Shawville W.M.S.

Over a hundred members and friends attended the March meeting of Shawville Women's Missionary Society under the Presidency of Mrs. A. F. Fokes, as Secretary and Mrs. S. Langford, as Treasurer. In the devotional service scripture was read by Mrs. Norris Horner and missionary readings were given by Mrs. H. T. Argue and Mrs. Edgar Sereney. Splendid reports were given by the President of the recent Ottawa Presbyterian attended by herself and the Treasurer. In the business session mention was made of a bale of clothing and other articles to be sent shortly to the mission field and all the ladies were asked to gather together and send in suitable materials for this bale. The meeting closed with prayer by Mrs. A. F. Fokes.

M. A. McPherson, Department Of Finance to Speak Thursday Night

While it is impossible for Dr. Brittain, Dean of Agriculture to attend the Short Course in Agriculture at Shawville this year, the committee in charge have been exceedingly fortunate in securing the services of Mr. M. A. McPherson, of the Department of Finance, formerly Attorney General of Saskatchewan. Mr. McPherson has had quite an extensive public career in Canada and is a splendid speaker. He will speak the last evening of the Short Course on "The Farmers' Creditors Arrangement Act." Everyone interested is invited to attend the meeting and those who want to hear a thorough explanation of this Act, should certainly attend.

Former Clarendonians Celebrate Crystal Anniversary

On March 17th a very enjoyable time was spent when Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Glenn, Delburne, and Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Glenn and family motored to the home of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Glenn, Lonsana, Alta., to celebrate with them their crystal wedding anniversary.

A turkey dinner was provided and a three-tiered cake suitably iced and decorated with yellow butterflies centred the table.

After the dinner had been partaken of Mr. W. A. Glenn proposed a toast to the Bride and Groom which was responded to by Mrs. H. C. Glenn. A toast to the children, proposed by Mr. J. E. Glenn was fittingly replied to by Mrs. J. E. Glenn. A toast to the absent friends, proposed by Mr. H. C. Glenn, was responded to in a pleasing manner by Mrs. W. A. Glenn. Master Bobby Glenn proposed a toast to those present at this 15th wedding anniversary and Miss Alberta Glenn replied.

A recitation by little Pearl Glenn was nicely given, the children then sang, "The Little Brown Church in the Vale." This was followed by "Auld Lang Syne" in unison.

The bride was dressed in grey satin ankle-length gown trimmed with silver and coral, her wedding dress of 15 years ago. Mrs. J. E. Glenn presented the wedding bouquet.

The couple were presented with suitable gifts of crystal.

DEATHS

Helen Dawn Barr

Death came to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Elson Barr on Friday morning and took their little ten months old baby, Helen Dawn, who had only been ill for a few days. The funeral was held on Sunday afternoon at the home where a large number of sympathizing friends had gathered for the service which was conducted by Rev. A. F. Fokes, of Shawville United Church. He spoke from the words of Song of Songs, 6:2—"My beloved is gone down into His garden to gather lilies." The hymns sung were "When He Cometh," "See Israel's Gentle Shepherd Stands" and "Come ye Disconsolate." At the conclusion of the service the funeral proceeded from the home to Shawville Cemetery, where burial was made.

David Thompson

On Friday evening, March 29th, David Scott Thompson, prominent farmer of Clarendon Front, passed away at his home on the First Concession. He was born on Dec. 26th, 1882, son of Matthew Thompson, who predeceased him two years ago. The late Mr. Thompson had been ill for the past year with a nervous breakdown and other complications, which rendered him helpless, and in spite of all that medical science and loving care could do passed away on Friday. There is left to mourn his passing his aged mother and three brothers, William J., in Chilliwack, B. C.; Richard, in Flaxcomb, Sask., and Peter, of Clarendon Front. One brother and one sister predeceased him several years ago.

The late Mr. Thompson had progressive ideas in regard to farming which he carried on for the greater part of his life, having one of the best set of farm buildings in the Township, and at one time a very choice collection of thoroughbred cattle.

He was a member of St. Andrew's United Church, at Bristol, and his pastor, Rev. F. W. Taylor, conducted the service at the home Monday morning, assisted by Rev. Andrew Russell. Mr. Taylor spoke some very comforting words, basing these on John 14:2, "In my Father's house there are many mansions." The hymns sung were "Rock of Ages," "Jesus Lover of My Soul." The funeral cortege proceeded from the home to the cemetery at Norway Bay where the body was laid to rest in the family plot. The pall-bearers were Messrs. Everett Armstrong, Roy Macfarlane, Stephen Smith, Allan Abbott, Thomas Macfarlane and R. J. Cuthbertson.

William Orr

On Friday morning there passed away at his home in Clarendon, two miles south of Shawville, William Robert Orr, in his 61th year. The late Mr. Orr suffered a stroke in September from which he never recovered. During his long illness which he endured with patience and fortitude, he was tenderly cared for by the members of his family.

Mr. Orr was born in Weirstead, Bristol, in the year 1872 and for a number of years worked in the shanties or was foreman of the drive on the Ottawa River. About 25 years ago he settled on the farm where he dwelt until the time of his death. He was married to Miss Mary Emma Emmerson, who is left to mourn his loss. There are two children in the family, Mrs. Harold McCoy, of Stittsville, and Lawrence on the farm. His only brother is Mr. Thomas Orr,

A fire prevention expert recently stated that the fire loss on farms would be substantially reduced if a ladder were part of the equipment of every farm. A ladder kept in a convenient place makes any roof fire quickly accessible and provides the means for occasional inspection of chimneys and flues.

John Condie's Residence at Beachburg Destroyed

The home of John A. Condie, at Beachburg, was destroyed by fire on Friday night with damage estimated at about $8,000 partly covered by insurance. The fire started in the attic above the summer kitchen and the cause is unknown. Only the furniture on the downstairs floor was saved.

of Weirstead, Bristol, Que.

The funeral was held from his home to Shawville United Church where service was held by his pastor, Rev. A. F. Fokes, assisted by Rev. Downing of the Pentecostal Mission. A comforting sermon was preached from the text, Rom. 6:23, "The wages of sin is death, but the gift of God is Eternal Life through Jesus Christ our Lord"; and the choir sang as a special number, "I Shall Have Glory Untold." Favorite hymns of the deceased were sung including "Safe in the Arms of Jesus," "Abide with Me" and "Forever with the Lord."

The pall-bearers were:—Messrs. Frank McCoy, Clifford Kenny, Ellard Seabrook, John A. Hobbs, George Coles and Lyall Hodgins.

Among those from a distance present for the service were:—Mrs. J. Stephens, of Chapleau, Ont., Mr. Harold McCoy, Mr. and Mrs. Frank McCoy, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Kenny and Mr. Ellard Seabrook, all of Stittsville, Ont. After the service the funeral cortege proceeded to Maple Grove cemetery where interment was made.

William Dean

On Friday about noon there passed away one of the pioneer residents of the Township of Clarendon in the person of William Dean, of Stark's Corners, in his 82nd year, after a brief illness. He was born on the 8th of Feb'y, 1844, and was known throughout the countryside as a carpenter of ability. About 26 years ago he moved for the Summer to Norway Bay where he has spent every Summer since, building a number of the cottages there, many of which he owned at that resort.

He was a member of a family of ten, of whom there are living, John A. and Thomas, Mrs. Thos. Smiley and Mrs. James Wilson, all of Stark's Corners, and Mrs. A. S. Smart, of Edmonton, Alta. Four sisters and one brother predeceased him.

In 1880 he married Emma Kelly, who survives to mourn his loss, also four sons, James of Bristol Corners; Arthur, of Prescott, Ont.; Emmerson, of Bristol Mines, and Herbert at home, and one daughter, Mrs. James Mullins, Braeside, Ont. There are also a number of grandchildren and great grandchildren, many of whom were present at the funeral.

The funeral was held from his late home at Stark's Corners with service at the house conducted by Rev. J. W. Foote, of Ft. Coulonge Presbyterian church, in the absence of a minister at Stark's Corners. Floral wreaths on the casket were from the family and Stark's Corners Presbyterian Ladies' Aid. The text for the very comforting messages given by the minister was taken from Rom 1:16, "For I am not ashamed of the gospel of Christ; for it is the power of God unto salvation to everyone that believeth." The hymns sung were "The Lord is my Shepherd," "What a Friend we have in Jesus" and "Safe in the Arms of Jesus".

The pall-bearers were:—Messrs. Cecil Elliott, Robert Cartman, Harry Hobbs, Irwin Smart, Harry Palmer and Harvey Wilson. After the service interment took place in Stark's Corners cemetery.

SALARY IS SECOND

There are many categories of workers, public men, teachers, clergymen and doctors with whom money is a secondary consideration and for whom the challenge of the task is a much more powerful incentive to achievement than the most lucrative of bonuses. For which Heaven be praised!—Quebec Chronicle-Telegraph.

TIMES CHANGE

One reason why the rich are getting along without caviar is told by Neal O'Hara in the New York Post as follows: "Half a dozen years ago the Vanderbilt family's holdings in New York Central were valued at $29,000,000 and yielded an annual income of $1,160,000. Today the same shares have a market value of less than $2,750,000 without returning a cent of income."—St. Thomas Times-Journal.

"WOLF" HITLER

Now we know what is wrong with Hitler. It all comes from the fact that someone gave him the name "Adolph," which, according to Dr. Karl Plumeyer, a learned Berlin professor, is "an ancient and valorous name derived from the Edelwold or Noble Wolf, a victory-and-fortune-promising animal." There ain't any such animal. The wolf's reputation for nobility is non-existent. And his reputation for ferociousness, so far as the human race is concerned, is fake. Perhaps that is the fact with Herr Hitler, too. Perhaps he is busy howling at the world in the hope that, just as many uninformed folk are afraid of his howl, the world will be afraid of his howl. On the other hand, perhaps he really is ferocious and is just taking the name Noble Wolf as a disguise.—Sault Star.

WOMEN IN PULPITS

Opinion differ throughout Canada as to whether women should occupy church pulpits. Not long ago Manitoba ministers voiced their approval; the Middlesex Presbytery of the United Church of Canada, meeting in London, voted against the ordination of women. The decision was very close though, the standing vote being 40 to 38. The narrow margin points to a growing sympathy for women preachers.

Many churchmen contend that the fair sex is better fitted for the role of missionary or deaconess. Others say certain women would make excellent pulpit orators. Without taking sides, one may say there isn't any doubt but that some would preach first class sermons.—Border Cities Star.

DEFECTIVE CARS

The Law Amendments Committee of the Legislature, hearing the views of the public on traffic control a few days ago, were told by the chairman of the Safety Week Committee of the Board of Trade that 1,346 cars went through safety lane last year, and only 240 were found to be not defective in some way. And he made the much more significant statement that only the better class of car went through the lane at all. The others, the cars that really needed it, never came near.

Inspector Street of the Winnipeg police department also told the committee of the results of a short period of inspection of motor cars. Out of a total of 862 cars, 692 had brakes that were not working properly, 78 had horns that were out of order, 204 had defective rearview mirrors or none at all. In the same period, more than 1,000 cars with only one headlight working were stopped on the city streets. —Winnipeg Free Press.

SHARP - SHOD

Hats off to the St. Marys man who had the ingenious idea. Monday morning, of attaching a pair of horseshoes to the soles of his boots. Every other expedient had failed to help him walk the icy streets without slipping, but the horseshoes did it. What a boom to the blacksmiths if we would but follow his pioneering example! — St. Marys Journal-Argus.

SEVEN SVAD YEARS

Down in South Carolina a woman recently underwent an operation the full story of which moves one almost to tears. It illustrates how thorough in some souls runs the sound old principle of self-reliance, which in this case involved untold penalties. This woman consulted a physician who told her that an operation was the only thing which would restore her health. She left his office and possibly with her going she passed from his memory.

All that was years ago, but seven years after she again appeared in his office, reminded him of his advice, produced a shoe box filled with pennies and told him she was ready now for the operation. With great pain she had gone back to work, to washing, and scrubbing, and mending, and year after year had set aside the hardly earned pennies, the little she could save out of her poverty, until she had amassed the required amount, $75, and when this was gathered had returned to submit herself to the necessary operation.

Needless to say she was at once hurried to the hospital, her shoe-box was safely tucked away in the safe to be returned to her when she again emerges from hospital. But what a sad seven years it must have been and how unnecessary! —Halifax Chronicle.

GOPHERS A PEST

Huge amounts are spent each year in the purchase of gopher poison. On the other hand, some of the most valuable animals which Nature has provided to maintain these and other rodents within bounds are being harried to the point of extinction in some cases. With the natural enemies of the gophers thus removed, poison makes little headway in stemming the plague, besides being an ever present menace to other forms of wild life and the cause of many tragedies to human beings.

Coyotes, weasels, hawks and badgers are invaluable as gopher hunters. It is true that the presence of coyotes around a barnyard may mean the occasional disappearance of sheep or calf in stress of hunger. But with proper supervision and the protection which a good dog affords, these animals can be kept where they belong to make their main diet on gophers and field mice.—Calgary Herald.

RUNS IN STOCKINGS

It says in the New York Sun that the United States Bureau of Standards uses an improved machine for testing hosiery. This leads the New York Sun into a chaste little bit in its editorial columns upon runs in stockings. It seems that this machine "shows that laundering, dyeing, ageing, finishing and construction all have a great effect on the . . . durability of the stockings on repeated distention." Thus, it appears, the researches of the bureau in knitting, "degumming," dyeing, finishing, ageing, laundering, redyeing, refinishing, etcetera, are helpful on the great subject of runs in stockings. But the New York Sun thinks that when a woman discovers a run in her stocking she doesn't think of what the bureau is doing.

What we feel like saying about all this is that, God bless our souls, how the times do change! The New York Sun could never have had an editorial bit about runs in stockings when it was young. Come to that, we couldn't have had an editorial bit about runs in stockings when we were young.

Runs in stockings was a subject that simply didn't arise in those days. The Province wouldn't have known. Who would have known? Stockings were out of sight then. Stockings were supposed to be out of mind then. We don't even know if they had runs in stockings then. But if they did have runs in stockings then, we'd bet they were out of sight anyhow.—Vancouver Province.

ONE FATALITY

One of the most satisfying features of the police report is the substantial decline in motor accidents. The number reported last year was only 93, with one fatality, as compared with 268 and two fatalities in 1933. It would be a fine thing if Kingston could improve still further on last year's figures. —Kingston Whig-Standard.

THE EMPIRE

PRINCE AS A SCOT

The Prince of Wales has many accomplishments. He told his Scottish Corporation audience recently that he has learned Gaelic and the pipes. He made it clear to all of them that he is an excellent teller of Scots stories. He acts them to the very life, and a true-blue Scot who sat next to me said his Royal Highness' Scots accent was excellent. The Prince looks extraordinarily well in Highland costume. He wore, of course, Royal Stuart tartan kilt, with a tight-fitting tunic.—Autolycus in the London Sunday Times.

prepare plans for improving the physique of the nation. There is no doubt that it can do with improving. But the committee may have a little difficulty on hitting on the right scheme—schemes, that is, which the English, with their ancient and well-known dislike of taking exercise "for the sake of their health," will not find too self-consciously virtuous to be tolerable. If the average man or youth were asked what he specially needed to make himself fit, he might possibly reply: "More money, more leisure and more playing fields." He might also possibly be right.—Manchester Guardian.

WEDDING GIFTS

A curious correspondence has arisen in the English press out of the display of the wedding presents which were sent to the Duke and Duchess of Kent. Criticism has been made of the number of valuable antiques which were among the gifts, and it is urged that public bodies like the Royal Academy and the City Companies should have tried rather to benefit present-day artists and designers.—Belfast Telegraph.

CEYLON'S BLACK OUTLOOK

Seldom has sunshine, the traditional harbinger of happiness, so completely meant the reverse of good fortune as has been the recent and present experience in Ceylon. In his statement last week in the State Council Sir Baron Jayatilaka declared that if there was no break in the weather during the next few days a state of famine would be bound to supervene. That prophecy of woe seems to be in process of fulfillment. The weather reports continue to record the absence of rain in precisely those parts where rain is most needed to abate the malaria epidemic and to prevent crop failure. The rainfall to date since the beginning of the year, comparing most unfavourably with the average for the corresponding period during two decades, is disastrously deficient. The far-reaching effect of this second drought, of last year, it is impossible to forecast. The crops on which the bulk of the population depend for their livelihood, badly affected as they have been already, will be in danger of complete ruin. The parching up of paddy fields and the devastation of chenais will lend a peculiar poignancy to the more prolonged ill-effects on coconut plantations which have had their full share of misfortune in other respects. This unrelieved picture of

Unmarried Rich Women Outnumber Wealthy Men

New York. — The wealth female of the species is more numerous than the male, a check of blue-blooded heirs discloses. While a survey revealed at least 15 wealthy and unmarried women, there are apparently only nine men to match them in affluence and social position. They are: Alfred and George Vanderbilt, brothers and heirs to millions from the Vanderbilt side and from their maternal grandfather, Capt. Isaac Emerson, patent medicine king. James and Woolworth Donohue, who are in line for chunks of the inexhaustible five-and-ten fortune. Michael Phipps, who will inherit the Pittsburgh steel millions of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Phipps. Marshall Field, merchant prince, still wealthy despite enormous alimony paid two ex-wives. William Rhinelander Stewart, multi-millionaire playboy. Harvey Ladow, who, despite his fortune, lives the life of a country squire in Maryland. Charles Dunlap, heir to the Burwind coal millions.

Modern Child Likes Mother Wee Bit Better Than Father

New York. — Father rates about 61 per cent, instead of being "all right" with the modern child. Mother stands higher — 65.5 per cent. These findings were given to the American Orthopsychiatric Association by Dr. H. Meltzer, St. Louis. He said they were based on studies of the attitudes of 150 children of elementary school age. The children were carefully selected, he explained, to represent a cross-section of the city. They were asked for all their pleasant and unpleasant reactions, or feelings, about their parents. Pleasant for father, including even "barely pleasant" totalled 61 per cent. On the same basis mother went four and a half points higher. "This however," the report stated, "does not indicate a complete come-down for parents as would appear at first sight, for the definitely unpleasant reactions add up to only 5.8 per cent for both parents, 4 per cent, for mother and 7.6 per cent, for father." A principal difference from the child's point of view is that father leans to the mental side, mother to the emotional. Reported more or less in the children's own words the typical father is "a person who works and supports you, does things around the house, takes you out places, plays games with you, helps you with homework, participates in outdoor activities, gives you money, has such qualities as sweetness and kindness, participate in indoor activities, and who trains you to mind." Mother is "a person who does house work, does things for you, works and supports you, has such qualities as sweetness and kindness, take you out places, plays games with you, helps you with homework, buys food and clothes for you, scolds you when you do wrong and gives you things."

Increased Demand For Horses And Cattle In Province Is Reported

Toronto. — Brisker and increased demand for horses and all types of cattle in most sections of the province was the bright spot in the weekly crop report issued by the Ontario Department of Agriculture.

Reports from Ontario county said farm sales are bringing the best prices in more than three years and there is a keen demand for horses at about $25 average for good farm horses. Ordinary grade cows brought $35 to $48 with bred cows selling around $30.

Peterborough county reported active demand for good quality pure-bred Shorthorn bulls of serviceable age with sales ranging from $60 to $100 depending on type and age. Milk cows are sought in Glenora.

An order was received from the United States for 115 good Holstein cows at prices varying up to $65. Cattle buying is fairly active in Prince Edward county. In Huron county there is a brisk demand for horses and good prices are being realized. Farmers are in a more hopeful frame of mind regarding cattle prices, the report said. A recent sale in Grey county brought $40-$45 for grade cows and more than $100 for horses.

Although shortage of hay still faces Ontario farmers, cattle have come through the winter season in good condition and creamery production is holding up reasonably well considering the shortage. Dufferin county reported a large percentage of livestock is being carried along in fair flesh and will be turned on grass in good condition but there are some "very thin" cattle. Even with favorable grass condition, the report said, it will take these cattle well on to fall to make up and be in reasonable condition for market.

Haldimand county creamerymen reported production is holding up well but some found quality of product lower and in Lincoln county there is a "very heavy" demand for hay at present with dairymen and others looking for outside sources of supply. Livestock in Middlesex county are being carried along in fair condition and by careful conservation of feed supplies most farmers will have sufficient hay and rough feed to carry them through to spring.

misery is evidence that Ceylon's tale of suffering has by no means been exaggerated, but that, on the contrary, there is a worse havoc than has been wrought by malaria for which the Government and the people must be prepared.—Times of Ceylon, Colombo.

First Aid Depots Along Highways

First aid stations will be established along Western Ontario highways as soon as the necessary financial arrangements between three societies interested in the venture are worked out.

The cost of setting up the system along No. 2 highway, Toronto to Windsor, would be about $3,000, it is said.

The subject was up for discussion at the Ontario Motor League annual meeting this week and members of that Association are enthusiastic about it.

The scheme is undertaken jointly by the St. John Ambulance Association, the Canadian Red Cross and the Motor League.

It has been in operation for more than a year on No. 2 Highway from Toronto to Montreal, and reports declare it has been of great assistance in saving lives and alleviating suffering following motor accidents.

There is nothing definite as to when it will be instituted in this part of the province. It may be this year, and it may not, depending on circumstances.

FU MANCHU

By SAX ROHMER

As we entered the library, Dr. Cleve straightened up from the couch where lay the body of Sir Crichton Davey. "This is a most mysterious case," he said. "Frankly, I do not care to venture any opinion now regarding the immediate cause of death. I fear that only a post-mortem can establish the facts—if we ever learn them!"

Sir Crichton's features were oddly puffy, as were his clenched hands. He had been addicted to drugs, as Dr. Cleve had told us, and as I pushed back the sleeve on his left arm, I saw the marks of the needle. Mechanically I looked at the right arm, which was unscarred. But on the back of the hand was a faint red mark, not unlike the impress of painted lips. © 1932 By Sax Rohmer and The Bell Syndicate, Inc.

Nayland Smith questioned Burboyne, Sir Crichton's secretary. The young man said he was working in the library that evening and his master was in the study, which was according to their usual custom. At ten twenty-five a district messenger brought a note for Sir Crichton, which Burboyne placed beside him on the study table. Except for that moment the door was closed.

"Suddenly," Burboyne recounted dramatically, "Sir Crichton burst open the door and threw himself with a scream into the library. I ran to him but he waved me back. His eyes were glaring horribly. . . ."

RUN DOWN? TAKE WINCARNIS

If work and worry have got the better of you and you are feeling weak and listless, follow the recommendation of more than 20,000 medicinal men. Take Wincarnis three times daily. To thousands who once felt as you feel now, this advice has proved invaluable. TOBACCO OUTLOOK REPORTED BRIGHT

Increasing Demand on Home Market — Improved Marketing Conditions.

The general outlook for Canadian tobacco in 1935 is brighter than has been the case for the past two or three years, in view of the greatly reduced production during 1934, the increasing demand on the home market, and a moderate stimulation of overseas interest, according to the Tobacco Division, Dominion Experimental Farms. The 1934 flue-cured crop has been disposed of rapidly at increased prices as a result of improved marketing conditions and competition between domestic and export purchasers.

In Canada there are five general types of tobacco grown, namely flue-cured, Burley, dark, Quebec leaves and thin and of fine texture. Three extensively grown varieties are Comstock Spanish, Resistant Havana and Connecticut Havana 38.

MINARD'S
"KING OF PAIN"
LINIMENT

The cigar and pipe varieties referred to are grown only in the province of Quebec.

Within the flue-cured type are many varieties and strains. As this tobacco is used for cigarette purposes a fine-grained, thin-textured leaf is required. Popular varieties are Yellow Mammoth, Bonanza, White Stem Willow Leaf, and Gold Tip. The Burley varieties are used for pipe mixtures, smoking possums, and cigarette blends. They possess very large, broad leaves of medium fineness and texture. A few years ago the market demanded thick, tough coarsely textured leaf, but these requirements have changed to that of fineness and thinness.

The outstanding feature of the pipe and cigar. For each of these types there are grown ten to fifty varieties and strains. The pipe varieties have fewer leaves and the leaves themselves are short, thick, heavy-bodied and early maturing. The varieties most commonly grown are Canelle, Petit Havane, Belge, Little Dutch, Parfum d'Italie, and Oburg Vincent. In the cigar type the past year has been the organization of the flue-cured industry under the Natural Products Marketing Act. Growers' associations continue to play an important part in the development of the industry. In the past such organizations have been primarily concerned with co-operative marketing under a pooling contract. In the more recently formed associations, however, general service to the members has been the chief motivating force, while such marketing activities as have been undertaken have been on a voluntary basis, and mainly concerned with the packing and disposal of unsold surpluses remaining in the hands of growers. In addition to the organizations in operation in 1934, two new ones were formed, one in the flue-cured area in Ontario and the other in the cigar leaf district in Quebec.

Gardening

By Gordon L. Smith

ARTICLE NO. 4

DIG-DIG-DIG—

Cultivation is even more important than good soil or fertilizer. A constantly cultivated garden, will withstand much drought for the simple reason that this stirring of the top soil prevents evaporation of moisture, and it also keeps down those robbers of plant food and water, weeds. The mechanical texture of heavy clay can be remedied by good cultivation. Cultivation is necessary especially during the early part of the season and more particularly after each shower. With some of the many hand, horse or tractor drawn garden cultivators on the market, this task is done quickly and without the old-time back-ache.

KILLING OUT—

Most damage to shrubbery, perennial flowers, roses, strawberry patches, fall wheat and other plants occurs during March or April. It is not the extreme cold of January and February that causes the trouble, but the alternate freezing and thawing and the drying winds of early spring. On fine days things start to grow and the sap comes up from the roots, but at night frost returns and injury results. Crowns, and stems are burst, fruit buds frozen, and grass and other perennial plants heaved out of the soil, their tiny roots broken and exposed to the high drying winds. Protection in the form of snow, straw, leaves, or old vegetable refuse, is advisable at this time and is especially necessary in Southern exposures where the difference between midnight and noon temperatures is much more extreme than elsewhere. This protection must stay on until the dangerous period is passed and then removed gradually. If left on too long, however, growth is spindly and backward.

A SHORT CUT—

Good sized potatoes by early July can be produced in most parts of Canada, and this is the time the crop is really appreciated and worth some money. As soon as the ground works up nicely, a small planting may be risked. To further hurry things along, for two or three weeks before planting, it is advisable to spread the seed potatoes out in some frost proof place where they will get as much sun as possible through the window. Soon, healthy, stout sprouts will appear and if planted carefully, so as to avoid breaking off, the crop will be through the ground in a day or two.

termining the health, the efficiency and the personality of future citizens.

In his endeavour to benefit the child he must not overlook five essentially vital points which more than anything else contribute to their goal — the welfare of the child.

1. The first and foremost the child is a spiritual being and that this side of his nature must be given opportunity to flower and develop.

2. That he has a mind in the making, which when properly trained, can be guided and directed towards the accomplishment of much good in the world.

3. That, as the child's environment affects the child from birth to old age and from hour to hour, and very largely determines what he will become, it must be taken into consideration, mainly the home influence and the influence of the parents and the school.

Canada Relaxes Her Customs Regulations Affecting Tourists

Ottawa.—Customs restrictions affecting tourists will be somewhat relaxed, a statement issued by Hon. R. C. Matthews, Minister of National Revenue, indicated.

A change of particular interest to Canadian motorists who travel abroad has been made in the regulations pertaining to tourists' automobiles. There have been instances of collection of duty and taxes from Canadians on their return after touring abroad, on compulsory repairs effected to their motor vehicles outside of Canada, either as the result of an accident, or of unforeseen mechanical defects which developed during the tour. Hereafter, the returning tourist will be required to satisfy the collector as to the bona fides of his case, and will be called upon to pay duty only on those repairs effected abroad which can not be regarded as compulsory.

Included in other changes in the revised regulations are two which affect the non-resident temporary visitor in Canada. In the past, the tourist who arrived by automobile with a considerable quantity of tourists' outfit, such as guns, fishing tackle, golf clubs, tennis raquets, cameras and other sporting and pleasure paraphernalia, was required to complete two forms, one for the automobile and another for the outfit. While these forms are being retained as separate units to be used as occasion demands, the automobile permit will now take the form of a combination of the two, so that only one document will be required to be prepared and completed at the frontier.

The other important revision affected the temporary admission at frontier ports of tourists from abroad whose visit is confined to points within the jurisdiction of the frontier port of arrival. Hitherto they have been allowed a 24-hour stay without the issuance of a permit. This period has now been changed to 48 hours to cover week-ends and holidays.

HE FELT MISERABLE AFTER MEALS

Acute Indigestion Relieved
By Kruschen

The treatment which put this man right must surely be worth trying in every case of indigestion. Read what he says:—

"Two years ago I suffered very much from indigestion, loss of appetite, and a most severe pain in my back. Food soured in my stomach. I felt most miserable after meals, and had no desire or appetite for them. A friend advised me to try Kruschen. I did so, and I am most happy to testify that after a short time I felt the greatest relief. I continued taking Kruschen till I felt myself quite better and a new man. I feel as light-hearted as I did twenty years ago."—W. B.

What Kruschen did for him it will do for everybody else who suffers from indigestion as he did. The fact is that "the little daily dose" of Kruschen first stimulates the flow of gastric juices to aid digestion, and then ensures a complete, regular and unailing elimination of all waste matter every day.

If Your Ears Ring With Head Noises

If you have catarrhal deafness or head noises go to your druggist and get 1 oz. of Parmit (double strength), and add to it ¼ pint of hot water and a little sugar. Take a tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little, and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has catarrhal deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.

Big Building Program Expected

It is expected that approximately $30,000,000 may be expended on post offices, wharves, breakwaters, throughout the country this year. The remaining $10,000,000 may be assigned to a housing and slum clearing plan for the larger cities—if a special Parliamentary committee now studying the proposal reports favorably.

Canadian Air Force to be Strengthened

Canada's air force will be increased by 17 officers and 169 other ranks this year, Hon. Grote Sterling, Minister of National Defence, told the House of Commons on Friday night.

He was explaining an increase of $700,000 in the appropriation for the Royal Canadian Air Force which the House approved.

Some years ago, Mr. Sterling said, a start had been made in improving the force but owing to the depression it had to be discontinued.

Now an attempt was being made to take up part of the slack. Owing to the rapid development of aviation it took larger sums of money to keep the air force up to date than to keep land and naval forces abreast of the times.

New Highway Along Lievre River

The Quebec Government will start construction this year of a new highway on the west side of the Lievre river from Notre Dame de Laus, through Val de Bois, Pointe St. de Wakefield, Cantley to Hull, shortening the approach to Hull, by 24 miles.

Announcement to this effect was made on Friday by E. W. Perras, Liberal member for Wright, on his return from Quebec where he headed a delegation of Mayors of Gatineau and Papineau counties with Alphonse Fournier, Liberal member for Hull.

Hon. J. E. Perrault, Minister of Highways, and Hon. Irene Vantrien, Minister of Colonization, received the delegation. They promised that departmental engineers will go to work on the proposal at once and that construction will start this year.

It was also agreed that labor on the Maniwaki-Senneterre highway would be taken from the counties of Gatineau, Papineau, Labelle and Hull rather than outside labor.

Horticultural Notes

According to the Canada Seed Act, no new variety of cereal grain can be offered for sale in Canada under its variety name unless that variety has been licensed by the Dominion Minister of Agriculture after tests conducted by the Cereal Division of the Dominion Experimental Farms.

Results of experiments on lawn plots conducted by the Division of Forage Plants, Central Experimental Farm, prove conclusively that necessary spring treatments of lawns should be done early. Rolling should be done as soon as the frost is out of the ground. As soon as the surface is dry the lawn should be thoroughly raked. A light top dressing of good soil should be put on and raked in. If any re-seeding is necessary a mixture of four parts Kentucky Blue grass and one part Colonial bent by weight with 1 ounce White Dutch clover added to every three pounds, is recommended.

House Plants:—Nearly all smooth-leaved plants are greatly benefited by applications of water to their foliage, provided the sun is not allowed to shine on them while wet. But plants having hairy leaves, like the Gloxinia and the Rex Begonia, are almost invariably injured by the application of water to the foliage. Bear this in mind, and be governed in showering your plants by the peculiarities of their foliage.

Transplanting:—In putting out plants in the garden choose a cloudy day for it, if possible. Water well when you plant. Shade for a day or two, or till they begin to grow.

Geraniums:—These are hot weather plants; they like hot rooms and steam heat, but they cannot be expected to produce many flowers unless they are placed in a sunny, south window, free from curtains. They prefer heavy soil and must not be grown in pots too large, else they will not bloom so profusely. Cut them back each fall to make them bushy, otherwise they will fill too much window space. Good house plants of geraniums are obtained by taking slips in summer and growing the plants in pots until winter.

Ferns:—The less finely divided leaf sorts of Boston ferns are the most successful. Ferns generally do not prefer the full sunshine and must be kept from cool drafts. The soil which suits them best is one derived from decayed sod or leaf-mold. Ferns need an abundance of water, but poor drainage and "wet feet" should be avoided. Syringe the plants often if they are to be kept healthy.

Last Minister of Quebec Conservative Government Dead

Hon. A. W. Morris, 78, Provincial Treasurer in the Quebec Conservative Ministry of Hon. L. O. Taillon in 1892-96, died in a Montreal hospital on Saturday last after a short illness.

Mr. Morris first entered the Taillon Cabinet as minister without portfolio, but later became Provincial Treasurer. He was the last surviving member of the ministry, and was a well-known sportsman and resident of Montreal.

Invented the Banjo

The banjo as we know it today is scarcely one hundred years old and is distinctly an American instrument, since it originated among the negroes of the South. They developed it into the five-string or "Dixie" banjo which has been replaced in most dance orchestras by the "tenor" instrument with a shorter neck and but four strings. Original banjos were undoubtedly patterned after primitive instruments of the African west coast negroes. Similar instruments with grass strings are still used on the Guinea coast.—Pathfinder Magazine.

Hawaii Is Farther Away

From Land Than Others

Hawaii is situated in the middle of the Pacific ocean, farther away from the nearest land than any other spot on earth, writes a correspondent in the Chicago Tribune. It has been piled up by volcanoes until now the heights of Mauna Kea rise 14,000 feet above sea level and more than 32,000 feet above that profound abyss known as the ocean floor.

If the position of Hawaii is unusual, its people are even more so. They include almost every race on earth, orientals predominating. Sugar is by far the most important industry in this isolated land, and its cultivation requires a squatting position for the worker. Orientals, the prime squatters of the world, were therefore induced to go to Hawaii. A century or so ago it was Chinese who predominated. Then came a wave of Japanese, after their crowded country was opened to the world in the sixties and seventies. When the immigration restriction law on orientals was passed, a tremendous labor problem rose. Hawaii was now (1898) a territory of the United States, and labor was sought all over the world. They tried everybody from Cubans to Portuguese, but a solution was reached only with the comparatively recent importation of Filipinos (not affected by the immigration laws) who are now squatting all over the place, and mixing up with the others.

Valparaiso

Valparaiso is Spanish for Vale of Paradise. The chief seaport of Chile, it dates back to 1535. Immediately behind the shore the hills begin to rise, and the city, containing a quarter of a million persons, is built on these hillsides. On clear days Mount Aconcagua, the highest point on this hemisphere, may be seen towering above its Andean brothers. In Valparaiso women work as conductors on the street cars, which are double deckers. Santiago, the capital of Chile, is reached by train from the seaport. It is a combination of Paris and Madrid, and its site is second in beauty to that of Rio de Janeiro. Santa Lucia hill overlooks the entire city. In Santiago the women are extremely religious, while the men are inclined to agnosticism.

And Here We Are

A Russian fanatic predicted the end of the world in 1934 and caused one of the greatest mass suicides in history. Within a few days, says J. W. Frost, Los Angeles, Calif., in Collier's Weekly, a wave of paralyzing fear swept over all northern Russia and the inhabitants of many whole villages killed themselves at once. In some towns large areas were soaked in pitch and bitumen, set afire and hundreds of persons at a time, holding hands, ran into them and were burned alive.

Odd, If True

The quantity of current consumed by the average electric clock is so small that it does not register on the meter when all other electrical devices and lights are turned off. Thus about 10,000,000 of these clocks—in homes, stores and offices—operate during part of the night at the expense of the central electric stations.—J. K. Thomas, Ithaca, N. Y., in Collier's Weekly.

First Musical Art Forms in 1100, Writer Relates

Lacking concrete materials, music lagged behind the other fine arts until 1100, when the same spirit that was stimulating architecture began pervading music. Construction of definite musical art forms resulted. Music became measured, and the multiplicity of details which grew up showed definite proportions and relations each to each, says Lynne B. Greene, in the Kansas City Times.

A monk of St. Amands, Huchald, is responsible for the staff in musical notation. This invention made a remarkable change and paved the way for art-music not heretofore used.

This system of harmonies Huchald called organum, for they were played upon a large instrument of that name, unknown since the fall of Rome. In these harmonies a melody was supported by a second voice singing a third above or a fifth below.

In the fifteenth century musical composition in its present form began, and early in the eighteenth century composers became more numerous, many of whose names are household words today. Music, unlike painting and sculpture, scarcely can be said to be national in its schools. The great musicians belong to the world, and their compositions are familiar.

We are given a higher psychic that responds to the highest, truest and most beautiful in life. Music is one of the principal means through which nature is expressed.

Airplane Machine Gun Inventor

Roland G. Garros, French aviator, is credited with the invention of the synchronized airplane machine gun. He is known in France as the father of air dueling, which changed the mode of air fighting considerably. In February of the year 1914 he mounted a gun in such a position that it was able to fire through the propeller of an airplane, which was a mode of fighting. In 18 days he is credited with shooting down five enemy planes. He was brought down on the day of his last victory, April 19, 1915, and was taken prisoner by the Germans. He was unable to destroy his plane, which the Germans copied, and his invention was no longer a secret. He later escaped and returned to France. He was killed in aerial combat in October, 1918.

Worship the Buffalo

Experienced and hardened world travelers not infrequently giggle themselves into a state of hysterics when they get around to visiting the Todas of India, says the Detroit News. In cone-shaped temples the Todas bow down and worship the buffalo. The notion that the buffalo is sacred is only one of their many ideas. Among the Todas woman occupies a very inferior position and upon meeting man greets him by touching his feet with her forehead. On the other hand, polyandry prevails. It is customary for several brothers to share the same woman.

Speed of Comets

Comets do not have constant rates of travel, speeding up as they near the sun. Those that approach the sun closely attain speeds in that position as high as 300 miles a second, or more than a million miles an hour. Meteorites travel at speeds as great as 40 miles a second (144,000 miles an hour), but slow up when they invade the earth's atmosphere, striking the earth at rates of speed of from 400 to 500 feet a second.—Chicago Tribune.

Many Kinds of Sausages

While the number of kinds of sausages in common use in the United States may not be more than 50, at a fair in Germany a few years ago there were 1,785 distinct varieties entered.

Early Spectacles

The earliest spectacles were designed to improve "old sight," and hence were worn almost exclusively by the aged.

Correspondence

Quebec Game Season

Sir:—For the past several years a yearly appeal has been made by the fish and game associations of Quebec Province to the Minister of Fisheries and Game to shorten the season on moose, deer, partridge and wild fowl, the reasons given for this change being that the weather in September is so warm that meat of deer and moose cannot be kept, the deer and moose are still feeding in the marshes where they are easily taken, the young are still running with the mother; in the case of ducks and partridge, they are still in pin feathers and too small to be taken.

The past two years have taken a severe toll on moose, deer and all wild fowl of the Ottawa Valley district. This is particularly true on the north side of the Ottawa river.

Among those pressing the hardest for the change in the season on these game birds and animals are several fish and game district supervisors, recognized authorities on fish and game conditions in Canada and employed by Quebec Province. The demand for the shorter season has been unanimous each year. In view of the very great loss of game and particularly deer, a strong request for the introduction of a buck law, which means that no female deer can be taken, has been made. All of these appeals have been in vain.

Where the Department of Fisheries and Game secures its information from, respecting the fish and game of the province, is a mystery to the sportsmen and also to most residents. The department gives an annual grant of some $15,000 to the Quebec Association for the Protection of Fish and Game which, politically speaking, is a representative organization but that seems to be all, as requests for a change in the season have been made through that organization without results.

This is an appeal to all interested in the propagation of the fish and game in the Counties of Gatineau, Hull, Papineau, Pontiac and Labelle to write, and get their friends to write, to the Premier of Quebec demanding that some action be taken forthwith to amend the game laws so that we will have something left in the way of moose, deer, etc., in our wonderful district.

Quebec has some very same laws respecting fish and game but they are mostly for book purposes. The enforcement of these laws is conspicuous by its absence.

J. C. McCAIG,

Hull, March 28, 1935.

Speediest of Birds Can

Fly 100 Miles Per Hour

Game birds, such as the quail, prairie chicken, ruffed grouse, snipe, mallard, black duck, spoonbill, pintail, wood duck, and pigeon, fly 60 feet a second, or at the rate of 40 miles an hour. Geese and brant in flight do 70 feet a second, or at the rate of 47 miles an hour. Redhead ducks and bluebills fly 85 feet a second, which is a rate of 57 miles an hour. Canvasback ducks attain a speed of 61 miles an hour in flying 90 feet a second. Blue-winged and green-winged teal are capable of 100 feet a second, a speed of 63 miles an hour.

Rapid as are the rates of flight of the above mentioned birds, says the Chicago Tribune, they are by no means the greatest for feathered flyers. Speediest of birds are credited with flying as fast as or faster than 100 miles an hour. The duck hawk, for instance, according to apparently authentic records collected by the American Museum of Natural History of New York, does well over 100 miles an hour, or more than 146 feet a second.

The rate of speed of birds on the wing depends a great deal on whether they are flying with or against the wind and on the velocity of the wind at the time. It is recalled that in a famous pigeon race in Europe in 1876 the winning birds flew 270 miles in 3 1/4 hours, flying at the rate of 83 miles an hour. All conditions were favorable for record speed. In the race of 1877 it took the pigeons 20 hours to fly the same 270 miles.

Noted Minister of United Church Dead

Tillsonburg, March 31. — Rev. Dr.
John Duncan Byrnes, 64, prominent figure in the United Church of Canada and past grand chaplain of the A. F.

urday afternoon following a prolonged illness. In 1910, he was approved church union, he was a motivating spirit. Following church union, he was

Million-dollar Beat Sugar Plant To be Built in Southern Alberta

Southern Alberta farmers operating in the Lethbridge northern irrigation district vision a new era of prosperity in the announcement that Canadian Sugar Factories, Ltd., will build a million-dollar beat sugar factory in the district.
A start on construction will be made this summer, it is understood, and land will be prepared this year for beets in 1936. Scores will be given employment in construction of the new plant and between 250 and 300 men will be on the payroll when the plant swings into operation.

Harvesting Brazil Nuts Unusually Hazardous Job

Not a harvest in the world is gathered under more perilous conditions than the Brazil nut crop. Before even arriving within sight of the wild groves, where these delicacies thrive in the "green hell" of Amazonia, the peons, or native pickers, have to fight their way through hundreds of miles of swampland, infested with alligators, swimming snakes, and electric eels,
while in the jungle itself the merest scratch from a llana, orchid or some other poisonous plant spells death.
Jaguars are among the lesser perils.

Then, when the tiniest breath of wind runs through the giant castanha trees, 50 and 100 feet high, on which the nuts hang in great pods, each weighing when mature not less than four pounds, these pods hurtle to earth with the velocity of bombs. Hundreds of natives are thus brained and maimed every season.

The deadly black shells, hastily collected from the forest floor—climbing the trees would be impossible—are immediately packed on the backs of mules, and carried to the nearest stream, where they are washed, in readiness for transport by boat to the barracoe or collecting station. Brazil, curiously, has no appetite for these luxury fruits. Great Britain and America are the largest importers.—Tit-Bits Magazine.

Zoo Animals Acquire Complexes

Among curious characteristics of animals confined in zoos noted by Dr.
Raymond L. Ditmars, curator of mammals and reptiles at the New York zoo, is the apparent love of snow shown by California sea lions which are accustomed in their native habitat to warm ocean currents and sunny beaches. On the other hand those heavily furred denizens of the Far North, often seem swimming between deep ice crevices in the wild state, the polar bears, show themselves very reluctant to plunge into the ponds provided for them in zoos in mid-winter.
In this latter connection Doctor Ditmars declares that the polar bears probably suffer less from the intense heat in mid-summer than some of the animals imported from tropic climes.
The reason for this is that the bears can quickly get relief from the heat when they do find it unbearable by plunging into their own private ponds.

Ancient Shorthand

The art of condensed writing is no modern invention. The Egyptians used shorthand more than 1,700 years ago, according to evidence collected by H. J. M. Milne of the British museum, London. The language of the shorthand was not Egyptian, but Greek, and Milne recently announced the discovery of a key to the ancient Greek shorthand, opening up to archeologists and historians many priceless, but hitherto indecipherable, scripts.—Literary Digest.

Christianity as National Religion

The Armenians, not the Romans, were the first people to adopt Christianity as a national religion. The Armenian king, Tiridates, established the Georgian Armenian (Christian) church in 301, which was 23 years before Constantine proclaimed Christianity as the state religion of the Roman empire.—

No Men Needed

In Europe women alone operate several women's prisons; in Chile, they comprise the official fire-fighting unit of one large municipality; and in Russia, they form the entire crew of several sizable commercial ships—running these vessels successfully without the aid of a single man.—Freling Foster, in Collier's Weekly.

THE REMARKABLE ROMANCE OF AN INDUSTRIAL DICTATOR

Velvet and Steel

By

PEARL BELLAIRS

Synopsis

Joan Denby, of humble origin, is introduced as a social equal of Miss Georgina La Fontaine, rather than as her salaried secretary-companion. Georgina is anxious for her to marry well and intends to introduce her to Piers Hennen, head of the Hennen Steel and Iron works.

Lord Edward proposes to Joan.

She turned towards him with a gentle smile; what she was going to say, in which way she was about to answer, he could not have guessed.

"My dear —" she began, and stopped abruptly as a voice hailed them.

Piers Hennen came to them out of the gloom under the trees, brushing aside the fronds of the palms. At first Joan did not recognize him, except as someone who looked extraordinarily big in the dim light. But she knew him as soon as he spoke in his quick, imperative voice:

"Here you are," he said. "Found at last! You'd better go back and find Georgina. Edward. She's looking for you."

They were both rather at a loss and Lord Edward, inwardly cursing him, echoed:

"Find Georgina?"

"Yes; go back and tell her I've found you. We'll get into the car," Piers Hennen added to Joan.

"Which car?" asked Lord Edward uncertainly.

"My car—there it is!"

Piers Hennen waved his hand towards the road, where his car, the long crimson roadster, was drawn up at the kerb. He put his hand under Joan's elbow and propelled her across the lawn towards the car. He was so much master of the situation that he made the other two feel stupid in their slowness at grasping it.

"Are we going in your car?" queried Lord Edward.

"I'm going in my car—you can do as you like. Better go and find Georgina, will you. Up—jump!" Piers Hennen added, as he brought Joan to the kerb between the road and the garden, and swung her over it as though she were a child.

This unceremonious way of interrupting a conversation and sweeping one into a car by sheer physical coercion without even enquiring if one wished to go, was tremendously annoying to Joan. She could not have said whether she accidentally or deliberately tripped as she jumped over the kerb, but the event did express her unwillingness to be hustled away by him.

"Ouch!" cried Joan, and she fell on one knee on the grass on the other side.

"I'm sorry! Are you hurt?" he raised her, though she wished heartily that he would not touch her, and she sat back on the top of the kerb.

"I think it's my ankle," said Joan with a glance behind to see if Lord Edward was there, but he had gone off to do as he was told, and find Georgina. She rubbed her ankle. Really it was quite good enough to walk on, but she wanted to gain time. She did not want to get into the car until the others came; for she assumed that they were all going to Nice.

"Does it hurt?"

"A little," Joan admitted, truthfully.

He massaged the slender, silk covered ankle with strong fingers, and Joan, as soon as she could, hastily put her foot down on the grass, trying its strength.

"Better not walk on it," he remarked. And before she knew what was going to happen he had picked her up in his arms.

"Mr. Hennen—please—!"

But he walked the two or three paces to the car with her, carrying her without a trace of effort; it was all done in a brusque matter of fact fashion, as though it were the most natural thing in the world. With anyone else Joan would not have minded, but from him it offended her. She was thankful when he deposited her in the seat beside the wheel; glancing up at him as she smoothed her skirts over her knees, she again met that hard mocking gaze which seemed to understand and defy her resentment.

He slammed the door of the car on her, and she protested:

"Someone will have to fetch my wrap!"

"Oh, there's a coat of mine in the back," he replied, going round to his seat on the other side.

Did he really think that she was going without her wrap and was going to wear his coat instead? What a man! Nothing one said apparently mattered in the least. She would send Lord Edward back for the wrap when he and the Dales and Georgina arrived. A little upset, she stared into the place where Lord Edward had gone into the trees.

She was startled as her attention was called to the fact that her companion had switched on the ignition and was pressing the self starter.

Fur Farms Rapidly Increasing In Alberta

With the number of fur farmers in Alberta more than doubled in the past two years, and with quality of pelts greatly improved from adherence to established scientific methods of raising fur bearing animals, this type of farming in the province has been raised to the status of a $1,000,000 industry, according to Stanley H. Clark, provincial game commissioner.

There are now 500 licensed fur farmers in Alberta. Others are turning to this profitable activity in ever increasing numbers, either as a department of ordinary farm operations or as an exclusive enterprise. Mink, fisher, marten, muskrat, racoon and badger are all bred in captivity for commercial purposes as well as the fox.

What Does Your Handwriting Reveal?

GEOFFREY ST. CLAIR

(Graphologist)
All Rights Reserved

(Editor's Note: Letters come in every day testifying to the help that this well-known handwriting expert has been able to extend to readers. Perhaps he can help YOU, too. He invites you to write to him. See the following article for details.)

Here are some more replies to correspondents. Readers may find some of their own difficulties and problems dealt with here.

Miss D. C. — Your writing reveals you are somewhat disposed to enlarge apparent slights and resent them. Yours is not a nature that easily forgives; and this is where you might start to develop a broader point of view. Do not be in too much of a hurry to impute "base" motives to others. Do not be quarrelsome, nor allow yourself to get too easily irritated. And, above all, don't carry a chip on your shoulder. There is no surer way to lose your popularity and your friends.

You are, perhaps, inclined to be a trifle fussy. It is all very well to be methodical and to deal carefully with things that come up from day to day. But don't overdo it. It ceases to be a virtue and becomes a nuisance not only to yourself but to others.

Mrs. M. G. A. — In regard to your singing — keep at it. It is no use getting downhearted and spasmodic about it. There is only one way in which you can expect to get anywhere in this, and it is by keeping at it. You have a gift for this, and it would be a pity to ignore it, or not to try earnestly to get the best from it, merely because of a few passing disappointments. Remember Robert Bruce and the spiders!

Miss S. writes as follows: "I am 17 years of age and in love with a man of 39. My parents do not approve of my having anything to do with him, and yet he wants to marry me. I think the world of him, and do not know what I should do if I had to give him up. What do you advise?"

I believe that you would be doing a very unwise thing to marry him. His writing tells that he is of a domineering nature, is selfish, and undoubtedly is very set in his ways. He is not at all of the generous or sympathetic type. Your own writing, on the other hand, shows you are inclined to be variable and changeable. You are, I think, more "in love with love," than with your friend. In any case, you are too young to do anything serious in this matter at the present, and it will do you no harm to wait a while.

Mrs. H. L. — The writing of your husband knows that he has a facile mind and finds it easy to express himself. He is never at a loss for words.

He shows his feelings very readily, and is of a high-strung nature, apt to get easily excited when things do not go just right, or as he expects. He is not particularly generous, and as a matter of fact is rather the reverse.

He is capable of a great deal of feeling and is jealous. This is an unfortunate trait and might cause a lot of trouble if it is allowed to grow.

Mr. H. B. S. — Your writing shows you are very emotional, Mr. S. You do feel things very much. There is, however, a tendency for you to be changeable and inconsistent. You often vary in your moods, and the result is that you often jump from one thing to another, without giving the proper attention to one thing in particular. Your enthusiasm grows hot and cold. You easily get interested in anything, but too soon grow tired of it, and turn your attention in another direction. This results in lack of concentration and prevents consistent effort, and if you continue to go along in this way, you will get nowhere.

This trait is the cause of your love affairs and the troubles you have had arising from them. The same thing occurs with your friends. People find you difficult to understand and because most people don't like to go to the trouble of solving human puzzles, they lose interest in you.

Would YOU like to have YOUR handwriting analysed? And perhaps you would like to know the truth about your friends? Mr. St. Clair can help you as he has helped so many others. In order to get your personal character analysis, you must send for a copy of Mr. St. Clair's new Chart — the Grapho-chart, which contains over 100 illustrations and shows how to read your own character and that of your friends from handwriting. It is fascinating and very interesting. Send 12 cents for your copy of the Grapho-chart, and an additional 10c for each specimen you want analysed. Send with a 3c stamped addressed envelope to Geoffrey St. Clair, Room 421, 73 Adelaide St. W., Toronto Ont. Letters will be treated confidentially, and replies are mailed as quickly as is possible.

WOMEN'S CHATTER

By Mair M. Morgan

THE BOOK OF THE MOMENT

Any book from the pen of Frederick Niven is an event. It is indeed a compliment when reviewers impatiently wait for their copy. "THE FLYING YEARS" has a big appeal to Canadians.

In this novel, the changing years are used as the background. Opening in Scotland, then the Canadian West of a generation ago, we are able to envisage in the lifetime of one man, the panorama of vast buffalo herds, stalking hunters, creaking carts giving way to shrieking locomotives and droning planes. Through all this, like a thread, multi-colored, runs transient man, puny in his regrets and tears, gigantic in his hopes, ambitions, love and achievement.

THE GLAD SEASON NEARING

In spite of snow flurries and sudden drops in temperature, we all know by the calendar that spring is just around the corner. The following lines may aptly describe your home and make you glad:

THE OLD HOUSE

(Howard McKinley Corning, in the New York Sun)

Once more that season when the northeast gales
Decline, and sober windows nudge awake
And blow their candid curtains out like sails;

When doors stand open, and freed children make
A sounding trumpet of the sunny day.

When mothers search the yard, prying through drifts
Of blackened leaves for lip-like buds to say
The Spring returns. For now new sentence sifts
Along the indoor blood, and hunger, salted

The Winter through, grows fresh as maple sap.
All life spills out into a world blue-vaulted.

Only the gable garret keeps its nap,
Grown warm once more with sun upon the roof
That Winter-long wore snow for weatherproof.

FLOWERS FOR PEACE GARDEN

The Federated Women's Institutes of Canada, under the presidency of Mrs. A. E. Walker of Bartonville, is setting an example to the women of the world.

Each province is subscribing to a fund to establish within the International Peace Garden, on the boundary between North Dakota and Manitoba, a plot to be planted with peonies, lilacs, irises and other shrubs and perennials. Money for the maintenance will also be provided. The provincial presidents are co-operating in the movement and a committee, of which T. A. Cohoe, Pilot Mound, Man., is convener, and Mrs. Alice W. Fenwick, Atholville, N.B., is treasurer, has been organized.

Importance Of Alfalfa

For a number of years the forage crop specialists at the Central Experimental Farm have been studying the species and mixtures best suited for pasture in this district. Among other things it has been found that the inclusion of alfalfa wherever possible, on land to which it is adapted, increases the yield of good quality hay and produces an early second growth which may be cut for hay or grazed at a time when the older pastures are at a minimum level of production. The importance of this fact cannot be over-emphasized, because good hay and good pastures are very necessary for the maintenance of high-production herds.

The use of some alfalfa has also been found to prolong the life of the field as pasture for an additional year or two, for, being a perennial plant, alfalfa persists after red clover has disappeared.

"To leave out theoretical things is to be too insanely impractical, even for a practical man."—G. K. Chesterton.

Flies To Save Time

Physicians were battling desperately to save the life of Donald Osnos, 8-year-old Detroit boy, who is suffering from a rare blood disease, after Dr. E. G. D. Murray, of McGill University, made a special airplane flight from Montreal with the newly perfected serum, said to be effective in combatting the affliction. Dr. Murray is shown above about to board a police car which rushed him from the Detroit Airport to Harper Hospital where the boy is confined.

The Other Fellow's Job

If we could all switch businesses all the way around for just one week, we'd be a lot more sympathetic of the other fellow's problems and know a lot more than we do at present about the cause of his short-comings and his apparent failures. Let the banker sell prunes, the grocer pull teeth, the dentist run a garage, the garage man edit the paper, the editor run the bank for just six little work days and we'd all have our eyes so wide open to what the others are up against that we would never have the courage to criticize, nor would we be unsympathetic again. Then if the whole caboodle of us were to move onto various farms and operate them for another six days, we would all be so wise and understanding that the peace and harmony prevailing would make this little old community just about the best place in the world to live. It can't be done, of course, but we could take the thought to ourselves that we don't know anything about the other man's job, and concede that for all we know, he is handling it in good shape.—Exchange.

Warning Given to British Columbia by Advocate of Chemical Research

Victoria, B. C.—Establishment of a forest chemistry research department to study possibilities of greater economic use of British Columbia forest products and by-products was recommended to the legislature by Capt. M. H. Paulik, former German forest administrator.

Millions of dollars in excess of what is now being taken out may be secured from British Columbia's forests by a more intensive policy of development, Capt. Paulik asserted.

At present the treasury gets annually only one and one-half cents revenue per acre for the total forest area. In European countries the government gets as high as $5 to $11 per acre in revenue annually.

Unless something is done immediately B.C.'s wonderful forests will vanish in less than 18 years, Dr. Paulik declared. In the last 75 years the forest area had decreased from 135,000,000 acres to 9,000,000 acres, due to logging, disease and fires.

The highest advertising rate of any periodical in the country is charged by the Ladies' Home Journal, which is $9,500 for a full page. Women's Home Companion $9,400; Delicater, $9,200; Pictorial Review and McCall's Magazine, $8,800 each; Saturday Evening Post, which has largest circulation $8,000; Collier's $5,500; True Story $4,500 and Liberty 4,250.

Tobacco Quality

Tobacco quality is related directly to the nitrogen content of the soil in which the "weed" is grown. The United States Bureau of Plant Industry has determined. The soil's nitrogen content must be high for quality cigars and low for quality cigarettes. Maryland tobacco, it was found, is lower in nicotine content than tobaccos produced in other states.

Changing Civilizations

Jerusalem and the Holy Land have been violent enough, from the days of Isaiah and Sennacherib to the present, but the marks of violence are overshadowed by the peaceful reverence that lies over the land. A crusader's tower reminds one of the Saracens and Richard the Lion-Hearted. The British cemetery recalls the World war. Jaffa was besieged by Napoleon. But the most important memories are those surrounding the many Christian, Jewish and Mohammedan shrines. Bethlehem, the Mount of Olives, the Garden of Gethsemane, the Church of the Holy Sepulchre, the Mosque of Omar, the Walling Wall, Rachel's tomb, Bethany, the Sea of Galilee, round out a picture of changing civilizations.—Chicago Daily News.

Cracking of Oil

The cracking of oil is said to have been discovered by a refinery workman who day-dreamed on the job and let the still get too hot and build up too much pressure. How this careless person escaped being blasted into the next world is not told by the legend. As a matter of fact, the first successful cracking process was patented by Doctor Burton of Standard Oil about 1912. Cracking consists of heating the heavier fractions of oil under high pressure.

A Public Lecture Entitled Five Years in Ottawa will be given by J. T. Ellis, of Ottawa, in Wilson's Hall, Shawville, Saturday night, April 6th commencing at 8 o'clock.

For the past six years T. J. Ellis has been doing the work of a Gospel Evangelist in and about the city of Ottawa. He has preached the gospel free and has earned his living by other honourable means. At present, being unable to secure employment and in much need of material means, he has decided for a little time to take the lecture platform in order to meet the immediate needs of his family. He does not possess any of this world's goods, all having vanished during his five years' illness with "pernicious anemia." He has, perhaps, passed through the most sensational experience during the past five years in Ottawa that any man in this generation has ever witnessed. Having seen Ottawa from the inside, actually viewing the under-world in its most sickening form, he will divulge it all, without fear or favour, in order that others might heed the warning.

His experience among the more than thirty different forms of religion in Ottawa will alone be a wonderful revelation to all. Dear reader you can not afford to miss this lecture and your small contribution will greatly assist the speaker in his struggle to live.

Come prepared to hear one of the most startling truths ever revealed before a public audience and you will surely go home satisfied.

Special singing by a Shawville Girls' Quartette. Admission, 25 cents.—Advt.
