PARLEY WINDS UP ON NOTE OF SUCCESS

World News In Brief

Damascus, June 25.—(Reuters) —Well-informed quarters here said today that the Syrian Government will send a note to France on the subject of the withdrawal of French troops. A similar note will be sent by the Lebanon, it was reported.

Quebec, June 25.—(C.P.) —Members of the governing body of the International Labor Organization today started a drive to clean up by Wednesday an agenda that includes the relationship of the I.L.O. and the new world security organization, further discussion of employment and a number of other topics.

The entire Saturday session was devoted to a further exchange of views on employment problems in the post-war and conversion periods. The discussions have been in very general terms but there has been unanimity on the importance of considering employment problems on an international scale and of providing, through the I. L. O. for an exchange of information.

Toronto, June 25.—(C.P.) —The service vote in the Ontario general election, announced today, shifted Wellington North from the Progressive Conservative to the Liberals. Otherwise party standing in the Ontario Legislature was unchanged from civilian voting June 4.

The single change left the standing at: Progressive Conservatives 66; Liberals 11; C.P.F. 8; Liberal-Labor 3; Labor Progressives two.

London, June 25.—(Reuters) —Men of the Japanese "home guard" have orders never to surrender alive, the Japanese Domei agency reported today.

The decree said: "The people's volunteer corps should not leave their duty, however intense the fighting. They should not be taken prisoner alive or die a dishonorable death."

Moscow, June 25.—(AP) —Polish factions conferring here on the formation of a new provisional government of unity embarked on the final phase of their discussions today preparatory to departing for Warsaw, where the personnel of the government will be announced.

The Warsaw regime's ambassador to the Soviet Union, Zigmund Modzelewski, will be host at a reception tonight marking the accord reached by the conferees.

All members of the various Polish factions, as well as Russian officials and foreign diplomats in Moscow have been invited.

London, June 25.—(C.P.) —Prime Minister Churchill, beginning a tour of 1,000 miles through England and Scotland to plead the cause of Conservatism, declared in a campaign address today that "it is no use people thinking I can continue to serve unless I have a great majority when I return to the House."

The doctory Prime Minister, a rose in his buttonhole, made the remark during his first stop of the trip, the marketplace at Aylesbury, five miles from his home at Chequers.

"This election is of great importance because it comes at a moment when the future of our country is at stake," he said. "We can only preserve our place in the world by being united. We had to have an election because this Parliament lasted so long."

Formal Approval To Be Given New Peace League Charter By Conference

By C. R. BLACKBURN, Canadian Press Staff Writer.
San Francisco, June 25.—(C.P.) —A tired secretariat today set the stage for the last events of the San Francisco Security Conference which will pledge fifty United Nations never again to take up arms "save in the common interest."

A brief plenary session of the whole conference was scheduled to approve formally the final draft of the new peace league charter which already has been approved unanimously in Committee of the Whole.

Then will come the brilliant pageantry of signing when two or more from each delegation will walk upon a Hollywood-like setting to place their names on the historic documents.

Prime Minister Mackenzie King and Justice Minister St. Laurent will sign for Canada, having flown here Saturday from Ottawa for that purpose.

BRITAIN WILL HAVE AT LEAST 1,600 NOMINEES

Election Expected to Result Either in Return of Prime Minister Churchill's National Government or Atlee's Labor Administration.

London, June 25.—(C.P. Cable) —Some 1,600 candidates of the three parties and more than a half-dozen minor political groups will be nominated today for Britain's first general election in ten years—an election expected to result either in the return of Prime Minister Churchill's "National" Government or a Labor administration headed by Clement Atlee.

Sir Archibald Sinclair's Liberals, admittedly poorly organized after many years as His Majesty's official opposition and a 1932 internal split over Empire preference, suffered badly by Mr. Churchill's decision to hold the election July 5. The Liberals have only a few more than 300 candidates in the field.

But while they cannot possibly have an over-all majority in the 640-seat House of Commons, they are expected to hold the balance of power in the event that neither the Labor or Conservative parties win more than half the seats. Most of the Liberal Party's leaders are more sympathetic to Labor than to Tory politics.

However, while the Liberals can end up in a strong bargaining position, the main issues of the election lie between the "free enterprise" policy which Mr. Churchill's supporters make their major campaign plank, and the nationalization pledges of the Labor Party.

The result of the July 5 voting will be announced July 26, the three-week delay being imposed to permit arrival of ballots cast by servicemen Overseas which will be included in the count for their home constituencies.

The number of candidates in the July election is larger than the 1,348 of ten years ago but is not a record. In the election of 1929 there were 1,728—the reason being that the three major parties each had

Delegates generally concede that the nine-week conference has been a success in that it has produced a charter which, if it is lived up to by the countries whose representatives sign it, will mean an end to wars of aggression.

So far as could be learned, no last-minute hitches threaten to upset the wind-up schedule and the programme from now to the end late Tuesday is expected to be pure formality and oratory.

The great event for San Francisco and the delegates today is the arrival of President Truman who will close the conference with a 15-minute address tomorrow.

A number of receptions have been planned for the President and he is expected at some time during his stay here to hold a private conference with Mr. Mackenzie King.

The last plenary session in the Opera House tomorrow before a capacity audience will hear a series of ten speeches in almost as many languages, to be climaxed by the President's closing address.

San Francisco, June 25.—(AP) —Field Marshal Jan Christian Smuts of South Africa believes that the United Nations Conference, in adding the realism of armed might to the idealism of the old League of Nations Covenant, has written four major improvements into the new world charter.

The 76-year-old South African Prime Minister, who played a leading role in the drafting of both the covenant and the charter, told the Associated Press that the new document is better than the old in recognizing these points:

"1. That force is necessary to maintain peace.
"2. That only the combined force of the great powers can guarantee the world against total war, and that, therefore, great power unity is a necessary condition for world peace.
"3. That the other nations, according to their measure, should bind themselves to supply forces against aggression.
"4. That smaller defensive groups should be encouraged under the world organization to help in maintaining the peace in their areas, so long as the organization itself does not take defensive action."

San Francisco, June 25.—(AP) —Prime Minister Mackenzie King said in an interview today that the result of the United Nations Security Conference was "fully up to my expectations."

He said the Conference had taken longer than had been anticipated but the time was well spent.

1,500 Jap Vessels Strafed By Planes

Manila, June 25.—(AP) —Light and heavy U.S. bombers gave the Japanese a flaming week-end from Hong Kong to Formosa, headquarters reported today. Medium bombers strafed more than 1,500 junks and other small craft between Hong Kong and Canton, wrecking at least 40 of them.

Use of such small craft for evacuation is a favorite Japanese device but there was no official indication of any enemy efforts to evacuate Hong Kong.

More than 90 fighter planes strafed and fire-bombed southwestern coastal areas of Formosa, and 30 heavy bombers which followed them dropped 197 tons of high explosives on oil installations. Flames leaped nearly a half mile high.

The end of organized resistance on Okinawa highlighted the Pacific war news of the past week. Boxes on map indicate rapid progress of Borneo campaign and the Japanese withdrawals in South China. B-29 Superfortresses continue devastating attacks on Japan's principal cities.

Japan Abandoning Borneo's Oil Fields To Australians

Manila, June 26.—(AP) —After doing their best to sabotage all oil wells, Japanese evidently are abandoning some of Borneo's richest petroleum areas to the invading Australians.

Australia's 9th Division drove down the Borneo North Coast toward the Miri fields against slight opposition yesterday and already had taken Seria, potentially richest oil area in the British Empire. At least 21 of Seria's 50 wells still were flaming from Japanese torches, however.

More than 150 Australian and American bombers continued the aerial blasting of the Southeastern Dutch Borneo port of Balikpapan, but there was no confirmation of the Tokyo radio reports that the Allies had attempted landings there which had been "completely checked."

The last enemy resistance on Labuan Island in Brunei Bay has been smashed, the Melbourne Radio reported, and other Australians had cleared Tarakan Island, off Borneo's East Coast. Tarakan was invaded May 1 and Labuan June 10.

Meanwhile in the Philippines paratroopers hastened the Luzon cleanup campaign toward a climax today, putting the squeeze on an estimated 20,000 Japanese now sealed off from their last major escape port, Aparri.

It was at Aparri, on the North Coast, that the enemy invaded the Philippines December 10, 1941. It appeared likely that the Japanese in the rugged Cordillera country to the west or in the unexplored Sierra Madre range to the east—there to face slow extermination.

Hard-won Okinawa was paying off as an air base today, with air raids announced against Kyushu, the Sakishimas and elsewhere in the Western Pacific even while the last scattered Japanese survivors were being killed or rounded up.

While this plodding land action was in progress, light bombers on Saturday bombed Itazuki airfield on northern Kyushu, one of Japan's home islands, and other planes made a series of strafing runs on the Sakishima group in the Southern Ryukyus, possibly contributing to a marked decline in Japanese air attacks on Okinawa.

CHINESE REACH HWANGYEN AREA PURSUING JAPS

Chungking, June 25.—(AP) —Chinese troops pursuing Japanese forces north along China's east coast 450 miles west of Okinawa have reached Hwangyen, 175 miles south of Shanghai, the Chinese High Command announced today as other Chinese troops fought for possession of the former American air base city of Liuchow, 800 miles to the southwest.

In the Hwangyen area, on Tachow Bay, Chinese spearheads engaged Japanese rearguards after a week-long retreat which carried enemy troops 60 miles from Chinese-occupied Wenchow. Following the steadily retreating Japanese, Chinese forces have reached a point within 127 miles southeast of Hangchow.

The Chinese said bitter fighting still raged in Liuchow, former U.S. air base site abandoned seven months ago. The Japanese had stiffened their resistance to Chinese attempts to capture the south rail station, the biggest rail depot in South-Central China.

Chinese press reports carried a belated announcement that Chinese troops had recaptured Schachiao-cheng, a small town 430 miles northeast of Chungking and near the important Japanese stronghold of Nanyang in Honan province.

Building To Portray Rise Of Rural Education In Province

Prominent Government and Educational Leaders Deliver Ceremonial Addresses—History of Educational Progress in Knowlton District Is Reviewed—New $230,000 Building To Be Only Composite High School in Province When Completed—To Open in 1946.

By BROCK LAWS
Knowlton, June 25.—"If one has any doubt as to the good faith of the Prime Minister of Quebec, and the Government of this Province in regard to education, he need only look to the picture which is being unfolded today in this rural constituency in the Province of Quebec—he will see a predominantly French-Canadian and Roman Catholic Government contributing $150,000 for the educational welfare of the rural minority population of the Eastern Townships."

This was the statement made by the Hon. Jonathan Robinson, K.C., M.L.A., Minister of Mines for the Province of Quebec, on Saturday, who spoke at the special ceremony marking the laying of the cornerstone of Knowlton's new composite High School, which, when completed, will be the only one of its kind in the Province of Quebec.

Continuing his address, the member for Brome County said: "The Prime Minister and the Government of the Province have instructed me to convey to you their very best wishes for the success and prosperity of the new Knowlton High School.

"It is an honor at this time for me to be representative for the County of Brome in this Government, and I may say that it is a source of very great personal satisfaction to me to be your member of a Government which has made possible the building of a magnificent school such as this.

"In my opinion not only the people of the Eastern Townships, but all the English-speaking Protestants of this province will remember with grateful thanks the Government which made such a princely contribution to the cause of Protestant education in this district. During the year 1936-39 the Duplessis Government did more for the cause of education than had ever been done before or since in this province.

"It was the first Government to recognize the necessity of making a scientific study of the problems of education, and it was during this Government's term of office that the famous Heburn report was prepared. It was also during this Government's term of office that larger donations were made for the cause of higher education and scholarship than had ever been made before.

"I mention these facts because, at the present time, the question of education, and as possible, should say, the problem of education, has become a very serious problem in this province.

"It is my belief that the difficult time education is experiencing now is due to the fact that previous governments failed to recognize their responsibility with regard to education, which adopted a laissez faire policy, which sooner or later was bound to collapse due to constructive thinking and planning.

"For many years persons responsible for the Government of this province have adopted the hand-to-mouth policy towards education which has resulted in the chaos we are facing today with regard to this all-important subject. While there are many serious questions and problems facing this Government which necessarily should be solved, my honest belief that the question of education will be settled and that proper educational requirements will be made in order that this important question or problem will be put on a sound and practical business-like basis.

"It is unfair for the public to expect any government which has been in power for only a few short months to correct overnight the evils which have existed for years, but I repeat, that given time the Duplessis Government will eventually find a solution to this problem, which will not only do credit to the Government but to the Province of Quebec.

Prior to the Minister's address the cornerstone ceremonies were officially opened by Rev. A. Mitchell, Pastor of Knowlton United Church, who briefly reviewed the history of Knowlton schools in a special address prepared by L. M. Knowlton, Esq., Chairman of the Knowlton School Board. Mr. Mitchell acted as chairman in place of Mr. Knowlton, who was to have presided, but who, though present, was unable to officiate due to a throat affliction.

The culmination of four important steps in Knowlton educational history were outlined by Mr. Mitchell as follows:

To those of us who are interested in education there have been four notable dates in the history of this community.

The first occurred nearly a century ago when the first school was built.

The second was the opening of the first composite high school in 1902.

The third was the opening of the new $230,000 building in 1946.

The fourth was the laying of the cornerstone today.

Maximum Allied Effort Needed To Defeat Japs

By DEWITT MACKENZIE
AP Foreign News Analyst

Our conquest of Okinawa has been a grim and bloody business, and it certainly furnishes ample warning that the defeat of Japan calls for a maximum Allied effort—but I don't believe we necessarily have to regard this engagement as a preview of what it's going to take to knock out the Mikado's home islands.

Okinawa has confirmed in the hardest possible way many things which we had encountered before. Outstanding is the truth that the Japanese fighting-man is a savage fanatic who is quite willing to sacrifice his life in suicidal conflict. Because of this characteristic he is a tough customer to deal with.

This fanaticism of the Jap warrior is largely religious—a belief that he becomes a God if he gives his life in battle for his Mikado, whom he regards as a deity. We may find that the civilian population is like-minded and is prepared to resist invasion of the home-land to the death, but it strikes me that on this point we are getting into the realm of the unknown and that the lessons of Okinawa are not complete.

The Tokyo Government boasts that every man, woman and child on the Japanese home islands will turn out and fight an invading force, and we should be most unwise to assume that this is idle chatter. We must accept it as a fact until we can demonstrate otherwise.

However, I believe it's entirely possible that the battle of Japan will develop along different lines.

We know what the Jap soldier will do when he is at close quarters with his enemy. He will fight to the death. But we don't know what he will do, or what the civilian population will do, when they are under constant fierce attack by a foe who isn't facing them but is striking from such a remote position that they can't come to grips with him—that is to say, by bombing. It's one thing to fight hand-to-hand, and quite another to cover on the ground when lightning strikes about you from the heavens.

That's the way the battle of Japan is developing now. The Japs are going to try to bring the battle to amphibious invasion is going to be a terrific aerial bombardment, the like of which the world never has seen.

Gen. Arnold, chief of the United States Army Air Forces, says that what Germany saw in the way of bombing was "only an amateurish effort compared to what Japan is going to get." He forecasts that 2,000,000 tons of bombs will be let loose on the Mikado's home islands in the coming year, and that Japan will have little industry left by the coming autumn.

In short, what's going to happen to Japan is that this deluge of death and destruction will render her largely impotent before an invasion is attempted. The Germans are brave enough on the battlefield, but they cracked when Allied bombers blasted the factories, supply centres and communications of the Reich and made it impossible either to maintain the Hitlerian war machine or provide the civilian population with the necessities of life.

Tight little Japan, with her flimsily-built cities, is far more vulnerable than was Germany. How long can she take it? Will the people dig holes in the ground and defy the lightning? We shall get a fair idea of that as soon as our raids with 1,000 B-29s are running regularly. I think we have a right to believe that we won't have to kill every Jap before we force capitulation. That's not an invitation to over-confidence, but looks like a logical conclusion.

Effort To Stamp Out Axis Spearheads Being Studied

Washington, June 25.—(AP) —(Advance) —A Senate Committee received State Department evidence today that Argentina has failed to eliminate a single case of suspected German economic penetration.

Appearing before a military subcommittee studying Nazi plans for a third Great War, Assistant United States Secretary of State William L. Clayton submitted documents summarizing results of a Department campaign to stamp out Axis spearheads in Latin America by supporting enemy control of various business enterprises with friendly ownership.

Mr. Clayton said that in the case of Argentina—most recent Western Hemisphere member of the United Nations—there are 164 such spearheads "in which no action or non-elimination action has been taken to date." Four others are in the process of elimination, he said, but none has been eliminated completely.

Effort To Stamp Out Axis Spearheads Being Studied

Brazil, on the other hand, has eliminated completely 48 listed spearheads, has 70 others in the process of elimination and has none in which no action has been taken.

The spearheads, Mr. Clayton said, are "companies which are known centers of espionage or other aggressive activity. Elimination means that the company has either been liquidated, seized and operated by the local South American Government in question, or sold to non-Nazi interests."

Haiti showed 25 complete eliminations, Chile 22 and Ecuador 19. Mr. Clayton said results have been "encouraging," adding: "It seems a safe prediction . . . to say that German economic and political penetration in this hemisphere has, for the most part, been dealt a blow from which it will probably not recover; and that the prospects are reasonably bright for the substantial elimination of Axis spearhead firms even in the areas where they still survive."

Allied Mission To France Begins Task Of Rebuilding

By MARGARET ECKER
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Paris, June 25.—(C.P.) —Penicillin and tractors, baby clothes and railroad engines, seed potatoes and pig props are part of the stock in trade for the Allied Supreme Headquarters mission to France.

British, Canadian, South African, Australian and American officers have worked together more than a year to bring France the tools to finish not only her war job but also to rehabilitate her people and lay new foundations for her industrial structure.

Their job has been to study France's needs and bring those that are essential before Supreme Headquarters to aid and advise France in the puzzle of her rebirth.

To them since D-Day a year ago had flooded every type of request, for medical supplies, farm implements, clothing and railway rolling stock.

It was their chore to study the requests and make recommendations.

NEW KNOWLTON SCHOOL SYMBOL OF PROGRESS

Speaking at the impressive ceremonies in connection with the laying of the cornerstone of the new Knowlton High School on Saturday afternoon, Dr. W. P. Percival, Director of Protestant Education for the Province of Quebec, and A. Kirk Cameron, Chairman of the Protestant Committee of the Council of Education, brought greetings from their respective organizations as they outlined the progress of education in this province.

Bringing greetings from the Department of Education Dr. W. P. Percival, said that "the day of small things in Protestant education is passing rapidly. Small isolated school units have served previous generations well... but this is an era of progress. This school, the cornerstone of which is being laid today, is a symbol of what is being done in Protestant education in Quebec today. It is an outward and visible sign of activity and progress."

Complete text of Dr. Percival's address follows: Out of mourning comes joy, out of war comes peace and out of destruction comes reconstruction. From the calamitous fire that took place in May, 1944, there is now arising in Knowlton a magnificent high school that, I can assure you, will be one of the best of its kind in Canada, one which will add to the dignity of this gem of the Eastern Townships and give to it a rich sense of pride in the provision it is making for the education of its children.

The structure will consist of ten classrooms, a chemistry and physics room, a combined gymnasium and assembly hall, complete with showers and locker room, a manual training room, a library, a teachers' room, a principal's office and a medical room. It will be fireproof throughout. Here children will have the opportunity to play as well as to work. They will have greater advantages than the children of this vicinity have ever had before. The building is planned not only as a school but as a community centre, and the citizens will profit greatly by its facilities. The building is not being erected for the pupils of Knowlton only. It is hoped that all the county will benefit from the new structure and from the added facilities which are to be introduced.

The day of small things in Protestant education is passing rapidly. Small isolated school units have served previous generations well. But we have passed from the candle and the horse and buggy stage and have advanced to the electric light and the quick transport period. Our boys and girls will grow up in a new scientific and rapidly moving era, and they will have an education that will fit them to take their places in the world of the future. No matter what sacrifices may be necessary, the present generation must furnish them with the facilities they need in order that they may be fully prepared for life and be capable of appreciating its richness.

No longer must all pupils be forced into the same grooves, grooves that confine many of them unduly and retard their growth, even if they do not stunt them permanently. We must see to it that each child has facilities in our high schools to suit his abilities and tastes. Those who are going to be professional men and women must have courses available to enable them to gain admission to college. Those who are going to be farmers must have education in scientific agriculture, and those who intend to be business men and women must learn some of the skills needed for success therein. These should be well over 500 candidates each, the Conservatives 596, Labor 571 and Liberals 514.

The official nomination list today will find Labor well ahead of its 1929 figure, the Conservatives slightly down and the Liberals more than 200 candidates fewer.

The official nomination list today will find Labor well ahead of its 1929 figure, the Conservatives slightly down and the Liberals more than 200 candidates fewer.

Counting supporters from other groups, however, Mr. Churchill's administration has 623 candidates. Of these 55 are Conservatives, 61 Liberal Nationalists, 41 non-party men and former members of the National Labor group just dissolved, two Independents and one Independent National.

Labor has placed just over 600 candidates, the largest individual party candidature and the highest number in the party's history.

The Liberal Party expects to have 305 candidates in the field, though they had planned on 500 if the election had been held in the autumn.

In addition there will be 25 candidates of the war-born Common Wealth Party and 21 Communists. A small group are seeking election for the Independent Labor Party and there are Scottish and Welsh Nationalists.

Among the queerest contests in the election will be those in the Fenwick and Tyrone constituencies and Northern Ireland where P. Cunningham and A. J. Melvey are seeking re-election as Irish National Abstentionists. Elected in 1935, neither took their seats.

Among the candidates are about 80 women, half of them standing for the Labor Party. Ten years ago there were 66 women candidates of whom nine were elected. About 464 members of the last House are seeking re-election.

Mr. Cameron said: "It is a great day for a community when a new school is established. That you will have this new school in operation before the end of this year is due largely to the energy, vision and determination of one of your community members, Mr. Eric Fisher. In future years I would hope that grateful graduates of this school will rise up to suitably acknowledge the part Mr. Fisher has played in having this school established.

"But from those present today, I would expect to see a new generation of young men and women who will be getting the school fabric properly organized and running. You may believe the heaviest tasks will come after the building has been completed and opened for operation.

"This is the first composite high school in the Province of Quebec. It is a milestone in the story of Protestant education, but should not be a stopping place. It is to be hoped it may be the first of many such schools to be established at different centres throughout the Province. Rural school consolidation has done much for elementary education. Composite High Schools will enlarge and perfect this movement in the larger field of secondary education.

"We are entering a new era of development and expansion in Canada, and quite likely all over the world. New conditions call for new ways of training young people to meet them. This school if properly used should send forth a constantly increasing flow of highly-trained young men and women to become leaders in this new time.

"We are entering the synthetic age and the discoveries and inventions of the years before us promise to far surpass what we used to talk about as the wonders of the nineteenth century. Canada has all the raw materials to play a great part in this new world. We have in abundance, unlimited water powers, minerals widely distributed, great forests, great agricultural areas and best of all, a resourceful, industrious and highly imaginative people. These assets must be co-ordinated and properly used. This school should provide sound foundational training to equip its students to play a worthy part in this new time.

"It should be a centre of community life for Brome County and a quarter ago when work was begun on a small wooden building on the road to West Bolton, about two miles east of this place.

Who those builders were we do not know, but they were the pioneers of the educational facilities for this community, and this building was used for a school for fifty years.

The names of the building committee were Col. Charles W. Merritt, Knowlton, H. S. Foster, J. Merritt and Rev. Robert Lindsay.

This building was used as a school for forty-three years.

The third notable day occurred in September, 1897, when work was begun on the building which burned a little over a year ago.

The School Commissioners of that time were S. U. Courteney, Frederic England, L. L. Ledoux, E. Mills, J. E. Fay, Secretary, and the Grand Old Man of Knowlton, Mr. Ernest Fleury, was Chairman, and is the only one still living.

Today is the fourth and most notable day of all, and we are gathered together to witness the laying of the cornerstone of the building, the foundation of which you see before you.

This building, when completed, will be the first small town High School in the Province. Constructed of concrete, steel, brick and tile, it will stand for centuries, and provide educational facilities for many generations to come.

Those who are gathered here today to witness the laying of the cornerstone are seeing and taking part in a ceremony which will probably never again be repeated in this town.

Covering the site of the former Knowlton High School built in 1897, and completely destroyed by fire in 1944, the new building is being built in a beautiful scenic setting that has made this lakeside community of Knowlton one of the garden spots of Quebec.

Saturday's cornerstone-laying ceremonies, blessed by beautiful weather, opened with the singing of "O Canada," led by the combined Knowlton High School and Protestant Church Choirs. The musical portion of the programme was provided by the Waterloo Concert Band, under the baton of Roger McErgow, who also directed the singing.

Following Mr. Knowlton's introductory paper, and greetings by Protestant educational leaders, the actual laying of the cornerstone by R. Eric Fisher, Chairman of the New Building Fund, was witnessed by the enumeration of the contents of the copper box to be placed in the stone itself. The list, which appears in an adjoining column, was read by Rev. Mr. Mitchell, who acted for Mr. Knowlton due to his inability to preside.

A brief dedicatory prayer was pronounced by the Rev. K. C. Bolton, pastor of St. Paul's Church, beseeching God's blessing on the new school and all who will teach in the new building.

Climaxed by those ringing words, "I now pronounce this stone well and truly laid," the long-awaited moment passed into history as R. Eric Fisher, Chairman of the New Building Fund Committee, supervised the lowering of the cornerstone into its place in the foundation of the new building, passing a silver trowel over its surface as the stone was placed into position immediately to the right of what will be the main entrance of the new school.

Prayers of thanksgiving when "All Blessings Flow" was sung by the gathering immediately following the official pronouncement of the laying of the stone, after which Mr. Fisher expressed thanks to all who made possible the building of the school as he outlined, in what was the principal address of the afternoon, "The Plan of the Rural High School of Today."

THE RURAL HIGH SCHOOL

Mr. Fisher said: It is a great privilege and honor to have the opportunity of addressing you on this notable occasion. Our Chairman, Mr. L. Morgan Knowlton, has invited me to speak to you on the earlier Knowlton Schools. It is a most happy coincidence that twice in times of need a member of the Knowlton Family is found in the seat of authority to direct the educational future of Knowlton.

I must not, however, dwell on the past, but endeavor to portray a Rural High School of today as exemplified by our Knowlton Composite High School. This School differs from most urban ones in that it is co-educational. Usually several grades are taught simultaneously in one classroom, and the elementary, intermediate and High School grades together comprise the school. Formerly the courses of study tended only to prepare the student to enter a University. Not so the Composite High School, this provides a more liberal choice. While courses leading to a University will continue, additional courses in agriculture, typing and bookkeeping, household science and shopwork, will be available where the number of pupils warrant their introduction.

COMMUNITY LINK

This School has another very important feature—the Auditorium-Gymnasium. Few of the older Rural High Schools have this extremely valuable feature. The Auditorium-Gymnasium is the obvious link between School and Community and should be in constant use. The Gymnasium will afford opportunities for recreation and play-building for all. Our nation, fortunately, is becoming more conscious of the importance of a healthy body for every member of the community. The auditorium provides facilities for all kinds of activities—a Home and School Association, Adult Education, concerts and plays—a place where all can meet together and forge a grand community spirit.

The community in turn can continue its generosity to this school by taking a real interest in all its activities and encouraging its members to give their time and money to the school. It is the development of this sense of community and the ideal of life of the present

The official nomination list today will find Labor well ahead of its 1929 figure, the Conservatives slightly down and the Liberals more than 200 candidates fewer.

Counting supporters from other groups, however, Mr. Churchill's administration has 623 candidates. Of these 55 are Conservatives, 61 Liberal Nationalists, 41 non-party men and former members of the National Labor group just dissolved, two Independents and one Independent National.

Labor has placed just over 600 candidates, the largest individual party candidature and the highest number in the party's history.

The Liberal Party expects to have 305 candidates in the field, though they had planned on 500 if the election had been held in the autumn.

In addition there will be 25 candidates of the war-born Common Wealth Party and 21 Communists. A small group are seeking election for the Independent Labor Party and there are Scottish and Welsh Nationalists.

Among the queerest contests in the election will be those in the Fenwick and Tyrone constituencies and Northern Ireland where P. Cunningham and A. J. Melvey are seeking re-election as Irish National Abstentionists. Elected in 1935, neither took their seats.

Among the candidates are about 80 women, half of them standing for the Labor Party. Ten years ago there were 66 women candidates of whom nine were elected. About 464 members of the last House are seeking re-election.

numbers and companionship. All qualified scholars will be most welcome and the community can ensure the composite character of this school by taking outside scholars not only into their hearts but, if necessary, into their homes.

Allied Event

I am taking the liberty of referring briefly to a closely allied and very important event which will contribute greatly to education in this county. Today, we dedicated the Knowlton High School, yesterday was born the Brome County Central School Board. Perhaps this child is a little frail. It is not yet entirely complete with all its members, but it will function unlike the human counterpart, other portions of its anatomy can be successfully added. Local School Boards will be most helpful in their own good time and will add greatly to its strength and efficiency. This child, however, if cradled in the arms of understanding and nourished by the milk of human kindness will almost overnight grow into a lusty lad, able, through administrative conjuncture, to develop to the full the educational efficiency of the county.

A very special welcome awaits men and women of the armed services in our County of Brome. I have only time to touch on this lovely village of Knowlton and the surrounding country. Its charms are apparent to those present, but, for our unseen audience, I draw attention to its churches, the library, the museum, and presently the modern fireproof school, and the progressive community. These are great assets, visualize the scene, the hills, the countless springs and the fertile rolling land. These make an ideal setting for a home.

Tribute to Benefactors

I want to pay a heartfelt tribute to all who have made this school possible. You have heard the able addresses of the previous speakers. You know of their deep interest, and on your behalf, I too wish to convey our warmest thanks to each one of them to extend our deep appreciation to the bodies they represent. We salute the grand pioneer spirit shown by the members of the School Board—that same spirit with which our forefathers hewed out homes in the wilderness and in ox-carts wended interminable journeys through the primeval forest. These forerunners were faced with the necessity of making fateful decisions. Your School Board, no whit less courageously, has faced a most difficult situation. It had to decide whether, in the days of high cost and a flat-topped population, it would build a mere replacement of the destroyed school as cheaply as possible—or would consider the wider interest of the county and make a substantial investment—an investment that would afford an opportunity for the better education of the children and in the community interest of the present and future generations. A right decision was made and your School Board is deserving of our highest praise.

Public Appeal

Despite the most generous Government grant and insurance money, it was found necessary to appeal to the public. A Building Fund Committee was formed and the efforts of the members and the Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. John P. Martin, of Brome, Ontario, and the members of Brome summer residents and benefactors from far and wide interested in Protestant education have donated the magnificent sum of $50,000. On behalf of the Building Fund Committee, I thank them one and all.

We feel that no stone should be left unturned in our endeavor. I would, therefore, be derelict in my duty if I did not point out that while sufficient funds are actually available in donations and bond subscriptions, to complete and equip this splendid school, we need further efforts to make this a debt-free school. Subscribers for $25,000 low interest rate bonds have been secured, but the bond issue has been held in abeyance awaiting hoped-for further donations. The interest rate is not onerous but with sinking yields and a requirement of a bonded indebtedness of $25,000 would be no light burden for this small community to shoulder. No Protestant ratepayer of Knowlton opposed the bonded indebtedness on his property. However, such indebtedness should be further lightened or entirely eliminated.

Brome has given birth to many who have become rural leaders, great churchmen, teachers, doctors, lawyers and businessmen and there are many more to come. We do not want to many of your graduates. Let these graduates be practical courses offered should help to keep them with you. A school and community such as yours can give much, it will gladly receive and refresh those seeking haven for the well-ordered life and a return to the good earth. There is always a requirement in nature, the tides of the ocean—in men, the country to the city—the city to the country. As our blood flows and returns for re-vitalization, so too, the generations of men migrate, return, and are re-invigorated.

May we remind the great business corporations in our province that the Rural High School is serving their interest in developing future executives of character and education with that country bred rugged stamina necessary to survive the strain and stress of business. Let these corporations give consideration to our problems. Several have already responded most generously. A contribution from each of many corporations would be a tangible recognition and place the stamp of approval on this pioneer undertaking.

500 People Attend Inter-Sunday School Picnic At Wright's Beach

Blessed be unusually fine weather, a happy crowd of some 500 people enjoyed an afternoon of sports and pleasant reunion at Sherbrooke's Inter-Sunday School Picnic, held at Wright's Beach, Lake Memphrango, on Saturday afternoon. Participating churches included Trinity United, St. Andrew's Presbyterian, St. Peter's (Anglican), St. Paul's (Anglican) and the Church of the Advent.

Leaving Portland Square at 1:30 p.m. a convoy of almost 50 cars, trucks and a City Transit Bus, led by Major W. W. Foote, District Commandant of the Mobile Police Force, proceeded to the picnic spot, where a full programme of races and special entertainment was enjoyed. A softball game organized between the "Saints"-vs-"The Rest of the Churches," resulted in a 13-12 win for the Saints.

Children under 7 years of age were entertained by a special programme of games, races and singing under the direction of Miss F. Martin, assisted by Misses Oliver and Hatcher.

At the conclusion of the afternoon, an old-fashioned basket picnic was enjoyed by everyone, with hot coffee, ice cream and soft drinks being furnished by the participating churches.

Just before the trees and happy gathering broke up to return to Sherbrooke, Rev. Fred Williams, Pastor of Trinity Church, and General Chairman of the Picnic, distributed the various prizes to the winners of the sports events and the Treasure Hunt.

Officials in charge of the various events were: Softball, Leslie Blynn,

(St. Paul's); Starter, Walter Spanswick, (St. Peter's); Clerks of Course, Andy Blatherwick, (Trinity) and Mr. Blynn; Tape Holders, Jack Wright (Trinity); and George Dick (St. Andrew's); Caller, Bert Thomas, (St. Paul's); Prize Committee, Mrs. Jack Wright (Trinity) and Miss H. Ross, (St. Andrew's); Refreshments, Sam McLean (Trinity) Chairman; Transportation, Allan Bayley, (St. Peter's) Chairman; Finance, P. M. Robins, (St. Peter's) Chairman.

Major Foote and a crew of five members of the Mobile Force were in charge of safety precautions, and assisted in various duties on the grounds. A detachment of St. John's Ambulance Brigade set up a first aid post on the grounds, under the direction of District Superintendent J. M. Rennie. Eleven minor accidents were treated during the afternoon, Mr. Rennie being assisted by Carl Redicker and Andy MacDonald.

Results of the sports events were as follows:

Kiddies, running: 1 Bryan Kay, 2 Maudie Parker, 3 Richard Beerworth.

Crab race: Marilyn Gagner.

All-fours race: 1 Allan Anderson, 2 Bryan Kay, 3 Richard Beerworth.

Seniors, boys 7-8, 25-yard dash: 1 John Hilton, Trinity; 2 Carl Sydney, Trinity; 3 Billie Chesbro, Trinity.

Famous Tank And Crew Which Fought Through France And Holland May Be Sent Back Home

The only one of hundreds of Canadian-built tanks which landed on the Normandy beaches on D-Day, to still be in action on V-Day, was "Bomb," pictured above with some of the crew. The tank, now famous, was driven and fought by men of the Sherbrooke Fusiliers Regiment on the Normandy beaches, across Northwestern France, Belgium and Holland and into Germany. Battle-scarred, and frequently repaired, it is still a 100 per cent fighting vehicle. (Canadian Army Overseas Photo)

Of all the hundreds of Canadian-built tanks to land on the Normandy beaches on D-Day, only one managed to battle through all the bloody campaigns of Northwestern Europe and still be in fighting trim on V-Day. This was "Bomb"—a Sherman, mounted with a 75 mm. gun. "Bomb" covered more than 2,500 miles, and during that time was in constant action except for occasional time out for minor repairs. As they fought their way through France, Belgium, Holland and into Germany, the tank's crew accounted for at least five German tanks knocked out, a number of "probables" and many "possibles." Proud of their tank's record, the Sherbrooke Fusiliers are attempting to have the tank and the members of the present crew sent back to Sherbrooke, Que.

Three of the original D-Day crew, and a fourth tankman who joined the "Bomb" family on D-Day-plus-one, are still with the tank. Among them are Lt. Cpl. R. Mareault, Montreal; Tpr. A. W. Rudolph, Clarendon, Alta.; Tpr. J. W. Hall, Creston, B.C., and Tpr. K. R. Gerow, Burns Lake, B.C.

Officers who have commanded the "Bomb" are still with the tank, include Lieut. W. M. White, Gare,

N.S.; Capt. J. W. Neill, M.C., Oshawa, Ont., (who won his decoration while serving with the tank); Capt. P. W. Ayres, Victoria, B.C., and Lieut. F. C. Mingo, New Glasgow, N.S.

"Bomb" has come through some of the most arduous campaigns, and though it never suffered a knock-out blow, its iron hull carries many scars earned during the tough battles between June 6, 1944 and V-Day. Battering, mortars, 88 mm. armor-piercing weapons, machine-guns and rifles have all left their tell-tale marks. One armor-piercing shell tore the tank's Browning gun completely off, while another exploded in a spooked—deflecting what might otherwise have been a knock-out hit.

"Bomb's" toughest battle, say the members of her crew, was in the Falaise Gap, when, providing support for hard-pressed ground troops, she came under terrific enemy fire. She escaped permanent injury only by good luck and the good management of her commander. The battered old veteran was also in the thick of the battle for the crossing of the Seine, the capture of Rouen, the fighting at Antwerp, Nijmegen, Hochwald, Xanten and the crossing of the Rhine.

Local Woman Whose Body Was Found In River Died Of Heart Failure

Called to determine the cause of death of Mrs. M. L. Filiault, R.R. 4, Assot Road, whose body was found floating down the St. Francis river late Saturday night, a coroner's inquest was postponed this morning, sine die, pending further investigation, following the testimony of the examining doctor, Dr. A. A. Mignault, who stated that the woman had been dead before entering the water.

The Municipal Police report that the body was first reported seen floating under the East Sherbrooke Bridge by R. Beliveau, of 46 St. Francis Street, who aided by M. Halle, of 9B Peel Street, and Municipal Police Constable Wilfred Fortier ran down St. Francis Street where they secured a boat in which they roved to the middle of the river and intercepted the body being carried down stream by the current.

The husband of the deceased identified the body as that of his wife. He told police officials that she had left their home early Saturday morning, walking, and that he had not seen her since. At the time of the discovery of the body he was at No. 3 Police Station here enquiring as to her whereabouts.

Dr. Mignault declared that death was due to heart failure and not to drowning. The body when found was fully clothed except for the shoes which were missing, and according to the doctor no marks of violence were found. He stated that the deceased had not been in the water more than two hours since rigor mortis had not set in.

Investigating the death, Provincial and Municipal Police are attempting to find witnesses to the woman's movements prior to her entering the river.

PICNIC IS HELD BY TRADE BODY

Fun, prizes and sunbun were reaped by the Junior Board of Trade in its annual picnic held yesterday at the Experimental Farm at Lennoxville. About 200 attended, including wives and children and all enjoyed thoroughly the varied programme of sports and other events. Starting off at 11 a.m., officials of the farm conducted the visitors over the grounds and buildings, after which lunch was served, coffee and drinks being supplied by the hosts. Following lunch, softball was played, men and women forming the opposing teams. Two members of the latter were supplied by Rene Jacques and G. Ferguson, disguised as members of the weaker sex. Their costumes earned them 1st and 2nd prizes, respectively. The ladies emerged as winners of a closely contested game in a score of 5 to 3.

A second game played between Lennoxville and Sherbrooke members resulted in victory for the former team, 3-2.

Also held were two tug-of-war between Sherbrooke and Lennoxville, one for men only, one for ladies. In the first, Lennoxville was the winner, in the second, Sherbrooke. Final events were mixed races in which everyone had a chance, followed by ice cream for all. Finishing the day was the distribution of 30-odd prizes, bringing the very successful outing to a close at 5:30.

TWO ACCIDENTS OVER WEEK-END

In an accident which might have been a double fatality, Lucien Lavoie and Gerard Nadou, of Bromptonville received cuts and bruises when the motorcycle on which they were returning from "a trial run" struck the end of the pier and turned a complete somersault at about 4:30 p.m. yesterday.

It was the first day that Lavoie had been driving a motorcycle equipped with a sidecar and he lost control of the machine on the curve approaching the pier. Both young men were treated by Dr. Cloutier of Bromptonville.

Colin Goodfellow, of R.R. 4, driving north on Wellington Street Sunday morning, lost control of his automobile, snapping off a fire hydrant at the corner of Albert Street and hitting the doorway of the Grand Cafe, knocking out several bricks.

The car was severely damaged but Mr. Goodfellow escaped injury.

ROTARY CLUB TO FINISH FISCAL YEAR TOMORROW

Members of the Sherbrooke Rotary Club will end another Rotary year, at their regular meeting tomorrow evening. After the presentation of the reports of the various committees and the winding up of whatever unfinished business which remains, President R. A. Webster will hand over the gavel to President-elect J. A. Archambault and a new Rotary year will lie ahead.

Owing to the large number of reports to be submitted, all other routine procedures, such as the Acquaintance Table, will be omitted at this meeting.

Also at this meeting, President Webster will welcome two new members into the Club, George Marshall under the classification of "Asbestos Products Manufacturing," and Jay D. Joslin, classification "Rubber Goods Manufacturing, 2nd active."

There were one hundred members of the club present at their last week's inter-city meet which, it is believed, was the best attended meeting of the year.

There will be no guest speaker at tomorrow evening's meeting.

C.P.R. TO ADD TO BELVIDERE ST. STATION

It was learned today that plans have been completed for the construction of a new building for the C. P. R. at their Belvidere Street station to house a lunch room, rest rooms and a workshop.

Contract for the construction has been drawn up with J. A. Verret Ltd., and work on the new project will start sometime next week.

It is estimated that the construction will cost approximately $30,000. The building will measure 110 by 40 feet, and it will be constructed in concrete and brick. The lunch room and the rest rooms will be finished entirely in marble.

The construction of this new building will alleviate a long-felt need, but due to war-time restrictions, C.P.R. officials were unable to place the contract at an earlier date. The construction will take several weeks.

Shortage Of Laundry Soap In City Is Explained By W.P.T.B. Official

Since the beginning of the war, various articles have been removed to be scarce and shoppers, eager to secure a supply, have made runs on the stores from time to time. Sometimes, it's for luxuries, but the latest is for a very necessary article—bar laundry soap. In Ottawa, the run on stores for this type of soap has reached such proportions that an official of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board has stated that "the Ottawa people are going crazy buying up laundry soap far beyond their needs."

The same official further stated that the production of soap is practically the same as last year and that means there would be plenty for all if people would just stick to buying their normal requirements.

A survey of local food stores revealed that there is a definite lack of bar laundry soap prevailing throughout the city, with such food-stuffs as jams, tinned fruits and vegetables, tinned meat and fish, biscuits, cooking chocolate, condensed milk, barley, rice, tapioca, shortening, lard and soft drinks, and beef, particularly among the meats, being noticeably scarce and in a few cases, non-existent.

One retailer reported ordering five cases of five different brands and types of soap recently but received only two dozen bars consisting of one dozen bars of toilet soap and the other dozen of laundry soap. Still another retailer explained that although he had a good stock of granulated and flake soaps he was unable to obtain any bar laundry soap at all. To stretch his supply he states that he is limiting his available stock to two boxes to a customer.

Yet another retail dealer complained that it was no joke when customers ask for commodities "and you have to say 'no' to this and 'no' to that. Pretty soon they ask 'what have you got,' and what can we say? You can't blame them, because such merchandise, especially soaps, commodities used every day in the home. Our customers are very co-operative and understanding of our predicament in most cases however," he said.

The real twist to the story here came during an interview with V. Labrecque, assistant local officer of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board, who, when asked to explain the reasons behind these existing shortages, replied that he had had no complaints from retailers in the city.

THE POLISH ACCORD

The announcement by representatives of the Big Three that a compromise acceptable to all parties concerned has been reached in the Polish Government crisis and that the new coalition administration will contain representatives from three major Polish democratic and freedom groups will be received with universal satisfaction by the various members of the United Nations. The agreement is a tribute to the ability of the men charged with bringing about a solution of the ticklish issue and removes one of the greatest obstacles to the future co-operation of the major powers in the preservation of world peace.

Furthermore, it is an effective rebuke to those trouble-making elements in all countries who have sought to stir up unrest and suspicion among the United Nations and thus injure the cause which is so dear to the hearts of all people—the maintenance of a peaceful and prosperous world for future generations. The much-heralded accord is another clear sign that basically all members of the Big Three are actuated by a spirit of sincerity and goodwill and that while at times there may be disagreements on particular questions, a solution can be found generally if all parties approach the issue with the determination of conciliation and with the determination to understand the other fellow's point of view.

But, as is inevitable in effecting a compromise in such difficult situations, some problems still remain to be dealt with, one of which is the future of the tough and well-trained army still under the command of the Polish Government in London. Both British and American officials in London acknowledge privately uncertainty over the reaction to the new government among Polish troops who fought at the side of the British through some of the bloodiest campaigns on the Western and Italian fronts.

Various claims have been advanced and denied that the officer groups would refuse to return to their homeland under any government except the one located in London, but that the majority of the ranks would willingly swap allegiance if assured of equal treatment in the new Poland.

Prime Minister Churchill himself has acknowledged that this is a major problem. On one occasion he told the House of Commons that, in the event of a new Polish government, Poles in Great Britain might be given the choice of returning home or accepting British nationality.

It is days as a recognized government obviously numbered, Prime Minister Tomas Arcoizewski's administration in London is sitting tight and keeping silence. One spokesman said that there is little possibility of a statement being issued until later this week. But for a long period, ever since Stanislaw Mikolajczyk stepped out as Premier and his Peasant party succeeded, the London Poles have been accorded little more than token recognition. And this now appears near its end.

THE FRENCH COAL FAMINE

French industrial production is hamstrung by lack of coal, raw materials and machinery and for that reason the Industrial Production section of the Allied Supreme Headquarters mission to France has found the rehabilitation of French industries a knotty problem.

It has been the job of the section to work with the French Ministries of Industrial Production and National Economy and branches of the Ministry of Agriculture to re-establish industry both in the interests of Allied military operations and the civilian economy of France. Every effort has been made by the mission to facilitate supply of materials, transportation and power to enable French factories to produce.

"But French industry is hopelessly hampered by lack of coal," said Lt.-Col. G. E. Suddards of Yorkshire, England, who heads the section.

Before the war, France imported 20,000,000 tons of coal—6,500,000 tons from Britain and the rest from Germany, Holland, Belgium, Poland and Czechoslovakia. None of these countries is in a position today to export coal to any extent and Britain has been able to send France only approximately 220,000 tons a month.

Every effort is being made to restore France's own mining industry which once provided two-thirds of her needs but although the mission has made available machinery, clothing, shoes and extra food for miners, production is dropping steadily.

During the German occupation 700,000 tons of coal a month were imported into France. During April of this year 550,000 tons were brought in but the figure is expected to drop to 400,000 tons.

Because of the coal shortage the French rearmament programme has been cut to a minimum; allotments to the chemical industry are so small that even pharmaceutical products have been reduced. Coal is being cut off for glass production and for the production of artificial textile fibres.

This is the black side of the French industrial picture, which the Allied mission has been able to lighten only a little. But despite handicaps constructive work for the rehabilitation of such high priority industries as the rubber industry has been rapid.

Through Allied assistance, synthetic rubber is being provided in French factories for civilian truck tires, Allied military vehicles, civilian, transport, railroad air-brake hose, mine belting and hose, rubber boots and other vital industrial requirements.

French rubber factories had been employing German synthetic methods, but experts were brought in to teach them American and British methods. More than 60,000 tires were manufactured in French factories by February 1945, with synthetic rubber provided by the Allies.

AIDING BETTER UNDERSTANDING

An important step in the promotion of better understanding between the various ethnic groups in the Dominion is now in operation by a number of Canadian universities, who are holding summer schools for the spread of bi-lingualism among young Canadians. For instance, Queen's University at Kingston has announced a series of lectures in basic and advanced English for Quebec residents whose mother tongue is French, while several Quebec institutions are running similar classes in French for English-speaking Canadians.

Through such courses, young Canadians not only learn a second language but they obtain a better knowledge and insight into the problems and conditions which exist in other parts of the country. These lectures are one phase of a campaign designed to increase the sense of Canadian unity and should prove valuable in this connection.

BRITISH PARTY BITTERNESS

The inter-party fireworks in the hectic campaign for Britain's July 5 general elections have ruled out any post-election coalition of the three major parties, in the opinion of political observers in the Old Country, although Liberal party co-operation in the formation of any new government is considered a distinct possibility.

The Liberal party has left itself open to working with either Labor or the Conservatives, depending on which party it figures will give it the best deal in Britain's "peacetime" government but it terms itself a "radical" party and most of its leaders are obviously more sympathetic to the Labor programme than to that of the Conservatives.

The Liberals are running only 304 candidates for 640 seats in the new House of Commons and have virtually no chance of forming a new government. Their position will be relatively unimportant if either the Conservatives or Labor have an over-all majority in the Commons.

On the other hand, if the two largest groups lack a majority, Liberal support for one or the other might well determine whether Winston Churchill or Clement Attlee will be Prime Minister—and it is on that possibility that the Liberals base their main hopes of being a major influence in the new government.

While the possibility of Liberal co-operation with a Conservative dominated government is not entirely absent, Mr. Churchill has made it plain that he is not counting on it. In his recent campaign statement the Prime Minister declared:

"I desire to make it plain that the Sinclair Liberal candidates are standing at this election in opposition to me and the Government and that a vote for a Sinclair Liberal candidate is in fact not a vote for me but for the Socialist opposition."

Herbert Morrison, chairman of the Labor Party's Campaign Committee and former Home Secretary in the war-time Coalition Government, is authority for the statement that Labor would not enter into any post-election coalition with the Conservatives.

"We are strongly against such a coalition," he told Empire and United States newspapermen at a press conference. "Attacks and counter-attacks in the campaign would make it impossible anyway."

Thus, Great Britain is apparently reverting to its long-accepted parliamentary practice of government and opposition groups, a practice that has provided the groundwork for the greatest democratic system the world has ever known.

PRESS COMMENTS

EDUCATING THE NEGRO

St. Thomas Times-Journal
It is reported that steps are being taken to give further educational opportunities to the colored peoples of the Southern States. More colleges are to be established. In recent years the number of Negro boys and girls who have matriculated from high schools has greatly increased, and the complement of that is the provision of more facilities for higher education so that the training shall not come to a dead-end.

The facilities are much needed, as there is only one Negro university in the Southern States, while the amount spent on the lower grades of Negro education is only $17.04 per capita, compared with $19.30 for white pupils in public, collegiate and technical schools. Yet there is no doubt that the number of colored peoples who are desirous of raising their own status, and ultimately raising the status of their race, is growing rapidly, largely because, since the war, they have of necessity been admitted to forms of employment that were formerly barred to them, and it has been found, as the Negroes themselves have found, that given a proper course of training, they have done equally good work as whites.

That some colored people are just as keen on college education as whites is evidenced by the case of Alpha Hines, the daughter of a share-cropper, who worked evenings to make anything from a dime to a dollar. After some years she spent the money on seed potatoes, and from her crops she made enough money to put herself through a university.

There are many colored peoples grubbing their way through colleges and universities, and it is to such as they that the mass of Negroes look for help toward further emancipation. These students realize that they are pioneers and feel that they must not fall either for their own sakes or for their people.

Perhaps part of the solution of the Negro problem in the United States may be a more educated citizenry so that they shall not be so limited to menial occupations. On the other hand there is a large proportion of Americans who think that it would only cause more unrest if the social and economic status of the Negroes were raised, and that the only way to treat the Negro is to keep him down.

But the Negro has played an important part in the war production; he has proved himself good fighting material in Italy, and he will want a share in the world betterment that is expected to follow.

HOUSING OR RIOTING

Vancouver Province
To discuss new and better housing as something necessary to avoid rioting when our veterans return does an injustice to the character of the veteran and it breathes a spirit wholly foreign to public understanding of the question. We should speed up this business of housing, not in apprehension of what may happen if we don't do it, but in simple acknowledgment of what the veterans have done for us. We owe it to every veteran who left these shores for battle to see that he is properly provided when he returns.

SO SIMPLE

Winnipeg Free Press
The Canadian Forum, organ of the intellectual wing of the C.C.F. in a discussion of the planned economy of the future, after explaining the readiness with which the Canadian people will accept the fully socialized state, outlines the treatment proposed for those who, after examination and test, do not care for it: "The residue of the abnormal—chronic idlers, shirkers and obstructors—would be dealt with, along with other mentally unfit persons in corrective institutions." This is the great merit of frankness. In Germany, in Italy, in Japan and in Russia, where a totalitarian philosophy rules, such places were known as concentration camps. In Canada they are to be called "corrective institutions." A note by any other name . . .

This extraordinary revelation of C.C.F. thinking deserves close attention. We are to conform to the

OUR FOOD FOR NAZIS

London Sunday Dispatch
There will be considerable and justifiable anger in this country at the suggestion that civilian food rations may have to be cut in order that German prisoners here may continue to receive the same rations as our base troops, which are roughly double civilian rations. Officialdom's case for this preposterous development is that the rations are based on the Geneva Convention. But the Geneva Convention is becoming a very one-sided agreement. It is absurd to suggest that we should continue to operate it at the expense of the food of our women and children in view of the starvation and cruelties recently inflicted upon our own men in Germany.

New Order or we are to be marked off as abnormal persons and placed in the mentally unfit, in corrective institutions. It is surely a happy way of dealing with difficult problems. A farmer, for instance, does not want to deliver his produce to the appropriate board under the plan laid down. Off with him to a corrective institution. He is an obstructer. This is what Stalin did with the kulaks ten years ago in Russia. A group of workmen, ordered to change jobs and residence under the plan, refused to comply. They are idlers and obstructers. Off with them to a corrective institution. They are abnormal. They are mentally unfit. What a magnificent weapon to have at hand should the great plan develop weaknesses and consequent unemployment. The fault will not be the fault of the planners and the plan. The fault is with the unemployed; and off they go to the corrective institutions, there to be dealt with as abnormal creatures who are mentally unfit.

Mr. And Mrs. Ezra Blair Are Feted On 46th Anniversary At East Clifton

Many friends and relatives of Mr. and Mrs. Ezra Blair gathered to give them their best regards and wish them many more years of health and happiness at a party celebrating their forty-sixth wedding anniversary. This party which was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Blair was largely attended by their many friends who have looked to this couple for guidance and hope ever since they settled here after their wedding on April 25, 1899. They were married in the Methodist Parsonage at Sherbrooke by the Rev. F. G. Tett. Since that time they have always resided in East Clifton, where they have made many friends by their happy personalities and kind deeds.

During both the World War I and the present war, they have been keen workers. Mr. Blair has headed the Victory Bond Campaign here on all occasions and also canvassed for the Red Cross Society. Mrs. Blair was the first President of the Clifton Women's Institute and also of the Red Cross workers in World War I. They have each served well in town and church work, thus it was a great pleasure for their many friends and neighbors to call and extend their congratulations to them.

When all had gathered, Mr. Frank Barber presented the guests of honor with a purse of money, accompanied by a few well chosen remarks and then introduced Miss Rena Blair and tiny Barbara Blair, who carried an armful of snap dragons, carnations and ferns, which they presented to their grandmother, with their happy smiles. Mr. and Mrs. O. Dougherty, of Bury, had also sent beautiful red roses for the guests of honor.

"Ezra," as he is popularly known, thanked everyone for Mrs. Blair and himself and especially thanked Mrs. Norman Blair, who had decorated the beautiful wedding cake. Miss Rena Blair then led her grandparents to the table, which

Tea a Base for Summer Punch

BY GAYNOR MADDOX

According to a recent survey, iced tea, lemonade and cola drinks are leading summer beverages. Careful preparation is important. You can't just throw a drink together and expect it to be good. In making iced tea the rules for making hot tea are followed, except that the amount of tea is doubled to take care of dilution caused by the ice. Use 2 teaspoons of tea (or 2 tea bags) for each glass. Always use boiling bubbling water. Pour over the tea and steep for 3 minutes. Cool and pour into glasses partly filled with ice. Tea is often used as a base for a summer punch. Here are directions for making one:

Summer Punch

One quart hot freshly brewed tea, 12 mint sprigs, 6 teaspoons powdered sugar, 6 whole cloves, 6 tablespoons lemon juice, 1 bottle carbonated water. Pour 1 quart freshly brewed hot tea, 12 mint sprigs, 6 teaspoons of powdered sugar. Add 6 whole cloves and crushed ice to chill. Serve in tall frosted glasses filled to 3/4 depth with spiced tea mixture. Add to each glass 1 teaspoon of lemon ice. Top off with carbonated water and garnish with mint leaves. Here is a recipe which uses honey instead of sugar:

BREAKFAST: Stewed rhubarb, ready-to-eat cereal, fried sliced pork luncheon meat, warmed baker's coffee cake, coffee, milk. LUNCHEON: Creamed eggs and peas on toast, sliced tomatoes, soft rolls, apple butter, hard candies, iced tea, milk. DINNER: Beef and vegetable stew, mashed potatoes, cold asparagus with mayonnaise, bread, butter, sliced oranges and bananas, oatmeal cookies, coffee, milk.

Honey Fruit Punch

Four cups boiling water, 2 tablespoons tea, 15 mint leaves, 2 cups orange juice, 6 teaspoons lemon juice, 1/2 cup honey. Pour the boiling water over the tea in a porcelain, glass or earthenware pot and steep for five minutes. Combine the orange and lemon peelings and mint leaves and pour the hot strained tea over these. Allow to stand until cool. Strain and add other ingredients. Stir well and pour over ice in serving glasses. This makes about three pints before adding the ice and will serve about eight people. To make lemonade, allow for each person served: 1 lemon, 1 to 3 tablespoons sugar or honey, 1 cup cold water, ice. Extract lemon juice. Add sugar to taste. Stir to dissolve. Add water. Serve over ice in large glasses. Garnish with lemon slices and maraschino cherries or with fresh cherries, berries or mint sprigs.

WATERVILLE

The Women's Missionary Society of Waterville Church assembled in the church parlors for the annual "family party." Mrs. Edwards presided and Mrs. Beckett was at the piano. The meeting opened with a worship service. The Secretary's report of the May meeting was adopted and the Treasurer gave a financial statement. The delegates to the Quebec-Sherbrooke Synodical, at Magog, Mrs. Beckett, Mrs. Worlton and Mrs. Burrell gave excellent and most interesting reports of the sessions. They mentioned a noted increase in interest in members and in the donations to the Presbyterial in the past year. This is also the time of the Montreal and Ottawa Conference. All had been much impressed by the addresses of the great speakers, Dr. Chone Oliver and Mrs. Lovey. The discussion groups too had been informative. Mrs. Edwards informed the Auxiliary that two of our members, Mrs. Fletcher and Mrs. Beckett were appointed Secretary of Christian Stewardship and Baby Band Secretary respectively. Interspersed reports two sacred solos were pleasingly rendered by Miss Gladys Swanson, "O Divine Redeemer" and "The Presence of God." Mrs. Edwards graciously welcomed the Mission Band, the Canadian-Girls-In-Training and their Leaders and the associate members. The Mission Band repeated their Mission Band pledges and sang a chorus. Miss Gladys Johnson sang a solo, "In The Garden" and Miss Kay Dalton gave a reading, "An Ideal Mission Band Meeting." The C.G.I.T. also repeated their pledge and sang a chorus. They were re-affiliated with the W.M.S. and sang "Taps" before the meeting closed with the Benediction. In the pleasant social hour that followed refreshments were served by Mrs. Edwards and Mrs. Burrell assisted by Mrs. P. Ingham and Mrs. L. Dalton with Mrs. Colquhoun presiding at the attractive tea table. The nose that strays from the path of beauty in length or size causes a lot of girls to ask "what to do?" So what-to-do to snip off apparent length would be to wear a bang, kept level with eyebrows and to avoid a center hair part. Pitfalls of dress to be shunned like the plague are pointed necklines and hats that come forward into any kind of peak. To make a bulbous nose look smaller, you can use two shades of powder, applying the darker tone to the sides to reduce apparent width. Building your hair out from the brow with a pouf of soft curls and creating an opposing line at the back of your head with a chignon or a braid, looped up and tied peruke-fashion, are other tricks for minimizing the size of a nose. Wear hats with thick brims run out from the brow. Gimmicks that will always focus attention away from a nose that you don't like are eye make-up and bright lipstick—using the latter to make your lips wide rather than full.

MARRIAGES

BUSHEY—GOLDEN

Danville, June 25. — At Trinity United Church, Danville, on the afternoon of June 16, the marriage was solemnized by Rev. Mr. Hinton of Marguerite Alice, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Golden, of Danville, to Mr. Stanley Howard Bushey, of Notre Dame de Grace, Montreal.

The church was beautifully decorated with pinnies, ferns and baskets of cut flowers. Given in marriage by her father, the bride looked charming in a frock of dusty pink crepe with small hat to match and dark brown accessories. She carried a Colonial bouquet of pink roses and sweet peas.

Her only attendant was her sister, Mrs. Stanley Kydd, of Richmond, who wore a powder blue crepe dress and small hat of navy blue and matching accessories, and carried a Colonial bouquet of red roses and sweet peas.

LAC, Leslie Bushey, of Ottawa, was best man for his brother, and the ushers were Messrs. Lloyd Boast, of Freleighsburg, and Douglas Bushey, of Notre Dame de Grace, Montreal, brother of the groom.

The Wedding March was rendered by Mrs. L. W. Dyson, of Richmond, great aunt of the groom. Mrs. Percy Taylor sang "O Promise Me" throughout the signing of the register.

Mrs. William Golden, mother of the bride, wore a mauve crepe dress with small hat of the same shade and a corsage of red roses.

Mrs. George Tozer, maternal grandmother of the bride, wore a dress of figured blue crepe and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. J. E. Bushey, mother of the groom, wore a powder blue crepe dress with navy blue hat and accessories of navy blue and a corsage of Johanna Hill roses.

Immediately following the ceremony, a luncheon was served at the home of the bride's parents. The beautiful three-tiered wedding cake occupied the centre of the table flanked on each side with white candles in silver candlesticks. Cream roses were used to decorate the bride's table. The toast to the bride was given by Rev. Mr. Hinton and was responded to by the groom. Following the reception, the bride and groom left for their honeymoon trip to the Maritimes, the bride travelling in a powder blue suit trimmed in navy blue, a navy blue hat and navy accessories and a corsage of red roses. Bride Must Solve Own Woes

Smart Mother Advises Daughter Of Duties as a Wife

A FRIEND of mine, who has a large family of girls, takes each one of her daughters aside on her wedding day and says to her: "You are starting life on your own now. Work it out for yourself. Don't come running back home too often. And don't tell me about your husband's faults. I don't want to know them."

If every mother would give her daughter this wise advice on her bridal eve, and every bride would lay it to heart, it would save many a marriage from going on the rocks. For, without knowing it and without intending it, mothers do more to break up their children's homes than all other causes combined, and they should be named as the co-responsible in most divorce cases.

This is not because Mother is a fiend who finds a sadistic pleasure in destroying her daughter's happiness and alienating her from her husband. On the contrary, Mother is a good, kind, Christian woman who wouldn't willfully torture a fly, but she cannot bear for her petted and pampered darling not to have everything she wants, whether her husband can afford to give it to her or not, or to have to face the responsibilities of life and pull her weight in the boat.

So when Isabel comes weeping to her and sobs out on her breast how cruel John is when he won't buy a mink coat, or tells of the terrible things he said to her when her pie fell flat, Mother poor-darlings her and pities her until she makes her pie feel flat, Mother poor-darlings her and pities her until she makes her pie feel flat, Mother poor-darlings her and pities her until she makes her pie feel flat.

Of course, every married couple has to go through a period of adjustment. It is impossible for two people of different sex, of different heredity, brought up in different environments, to always see eye to eye with each other. They have to learn to give and take and compromise their differences and, nine times out of ten, they will do this if they keep their troubles to themselves.

But when Isabel runs whining to Mother with her complaints about John's imperfections, and recounts his every fault and foible that grow bigger and bigger as she enlarges upon them; when she moans out that she is nothing but a slave to a heartless tyrant, who expects her to get up and get his breakfast in the morning and refuses to take her stepping every night, Mother pours over her gallons of sympathy, and the end of another marriage is in sight.

It is because girls know that they can run back home to Mother when the gilt begins to rub off of the ginger bread of their romance, and they find out that marriage means work and worry and dealing with a he-man instead of a cinema hero, that makes so many young wives quit, instead of trying to make successes of their marriages.

There would be very few divorcees if the Isabels knew that there would be no welcome on the old home doors for them and that their mothers, instead of pitying them, would tell them to go back to their own homes and behave themselves, and act like adult women instead of spoiled babies.

The Record will be pleased to receive any letters to this Dorothy Dix column. These will be forwarded to Miss Dix who will answer them as quickly as possible.

Sherbrooke Trounced Verdonets By 10 To 5 With Lefty Dube On Mound

Quebec, June 25.—(C)—With an outburst of powerhouse slugging, Sherbrooke Notre Dame trounced the third-place Quebec Verdonets 10-5 here Saturday night in a Provincial Baseball League game.

Lefty Dube, who went the route for the visitors and allowed 14 well-scattered hits to the home sluggers, got credit for the victory while southpaw hurler Gilbert Godin was charged with the defeat. The league-leading Notre Dame scored all their runs off Godin who was relieved in the sixth by Henri Labrecque and the latter blanked Tony Pinard's men for the rest of the game.

The Sherbrooke team opened their scoring spree in the third, scoring four runs with a double, three singles, a walk and a wild pitch. The visitors tallied once in each of the two following frames and added four more runs in the sixth with five singles and an error.

The home nine drew first blood in the opening frame when they got two tallies with three singles, a walk, a fielder's choice and an error.

Lamontagne's Single Breaks Tie As Notre Dame Defeats Lachine 2 To 1

Lachine, Que., June 25.—(C)—A hard-hit single by right fielder Joe Lamontagne broke a ninth frame deadlock as the league-leading Sherbrooke Notre Dame club nosed out Lachine 2-1 in a Provincial Baseball League tilt played at the Lachine Stadium Sunday.

Lamontagne's hard hit grounded to right field proved the pay-off clout when Nick Malfara trotted over home plate with the winning marker. The contest up to this point was nip and tuck with hurlers Julien Lamotte and Lou Pelouquin engaged in a tight mound duel.

Freddy Desrochers took the blame for the visitors' first run when he overthrew first base while attempting to make an easy out on Lamontagne. Nick Malfara followed from here and slammed out a blistering grounder to centre field for a double and scoring Lamontagne. But the Lachine boys kept driving and capitalized on Freddy Desrochers' eighth inning triple which sent Stan Crutten home with the tying run.

Lachine's Bobby Burr pulled off the prize catch of the afternoon when he mounted the right field fence to snare Cliff Couillard's 340-foot wallop.

Although knocked unconscious by the ball while racing to second base, Pichler Lou Pelouquin returned to the game and hurled the remaining seven innings.

THE ADVENTURES OF PEERLESS PETE by B-A

No. 2 He gets a hair-cut

In this series, our artist gives his version of how the finest crude oil—symbolized by Pete—is selected and shipped to B-A's Clarkson plant where it is refined into PEERLESS MOTOR OIL.

PETE ARRIVES AT CLARKSON
 SO THIS IS CANADA!

PETE VISITS THE BARBER
 TAKE IT ALL OFF

PETE IS RARIN' TO GO
 HERE'S WHERE I GO TO COLLEGE!

Specially selected lubricating crude oils brought to Canada by B-A's own tankers, are first "topped"...

Topping is the process by which gasoline, kerosene and gas oils are removed for processing separately.

The resulting "Topped Crude," must now go through the famous 5-point refining process to make B-A Peerless.

PEERLESS MOTOR OIL

"It's Alloyed"

For lower repair costs, longer car life, switch now to PEERLESS MOTOR OIL

"It's Alloyed!"

Just as the finest steel cuts when exposed to atmosphere unless it is alloyed with chromium and nickel to make stainless steel, so the finest lubricating oil may oxidize under heat and pressure forming sludge deposits which cause clogged piston rings, valve sticking, bearing failure. Because "It's Alloyed," Peerless Motor Oil is protected against this tendency. For longer engine life, lower repair costs change now to Peerless, the premium quality oil at a popular price!
