—The Allans SS. "Lucerne" arrived at Liverpool on Monday with mortality of five oxen out of her live stock shipment of 259.

—The Allans Mail SS. "Nova Scotian," from Liverpool for Baltimore via St. Johns, N&ld., and Halifax, arrived at Baltimore at 9 a.m. on Tuesday.

—The Montreal Telegraph Company have opened offices at D'Israeli, Quebec, Garthby, Quebec, and a branch office at Cote St. Antoine. St. Leon Springs office has also been opened for the summer season.

—Mr. Vanderbilt's report to the Canada Southern stockholders congratulates them on the dividend of February last, which was the first that time it was had since it was started in 1873. The report shows that the gross earnings this year were $3,705,679, against $2,995,365 last year. The operating expenses were $2,406,341 this year, against $2,448,000 for last. The net earnings are $1,290,337 for this, against $547,275 for last year, and after paying the interest on the funded debt there is a balance of $891,538 this year, against $155,822 last year. The dividend of 2½ per cent. in February took $375,000, and the balance of $516,538 goes to the income account.

FINANCIAL.

The London Economist of last week says:—"The rate of discount for Bank bills, 60 days to 3 months, is 1¼ per cent., and for trade bills, 60 days to 3 months, 2 @ 2½ per cent. In the Stock markets, after a month of remarkable activity, the past week has been comparatively quiet. Prices have slightly relapsed, though not comparably with the previous advance. The grave complication of Ireland perhaps slightly accentuated the relapse in Consols. The Irish markets are depressed. The new list of securities offered includes a Colonial loan, four railway issues and eight Mining Companies. Egyptian bonds were somewhat affected by the reported estrangement between the Sultan and the Khedive, although the Anglo-French protectorate will prevent any rupture detrimental to the Egyptian finance prospect. The resumption of specie payment improves the Italian Exchange and rentes. Mexican are lower owing to the adjournment of Congress without action in regard to the debt. Notwithstanding the influential Committee appointed by the meeting of Confederate bondholders there is not the remotest chance of a return upon their so-called claims. American railways are much less animated, but the list is mostly higher. Atlantic, Missisippi and Ohio, however, declined 5." At a meeting of the Directors of the Bank of Montreal to-day, Mr. C. F. Smithers was elected President of the Board for the ensuing year. The greatest satisfaction is expressed on every hand that such an able and experienced banker as Mr. Smithers has proved himself to be should be called upon to fill the Presidency of the largest and most successful banking institution on this continent. In losing the distinguished services of Mr. George Stephen it is a matter of no small importance that his place at the head of the Bank should be filled by a gentleman whose talents and banking experience will enable him to become a worthy successor. In Mr. Smithers' hands, as in Mr. Stephen's, the shareholders may well have confidence that the Bank will be managed with the prudence and ability which have marked its past career, and contributed so largely to its great success. Mr. W. J. Buchanan succeeds to the vacant General-Manager-ship, a position his long and able service in the Bank entitles him to hold, as it qualifies him to fill with credit to himself and advantage to the institution. The Money market to-day was quiet and without feature calling for special comment. Good commercial bills continue to be readily negotiable at 6 @ 7 per cent., as to name and date, and Money on call and time is loaned at 4 @ 6 per cent., as to the nature of the collaterals and other considerations. In sympathy with New York, the market for Sterling Exchange was firmer and we quote the rates ½ higher at 8¾ premium for round amounts of sixty-day bills between banks and 9 cash over the counter, with a quiet business. Drafts on New York are drawn at about par. The Stock market was about steady for all shares, except Bank of Montreal, though the spirit of speculation is not specially buoyant. Montreal opened a 198½, advanced to 199½ and from that point steadily sold down to 195½, closing a shade firmer at 195¾ bid, 196 asked. The decline is due to the fact which came out at the meeting yesterday, that the future policy of the management will be to increase the already large Rest to $5,000,000, or one-half the capital, after paying stockholders a dividend that is not likely to exceed 10 per cent. unless the profits should be unexpectedly large. When 4 per cent. dividend and 2 per cent. bonus were declared for the past half year, it was assumed by many that the stock would pay 12 per cent. in future. That may be the case yet, but it is hardly probable unless the profits should prove almost unprecedented in the next few months. The market for other bank shares was a shade off in the late trade, closing quotations being slightly down. Montreal Telegraph opened at 133¾, advanced to 134 at the first Call, and in the afternoon relapsed to 132, closing firmer again at 132¾ @ 132½. The transactions were:—

The New York Stock market was, on the whole, weak and unsettled at the close, showing a decline of ¼ @ 1⅞ for many of the leading shares. Western Union was steady and unchanged, and Reading declined ¼ @ 60½. Compared with the closing prices yesterday the following changes appear:—Advanced—Lake Shore, 1; St Paul, preferred, 1; N J Central, ⅜; Wabash, ⅜; do, preferred, ½; Union Pacific, ⅝; Rock Island, ⅝; Northern Pacific, ⅛; St L & S F, 1⅛; Iron Mountain, 1½; C, C, C & I, ½. The market for Sterling Exchange was firmer, and the posted rates were advanced to $4 85 for sixty-day bills, and $4.87 for sight. Money on Callwas loaned at 4 per cent. BRITAIN AND THE COLONIES.

—Miss Anna Parnell has arrived in London.

—Sir E. Thornton, British Minister at Washington, is gazetted Ambassador to St. Petersburg in place of Lord Dufferin.

—Mr. Kinglake has been brought sharply to book by Dr. W. H. Russell, who has written a vigorous reply to Kinglake's numerous and severe strictures on the Crimean policy of the Times and his furious attacks on its correspondent. He winds up by informing Mr. Kinglake that he has "affronted the consciences of the living and trampled on the graves of the dead, that he may rear an altar to his idol (Lord Raglan) on the ruins of innumerable reputations."

—The Vienna correspondent of the London Daily News says the suicide of Baron von Uchatins is attributed to a difficulty in regard to some bronze guns which he was making for the Austrian Government. The secret of his steel-bronze invention does not die with him, as he imparted it to his son-in-law.

EMIGRATION.

There can be no doubt that Canada presents now one of the best fields for an emigration scheme. No other country can offer such privileges to intending settlers. We have millions upon millions of acres of the finest lands in the world, and the price of them is fixed so low, that a very large proportion of those who desire to get a farm of their own can at once make a commencement upon broad acres that never heard or knew of a landlord. The climate of Canada is one of the healthiest in the world, agues, chills and low fevers are unknown in by far the largest part of our territory. There is not a village, town or city in the Dominion to-day where labour is not scarce—servant maids, seamstresses, day labourers and mechanics being in demand everywhere. Three good meals a day, a comfortable home, and wages that enables every worker to save money, is the average lot of every working person in Canada. If the toiling masses of Europe could only see the tables set for the farming, lumbering and manufacturing people of this country; if they could see the toilers of Canada draped in their holiday garb, or as they turn out on Sundays, they would hardly believe that they were the same class of persons as themselves. Much is said about the United States and the advantages it possesses. We venture the assertion that the people of Canada are as well clad, fed, housed and educated as those of the neighbouring Union. Nay further, the yeomen of Canada are, in everything that constitutes life—food, clothing, residences, cattle, horses, agricultural implements, educational and religious privileges—better off than the yeomen to be found within the same sized limits of any part of the United States. In view of the foregoing and many other facts which must be known to every thoughtful Canadian, how comes it that there is such a tremendous stream of emigration pouring into the States south of line 45—an immense proportion of said emigration being from the British Isles? Does the flag drive them away? Is ignorance misleading them? Whatever the cause, Canada is not getting her fair share of emigrants, and there can be no doubt that many who are now going to the United States could do better if they came to the Dominion. We believe that our American cousins have agents all over Europe, whether employed by the State or Federal Governments, or by the great transport corporations, we have not been able to ascertain, but we have learned on good authority that posters or placards are exhibited through many parts of continental Europe, as well as Great Britain and Ireland, representing Canada as being the home of Polar bears, abounding with icy mountains and almost as inhospitable as Greenland, whilst the United States are represented as a land of orchards and vineyards, where the people spend most of their time in the open air enjoying a balmy Southern breeze. We have great faith in philanthropic and patriotic efforts, more especially when the parties concerned are going to derive direct benefits. We are well aware that a Government, composed as ours unfortunately must be, of representatives from all and every part of our great Dominion, finds it very difficult to make everybody feel that there are matters that must be dealt with from a national stand point, though they may not directly benefit special localities, yet we cannot help feeling that, with the present disposition of many in the Old World to find a home in the New, some means should be taken to make known that Canada is a part, if not the best part, of the American continent.

PICTOU AND COLCHESTER.

Nominations in the above Counties take place on Saturday next, and polling on the Saturday following. The Liberals have selected their standard-bearers, and are making a gallant fight in both constituencies. That the Conservatives are exceedingly doubtful of the result is evident from the tone of their organs, and the desperate measures they are adopting in order, if possible, to cajole and deceive the electors. Sir Charles Tupper is on the scene, having suddenly recovered his usual health and vigour. As might be expected, he is as unscrupulous as ever. The Liberal candidate for Pictou is Mr. James Carmichael, who represented the County during the term of the late Administration. Mr. Carmichael is an extensive shipbuilder, and as a business man has been highly successful. By his enterprise, his public spirit and his perseverance Mr. Carmichael has done far more for the County of Pictou than Sir Charles Tupper's National Policy will ever do. Speaking of Mr. Carmichael, the Halifax Chronicle says:—

"A staunch anti-Confederate in the days when Confederation was the issue, he was one of the first Nova Scotians to discern that if he had to make a choice between the Canadian parties, it was better for the people to follow such high-minded honourable men as Mackenzie, Blake, Dorion and Holton than such tricksters as Sir John Macdonald and his lieutenants, men to whom politicians of the stamp of Dr. Tupper turned as naturally as Mr. Carmichael turned the other way. Thus, at an early period in the history of Nova Scotia's connection with Canadian parties, Mr. Carmichael made a wise choice, and obtained an influence which has increased as the years have rolled on. He has studied political questions closely, always has something to say when he undertakes to address the people, and presents his views with a clearness and force that make them very effective. He is a candidate of whom the Liberals of Pictou have reason to be proud, and around whom they will rally with a determination to put forth all legitimate efforts to elect him to the seat which he formerly filled with so much credit to himself and to his constituents."

The Liberals of Pictou, therefore, enter the contest with a candidate in every way worthy of their unswerving support. The Government party carried the county in 1878 by promises which they have not endeavoured to fulfil, and now the Minister of Railways is again on hand to make any number of new promises, which, it is safe to predict, will be disregarded as soon as the election is over. The Pictou election will be run on purely Dominion issues. The Conservatives have nominated Mr. John Macdougall, and are making the most unscrupulous appeals on his behalf. The coal-miners are told, over and over again, that should Mr. Carmichael be returned, every coal mine in the country would be at once closed. Could anything serve to exhibit more clearly the utter dishonesty and insincerity of Tory tactics. Surely the loss of one seat in the House of Commons would not seriously affect the policy of the Government, unless, as a contemporary would say, the coal duties were merely imposed under pressure of "party exigencies." If the Conservatives be sincere in their advocacy of the National Policy, they should be prepared to stand by their principles. Yet we find the Tory organs of Nova Scotia proclaiming that the loss of a single seat would be sufficient to induce the Government—with its majority of eighty in the House of Commons—to reverse its whole fiscal policy. Is party exigency to be the sole guiding star of the Canadian Conservative party? The coal mines of Pictou were successfully operated long before the N.P. was dreamed of, and we doubt if a reversal of that policy would seriously affect them.

How the Nova Scotian coal mines have been benefited by the National Policy we cannot make out. The output from the mines has been slightly increased, it is true, but the report of the Commissioner of Mines proves that the increased exportation has been almost altogether to the United States, the West Indies and Newfoundland. How, in the name of common sense, can the increased duties upon imports promote the exportation of coal from Nova Scotia to the United States, the West Indies, or Newfoundland? There has been a general revival of business at home and abroad which has increased the demand for coal, and unscrupulous politicians have not hesitated to impose upon the credulous by claiming that this increase has been caused by the tariff. No new market for Nova Scotian coal has been opened up. The importation of American coal into Ontario and Quebec has increased nearly fifty per cent. in the past year, while the amount of Nova Scotian coal brought into these Provinces has been ridiculously small. In his address before the Pictou Liberal Convention, Mr. Carmichael showed that Sir Leonard Tilley's prediction that four hundred thousand tons of American coal would be shut out of the Ontario markets, and its place supplied from Nova Scotia coal mines, under the National Policy, had been utterly falsified; the facts being that an increase of 100,000 tons had occurred in American importations, while absolutely no Nova Scotia coal has gone to Ontario. We trust, therefore, that, in the words of Mr. Irvine, of Carleton, the electors of Pictou have not "sunk so low" as to be deceived again by the sophistry and bogus promises of the Conservatives, and that Mr. Carmichael will be triumphantly elected on the 18th.

In Colchester, Mr. Charles N. Cummings is opposing Hon. A. W. McLelan, the newly appointed President of the Council. The Liberal nomination was unanimously tendered to Hon. A. G. Jones, but that gentleman was, through press of business, compelled to decline. Mr. Jones, however, will address public meetings in both Pictou and Colchester in support of the Liberal candidates. We apprehend that Mr. Jones' efforts will be of great service to his party. There is no man in Nova Scotia whose interests are more identified with his Province, and who stands higher in the estimation of commercial men than Mr. Jones. He is hated by the Tories, because he is feared by them. The castigation which he gave Sir Charles Tupper, in the House of Commons in 1878, has never been forgotten or forgiven, and we believe the Knight of Cumberland would rather encounter any other Liberal public man in Canada than Alfred G. Jones. Even the Conservatives of Colchester do not seem exactly satisfied to have the constituency made a foot-ball by trading politicians, and as Mr. McLelan's record is by no means an enviable one, the Liberals hope to win the seat, notwithstanding the tremendous odds against them. The contests in Pictou and Colchester will be eagerly watched. Should the Liberals carry either of the constituencies, the blow will be a severe one for the Government, and the Liberals of Pictou and Colchester will earn the gratitude of the whole country.

The pretence of the Tories that the Liberals wish to curtail Canadian industries is most despicable, and can surely have no weight with men who know that it is by the capital and enterprise of Liberals that many of Canada's best manufacturing establishments are maintained. The Chronicle remarks that if Liberal capital and Liberal enterprise are taken out of the County of Pictou all the manufacturing establishments that would be left would make a poor show. The Liberals of Pictou are the men who give employment to the people, and keep in motion the wheels of industry. Is it not folly to argue that these men would attempt to destroy manufactures?

A CABLEGRAM announces the death of Sir William James, Lord Chief-Justice of the Court of Appeal. The Right Honourable Sir William Milbourne James was the son of Christopher James, Esquire, of Swansea, and was born in 1807. He was educated at the University of Glasgow, was called to the Bar in 1831, and created a Queen's Counsel in 1853. In 1869 he became one of the Vice-Chancellors of England, when he was knighted. He was made a Judge of the Court of Appeal in Chancery in 1870, at a salary of £6,000 per annum, and was then added to the Privy Council.

THE PROPOSED STRIKE AGAINST THE PAYMENT OF RENT.

To the Editor of the MONTREAL HERALD.

SIR—Will you allow the author of "Progress and Poverty"—Mr. Henry George—to supply answers to the many questions embodied in your editorial, under the above heading, in your issue of Monday, the 30th ult. In view of the advice to Irish land tenants to cease paying rent in any shape, your questions are natural, but I think two short chapters in Mr. George's powerfully written pamphlet, "The Irish Land Question," furnish—if not complete answers—at least much food for thought. He says:—

What, then, is the true solution of the Irish problem? The answer is as important to other countries as to Ireland, for the Irish problem is but a local phase of the great problem which is everywhere pressing upon the civilized world.

With the leaders of the Irish movement, the question is, of course, not merely what ought to be done, but what can be done. But, to a clear understanding of the whole subject, the question of principle must necessarily precede that of method. We must decide where we want to go before we can decide what is the best road to take.

The first question that naturally arises is that of right. Among whatever kind of people such a matter as this is discussed the question of right is sure to be raised, This, to me, seems a very significant thing; for I believe it to spring from nothing less than a universal perception, often dim and vague, yet still a universal perception that justice, is the supreme law of the universe, so that, as a short road to what is best, we instinctively ask what is right?

Now, what are the rights of this case? To whom rightfully does the soil of Ireland belong? Who are justly entitled to its use and to all the benefits that flow from its use? Let us settle this question clearly and decisively, before we attempt anything else.

Let me go to the heart of this question by asking another question: Has or has not the child born in Ireland a right to live? There can be but one answer, for no one would contend that it was right to drown Irish babies, or that any human law could make it right. Well, then, if every human being born in Ireland has a right to live in Ireland, these rights must be equal. If each one has a right to live, then no one can have any better right to live than any other one. There will be no dispute about this. No one will contend that it would be any less a crime to drown the baby of an Irish peasant woman than it would be to drown the baby of the proudest duchess, or that a law commanding the one would be any more justifiable than a law commanding the other.

Since, then, all the Irish people have the same equal right to life, it follows that they must all have the same equal right to the land of Ireland. If they are all in Ireland by the same equal permission of Nature, so that no one of them can justly set up a superior claim to life than any other one of them; so that all the rest of them could not justly say to any one of them, "You have not the same right to live as we have; therefore we will pitch you out of Ireland into the sea!" then they all must have the same equal rights to the elements which Nature has provided for the sustaining of life—to air, to water, and to land. For to deny the equal right to the elements necessary to the maintaining of life is to deny the equal right to life. Any law that said, "Certain babies have no right to the soil of Ireland; therefore they shall be thrown off the soil of Ireland," would be precisely equivalent to a law that said, "Certain babies have no right to live; therefore they shall be thrown into the sea." And as no law or custom or agreement can justify the denial of the equal right to life, so no law or custom or agreement can justify the denial of the equal right to land.

It therefore follows, from the very fact of their existence, that the right of each one of the people of Ireland to an equal share in the land is equal and inalienable; that is to say, that the use and benefit of the land of Ireland belong rightfully to the whole people of Ireland, to each one as much as to every other; to no one more than to any other—not to some individuals, to the exclusion of other individuals; not to landlords, not to tenants, not to cultivators, but to the whole people.

This right is irrefutable and indefeasible. It pertains to and springs from the fact of existence, the right to live. No law, no covenant, no agreement, can bar it. One generation cannot stipulate away the rights of another generation. If the whole people of Ireland were to unite in bargaining away their rights in the land, how could they justly bargain away the right of the child who the next moment is born? No one can bargain away what is not his; no one can stipulate away the rights of another. And if the new-born infant has an equal right to life, then has it an equal right to land. Its warrant, which comes direct from Nature, and which sets aside all human laws or title-deeds, is the fact that it is born.

Here we have a firm, self-apparent principle from which we may safely proceed. The land of Ireland does not belong to one individual more than to another individual, to one class more than another class; to one generation more than to the generations that come after. It belongs to the whole people who at the time exist upon it.

I do not dwell upon this principle because it has not yet been asserted. I dwell upon it because, although it has been asserted, no proposal to carry it out has yet been made. The cry indeed has gone up that the land of Ireland belongs to the people of Ireland, but there the recognition of the principle has stopped. To say that the land of Ireland belongs to the people of Ireland, and then merely to ask that rents shall be reduced, or that tenant-right be extended, or that the State shall buy the land from one class and sell it to another class, is utterly illogical and absurd.

Either the land of Ireland rightfully belongs to the Irish landlords, or it rightfully belongs to the Irish people; there can be no middle ground. If it rightfully belongs to the landlords, then is the whole agitation wrong, and every scheme for interfering in any way with the landlords is condemned. If the land rightfully belongs to the landlords, then it is nobody else's business what they do with it, or what rent they charge for it, or where or how they spend the money they draw from it, and whoever does not want to live upon it on the landlords' terms is at perfect liberty to starve or emigrate. But if, on the contrary, the land of Ireland rightfully belongs to the Irish people, then the only logical demand is, not that the tenants shall be made joint owners with the landlords, not that it be bought from a smaller class and sold to a larger class, but that it be resumed by the whole people. To propose to pay the landlords for it is to deny the right of the people to it. The real fight for Irish rights must be made outside of Ireland; and, above all things, the Irish agitators ought to take a logical position, based upon a broad, clear principle which can be everywhere understood and appreciated. To ask for tenant-right or peasant proprietorship is not to take such a position; to concede that the landlords ought to be paid is to utterly abandon the principle that the land belongs rightfully to the people.

To admit, as even the most radical of the Irish agitators seem to admit, that the landlords should be paid the full value of their lands, is to deny the rights of the people. It is an admission that the agitation is an interference with the just rights of property. It is to ignore the only principle on which the agitation can be justified, and on which it can gather strength for the accomplishment of anything real and permanent. To admit this is to admit that the Irish people have no more right to the soil of Ireland than any outsider. For, any outsider can go to Ireland and buy land, if he will give its market value. To propose to buy out the landlords is to propose to continue the present injustice in another form. They would get in interest on the debt created what they now get in rent. They would still have a lien upon Irish labour.

And why should the landlords be paid? If the land of Ireland belongs of natural right to the Irish people, what valid claim for payment can be set up by the landlords? No one will contend that the land is theirs of natural right, for the day has gone by when men could be told that the Creator of the universe intended his bounty for the exclusive use and benefit of a privileged class of his creatures—that he intended a few to roll in luxury while their fellows toiled and starved for them. The claim of the landlords to the land rests not on natural right, but merely on municipal law—on municipal law which contravenes natural right. And, whenever the sovereign power changes municipal law so as to conform to natural right, what claim can they assert to compensation? Some of them bought their lands, it is true; but they got no better title than the seller had to give. And what are these titles? Titles based on murder and robbery, on blood and rapine—titles which rest on the most atrocious and wholesale crimes. Created by force and maintained by force, they have not behind them the first shadow of right. That Henry II. and James I. and Cromwell and the Long Parliament had the power to give and grant Irish lands is true; but will any one contend they had the right? Will any one contend that in all the past generations there has existed on the British Isles or anywhere else any human being, or any number of human beings, who had the right to say that in the year 1881 the great mass of Irishmen should be compelled to pay—in many cases to residents of England, France, or the United States—for the privilege of living in their native country and making a living from their native soil? Even if it be said that might makes right; even if it be contended that in the twelfth, or seventeenth, or eighteenth century lived men who, having the power, had therefore the right, to give away the soil of Ireland, it will not be contended that their right went further than their power, or that their gifts and grants are binding on the men of the present generation. No one can urge such a preposterous doctrine. And, if might makes right, then the moment the people get power to take the land the rights of the present landholders utterly cease, and any proposal to compensate them is a proposal to do a fresh wrong.

Should it be urged that, no matter on what they originally rest, the lapse of time has given to the legal owners of Irish land a title of which they can not now be justly deprived without compensation, it is sufficient to ask, with Herbert Spencer, at what rate per annum wrong becomes right? Even the shallow pretense that the acquiescence of society can vest in a few the exclusive right to that element on which and from which Nature has ordained that all must live, can not be urged in the case of Ireland. For the Irish people have never acquiesced in their spoliation, unless the bound and gagged victim may be said to acquiesce in the robbery and maltreatment which he can not prevent. Though the memory of their ancient rights in the land of their country may have been utterly stamped out among the people of England, and have been utterly forgotten among their kin on this side of the sea, it has long survived among the Irish. If the Irish people have gone hungry and cold and ignorant, if they have been evicted from lands on which their ancestors had lived from time immemorial, if they have been forced to emigrate or to starve, it has not been for want of protest. They have protested all they could; they have struggled all they could. It has been but superior force that has stifled their protests and made their struggles vain. In a blind, dumb way, they are protesting now and struggling now, though even their hands were free they might not at first know how to untie the knots in the cords that bind them. But acquiesce they never have.

Yet, even supposing they had acquiesced, as in their ignorance the working classes of such countries as England and the United States now acquiesce, in their iniquitous system which makes the common birthright of all the exclusive property of some. What then? Does such acquiescence turn wrong into right? If the sleeping traveller wake to find a robber with his hand in his pocket, is he bound to buy the robber off—bound not merely to let him keep what he has previously taken, but pay him the full value of all he expected the sleep of his victim to permit him to get? If the stockholders of a bank find that for a long term of years their cashier has been appropriating the lion's share of the profits, are they to be told that they can not discharge him without paying him for what he might have got, had his peculations not been discovered?

The Land Question, it must be remembered, is not one affecting Ireland alone.

Yours truly,

* * * *

EVICTIONS.

To the Editor of the MONTREAL HERALD.

SIR,—Your very clear and able article, under the above heading, in your issue of this morning, having attracted my attention, I cannot allow this chance to pass of thanking you for showing so clearly the inconsistency of some of the arguments put forth by such men as Mr. Redpath. Mr. Redpath, on his arrival in this city, sometime ago to deliver a lecture, was challenged by me to substantiate several charges which he had made against the late Lord Leitrim and other landlords, but he declined.

Regarding your statement that the head tenant in Ireland generally sub-lets his land, and makes the sub or other tenant pay twice as much as he has to pay himself, this, sir, is correct, and being only some nine months out from Ireland allow me to give you a case in point.

In the County of Londonderry, a man held a farm of some 40 acres under Lord Waterford at a rent of £50 per year, payable half-yearly. This man, after getting the lease executed, went to a man named Connors, and let to him some 30 acres of the farm at a rent far exceeding the sum he had himself agreed to pay to Lord Waterford for the 40 acres. The lease contained a clause against sub-letting. Thus he was living on 20 acres of land rent free, and not only that, but Connors was paying him some £20 yearly. For some time this transaction was not found out, I think for two years, nor would it yet, I suppose, if the agent had not been going around and asked who owned this land Connor was working. Connor informed him that he had rented 30 acres from the head tenant, and was in possession for two years, paying his rent regularly. This, of course, astonished the agent, as well as the fact that the head tenant was some 18 months in arrears. The agent at once went and issued an ejectment process against the head tenant.

The case came on and a decree was granted for possession on account of the breach of contract on the part of the head tenant.

A great cry, of course, was raised against the landlord by the Land Leaguers for evicting the tenant, and an action taken under the Land Act of 1870 for compensation against Lord Waterford by not only the head tenant but by Connor. Of course the case was dismissed, and then the cry was against the Land Act.

If landlords were treated here regarding the rents as they are in Ireland they would not stand half the nonsense at the hands of the tenants. The Irish tenant farmers are not so much oppressed as they make it appear, but they themselves are the oppressors of the poor sub-tenants.

No Land Bill will be complete until it gives equal liberty to the cottier as well as to the head tenant, but it is an old saying that "if you would give a tenant farmer the whole of Ireland for a potato garden he would ask the Isle of Man for an orchard," and it is true.

Let England pass this present Land Bill and allow free fishery, and I think the respectable people of Ireland will be content.

Thanking you for your space,

I am yours truly,

A LOVER OF IRELAND.

Montreal, June 7, 1881.

THE MUSICAL MONUMENT.

To the Editor of the MONTREAL HERALD.

SIR,—I notice in the Canadian Spectator of Saturday last a very ingenious picture, the "Musical Monument," representing "the leading piano of the world," as it is now called, raised upon an immense granite pedestal, resting on five steps, round which are seen the names of the other leading pianos of America. From the top tier, where "Chick" and "Stein" are represented to be, two ladders are placed up the sides of the pedestal, which is surmounted by a fine representation of the "Weber Grand," benignly looking down upon those below. As a specimen of bold, original advertising, this picture is simply unapproachable—so palpable a hit would naturally have imitators, and so we see in the window of a Notre Dame street piano man an exact copy of the original, only in this case a Hazelton Piano has been placed on the monument while the Weber is hurled down below. The agent of the Decker, in his picture, thought it better not to disturb the Weber, but satisfied himself by hoisting the Decker in mid-air, high above the Weber. Connoisseurs notice that, while the latter instrument rests securely on a granite rock, the former has been hoisted to a position where it has no foundation to stand on.

Seriously, this dispostion, so general with the cheaper piano agents, to copy the Weber, is something very ludicrous, and must be quite flattering to the vanity of the Weber people.

The prize list of the Dominion Exhibition, to be held here in September, has been published. The prizes aggregate $15,000. Midnight Despatches

GREAT BRITAIN.

DECISION IN A STEAMSHIP CASE.

LONDON, June 7.—The Court of Survey at Sunderland has given its decision in the case of the steamer "City of Limerick." It decided that the Board of Trade had no ground to detain the steamer after the alterations by which she was fitted for the Australian cattle trade. The Board of Trade contended that the alterations brought the vessel within the provisions of Mr. Plimsoll's Act, on the ground of improper construction.

MR. GLADSTONE'S HEALTH.

Mr. Gladstone's physicians have made a concerted representation to him that he must go into the Upper House if he expects to remain in public life. He suffers constantly from diarrhœa, the result of overwork, and nothing but relative rest will relieve him. He would have broken down long ago but for his immense recuperative force, which shows itself in the ease with which he sleeps. After an exhausting sitting of Parliament he can go home and sleep eight hours on a stretch without once waking. But no man can draw forever on such a constitution as his with impunity.

CHILI AND THE PERUVIAN BONDHOLDERS.

It is now stated by authority that the well-known house of Anthony Gibbs & Sons has not consented to enter into any guano or nitrate contracts on behalf of the Peruvian bondholders with the Government of Chili, and will not consent so to do. No such contracts are likely to be made by solvent houses until the terms of peace between Chili and Peru shall have been satisfactorily adjusted, and on a sound working basis.

IRELAND.

ARRESTS AND EVICTIONS.

LONDON, June 7.—Two further arrests have been made under the Coercion Act of members of the Milestreet (County Cork) Branch of the Land League. Five writs of ejectment were served yesterday upon tenants of the father of John Dillon, member of Parliament.

STRONG MEASURES TO BE TAKEN.

The Irish Executive to-night issued an important circular instructing all county inspectors and constabulary to forward to their headquarters sworn reports as to the occasions when they anticipated obstructions to Sheriff's sales or evictions, in order that the Government may send the necessary military forces and proclaim the district, warning all persons to refrain from assembling to obstruct legal processes and declaring that all persons so asssmbling will be dispersed by force. This circular entirely dispels the rumour that the Government intended to introduce measures for the temporary suspension of evictions.

MORE PROCLAMATIONS.

Another proclamation places King's County under the Arms Act, and three more baronies in the County Meath under the Coercion Act.

EXCITEMENT IN CORK COUNTY.

The rumor that Father Murphy, of Schull, had been arrested proves unfounded; but it threw the people into a violent state of ferment. Thousands of men and women crowded into the village of Schull, wrecked the police station and post-office, tore down the telegraph wires and cut up portions of the road. The excitement was taken up by the people of Skibbereen, who supplied cars to the police. Their indignation became unbounded, when they discovered that a special train with three hundred military had been sent from Cork, and they tore down the telegraph wires to Ballydehob.

FATHER MURPHY'S ARREST.

A despatch from Cork says Ballydehob and Schull are inaccessible by ordinary roads, which are broken up and bridges pulled down. Five hundred foot soldiers, twenty dragoons, and seventy service-corps men, with one gun, have been sent to the scene from the West. A despatch from Skibbereen says Father Murphy has given no definite intimation of his arrest to the public, fearing a collision with the police, but the grounds for suspecting that he is under arrest are very strong. He was seen with the police several times on Monday, when a document of some kind was handed to him. A force has been sent into the disturbed district, fully provisioned for a month. Great preparations are making for the reception of Archbishop Croke in Tipperary on Thursday.

DESTROYING COMMUNICATIONS.

DUBLIN, June 7.—In the County Cork, roads have been torn up with pickaxes and made impassable. Telegraph wires are also cut in many directions.

A MISTAKE CORRECTED.

DUBLIN, June 7.—Lee, a tenant farmer, of Cahir, has been arrested under the Coercion Act. The writs of ejectment mentioned in a previous despatch were served upon the tenants, not of Dillon, but of Meldon, the father of Meldon, a Home Rule M.P.

MEETING PROHIBITED.

A meeting at Mullingar has been prohibited on the ground of an intention to obstruct the execution of writs. The proclamation does not declare that all assemblies to obstruct the process of law will be forcibly disposed as before reported.

HOW SHALL THE LEAGUE BE SUPPRESSED?

A Dublin correspondent says there is little doubt that the Government have considered the expediency of suppressing the Land League; but there is a difference of opinion among the lawyers as to whether it can be done without an Act of Parliament or at least done so efficiently as to prevent the proclamation being evaded. The course hitherto adopted of arresting violent speakers, &c., is calculated to obtain the same result by more certain though less rapid means.

GERMANY.

BREMEN AND THE ZOLLVEREIN.

BERLIN, June 7.—Negotiations have been opened for the incorporation of Bremen in the Zollverein, on the basis of the arrangement with Hamburg. Great difficulties, however, are encountered. The free port territory of Bremen contains no private buildings, therefore Bremen demands that shipping agents be able, as heretofore, to supply vessels proceeding to sea with goods duty free. Moreover, the process of deepening the Lower Weser demanded by Bremen would entail enormous expenditure.

RUSSIA.

MILITARY OFFICERS ARRESTED.

BERLIN, June 7.—A letter from Russia states that thirty army officers, including a Colonel of the Imperial Guard, have been arrested the past month. Among the naval officers arrested is a relative of Procurator-General Mouravieff, who conducted the prosecution of Rousakoff and others executed for the murder of the Czar. The Czar is reported completely broken down from dread of the Nihilists, and is apprehensive of civil war and the overthrow of his dynasty.

BULGARIA.

INTERFERENCE OF THE POWERS.

VIENNA, June 7.—Events in Bulgaria have begun to engage the attention of the Powers. A confidential consultation is taking place to effect an understanding in view of possible events there, and especially in case Prince Alexander really quits Bulgaria. The most prevalent opinion seems to be that as long as the Bulgarians keep within the limits of the Berlin Treaty they ought to have their hands free in regard to their internal affairs.

AN OFFENDED RUSSIAN.

SOFIA, June 7.—A Russian diplomatic agent here, considering himself attacked in a public letter addressed to him by Zancoff, ex-Premier, enumerating various violations of the laws by Prince Alexander, has forwarded the note to the Minister of Foreign Affairs, demanding the prosecution of Zancoff.

UNITED STATES.

BOGUS NEWSMONGERS.

NEW YORK, June 7.—The general agent of the New York Associated Press states that a telegram announcing the shooting of Jay Gould was filed at the Western Telegraph office yesterday, but detected and disproved in time to prevent circulation. It is believed to have emanated from a "Syndicate" organized for the purpose of disseminating false financial and commercial news to affect the markets in grain and other produce, as well as stocks. The results of the investigation, thus far, seem to show that the Syndicate has agents in several cities east and west, besides an agent in London, and one travelling between that city and New York, on business connected with the Syndicate. Efforts are making to verify the facts, and the names of the parties, to justify exposure.

PARLIAMENTARY NOTES.

QUEBEC, June 7.

The Speaker took the chair at 3.30 p.m.

PETITIONS PRESENTED.

Mr. Taillon presented seven petitions against the Bill of Laval University.

CONCURRENCE.

After other routine, the House proceeded to further concurrence in the items of the estimates reported from Committee of Supply; the remaining items under the heading of Public Instruction outside of school inspection, and the item $10,000 for Board of Arts and Manufactures, were concurred in.

On the item, $50,000 for Agricultural Societies,

Mr. Meikle said he thought it very desirable that the Government should, if possible, let the Agricultural Societies have the phosphate manure free this year, and without making any reduction in their usual grants. It had arrived here too late in the season to be of much, if any, benefit this year, but if some inducement was offered to the Societies and to farmers belonging to them to secure its introduction, he was satisfied that it would give every satisfaction and lead to a large demand for it another year.

Hon. Mr. Chapleau, in reply, said that the Government's efforts to favour agriculture were limited only by its lack of means. It was desirous of doing all that was possible to encourage so important an industry. It was during last year's exhibition in Montreal that he had conversed with members of the Council of Agriculture upon this subject, and had been assured of their readiness to take a quantity of the phosphate should the Government import it. The 500 tons imported by the Government from France were purchased for $14 a ton less than was asked for the Brockville phosphate, which was not equivalent to it in value. The Council of Agriculture had passed a resolution to purchase the 500 tons and divide it amongst the various Agricultural Societies in lots of two tons each at $26 per ton, it was thus the Council and not the Government that had made this disposition of the phosphate. He regretted that, owing to lack of funds, the Government was unable to accede to the request of the member for Argenteuil and to distribute this artificial manure free. The Societies must do the best they could with it this year, and he was convinced that another year, if the Government could obtain it at the same low price, which, unfortunately, he feared would not be possible, there would be a demand for four or five times the amount.

Mr. Meikle did not wish it to be understood that he disapproved of the importation of phosphate. On the contrary, he felt that it was a most desirable move, and that the Government had done well to take the action. What he desired to convey was that the Agricultural Societies seemed to think that they were forced to take the phosphate whether they wished to or not, and as a consequence did not receive it with that favour which they otherwise would have done. He had made his proposition to the Government to make no charge this year for the phosphate, because he was convinced that once used by agriculturists there would be a largely increased demand another year.

Mr. Duhamel spoke of the great distance of many Agricultural Societies from railway stations or the wharves of steamboats, which would render it very costly for the transport of the phosphates. He knew of one Society 60 miles from any station, and the carriage of the phosphates thither would cost four shillings a hundred pounds, which was certainly too high to enable it to be used with profit.

Hon. Mr. Joly regretted that the Government had not seen fit to conform to the recommendation of the Council of Agriculture to utilize Canadian phosphates. Instead of this, the Government had made arrangements to buy abroad the produce of strangers, while we have magnificent mines of phosphate in our own country. He could not comprehend how the Government could thus arrange for a yearly importation of foreign produce.

Hon. Mr. Chapleau said the Government had made but one such importation, and were not bound to repeat it annually. A factory for the manufacture of Canadian phosphates was to be established here by Messrs. Dion Freres.

Mr. Dupuis contended that ashes were a better manure than phosphates, and that it was therefore useless to import so expensive an article.

Mr. Beaubien said ashes were very scarce and costly. It was next to impossible to obtain sufficient of them for any purpose. He spoke of the value of phosphates as an artificial manure.

Hon. Mr. Langelier referred to the writings of experienced agriculturists and chemists in the Scientific American and elsewhere, as to the value of Canadian phosphates.

Mr. Watts said that the $50,000 grant to Agricultural Societies should have been kept intact. Now it appeared that the Societies were to be billed for the cost of the phosphates, and he believed it was not generally known by them that they had the power of refusing to take them. The manure had only been distributed last week, at least a month too late to be properly employed and tested during the present year. Those who wished to obtain and test this manure could have had it any time from Montreal at $34 a ton, and he believed the margin on the Government's purchase was not a fair commercial profit after paying all expenses, and was not such as to have warranted the importation. Referring to the action of the Council of Agriculture in the matter, he held that the members of the Council were principally theorists, and though some of them were good men all were Government nominees. He believed it would be more in the interests of the farmers if the members of this Council were elective either by the House or by Agricultural Societies. The debate was continued by Messrs. Laberge, Gagnon and Bouthillier.

Mr. Beaubien replied to Mr. Watts, instancing Messrs. Cochrane, Benoit, Browning, and others as proof that the Council of Agriculture was composed of practical men. The item was then carried, as also that for The Journal of Agriculture, $7,000.

On the item $2,450 for Agricultural Schools,

Hon. Mr. Joly asked if either the Treasurer or Premier could say how many students were attending these schools?

Hon. Messrs. Chapleau and Robertson replied that they could not.

Hon. Mr. Langelier expressed his regrets that so little results were to be seen from these schools as compared with that of Guelph, in Ontario, where students had frequently to be refused admittance. There must be something wrong either with the institutions or with our population. He had frequently taken habitants to task for not sending their sons to these schools, and had been told, in reply, that the boys who went there seemed to learn nothing but how to spend in new methods what their fathers had made.

Hon. Mr. Chapleau agreed with the remarks of the last speaker, but believed there was of late an improvement in these schools, and thought the House should give them all the encouragement possible.

It being six o'clock, the House took recess.

AFTER RECESS.

Mr. Gagnon moved for an Order of the House for a statement of the receipts of the Eastern Section of the Q., M., O. & O. Railway. Carried.

THE DESALABERRY MONUMENT.

The Speaker read the following letter in answer to the invitation tendered the House by Mr. J. O. Dion, Secretary of the DeSalaberry Monument Committee:—

LEGISLATIVE ASSEMBLY, Quebec, 7th June, 1881.

To Mr. J. O. Dion, Secretary of the DeSalaberry Monument Committee, Chambly Basin:

The Legislative Assembly of the Province of Quebec acknowledges the receipt of the invitation extended to it by the DeSalaberry Monument Committee, for the inauguration of the monument erected to the memory of the glorious hero of Chateauguay.

It is now in session, and unanimously unites itself to all who participate in his festival of Canadian patriotism. The Legislative Assembly of Quebec cannot forget that, on this occasion, the whole country does homage not only to the successful soldier who secured a triumph for British arms, but also to a French-Canadian who personified on the field of battle the loyalty due to England.

[Signed.]

ARTHUR TURCOTTE,
Speaker of the Legislative Assembly of the Province of Quebec.

Mr. Chapleau believed he was expressing the sentiment of every member of the House in thanking the Speaker for the step he had taken in thanking Mr. Dion in such choice words for the flattering invitation tendered the House. He said it was a pleasant duty for him to join in the grand voice which came from the entire country to-day in honour of the distinguished hero of Chateauguay. The monument which has been unveiled to-day by the distinguished nobleman who guided the ship of Canada's fortune was an act which had long been due to the memory of DeSalaberry. DeSalaberry should serve as a model for every Canadian whatever might be his origin. He, a French-Canadian, remained faithful to his origin, to his creed, and at the same time gave proofs of an unswerving devotion to the stability of British institutions, of loyalty to the flag of England. He then read some verses which had been composed for the occasion by Mr. A. N. Montpetit of Quebec.

Mr. Joly joined in the remarks by Mr. Chapleau, and said he was happy to be able to pay a tribute of respect admiration to the memory of the great soldier who personified on the field of battle the loyalty of French-Canadians to their Queen and their country.

Mr. Lynch was happy in the name of the English-speaking population of Quebec to give a tribute of respect and to the memory of the greatest of all Canada's soldiers. The honour paid to his memory was worthy of all commendation, and the gentlemen who worked so so faithfully for the success of this patriotic enterprise were deserving of very great thanks from the entire country. It was by remembering the names of its distinguished men that Canada would become a nation.

Mr. Ross was happy to reiterate the sentiments uttered by the member for Brome, and the other leaders of the House. He hoped that the name of DeSalaberry would live forever in the recollections of every loyal Canadian.

AGAIN IN CONCURRENCE.

The House then proceeded with its reception of the report of the Committee of Supply, item by item. On the item of $1,500 for Butter and Cheese Factories, salaries, travelling expenses, &c., it was explained that a competent instructor would be engaged to furnish information on the means of improving the quality of butter and cheese now made.

Hon. Mr. Irvine ridiculed the idea of there being necessity of instructing the people of the Province in the matter.

Hon. Dr. Ross wanted to know what was the origin of the idea of getting a professor to teach the people of this Province how to make butter and cheese. How did the idea get into the head of the members of the Government?

Hon. Mr. Chapleau said the butter and cheese industry of the country was a much more important one than the hon. members seemed to consider. There were no less than a million milch cows in the Province, and 33,000,000 pounds of butter were made annually. If only five cents extra per pound could be obtained for this enormous produce it would be a source of a great wealth for the country. If they looked at the European produce reports it would be seen that Norway butter was rated at from 140 to 160 shillings per 112 lbs., and American butter at 110 to 120 shillings, while Kamouraska or Canadian butter was only rated at 60 to 75 shillings per 112 lbs. He had no doubt, as had been said, that very excellent butter was made in Megantic County, and he was sure also in his own County of Terrebonne, but it required a rating up in the market reports, and this would be best secured by a knowledge of the fact that a competent and well-known authority on the subject is at the head of the factories to be established here. He believed that through this action of the Government the increased revenue to the country from this product would be at least $100,000 this year.

The item was adopted.

On the item $10,000 towards the erection of Permanent Exhibition Buildings in Montreal, after explanations by Hon. Mr. Chapleau in reply to Mr. Gagnon,

Mr. Nelson said Montreal was deserving of great credit for its liberality. It had leased a large piece of land, 800 by 300 feet, to the Exhibition Committee, for a term of years, for $1 per annum; yet the Government was continually coming down upon the city, and asking it to do as much as the Government did.

Hon. Mr. Langelier spoke of the immense direct and indirect advantages derived by these Exhibitions to the localities in which they were held, and he trusted for that reason that they would still occasionally be held in Quebec, as well as in Montreal. He trusted the Government would be ready to do as much for Quebec as it had done for Montreal.

Hon. Mr. Chapleau said the Government was ready to do for Quebec what it did for Montreal, providing the Corporation of Quebec was prepared to do what that of Montreal had done.

Mr. Rinfret stated that, at the last Exhibition held here, the Corporation of Quebec had done what was asked of it, and had voted $6,000 towards the same. It was now ready to do the same again. The item was carried, as also the following:

Colonization Roads, $10,000.
Colonization Roads in Ottawa Valley, $5,000.
Quebec and Lake St. John Road, $5,000.
Colonization Societies, $5,000.
Rents, Insurances, Repairs, &c., of Public Buildings generally, $30,000.
Spencerwood Repairs, $4,000.
Spencerwood Maintenance, $5,000.
Inspection and Surveys, $3,000.
Repairs of Court Houses and Gaols, $15,000.
Public Departments, to complete and level grounds, &c., $18,000.

On the latter item, the Hon. F. Langelier congratulated the Government upon the fact that the clock in the Departmental Buildings had been entirely constructed in the country.

Hon. Mr. Chapleau compared this fact with the case of the Dominion Government, which had sent to Europe for a clock which now would not work.

On the item for Lunatic Asylums, $222,920,

Hon. Mr. Robertson supplied the following statement of the average cost of maintenance of lunatics for three years past:—In 1879, $121.93 per head; in 1880, $122.30; in 1881, $122.71.

Dr. Laberge read several medical authorities upon the treatment of lunatics to prove the necessity for a change in the present provincial system.

Mr. Nelson read a mass of figures from the report of the Ontario Lunatic Asylums for the last year, giving statistics concerning the Asylums at Toronto, London, Kingston, Orillia, and elsewhere. The average cost of maintaining lunatics in the sister Province was $122.94.

Mr. Marchand said the amounts collected in Ontario for the pay of lunatics' keep was $37,000 last year. In this Province the amount was $193. It would be interesting for members of the Government to make a comparison.

After further debate the item was adopted.

The items for Miscellaneous Charities were then taken separately all of them being adopted.

The House adjourned at 12.30.

MISCELLANEOUS.

The Legislative Council to-night passed the Kamouraska chef lieu Bill.

The Private Bills Committee adopted Montreal City Bill and the Bill to incorporate the opposition of Mr. Thos. Ritchie, on behalf of Sir Hugh Allan and others; of J. McLaughlin, Jesse Joseph, Ald. McCord and others, who appeared against it. The city was represented by City Clerk Glackmeyer, City Treasurer Black, and City Solicitor Roy.

In the Public Accounts Committee the examination was concluded of Messrs. Senecal, Blumhart and Shackell of the Q., M., O. & O. R. R. Nothing of importance was elicited. Mr. Senecal denied that he had any interest in the South-Eastern Railway. Mr. Shackell explained that all receipts of the road were banked, and that payments were made by cheques. Mr. Blumhart detailed the rules which guided him in purchasing and distributing supplies, and mentioned several houses from which purchases were made. Anthracite coal was bought from Messrs. A. H. Murphy & Co., of Quebec. The uncharitably inclined connect the member for Quebec West with this Company.

A grand Base-Ball match, for the Junior Championship, will take place at Ste. Cunegonde, on Saturday, between the Clipper (Junior Champions) and Jeune Canadien Base-Ball Clubs.

AQUATICS.

OTTAWA, June 7.—Prominent scullers from all sections have entered the four-mile sculling race, to be rowed here on the 1st of July. Hosmer, Ross, Smith, Kennedy and Plaisted are among those who have already entered. Trickett is also expected to figure in the race, and likewise Morris, Teneyck and others. Hanlan has been asked to act as referee. It is confidently expected that the race will be one of the best ever rowed, as the field is composed of nearly all the foremost scullers in the country.

DESALABERRY.

Honouring the Memory of the Chateauguay Hero.

CHAMBLY IN HOLIDAY ATTIRE.

The battle of Chateauguay or of Chrysler's farm is one of the most memorable in the history of Canada. It was fought at Chateauguay on Oct. 26th, 1813, between the Canadian Voltigeurs, under Colonel DeSalaberry, and the Americans, under General Wilkinson. The Americans intended to invade Canada by the Grande Isle, which divides the St. Lawrence, opposite Coteau du Lac, when they were met and defeated by Colonel DeSalaberry. It is to commemorate the heroic conduct of the commander of the Voltigeurs on that occasion that the monument has been erected at Chambly. The defeat of the Americans at Chateauguay, it is generally believed, saved Lower Canada from passing under American dominion.

YESTERDAY'S PROCEEDINGS.

The streets of the historical little town of Chambly presented an animated appearance yesterday. The principal highways were gaily decorated with bunting and arches, adorned with appropriate mottoes, such as "Honour to the Brave," "Welcome to the Canton," "To our noble guests we give greeting," "Honour to whom honour is due," "God Save the Queen," etc.

At 11 o'clock the first train from Longueuil on the South-Eastern line arrived bearing the 65th Battalion, amounting to the number of 295, and a large number of passengers. The 65th at once formed, and proceeded through the principal streets to the old barracks were their arms were stacked, and an adjournment was made to the Barracks, where lunch was partaken of.

At two o'clock the steamer "Sorel" arrived with His Excellency the Governor-General on board, accompanied by Colonel and Mrs de Salaberry, Mrs Smyth, Mrs Lindsay, Mr and Mrs G Bosse, Miss DeSalaberry, Colonel Duchesnay, Mr C DeSalaberry, Mr H DeSalaberry, Mr Hatt, Captain Chaters, ADC, Captain and Mrs Campbell, Mr Bruce Campbell (St Hilaire) and Mr and Mis Russell Stephenson, and Mrs Hatt, of Quebec, daughter of the Chateauguay hero, who accompanied the Vice-Regal party by special invitation of His Excellency the Governor-General. They were met at the wharf by the Committee of Management, under the President, Dr Martel, and the procession was at once formed. Amongst others present we noticed Sir Hector Langevin, KCMG, Hon J A Mousseau, M P Ryan, MP, C J Coursol, MP, Lieutenant-Governor Robitaille, Captain Blaiklock, of the 6th Fusiliers, Henry Lyman, Hon Mr Mercier, Lt-Col Harwood and others. On the way, His Excellency was met by the Mayor and Aldermen, who presented him with an address, extending him a hearty welcome to Chambly. His Excellency replied in suitable terms. The procession having arrived at the Monument, the ceremony of unveiling the statue was proceeded with. Before the statue was unveiled, a beautiful illuminated address was presented to His Excellency the Governor-General on behalf of the people of Chambly County, after which he delivered the following reply:—

Mr. Mayor, Ladies and Gentlemen:

Accept my thanks for your address which records your patriotic desire to honour in a befitting manner the memory of a patriot. I rejoice to be able to take part with you in this commemoration of the services of a gallant soldier. We are here to unveil a monument dedicated to a man who worthily represented the loyal spirit of his age. That spirit exists to the full to-day. Should need arise there are many among the Canadian nation who would emulate the example and endeavour to rival his achievements. This statue records a character typical of our countrymen. Content with a little for himself—content only with greatness for his country. Such was the character of DeSalaberry,—such is the character of the Canadian to-day. At Chambly near the field of battle where he had the good fortune to have the occasion to manifest that valour, which was the proud tradition of his race, we place this statue. It is raised in no spirit of idle boasting, but with a hope that the virtues shown of old may, unforgotten, light and guide future generations. These virtues were conspicuous in this distinguished man, whose military talents enabled him to perform his duty with signal advantage to our arms. In rearing this monument to him, let us not forget to pay a passing tribute also to his brothers. They, with him, in the hour of danger, took to the profession of arms, we may almost say, as a part of their nature. Three of them perished in upholding the honour of that flag, which is to-day our symbol of unity and freedom. In this fair region which was his home, a contrast between our times and those in which he lived comes forcibly before us. Where are now wide tracts of fertile fields and a country traversed by railways or to be reached by the steamers on our rivers, DeSalaberry, Perrault and Mailloux, when they made their gallant defence, saw only scattered clearings among great forests. These, too, often concealed contending armies. While we cherish the recollection of gallant deeds performed where English and French-speaking Canadians equally distinguished themselves, it is not necessary to dwell upon the bitter associations of those times. We are at peace and live in what we hope will be an abiding friendship and alliance with the great and generous people to the South. They then endeavoured to conquer us, but were in the end only enabled to entertain for the Canadians that respect which is the only true and lasting foundation of friendship. We must be thankful and rejoice that our rivalries with them are now only in the fruitful fields of commerce. Our resources in these peaceful paths are daily supplying the sinews of strength in the power to us in resources and population, which would make any war undertaken against Canada, a war that would be a long and a difficult one. They do not desire to invade us—we trust that such a desire will never again arise, for nations do not now so often, as of old, interfere with their neighbours, when no friction invites interference. If in 1812 Canada was dear for her own sake to Canadians, how much more is she so now! Then possessed only of a small population, enjoying liberty under the ægis of a narrow constitution, now we see in her a great and growing people, self-governed at home, proud of the freest form of constitution, and able to use in association with her own representative the diplomatic strength of a great Empire for the making of her commercial compacts with other nations. With us there is no party which would invite incursions or change of Government. No man has a chance of success in Canadian public life, no one is countenanced by our our people, who is not a lover of our free institutions. In inviting here the Governor-General, you have an officer present who, as the head of the Federal Government, is nothing but the first and abiding spirit of the people. It is however, not only as an official that I rejoice with you to-day. Personal feelings make it a joyful hour for me when I can visit the cradle of so much worth and valour, surrounded as I am by the members of the family of Monsieur DeSalaberry. The Princess and I can never forget the intimate friendship which existed between Prince Edward Duke of Kent and Colonel DeSalaberry, a friendship between families which I may be allowed to hope will not be confined to the grandfathers. The Princess asked me to express the deep interest she takes in this celebration. She wishes me to convey to you her sorrow that she is not here to-day with us. She yet hopes to be able to see this Monument, where for the first time Canadian art has so honourably recorded in sculpture loyalty, bravery and genius.

The statue was then unveiled amid enthusiastic cheers by the great crowd present. Three cheers were given for Her Gracious Majesty Queen Victoria, to which Lieut-Colonel Harwood responded. At the conclusion, a collection was taken up in order to defray the debt incurred by the erection of the statue.

The ceremony being finished, the Vice-Regal party immediately left by the "Sorel" for Quebec.

A banquet was held about five o'clock in the old barracks, in honour of the fete. Dr. Martel, President of the Committee, occupied the chair, and there were present, Hon. J A Mousseau, Hon. Mr. Mercier, Mr. Prefontaine, M. P. P., Lt.-Col. Harwood, Mr. Dion, and many others.

A substantial repast having been partaken of, the usual loyal toasts of the "The Queen" and "The Royal Family" were proposed and enthusiastically received.

The Chairman then gave the health of His Excellency the Governor-General of Canada, which was drank with honours.

At this point letters were read from Hon. Mr. Chapleau, on behalf of the Quebec Government, and from Mr. Duggan, President of the Press Association, on behalf of the Press, expressing their well-wishes for the success of the celebration.

The health of the Lieutenant-Governor was then proposed, the audience joining in singing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow." Lieutenant-Governor Robitaille responded, expressing his pleasure at being present.

"Canada and its Prosperity" was the next toast proposed, and was responded to by Mr. J. A. Mousseau and Mr. Prefontaine, M.P.P.

"The Hero of Chateauguay" was then proposed, and was received with great applause, "Vive la Canadienne" being sung. The toast was responded to by the Hon. Mr. Mercier.

At the conclusion of the banquet a vote of thanks was tendered to the Committee for the success with which they had carried out the celebration.

During the evening the Basin was illuminated, and displays of fireworks held in different places. Taken altogether, the celebration was a most successful one, and great credit is due to the Committee, especially to the President, Dr. Martel, and the Secretary, Mr. Dion, for the energy with which they carried out their plans.

AMUSEMENTS.

THEATRE ROYAL.

FRENCH COMEDY COMPANY.

Large and fashionable audiences attended the performances given by the French Comedy Company at the above theatre during the past few evenings, and all lovers of comedy must have been delighted. The Company is really a good one, all the performers being well up in their parts. To-night "Le Proces Vauradieux" will be presented, and on Saturday evening a special performance will be given for the benefit of the French Benevolent Society.

ALBERT HALL.

There was a very fair audience present, last night, at the above Hall, to enjoy the dramatic and musical recital given by Miss Isabel Morris, Mrs. Emma Thurston and Mr. F. W. Mills. The programme was a choice one, and had the merit of not being too long. Mr. Mills' organ solos were played with that gentleman's accustomed skill. The removal of the organ has somewhat jarred a few of the reeds, which require looking after. Mrs. Thurston, in "Non fu Sogno," sang with great force and expression, and was deservedly encored. She kindly responded with Gounod's "Spring," which she rendered in a charming style. Her best song, and the one which, we think, showed off her fine voice, was "The Lost Chord," by Sullivan. Her phrasing in this could not have been surpassed. As an encore, we were given Gounod's "Ave Maria." Miss Morris gave, as her first reading, Gœthe's sublime poem "The Erl King." The young elocutionist was quite equal to the piece. Her voice in the more pathetic passages being round, full, clear, very sweet and musical. She was warmly applauded, and, in reply, gave that favourite poem of the ladies the "Glove and the Lion." Tom Hood's "Bridge of Sighs," she read in a style that brought tears to the eyes of not a few present. Her painting of the picture of the poor unfortunate driven to suicide was very artistic, and showed deep study and an appreciation of the beautiful lines of the poet. "The Charge of the Light Brigade" was her last piece, and we think is a little beyond her volume of voice. This battle picture requires a Vaadenhoff or or a Bellew to give it that light and shade so as to enable the hearer to gain some idea of that memorable but glorious fight. However, Miss Morris' rendition was much above the general run of readers, and was deservedly encored. After her reading of "Children's Hour," the pleasant evening's entertainment came to a close by the singing of the National Anthem.

—Twenty-two young women, eleven of them English and eleven Scotch, played an International game of football in England. The teams appeared in a costume essentially similar to that worn by male football players, consisting of jerseys, knickerbockers, stockings, boots and a "cowl," with a sort of sash depending from the waist—the Scotch team wearing blue jerseys and red sashes, and the English red jerseys and blue sashes. Most of the players were well built, athletic looking girls, and the teams looked exceedingly picturesque in their bright and tasteful arrangements. Some of them exhibited such feminine ornaments as frilling, bracelets, etc., but others, with arms bare to the shoulder, entered into the game with all the enthusiasm of boys. The Scotch lassies won.

—A Mormon woman, Mrs. Hampton, has been telling a Chicago reporter that when Mormon women are getting married a white head-dress with a flowing cape is worn. During the ceremony this cape is drawn over the bride's face and the groom lifts it. When the wife dies she is buried with this cape on her head, and when she is laid in her coffin the cape is thrown over her face. The teachings of the Mormon leaders is that she cannot be resurrected until the husband raises this cape from her face; that if he is satisfied that she has been a faithful and obedient wife he will raise this cape and she may be resurrected, but if not satisfied he will refuse to do so, and she cannot be resurrected. One of the most common threats, she said, by which her husband used to compel her to obedience was that if she didn't obey him "she should never be resurrected."

SUICIDE.—Considerable excitement was caused in the house of Mrs. George Binmore, 47 Courville street, yesterday morning, by the servant girl committing suicide by hanging. It appears that the unfortunate girl has been subject to fits of melancholy for some time, having had a serious attack a few weeks ago, which confined her to her bed for several days. Yesterday morning Mrs. Binmore came down stairs shortly after 8 o'clock, and found that the kitchen fire had not been lit. She called the girl, but received no answer, and, upon going out into the shed to look for her, she saw the girl's dress blowing about, which frightened her to such an extent that she called her son. The latter, on going into the shed, found that the girl had hanged herself by means of a clothes-line tied around one of the beams. The deceased was about 20 years of age, and had been in the family for a number of years. Coroner Jones held an inquest in the afternoon, when the jury returned a verdict to the effect that the deceased had come to her death while labouring under an attack of mental aberration.

FORCIBLY ENTERING A HOUSE.—John Brennan, 25, machinist, appeared before the Police Magistrate yesterday morning on the charge of entering a house on Guy street. A witness named Rosalie Renaud testified that between one and two o'clock yesterday morning two men came to the house in question and succeeded in forcibly entering, and that shortly afterwards three others came. One of the latter three asked for some whiskey, and one of the men gave the witness some money to go and get it, but instead of bringing the whiskey she brought a police officer, but on her return she found that the men had all gone. A few minutes after the prisoner came back, when he was arrested. When asked what he came back for he replied that it was for a glass of water. The prisoner himself said that he had no intention whatever of violating the law, and that being on terms of friendship with the parties residing in the house in question he simply attempted to get in, as he had done before, and when entrance was denied him, he forcibly tried to get in by forcing the door, which he succeeded in doing. He was fined $1.50 damages and $10 and costs or two months' imprisonment.
