John A. Trudeau Dies In 94th Year

A lifelong resident of Bristol township, John Alexander Trudeau, died after an illness of a month, at his home in Bristol village on Monday night, in his 94th year.

He was born in the Maryland district of Bristol township, the son of the late Fabien Trudeau and Fanny Obrey. He lived at home with his parents until he was married to the former Elizabeth Armstrong of Bristol 66 years ago, at which time he came to live in the village, where he resided ever since. He worked at fencing and other farm work and in his younger years was renowned for the amount of work that he could do. His wife pre-deceased him in October, 1948.

Surviving him are five sons, Fabien of Saskatoon, Sask., Sydney and Thomas of Fitzroy Harbour, Ont., Louis of Quyon and Albert of Bristol; one daughter, Harriet of Bristol and one sister, Mrs. Patrick Trudeau of Wrightville, Que., also 10 grandchildren and seven great grandchildren. Four brothers and two sisters, pre-deceased him some years ago.

The funeral was held from his late home to St. Thomas Anglican church, Bristol, where the service was conducted by the rector, Rev. F. Lawlor of Quyon. Interment was in the Anglican cemetery at Norway Bay, the pall bearers being Allen Abbott, William Joseph Trudeau, William Armstrong, Russell Dean, Frank Riley and George Russell.

Another Bear Story

Bernard Sparling, Charteris, doesn't buy a rifle for nothing. The first time he took his 30-30 out he popped a bear weighing 300 lbs. Keep the good work up Bernard.

Rotarians Hear Bibby On Ground Observers

Flying officer Harold Bibby, Detachment Commander of the R.C.A.F., Air Defence Filter Centre at Brockville, was the guest speaker at the Shawville Rotary Club on Monday. The Officer outlined the purposes and activities of the ground observer corps. Volunteer citizens from all walks of life "spot" planes and pass on the information to the "radar screen" authorities who are the subsidiary arm of radar.

The R.C.A.F. is organizing "filter centres" from Newfoundland to Victoria, British Columbia. There will be between 26,000 and 30,000 volunteer civilian workers whose sole job will be to report any plane at a given time. Already observation posts have been established in Pontiac County. Our district supervisor is Rotarian Captain Arthur Winslow. Pontiac reports are transmitted by telephone to the headquarters at Brockville. Flying Officer Bibby informed Rotarians that the Brockville switchboard operators are able to handle fifty-one telephone calls every ten seconds. The centre is equipped with a large map representing the 16,000 square miles which comprise our Brockville area.

The Flying Officer urged the Shawville Rotary and other service clubs to help Canada's defence by "recruiting" more volunteer workers. A year ago, due to the alertness of a volunteer worker in the Breckenridge area, Brockville's filter centre was informed of an accident before the plane was actually crashed to the ground.

Captain Winslow would be happy to furnish information to all residents wishing to join the ground observer corps. Rotarian Roland Chretien thanked the speaker.

Visitors included members of the volunteer ground observer corps and Inspector William M. Munroe of the Department of Education.

Half Million Dollar Paving Project Nearing Completion

Asphalt To Bryson Assured For This Year As Hundred Men Speed Work

About fifty men employed by the Lakeshore Construction Co., are camped near Radford on highway no. 8. There they have their bunk houses and their cook house complete with cook and cookee. Their job in this area is to prepare the roadbeds for covering with asphalt. The job goes on all day and all night, for machines wear out each day and have to be rebuilt each night by full time welders, whose main job is the nocturnal rebuilding of worn crusher jaws and steam rollers.

Another nearly fifty men employed by the Dibblee Construction Company work on the roads from their headquarters at the west corner of Shawville. These men, for the most part, board in Shawville, though little is seen of them around town because their working day starts at six o'clock. Their job is the surfacing of the roads and there is every indication that they will finish the road all the way to Bryson this season.

The complete road job, including all the gravelling being done by Lakeshore Construction Company, the road bed work being done by Lakshore and the asphalt being done by Dibblee Construction Company, will amount to a cost of over half a million dollars.

One coat of asphalt is on the road to Murrells and the second coat is almost all on. By the end of this week the stretch of No. 8 will be finished and the mile and three quarters of No. 8 at Fort Coulange will be underway. Next week the street at Davidson will be done and a start will be made at Campbell's Bay. In two weeks, 3 streets at Bryson, the roads at Calumet Island, two streets in Quyon and two streets in Portage du Fort, three in Shawville will be under way.

The little unpaved piece of road from highway 8 to the Shawville High School will also be hard surfaced. A strip of 1500 feet at the church in Maryland and another of 2500 feet at Elmside will then be done. Strips at Stark's Corners and Bristol Brick will complete the job.

Gravelling has been completed from Campbell's Bay to Bryson, from Honeywell Corner to Portage du Fort, for 10 miles in Otter Lake and from Otter Lake to Clarendon Township. The Lakeshore Construction is now doing the gravelling from McKee to Bristol, through Norway Bay and back to Wyman.

Gravel and sand for the road job is being obtained from Cameron's pit in Shawville.

Alexander Holds Lead In Races

Gander Alexander is still holding the lead at the Beamish Hill Stock Car Races, even after an unfortunate series of mishaps in the mud last Sunday. Drawing races three, five and seven to race Shawville's ace driver spun out in race 3, came second in race 5 and lost control in race 7 when the steering housing in his car broke, so that he slid out over the end of the track and down a small embankment. The driver wasn't hurt and his car suffered no further damage but his overall score for the season wasn't helped much by the accident.

"Better luck next Sunday", says Gordon Alexander to himself, and if he ever should lose his hard earned lead in the stock car racing business, we understand he's dabbling in real estate which will probably support him in his old age. Get the geiger counter out, Gord, there may be uranium on lot 16-87 yet.

Rueckwald - Klink

A pretty marriage ceremony was solemnized in St. John's Lutheran Church, Ladysmith, on Saturday, when Elvura Wilhelmina, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Adolf Klink of Shawville, became the bride of Erhard Hermann Rueckwald of Ladysmith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Verner Rueckwald. The officiating minister was Rev. F. Lawlor of Quyon, Quebec.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, was attended by Helga Wilkon as bridesmaid and Ruth Klink and Sharon Rueckwald as flower girls. The best man was Maynard Bretzlaff of Ladysmith.

For the ceremony the bride chose a floor-length dress of white lace over satin in bolero effect, and her full length net veil was held in place by a coronet of white lace and seed pearls.

After the service, dinner was served in Hynes hall, and the young couple left for a trip to points in Eastern Ontario by motor. On their return they will reside at Ladysmith.

30th Anniversary

On Friday evening, September 11, the hall at Charteris was gaily decorated with blue and pink streamers, bright lights and music, when a reception was given in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Hodgins who celebrated their 30th Wedding Anniversary on that date.

Mr. and Mrs. Hodgins were the recipients of many beautiful and useful gifts. The presentation was made by Mrs. Henry McCord who with a few well chosen words, expressed the best wishes of the community towards the "Bride and Groom".

On behalf of himself and Mrs. Hodgins, Lawrence thanked their many friends and neighbors for their kindness and also wished them a very enjoyable evening. At the close of the evening a buffet luncheon was served to about 250 guests with Mrs. Gerald Lapointe and the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Hodgins as joint hostesses for the occasion.

Reverend Powles Preaches Here

Rev. C. H. Powles, who with Mrs. Powles and their two sons, John Mark and Peter, spent part of last week with their uncle and aunt, Dr. and Mrs. Powles, at Green Lake, was preacher at St. Paul's Church, Shawville, last Sunday morning.

Mr. and Mrs. Powles spent the last 5 years in Japan. During the coming year, Mr. Powles will do deputation work for the Missionary Society of the Church of England in Canada while doing post graduate study at Trinity College, Toronto.

School Notes

From Here & There

Grade eleven is being offered for the first time in the Ladysmith School as part of the local school board's plan to gain intermediate status for their proposed new school.

Mabel and Esther Erley, of Cawood, and Shirley Purdy, of Duhamel, are to receive Departmental bursaries to help their respective school boards defray the expense of providing first year high school instruction for them at their isolated schools.

Teacher shortage continues to be acute. Eight of Quebec's protestant classrooms did not open as scheduled on September 9, with little hope in several cases of any immediate change. Many boards have had to resort to untrained or partly trained persons to staff their schools.

Reginald Scobie, teacher of the Portage du Fort School who was recently awarded the Order of Scholastic Merit, is the subject of the feature article "Teacher of the Month" in the October issue of the Quebec Teachers' Association Magazine.

This & That

The single copy of The Equity is seven cents. For the benefit of all those people whose subscriptions have run out and who are not renewing, we are making arrangements with stores in every neighborhood to sell single copies each week. Wherever you see this sign in the window which says "Equity on sale here" you will be able to get your copy.

To further enable us to understand what the Councils are up to, we had to look up a word in the dictionary. The rest of you, of course, know what homologated means, but for the Equity staff we had to look it up in Webster's. It means "approved". How anticlimactic!

Edwin Pirie, father of George Pirie, who won the award at the Sherbrooke Fair, came into the office early this week to draw our attention to a mistake in our story about his son. We stated that George was the first English speaking calf club member to receive the honor. It so happens that both Erwin Hayes and Franklin Kilgour of Shawville, have previously won the awards and although after two years at college their French must be pretty good, I think they would still be classified as English speaking.

Sport is a border collie owned by Mr. James Howard of R. R. 2, Shawville. Last Sunday night at about 11:00 p.m. Sport killed his fourth fox of the year.

The Municipality of Clarendon, which considers such fox killings a benefit to the community, forthwith issued a check for $2.00.

How best to spend the extra two bucks presented no problem to the Howards. Naturally, they came and applied it towards their renewal to The Equity. We hope they all enjoy the paper for another year, including Sport, who, being a clever dog, will at least get something out of the new comic section which will be appearing soon in The Equity.

Once again Canadian living costs, as reflected in the official index, are on the way up. July was the third month in a row to show an increase, and the sustained rise has virtually wiped out the decrease registered through a six month period. Prices are just about back at the record high noted in December, 1951.

Food prices are not responsible for the increase in July. Other goods and services were responsible. This means that farmers were pinched between rising costs and falling prices, which is a painful position to be in. Although there is hushed speculation about the dangers of a recession we are still wrestling with inflation.

Anonymous Gifts Of Linen Still Coming In To Hospital Auxilliary

The Shawville Hospital Auxiliary met in the pent house of the hospital on September 8. Mrs. A. H. Horner the president was in charge of the meeting. Mrs. Mason, assisting her, the secretary being absent.

The Lord's Prayer was repeated in unison. The minutes were read and approved. A report was given by Mrs. Kelly, showing that $24.78 had been raised by the sale of articles from the show case.

Moved by Mrs. R. G. Hodgins and Mrs. Kelly, that each member bring a donation of some handworked article to the Auxiliary at the meeting in October.

This month will bring to an end our effort to raise funds by circulating the shirts with patches. The response to our effort is gratifying as depicted by the weight of the shirts and the additions to the bottom that have been required.

Due to the time that has elapsed since we started this project, we find that it will be unsuitable weather to have a tea on the hospital lawn. However, announcements will soon be made regarding the amount collected and other arrangements. The fourteen members present, at this meeting mended 45 articles. The cutting out convener, Mrs. W. C. Schwartz and her committee have been very busy with new material. Collection amounted to $1.45. There were $3.55 of hand-work sold.

Mr. Anonymous still favors us with his much appreciated generosity. This month one of our faithful members brought seven pair of sheets and 13 pair of pillow cases, beautifully finished, made possible by this donor. Other articles brought in, included stuffed animals, baby jackets and knitted articles. Mrs. A. McDowell moved that the meeting adjourn.

Mrs. A. H. Horner and Mrs. Langford served refreshments.

In the west they are called "sitters" and there is no stigma attached to the term. That is just what they are. They are not trained teachers but just good natured people who have been coaxed into the position of taking a classroom where no regular teacher is available. Depending entirely upon the intelligence and endurance of these sitters, the class either progresses or not. It is quite possible that an untrained woman might do a much better job of teaching a roomful of children than a woman who has had all the training in the world. So much depends upon the personality of the person. Children learn more by example than is generally realized and will take the same attitude toward their work as their teacher takes toward her work. They will adopt the mannerisms and prejudices of the teacher and these are not things that are taught at any teacher's college. The speech of the teacher will be mimicked and her facial expression will be mirrored by the children who watch her for so many hours each day. The state of her nerves will have a direct effect on the degree of tension in the classroom. A "sitter" who is calm and pleasant, speaks correctly and loves her work will be an asset in any classroom and no parent needs to worry too much if his child has such a substitute for a teacher. Of course the ideal to attain is for each classroom to have such a person in charge who also has had the proper training in subject matter and teaching techniques. Eventually this will come, but not until those teachers we now have can put over the idea to high school students that the profession of teaching is not only the most important profession in the world but can be just as exciting as you want it to be. Meanwhile, we have "sitters", who we salute for their pluck.

They went to the Fair. Or rather, she went to the Fair. He revisited the old Manning Pool where twelve years ago he had been greeted into the Air Force. Together they walked along Lakeshore Boulevard. She saw the Peace Monument, the York pioneers cabin, the Hanlan Memorial. She was impressed by the high diving exhibition on the waterfront, and the water ski show and the outboard motor boat competitions. He was reminiscing, not without certain relish, upon those days when a stroll along the lakeshore was a big treat away from barracks, with always a pretty girl to flirt with.

They sauntered through the Dominion Gates. Well, she sauntered. He just drifted, with memories of guard duty—and remember that time the new recruits had just arrived, and we challenged them at the gate—and the time they paraded us out on the square right here and loaded us into trucks for a very welcome trip to Hamilton. She saw the women playing softball in the international championship games—he saw them too but their athletic figures were all but obliterated with memories of thousands and thousands and thousands of men in blue uniforms covering the ball park and the area where now they beheld a beautiful display of rose gardens.

At the Automotive building, they went up to the mezzanine floor where she took a look at a fancy Rolls Royce with a built in bar and telephone communications between driver and passengers, and examined the safety education display where a miniature village is equipped with real traffic lights and little cars for pre-schoolers to learn the rules of the road. Where was he? Gazing down upon the main floor. Cars, jeeps, station wagons, trucks and accessory exhibits covered the area where once had been thousands of brown-painted double decker beds, each containing two AC2's receiving a course of inoculations against Scarlet Fever.

Before they left the Toronto Exhibition grounds, she turned for a last look at milling throngs of pleasure seekers and curiosity hunters, all out for a thrill at the biggest Fall Fair in Canada (except, of course, the Shawville Fair). He turned for a last glance too, but what he saw she'll never know.

P.S. I Caught Two Fish

By The Editor

Nistowiak means "the meeting of the waters" and for us it was also the meeting of the peoples. From Consort, Alberta from Gananoque, Ontario, from Shawville, Quebec and many other points across Canada, writers and type setters met with Crees and Metis and North Saskatchewan woodsmen for an experience they would never forget. On the way home, an artist from Ottawa asked me what impressed me most of the whole trip. With a brush and a few colors I could have told him. With a clear trumpet sound right out of a Haydn concerto I could have told him. But words were at a loss. It was something about the clean shininess of the trout as they came out of the water into the sunshine; something about the tremendous amount of vigorously fresh air which forced itself into our lungs—you see words can't cope with the situation. In words I can say that the Indian guides were wonderful—sure among the reefs and sure along the trails—but wonderful is such a battered old word that the real wonder is gone out of it.

One young Indian lad held a group of hardened printers and publishers entranced as he unveiled his family tree. One grandfather was an Irish trapper, the other grandfather was a French logger. Both grandmothers were Indian Squaws, and each carried one of the lad's parents on her back until they learned to walk. The boy himself looked as if he had sprung out of the rocks and stumps which surrounded him in that northern fringe where woods and water meet.

There it is in words, and here is the whole story from start to finish, as well as I can tell it.

Post Convention Fishing Trip

After the convention in Saskatoon, twenty one hardy newspaper editors left that beautiful city for points north as guests of the Province of Saskatchewan. Having been forcefully impressed with the prairie nature of one part of the province, we were surprised and delighted to find vast forests and giant lakes in the northern part. We left Saskatoon by bus early Sunday morning, lunched at Prince Albert as guests of Hon. J. H. Brockebank, Minister of Natural Resources and arrived at La Ronge in time for supper. The various outfitters of Lac La Ronge took us to their fishing cabins and fixed us up with rods and reels for the morning.

From a wonderful sleep, we were awakened at six-thirty to take to the boats. There was a guide and boat for every three of us and the trip from the village of Lac La Ronge to the other end of the lake took several hours. In our particular boat the guide was a Cree and right in the middle of the choppy lake, with a storm threatening, the motor conked out. Our Indian guide got out a screw driver and dismantled the whole motor, carefully placing screws and bolts all over the boat, and then reassembled it. One of our passengers showed signs of panic but Scott of the Gananoque Reporter took it in his stride and for Dickson of The Equity it was all in a day's adventure.

At the far end of the lake we came upon what is probably the shortest railway in the world (Austin Cross please note). For less than a mile across the hump ran a standard gauge rail road with regular steel rails. This railway is the D.N.R. Department of National Resources built it and the last spikes were driven home as newspaper editors from all over Canada stood and watched. The carriage is a small flatcar fitted to hold one boat. Power is manpower as the guide and occupants of each boat walk along the ties and push their boat from Lac La Ronge to Iskawatikan Lake. We were lucky to have the railway portage ready for us. Pushing the boats along the rails was a big enough job as it was. Carrying them over the rough ground would probably have ruined some of us for the rest of the day.

On Iskawatikan we sped from one end to the other, shooting rapids on the way. This rapids shooting business is no small feat. We were redistributed after the portage so the guide on my boat going through the rapids was a medical student from Saskatchewan University who seemed to know the lake bottom as well as any Indian might. After the rapids we fished. For me it was the first time I had ever even held a rod and reel in my hands except to load them into the car for the men in the family, but from now on it's likely to happen often. Fishing, in case you didn't know it, is fun.

After an all too short period of fishing we were given lunch from one of the Fire Fighters "Ten Men for a Day" boxes. This lunch was prepared on the shore by Don Snowden, Supervisor of the Tourist Branch of Saskatchewan and his lovely wife, Jill. These "Ten Men for a Day" boxes are made up by the Provincial Forestry Branch and were donated through the courtesy of the Saskatchewan Department of Natural Resources. Supplies of these are kept at Lac La Ronge for Saskatchewan's north. Among those who frequently use them are the Provincial smoke jumpers, the crews who parachute into the forest areas when fires threaten.

Each box contains ½ pound of cheese, 3 cans pork and beans, 2 cans sausages, 2 boxes instant potato, 4 cans beef stew, 4 cans tomatoes, 2 can fruit, 3 cans corned beef, 1½ pounds of coffee, 2 pounds butter, 2 pounds jam, ½ pound whole powdered milk, 1 pound sugar, salt and pepper and 30 cakes of pilot bread. Eight loaves of bread supplement the boxes. Tin plates and forks and spoons and knives are in the boxes as well as pans to heat the food. The fire fighters are supposed to have sausages and potatoes with bread, butter, jam, coffee, milk and sugar for breakfast, beef stew, potatoes, tomatoes, bread, butter, fruit, coffee, milk and sugar for their hot meal and the double lunch they get for the fire line is corned beef, pork and beans, tomatoes, bread with jam, cheese, butter, coffee, milk and sugar. The newspaper editors ate ravenously and cleaned out the whole box in one grand meal.

After eating we hiked over Indian trails to take a look at Nistowiak Falls. Some of us had seen Niagara and other much advertised beauty spots but no one could say they had ever witnessed such splendors of nature unspoiled as were seen at Nistowiak in northern Saskatchewan up above the 55th parallel. After the Falls we trudged through the forest, through rain which had just started to fall, until we came out upon the Churchill River. Two fishermen who had flown up were fishing from the shore, casting long lines out into the bubbling river. We scrambled down the slippery rocks and watched for a while and then hurried back to our boats to get on with our own fishing derby. From one o'clock until three we cast and trolled from our open boats moving from calm bay to calm bay over the choppy lake. The biggest fish of the day was caught by John Pinkney of the Rosetown Eagle and most of the other fish caught were returned unharmed to the water.

Back through the rapids, over the railway portage and across the huge lake La Ronge, we arrived after dark, a cold hungry crew of newspaper people if ever towards their second star. The Registration Fee of 35c was only received from 16 of those present, some having forgotten to bring it. Unless you are registered you are not a member. The names of the Registered Cubs for 1953-54 is shown in the Gazette.

The Scout Mothers Auxiliary of Quyon have had their annual meeting and the new officers are shown in the Gazette. They advise that it is their intention, as their first Public "Good Turn" to go on duty at a First Aid tent at the Quyon Fall Fair. This organization has always done excellent work in backing their Scout Units and we are looking forward to hearing more from them during the coming year. It was through the good work of the new President that Scouting was initiated in Quyon, and this centre has jumped right ahead, having now three Units with a strength in the neighborhood of eighty boys. Nive going Quyon and Good Hunting in 1953-54.

The dinner was served at the Department of Natural Resources Camp Grounds Site by the courtesy of La Ronge Red Cross and Burns & Co. Ltd. The dance they did was for all the world an Irish jig—not the way it is danced at the local county fairs, but the way it is danced traditionally in Ireland. The music was violin, tuned low and played in first position by an Indian with an unerring ear for music, and guitar strummed cowboy fashion. The Saskatchewan Government Trading Store donated a woodman's sweater to the winner of the fishing derby and after much merry speech making and singing we went to our cabins for the night. As a thank you gesture we collected enough money to buy the village of La Ronge two curling stones to help with their winter sport program.

The morning came too soon and meant another long bus trip back to Saskatoon. On the way we joined another busload of less hardy but still perking post-convention holidayers who had been golfing at the beautiful resort of Waskegiu. Between our fishing stories and their golfing stories, and the fun of seeing real buffalo grazing, we were in Saskatoon in no time. Next stop was the railway station and each went his own way to whatever corner of Canada he worked in.

It takes innate intelligence to be a friendly people and it was concluded by all those who took the trip that the people of northern Saskatchewan are strong in both these qualities. Newspaper people are analytical. It's not too easy to impress them, particularly as a group. But I can say truthfully that everyone who went fishing at Lac La Ronge, who saw the falls at Nistowiak, who shared in the Arctic Grayling Barbecue Dinner, was tremendously impressed.

The first meeting of the Fall session of the Wolf Cubs was held on Wednesday at the Fair Grounds. Akela being sick, the parade was in charge of Bagheera and Baloo. It was a re-organization meeting more than anything else, but a few games were played one of which included the Fireman's Lift. The biggest trouble with that was the chap who was being carried would let himself loose and tried to help his carrier. Two new Chums were accepted into the Pack and they both intend to have their Tenderpad by next week to get their Neckerchief. Any new boys wishing to join should get their application from Akela or the Commissioner so it can be signed by one of his parents. There were only about twenty out to the meeting so the organization of new Sixes was postponed until next week. Akela says she is going to make Sixers only out of those who are well advanced

Lower Leitchfield Cemetery Appeal

At the United Church in Lower Leitchfield is a cemetery, where are laid to rest many of the pioneers of Clarendon, Portage du Fort and Leitchfield.

This cemetery has passed the Century mark by a quarter of a century. It was sadly neglected for several years except for an occasional bee.

In 1944 an appeal was made in

Cotnam - Kelly

Bethel Pentecostal Church was the recent scene of a double ring ceremony at the marriage of Miss Erma Jean Kelly, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John J. Kelly of Shawville and Mr. Basil Clifford Cotnam, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Cotnam of Pembroke, Ontario.

Rev. W. H. Krause assisted by Rev. E. Howard Kerr officiated in the church which was decorated with white and Queen Elizabeth Gladioli. Miss Joan Carey played the wedding music and the soloist was Mr. Glenn Carey.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attended by her sister, Miss Joan Kelly as maid of honor and Miss Marian Schwartz, Erma Little and Mrs. Norman Poole as bridesmaids.

Mr. Allen Hughes, of Almonte, was best man, and ushers were Mr. Woodrow Cotnam of Pembroke, brother of the groom, Mr. Edgar Schwartz, cousin of the bride of Shawville and Mr. Sterling Hobbs, also of Shawville.

The bride wore a floor length gown of white French lace and nylon tulle over a taffeta bouffant skirt. The strapless bodice was covered by matching bolero, designed with a Peter Pan collar and lilipoint sleeves. A pleated nylon tulle headdress adorned with seed pearls held her fingertip veil and she carried a white Bible with pink sweetheart roses and white streamers.

The maid of honor wore a Waltz length gown of romance blue net over satin trimmed with satin hoops. The strapless gown was covered by a short bolero of net over satin. She carried a bouquet of pink gladioli flowerlets and stephanotis.

The three bridesmaids wore fantasy pink dresses of identical design with matching headdresses and elbow length mitts. They carried bouquets of white gladioli flowerlets centered with pink roses.

The mother of the bride was attractively gowned in a street length dress of starlight shot taffeta with black velvet hat and matching accessories.

The mother of the groom wore a very becoming street length dress of purple faille taffeta trimmed with black velvet collar and matching accessories. After a reception at Pine Lodge Bristol, the couple left on a wedding trip to points in Ontario and Quebec.

For going away the bride chose a navy blue suit of English wool worsted and a white feather hat studded with rhinestones. Her corsage bouquet was of pink sweetheart roses. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Cotnam will make their home at R. R. 1, Pembroke, Ontario.

Among out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Cotnam, Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Cotnam, Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Cotnam, Mr. and Mrs. George Burgess, Mr. and Mrs. John Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Verner O'Brien all of Pembroke; Mr. and Mrs. Richard Kean, Mr. and Mrs. Herb Kelly, Major and Mrs. J. C. Little, Mr. Jack K. Emmerson, Mrs. Ken Cavers, Miss Rona Stockfish, Miss Helen Dodd, Miss Helen Grierson, all of Ottawa; Mr. and Mrs. Harry Kelly, Petawawa; Mr. Glen Carey and Miss Marie Hobbs of Toronto; Mr. and Mrs. Norman Poole, Montreal; Mr. and Mrs. Allen Carey, Campbell's Bay and Mr. Allen Hughes of Almonte.

the local paper for funds to improve this local burial place. This enabled the committee to erect a new fence, cut grass and weeds and consequently a man was hired for a few years following to care for these plots of ground which showed a marked improvement. However, owing to the ground being so rough, it was found that in order to have a permanent job some levelling must be done.

We were fortunate to secure a machine to do this work during the summer, but there is still a lot of hand work to be done and some tomb stones to be repaired.

The committee has made plans to finish the work this fall. Once more we make an appeal to the many persons who have ancestors or friends buried here to contribute to this work with the hope that our efforts will be successful and that this cemetery will soon have a more respectable appearance. To do this we must have contributions which will be used by the committee to their best ability.

All donations will be acknowledged through The Equity. We wish to thank all those who have helped with this work and to acknowledge the following donations.

Musical Program, $8.50; James McLean, 15.00; Sales (organ) 20.00; Leitchfield W.A., 30.00 with a total donations of $73.50.

The Committee, Mrs. Geo. Stewart, Sec.-Treas.

STONES AND BULLETS

The transmission lines on which all of us depend to get our electricity are inclined to take a beating in the early fall. Between the stones thrown by children—and sometimes by adults—and the bullets of hunters, insulators are broken and wires snapped each year.

Every broken insulator or snapped wire means an interruption of electrical service, which in turn means annoying trouble for somebody. And that somebody is often a friend or acquaintance of the person responsible for the trouble.

Persons who use electric wires for targets are poor friends indeed to their neighbors.

QUYON W. I.

The September meeting of the Quyon Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. F. R. Hutchison, Tuesday evening, with Mrs. Thomas Cain assisting. Eighteen members answered the roll call by giving their favorite recipe. There were also two visitors. Under the direction of president, Mrs. Shennett and secretary, Mrs. Joseph Steele, the routine business was taken care of and Mrs. Muriel Bronson, Quyon delegate to the 7th Associated Country Women of the World Triennial Conference, gave an account of the program on Canada Day at Toronto and of the pageant, "Dominion of Destiny" which was held in the evening.

Mrs. Hugh Summers was in charge of the afternoon which began with organ selections by Kathleen Stokes of the Happy Gang. The W. I. ode was then sung and the Mary Stewart Collect repeated and then the Hon. Stewart S. Garson, Minister of Justice, officially opened the meeting. The Junior Farmers' Choir of Oxford County sang several patriotic songs and the delegates from 27 nations, each dressed in her native costume, brought greetings.

Mrs. R. Sayre, retiring president of the ACWW gave a short address and introduced the new president, Mrs. A. M. Berry from Australia. The afternoon session came to a close with more songs from the Junior Farmers' Choir.

The pageant in the evening was a dramatic and musical cavalcade of the history of Canada from the days when the Indians were the only inhabitants until the present time. This pageant was splendidly done and made every spectator glad to be a part of this great organization of Women's Institutes, begun in 1897 by Mrs. A. Hoodless, to raise the standard of rural living.

Mrs. J. A. Steele and Mrs. M. Bronson attended the luncheon given by the Central Canada Exhibition at Ottawa Fair to over 150 ladies of Women's Institutes. Mrs. Steele gave a very interesting report of the afternoon. The guest speaker at the luncheon was Mrs. M. Ferguson who talked about England at the time of the Coronation. It was remarkable to Mrs. Ferguson how many of those she spoke to had gone to the Coronation from Canada. She found the English people felt they owed their great loyalty to our Queen because she was to them one who served her country just as her subjects in different lands should serve her. After Mrs. Ferguson's address, Mr. McElroy, Secretary-Manager, welcomed the guests and a very fine luncheon was served. All agreed that W. I. members are friendly wherever one meets them.

After Mrs. Steele's report, the exhibits for the Fair were brought in and also the used cotton for the Cancer Fund.

Mrs. Charles G. McFadden, active in Knox Presbyterian Church organizations at Ottawa for many years, died Sunday in hospital. She was 77 years of age.

Surviving are two daughters, Miss Edna, of Ottawa and Mrs. Ralph (Gladys) Baizana, of Sherbrooke, Que.; and one sister, Mrs. Mary Morris, of Sudbury. Burial was at Norway Bay.

I Remember

Further east along the old main road, (was then called Elmside) Irish Bob Campbell had a farm. He sold it to Ned Graham and started a general store which was a very successful venture. Ned Graham operated the first cheese factory about half a mile from the store. I drew milk to that factory later when A. W. MacKechnie operated it. There was a lot of milk delivered there from as far as Tom MacFarlands, about six miles west on the swamp line as far as the town, and from the east as far as Wyman Bristol Mines and from the south at Norway Bay.

At this cheese factory, the whey was run into a vat and a wooden pump delivered it to the cans for the return trip. A few years later he moved the factory to the present site, where it is now falling down.

Before leaving this road, I would like to mention a parish priest from Portage, Rev. Burnett. Times he would drive fifteen miles every time he was called to perform his duties—fifteen miles in those days without motor cars was not a small thing. I think he was responsible for the success of that fine parish at Elmside. He was respected by those of every creed as a wise and just and broad-minded man from accounts given to me by old residents of this community.

Township school No. 1, a branch of the first old school No. 1, was moved one mile south about sixty years ago or more. The School Commission sold it and left us in that neighborhood without a place to have our much needed meetings. The nearest place we had then was in the village three or four miles away. But the people still carried on. They had Sunday school in the edge of a bush on W. Cuthbertson's farm until the people built a hall and for a few years the School Commission hired teachers to accommodate the overflow of children.

At the old school at Silver Creek, we had some of the cleverest men and women that ever came out of a small community. Ministers, school principals, medical doctors, veterinary surgeons—wherever they went they made a good name for themselves. There were as many as eighty students in the one school and teacher allowed those who were going to become teachers to take some of the classes. Some of the early teachers I remember were Mr. Wilkison, Malcolm Blakely and Mr. Kinstry.

The east road out of Bristol was the old swamp line. One of the first settlers on this road was John Morrison who had a blacksmith shop on the edge of the road in front of his farm. They used to say of John Morrison that he made a part of an iron plow out of a thunder bolt which fell near the shop.

Next down the road was Will Cuthbertson and then Hugh McCredie, the tailor who had previously been a squatter on the main road. Settled on his farm, he still worked at tailoring and made clothes for the men of the neighborhood, who in turn worked on his farm for him. I have mentioned one of his sons Robert. The other son, Andrew, stayed on the farm and managed it and was also one of the outstanding public men. He started to thresh with an open cylinder tread power machine and then four horse power set about twenty feet from the barn and connected by a rod to the separator. Later he used a steam engine and lastly a tractor. He was a man of great humor, never used rude language and I don't think anyone ever heard him swear. If he had trouble with his machines or his men, the only word you would hear him say was "Ginger".

North of the swamp line were farms owned by George Valee and James Moyle. These men were near neighbors of ours and like all true Irish men they were real men. With them a "Yes" meant "Yes" and a "No" meant "No", and the last was very seldom heard. Across the road to the west was a man named Powers. The house will soon be gone and all the rest of the buildings have disappeared, but you can still see how the house was built with round logs, hand hewn. To look at the wall that is left one would think it had been sawn. Powers had a general store and blacksmith shop. The clerk in the store was Edward Hodgins, the founder of the W. A. Hodgins store in Shawville. He was a highly respected young man by all who knew him.

Another outstanding thing about that house was that it was the first place Mass was said in Bristol.

Now as I come to the end of my story of what I remember in the old days of Bristol, I must mention a few others who were in business at that time. Lang, who had the general store, Tom Sharpe, who was a supplier for the neighborhood, and then John Rennie, the blacksmith, where you could enjoy the news of the district while your horses were being perfectly shod.

And so ends my little three part story of Bristol in the early days and hope it has brought fond memories to some of the older readers of The Equity.

Ground Observer Corps

(By Captain A.C.F. Winslow)

The Regional Supervisor of Region No. 7 was accompanied by Chief Observers Bob Russell of Bristol and Don MacIntosh of Shawville posts and Gordon McMillan, the 2 i/c of Bristol, to a Regional Supervisors' Conference called by the Commanding Officer of the Filter Centre at Brockville on Sunday last. The area covered by this Centre covers Eastern Ontario and Western Quebec, going as far north as Belle Terre. This Area, No. 17, is a part of similar areas abutting each other from the Atlantic Coast westward.

Leaving at 0530 Hrs. Bob and his Co-pilot drove the new station wagon, arriving at 0930 Hrs. in time for the Conference. Regional Supervisors, numbering 17 were present from all over the area. Organization, Administration, Publicity and Identification were thoroughly discussed and a synthetic G.O.C. Exercise was shown on the Plotting Board. This latter was to show exactly what happens when an Observer phones in information regarding planes when he is on duty. It was all intensely interesting and all those present left with a feeling of an important duty that they were doing and how to do it to a better advantage.

Leaving Brockville at 1600 Hrs. Chief Observer Don MacIntosh took the wheel, and after calling at the home of his father, who very courteously had us to dinner, we continued on to Ottawa over back roads and highways. All was well until the compass or the stars went haywire and the pilot of the machine wound up in a ploughed field through which they intended to go for a short cut. After retracing our steps, Bob again took the wheel and got us all safely home at 2300 hours. There was also a new navigator.

While Region No. 7 has received recognition for work it has done, they have only been on duty when they have been alerted. Other Regions are on continuous Alert. All working in close touch with Radar Stations, all planes flying over this area are plotted and close touch is kept that unauthorized planes are not in the air.

Each member of the Corps will receive an insignia based on the RCAF Badge of which it forms a part, after it has been earned by the member concerned. This will require a thorough knowledge of the manual, how to make up forms and put through emergency phone calls to the centre. Each Chief Observer will keep a log of his Post and test his Observers making his recommendations to the Regional Supervisor when he considers the Observer is deserving of the Wings. A member wearing the Wings will be considered qualified. Each Post is to have enough Observers that they can man the Post 24 hours a day if necessary keeping two on duty together at the same time. In addition there must be someone appointed who is instantly available at any time, in case of an emergency, to stay on duty until he is relieved by a regular duty Observer. Each member has a card of Identity which he must carry at all times, by which he will be admitted to Observation Posts, Filter Centers and other secret installations of the Corps. The general feeling of the meeting was that considerable credit for the success of the work of the Corps is due to the telephone Supervisors and Operators who handle the calls as required.

Junior Tractor Competition

As a special feature of the Fair at Shawville this year there will be a safe tractor driving competition for young people of fourteen to twenty years old. Patterned off the contest held at Macdonald College this summer, the competition is being organized by Everett McDowell and Delmer Barber with the cooperation of the implement dealers in Shawville. Boys and girls wishing to enter this contest must contact Mr. McDowell (11-12) by Tuesday, September 22. Prizes will be announced later by the secretary, Mrs. Lawrence Young. The test will likely take place on Thursday, September 24.

The scoring of a tractor event such as this presents many problems but the judges will likely adopt that system used at Macdonald which was as follows:

Each contestant is allowed 100 points for safe operation and 150 points for driving in each event. Deductions are made from this total according to certain penalties such as failure to check gear shift in neutral before starting engine, failure to disengage clutch before starting engine, loose or flapping clothing on driver, unsafe or unnecessary use of wheel brakes, roughness of clutch operation or slipping of clutch, carelessness of operation, especially on turns (cramping wheels excessively, disregard of implement or tractor position which might lead to a dangerous situation at any point on the course), dismounting before the tractor has stopped. Other deductions will be made on each course for such things as touching the stakes outlining the course, not placing safety pins properly, moving the tractor forward and back to align the drawbar hole, distance away from loading platform when parked in loading test, extra stops and starts, and time used over the minimum for each event.

It is expected there will be and possibly finals in each class a lot of entries in these events will be run off the last day of the Fair. These details are still under consideration.

QUEBEC W. I.

Announcement of the two scholarships awarded annually by the Quebec Women's Institutes in the School of Household Science, Macdonald College, has just been made. Both go to girls from rural districts of Quebec, one of the provisions of these awards, and Miss Doris M. Hayes, Shawville, wins the Campbell MacFarlane Memorial. This was established in memory of the first Q.W.I. demonstrator and is based on highest standing in the first three years of the degree course at that School.

The second scholarship goes to Miss Constance A. Dunn, Lakefield. This is the Mrs. Alfred Watt Memorial, created three years ago in memory of the Canadian woman—who to the Institute to Great Britain and later became the first president of the Associated Country Women of the World.

Miss Dunn will be in the graduating class this coming year and Miss Hayes is entering the third year. The best wishes of the Q. W. I. go with them as they return to their studies.
