BRITISH SEEK TO PACIFY FRENCH OPINION ON LATEST NAVAL PACT

Captain Anthony Eden Opens Negotiations with French Cabinet in Effort to Create a Peace System for Europe—British Maintain Anglo-German Naval Accord Is Tangible Start Toward a Universal Agreement on Armaments, Maintaining New Agreements Must Be Made to Replace Obsolete Ones.

Paris, June 21.—Premier Pierre Laval told Captain Anthony Eden, of Great Britain, today that France was dissatisfied with the Anglo-German navy agreement and their conversation was interrupted in the middle of the afternoon.

The Premier avoided anything approaching an open breach, but "renewed" the French note and "renewed his reservations" regarding the accord by which Great Britain granted Germany a fleet thirty-five per cent. as large as her own.

French protests that the British had scrapped the Washington and Versailles treaties and had broken the common allied front by according Germany a big fleet were met by Captain Eden's explanation that the Anglo-German naval accord is a tangible start toward a universal agreement on armaments.

Premier Laval and Francois Pietri, Minister of Marine, after appearing before the Chamber of Deputies' naval committee this afternoon, were to get down to brass tacks with Captain Eden on a four-point programme to be discussed during his two-day visit.

The programme is: 1—Airpacts; 2—An Eastern European securities system; 3—A Danubian accord; and 4—The Ethiopian problem.

The main air pact difficulty is a determination of methods for making it automatically and instantly effective in case of an attack and of methods for keeping a check on the various air fleets.

Premier Laval was understood to be reluctant to accept the British programme without a good deal of discussion, since he is said to feel that the French were left out in the cold when the British made their recent separate deal with Germany on a navy.

France, openly annoyed at Britain's separate naval agreement with Germany, met Eden's explanations in advance by scrapping all limitations on her navy.

RETIRES FROM FIELD OF ACTIVE POLITICS

The Liberal party will lose the services of one of its strongest men with the retirement of Hon. J. L. Ralston, former Minister of Defence and chief financial critic of the Liberal Opposition at Ottawa. Pressure of private law practice is the reason for his retirement from the political field.

NEW PLOT AGAINST LIFE OF U. S. AMBASSADOR

Havana, June 21.—A new plot against the life of United States Ambassador Jefferson Caffery was reported discovered by Cuban secret service agents yesterday. Cayetano Fraga, chief of the secret police, did not make public details of the alleged plot and there was no comment from the United States Embassy.

GOLD NATIONS STEM ATTACKS ON CURRENCIES

Confidence Apparently Being Restored in France and Switzerland Following Series of Speculative Attacks on Currencies.

Paris, June 21.—France and Switzerland, Bulwarks of the European gold bloc, today appeared to have turned back, for the moment at least, onslaughts of speculators on their currencies.

The Bank of France yesterday reported recovering from a gold drain that caused an acute political crisis resulting in the fall of Pierre-Etienne Flandin's Government and eventual constitution of the Pierre Laval ministry which was pledged to save the franc.

The bank raised its discount rate from six to five per cent. yesterday and reported the return during the week ended June 14 of 28,000,000 francs in gold. At the same time the Government let it be known the war against speculators would be continued. Officials of Tumin and Company, a private bank that closed on May 30, were indicted on charges of "Attacking the Government credit."

Simultaneously Finance Minister Meyer reported at Bern that the National Bank of Switzerland held gold stocks of 1,163,000,000 francs, representing currency coverage of ninety-three per cent., and said the Swiss franc had weathered the speculative storm.

Quebec, June 21.—Charged with making sausages with horse meat, a butcher was arrested here yesterday.

SENATE DELAYS NEW ROOSEVELT TAXATION PLAN

President's "Share-the-Wealth" Plan Meets Snag as Senate Finance Committee Refuses Immediate Action.

Washington, June 21.—With the Senate Finance Committee refusing to incorporate a series of wider distribution of wealth amendments, favored by President Roosevelt, to a House-approved bill extending $500,000,000 in ruseance taxes, the administration's tax hammer to break up huge fortunes was held back yesterday.

As observers began assessing political and financial reactions to the move for higher taxes on large individual and corporation incomes, and new levies on inheritances, Democratic leaders were divided as to the practicability of obtaining action before the summer adjournment. The general impression was that, under existing conditions, it would go over until next winter.

One report that went unverified was that President Roosevelt would send a letter to Chairman Pat Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, of the Senate Finance Committee, in a day or two, informing him the new programme was not necessarily for immediate consideration.

Senator Robert La Follette, Republican, Wisconsin, who offered the new levies to the committee, said he would renew his efforts on the floor, and Senator Huey Long, Democrat, Louisiana, advocate of more extreme share-the-wealth taxes, said he would fight for them to "put them in the administration's pocket."

Harrison said sentiment of the Committee was that no new levies should be tacked on the nuisance resolution, and that the President also was opposed to holding up the legislation for that purpose. The Mississippi expressed the belief the new tax programme would take too long to formulate to get it through this session.

Utmost caution characterized the reaction of Wall Street to the plan. The inheritance tax proposal was viewed by some as interesting, in regard to the recommendation that revenues from it be segregated to apply against the National Debt. Others saw in it just another effort "to soak the rich."

Higher levies on large corporations with a maximum of 16 2/3 per cent., as against the present flat 13 1/2 per cent., were received doubtfully. It was pointed out in many quarters that taxes on some industries, especially railroads and public utility companies, already were extremely high. An addition to the burden was believed in many quarters as likely further to restrict corporate expansion.

Rev. Charles E. Coughlin of Detroit, commenting on the President's proposals, said it was "a very fine move" if the President will just carry it out and Congress will co-operate in passing it.

NEW BRUNSWICK ELECTORS HEAR ORATORY WAVE

Straight Fights Between Liberals and Conservatives in All Counties but One Feature of New Brunswick Election Campaign.

Saint John, N.B., June 21.—Nominations having been officially declared yesterday, ninety-eight candidates prepared today to show further reasons why they should be elected to New Brunswick's Legislature next Thursday.

The record of Premier L. P. D. Tilley's Government was assailed and defended after the formal nomination proceedings as opposing candidates talked from the same platform. A. A. Dymally, leading the Liberal forces, was in his own constituency of Kent while the Premier, nominated in Saint John City, spoke at Campbellton.

New Brunswick, "with its credit unimpaired and its bonds selling at a high figure," weathered the economic stress of the past few years as well as any Canadian province, Hon. G. H. I. Cockburn, President of the Executive Council, told electors at St. Andrews.

Campaigning in Victoria, F. W. Pirie, Liberal, laid particular emphasis on one plank of the Opposition platform. His party, if elected, would establish cold storage plants for agricultural products, as well as butter and cheese factories, where farmers could store their produce pending its sale.

One of the counties to observe the old custom of debating nominations was Madawaska, where two independents mark the only exception to straight fights between Conservatives and Liberals.

NEW MODERATOR OF BAPTIST CHURCH

Ottawa, June 21.—Rev. A. St. James, of St. Paul's Church, Montreal, was elected Moderator of the regular Baptist churches of the Montreal-Ottawa Association at the seventh annual conference here yesterday.

A resolution of congratulations to Rev. Dr. T. T. Shields, of Jarvis Street Baptist Church, Toronto, on the twenty-fifth anniversary of his pastorate, was passed.

BENNETT DEMANDS C.N.R. ACCOUNT REVEAL TRUE PICTURE OF LOSSES

Prime Minister Declares Present Government Will Not Approve Move to Write Down Capital Structure of National Railways—All but Two Contentious Measures Disposed of Yesterday as Parliament Made Rapid Progress Toward Prorogation—Grain Board Bill and Saskatchewan Alternative Vote Still Remain.

Ottawa, June 21.—Although two contentious bills hover in the background, the House of Commons is rapidly winding up the business of its final session. After putting the finishing touches to twelve bills and passing all the remaining main sessional estimates last night, the Commons today turn to Companies Act amendments, the last of the bills based on the report of the Price Spreads Commission still on the order paper.

Harmony and speed were the dominant notes at yesterday's sitting. Besides passing bill after bill without a dissenting voice an unusual demonstration of solidarity was provided in the one formal division.

In that the vote was 121 to one in favor of third reading of the bill to establish a Dominion Trade and Industry Commission. The one dissenter was E. J. Young, Liberal member for Weyburn, consistent champion of free trade and non-interference with business. Hon. H. H. Stevens, former Minister of Trade and Commerce, who criticized the bill the day before, was absent.

The two remaining contentious measures are the bills to establish a Grain Board and to try out the alternative vote in Saskatchewan. The Grain Board bill is still before a special committee and the Saskatchewan election law change will not be called today.

Continuance of public control of radio under the present Radio Commission until the end of next March became assured last night when the bill to extend the life of the Radio Commission was passed.

Mr. Bennett said he was not opposed to the revision of the capital structure of the Canadian National Railways, but believed in any revision the amount of public money invested in the system should be shown. He also stated that in view of the litigation on behalf of the Grand Trunk shareholders pending before the Privy Council no change should be made at the present time.

Meeting the request made by the House by Ross W. Gray, Liberal, West Lambton, the Prime Minister read a letter he had written to Mr. Fullerton last year, in which he expressed surprise that the auditors should have recommended a recasting of the capital structure of the railway, and also the letter of Mr. Fullerton in reply. After reading the two letters Premier Bennett made a brief statement, in which he qualified his declaration against downward revision.

FOUR DISTINGUISHED CANADIANS HONORED BY BISHOP'S UNIVERSITY

Degrees of Doctor of Civil Laws Conferred Upon Lord Bishop of Quebec, Sir George Perley, Hon. Vincent Massey and Dr. Charles F. Martin at Impressive Convocation Ceremony at Bishop's University Yesterday Afternoon—Bishop Williams Preached at Morning Service in College Chapel.

Ninety-two years of faithful service to the cause of higher education were completed at the University of Bishop's College, Lennoxville, yesterday afternoon, when the University, at the hands of its Chancellor, Hon. R. A. E. Greenshields, LL.D., D.C.L., Chief Justice of the Province of Quebec, conferred the degree of Doctor of Civil Laws, honoris causa, upon four outstanding Canadians of the present day and degrees in course upon those students who, after successfully completing their courses at the University, came forward to be admitted to the ranks of graduates of this venerable and honorable seat of learning.

Yesterday was Convocation Day at Bishop's University and again the ceremonies were carried out with the usual dignity which each June marks the completion of another successful year in the history of this beloved University of the Eastern Townships.

The interest which is manifest each year in the Convocation ceremonies was again evident by the unusually large number of friends of the University and parents and relatives of the graduating class who made their way to the University grounds.

Owing to the unsettled weather conditions during the morning, it was decided to hold the conferring of degrees in Convocation Hall rather than in the open as has been the custom during the past few years. Convocation Hall, however, could not accommodate the large assemblage and many people had to be content with standing room in the adjoining hall, or to follow the proceedings from a distance. This, unfortunately, made it rather difficult for many to distinctly hear the speeches.

In the conferring of honorary degrees the University paid tribute to the church, the state, science and, as Principal McCreer said in his address, to "that remarkable type of citizen whose veracity in high endeavour gives dignity and richness to the expression 'an all-round man.'"

In introducing the recipients of honorary degrees the Principal, Rev. Dr. A. H. McCreer, O.B.E., M.C., M.A., said:

"First on the list is a man who is greatly revered in this province and beyond it, the Right Reverend Lennox Waldron Williams, M.A., D.D., of Oxford and Bishop's, who was Bishop of Quebec and vice-president of the Corporation of this University for twenty years, from January 25th, 1915, to April 30th, 1935. Bishop Williams' career is but one of many which illustrate what good things can come out of the Eastern Townships. He was born at Lennoxville seventy-five years ago, when his distinguished father was headmaster of Bishop's College School. At St. John's College, Oxford, he received a training which in association with a remarkably kind and strong character, made his preference in the church inevitable. His active ministry in the church extends now over more than half a century and it has been throughout a noble ministry."

BRITISH REGARD ITALIAN THREAT TO QUIT LEAGUE AS "PURE BLUFF"

Government Circles Reported Little Disturbed Over Threat of Italian Protest Move Over "Outside Interference" in Ethiopian Situation—Efforts Redoubled, However, to Have Germany Re-enter International Organization—Preparations Proving Expensive for Italy.

London, June 21.—Government sources said today they refused to consider there was any real danger that Italy would bolt the League of Nations despite the alarming reports printed by admittedly authoritative portions of the Italian press.

Official sources stated they regarded these reports as "a bluff" and said they were not to be taken seriously in view of Premier Mussolini's reaffirmation at the Stresa conference of his loyalty to the League.

The British Government was said to be confident that any present misunderstanding threatening to disrupt the united front of Great Britain, France and Italy, as determined at Stresa last spring, will be straightened out satisfactorily by Capt. Anthony Eden, Minister for League of Nations Affairs during his present visit to Paris and his subsequent trip to Rome. Nevertheless, the Foreign Office was regarded as awaiting reports from Eden anxiously.

It was avoided for all time all chance of naval rivalry between Britain and Germany, he said. It necessarily affected all the members of the British Commonwealth by extension. In its wider implications, it was most definitely favorable to the navies of the other powers.

The agreement, Sir Bolton added, did not mean that the Government now intended to relax its efforts to secure a limitation agreement for air and land armaments. On the contrary, they considered an agreement to prevent competition in land and air armaments of vital importance.

Hall asked: "Is it the intention of the Government to summon a conference of signatories of existing naval agreements as soon as possible so that the naval agreement may be followed up? Further, is the Anglo-German agreement not a violation of the Treaty of Versailles?"

"We are already following it up," said Sir Bolton, "by conversation with other countries. But I am not in a position to say when there will be a full meeting of all the signatories. The second question raises a juridical point. I must ask for notice of it."

Sir Bolton hailed the agreement as a "contribution to world peace." A chorus of "Hear, Hear" greeted his statement.

"It has been suggested that His Majesty's Government should have refrained from entering this agreement," Sir Bolton said, "but we have to face the facts.

"We have to deal with the essentially practical problem of a Germany already constructing a fleet which is outside the limits laid down by the Versailles Treaty," he said.

"What we have done is, by agreement with Germany, to circumscribe the effect which might flow from this unilateral decision of Germany.

"We believe this to be in the ultimate interests of all naval powers of the world and we are satisfied a serious error would have been committed by this country and His Majesty's Government to have either refused to accept the offer by Germany for a definite 100-35 ratio or even to have hesitated unduly to do so."

The First Lord of the Admiralty, mentioning "further criticism" that Britain is not entitled to deal with the question of naval limitation independent of the question of land and air disarmament, asserted:

"His Majesty's Government have never been able to accept this view of the situation, seeing that treaties for limitation of naval armaments already existed for many years, and it would have been a

FOUR DISTINGUISHED CANADIANS HONORED BY BISHOP'S UNIVERSITY

Continued from Page 1. istry, sustained by that spirit of service which is one of the fruits of the true Christian spirit. For thirteen years I have looked up to him as my Bishop, and as vice-president of the Corporation, and I have been impressed with the many ways in which he has unostentatiously but ably served the public interests of Quebec. This University, King's Hall, Compton, the Protestant Committee of the Council of Public Instruction, have all benefited greatly by his wise counsel and guidance. Not many of us rise to that sublime height where the long, clear vision is never obscured by the mists of petty, trifling things. But Bishop Williams is one man who has done so. Therefore his leadership has been effective, and his influence great. We honour him today for his leadership in the education, and in the life of the province generally, and are very proud to have another link established between him and this University in the honorary degree he is to receive today.

Right Honourable Sir George H. Perley, G.C.M.G., P.C., M.P., B.A., LL.D., is a graduate of Harvard University and an honorary alumnus of Dartmouth. I shall enumerate only a few of the offices he has held, in which he has been a faithful and distinguished servant of Canada and the Canadian people. He was High Commissioner for Canada in London—a plenipotentiary of Canada for signing treaties at the conclusion of the Great War—First Minister of Overseas Military Forces of Canada, 1916-1917—a member of the Imperial War Cabinet, 1917, and of the Imperial Conference of that year—twice Acting Prime Minister of Canada. He has therefore occupied positions in which not only the internal affairs of Canada were his responsibility, but the relation of Canada to the other parts of the Empire, and to the nations of the world generally. Those who heard Sir George's speech on the Silver Jubilee of the King's Accession were, I am sure, agreed that in his words the spirit and mind of the Canadian people found admirable expression. To honour him today is to honour the ability with which he served this Dominion, and the integrity which has at all times been manifest in his words and works.

Dr. C. F. Martin graduated from McGill in Arts, in 1888, and in Medicine in 1892. After graduate study abroad he returned to Montreal, and entered private practice. His ability had always kept him in the forefront of young Montreal physicians, and in 1908 he received his first appointment on the staff of McGill University. Four years afterwards he became Professor of Medicine, while still carrying on his private practice.

"During the War he became a member of the Canadian Army Medical Corps and rendered invaluable services as medical consultant, especially during the influenza epidemic of 1918, in his own field he was the mainstay of the Canadian Medical Service.

"Since the War Dr. Martin has played a remarkable part in the development of medical education in the United States as well as in Canada. In 1923 he was appointed Dean of the Faculty of Medicine, and since then has given up his own time to the duties of that position. The great advances made by the Medical School since his appointment, the last and most important, the development of the Neurological Institute, in which he took a most important part, bear witness to the ability with which he has fulfilled his duties.

"In 1927 he was president of the Association of American Medical Colleges, and in 1928 and 1929 president of the American College of Physicians, and has also been a member of its Board of Regents. He has also been president of the Canadian National Committee for Mental Hygiene since its inception.

"His interest in McGill has not been limited to the Faculty of Medicine. He was one of the main movers in the revival of the Graduate Society which began in 1921, and aided greatly in the organization of the Graduates' Endowment Fund, of which he is a trustee. During the absence of Sir Arthur Currie and since his death, many additional responsibilities have fallen upon him as senior Dean of McGill University.

"Dr. Martin is an LL.D. of Queen's and Harvard. We welcome him warmly today to the company of our distinguished alumni.

"The Hon. Vincent Massey, P.C., Canada, M.A., LL.D., is an honourary graduate of Toronto University and of the University of Oxford. From 1913 to 1915 he was lecturer in modern history and dean of residence at Victoria College, Toronto. He directed the building of that very wonderful place, Hart House. He served Canada in many capacities during and after the Great War. His name will ever be associated with the opening of the house of Canada's representative in Washington where he was His Majesty's Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary for Canada to the United States for four years from 1926 to 1930. Canada was fortunate indeed in having a man of Mr. Massey's unusual talents and prestige to inaugurate the new era of diplomatic relations between the Dominion and the great American Republic. Of the many things which he has done to encourage the study of the arts and to foster an interest in them throughout Canada, I shall mention only one—the endowing of the Hart House Quartet. Thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Massey Canada possesses one of the finest string quartets in the world, and in most communities throughout the length of the Dominion there are people who are profoundly grateful for the rare pleasure and privilege of hearing the world's best chamber music played by that remarkable group of musicians. It is a very great pleasure today to have him enrolled as an alumnus of this University."

Sir Mathias Teller, Chief Justice of the Province of Quebec, was also to have received an honorary degree at yesterday's Convocation, but, owing to the death of his brother, he was unable to attend. The University, however, hopes to honor Sir Mathias at the next Convocation.

Following the conferring of the four honorary degrees the Degrees of Arts were conferred. These included two degrees in music, two Masters of Arts, five Faculty of Divinity and forty degrees of Bachelors of Arts, as well as the scholarships, special prizes, the Divinity House diplomas and the high school diploma.

Rev. Dr. McGreer in submitting the report of the Faculty of Arts said: "Before giving a report for the Faculty of Arts, there are a few observations which I wish to offer on the report of the young men and women who have bearing on the work of the University and its future.

"The first is to express our sorrow that three alumni and warm friends of this University, who were here on the platform a year ago, are not with us today—Grant Hall, M.A., D.C.L., a member of the Corporation and chairman of its executive committee, G. M. Stearns, D.C.L., and the Hon. Walter G. Mitchell, K.C., D.C.L., both members of the Corporation. All have passed away since our last Convocation. We shall not forget them nor their work for the University, and I would ask you at this time to stand for a few seconds in silence as a tribute to their memory.

"The second is to express our sincere regret that the Rev. Professor Vial, M.A., B.D., D.C.L., has found it necessary to withdraw from the Faculty because of ill health. I am very happy to say that the Corporation at its meeting yesterday, after recording its appreciation of Professor Vial's faithful work, arranged that he should continue his connection with the University as Professor Emeritus of Pastoral Theology. That will give profound pleasure to everyone who has been a member of this collegiate family, for Professor Vial as a scholar, a teacher, and a Christian gentleman, has become such a distinctive part of the Bishop's tradition that everyone is determined to have him remain a member of the faculty of this University as long as he lives. We all rejoice that in recent years there has been an improvement in his health, and we hope it may continue until he has attained to full recovery.

"Rev. C. Sauerbrei is leaving us this year after being a member of the Faculty for nine years. An Oriental scholar, he has been invited to accept a position in the Theological College at Rangoon. His varied interests and accomplishments added to his sound scholarship will make him a valued and respected member of any academic society to which he may belong. He carries with him our best wishes for abundant happiness and success in his new sphere of work.

"Then, as if to reduce our theological household to a state of destitution, the Synod of the Diocese of Quebec, the Dean of Divinity, Dr. Philip Carrington, Bishop of Quebec, to succeed the Right Reverend Lennox Williams. You will not expect me to wax enthusiastic over a result that necessitates the appointing of an entirely new Divinity Faculty in the University for next year. It is such a task is possible within a short interval. One, however, always rejoices in the honours and distinctions which are conferred on one's friends, and today we of the University, and I am sure everyone in this audience, offer hearty and sincere congratulations to Professor Carrington, who is chosen to fill the very responsible position of Bishop of Quebec. Professor Carrington has remained sufficiently long at the University to see the Divinity course which he modelled shortly after he came to us, nearly eight years ago, well established and thoroughly tested. It is probably, in respect of proportion and comprehensiveness, the best theological course offered to Divinity students of the Church of England in Canada, and in its main outlines at least it is certain to remain for a very long time, its excellence being which young men ascend to the higher levels of theological knowledge and enter the ministry of the church. We wish the Dean happiness and success in the high office to which he will shortly be consecrated.

"The administrative head of every collegiate body realizes as perhaps no one else does, the value of the work of the faculty. The faculty is of the esse of the university's life. Where the standard of the scholarship is high and its work faithfully done, there is the fulfilment in large part of the purpose for which the university exists. I am grateful to all members of the Faculty here for another year of painstaking and successful work. Not only has the work within the University been well done, but through contributions to various publications of note and through public lectures, the University's prestige has been enhanced and its influence extended into new reaches.

"I am particularly grateful to the Dean of Divinity and Mr. Sauerbrei for their great kindness in carrying on for more than half the year the work which formerly was done by Professor Vial.

"We are very pleased to have at our Convocation today Dr. Albert Ham, President of the University's board of examiners for degrees in music. Since his retirement as organist and choir-master of St. James' Cathedral in Toronto, more than a year ago, he has been living in England, and has come to Canada to be at this Convocation. I wish to assure Dr. Ham of the University's appreciation of the work which he has done for more than ten years. It has been a delight in every way to have him associated with us, and a profound satisfaction to have one of his eminence in the world of music in charge of the work for our Mus. B. and Mus. D.

"I extend to the students of the graduating year our congratulations on completing the requirements for the respective degrees they are to receive today, and our best wishes for success in the tasks for which their courses have been a preparation. This year we are happy to report that a Bishop's student has again been selected as a Rhodes Scholar from this province. Last year it was the young man, Mr. Christopher Eberts. This year the good fortune has descended on Olgie Glass. I congratulate Mr. Glass, not merely on gaining a Rhodes scholarship, but on the remarkable versatility and power of concentration which he has shown in practically every branch of sport, in debating, in dramatics, and as you will see by the programme you have in your hands, in his academic work. When he arrives at St. John's College in September, he will be the third Bishop's graduate reading at Oxford, the other two being Olgie Glass and Eberts. We wish him luck and good success."

The report of Faculty of Arts was followed by the resume of the year's activities in the Divinity Faculty, which was given in his characteristic manner by Dean Carrington. This report dealt with the requirements of Dr. Vial and Rev. Sauerbrei, as well as of the success achieved by the Divinity students during the year which has just closed and of the bright prospects which are promised for the future.

The large gathering listened with frequent attention to the fine valedictory delivered on behalf of the graduating class by C. L. O. Glass, who has been selected a Rhodes scholar. Speaking in the name of those who were bidding adieu to their Alma Mater Mr. Glass said: "Frequently it happens that a word changes its meaning so completely within a few generations that there is hardly a trace of the original sentiment left. An excellent example of this is our modern adjective 'nice,' which, strange to say, at one time meant 'foolish.' As I frequently have the word 'farewell' and 'good-bye,' the former forms of which were 'fare-thee-well' and 'God-be-with-you.' We were sentiments of leaving taking then even as now but with a marked difference. The modern interpretation of these words is that they connote tears, sorrow and even an element of gnashing of the teeth, but 'fare-thee-well' and 'God-be-with-you' connote well-wishing, gladness and, in a sense, even joy in the realization of all the benefits that have resulted from the connection that is about to be severed. And so it is in the spirit of the old, rather than the new, that I deliver this valedictory, this farewell speech.

"We are leaving our University and naturally there is an element of sorrow connected with the occasion, but it is almost inconceivable when compared with the realization of all that our university has done for us. It would be impossible to innumerate every advantage that it has afforded us, but there are one or two which cannot be passed lightly over—one or two respects in which this University differs from other universities. The first is what is commonly known as 'college spirit'—intangible, almost indefinable, yet of great importance. By this I do not mean merely the desire to cheer at a football game, but the spirit that colors the whole atmosphere of the university, something which gives the student knowledge rather than mere learning. Naturally those in command are the progenitors of this spirit in this case the principal, the faculty of the University. And to them, on behalf of the graduating class, I extend our unqualified thanks for everything that they have done for us. Any sentiment that I can utter in this regard may sound trite, but the sincerity behind it all prompts me to say that without their guidance and good-will we would have been impossible to accomplish the things which have been done. We are unfortunate from a purely selfish viewpoint in that we are losing three members of that faculty—three whom it will be very difficult to replace—Dean Carrington, Dr. Vial and Rev. Mr. Sauerbrei. To them we say fare-well in the true sense of the word; we appreciate greatly all that they have done for the University and only wish that they could continue with us. I think that it might seem slightly presumptuous in me to attempt to prophesy economic and political strife that would engulf the world if it were not for the graduating class of 1935 say to their University fare-well, 'God-be-with-you.'"

- At the conclusion of the Convocation ceremonies in the afternoon the Principal, Rev. Dr. A. H. McGreer, and Mrs. McGreer were 'at home' at a charming garden party, during which music was furnished by the Sherbrooke Regiment Band and a delightful hour passed, which brought to a happy conclusion another very successful Convocation.
- Perhaps the most touching part of the entire ceremony yesterday was the presentation, just prior to the ending of the Convocation programme, of a silver loving cup to the Right Rev. Lennox Williams, Lord Bishop of Quebec, who has resigned as vice-president of the University Corporation.
- The cup was the gift of the members of Corporation and was presented by the Lord Bishop of Montreal.
- Brief addresses were also made during the afternoon by the recipients of honorary degrees who voiced their appreciation at the honor which had been conferred upon them and gave advice and encouragement to the new graduates who were leaving the University to take their place in the business world.
- Seated on the platform with the Chancellor were Their Lordships Bishops Farthing and Williams, the principal, Rev. A. H. McGreer, Sir George Perley, Hon. Vincent Massey, Dr. C. F. Cahoon, Ven. Archdeacon Almond, Dr. W. P. Percival, Dr. I. O. Rothney, Rev. C. Sauerbrei and Dr. R. A. Parreck, a former principal of the University.
- It was interesting to note the presence at yesterday's Convocation of two persons who were at one time prominently connected with the University. These were John Hamilton, M.A., D.C.L., of Quebec, for many years Chancellor, and Rev. Dr. Parreck, who was principal from 1907 until 1919.
- At eleven o'clock yesterday morning the usual Choral Eucharist was celebrated in the College Chapel, when the celebrant was the Right Rev. J. C. Farthing, Lord Bishop of Montreal, who was assisted by Bishop-elect Carrington and Rev. Prof. Burt.
- A very impressive sermon was delivered by the Lord Bishop of Quebec, the Right Rev. Lennox Williams, who took as his text "I was my Father's son and he taught me."
- The picturesque chapel was crowded to capacity for the service and the altar was beautifully adorned with profusions of white flowers.
- Those from a distance receiving invitations to attend Convocation were: Chief Justice R. A. E. Green-

- shields and Mrs. Greenshields, the Right Rev. J. C. Farthing, Lord Bishop of Montreal, and Mrs. Farthing, the Right Rev. NON-POLITICAL COMMITTEE URGED FOR DOMINION

kind, thoughtful, unselfish interest in everything that affects the welfare of the Dominion.

"The most pitiless and heart-breaking members of the community today are what someone has called the 'tabbies.' They are those complacent persons who buried in the gratification of their own enjoyments and desires, are impervious to any appeal for sympathy, for service or sacrifice. Apathy is the mark of the selfish citizen. Agitators, if not guided, are bad enough, but they are preferable to the man who never thinks about anything saying what touches him personally. They are still face to face with the choice of the rulers. But save for a short time in the excitement of an election when reason and judgment are at their lowest ebb and passion and prejudice at their flood, does he ever give a thought to the right or wrong of Government policies.

"I have said as anti-democratic rant in all classes of the community there is a most desperate need for an earnest and eager concern about the problems and perils that beset us. In Government policies, religion, industrial problems, social conditions, foreign affairs, in everything that belongs to human life, you and I ought to think seriously and unselfishly how the best is to be made of this old world in which we now live.

"With this world to all appearances a wreck, you will have much to do, you will have to work to restore it from destruction, restore it along lines of strength, sanity and sanity. Take no part in the ignoble conspiracy of shutting eyes to the ghastly chaotic state by which we are surrounded.

"And now for a moment I turn to our well-beloved country. I may be permitted, with a full consciousness of my own limitations, and far removed from any desire to assume a dictatorial attitude, to say a few more words to you young men and women. If I do to some extent make reference to what might be considered questions of Government policy, you will readily accept my assurance that no question of any political party or party bias finds any place in my consideration of the matter.

"Today we find ourselves in a condition which I would describe as actually chaotic. The present condition is world-wide. It is not my intention to attempt to discover the cause of that ghastly condition in which this old world finds itself. It is lamentably true the world's granaries are filled with food, yet starvation almost faces thousands, and penury and want stalk through the land. The Giver of All Good has given to His world in abundance to feed and clothe His people, yet thousands go unfed and are in need of proper raiment.

"All this seems so utterly unnecessary, so utterly impossible of explanation, that it is not to be wondered that the greatest intellects of our time stand aghast, helpless to bring about a remedy. Far be it from me at the moment to make a suggestion. The greatest economists of our day wallow in words they little understand. Political scientists dream dreams of a world restored to prosperity, and yet chaos and confusion worse confounded prevail the world over.

"I hasten to pay my devotion to the great Canadians who have forced as answers: 'A piece of the fair of our country, have not the slightest doubt they have been actuated by the highest patriotic motives, and they have been confronted with conditions and with grave misfortune if further treaty could not be negotiated to replace existing ones."

LIMITATION OF FUTURE SHIP TONNAGE FAVORED

London, June 21.—The Daily Telegraph said today the British and German naval experts yesterday reached an agreement whereby "Germany is now fully in accord with the British proposal for an international limit of 25,000 tons on all future capital ships."

The paper also "understands" Germany is in sympathy with the British desire to limit cruisers to about 7,000 tons.

questions such as no Government in this Dominion ever experienced. They have manfully met the situation created and brought about by world conditions far beyond the control of any Government.

"We are still face to face with a disturbing uncertainty. Apart from the financial question which is facing this country, the industrial difficulties, and the problem of unemployment are pressing heavily on our legislators and calling for remedies.

"If ever Canada stood in urgent and pressing need of a completely united body of legislators, free from political expediency, with party lines obliterated, with emphasis I say this is the day and this is the hour. I am not unaware that I may be touching upon a matter open to controversy and my words may provoke adverse criticism. I do not profess to speak for my university. I disclaim any political much less party bias.

"I conclude with the statement that I would acclaim with joy the decision of our political leaders to unite in the formation of a strong national coalition Government—and the men are available for such a Government—in order that a united front may be presented to struggle with and possibly overcome the ghastly conditions in which we now are."

An American government agency is reported to have put two questions to applicants for a certain job—intelligence tests: "How long is a piece of string?" and "How far can a dog run into the woods?"

From one bright youth they received as answers: "A piece of string is twice as long as the distance from the centre to either end," and "A dog can only run half-way into the woods; after that he's running out of the woods."

SHERBROOKE, FRIDAY, JUNE 21, 1935.

Tribute.

In time of war, or years of peace,
He rules his people with kindly hand—
And with him, his most gracious Queen
Watches o'er their children in many lands.
Now after five and twenty years
We, their people, rise to honour them,
We proudly raise our glasses high
In toast to King and Queen again,
Thank God for sovereigns such as they,
And bless the both of them!

There Is O'er Much Lack of Understanding.

In beyond their depth of understanding the politicians at Ottawa are floundering around like a herd of moose in an alkali wallow.

Gathering from the lack of debate on the Grain Board and also on the qualified effort at exchange stabilization one would know that the average representative has as superficial understanding about these matters as he has about railway unification.

To the Member of Parliament a talk on puts and calls, on cash wheat, on short selling and on pure wheat speculation just leaves them in a daze. They do not know what you are talking about, but rare is the bird who will admit it. They just rush it through, leaving to Bennett success or failure. It is the usual triumph of force over the supine.

There is danger in compulsory legislation of any kind, for it is usually the innocent who suffer. Such legislation is clearly a case of government by fright. The Canadian, descendant of revolutionary action on both Anglo-Franco lineage, is patient but forceful in reaction. They will stand on the Magna Charta of personal liberty, which means "thus far and no farther," in all affairs which smack of compulsory legislation or dictatorial behaviour on the part of those they elect. They know that they can dismiss the disobedient and the efficient.

But in public affairs of the day, the public are also in a daze, for they are distrustful of both parties, the rampant change in the one, and the supine silence of the others.

Many months ago we proposed the replacement by a National Business Government, and the election of Parliament of outstanding business men whose record of business success proves their skill and efficiency.

The movement is gaining the mind of the country. It is the only way out of our national dilemmas.

As in the Civil War across the border, we must have a leader who will hammer the way to prosperity, neither slipping nor swivelling on experiments of disproven quality.

When Pharaoh accepted Joseph the Jew as his Prime Minister he found a man who would hew to the lines and follow through to the finish.

In the language of the late John L. Sullivan, there is too much weaving and feinting and too many body blows at Ottawa to give us that hope of victory over tax distress.

The People Want To Know.

The agricultural, industrial and financial organizations of Canada do not to-day know where they stand on governmental polity.

Nobody feels any confidence in all the apparently useless legislation that the politicians at Ottawa are jamming through Parliament, whose long drawn out debates and childish wranglings are so costly to the people.

Everybody we meet on the street does not hesitate to express their disgust with the unbusinesslike manner in which our Parliamentary Representatives are conducting the affairs of the nation.

From many directions there come letters asking information about this and that bill passed, or about to be passed, by the Government at Ottawa.

The people want to know the truth and all the truth about the present deplorable situation in this country, and they want to learn whether or not all the legislative measures passed by the Government will really bring back prosperity.

The debates in the House of Commons, though widely published, do not give any reassuring explanations in regard to the legislation passed, of how it will bring about permanent recovery.

That is what the people want to know.

Every action of a Government, every policy formulated, every consideration of a policy by a Government reacts either in favour of, or to the detriment of, the present or future development of our recovery. There is no confidence!

This is true of any Government in any country, but in this country, which is much dependent upon the maintenance of its export trade, where Government actions, deliberations and policies are so widely advertised throughout the world, it has become a menace to our industrial and commercial activities in our relationships with outside nations.

The imposition of taxes, beyond ability to pay, the levying of customs duties, the intervention of bureaucracy in business management, the enactment of laws affecting the value of money and other measures which smack of experimentation, have a similar harmful effect upon our relations with foreign nations.

All these things are political actions and are outside the control of those engaged in the management of industry, which is the foundation of our country's recuperation.

Unless our Governments act and behave, as they should, in accordance with practical and sound principles of business theory, the people's confidence will not be restored.

A Distinguished Man Passes on His Last Earthly Journey.

To William Amherst Hale we have bade a last farewell. His spirit will live through the ages and through his descendants. As his earthly body is borne to its resting place, all citizens will doff their hats in sad adieu.

His was an indomitable soul; his friendships were many and sincere; and even on his deathbed his mind would gather in review the welfare of those of his fellow-citizens whom he held in high esteem.

Naught but good thoughts and trusted confidence did he ever feel for those who passed him in that mortal review which comes to the man who has in his mind's review so many friends whom he must know will mourn the loss of a distinguished citizen who lived for eighty-eight clean years in a city which does him obeisance at his departure for the realms of everlasting life.

Editor's Note Book.

Of what use is it for a little politician like Hepburn, of Ontario, ranting and raving his abuse of the financial interests, or the so-called big interests? He hopes to raise prejudices against the thrifty people who deny themselves luxuries that they may save the money which they confide to the banks for safe-keeping or for investment in safe and sane securities. Abuse by the thriftless as directed against the thrifty may impress the few whilst it is ridiculed by the many.

Revival of trade and commerce in Canada is being impeded in Canada by threatened control by legislation. Trade, retail, wholesale or manufacturing, does not function when more than one dam has been thrown across its channels and others are being threatened. During a four-year period the business community in Canada has been harassed by the unbridled phraseology of grown-up window-breakers who were not well-spanked whilst they were young.

The handsome sum of three-quarters of a million dollars has been spent on Royal Commissions during the life of the present Government. It is very doubtful if the average taxpayer can remember more than three or four of these commissions, and certainly he cannot recall any Royal Economy Commission.

Yes, we would only be jealous of the genius who could invent a dinkus for producing a "disappearing property," a contrivance which would give a tax assessor and collector ophthalmic paresis at the right moment. This is the new scheme in real estate, though in boom times people often buy lots "unsight and unseen."

Upton Sinclair, the Californian writer of epics, pleads that he knows how to end poverty in America. He has no Pharaoh to whom he can relate an interpretation of the dream, and he, therefore, keeps it under his hat. Let us remind the defeated candidate for Governor that epics cannot cure epichs.

The demagogic politician is the grown-up fellow who always shrieked loudest when he was hurt in school.

PAYNE'S EULOGY ON GRANBY AND ITS POLITICS

In Laying Down the Presidency of Board of Trade the Colonel Takes the Opportunity of Eulogizing His City and of Ticking Up the Politicians of Sherford.

Col. J. Bruce Payne, the sage of Granby, and a really public-spirited man, delivered his farewell speech on retiring from the presidency of the Granby Board of Trade. It is such a speech as should be preserved in imperishable print, that it may be handed down as the record of a man who has given much time to the promotion of public affairs and the advocacy of the community spirit.

We reproduce in full the doyen's address, made just before he packed his duffle bag and gathered together his fishing impedimenta with the most catching flies. The Colonel has now reached Lac Deserit, up in Labelle County, where he has a family cottage, and for his guests the classical nook, book and jug—for me and thee!

Gentlemen—A year ago you would not allow me to drop out of the Presidency of the Board of Trade. Since my re-election, travel and sickness have prevented me attending several regular meetings, nevertheless the efficient secretary and the various committees functioned a hundred per cent. and their activities reflected favorably in the interests of the municipality, the industries and the citizens.

A survey of our industries at the present moment reveals several working overtime, some working twenty-four hours a day and nearly all others are ahead of last year. During the time of depression your president, answering outside enquiries, said that Granby was seventy per cent. of normal. I am safe in saying today that Granby, industrially is ninety per cent. of normal, and we expect, ere another year rolls round that Granby will again be racing forward.

The building of the Arena was a notable event and re-awakened the old spirit of sport that made Granby prominent for many years, beginning with the Provincial Bicycle Meet of 1894. The Aramis Club is deserving of great praise for their interests in sport and for their activities in social service, and our baseball enthusiasts will produce the teams whose prowess will merit the patronage of the citizens, and of sports from surrounding towns, whose presence will bring more trade to our stores.

Our transportation services are in a very high state of efficiency. Our streets are clean, our premises well painted, our gardens well cultivated and our lawns vie with one another in showing beautiful flowers, thus manifesting the artistic temperament, and their owners' spirit of culture and refinement. Granby is a very clean, healthy and beautiful city, and those who have recently seen it amongst us are to be congratulated on their wisdom and good sense, in having selected Granby for their homes.

There is one fly in our industrial lubricant that if encouraged, or allowed to propagate, will spell retardation and probable disaster. Our politicians are to blame for giving willing ear to the persistent importunities of less than ten per cent. of our population, whose impulses are fevered by selfishness, laziness and greed, without any consideration for the farmers, who comprise fifty per cent. of our population, or of the proprietors of groceries, butcher shops, stores and general merchandising in the rural communities, comprising thirty per cent. of our population, who work ten hours and more a day, to pay a third of their income in the way of taxes, and who strive to put away some substance for a rainy day, but which, alas, is appropriated by the politicians to feed the spendthrift, the lazy, the improvident and the impudent. The few really unfortunate but brave, always will have our sympathy and assistance.

The politician is building his head against a stone wall when he makes laws that interfere with the inexorable economic law of supply and demand. Government officials cannot run my business, or your business, to our advantage or to the advantage of our employees. This is fully illustrated by losses incurred through operating our National Railway, at an annual loss of a hundred million dollars. We should at once get out of the railway business. Let the politicians run only the prisons and the lunatic asylums and cease class legislation.

When potatoes are selling at a dollar a bushel the politicians take credit, when the farmers are now selling their potatoes at twenty-five cents a barrel the politician has gone fishing.

Fire and water are wonderful servants of man, but they are both ruinous when they become masters. We may flee to the hills to escape personal danger of flood, we can quench fire with water, but labor on the rampage is uncontrollable by either logic or reason. It has no knowledge of the word gratitude, no consideration for capital, without which there can no labor, no real desire for work, but rather how they can draw the maximum salary for the minimum amount of production. Given a nine-hour day, they immediately agitate for eight, in fact many of their blind, fanatical leaders are already pushing for a six-hour day, at the maximum wage, overlooking, or forgetting entirely that every advance in that line means increased commodity prices, at the expense of the farmer and other primary producers, at the expense of eighty per cent. of our population who now carry the burden of taxation, and who are forced to feed, clothe and house the improvident and the shiftless.

Labor should go back to pre-war wages, and interest charges should not exceed five per cent., as in Australia.

Let it be understood that I am not referring to Granby factory hands, who, during the whole time of our growth from one to twelve thousand population have been free from Union Labor control, or of strife, who are officered mostly by those living South of 45, and who have little interest in our national progress and who are latterly officered by real Communists. Hence my note of warning to our own people not to listen to the frothy vapors of these agitators, but to continue being loyal to their employers, thankful that they have a job, and knowing that the dependable one will be duly rewarded for faithful services.

The Minimum Wage law is playing havoc with those to whom God gave only one talent, who are physically weak and mentally torpid, who can produce only one unit at the same time that their next bench worker produces two. It is true that the Minimum Wage Board will issue permits to incompetents to be paid only what they can earn, but what foreman will take them on, what employer will give up space that will produce twice as much? These people are being turned down daily, even in shops where the industry has not been organized.

The result of the law is that these unfortunates are forced to starve, or become a charge upon the charity of their neighbors, and, their numbers are increasing, in some cases voluntarily, if a bread basket is on view.

It has been a pleasure to officially work with you, gentlemen, during the past two years. I am content to pass the responsibilities on to younger and more efficient shoulders. I assure my successor, and the members that it will always be a pleasure for me to assist whenever possible.

BISHOP'S DENUNCIATION OF DEMOCRACY CRITICIZED

"He Could Go to Italy and Be Muzzled or Go to Germany and Be Jailed." London Paper Remarks, Referring to Bishop of Exeter.

London, June 21.—The Evening Star commented briefly yesterday on the Bishop of Exeter's denunciation of democracy in the House of Lords Wednesday.

The Star headed its comment, "The Bishop Sticks it Out," and concluded: "And what a man the Bishop is to go on enduring conditions for bishops such as we have in England, when he could go to Italy and be muzzled or go to Germany and be jailed."

The Bishop, white-haired and seventy-two, spoke in the course of a debate on the India bill. He ranged from China to the United States on a denunciation of democracy.

LABOR SOUGHT BREACH OF PARLIAMENTARY USAGE

Cries of "Order" Greeted Welsh Member when He Endeavored to Raise Debate on Recent Remarks of Prince of Wales.

London, June 21.—The attempt of Aneurin Bevan, Ebbw Vale laborite, to discuss in the House of Commons recent action of the Prince of Wales commencing a good-will tour of British war veterans to Germany failed yesterday.

Bevan, in violation of the parliamentary usage that forbids discussion of actions of Royal family members, sought to draw from Sir Samuel Hoare, Foreign Secretary, a statement as to whether the Foreign Office approved "that a proposal of this sort should be made by a person occupying the position of the Prince of Wales?"

Cries of "Order, Order" broke out at Bevan's action in bringing the name of the heir-apparent into discussion.

Sir Samuel replied, "I neither approve nor disapprove. It is not a matter within the competence of my office."

"So you've bought an auto, have you? Do you drive it or does your wife drive it?"

"Neither of us drives it. We coax it."

DEATHS REPORTED

FUNERAL OF WILLIAM H. HALL The funeral of William H. Hall, was held on Saturday afternoon, June 8, from the residence of his sisters, Mrs. S. H. Morse and the Misses S. and E. Hall, Prospect street. The service was conducted by Rev. Dr. G. E. Read, of Plymouth United Church, and a quartette, composed of Mrs. J. G. Ranshouer, Mrs. G. Richards, J. Cook and C. E. Soles, rendered selections from the two hymns, "Abide with Me" and "Nearer My God to Thee."

The bearers were John M. Hall, Albert H. Hall, Edward M. Hall, Wesley Hall, Russell Bartlett and Kenneth Ormsby.

Mr. Hall passed away on Tuesday, June 4, at his home in Wakefield, Mass., following a short illness. He retired from business three years ago, after conducting a wholesale and retail ice business for twenty-five years in that city.

He is survived by his widow, Elizabeth Cummings Hall, six brothers, John M. of Assinippi, Mass., Albert H. of Hyannis, Mass., Charles M. of Hope Valley, R.I., Dr. David C. of Seattle, Wash., Frederick M. of New York, and Edward M. of Sherbrooke; four sisters, Mrs. T. tin for supplementary reading and politeness; Monica Veasey, honors, honorable mention in French and science; Frances Smith, honorable mention in English composition and English classics.

The three-act play, "His Father's Son," staged by the High School Juniors, was masterfully depicted and revealed much natural stage talent. The production, a newspaper story, centred about Douglas Boyie, a pupil at Maplehurst School, who discovers that he is being supported in luxury by a father who has lost all his fortune. The boy leaves school at once, though by doing so he falls under the suspicion of theft. This is a misunderstanding. But the son gets a trial assignment on his father's newspaper, makes a "scoop" and is finally set right in all matters.

It would be difficult to select any individual star in the play. The boys made up to give better effect to the roles they were depicting, played their parts in a manner which drew rounds of applause from the gathering. The various roles were played as follows: Nathan Doyle, a reporter on a newspaper, Hector Walsh; Douglas Doyle, his son at Maplehurst, Albert Walker; Hiram McInnis, his son, by Henry Veilleux; Lancello Griffith, a reporter, by Russell Marois; Jim O'Callahan, city editor, by Maurice Lebrun; Timothy Glenn, an office boy, by Russell Hooper; Philip Crane, headmaster of Maplehurst, by Douglas Wiggitt; Harrison Fiske, his assistant, by Eugene Gendron; Harry Atkins, John Hartwell, Horace Russell and Orville Mitchell, fellow students, by Eddie Udall, Gerry Barlow, Conrad Noel and Henry Crochetiere.

As an entracte Henry Lemay, a talented young pianist, played two selections which were well received.

In his report Rev. Brother Benedict said in part: "The closer the co-operation between parents and Academy will be. It is my pleasure to inform you that the boys have been faithful and diligent in their studies and have maintained the high standards of efficiency, loyalty and integrity of which St. Patrick's Academy is justly proud."

"Again this year our senior boys distinguished themselves at Bishop's University matriculation examinations. Seventy-five per cent of the candidates who wrote the tests were successful and Keville Doherty achieved distinction in French. The pupils of the sixth year wrote their examinations for their primary certificates at the Sacred Heart School and three of the five candidates were successful.

Turning to extra-curricular activities, Brother Benedict stated "For the third successive year our boys have won the Eastern Township mixed hockey championship. Through kindness of the Old Boys and friends, these boys had the opportunity of spending two days in Montreal, where they thoroughly enjoyed themselves. With the kind assistance of the Junior Catholic Women's League and the Old Boys, the cafeteria was again in operation and 1,498 substantial meals were served during the winter months."

Referring to former students who had achieved success during the past year, the Principal mentioned that Eugene McManamy had completed his fourth year in medicine at McGill, George Murphy had passed his second year in law at the same university, Howard Sims, Ashley Hibbard and Lawrence Brooks had received their Bachelor of Arts degrees from Bishop's, James Crochetiere had obtained his Bachelor of Science degree from St. Francis Xavier and John Hibbard and Paul McMahon had passed their first year at Bishop's.

J. H. Walsh, revered chairman of the Academy's School Board, congratulated Brother Benedict and the teaching staff for the splendid success achieved—a success which was very pleasing to the Commissioners and the parents. He exhorted the students to make the most of their opportunities and to take advantage of every benefit offered by their teachers. Rev. Canon J. C. McGee and Ernest Sylvester, president of the Catholic School Commission, added their congratulations, both speakers dwelling on the worthy and useful citizenship in which the students of St. Patrick's Academy had developed.

T. G. Walsh, English representative on the Catholic School Board, had a special word of thanks and appreciation for the Old Boys' Association, the assistance and co-operation of the alumni society was highly appreciated and very valuable to the school, the speaker pointed out. Mr. Walsh addressed a word of advice to the parents, urging them to keep their children in school as long as possible so as to prepare them more fully for their life's work.

Before the entertainment closed Brother Benedict reminded the gathering that the students had been invited to attend a picnic sponsored by the Old Boys' Association. This will be held at Wrights Beach, Magog, next Tuesday, and present indications are that the entire student body will take advantage of the Old Boys' generous gesture.

The major credit for the success of last night's entertainment is shared by Brother Benedict, who coached the students for the three-act play, Brother Felin, who taught the youngsters the Irish reel, and Mrs. F. J. Doherty, who tutored the primary class children. Mrs. Doherty played the piano accompaniment for the different musical numbers.

The hockey players who received Quebec Amateur Hockey Association trophies for winning the mid-winter title were Willis Brooks, Maurice Grigsby, Douglas Wiggitt, Brendan Veilleux, Harry Allen, Curtis Barlow, Kenneth Barlow, Lorne Murphy, Lennox Gagnon and Raymond Lemay.

Joseph Fisher was the proud winner of the Canon Fiset Memorial prize for religious knowledge, and Willis Brooks won the prize for Canadian history and Alfred Allen gained the award for natural history. These three awards were presented to the School by the Old Boys' Association. The prizes donated by Rev. Canon J. C. McGee were awarded as follows: for English literature, Keville Doherty; to altar boy for regularity and general deportment about the sanctuary, Harry Allen and Joseph Fisher; for religious knowledge, Edmund Corrigan. The gold medal for French, donated by the French School Commission, was won by Keville Doherty, while the prize for popularity, donated by J. H. Walsh, was awarded Brendan Veilleux.

IRISH ACADEMY YEAR FINISHED LAST EVENING

Spacious Gymnasium Filled to Overflowing by Parents and Friends Attending Annual Closing Exercises of St. Patrick's Academy.

Twenty-five years ago next September a pioneer group of Irish Presentation Brothers arrived in Sherbrooke and opened the school which today is one of the most prominent children of the family fathered by the Catholic School Board of this city. From a modest beginning this institution, St. Patrick's Academy, has developed into an important school of sound learning. Guided by conscientious Commissioners, conducted by worthy successors of these pioneer professors and assisted of late years by an active Alumni Association, the Irish Academy has turned out students whose ability, conduct and general deportment have reflected highly on the standards set by the Sherbrooke's lone English Catholic school.

Additions to the original facilities have been necessary to accommodate the ever-increasing attendance, and last night in the recently constructed gymnasium another successful year was concluded with the annual closing exercises. The spacious auditorium was filled to overflowing by parents and friends whose co-operation has contributed much towards the present distinction and esteem enjoyed by the school. Standing room was at a premium and in return for the encouraging support the students rendered in providing an entertainment which won the audience, we get the minor inconveniences occasioned by a warm evening.

A report of the year's activities by the principal, Rev. Brother Benedict, and the distribution of prizes featured the programme. Other highlights were the play and musical numbers presented by the students and the encouraging addresses made by the guests who were called upon to speak.

The entertainment opened with a chorus, "On the Good Ship Lollipop," by a group from the Primer Class, which included Jimmie Gallagher, John Unsworth, Amedee Daigle, Ronald Murphy, Thomas Noel, Ronald Dick, Clifford Arrand, Raymond Laperle, Junior Barlow, Thomas Bonner, Neil Stewart, Pat Powers, Russell Marois, Grattan Callaghan, Leonard Shufelt and Bobby Marois. This item was followed by an Irish reel which was executed so well by Alfred Allen, Miles Walsh, Danchart Vincent, Gordon Barlow, John Unsworth, Neil Stewart, Raymond Laperle, E. Campbell, Leonard Barlow, Amedee Daigle and Thomas Bonner that it appeared as though the young dancers had been brought from the Old Sod for the occasion.

The three-act play, "His Father's Son," staged by the High School Juniors, was masterfully depicted and revealed much natural stage talent. The production, a newspaper story, centred about Douglas Boyie, a pupil at Maplehurst School, who discovers that he is being supported in luxury by a father who has lost all his fortune. The boy leaves school at once, though by doing so he falls under the suspicion of theft. This is a misunderstanding. But the son gets a trial assignment on his father's newspaper, makes a "scoop" and is finally set right in all matters.

It would be difficult to select any individual star in the play. The boys made up to give better effect to the roles they were depicting, played their parts in a manner which drew rounds of applause from the gathering. The various roles were played as follows: Nathan Doyle, a reporter on a newspaper, Hector Walsh; Douglas Doyle, his son at Maplehurst, Albert Walker; Hiram McInnis, his son, by Henry Veilleux; Lancello Griffith, a reporter, by Russell Marois; Jim O'Callahan, city editor, by Maurice Lebrun; Timothy Glenn, an office boy, by Russell Hooper; Philip Crane, headmaster of Maplehurst, by Douglas Wiggitt; Harrison Fiske, his assistant, by Eugene Gendron; Harry Atkins, John Hartwell, Horace Russell and Orville Mitchell, fellow students, by Eddie Udall, Gerry Barlow, Conrad Noel and Henry Crochetiere.

As an entracte Henry Lemay, a talented young pianist, played two selections which were well received.

In his report Rev. Brother Benedict said in part: "The closer the co-operation between parents and Academy will be. It is my pleasure to inform you that the boys have been faithful and diligent in their studies and have maintained the high standards of efficiency, loyalty and integrity of which St. Patrick's Academy is justly proud."

"Again this year our senior boys distinguished themselves at Bishop's University matriculation examinations. Seventy-five per cent of the candidates who wrote the tests were successful and Keville Doherty achieved distinction in French. The pupils of the sixth year wrote their examinations for their primary certificates at the Sacred Heart School and three of the five candidates were successful.

Turning to extra-curricular activities, Brother Benedict stated "For the third successive year our boys have won the Eastern Township mixed hockey championship. Through kindness of the Old Boys and friends, these boys had the opportunity of spending two days in Montreal, where they thoroughly enjoyed themselves. With the kind assistance of the Junior Catholic Women's League and the Old Boys, the cafeteria was again in operation and 1,498 substantial meals were served during the winter months."

ALLEN STOPPED DETROIT WITH FIVE SAFETIES

Thirty-Year-Old Right-Hander Tamed Tigers as Yankees Hung Up Sixth Successive Victory—Giants Owned Pirates to Increase Lead Over National League Field.

Many reasons have been advanced as to why the New York Yankees are out in front of the American League pack by five and a half games—the least of which is not Johnny Allen, the man who came back.

At the start of the season the thirty-year-old right-hander was pretty much of an unknown quantity despite two brilliant years on the mound in 1932 and 1933. His arm had gone bad early last year with the result that he was offered a conditional contract calling for one dollar a year.

Yesterday Allen was assigned the task of stopping the Detroit Tigers and stop them he did with five hits as the Yankees turned back the Bengals for the third straight time and hung up their sixth successive victory. The pace-setters won by five to two, Sullivan, Detroit's rookie lefthander, being the victim of his own wildness. The Tiger south-paw allowed only six hits in the seven innings he worked before giving way to Elton Hogsett, but yielded seven bases on balls in addition to hitting Bill Dickey and was tagged for all the New York runs. Dickey was hit on the back of the head by one of Sullivan's fast balls in the first inning and carried from the field. Examination at a Detroit hospital disclosed that he had received nothing more than a severe shaking-up and a slight concussion.

The Cleveland Indians climbed over the Chicago White Sox into second place by trouncing the Washington Senators to the tune of eight to six while the Pale Hose were dividing a pair with the Philadelphia Athletics. A home run by Ralph Winegarner, pinch-hitting for Mel Harder in the eighth inning, started the Tribe on the three-run rally which brought victory. Winegarner drove the first pitch offered him by Earl Whitehill into the centerfield bleachers. Cliff Bolton had hit for the circuit off Harder in the first half of the same frame.

Jimmy Foxx's twelfth home run of the season with Bob Johnson on base in the tenth inning decided the first of the Philadelphia-Chicago doubleheader in favor of the Mackmen by five to two. The nightcap also went to extra innings, successive singles by Rip Radcliff, Jack Hayes and Mule Haas giving the Sox a two to one decision in the twelfth chapter.

Johnny Whitehead, White Sox freshman mound star, suffered his fourth straight defeat since his string of eight straight wins was stopped. Johnny Marcum, who had been rapping preparatory to pitching the second game, was summoned from the club house to bat in the ninth frame and pinch-hit the tying run home off Whitehead. Marcum then went the twelve innings in the nightcap.

Home runs played an important part in the New York Giants' six to two victory over the second-place Pittsburgh Pirates—a triumph that increased their advantage to six and a half games. Manager Bill Terry and Joe Moore clouted circuit drives to account for half of the New York points. Roy Parmelee, racking National League burier, was forced to give way to Al Smith in the fifth stanza because of a strained back. Although the Giants were in front at the time and Parmelee had allowed only a pair of blows, credit for the victory went to Smith, who blanked the Bucs with two hits the remainder of the distance. At the same time the Giants got their revenge on Guy Bush, who beat the Terrymen with four hits on Pittsburgh's last visit to the Polo Grounds.

A combination of splendid pitching by "Dizzy" Dean and a home run by Jimmy Collins with one man on base in the fifth inning gave the St. Louis Cardinals a three to one victory over the Phillies. The elder Dean restricted the Phils to five hits and the Cards moved within five points of second place. The win was "Dizzy's" tenth triumph of the year against five defeats. Camilli hit for the circuit in the second stanza for the Phillies' only run.

Two big innings broke up a pair of pitching duels as Brooklyn and Cincinnati broke even in a doubleheader. The Reds won the first fixture by six to one in eleven innings and the Dodgers took the afterpiece by seven to one.

For nine innings of the initial encounter Tony Freitas and Tom Zachary pitched scoreless ball, the former holding the Dodgers to two hits. In the tenth inning both teams scored a run as Paul Derringer relieved Freitas after the latter had passed a man. The Reds broke out with five runs in the eleventh chapter with Johnny Babich the victor.

The second game went along much the same way until the eighth inning with Johnson and Dazzy Vance, who had replaced Mungo in the fifth chapter, locked in a mound duel. Then the Dodgers cut loose, scoring six runs.

The Chicago Cubs-Boston Braves and the Boston Red Sox-St. Louis Browns games were rained out.

CANADIANS ARE SURVIVORS FOR AMATEUR TITLE

Stan Leonard, of Vancouver, Meets "Sandy" Somerville and Stew. Vickers, of Edmonton, Clashes with Gordon Taylor, of Toronto, in Semi-Finals Today.

Hamilton, Ont., June 21.—The "hot" contender for the Canadian amateur golf title—in its semi-final stages today—was generally believed to be Stan Leonard, of Vancouver. The probable winner, in the general view, was C. Ross "Sandy" Somerville, of London. Nobody was calling Gordon Taylor, Jr., of Toronto, a long shot any more.

But the hopes of the country, for sentimental and other reasons, rode with a young man from Calgary, a "dark horse" named Stewart Vickers, who has been as "hot" as any of them this week and a great deal more surprising. The amateur championship has never been won by a player from the prairies.

Twice Alberta champion, Vickers came to Ancaster as No. 1 man on the province's Willingdon Cup team. That did not entitle him to serious consideration when the experts made Somerville, Bud Donovan, of Winnipeg, and Ken Black, of Vancouver, joint favorites to lift the crown Albert "Scotty" Campbell, of Seattle, was not defending.

Today, having earned serious consideration by eliminating Donovan and Black, among others, Vickers sets out in one thirty-six hole semi-final against Taylor, former Ontario amateur title holder. In the other bracket the upstart Somerville, gunning for his fifth championship, plays the "hot" Leonard.

As the last hopes of the United States passed out of the picture, western Canada sent two of its best into today's semi-final against Ontario's pair and the Dominion was assured of the championship remaining at home for the first time since Gordon Baxter, Taylor, of Montreal, emerged victorious in 1932.

Somerville had a close call yesterday when Fred Wright, seven times champion of Massachusetts, refused to be daunted by the impressive play of the imperturbable "Sandy," winter of the United States amateur, three years ago. Wright carried Somerville to the nineteenth hole and curiously enough it was a putt that sent the genial American down to defeat after his performance on the greens had brought applause from the large gallery. Wright's only weakness was on his tee shots and these came infrequently but enough to put him in trouble. "Sandy" sank an eight-footer on the extra hole and Wright just missed his six-foot attempt.

Somerville's methodical game was too much in the morning for Dickie Moore, of Vancouver, and London's man of few words calmly carved out a five and three triumph. Wright romped through the eighteen holes of the fourth round, wielding a magic putter that spelled a five and four defeat for Jack Rolston, of Dundas, Ont.

Leonard struffed out Dan Kenney, the rotund and smiling shot-maker from Winnipeg, by four and three and took the measure of another westerner, stoical Jim Mount, field, of Edmonton, by the same margin in the afternoon.

Taylor, outstripping Rod Phelan, of Toronto, four up in his first morning nine holes, slipped on the incoming nine but came "brought with a two and one win. In the afternoon he staged a great show in the final nine to eliminate Dick Lunn, a scotch man from Washington, D.C., by three and two after rounding the turn all square.

Vickers, whom many have overlooked, found a real job on his hands in the morning against John Lewis, of Brantford, Ont., but stuck to his woad and won at the twentieth hole. In the afternoon he took on Keny Black who has held the British Columbia open and amateur titles and went to the final against Campbell last year. One up at the turn, the Calgary boy held grimly to his lead and finished with a two and one decision.

SEMI-FINALISTS START PLAY IN STEADY RAIN

Hamilton Golf and Country Club, Ancaster, Ont., June 20.—A steady rain that beat down from leaden skies greeted C. Ross "Sandy" Somerville, of London, Ont., and Stan Leonard, Vancouver's young stalwart, when they started out today in the semi-final of the Canadian amateur championship. They were followed by Gordon Taylor, Jr., of York Downs, Toronto, and Stew Vickers, of Calgary, making the semi-final strictly an east vs. west affair for the title vacated by Albert Campbell, of Seattle, at the start there was little prospect was. The conditions would change.

Par for the course is: Par out 444 543 434—65 Par in 444 344 334—65

Finals: The former limited the Phils to five hits for his tenth victory of the season, and the latter's eleventh home run with one aboard gave the Cardinals a three to one victory.

Joe Moore, Giants: Hit his eleventh home run of the season in siding the Giants to defeat the Pirates by six to two.

Mule Haas, White Sox, and Jimmie Foxx, Athletics: Haas' single in the twelfth inning enabled the White Sox to win the second game of a doubleheader by two to one after Foxx's twelfth home run of his season with one on base in the tenth inning gave the A's the opener by five to three.

London, June 21.—The British Air Ministry has already begun to put in effect its expansion programme for the Royal Air Force, as announced in Parliament last month, the Daily Telegraph said today.

"Orders have already been placed for new aircraft—two of them for more than 150 machines," said the newspaper. "Further orders are being negotiated.

"The speed of the fighting planes," the Telegraph added, "will be increased in the next two years from about 240 to 275 or 300 miles per hour. These new machines will be as easy to control and land as those in use today."

"It is no good," says a beauty hint, "thinking of your new spring hat until you have decided on your new face."

MANY ATTENDED PLAY AT BURY; GENERAL NOTES

Large Audience Enjoyed "Here Comes Charlie" at Bury United Church—Other Items and Personals of Interest.

Bury, June 21.—A capacity house greeted the comedy, "Here Comes Charlie," which was staged in the town hall on Thursday evening under the auspices of the Women's Missionary Association of the United Church. It was a very appreciative audience, who watched the development of the plot and listened to the delightful music by the Bury Band throughout the act.

The cast of characters were: Larry Elliott, the guardian of Charlie, Clarence Greengough; Larry's friend Ted Hartley, Edmund Macdonald; Aunt Fanny Farnham, domineering aunt and housekeeper of Larry, Miss Charlotte Hopps; Charlie, ward of Larry, Gwyneth Lawrence; Mrs. Caroline Smythe-Kersey a snobbish society climber, Mrs. L. D. McLeod; her daughter Vivian, whom she is trying to marry to money, Miss Patricia Bennett; her son Mortimer, a stupid sleepy-head, Garnet Card; Aleck Twiggs, uncle of Charlie, Gordon Kirkpatrick; Nora, the Irish maid, Mrs. Gwylliam Lawrence; policeman McGill whose love is divided between Nora and her pier.

The scene is laid at the home of Larry Elliott, whose home and everything in it, including himself, is dominated by his Aunt Fanny. Larry informs his friend Ted Hartley that an old man, Bill Hoppes, who had rescued him from drowning while on a vacation in the Ozarks, in dying, had accepted Larry's offer that if ever he could befriend him in any way he would do so, and was asking him to be a guardian to his little Charlie, whom he was sending to him, accompanied by his old partner Aleck Twiggs. Aunt Fanny overhears their conversation re Charlie, and is horrified at the idea, but Larry is firm. Charlie finally arrives on the scene in company with Uncle Aleck and turns out to be a girl. Mrs. Smythe-Kersey, a snobbish society climber, wishes to marry her daughter, Vivian, to money and chooses Larry as her victim.

Mrs. Smythe-Kersey, Vivian and Aunt Fanny make life most unpleasant for Charlie, whom they try to have Larry send away.

She is an uncouth little girl from the mountains unaccustomed to society manners and her antics provoke much merriment. Larry, tired of their scheming, dismisses his aunt and sends Charlie to a young ladies' boarding school.

In the final act she returns, a refined and cultured young lady. Mrs. Smythe-Kersey tries to persuade Charlie to marry her stupid son, Mortimer, after learning that she has inherited a fortune. Her plans are frustrated and Uncle Aleck announces the engagement of his niece to Larry Elliott. Vivian drops into a chair and her mother and brother fan her while Larry's friend, Ted, and Nora the maid congratulate them.

The play drew forth hearty applause. The cast was exceptionally well selected and it would be difficult to single out any individual performer for each individually deserved unstinted praise.

Mrs. W. A. Cathcart, who coached the players, and deserves much credit for the success of the play.

Ask any active, outdoor man why he likes Melchers Geneva. "Because it's a good, honest, masculine drink that needs no fixing. Because it's meant to be taken straight, or with a dash of plain water... the way a man likes his drink." This is important too. It's PURE, a straight distilled gin... not a blend. "A MAN'S DRINK"
