape and furnish sane leadership.

Even in our day and generation there are cases which remind us of what the first editor justly complained of when he said that one person's paper travelled from one end of a road to the other. Again, there are still cases where the Gleaner is the only form of printed matter which regularly enters the home, without even the competition of a radio. So much greater must the influence of the Gleaner be in such a home. The chances are that the members of such a household spend more time reading the paper than listening to sermons or even reading the Bible. So let none blame the editor if, on occasion, he undertakes the combined duties of preacher and teacher and points out the right from the wrong.

Some may affect utter contempt of the social news, but anything is better than the closed mind. Even interest in a bit of gossipy news about your neighbours, as long as it hurts nobody, is healthier than a mind turned in upon itself. Even when you read your own name in the local weekly it helps your morale a teeny bit and helps to down that inferiority complex that haunts you. Who knows how pupils have been encouraged or shamed into greater application by reading good or bad reports of their standing?

And then how positively thrilling to read how the bride was dressed!

Most assuredly the Gleaner has saved many a mind from the danger of becoming "cribbed, cabined and confined" by directing attention to the doings of one's neighbours, one's church, one's council or school commission. When it pled for help for starving Greeks, harried Russians, and bombed Britons, it was helping its section of the reading public by combatting the peril of the closed mind, broadening that public's sympathies, tuning its ear to the heartbeats of a tortured world, to the throbbing cry of Les Miserables.

The praise which the Gleaner has been given as "just as good as a letter from home," was swelled by the man I heard saying that it was better sometimes than a letter from home, for the letter-writers often forgot important news, even of local deaths, and he had just renewed his subscription after a lapse of some time. He was home on a visit and had just heard of a neighbour's death which had occurred months before. And in these days people are so pressed for time they cannot always write once a week, and so cannot keep up with the weekly paper's despatch of news.

The Octogenarian number will be one of very extra special interest to many on account of the Havelock Show prize list.

Housekeepers must find the ration news and the recipes most helpful. Then, too, in this vale of tears and war-time gloom don't we really need the laugh to be found in the jokes?

Not to be overlooked is the advantage of the confessional in the form of letters to the editor, whereby the aggrieved or inspired can pour forth what is "on his chest" and yet remain anonymous to the world at large.

The birthday list is not supported as loyally as it should be by those young people, who persist in forgetting the year of their birth, but this is a "fragile" subject to be handled with care.

Although taken very much by surprise, Mr. MacMillan gratefully expressed his thanks. The bride and groom were escorted to the tables beautifully decorated with larkspur and lace vine and lighted with pink candles. The honoured guests were Rev. and Mrs. R. G. MacMillan, Mrs. Ann MacMillan, Rev. Dr. Maclean, Rev. J. H. Woodside, the sessions and their wives of each congregation. After supper was served, the chairman, W. R. Rutherford, called upon the following for addresses of welcome: Mrs. John Ross, Mrs. W. R. Rutherford and speeches from Rev. Dr. Maclean of Huntingdon, and Rev. J. H. Woodside of Kensington. Mr. MacMillan then expressed his sincere gratitude for the honour they bestowed upon himself, his bride and his mother.

On Saturday morning, Sept. 25, eleven ladies of the congregation gathered at the Elgin Church for the purpose of cleaning basement after the reception. Lunch was served, after which nine members held their meeting. The President opened the meeting with Scripture lesson from Psalm 40. Roll call and minutes of previous meeting were read and confirmed. As there was no new business to discuss, meeting closed with repeating Lord's Prayer. Collection $4.70.

Novel Idea Keeps Soldiers Overseas Well Informed

While we do not suggest that copying other peoples' ideas is a good practice, sometimes it forms a kind of flattery and is worthwhile. Recently some folders were sent to Huntingdon, from Mrs. David Lang, Chateauguay Basin, Que., and reached one of the citizens, who thought they contained something of a good idea.

At Chateauguay Basin, like most other places in Canada these days, the people are war-minded. The ladies are knitting for the armed forces, they send out parcels and cigarettes and write letters to the lonely ones. The knitters meet at certain periods and call their meeting the "Knitterbug Meetings." As most women know, knitters while they work with their fingers, like to talk about everything under the sun to make the gathering a really social one. In this day and age it is quite natural that the subject should be about the war, the local boys and girls who are serving and what is happening to them. Well, the Knitterbugs of Chateauguay Basin, have gathered together a list of the boys and girls serving in the armed forces and they also gather the choicest bits of news about each one of them as well as news around the district which they think might interest them. It used to be that these items would be put into letters which were sent to the different parties, but then a brilliant idea struck one of the members and it was put into effect. The idea was, why not make up a miniature newspaper. This was done and it is known as "Knitterbits" and we feel sure the members of the armed forces will find it quite interesting. It contains besides the names of all those serving from the district and the newsy items, letters from various members who are overseas, and makes interesting reading.

When we saw this miniature newspaper, it struck us as a good idea for some of the various organizations in this district, to adopt. We do not think that the ladies of Chateauguay Basin would think anyone was stealing their idea, we believe they would be flattered and glad to be of help. We feel sure that the boys or girls of the armed forces wherever they may be would appreciate a budget of local news sent to them in this way and tucked in with a parcel or sent with a letter.

Howick

The regular monthly meeting of the Georgetown Y.W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. James Wilson. The Riverfield Y.W.A. were guests at this meeting. The attendance at the meeting were fifteen from the Georgetown group, seven from Riverfield and three visitors. The President, Mrs. Robt. McCaig, presided over the meeting. Mrs. Arthur Buchanan read the scripture lesson, and Mrs. Donald Ness welcomed the guests. Miss Tully and Miss Kimball from Huntingdon, were among the visitors. Miss Kimball being the guest speaker, taking "Norway" as her subject. She delivered a most interesting address, based on a cruise she had taken from London to Norway, describing the various points of interest which she visited along the Norway coast, and showed some souvenirs and pictures of Norway. Mrs. Allister McArthur moved a vote of thank to Miss Kimball for her very interesting address. Mrs. Burton Forrester rendered a solo "Nearer my God to Thee", accompanied by Mrs. Robt McCaig on the piano, which was very much enjoyed. Mrs. Harold Robertson, on behalf of the Riverfield Y.W.A. thanked the Georgetown group for the invitation to be guests at the meeting. A display of knitting and sewing already done during the year was on view, the meeting was closed by repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison, after which refreshments were served. The Howick Community School held the weekly meeting Wednesday evening, Sept. 15th, and the Ladies had the good fortune to secure the services of the Rev. G. E. Bingham. Mr. Bingham addressed the meeting on the subject of "Public Speaking". Mr. Bingham's talk was found most interesting because of its practical value.

His topic was outlined under the following headings, 1st, Where are we going? (What is the subject—Is it Important?); 2nd, How do we get there? (The Method); 3rd, Lets get off at our destination. (How to end a speech).

He laid considerable stress on the subject of introducing and thanking a speaker, and mentioned that the person introducing the speaker should not consume all of the time allotted to the individual who is about to speak.

If any subject, upon which we are about to speak, said Mr. Bingham, is not sufficiently limited for a complete analysis any one phase of it should be chosen for our topic.

He also mentioned that any talk should grow from ones' own expressions and ideas, not copied from some book. He also touched upon the subject of personal appearance. as this, under certain circumstances, may quite easily distract the audience from the subject. These few words should illustrate to those people who have not been attending these communiy school meetings, that the knowledge gained greatly exceeds the time sacrificed. The sincere thanks of those at this meeting is extended to Mr. Bingham for his excellent address.

Mr. Bingham moved a vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Whyte for their kind hospitality.

The monthly meeting of the Georgetown W.M.S. was held in the church, on Sept. 21st, 23 visitors were present, as Ormstown and Riverfield Aux. were invited. Mrs. D. McFarlane presided, and opened the meeting by repeating the Apostles Creed. Mrs. Jas. Whyte read the scripture lesson, and the Glad Tiding prayer was taken by Mrs. Jas. Stewart. The roll call was taken and was answered by the text word "patience," Mr. Bingham was called on to give an address, taking for his subject the Foundation of Peace. After singing the hymn "What a friend we have in Jesus," Mr. Bingham closed the meeting. Refreshments were served and a social hour spent.

Canning Corner

By Laura C. Pepper,
Chief, Consumer Section, Dominion Department of Agriculture

Canning is almost at an end for 1943 but there is still time to catch the last of the fall fruits.

If you've still some sugar to spare after the last plums and pears are canned, a few jars of jam will make a welcome addition to the family's preserves ration.

These recipes are late autumn favourites in the Consumer Section of the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

2 ounces green ginger root or 1 ounce dry ginger root (optional)

3 lbs. sugar

Place pears in preserving kettle in layers, sprinkling each layer with sugar, lemon juice and grated green ginger. If dried root is used, break in pieces and tie in a bag. Let stand 2 to 3 hours. Cook slowly until thick and clear Pour into hot sterilized jars, cool, wax and cover.

Grape and Apple Butter

4 cups grape pulp (6 cups whole grapes)
4 cups apple pulp (12 medium apples and 2 cups water)
4 cups sugar

Wash grapes and remove stems. Crush fruit and heat to boiling point. Boil gently until skins are tender, about 15 minutes. Press through a sieve.

The Travelling Bag

Shabby luggage can be renovated by giving it the following treatment: Wash with soap and water. When dry rub thoroughly with an oiled rag. NEW SCHEDULE

EFFECTIVE SEPTEMBER 30, 1943

Preserves rationing gives the consumer a number of choices both of products and sizes of containers. Now that preserves rationing has been in effect for several weeks, it is possible to made some increases in coupon values. The new schedule is announced below and is effective September 30th.

The new doubled ration allowances for molasses, extracted and comb honey will enable consumers in areas where consumption of these products is heavy, to buy more and still leave enough for districts where the total demand is light.

The increased ration allowances for corn, cane and blended table syrups and maple syrup are adjusted to bring coupon values more closely into line with the great variety of container sizes now in use.

Health Notes

BRONCHITIS AND TUBERCULOSIS

Modern methods enable physicians to diagnose lung troubles more precisely than formerly. Several different diseases have the same symptoms and when the lungs are affected, very often the most outstanding of these is the cough. During damp weather, in spring and autumn, a great many adults and children are stricken with a harsh, rasping cough. As a rule this is an attack of acute bronchitis which lasts a week or two; however, if the cough persists, there is reason to fear a more serious affection, such as tuberculosis. Long ago, how many people were under the impression they had acute or chronic bronchitis, when they really were suffering from active tuberculosis and were contamenating all those around them. How many grandparents who were inveterate coughers for years, unknowingly sowed the seeds of destruction which carried off their loved ones, for want of a medical examination and an accurate diagnosis.

The hygienists of the Ministry of Health and Social Welfare appeal to everyone, young and old, who has a persistent cough, to go to the tuberculosis dispensary or to a travelling clinic so that their case may be accurately diagnosed and the cause of the cough discovered. It may be only bronchitis, but even so, treatment should be undergone to avoid complications. Besides, bronchitis is contagious and there is nothing more disagreeable than to see a child attend school and spread germs all around without taking any precautions to protect the other children. The danger becomes greater if the child has a tubercular lesion. In such a case, neglect to have the child examined, or isolated, becomes criminal. It is logical that a child who coughs a lot should be kept at home until he has recovered. It is better for the child and only right that his schoolmates should be protected from malignant germs.

Storm Windows Save Fuel

Tightly fitting storm windows and doors will help keep the heat where it belongs and save up to 20 per cent of the family's coal supply. The young woman in the picture above is putting up her double windows early to make certain that they fit properly. Loose frames can be made air-tight with weather-stripping. If the window-panes rattle, they should be re-puttied now before winter winds blow cold.

Mrs. A. A. Clayland of Ormstown is spending a few days here at her home and on Saturday attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Walter McNaughton.

Mrs. Nelson Coulombe, of Montreal, spent the week-end with her son, Mr. Romeo Coulombe and family.

The following relatives from a distance attended the funeral of the late Miss Annie Ryan, viz: Mrs. T. Fitch and Miss Frances Fitch of Rouses Point, N.Y.; Mrs. Joseph Bentley, Detroit, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. W. Guiney, Tupper Lake, N.Y.; Mrs. Michael Ryan, Fort Edward, N.Y.; Mrs. Hannah Leduc, Chazy, N.Y., and Mrs. Lillian Krum and Miss Naomi Krum, Ithaca, New York.

Hard Sauce

A hard sauce can be made by creaming a third of a cupful of confectioner's sugar. Add a half teaspoonful of vanilla, and if desired a few drops of sherry flavoring.

"Keep on the Beam"

A young man who had suffered severely as a result of his waywardness resolved to do better. He enlisted in the Air Corps and found himself in an air school where intensive training was given. Contrary to his expectations he liked it very much and for the first time in years began to be animated with a good purpose, the purpose to do right and help make the world a better place for others to live in. He saw that his previous suffering had been, in a sense, unnecessary because self-induced, and realized that as he kept on the right course he would be protected. He wrote home and advised his fourteen-year-old brother not to grumble over his lessons but to "keep on the beam."

Those who fly know that if they keep on the radio beam they will not stray, but will be enabled to keep a straight course and will be guided safely to their destination. Is it not far more important to keep on the beam of Truth in God's light, than to keep on any material beam? In God's light there is perfect protection.

Amid the darkness and destruction in the world today, many are searching for a ray of light which they may trust to lead them into peace and harmony.

Christian Science reveals the light of the Christ in such clear, pure shining that all who follow this truth find the beam that never wavers in its guiding ray. They find, as they keep on this beam, that evil cannot harm them, for light and darkness cannot dwell together. Mary Baker Eddy writes in the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" (p. 546), "The great spiritual facts of being, like rays of light, shine in the darkness, though the darkness, comprehending them not, may deny their realtiy."

Isaiah said (60: 19) "The sun shall be no more thy light by day; neither for brightness shall the moon give light unto thee; but the Lord shall be unto thee an everlasting light, and thy God thy glory."—Christian Science Monitor

Crocheting

When crocheting with wool keep the wool in a funnel and it will prevent it from kinking. Hang the funnel on a convenient place on the wall.

Mixing Dough

Using a marble slab such as from an old-fashioned dresser, or a piece of plate glass, is better than a wooden board for mixing dough for break, cake or pastry.

Windows

Add a little vinegar to the water when cleaning windows and they will stay clean for a longer time. More brilliance will be given if a little bluing is added to the water.

Parched Lips

Dip a piece of absorbent cotton in a solution of half glycerin and half lemon juice for moistening the lips of a fever-parched patient.

Resizing a Rug

Place the rug face down on the floor and stretch it very tightly and evenly. Tack it down at frequent intervals. Soak and dissolve one-quarter lb. of flake glue in half gal. water, in double boiler or container surrounded by hot water. Sprinkle this solution generously over the rug. Allow rug to dry for at least 24 hours. If rug is light weight, do not use enough glue to penetrate to other side.

Soldiers Entertained

Sunday evening was "Soldier Entertaining Night" at the United Church. 85 soldiers of Chateauguay Barracks attended the Church service and were entertained at a social hour in the Lecture Room following the service. The Camp Chaplain, Captain Mason, preached the sermon. The Rev. Mr. Knowles extended the words of welcome to the soldiers, acknowledgment being made by Captain Mason. The choir was largely augmented by soldiers, their male choir of nine voices rendered two anthems without accompaniment. Pte. Robinson Andrews, a talented violinist, played a solo.

In the Lecture Room the Rev. Mr. Knowles led off with the sing song which was a great success. This sing song was augmented with violin solos by Pte. Robinson Andrews, and also solos played on a saw by Pte. Howard Whatmough. The male choir also sang. Towards the hour of 10, refreshments were served by the ladies of the congregation as well as a donation of prize apples supplied by Mr. James McCoy. During the evening Captain Mason introduced Private Zinn. Private Zinn was a bit shy in making statements, but Captain Mason informed the gathering that Private Zinn was converted in 1931. He was born in Germany near the Polish border where only the Lutheran and Catholic churches were permitted to operate and even then in trammeled manner. Through the work of the British and Foreign Bible Society, the Zinn family received their religious teaching and Bibles. Private Zinn's father was colporteur and he in turn had to do much of his work unbeknownst to the general public.

N.Y.C. STATION BEING PAINTED

Believe it or not, the New York Central station is at last being painted. The exterior and interior of all buildings are to be painted, the exterior receiving three coats of paint. Once they get the station property looking clean it is hoped some janitor service will be obtained thereby making this much used public place present a more commendable appearance at all times. The Board of Trade is to be commended for keeping at the N.Y.C. to get this work done in their own interests, as well as that of the community.

PROMOTED

MAJOR J. M. HUNTER

Who received his majority promotion at Chateauguay Barracks on Thursday.

Hitler and The German Problem

"There is a generosity which directly leads to moral insanity. We have after this war, to deal with a wholly unconverted majority of millions who are still separated from the rest of the world by a barbaric belief in mere power. They must be talked to in the only language they understand; otherwise they will misuse every help, every concession, every equality of conditions for nothing but restoration of crime. Control after the war is not only a protection of the devastated world which can be rebuilt only under long-standing security—but also a protection of the decent part of the German people . . . A most severe punishment is needed for all these responsible for Nazi crimes. . . All members of the Nazi party must be deprived for life of all political rights and functions and be excluded from all activity in the field of school education, from the press and from the radio."

Thus does Dr. F. W. Foerster, a German expatriate now living in the United States, who for many years was at the very centre of the struggle in Germany between the humane school of thinkers and German militarism, offer his solution of the "German problem" after the war. While he was in the Third Reich he was so ardent an opponent of militarism that the reactionary Ludendorf demanded his imprisonment. He was only saved by powerful friends. Writing in The Christian Science Monitor, Dr. Foerster warns the United Nations against believing that once they have got rid of Naziism they have got rid of the menace of German militarism and will to world power. He writes:

"There is a widespread illusion among peacemakers — an illusion reinforced by wishful thinking — that the German people are not identical with Hitler, that after the defeat it will not be too difficult to come to an understanding with a nation liberated from her tyrant. This is a most dangerous illusion.

Peace-Loving Masses

"Of course if you understand by the 'German people' the silent, humble, good-hearted, peace-loving masses which suffer history but do not produce it, then you have before you an innocent people who have been dragged into a butchery, the necessity for and the meaning of which they have never grasped. These are the 'masses'. On them former German Social-Democrats count, and they consider and present them as a sufficient moral and political guarantee against an eventual third Nationalist conspiracy. In fact, the whole post-war period has proved the fallacy of this appraisal of the masses.

"After this war, millions of hardened and brutalized young men will be still eager to exert their terror against any German who tries to co-operate loyally with the rest of the world. Moreover, the active part of the German people who have made history, as a dynamic minority against a more or less idifferent numerical majority, is, with few and impotent exceptions, essentially with Hitler!

"Hitler is the last logical expression of the Pan-Germanist and militarist ideas which have penetrated the German people since Bismarck. Hitler has only popularized what was the leading ideology of the middle and upper classes. Hitler is the last offshoot of the old unholy German Wodan oak. The whole Nazi party obliterated, the great Prussian and Pan-Germanist ideas which produced Hitler as the well-deserved consequence of a long and cynical game with the diabolical powers in history, would remain and would produce new Hitlers. You cannot even count on the Christians, however courageously many of them may have defended their belief. In politics they never took a clear position against the naked political paganism which broke out in Prussianized Germany.

"Therefore, the so-called 'German people,' as an active historical factor, is essentially identical with Hitler and is responsible for Hitler. They tolerated William II, who prepared Hitler and whose general staff had already in 1895 prepared its plans for the future conquest of the world. They may fall away as Hitler's gigantic enterprise falls, but the mentality remains to produce after some years of peace and recovery a new Feuhrer calling up the nation against 'intolerable slavery'."

German Crimes

Nevertheless Dr. Foerster would not punish all Germans—just those who proved "unable to resist the most terrible crimes and the most barbaric enterprise." The German must be placed under a world tutelage for an undefined time. He pleads against the civilized world taking German crimes too easily. "We have to deal not only with a war," he writes, "but with a deliberate uprising against all the moral foundations of human civilization. The majesty of the moral law . . . must be recognized by a repression in proportion to the horror of the crimes committed in all these years. This is not revenge; it is moral order manifesting itself by visible and sensible repulsion of the aggressive powers."

Military occupation of Germany will not solve the "German problem." Dr. Foerster understands that. There must be economic control of the country. He says: "The distribution of food should be so organized that those Germans known as absolutely reliable, who exposed their national reputation and their lives by their struggle against Hitlerism, Pan-Germanism and militarism, should be entrusted with the final distribution. Such a proceeding would best interpret the true meaning of their fight against evil in Germany —and would best interpret the meaning of American help."

Dr. Foerster takes a serious view of inside Germany. He is frankly skeptical of all those slogans which chant something like this "Get rid of the Nazis and then you will find the German people very willing to be at peace with the world." That, he insists, is not in accordance with the record of history. And he is right. German youth has been trained in Naziism and in German militarism. What can the Allies do about this German youth? He writes:

"The greatest effort is desirable for saving European youth from the malediction of unemployment. It will be a blessing for them to be occupied in any kind of great enterprise for reparation and reconstruction instead of being prepared for more destruction. But the organizing of this kind of work cannot provide all necessary employment. The general situation in the labor market is dependent on the re-establishment of the world economy, and this will depend on a quieted international horizon. Therefore, the whole reconstruction work has its guarantee in the success of the proposed measure for assuring a really efficient control of the German 'peace saboteur.'

"There was a minority of Germans who resisted not only Hitler but also the fore-going nationalist evolution which prepared the coming of Hitler—they deserve to be called up to cooperate with the victorious as bridge builders and trustees. This co-operation will be particularly necessary in the field of educational reconstruction.

"Re-education of the German people means not only disinfection of a whole generation from an all-penetrating political and moral poison, re-establishment of the moral and religious patrimony of the nation, but also the creation (or, better, the re-creation) of an ideology giving expression to the true millenary German tradition. Germany established this tradition when she was the centre of European federation and of the universalist ideas basing that community.

Fall Show Season Opens At Barracks

Y.M.C.A. "Thumbs Up" Revue First Show Of Season

"Thumbs Up" Revue was the opening show for the fall season, at Chateauguay Barracks Drill Hall. This swift moving variety show was staged last evening, and proved to be another real good variety show. Under Bill Roberts, the master of ceremonies, the show was directed by Miss Eleanor Moore in behalf of the North Branch of the Y.M.C.A., Montreal with Jack Shields, as manager.

The entire show played up the Military Salutes to the various countries that make up the Allies. Betty Hutton with her swinging nursery rhymes, and parts throughout the extended programme, played the leading role of the evening. Unfortunately, justice was not dealt Betty, due to the fact that the sound system was allowed to be much too loud, thereby making her numbers seem almost boisterous, actually Miss Hutton had a good stage voice.

Helen and Margaret Findlay sang and presented a variety of tap dances that literally stole the show from many of their senior members. These young sisters were quite versatile artists in that their numbers were of a French, English, Scotch, Pan American, Russion and Chinese characteristics.

Marjorie and her accordian, is no new comer to these army shows, in Huntingdon, and in last evening's entertainment her proficiency on the piano accordian captivated the appreciative audience.

The troupe numbered around 25, but in addition to this, they managed to work in eight boys of the barracks and having done so, made it that the soldiers in training got an extra kick out of the show.

One of the features of this entertainment was the great variety of costumes worn by the actors and actresses. Their wardrobe was undoubtedly more extensive than any show has carried that has yet appeared at Chateauguay Barracks.

With a vote of thanks extended to the entertainers and compliments extended to the personnel, including the pianists, Miss Marion Velders and Len Jeffries, and to Fred Hoffman the drummer, the happy and enjoyable evening's entertainment was brought to a close.

Arvida Recreation Centre Officially Opened

(Above) The Recreation Centre at Arvida where the Inauguration Ceremonies were broadcast to the CBC French Network. (Lower left) "The Arvida Quartet", under the direction of Sylvestre White, who in their first appearance were heard over an entire network. (Centre) Private Leclair, whose ambition has been to sing on the air, realizes that ambition by singing with Allan McIver, a top-name band, on a provincial-wide network. (Lower right) The Slovak Choir, under the guidance of Marie-Louise Tremblay, the only organization of its kind in the Province, made their debut in this provincial-wide broadcast.

At impressive inaugural ceremonies recently held at Arvida, the new modern recreation centre built by the Aluminum Company of Canada, Limited, was officially handed over to the Arvida Athletic Association, Inc.

Designed by Fetherstonhaugh and Durnford, this centre is one of the finest in Canada. It contains an auditorium seating 500, a well-equipped stage and dressing rooms, reading, meeting and game rooms, a restaurant, bowling alleys, pool and billiard hall, curling rink and lounge, dressing rooms for hockey teams, and general skating, and a band room all fully equipped. It has a splendid public address system. Radio or programmes of records can be played throughout the building.

The Arvida Athletic Association, Inc., will now operate this community centre in the interests of the several thousand members who for 50¢ a year enjoy all the privileges of membership. The centre will be the focus for some 70 different community organizations, such as the Arvida Curling Club, the Arvida Concert Association, the Arvida Amateur Dramatic Society, the Arvida Bowling Club, etc.

Gaston Dufour is President of the Arvida Athletic Association. The centre is managed by Stanley Rough, Secretary of the Association, and widely known throughout Canada for his experience in sports and community organizations.

The opening ceremonies were broadcast over the French network for one hour, local talent supported by Allan McIver and a top name band. The occasion marked a number of 'firsts' in Arvida history. It was the first time that the Arvida quartet and the Slovak Choir sang on a provincial network, or for that matter on radio at all. Private Leclair of the local garrison realized a long standing ambition to sing on the air and did so splendidly for the first time with Allan McIver's band, the entire network as his audience.

Marcel Sylvain and Roger Baulu from the CBC announced the programme and interviewed a number of workers.

No Increase in Small Arms Ammunition

"Small arms ammunition supplies for civilian use can not be increased without jeopardizing dynamic war production," officials of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board state. This statement came in reply to pleas for more liberal distribution from dealers and individuals.

Small arms ammunition assumed the status of a rationed commodity five months ago. Since the demand has risen so sharply it has become a matter of concern how to make available the extremely short supply to cover essential needs. Present demand has eclipsed the 1939 figures by over 50 per cent.

Valleyfield to Send Clothing, etc., to Russia

During the past few weeks a campaign has been going on in Valleyfield, for the purpose of collecting all types of clothing, bedding, shoes, etc., to be sent to the Russians.

The campaign met with great success and all who were approached in the matter were very willing to do all they could to help. Much of the credit for the success of the campaign is due to a small group of English-speaking ladies, who carried it through.

Nine large cases of articles have been collected and will shortly be forwarded to Vancouver, from where they will be sent to Russia for distribution. The campaign was carried on under the auspices of the Canadian Aid to Russia committee at Valleyfield.

Water Wallowing ...

"Cleanliness is next to godliness", so the old saying goes—and cleanliness means soap and water. No rules have been set down so far to specify what quantities of either item are required to preserve a continuous state of hygienic perfection. In the matter of bodily cleanliness, however, His Majesty the King has a word to say. Five inches of water in the bottom of the bath tub is the limit for any member of the Royal Household, the Royal Command points out.

Canadians are inclined to acquatic recklessness. Except in times of drought in certain areas of the Dominion, there has seldom been any reason for conserving this commodity.

There is a reason now. Hot water requires the use of coal. Next winter, unless rigid conservation methods are adopted, there won't be enough coal available to supply all Canada's essential needs.

The thoughtful use of hot water will cut down coal consumption. Hot water taps turned off properly and leaks attended to promptly will help. Hands can be washed in a little water in the basin instead of under running water. The same applies to dishes. The amount in the washing machine should be watched. For a big wash keep to the high-water mark on the machine, to exceed it will strain your equipment anyway. For a small wash use only the quantity necessary.

Whenever and wherever hot water is used, cut down on the quantity, excessive use means coal "going down the drain."

CLIP THESE COAL TIPS

Clean Your Furnace

Before lighting a fire your furnace should be thoroughly cleaned and it should be kept clean. When burning soft coal, clean it once a week—for hard coal, once every two weeks. A 1/16 inch coating of soot on the furnace sections above the fire bed can waste up to one-third of your coal.

"You can't Stop Stoking a Steam Engine"

said Wrigley

Interviewed, and asked to what he attributed his phenomenal success, the late Mr. Wrigley, of chewing gum fame, replied, "To the consistent advertising of a good product".

"But", asked the reporter, "having captured practically the entire market, why continue to spend vast sums annually on advertising?"

Wrigley's reply was illuminating.

"Once having raised steam in an engine", he stated, "it requires continuous stoking to keep it up. Advertising stokes up business and keeps it running on a full head of steam".

Scouting Around

By Lorne Barnewall

V . . . B.P.

News Briefs From Valleyfield

Having arrived in Valleyfield a short while ago, and upon information received from Mr. E. R. Paterson of Montreal, Director of Training, Boy Scouts Association, I set about locating the whereabouts of the local Scout Troop.

Upon investigation, I found out that Rev. Botting, a very likeable man, acted in the capacity of Scoutmaster. After a brief discussion on Scouting in general, he approached me suggesting that I open up the Valleyfield Troop. This I did without hesitation.

At the stroke of 7.30 p.m. on Tuesday night of last week, seventeen bright and handsomelooking lads were on parade ready and eager for the meeting to commence.

After flag-break, Scout's Promise and silence, temporary or acting Patrol Leaders were picked to act as such for the evening, and they in turn chose their own patrol members. After this the boys took part in some very interesting games and exercises. They were of such a nature as to give strength and energy to all parts of the body. The games enabled the lads to not only use and train their brains, but also to give needed exercise to the finger joints and hands, as well as for the leg muscles in the running portion of the games. One of the games was a time limit idea. They had to calculate the length of time by any means but by a watch. The boy sitting down closest to the period of time given, was the victor and thus earned points for his patrol. Then the fellows went thru some exercises to strengthen all parts of the body. There were forward and backward somersaults, chinning the bar, tricks on the overhanging bar and metal loops, ending up with climbing thru a wooden loop. The flag was lowered, Scout Prayer said, and then dismiss. So ended the first meeting in the 1943-44 season for the 1st Valleyfield Troop.

Assisting me with the Valleyfield Troop is Burton Stewart, who is at the present time acting as my Assistant Scoutmaster.

The following is a list of the Scouts on parade the first night.

Eagle Patrol: Bill Baron, Hebert Winter, Melbourn Cronchaw, Victor Bartlett, Mickey Dent, Lawrence Cournoyer.

Beaver Patrol: Herbert Kershaw, Allan Crook, Walter Dent, Bobby McAvoy, Cyril Stretch, Gordon McQuaig.

Moose Patrol: John Cluff, Walter Baldwin, Raymond Murphy, Murray ——, Robert Winter.

To The 1st Huntingdon Troop

I have received some very nice letters from you Scouts up there in Huntingdon. Thanks also to Mr. Bickford, your Scoutmaster. I hope that your troop is now open and that it is going great guns. Best of luck to all my friends up there, and chins up. Let me hear more from you. I'm sure Billy Sandy will give you my address.

Nitro Troop

Went down to see if their meetings were started yet, but Scoutmaster was on holidays. Will try to give news of their activities if possible.

That's all for this week, hope to be around with the news for you next week. Good hunting and good scouting.—Chief.

LET'S BE DOING ...while we're planning

● Everybody is thinking a great deal about the future these days . . . planning . . . getting ready for the period to follow the war. All realize that the war may bring surprises—but the tide is turning in our favour.

Chemists and engineers, producing things needed for war, are making discoveries which will mean comforts and conveniences for all of us when peace comes. New methods of making things, new processes, new materials, now being filed away in blue prints and formulae, will bring us many new and useful articles. Many things not available now will be replaced by better models and designs.

You may have plans for a new home, remodelling your present home, new home furnishings. If you are a farmer you will need new and improved equipment and machinery.

Now, while you are thinking and planning, you can do something to insure that your plans can be carried out. Victory Bonds—which can be bought on convenient instalments, with money as you get it—provide a means of keeping your savings intact, earmarked for things you want.

Most Canadians are saving money. Most of us are buying Victory Bonds and when we buy Victory Bonds we are helping to win the war. We are helping to speed the day of victory and we are doing something that will benefit ourselves.

WHAT IS A VICTORY BOND?

A VICTORY BOND is the promise of the Dominion of Canada to repay in cash the face value of the Bond on the date of maturity with half-yearly interest until that time. A Victory Bond is the safest investment in Canada backed by the entire resources of the Dominion. Canada has been issuing bonds for 75 years, and has never failed to pay every dollar of principal and interest when due. A Victory Bond is an asset readily marketable at any time.

Aubrey-Riverfield

The annual chicken pie supper and sale of work of Riverfield Church, was held on Thursday evening. The evening was fine and a record crowd from far and near came to participate in the very excellent supper provided by the ladies, who had $170. clear for their evening's work.

A surprise party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ern. Reddick, on Tuesday evening, prior to their leaving for their new home in Howick. About forty-five friends and neighbours were present and the evening was pleasantly passed with 9 tables of progressive euchre. The prize winners were Mrs. Willis Craig and Mr. Wallace Craig whilst consolations went to Mrs. Robert Templeton and Mr. Jas. Angell. At the conclusion of the card games, refreshments were served, then Mr. Robert Templeton called the gathering to order, and in a few well chosen words spoke of the esteem in which Mr. and Mrs. Reddick were held and the social loss the concession would sustain in their removal. Harold Robertson, on behalf of those present, then presented them with a Trillight Lamp and table, to which gift, both Mr. and Mrs. Reddick suitably responded.

Toward Equal Educational Opportunity

The following article is taken from the monthly bulletin of the Quebec High School Principals' Association. It contains many points of interest and the suggestions if put into operation would tend to greatly improve the lot of pupils and teachers alike, as well as to relieve the burden on the taxpaying public.

Equal educational opportunity is one of the fundamental objectives of democratic society. For more than a generation state and educational leaders have worked steadily toward that goal and in some countries they have come within measurable distance of reaching it. In both the United States and the United Kingdom progress has been very encouraging and in Canada we have moved in step with our neighbours and kinsfolk. However, there is still an alarming disparity between the educational advantages offered in the various provinces and, even within the provincial borders, serious inequalities still exist.

Within our own province for example, there is a noticeable difference between the educational costs in cities and in rural districts. The city school is usually equipped with a gymnasium, a library and, frequently, a cafeteria. In spite of the recent efforts of the Department of Education these facilities are found in few rural schools, and even where they are, there is seldom the staff to ensure their use. Few schools outside the large cities have qualified physical instructors or librarians; none have facilities for operating a cafeteria.

These disparities are likely to be aggravated within the next year unless steps are taken immediately to improve rural salaries. Last July the assistance of the Provincial Government enabled the Central Board of Montreal to raise their maximum salaries in certain categories and to make other adjustments which will no doubt attract teachers from rural areas. Our Association naturally welcomes the improvement of the Montreal scale but at the same time it must view with alarm the inevitable sequel. If rural education is to be maintained at present standards of efficiency, equivalent aid must be forthcoming from the Government for rural schools.

This will be a year of adjustment after the encouraging reforms introduced at the last session of the Legislature. Compulsory attendance and the abolition of elementary school fees are steps that will remove some of the inequalities which formerly existed, and the provision of free text-books will also help in years to come. The Government will, of course, give compensation through larger grants and the influence of ours and kindred organizations must be used to persuade the authorities that the new scale of grants must be substantially higher.

Elsewhere, for example, in the State of New York, the government assumes almost the entire cost of buildings and of transportation and of the instructional costs on a per pupil basis. Here the usual grant for building is fifty percent; while the annual grants, in some schools at least, do not even pay the cost of transporting the pupils to school. Under these circumstances, with rural boards struggling to pay building and bus costs, is it any wonder that rural salaries are low?

Equal educational opportunity must depend on three factors: teachers of equal training and efficiency, buildings and equipment equally adequate, and the location of schools where they are as accessible as possible. Rural buildings are, for the most part, good and the equipment is now very modern, thanks to the help of the Department; assistance is, however, most urgently needed for improved transportation. But the most serious demand of the moment is grants to improve salaries. Let it not be said of our efforts, "Too little, too late."

Included in another part of the bulletin is the following: We offer our congratulations to C. N. Crutchfield on the award of an L.L.D. from the University of New Brunswick.

Valleyfield Council

The Canadian Legion requested the City of Valleyfield to accord them a grant in order to aid this association in organizing a Christmas Tree with gifts for children of soldiers on military service. In the letter, mention was made of the fact that His Honor the Mayor and the Controller of the City assisted at the ceremony last year and that a similar success would like to be realized again this year. The question was submitted to the Department of Finance.

The council authorized the transfer of two business licences: that of Mr. Alderic Poirer's bakery to Mr. Alcide Benoit, and Mrs. Alcide Benoit's rayon store, to Miss Fernande Peladeau.

The Valleyfield United Church on Dufferin, having suffered damages during the last inundation, compensation was claimed by its secretary, Mr. W. Shannon. This question was submitted to the Department of Finance.

The director of the Industrial School requested that wash-stands and drinking-fountains be installed in the new buildings of the school. This is a hygienic precaution of which the council is aware, and the installations will be made without delay.

The two resolutions received from the municipality of New Salaberry, regarding the joining of the sewer system with that of Valleyfield, was again discussed by the Council, also a letter from the Inspector of the Department of Hygiene, Dr. J. A. Patenaude, who recommends the necessity of this connection. A decision was taken to wait for the engineer's report on an inquiry into the possibility of permitting this project.

The Montreal Cottons Ltd. in answer to a request from the council, made known that the Company could not give a limited time in order to have pipes passed under the Ste. Charles Street Bridge, and to finish this bridge by filling in with earth. Facing such an answer the council was at a loss to know what could be done and a study as to what means can be taken to fill in this bridge, will be undertaken.

Married at St. Joseph's Church, Saturday

Mr. and Mrs. George Leraux as they left St. Joseph's Church, Huntingdon, Que., after their marriage on Saturday. Mrs. Leraux was formerly Miss Eileen Margaret O'Connor, eldest daughter of Mr. and and Mrs. Thomas O'Connor, of Huntingdon, Que. The groom is the eldest son of Mr. Ovila Leraux and the late Mrs. Leraux, of Valleyfield, Que.

Weddings

LERAUX—O'CONNOR

A very pretty wedding was solemnized at St. Joseph's Church, Huntingdon, on Saturday morning, at 8 a.m., when Eileen Margaret, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas O'Connor, of Huntingdon, was united in marriage to George Leraux, eldest son of Mr. Ovila Leraux and the late Mrs. Leraux of Valleyfield.

Rev. Fr. Pigeon performed the ceremony. Rev. Mother Saint Catherine of the Rosary, cousin of the bride, and Eileen Murphy, sang Schubert's "Ave Maria."

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a street length crepe suit of turquoise, with a shoulder length veil of tulle illusion, trimmed with Forget-me-nots and Baby's Breath, and carried a prayer book.

The groom was attended by his father. Mrs. O'Connor, the bride's mother, wore a suit of navy crepe with matching accessories, and a corsage of American Beauty roses.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, where breakfast was served to seventy guests.

Out of town guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Poirer, Lionel and Gilles Leraux, of Valleyfield; Mrs. Frank Lapointe, Margaret Lapointe, of Saranac; Mrs. Alex Beauchemin and children, Carl Walsh, John Boyle, all of Montreal; Pte. L. Ouimet, of Kingston; Mrs. George Jacques, Hilda and Gerald, Mr. and Mrs. W. Reardon, Michael Reardon, Mrs. O. Smith, of Bombay, N.Y.; Mr. and Mrs. Bourgault of Valleyfield; Robert Wells of Buffalo, N.Y.

Later the newly married couple left on a trip to Toronto and Niagara Falls, the bride travelling in a grey wool suit, with navy accessories.

On their return they will reside in Bellerive.

At the Movies

"Action in the North Atlantic"

"Action in the North Atlantic" is an admirable and thrilling account of the men who carry weapons to our fighting allies in pursuit of their trade and in the service of their country. It illustrates, in their fight against fire, submarine wolf packs and bombers, against fear and storms, the practical heroism of these men, their appreciation of the job to be done, and their relation to the whole Allied war effort.

A captain, his first mate, and part of the crew survive a torpedoing at sea and a week on an open raft before reaching port. Their respite is short, and they sign on a "Liberty" ship bound for Murmansk as part of a North Atlantic convoy. After a cautious voyage through mist and fog, they lose the convoy off Norway during a submarine attack, fight off several Nazi bombers and finally limp into port.

This is the essence of the simple narrative, a story which includes few obviously fictional elements, some touches of humor and pathos and a suggestion of romance. The primary purpose of realism is fully achieved in battles which carry the audience onto the ship, hunting lifeboats from flaming decks, tensing for torpedo attacks and breathing with relief when the Red Star is shown on planes overhead.

Jerry Wald, who produced the film, and Lloyd Bacon, who directed it, have kept in the foreground the action of Guy Gilpatric's story and John Howard Lawson's screenplay. Their scrupulous attention to detail is notable in the treatment of the convoy formation, a scene of unusual interest which stresses the international character of war operations.

At O'Connor Theatre, Sunday and Monday, October 3 and 4.

Fire Prevention Week

October 3-9

The week of October 3-9 has been set aside by Royal Proclamation as Fire Prevention Week for the purpose of impressing upon the public consciousness the enormous waste of life and property occasioned by fire and the means to be taken to reduce this tragic and unnecessary wastage.

When it is considered that Canada's loss by fire in 1942 was 304 lives and over $31,000,000 property damage, it is easily apparent that something must be done about it. Fire is a disease that annually saps our national wealth and every citizen should resolve to do his bit to wipe out this menace to our happiness and prosperity.

Every citizen can be a soldier in this campaign by simply being careful with fire, by disciplining himself in his smoking habits, by seeing that every fire hazard in his home, store or factory is removed and by knowing what to do should a fire start. Our soldiers, sailors and airmen are battling a grim enemy on far-away fronts. Let us battle that other enemy—the Fire Demon—on the "Home Front." We too can help to win the war by preventing fires. Every fire is small in its incipiency but it might easily reach the proportons of a conflagration. Our duty is to see that a fire does not start.

This week, in the press, over the radio, in theatres and from the platform, John Q. Citizen will be exhorted to use every care with fire, not only during Fire Prevention Week but every week in the year. It would be well for him to take this advice to heart and to make Canada a fire-safe country in which to live. We need only to call to mind two holocausts which have occurred during the past year in order to show the tragedy which can follow in the wake of fire. These are the Cocoanut Grove Night Club fire in Boston in which 491 people lost their lives, and the Knights of Columbus Hostel fire in St. John's, Newfoundland, in which 99 lives were snuffed out. We can't be too careful with fire.

Close To Death, Snores Happily

New York.—Passengers waiting on the platform of the 14th street subway station gulped when they saw a man's body lying between two tracks, trains whizzing by within a few inches of either side. Several men stopped the next train and jumped to the tracks to investigate. They found Max Rydcewski, 59, snoring blissfully—unhurt except for a minor bruise or two. He was sent to columbus hospital to finish his nap.

New Control of Employment In High Priority Industries

Minister of Labour Announces Further Employment Control Measures

Honourable Humphrey Mitchell, Minister of Labour, announces further control of employment in high priority industries.

The Government has, by Order in Council, provided that employers in "A" or "B" labour priorities may not release male employees without the written permission of a Selective Service Officer. Similarly, male employees in the same industries may not give notice of separation to their employers without first having secured the written permission of a Selective Service Officer.

"A" and "B" are the two highest priorities and include all war industries and essential civilian services, including the delivery of fuel in cities, food processing and meat packing plants and many other services.

Local Employment and Selective Service Offices will notify employers that they are in either "A" or "B" category, and immediately such notice is received by the employer, he will be required to post it for the information of the employees; the rule will then be effective in the particular plant.

For the present, female employees are not to be included in this further control.

Instructions being issued by National Selective Service Officers will permit of the issuance of the necessary permit to change employment, in cases where obvious hardship or unfairness would result from a refusal to grant permission.

"Many thousands of firms," the Minister of Labour explained, "fall in categories 'A' or 'B'. While every effort will be made to avoid imposing hardship on any individuals, the need of preventing avoidable labor turnover in industries highly important to the war effort is greater than ever, and the new rules are expected to give substantial assistance in that direction."

Hon. Mr. Mitchell further pointed out that the principles involved in the new regulation, before being approved by the Governor in Council, were carefully considered by the National Selective Service Advisory Board, and were unanimously approved by that Board. The Board has representation from organized labor, employers, farmers, returned soldiers, and Government departments.

The Minister concluded by saying: "The Order goes into effect September 20, 1943, and there will be no doubt in most plants as to whether the employment comes under the Order or not; however, in cases of doubt employers will be furnished the information by the local Employment and Selective Service office."

The standard penalties, contained in National Selective Service Civilian Regulations, will apply in the case of failure to comply with the new regulation regarding separation from employment in categories "A" and "B".

The new control on employment in "A" and "B" priorities does not constitute any interference with men joining the Armed Forces voluntarily, nor with men required to report for medical examination or military training under Mobilization Regulations.

Message on Nickels

The new nickels (which contains little or no nickel) are becoming fairly common, but how many people have noticed that there is a message in Morse code around the inside of the edge of one side.

This was brought to the attention of the editor of the Leader-Mail by Mr. A. Anderson, of Richford, Vt., guest speaker at the Kiwanis club last week, who was anxious to know what it meant.

With the aid of a magnifying glass and a code, the message was finally deciphered, and to save others the trouble of figuring it out here is what is on the edge of the new nickels,

"WE WIN WHEN WE WORK WILLINGLY." —Granby Leader-Mail.

Fruit Stains

A good general rule for all fruit stains on fabric is to stretch the spot over a bowl or vessel and pour boiling water through it (the water must be actually boiling at the time). If the goods have been previously washed, or the stain is an old one, this method will likely fail.

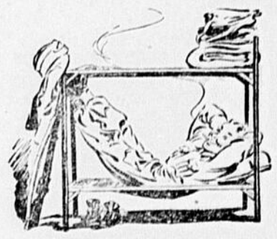

Yellowed Ivory

If the ivory toilet articles have yellowed somewhat, wash them with white soap and water and place while wet in the sunshine. Keep wetting them with the soapy water several times during the day and allowing them to dry in the sun. Continue this treatment for several days. Then rinse, and the ivory will be white again.

Printing on Flour Sacks

Printing can be removed from flour sacks by covering the bags with kerosene and allowing them to stand for 24 hours. Then cover them with cold water and naphtha soap cut up fine, bringing to boil and boil for 20 minutes. Follow this by washing on a washboard. If the color is not all out, put into cold water naphtha soap, and a little kerosene, and boil again.

LET'S ALL DO MORE TO WIN THE WAR

BEFORE THE WAR: George didn't care how much coal he used or wasted—there was plenty of it. He never sifted ashes—always kept his home like a hot-house.

TODAY: Coal is precious. It is needed to keep our war industries working at top speed. George is helping by using less coal at home.

THE MORE WE'RE IN IT THE QUICKER WE'LL WIN IT!

It is our duty to save coal. There are several ways we can do it. Clean stove pipes and furnaces thoroughly—weather-strip windows and doors—sift ashes carefully—keep the house cooler—don't neglect the fire, lighting and relighting wastes coal. Sacrifice a little comfort—our boys overseas are sacrificing plenty. Every shovelful of coal we save makes it hotter for Hitler!

Miss Hazel Henderson, of Montreal, is spending a few days at the home of her mother, Mrs. Lillie Henderson.

Mr. and Mrs. Sam Herdman and Mrs. Mary Flynn have been recent guests of Misses Mary and Agnes Walsh, in Montreal. On returning home they were accompanied by Mr. Jack Flynn who was a patient in the Royal Victoria hospital, where he underwent an operation on his eye.

Many from this district attended the funeral of the late Flt. Sg. Sanley McHardy, which was held in the Powerscourt United Church, on Sunday afternoon. The sympathy of this community is extended to Mr. and Mrs. W. McHardy and family, in the loss of a son and brother.

Master John Dawson was the Saturday guest of his friends, Jimmie Bratten and Sonny Ayasse.

Miss Bertha McGinn, who has been working in St. Mary's Hospital, Montreal, for the past month has returned to the home of her sister, Mrs. Mary Flynn.

The following are a few notes taken from a letter received by Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Anderson from their son Gunner Don Anderson who is serving with the Canadian Armed forces in Italy: Well dears I have received no mail since the 30th of June. Malaria and Sand-fly fever are quite prevalent here but so far I have kept ahead of it. It may be quite interesting for you to know I was called before the Major the other day and am to receive a stripe in a couple of days. I don't mind taking it now that we are seeing action. You see there is not the pettiness and meanness about stripes here. After a chap has almost met his maker for a few times he begins to realize that his comrads are also his equal. In sending a parcel please inclose shaving cream, tooth paste, soap and razor blades as the supply is very limited here also some sweets would go good. Everything is going fine so chins up. Your Don.

Mrs. Shaw of the Red Cross visited the different schools in this district this past week.

Clothespins

Soak new clothespins for about a half hour in a vessel of boiling water, to which is added a little baking soda. They will not break as readily. Rinse in cold water and allow to dry in the sun.

Washing Glassware

Be careful, when washing glassware not to put it into very hot water bottom first, as it may crack from the sudden expansion. The delicate glasses can be safely washed in very hot water if they are slipped in edgewise.

Ottawa

Written specially for the Weekly Newspapers of Canada
(By Jim Greenblat)

This column, which goes out to far and hindermost reaches of Canada, feels it cannot over-emphasize the appeal to the "small investor" to think of the contribution he or she is going to, or should, make to the forthcoming Fifth Victory Loan. Everywhere, in all the towns and villages—they tell me at headquarters here—great preparations are being made by local committees to top local objectives. You know the fellows—your banker, your baker, your merchant, your school teacher, your farm community leader, your ordinary guy working behind the counter, will be appealing to you to "Speed Victory." The hundreds of releases which go through this office from army, navy and airforce, telling in piecemeal of the epic deeds, the sacrifices of your boys over there impels me to keep this subject "hot" before you and to try and convey the idea of the tremendous urgency of sending your spare dollars to strengthen muscles of our war effort.

Our producers in Canada will be a fundamental of any post-war economies, national and international. The coal miner, the farmer, the fisherman, the fruit grower, have a job ahead. This was pointed out in Ottawa in speeches before clubs made this week by a distinguished visitor, William Mabane, M.P., parliamentary secretary to the British Minister of Food, Lord Woolton. He emphasized that our task to produce food stuffs will be one of the greatest in history, because Europe right now is in a "state of nutritional exhaustion." He was sure our post-war problem would not be surpluses, but maybe shortages in such things as we produce in this country; meats, dairy products, fats and oils. Another interesting point he made—and I must boil these down to space—that out of every $10 worth of food bought in Britain $9.50 is controlled. Price stabilization is fundamental to the British system of food control.

A former weekly newspaper man, now associate editor of publications for the Boy Scouts Association of Canada, Bert Mortlock, came to this office the other day and mentioned a little thing he'd like a "plug" on nationally. That's "Apple Day" carried out by the Scouts in communities across the country at various dates next month. A hundred thousand strong, the Boy Scouts seek to raise money for summer camp equipment, a hundred and one other activities. It's not a little thing, but a big one. These are the boys whom we'll depend on to "Carry on, Canada" when the still visionary days of peace come; our future citizens, workers, business men, statesmen. Sure, the folks aren't going to turn the Scouts down on Apple Day in any community.

Items you may have missed: Total of all grains marketed during the 1942-43 crop year was 486,823,292 bushels, an increase of 192,968,720 over the previous crop year . . . Christmas trees supply will be short owing to transportation and manpower exigencies. Even the type of twine used for binding them is in short supply. Maybe folks will have to improvise as in other things . . . Don't start construction of a dwelling or other project without a license, warns Munitions Minister Howe. Because of the scarcity of materials a policy of drastic curtailment is now in effect . . . Present personnel of the Canadian Navy, including some 3,700 Wrens, is about 70,000 officers and men; it was less than 2,000 when war began . . . A full blooded Micmac Indian, Clarence Glode of Digby County, was working on the new Tribal destroyer "Micmac" as a rivet heater . . . the boat was launched Sept. 18 at Halifax . . . Besides politicians Ottawa is beginning to be famous for former world boxing champions; the second to appear here in as many weeks as a referee is Jack Sharkey . . . Answering an urgent appeal nearly 600 Ottawa women, including some grandmothers registered here one night in the registration of half-day help for the Civil Service . . . The R.C.A.F. has expanded from a personnel of 4,000 before the war to 200,000 now.

One of the greatest of all discoveries in bacteria killing drugs, penicillin, a miracle for war wounds, and which will also be invaluable in peacetime, is to be produced in Toronto and Montreal in Dominion government financed plants, employing 250 men and women. The initial contract is for 26 billion units largest single order for medical supplies placed by Munitions department. The plants will be in operation by February, 1944 and by mid-April a weekly average production of 500 million units is expected. Penicillin has certain qualities superior to sulfa drugs. It is produced through growth of a mould, similar to that you'll find on cheese. When you hear of billions of units, don't think there will be enough right away to serve all humanity, I am told that in difficult cases it takes between two and three million units of penicillin, so figure it out that way.

There are three or four fundamentals in the recently announced plan for the reorganization of the operational formation of the Canadian Army in Canada. There will be no let-up or modification in the Overseas programme. All men fit for combat service are retained in the Army. Many of those who are medically unfit or overage for combat duty will be transferred to highly important but less active duties in the various units which are necessary for the support and training and servicing and supplying of operational forces. Those in still lower medical categories or otherwise unsuitable for service in less active roles with the Army will be discharged and made available for essential war work in civilian capacities. "Disbanding" the 7th, 8th and part of the 6th Divisions does not mean that Canada will be without defences for her two coasts. Far from it. The places of the Divisions will be taken by hard-hitting, more compact, brigade groups. There will be fewer men doing the coastal defence job, but owing to the elimination of the medically unfit, the smaller units should be, man for man, more efficient. It is also important to keep in mind that the reduction in size of the operational units is the result of the improved stragetic situation.

The possibility of an enemy invasion of this continent—which was very real for a while when the Japs were occupying Kiska, for example—is now once more regarded as remote.

Interesting note to farmers: A ton of timothy hay contains about 18 pounds of nitrogen, 6½ pounds of phosphoric acid, and around 30 lbs. of potash. This is rather more than would be returned to the land by a ton of ordinary green farmyard manure. If no fertilizers were applied, continuous crops of timothy would rapidly deplete the soil, the same is true in a genearl way of other grasses, the Department of Agriculture states.

The Y.P. of St. Paul's United Church met on Friday evening, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Huntley Greig. Thirty-five were present. Mr. Howard Reid had charge of the programme. The guest speaker was Rev. Kenneth Woodwark, of Howick, who gave an interesting talk on "What Do You Think?" Mr. Ewen McDougall moved a vote of thanks to Mr. Woodwark for his interesting and inspiring talk. During the discussion period the matter of the Society taking some part in the appeal for blood donors for soldiers was brought up. Many of the members volunteered for this very worthy cause. After the meeting games were played. Later a "Corn Boil" was enjoyed along with buns and coffee. Mr. Cameron Bryson then moved a vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Greig for the use of their home for the meeting. The meeting closed by singing "For they are jolly good fellows."

Miss Betty Taylor of Montreal, spent Saturday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Taylor.

Mr. John Taylor of Montreal, spent the week-end at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. John Farquhar of Fort Covington, called on friends in Rockburn and vicinity recently.

Mrs. Pitt and Mr. H. Pitt of Montreal, were visitors Sunday at the home of Miss Jamieson.

Mrs. Pollock is visiting her daughter in Montreal, for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Douglas spent the week-end with friends in Ormstown.

Mr. Raymond Rennie was home for the week-end.

Before leaving for his new pastorate, Rev. and Mrs. W. H. Brown were presented with a purse of money from their congregation with all best wishes for their future.

Week at Ottawa ...

There will have to be at the same time complementary measures to bring into essential industry all labour still available, in the country. The admirable part already played by women in the industrial effort can, for example, still be broadened.

Coincident with the announcement that newspaper employees are among the "frozen" labour categories, has come word of the newsprint problem which is now under review. Labour shortage in the bush has curtailed the production of pulpwood and British American and Canadian newspapers have to be kept going. Canadian mills because of the spruce resources provide newsprint for three out of every four sheets used in newspapers, magazines and other publications in the United States. A reduction of 5 per cent has been ordered in the size of American publications, but that has not solved the question for the future. It is one of the "headaches" of selective service to get an adequate number of men for bush operations. Some prisoners of war are being used but even if more are sent to the bush, it isn't the entire answer to the problem.

Store Garden Vegetables for Winter Use and Vital Nutrition

THE STORAGE ROOM

A portion of the basement or cellar of any house may be adapted to the purpose of a storage room. This space should be selected in that portion of the basement which provides a double window leading directly outside, thus permitting the intake of fresh air and the escape of foul or stale air.

An earth floor is conceded to be the most satisfactory, but where concrete exists a covering of sand is recommended with an occasional sprinkling of water to maintain the humidity or moisture content of the air.

Partitions dividing the storeroom from the rest of the basement should be sheathed with lumber on both sides of the studding; good insulation is obtained by filling the partition space between the sheathing with dry sawdust, peat, or mill shavings.

A well-made and close-fitting door is essential, which when provided with a door stop permits temperatures to be regulated during sub-zero periods.

The containers for the vegetables should be constructed against the outside wall where cooler conditions exist, and these containers should have slatted sides and bottom to provide for ventilation. If possible, construction should be in a collapsible manner to facilitate cleaning.

Whitewash used on the walls makes for a sanitary room, and annually a solution of approximately ¼ lb. of copper sulphate to 1 gallon of water can be used as a cleanser and disinfectant. A good thermometer should be installed in every storage room.

SELECTION OF SPECIMENS

All fruit and vegetables selected for Winter storage should be well grown, fully mature and free from damage caused by insects, disease, rough handling, mechanical injury, freezing and chilling. Great care must be exercised in grading and sorting the produce, to eliminate decayed or partly decayed specimens.

It is essential that all specimens be thoroughly dry and clean, since moisture allowed to remain on produce induces decay. During the storage period produce should be sorted regularly and defective specimens completely removed from the storage room, since refuse which is allowed to remain causes the contamination of sound stock.

STORING POTATOES

Digging

Potatoes should be dug in fine weather if possible, and allowed to thoroughly dry before storing. Potatoes in a wet condition are very subject to decay. During the digging and drying process care should be taken to avoid damage from frost and chilling winds.

Position In Storage

Potatoes are best placed in a dark portion of the room, as light adversely affects the quality.

Ventilation

Potatoes are best stored in crates, but when placed in piles or in bulk they should rest on a false floor, and against the wall upon which slats or racks have been nailed. Upright ventilators should be placed every few feet in the pile, and are made by nailing three 6" boards together to form a V-shaped trough in which 1" holes have been bored for air circulation. Such piles should not be more than 5 feet high.

Insufficient ventilation tends toward the development of breakdown, button rot or blackheart. The accumulation of excess moisture encourages moulds and fungus diseases.

Temperatures

Potatoes freeze at 29°, but will chill and sweeten if stored below 35°. Sprouting and wilting are induced at 41° or over, which indicates that 36° to 40° F. is the most satisfactory storage temperature for potatoes.

STORING CAULIFLOWER

Preparation For Storage

Cauliflower may be stored for a considerable time by lifting each plant with root attached, leaves tied up over the head, and planting close together in moist sand or soil on the storage floor. If late plants are available they will keep in this manner until January or early in February.

It has been found that cauliflower cut slightly before reaching full maturity will keep better than fully matured heads.

Temperatures

Temperatures of 33° to 40°F. have been found to be the most satisfactory for cauliflower. Livingroom temperature causes the surface of the head to harden, turn brown, and become loose within a few days.

STORING TOMATOES

Selection Of Specimens

Tomatoes picked in a mature green condition will keep for a relatively long period under satisfactory storage conditions. Such green tomatoes must be sound and free from growth cracks, skin punctures, insect and freezing injury.

Method Of Storing

Each green tomato should be individually wrapped in paper (newspaper will do) and placed in a closed box or drawer.

Another method is to pull the vine before any signs of frost injury are apparent, and suspend the entire vine from the ceiling of the storeroom.

Temperatures

Tomatoes stored in the above-mentioned manner should be maintained at a temperature of about 50°, and under favourable conditions will continue to ripen until Christmas.

STORING BEETS, CARROTS, PARSNIPS, TURNIPS

These roots may be stored in a manner similar to potatoes, since they require the same relative temperature range, 33° to 38°F. and humidity. To avoid loss of crispness through evaporation, cover with sand. The storage humidity and condition of the roots should determine if and when the sand should be kept dry or slightly moist. If shrinking or shrivelling is evidenced, the sand should be moistened.

If boxes are used as storage containers, place a thin layer of sand at the bottom of each container and fill with the alternate layers of vegetables and sand. If such roots are piled in heaps on the floor a covering of sand should be sufficient.

When drying beets for storage, twist tops off instead of cutting with a knife, as the latter method causes bleeding and results in loss of colour and often decay.

"Churchevelts" Nazi Name For Allied High Command

London.—The German radio, continuing to brag over the release of Benito Mussolini, coined a new name for President Roosevelt and Prime Minister Churchill.

In one breath a Berlin announcer referred to them as "Churchevelts," declaring in an English language broadcast:

"Before the Churchevelts had even half recovered from their astonishment, Germany's daring troops had snatched Mussolini away to safety."

WARRIOR LEADERS

The Quebec conference has brought much speculation about many things, particularly the decisions about the ultimate course of the war. But what cannot be known until events unfold. About the only thing we know is that the old Imperialism is still recognized in the appointment of Lord Louis Mountbatten to supreme command n East Asia. To the well-informed the appointment came as no surprise.

There can be little doubt the new commander will make his presence and abilities felt in that theatre. And there is little doubt that the United Nations have plenty of high class leaders available for the task ahead. But the United Nations is a relative term. Of the 26 or 28 nations more or less linked together, only about four are effectives. The British Commonwealth, Russia, the U.S.A., and China. And these, at the moment, seem none too well united. Russia shows disaffection, with apparently good cause. It's time something more than a Quebec conference was held.

The warrior leaders ought to get together. They have enough in common to resolve all their differences. They could meet somewhere around the head of the Mediterranean, or better still, in Russia. Who are they? Stalin has been a bandit and a warrior most of his life. Churchill has fought in most wars since he first battled in Cuba. Roosevelt was in the navy in the last war. Chiang-Kai-Shek has fought for years almost alone. And General Smuts of South Africa has a record second to none. All are heads of governments. All are hard bitten realists with fighting backgrounds. Let them then get together and stop all this conjecture and these misunderstandings.—Canadian Statesman.

Revised Rental Order Effective October First

Revisions in wartime rental regulations regarding housing accommodation will become effective throughout Canada on October 1, it is announced by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

The revised order maintains the ceiling on rents but clarifies certain points and simplifies procedures, based on the 18 months' experience in national rent control.

The revised order provides that the application for an increase in rent is generally limited to situations where the tenant is receiving more value for his rent than he was on the basic date. It also provides that tenants have cause for a decrease in rent if there has been a lessening of services, furniture or equipment.

Persons on a weekly tenancy of self-contained units are now given the same protection as those on monthly or yearly tenancies, by provision of the revised order.

Coal Waste High During Fall Months

It's going to be a long, hard winter. Those cold-blooded individuals who are tempted to light up their furnaces these Fall mornings, should remember that it's going to get a lot colder before it becomes warmer. That precious store of coal will be more welcome and certainly come in handy next January.

Heating engineers have pointed out that more fuel is wasted in the early Spring and Fall than at any other time of the year. If the furnace is lighted on a cool morning, chances are that by noon the house seems more like a Turkish bath and windows and doors have to be opened wide to cool it off.

It has been estimated that half a million tons of coal are burned in Canadian homes during the last two weeks in September. If a large proportion of this coal could be saved, it would go a long way towards easing the current situation.

Here are a few tips from heating engineers that will help Canadians save their coal during Autumn days:

Instead of lighting the furnace, use the fireplace to take the chill off the house. In the rural districts, a good fire in the kitchen stove, with the doors left open throughout the house, should do the trick.

When sitting around the house in the evening, wear warmer clothes. An extra sweater now will save coal for later on.

If the furnace must be lighted, fill half the fire bed with bricks, then build the fire in the other half. This will cut the amount of coal used by half.

Minus Goosestep Africa Corps Clears Land For Uncle Sam

Former members of Hitler's crack Africa Corps, captured in North Africa, have substituted cross-cut saws for rifles and an axeman's swing for the goosestep as they help clear land for the Denison dam reservoir in first war prisoner project of its type in the United States.

These youthful German soldiers in keeping with the international law which the United States is observing to the letter, are contributing to the American way they set out to destroy. Their use is necessary because sufficient labour is otherwise not available to clear land in the dam basin ahead of the water, due to start rising in June.

Under international law, non-commissioned prisoners of war must work and are paid accordingly. Those in the clearing camp volunteered to work before being brought in Their pay, according to agreement, is 80 cents a day. Each prisoner is allowed 10 cents a day in canteen credits for purchases at the canteen. Allowances will be repaid by the German Government after the war.

They work a five-day, 48-hour week. After adjusting themselves to the routine, their work will be the same done by regularly hired workmen elsewhere in the reservoir area.

When the prisoners computed their pay in terms of German marks and discovered it compared favorably with what they drew while gambling with death in Hitler's regiments they were happier about the whole thing. They get half their money in coupons, good for purchases at the camp canteen, and the rest is saved for them until after the war.

The demeanor of these captured fighters may have a far-reaching influence on an internment program certain to expand as the war progresses. They appear resigned to making the most of the situation.

Thus far there has been no untoward incident, and no threat of any sort.

Their background of intense military training makes for good workmen. Guards concede them to be "beautifully trained" soldiers.

The nearest "beef" from the prisoners was about their camp garb, with "P.W.", for prisoner of war, in large red letters across the seats of trousers and backs of jumpers. They took it in better spirit, however, when told they would be allowed to wear their German uniforms on Sundays, if they earned the privilege.

Discipline is enforced in part through non-commissioned officers of their own group. Within their compound they carry on a community life with songfests, games and other recreation.

May day was celebrated in traditional German custom. A flower wreath, bedecked with doll-like figures, was mounted high in a small tree within the compound amid a ritual of dances and song.

Their German commander made them a speech, pointing out that they were being treated well and urging co-operative behavior. Then he had them march in review.

Their songs are German except for one: "The Lambeth Walk."

Vigilance of the guards is never relaxed. In the field, guards are assigned on the basis of one to every eight prisoners. They must keep 15 feet from their group as a safety measure, and are not permitted to talk with the prisoners.

An estimated 10 percent of the Germans speak English, a few fluently.

Along with the singing, athletics of the calisthenics variety are a principal diversion. The prisoners are near fanatic on physical culture, which can be traced to the Nazi emphasis on body building in its youth programme. This, too, explains the sale of less tobacco than expected at the camp canteen, and the prisoners' preference for milk to beer.

Sharp Decrease In 1943 Grain Crop

Wheat production for 1943 is preliminarily estimated at 296,250,000 bushels, or about half the 1942 crop of 592,684,000 bushels. Production of oats in 1943 is estimated at 499,609,000 bushels, a reduction of about 152,000,000 bushels from the yield of 651,954,000 bushels in 1942. The Prairie Provinces produced 93,000,000 bushels of oats less than in 1942.

The barley crop is placed at 222,655,000 bushels, which is about 36,500,000 bushels less than the 1942 crop. Western Canada accounted for 30,000,000 bushels of the total comparative decrease. Rye production, estimated at 8,478,000 bushels in 1943, is only about one-third of the 1942 crop, but the reduction is due more to the sharp curtailment of acreage than to lower yield per acre.

Ontario and Quebec have made relatively the poorest showing in the production of coarse grains in 1943, particularly with respect to oats. The two provinces in 1942 produced approximately 135,000,000 bushels of oats, but the first estimate for 1943 indicates a combined crop of about only 75,000,000 bushels. Ontario is also well down in the production of barley with an indicated crop in 1943 of 6,417,000 bushels compared with 12,179,000 bushels harvested in 1942. Ontario and Quebec are in a worse position than in 1941 when the Dominion Government introduced the Freight Assistance Policy to make Western feed grains available to live-stock producers in Eastern Canada.

In the Western Provinces, the smaller feed grain crops of 1943 are backed up by fairly substantial stocks of old crop, much of which was carried over on the farms, but some areas which suffered from drought in 1943 and have large numbers of live stock to feed may have to draw on outside supplies during the coming year.

Some Helpful Hints ...

The Skin

The face, neck, arms and hands will be softer and whiter if a mixture of a little raw cornmeal and sour milk is applied.

-o-

Paper Labels

To remove paper labels from bottles or jars, wet the face of the labels thoroughly with water and then heat near a flame or stove.

-o-

Driving Nails

To drive a nail or screw without splitting the wood first push the nail or screw through hard soap, or dip it in melted paraffin.

-o-

Nerves

If the nerves are tired, try placing a hot water bottle at the base of the spine. This is also an excellent remedy for insomnia.

-o-

Eyeglass Screws

The use of a small steel pen for tightening the tiny screws in eyeglasses will answer the purpose as well as a screw-driver.

-o-

Molasses

Before measuring molasses, grease the cup lightly, or dip it full of flour then empty it; if this is done, every drop of molasses will come out of the measuring cup.

-o-

Rubber Articles

Soft rubber articles can be preserved if they are suspended several inches above a dish in which a small quantity of kerosene is placed. The vapor arising will prevent cracking without harming the rubber.

-o-

The Coffee

Try keeping a cork in the spout of the coffee pot and see how much better the aroma of the coffee is retained.

-o-

Water Melon Stain

To remove water melon stains from linen, apply pure gylcerin to the spot, allow it to remain for a few minutes, then wash.

-o-

Cake Frosting

One-half teaspoon of almond extract with one teaspoon of orange juice in a boiled frosting is a delicious and novel change for cake icing.

-o-

Tender Feet

Nothing is better for tender feet than a cold water bath. Follow by rubbing briskly with either alcohol or olive oil, and then dust wih talcum powder.

-o-

Ferns

Sometimes a fern that is thought to be dead can be revived by standing the pot in a tub of hot water for about an hour or until the water becomes cool.

-o-

Brown Marks

The brown marks on dishes caused by baking in the oven, can be removed if they are rubbed with damp salt; then wash off and repeat the process if necessary.

-o-

Black Silk

Black silk can be cleaned by brushing well laying on a flat table, right side up, and sponging with hot coffee which has been strained, through muslin. Iron when partly dry.

-o-

Shoes

To preserve shoes apply several coats of copal varnish to the soles and vamps. The shoes will seldom have to be half-soled, and is particularly good for children's shoes.

-o-

Flower Pots

To make unsightly flower pots attractive cover them with two or three thicknesses of paraffin paper, then a layer of crepe tissue paper. The paraffin paper prevents the moisture from coming through.

-o-

Hard Water

To soften water that is hard, add one quart of lime-water to every ten quarts of the water.

-o-

Lemon Juice Dressing

To prepare lemon juice dressing, make it the same as French dressing, except that lemon juice is used instead of vinegar.

Sugary Jam

To make hard and sugary jam almost as good as ever, place it in the oven until the sugar melts, then take out and allow to cool.

Farm Cash Income At High Point

Cash income from the sale of farm products in Canada for the first six months of 1943 is estimated preliminarily at $538.3 million, compared with $428.7 million in the corresponding period of 1942, and $356.8 million in 1941. The 1943 increase was common to all provinces except Ontario, and was most marked in the Prairie Provinces where substantial sales of wheat and other grains were made from the large 1942 crop. The greatest increase in 1943 was in Saskatchewan which was the only province recording a decline in the first six months of 1942 as compared with 1941. Increases in farm cash income occurred in all three Maritime Provinces, Quebec, and British Columbia, although the change in Nova Scotia was of a minor nature.

Income from the sales of wheat increased substantially from the relatively low figure of 1942, but the greatest percentage increase occurred in the receipts from marketings of oats and barley. For Canada as a whole, receipts from the sale of oats amounted to $27 million in the first half of 1943, compared with only $6.3 million in the corresponding period of 1942. The sale of barley increased from $4.3 million for the six months of 1942 to $19.6 million in 1943. Other substantial increases were recorded in income from the sale of hogs and dairy products, the income from the sale of hogs totalling $106.2 millions for the 6 months, and $110.3 million from dairy products.
