SHAREHOLDERS OF ONTARIO BANK

Letter Protesting Against Sale of the Bank to Bank of Montreal, Received.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Toronto, November 8.—A meeting of the Ontario Bank shareholders' committee was held in the office of Cephas Goode yeseerday afternoon, when a letter was read from D. E. Cameron, owner of 21 shares of Ontario Bank stock, in which he asked:

"What right had the directors to sell the bank without the authority and consent of the shareholders, who own the institution, and who are responsible ultimately to its depositors and bill holders? As well might my hired man sell my farm in my absence without my knowledge and consent. The object was to protect the other banks and prevent a panic. If the other banks were so solicitous on this point, why did they not put up the money to make good the loss instead of sacrificing the interests of the shareholders? And then it seems clear that the sale was a grossly improvident one. The Bank of Montreal secured for a paltry $150,000, a business the good will of which was worth perhaps a million dollars.

"1—If the sale to the Bank of Montreal is to be approved by the shareholders and to stand, the Bank of Montreal ought to be required to pay an adequate and proper equivalent for the good will of the business of the Ontario Bank.

"2—While it is perhaps not wise to be precipitate, arrangements should be made and steps promptly taken to bring suit in the court against the directors with the object of holding them personally responsible for the losses incurred.

"3—Steps should also be at once taken by injunction or otherwise, as the law may provide, to prevent the directors transferring their property to evade ultimate responsibility.

"It seems to me, however, that the directors, who pride themselves upon being honorable men, should not compel the shareholders to take such drastic action, but should voluntarily make good the extraordinary losses incurred, or such portion thereof as they are reasonably able to stand. If the directors approach the shareholders in such a commendable spirit, I, for one, would be in favor of meeting them in a like spirit, with a view to a friendly compromise, and thus avoid the expense, delay, loss, ill-feeling and annoyance of prolonged and vexatious litigation."

BODY FOUND IN A SHED.

Kingston Man in Financial Difficulties, Commits Suicide.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Kingston, Ont., November 8.—George Ziegl[illegible] district manager to the Northern Life Assurance Company, and real estate agent of this city, committed suicide by shooting in Barriefield, two miles from here, last night. The deceased left his home on Tuesday morning and no news had been heard of him by his wife, until the lifeless body was found. He was in financial difficulties. It was thought when he disappeared from the city, that he had left for the American side. It has since been learned that he spent the past few days at Barriefield, at the hotel there. Last night about eight o'clock he said he was going for a walk, from which he never returned. His body was discovered this morning in a shed at the rear of Henry Knapp's residence.

BURIED NEAR HER MISTRESS.

Negro Servant of Late Mrs. Vanderbilt Faithful for Many Years.

New York, November 8.—Mary Jane Williams, negro servant who changed jobs only once during her 70 years of continuous service, was buried beside her mistress, the late Gertrude Lefferts Vanderbilt, the authoress, in the Vanderbilt plot in Greenwood cemetery, Monday. When Mrs. Vanderbilt died four years ago she asked that the old negress be interred beside her, and Mrs. Vanderbilt's family saw that the request was carried out.

THE WEATHER

PROBABILITIES FOR THE NEXT 24 HOURS.

Northerly winds, fair and cool. Friday fair and cool at first, followed by showers or light sleet.

Hail, November bleak, and gray,
Month of the cloud-hung sky,
Of faded grass and leaves that pass
On the winds that whistle by!
There's a deep joy in thy sadness,
Deeper than all the gladness
That shines in May.

WILL THE CITY COUNCIL MAKE A DIRECT OFFER TO THE GAS COMPANY?

"You can state," said Ald. J. B. A. Martin to-day, "that the fact of the Gas Company having asked certain rates for electric lighting and for gas does not mean the company is not willing to make better terms with the City Council than it made with the special Gas Committee."

"This means then, that if the City Council amends the report of the Gas Committee and asks the company to sell gas and electricity at much lower rates it would be inclined to do so?"

"The likelihood is that when the City Council amends this report it will find the company is willing to make easier terms."

"Then the company did not make its final offers to the Civic Gas Committee?"

"I do not think it did."

"Why not?"

"For the reason that the company knew the committee had not power to close a bargain with them. All the committee could do was to report back to the Council. The final bargaining must take place between the Council and the company."

Continuing, Ald. Martin said—"A great deal of hard criticism has been directed against the Gas Committee because they made report to the City Council as to what terms the company were willing to give. Now the committee were appointed by the Council to make a report and had to do so. Because the company had not said they would give as good terms as were hoped the committee is being blamed. This is most unjust. As a member of that committee I did my utmost, as did the other members, to get good rates for citizens."

ALD. GADBOIS' OPINION.

Ald. Gadbois, who made the famous "minority" report to the Council on the offers of the Gas Company, upon being asked if he thought the company would give the City Council terms they had offered to the committee, answered that he thought the company would come down to still lower terms. "It has to be remembered," laughed the speaker, "that the company has frequently said that they would not make lower offers, but continue to do so. I am pretty sure that no majority of Council will vote for the demands of the company as they now stand."

Mayor Ekers was seen by Ald. Guay and other aldermen to-day in regard to what steps should be taken so as to get cheap electric and gas lighting for citizens should the Gas Company refuse to come down in their figures.

"What we should do," said Ald. Guay, "is to submit a by-law to the electors asking them to vote money so that the city can put up a gas plant."

The Mayor—"This course could be adopted. Another course which could be taken up would be to go to the Legislature and ask it to allow the city to borrow money to erect a plant."

Ald. Guay—"I certainly think we ought to have such a plant and that it ought to be run by the municipality."

The Mayor—"I would not object to the city erecting a municipal plant, but I would object to such a plant being run by the aldermen. If it is seen that the city must build a gas plant such a plant would have to be rented out by the city to contractors."

Ald. Guay said he thought the company might have made better offers to the civic gas committee.

His Worship said he would have been pleased had the company made more generous offers; he pointed out, however, that the City Council was now in the position of submitting a direct offer to the company. He explained that it was only human that the company should try and drive a good bargain with the city. It now was the duty of the Council to make a bargain with the company. "And if the company will not meet the Council in a fair spirit we can then take steps to get others to do our lighting."

"It is too bad," said Ald. Guay, "that the Legislature has tied us hand and foot to this company."

His Worship—"But it has not."

"Has not? Did not the Legislature give the company power to sell gas and electricity in the city?"

"Yes, such powers were given the company; at the same time the company has no power to prevent the city from renting out its street lighting etc., to other companies."

But the Gas Company would always be able to compete with any other company?"

"Oh yes, it would always have this great privilege."

"Then the company could not be ordered to remove its pipes from the streets?"

"No, it could not be ordered to do this."

After Ald. Guay had departed, His Worship discussed the question with other city fathers. The desire of the Mayor is that the City Council shall, within the next few weeks, make a direct offer to the company both for gas and electric lighting. If this offer be refused the Mayor will then ask the Council to draft a bill to the Legislature, asking that the city be given power to borrow money so that it can arrange for putting in a municipal gas plant.

PORT OF MONTREAL'S 1906 RECORD— SEAGOING TONNAGE SHOWS INCREASE— COMPARISON OF TRADE STATISTICS

The shipping season of 1906, at the port of Montreal, will, in another fifteen days be a matter of record, for by that time the last ocean vessel will have put to sea and the St. Lawrence route declared officially closed. A close scrutiny of the figures from the opening of navigation to the first of November indicates some large gains and also some notable decreases.

The number of ocean going steamers shows a slight decrease over last year, but on the other hand the tonnage has increased. The number of ocean vessels entering the port for 1906 up to November first, was 751 as against 758 last year; the tonnage for the same period this year was 1,795,090 as against 1,759,639 tons last year, leaving an increased tonnage for this year of 35,451 tons. The inland waterway trade shows a decided increase, the number of inland craft coming into port since the opening of navigation up to November first was 11,179, while for the same period last year the number was 9,939 or an increase this year of 1,240 vessels, with a proportionate increase in the tonnage carried.

COMPARATIVE SUMMARY.

The following summary of exports from the port of Montreal, from the opening of navigation this year to November 1st., with a comparison for the same period last year, is from the Board of Trade returns:

INCREASE IN WHEAT.

From these figures it will be observed that the large items of increase in grains are wheat and flaxseed, the increase in the former being 4,808,629, and in the latter commodity, 2,712,505. It will be noticed that the shipment of corn fell off considerably, which is due to the poor crop of this year, the decrease being 2,096,849 bushels. It will also be observed that the shipments of flour have increased to an extent of 223,181 barrels. This increase is due to the fact that the millers had plenty of grain when the wheat for shipment was both high and hard to get, and it was a better paying proposition to ship the flour than wheat. The increased shipments to South Africa have also helped on the increase. The cheese exports show a noteworthy increase being 1,702,699 boxes last year, as against 1,887,049 for this season. On the other hand the butter shipments have shown a decided decrease, 531,365 kegs being shipped last year as against 344,331 this season, or a decrease for 1906, of 187,034 kegs. The increase in the cheese exports and decrase in the butter shipments is accounted for by the fact that the prices at which cheese has sold this season have enabled the farmers to sell at a profit, and it has paid them better to convert the milk into cheese than into butter.

CATTLE SHIPMENTS.

Another notable increase in the list is that of the cattle exports. This season 107,291 head of cattle have been shipped, as against 94,080 last season, or a gain of 13,211 head, of cattle. Cattle shippers account for this increase by stating that the shipments from the North West have been much heavier this season, and that the fattening process employed by the farmers in the north west this year has been almost perfect. Another fact is that owing to the large influx of settlers, land is being rapidly settled, and in consequence the ranchers are getting rid of their excess cattle when they have the chance, and do not wish to wait until later on when they may be compelled to sell at a sacrifice.

The export apple trade has fallen off considerably, 276,606 packages being shipped last season as against 165,610 this year, a decrease of 110,996 packages. Shippers state that this decrease is due to the fine crop raised this year in Europe, and the consequent small demand from the Continent for our product.

GRAIN TRADE SLACK.

Though the tonnage carried by the ocean-going vessels this year is greater than last, it is very doubtful if the trade will come up to that carried annually between the years 1897 and 1903, when especially the grain shipments assumed very large proportions. Traders state that the grain business in Montreal will not for the present season approach the business of seasons previously mentioned. This is undoubtedly true, for example, in 1898 the shipments of grain from Montreal totalled 39,000,000 bushels, while up to the first of November this year the total grain shipments do not greatly exceed 21,077,218 bushels, though this is a gain over the same period last year of 5,042,335 bushels. The barley shows a decrease with last year of 1,008,525 bushels, due to a short crop, the greater part of the cargoes leaving the port being from American points.

Disorderly House Keeper Fined.

Josephine Wilson was sent to gaol to-day by Recorder Weir for three months and fined $30 or three months additional, for keeping a disorderly house. Fines of $15 or a month in gaol each were imposed on Robert Elliot, James Handley and Thomas Fenton, who were found in the house. In fining these men, the Recorder said that the next time they were brought before the court he would sentence them without the option of a fine.

PERILOUS PLIGHT OF CANADIAN CREW

Six Men Taken Off the Waterlogged Nova Scotian Barquentine, White Wings.

New York, November 8.—Rescued when they were about ready to drop in the ocean from their swaying perch, six men, the crew of the Nova Scotia barquentine White Wings, and her captain were brought to this port yesterday by the German tank steamship Mannheim, which arrived from Shields. The men were Captain M. J. McLeod, Mate Alexander Luscombe; Mortimer Sewer, the cook, and H. H. Wade, Gustavus Brown, Monis Fuso and Sinclair Wilson. With bulwarks just awash and her cargo of 400,000 feet of lumber littering the ocean the barquentine was discovered drifting across the steamship track 200 miles east of Nantucket early Tuesday morning by the flare of her signals of distress. Captain Schau, of the Mannheim at once bore down on the foundering vessel, and made out a half-dozen figures crouched on top of the forward deck house.

A boat was sent out at once, although a heavy sea was still running. After a struggle the boat's crew brought back the survivors, whom they found drenched to the skin by the wash that continually broke over the deckhouse.

The mainmast had gone by the board and the stern of the barquentine was stove in and partly under water. Only the cargo of lumber kept the barquentine from sinking. Captain McLeod reported to his owners, Messrs. Hutchings and Company, that he left Bridgewater, N.S., on Saturday last with a cargo for New York. On Sunday the wind strengthened to a hurricane, and at 2 o'clock on Monday morning the vessel sprung a leak. The pumps were of no avail and the vessel sank until two and a half hours later the decks were awash. A few articles of food were gathered from the cabin, and the crew huddled together on the deck house, the only place of refuge on the wreck. A day and a night were passed in the momentary fear that all hands would be washed off the deckhouse.

The White Wings hails from Liverpool, N.S., and is of 430 tons burden.

CROKER'S OPINION OF THE RESULT.

By Cable to the Montreal Star.

Dublin, November 8. — Richard Croker, interviewed on the subject of the election, said to-day that the figures proved that Mr. Hearst could not have received the full Tammany vote. Tammany, for the first time, had sacrificed principles in order to save its own local ticket. Hearst and Murphy had pooled issues, the former promising impossibilities to the workingmen.

Mr. Croker added that, though defeated, Hearst had shown wonderful strength, and would be a serious factor in the Presidential election, either as a candidate or as affecting the chances of any candidate he supported.

WE believe that the trade mark, the two hands, is the most valuable asset in our business, and we shall aim to keep it always in good repute by fair and square dealing.

¶ We believe it is in the fullest sense injurious to our prospects to allow the Dunlop trade mark to be placed on any goods not made of a superior quality of rubber.

¶ We believe in quality. We know that the satisfaction quality gives is lasting, while the satisfaction a purchaser has in buying cheaply is short lived. When he does not find quality he forgets the price paid and begins to think he has been fooled.

BASEBALL IS GOING TO STAY IN MONTREAL

So Says Pat Powers, Although Mr. Farrell Has Been Approached With Good Offers to Sell the Franchise.

"As surely as next year's baseball season comes round, so will Montreal put a baseball team on the diamond." So it is stated on good authority, in fact, from a communication from Mr. Pat Powers, president of the Eastern League.

"I'm tired of seeing reports from time to time in the newspapers," says Mr. Powers, "of Montreal about to sell out, and I wish to state once and for all, that Montreal has always struck me as a good baseball town and has always pleased me, therefore Montreal can rest assured that a representative nine will compete in the Eastern League."

True Mr. Powers continued, Mr. Farrell has twice been approached to sell the franchise, but in both cases he has replied "Montreal is good enough for me, and I intend to stick by it as long as it is possible to do so." Therefore Montreal will be as any other city, and next season will come without any change being made.

Tiger Supporters Coming Here to Take a Look at Montreal Saturday

Westmount game will certainly be an interesting one and the "wise birds" from Hamilton will see how Montreal pans out. On form the Red and Black should win but there is a fighting chance for the Westmounts, who, notwithstanding their defeats have stayed right in the game.

Craig will not play and Kelly is still recuperating so the Montreal team will be changed about, Russell going to centre half, Savage to left half, Armstrong will fill Savage's position and either Browning or Ryan fill the gap caused by Kelly.

Two Kingstonians now coaching the Ontario and Quebec champions, Hamilton and Elliott, used to play together on the champion Granites.

Referee not yet decided upon but will probably be local talent.

The crowd will be a keen one.

COACHERS FOR CANADIAN HONORS ARE TWO OLD CHUMS.

The remarkable thing about the fear of Montreal which drove Hamilton to engage Chaucey Elliott as coach is that he and Hamilton, the coach who has made such a success of the Montreal football season up to date, were both playing at one time on the Kingston Granites.

RETURN OF MAUPAS AND STEURS DEFI

Steurs says he will meet half a dozen wrestlers to-morrow night at Sohmer Park, if necessary.

Amongst those who have already announced their intention of meeting him are: Viger, Simard, Roumageon and Karakanoff, who intends to get even as near as he can for the defeat in Ottawa.

The main attraction will be the return of Maupas, who is a great favorite in Montreal.

The crowds have often risen in protest at Sohmer Park, when they thought Maupas was getting the worst of it, and it is expected that he will get a rousing reception upon his return to this city.

Reports say that he is in the best of trim, and that he will be able to make the "go" with Pietro a most interesting one.

Pietro is a rough and rather foul wrestler, but Maupas is such a glib and quick and tricky man, that he ought to give the Bayonnais one of the hardest struggles of his life.

If he plays too dirty a game, he will get the crowd on his back no doubt.

The four men who desire to meet Steurs weigh as follows:—Roumongeon, 190 lbs.; Karakanoff, 200 lbs.; Viger, 210 lbs., and Simard, 210 lbs.

JOCKEY WAS NEARLY KILLED AT AQUEDUCT

New York, November 8.—Jockey J. Hennessy had a narrow escape from death when his mount, Dr. Dix, fell in the fifth race at Aqueduct. Hennessy was thrown heavily, knocked senseless and was removed to the emergency hospital in the paddock, where he was revived. He was not badly hurt. Dr. Dix broke its neck in the fall. He was backed down from 50 to 1 to 10 to 1 at the close. Hennessy got off in fairly good position, but before the field had gone a sixteenth of a mile there was considerable crowding and Dr. Dix fell. Meanwhile Miller, on the favorite, Astor d'Or, worked his way through and won by two lengths. Jacobite, the 9 to 10 favorite, scored an easy victory in the Woodmere selling stakes. Five favorites won.

First race, 6 furlongs—Montgomery, won; Main Chance, second; Fish Hawk, third. Time, 1.14 4-5.

Second race, mile—Martin Doyle won; Lord of the Vale, second; Sailor Boy, third. Time, 1.40 2-5.

Third race, selling, 5 furlongs—Jersey Lady, won; Sally Preston, second; Lady Karma, third. Time, 59 4-5.

Fourth race, the Woodmere Stakes, selling—Jacobite, won; Keator, second; Monet, third. Time, 1.26 3-5.

Fifth race, selling, mile—Aster D'Or, won; How About You, second; Comedienne, third. Time, 1.42 2-5.

Sixth race, 6 furlongs—Suffrage, won; Sister Francis, second; Silver Wedding, third. Time, 1.14.

NO MORE M. A. A. A. MEMBERS, FOR A WHILE AT LEAST.

The president and directors of the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association have decided not to take in any more members.

They have reached the limit which the new building, only erected for a year, can accommodate, and from now on there will be a waiting list.

HEAVYWEIGHTS TO MEET TO-NIGHT

Special to The Montreal Star.

New York, N. Y., November 8.—Jack Johnson, the colored heavyweight, fights Jim Jeffords, of California, to-night, and says he will give him a good pounding. The battle is only to be six rounds, and is to be contested before the Lancaster Athletic Club, of Lancaster, Penna. In spite of the fact that Johnson is rated as only one of the heaviest, who is in the class with Jeffries, Jeffords, who has been out of the ring for some time, is certain that the negro will be unable to do away with him, and even has hopes of getting the unofficial decision. It is said in certain circles that Johnson is entering the ring with Jeffords in order to give the latter some easy going, and, if possible, to attract some other aspirants to championship honors into the 24-foot circle. But big Jack says he is trained for a hard fight, and he is not going to allow Jeffords to take it too easy.

We find fault sometimes with our boys in Britain; they are fonder of games than of learning; they will "make hay" in a friend's rooms in college, or screw up his outer door, but they compare favorably with the prematurely developed youth of Continental countries.—Liberty Review.

To Cure Catarrh the Germs must be Killed.

Japanese Catarrh Cure does it.

Catarrh is a germ disease, like typhoid fever and smallpox. It is a minute germ that weakens the membranes lining the nostrils, starts up inflammation and ulceration, takes away taste and hearing, and in the advanced stages affects the lungs, kidneys and liver.

Japanese Catarrh Cure kills the germs, and cures. It is the only remedy that reaches every part of the affected surfaces. Hundreds of testimonials prove that Japanese Catarrh Cure is the never-failing cure for Catarrh.

Mr. Frank Downs, Port Hope, writes:—"I have been subject to Catarrh for over three years, and could get nothing to help me. A friend advised the use of Japanese Catarrh Cure. I purchased a package from my druggist and got relief after three applications. I followed up the treatment, and am thankful to say, was soon completely cured."

BOXERS ARRIVE SOON FOR COMING SET-TO

Patsy Halley, who is to meet Kid Dufresne on Tuesday the 13th, at the Shamrock Club House, under the National Sporting Club, is expected to arrive in town at the end of the week.

Dufresne is at present training in Quebec and will probably arrive in town on Monday.

In his last contest here with Young Lenny, last Thanksgiving Eve, Kid Dufresne showed himself to be a very clever boxer and made a host of friends among Montrealers.

Halley is said to be one of the top notchers of his class and will take a lot of beating.

The management of the National Sporting Club has made extensive improvements in their hall and have arranged so that every admission ticket holder will be entitled to a seat. This motion was very popular the last exhibition that was held and will no doubt find favor again.

The names of those taking part in the preliminaries have not been announced yet, but it is thought that they will be taken from some good local men, who will furnish a first class exhibition.

The local club claims that this will be one of the best entertainments that they have yet held.

The National Elections.

The following gentlemen have been elected directors of the National Athletic Association for the ensuing year: Messrs. J. A. Mercier, Dr. J. P. Gadbois, H. Raymond, P. Viau, H. Bisaillon, O. Ledoux, W. Michaud, E. C. St. Pere, Dr. J. P. Cousineau; M. Raoul Lanthier was elected hon. president; Mr. R. Dumouchel, auditor.

'Varsity Will Be Weakened.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Toronto, November 8.—Varsity will have to do without the services of McPherson, their crack half-back, in the game with McGill on Saturday. McPherson's doctor has ordered him not to play on account of his bad leg, and the player consequently will not be in the line up. His absence will take a lot of strength away from the team.

Ross also will not play on Saturday. His parents are opposed to the idea of the fast wing man playing Rugby.

THREE DIFFERENT SPORTS

The centre picture is that of Tommy Riley, of Pittsburg, a clever boxer, who is here waiting to meet some of the crackerjack men in his class. To the left is Mr. Billy Carruthers, the champion of Valois, who is also an auto enthusiast; and to the right Mr. Barney Allison, one of the three great half-backs of the Montreal Football team.

TEN CHILDREN MAKE DEBUT AS HUNTERS

Young Riders Handle Their Mounts With Skill in Meadow Brock Fox Chase.

Hempstead, L.I., November 8.—Nearly fifty riders, among whom were ten children, took part in the fox hunt held under the auspices of the Meadow Brook Hunt Tuesday morning over the hills about East Williston and Westbury. It was the debut of the youngsters on the hunting field, and they put their mounts across the country with a skill that brought forth much favorable comment from the members of the hunting parties, and particularly the old campaigners.

The meet was at Tredwell's Corner, at East Williston, and the first cover was drawn in the Guinea woods, where the huntsman, James Blaxland, soon had the pack of twelve couple in full cry on the trail of a fox that led the merriest kind of a chase before he was holed, about seven miles from the starting point. The pack were considerably hampered by the dryness of the ground and a strong wind that quickly eliminated scent, and especially so when the quarry took to the roads, where tracing was difficult.

All the riders, however, held true to the line, and when Mr. P. F. Collier, the master of hounds, called the hunt off there were fully two dozen in at the finish. These were Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hitchcock, Jr.; Miss Ethel Hitchcock, Mr. Collier, Mr. Samuel Willets, Miss Cornelia Bryce, Mr. E. Winthrop, Mr. E. Johnson, Mr. Robert Potter, Mrs. James Burden, Mr. R. W. Stevenson, Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Stevenson, Mr. M. Doherty, Mr. George Rose, Jr., and his groom; the huntsman Blaxland and the whip, Harvey Benois.

At eleven o'clock a drag hunt was held from Hicksville, and a number of those who took part in the fox hunt jumped into their automobiles, hurried to the meeting place and then rode at a rattling gallop across some stiff country to Jericho, where the first check was called to give hunters and hounds a breathing spell.

GOTCH LOST HIS TEMPER.

A story from Kansas City says:

In the fastest and probably the roughest wrestling match ever pulled off in Kansas City, Yankee Rogers, New England champion, last night won a wager of $100 from Frank Gotch, champion wrestler of America.

Gotch agreed to throw Rogers at the Century Theatre in 10 minutes, or forfeit $100. He didn't do it, but if 2,000 people ever had $100 worth of excitement they had it in last night's bout. It was a half prize fight and half wrestling match from start to finish. None of the science and pretty plays of wrestling had any place in the Gotch-Rogers game. It was a fight for blood. Rogers was mad. Gotch was mad. They were both mad, and they showed it. Gotch was merciless, and Rogers availed himself of every opportunity to bruise his opponent.

Failing to throw Rogers in the time limit, Gotch was madder than ever, and added to the rash challenge of Thursday night by agreeing to throw both Rogers and Westergard in twenty minutes or forfeit another $100. Many who witnessed the match last night wondered why it was that the men were so bitter toward each other, and but few knew the inside facts.

Gotch is a gentlemanly fellow, in fact, somewhat of a Don Quixote on and off the mat. He is possibly as refined a champion as any athletic game has ever produced. Rogers' long suit is roughness, and his expositions at Convention Hall on Jess Westergard are said to have angered the champion. He decided to give Rogers a taste of his own medicine, and the did. Rogers was at home at the game, however, and slaps tand punches formed a good part of the match. Over the footlights, all over the stage, went the wrestlers, and all efforts to keep them on the mat were without avail.

The bout was no addition to the annals of scientific wrestling, but as a "rough house" it was all there, and will long be remembered in Kansas.

Wants to Meet Good Ones.

Tommy Riley, champion of Western Pennsylvania and New York, is ready to meet any man in the welter weight class.

He has been in the city for a few days and has received a few challenges already from Buffalo, Cleveland and other places.

Curley Supples, of Buffalo who fought Frank Erne for the champion light weight of the world, wants another fight with Riley. Riley and Supples met last May for six of the fastest rounds ever seen.

Riley has a nice clean record and has not been defeated yet and as Supples drew with him in their six rounds Riley is sure in a fifteen round contest he can dispose of his opponent very easily. Supples is one of the cleverest fighters in the business, and he has fought all over the U. S., England and also visited France. A couple of months ago Riley won from Joe Urannl, who claimed the championship of Central New York, as he beat Al. Weining, of Buffalo, and Gus Gardner of Philadelphia and also fought a draw with Blackburn.

Tommy Riley will stay in the city until the McVey-Strike match, as he is at present looking after McVey's interest.

Offers from the different clubs in regard to Riley meeting Joe Walcott, Curley Supples, Geo. McFadden or any welter weight in the business will be received at Allen's Cosey Corner Hotel. W. Allen proprietor.

THE C. A. A. U. SECRETARY EXPLAINS SOME THINGS

Backs Up Captain Gorman in His Position—Says Grierson Works Only Through Him Now and that Investigation Will Go on Anyhow.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Toronto, November 8.—Secretary Crowe, of the C. A. A. U., was asked last night by the Star representative for an opinion as to the protest made against the appointment of Captain P. Gorman, of Montreal, as chairman of the union's investigating committee, on the ground that he was not a member of the Board of Governors. Mr. Crowe simply quoted the rule governing the case, which reads as follows:

"In the event of an application for a decision of the Board of Governors upon the status of any athlete, it shall be the duty of the president to appoint a sub-committee of three to investigate the case."

The rule, it will be noticed, does not specify that the members of the sub-committee shall be members of the Board of Governors. The president is left free to choose whom he pleases.

Mr. Crowe has as yet received no word from President Stark concerning the latter's views on the withdrawing of the M. A. A. A. or his intentions regarding the taking of definite action in the matter. Neither has he had any further word from Mr. Grierson, of Ottawa, but understands that Mr. Grierson has forwarded his supplementary list of charges direct to Captain Gorman.

"I see," said Mr. Crowe, at the conclusion of the interview, "that some Eastern parties are now claiming that there is no need for an investigation, as nearly all the players concerned intend to leave the C. A. A. U. anyway. All I can say to that is that if we have succeeded in making them come out into the open, and thereby cleared the C. A. A. U. ranks of any elements of professionalism that it contained, then we are doing good work for amateur sport in starting and going on with the enquiry."

THE MONTREAL FOOTBALL PLAYERS ARE ALL AMATEURS.

The M. A. A. A. officials say: "The threat to prevent the Canadian championship football matches is silly. Ontario will not be frightened by it. Every one of our football players is an out and out amateur, and the public is able to judge for itself.

McGill Game Will be Started at 2.30 p.m. also on Saturday

The McGill Football Club has decided to follow the example of Montreal and start their game with Toronto 'Varsity on Saturday at 2.30, instead of at 3 p.m. In last week's game both teams and officials were ready sharp at the appointed time, but still it was getting a little dark before time was called.

Frank Patrick was out to practice last night, and will likely be well and fit by Saturday.

The first game of the Inter-Year Rugby series at McGill was played on the McGill campus yesterday between the juniors and seniors, and resulted in the score of 20-1 in favor of the juniors. Neither team showed good form in combination work, but the individual work was at times good.

Zimmerman, who played left half for the McGill first team last year, played the same position on the third year team, and was responsible for a considerable part of their score. Hastings, for the juniors, did some spectacular work in the way of punting, and never got excited. Ayer and Montgomery, inside wing, put up a good game.

The '07 team were decidedly outplayed and clearly showed lack of practice. Davis, full back, was responsible for the only score, making a touch-in-goal on a free kick.

Zimmerman, Bristol, Campbell and Ayer each made a try, none of which were converted, making the total score 20—1.

Powers Sells His Club.

Boston, Mass., November 8.—Hugh Duffy and Fred Doe have combined to purchase the Providence Club from P. L. Powers, and will leave to-day for New York for a conference with Powers. WORLD'S BEST MEN IN INDOOR GAMES

Stars Ready for Sterling Performances in Garden Friday and Saturday Nights.

New York, November 8.—Madison Square Garden on Friday and Saturday evenings of this week will be the scene of one of the greatest battles for athletic supremacy in the history of track and field sports. The occasion will be the indoor championship meet of the Amateur Athletic Union, and the teams of America's two most prominent athletic organizations, the New York and Irish-American clubs, will meet in their first fight for national indoor honors. Each club has entered twenty-six men in the different events.

In the short dashes, at 60 and 75 yards, Charley Seitz, of the "mercury foot" squad, looks like a winner, though Lawson Robertson, the Irish-American captain, must not be overlooked. Stevens and O'Connell, of the New Yorks, and Archer, Olson and Northbridge, of the Irish team, will also compete in the sprints. Robertson is the most likely man in the 150 yards run, the hopes of the new Yorks resting on Stevens, Randolph and Crockett. Northbridge and "Pete" Waterson, of the Celtic Park bunch, are also entered for this event. Harry Hillman expects to win the 300 yards run, though he will have to beat Lawson Robertson, the present champion, and "Smye" Northridge, who is showing good form. Harry Sedley, who has not done much during the outdoor season, is rounding into shape and will take part in the "300."

The 600 and 1,000 yard races will be the feature of the meet, and most interest will be centred in these two events. Eli Parsons, of Yale and the New York A. C., has decided to confine his efforts to the 600 yards run, which championship he holds, as well as the indoor record. His main opponent will be Melvin Sheppard, who is not only confident of victory, but expects to eclipse Parson's figures, 1 minute 14 seconds.

OPINION ON ATHLETICS WORTH LISTENING TO

The Respective Standing of Amateurs and Professionals in Great Britain as Seen by an Expert at Head of Three Thousand Clubs.

In a post-prandial speech at Sheffield, Mr. J. C. Clegg, the chairman of the Football Association, has been expressing his views in reference to the relations between some amateurs and the generality of professionals. In the course of his remarks he said:—

It might be that nowadays the amateur had an advantage over the professional, so far as social position was concerned, but he had yet to learn that because the one was born with a silver spoon in his mouth he was one whit better than a professional, either as a man or a player, or that he was imbued with a better disposition either on or off the field. At the present time the game was so well governed and organized that cases of misconduct were very few, and he had no hesitation in saying that the professional of to-day was equal to the amateur in all except, perhaps, social position. He was glad to be able to say that the professionals were invariably well conducted and well behaved men; and no one need to be afraid to mix with them. He had no sympathy with misconduct, and should be the first to be down upon anything of the kind; but in his opinion the professional had nothing to learn from the amateur on this score. What he objected to was amateurs placing themselves on a pedestal far above the professional, simply because the latter had received payment for services rendered. He could only describe their action as snobbish. His advice was to take no notice of the ill-natured sneers levelled at professionalism by the amateurs, which were simply prompted by jealously owing to the success attained by professional football, and the hold the game had on the public. The fact of the matter was that when the amateurs accused professionals of money hunting their great grievance was they could not themselves get the money they wanted.

And these opinions come from a gentleman who has ever been a most pronounced amateur both as a footballer and a runner. Mr. Clegg's remarks constitute the greatest compliment that the paid players have had for many a day.

Mr. Clegg is president of the English Football Association, a body controlling 5,000 clubs, amateur and professional, and was for a period mayor of Sheffield. He is a gentleman of high social standing.

Help for Weak Men

THE WEAK AND PUNY CAN BE CURED

Show me the men who would not be better than they are. It matters not how the rocks and shoals of life have worn the edge off the spirit of joyousness, have dulled the enthusiasm of youth, and left the nerves less vigorous, the eye less bright, the step less springy, the mind less forceful and the general vitality less powerful than they ought to be at your age, you want to be strong. Hard work wears, and worry, disappointment and the other cares of life drain away the vim and snap of perfect health. Electricity applied our way restores it. It makes you feel young, it renews your strength.

Dr. McLaughlin's Electric Belt

does this naturally. I know that the foundation of all strength is Electricity, and that Electricity alone will renew it. I have applied it for years, and have cured thousands of weak people in that time. Every town knows of its cures. My book tells of many grateful men and women who were cured by this Belt after every kind of medical treatment had failed.

It is the one sure remedy for the cure of Rheumatism, Weak Kidneys, Weak Stomach, Nervous Debility in young or old, and similar ailments, as well as Dyspepsia, Constipation, etc. How can anyone remain in doubt as to the value of this grand remedy when you see so many cures?

Fleming, Sask.

Dear Sir,—I am fully satisfied with my Belt; it is a good cure. I am stronger in every way, and I thank you very much for your Belt. It is well worth the money I gave for it. WILLIAM J. PEARSON.

Ste. Therese de Blainville, P.Q.

Dear Sir,—I take pleasure in telling you that the Belt I bought from you has been a stimulant for me, and I would not be without one. E. N. BEAULIEU.

West Gore, N.S.

Dear Sir,—After wearing your Belt for only one week, I am glad to tell you that it has greatly helped my stomach, kidneys and liver. From this out, I shall be pleased to let every one know what the "Dr. McLaughlin Electric Belt" has done for me, as it is well worth advertising. Yours very truly, W. J. CHASE.

I know what my appliance will do in cases for which I recommend it. I am willing to cure you before you pay me. All I ask, give me security of your honesty and good faith by offering me reasonable security. I will at once arrange the Belt suitable for your case, and you can Furious North-east Gales Prove Fatal to Number of Ships.

SIX MEN HAVE PERISHED

Almost Impossible to Render Any Assistance to the Shipwrecked Owing to Terrible Seas.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Charlottetown, P.E.I., November 8.—Within the past six days four vessels, caught within the treacherous horns of the crescent northern coast of the island carried out of their course by strong westerly currents, and driven by furious northeast gales, have gone to shore, and become total wrecks amid the breakers.

On Friday it was the Turret Bell, stranded at Cablehead and since condemned. On Saturday the schooner Orpheus went to pieces at Campbell's Cove. Tuesday morning the barque Olga met her fate at Black Bush. Tuesday night the barque Sorindo finished her career at Priest's Pond, all within a distance of twenty miles of the coast. So far six men have been known to have perished, and others are in the gravest peril. The Olga, an iron ship, from Port Elizabeth, South Africa, September 1st, bound to Campbellton, N.B., to load deals for Australia, and was in ballast when she struck.

COMMUNICATION DESTROYED.

A tremendous sea was on, and it was not until three o'clock in the afternoon, after many futile attempts, that communication with the shore was established.

A heavy cable from the ship was made fast on the bank, and the crew launched the ship's boat with twelve men and one woman on board. The attempt was made to reach shore by assistance of the cable, but owing to terrible seas, the boat broke away, and after tossing in the breakers was finally dashed upon the rocks.

Willing hands were there to render assistance, and they succeeded in saving every one of the boat's occupants.

The Sorindo, a Russian Fin barque of 1,650 tons, commanded by Captain Wigland, was laden with deals en route from Campbellton to Melbourne, Australia. She broke in two soon after she struck, and her men clung for hours to the sections, while the people on shore did not dare to launch a boat in the teeth of the terrible gale.

CREW HAS TERIBLE SEIGE.

In the forenoon one of the crew came ashore on a life buoy terribly mangled. He was unable to speak English, and no one understood him. Later a boat was launched from the ship, but it was capsized and three men were drowned. Nine men reached shore alive.

There are two dead men among the wreckage, and at present six still cling to the wreck, one portion of which is three hundred yards and the other two hundred yards from the shore. They are in a most perilous position, and will likely be swept to their death before morning, for the sea still rages furiously. All of the men who reached shore alive are injured, and it is feared a number will die. Doctors have gone from Souris, the nearest town, eight miles away, to care for them.

Last night the Dominion Government steamer Stanley left here to go to the rescue, but it is feared she cannot get close enough to be of assistance even if any of the survivors still cling to the wrecks.

The Norwegian barque Vikir, 800 tons, from Miramichi, to Liverpool, England, lumber laden, is ashore at Point Prim, on the south side of the island. A tug leaves here to-day to go to her assistance, and she is likely to be hauled off.

THE KING'S IMPARTIALITY.

Irish Home Rule Agitation in Australia.

An address to the King from Australia on the subject of Home Rule for Ireland and the reply thereto form the subject of a Parliamentary White Paper. The address takes the form of an anti-Home Rule petition, and is headed "Home Rule and the Federal Parliament National Protest." It is signed by 75,832 residents of Victoria, Queensland, Tasmania, Western Australia and South Australia, and was handed to Lord Northcote, the Governor-General, on July 16th. A similar petition, containing 20,000 additional South Australian signatures, had not then come to hand, and the New South Wales petition, containing more than 20,000 signatures, was to have been presented to the Governor-General on his way to Queensland in late July. The address "condemns in the strongest possible manner" the conduct of both Houses of the Commonwealth Parliament for having passed by majority resolutions in favor of Home Rule; states that the question of Home Rule for Ireland has never been discussed at any Federal or State election; submits that sectarian bias or local political opportunism is responsible for the "unauthorized action" of the Federal Parliament; and deplores the "unwarrantable intrusion" into the sphere of Australian politics of a "burning question, which so bitterly divides the political parties of the Motherland." In conclusion, the address assures his Majesty that the resolutions are not in accordance with the views of a vast majority of Australians, and professes unwavering loyalty and devotion to the King.

The address was remitted to the Prime Minister (the Hon. Alfred Deakin) by Lord Northcote. In a letter dated July 17th Mr. Deakin states that the Home Rule resolutions were neither supported nor opposed by the Government, some voting for and others against them according to their individual opinions. He also points out that the address of the House of Representatives, which embodied the resolutions for Home Rule, had been laid before the King, who commanded Lord Elgin to say "his Majesty highly appreciates the loyal sentiments it contained." He further advised that the address of protest be transmitted to his Majesty.

In reply to the address of protest, Lord Elgin writes, under date October 5th: "The address has been laid before the King, who has received with pleasure the assurances of loyalty contained in it."

Winchester, Ont., November 8. — John Purvis, of Marvelville, on his return home, and before he left town, was thrown from his buggy and instantly killed. He leaves a widow and four young children.

The largest birds' nests are to be found in Australia. The Australian jungle fowl build for nests great mounds, fifteen feet in height, and 125 or 150 feet in circumference. Grass, leaves and other vegetable matter are used in the construction of the nests, which easily weigh a ton. The Australian brush turkeys, working in colonies, build pyramidal nests even larger. One of these nests, on being removed, filled several carts, and its total weight was five tons.

Treasures Found in Our American Forests.

That our American forests abound in plants which possess the most valuable medicinal virtues is abundantly attested by scores of the most eminent medical writers and teachers of this and other countries. Even the untutored Indians had discovered the usefulness of many native plants before the advent of the white race. This information, imparted freely to the whites, led the latter to continue investigations until to-day we have a rich assortment of most valuable American medicinal roots.

Dr. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., believes that our American forests abound in medicinal roots for the cure of most obstinate and fatal diseases, if we would properly investigate them, and, in confirmation of this conviction, he points with pride to the most marvelous cures effected by his "Golden Medical Discovery," which has proven itself to be the most efficient stomach tonic, liver invigorator, heart tonic and regulator, and blood cleanser known to medical science. Dyspepsia, or indigestion, torpid liver, functional and even valvular and other affections of the heart yield to its curative action.

The reason why "Golden Medical Discovery" cures these and many other affections, is clearly shown in a little book of extracts from the standard medical works which is mailed free to any address by Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., to all sending request for the same.

To aid in healing old sores, or ulcers, apply Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve to them while taking the "Golden Medical Discovery" to purify and enrich the blood. Dr. Pierce's All-Healing Salve is cleansing and pain relieving. It destroys the bad odors arising from suppurating, or running, sores and puts them in the best possible condition for healing.

The "All-Healing Salve" is a superior dressing for all open, running, or suppurating, Sores or Ulcers. For healing open wounds, cuts and scratches it is unsurpassed.

If your medicine dealer does not have the "All-Healing Salve" in stock mail 50 cents in postage stamps to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., and you will receive it by return post.

In treating all open sores, or ulcers, boils, carbuncles and other swellings, it is important that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery be taken persistently to purify the blood and thereby remove the cause of the trouble. It is in the blood that the great battle of health has to be fought. The ulcer and the sore are simply the scarlet flowers of disease, with roots running down into the blood. These roots must be eradicated or the disease will break out afresh. "Golden Medical Discovery" cleanses the blood of all foul and poisonous accumulations, pushes out the dead and waste matter, and thus purifies the entire life current. Disease in the flesh must die out when it is no longer fed by foul blood. "Golden Medical Discovery" effectively cures disease in the flesh by curing its cause in the blood.

Not less marvelous, in the unparalleled cures it is constantly making of woman's many peculiar affections, weaknesses and distressing derangements, is Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, as is amply attested by thousands of unsolicited testimonials contributed by grateful patients who have been cured by it of catarrhal pelvic drains, painful periods, irregularities, prolapsus and other displacements caused by weakness, ulceration of uterus and kindred affections, often after many other advertised medicines and physicians had failed.

Nursing mothers and over-burdened women in all stations of life, whose vigor and vitality may have been undermined and broken-down by overwork, exacting social duties, the too frequent bearing of children, or other causes, will find in Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription the most potent, invigorating, restorative strength-giver ever devised for their special benefit. Nursing mothers will find it especially valuable in sustaining their strength and promoting an abundant nourishment for the child. Expectant mothers too will find it a priceless boon to prepare the system for baby's coming and rendering the ordeal comparatively painless. It can do no harm in any state, or condition of the female system.

Delicate, nervous, weak women, who suffer from frequent headaches, backache, dragging-down distress low down in the abdomen, or from painful or irregular monthly periods, gnawing or distressed sensation in stomach, dizzy or faint spells, see imaginary specks or spots floating before eyes, have disagreeable pelvic catarrhal drain, prolapsus, anteversion or retroversion or other displacements of womanly organs, from weakness of parts, will, whether they experience many or only a few of the above symptoms, find relief and a permanent cure by using faithfully, and fairly persistently, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Both the above mentioned medicines are wholly made up from the glyceric extracts of native, medicinal roots. The processes employed in their manufacture were original with Dr. Pierce, and they are carried on by skilled chemists and pharmacists with the aid of apparatus and appliances specially designed and built for this purpose. Both medicines are entirely free from alcohol and all other harmful, habit-forming drugs. A full list of their ingredients is printed on each bottle-wrapper.

Dr. Pierce's Pleasant Pellets cure constipation. Constipation is the cause of many diseases. Cure the cause and you cure the disease. Easy to take as candy.

Just As Good A Cigar As Any Man Wants To Smoke.

I had the notion there was better tobacco grown in Cuba than the Vuelta Abajo leaf they used to brag so about,—the leaf that makes the dollar apiece cigars for royalty.

That notion was correct,—the Manicuragua district grows a BETTER filler than any part of the world. I was the first to use it; and now I buy whole crops from the big planters there,—buy it in person.

Takes three years to mature this leaf, so it's rich without being bitter, full of flavor without being rank. That maturing is done in my own immense humidors here in my factory,—warm, moist, even temperature,—takes out the harmful "gum," and puts in the fine fragrance that makes the P.H.A.R.A.O.H Cigar so specially good.

That filler is bound with broadleaf Connecticut—specially grown for me. Then it's wrapped with clear Sumatra,—choicest kind,—imported direct from Holland by myself.

I see to the making,—so I can vouch for the whole thing, and I do. I can't imagine how it could be possible to produce a better cigar for ten cents—or for fifteen,—than the P.H.A.R.A.O.H. It's honestly all right. Wish you'd try one for yourself.

THEATRE NIGHT TROUBLE SETTLED

Students Will Pay for Damage in Grounds and University Authorities Decide to Drop Issue.

The committee appointed to deal with the disturbance caused by the students of McGill on last Theatre Night, made its report to an adjourned meeting of the McGill Corporation yesterday afternoon. In view of the nature of further communications received from the members of the Second Year and from the Alma Mater Society, the committee begged to suggest that the matter be dropped, and the students be allowed to prove that they were acting in good faith.

The communication of the Alma Mater Society, received by the committee, and submitted to the Corporation, were as follows:

"That inasmuch as the interests of the university were seriously prejudiced by the unfortunate occurrences which took place in the theatre on Theatre Night, and the various disturbances and destruction of property which took place subsequently, and that the majority of the students were not in sympathy with such unruly conduct, be it resolved:

"That the Alma Mater Society express regret and disapproval of the behavior of certain students on that occasion; and that they recommend that in future steps be taken to prevent a recurrence of similar incidents, and that further this resolution be entered in the minutes of the Alma Mater Society, and that a copy thereof be sent to the board of governors."

The communication from the Second Year again accepted responsibility for itself and offered to pay for damages done within the grounds.

Taking into consideration these communications, the Corporation decided to adopt the suggestion of the committee, that no further action should be taken in the matter, except that the students of the Second Year should be assessed for the amount of damage done in the college grounds. It was further stated that, although the university could not take any legal responsibility upon itself for damage done outside the grounds, still the students were engaged in making a collection wherewith to satisfy those who had a reasonable claim upon them.

The Corporation also decided to address a severe reprimand to the whole body of students who were present in the gallery on Theatre Night, most particularly to the members of the Second Year who so misbehaved themselves on that eventful occasion.

Confessed Himself a Murderer.

New York, November 8. — Unable to eat or sleep under the prickings of his conscience, he declared, John Wachince, 23 years old, an Austrian baker, last night confessed to Coroner Julius Harburger, according to a statement made by the coroner, that he was the murderer of Mrs. Maggie Gordon, 32 years old, who was choked to death at her home on Second street Sunday last. The woman's common law husband, Alexander Gordon, had been arrested in connection with the crime, and remanded to the Tombs Prison to await an inquest.

CAUSE OF THE RECENT MUTINY

Portsmouth Outbreak Was Caused by Overcrowding—German Emperor's Opinion.

Special to The Montreal Star.

London, November 8. — The cause of the naval outbreak at Portsmouth appears to have been due primarily to overcrowding. It is reported that when the German Emperor was being shown over the magnificent blocks of buildings in which the seamen and stokers are housed, after expressing great satisfaction at everything he saw in the way of arrangements for housing and feeding and exercising the men, he turned to the commanding officer and asked the number it was intended to accommodate in the establishment, and on being told four thousand, His Majesty exclaimed:

"Four thousand! Well, I should never think of putting such a large number of men into one barracks."

MORTIMER DURAND ABOUT TO RETIRE

British Ambassador at Washington is Popular Member of the Diplomatic Corps.

New York, November 8. — According to a despatch from Washington, Sir Henry Mortimer Durand, Ambassador of Great Britain to the United States, will retire from his mission in Washington next spring. His successor, not yet chosen, will come to Washington to take charge of the embassy about March 1. The Ambassador yesterday told Secretary Root of his coming retirement. As far as can be learned, Sir Mortimer is not leaving his post here for any other position, and after his return to England he will probably retire from public life entirely. He entered the British diplomatic service in 1873, when he was sent to Persia. During the entire period between then and now the Ambassador has been on foreign service for his Government with the exception of about one year. He has been back to England for a month or two occasionally, but for the last three or four years he has spent practically all of his time abroad. He came to the United States as his Sovereign's personal representative in 1902, succeeding Sir Michael Herbert, who died while on duty here.

There is, perhaps, no more popular diplomatic household in Washington than that of the British embassy, and the departure of the Ambassador will be unwelcome to many, both in official and social life. Lady Durand and Miss Durand are among the most popular ladies in Washington society.

THE LIGHTING SUB-COMMITTEE.

While the citizens of both nationalities are almost unanimous in favoring the rejection of the Light, Heat and Power Co's proposal as made through the Council's sub-committee, it is difficult to understand why certain newspapers are misrepresenting the action taken by the committee in submitting the Power Company's offer to the Council.

The truth is that the aldermen signing the report, did not support the offer at all. They abstained from making any recommendation of the offer whatever. In fact they condemned the proposal in these words:

"Your committee is not prepared to recommend the acceptance of these terms, but as the negotiations have been carried as far as possible, your committee now recommends an expression of opinion by the Council, upon which a final offer might be made to the company by your committee."

The citizens are making a fight to strengthen their representatives in the Council to get justice for the city. The cause of the people might be greatly weakened by argument based on misrepresentation. The cause of the people in this fight is strong, and it cannot be strengthened by false statements.

The Mayor and leaders of the Council could settle this matter in a few days if they would but intimate to the Light, Heat and Power Company finally the terms upon which they would enter into an arrangement. But under no circumstances, let it be understood, will the public approve of a contract that does not provide for A PERCENTAGE OF GROSS EARNINGS from the very start, fixing the amount at an annual minimum, and increasing this minimum, say, every five years.

The settlement of these franchise problems is the most important question that any Council of Montreal has been called upon to deal with. It means one of two conditions to follow, either a great forward, progressive movement to make Montreal a modern city, or that the city is to suffer for the years to come, as it is suffering now, from the name and fact of being the worst paved metropolis amongst all the cities of its size in the civilized world. The only other alternative is that, if the Council fails to get a fair bargain with the franchise-using companies, there will be no escape from increased taxes.

THE SORROWS OF ANNA GOULD.

If the Pilgrim Fathers have learned how to smile in the other world, they are doubtless taking some innocent amusement from the plight of Anna Gould. They left the Old World, with its worship of peerages and its despotic system of hereditary class, in order to find somewhere beyond the grey circle of the sea a land where a man could be a man, and there would be neither "tuft-hunting" nor "kow-towing" to class.

After the endurance of many hardships and the daring of many perils, they established such a land. They threw wide open the doors of liberty, and gave to the human race—hitherto pent up in the prison house of the eastern hemisphere—a chance to expand and lift its head and defy the dominance of hereditary caste. There were to be here no "tufts" to hunt, and the matchless opportunities of the virgin Continent they discovered, were to offer to all-comers a chance to make a good living and walk the earth erect.

But this splendid liberty was abused. These golden opportunities aroused the lust of monopolistic greed. Some men were not content to live as free men among free fellow-men; but were determined to lord it over them by reason of captured privileges and "cornered" opportunities. Instead of lending their abilities of strong leadership and far vision as had the Pilgrim Fathers to providing better conditions for the community with which they were identified, and meeting new communal problems with new communal remedies, they used these superior abilities to outwit their less able fellows, and to gain for themselves sources of wealth which belonged in part at least to all.

The result was a new aristocracy. These cloud-compellers would not have called it so. Usually they did not care for aristocracies or the social follies that go with them. They were intent on trying their strength against their rivals, and were counting their successes in dollars. But all unwittingly in most cases they were treading the sad path which the foolish Old World had trodden long centuries before them. They were reproducing here the conditions from which the Pilgrim Fathers fled in Europe.

But they could only reproduce some of the conditions. The glory of an ancient name—the glamor of a great title—they could not wrest out of railway iron or New York real estate. The "society" which their wealth made possible was not complete without this gilding only to be purchased in European capitals. So the topmost of their descendants, who saw nothing in wealth but social opportunity, began with true American directness to get this gilding. Anna Gould secured the title of Countess de Castellane; and now she has found that the gilt comes off.

There seems to be little doubt that the Count, judged by our standards, was a pretty poor piece of bric-a-brac. He is said to have struck his wife among his other offences, something that the manhood of this Continent will find it harder to forgive than some more serious offences. Instinctively our sympathy will be very strongly with the lone American woman making her fight for decency and a shadow of fair play, but if the ghost of a smile will break through our sympathetically lined faces, let it be put down to the suppressed amusement of our Pilgrim Fathers and other despot-fleeing ancestors who see their children wilfully burned at the fire they endured so much to save them from.

ENGLISH WOMEN IN CANADA.

A number of English ladies appear to have been mightily struck with the "loneliness" of life on the Western Canadian farm, and have felt it a mission to impart this discovery to the English women "at home" who may be thinking of emigrating. Now it is not likely that English ladies who are perfectly happy and prosperous "at home" will come to Canada in any large numbers. Those—as a rule—who will come will be drawn from the classes which either are dissatisfied with home conditions, or are ambitious to better themselves. Such women are not to be daunted by the fact that they may find themselves outside of the "five o'clock tea" circle.

The "loneliness" of the Canadian farm is nothing more than the "loneliness" of all new countries to the inhabitants of the crowded Old World. People emigrating from Europe to any field in which opportunity is written large, will find fewer people there of the sort to which they have been accustomed. That is one of the main reasons why there is increased opportunity. They expect to endure some hardships and some deprivations, but they also expect to gain some advantages, and live, on the whole, a better and richer and more adequately rewarded life. It is not often that they emigrate merely to get means to return home again. That is a Chinese policy to which British peoples are not given. They emigrate to found a better home on wider foundations.

To tell such people that they must do without "society" is like warning them that patent leather shoes cannot be worn everyday behind a plough. They may get less gossip, but they will get more high thinking and a greater mental freedom. English women coming to Canada—and especially those who go the West—will find themselves expressing honest opinions with an inspiring sense of liberty after a year's residence amidst the breezy surroundings of the prairies which they would have hardly dared to think under the cramping conventions of the old home. They will find that many things, which they have always thought vitally important, really "do not matter," and that it is far better to live one's own life without restriction than to become the finest Dresden china copy of the "correct" in ladylike conduct.

ROOSEVELT—THE ONLY ANTIDOTE.

The Republican papers see in the large Hearst vote evidence that a campaign of education is needed to convince the people of the folly of "Hearstism" as thoroughly as they were convinced in 1896 of the folly of "Bryanism." To an outsider, it would seem rather that what is needed is some stout stern action by the Republicans while in power to remove the grievances upon which "Hearstism" feeds. The campaign against Bryanism succeeded because Bryan stood for an impossible financial policy; and it was within the power of the campaigners to demonstrate to the people this impossibility. "Free Silver" was fairly argued down in the doubtful States.

But Mr. Hearst, who is as vague as an oracle regarding remedies, is attacking evils whose existence the entire country admits, and against which President Roosevelt himself has done some very effective campaigning. Thus it will not be possible to argue him down as Bryan was beaten. A campaign of education, which cannot point to the curative efforts of the Republican party will not "educate" in the way desired, but will be far more apt to "educate" a desperate people to fly to Hearst.

In two words, the best thing that the Republican party can do, from a purely party point of view, is to cease hampering Roosevelt and fall in behind him with enthusiasm. They may be very certain that it was Roosevelt, and no other, who saved them from defeat at the hands of Hearst on Tuesday last. This was accomplished not by his dramatic and vituperative intervention through Secretary Root, but by the confidence he has been creating for a year or two in the country that he can be trusted to deal with "the trusts." He gives the people an alternative champion. They are not compelled to choose between Hearst and "the plunderbund," but may try first the less drastic remedy of Roosevelt.

Roosevelt's weakness, however, has been his party. They have hampered him, and clogged his feet, and knocked up his rifle barrel, and done their level best to convince the people that, no matter how sincere he may be, his political alliances must be fatal to any real fighting effectiveness against corporate wealth. And if they continue in this policy, they will surely win for the Rough Rider the character of an attractive "stool pigeon," rather than that of a mighty hunter. This will destroy the one man whom the Republican party can pit against Bryan and Hearst in the championship of popular grievances, and will finally expose them to overwhelming defeat at the polls at the hands of either one or other of these gentlemen.

The Republican campaign of education should begin in the Senate. There is where the party needs to be taught political wisdom. The weakness of its position is not that the people do not know about Hearst, but that they do know about the Republican Senators. It is not wider publicity that is needed, but some better news to make public. The voters are all right. They are awake—very much awake. What is wanted is to let them see that Roosevelt can speak for the Republican party at other times than when his popularity is needed about election day.

CASTELLANE CASE AGAIN IN COURT

Special to the Montreal Star.

Paris, November 8.—Evidence produced yesterday in the divorce suit brought by the Countess de Castellane (formerly Anna Gould), against her husband, Count Boni, showed that the petitioner was treated in a brutal manner almost from the day the marriage ceremony was performed. It was Miss Gould's dollars that Boni wanted and not her affections. This was brought out when the Countess, acting under instructions from her brother, George, refused to supply Boni with all the money he wanted, was cuffed by him. He also struck her a violent blow in the face.

Maitre Cruppi, counsel for the Countess, briefly reviewed the points he had covered last week, referring to the reckless fashion in which the Count had spent millions of the Countess's money, while allowing her only a few hundred francs monthly for pin money. Counsel declared that the proofs of the Count's infidelity and cruelty contained in the thirteen allegations made last week were sufficient to justify a divorce without summoning witnesses.

Maitre Cruppi then plunged directly into the Count's manoeuvres since the divorce proceedings were instituted, to reconquer his wife's affections.

After the failure of the attempt at arranging a reconciliation February 13, when the Countess was granted the temporary custody of her children, Count Boni commenced a systematic campaign, writing to the Countess letters filled with avowals of sincere repentance, supplications for pardon, passionate words and professions of undying love.

On February 25, the Countess sent a cool rejoinder, informing the Count that she had suffered too much and lost all affection for him and all confidence in his honor and veracity.

The Count's tone then changed. The next day he sent the Countess a letter in which he upbraided her for being "a madwoman, actuated by hate and vengeance," and saying that their children would some day reproach her for her "spitefulness."

But the Count soon resumed writing love letters to her, begging to be allowed to see her, and predicting that he would soon die.

Maitre Cruppi concluded with the claim that his case had been made out, and a glowing appeal against calling witnesses, which, he said, would only bring disaster and ruin upon others.

After recess Maitre Bonnet, of counsel for Count Boni, read affectionate letters written by the Countess to the Count, excusing her inability to furnish funds because her brother George would not supply them. The divorce proceedings, counsel said, were due to the evil counsel of mischief-makers, especially to the machinations of Edmond Kelly, the American lawyer, whose object was to obtain a big fee. Without adverse influences, counsel was sure the Countess would return to her husband.

Maitre Bonnet's attack on Mr. Kelly was particularly virulent, charging him with suborning witnesses.

Before he had concluded his reply the court adjourned until to-morrow.

The feature of Maitre Bonnet's presentation of the Count's side of the case was the charge that the Countess' lawyers had poisoned her mind. Freed from outside influence, he insisted, she would have returned to her husband. He argued that inquiry now was imperative to give the Count an opportunity to explode the flimsy evidence, according to which he had been pictured as a cruel brute. Count Boni's only fault, according to counsel, was his desire to have his wife realize her dream of becoming the queen of the French aristocracy, and in his efforts to this end he had compromised his own as well as her fortune. Maitre Bonnet savagely attacked the Countess' attorneys, but did not utter one word of criticism of the Countess.

AN EARLY WARNING.

It seemed so very far away,
We never thought of it at all,
But we approach it day by day,
As winter merges into fall.
The unforeseeing person still
Into its festive season drifts,
But those who are forehanded will Begin to buy their Christmas gifts.

Just look at all the magazines,
The advertising pages scan;
Unless you are a man of means
It pays you well to look and plan.
It strikes you with a sort of jar
To note the way the season shifts,
But you would better now, by far,
Begin to buy your Christmas gifts.

Don't wait until the snow and ice
Upon the walks accumulate,
And notions lift their highest price—
They're bound to do it if you wait.
Don't linger till it means a crush,
For even now the curtain lifts.
Be early and avoid the rush,
Begin to buy your Christmas gifts.

THE CIVIL SERVICE EXAMS.

An Unusually Large Number of Candidates at the Capital.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Ottawa, November 8.—The House of Commons Chamber was not large enough to accommodate the candidates who commenced to write on the Civil Service examination here on Wednesday. The male candidates, in consequence, occupied the Senate chamber. The number writing indicates a growing desire on the part of the young people of the capital and district to get berths in the departments. Of 296 candidates 121 are males, and the rest females. In some instances, of course, the candidates do not take the examinations with the object of getting a government position. The sons and daughters of the well-to-do sometimes pass, so that if at any time in the future they should desire to go into the government service they would not have to qualify, or be under the necessity of securing the influence necessary to permit entrance to the service without the usual educational test.

World Gossip

Japanese in Hawaii.

The recent trouble between the Governments of the United States and Japan with regard to the exclusion of Japanese children and adults from the public schools of San Francisco—though it is gradually quieting down—naturally enough gave rise to a good deal of war talk, and people began to wonder what would happen in the result of an armed struggle between the two nations.

Mr. Howard E. Colgan, of Honolulu, who is at present visiting this city for a few days, is one of those who has considered the event of war and what it would mean, especially in Hawaii, where the Japanese population numbers no less than 50,000.

"What would that element do in the event of strife?" was the question put Mr. Colgan.

"In spite of their numbers, they could not do much," he said, "and for a variety of reasons. In the first place they have no arms, and so would in any case be more or less at the mercy of the whites. Secondly, they are so split up among the different islands that it would be practically impossible for them to assemble to do harm before sufficient forces to crush them could be got together. Thirdly, a Jap might be a better man than a Russian, but he would be up against a different proposition if he tackled Americans, whose intelligence and aggressiveness would make them altogether different opponents."

"But how do the Japs themselves feel about it?" enquired the interviewer, as Mr. Colgan paused after this last very satisfactory and consoling consideration.

"They are becoming more and more every day part and parcel of the territory, and are every day losing more and more of that fanatic devotion to the fatherland, which makes them, as well as the Chinese, such very bad colonists. They attend American schools to a great extent, and they are treated with absolute fairness and with as much consideration as any other nationality, so that they are very contented and are really much better off than they would be in their own country. They, of course, can never become American citizens, as it is against the constitution of the United States, but they are quite satisfied."

Growth of Vancouver.

Mr. T. Obalski, brother of Mr. Joseph Obalski, superintendent of mines for the Province of Quebec, returned to this city yesterday after a long trip of inspection through the northern part of British Columbia and Alaska, which he made for scientific purposes at the instance of the department of public instruction of France.

While speaking of his trip in an interview yesterday, Mr. Obalski said that he had lanaded at Vancouver just at the time of the San Francisco disaster. It was the cause of very sincere grief and sympathy there, but Mr. Obalski states that the disaster of the American city certainly was the occasion of a new impetus to its northern rival.

"In the last six months," said Mr. Obalski, "the progress of Vancouver has been something marvellous. Practically a new city, North Vancouver, has risen in that time out of the virgin forest. In that time the value of the real estate holdings has almost doubled, and there has been a great increase of trade. The population is rapidly increasing, as families are coming from all directions to settle there, so that the population which in 1902 was only about thirty thousand, now numbers at least eighty."

Another cause which Mr. Obalski regarded as having contributed somewhat to the present prosperity of Vancouver is the growth of Japan as a world power and the close relations which connect it with Great Britain and so with the colonies.

"When China also joins Japan in the march of civilization and industrial prosperity, the Far East will become one of the world's greatest trade centres. When this takes place the countries of the old world will have to compete with those of the Pacific Coast, where a tremendous industrial and commercial activity will naturally result."

This development ought, in Mr. Obalski's opinion, to be very striking in British Columbia, with its great mineral and timber resources. He had been simply astounded at the greatness of the development of the mines, and he expects in time that the whole mountain region of the province will be in the process of active exploitation.

Booming in North Carolina.

The Southern States have heretofore been regarded as being almost entirely agricultural in their industrial activities, but later developments show that this view will in time have to be very much modified and that the manufacturing industries of these states will in time become very important.

Mr. A. J. Harding, of High Point, N.C., stated in an interview with the Star, while in this city yesterday, that North Carolina is rapidly becoming the greatest wood-working State in the country.

"We are second only to Michigan at present," he said, "and if the present rate of progress is kept up it will not be long before we pass that State in this particular line of industry. In the city of High Point there are no less than sixty furniture factories, turning out everything from a bench to the finest bedroom suites."

"What is the output?" was asked.

"Nine hundred solid carloads of furniture are shipped out of High Point every month of the year. Our trade is not confined to the United States, but extends to China, Japan, Australia, Cuba, England, France, Germany, and indeed to every civilized country in the world.

"Nor is High Point the only town in the State where furniture is manufactured, but there are large establishments of the kind at Greensboro, Thomasville, Durham, and several other points."

"Is there anything else besides furniture at High Point?"

"There certainly is. We have besides one of the largest lumber plants in the United States, the largest street car factory in the whole South, an iron bed factory, a mammoth silk mill, three machine shops, and a dozen other large establishments. It is a booming town, and it is only one of many in the South where the same spirit of industrial activity is at work."

Chemical indigo dye is killing the natural production. The indigo output of Java has fallen in the last two years from 1,500,000 to 500,000 pounds.

The News by Telephone.

BUDAPEST has a newspaper which telephones instead of printing its news. This journal is the Hirmondo, which has now been established for several years in the Hungarian capital. Free of cost it instals a telephone apparatus in the subscriber's house or flat, and from its central office the news is announced by a clear-speaking elocutionist, who precedes each item with a general call. It is an all-day service, beginning at 9 o'clock in the morning, when it leads off by sending the correct time to all subscribers, repeating this hour by hour. The programme of public events, meetings, and the like, for the day is announced, and at intervals the movements of prices on the stock exchange. At 12 o'clock the news of the day at home and abroad is telephoned to subscribers in a clear and succinct narrative. To while away the post-luncheon hour the subscriber may take up his receiver and listen to the recital of an original and complete short story by an accomplished raconteur. From 4.30 to 6.30 subscribers are in electrophonic connnection with the musical performance of the Houved military band. From 7 o'clock until 11 on five nights in the week the subscriber, sitting in his own home, may enjoy the music and singing of the Grand Opera House. On the other two evenings in the week he commands the performance of the gypsy band at Budapest's leading cafe. And the cost of this complete service of daily news and evening entertainment is 33½ cents a month.

Periodicity of the Joke.

The world is still waiting for the man of science who will formulate with precision the periodic law of jokes. Sir Francis Burnand, lecturing at Chester, said that "experience had taught him that the witticism supposed to be original or the absurd situation fondly imagined to be absolutely new, had, as a rule, already appeared in Punch." A joke, he said, travelled rapidly. After wandering over Europe and America the poor old joke, done almost to death, was in some queer disguise brought back to Mr. Punch, who was expected to welcome his property as an entire novelty." The knight gave his audience to understand that there is a sort of joke index in the possession of the paper he edited with so much success. "Mr. Punch had only to refer to one of his own volumes to find the joke in a state of perfect preservation, like the fly in amber." Any one who has ever had anything to do with the editing of humorous writing will certainly agree with Sir Francis about the immortality of all the principal jokes. Indeed, one of the principal arguments for the position that humor is of the devil is the shameless effrontery with which people will support the statement that the joke they are purveying is a new one. Again and again persons have sent to this office accounts of humorous things said to them, as they alleged, under circumstances which insured the absolute novelty of the joke. A man will declare that his own small son lately said an elaborately funny thing. The funny thing, on inspection, is found to be the same that Hamilcar told of the infant Hannibal, and that has been going ever since.

Why We Are "Foreign Devils."

The term translated, "foreign devil," is literally "ocean demon," a forcible Chinese term for pirate. The usual term "sea-robber" became "ocean demon" after this Chinese experience of unscrupulous foreign pirates who became marauders on shore as well. From the Chinese standpoint, was not the term justified in those days? And not only did the Portuguese nation furnish one or two unworthy specimens of Europeans, but so did Holland, and so did England, in the years which followed. The China seas, in addition to their own bands of native pirates, became infested in those early days with far more daring piratical spirits from these three nations. And, at first confined to the coast, the term "ocean demon" or pirate gradually spread into the interior, being propagated from place to place in reports and rumors which doubtless magnified the actual doings of the lawless Europeans into deeds of fiendish atrocity. Then after a generation or so the term "foreign demon" was utilized by others with fractious children, much as the name Bonaparte was for a while in England: "If you don't stop that noise, I'll tell Boney to come and take you!" The mention of "ocean fiends" was found to afford a potent sedative for blatant juveniles, and so it has continued in use, since the sixteenth century until the present generation, an interesting if unpleasant instance of Chinese conservatism.

Moderation and Long Life.

Noting the longevity of persons in sedentary employments, American Medicine observes that it occurs with sedentary persons who are "not exposed to harmful conditions such as dust, dirt and dulness." An inert life is declared to be the normal one. The savage takes life easily. Laziness is natural. Sports should not consist of "spurts," but of exercises that subject the organs, internal and external, to no excessive exertion. The right thing for every one is to avoid violent movements that strain the arteries, enlarge the heart, waste nerve force or cause one to become so "run down" as to fall an easy victim of bacteria that invade the circulation. We want, says the journal, to "get back to nature, where excessive labor is the rare exception." Our modern athletics are condemned as "the unnatural thing," since they embrace too much of violence and strain for the normal man. The sports of boys should, accordingly, be moderated with a view to their escaping excessive calls upon the heart and other delicate organs. The boy is commonly supposed to be immune from injury, however violent his exertions, but his violence sometimes produces unobserved lesions that show their ruinous effects a few years later. Moderation in all things is the secret of long life.

Barques Ashore.

Charlottetown, P.E.I., November 8.—A Norwegian barque, supposed to be on her way to Campbellton, N.B., is ashore at Black Bush, on the north side of the island, about fifteen miles west of Eastpoint. She is supposed to be a total wreck, but there are no particulars yet.

Another Norwegian barque is ashore between Priest Pond and Black Bush. She is loaded with deals and has broken in two. There are men on both vessels. This makes two Norwegian barques ashore between Priest Pond and Black Bush. The second one went in Tuesday evening at 10 o'clock. The one man who landed cannot speak English.

Lloyd's agent is wiring the Marine Department to send a steamer to give assistance to the wrecks. One of the vessels is the Olga. She is not broken up and her crew will probably be saved.

MR. SHEPLEY FINALLY GETS MR. GEO. W. FOWLER, M.P., ON STAND BEFORE INSURANCE COMMISSION

Deals of the Kamloops Lumber Company, the Union Trust and the Great West Looked Into—The Commission Sits at Night for the First Time Since its Institution.

Special Staff Correspondence.

Ottawa, November 8.—The first evening session in the history of the Insurance Commission took place last night when the testimony of Mr. Geo. W. Fowler, M.P., of Sussex, N.B., was concluded. Mr. Fowler was n much more bland humor than when heard in Toronto after his return from the West. However, he was anything but communicative, and Mr. Shepley had some trouble in getting, as he did fairly well, into the heart of the story of Mr. Fowler's deals in timber lands in British Columbia.

The Commission sat until 10 o'clock at night, concluding the I.O.F. matter, at least for the present. The Life Underwriters' Association will come up to-day.

MR. FOWLER COULD NOT PRODUCE.

Times and tides for the assembling of the Insurance Commission have varied greatly throughout the past six months during which that body has been desultorily sitting, but yesterday afternoon the limit was reached when the commission convened at 4.15 p.m. for the first time during the day. Mr. Geo. F. Shepley, K.C., the Commission's counsel, had to attend a sitting of the Supreme Court, and the Commission was in private session for the consideration of its report throughout the day. In the preparation of this report it has been announced that Mr. Shepley will assist.

As had been announced the first witness called was Hon. Geo. W. Fowler, who was a witness in Toronto. Mr. Shepley called upon him to produce the documents relating to the Great West Land deal, which he had been asked to look up. Mr. Fowler could not find any maps or any correspondence with Mr. F. T. Griffin, the C.P.R. land commissioner, regarding the purchase of the C.P.R. lands. He could find no correspondence with the members of the syndicate, as negotiations had, as a rule, been verbal. There had been no correspondence with Mr. Curry, of Toronto, nor with other members of the New Ontario Farm and Townsites' Company, nor with Western real estate men.

AGREES SUBSTANTIALLY.

Mr. Fowler agreed substantially with the account given by Mr. Griffin yesterday of the stages of his dealings with the C. P. R. first the reserving of 300,000 acres, then the fixing of the price in Montreal, later the reserving by the C. P. R. of 25 per cent. of the average lands, lastly the syndicate having the right to select 200,000 acres out of the remaining 217,000 acres.

Witness had no actual correspondence with C. P. R. officials regarding the deal. He did not remember having written a letter to Sir Thomas Shaughnessy. He said he had heard all the letters he had written to that gentleman read during Mr. Griffin's evidence.

He had no copy of the contract made with the C. P. R.

"As far as you are concerned, your records are absolutely blank regarding this transaction?" asked Mr. Shepley.

"I have brought you all I have," said the witness.

KAMLOOPS LUMBER COMPANY.

Mr. Shepley then turned to the consideration of these papers.

They consisted for the most part of documents concerning the Kamloops Lumber Company. Mr. Shepley found a new one, that was not already on the records, and asked what it was.

"It is an estimate of the Kamloops Lumber Company."

"Who prepared it?"

"I did, from the reports of men familiar with the property."

"Do you remember preparing the estimate?"

"I think I do."

"Why?"

"To show what the property contained."

"To whom?"

"To anybody interested."

"Where did you find this?"

"Among other private papers not connected with the Kamloops affair."

Another document produced by the witness was described as a copy of an offer he had made this spring for the purchase of the Kamloops property to the Kamloops Lumber Company. He said that the company wanted to sell, and he and Messrs. Irvine and McCormick had made the offer.

Another new paper was a series of questions submitted by Mr. Peter Ryan to Mr. Shields, his partner in the West, as to the cost of the production of lumber there.

"He handed me these while I held the option,' 'explained the witness," to show what the thing would cost. I never sumbitted it to anyone that I remember. I do not think it is of importance."

"Did it form an element in your action as regards the option?"

"It may have served as an indication to some extent as to the value of the purchase."

"But did you rely on it in taking up the option?"

"I may have to some extent."

THE SHUSWAP PROPERTY.

There was a letter dated April 13, 1904, from Hon. G. E. Foster to Mr. Fowler. It dealt with the purchase of the Shuswap Property by the Kamloops Company, and brought in the names of Messrs. Irvine and McCormick. This property belonged to Mr. James C. Shields and others, and was a shingle manufacturing plant on Celista Creek, B.C.

"Who initiated the proposition?"

"I do not remember."

Witness said the matter was discussed several times and no objection was made by anybody. Later he had received an option under the direction of the company at the figure of $40,000.

"Who conducted the negotiations?"

"I remember having talked with Mr. Shields several times. I had once thought of taking up the Okanagan and Shuswap properties. I cannot recall having done anything of the kind with the Shuswap."

Witness had gone over the property to ascertain its value, and said it was worth $40,000.

"Were you entrusted with the task of closing the matter with Mr Shields?"

"The money was paid directly by the company."

"Had you anything to do with the payment of the money?"

"I never had personally."

"Had you any concern with the payment of the money to the Shuswap people?"

"I don't understand."

The cheques paid for the lands were produced, and witness said he knew nothing about them. They were signed variously by the Union Trust and the Kamloops Lumber Company. There were three of $10,000 each by the Lumber Company and one of the same amount by the Union Trust.

"Do you know anything as to the destination of this money?"

"I suppose it went to Mr. Shields."

"But afterwards?"

DIVIDED THE COMMISSION.

"Some time after the agreement Mr. Peter Ryan told me that he had a commission of $5,000 on the deal from Mr Shields. He offered to split this with me. I received some money from Mr. Shields, and gave Mr. Ryan credit for it on the Kamloops account, which was not then satisfied."

"What about the other half?"

"I do not know."

"How much did Shields give you?"

"I think about $3,000."

"Was it by any chance $10,000?"

"No."

"Where did you bank it?"

"At home, in Sussex, N.B."

Witness gave as his best estimate of the amount he received $4,000.

"You had no knowledge of this commission until Ryan spoke to you?"

"No."

He said that Ryan was negotiating the sale for Shields. He had not told Mr. Shields that the sale was not being made to him.

"Did you ever hear from anybody that the $40,000 originally paid for the property reached the Shuswap people only to the extent of $30,000?"

"No, not even from Mr. Shields. I certainly didn't get it."

"Why did Ryan offer you this commission?"

"I suppose he didn't know that the recommendation was made, and the property sold."

"You never reported this then to anybody?"

"No."

"The money came out of the Shuswap purchase money?"

"It came to Mr. Ryan anyway."

THE OKANAGAN COMPANY.

The Okanagan matter was next under discussion, in which Mr. Fowler was also interested. Through the recommendation of Mr. Irvine the Kamloops Company decided to buy it before the company was finally organized. Mr. Irvine was the vendor. Mr. McCormick was also interested. Witness said he was "there."

"Were you aware of the extent of the interests of Irvine and McCormick?"

"They were as large holders as any; perhaps larger."

Witness said Mr. Irvine was very strong in urging upon the Kamloops Company the advisability of purchasing the Okanagan property, saying that he would buy it himself otherwise.

"Meaning to run it in opposition?"

"I suppose you would call it opposition."

"Was it by this pressure that he induced the purchase?"

"You may call it pressure. They were all adults there; they knew their own business, ———."

"Yes, and they were all partners, too."

"Did Mr. Irvine say he would stay out of the Kamloops Company if they would not buy?"

"Yes."

Witness received all the purchase money, which was $175,000, some of which he gave to Mr. Hale, and some of which he put in the Bank of Montreal to the credit of the Okanagan. He gave some to Mr. Irvine, and some to Mr McCormick.

"Was the part you put into the bank the part that reached the shareholders other than what went to Mr Irvine, Mr. McCormick and Mr. Hale?"

"No."

"Did you pay all the proceeds of the sale in these four quarters?"

Witness said he had paid various amounts to others, and some in liabilities.

"What liabilities?"

"There were liabilities to me, for example. This was for money advanced. I had advanced it to the company some time before the transaction. It was something like $22,000. I had been in the expectation of becoming a shareholder to this extent. I had accepted drafts and advanced money."

Witness said he had no record of how he distributed this money. He had destroyed the cheques. It was business outside his regular affairs, and did not find its way into his books.

"Do you, as a matter of fact, remember these particular cheques and their destruction?"

"I don't remember these particular cheques. I never consciously destroyed these cheques."

Mr. Fowler said that at the end of the year when his cheques came in he destroyed them as a rule. He had not kept a stub book of his cheques with any regularity, except for important entries.

The manner of distribution of the purchase money was gone into.

"Who got the big profit?"

"The shareholders."

"We had Mr. Hale and Mr. Irvine."

"What others? Were you treated in the distribution as a shareholder?"

"Yes."

"And you took the profits accruing on your presumed stock?"

"Yes."

"What amount of stock were you supposed to have?"

"$22,000."

Witness said he was an agent of the Kamloops Company to buy, merely to take an option. He said the price had been fixed by the principals.

"And you were in that as a member of the Kamloops Company?"

"Yes."

"Do you see any inconsistencies in making a profit as vendor out of a purchaser after having been charged with taking an option?"

"Anybody could have taken the option."

There was an argument then as to the responsibilities and definition of the agent. In the Shuswap affair witness could not have taken a commission from Mr. Shields, he said, as he was agent of the vendees. In the other matter the case was different. In the matter of the Ryan property (Kamloops lumber), he had no idea of the Union Trust when he first acquired the option. Negotiations failing, he went to the Union Trust and suggested that they take the property. Then the time for the option arrived, and he went to Mr. Ryan and took it up himself. On January 26 the agreement was signed between himself and Ryan. The property was his own. He was not bound in any way to the Kamloops people, and was not acting as their agent.

At 6.10 the commission adjourned for dinner, reassembling at eight o'clock.

AT THE EVENING SESSION.

At that hour Mr. Fowler was again on hand. Mr. Shepley took up with him the agreement made between him and Hon. G. E. Foster, when witness was negotiating for the sale of the Kamloops limits to the Union Trust Company. This was drawn on February 5, 1904, and the new company was to include Messrs. Fowler, Foster, Irvine and McCormick.

In connection with this, Mr. Fowler made another emphatic statement, that in making the purchase from Ryan he was acting for himself. He said that on October 24, 1903, he had got the option. For some weeks he was negotiating with a party who afterwards fell out. Then he went to the Union Trust. On January 5, 1904, there was a letter from McCormick and Irvine to Hon. G. E. Foster, giving a favorable report of their inspection of the Kamloops limits.

KNEW THEY WERE EXAMINING LIMITS.

"Did you know they were examining the limits?"

"Oh, yes."

"On behalf of the Union Trust?"

"They were not employed by the Union Trust."

"Were you aware that McCormick and Irvine were then off making an inspection as a result of your broaching the matter to the Union Trust?"

"I was."

"How long before that were they so instructed?"

"It must have been some time before."

"Would it be a month?"

"They should have done it inside of two or three weeks."

The two were not acting for witness, he said, and so were under no obligation to report to him.

"Did they make a report to you?"

"Not an express report. They told me what they found out there."

"Did they make a specific report to you?"

"I do not remember."

"Why should they, when you were the vendor and they were sent by the vendee?"

"I paid Mr. McCormick's expenses."

"Can you explain how they came to report to the vendor?"

"They probably reported to me, and I gave the report to the other people."

Witness said he could not recall giving the men instructions to go out. There may have been joint instructions between him and Mr. Foster. The ethics of instructing the vendee's agents to report to the vendor then formed the subject of a lengthy argument.

Mr. Shepley then sprung a surprise in the shape of a report made to the witness by Messrs. Irvine and McCormick at this time.

"Do you mind it being put in the records that their report to you was more elaborate than that to their employers?"

"I suppose it was."

The question of paying for this inspection trip was taken up. Witness said he had not at the time paid the expenses, although he had afterwards given Mr. McCormick $1,000.

"Under what obligation were you to pay $1,000 when you did not send them?"

"Well, I paid $1,000."

Mr. Shepley produced a cheque for about $300 that had been issued in payment of the expenses by the Kamloops Lumber Company, otherwise Hon. G. E. Foster.

The witness said there had been no arrangement made beforehand that he should pay the expenses of the inspecting party.

Regarding the report made to him, Mr. Fowler had no memory of circumstances, and could not say whether or not he had passed it on to the Union Trust.

The famous $55,000, received by Mr. Fowler from Peter Ryan in connection with the purchase of the Kamloops limits came up. As he had said in Toronto, Mr. Fowler declared that there were certain dealings between himself and Mr. Ryan which made it impossible for him to speak with accuracy; and he did not see that tihs point was germane to the inquiry.

"How much does Ryan owe you yet?"

"About five or six thousand dollars."

"Do you hold security?"

"I claim that I do. It is a limit—the Albert Canyon limit."

To secure the debt, Mr. Ryan had assigned three limits to Mr. Fowler. Later when asked to re-assign, the witness had asked first to have a settlement of the bill.

DID NOT CARE TO TELL.

"Why did he assign the limits?"

"I would rather not tell."

Mr. Fowler said that the limits had been transferred without his knowledge. When they were in his power he decided to hold them to secure the debt.

Mr. Kent—"You went on the principle, 'What we have we'll hold.'"

The disposition of the $55,000 was taken up again, and Mr. Shepley "coaxed" the witness to say how much of this had gone to Irvine and McCormick. Accord.

REST OF DEMOCRATIC TICKET ELECTED RESULT CLOSE FOR LIEUT.-GOVERNOR HEARST DECLINES TO CHARGE 'FRAUD'

Special to The Montreal Star.

New York, November 8.—Latest returns received by the Sun (Independent), and the Herald (Independent) indicated last night that if returns in this city are correct all the Democratic candidates for office on the state ticket, with the exception of Hearst, have been elected.

Hughes' plurality remained practically unchanged from the figures given yesterday at about 60,000. His lead was obtained through the knifing of Hearst, which did not affect the rest of the Democratic ticket. These returns are unofficial.

So close is the vote on state officers from the Lieutenant-Governor down, that it will be impossible to tell definitely who has been elected until after several boards of county canvassers have reported. They meet next Tuesday.

At present Chanler appears to have 3,376 plurality over Bruce for Lieut.-Governor.

HUGHES STATES HIS INTENTIONS.

Special to the Montreal Star.

New York, November 8.—Mr. Hughes says:—

"It is a victory for sobriety and decency in administration of government. But the people will not tolerate indifference to public wrongs. They desire neither exaggeration nor an inflammatory appeal on the one hand, nor moral or political obtuseness on the other hand. The election is a rebuke to demagogical methods, and it is also impressive in its demand for responsible leadership. I shall address myself to the task of squaring the administration of government with the interest of the people, confident that I may rely upon the support of all good citizens, not only those who voted for me, but also those who, in the intensity of their desire to end abuses, voted for my opponent. To the work of insuring to the extent of my power, just administration of government of this state, I shall devote myself unreservedly."

HEARST MAKES A GOOD LOSER.

Special to the Montreal Star.

New York, November 8.—Mr. Hearst has had very little to say since his defeat, and he did not talk much yesterday. He showed a cheerful front to callers who went to his house in Lexington avenue to congratulate him "on making a good fight, anyway," and put in several hours reading telegrams from all parts of the state and all over the country to about the same effect.

Despite Hearst's silence certain things concerning his attitude and his opinion of the election became definitely known. He has refused to follow Ihmsen's loud cry of "fraud" and "robbery," and "stands pat" on the statement he issued yesterday morning, which conceded his defeat and was virtually a promise to abide by the result.

During a conference with his lieutenants yesterday, Hearst indicated it would be neither sensible nor discreet to charge that he was defrauded of victory.

His followers were eager to howl fraud, but they were squelched.

INDEPENDENCE LEAGUE CHARGES FRAUD.

New York, November 8. — At the headquarters of the Independence League the following statement was issued:

"Reports from up-state indicate not only that Mr. Hearst cut down the Republican vote materially, but that the Independence League vote for Mr. Hearst was not counted in many counties. These votes will have to be added to the announced results of Mr. Hearst's vote in order to give correct [illegible] figures in the state.

"Last night, Captain Wm. Astor Chanler stated that his brother, Robert, who was running for sheriff in Duchess county, had threatened to bring mandamus proceedings against several election boards before they consented to count the Independence League vote for Mr. Hearst. Yesterday other reports were received indicating that Independence League votes for Mr. Hearst were not counted in Erie and Allegany counties. Reports came also showing that in districts in Clinton, Cattarugas, Herkimer, Wayne, Albany, Onondaga and Washington counties there was a failure on the part of election boards to count the vote for Mr. Hearst which was cast under the scales.

"The facts developed yesterday explain the great falling off of the total vote cast Tuesday, as compared with the total vote cast two years ago. There is no doubt that the votes represented by this falling off were the votes cast for Mr. Hearst and his associates under the emblem of scales. In 1904 the total vote for governor was 1,625,907. This year, with 63 election districts missing, only 1,373,450 votes are accounted for, although the registration this year was unusually heavy and the weather conditions and the interest taken in the campaign all tended to bring out a full vote. The advices received up to date are:

"Independence League votes for Hearst to the number of 650 were not counted in Onondaga county, with other districts to hear from.

"In one district in Clinton county 11 league voters for Hearst were not counted, with the indication that other districts in that county were treated in the same way.

"In Warren county, Glens Falls, in election district No. 1, the Independence League vote was not counted.

"In the town of Queensbury, Warren county, 20 votes for Hearst in the Independence League column were not counted.

"The Hearst vote in two election districts in Cattaraguas county, were not counted.

"In Allegheny county not one Hearst vote in the Independence League column was counted.

"In Erie county but few Hearst votes in the League column were counted.

"In Washington county the Hearst vote under the Independence League column was not counted in several districts.

"These matters are being fully investigated."

CONNECTICUT.

New Haven, Conn., November 8. —The Republicans elected their entire state ticket, re-elected five membrs of Congress and a Senate and House that are overwhelmingly of their own kind. The results of a few local issues are the only crumbs of comfort for the Democrats. The unofficial returns show that for governor, Colonel Rollin S. Woodruff received 88,416 votes, while Mayor Thayer received 67,752, the former's plurality being 20,664.

The Socialist and Prohibition vote cast for governor was insignificant. On the face of the returns, the Senate stands 27 Republicans and 8 Democrats, but recounts are likely.

HONOLULU.

Honolulu, November 8.—The election returns, so far as received, indicate the re-election of J. K. Kalanisanaole, Republican, as delegate to Congress, by an increased majority.

The territorial legislature will be Republican. It is probable that the Republicans, will contest the result in Honolulu.

The Island of Hawaii went Democratic, except for delegate.

IDAHO.

Boise, Idaho, November 8. —According to returns yesterday, it seems assured that Governor Gooding, Republican, for governor, has been elected, though his plurality shows heavy losses from the vote here received in 1904.

ILLINOIS.

Chicago, November 8. Illinois went Republican by over 100,000. The vote for Smutski, state treasurer, footing about 120,000, with a few districts estimated. Chicago gave the state ticket a plurality of over 50,000. The Republicans lost five congressional districts, giving the Democrats six instead of 1 in the next Congress. The Legislature undoubtedly is Republican by a good majority on joint ballot. This insures the return of United States Senator Collum.

INDIANA.

Indianapolis, Ind., November 8.—Latest returns yesterday afternoon show the election of five Republican and five Democratic congressmen, with three districts in doubt. These are the second, fifth and thirteenth. The change from the earlier estimates was caused by wholesale scratching. National Democratic Chairman Taggart claims the election of seven congressmen, and concedes the state by 17,000.

KANSAS.

Topeka, Kans., November 8.—Complete returns from 71 out of 105 counties received at Republican state headquarters show a plurality of 5,000 for E. W. Hoch, for governor, over W. A. Harris (Democratic). The Democratic state committee, however, still claims the election of Harris.

It was generally conceded that the Republican members of the Supreme Court and the rest of the state ticket, including the railway commissioners, were elected. The Republicans probably elected a working majority of the Legislature.

KENTUCKY.

Louisville, Ky., November 8.—With only a few mountain counties to hear from and these probably increasing his lead, Governor Breckham has won his fight against Senator McCreary for the nomination for United States senatorship in yesterday's Democratic primaries. Samuel W. Hagar was nominated for governor in the same primary by a majority of between 12,000 and 15,000, the nomination for attorney-general going to John M. Hendricks. The complexion of Kentucky's representation in Congress shows some changes, the Republicans gaining two congressmen, giving them a total of four.

The Republican members are Dr. A. D James, of the third; John W. Langley, of the 10th; Don C. Edwards, in the 11th, and Jos. B. Bennett, in the 9th. Edwards and Bennett were reelected.

MASSACHUSETTS.

Boston, November 8.—Complete returns to-day show the plurality of Governor Curtis Guild, jr., (Republican), over District Attorney John B. Moran, his Democratic opponent, at 31,662, while Lieut.-Governor Eben S. Draper (Republican), defeated Egerry Brown, of Brockton, (Independence League and Democrat), by a margin of 9,779.

Eleven Republican Congressmen were elected, and three Democrats, the delegation to Washington remaining unchanged.

The Democrats made a gain of three in the state Senate, but the lower branch of the Legislature will remain unchanged and strongly Republican.

The rest of the Republican state ticket was re-elected.

MINNESOTA.

St. Paul, November 8.—Governor John A. Johnson, Democrat, has been re-elected by at least 40,000 plurality, and the final figures may go considerably higher. The remainder of the state ticket is Republican with the possible exception of secretary of state, which meagre returns show to be in doubt.

MISSOURI.

St. Louis, Mo., November 8.—From nearly complete returns the Democrats have carried the state by a plurality of 7,640, electing all candidates on the state ticket, and twelve of the sixteen Congressmen. The Republicans elected Congressmen in Kansas City and St. Louis, but lost all the districts in the state, which had been swept into the Republican ranks two years ago.

NEBRASKA.

Lincoln, Neb., November 18.—George L. Sheldon, Republican, is elected governor of Nebraska, by a plurality of from 10,000 to 18,000, and carries with him probably the entire Republican state ticket. The Republicans claim five of the six Congressmen, and a majority of thirty-seven on joint ballot in the Legislature, ensuring a Republican successor to United States Senator Millard. The vote was light.

NEW JERSEY.

Trenton, N.J., November 8.—Revised returns show that the Democrats will have the House of Assembly 31 to 29, and have elected four congressmen in New Jersey, a gain of three.

The Legislature will be Republican on joint ballot, 44 to 37. This gives the Republicans three more than a majority.

NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Concord, N.H., November 8.—With seventeen towns still to be heard from, the returns from Tuesday's election indicate that the contest for the governorship will have to be settled in the Legislature, the Republican candidate, Chas. M. Floyd, having failed to secure a majority over the other two candidates. The returns from 275 of the 292 wards and towns of the state give Floyd (Republican), 39,948 for governor; Jameson (Democrat), 37,138; Tetley (Pro.), 2,139; scattering, 874.

This is a Republican loss from four years ago of 5,164.

NORTH DAKOTA.

Fargo, N.D., November 8. — Late returns show that Sarles (Republican) is elected governor by a safe majority, and Fisk (Democrat) is elected judge of the Supreme Court. No authentic figures are available.

OHIO.

Columbus, Ohio, November 8. — In a statement yesterday admitting the Republican victory in Ohio, Chairman Barber, of the Democratic Committee, said that the result assured to Senator Foraker, without severe opposition, endorsement in the next Republican convention to succeed himself and in addition thereto a solid delegation in the national convention for the presidency if he so desired.

PENNSYLVANIA.

Philadelphia November 8. —The latest figures show that everywhere in the city and the state the Fusion party was either badly defeated or had its last year's vote greatly reduced. Edwin S. Stuart, the Republican candidate for governor, against Lewis Emery, the Fusion nominee, ran very strong everywhere, and his plurality may reach 75,000.

Incomplete figures from the 37 Congressional districts indicate that the Democrats gained five congressmen, which will make their delegation in the next House six instead of one. The next legislature will remain heavily Republican.

A notable feature of the campaign was the success of the United Mine Workers of America, which organization entered the political field for the first time in this state. The latest figures show that the miners will have two representatives in the next Congress, and half a dozen in the Legislature, all Democrats.

RHODE ISLAND.

Providence, R.I., November 8.—J. H. Higgins, mayor of Pawtucket (Democratic), defeated Governor George H. Utter (Republican) for re-election by a plurality of 1,238, according to complete returns, compiled by the Providence Journal yesterday. The rest of the Republican state ticket was elected. Republicans control the general assembly, which is to choose a United States senator to succeed George Peabody Wetmore.

WEST VIRGINIA.

Wheeling, W.A., November 8. —The complete returns from the different counties are coming in and increase the size of the Republican victory. The total Republican majority for the state is about 18,000. The legislature is Republican.

GRENIER WAS CONVICTED OF FRAUD.

During yesterday afternoon's sitting of the Court of King's Bench, J. H. Grenier was found guilty of defrauding McCormack Bros., of Bonsecours Market, of $335, and was recommended to the mercy of the court.

Grenier himself was placed in the witness box and made a clean breast of his wrong doing. Counsel for the defence argued that as Grenier acted without criminal intent, the case was more for the civil than for the criminal courts. Mr. Justice Lavergne insisted, however, that the case should proceed, and the jury returned a verdict of guilty with a recommendation to mercy.

Telephone Managers at Banquet.

The Bell Telephone Company tendered a banquet last night to ninety of their district and local managers from the provinces of Quebec, Ontario and Manitoba. The guests have been attending a convention held in the local offices for the past few days.

The dinner was an informal affair held in the Canada Club dining room, President C. F. Sise, of the Bell Telephone Company, presided. Several of the directors were present, Vice-President Senator Mackay, Messrs. Charles Cassils, Hugh Paton and H. W. Warren, of Toronto. Speeches were delivered in connection with the workings of the company. The convention concluded its work at noon to-day.

Symphony at 4.15.

He entered McGill University in 1897, taking first Arts and later electrical engineering, graduating B. Sc. in 1903. Last spring he obtained the higher degree of M. Sc. After leaving college he entered the employ of the Wagner Electric Manufacturing Company, St. Louis, where he became assistant chief engineer. He is a son of the late Fred Cole, and brother of Lieut.-Colonel Cole.

INCREASE OF CIVIC REVENUES

Business Men's League Suggests Revision of Assessment Roll and Property Frontage Tax.

Mr. Henry Miles, president of the Business Men's League, has forwarded a communication to the Mayor in regard to the need of increased civic income for improvement of the streets.

It is the opinion of members of the League that it would be wise for the city, if it desires the revenue to be increased to make a thorough revision of the property assessment roll of the city. Another change suggested is that of charging proprietors for a share of permanent street paving.

The following are the suggestions made by the League:—

"It appears obvious that the City Council has not at present a sufficient revenue to satisfactorily conduct the affairs of the city and to accomplish the works for which the citizens hold the City Council of Montreal responsible.

REVISION OF ASSESSMENTS.

"After investigation and a careful study of the question we have reached the conclusion that as a first and immediate step the City Council should make a revision of the property assessment roll of the city. We believe it is manifest that such a revision would result in a very considerable increase of revenue upon the present basis of taxation. As so many facts in this connection are so patent it would seem to be improper to increase the rate of taxation generally before fully investigating and revising the roll. We would recommend the appointment of an independent commission to revise the assessment roll of the city of Montreal, as in our judgment, a reasonable course to follow, and one which would command the support of the citizens and give satisfaction to the entire community. This recommendation is offered without desire to cast reflection upon the city's board of assessors.

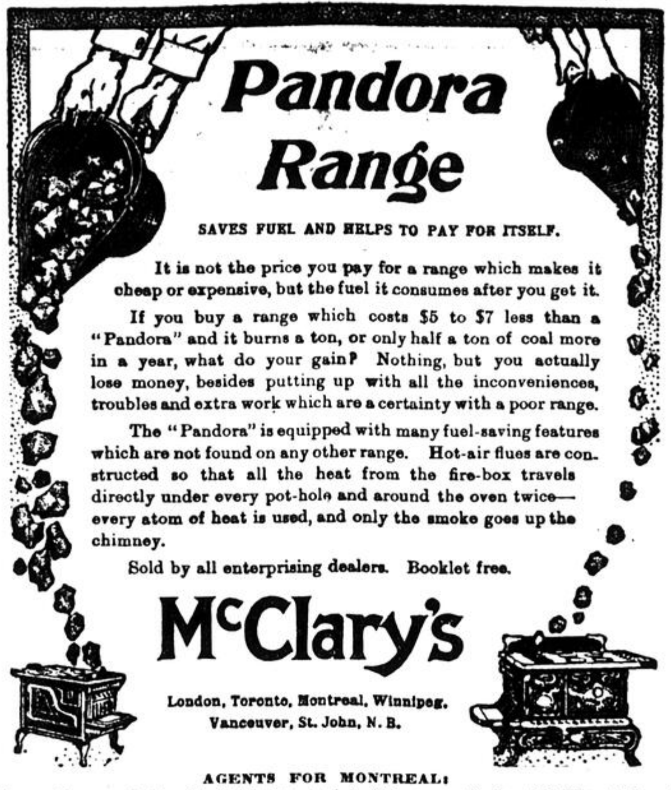
TAX PROPERTY FRONTAGES.

"In view of the fact that the greatest complaint of the citizens has existed, and justly so, in connection with the condition of the streets, thoroughfares and public places, we would commend to your consideration the application of a tax against the cost of street paving to the property frontages, as against an increase of the rate of taxation—the city to bear as a whole the cost of paving street intersections and all repairs.

"While such a course would actually mean an increase in taxation, proprietors so taxed would enjoy a direct advantage from such increase of their taxes—in effect, the entire amount of such taxation would be directly applied to a definite object and would cover the greatest complaint laid at the door of the City Council of Montreal."

Police Enforce Sunday Closing.

The police entered actions, yesterday, in the Recorder's Court against the proprietors of half a dozen saloons for keeping their bars open on Sunday. The summons will be served today and are returnable on Saturday.



Pandora Range

SAVES FUEL AND HELPS TO PAY FOR ITSELF.

It is not the price you pay for a range which makes it cheap or expensive, but the fuel it consumes after you get it.

If you buy a range which costs $5 to $7 less than a "Pandora" and it burns a ton, or only half a ton of coal more in a year, what do your gain? Nothing, but you actually lose money, besides putting up with all the inconveniences, troubles and extra work which are a certainty with a poor range.

The "Pandora" is equipped with many fuel-saving features which are not found on any other range. Hot-air flues are constructed so that all the heat from the fire-box travels directly under every pot-hole and around the oven twice—every atom of heat is used, and only the smoke goes up the chimney.

Sold by all enterprising dealers. Booklet free.

St. Mary's Convention

Liberals Choose Candidate

Ald. M. Martin

will oppose

The Labor Candidate.

Ald. Mederic Martin, who represents Papineau Ward in the City Council, was last night chosen as the Liberal candidate in St. Mary's division, to contest the seat against Mr. Joseph Ainey, the Labor candidate.

Hon. L. P. Brodeur, Mr. Robert Bickerdike, M.P., and other leaders of the Liberals in the district, wished to have the labor candidate, Mr. Ainey, endorsed by the Liberal convention. The rank and file refused to be led in that direction, however, and have chosen a candidate of their own.

About a hundred and fifty people attended the convention, which opened in Chagnon's Hall, corner of Fenet and Ontario streets, under the joint presidency of Messrs. E. N. Cussen and George Bourgouin.

Mr. P. B. du Tremblay, president of the Papineau Club, acted as secretary, and called the roll of delegates. Twelve names were submitted to the convention, and the first ballot gave the following result:—

ALD. MEDERIC MARTIN, Liberal Candidate in St. Mary's Division.

Ald. Martin, 47; Ald. Lariviere, 20; Joseph Ainey, 18; Dr. Lacombe, M. L. A. for St. Mary's, 13; Rodolphe Latulippe, president Letellier Club, 11; Jos. Mercier, 4; Ald. Mercier, 3; D. A. Lafortune, 1; E. Biron, 1; N. Seguin, 1; A. Archambault, 1; A. B. Marchand, 1.

CHOSEN ON SECOND BALLOT.

A second ballot was taken, and resulted as follows:

Martin	77
Lariviere	21
Ainey	10
Lacombe	5
Latulippe	4

The vote on the other candidates was not announced and a delegation was at once appointed to advise Ald. Martin, who was near by at his home, of the action of the convention.

Joseph Ainey, the Labor candidate, whose name was submitted to the Liberal convention for endorsation, did not turn up at the meeting at all, but his supporters fully expected that he would be endorsed. It was not known, however, that so many names would be submitted to the convention. When the result of the last ballot became known an attempt was made to have the nomination made unanimous, but the supporters of other aspirants fought against this, and when the meeting adjourned at midnight the supporters of the Labor candidate were as determined as ever against supporting the Liberal nominee.

Ald. Martin, on reaching the convention hall, addressed the gathering, thanking them for the confidence they had displayed in him by making him the choice of the convention. He declared himself a friend of the Liberal party and the working man. He recalled that he was himself a union man, and that he had always enforced union wages and union conditions in his factory. He also claimed to have worked conscientiously and persistently in the interest of the workingmen, and, therefore, considered himself entitled to the support of the working classes.

After the candidate spoke, Messrs. George Bourgoin, P. B. du Tremblay, Cheron (ex-president of the Longshoremen), Bouvier (vice-president of the Central Trades and Labor Council), Verdun and Marois all endorsed the candidacy of Mr. Martin, declaring that he would achieve a striking victory.

WHO THE CANDIDATE IS.

Ald. Mederic Martin is a native of Montreal. Starting life as a cigar maker, he soon achieved success in that business and became foreman. He afterwards started in business for himself, but his first venture was not remarkably successful. He then went to Boston, where he was at the head of twelve hundred men employed in one of the largest cigar factories. Returning to Canada a few years ago, he established his business in Montreal, and has succeeded in establishing a very large business, employing several hundred men.

In 1904, he was a candidate for aldermanic honors and was defeated by the vote of the returning officer. He was also one of those whose names came before the Liberal convention in that year, when Mr. Camille Piche was chosen as a candidate. Last February, he was elected as one of the representatives of Papineau ward. Since his accession to the City Council he has applied himself largely to obtaining more favorable conditions for the working men employed by the city, and some days ago resigned his seat in the Council because a measure in favor of increasing the pay of corporation laborers was not given due consideration. He has since reconsidered his decision, and at the last meeting was one of the leaders in fighting the report of the committee on gas lighting.

MEMORIAL SERVICE AT ROYAL ARCANUM.

Prince Albert Council Royal Arcanum held an impressive memorial service last night for the late W. O. Robson, who was supreme secretary of the order. The service took place in the Red Room in the Inglis building, St. Catherine street, and there was a large attendance of members. Rev. J. L. Flanagan, chaplain of Royal Victoria Council, gave an address on fraternity and its lessons. He pointed out the beauties of doing good to others, and referred in affectionate words to the life of the late Mr. Robson.

Dr. W. Grieve Nichol spoke for a short time on the life and work of the deceased gentleman. He was, said the Doctor, an honorary member of the Grand Council of the Province of Quebec, one of the original nine members, and for nearly thirty years the supreme secretary of the order. During that time he signed drafts for the sum of $104,000,000 to pay the death claims of over 38,000 members. The late Mr. Robson was born in Royal Oak, Maryland, in 1843.

Mr. Herbert Walker, the grand secretary, and Mr. A. I. Morison, who attended the funeral services in Wellesly Hills, Mass., gave accounts of the funeral. Mr. J. B. Tresidder referred to the late Mr. Robson as one of the best known officials in the fraternal world, and the strong right arm of every administration in the Royal Arcanum. The chair was occupied by Mr. W. P. Crites and the Prince Albert Male Quartette sang several numbers.

Fruit Dealer's Claim Upheld.

Mr. Justice Dunlop yesterday gave judgment in favor of the plaintiff in the case of Vipond vs the Grand Trunk Railway Company. The company refused to deliver certain fruit received here unless some charges to a connecting line were previously paid. The plaintiff tendered the freight and cartage charges and the bill of lading, and demanded delivery. Mr. Justice Dunlop declares that the plaintiff is right in this contention, and as the freight was afterwards delivered the company has to pay now only the costs of the suit.

Drink Beer With Your Meals

If More Americans Would Do This It Would Greatly Aid Temperance.

From time to time we have urged upon our readers in these columns the value of beer as a food, where it is made by a perfectly clean and wholesome process, such as obtains in the famous Pabst Brewery in Milwaukee. We also have shown by statistics that beer properly used is a means to temperance not to be despised. We have quoted repeatedly some of the leading temperance workers in this country in support of our claim. Not a day goes by but the truth of our assertions is exemplified.

The other day while the writer was conversing with a well-known doctor whose name is not unknown to science, he surprised me somewhat by saying: "If more of our American people would drink a good, pure beer with their meals there would be little intemperance in this country. Our race is high strung—they demand stimulants to some extent—that is why such great quantities of coffee and tea and alcoholic liquors are consumed in this country. Beer is much preferable, because it contains a very small percentage of alcohol. I see by a recent Indiana State Board of Health analysis Pabst Blue Ribbon has only a little over three per cent. Coffee and tea cause extreme nervousness in some people, while no harm whatever can come from good beer unless used in very excessive quantities. For myself, I use Pabst beer and recommend it to my friends and patients because I know the Pabst process. I consider Pabst Blue Ribbon the cleanest and most wholesome beer made."

The doctor's views coincide with those of many ardent temperance advocates in this country. The sentiment towards beer is fast changing in this country. It is becoming recognized more and more as a food-beverage and a temperance drink. Government statistics show that the increased consumption of beer such as Pabst, and the decrease of intemperance in this country have gone hand in hand.

NEW ELECTRIC LIGHT COMPANY

Operations Will Be Limited to Supplying Light to the Grosvenor Apartments.

Another competitor to the Montreal Light, Heat & Power Company is preparing to do business in the city of Montreal. The operations of this new company, however, will be limited to one building, the Grosvenor Apartment Building, at the corner of Sherbrooke and Guy streets.

A charter has been obtained from Ottawa allowing the Grosvenor Light, Heat & Power Company to sell electric light and power. It is not the intention of the incorporators, however, to do business outside the Grosvenor Building, at least for the present.

Mr. H. M. Marler, who is one of the incorporators of the Grosvenor Company, stated to-day that no lights would be supplied to anybody in the Grosvenor Apartments by the Montreal Light, Heat & Power Company after the expiry of that company's contract, just after the middle of this month. The Grosvenor people would light the building themselves, and supply light at the same rate as the Montreal Light, Heat & Power Company, but with a reduction of thirty-three and a third per cent.

"Have you been informed that the Montreal Light, Heat & Power Company have concluded contracts with some people in the Grosvenor Apartments to supply them with electric light for a long term, at the prices which you have announced you would charge your tenants?"

"No; we have not heard anything of that. We fail to see how they could do it. No wire of the Montreal Light, Heat & Power Company will be allowed into the Grosvenor building under any conditions. We have been doing business with that company, and by the 16th or 18th of November their wires will go out of the Grosvenor Apartments for good."

EXPLOSION IN OIL STORAGE SHED

The East End section of the brigade was called out to-day for a blaze in the premises of the Dominion Oilcloth Company's factory on Fullum street. The damages will only amount to $200 or $300, but for a time the works were in danger.

A terrific explosion was heard, and in a moment the oil shed was one mass of flames. The alarm was immediately turned in, and the men of Nos. 19 and 8 Stations, headed by Sub-Chief St. Pierre, responded. The oil in the shed burned fiercely, but by the efforts of the fire fighters the flames were prevented from spreading to the main buildings.

Slain by a Street Car.

Edward Booth, 65 years of age, who was run down by a street car on Craig street last Saturday, died in the General Hospital last night. The inquest will be opened to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock.

MORE SCHOOLS ARE NEEDED

Attendance is Fast Outgrowing the Accommodation of Protestant Board.

At the meeting of the Protestant Board of School Commissioners this morning, the Superintendent reported the number of pupils attending the different schools under their control, comparing the present figures to those of past years. A study of the report shows that the growth of the school system in Montreal calls for early action in the provision of new buildings.

At the end of September, 1906, the whole number of pupils belonging to all the public schools was 9,115, which number is greater than the corresponding number of 1905 by 359. This increase is a little more than half the average increase during the last five years, which was 666. If this past increase is at all a safe basis for estimating future increases, it would be a conservative estimate to say that school accommodation equal to an average sized school is required every second year. To meet this demand an annual increased expenditure of $55,000 will be necessary, and must be provided for from the revenue of the Board.

The report of the superintendent giving the figures of scholars attending the different schools during the month of October is as follows:

DETAILS OF REPORT.

The High School for Boys, 649; the High School for Girls, 473; the Commercial and Technical High, 319; total 1,441.

Public schools—Aberdeen, 1,269; Ann street, 490; Baron de Hirsch, 665; Berri street, 203; Berthelet street, 580; Boulevard, 96; Britannia, 97; Dufferin, 1,163; Hochelaga, 178; Lansdowne, 876; Lorne, 701; Mount Royal, 1191; Riverside, 730; Royal Arthur, 490; Victoria, 534; total in public schools, 9,254.

Model, 486.

Total in High and public, 10,695; McGill Model, 486; total in all schools controlled and subsidized, 11,181.

THE INCREASES.

For the corresponding month last year the attendance in the public schools was 8,905; High schools, 1,368; subsidized school, 395; total, 10,668. This shows an increase in the public schools of 349. High schools, 73; subsidized school, 91, or a total increase of 513.

In order to thoroughly go into the matter, a committee composed of the Rev. Dr. Shaw, the Rev. Dr. Barclay and Major Stevens, to be known as the Committee on School Extension, was appointed, their duty being to report upon the matter, especially with regard to the situation in Hochelaga and the suburbs.

The Commercial High School was inspected lately and found to be most satisfactory, with the exception of a few details. When finished the building will cost in the neighborhood of $155,000.

HAMILTON STRIKE SITUATION ACUTE

Sympathetic Strike of Employes of the Cataract Power Company is Threatened.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Hamilton, Ont., November 8.—The principal streets were comparatively quiet last night, the disorderly mobs which made themselves obnoxious on Monday and Tuesday nights, not being in evidence. Precautions were taken by the police to observe order, extra men being on duty, but their services were not required.

The only disturbance occurred in the early evening, when stones were thrown at a radial car and a number of windows broken. Several police went on the radial car, carrying the mail, as far as Irondale, but at Stripes Crossing the ties were torn up and the car was derailed. After a short delay the car resumed its journey.

Since Tuesday's failure to bring about a settlement of the strike, no negotiations have been entered into, and both sides are preparing for a long fight. The company is advertising for motormen and conductors, and has imported a number of strike-breakers.

It is rumored an attempt will be made to-day to operate cars. Should this be done, there is almost sure to be trouble, as a bitter feeling has been engendered.

The most serious aspect of the situation is a rumored sympathetic strike. It is stated that all the union employes of the Cataract Power Company in the city and at Decew Falls will quit work if the company operates the cars with non-union men. This would tie-up a number of manufacturing establishments and also would leave the city in darkness, the Cataract Power Company supplying light as well as power.

Frank Fay, the famous strike-fighter, arrived in the city last night and will take the place of R. L. Reeves.

The company is still operating the Dundas and radial lines, although the service is curtailed.

A STREET CAR'S WILD RUNAWAY.

A runaway street car filled with shrieking women and terrified men literally flew down St. Denis street about 7.30 a.m. to-day.

Car No. 30 of the Montreal Street Railway rolled smoothly along the customary route on St. Denis street until the top of the hill at Sherbrooke street was reached. Here the car took on a burst of speed, and the motorman quickly applied the brakes. To his consternation he found that they would not work. He made vain efforts to get the stopping gear to exercise its usual functions, but to no avail. The car was rushing furiously towards St. Catherine, and the motorman, well aware of what might happen did his car take the St. Catherine street crossing at the rate of speed at which it was going, endeavored to reverse his power, but the fates were against him, and to his horror he found that the fuse had blown out. He made frantic efforts to right matters in connection with the stopping gear, and worked away until approaching Lagauchetiere when he saw another car stopped to let off a passenger. A collision could not be averted. However, the conductor of the car nearer Craig street saw the danger to which he was exposed and rang the bell for the motorman to go ahead, and the car started off at good speed, thereby lessening the effects of the collision, though the car behind was jarred sufficiently to stop immediately. The only damage to the cars was the breaking of glass and the smashing of the fender and front of the runaway car. The collision was of sufficient force to thrown the people headlong about the car, and three of the occupants of the car smashed into were injured. The excitement was general, though a few of the number gathered around had sufficient presence of mind to call hacks and two of the three injured people were driven to their homes where medical attendance was summoned and the injuries received attended to. A third party Mr. Charles Roberts, was conveyed to the Notre Dame Hospital, where his injuries were dressed. The accidents in each case were not of a serious nature. As a result of the collision a long blockade of cars occurred, and a string extended from Craig street on St. Denis as far as Sherbrooke street. The street railway officials are investigating the matter.

COURT SETS OUT LAW OF HORSE SALE.

Action to annul the sale of a horse on account of hidden or latent defects must be brought within reasonable time after the purchase of the animal. Alex Langevin discovered this to his cost yesterday, when Mr. Justice Archibald gave judgment against him for $150, the price of a horse purchased from Charles Guillemette on April 20th, 1906. Two or three days later he discovered something wrong with the horse, but took no action to have the sale annulled beyond offering the horse back to the former owner. Even when Guillemette brought suit to recover the price of the horse, the defendant merely declared that the horse was not as represented, but took no action to annul the sale. The court held that a reasonable delay was granted for taking action, and this reasonable delay had been fixed by jurisprudence at eight days in ordinary circumstances. As no action whatever had been taken by the defendant before the court and the only statement of his position had been taken on May 16th, the court must dismiss his plea and maintain the action with costs.

PROPERTY VALUATION WAS CONFIRMED.

Mr. Recorder Weir has just made an interesting decision in the case of Dame Eliza C. Brown and others vs. the City of Montreal. The case is one of appeal from the assessment of the property between McGill Colllege avenue and Mansfield street, on the south side of St. Catherine street. The city assessors raised the valuation of the property from $32,000 to $50,000, the rate now being eight dollars per foot for the land as against the former assessment of five dollars; the value of the buildings, of poor structure, being left as it was.

The petitioner's argument is that the income derived from the property does not warrant the increase in the assessment, and also that until a certain period the property cannot be improved in value because the owners cannot sell. Mr. Recorder Weir, in his judgment, finds that the assessment is not extortionate, and that the petitioner's arguments are not well founded. He finds, upon examination, that the petitioner's property is valued with others on the lowest basis, and that if he disturbed the present valuation of eight dollars per foot it would throw the entire valuation of the rest of the neighboring property out of proportion, and work injustice. He therefore dismisses the petition and confirms the assessment.

LADEROUTE'S TRIAL AGAIN POSTPONED

It is Almost Impossible to Select a Jury and More are Called to Complete the Number.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Bryson, November 8. — Yesterday, again, the trial of James Laderoute was adjourned, and this time again for the same cause, that is, the difficulty in the selection of a jury.

The twenty new jurors summoned by Sheriff McNally, responded to the call yesterday, but only four of the number were accepted, the remaining ones not being considered as impartial. So with only eleven jurors the case naturally had to be put off for another day. Sheriff McNally was, accordingly ordered to summons six more English witnesses so as to make the complete number. The empanelling of the jury has been marked, so far, by an unusual amount of argument on the part of the opposing counsel.

Laderoute is getting anxious for his trial to come off, although he does not seem to be worrying over the result, and continues in his ordinary cheerful frame of mind.

ADVERTISERS

In view of the very heavy demand for advertising space in the Star, as is usual at this season, but more pronounced this year than ever, it is important that the attention of advertisers should be directed to the necessity of making their arrangements for such space as they may require as early as possible. Copy for advertising should ALWAYS be prepared and sent in the night BEFORE to ensure the best attention in composition, distribution, classification, and looking towards the best results and mutual satisfaction in the general handling and make-up as well as any reasonable guarantee of insertion.

There is a limit to what a large, well equipped, and modern newspaper, can do, in the matter of physical and mechanical possibilities. The large and excessive volume of business offering takes time, and time establishes the limit. Advertisers will confer a favor by considering these conditions, and at the same time their own interests, by lending their cooperation in the matter of furnishing the copy and instructions for their advertisements at the earliest moment possible.

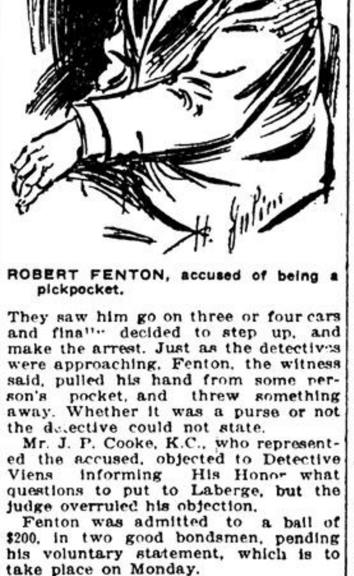
THE MAN POLICE THINK A PICKPOCKET.

Robert Fenton, charged with attempting to pick pockets, was brought before Judge Lafontaine in the enquete court this morning, and again pleaded not guilty to the charge.

Detective Laberge was put in the box and stated that he and Detective Viens had been assigned to watch the corner of St. Denis and St. Catherine streets for such characters as Fenton. They saw him go on three or four cars and finally decided to step up, and make the arrest. Just as the detectives were approaching, Fenton, the witness said, pulled his hand from some person's pocket, and threw something away. Whether it was a purse or not the detective could not state.

Mr. J. P. Cooke, K.C., who represented the accused, objected to Detective Viens informing His Honor what questions to put to Laberge, but the judge overruled his objection.

Fenton was admitted to a bail of $200, in two good bondsmen, pending his voluntary statement, which is to take place on Monday.



ROBERT FENTON, accused of being a pickpocket.

CANADIAN FOODS ON EXHIBITION.

The Hamilton Company, St. Catherine street, are this week celebrating their fortieth anniversary by a series of anniversary sales throughout the different departments of their establishment. Their entire top flat has also been given over during the week, to an exhibit and demonstration of different foods of Canadian manufacture exclusively, with one exception, which consists of a most interesting exhibit from the silk works of Belding Paul. This demonstration is open to the public from three to five in the afternoon and from eight to ten in the evening. The flat, which presents a very gay appearance, is decorated with palms and potted plants while flags and bunting are festooned about the walls and pillars.

The twenty-six booths of which the exhibit consists are also tastefully decorated with vari-colored drapes. Samples of the different confectionery, and cups of the various hot beverages are generously dispensed by the demonstrators. About the walls hang handsome engravings and photographs depicting Canadian scenery, which have been loaned by the Grand Trunk, Canadian Pacific and Intercolonial Railways. In the evening, music is furnished by an orchestra stationed behind palms at one end of the brilliantly lighted room. The entire front of the building is also ablaze every night with myriads of electric lights, the flashing rays from a searchlight stationed on the roof effectively adding to the illumination.

The Allan line steamer Sardinian, from London and Havre, for Quebec and Montreal, passed Father Point at 5 a.m, today.

COMMISSION DEALS WITH UNDERWRITERS

Session of Commission Was Very Informal—Adjournment Came Early.

Special Staff Correspondence.

Ottawa, November 8—A very informal session of the insurance commission dealt with the recommendations made by the Canadian Life Underwriters' Association. There was a large delegation of insurance agents from throughout Canada and a lengthy memorial was presented. Rebating was condemned in unmeasured terms, high commissions were advocated and the axiom of the situation was said to be "maximum of publicity and minimum of legislation."

The commission adjourned early to consider the memorial. It will come up for public discussion at three o'clock.

The Life Underwriters' Association of Canada was taken up to-day by the Insurance Commission, Mr. Tilley acting as examiner.

The secretary, Wm. S. Milne, was the first witness. He said that the association was formed in June of this year, replacing scattered local bodies in the cities. It has branches in all the provinces, three in Ontario and three in Quebec. It is affiliated with the National Association of Life Underwriters of the United States, and is not incorporated. G. H. Allan, of Montreal, is president, and there are nine vice-presidents, a treasurer and executive of eight members, and an honorary president. Any active field man in insurance may join the body. Mr. Milne said that the membership numbered five hundred, representing the body of the insurance agents of Canada.

As the president, Mr. Allen, is ill in Montreal, John R. Reid, of Montreal, a member of the executive, was first called. He was accompanied by the other members of the executive, H. C. Cox and W. S. Milne, Toronto; A. S. McGregor, London; T. J. Parks, G. H. Simpson, Montreal; C. O. Palmer, Sherbrooke; R. H. Haycock, Ottawa.

Mr. Reid complimented the commission on its importance, as representing the $637,000,000 insurance in Canada. He is thankful that during the course of the commission there had been no panic among the people, despite the busy attitude of the press, which gave the five per cent. of the evidence that might be construed as sensational and omitted the other 95 per cent. This shows that the people have confidence in the life insurance business. The strict inspection of the Government safeguarded the interests of the people.

T. J. Parks, of Montreal, read the memorial presented by the association to the commission. He began by emphasizing the importance of the agent in disseminating the benefits of insurance. There was 637 millions of insurance carried in Canada while last year $6,863,000 were paid out in claims, and two and a half millions returned as matured endowments.

TO PROHIBIT REBATING.

The summarized recommendations of the association were read.

Rebating should be prohibited by the Federal and Provincial Governments. There should be a condition to this effect to a company's obtaining a charter. Company, agent, and insurer in a rebate deal should be penalized. There should be a clause passed by the Provincial Legislature making rebating punishable by civil process. Agents should be certificated with a clause for cancellation should rebating be proven. Advising boards should be forbidden.

The next heading in the recommendation was a plea for high commissions. Mr. Parks said that before the Armstrong committee it had been seen that the average salary of the agent was $800, a commission of 50 per cent. on first year's premiums meant less than two per cent. on the whole policy. There were numerous reasons given why high commissions should be allowed.

Among other things in speaking of reducing expenses, the memorial suggested publicity of the accounts.

Mr. Kent — "That is the most important part of your memorial."

"As far as I've gone."

Mr. Kent—"As far as you will go, either."

As regards estimates, Mr. Parks said that per se these were necessary, and no memorial estimates should be filed with the insurance department until a year after the passing of the act.

All actual results should be published annually or quinquennially.

Deferrred profit or dividend insurance was neither immoral or objectionable. Legislation against this was in restriction of trade. The system had popularized and extended the benefits of life insurance, it suited itself to the needs of most people because of the options it offered, attracted good risks and lessened mortality rate and showed a low lapse ratio. It was not unreasonable to demand a quinquennial accouting of the profits in the various clauses. Each policy holder might be permitted to demand an approximate accounting on his policy after the first five years.

THE QUESTION OF INVESTMENTS

As regards investments, legislation restricting these reduced the earning power of a company, thereby increasing the cost of insurance. Experience had not proven that restriction was necessary. To prevent it would result in discriminating against Canadian companies in favor of British and American concerns. There was no restriction in Great Britain and other enlightened countries.

It would be unwise to limit companies to standard policies. The influence of competition was always to produce policies favorable to the policy holder. The whole tendency was to liberalize the policies. Limiting the policies would destroy this.

Publicity would check and cure always all the evils in life insurance. The annual returns should be as complete as possible. They should show the dividends paid, the estimates for future dividends and the basis of calculation, the cost of new business, and the cost of carrying the old, and other matters. The maximum of publicity and the minimum of legislation was required, and competition would do the rest. Then the blue book should be published earlier in the year.

In conclusion the memorial set forth that the findings of the Armstrong committee and the proposed New York state legislation were a hastily adopted political expedient and entirely experimental legislation, and asked that the New York law be not too closely followed by the Canadian investigators. The experiment should be tested and tried and in watching the trial the Canadian Government could apply the principles that succeeded.

Mr. L. Lamarche, through his attorneys, Messrs. Cresse & Descarries, has entered suit for $3,000 damages against the Dominion Bridge Company. While he was engaged at the Lachine Works, moving some heavy pieces of machinery, one of the parts fell off and crushed his fingers so that two of them had to be amputated.

STEVELY'S EVIDENCE IS CONTRADICTED

Crown and the Defence Continually Arguing as the Bribery Investigation Proceeds.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Toronto, November 8.—At the London bribery inquiry, this morning, in order to contradict the evidence given by James McCormick, the Crown Prosecutor called Mr. Joseph E. Campbell, a London voter. Mr. Duvernet wanted to have McCormick in the court, but he could not be found.

He said that he knew James McCormick. He first said he did not receive any money at the election, but later said that he found $5 in his pocket when he got home.

The witness said that McCormick never promised him any money, but asked him to vote for Hyman. After the election he was in Lewis' hotel. He went from there to his home. Then he put his hand in his pocket, and discovered a $5 bill. He said he was surprised, as no one had promised him money and he did not expect it.

"This is another example of the way money was raining," remarked the magistrate.

Mr. Curry asked to have the evidence struck out as it did not implicate his clients, but the magistrate allowed it to stand for what it was worth.

WANTS NO MORE MONEY.

Ed. Stonehouse said that he never accepted money for his vote. After the provincial election, Mr. Parks gave him $250. The witness claimed that he did not know what it was for, but added, "If any man offers me money again, I'll knock him down."

The Crown Prosecutor called Charles J. Lee, the man mentioned in Mr. Steveley's evidence. Lee admitted that he worked with the former witness in the by-lection and also knew that Lake worked in another division. According to Stevely's story Lee and Lake made up lists of names of voters seen by them and both of them received bunches of envelopes for their men.

Did you make out lists of names?

A.—No.

Did you get a bunch of envelopes?

A.—No.

Then what Mr. Stevely said was false.

A.—Yes.

Then you say that Stevely gave you no enevlopes?

A.—Yes.

Why would he make that mistake?

A.—I do not know.

After some pressing, the witness admitted that he told Stevely about one man who would not vote without his price. He could not say why he went to Stevely.

Have you seen Stevely since he gave his evidence?

A.—Yes.

SAID TO "TELL THE TRUTH."

What did he say to you?

A.—He told me to tell the truth.

"That is refreshing," commented the magistrate.

Mr. Duvernet told the magistrate that he wished to subpoena Lee again, and would recall Stevely next Wednesday.

The other man mentioned in Stevely's story went into the box and also contradicted the evidence. William R. Lake said that he knew Stevely. He had not worked with him in the election, had not held any envelope, had written no list of names, and finally stated that Stevely's story was untrue.

CURZON MAY BE NEW AMBASSADOR

Washington, November 8. — Lord Curzon, former Viceroy of India, is mentioned in dipomatic circles here as a possible successor to Sir Henry Mortimer Durand, as Ambassador to the United States. The fact that Lord Curzon is now on the sea on his way to this country lends color to the rumor of his appointment to the Washington post.

In official circles here it is regarded as likely that Lord Curzon may be given the post because of his wide acquaintance in the United States and his extensive experience in the British foreign service.

Mr. Alfred Brunet, who has been appointed by the Government as its representative on the Board of Directors of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company, attended the meeting, and took his seat on the Board.

Good progress was reported in connection with the construction work now in hand, the only difficulty being the scarcity of labor.

JOHNSTONE DOING WELL.

Fair Chance of Recovery—Montrealers Astonished.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Ottawa, November 8.—William Johnstone, the injured St. Patricks football player, is reported this morning as doing a little better at St. Luke's Hospital. It was stated that he had a fair chance of recovery.

The members of the Montreal football team were astonished at the Johnstone story, and do not remember that Johnstone was hurt in any particular manner or at any particular moment.

THE WILES OF COUNT BONI

Maitre Cruppi Produces Some Interesting Papers Manufactured by the Count de Castellane.

Paris, November 8.—When the hearing of the Castellane divorce suit was resumed before Judge Ditte in the Palace of Justice to-day, Maitre Bonnet, of Counsel for Count Boni de Castellene consumed less than an hour in concluding his argument.

He undertook his criticisms of Edmond Kelly, the American lawyer, for the Countess, and persisted in his demand for an examination of the witnesses in order, he said, to permit of the case being probed to the bottom.

He added that in the event of a divorce being granted the Count would ask for permission to see his children two days each week and a month in summer, and that the Countess be enjoined from taking the children to America without his consent.

So far as money was concerned nothing would be much altered by a divorce. It would only mean final financial ruin for the Count. It was impossible for him to meet his outstanding obligations, amounting to $24,000 a year. The remainder of his ancestral inheritance would have to be sold. If his wife desired to present him in such a light before the world, he had nothing more to say. Nevertheless it seemed only justice that he should be reimbursed the $240,000 which he obtained by the sale of his share of the ancestral forest of Bueny, and which was contributed to the household expenses.

Counsel concluded by asserting that he was convinced that the Countess, if free to obey the dictates of her conscience, would yet consent to a reconciliation, and solemnly assured the court of the Count's respect, esteem, and undying affection for his wife.

Maitre Cruppi, for the Countess, in reply charged the Count's lawyer with seeking to divert attention from the issue at the bar by making an unprecedented and baseless attack on Mr. Kelly, who, counsel declared, enjoyed a standing in the United States and France, which made his defence superfluous, he being a member of the New York bar and counsel for the United States legation in Paris, for the past twenty years.

Maitre Cruppi read a letter from Mr. Kelly, denying the charges made against him, and saying that until the names of the persons mentioned were introducel by counsel for the Count, he had never heard of those he was supposed to have bribed.

Maitre Cruppi then produced what he declared to be forged documents by which, counsel charged, the Count in July last attempted to convince his wife that Mr. Kelly was concerned in a plot to accomplish his political ruin.

Several sharp passages between Maitres Cruppi and Bonnet occurred, one of them compelling the intervention of Judge Ditte. Finally Maitre Bonnet asked the court to postpone the case for a fortnight, in the hope of a final reconciliation, but the judge refused to do so and adjourned the hearing for a week.

The court, after hearing the conclusions of the public prosecutor next week, will announce its decision, either for a divorce or for an examination of witnesses. The creditors case, in which Count Boni, the Countess de Castellane and George J. Gould, as trustee, are made joint defendants, was called after recess to-day. This suit, which is brought by six creditors, involves $5,400,000.

Maitre Millerand, of Counsel for the creditors, had not finished his plea when the case was adjourned for a fortnight.

BRITAIN TO ENFORCE MODUS VIVENDI

Special to the Montreal Star.

St. John's, Nfld., November 8.—A delegation of captains of American fishing vessels boarded the British warship Brilliant, in the Bay of Islands, yesterday to learn if they could continue to hire Newfoundlanders outside the three-mile limit, the colonial Government having posted notices warning coast people that the Bait Act made service on board foreign fishing vessels illegal.

The captain of the Brilliant assured the delegation that under the terms of the modus vivendi, the action desired by them could not be penalized.

The captain also informed the colonial fishery inspector that he intended to frame rules for the conduct of the herring fishery along these shores.

The Colonial Cabinet is protesting to the Imperial Government that both proceedings by the warship's captain are illegal, and that his motion belittles the colony's authority.

THE NEW ATHLETIC UNION.

It is announced that at the next directors' meeting of the Montreal Amateur Athletic Association, to be held on Monday night, a scheme will be proposed for the formation of the new Athletic Union, and that then reports will be presented from other Associations ready to join in.

DISCUSS QUESTION OF TERMINALS

Docks in Line With the River Front Proposed—Station on Champlain Market.

Quebec, November 8.—Important meetings were held here yesterday between the Transcontinental Railway Commission, the Minister of Railways and Canals and the railroad and steamship agents of Canada, to consider Quebec prospective terminals to be constructed to meet future requirements of Canada's trade in connection with the completion of the Quebec bridge and G. T. Pacific Railway.

Hon. Mr. Parent requested the representatives of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway interests and the Canadian and Great Northern interests to give their opinion of the question of the formation of a terminal company, but they were disinclined to commit themselves, saying they were present to listen and study the proposition under discussion.

Hon. Mr. Emmerson remarked that the Government was committed to furnish the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway with terminal facilities at the port of Quebec in connection with the new bridge, and if the other railroad interests did not agree to join together in the formation of a terminal company to aid in the construction and management of the same, and thus secure equal rights, the Government would proceed to build the terminals on its own responsibility, and, when completed, hand over the same to the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway.

Thus the railways were given an opportunity that they could not afford to lose, and their representatives at once were ready and willing to drop all reserve and come down to practical business. After some discussion in regard to the organization of such a company, it was explained that every railroad would have to shoulder its respective share of responsibility in proportion to the amount of cars it would operate on the terminal tracks, etc.

At the afternoon meeting it was resolved that the engineers be instructed to divide the railway terminals from the docks, and make special estimate of costs of the former, in order to know the expense the respective railway companies would be called upon to meet if they formed a terminal company and undertake the construction, cost, etc., of the work. The engineers were also instructed to embody the propositions of an uptown station in their redrafted plan.

The shipping interests also held a meeting to study the proposed docks that will line the water front. According to plans of Messrs. Hoare & Doucet, two grain elevators were to be erected on the Allan's property, but the committee recommended that one of them be built further west. The engineers were also instructed to give an estimate of costs of the purchase of property on the south side of Dalhousie street and other proposed improvements.

BIG FIGHT COST 'D. R.' A FORTUNE

A special to the Star from Detroit said: It has been figured out here that it cost the Detroit United in actual cash for advertising workers, experiments in cheap tickets and other election expenses twenty dollars a piece for every vote cast for the franchise in Tuesday's election. The advertising bill alone reached fifty thousand dollars.

LOOKOUT TO BEAR NAME OF ROBILLARD

Council to be Asked to Call it After Chairman of Parks Committee.

MORE MONEY IS NEEDED

Surroundings of the Lookout Will Require Improvements—Structure is Officially Inspected.

The members of the Parks Committee, accompanied by the Mayor, Ald. Deserres, and a number of other city fathers, yesterday paid an official inspection to the new "lookout," which is nearing completion on the mountain top.

The stone balustrade, which is semicircular in form and very handsome, was much admired by the aldermen. Especially pleasing is the fine carving on the balustrade. The view of the city, which is seen from it, is very fine.

On one side is a covered pavilion which will be used as a shelter from sun and rain, and where souvenirs will be displayed. The pavilion, which is on the east side and quite clear from the lookout proper, is over 100 feet in length. One part faces the space in the rear of the lookout, and the other at a right angle faces the city. This part will have an open front for observation purposes, but the other will be closed in with plate glass windows, which can on occasion be easily removed.

The pavilion is slightly higher than the lookout, and is reached by a stairway of a dozen steps.

The Mayor complimented Ald. Robillard, chairman of the Parks Committee, on the fine plan for a lookout which had been selected. He was glad that the plan had given general satisfaction. For his part he felt sure the Finance Committee would vote a few more thousand dollars in order that the promenade, in front of the lookout, could be completed as it should be.

Ald. Robillard said he did not regret the care he had taken to secure an artistic lookout, since that finally selected had given general satisfaction. He pointed out that a little more money would be necessary to satisfactorily complete the structure. He explained that only $16,000 had been voted for the work. This sum would not be exceeded by the contractors; but if the city desired further improvements more money would be needed.

At the suggestion of Ald. Duquette it was decided to ask Council to name the structure after the chairman, Ald. Robillard.

PHILHARMONIC IS EXCLUDED BY TERMS OF MUSICAL CONTEST.

The conditions governing Earl Grey's musical and theatrical competition in so far as music is concerned, limit such organizations to fifty in number, which precludes the Philharmonic, and other choirs of like calibre, from taking part. It is probable that another year the choruses from Montreal, Toronto and other places may be able to compete. Dr. Harriss made this announcement to the members of the Philharmonic chorus at rehearsal, Thursday night.

General Hospital Report.

According to the monthly report of the General Hospital there were 249 patients admitted during October and 285 were discharged. There were 16 deaths, five of which occurred within three days of admission. The average daily sick in the hospital was 202, and the highest number on any one day 206. Outdoor consultations numbered 3,877. The ambulance made 129 runs in response to calls. The average number of visitors at the hospital on visiting days was 355.

Lectured Before Club Teutonia.

The Club Teutonia held its first literary evening of this season last night, and the number of members present augurs a continuance of the success obtained last year, the initial year of its existence. Mr. Boehmer, the president of the literary section of the club, presided. The feature of the evening's entertainment was an address by Mr. Stefan Pollitzer on the life and works of Gerhard Hauptmann. During the season the members will read together one of Hauptmann's plays.

Lecture by Railway Man.

Mr. King, of the New York Central Railway, lectured to the members of the Canadian Railway Club and the students of Applied Science last night in the Physics Building. In opening, Mr. King referred briefly to the record of Mr. Clarence Warden, lately appointed professor of transportation at McGill. Mr. King's address was of a purely technical character, dealing chiefly with the corporative administration of railways and the methods of issuing and holding bonds and stocks.

CIVIC REGULATION OF ELECTRIC RATES WAS ADVOCATED.

The opinion was expressed at the Chambre de Commerce meeting held yesterday afternoon by Mr. Oliver Asselin that the time had come when the city should regulate the price of electrical energy as had been done in the Province of Ontario. The opinion was also expressed that the City Council should be prevailed upon to take measures for the immediate acquisition of all the hydraulic power in the neighborhood, which has not yet fallen into the hands of private interests.

Mr. Asselin stated it was difficult to understand why the Council and the citizens of Montreal submitted to exorbitant rates, when they could purchase hydraulic power and develop their own power. Alderman Gadbois and Mr. A. Simard supported the suggestion and the matter was referred to a special committee for consideration and report.

Mr. Alphonse Desjardins, manager of the Societe de Credit Populaire, of Levis, read a paper on the advantages to be derived from the establishment of co-operative loan and savings banks in the Province of Quebec. The object of these institutions is to permit persons of limited means, particularly the population of the rural districts, to obtain money on reasonable terms and to encourage them in saving, by allowing them to become shareholders in the concern.

Mr. F. D. Monk, M.P. for Jacques Cartier County, who presented a bill at the last session of Parliament, to render the formation of such banks possible, commended the work done along these lines by Mr. Desjardins, and spoke of the advantages to be derived from the adoption of such a system as that recommended. The matter was referred to a special committee.

Rendered Unconscious by Fall.

Matthew McAtear fell down the hold of the Dominion line steamship Canada yesterday afternoon, and was severely shaken up. He fell a distance of 25 feet, and was thought to have fractured his skull. He was taken to the General Hospital in an unconscious condition, and remained in that state for several hours. To-day he regained consciousness and seemed to be a little better. McAtear was visiting friends when the accident happened.

CHAPTER XV.

There were but few spectators in the court room when we filed into the jury-box on the second morning of the trial and Bayne confessed that he had heard rumors of an adjournment the previous evening. Others had heard the same thing, and it was the general opinion of the jurors that the public had received definite information of some hitch in the proceedings, and we would be dismissed for the day as soon as court opened. All doubt of the matter was dispelled, however, when Judge Dudlsey ascended the bench and a young attorney, whom I had not previously noticed, rose and requested an adjournment, owing to the sudden illness of Mr. Ferris Barstow, counsel for the defence.

I was considerably alarmed to find myself instinctively interpreting this excuse as a cover to hide the defendant's collapse, for it indicated that the events of the previous evening had had more effect upon me than I realized, and I began to fear I was hopelessly biased in my opinion of the counsel, if not of his cause. If I allowed myself to question Barstow's motive in an unimportant matter of delay, I would soon find my suspicions coloring all the testimony he introduced and end by prejudicing the case. But if I had been inclined to encourage my passing thought, Gilbert's reception of his adversary's request would have checked me. He not only betrayed no suspicion of bad faith, but expressed hearty and sincere regret at the cause of the delay, and joined in requesting the court to grant the proposed adjournment. Thereupon Judge Dudley promptly announced a recess until the following morning, and discharged us with the customary caution touching our conversation and conduct. The words were no sooner out of his mouth than I hastened from the room, and though I heard Bayne call out to me as I reached the door I pretended not to hear him, for I was anxious to start for Hefryville at the earliest possible moment. With this idea I made straight for the stable and directed the proprietor to have my horse and trap sent to the Melton House at once.

If the man heard my request he was evidently not impressed with the necessity for haste, for he merely nodded his head and continued whittling a stick, as though I had not spoken. I waited a moment and then impatiently repeated my order.

"Want 'em now?" he inquired, slowly, blinking stupidly up at me from the overturned bucket on which he was seated.

"Yes. Now! Immediately! At once!" I answered, testily.

"W-a-l-l—ain't that too bad" he muttered, thoughtfully, stroking his beard.

"What's too bad?" I inquired, impatiently.

"Why, that you should be wantin' yure buggy to-day," he drawled. "I kinder calculated you'd hev no sorter use for it long's Court was settin', and I loaned it out to Rube Stacey."

"Loaned my waggon?" I roared. "Well, of all the——"

Words failed me, and I stood glaring in helpless wrath at the imperturbable countenance upturned to me.

"Did you lend the horse, too?" I concluded, with forced calmness.

"No, sir. No, siree. I wouldn't think of loaning none of the critters in my barn. No, indeed."

The aggrieved tone of the reply was so utterly ridiculous that I almost laughed in spite of myself.

"Well, I wish you hadn't thought of lending the buggy, either," I retorted. "However, I suppose I ought to be grateful. Put the horse to the best waggon you've got and let me get away. I'm in a hurry."

The countryman tipped his bucket forward, picked up a straw, and leaned back against the stable wall.

"Ain't that too bad" he drawled.

"What's the matter now?" I demanded, sharply.

"We ain't got a thing on wheels in the place, mister, and I don't reckon there's as much as a go-cart left in town. The hull outfit was hired last night."

I could have shaken the man in sheer rage, and for some seconds I did not trust myself to speak. Finally I controlled my voice sufficiently for a last suggestion.

"Have you got a saddle?" I inquired.

"No-o. Yes, sir. I think likely I kin get you a saddle off the Perkins people, if you kin stick on the English kind."

"I can," I answered. "Try the Perkins people, whoever they are, and hurry up about it."

The man rose slowly from his perch, stretched himself, scratched his head thoughtfully, and at last wandered off in the direction of the Melton House. Ten minutes later he reappeared carrying a first class English saddle and bridle, a pair of smart riding-breeches, a hunting-crop, a pair of spurs, and an assortment of soft caps.

"See if any of them'll fit ye," he suggested, as he dropped the collection on a bench.

"Where in the world did you get all that loot?" I inquired, as he disappeared towards the stable with the saddle and bridle.

"Over to Perkins's," he answered. "Help yourself. There's plenty more truck over there if them don't suit yer."

With some misgiving that I might be arrrested on sight by the accommodating Perkins, or whoever owned the outfit, I made a judicious selection, and soon found myself as comfortably equipped as I would have been in my own belongings.

"Looks as though them things was made for ye," ejaculated the stableman, as he reappeared with my horse. "I thought yer was about the cut of them Perkins boys."

Not knowing the Perkins boys, I was doubtful whether this was intended as a compliment or not, and busied myself readjusting the saddle-girths.

"That ought to be a good ridin'-horse," commented the man, and then as I swung into the saddle he added, "Reckon this ain't the first time you backed him—eh?"

"No," I answered, shortly.

"Learned your ridin' out West, too," he vouchsafed, disinterestedly.

"What makes you think so?" I inquired, somewhat less curtly.

"Way you mount," he answered. "I was to Montana for a year onct and I seed they generally turned more to the tail than the head of a horse when they backed him."

"I learned the little I know in Arizona," I answered.

"Then I guess you know 'nough to keep from fallin' off both sides to onct," he reflected. "There won't be no charge for keepin' the horse on 'count of the buggy," he added, as I started.

With this comforting assurance I left the stableyard and turned at once towards Hefryville, but I had no sooner reached the main road than my plans were immediately changed. A girl on horseback was approaching from the opposite direction, and though she was using a side saddle she resembled Miss Frayne sufficiently to make me beat a regretful retreat, for I dared not risk another meeting with her just then. But even as I turned and rode towards the Melton House I argued the matter with myself. Was it not my duty to warn her that she was doing her friend more harm than good by interfering in the Emory case? Could I see her subjecting herself to the most unpleasant consequences without a word of caution? Suppose she attempted to apprise other jurymen of coming events, would she not incur the gravest risks imaginable? If I should be compelled, in pursuance of my sworn duty, to record a verdict which would terminate my friendship with her, might I not still put her upon her guard in a way she might remember and some day understand?

I had almost convinced myself that it was my duty to turn in the opposite direction before I reached the hotel, but the recollection of my former disinterested experiments dissuaded me, and, hastily tying my horse to the hitching rail, I ran to the piazza steps and fairly bumped into Deake Gilbert as he came out of the door.

"Well—well, Mr. Lambert!" he exclaimed. "I hardly recognized you in those togs. Going riding? Hello—who have we here?" he added, and then without waiting for an answer he passed me and ran down the steps.

It was not in the pleasantest frame of mind that I reached my room, and what I saw from my window was not calculated to soothe my feelings.

Miss Frayne had halted directly in front of the hotel, and Gilbert was standing beside her horse, patting its neck and talking earnestly to her. The girl listened with averted face, sometimes interrupting him with a word or two, but never returning his steady gaze. Finally he turned and apparently spoke to the horse, and I could see a smile hovering on Miss Barbara's lips. The instant Gilbert looked up, however, she glanced away, and I could see that her cheeks were flushing at his words, and the smile had not quite disappeared. The sight angered me and made me angry with myself. If the prosecutor—the man primarily responsible for Alice Emory's trial—still retained the friendship of one of her warmest friends, why should I conclude that a verdict of guilty would exclude me from the list of her acquaintances? If Gilbert were received so would I be! If there was a distinction between us it was in my favor. I was a weak minded fool to shun the society of this girl on conscientious scruples. Gilbert evidently did not fear her influence upon his action, and there was no reason why I should not display equal self-confidence.

It must have been my steady gaze which attracted her attention, for, as I stood watching her, Miss Frayne suddenly glanced up at my window, recognized me, and bowed. I drew back hastily without returning her greeting, and then hurried downstairs to repair the omission and apologize for my ill-manners.

When I reached the street, however, Gilbert had gone and Miss Frayne was rapidly disappearing in the distance. Without a moment's delay I untied my horse, and springing on his back cantered off in pursuit. Before I was within hailing distance, however, the girl swung into a side road, and although I lifted my hat as she glanced in my direction she did not apparently see me, and when I reached the corner she was far in advance. I urged my horse forward and was rapidly overtaking her when she, too, broke from a trot to a canter, which became a gallop as I continued to gain upon her, and for a hundred yards or more I rode in a cloud of choking and blinding dust. Then suddenly I felt the impulse of a challenge in her increasing speed, and touching my horse with my heels I settled down to ride. Instantly she responded with a flash of her whip, and away we thundered in a breakneck race, which terminated almost as suddenly as it began, for her hat blew off and she immediately began to draw rein.

"I surrender!" she shouted, as I shot alongside of her. "My hat's off! Stop, please!"

I hauled at my horse's head, but both animals were excited and we covered another quarter of a mile before we finally pulled up, panting breathlessly.

"I'd—I'd have beaten you if—if it hadn't been for that miserable hat!" she gasped, defiantly, as soon as she could speak.

4977 Child's Under Waist and Drawers.

A SATISFACTORY UNDER GARMENT.

Under garments that are smooth fitting yet allow perfectly free movement are the ones that children require the most. Here are drawers and under waist that can be buttoned one to the other and that are in every way satisfactory. The waist is re-enforced under the arms, so giving it the strength that is always necessary for active children, and can be made of heavy material while the drawers can be made of nainsook, cambric or anything that may be liked. In the illustration the waist is made with a round neck, but it can be made on the square outline if better liked. Nainsook with trimming of German Valenciennes lace and insertion are the materials for the drawers, with heavy white jean for the waist in this instance, but linen can be substituted for the waist with equally good results, and longcloth and batiste both are used for the drawers, although cambric and nainsook are a bit stronger and strength is apt to be an essential characteristic. For the six-year size will be required ¾ yard of material 27 inches wide for the under-waist; 1¼ yards 36 inches wide with 3½ yards of edging for the drawers. A May Manton pattern, No. 4977, sizes 2 to 8 years, will be mailed to any address by the Fashion Department of this paper on receipt of ten cents.

ADDITIONAL CHARGES OF PERJURY WILL NO DOUBT BE PART OF OUTCOME OF THE LONDON ELECTION INVESTIGATION

Witness McCormick Refuses Point Blank to Answer Magistrate's Questions—Col. Denison Insinuates Several Times That Witness is not Telling Truth—Investigation is Drawing to a Close.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Toronto, November 8.—A very stubborn, and apparently reluctant, witness, in the person of James McCormick, took the stand in the London bribery investigation, yesterday afternoon, and so evasive were his answers that Col. Denison several times pointedly suggested that the man was not telling the truth. His Worship even went so far as to threaten to send him down unless his attitude toward the court improved. McCormick point blank refused to answer one question, and at the conclusion of his examination Mr. Duvernet suggested that a charge of perjury should be laid against him. The magistrate, however, refused to do so at the present time. The witness was questioned principally concerning a little red book in which he had made a number of entries. This book, he said, was copied from an older book, and he claimed that he made the entries two or three months ago; but His Worship expressed his candid belief that this was not so. The little red book, McCormick claimed, was stolen from his desk, and had by some means come into the possession of the Crown. It was some time before Mr. Duvernet brought forth the little volume, though McCormick boldly demanded its production when it was first referred to.

THE MEN FROM BROCKVILLE.

The Brockville workers in the Liberal cause proved more candid in the witness-box than their party friends from London.

Mr. R. McNab, who helped win the Comstock-White contest, admitted that he received cash in the committee rooms, which he expended to purchase votes. The person who gave him the money was named O'Gorman, but the witness could not identify the defendant as the source of supplies. The same man, however, had distributed marked bogus ballots, which electors used in the polling booths in place of the ones given out by the Deputy Returning Officers. Mr. J. W. Curry assisted Mr. J. M. Godfrey and Mr. Wilkie in the defence in the absence of Mr. T. C. Robinette.

ABOUT AS STUBBORN AS THEY MAKE THEM.

James McCormick, chairman of one of the Liberal committees, of which John O'Connell and George Cruming were also members, was the first witness called in the afternoon.

"Did you keep any record of your meetings?" asked Mr. Duvernet.

"No," replied the witness.

"None of any kind?"

The witness hesitated for several seconds, and then replied, "No."

"What made you hesitate so long?" asked His Worship.

Witness said he didn't think he hesitated.

Did you keep any memorandum book after the election"

A. What do you mean?

What I say! Did you keep a memorandum book after the election"

A.—It might be a small memorandum book.

I didn't ask you what it might be.

A.—It was a small memorandum book. I have good reason to remember it.

Why?

A.—Because it was stolen from me.

"Well, tell us all about it!" exclaimed the magistrate, seeing that the witness was reluctant.

"Well, produce the book and I'll tell you all about it," retorted the witness boldly.

What was it kept for?

A.—Nothing in particular. It was simply my own idea.

"What was your idea?

A.—Nothing very brilliant, but the ideas are there.

The witness said the book contained a list of certain voters. "I am entitled to see that book," he remarked stubbornly.

The magistrate intimated that he didn't know where the book was.

"As a witness, I am entitled to see that book," McCormick persisted.

"No; you are not," answered his Worship. "I haven't got it."

"But Mr. Duvernet may have it," suggested Mr. Curry, K. C.

Further questioned, the witness said the entries were made in the book simply so that somone might take it and bring it before the court in case of an investigation being held. He made the entries in the book over two months ago, but not more than three months ago.

What did you do it for?

A.—I did it for a purpose. They thought an investigation was to be held.

Who thought that?

A.—Mayor Judd. He knew it at the time.

"Did Mayor Judd tell you?" the magistrate enquired.

"No," answered the witness.

REFUSES TO ANSWER.

Who told you?

A.—I refuse to answer the question.

Mr. Curry objected that the statement of a third party could not be introduced, as it was not evidence against the defendants.

"Will you refuse to answer the question?" asked the magistrate of the witness.

"Yes, your worship," replied the witness firmly.

"Do you want to be sent down for a while?" asked the Court severely.

"It is a question whether you can do so," interposed Mr. Curry.

"It is a question to be fought out on habeas corpus," retorted Col. Denison.

"Who is the examiner?" McCormick broke in jauntily.

"Both of us," replied the magistrate warmly, "and you will get into trouble before you get through.

Mr. Curry again said the question was not evidence.

MAGISTRATE SCENTS PERJURY.

"It is evidence because I think this book was made up at the time of the election, and this man is committing perjury," retorted his Worship, in overruling Mr. Curry's objection.

Mr. Curry then made a formal objection that the question was inadmissible, and the witness was not bound to answer it.

"My impression is that the witness is making a statement now to cover up a story about a book made in 1905," was the magistrate's reply to the objection. "Mr. Duvernet can go on."

"I will ask for an order of committal if the witness refuses to answer," said Mr. Duvernet.

Witness said he made the entries in the book and he would swear to them as being true.

"Were you making a truthful record for the purpose of assisting the court?" asked Mr. Duvernet.

"Simply for my own purpose," said the witness.

McCormick said he simply made the book up for the purpose of its being taken. It was stolen from his desk.

"Whom did you tell to steal it?"

A.—I would be sorry to have to say.

"Well, you will have to say," Mr. DuVernet exclaimed.

"I don't think I told anyone," was the reply. "It isn't necessary to tell anyone to steal."

THE LITTLE RED BOOK.

At the suggestion of the Magistrate, Mr. DuVernet produced the mysterious little red book in regard to which the witness was being questioned. There were a number of entries in it in pencil, amounts being placed beside some of the names. McCormick, however, denied that he got any money from anybody or paid money to anyone. He said that the entries were made two months ago, being copied from an older one. He just copied them out for a purpose.

"What was the purpose?" enquired His Worship.

"I don't know that I can tell you," replied the witness.

McCormick persisted in his statement that he simply made up the little red book for the purpose of seeing if anyone would take it, as it had been known for a long time in London that an election investigation was likely to be coming on.

Some of the entries had reference to cigars, but these were bought with his own private money, whilst other amounts came out of his own pocket. What they were for did not transpire. Men named Barnes and Goldsmith were mentioned in the book, but witness said he did not even know them.

Mr. DuVernet read from a sworn statement by Leo Edwards, of London, to the effect that a man named McCormick paid him $5 in each of three elections.

"I will swear that is not true," said the witness. He had, however, canvassed Edwards' vote.

CHARGE MAY BE LAID.

Col. Denison during the examination of the witness had two or three times intimated that he was not telling the truth.

"I want a charge laid against this man," said Mr. DuVernet, as McCormick left the witness stand.

"Oh, I will not do that yet until I have some evidence contradicting him," returned the magistrate.

"I will have the evidence here in the morning," said Mr. DuVernet.

"I am perfectly satisfied he has not been telling the truth," remarked Col. Denison, "but I have no evidence contradicting him." His Worship added that he did not believe one word about the book being copied out two or three months ago.

"Anyone who examines that book will see that it was written with one lead pencil at one time," said Mr. Curry, for the defence.

"That is where experts differ," answered His Worship, facetiously.

MR. DUVERNET NETTLED.

John Goldsmith, another London voter, was called, and denied that he was ever promised or received any money for his vote. Mr. Parke spoke to him about how he was going to vote, but promised him nothing.

Mr. Wm. Parke next ascended the witness stand, and before Mr. DuVernet had got well started with his questioning, Mr. Curry, who had been frequently interrupting and objecting to Mr. DuVernet's method of investigation, was again protesting.

Mr. DuVernet, speaking with some warmth, said he did not intend to be subjected to this annoyance and interruption any more. If it was to continue he would inform the Attorney-General he would retire from the case.

Col. Denison asked counsel for the defence, in the case of any further objections, to address him.

Mr. Parke, continuing his evidence, said he never promised Goldsmith any money.

Wm. Lynch, an elderly London voter, was only in the box a few seconds, and merely denied having ever received any money or been promised any.

"I'm not stuck on politics anyway," he said amidst laughter.

In reply to Col. Denison, who was anxious to know when the Crown would complete the case, Mr. DuVernet said he proposed to resume tomorrow, and then with one day set aside next week he thought the case might be completed.

Right-of-Way Is Rich

Special to the Montreal Star.

Ottawa, November 8.—Local directors of the Right-of-Way Mining Company, which secured the privilege of mining the right of way of the Temiskaming Railway from the Ontario Government claim to have struck it rich. Three of them who have returned from Cobalt brought a number of samples of ore along with them, which they claim will average about 65 per cent. of pure silver. One piece of rock weighing sixty-four pounds contains $435 worth of silver, which means the vein struck in the Right-of-Way is a continuation of the celebrated Timmins vein.

NEWS OF THE BIG COBALT MINES

Foster Mine Directors Say They do not Like the Stock Jobbing Operations.

N. Y. SYNDICATE GETS WATTS

Ontario is Figuring on How it Can Get a Direct Revenue From the Cobalt Mines.

The Foster Cobalt Mining Company have issued the following statement. The directorate does not sympathize with stock-jobbing operations, which have for their object the immediate increase in the price of the stock, and the statements which have appeared from time to time have not emanated from it. It prefers that the shareholders of the mine and the public should have accurate information from time to time of the position of the mine, and will endeavor to supply it. Every expedition is being used in installing a suitable plant for the working of the mine, most of it having already arrived at Cobalt. At the present time a considerable force of men is engaged in drifting at a depth of seventy-five feet on one of the veins, and the results are satisfactory. Stoping is going forward in the main drift, and a shaft is being rapidly sunk for the purpose of proving what is regarded as the main vein on the property. The directors have not yet received the smelter returns with respect to the first car of ore shipped. This ore was not mined under the present management, but was taken over as it stood in the ore house, and its value could not be ascertained. It was badly graded and sorted, and was not by any means the best ore that the mine produces.

Every well-contrived mining promotion, says the New York Times, has its press agent, whose task is to keep the public informed of the wonderful prospects unfolding in the market and at the mine. The promoters plainly are philanthropists.

Recent events here substantiate the rumor that Mr. Glendenning, of Toronto, is disposing of his large interests in the University to the Colonial syndicate, which has already taken over the Hanson and other shipping mines of Cobalt camp. The Colonial is also after La Rose and other mines operated by close corporations. Local curb-stoners are asking fancy prices for all stocks this morning, anticipating that Hughes' election will send them away up.

The Beaver mine capitalists are here inspecting their property located east of Foster and Lawson veins.

New York capitalists here are elated over the election of Hughes, and say it will give an impetus to Wall Street and assist in the booming of Cobalt.

In his weekly circular Mr. H. C. Barber states that the 50,000 shares of Cleveland-Cobalt stock offered by him at $1 has been over-subscribed, and that allotments of 50 per cent. of the amount applied for will be made. The Abitibi and Cobalt are rushing operations on their mine, No. 1, near Gillies Depot. The new camp is now finished, with five large buildings to accommodate the force which will be employed through the winter. Over sixty men are employed in Coleman division. A re-organization or sale of the Gordon properties is in the air.

The control of the Watts mine has gone to a New York syndicate, now owners of the King Cobalt. The two properties will be amalgamated under the caption, "King Edward of Cobalt." Among the prominent financiers in this company will be included S. Newhouse, of New York, president of the Newhouse mines, the Boston Consolidated, and the Newhouse tunnel. Messrs. McCormack Bros., W. H. Brevoort, and the Guggenheims have also an interest in the amalgamated properties. The capitalization of the King Edward will be $5,000,000, in $5 shares. The stock of the company has all been underwritten, and present holders of Watts shares can either receive cash for their holdings or an exchange in the new company's stock.

Reports are current that the Provincial Government has decided to introduce at the next session of the Legislature a measure whereby the province will secure a direct revenue from the mines. The principle of the measure is a Government secret. Whether it will be on a graded scale applying only to producing mines or whether it will be on general lines applicable to all mineral lands is for the future to disclose. It is not improbable that part of the revenue to be derived from the tax or royalty or whatever other form the measure mentioned may take will be used for the encouragement of smelting works and other essentials to mining development in the province. In addition, the intention and hope seems to be to place the mining industry on a basis where it will pay the expenses of the Mining Department and administration of the mining law.

Tretheway was made the subject of a joke among the curb brokers yesterday. The underwriting of this stock has proved an almost unparalleled success, and the syndicate handling the flotation is besieged with requests for allotments, which they have been compelled to turn down. "It reminds me, "remarked one of the fortunate brokers, "of the patent medicine ad.—'even children cry for it,' and it is suggested that the mine should be re-named 'Castoria'."

The New York Comercial says: "As a result of the advance scored last week by some of the lower-priced Cobalt stocks on the local curb, some startling results are shown. For instance, based on an acreage valuation, McKinley-Darragh-Savage, at $4 a share, is selling at almost four times more than the acreage valuation of Nipissing, at $31 a share."

Some of the new proprietors of the Green-Meehan mine, north of Cobalt, state that they would ship two carloads of ore within the next couple of weeks, and they thought each car would yield as high as $40,000. This property was sold a few weeks ago for $250,000, a rich vein having been struck immediately before the option expired. So far no machinery has been installed at the mine, with the exception of a horse-power. The property is in Bucke Township.

PURE ICE. ABSOLUTELY FREE. READ CAREFULLY.

THE PURE ICE COMPANY, Ltd.

480 TEMPLE BUILDING, CITY.

Storage: Clarke's Island, Valleyfield.

DIRECTORS

Lawrence A. Wilson; F. J. Gallagher; N. C. Smillie, M.D.; James Quinn.

Bannell Sawyer, B.C.L., Secretary.

STATEMENT

This Company has secured over 8 acres of ground on Clarke's Island, in Lake St. Francis, near Valleyfield, on which to erect Ice storage buildings and from which to cut a large supply of Pure Ice. The Grand Trunk Railway have just built in a siding over 1,200 feet in length and will haul our Ice to the city. Buildings are now being erected and we expect to cut over 50,000 tons of as pure natural Ice as is obtainable in this country.

BUSINESS

The amount of business offering is far beyond our calculations and we have many hundreds of subscribers at the present moment. We can lay our Ice down at your door at as low a cost as anyone in the business. We will have the latest labor saving machinery, and we do not hesitate to say that we believe a profit of 20 per cent. net can be made on the investment.

OFFER: PURE ICE FREE

Ice is selling this year at $8 for 10 lbs. That is 8 per cent. on $100, if we look at it from a money viewpoint. Now to those who subscribe and pay for two shares or more of stock at $50 each, we will give their supply of Ice (10 lbs.) free every year from May to November as long as they retain their shares. If the shares are transferred, the right to free Ice goes with the shares. Besides this, the shares will rank for dividends in cash as the same may be declared.

As there are many thousands of users of Ice in the city, and as we expect to serve 5,000 customers with Ice, it will be seen that only a comparatively small number can receivo their Ice free. For example, 750 people taking 2 shares each will mean only one person out of six customers who will receive their Ice free. Only shareholders will have this privilege, and shareholders will not exceed 750 in number. The cash profit on those who do not own shares will be sufficient to pay at least 7 per cent. dividend in cash on all the shares issued, in addition to their supply of free Ice.

CITY WAREHOUSE

We have secured land in the city on which we will erect a storage building sufficiently large to supply our customers for 10 days at a time without depending on our supply in Valleyfield.

The most complete and up-to-date system of delivery will be installed and a service such as Montreal citizens will appreciate may be anticipated.

SIGN BLANKS

Please sign blank without delay, and return to this office so as to insure getting your supply of Pure Ice regularly, as we wish to plan our delivery route immediately.

NOTE WELL

This matter considered as an investment should commend itself to wide-awake people, as the Ice will be received regularly and may be considered a preferred dividend, not subject to the will of the directors. It cannot be deferred. You get your preference right along daily, without cost.

Yours respectfully,
BANNELL SAWYER,
Secretary.

Accident at Levis.

Levis, November 8.—Mr. Thomas Lemieux, for some years past an employe of the Quebec Court House and husband of Mrs. Lemieux, the St. John street florist, was crossing the I.C.R. tracks at Paradise Crossing, located between the station and Messrs. Davis' property, when the local express train from Campbellton came along and struck him. He was picked up unconscious and taken to Quebec.

STRUCK BY TRAIN.—John Clingan, 336 Grosvenor avenue, while walking on the Grand Trunk Railway tracks near the St. Ferdinand street crossing last evening, was struck by a passing train. When examined at the General Hospital it was found that several toes were so badly crushed as to require amputation.

WILL APPEAR IN POLICE COURT

Mr. Hays, General Manager of Grand Trunk, and Question of Third Class Tickets.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Toronto, November 8.—Charles M. Hays, 2nd vice-president and general manager of the Grand Trunk Railway will appear in the police court one week from to-day to answer to a charge of violating the old charter under which the road does business, by refusing to sell third class tickets at 2 cents a mile. This announcement was made yesterday, by J. Walter Curry, K.C., Counsel for W. N. Robertson, the complainant. The case will be callled in the police court this morning, but will be adjourned for a week to suit the convenience of Manager Hays, who sent word that he could not come to-day.

Silver Strike at Temagami.

Toronto, November 8.—Later particulars of the silver find in the Temagami Reserve, confirm the reports as to the richness of the ore, according to the silver found on the claim staked by the White Bros., of Muskoka. Silver has been found on a claim staked by F. B. Connell, of Haileybury. The latter says the field is a new Cobalt.

The official report of the education committee of the London County Council for the year ended March, 1905, points out that the cost of public education during the period was £5,000,000 gross, or £3,000,000 net, that is, after deducting the grants from the Board of Education.

FIFTH AVENUE BUILDINGS.

Decision to Widen the Thoroughfare a Blow to Property Owners.

New York, November 8.—Following a decision handed down by Supreme Court Justice O'Gorman, reciting that the Qnickerbocker Trust Co. must do away with the entire front of its building at Fifth avenue and 34th street, because that portion of the structure encroaches over the building line, Corporation Counsel Wm. B. Ellison announced to-day that he will have Fifth avenue widened to accommodate two more lines of vehicles. Mr. Ellison announced that he will make every property owner on Fifth avenue, any portion of whose building or any appurtenances or addition of whose building encroaches on the line, chop the portion off, so that the sidewalk may be moved back. The decision of the city legal adviser will affect many of the handsome building on the avenue.

WALL STREET GOT OBJECT LESSON

As a Result of the Big Vote for W. R. Hearst and His Principals.

MARKET A LITTLE BETTER

Detroit Acted Well While Power and Street Were on the Easy Side.

Wall Street's stocks rallied a little to-day, gains ranging from ¼ to 1 point in most cases.

There seemed to be a great deal of relief over the fact that the Bank of England's rate was not advanced, but the money situation is still a problem, and the general feeling is that the position just now is not encouraging enough to foster any bullish enthusiasm.

It seems to be a traders' market, with the profits small either up or down the scale.

Financial people generally took much interest in the newspaper comment on the election.

Hearst's personal unpopularity alone killed him, for it was felt that the rank and file of the people to-day are ready to vote for his radical principles on the question of corporations.

The vote was a splendid object lesson to Wall Street, the trusts, and the money powers.

Sentiment in Europe is a little better, and the recent good rally in Russian bonds has tended to create a much more cheerful feeling in the Continental markets.

STREET RAILWAY LOWER.

Although everybody was well satisfied with the outcome of the Street Railway meeting yesterday, and more confidence than ever was felt in the future of the road, the stock acted poorly at the afternoon session, and it showed no improvement this morning. There is evidently a little quiet liquidation going on from time to time, while it is of course obvious that the speculative enthusiasm on the part of the bulls has, for the time being, been effectively dampened.

DETROIT ACTING WELL.

Detroit Railway continues to act in a very gratifying way to the shareholders and brokers. The liquidation in the stock following the adverse vote was much smaller than expected, and some seemed to be buying it with not a little confidence.

The shareholders have evidently taken a "safe and sane" view of the outlook, and believe that the road will be able to make a good showing on a 3-cent basis.

The stock to-day did not get very far away from the 88 mark, and this means a decline of but 3 points under the level ruling the day before the vote.

GO BACK TO OLD FARES.

Burnett & Co. received the following wire from Detroit: "After having been offered the cheapest fare in the world, ten tickets for 25 cents for five hours and 6 for 25 cents for the remainder of the 24, the people of Detroit turned down the franchise at the polls over 2 to 1. The count was abnormally slow, only 32 precincts are complete. These give 3,007 for and 6,138 against. The Detroit United Railway officials, giving up as defeated, have issued an order revoking the sale of cheap fares put into effect before the election with certain exceptions."

"SOO'S" GOOD GAINS.

"Soo" Railway for the fourth week of October showed an increase of $40,476. The gain for the month was $105,846. From July 1st the increase is $696,061.

The New York banks have lost $1,816,000 to the sub-treasury since Friday.

THE HILL STOCKS.

The Hill stocks were active. Great Northern opened at 325, went up to 327, and off to 326½. Northern Pacific started at 221½ and was off to 220¼.

Union Pacific moved up to 184, and C. P. R. was firmer at 177⅞.

The sales to noon in Wall Street were 244,920 shares.

Money in Wall Street was quoted at 6 to 6½ per cent.

MONTREAL STREET RAILWAY ANNUAL MEETING—Mr. K. W. Blackwell, the Vice-President.

"NOTHING TO ARBITRATE!"

The Star's correspondent at Sydney wired: "It is said here that Mr. E. S. Clouston, of the Bank of Montreal, wired Mr. James Ross asking him to submit the Coal-Steel case to arbitration. It is understood that Mr. Ross made this reply:

"There is nothing to arbitrate."

MONTREAL CLEARINGS BIG.

Montreal clearings the past week were exceedingly heavy, as follows:

	Clearings.
Total for week ending November 8th, 1906	$34,759,661
Corresponding week, 1905	32,161,904
Corresponding week, 1904	28,040,627

To-day's clearings amounted to $5,048,980.

Made $20,000,000 In Cobalt Deals

One paper makes the following loose estimate of profits made out of Cobalt so far by Canadians:

The first owners of Nipissing (they were Canadians) sold out for	$ 250,000
Canadians have made (at least) out of this mine	2,000,000
The Fosters took out of Foster (at least)	700,000
Tretheweys took out of Trethewey (at least)	700,000
The University crowd got over	1,000,000
The Timmons and McMartin, La Rose, etc., are worth, out of Cobalt	10,000,000
The Jacobs would not sell for	2,000,000
The Lawson is held in Canada, and is worth	2,000,000
Canadians made in Foster	1,000,000

The Temiskaming & Hudson Bay shareholders have already made over $1,000,000, and still hold a very valuable and large claim.

This little list totals over $20,000,000, and if many of the other smaller deals were included in the computation, the total would run into many more millions.

BANK OF ENGLAND BETTER.

Reserve to Liability Moved Up a Little Over 2 Per Cent.

The weekly statement of the Bank of England shows the following changes:

Total reserve, inc.	£ 919,000
Circulation, dec.	280,000
Bullion, inc.	639,124
Other securities, dec.	867,000
Other deposits, inc.	781,000
Public deposits, dec.	765,000
Notes reserve, inc.	1,056,000

Government securities, unchanged.

The proportion of the bank's reserve to liability this week is 38.63 per cent., as compared with 36.51 per cent. last week.

A Montreal broker said:

"Supposing Detroit United is forced to accept 3-cent fares in 1909, where does the hardship come in?

"Look at the annual report of the Montreal Street Railway and you will see that the fares last year averaged 3.03 cents. It is being reduced every year. A few years ago the fares averaged 3.09 cents. Montreal Street is doing pretty well."

CODD WAS BEATEN BY 3,341.

Official Vote Was Announced in Detroit This Morning.

With but one precinct to hear from, William B. Thompson, Democrat, defeated Mayor George P. Codd for re-election in Detroit by the majority of 3,341.

The vote against the proposed new franchise for the Detroit United Railway, advocated by Mayor Codd, and generally accredited with causing his defeat, was 28,828, with only 13,316 votes in favor of it.

Under the proposed franchise, the rates of fare would have been ten tickets for 25 cents during the morning and evening hours, and 6 tickets for 25 cents the other hours.

To give the citizens an opportunity to test the proposed rates of fare the company several weeks ago put them into effect on all lines. At midnight last night they were withdrawn.

STEEL-COAL CO. TROUBLE.

A Slight Improvement in the Situation This Morning.

Sydney, N.S., November 8.—There is a slight improvement in the situation at the Steel Works to-day, and there is consequently a more hopeful feeling in the city that the situation will not be very long delayed.

The blast furnace of the Nova Scotia Steel & Coal Co. being closed for the purpose of cleaning, the company is able to sell both coal and coke to the Dominion Company.

In addition to all the coal being secured from the local source, General Manager Jones has purchased a quantity of American coal, which will be delivered to the works with all possible despatch.

Mr. Jones expects to have one of the blast furnaces in operation early next week, and shortly after another one. In the meantime every effort is being put forth to bring the Coal and Steel people together in order to effect a settlement.

GRANBY STEADY.

Granby is about steady around 13¾ to 13⅞.

COBALT STOCKS.

Foster was firm in Wall Street at 3¾ to 4. Silver Queen was 3⅛ to 3¼, and McKinley 3⅞ to 4.

CONSOLS LOWER.

British consols were a shade lower at 86 to 86⅛.

NIPISSING LOWER.

Nipissing dropped under the 30 mark, selling at 29½ to 29¾.

'NO CHANGE' SAID CABLES TO-DAY

General Sigh of Relief when News Came on the Bank of England's Rate.

NO 7 P.C. SINCE '73 PANIC

Rate Was Up to 10 Per Cent. in 1866 When Famous Overend Guerney Failure Came.

A sigh of relief came from the financial world to-day when the cables announced that the Bank of England had made no change in its rate.

Had the rate been advanced, as many had feared, from 6 to 7 per cent., it would have been at that level for the first time since the panic of 1873.

There have been about 440 changes in the Bank of England rate since 1844. In that time the rate has never been over 10 per cent. or under 2 per cent. During 70 per cent. of the time the rate has been from 2 to 4 per cent.

There has been no 10 per cent. rate since 1866, the year of the failure of Overend, Guerney & Co. There has been no 7 per cent., 8 per cent. or 9 per cent. since 1873, the year of the great panic in the States.

There has been no 6½ per cent. rate since 1857. A 6 per cent. rate prevailed for one day in 1889, for 78 days in 1890, for 31 days in 1899 and for 11 days in 1900, and is the rate now prevailing.

There has been no 5½ per cent. rate since 1870.

There was a 5 per cent. rate in 1891, 1893, 1899, 1900, 1901 and 1906. The last time there was a 4½ per cent. rate was in 1901.

Since 1873 there has been a 4 per cent. rate in every year except 1880, 1892, 1894 and 1895.

Since 1873 there has been a 3 per cent. rate in every year except 1895 and 1906.

Local Shareholders May Take Action

Four Dominion Steel and two Dominion Coal shareholders got off into a corner for a quiet talk this morning to consider the idea of calling a meeting of shareholders to protest against the present battle between the directorates.

"If this thing is not settled this week," said a Dominion Steel man, "we will take action, send a round robin to our respected directors of the two concerns, and tell them what we think of this business.

"I do not pretend to understand the technical ins and outs of the affair, but the Star was right the other night when it intimated that there was bad blood between the two boards.

"I hope the Bank of Montreal and the Bank of Commerce are taking a hand in the matter. If they are not doing so, they should act at once.

"The rich men can afford to squabble, but, unfortunately, the shareholders are not in a position to indulge in these luxuries."

ROYAL'S NEW CUBAN BRANCH.

Royal Bank Now Has Seven Branches on Island of Cuba.

The Royal Bank of Canada has opened three new branches this week, one in Hanover, Ont., with Mr. B. V. Gomery as manager; Dominion City, Man., under the management of Mr. W. H. Ronald, formerly manager of the Montreal Annex Branch, and at Manzanillo. This latter branch makes the seventh point at which the Royal is now represented in Cuba.

HUDSON'S MOVED UP TO 108.

Hudson's Bays, according to McCuaig's special cable, sold at £108.

Fairbanks Bros.' cable quoted Grand Trunk ordinary at 27⅞, later at 27¾; thirds at 68⅛, later at 68½.

NEW C. P. R. STOCK COMING?

Wall Street Report Says in From 30 to 60 Days.

A Montreal broker got this from Wall Street to-day:

"It is learned that the Canadian Pacific now has in progress of construction and improvement work aggregating $26,000,000.

"This work includes the construction of over 1,200 miles of new lines, and the double tracking of over 400 miles. It has been rumored that within 30 or 60 days the company would offer additional stock to its shareholders on the same favorable terms which have been given on previous issues."

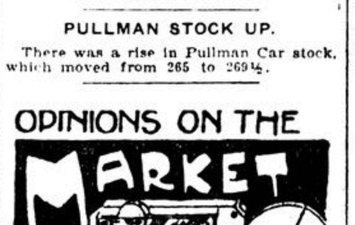
"A man specially well informed regarding Pacific affairs, says that it may be taken as a fact that the Canadian Pacific management will from time to time offer additional common stock to its shareholders on highly satisfactory terms."

TO ATTEND MEETING.

Mr. D. M. Stewart left for Toronto last night to attend the meeting of the Canadian Bankers' Association.

PULLMAN STOCK UP.

There was a rise in Pullman Car stock, which moved from 265 to 269½.



The market has displayed a very firm tone all morning, although trading has been quite light. Professionals are waiting for signs of activity on the part of the big interests, who appear to be doing nothing at the moment. Substantial assistance from the United States treasury is confidently expected, and this should be the signal for an active upward market.

J. B. Picken—Unless such relief is given to the market high rates must necessarily prevail, and there is a danger that the difficulty of selling commercial paper will tend to interfere with the business activity of the country.

E. and C. Randolph. — The assistance of the Secretary of the Treasury would again seem necessary before the return tide to this centre sets in. Nobody seems afraid, as they believe that such assistance will be forthcoming when needed. But it is a disagreeable situation, and the wisdom of Wall Street is shown by the fact that they are much disinclined to speculate.

J. S. Bache — Trading has dwindled away, and everybody is awaiting developments in the money situation and the official count on the state ticket. Democrats seem to have the best chance for every office outside of Governor.

Burnett & Co. — Strongest feature of earliest trading in its sympathetic influence on rest of market was the sharp advance in Union Pacific. The buying was by houses who trade for Standard Oil affiliations of the control in that property.

Impressions at "Street" Meeting

W. G. Ross and K. W. Blackwell.

The big upstairs room where the Street Railway shareholders are accustomed to meet, was packed to the doors yesterday, and perhaps fifty persons were unable to gain admission to hear the much-heralded attack upon the board of directors.

Calm, and apparently at ease, Senator Forget sat at the centre of the long table, and was surrounded by other directors and employes.

To his right Mr. W. G. Ross listened to the speeches of criticism, and answered the questions perhaps a little too carelessly, and smilingly at times, to satisfy his critics.

The meeting opened with a suspicion of aggressive repartee and with an undercurrent of ill-feeling.

Then the shareholders made their intentions known.

They did not come to persecute nor to make personal attacks, but to ask questions, as was their right.

Senator Forget had a lively tiff with Hon. Arthur Boyer, and then all heads turned as Mr. B. A. Boas rose to his feet.

Perhaps Mr. Boas' speech was a little milder than had been expected.

He did not touch off any bombs, but he pitched into Mr. Ross and Mr. Blackwell, after he had made a happy start by creating a general laugh.

Mr. Boas spoke well, his ideas were well considered, and everybody gave him a respectful hearing.

He swept all along the line with his attack and on the whole made a good impression.

Sentiment in subsequent discussion began to lean toward the directors when Mr. Marler stirred up a hornet's nest.

In attempting to uphold the directors and discredit their critics, he announced that the critics were trying to irritate the board and to question its integrity.

Mr. Marler's defence was something of a boomerang.

Senator Belque responded, and made the room ring with a rattling speech on the rights of shareholders.

The crowd, which was giving quiet approval of the directors a minute before, swung around to Senator Belque and gave him a warm round of applause.

The Senator said that the shareholders had a right to know all they were asking, and spoke of the way shareholders act and are treated in England.

"They are called proprietors, there," he said, "and we too are the proprietors of the Street Railway and the directors are our employed."

The Senator said he had a great deal of admiration for the managing director, Mr. Ross, but he felt that it was only right that in a friendly way the shareholders could question his connection with another company if they thought it was not exactly proper.

Altogether, the Senator's speech put everybody in good humor, and by common consent he established the right of the shareholders to speak their minds freely and ask the directors for a free and above board account of how their property had been administered during the year.

The meeting, in short, was a success in more ways than one, and it would be a good thing if there were more meetings like it.

Shareholders in Canada are too bashful, and they have rights that they do not exercise.

A spirit of optimistic, not destructive, criticism might be fostered more than it is, and the directors of any concern knowing that watchful eyes were upon them would perhaps be stirred up to do the best that was in them at all times.

Of course the shareholders made no concerted effort to defeat the premium stock issue.

They had proxies for several thousand shares, but not enough to make it worth while calling for a vote.

Many shareholders were impressed with Senator Forget's attitude. He was dignified, and yet, at the same time, he made a couple of pretty hard thrusts when it was necessary to attack.

Mr. Ross was well posted, and gave many facts and figures without consulting his papers.

Mr. Blackwell made a clean-cut, straightforward statement, and both he and Mr. Ross cleared themselves effectively of the charge that they used their Street Railway positions to advance the interests of other concerns.

HAY MARKET VERY FIRM.

Flour, Millfeed and Other Cereal Products Meet With Fair Demand.

FLOUR.—The market is fairly active and prices hold about steady. Official quotations for Manitoba grades are $4.10 per bbl. in bags for strong bakers, and $4.60 for patents. The claim is made by some in the trade that purchases can be made at less than these figures. Quotations on Ontarios are: $2.75 to $3.85 for bbls. of straight rollers, $1.55 to $1.85 per bag, and $1.50 to $1.60 for extras.

ROLLED OATS.—The market is fairly active at present and quotations are firm. Prices to jobbers are $2.15 per bag of 90 lbs. in carloads, and $4.60 per bbl. of 180 lbs. Oatmeal is quoted at $4.45 per bag of 196 lbs.

MILLFEED—The demand is less active than it was a short time ago, at $20 for Manitoba bran in bags and $22 for shorts, Ontarios being quoted in bulk on much the same basis.

HAY.—The market for hay has shown unexpected firmness, prices having advanced fully 50c per ton since a week ago. Deliveries on spot are not large, and demand is fairly active. Prices on track for car lots are $13 to $13.50 per ton for No. 1 timothy, $12 to $12.50 for No. 2; clover and clover mixed, $11 to $11.50.

HAYSEED.—Considerable alsike has been received, and dealers have been offering $4 for the poor quality and $6.50 for choice, country points. As yet there has been almost nothing done in timothy, it being very scarce.

CORNMEAL.—Demand is very fair and prices steady at $1.60 per sack, and $3.45 in barrels, in store.

POT BARLEY.—The market shows little change, and demand is steady at $1.90 in sacks and $4 in bbls.

SPLIT PEAS.—There is a fair turnover at about $2.25 in sacks and $4.70 in bbls. to jobbers.

OTHER CEREAL PRODUCTS.—Buckwheat flour is meeting with a fairly brisk demand at the moment, and prices to arrive are $2.15 per 28-lb. sack. Rolled wheat is dull at $2.40 per 100 lbs.

OFF FOR COBALT.

Mr. J. H. Redpath, of the firm of Redpath & Co., together with a party of New York capitalists, left for Cobalt to-day.

THIS BARLEY KING DIED PENNILESS

O'Neill Once Worth Many Millions—Interesting Reminiscences.

WHEAT MARKET BEARISH

Local Oats Steady—Cheese Market Shade Easier on Quebecs—Butter Market Firm.

From the Special Correspondent of the Montreal Star on the Chicago Board of Trade.

Chicago, Ill., November 8. — H. J. O'Neill, from 1890 to 1898 the "barley king of the world," and rated in Chicago during that period as worth many millions, died in obscurity yesterday at Cameron, Mo., of heart disease. Public attention was attracted to the O'Neill name last in November, 1899, when the barley king's wife was arrested in Montreal, Canada, on the complaint of Chicago firms who were her creditors to the amount of $30,000 for finery. Her husband stood by her and paid the bills. Soon after this the O'Neill fortune was lost. The trader tried to re-establish himself at Winona, but failed.

At the time of his death he was a buying agent for a St. Louis brewery, with headquarters at Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

Chicago, Ill., November 8. — The market exhibited some stubbornness early, but liquidation on a heavy scale by a few of the big longs soon took the edge off the entire situation. The export situation is quite dull for both wheat and flour.

North-Western receipts were larger at 964 cars, against 555 a week ago and 790 a year ago. Winnipeg receipts, 455 cars, year ago, 287.

The liquidation of long December, which, followed by free sales of long May. Liverpool was lower, and Paris suffered a recession. The Daily Trade Bulletin this afternoon will make the world's supplies of breadstuffs 207,959,000, bushels, against 182,924,000 a month ago, and 170,679,000 a year ago.

The largest increases were in the amounts afloat and in store in Europe.

The spot Liverpool wheat market closed ⅛d down to-day, at 6s 4⅝d to 6s 5¼d for No. 1 nor. Man. No stock of No. 2. Options closed ⅛d down, at 6s 4¼d for Dec., ⅜d down, at 6s 5⅜d for March, and at 6s 4⅝d for May. Antwerp closed ⅛ down, at 16½ for No. 2 Kas. Nov. and Dec. Paris closed 20 down on Nov., at 23, and 10 down on Mch. and Jan., at 23.30.

Winnipeg was ⅛c down at noon, at 73⅝c for Nov., on Dec., at 72⅛c. May being ¼c down at 76⅛c. Dec. oats were ⅛c up, at 33c, May being ½c up, at 35⅛c.

Chicago was ¼c down on Dec. wheat at noon, at 72⅝c, May being 77½c. Dec. corn was ¼c down at noon, at 42¼c, May being ⅛c down, at 43½c. Dec. oats were steady, at 34¼c.

Duluth was ⅛c down on Dec. wheat, at 74½c, May being ⅛c down, at 77⅞c. Minneapolis was ½c down on Dec., at 74c.

Rain in England; forecast, unsettled. Threatening in France; forecast cloudy.

The receipts of wheat at Winnipeg yesterday were:

	Cars
No. 1 hard	20
No. 1 northern	180
No. 2 northern	120
No. 3 northern	13
No. 4 northern	0
Winter wheat	7
Other grades	115
Total	455
Last year	287

LOCAL MARKET. — Winnipeg was still higher on oats, but cables from the other side were steady below an export basis. There was very little demand for oats on spot, and the market was steady at unchanged prices. Oats were still quoted at 38½ to 39c for No. 4 in store, 39½ to 40c for No. 3, and 40½ to 41c for No. 2. Buckwheat was still quoted at 56½ to 57c per bushel in store. American corn, No. 2 yellow, being 56½c to 57c, and No. 3 mixed, 55½ to 56c in store.

QUEBEC CHEESE EASIER.

Ontarios Hold Steady—Butter Steady and Dull—Eggs Hold Firm.

Picton, Ont., November 8. — Eleven factories boarded 470 colored and 230 white. Highest bid, 12¼c. No sales.

CHEESE. — The market shows a slight decline. Following the advance in the country recently was a firmer tone here, but during the past few days this tendency has disappeared, and some firms are feeling a little less confident. However, there is no disposition apparent to sell at a decline, the general feeling being that the market will remain about steady, neither declining nor advancing materially. Dealers are certainly not having their offers accepted freely on the other side, and the general dulness acts as a check upon bullish tendencies. Prices for Quebecs are being shaded to-day at 12¼ to 12⅜c; Townships are 12½c, and 12⅝ to 12¾c for Ontarios. This for Octobers; Sept. Ontarios, 13c.

BUTTER. — The market for butter is undoubtedly firm, but there is no advance in prices to speak of. Some dealers who are in a position to do a jobbing business are turning their stock over at a good profit, but those whose trade is confined to large lots are not doing a great deal of business. There is practically nothing going on for export. For small lots of around a dozen packages of choicest, some holders are demanding 24½c; but the general run of prices for fine creamery is 23¾ to 24¼c. Dairies are unusually scare, and Manitobas are quoted at 19 to 20c, according to quality and quantity, Ontarios being 20 to 21c, some quoting even more for choice lots in small quantities.

POTATOES.—The desire of merchants to get their supplies in before the winter is causing some activity. Dealers are paying 60 to 68c per 90 lbs., carloads, on track, according to quality, and selling at an advance of 3 to 5c in large lots, and 10c in small lots, bagged.

COTTON CENSUS REPORT.

One Will Be Issied To-day and Is Expected to Be Large.

E. & C. Randolph's private New York wires say: Liverpool has shown plenty of willingness to take the long side with any encouragement from the producing markets, and even if the census report to-day should be as large as expected, it will be reasonable to expect better markets after its publication, if not immediately, in the way of a gradual improvement, as the time for the December crop estimate approaches. The very maximum crop probability has been discounted by the recent decline in prices. The time is approaching when the probability of a decreasing movement will begin to cut some figure in calculations, and from our advices it does not seem the southern holders are fully following the decline in futures.

Liverpool was due 1½ to 2½ higher; opened steady 4 to 5 higher. At 12.15, quiet, steady, net 4½ to 6 higher. Spot fair business, 1 higher, 5.63. Sales 8,000; speculation and export, 800; American, 7,000; imports, 27,000, including 21,000 American. At 1.15 p.m., futures net 6 to 7 higher.

CHATS ON CHANGE

Introduced on 'Change.

S. A. McGaw, of Goderich, Ont., by W. Carruthers.

T. L. Berry, of Liverpool, by James A. Alexander.

Foreign crop conditions as published yesterday in Broomhall's Liverpool Corn Trade News:

United Kingdom—Rains have fallen, which hinder seeding.

France—Seeding is nearly finished without any complaints being heard. Supplies are moderate, but expected to increase soon.

Germany—The condition at the time of seeding is favorable. Larger supplies are expected.

Hungary—The weather is favorable for the crops.

Roumania—Weather conditions are seasonable for seedings which are about normal. Supplies are fair. The official estimate places the wheat crop this year at 110,320,000 bushels, against 100,400,000 last year; oats, 31,000,000 bushels, against 23,000,000 bushels, and the corn crop is semi-officially indicated at 112,000,000 bushels, against the official yield last year of 57,600,000 bushels.

Russia—In the south-west the drought has been broken, but much uncertainty is felt as to whether the rainfall was general. Elsewhere crop conditions are favorable. Supplies show no change, but stocks are rather large.

Italy—Complaints are heard regarding drought.

India—Crops are starting well in the centre and south.

Spain and North Africa—The crop outlook is unchanged.

Worth $1, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75, 2, 2.25, 2.50, 2.75 right up to $10 — Friday .35 a yard

[Displayed in the Window To-day]

This is a superb collection which we have bought within the last day or two: it is an entirely new one with us, and includes fine guipure and oriental allovers in white, cream and ecru; Venetian appliques for opera cloaks, fine cluny and thousands of yards of other magnificent laces of all sorts, worth up to $10 a yard.

To Facilitate Easy Selection and Quick Buying

The whole centre of the ground floor will be devoted to this sale.

Enough assistance will be added to the regular lace staff to put one sales clerk to every 2 or 3 feet of counter length.

There will be extra parcellers and cashiers.

The Metcalfe Street entrance is just as convenient to these laces as the St. Catherine Street main door, and both will be opened at 8 a.m. sharp.

We have about 8,000 yards of these, not one yard of which is worth less than $1.00, other values that go right up to $10. Friday's price .35 yard.

(No Mail or Phone Orders filled.)

Breakfasts are Served on Top Floor from 8 to 10 a.m.

Grey tweed coats, loose backed, with velvet collars, which in the ordinary way would cost $20.00 or $25.00, but which we are able to sell at each $10.00.

Lined Gloves and Mitts
A Sale of Samples

This lot includes a number of Gent's Gloves, Suede, Glace and Real Buckskin, unlined, silk, wool and fur lined; ordinary prices would go up to $4.00. Friday prices .79, .95, $1.25, $1.65

Their regular prices were .85, $1.00, $1.25, $1.50 and $2.00, but in spite of all that, on Friday we'll sell them to clear at per yard .65.

On Friday also we'll be selling

Expenses in Amateur Sport.

If there is any man on earth who insists that his expenses in competitive sport must be no drain on himself—that man is the Britisher. Great Britain gives much more latitude in the matter of expenses than we do. Nor would we tolerate the conditions that obtain in British track athletics and "amateur" football, both of which are steeped in covert professionalism. And as for junketing—why that comes near to being the Briton's alter ego—it is part of the British game.—Outing, New York.

MR. SHEPLEY FINALLY GETS MR GEO. W. FOWLER, M.P., ON STAND

"How much did you give to Mr. Irvine?"

The witness objected for a while, and then said that the bank-books showed the entire amount.

"How much did McCormick get?"

"As far as this matter was concerned, he got $1,000."

"Each of them got $1,000?"

"I've told you all I'm going to about what Mr. Irvine got."

"Why did you compensate them?"

"Because they had had some trouble in the matter."

THE GREAT WEST LAND.

The matter of the Great West land was reverted to. Witness agreed with Mr. Griffin that there was a block of 6,500 acres as to which no contract was made. He did not know that there was a balance to his credit on the books of the C.P.R. Witness said the Great West Land Company had got land for every dollar invested. Only the money of the syndicate was in this balance.

"Do you intend to keep this land?"

"I do not see why I should tell you this."

"Do you intend to give it to the Great West Land Company?"

"I certainly do not."

"Is it true that this land is in lots scattered along the line of the railway?"

"Some of them do. Some are farther away."

Mr. Shepley brought out the bankbook in which were recorded the cheques given. Mr. Irvine was brought out, and Mr. Shepley courteously besought the witness to tell him how much the gentleman had got out of the Kamloops deal.

The sum was finally placed at $12,000.

MR. STEVENSON RECALLED.

Mr. E. G. Stevenson, Supreme Councillor of the I.O.F., was recalled to the stand. He had some explanations to give of the deal of Messrs. DuVernet and Wilson in Union Trust stock.

Later he reaffirmed his former statement that it had been the understanding with regard to the Kamloops limits that the Union Trust should go into the matter jointly with Mr. Fowler, instead of purchasing from that gentleman.

Mr. B. Leitch was then called.

He is the president of a land company that bought lands from the Union Trust. He said that when the company was being formed Matthew Wilson, K.C., wished to take $5,000 stock. As the company was never completed, Mr. Wilson put in $5,000, less his legal fees. His evidence failed to adduce anything new.

It was decided, at ten o'clock, to adjourn until eleven o'clock to-day, when the Life Underwriters' Association will be heard.

Diamond Gamblers.

The gamble in diamond properties continues (writes a Johannesburg correspondent), and it is said that many speculators have sold out their gold stocks to gamble in diamonds. Diamond shares are being quoted at exorbitant prices, and a smash is inevitable.—Advertiser, Kimberley.

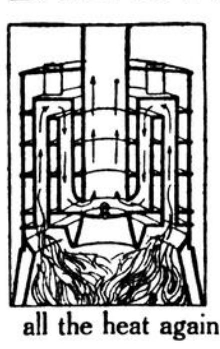
BISON FURNACE

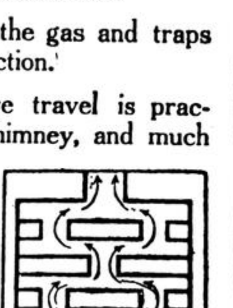


Twice as much heating surface is covered by the fire in a Bison Hot Water Furnace as in any other.

The flames are drawn up through the side flues, then down and to the chimney through the middle flue.

Burns all the gas and traps all the heat against the top section.

In other furnaces the fire travel is practically a direct one to the chimney, and much valuable heat escapes, the important top section getting less than any of the others.



The Bison has more good heating points than all other heaters combined.

Back to Work.

No one can pretend that the country is wildly excited over the resumption of Parliament, and if the secrets of all hearts were laid bare we should probably find that members themselves are returning to Westminster in the spirit of the boy who has refused his dinner and finds it awaiting him cold at supper-time. It will be hard to stimulate enthusiasm over the half-finished meal of which the menu has been before us since last February, and even the promise of sensational incidents held out by the rasher members of the Cabinet has not roused more than a languid interest in the prospect of the autumn sittings.—Pall Mall Gazette.

For Intermediate Honors.

Special to The Montreal Star.

Toronto, Ont., November 8.—The Intermediate Rugby championship of Canada will be late this fall. 'Varsity and R. M. C., Kingston, have arranged home and home games for next Saturday and Saturday week, to decide the intercollegiate, leaving the winner free on November 24th. In Quebec the Nationals (Montreal) and Ottawa are tied, and can be ready on November 17. The Ontario has the Argonauts at this end, but Dundas, by beating London next Saturday, will tie Hamilton, making a play-off necessary there. The final games among the three, therefore, will be on November 24th and December 1st, in all probability.

Accident on SS. Glide

Montreal Engineer Burned.

A burning accident which might have proved very serious occurred the other day to the Chief Engineer of the SS. Glide, of Montreal. Fortunately a supply of the new herbal balm Zam-Buk was at hand, and proved very useful. Mr. Edward Spencer, the engineer referred to, gave his account of the affair as follows:

"I was working around my engine when a hot bolt fell out and struck me on my arm, causing a very ugly burn. My first thought was to go to the doctor, but I then remembered that the day before I had been given a sample of Zam-Buk, which was highly recommended for burns, cuts, etc. I decided to try this. I applied the balm, which speedily subdued the pain, so I decided to give it a fair trial by using it a few times. Every day I applied the Zam-Buk, with the result that at the end of the week my arm was completely cured with the exception of a slight scar. I am quite willing that you use this information if it is of any advantage to you, and will let people know how good a preparation Zam-Buk is."

Not only for burns, but for cuts, bruises, abrasions, sprains, etc., Zam-Buk is a perfect healer. It stimulates the cells beneath the epidermis and cures all skin injuries and diseases. Eczema, scalp sores, face sores, abcesses—all these are closed up and healed by this herbal balm Zam-Buk. It also cures chapped hands and cold sores, chilblains, sore nipples, chafed places, etc. It is so pure that the delicate skin of babies benefit from its use. It is antiseptic in a high degree and thus kills germs and bacteria, which settling from the air into a wound or sore cause inflammation, festering and supperation. As a household balm Zam-Buk is absolutely unequalled.

All druggists sell at 50 cents a box, or you may obtain from the Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, upon receipt of price. Six boxes for two dollars fifty. Write to the company for a free sample box sending one cent stamp to pay return postage. 267 1

M'GILL REMAINS IN CONFINEMENT

Despite the Written Consent of the Attorney-General the Magistrate Declines Bail.

Special to the Montreal Star.

Toronto, November 8.—The efforts to secure the release of Charles McGill failed last night, and a peculiar situation between the Attorney-General of Ontario and the Police Magistrate of Toronto was created. The counsel for Mr. McGill were granted a written memorandum from the Attorney-General agreeing to $25,000 bail upon behalf of the prisoner. When this was taken to the magistrate he again refused to allow bail bonds to issue.

Yesterday afternoon Magistrate Denison called upon Hon. Mr. Foy and discussed the case with him, and the result of the conference was the same as when the magistrate refused bail on Tuesday night. Mr. McGill is still in gaol.

It was stated yesterday, by one close to the Attorney-General, that Hon. Mr. Foy had consented to bail for Mr. McGill when the ex-manager of the Ontario Bank was first in custody, knowing all of the facts contained in the case for the prosecution. Mr. Foy, this gentleman said, realized that the original charge had been laid as a result of the investigation of the counsel retained for the Canadian Bankers' Association, and that the counsel had deemed the original charge the proper proceeding under the circumstances. As the basis of the prosecution was not changed by the introduction of a new information at the instance of Magistrate Denison, the Attorney-General was still willing that bail should me granted, but Magistrate Denison has successfully blocked the way.

Some other course may be decided upon by the counsel for the defence to-day, or the Attorney-General may enforce his right to compel the liberation of Mr. McGill.

If others have failed, we can repair your watch. R. Hemsley, 255 St. James.

St. Ann's Conservatives

Nominating Convention

Frank J. Curran,

Son of Hon. Justice Curran,

Chosen Standard Bearer

The Conservatives are first in the field with a candidate for St. Ann's division.

Last night, in the Albion Hotel, delegates from the three wards—St. Ann's, West and Centre—met and on the first ballot chose Frank J. Curran, advocate, son of Hon. Mr. Justice Curran, their old member, as the candidate on the Conservative side. Mr. P. Monaghan was elected chairman, and he called upon the delegates, who included some of the leading business men in the city, to take up the business of the evening at once. Mr. C. A. Harwood was appointed secretary of the meeting and the roll of delegates was called, meeting with a full response.

Mr. H. B. Ames, M.P. for St. Antoine, addressed the delegates, reminding them that the eyes of all Canada were on St. Ann's and asking them to choose a good candidate and one who had the best chance to win.

The chairman, amid cheers, then called for nominations. The name of Mr. M. J. Morrison was proposed by Mr. M. C. Foley, seconded by Mr. S. O. Shorey, while the name of Mr. Frank J. Curran was submitted by ex-Ald. D. Tansey, sr., seconded by Mr. Arthur Jones.

Messrs. C. Ernest Gault, president of the Junior Conservative Club, Edmond Brossard, and P. T. O'Brien were appointed scrutineers and a ballot was cast, giving Mr. Curran the majority of the votes of the convention. The decision was immediately made unanimous, Mr. M. J. Morrison making a strong speech in favor of the choice of the convention.

THE CANDIDATE'S ACCEPTANCE.

Mr. Frank J. Curran, on being called to speak accepted the candidacy, which he regarded as a high honor. He returned sincere and heartfelt thanks to those who had done him this honor and then referred to the responsibilities attending the task which they had all undertaken together, that of redeeming the old Conservative division of St. Ann's and placing it once more in the Liberal-Conservative column.

MR. FRANK CURRAN, Conservative nominee for St. Ann's Division in the Federal Parliament.

So far as he was concerned he would devote all his energy to the success of the party, which he regarded as the best for the interests of the country and would do all he could to oppose the vote of St. Ann's division to the maladministration exposed at Ottawa during the last session and still going on. He called upon all friends of the country, and especially on those present to work hard and persistently for success in this division.

Mr. M. J. Morrison was loudly cheered as he declared that while he would have felt honored at being the choice of the convention, he had not been over-anxious for the candidacy. He felt convinced, however, that by going to work with a will they could carry the division. He was especially cheered when he concluded by declaring that Frank Curran would have no more willing nor active worker on his behalf than M. J. Morrison.

MR. AMES URGES ACTIVITY.

Mr. H. B. Ames, M.P., congratulated the delegates and the people of St. Ann's division on their choice and on the unanimity displayed. With two weeks' good hard work they should be able to carry the division.

It was necessary to get right down to work, however. At five o'clock on Thursday afternoon, organization meetings will be held. For the Centre ward, the meeting will be at the offices of Messrs. Leblanc and Brossard, 66 St. James street. For the west ward, the meeting will take place at the office of Mr. C. Ernest Gault, 98 Notre Dame west.

Meetings for organizing districts 4 to 12, St. Ann's ward, will take place this evening at 8 o'clock at Mr. John Watson's, 173 Wellington street; for districts 13 to 22, at Ald. O'Connell's, 163 Ottawa street; for districts 23 to 29, at Mr. John Flood's, 495 William st.; for districts 30 to 38, at White's Hall, corner of Wellington and Richmond streets, and for districts 39 to 46 at the Exchange Hotel, Mill street. All the meetings in St. Ann's ward are to be held at 8 p.m. this evening, and in each case committees will be named and preparations made for a splendidly vigorous campaign.

Mr. Ames also announced that three or four meetings would be held during the coming week, and that several well known speakers outside of Montreal had offered their assistance. Among these, it is understood, are Messrs. George W. McInerney, of St. John, N. B., former member for Kent; J. P. Downey, M.L.A., of Guelph, Ont.; T. W. McGarry, M.L.A., South Renfrew; Hon. M. F. Hackett, Stanstead; Andrew Broder, M.P. for Dundas and others.

The following gentlemen composed the convention:

SKETCH OF THE CANDIDATE.

Mr. Frank J. Curran, the choice of the Conservatives, is no stranger to the division. In every contest that has taken place in that division for the last twelve years, he has taken part in the fight on the side of his party, and he has also done service for the Conservative cause in many districts outside the city. His father, J. J. Curran, represented St. Ann's for many years.

Frank Curran was born in Montreal in 1871, and attended school as a boy at St. Ann's school, in the heart of the division which he now seeks to represent. Later he went to the Jesuit College, in this city, and afterwards to Manhattan College, New York. He pursued his law studies at McGill University, graduating B.C.L. in 1893. He was admitted to the Bar in 1894, and has established a good law practice in the city.

In the athletic and national and religious societies of the Irish parishes of the city Frank Curran has always taken a lively interest. He was at one time a player in the Shamrock Lacrosse Club, and has been a member of the directorate of that association. He has occupied various offices in St. Patrick's Society, of which he is at the present time the president. He is also chancellor of Branch 26 of the C.M.B.A., besides being connected with several other organizations.

He has been secretary-treasurer, and is at the present time vice-president of the Junior Conservative Club, whose members have announced their intention of aiding in his election in the division to the extent of their power.

CURE FOR DRUNKENNESS.

Orrine Treatment Is to Be Used at Home Without Publicity, or Loss of Time from Business.

Thousands of persons who really want to quit the use of whiskey or beer, realize that they cannot do so without medical help, yet they can not afford the time or perhaps the money to go to a sanitarium. Happily a new cure for drunkenness has been discovered which is to be taken at home and costs less than the average drinker will spend in a day.

In using Orrine there is absolutely no publicity, as the remedy is sold by the leading druggists in nearly every city and town, or it can be sent by mail. Sure relief is positive when Orrine is used. So uniformly successful is this treatment that in every box is a registered guarantee which entitles you to a refund of your money if Orrine fails to effect a cure.

Orrine is in two forms—No. 1, a secret remedy, absolutely tasteless and odorless, which can be given in food or drink without the patient's knowledge; No. 2, in pill form, for those who wish to be cured. The price either form is $1 a box. Send to the Orrine Co., Washington, D.C., for free booklet and consultation blank.

The desire for liquor is soon destroyed after Orrine treatment is commenced and before long the patient is freed from the terrible drink craving, and the drink will not be missed.

Orrine is for sale by John Lewis, chemist, corner University and St. Catherine street, Montreal.
