Rotarians Hear Talk On Taxes

Tax Inspector A. H. Rolland Speaks On Office Organization

"Taxation, and the Taxation Division, are big business, almost a major industry, and like other big businesses, its administration goes on all the year around," declared Mr. A. H. Rolland, Income Tax Inspector for the City of Montreal in an address to the Westmount Rotary Club last Wednesday. The speaker, introduced by Past President F. C. Whitaker, delivered an interesting and comprehensive talk on "the way we do things and something of what we are doing," and voiced the opinion that he had been invited to speak, "not as a Valentine but as a form of Lenten penitence." Mr. Rolland punctuated facts and figures with witty and virulent remarks that lent much to the enjoyment of his address.

Expressing the opinion that the Taxation Division would "... have a major role in the country's post-war finance," the speaker went into some details as to the intricacies of the organization of the Montreal office, "... about which I have a certain degree of knowledge." Revealing that it required an Office Procedure Manual of over two hundred pages to handle the Montreal organization Mr. Rolland stressed the immense strain put upon telephone facilities stating that the Montreal office alone handled over 4,000 calls daily.

Inexperienced personnel, lack of office space and office equipment to take care of the ever ex-

Robert A. Spiers Addresses Westm't Baptist Church

"If we are only apathetic about the church and the discipline of Christ, how can we expect the rising generation to be enthused about it?" challenged Robert A. Spiers, Vice-Principal of Lower Canada College in an address delivered in the Westmount Baptist Church on the English proverb "As the twig is bent, so is the tree inclined".

"The most forceful sermon in the world to youth is example," he said, "and there is nothing which produces hardening of the spiritual arteries of life so quickly and so successfully as habit engendered by imitation of the wrong kind of example. There is a foundation to be laid in youth, there is a discipline to be under-

Boys' Brigade Launch Annual "B.B." Campaign

This past Friday, the 1st Company of the Boy's Brigade launched the annual financial campaign, known as B.B. Week, in accordance with the recent decision of the Montreal Battalion to set this present week as the most suitable time for the campaign.

The past week also saw a tremendous improvement in the 2nd Boy's Brigade Squad, not only in strength but also in standing following inspection. Inspection has been steadily maintaining its high average and this should carry much weight in the forthcoming competitions, when uniform comes in for a substantial percentage of points. There is keen competition between all squads these weeks and the Officer Commanding has to go into very minute detail while inspecting, in many instances in order to find errors worth commenting upon. The Company has a record of having the highest average of "glistening belt buckles."

The Brass Band is continuing to add players to its ranks and will soon have every available spare instrument in full use. Pte. Peter Munday is the latest to join the horn section with Pte. Gerald McKee taking up bass.

The annual sleigh drive is scheduled to take place this Saturday night in Town of Mount Royal. Details as to meeting place and time will be given on Friday evening. The ride will terminate with a weiner feast at Garden City Baptist Church, which will be under the direction of Mrs. G. Upham.

"Sports College" Growth Viewed

● The growth in popularity of the "Sports College" conducted by the Y.M.C.A. on a nation-wide basis has been described as "Phenomenal" by Charles Jennings of the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation in a recent statement on the expanding membership experienced by what is officially termed "a public service project of the National Council of Young Men's Christian Associations of Canada."

The Sports College takes the form of Weekly Coast-to-Coast Radio broadcasts conducted for the younger generation. The programs consist of sports advice and instruction from famous athletes and coaches who make personal appearances each Saturday noon at 12.15 over station CBM. Boys may become members of the College by writing twice and enclosing a stamped self-addressed envelope each time. At present the College boasts 35,500 members and applicants 2,840 from Montreal, with the number still growing; this after twenty-six radio broadcasts.

In addition to membership crests and certificates membership in the college entitles the youngster to expert advice on personal sports problems, chances to participate in nation-wide contests and special home study guides on sports and muscle builders.

gone, an ailing of the human spirit, which cannot be ignored without mortal danger to the future of their souls.

"Perhaps Hitler realized more clearly than any other man of this century the full meaning of the old proverb," Mr. Spiers continued. "All his efforts in the earlier days of his power were concentrated on bending the twig—on corrupting the youth. Satan's has been his work, but he succeeded. He did not heed the mature minds which were set in their ways, but he started deliberately to inculcate hatred and cruelty in the minds of his country's youth, training them to give unstinted devotion to their fuhrer even unto death in a perverted allegiance while has no parallel in history.

"There is ultimately no hope for humanity unless we realize the crowning necessity of not only ourselves remembering our creation, but also turning the young saplings to the sunshine of God's love, that they may grow upwards in His grace, and outwards in ever-widening service to their fellowmen."

LESLIE BROOKS, Lovely FOUR POINT PLAN SAVES COSMETICS

By ALICIA HART

All that hands needs of the lotion that you use to soften them, is just what that skin will absorb. To wipe off any lotion is being wasteful.

For this and other conservation tips, listen to lovely Leslie Brooks, "Fighting Guardsman" star who says that she gets the last bubble of usefulness out of soap odds and ends by stuffing these into a bath sponge that she peels apart layered facial tissues and makes two out of one.

"And don't discard a box of summer powder because the shade is out of key," warns Leslie, "because by buying a small box in a plainer shade you can mix in with the tan and lift the tone for your winter needs."

panding staff are other major worries that have to be faced daily, stated Mr. Rolland, "The staff which was 240 (in September, 1940) has now increased to 1,162—of whom 800 are women and girls."

Breaking down the leadership of the Montreal office into six senior officers, the Inspector, and five officers assisting him, respectively in charge of Corporation Assessing, Individual Assessing, Succession Duties, an officer in control of all the internal operations of the office known as the Executive Assistant and a Personnel Manager," Mr. Rolland outlined the duties of each indicating the ever-increasing responsibility that is thrust on each as the organization grows in scope.

Concluding what he termed "a rapid and necessarily superficial sketch of the main divisions of our work, which goes on the year round and is only suspended in part at such times when we have the public flooding into McGill Street seeking information and procedure in the filing of their returns," Mr. Rolland declared "In these war years we have been up against numerous difficulties. In that respect we have been in no different position from most other people with responsibilities. We have still many problems ahead of us. I have lately been telling some of my senior officers that we have five years intensive activity ahead which I believe is not an overstatement. But the fact is that we have successfully surmounted great administrative difficulties, and are going forward. That is particularly due to the loyalty, intelligence and hard work of my senior officers and supervisors on McGill Street. We have no one-man job down there, and without their work and effort, the Inspector would have been helpless and by this time possibly an inhabitant of a mental hospital. But also part of our success is due to the co-operation and help the business community in this city, through its corporate associations and otherwise. No Government officer has had more valuable co-operation from the business community than I have had in the last five years, and I think that this should be both acknowledged and remembered in any record of the great revolution in direct taxation in Canada brought about by this war."

Mr. J. C. Nelson thanked the speaker, who has recently been elected President of the Montreal Repertoire Theatre and suggested the future formation of a "Family advisory council to tell us how to take care of what is left," to the amusement of speaker and audience alike.

Rotarian President A. W. Callard, who chaired the meeting, introduced Mr. Cyril J. Dendy, of the Boy Scout Association, who directed a brief appeal to the meeting for moral and financial assistance in the Boy Scout Association financial drive. Visiting Rotarians Harry D. Smith, of Philadelphia; David D. Martin, Charter President of the Leaside Club; Robert Pettigrew, of Quebec City; and R. Wilson-Smith were then introduced to the meeting.

Underground France Aided By Boy Scouts

The manner in which the courageous Boy Scouts and Girl Guides of France worked with the underground during the German occupation is related in the following story by a French woman.

When the Germans set up control of our country one of the first things they did was to abolish all Youth Organizations—the Boy Scouts and Girl Guides were specifically aimed at on account of their discipline, their spirit, and their oath, which committed them to serve God, the church, and their country.

At the risk of being deported to Germany, these boys and girls continued to meet and to render immense services.

They took note of all the troop movements and even brought in valuable photographs. From this material was built a very sure and complete picture of enemy movements and dispositions in France.

One of the Scouts most spectacular feats, was performed in Lyons, where 40 Jewish children had been taken secretly by the Red Cross. The Germans got wind of the plan and the Scouts discovered that the Nazis intended to seize the children with the idea of deporting them to Poland. Five Scouts raced ahead of the

WESTMOUNT, FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 16, 1945

BOY SCOUT-GIRL GUIDE WEEK

The middle of February brings with it each year the annual observance of Boy Scout Week. This year the sister organization, the Girl Guides, is joining in and some 160,000 young Canadians are taking part in the week's activities. Boy Scout-Girl Guide Week is seven days in the year when these youth organizations make a special effort to let the public know just what Scouting and Guiding are contributing to the upbuilding of Canada's youth as serving citizens of the community.

The Boy Scout and Girl Guide Movements stand out in direct contrast to the Nazi youth movement. The Hitler youth is inoculated with a doctrine of racial superiority, of hate, of brutality, and of greed. The Scout-Guide Movement is the antithesis of Nazism. It seeks to inoculate a directly opposite philosophy. It seeks through its world-wide ramifications to breed respect for, and fellowship with all races, all colours, all creeds. It seeks to foster a spirit of goodwill in contrast to hate. It teaches respect for the physical and mental feelings of all peoples. It teaches the sharing of life's good things with one's neighbour.

It has been said that the Founder of the Scout and Guide Movements, Lord Baden-Powell of Gilwell died a broken hearted man in 1941, because Scouting and Guiding had not brought peace to this troubled world. If he did, he never revealed it to his closest associates. Scouting and Guiding aims at a world brotherhood. It could hardly be expected that in little more than a generation it could accomplish what the Christian church has striven for centuries to accomplish. But like the church it is working to that end.

Together with all other agencies and forces of goodwill this purpose will eventually be achieved. During this Boy Scout-Girl-Guide Week the public is asked to see Scouting and Guiding in action, to learn more fully its purposes, and in the knowledge gained to give it the moral support that the Movement deserves. The thousands of young men and women who are today giving voluntary leadership to Scout and Guiding Groups, are rendering a service to Canada, which if not publicly applauded, must give them a tremendous amount of satisfaction.

EDITORIALS ANONYMOUS

It is interesting to reflect, writes William Feather, that almost all of the editorials in American newspapers are written by men whose identity is unknown to their readers. Victor S. Yarros, a retired editorial writer, wrote an article on this subject and ventured the opinion that the function of an editorial writer is comparable to that of a typesetter or proofreader. They put into words the ideas of their bosses, and think no more about the matter. When lunching with friends, an editorial writer may express ideas quite contrary to what he has written that very day for his newspaper. In a political campaign, the majority of writers may personally support one candidate although they urge his defeat in their writings. Some people suggest that a kind of prostitution is involved, but we see nothing wrong. A chef cooks and a waiter serves what the customer orders. Editorial writers are no different from advertising writers. Both are craftsmen, selling their skill for what the market will pay. On their own time, they are presumably free to do as they please, writing and speaking what they like.

RIGHT OVER A BATTLE

Allied airmen bombing Berlin get a free look at the Battle of the Oder. They can see the Russian guns flashing and the German guns smoking as the Russians fight for crossings of the stream that guards the approaches to the Nazi capital.

When our airmen first went over Berlin the Russian front was remote geography to the Berliners. They had dreams of finding their troops in Moscow; they never thought the day was not far distant when Russian soldiers would be threatening to march down the Unter den Linden in Berlin.

It must be heartening to our aviators to realize that as they bomb the German capital they are not only bringing missiles from the Western Front, but they are also softening up the Germans to make it easier for our side to go into Berlin from the Eastern Front.

THE FORUM

Conducted by HOWARD S. ROSS, K.C., D.C.L.

In Which Subjects of General Interest Are Discussed

The opinions expressed in this Forum are not necessarily those of this newspaper, and it does not accept responsibility for them.

Edward Eagan, New York's new ring czar is the first boxer to become a Boxing Commissioner. He fought in many countries and was Olympic Champion at Antwerp in 1920. He was a Rhodes Scholar at Oxford.

The U.S.S. Relief, Red Cross ship, carries the largest gun in the U.S. Navy—an 18 inch gun located along its keel as ballast.

General McNaughton, who arrived at Ottawa to accept a position which the then Prem. Bennett had appointed him, was generally regarded as a Conservative until he became Minister of Defence. And Mr. Case now running as a Progressive in Grey North, contested the same constituency as a National Liberal-Progressive in 1940. Nothing has been said as to the former political affiliations of ex-Air Vice Marshal Godfrey or Mr. J. Noseworthy, C.C.F. member for York South who drew attention to the change of parties by the Liberal and Progressive-Conservative candidates. No doubt they were also of another party before joining the C.C.F. and why not without censure or reproach.

This recalls the retort of the famous Benjamin Disraeli when accused of inconsistency because from time to time he changed his political opinions. "If there are any persons in this House," Disraeli replied, "who can derive any comfort from my discarded opinions, they are entirely welcome to them."

The hope of the future lies not in better human inventions but in better human relations. How strange that with so many able persons in the world so few search (as scientists do) for an economic plan which will be to the advantage of everyone, everywhere. That should be the test of any economic plan and if it stands that test it will work well. Our present system does not stand that test so under it constant economic conflict is inevitable and so are wars which cost billions of dollars and what is much worse millions of lives. The economic conflict between nations and between persons within each nation during the usual 20 years between wars probably costs nearly as much as a great war, and in particular the making scarce things which are badly needed and this because under our present faulty system there is the incentive too often to plan to have artificial scarcity instead of removing the barriers which keep the abundance from flowing through to people everywhere free of tribute to anyone. Surely some day it will be possible for the people of the world to see that the only plan which will give us unity and therefore permanent peace and prosperity will be a plan under which no one will be at a disadvantage and each person will be glad to do their share of the work of the world—with all sorts of exploitation a thing of the past.

In a letter to the Nation, Dr. Judah L. Magnes, for more than twenty years president of the Hebrew University at Jerusalem, outlined a solution of the Palestine problem which he believes would be accepted by both Arabs and Jews. His proposal is to permit Jewish immigration until numerical parity between the two groups has been established, to provide for political equality, and to satisfy Arab aspirations by making this bi-national Palestine part of a larger union which would also contain Transjordan, Syria and Lebanon.

He will still be Lloyd George, David Lloyd George will be Earl Lloyd George of Dwyfor, taking his name from the mountain stream which runs by his farm in Carnarvonshire where he lives.

Intimations that cars will be re-tailed at 25 to 30 per cent above pre-war prices brought from 76 per cent of 30,000 car owners canvassed by R. L. Polk and Company, recognized analysts of the automotive industry, emphatic declarations that they will not buy new cars at any such figures.

WORLD ORDER

Another principle which events have made clear is that an unorganized world leads to chaos. The right of nations to act in international matters without regard for the rights of others has become international anarchy. Because the world has shrunk, the nations, whenever they move, step—metaphorically—on one another's toes. There need to be common traffic rules, at least. And there are arguments for a much more comprehensive world organization than this analogy suggests.

Organization when it is developed must be on a give-and-take basis—at least among the great powers. Neither Britain or Russia would join in a world organization dominated by the United States; and certainly we would not join such an organization unless assured of full and equal participation.

This give and take means democratic participation on a world scale. The experience of the successful democracies suggests these prerequisites for world organization: (1) there must be a meeting of representatives to discuss common problems and work out international agreements, such as how to police the high seas; (2) there must be an opportunity to arbitrate differences of interpretation of agreements made; and (3) there must be provision for the enforcement of undertakings and of world-wide order.

Behind any world organization there must also be some common understanding of the objectives sought. Because we of the West have little genuine understanding of the Slavic, Islamic, and Oriental worlds, it will be difficult to come to agreement on those objectives which are essentially ethical. The Anglo-Saxon nations, having taken several centuries to evolve the Four Freedoms have a commitment to them that other nations may feel. Stalin's notion of external co-operation and internal non-interference is a practical one, but he must convince us that he means it. The Atlantic Charter, incomplete but constructive, needs more discussion at home and examination abroad of the ideas it contains.—Antioch College Notes.

The Iron Hewers of History—900 years ago William The Conqueror crossed the Channel from Normandy and invaded England. The soldier who struck the first blow was named Taillefer which means Eisenhower. Taillefer died October 14, 1066. Eisenhower born October 14, 1890. Both Taillefer and Eisenhower mean Iron Hewer.

Top Performance Susan and God Given By Westmount Drama Group

"Susan and God," played on Tuesday and Wednesday this week at Victoria Hall by the Westmount Women's Club Drama Group assisted by several guest players, in aid of the club's war services funds, proved to be an unqualified success both from the financial and esthetic points of view.

Rachael Crothers' play, performed under the direction of Mrs. Louis de Savoye accurately interpreted the really big idea motivating the comedy. The cast was perfectly chosen, and the enthralled audience was so appreciative of the smart dialogue and characterization that a pin could have been heard drop. In this sixth year of the war the selection of "Susan and God" was a shrewd one, as the satire offers humor round a theme which is truly, as Susan said "tremendously big"—in a nutshell, that Susan, taking up religion as a fashionable whim, found that Susan and God in a very short time changed to God and Susan.

Dorothy Hervey was a fascinating Susan. Miss Hervey's vibrant voice, her expressive features, great personal magnetism and ability focussed all eyes upon her. Filmore Sadler, the guest star of the evening, played Barrie Trexel, Susan's husband addicted to drink who took her enthusiasm for God more seriously than she dreamed possible, and gave a faultless portrayal. His awkwardness with his very plain daughter, Blossom, — the dawning of the realization that the youngster was a human being after all, and a very unhappy one at that, was extremely well done.

Underplaying rather than overplaying he got the most out of every line and situation.

Blossom, played by Barbara Todd, was beautifully real, in the first act, a poignant creature bursting with repressed love for her parents and a frustrated desire for a home. As Blossom's hopes were realized, Miss Todd was an utterly delightful teen ager leading a normal home life.

First class work was done by Margaret Pitt, as Irene, and by Margaret McKean as the lovable Charlotte. Winnifred Hogan was casually adequate in her part of Leonora. The other guest players of the evening were Douglas Peterson, John Cook, and Lawrence McGregor, all of whom gave sound performances.

The settings were completely satisfactory, elegant in a light, gay colorful fashion, with charming effects of moonlight and sunlight through open windows and doors.

To the Group's credit be it said that the performance started each evening practically on time. Victoria Hall was packed to the last seat both nights, and we prophesy that "Susan and God" as played by this drama group assisted by its guest artistes, will take a high place among the best amateur production of 1945.

Jewish Women Support Drive For Save The Children Fund

The Jewish women of Montreal will make a considerable contribution to the non-sectarian "Save the Children" Fund which has financed much of the rescue work in Europe, according to a decision made by a conference of the presidents of the women's organizations of the community in the home of Mrs. Samuel Bronfman, O.B.E. Mrs. Anna Raginsky, president of the Hadassah Organization of Canada and Mrs. M. Surchin, representing the Pioneer Women's Organization, have pledged their support to this drive as did the spokesmen of a number of other important Jewish organizations.

In welcoming the heads of the Jewish women's groups, Mrs. Bronfman explained that Catholic and Protestant women across the country were also making an effort for the same cause. In particular the Society of Friends, (the Quakers) had been assisted by this fund to effect the rescue of many children, Jewish and non-Jewish. Lady Marler and Mme. J. E. Perrault are co-operating with the Jewish women's groups in this project.

Mrs. S. Gershon Levi read a letter from her husband who is serving as rabbi to the Jewish troops on the continent. In this letter Rabbi Levi told of the sacrifices of non-Jewish families who had risked much to hide Jewish children from the Nazis. "War increased our common responsibility for the welfare of the children", said Mrs. Levi. "More of them are tragically maimed, orphaned and starved. Their minds are poisoned. We must give them a chance to live in a good world. This is the least we owe to the world of tomorrow."

Mrs. Ben Robinson and Mrs. Rose Medine are co-operating with Mrs. Bronfman in this work. Among those attending were Mesdames M. Surchin, M. Kravitz,

A. Bordan, S. Kaplan, H. Ungar, S. Blanshay, A. Rozalinsky, H. Stillman, M. Maron, M. Segal, S. B. Miller, H. Leibovitch, I. Smith, M. Lefcort, M. Brown, H. Gold, A. Shulman, F. Polizuk, A. D. Mrs. E. Jones Heads Eastern Star Unit

The annual meeting of the Red Cross Unit of Montreal Chapter No. 20, Order of the Eastern Star, was held at the home of Miss Ruth MacLeod, when it was reported that during 1944 a total of 221 knitted garments had been completed. The following officers were elected for 1945: President, Mrs. Emily A. Jones; vice-president, Mrs. Bessie MacFarlane; secretary, Miss Lillian E. Harrington; treasurer, Miss Ruth MacLeod; work convener, Mrs. Catherine Webb.

At the annual meeting of the War Services Group of the Chapter, held on the same occasion, the same officers were elected. This group raised $120.13 during 1944, which was used to send cigarettes, candies, Christmas boxes and other comforts to members of the armed forces.

Mrs. Ed. Palmer will be the general convener of the St. Patrick's card party to be held under the auspices of the Westmount Subdivision of the Catholic Woman's league. The event will take place on Friday, March 16th, in St. Leo's Hall, Clarke Avenue, at half-past two o'clock.

With Mr. Cook as president the other members of the executive are: Vice-president, Dr. A. Bramley-Moore; treasurer, A. J. G. Macduff; secretary, H. F. Swift. Members of the general committee are: W. G. Attridge, H. H. Boyd, F. J. Eveleigh, V. F. McAdam, C. T. Russell.

Adventure Behind German Lines

Ray Milland and lovely Barbara Britton in a scene from the adventure-filled romantic story, "Till We Meet Again," which opens at the Monkland United Theatre on Saturday.

"Irish Eyes are Smiling" New Technicolor Musical

Sure and from the sight of the fun-filled shenanigans starting at the York United Theatre Saturday and commencing Sunday at the Westmount United Theatre, it's a broth of a time local moviegoers will be having with Damon Runyon's "Irish Eyes Are Smiling." The new Technicolor musical starring Monty Woolley, June Haver and Dick Haymes is true four-leaf entertainment from start to finish.

By this time, it's common knowledge that when 20th Century-Fox dips into the sweet nostalgia of the past, it ladles out giant scoops of richly-seasoned fun, peppered with excitement, blended with wonderful music, and all lavishly served up in gorgeous settings. "Irish Eyes Are Smiling" is no exception. It stands out as the most entrancing screen fare of the season.

The picture revolves about the life of Ernest R. Ball, America's greatest composer of sentimental ballads. Producer Damon Runyon and Director Gregory Ratoff have taken rich advantage of the riotous color and brilliant times in which he lived—the razzle-dazzle era of gay Broadway at its gayest—as the setting for this fast-moving romance of hot-headed Irish sweethearts and the flaming melodies that have always topped America's hit parade.

Monty Woolley is cast as the fabulous man-about-town, Edgar Brawley, former gold mine operator, race horse owner, snake oil salesman and get-rich-quick specialist who walks backwards into the lives and romance of Mary "Irish" O'Brien and Ernest Ball. The part is tailor-made to fit Monty Woolley and he plays it to the hilt in one of the most enjoyable performances of the year.

Lovely June Haver, who scored a signal success in "Home In Indiana," comes into her own in "Irish Eyes Are Smiling." June is seen as Mary "Irish" O'Brien who can deliver a sweet note or a telling sock in the eye with equal facility. That Haver gal has everything it takes for top-of-the-screen stardom, and if this film is any indication, she has already arrived.

June's romantic interest in the film is Dick Haymes in the role of Ernest Ball, the singing-composer who rose from obscurity to the toast of Broadway. Together they make as well a "team" as you've seen in a long time. In addition to a great voice, Haymes has a refreshing charm and solid acting ability that makes him a rarity among singing movie stars.

Anthony Quinn as a bet-a-million gambler; Beverly Whitney as a temperamental prima-donna, and the inimitable Maxie Rosenbloom as Stanley Ketchel, all provide wonderful performances.

W.V.R.C. Cadets Form Social Club Hold Lectures

On Tuesday evening a series of lectures and discussions will begin. These lectures are of special interest to women and girls in helping them plan their place in the community in the post war era.

Changes Made For Part-Time Work Of Housewives

Housewives may now be engaged for part-time jobs, for a period of up to three full work shifts in a week, without Selective Service permit, according to a statement recently issued by Arthur MacNamara, Director of National Selective Service.

Previously, Selective Service required permits wherever a housewife was being engaged for more than 24 hours employment in the week: the new rules permits employment without permit, even where the three full shifts total more than 24 hours work for the week.

Also in future it will not be necessary for an employer engaging a housewife for not more than three work shifts in the week, to secure permission of National Selective Service to advertise for this type of employee.

The new ruling arises out of an interpretation of "part-time subsidiary employment", which is regulations from permit requirements.

NEWS OF THE THEATRE WORLD

At The Monkland

Paramount's "Till We Meet Again," starring Ray Milland and Barbara Britton, which starts Saturday at the Monkland United Theatre.

Here is a romance of a distinctly new type—a love between a man of the world and a woman who lived in a world without men. It is also important for the light it sheds on the work of France's amazing Maquis—the almost untrained and unarmed army which liberated Paris unaided and is still writing new French history.

Brought together in this fine Frank Borzage production, Milland and Miss Britton make capital of their respective roles. The audience greeted with salvos of praise their fine characterizations which created an undercurrent of suspense throughout the film.

"Till We Meet Again" describes the thrilling escape of an American aviator through the French underground. Active in the movement are the nuns of a French convent, led by the Mother Superior, played by Lucile Watson. A young novice, played by Miss Britton is assigned the greatest share of responsibility with the duty of escorting Milland, the Air Force Captain, to the coast with important Nazi plans which are in his possession.

The Nazis, knowing that an American pilot is nearby, throw out a dragnet to effect his capture. In this connivance, the German colonel, Shayne, is abetted by a French collaborator, Slezak. Although the end seems in sight at nearly every turn, the American pilot's ingenuity and the nun's undying faith thwart Nazi plans, enabling Milland to reach England.

If audience reception is any criterion, "Till We Meet Again" seems destined to match the brilliant success of such previous Borzage hits as "A Farewell to Arms" and "Seventh Heaven." The romantic, stirring and adventurous film story is delicate and heart-warming but, above all, makes for good entertainment. From the opening scene the moviegoers' interest in this appealing story is immediately evident.

In Uproarious Comedy!

Ann Sheridan, Jane Wyman and Irene Manning in a scene from the outstanding comedy, "Doughgirls," opening at the Seville on Saturday.

Borzage's direction is magical as he creates the aura of stark realism in every scene, leading the actors into the proper channels and maintaining the highest order of efficiency throughout the whole production. The screenplay, written by Lenore Coffee and based on the play by Alfred Maury, gives ample opportunity for the players to demonstrate the versatility displayed in their characterizations. "Till We Meet Again" is a picture which should automatically be placed on all film-goers' lists.

Humorous Poetry

Our columnist, Dr. H. S. Ross, is giving a talk on humorous poetry on Saturday at the Citadel, on University Street, at 8 p.m.

Dietrich-Coleman featured in "KISMET" at SNOWDON Theatre

Ronald Colman and Marlene Dietrich head the cast of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's eye-filling new spectacle, the Technicolor film "Kismet," which will open Saturday at the Snowdon Theatre. Both are at their best in this celebrated story, Colman as the beggar-magician Hafiz and Miss Dietrich as Jamilla, queen of the dancing girls.

But M-G-M has not stopped with these two headliners. Splendid support is offered by James Craig and Joy Ann Page, a young newcomer about whom you are bound to hear much more; Edward Arnold, Hugh Herbert and the old reliable character actors Florence Bates, Harry Davenport and Hobart Cavanaugh.

"Kismet" is full of laughs, drama and color. It has spectacle, lavish dancing scenes and it has young love and more mature love. It is entertainment from the word "go," so take this corner's advice and make sure you get down to the Snowdon United Theatre during the run of "Kismet."

"Kismet" tells the story of Hafiz, the beggar-magician, who plots to have his daughter marry royalty. His schemes become involved when the daughter (Miss Page) meets and falls in love with a handsome young man she believes to be the palace gardener but who is in reality the Caliph himself.

From that point on the complications develop along the kind of entertainment lines that will keep you entertained and absorbed from fade-in to fade-out. Hafiz himself fall in love with the queen of the dancing girls and makes a "deal" with the Grand Vizier involving his own daughter.

Minesweepers

The annual meeting of the British Minesweepers Auxiliary will be held in Room 135, Windsor Hotel, on Tuesday evening at 8.30 p.m. Lieut. Ian Barclay, a navy commando, who has seen service in Dieppe, Sicily, North Africa and Normandy, will be the guest speaker. All interested in this important branch of the service are invited to attend.

NEWS OF THE THEATRE WORLD

At The Seville

That Warner Bros. possess a penchant for bringing to the screen those spots on the map where things are popping loudest is a fact long acknowledged by moviegoers throughout the land. Moscow ("Mission to Moscow"), Casablanca ("Casablanca"), Marseille ("Passage to Marseille"), are but a few of the cities, which read like a list of newspaper headlines, brought to the screen by Warner Bros.' cameras. The most recent case in point is "The Conspirators," which opens at the Seville United Theatre Saturday, starring Hedy Lamarr and Paul Henreid.

The Portuguese capital of Lisbon, transformed into a cauldron of romance and intrigue by a world at war, where spies and counter-spies, Nazis and anti-Nazis, soldiers of fortune and cringing refugees from the abattoir that was occupied Europe, rub elbows, is the stage for this absorbing mystery-romance and the pictorial journey into its seething environs is fraught with dramatic impact and emotional stimulation.

Besides Hedy Lamarr and Paul Henreid, as the lovers beset by the fortunes of war, "The Conspirators" also boast the presence of Sydney Greenstreet, Victor Francen and Peter Lorre, those sterling exponents of evil and crime who contributed much of the tension to Warners' recent "The Mask of Dimitrios."

Adapted from the widely read Frederic Prokosch novel of the same name, the film travels the identical highway leading to romance, adventure and sudden death as set down in the book.

Also on hand in finely etched portraits of protagonists of violence and crime are Joseph Calleia and Edward Ciannelli. Carol Thurston, youthful Warner starlet, contributes an effective portrayal of a Portuguese fishermaid who provides succor for the harried Paul Henreid. Monte Blue and Kurt Katch also furnish capable characterizations in lesser roles.

Founded by the legendary Ulysses, the city of Lisbon is prominent throughout the world as a prolific contributor to centuries of history. Known best as the city whose ports in 1588 sent forth the Spanish Armada to its doom in English waters, Lisbon is also noted as the metropolis that saw 15th Century discoverers Vasco da Gama and Bartholomeo Diaz sally out in search of new worlds; and as an oasis for victims of the present war.

Should your city's archives contain any events of historical or current significance don't be surprised if eventually such Warner Bros.' expositors of cinema artistry as Jean Negulesco, who directed "The Conspirators," for producer Jack Chertok; writers Vladimir Pozner and Leo Rosten and Max Steiner, contributor of the film's musical background, begin excavations for the purpose of screening your town.

NEW TRENDS IN MUSIC—NO. 3 The Solo Recital of Today

To be an artistic success on the concert platform nowadays one must be tops. Formerly one had competition, yes indeed, but the standards of bygone years cannot stand comparison with the merits one must possess to be famous today. There are so many celebrities before the public that competition is keener than ever before and the concert musician must have a good publicity agent as well as an energetic manager.

What goes into making the solo recital of today a success? A truly great artist is the answer. To which one will naturally ask. What makes a truly great artist? If he is a violinist he must possess purity of tone, fine expressive power, rich emotional values, a variety of feeling and no exaggeration in the interpretation of the composer's intentions.

Notable examples of artists who have all these qualities coupled with the greatest technical equipment are Jascha Heifetz, (who is playing here tomorrow evening), Yehudi Menuhin, Mischa Elman, Fritz Kreisler and Joseph Szigeti. These performers do not resort to platform tricks as the music speaks for itself and that is how the public judges them.

PIANIST

The piano requires different treatment and the pianist is usually judged by his own individual merits such as tonal balance, touch and control in his variations of speed. The many schools of pianoforte music also necessitate a great variety of touch as the older composers such as Scarlatti, Mozart and Haydn, wrote music for the harpsichord which, when interpreted on the piano produces a different effect.

Virtuosi like Witold Malcuzyński, (who gave a superb rendition of the Chopin Concerto in F minor with the Boston Symphony, last Saturday over the air) Alfred Cortot, Josep Iturbi, Vladimir Horowitz, Artur Schnabel and Alexander Bralowsky (who gave a marvellous exhibition of pianistic art last Thursday evening in Montreal) are all very different but equally famous.

VOCALISTS

And now the vocalist! The concert singer is so far removed from the operatic performer that often a famous opera star will embark on a concert tour and not make a success of the venture. He has not acquired the knowledge of how to "put over" a song on the recital platform. The opera singer is quite often too dramatic, whereas a good concert singer avoids this common defect. A recitalist who exaggerates the songs loses the interest of the audience and the result is that he is not re-engaged.

Some singers, like Nelson Eddy and James Melton, are fortunate that they can sing any type of song equally well. First and foremost a solo vocalist on the concert stage must have quality of voice, also natural breathing and good pitch, clear diction, balance and contrast, and a pleasing presence. A singer must also know how to build a well proportioned program in order to hold the attention of his listeners. A badly balanced song program is much worse than an instrumental one.

Outstanding concert singers include Nelson Eddy, Thomas L. Thomas, James Melton, Gladys Swarthout, Lily Pons, Igor Gorin,

Paul Robeson, Jeannette MacDonald and many others. A famous artist said, "To get to the top one must work very hard, and to stay at the top one must work twice as hard". Next week, Number Four in this series will be, "Technical Equipment."

Pee-Wee Section Play-Offs See Greens, Panthers Meet Tomorrow

The play-off hunt in pee-wee sections of the Westmount Municipal Hockey League is rapidly reaching a climax, with the various champions slated to play each other in a series of two games total goals to count affairs that will finally decide the winner in the whole city.

Two titlists have already been declared, the Greens are the champions in the Western or St. Leo's group, while the Panthers copped the honours in the Prince Albert or King's section. As it happens the luck of the draw matched these two teams up, and they will meet in the first of a two games total goals to count series at Westmount Park to-morrow afternoon, starting at two o'clock. The second game of this series will be played at the St. Leo's rink on Monday afternoon, starting time four o'clock.

The other half of the bracket will see the winners of the King George or Roslyn section meeting the winners of the Staynor or Queen's section. At the present time the Grosvenors and Boulevards are still in the running in the King George section, while the Coryettes and Eagles are battling it out in the Staynor group.

The championship of the Westmount Municipal Hockey League will be decided when the winners of these two brackets meet in another two games total goals to count series. This has been one of the most ambitious pee wee programmes in the history of the league, with some 14 teams playing a full schedule of games, but the race has now narrowed down to four clubs, or at least it will be by the time this paper is printed.

The Greens of the Western section was the first section titlist of the season. The Greens downed the Reds in both games of their two games total goals to count series, the winners copped the first fray 3-1 and then came back with a 4-3 victory in the second tilt. This gave the Greens a 7-4 edge in the series.

The Panthers also won both ends of their two game series with the Rinkydinks, the Panthers won the first one 5-1 and the second 3-0. Carl Burton was a one-man team for the Panthers. Burton scored all five goals in the first game and notched two more in the second tilt. Don Smith scored the Panthers' other tally, while Bob Bunten notched the only goal of the series for the Rinkydinks.

One of the biggest surprises of the season took place in the first game of the play-offs in the King George when the Grosvenors, winners of all six league games, were held to a 4-all tie by the Boulevards. The teams met again on Wednesday in the second game of the series, with the winner going on to represent their group against the winners of the Staynor section. This King George-Staynor series will start on Tuesday afternoon at the Roslyn rink, the second game of the series is scheduled for the Staynor rink on Thursday afternoon, February 22.

Four players split up the scoring honours in the first game of the play-offs between the Grosvenors and the Boulevards. Ian Doig and Bill Pettie scored two each for the Grosvenors, while John Ferrabee and McDonald accomplished a similar feat for the Boulevards.

The Staynor section playoffs got underway on Wednesday afternoon, the second game was slated to be played yesterday afternoon. Both games were to be played at the Staynor rink with the Corvettes and Eagles the contending teams. As mentioned above, the winner of this series will meet the winner of the King George section in a two-game series starting this Tuesday at the Roslyn rink.

Q.A.H.A. Minor Series To Start

The island wide playoffs in the Q.A.H.A. Minor series will start this coming week, Wednesday, February 21, and as usual Westmount will be represented by bantam, midget and juvenile teams.

This year the luck of the draw has the local clubs meeting the strong N.D.G. outfits, so that the outlook is rather pessimistic, although Doug Alexander's juvenile Eagles may upset the apple-cart.

The Golden Eagles' representatives, as champions of the juvenile and midget "A" sections of the Westmount Municipal Hockey League, will represent Westmount in their respective groups but the bantam representative has not been decided yet. St. Leo's and Panthers were slated to meet this week, if St. Leo's win they may not go any farther, this has been their method of procedure in other years, so that the Panthers would enter the playoffs whether they cop the local honours or not.

Present plans call for the Westmount and N.D.G. teams to meet at the Willibrord rink in Verdun on Wednesday night, February 21. At the same time, games involving Verdun teams will be played at the Westmount Park rink on the same evening.

Westmount Junior High -NOTES-

by Joyce Hicks and Hector Porter

The girls' last inter-school basketball game was played Tuesday, February 6, at Strathern. The team started out in high spirits, thinking of the half holiday they were sure to win. Overconfidence was their downfall, and the "A" team lost the two necessary baskets. For the first time since Miss Smith's coming to W. J. H., the girls lost the championship.

Mr. Murray, school psychologist, has been busy arranging trips of interest for ninth year students. February 5 was the big day, with Dean Hall telling us of the many fields open to those interested. Movies afterward lasted until noon. In the afternoon selected groups visited hospitals, schools, factories, etc. Everyone enjoyed it, and Mr. Murray expects to set aside a day in the next three or four months for lectures, movies and trips. All this is an effort to give us an idea of what we are best suited to do with our future.

The boys' inter-school jumping competition was held on Tuesday on the "Junior Jump" on Westmount Mountain.

Wednesday saw a double-header basketball game, W.J.H.S. was successful in both games. The Juniors beat Montreal West 28-17 and the exhibition team defeated West Hill 24-18. The Junior Hockey Team lost the decision to Verdun on Thursday 5-4.

On Friday the Senior "B" Hockey Team played Montreal West. Westmount lost 4-2.

GUIDE NOTES

TALENT NIGHT 34th. Co.

A successful Talent Night was given by the 34th company in the hall of Dominion Douglas Church on Monday, February 5.

The show opened with the singing of the National Anthem and Guide Prayer, followed by "Onward, Girl Guides, Onward."

Barbara Chambers introduced Miss Mary Moxon, the Captain, who welcomed the guests. Miss Moxon then presented the Westmount District Commissioner, Mrs. W. J. Hyde, who spoke briefly on "Thinking Day" and the Thinking Day Fund which has been established to assist in the rebirth of Guiding in liberated countries.

Every girl in the Company took part in the programme which followed. Piano solos and duets were given by Frances Samner, Liane Rorkett, Judy Cliff, Anne and Barbara Corbett, Ruth Steeves, Barbara Chambers, Harriet Abbot-Smith, Betty Cowling and Marilyn Ellis.

Recitations were given by Daphne Atchison and Catherine Sewall; songs by Dona Johnston, accompanied by Harriet Abbot-Smith; Barbara Chambers, Elizabeth Munroe and Eleanor Grant played selections on Tonette pipes, and the Poppy Patrol sang "Don't Fence Me In". Demonstrations of Guide work were shown with Knots by Elizabeth Munro and Babette Radley and Morse by Alison Arbuckle, Sonia Robertson and Barbara Holden.

The Shamrock Patrol produced an amusing skit "Waltzing Matilda" and an entertaining radio skit was given by Ruth Steeves.

Golden Eagles Will Face N.D.G. This Wednesday

Dougie Alexander's Golden Eagles' juveniles appear to be well on the way to their fourth consecutive championship in the Westmount Municipal Hockey League. The Golden Eagles eliminated the Unity Boys' Club team in two straight games to gain the right to represent this city in the Q.A.H.A. playoffs and now they hold a three goal lead over the Claremont Army club in the league title series. The second game of the Golden Eagles-Army two games total goals to count series was slated to be played on Wednesday.

The Golden Eagles will meet the champions of the N.D.G. section this Wednesday night, February 21 at the Willibrord rink in Verdun.

Goals by Ray Binmore, Warren Chippindale, Frank Read and Jim de Lalanne paced the Golden Eagles to their 4-1 win over the soldiers. L. Rowley saved the Army six from a shutout. This was one of the best and cleanest games of the season.

The Golden Eagles sent the Unity Club down to two straight defeats in the semi-final series. The champs won the first game at Westmount Park by a 7-1 score but had a much harder time at the Staynor rink where they had a battle on their hands before they won out 5-2. The losers were undermanned throughout the series and with a full complement of substitutes, they might have reversed the verdict.

Barbara Holden, Marilyn Ellis, Mary Mackinnon, Lyn Rutherford and Beverley Walker. A charade, where the word proved to be "mosquito" was acted by Barbara Chambers, Barbara Holden, Sonia Robertson, Ann Crombie and Lyn Rutherford. Jane Irwin did acrobatics.

After their easy victory at Westmount Park, the winners copped the Staynor tilt when Warren Chippindale notched three counters and Frankie Read came through with two more. Earle MacDonald and Fred Dejean scored for the Unity Club team.

"WHAT'S HOLDING THINGS UP?"

WE regret that thousands of applicants have had to "line up" for telephone service. Telephone equipment has been critically short because this is a "communications" war. And of course the armed forces, the government and war industries still move automatically to the head of the line; their needs come first. Only as material becomes available for less urgent needs can we take care of our waiting list, and on a first-come-first-served basis. We realize it's no fun having to "stand in line" this way. Applicants have been surprisingly cheerful about it—a fact we deeply appreciate. We just want them to know that we will be every bit as glad as they when we can once again meet every request for telephone service—fully and promptly.

THE HISTORIC STANLEY CUP (Continued From Last Week)

In 1904 the Little Men of Iron had reorganized and began playing under the title of Wanderers, a name that was to become as famous as the game of hockey itself. They entered competition auspiciously, and won a place in the Stanley Cup play-offs. Ottawa had eliminated Toronto Marlboros in easy fashion, and then began the long rivalry which existed between the silver seven, the barber poles and the red bands for many years. Only one game was played, however, in this first series between the two, and that ended in a draw, 5 to 5. There was ill-feeling between the two teams, charges and counter charges, and Wanderers finally decided to withdraw from further play. Ottawa then finished the season by beating Brandon, Man., handily, 8 to 6 and 9 to 3.

Era of the Ottawas

The Ottawas dominated the game for the next two years. In 1905 a team came all the way from the Yukon Territory to combat the northerners were no match for the finished play of the eastern champions, and went down by scores of 9 to 2 and 23 to 2. Not so easy, however, was Rat Portage. These lads from Kenora and vicinity, some of them wearing the new tube skates, gave the Ottawas a terrific battle, winning the first game 9 to 3, but losing the next two, 4 to 2, and 5 to 4.

Ottawa successfully defended the cup against Queen's University and Smith's Falls in 1906. The students were no match for the fast, tough men from the capital, losing 16 to 7, and 12 to 7, but Smith's Falls had turned out an excellent septette considering the size of the town, and in the first game gave the Ottawas a scare, holding them to a 6-5 score. The effort took a lot out of the Smith's Falls boys, though and the Ottawa team recovered from its over-confidence in the second game, and won 8 to 2. The trophy passed to Wanderers at the end of the season, however, by virtue of having won the championship of the Canadian Hockey Association, and defeating the Ottawas in the process.

Upset by Kenora Thistles

The biggest upset in cup history, to date, occurred in 1907, when Kenora Thistles came down to Montreal and took the famous Wanderers by scores of 4 to 2 and 8 to 6. Later the same season a return series was played at Winnipeg between the teams, Wanderers winning the first game 7 to 2, and losing the second 6 to 5. As only two games were called for under the agreement, Wanderers were declared winners of the series on a round-score basis.

Wanderers had reached the zenith of their fame in 1908, as they swept through their league matches, and humbled three famous teams in cup matches, Winnipeg Maple Leafs were the first challengers and were disposed of, 11 to 5, and 9 to 3. Toronto went down in a sudden-death game, 6 to 1. Edmonton were much better than the other two challengers, splitting a two-game series, but losing on a total-goals agreement.

Edmonton challenged again in 1909, but lost to Wanderers who were later defeated by their old rivals, the Ottawas. Ottawas de-

St. Leo's To Meet Panthers For League Crown

The bantam title in the Westmount Municipal Hockey League rests between the St. Leo's Academy club, last year's champions, and Ross Gillingham's Panthers, newcomers to the bantam section this season. Each of these two clubs captured a game in the first two of the best of three series and the third tilt will be played tonight at Westmount Park at seven o'clock.

The Panthers eliminated the Golden Eagles from the title hunt last week when they downed Bob Beal's team 4-0 in a sudden death game to decide which team would oppose Andy McGillias' students. When the Panthers and St. Leo's did meet, the students took the first fixture 2-0 only to see the Panthers even up the series with a 2-1 overtime victory on Saturday afternoon.

Bob Orr was a standout in the first game of the final series, notching both goals for the St. Leo's team. The second game of the series was a hard fought battle with the Panthers grabbing off a one goal lead in the first period when John Choyce capitalized on a misplay by the St. Leo's rearguard to score the first goal of the game. Arthur Lallemand evened up the count in the late minutes of the third period when he stickhandled through the Panthers team to score on a brilliant individual effort. The winners notched the winning counter in the first five minutes of the overtime session when Eddie Lafontaine banged in a rebound off Desjardins' pads.

Three goals by John Choyce and another for good measure by Bob Forrest were enough to give the Panthers their 4-0 verdict over the Golden Eagles in the sudden death game for the play-off spot.

St. Leo's Midgets Down Tornados

Yves Hudon's St. Leo's Academy team hold a one game edge in the best of three series to decide the championship of the midget B section in the Westmount Municipal Hockey League. The students downed Richard Lord's Tornados in the first game of the series on Saturday afternoon at Westmount Park by a 2-0 count. The second game of the series will be played tonight at the Staynor rink, starting at seven o'clock.

If a third game is necessary, it will staged at the Westmount Park rink to-morrow afternoon. Goals by Bernard Gatto and fended the trophy successfully early in 1910 against a third Edmonton team, but had to pass it back to Wanderers before the season was over. Wanderers then beat a team from Berlin, N.H., first American challengers.

The Ottawa-Wanderer rivalry was renewed in 1911, when the Senators took the battered mug back to Bytown.

The year 1912 marked the entry of the Quebec Bulldogs into Stanley Cup competition. A team which included Chubby Power, later to become famous in politics, won the championship of the professional National Hockey Association, and later defeated Moncton, champions of the Maritime professional league.

Quebec repeated in 1913 in the N.H.A., and successfully turned back the Sydney, N.S., team in the only cup series of the year.

Y's Chats

The Preps had a grand feed two weeks ago, and want to thank three people who helped tremendously in making the night a success. Mrs. Donnelly donated ice cream and cake to the menu. The boys enjoyed it very much and went around to her house to let her know. Mrs. Gaspard helped serve the feed, so that no one had to wait for his share. That was a big help. Bob Beal did his share on the gym and in the pool. Altogether these three contributed largely to the success of the evening.

The preps are again looking towards another successful night this week.

Brad Henderson was on the job Saturday, so now the preps can have a full morning. Not only gym and swim—but crafts, clubs, and extras.

Juniors and Intermediates

The Juniors and Intermediates rolled envious eyes, but felt better when they found they too would be having a feed of their own—next Monday, in fact.

Basketball

The Junior team have played gamely but have been out-classed, so their score board is not high. The Intermediate team has had a line of straight wins this year. They have won every game they have played and are in top place in the Inter Y.M.C.A. Basketball League. Tuesday, their last game, gave them a win over Central "Y" Intermediates. They will be rounding off the season with high doings.

Friday Night Group

The Friday Night group have had two grand nights this last week end. Friday a splash party and Saturday a sleigh ride. Thirty youngsters churned up the water

Emmett Gullfoyle gave the St. Leo's team their 2-0 margin.

The teams held a preview to their playoff series last Friday night when they met at the Staynor rink in a sudden death game to decide first place in the section standing. The St. Leo's club captured this game by a 5-1 count with Louis St. James topping the scorers with two counters. Others to score were Dave O'Meara, Hugh Peckham and Bernie Gatto. The lone Tornado's counter came from the stick of Ken Black.

THE MONTREAL CITY and DISTRICT SAVINGS BANK 1846 1944

Ninety-Eighth Annual Report

MONTREAL, FEBRUARY 12th, 1945.

To THE SHAREHOLDERS, Gentlemen,

Your Directors have pleasure in presenting the ninety-eighth Annual Report of the affairs of the Bank and the result of its operations for the Year ending December 31st, 1944.

The net profits for the year were $407,383.91 and the balance brought forward from last year's Profits Account was $145,899.84, making a total of $553,283.75. In addition to the usual quarterly distributions to its shareholders, the Bank contributed from this amount $16,900.00 to various charitable and philanthropic funds—independently of the sum of $9,875.00 interest on the Charity Donation Fund, distributed as usual—leaving a balance at the credit of undivided Profits Account of $256,383.75 to be carried forward to next year.

It is with deep regret that your Directors record the death of their esteemed colleague, Mr. Zéphirin Hébert, which occurred on the 19th of November last. Mr. Hébert had been a director of the Bank for over a quarter of a century and had rendered valuable service to the institution. We feel that you will share our sorrow at his loss.

The vacancy on the Board has been filled by the nomination of Honourable Henri Groulx. As usual, a frequent and thorough inspection of the books and assets of the Bank has been made during the year.

The Report of the Auditors and the Balance Sheet are herewith submitted.

D. A. HINGSTON,
