Fifty-seventh Year

World News In Brief

Copenhagen—(AP)—Denmark's most powerful political party, the Social Democrats, in a surprise policy change today killed plans for United States airmen and fighter planes to operate from Danish bases.

Former premier Hans Hedtoft, the faction's chairman, told a party congress here that "as conditions are, we cannot accept this offer."

"We feel that it would not improve the broad rallying around the Atlantic Pact to which it must be our task to contribute," Hedtoft added.

Marseille, France—(AP)—A military tribunal today sentenced former Gen. Wilhelm Bittrich, ex-commander of the 9th armored division of the German SS elite guard, to five years in prison for war crimes.

The tribunal also sentenced Ernst Guttman, former lieutenant of the German field gendarmerie attached to the same division, to 20 years in prison.

Katmandu, Nepal—(AP)—Tensing Norgay, conqueror of the world's highest mountain, said today he is through with mountain climbing.

The Sherpa guide, who with the New Zealand beekeeper, Sir Edmund Hillary, scaled Mt. Everest, declared, "This is certain—no more conquests of peaks. My ambition had been to stand on top of the world and God blessed its fulfillment. There it ends."

Tensing plans to build a house for his family at Darjeeling.

Hopes Bright For Suez Settlement

Cairo—(Reuters)—Premier Mohammed Ali of Pakistan said Monday prospects for settlement of the Anglo-Egyptian Suez canal dispute are "brighter than ever."

Ali, returning home from Commonwealth conferences in London, made the remark after a two-hour conference with Mohamed Naguib, Egypt's president and premier.

Speaking at a press conference, Ali declined to expand his "better than ever" quote except to say that "this is definitely my feeling after the recent London talks and my meeting with President Naguib today."

India's prime minister, Jawaharlal Nehru, is due in Cairo for talks with Naguib today.

It is hoped the two Asian statesmen can help end the canal dispute on the basis of what they heard at the post-Coronation Commonwealth talks in London.

Negotiations on the Suez canal between Egypt and Britain have been broken off. The Egyptians insist on unconditional evacuation of the British, with any remaining technicians to be placed under Egyptian control. Britain insists provision must be made for keeping the vital base in fighting trim in case of aggression.

Tax Reduction Is Possible P.C. Leader Drew Declares

Ottawa—(AP)—George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, says that taxes can be reduced by $500,000,000 a year by "ending over-taxation and increasing efficiency in government."

Taxes "can and must come down without delay," Mr. Drew said Monday night in a speech prepared for delivery in the CBC's free-time political series over the Dominion network.

The speech repeated the 16-point election manifesto presented by Mr. Drew in Guelph, Ont., last Friday—the Progressive Conservative party's major pledges of action if it is voted into office in the Aug. 10 election. The manifesto was headed by a promise to cut taxes by $500,000,000 a year.

Mr. Drew said Monday night that since Friday night, members of the government have said such a reduction is impossible.

"I agree that no reduction is possible with the present government in power," he added.

Certainly economies are impossible under a government which refuses to conduct those ordinary business investigations which we have suggested and which any private business would be forced to carry out if it expected to avoid bankruptcy."

Since the war the government had collected in taxes $300,000,000 a year more than the budget figures approved by Parliament.

A Progressive Conservative government would start its tax reductions with a promise to cut annual savings "by cutting tax collections to the actual budget figure presented to Parliament."

There were many other places "where other savings can be effected that will make it possible to have a net reduction of an additional $200,000,000 and take care of those increases which will be called for by the proposals we have made for the improvement of different government services."

Mr. Drew listed a number of

Quebec Province Will Honor Patron Saint

By BERNARD DUFRESNE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Quebec—(AP)—Six-year-old Gaetan Ouellet appears in a starring role here Wednesday, as St. Jean Baptiste in the annual parade honoring the patron saint of French-speaking Canada.

The child's mother, Mrs. Leopold Ouellet, said today she has let the boy's light-brown hair grow freely for the last two years to make him appear more like St. Jean Baptiste. It now is 15 inches long.

Gaetan, who will be dressed in a white robe for the parade, is the youngest of six children in the Ouellet family who live in middle-class Limoilou district. His father is a munitions worker.

Mrs. Ouellet said Gaetan's playmates do not poke fun at him although they have nicknamed him "P'tit Baptiste."

An organizer of the parade said little Gaetan was chosen some months ago "because of his appearance, which came closest to the accepted conception of what St. John the Baptist may have looked like as a child."

There was no contest for the selection. The boy was chosen "on recommendation," after a number of other boys in schools were considered.

The float bearing Gaetan will be the last of 14 in the parade. Among the floats will be school cadets, parish guards, Boy Scouts and members of the St. Jean Baptiste Society. Floats will depict scenes and persons connected with the early days of New France.

One float will recall the life of Marie Rollet, wife of Louis Hebert, first farmer to settle in New France. Another will represent the work of Madame de Repentigny, Quebec's first business woman, who operated a small textile industry.

Anne Hebert, former Hebert's daughter and the first woman married in Canada, and Madame Roy-Bon Pasteur, founder of Quebec's first religious order, the Servantes du Cœur Immaculé de Marie du Bon Pasteur. Serving Sisters of the Immaculate Heart of Mary of the Good Shepherd will also be remembered.

Wednesday night, Les Compagnons de la Danse, a group of folk dancers, will give a performance on Dufferin Terrace, overlooking the St. Lawrence River. Bands, dancers and singers will entertain in other parts of the city.

French Canada's holiday, most businesses will be closed here and in Montreal, gets under way tonight with concerts and bon fires called "Feu de la St. Jean."

Factors, including the thefts at the Petawawa military camp, which he said made tax reductions by the Liberal government impossible.

They included a $5,000,000 increase in travelling expenses, expenditures of $10,000,000 on publicity and $28,000,000 for professional and special services and construction of "palaces such as the head office of the Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation, with its spring dance floor and other unbelievable extravaganzas."

Tax reductions would not be possible "with a government which does nothing to deal with the chaotic accounting conditions reported by the auditor-general and under eight different systems of accounting and supervision permits whole camps to disappear, railway sidings to be removed in broad daylight and a multitude of other irregularities."

Mr. Drew said that George S. Currie, who investigated the army works services, reported "that the whole system of administration, supervision and accounting of the department of national defence has broken down so completely that the extent of the losses at Petawawa camp will never be known."

The Progressive Conservatives had asked for a similar investigation into the entire defence department but "it is clear that you are not going to get that information or any accounting of that kind so long as the present government remains in power."

The proposed tax savings would not be confined to those paying income tax, he said.

In the end they would "benefit even more those on small fixed incomes or pensions, whose taxes are not on any sliding scale but who pay the same hidden taxes on clothes, household requirements and table requirements as are paid by people with the highest income."

Mr. St. Laurent's opening 4,000-word address to the country, recorded earlier, was broadcast from Ottawa over a CBC network as he delivered basically the same speech before an audience of about 3,500 in this automobile city.

On this initial invasion, the Prime Minister moved into southwestern Ontario three days before George Drew, Progressive Conservative leader, who sounded his party's keynote Friday at Guelph, with promises of sweeping changes including a $500,000,000-a-year cut in taxes.

Mr. St. Laurent made no point-by-point reply to Mr. Drew's 16-point manifesto, but in an apparent indirect answer he stated: "When I asked for your confidence in 1949 I said that we Liberals were not going to compete with other political parties in making empty promises and trying to arouse exaggerated hopes."

"The Liberal party believes that promises should be made only when they can be kept, and we have a proud record of keeping our promises and carrying out our policies."

"I would be happy," he added, "to have anyone read the speeches I made in 1949 and compare what I said we would try to do with what has been done."

The prime minister referred more specifically to an announced Progressive Conservative policy of "bold and imaginative" measures to expand trade by breaking dollar-sterling barriers.

"I hope that does not mean blasting," he said in a reference to a policy of Conservative R. B. Bennett. "Trade Minister Howe has not been blasting but I have greater confidence in his methods than in any I've heard of."

In another reference to opposition policies, on social security—Mr. St. Laurent said: "We must proceed with caution and gradually. They are things we do not

U. S. State Secretary Expected To Give Stern Warning To Korean Chief.

Seoul—(AP)—A special emissary from Washington flew toward Korea today with a secret note to Syngman Rhee after Gen. Mark Clark talked twice with the defiant president about his objections to a truce.

Clark met for 20 minutes today with Rhee for the second time in two days in the Allies' double-barrelled effort to get Rhee's co-operation.

An authoritative source in Tokyo reported Rhee offered Clark a compromise aimed at soothing the breach between the Allies and South Korea.

The source said the compromise called for withdrawal of all foreign troops from Korea; a mutual security pact with the United States, and resumption of the war unless a peace conference settles the political situation within 90 days after the signing of a truce.

It remained in doubt whether Clark succeeded in his two-day mission to quiet Rhee's heated objections to a truce that leaves Korea divided.

Returning to Tokyo, Clark told reporters: "I have nothing more to say than I said yesterday."

Asked about today's brief meeting with Rhee, he said, "I only stopped in for a few minutes."

Walter S. Robertson, assistant U. S. secretary of state, fresh from a secret meeting with President Eisenhower, left Washington for Tokyo and Seoul. He was accompanied by Gen. J. Lawton Collins, U. S. army chief of staff.

Robertson carried a secret letter to Rhee from State Secretary John Foster Dulles. He was expected to tell the fiery 78-year-old Korean his policies are jeopardizing the very existence of his nation.

After a 75-minute session with Rhee Monday, Clark said he was encouraged but warned against over-optimism.

Both Clark and the Eisenhower administration, observers said, were understood to be convinced the Communists really want an armistice. But UN officials were reported deeply worried how to guarantee the Communists that South Korea would not violate its terms.

U. S. troops guarding prisoner-of-war stockades redoubled precautions against unrest among anti-Communist Chinese prisoners, fired up by the breakout of more than 27,000 anti-Red North Korean captives.

No new escapes were reported. The North Koreans began escaping Thursday, as guards turned their backs on orders from Rhee. They have disappeared among South Korea's civilian population, which was ordered to protect and feed them.

Despite the crisis caused by the South Korean President, some puzzling developments raised speculation that Rhee might be easing his bitter opposition to a truce.

1. Reliable South Korean sources reported that Maj. Gen. Chul Suk has been appointed to take charge of South Korean prisoners returned by the Reds after an armistice.

2. In Munsan, South Korean personnel, aided by U. S. engineers, have begun rehabilitating and expanding RoK facilities used last April in the disabled prisoner exchange.

Liberal Government Will Stand On Record

Windsor, Ont.—(AP)—Prime Minister St. Laurent asks Canadians to re-elect his Liberal government on its record.

In the keynote speech starting off his campaign for a new four-year term starting Aug. 10, he called Monday night for electoral support on the promise of continued Liberal policies, without holding out specific new platform plans.

It was a "don't change horses" speech that the 71-year-old Prime Minister delivered, almost exactly four years from the successful 1949 end of the campaign that he started in Windsor and he used it largely to counter the "Time for a Change" slogan of the Progressive Conservatives.

He counselled the country not to "risk losing what has been gained" by turning over the government, saying that Canada has been prospering steadily under the Liberals. Productive capacity had increased, and job opportunities were greater.

"I do not claim that the government is responsible for all this," he said, "but I do think most reasonable people will agree that such spectacular developments do not occur under a weak government or a bad government."

He ended with this advice: "When we vote, I am sure most of us will want to be careful we do not risk losing what has been gained."

Mr. St. Laurent's opening 4,000-word address to the country, recorded earlier, was broadcast from Ottawa over a CBC network as he delivered basically the same speech before an audience of about 3,500 in this automobile city.

Queen Given Big Welcome In Scotland

Edinburgh—(AP)—The Queen came to her Scottish capital today for a glittering round of state ceremonies to mark her Coronation.

Radiant in a light blue coat and tiny, white close-fitting hat, the Queen stepped from the royal train to receive the keys of the city from Lord Provost Sir James Miller.

Then she drove with the Duke of Edinburgh, in an open carriage through two miles of grey stone streets, lined to crowds packed 12-deep.

Squadrons of clattering cavalry escorted her on the drive to her Holyrood House palace. Their scarlet and gold uniforms brought a brilliant splash of color to the grey misty morning.

High spot of the week's visit will be a national service Wednesday in St. Giles Cathedral, the high Kirk of the Scottish Church.

As the open royal carriage drove through the mist enshrouded gateway to the palace, a salute of 21 guns was fired from Edinburgh Castle.

After reviewing an honor guard, the Queen paused a moment, to pat the Argyll's regimental mascot, a Shetland pony, before stepping into historic Holyrood House.

Fighting aircraft which planned to fly-past in "E" formation as a welcome to the Queen remained grounded because of fog.

There was no sign of any demonstration against the Queen from fanatic Scottish nationalists who object to her use of the designation Elizabeth "II". These factions contend that because England and Scotland were separate kingdoms under the Tudors, Elizabeth never reigned over Scotland.

Thus the current Elizabeth should be the first—for the Scots, anyway.

Christie is on trial for slaying his wife, Ethel, last Dec. 14. He had originally been charged with the murder of three other women.

Today the court heard confessions that he killed:

1. Mrs. Timothy Evans, 19, whose husband was hanged three years ago for the murder of their 14-month-old daughter, Geraldine. Christie's evidence sent Evans to the gallows.

2. Ruth Margaret Christine Furst, an Austrian whose skeleton was found in the backyard of the Christie "death house" at 10 Rillington place, in Notting Hill Gate, a grimy London suburb.

3. Muriel Amelia Eady, whose bones were found in the same place.

Christie's trial is to determine his part in the death of his wife. He pleaded not guilty of murder when the hearing opened Monday before a jury of nine men and three women and a judge.

His lawyer then entered a plea of insanity.

Timothy Evans, 25, a truck driver, was hanged in 1950 for the death of his baby daughter in November, 1949. His wife, Beryl, was found dead at the same time. They lived in the same run-down tenement house where Christie had a two-room apartment.

Christie was a key Crown witness at the Evans trial and later suffered a nervous breakdown. Evans, who once confessed to slaying his wife, later withdrew the admission and tried to implicate Christie in the crime.

In the statement read to the court today Christie admitted killing Mrs. Evans, but prosecution, judge and defence lawyer stressed that he had no connection with the death of her daughter, Geraldine.

The judge intervened at one point to state: "There is no suggestion that anybody else other than Evans killed the child."

country, Mr. St. Laurent said it is the "principal concern" of his government to do its part to help Canada avoid the inevitable consequences of war.

Defence also played a substantial part in the Prime Minister's radio and Windsor speeches, with Mr. St. Laurent saying in them that nothing is more important for Canada than the prevention of another world war.

In this field, the government had accepted for Canada heavy international responsibilities. It had given full support to the United Nations and had backed the Korea police action. It had been "unwavering" in support of NATO.

The strength needed for safety had not yet been reached but there were already many indications that the combined efforts of the North Atlantic Allies are having their effect.

"We have recognized that the greatest immediate threat to peace is in Korea and Europe, and consequently we have concentrated our efforts there."

"But the immediate defence of North America has not been neglected. The training of all three armed services for home defence has been greatly speeded up."

The prime minister, speaking at Liberal Blake Huffman of Kent, turned up looking cool in a semi-tropical ensemble of brown but said with a smile:

"It may be cool now, but this is a very important election, and it looks as if it will be a pretty warm campaign."

Christie Statement Admits To Three More Slayings

London—(CP)—Lean-jawed ex-convict Reginald John Christie committed three sex killings in his slum-area "house of murder" in addition to the four already charged against him, an Old Bailey jury was told today.

In a deathly-silent courtroom, a court clerk intoned statements attributed to the defendant. In these, Christie admitted he gassed or strangled two London playgirls in 1943 and a married woman several years later.

Christie is on trial for slaying his wife, Ethel, last Dec. 14. He had originally been charged with the murder of three other women.

Today the court heard confessions that he killed:

East Germans Stage Protest Marches, Demanding Food

By TOM REDDY
Berlin—(AP)—Hunger stalked Germany's Communist eastern zone today, fanning the powderkeg which exploded last week into workers' rebellion against Russian repression.

Refugees to West Berlin reported that East Germans, undaunted by Soviet tanks and firing squads, have defied martial law with protest marches demanding bread through the streets of Leipzig, Dresden, Demnitz and Eisenach.

The tottering puppet government of Premier Otto Grotewohl admitted it faced "grave problems" in feeding the 18,000,000 restive East Germans. Its new agency and broadcasts announced state food handling agencies had pledged to make up the losses "caused by the Fascist Western agencies" in the strike and riot wave launched June 17.

Farmers were urged to co-operate.

East Berlin was better off than most areas, but with two policing Russian armored divisions living off what was available, the city was short of bread and potatoes.

Refugees described conditions in many Soviet zone cities as catastrophic.

Communist police patrols, they said, toured the streets with sound trucks blaring that things would get better.

Farmers, browbeaten for years by arbitrary Communist quotas, were reported withholding their produce from central state collection points, bringing extortion of the Red army's martial law to the agricultural belt.

Farmers also were said to be making behind-the-fence deliveries of food to workers and their families in distressed areas.

The wave of arrests and executions continued. The anti-Red underground estimated 16,000 alleged strike leaders were behind bars.

The latest death penalty report—

Iron Curtain Is Raised For Orphan Boy

Berlin—(AP)—Unusual kindness raised the tank-guarded Iron Curtain briefly today to let an 11-year-old orphan boy slip out of riot-torn East Germany to a haven with relatives in West Berlin.

With all his belongings in a rucksack, on his back, little Peter von Dskowitzky came all alone from Schwerin, 120 miles to the northeast. When he reached the east-west Berlin border, he met kindness instead of bullets.

A Communist official gave the child a hand-written pass and Communist people's police escorted him across in a radio patrol car.

This was the same border Russian troops and East German police have sealed with tanks and machine-guns ever since the workers' revolt against Soviet rule began last Wednesday. On this same border a 15-year-old boy was shot to death by people's police Monday for jeering and throwing rocks at them.

Peter's story was one of the few touches of human kindness to come out of the last week's epic of bloodshed.

His father, a German officer of noble Russian descent, was killed in the war. His mother was "taken away" by the Russians in 1945 and never returned. He lived with his half-sister, 65-year-old grandmother in Schwerin.

The grandmother became ill recently, and the Communist wanted to put

The meeting opened with the recital of the Pledge and the "Lord's Prayer."

Devotionals comprised reading of a Psalm and the singing of a hymn. Mrs. Lipsey read six petitions of the Lord's Prayer, and their meanings, taken from a page of the "Observer."
Chip sheet readings showed work accomplished by the W.C.T.U. across Pacific in the seventy years, since started by Frances Willard.
Eastern countries, China, Japan,
Australia, New Zealand and Hawaii, would declare that for seventy-seven years after the attack on Pearl Harbor, the United States military authorities banned all liquor sales in Honolulu. This strict prohibition policy coincided with an astonishing drop in crime, accidents, traffic casualties, and other disorders.

The numbers of farrests in Honolulu, during this seventy-seven days were less than half of those in the first thirty days, when commercial sales were promoted.

Hawaii would go on record that prohibition does decrease public disorders and crime.

The roll call was answered by giving a highlight on the Coronation.

Following the discussion at the last meeting as to a suitable date for the "Strawberry, Salad and Hot Dish Supper" it was finally settled to have this event on Friday, June 19, in the Huntingville

Hall, from 5 to 7 p.m. admission charge to be, adults 80 cents and children 40 cents.

The meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction.

Caterpillars Invade Townships But Damage Is Comparatively Light

By HUGH DOHERTY
The recent onslaught of caterpillars has not gone unnoticed in the Eastern Townships, though the whole province of Quebec has been hit lightly as compared with the rest of Canada. A few cars have skidded on the slippery bodies of the furry creatures out on the highway and even recently, a train had to be stopped for a while near Richmond while the tracks were cleared of the slimy mess of caterpillar corpses crushed by the churning wheels of the locomotive. But on the whole, the caterpillar invasion did not amount to a plague.

The Tent Caterpillar, for so the pest is called, like the grasshopper, comes in cycles of two or three years. This year happens to be the productive one of the cycle. His life also runs in a regular cycle, starting with the laying of from 300 to 400 eggs by a butterfly in the fall. These eggs are laid in a sticky band about the twigs of some small tree, usually cherry or apple.

The Tent Caterpillar is a communal insect and does not like to live alone, so he bands together with great numbers of his friends in the familiar and rather loathsome web "tent." This is his water-proof shelter in storms and hot days. One good way to get rid of him is simply to burn the whole tent when he is at home.

With his rarer brother, the Forest Tent Caterpillar, who inhabits the denser woods, the grown caterpillar gets the "wanderlust" and also gets very hungry. Thus he can be found anywhere and everywhere far from any tent of his own, wandering unhurriedly about and munching relentlessly on any choice leaves he can find. Apple orchards are his favorite food though he will feast contentedly on any handy tree, regardless of type.

In the Eastern Townships, as elsewhere, the hanging tent has become a familiar sight to many travellers, for it can be seen on practically all small bushes along the roadside. But we are told that the pest will soon disappear, if it has not already done so.

In Brome County, county agronomer Caron tells us that the invasion is almost finished in his area. For a time, however, it was quite severe; so severe in fact that Granby took an example from many western communities and paid school children a few cents for each jar of caterpillars captured.

W. G. MacDougall, Sherbrooke county agriculturist and president of the Eastern Townships Agricultural Association, advised that the best method of use in combatting the caterpillar was to spray with either DDT, 50% W 2 lbs. or a mixture composed of two and one half pounds of calcium arsenate plus five pounds of hydrated lime to one hundred gallons of water. Unless there is a second hatching, this will destroy the pests completely.

What happens if the spray is not used was strongly illustrated in Missisquoi County near Dunham where the orchard, uncared for for two years and consisting of about 4,000 trees was completely eaten by caterpillars. Every tree was stripped bare of its leaves and blossoms. In the Rougemont area, near Abbotford and Farnham, apple crops were saved from the scourge through the liberal application of a spray. Those few who did not spray lost this year's crop of apples.

Even at its height, the caterpillar trouble was not consistently acute throughout the Eastern Townships. While residents of North Hatley fought a losing battle against hordes of caterpillars destroying most of the small shade trees, caretakers of the Sherbrooke Country Club reported that surprisingly few of the velvety crawlers troubled them. Small numbers infested the bushes alongside the fairway, but the greens, usual target for the caterpillars, were not harmed at all.

Queen's Thanks Expressed To Lennoxville

Mayor L. M. Watson of Lennoxville has received a reply from the secretary of Queen Elizabeth, acknowledging with thanks the message of loyalty and congratulations sent by the town to Her Majesty on the occasion of her coronation. The letter to Mayor Watson said: Dear Mr. Mayor: I am commanded by the Queen to thank you for the kind message which you have sent on the occasion of Her Majesty's coronation. Please convey to all on whose behalf you wrote an expression of the Queen's sincere appreciation of their loyal sentiments.

Two Families Left Homeless At West Brome

A three storey house belonging to Myles Killen, of West Brome burned down on Saturday, June 13, leaving two families homeless.

The two top floors were entirely ruined and the ground floor destroyed, either by fire, water or smoke. Only the furnace remains intact. The Sutton fire brigade responded quickly to the call and succeeded in keeping the fire away from the nearby houses.

Sincere the Killen family were all away at the time, the fire had gained considerable headway before the fire department was called. All household effects and clothing were destroyed. A partial insurance coverage is reported.

Fisherman's Body Recovered From Lake Aylmer

The body of Robert St. Hilaire, 23, one of the three fishermen from Victoriaville who drowned while on a fishing excursion on Coroner's Day, has been recovered from Lake Aylmer.

St. Hilaire's body was discovered floating near shore on the Stratford side, near a cottage belonging to Oscar Bergeron, of East Angus. The bodies of St. Hilaire's two companions, John Nault 35, and his son, Benoit Nault, both of Victoriaville, have not yet been recovered.

The three fishermen were last seen alive, not far from a cottage belonging to Hector Rodrigue, of Sherbrooke, at "Pointe aux Erables" when huge waves caused their boat to capsize. St. Hilaire's body was found nearly ten miles from the scene of the tragedy.

Rosario Bergeron, of the Sherbrooke Provincial Police, who happened to be at Stratford with some friends was one of the first persons on the scene, and he along with Oliver Roy, of Garthby Provincials, conducted the identification of the body.

The body of St. Hilaire was taken to Joseph Audet's morgue at Disraeli where a coroner's inquest was opened on Saturday night under the presence of Dr. Fernand Beaudin of Ham-Rouge. After several people testified the inquest was adjourned until this evening.

Cases Are Heard In Local Court

Mrs. Cecile Audet, of Sherbrooke, pleaded guilty before Judge Dorais Panneton here yesterday to a charge of driving a car while her mental faculties were affected by the absorption of liquor.

Mrs. Audet was ordered to pay a fine of $50 and costs or in default of payment, 1 month in jail. In addition to the fine she had her driver's license revoked for six months.

William Peters, of Rock Island, charged with driving a car while his mental faculties were affected by the absorption of liquor, pleaded guilty and he was fined $50 and costs or in default of payment one month in jail. He had his driver's license cancelled for three months. He too appeared before Judge Panneton.

Three Coaticook youths, Jean-Paul Viens, 20, Renald Dube, 19, and Raoul McClure, 18, pleaded guilty before Judge Edouard Boisvert and were given suspended sentences.

The pleaded guilty to the theft of gasoline from Sanderson's Garage in Ayer's Cliff and from Aurel Roux's gas station at Victoriaville. They were arrested by Provincial Police Sgt. Det. Steno Brasseur, Det. Homer Ruitter and Det. Guy Dupont.

Leo Savard, of Sherbrooke, charged with two thefts of gasoline at the Ross gravel pit, was given one month in jail by Judge Panneton after he pleaded guilty.

Marcel Jacques, 21, of Sherbrooke, was given eight days in jail after he pleaded guilty to a theft at the Ross gravel pit. Provincial Police Sgt. Det. Steno Brasseur and Det. Homer Ruitter and Det. Guy Dupont made the arrests.

Capt. Charles Boorman Leaving City For New Salvation Army Appointment

Capt. Charles Boorman, in charge of the Salvation Army Citadel here, and Mrs. Boorman, are being transferred to Ottawa July 2 and will be succeeded in Sherbrooke by Capt. and Mrs. Frank Taboika.

Capt. Boorman, who has gained a host of friends during his comparatively short stay in the Eastern Townships, will take charge of one of the three Citadels in Ottawa.

His successor, who comes originally from Montreal, has, in recent years, been doing missionary work in South America and the West Indies, and is now being posted to Sherbrooke. Capt. and Mrs. Taboika is their first appointment since their return to Canada.

One of the final projects of Capt. Boorman has been the Salvation Army's appeal for funds and Capt. Boorman expressed the hope today that this campaign may be successfully concluded before his departure.

An objective of $5,000 was set and returns at the moment show a total of more than $4,300 collected. This is an excellent result, considering that this is the first direct appeal the Salvation Army has made here in a number of years. Until this year, the Army formed part of the Community Chest.

Soliciting was done almost exclusively by mail as the Salvation Army has not yet built up a door-to-door canvassing organization. The response from English and French-speaking residents alike has been generous and campaign officials hope that a final push in the next few days will send the drive over the top.

Donations may be mailed to the Salvation Army at 19 Metcalfe street.

Senator C. B. Howard Tells About Impressions Of His Overseas Visit

By MARGARET DOHERTY
Although Senator Charles B. Howard has many interesting tales to tell about his recent European trip, two events stand out from all the rest as unforgettable experiences. They are the Coronation and his visit to the Vatican.

There is no doubt about it, he said, that Queen Elizabeth II has completely captured the youth of Britain. In addition to the sympathy which the people feel towards the Royal family, and their inborn respect for the throne, there is something more, a special appeal which Elizabeth has for young and old. Perhaps it is her own youth, her conscientious acceptance of her heavy duties, or the aura of romance and glamour which surround the lovely young Queen. But whatever it is, she is the idol of all the children and young people.

It was simply amazing, he continued, to see the thousands lining the streets all day and night prior to Coronation day, their enthusiasm undiminished by the steady downpour and the damp chill which pervaded the atmosphere. They were there to see their Queen, and nothing would stand in their way.

The efficiency which marked every phase of the proceedings was also something at which to marvel. Such a gigantic undertaking might well have had a few slip-ups, the Senator said, but he saw none. His car, and those of other Abbey guests, was equipped with a special sticker pasted to the windshield. The outside gave his name, and the particular place he was to occupy, while the inside was equipped with a map of the entire area to be covered.

"We left Hyde Park Hotel where we were staying at 7 a.m.," he said, "and at 7:15 we were in our places in the Abbey."

The entire Coronation service was one of grandeur, color and religious significance, but one of the factors which must have impressed the other guests, as it did the Senator, was the presence of so many representatives of various cultures, races and color, perfectly satisfied whatever their differences, to stand side by side and pay homage to the one head which rules them all.

He was lavish in his praise of the entire Royal family, and particularly Prince Philip, whom the people have taken to their hearts, and the delightful youngsters, Prince Charles and Princess Anne. Queen Elizabeth was the speaker at the Empire Parliamentary Association dinner on May 27, and received a tremendous ovation. "And let me say here," the Senator declared, "that I was extremely proud of our own Prime Minister, who was chosen to thank Her Majesty, and acquitted himself beautifully."

The following day at the Queen's garden party, he was pleased to see an old friend in the person of Sir Shuldman Redfern, who had been A. D. C. to the late Governor-General, Lord Willington, and had, with the Governor-General and Lady Willington, been received at Howardsend.

When questioned about the Vatican, the Senator said it is impossible to describe it at all adequately. "We visited many beautiful cathedrals during our travels, but nothing can compare with St. Peter's."

He had the privilege of a personal audience with the Pope, whom he describes as a saintly man whose peaceful countenance radiates his keen mind and beautiful spirit. Everything which has been said about the awe inspiring atmosphere surrounding the Vatican and particularly the Pope, is true. One has to be there to realize it and "it is an experience I shall never forget."

There was quite a gathering of the clans when the Senator heard the name called out and turned to find Mr. and Mrs. Charles Emile Belanger, and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Charpentier of Sherbrooke, standing behind him. He also met the Hon. J. S. Bourque and Mrs. Bourque.

Their itinerary included a visit to France, Switzerland and Germany, and motor trips to many of the spots which played such an important role in the last world war. The Senator was tremendously impressed with Bonn, new capital of West Germany, and the city of Brussels which he described as breathtakingly beautiful. Signs of devastation caused by war bombs are still evident in Cologne and Frankfurt, but the natives are working feverishly from dawn until late into the night, to effect its restoration.

"However, in my opinion," he said, "Switzerland as a country tops them all. It is ideal. Here as everywhere else during our travels we were received with the finest hospitality and given the best accommodations."

"It would take weeks for me to tell you about the entire trip and its many memorable events," he enthused, "but let me say this much, I wouldn't have missed it for the world!"

Beaudoin Has Speedy Trial, Judgment Later

The speedy trial of Honore Beaudoin, Coaticook, charged with conspiracy to circulate false U.S. currency, false pretenses and perjury, was heard here yesterday by Judge Patrick Delaney.

Judge Delaney took the case under deliberation and the judgment will be rendered on July 20. Recently Judge Delaney took under deliberation the judgment in three similar charges against Leopold Vaillancourt, of Coaticook, who is alleged to have conspired with Beaudoin.

Benoit Turmel and Roland Dugre, Q.C., crown prosecutor, acted for the crown while Evender Veilleux, Q.C., represented Beaudoin.

The same evidence was heard in both cases.

All young people are invited to attend, and membership cards or invitation cards are not necessary. Music will be supplied by Belle Willard and her orchestra.

Active Optimist Bids Farewell To Club Members

Sherbrooke Optimists last night packed their weekly dinner meeting off to the Sherbrooke Sports Club where the members and wives turned up to wave farewell to Pete Blais whose family and residence will become established in Montreal.

A welcome of a red roses bouquet greeted Mrs. Blais when Guy Labrie's daughter made the presentation.

On behalf of the Club, president Erich Marquardt then made a presentation of golf clubs to Pete Blais and expressed sincere regret of all members at his leaving.

Mrs. George Garard then presented Mrs. Blais with a gift on behalf of the Opti-Mist Club.

The meeting, although more of a social nature than business received a brief outline of the Washington convention from Sherbrooke representative Henry Crocheteire.

Mr. Crocheteire mentioned first that previous to the convention a Lieut. Governor's school consisting of 11 lectures was held.

Vice-president of the United States Harry Nixon upon presentation of prizes handed Sherbrooke's Optimist club the prize for its efforts in the international scrap-book contest. President Erich Marquardt interrupted the report here to extend thanks to Victor Jarjour for the work he had put into the scrap-book.

Following the introduction of guest James Freeman the president announced that the Knot-Hole Gang Club would be officially opened at next Monday's Ball game.

Seated at head-table were Jacques Laliberte, Miss Couture, Pete Blais and Mrs. Blais, Erich Marquardt and Mrs. Marquardt, Paul Nadeau and Mrs. Nadeau, George Garard and Mrs. Garard and Henry Crocheteire.

Coroner's Jury Blames Woman For Child's Death

A 24-year-old local woman was held criminally responsible by a coroner's jury here yesterday following an inquest into the death of a baby boy born to her recently.

Dr. Rosario Fontaine, medical-legal expert from Montreal, performed an autopsy and it revealed that death was due to strangulation.

The baby is alleged to have been strangled the day he was born. The woman was not married.

Dr. Louis Gagnon, coroner for the district of St. Francis, presided at the inquest held behind closed doors.

E.T. Get-Togethers Draft Picnic Plans

Final plans have been completed for the 1953 annual picnic of the E.T. Get-Together Club at a recent meeting of the Planning Committee at Guelph, Ont. The meeting was held at the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Lock, which has kindly been offered as a site for the picnic. It was decided to hold the picnic on the same date as last year, July 1st.

In addition to completing plans, the Committee became a working Committee for a few hours and constructed two more tables with benches for the convenience of visitors at the picnic, material being purchased with donations given when the hat was passed at the picnic in 1952.

As last year's attendance numbered not far from a five hundred, it is hoped that many will be wise enough to bring their folding card tables and chairs. The refreshment booth which was operated last year for the first time was so well patronized that it was decided to continue it this year, and ice cream and pop will be sold.

After the work of making the tables was done, the members of the Committee enjoyed a supper prepared by the ladies of the Committee in the big farm kitchen, the weather being unsuitable for picnicking, and after a pleasant social hour, the members motored back to their homes in Guelph, St. George and Hamilton.

J. A. Blanchette Is Again Chosen As Compton-Frontenac Candidate

By CUTHBERT JONES

Bury—J. A. Blanchette, Parliamentary Assistant to the Minister of National Defence and member of parliament for the riding of Compton-Frontenac since 1935, is the unanimous choice of the Liberals of the constituency as the official party candidate for the forthcoming federal general elections.

The selection of the Chertville storekeeper was made at a convention held Wednesday evening in the Bury Town Hall, the nomination of the candidate being followed by a public meeting at which the principal speaker was Hon. Alcide Cote, Postmaster General.

The early part of the evening was occupied with the registration of delegates and alternates from the 56 municipalities included in the riding which has an overall length of 150 miles. The official representatives then adjourned to the lower hall for the formality of selecting a candidate. This was a brief but clear-cut affair.

Several delegates were on their feet at the same time to advance the name of the man who has been the member at Ottawa for the past 18 years and as many more wished to second the nomination. As no dissenting voices were raised, Hon. Mr. Cote, as president of the convention, declared Mr. Blanchette the unanimous selection.

When the delegates had returned to the upper hall, the announcement of the result was made by Guy Blanchette who acted as master of ceremonies.

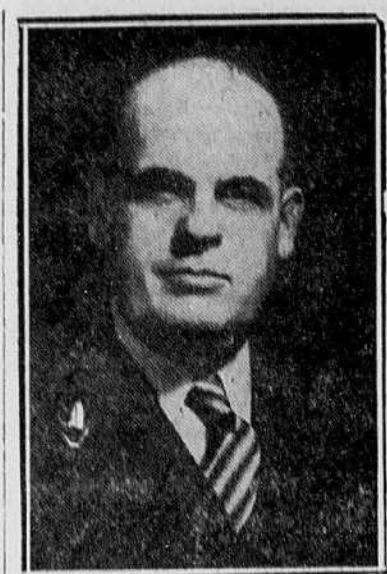

In accepting the nomination, J. A. Blanchette declared that Compton must remain within the Liberal fold not only for the interests of good government in Canada but as a mark of appreciation for Rt. Hon. Louis St. Laurent, Prime Minister, who is a native son of the county.

He promised to conduct a polite, clean and sincere campaign.

After praising the qualities of the candidate, Hon. Alcide Cote declared the Liberal party was seeking re-election on its record. Liberal policies have won praise in all parts of the world and the prosperity and stability of Canada are the envy of other peoples, even of the United States.

The Liberal policies are closely integrated with the life of the Canadian people and the Liberal party is the only truly national party in Canada today. None of the opposition groups is national in scope, he maintained, support being limited to a small group of provinces.

Turning to the campaign of the official opposition, he declared the Conservatives have no policy or platform. Over 75 per cent of the Drew manifesto has been applied already by the Liberals and the remaining points are largely contradictions of other sections of the document.

The country needs not a promise but a realization and the Liberals had realized many things. They had assured the defence of Canada and they have given the people protection against ill-fortune through family allowances, unemployment insurance and old age pensions.

In closing, he asked his hearers to compare the personnel of the St. Laurent cabinet with the cabinet of the men from whom Hon. George Drew could form his cabinet, even if elected.

Other speakers at the meeting included E. O. Gingras, M.P., for Richmond-Wolfe, L. E. Roberge, M.P. for Stanstead, Dr. J. E. Lafleche, of Lake Megantic, J. S. Gosselin, of East Angus, Wilfrid Fortin, and Laurent Lemieux, of Lake Megantic, and Florian Fortin, of Lambton.

Earlier the annual meeting of the Compton-Frontenac Liberal Association was held at which the following officers were elected: Presidents, Eugene Naylor, Compton, and Armand Drouin, Lake Megantic; secretaries, Roland Lemieux, Lake Megantic, and J. S. Gosselin, East Angus.

RHEE MUST BEAR THE BLAME

The United States and its United Nations associates in Korea apparently are paying the price of not having taken President Syngman Rhee seriously enough in his frequent public protests during the past two years over a "divided-Korea" peace.

The record indicates he made many statements indicating that any agreement would be unacceptable which left the nation cut in two and left North Korea under control of Communist armies.

Not until the controversial prisoner-exchange issue was settled, however, did Rhee translate his objections into official protests to the United States government. Having got little satisfaction for that effort, he now has gone a long step farther and forced American and UN hands by releasing all anti-Red prisoners held in Allied stockades south of the 38th Parallel.

This is a bold effort to block a truce and compel UN forces to continue the war until it can be terminated on Rhee's terms — complete ouster of the Reds clear to the Yalu River border.

No one can gauge so soon what the final result will be of this disruptive move, but neither Washington nor Allied capital abroad are optimistic over truce prospects. The release of the prisoners makes it impossible — unless all 25,000 should be recaptured — for the UN to deliver on the prisoner agreement it made with the Communists.

Those who see a distinction between Rhee's frequent public declarations against major truce terms and his long-delayed formal protest to official governments regard the aged Korean's behavior as a mystery.

It could be, however, that he imagined no truce ever would be concluded, and felt therefore that he could avoid a formal rift by not carrying his objections to the very last stage. If that were so, the real imminence of a truce would be sufficient to account for his last-minute official outburst.

Some observers feel, too, that he coldly planned from the start to use his objections — fortified by public demonstrations — to force the U.S. into a commitment to protect South Korea, before any truce was signed.

If this were part of his aim, Rhee misjudged the American realities. There is no intent in that country to give him a defense pact so speedily. Many men feel it should and will come only after long debate, including consultation with Western allies.

Perhaps his realization of this drove Rhee to turn loose Red prisoners and thus jeopardize the truce. If he now succeeds in doing that, he must bear the principal blame for having prolonged a stalemate war that can only reach real danger for the whole free world.

QUIET FISHERMEN

There are all kinds of fishermen, as well as persons who do not fish at all, says The New York Times, which comments that probably the most baffling of all are the still fishermen, those who spend hours on a small boat or on the bank with a bamboo pole or a bait-rod, apparently sitting in the sun with no pressing purpose, no worries, no energy.

Non-fisherman shake their heads in bafflement. Fly fishermen smile and shake their heads. But the still-fishermen go right on fishing, for perch and big sunfish, and bullheads, and even the lowly rock bass. Pan-fishing, some call it; they fish not only to catch fish, but to eat them. And they usually fish with worms for bait.

Still-fishermen are generally quiet, patient folk with a touch of poetry in their souls. They seldom talk about it, but there is something soothing and reassuring in a riverbank or a pond, at dawn, at dusk, or even at midday when the fish seldom bite. They know the quiet waters, these still-fishermen, and the look of a mud turtle on a log, and the quick beat of a kingfisher's wings, the flash of a dragon fly. They know sunrise and sunset. They know the hidden coves, the peaceful places. They know where a man can have an hour's meditation between bites as well as where he can be kept so busy he has no time for thought or worry.

Fishing is not all catching fish, by any means; but it is well to come home with your supper. And what better supper for any fisherman than a couple of yellow perch? Some may argue the point, but few of the dissenters will be still-fishermen; for most of them agree that any man's choice is his own catch. Worm-fishing breeds individualism and tolerance in about equal proportions. No bait rod was ever used to pound an opinion into a dissenter's head.

SEARCH IS FRUITLESS FOR REDS' MOTIVES IN NEWEST FLIP-FLOP

NEA Washington Correspondent

Washington — (NEA) — While American public interest has been focused on Korean truce possibilities, recent developments in the Soviet zone of East Germany have been no less significant.

They are highlighted by the latest case in which East German authorities relaxed a production speedup after 20,000 building-trades workers had protested in East Berlin. The mere fact that anybody under a Communist government control can protest against any decree is surprising enough in itself. But the fact that the workmen had their demands met is positively sensational.

It is possible that the long-repressed workers, taking this concession as a sign of weakness, were inspired to the widespread riots that brought out Russian tanks and machine guns and resulted in martial law being declared.

Before this, over the past couple of weeks, West Berlin and West German authorities have been astounded by these other events:

1. A change from a Russian military commander to a civilian high commissioner.
2. A halt on expansion of the collectivized farm system.
3. An offer to state bank credits to private businessmen to reopen shops and factories that had been closed down because they offered competition to state industries.
4. A promise of amnesty and return of property of refugees who would return to East Germany.
5. A relaxation of controls over the churches, church property, clergymen and church organizations such as youth groups.
6. Issuance of ration cards to all East Germans, regardless of whether they had Communist Party political connections or not.

Conant Stressed Intense Sovietization

The suddenness with which these reforms have been put into effect in this latest turnabout of Communist policy has of course sent all non-Communist government officials searching for motives.

When the U.S. High Commissioner to Germany, former Harvard President James B. Conant, returned to Washington early in June to testify before congressional committees, he made one radio appearance in which he laid great stress on the completeness of the separation between East and West Germany.

He emphasized that this sovietization of East Germany had been intensified over the past year. From the very day on which the new "contractual agreement" peace treaty had been signed last May between West Germany and the western allied powers, the Communists began to tighten their hold on East Germany.

The border had been closed at all points except the autobahn and the railroad into Berlin. Collectivization of farms was stepped up. More private industries were closed down. Production quotas on farms and factories were raised to level impossible to meet.

The result was that the number of refugees fleeing from East Germany to West Germany increased. When West Berlin's Mayor Ernest Reuter was in Washington last March, he reported the refugee stream approaching 60,000 a month. Though Berlin had camps capable of handling 65,000 refugees at a time, the capacity was being increased by 25,000. Only half as many refugees could be airlifted out daily to West Germany as came into Berlin.

All Changed Before Conant Got Back

The main reason given for flight was sovietization of the economy. When their property was confiscated, East Germans felt it was time to leave. Nobody knew what conditions would be tomorrow. Better leave today.

There was general feeling that the split between East and West Germany might last for 10 years. But before Dr. Conant could get back to his post, all this was changed. Communist policy did another one of its inexplicable flip-flops.

The search for motives behind this reversal is as fruitless as most speculation about Communist policy. It is generally recognized that the new policy could be reversed again on no notice.

Why the Communists allowed the refugee stream to pour into West Germany is a mystery. One guess is that the Communists were deliberately trying to rid their zone of anti-Communists in this way. There were wild rumors in Germany last year that the Russians wanted to repopulate East Germany with Russians — or even Chinese.

When the net effect of this policy was that 10 per cent of the East German population had migrated or been sent to concentration camps, food production began to fall off sharply.

East Germany — once Europe's richest breadbasket — may this year have an actual food shortage. This economic factor alone might be sufficient reason for the Communists to relax on their sovietization of East Germany, to lure back the refugee German farmers.

Another motive might stem from an awareness of the anti-Communism boiling under the surface. If so, the reforms came into late to prevent the hatred from exploding into the biggest anti-Red riots ever staged in a Communist country.

CHURCH OF SCOTLAND

London Observer

The Archbishop of Canterbury's invitation to the moderator of the General Assembly of the Church of Scotland to take part in the Coronation service is unprecedented. It well illustrates the curious triangular relationship between the Sovereign, the Church of Scotland and the Church of England.

The Sovereign is head of the Church of Scotland and is sworn to maintain inviolable its Presbyterian form of government; the Sovereign's representative opens, every year, the General Assembly, the ruling court of the church; and the royal Scottish chaplains are drawn from its members.

Yet between the Church of Scotland and the Church of England there are few contacts: the counterpart of the Church of England is the small Episcopal Church in Scotland, which is naturally jealous of its position.

The Moderator is elected annually by the General Assembly. Strictly speaking, his functions are confined to the chairmanship of these annual meetings, but in practice he is relieved of his regular ecclesiastical duties, so that he can undertake inspirational tours.

The new Moderator is the Reverend Professor James Pitt-Watson, professor of Practical Theology at Glasgow — a tall, neat, bespectacled and very able man.

HAND SIMILAR TO NO-TRUMP OPENER

The overall of one no-trump shows much the same sort of hand that you would need for an opening bid of one no-trump. In today's hand, South was a bid of one no-trump. In today's hand, South was a bid of one no-trump. In today's hand, South was a bid of one no-trump.

North responded exactly as though his partner had opened the bidding with one no-trump. He had a count of 11 points and expected his partner to have about 16 to 18 points. Obviously the total was enough to provide a play for game, and North wasted no time in reaching a game contract.

When West opened the ten of hearts, declarer stopped to plan the play. It was obviously easy to take four tricks in each red suit and the ace of spades for a total of nine sure tricks. Since, however, the hand was being played at a match point pair tournament, South was interested in making as many overtricks as possible.

Declarer therefore won the first trick with dummy's queen of hearts and immediately returned a low club from the dummy. Caught by surprise, East carelessly played a low club.

South played the queen of clubs, and was now sure of ten tricks. Actually, South was headed for eleven tricks.

Declarer merely rattled off his tricks in the red suits. By the time that South had reduced to two clubs and two spades in his own hand and also in the dummy, East had been forced to reduce like-wise to two clubs and two spades.

At this point South simply led a club and allowed East to take his two club tricks. East was then obliged to lead away from his king of spades, giving South the last two tricks with the queen and ace of spades.

More Comforts For Canadian Troops In Korea Are Requested

By BILL BOSS

Canadian Press Staff Writer

In Korea, — Ottawa has been asked for a little more of everything — including Canadian girls — in a troop welfare report now on its way.

The report, prepared for Brig. Jean Allard, Canadian commander here, says soldiers in Korea need more reading matter, beer, films, concert parties and says thought should be given to assigning an army band permanently to the theatre.

It was prepared after a three-week survey of welfare facilities by Maj. Anthony Condy of Springfield, N.S., senior Canadian welfare officer in Korea and Japan.

Highlights of its recommendations:

Beer—A limited variety of Japanese beers is available at nominal prices. "But a need exists for Canadian beer in the Far East, particularly for use in Canadian clubs and canteens." It suggests that the problems of getting Canadian beer to Korea for resale, and the probable cost of shipping, be studied.

Bands—"The posting of a Canadian military band to the theatre should be investigated. The band of the Princess Patricia's Canadian Light Infantry is in Korea now on a five-week tour. It is the third Canadian Army band to visit the theatre on such a tour."

Books—"The supply of pocket-sized books is adequate in English, non-existent in French. "But hard-cover books are needed for the mobile library" in both languages. The mobile library is one being set up by Allard to tour units and facilitate the exchange of books.

Magazines—"Shipments could easily be doubled and still not be over the amount required." It said French-language magazines were available in limited quantities only.

Newspapers—"We require both English and French newspapers." Present shipments go principally to hospitals. Troops see few of them. "We also require the comic sections of French newspapers."

Concert parties—"They could come out more frequently and be bilingual. Canada sends one out every three to four months. "They should be limited to six artists, with at least two of them females."

Larger groups are difficult to accommodate and it is not possible for them to tour the forward areas.

Films—"No French films are available. "We are trying to see if French films could be obtained from Montreal and shipped on a regular basis." National film board films of Canadian life and Canadian newsreels would be most valuable.

Condy's report said a minimum of five more Canadian Red Cross girls were needed.

The one girl in Korea is at the 25th Canadian field dressing station at Tokchong. The report suggested that three of the requested five be posted to Korea and the other two to Kure, Japan.

It also asked Ottawa to study the possibility of arranging cheap-er telegram rates for the soldiers. Canadian soldiers in the line must pay the stiff commercial charges. Those able to get to United States Army post offices in Seoul can use the cheaper services provided for U.S. soldiers. Troops in Japan also use commercial routes.

All other Commonwealth soldiers in the division have a 35-cent cable service enabling them to send expeditionary force messages home to any part of the Commonwealth except Canada. Their relatives also can communicate that way with them.

The mackerel caught on Canada's Atlantic coast is the same species as the mackerel of Europe.

THE MATURE PARENT

GO EASY ON ACCUSING YOUR YOUNGESTER OF SELFISHNESS

Vera Holmes was five years younger than her sister, Amy. Naturally, she often envied Amy's more grownup possessions—an envy that was never instructed or controlled. So Amy came to think of Vera as an acquisitive and untrustworthy person.

Entering her room unexpectedly, Amy would find Vera and a playmate giggling as they decked themselves out in her new coral jewelry set. Furious, she'd fly to her mother for defense of her property rights.

But Mrs. Holmes would be strangely stubborn. Instead of defending Amy's property rights, she'd say virtuously, "My, how you love to complain about your sister. If Aunt Belle had known how selfish you were going to be about your coral jewelry, I'm sure she'd never have given it to you."

This trick of distracting attention from her own injustice by accusing her child of moral failure was useful to Mrs. Holmes. It enabled her to evade the fact that she enjoyed her older daughter's helplessness and frustration. It protected her from her need to explore the jealousy she felt for Mr. Holmes' "favorite" child.

It gave her back a sense of power over her rival for his attention. This unrelieved feeling bred future trouble. After Mrs. Holmes' death, Amy sued her sister for withholding an unfair share of their parents' silver, furniture and Persian rugs.

We can't wonder. Nothing in Amy's training had prepared her to expect regard for her property rights from her mother and sister. Our courts rule on thousands of such family squabbles over property rights every day. To hear one argued leaves us shocked and saddened. For as we listen to the bitter charges and countercharges, we remember that the adults who are making them once shared a home and a childhood. We say to ourselves, "What record of inconsistent justice is back of all this suspiciousness?"

Dr. Karen Horney, one of our great psychiatrists, has this to tell us in her book, "The Neurotic Personality of Our Times." She writes: "Destructive and lasting jealousy reactions . . . are in general artificially generated through the atmosphere in which a child grows up."

Being human, we do not always deal consistent justice to brothers and sisters. That is why we should be careful when our accusations of moral failure.

Mrs. Holmes was in no position to charge Amy with "selfishness." Selfishness is as normal a stage in a child's moral evolution as a closed bud is part of a flower's.

It would have saved much suffering had Mrs. Holmes possessed the courage to attack the causes back of her own moral failure instead of attacking Amy for hers.

DON'T LET SCORING BOTHER YOU

"In a game of Cut-Throat Canasta," writes a Cincinnati correspondent, "all three players sat tight throughout the play of the hand. Nobody picked up the discard pile, and we finally had to end the hand. How should this sort of hand be scored? Do we just disregard it completely, or does each person lose the value of the cards held in his hand at the time the deal comes to an end?"

Each player loses the value of the cards that he holds in his hand when the deal comes to an end. This might be a fairly substantial amount if you had several wild cards and most of the aces. Somebody else might have a much smaller amount if he had mostly low cards and very few wild cards.

In my own experience it is very unusual for a hand to be played out and come to a standstill in this way. By the time you get near the end of the stock pile the cards in the discard pile should be very valuable to some player at the School Board Of Pottton Township Held Meeting

Mansenville, June 23.—The regular June meeting of the School Board of Pottton Township was held on Wednesday evening, June 23rd, with all members in attendance. The secretary's report was read by Mrs. Merton Bailey, due to the illness of R. F. Cowan.

After the regular business of reading of minutes and passing of bills was carried out the retirement of Mr. Arthur Aiken, Sr. from his position on the Central School Board was announced.

It was decided to hold an auction at the first convenient date at which will be sold the West Hill, Owl's Head and Vale Perkins school houses as well as the moveables in the schools also those in the old Mansenville Intermediate School. The date of the auction will be announced later.

The renewal of Mr. McLean's contract as janitor for the coming season was also agreed on, subject to his approval as he was not present.

A resolution was also passed similar to the one of a year ago, to bring Pottton children from the Coolidge District by bus to the new school at Mansenville, for the ensuing school term.

Items reported from the May meeting of the Board are the announcement of the new electric

The June meeting of the Ladies' Auxiliary, Canadian Legion, was held at the Legion Hall. In the absence of the president, Comrade Joan Myer, Comrade Helen Breese presided. Routine business was discussed, and it was decided that meetings will not be held during the months of July and August. The monthly surprise box was won by Comrade Louise Gendron. Refreshments were served by the committee in charge, Comrades Joyce Wilkins, Annie Breese and Helen Breese, and after a pleasant social hour the meeting was brought to a close. The next meeting will be held on September 9.

Light rates for the new school which are expected to total nearly $1,700 per year and have not merited the approval of the board. An invitation was extended by Mr. A. A. Aiken, Sr. at this meeting to Mr. J. G. McGibbon and his senior grades to visit and inspect the processing of Maple Products at the American Maple Products plant, at Newport, Vt., which was accepted and enjoyed by those grades on Thursday, June 4th.

A resolution was also passed requesting further assistance toward the education of Grade Eleven scholars, which would enable the Board to assume full cost of transportation of these pupils to the Knowlton High School or to assist in bearing the expense of the board for those who found themselves unable to make the daily trip to Knowlton.

The June meeting of the Board is expected to be the last the evidence they have produced has certainly not been impressive.

Dealing with trade, on which the Liberals have been under fire from opponents, Mr. St. Laurent said Canada has been "pretty successful" in meeting post-war trade problems.

"But," the Prime Minister added, "the utmost vigilance and the greatest available wisdom and skill will be needed if Canada's interests in greater trade are to be promoted successfully in the United States and elsewhere in the world."

On federal-provincial relations, Mr. St. Laurent said it always has been Liberal policy to safeguard the constitutional rights of the provinces. A major step would be to reach agreement with all provinces on methods of amending the constitution.

"We intend to keep on trying to reach such an agreement. I hope it will come in my day. I am sure it will come some time."

Robert Doonan Of West Shefford Receives Degree

West Shefford, June 23.—Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Doonan attended the convocation at Loyola College, Montreal, when their only son, Robert, received, with first class honors a degree of Bachelor of Arts. In addition he won a gold medal as well as a special money prize in Philosophy. Throughout a brilliant course, Bob, on several occasions, succeeded in leading his year. Throughout this busy course this clever versatile student made time for his hobby, writing, and has already published several short stories and poems of a high calibre. His many friends here and elsewhere, congratulate him on his outstanding achievement and unite in wishing him every success in his chosen career.

His father, Mr. Ernest Doonan, who was one time a student at "Loyola" now resides here. As a member of the S.C.P. staff, he is well known and very popular. His wife, a cultured gracious lady, is highly esteemed by all who are privileged to know her. Their innumerable friends here and elsewhere share in a minor degree, some of the pride that must be theirs in the academic accomplishments of their son. May the name of Robert Doonan, B.A. be always a "good name." And that will be better than "great riches."

HE REMEMBERS 'WE, TOO'

Mr. George E. Malboeuf, Sr., has written the Rev. B. S. Murray, that he and Mrs. Malboeuf, have sold their former home and taken up residence at Pioneer Manor, R.R.1, at Sudbury, Ont. This immense 2½ million dollar Government building has been converted into modern home for aged married couples, where every imaginable facility is used to make life contented and bright at "eventide." On May 17, Mr. Malboeuf suffered a slight seizure and after a week's medical care, he was back in circulation to quote his own words. These thoughtful friends often think of their friends back home and through this medium, these friends were sent them their prayerful, best wishes.

GENERAL NOTES

Mrs. Nugent has joined Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Doonan and her grandson, Robert Doonan, B.A., for her usual visit.

Mr. and Mrs. Michael McMahon accompanied by their son, Frank, his wife and two sons, of Ville St. Laurent, Montreal, who spent a week-end with them, motored to St. Mary's, on June 7, where they called on Mr. Jack Healey.

When in Cowansville with Mrs. J. P. McMahon on June 8, Mrs. J. E. Benham called on Mrs. Cora LaVay and Mr. Roy Wells in Sweetsburg, Miss Lucy Marchessault, a student nurse, at the Hotel Dieu, Montreal, is at present in Shefford to be with her brother, Victor Marchessault, B.A., during the absence of Mayor and Mrs. Luc Marchessault.

Mrs. Eric Almond, of Montreal; Mrs. Alice Savary, of Farnham, called on Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Donaway on Monday afternoon. Mr. Elwin Streeter was a Sunday visitor. Their week-end guests were Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Armstrong, of Lennoxville, who on Monday motored to Foster, where they accompanied by Mr. Ernest Donaway, attended the funeral of Mr. Armstrong's brother-in-law, Otis W. Streeter.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. McMahon motored to Waterloo on June 15 last.

Guests of Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Snodgrass, "Birdhaven," lately included Mrs. Fred Lacey, of Foster; Messrs. Fred Cassidy and Archie Burnett, of Cowansville, and Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Williams, of Foster.

Mr. "Jerry" Morin and his bride have taken up their residence in the Michael McMahon apartment, after a short holiday following their wedding in Granby of June 6. A popular member of the local S.C.P. Maintenance Crew, Jerry, has during the years he had lived here, made friends, who wish him and his wife "the best."

Mr. Kenneth Battley was in Knowlton for the week-end. Shortly after Mr. and Mrs. John Campbell returned from a short visit with Mr. and Mrs. George Blais in Mansenville, Mr. Campbell suffered a seizure and is at present showing indications of improvement.

Messrs. Laurent Forand and Michael Collyer, of Granby, and Myron Dunn, of Montreal, were in the village for the week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Dunlavy have returned from visiting their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Farrell and family, in Richmond, Vt.

Dr. Larose, of Waterloo has been here making professional calls.

Mrs. Elmer Dunlavy and her small daughter, Kathleen, have arrived from Worcester, Mass.

Master Harvey Carriere came from Granby and spent a day with Mr. and Mrs. J. P. McMahon.

Week-enders from Granby included the Misses Viola Dunn, Mildred and Marie McMahon; Noreen Enright; Mariel and Lucille Reid and F. Forand.

Pearson Is Shocked By POW Release

United Nations, N.Y. — Lester B. Pearson, president of the U.N. assembly, cabled Syngman Rhee today that he is shocked at the release of the North Korean prisoners of war. He called on Rhee to co-operate in getting and keeping an armistice.

The message was released at U.N. headquarters as Pearson and Dag Hammarskjold, U.N. secretary-general, made plans for a conference in Ottawa Friday on the Korean crisis.

"As president of the General Assembly of the United Nations, I have been shocked to hear of the unilateral action which you have sanctioned in bringing about the release of non-repatriable North Korean prisoners from the United Nations prisoner-of-war camps in Korea," Pearson said.

Mr. Pearson criticized harshly the South Korean president's release of 25,000 anti-Rhee prisoners of war for the year ended March 31st of $713,918, compared with a net profit in the previous year of $851,817. Net sales declined from over $41 million in the previous year to $33,362,483.

For the year ended December 31st Nechi Consolidated Dredging Co. reported a net loss of $15,567 against a profit of $13,979 in 1951, and Asnau Gold Dredging Ltd. earned 10 cents per share compared with 5 cents in 1951.

Mr. Pearson accused Rhee of violating the agreement of July, 1950, under which South Korean forces were placed under UN command.

"This release of prisoners... is particularly shocking in view of the progress made by the armistice-negotiators which has resulted in the acceptance of principles laid down in the UN general assembly's resolution of Dec. 3, 1952, endorsed by 54 member nations. The acceptance of the principles underlying this resolution, especially that of no forcible repatriation of prisoners, is when the basis of your position as well as that of the UN has only been obtained after two years of patient and persistent negotiation by the UN command."

Seoul — (P) — South Korea's army will be withdrawn from control of the UN command and go it alone if a truce is signed on present terms, President Syngman Rhee said today in an interview with the Columbia Broadcasting System.

There was no other reference in the interview to the possibility of South Korea's pulling out of the UN command.

Rhee also listed terms he said must be included in an acceptable armistice agreement. They were: 1. Simultaneous withdrawal of both UN and Chinese forces from Korea.

2. A mutual defence pact with the United States.

3. A three-month post-armistice truce, after which the war to resume if no agreement is reached before the 90-day deadline.

Magog Ratepayers Hold Referendum

Magog, June 23.—A total of 150 votes was cast yesterday on the opening day of a referendum seeking funds to make major improvements to the city of Magog's water-works.

Voting is continuing today.

Meantime, the water shortage here remains acute, with the reservoir at a dangerously low level. City officials again asked residents not to water their lawns and warned that in the event of fire a serious situation might arise because of the water shortage.

Washington — (P) — Senator Joseph McCarthy, wading back into the controversy over "book burning," said today he plans more public hearings designed to show whether some of the authors involved were Communists.

The Wisconsin Republican said his Senate investigations sub-committee will call 15 or 20 more authors whose books have been banned by United States information libraries overseas for public questioning about possible Communist affiliations. He announced no date.

Tokyo — (Reuters) — Hope faded tonight for seven United States servicemen aboard a "flying boxcar" transport which disappeared early this morning over the mountains of Kyushu in southern Japan. The plane was carrying paratroopers to guard prisoners of war in South Korea. The search was called off as darkness fell.

Edinburgh — (CP) — The band of Canada's Royal 22nd Regiment is to play a part in the Queen's visit to Scotland. The 31-man band, under Capt. J. A. E. Belanger of Quebec City, will play seven concerts during a week-long stay in Scotland. The Canadians arrived in Edinburgh yesterday and will return to Canada July 3 from Southampton.

Asian-African group urged Rhee to co-operate with the UN for an armistice.

The group, some of whose members have called for an emergency session of the UN General Assembly, decided first to give the U.S. and UN full co-operation before demanding a special General Assembly meeting.

Robertson was believed ready to re-emphasize to Rhee that by his action he was forfeiting U.S. support, including a pledge by Eisenhower to negotiate a mutual defence pact after a truce.

Clark told newspaper men after Monday's meeting that "with the proper co-operation" the defence pact still would be available to South Korea.

The market moved narrowly higher in more active trading yesterday. Among firm issues, Aluminum Ltd. was up 1 1/4 points at 46 1/4, and General Dynamics up a point at 34 1/4. Among easier issues, Interprovincial Pipelines was off 3/4 at 20 1/4, Gatiniau Power off 1/4 at 21 1/2 and Shawinigan off 1/4 at 36 1/4.

Preference and ordinary stockholders of Steel Co. of Canada Ltd. are advised that the plan which merges the two classes of stock into a single issue of common.

The British Government has announced that it will turn over the import of aluminum to private traders on July 1st.

Vanadium Alloys Steel Canada Ltd. announced that its new forging and rolling plant for tool and specialty steel will be in operation by November.

After claiming a recovery in taxes of $828,817 British Columbia Packers Ltd. reported a net loss for the year ended March 31st of $713,918, compared with a net profit in the previous year of $851,817. Net sales declined from over $41 million in the previous year to $33,362,483.

For the year ended December 31st Nechi Consolidated Dredging Co. reported a net loss of $15,567 against a profit of $13,979 in 1951, and Asnau Gold Dredging Ltd. earned 10 cents per share compared with 5 cents in 1951.

Mr. Pearson accused Rhee of violating the agreement of July, 1950, under which South Korean forces were placed under UN command.

"This release of prisoners... is particularly shocking in view of the progress made by the armistice-negotiators which has resulted in the acceptance of principles laid down in the UN general assembly's resolution of Dec. 3, 1952, endorsed by 54 member nations. The acceptance of the principles underlying this resolution, especially that of no forcible repatriation of prisoners, is when the basis of your position as well as that of the UN has only been obtained after two years of patient and persistent negotiation by the UN command."

Seoul — (P) — South Korea's army will be withdrawn from control of the UN command and go it alone if a truce is signed on present terms, President Syngman Rhee said today in an interview with the Columbia Broadcasting System.

There was no other reference in the interview to the possibility of South Korea's pulling out of the UN command.

Rhee also listed terms he said must be included in an acceptable armistice agreement. They were: 1. Simultaneous withdrawal of both UN and Chinese forces from Korea.

2. A mutual defence pact with the United States.

3. A three-month post-armistice truce, after which the war to resume if no agreement is reached before the 90-day deadline.

Magog Ratepayers Hold Referendum

Magog, June 23.—A total of 150 votes was cast yesterday on the opening day of a referendum seeking funds to make major improvements to the city of Magog's water-works.

Voting is continuing today.

Meantime, the water shortage here remains acute, with the reservoir at a dangerously low level. City officials again asked residents not to water their lawns and warned that in the event of fire a serious situation might arise because of the water shortage.

Washington — (P) — Senator Joseph McCarthy, wading back into the controversy over "book burning," said today he plans more public hearings designed to show whether some of the authors involved were Communists.

The Wisconsin Republican said his Senate investigations sub-committee will call 15 or 20 more authors whose books have been banned by United States information libraries overseas for public questioning about possible Communist affiliations. He announced no date.

Tokyo — (Reuters) — Hope faded tonight for seven United States servicemen aboard a "flying boxcar" transport which disappeared early this morning over the mountains of Kyushu in southern Japan. The plane was carrying paratroopers to guard prisoners of war in South Korea. The search was called off as darkness fell.

Edinburgh — (CP) — The band of Canada's Royal 22nd Regiment is to play a part in the Queen's visit to Scotland. The 31-man band, under Capt. J. A. E. Belanger of Quebec City, will play seven concerts during a week-long stay in Scotland. The Canadians arrived in Edinburgh yesterday and will return to Canada July 3 from Southampton.

Asian-African group urged Rhee to co-operate with the UN for an armistice.

The group, some of whose members have called for an emergency session of the UN General Assembly, decided first to give the U.S. and UN full co-operation before demanding a special General Assembly meeting.

Robertson was believed ready to re-emphasize to Rhee that by his action he was forfeiting U.S. support, including a pledge by Eisenhower to negotiate a mutual defence pact after a truce.

Clark told newspaper men after Monday's meeting that "with the proper co-operation" the defence pact still would be available to South Korea.

CHARLES EDMUND PEARSON, OF RICHMOND.

Richmond, June 23.—By the death of Charles Edmund Pearson, which occurred on Friday, May 15, this town mourns the loss of one of its highly respected lifelong residents.

The deceased had been in ill health for some time but his death came as a shock to his family and friends.

Charles Pearson was born in Richmond and was a son of the late Edmund J. Pearson, merchant, and his wife, Sophie Gravel.

He was educated in the Sacred Heart Academy here and at Mount St. Louis College, Montreal, and was a member of the Richmond Knights of Columbus.

For many years Mr. Pearson was associated in business with his father.

The many cards, masses and beautiful flowers showed the high esteem in which the deceased was held in this community.

The funeral took place from his late residence on the Spooner Pond road, on May 19 to St. Bibiane Church. At the entrance of the church the body was received by the parish priest, Rev. Father Gauthier.

Mass was chanted by Rev. Father Filiou (Montfort Father), assisted by Rev. Father Gauthier as deacon, and Rev. Father Bourque as sub-deacon.

"Yon's Requiem Mass" was sung by St. Bibiane's choir under the direction of Mr. Phillippe Roy, with Mrs. Austin Hall at the organ.

The pall bearers were Messrs. Joseph Bernier, J. L. Burns, Frank Johnson, Sr., Edward Hayes, Aime Parenteau and Albert Gagnon.

The bearers were Messrs. Ernest Comiskey, Michael O'Donnell, Jerome Hayes, Donald Lalonde, D. Mailhot and D. Beaudet.

The funeral was largely attended by relatives and friends of the deceased.

Left to mourn his passing are his wife, Mrs. Charles E. Pearson, the former Florida Beausoleil; two daughters, Rev. Sister St. Edmund of Mary, C.N.D., Patricia, of St. Albans, Vt., and Rev. Sister Ste. Bibiane de Rome, Therese, of Ottawa, Ont.; three sons, Messrs. Raymond, Paul and Leo Pearson, of Richmond; four sisters, Misses Evelyn, Hilda and Stella, of Richmond, and Alice Pearson, of Montreal; two daughters-in-law, Mrs. Raymond Pearson and Mrs. Paul Pearson, of Richmond; nine grandchildren, Richard, Bernard, Daniel, James, Robert, Ronald, Patricia, Yvon and Yves; two brothers, P. Pearson and E. Pearson, of Montreal; one aunt, Miss Elina Pearson, of Montreal.

Among those from out of town attending the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. Downing Bourassa, Mrs. Valmore Olivier, Mr. Frank Pearson, Mrs. Beatrice Hudon, Mr. John Hudon and Mr. Maurice Hudon, all of Sherbrooke; Miss M. I. Bourque, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Beausoleil, Mr. Elery Downing, Mr. Albert Pearson, Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Pearson, Mr. James Pearson and Mrs. Marie C. Duquet, all of Montreal.

The sympathy of the entire community is extended to the bereaved family and relatives in their sorrow.

Interment took place in St. Bibiane's Cemetery.

MRS. HENRY MARTIN GAIN, OF MONTREAL, FORMERLY OF RICHMOND.

Richmond, June 23.—The residents of Richmond were shocked and grieved to hear of the death of Mrs. Henry Martin Gain, of Montreal, a former member of a Richmond pioneer family.

Death occurred at the Western Division of the Montreal General Hospital on May 26, after a lengthy illness at the age of 78 years. Deceased was the wife of the late H. M. Gain, who passed away at the same hospital on May 6, 1953.

The deceased was formerly Anne M. Murphy, daughter of the late James Murphy and his wife, Ellen Morissey, and was born in Richmond on March 17, 1878.

She was united in marriage to Henry M. Gain on Oct. 26, 1907, to which union four sons were born. Two passed away, James at the age of 16 years, and Sarto, who gave his life in World War II.

During their early married life they resided in Richmond, later moving to Montreal, where they had resided for some years.

Mrs. Gain was a woman of sterling qualities and love for her home and church won for her the esteem of all, and which was manifested in the numerous beautiful floral offerings, masses and letters of sympathy.

She was a devout member for many years of St. Bibiane Church. The funeral service was held on May 29, at St. Ignace of Loyola Church, in Montreal. Following the service the remains were brought to Richmond to St. Bibiane Church, where the Libera service was conducted by the parish priest, Rev. Father Gauthier.

The bearers were Dr. A. W. McCabe, W. J. Pearson, A. Allard, J. L. Burns, J. Bernier and Patrick Smith.

Left to mourn her passing are two sons, Patrick Gain, of Montreal, and Lawrence Gain, of Valois, Que.; one sister, Mrs. F. Bouvette, of Richmond; three sisters-in-law, Mrs. George Gain, of Portland, Me., Mrs. E. J. Reitman, of East Orange, N.J., and Mrs. F. Bouvette, of Richmond; two daughters-in-law, Mrs. P. Gain, of Montreal, and Mrs. Lawrence Gain, of Valois, Que., several grandchildren and a number of other relatives.

Sincere sympathy is extended to the bereaved family and relatives.

Last winter, a young father told a Confederation Man: "Fred, you know how much is left of my $5,000 income after payments on my house... food and clothing bills... and all the other expenses. How much protection can I afford for my family?"

"A lot more than you think, Jim," replied the Confederation Man. "We have a plan that, on your salary, will provide for your family $10,000 in cash at death... and $100 every month until your daughter is 21. Then, they'll receive another $10,000. In the event of death after your daughter is 21 this plan provides $20,000 in cash. That's enough to provide a brighter future!" That's how a Confederation Life Man helped one father protect his family. He can help you too!

As a gift for yourself or somebody else one of the nicest things to give or receive is...

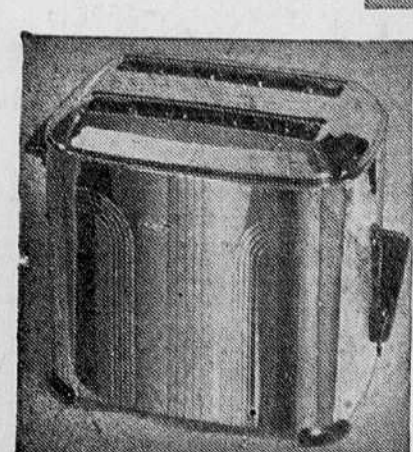

An Electric Kettle — The fastest way of boiling water! Just plug it in—enough boiling water for four cups of tea or coffee in 2½ minutes... It's fast because the element is right in the water—all the heat goes into the water—no current is wasted. Can't over-heat—turns itself off automatically if it should boil dry... A "must" when there's sickness in the house... and handy any time.

Prices from $14.50

An Electric Iron — Drop in and feel this electric iron. "Why," you'll say, "it's so light!" Yes, only three pounds... and, because of its big sole-plate, you can cut your ironing time by as much as a third. Finger-tip Fabric Dial "tunes in" correct temperature for every fabric.

Prices from $14.50

An Electric Toaster — Toast, made right on the dining table or in the kitchen, just to everybody's taste—lightly done, golden brown, crisp—and piping hot. Saves time... prevents waste for you, only make just enough. A handsome piece to grace your table, too! Toasts both sides at once.

Prices from $9.95

Electrical appliances—the most acceptable presents for weddings, anniversaries—or just because!

St. Mary's Guild Of Coaticook Anglican Church Staged Successful Street Fair

Coaticook, June 23.—St. Mary's guild of St. Stephen's Anglican Church, Coaticook, held a very successful street fair on Friday evening in front of the Guild Hall on Pleasant street, which had been blocked off for the evening.

Tables and games set up on the lawn were well patronized by the large crowd which gathered for this annual event. The festivities were opened in a rousing manner with a concert by the Coaticook Band which helped to attract passers-by and was much enjoyed. Programs for the concert were distributed through the crowd by the majorettes accompanying the band.

The games of ring toss, penny pitch and bean bag were very popular and the tables of home cooked food, candy and fancy work were sold out very quickly. Dancing in the hall followed the games. The children present enjoyed the fish pond, ice cream and soft drink stand and a puppet show was given on the stage inside the hall for their benefit.

The occasional chair was won by Mrs. Clarence Davis, for guessing the correct number of buttons in a jar, which was 783. The thermos jug was won by Gilbert Aulis, for the correct guess in the bean conundrum stand and a puppet show test, the right answer being 616. The cake was won by Miss M. Carter, for guessing the weight correctly at 1 pound, 4 ounces.

George Sarasin acted as M. C. at the mike and did a fine job. The Guild president, Mrs. Winston Adams, thanked all those who had helped to make the fair a success. Visitors were noted from Montreal, Grand Mere, St. Hyacinthe, East Angus and Baldwin's Mills.

BAPTIST MISSION CIRCLE
The annual thank-offering meeting of the Baptist Mission Circle of Coaticook was held in the church auditorium, with members of the United Church, Anglican Church and the Dixville Mission Circle as guests and with ladies from the above organizations assisting with the program.

The meeting was presided over by the president, Mrs. K. K. Miller, and after the invocation and singing of "God Save the Queen," the recognition and narration of the Coronation service was read by Mrs. James Barron, followed by the Coronation Prayer by Mrs. George Sarasin. Mrs. Anson Rogers gave a thought provoking message of devotion which was much appreciated.

The president then introduced the guest speaker, Mrs. Arthur Ottiwell, of Sherbrooke, who delighted her hearers with an interesting account of the work of the Anglican Mission to the Indians of Northern British Columbia, tracing the origin of the work and the mission in our present age. Mrs. Ottiwell had first hand information of this work as she, with her husband, Rev. Arthur Ottiwell, spent some time as missionaries in the area. Mrs. E. B. Parker thanked the speaker for her interesting message. Mrs. J. K. Goodfellow presided at the organ during the singing of the hymns used at the meeting.

The business of the Circle was tabled until the next meeting and the guests were invited to the church hall where a delicious tea was served. A splendid thank-offering was received for the missionary work of the church.

LEGION AUXILIARY
Members of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Coaticook Canadian Legion held their June meeting in the Legion Home with the president, Mrs. Alice Leadbeater, in the chair. Mrs. Gilbert Aulis acted as secretary in the absence of Mrs. Champagne. There were thirteen members present.

A drawing for a vanity bench for the benefit of the group resulted in the winning of that article by Mr. George Johann.

Among the items of business discussed were plans for several coming events to be sponsored by the Auxiliary, including a social gathering to be held late this month with guests present from the Auxiliary at Rock Island.

FISH AND GAME CLUB
An executive meeting of the Stanstead County Fish and Game Club was held in the Coaticook Armory with president Paul Brunet in the chair. A sum of two hundred dollars was voted towards the expense of cleaning and restocking Baldwin Pond at Baldwin's Mills.

Following the meeting a number of sound films were enjoyed by those present, including a film of Canadian talent and a Canadian - Detroit National Hockey game.

Rev. Lewis Clarke Gives Address At Boundary Rotary

Derby Line, June 23. — In Australia I saw huge power plants with signs on each side labelling them as part of the Marshall Plan, developing electric power for the benefit of the people, proving that Americans have become more adult and are realizing their responsibility to the world," said Rev. Lewis Clarke of Bishop's College, Lennoxville, in the course of a wise and witty talk at the regular Monday evening meeting of the Rotary Club of the Boundary. The club met at the Del Monty Hotel, with the president, Rene Monty, presiding. Mr. Clarke told of some of the experiences of his first visit to America in 1949, when he came as a Rotary Foundation Fellow to study in New York City. "It was a very hectic arrival in a very busy and hectic city," said Mr. Clarke, and when some friends took me on a tour to show me Times Square, the Empire State Building, and the other wonders of the city, I thought I had seen it all, and that I knew America.

"I found that I hadn't begun to know the wonders of the land until I traveled west to Los Angeles and south to Louisiana. I found there were (or there seemed to be) two types of Americans: Those who were perpetually adolescent, and those who were adult. What it took me longer to learn was that both types could often be found in the same person. The very individual who seemed to be only out for a good time could quite easily become the one who had good practical ideas for the betterment of the world."

In speaking of his experience as a Rotary Foundation Fellow, Mr. Clarke said that the opportunity of meeting people throughout the country, of getting into the homes and in that way really coming to know them, were among the most important features of this year of post-graduate study. "You find that America is not made up of gangsters perpetually drawing their 'gats' and shooting their enemies, and of cowboys riding the plains drawing their 'shooting irons' and massacring the Indians on the bandits; nor yet was the country made up of groups of people riding up and down the Mississippi River on beautiful showboats, playing, singing, dancing and gambling.

"You learn that the people are normal, leading (for them) normal lives. You find that while the movies may reflect something of American life, American life does not always reflect the movie version.

"I think it was in Los Angeles that I first realized that Americans could be adult and well aware of the conflicts of the day. I was there when the Korean War broke out, and found that these people were really justifiably worried. They wondered whether this would continue to be confined to Korea, or was this the all-out war many expected from the Communists? They were not afraid, but they were worried.

"I find that Americans are becoming wiser about affairs of the day. They are realizing that this continent is the bulwark for the free world against Communism. My return to this continent, and my visits to various places in the States has convinced me that there are plenty of adult Americans, well aware of the dangers, and well aware of the need for taking steps for not only self-protection but for the protection of the whole world. Best of all, the realization that arms alone cannot do the job, but that raising the standards of living of the peoples of the world is the most potent force available —this knowledge is gradually penetrating the minds of more and more people."

Earl Heath introduced Douglas Stevenson of Sherbrooke, who in turn introduced the speaker. Thanks for the talk was expressed by C. R. MacLean, who also led the singing. Music for singing was played by Miss Aline Ricard.

Visiting Rotarians present at the meeting were: Douglas Stevenson, Evans Joslin and C. E. Soles of Sherbrooke, and Harry Rice of Newport. Frederick Darby was present as a guest of his brother, C. R. Darby, and expressed his pleasure at having been able to visit the club the past three weeks.

Bell Service Meets the Challenge of the Tornado through SARNIA'S worst night...

Truly there are times when no price can measure the value of your telephone service—ready when you want it most. Such a time came to Sarnia on May 21st when the tornado ripped through the downtown area. That night, Bell equipment—the telephone building itself—built to stand up in emergencies, came through one of the toughest tests.

An emergency power unit kept building and equipment alive. Dial mechanism, properly housed, remained undamaged. Light from the Bell—shown above streaming through the building's shattered doorway—was for hours the only electric light in downtown Sarnia. It became a beacon that told of service working for nearly all of Sarnia's 12,000 customers. Less than 1200 telephones were put out of action, and by the end of the next day all but a few of these were back in service—thanks to telephone men from Sarnia, Windsor and Chatham. Outside wires suffered little damage because they were either underground out of harm's way or overhead in rear-lane areas, safer from falling trees.

When the tornado hit, window glass, dust and debris blasted into the room where operators were working at the long distance and information switchboards. Some of the girls were cut by the flying glass; all were ordered to another floor where it was safer. Even before they were asked to go back, Marna Levan (left above) and Pearl Roberts (right) returned on their own to their switchboards.

Chief Operator Alice Edwards (shown here directing an off-duty volunteer to her post at the switchboard) found all but those more seriously cut anxious to go back to their switchboards, and when the room was made safe by plant men, they did. In addition, girls off duty came in without being called, and rendered first aid, gathered food, cooked meals, and refused to leave until they were no longer required. One girl from Quebec on vacation in Sarnia came in to help. As one newspaper columnist wrote, "the Bell operators were the heroines of the Sarnia disaster".

THE MORNING AFTER—the Bell building stands as a symbol of continuing telephone service.

First Place Braves Blast Indians 16-5; Meet Tonight

Local Hurling Staff Has Off-Night; 22 Bases On Balls Issued For New Mark; Johnnie Jones Here At 7:30

Through the generosity of the Sherbrooke Indians' hurling department, who had an off night, the Quebec Braves chalked up a 16-5 verdict in their initial appearance of the season at the Municipal Stadium last night.

This evening an added attraction in the person of Johnnie Jones has been adjoined to the regular fixture when the Braves and the Indians clash once again on the local hunting grounds. The victory shoved the George McQuinn squad back into top spot in the standing while the May aggregation remained tied with Thetford Mines for third position six games behind the pace-setting Quebec outfit.

The Tribe really had a field day at the expense of the Indians, especially in the third frame the local hurling department lost sight of the plate and allowed the Braves to cross the plate twelve times. Underwood commenced the game but he was lifted in the third when he lost control and Danny Osinski took over. His sojourn was short and sweet as he gave up four straight hits on some debatable calling by the "Little Man in Blue" Chaney.

Don Harper, Sherbrooke's number one utility man, turned his pads over to Windy Hall and went to the mound and finally got the fire extinguished. On a total of six hits and seven free passes the Braves managed to register twelve runs. It was the only bad frame of the game.

Harper worked until the seventh inning when he made room for Ray Yelle, but he had watched his mates and commenced in giving up his share of free passes to remain in the spirit of the evening. He issued six to Harper and Underwood while Osinski gave up four for a grand total of twenty-two free passes to the initial sack.

It was the first time that the local hurlers ran into such trouble this season and they definitely had their evening off. The Braves, outside of the third inning, collected only six hits over the remainder of the distance.

Jack "Muddy" Waters was the only shining star from the locals' viewpoint as the fleet-footed left fielder continued his steady hitting ways and collected his share. He batted the first pitch out of the park for his second round-tripper in as many games and then added a lousy triple in the sixth, with two aboard.

Bob O'Donnell got two singles while Bob Diers and Jack Castro each had a double and Hobson with Pollard got the other bingles to complete the Indians' list.

For the Braves every member collected a hit as well as a free pass to first. Glenn, Pizzitola and Fairchild picked two each while the other members got one. John Werner cleaned the sacks in the Famous Third with a round-tripper while Glenn drove another one out of park with one on.

Truro Bearcats Dump Halifax 8-3

Truro (P) — Truro Bearcats whipped the lowly Halifax Cardinals 8-3 Monday to maintain their lead in the Halifax and District Baseball League.

The Bearcats, behind the steady pitching of Ace Marby, had a 7-0 lead until Halifax scored two runs in the seventh. The Cardinals added another in the eighth and Truro coach Art Hoch called in his ace pitcher, Chalmers Port, to put out the fire.

Marby and Port allowed seven hits. Eastman started for Halifax but was relieved by Krewelizer in the third, when Truro scored four runs, three on a homer by Will Frye.

No Hitters This Year, Says Marion

York, Pa. (P) — "We just haven't one good hitter on the team," manager Marty Marion said Monday of his St. Louis Browns, who have won only two of their last 22 games.

"Hitting is one thing I thought we had when the season opened and hitting is one thing we haven't had since the season started," Marion described Vic Wertz as "the biggest disappointment."

Ben Hogan Leaves For British Open

New York (P) — Ben Hogan, United States Open golf champion, and Frank Stranahan of Toledo, Ohio, left by air Monday for Prestwick, Scotland, to compete in the British Open golf tournament at Carnoustie, Scotland, July 6-10.

"So many people in the U.S. wanted me to play and had so much confidence in me and my game that I decided I wanted to try it," Hogan said.

FOG CANCELS BALL GAME

Dartmouth, N.S. (P) — The scheduled Halifax and District Baseball League game between Dartmouth Arrows and Stellarton Albions was postponed Monday because of fog.

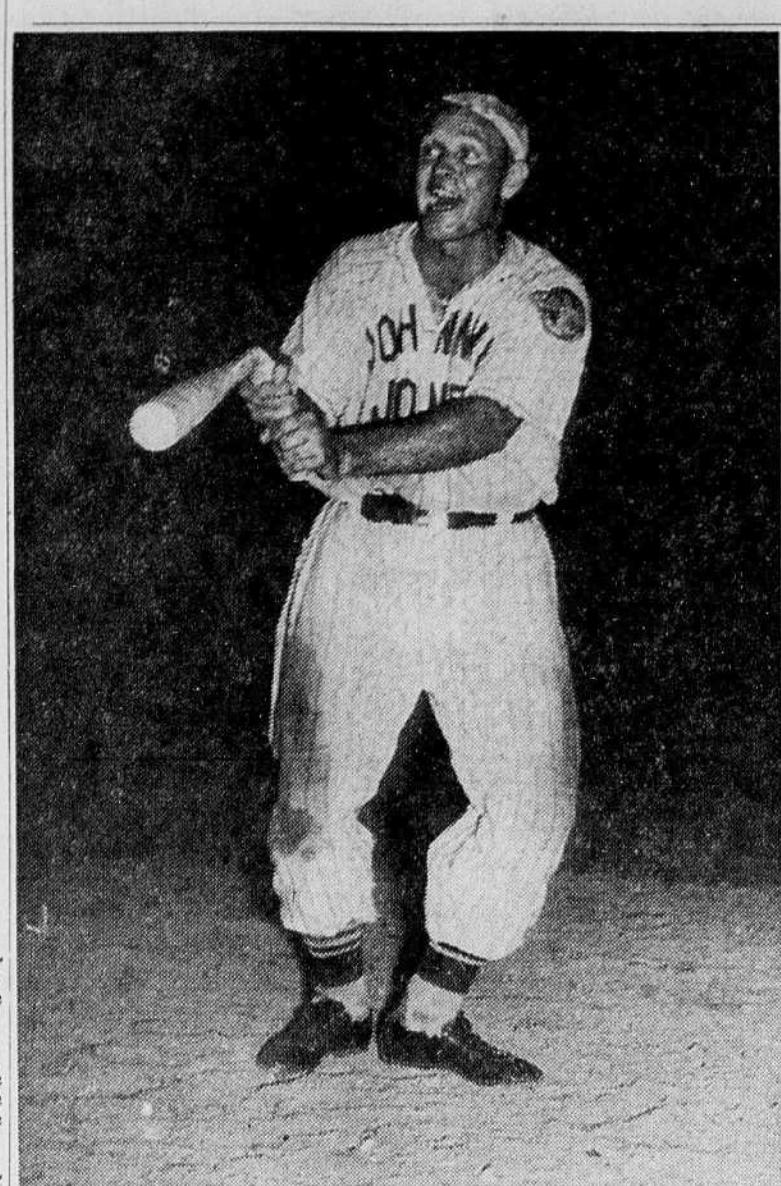

FIOR POUNDS OUT WIN OVER JOEY KLEIN

Brooklyn (P) — In a gruelling welterweight fight at Eastern Parkway Arena Monday night, Carmine Fiore pummeled tough, but less experienced, Joey Klein for a unanimous 10-round decision. Fiore weighed 146 1/2, Klein 147 1/2.

Jones is recognized as one of the top comedians on the ball circuit and has appeared in practically every park across the country. He will commence his show at 7:30 this evening, just prior to the ball game at 8:00 between the Quebec Braves and the Indians.

Durocher's Giants Tangle With Cards In Showdown Series; Indians Take Two From Senators; Cubs Trip Dodgers 9-4

Leo Durocher's reluctant Giants, finally exhibiting signs of arousing from their spring doldrums, move in on St. Louis Cardinals tonight for their second straight showdown series with a first division club.

Flushed with success after gaining two victories and a tie out of a four-game series with the league leading Milwaukee Braves, the New Yorkers have a chance to prove to their faithful followers that even yet they may fulfill pre-season predictions.

Leo's lads generally were picked to finish no worse than third. But most of their battling so far has been to keep up to the .500 mark and somewhere within striking distance of first division.

The Giants will be meeting St. Louis during one of the Cardinals' better periods. In the current home stand the Cards have won six out of seven including a 6-3 verdict over Pittsburgh Monday night.

Brooklyn continued its miserable western trip with a 9-4 loss to Chicago Cubs while in the American League the off and on Cleveland Indians won a pair of 5-2 contests from Washington Senators. The rest of the clubs in both leagues had the day off.

The Dodgers' loss shoved them three games behind the Braves and left them only 1 1/2 games in front of the Cardinals. Cleveland trails New York Yankees by 10 1/2 games.

Gerry Staley joined the so-far select group of 10 game winners as he checked the Pirates' eight hits. Enos Slaughter drove in three runs with a double and another one with a single.

Rocky Nelson, Royals' Slugging First Baseman, Explodes With Hitting Display, Hits Three Homers

Rocky Nelson is the talk of the International Baseball League today, and why shouldn't he be?

The echo of the 28-year-old Montreal first-baseman's bat exploding for three homers Monday night was heard all over Montreal stadium. He also got two singles for a clean sweep at the plate in pacing the top-spot Royals to a 21-5 victory over Syracuse Chiefs.

Nelson, who bats and throws left-handed, tied the Montreal record for the most round-trippers in a single game by a player. He fell one homer short of tying the loop record.

The first baseman, who played part of last season with the parent Brooklyn Dodgers of the National League, batted in 10 runs—a record so far this year for a single game.

47 Is The Age, Says Satch Paige

York, Pa. (P) — Satchel Paige is 47 years old. The ageless hurler said so himself here Monday when he applied for a Pennsylvania fishing licence.

In town with St. Louis Browns of the American League for an exhibition game, Satch decided to go fishing with a local TV commentator. He needed a licence and to obtain it had to give his age.

Without cracking a smile Paige said "47."

The clerk grinned and decided Paige was fitter ideally to become a tall-story fisherman.

Bob Bedard Moves Into 4th Round Of Davis Cup Trials

Toronto (P) — Bob Bedard of Sherbrooke, Que., Canada's seventh-ranking tennis player, Monday advanced into the fourth round of the men's singles of the Toronto Cricket Club's annual invitation tennis tournament.

Bedard moved ahead with an easy 6-1, 6-0 win over Hugh Holmes of Toronto.

Today he will meet Don Platt of Toronto in one of the Davis Cup trial matches being held in conjunction with the tournament. Platt had been helping his game by playing in California in the off season.

The trial matches are being held to help select members for Canada's Davis Cup team. In one of the matches Monday Larry Barclay of Vancouver, ranked sixth, beat Peter Sturup of Toronto 6-2, 6-3, 6-1. Barclay will oppose Jim Bentley in another trial match Wednesday.

Lorne Main of Vancouver, who has been selected for the Davis Cup team before and is sure to be named again, defeated George Czuczka of Toronto 6-1, 6-2 Monday.

Two Yugoslavian Athletes Refuse To Go Back Home

Salzburg, Austria (P) — Two top ranking Yugoslav sportsmen have refused to return to their native land because they want to "live in freedom," it was reported here Monday night.

The two — identified as Josef Bayer, Yugoslavia's heavyweight wrestling champion, and Belo Antal, a featherweight wrestler, were members of "Sportart" — Yugoslav wrestling club.

The club returned from a tour of Western Europe and met an Austrian team last week-end at Hallein in the United States zone of Austria. With other club members they boarded a Yugoslav-bound train after the meeting, but fled when the train stopped at Bischofsheim.

Last April five members of a Yugoslav soccer team were given asylum in Austria. Last August eight members of Yugoslavia's 1952 Olympic rowing team refused to go home and later applied for entry into Canada.

St. Pat's Indians Down Lennoxville 18-6 In Minor League

Lennoxville Giants and St. Pat's Indians was the only games played in the Sher-Lenn Minor Baseball League last night at Sangster Park. St. Pat's Indians took the game by an 18-6 count.

The Giants played better ball than the score indicated and were ahead at one time by four runs. A strong finish by the Indians in the last three innings was the margin of the Indians victory.

Bobby Forrester was the winning pitcher while young Magon was charged with the loss, tonight at Dufresne Park at 6:30 p.m. Centre Ward Royals meet the West Ward Dodgers.

Tigers Give $95,000 To Sign Two Kids

Detroit (P) — Happy and bewildered, two high school graduates Monday had their diplomas less innings by Masterson. Doby also hit one in the first game.

It was something you dream about for Robert Miller, 17-year-old Berwyn, Ill., pitcher, who was given a $60,000 bonus, and Albert W. Kaline, 18, Baltimore, Md., outfielder, who received a reported $35,000.

The Tigers had to outbid Philadelphia Phillies and Chicago White Sox to get Miller, who won 23 and lost six in three seasons for Morton High School in Berwyn. Two of his three no-hitters came this season as he struck out 106 in nine games.

Kaline who batted 427 in three years with Southern High School in Baltimore, was sought by 15 major league clubs, a Tiger spokesman said.

Pitcher Earl Mossor, who took over from Bob Ludwig in the third, got his second victory against one defeat. He also belted his first round-tripper of the season.

Dennis Reeder hurled a three-hitter as Rochester Red Wings jumped Ottawa Athletics for 12 hits—including three homers—to down the A's 8-1. Reeder fanned five and walked three. Charlie Kress, Lou Ortiz and Tom Burgess hit for the circuit.

The hustling Springfield Cubs and Toronto Maple Leafs split a two-night twin bill, the Cubs taking the abbreviated opener 4-2 and the Leafs the closely-fought nightcap 4-3.

John Pyecha went the distance for Springfield in the first game, striking out nine for his third win since joining the Cubs. He held Toronto to seven safeties, including Mike Goliat's homer.

Bobby Hogue took his fifth win in nine decisions in the second contest, but needed help from Ray Shore in the seventh.

The rampaging Buffalo Bisons, confidently in second place, crushed Baltimore Orioles 8-4 under a barrage of 17 hits. It was Buffalo's 13th triumph in 17 games.

'Confirms Acceptance Of Terms With Locals; Former Coach Of Westminster In Pacific Loop; Car To Be Drawn

John "Jake" Forbes has accepted terms and will be the coach of the Sherbrooke Saints for the coming season, stated Forest Keene, business manager, last night.

A meeting of the team was held in the afternoon and the main items on the agenda were the discussion of forming committees for the coming season. A car will be raffled at the opening game of the schedule and two more will be drawn later during the season.

The confirmation of Forbes as coach of the club was received only late last night following the meeting and the local club was elated over the news. Forbes is a member of the Detroit Red Wings and has been with the organization since 1943-44. He is a defenseman, 28 years old, 5' 10" and weighs 175 lbs and is recognized as a hard-hitting rearguard. Last season he handled New Westminster in the Pacific Coast Hockey League and is rated highly by Red Wings.

Before joining the West Coast circuit Forbes played and coached in the United States Hockey League. In 1951-52 he took part in 59 games and scored nine goals and helped to set up thirty-one others for a total of forty points and while doing so accumulated a total of only twenty-four minutes in the cooler. The season previous he played in seventy games and registered twelve goals with forty assists for his fifty-two total and collected fifty-seven minutes in the cooler.

The final signing of the contract will take place later this summer but he was ready to come to Sherbrooke. The local executive is taking a step towards securing players from a major league club and with signing of Forbes as pilot the executive of the Detroit club should regard the Sherbrooke Saints in a good manner.

Superheater And No Claims Battle To 6-6 Draw While Shermac Blasts St. Pat's 14-7 In Industrial Loop

Two games were played in the Industrial Softball League last night at Dufresne Park. Superheater and No Claims battled to a 6-6 tie, while in the nightcap Shermac took the measure of St. Pat's by a 14 to 7 score.

Superheater and No Claims battled all the way in the opening game. No Claims jumped into a 5-2 lead in the first three innings. Superheater came back in the next two when they got four runs and pushed themselves ahead by one run. No Claims tied it up again in their half of the seventh and this is how it ended. Gagne, Veilleux, and Turgeon hit circuit clouts for Superheater in the game.

Shermac scored runs in every inning but the second in their game with St. Pat's, and a big spurge of seven runs in the last three innings gave them the game. Shermac's big guns were in action last night, Edwards, Cotterell, Felteau and Morin hitting homers.

Mrs. Earl Morrison and Miss Amy Corrigan were hostesses at a Kitchen "Shower" at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Taylor, on Thursday evening, in honor of Miss Betty Nurse, a popular bride-to-be.

Miss Nurse, who was taken by surprise, entered the living room to the strains of the wedding march. She was presented with a corsage by Miss Wendy Morrison and Miss Amy Corrigan and was then seated on the Chesterfield under an inverted umbrella prettily decorated in pink and white, from which were falling streamers of pink and white.

Huge bouquets of syringa, and spring flowers, decorated the room.

In front of the bride-to-be was a huge pink and white three tiered "Wedding Cake" with a lovely figurine of bride and groom on top, around which all the beautifully wrapped gifts were placed.

After the gifts had been unwrapped and admired, the guests were invited to the dining-room, where the table was lighted by tall pink tapers and decorated in pink and white, with a centre piece of white flowers and a white bride's cake. The dining-room was lighted by tapers only. Mrs. S. C. Robinson and Mrs. Charles Turner presided at the tea table, while the Misses Amy Corrigan, Muriel Horner, W. White, June Spencer, Faye Armstrong, Phyllis Jolley, Mrs. Norman Crandall, Mrs. L. J. Crandall assisted at the tea table.

Upwards of forty guests were present and the gifts were lovely and useful.

Miss Nurse thanked her friends and invited everyone to visit her in her new home.

Mrs. Fannie Bowen entertained over forty guests at a delightful up and saucer shower, in honor of Miss Betty Nurse, whose marriage is taking place in August.

The rooms were beautifully decorated with spring flowers and a chair done in green and white crepe paper with baskets decorated in the same color was placed in the living room, where the guest of honor was escorted on her arrival. She was taken by surprise and after the guests sang, "For She is a Jolly Good Fellow," the parcels were unwrapped and admired.

Refreshments were served with Mrs. S. C. Robinson and Mrs. T. E. R. Nurse pouring at the pretty tea table covered with a beautiful Madeira cloth centered with white spring flowers and tall white tapers completing the table arrangements.

It was also decided to hold a card party in the High School in aid of the Knowlton High School Band. The date to be announced as soon as Mr. Perry confirms a suitable date.

Lodge was brought to a close in ritual form, after which refreshments were served by the committee in charge.

People who appreciate fine cars are turning to Monarch

"...the kind of car I've always wanted to drive"

It was Frank Wayland, a sales-manager I met last winter, who put me onto Monarch.

He drives one himself and likes it so well he's always talking Monarch to his friends. He persuaded me to ask my dealer for a demonstration, and now that I'm driving my own Monarch I appreciate what a big favour he did me. This is the kind of car I've always wanted to drive. I suppose it's only natural to feel a kind of pride in owning something as luxurious-looking as a Monarch—but there's more to it than that. If you haven't driven a V-8 before, it's quite an experience to feel this kind of power. It's so smooth you don't really know it's there—until you want it in a hurry. Then there's no doubt about it. Must remember to drop a line to Frank Wayland and tell him how right he was about Monarch. A sales-manager sold me—but the car itself is keeping me sold. You could have this experience, too...

ask your Monarch dealer for a demonstration today.
