Electoral Reform Plea Is Advanced By Howard S. Ross

Columnist Addresses Progress Club on Proportional Representation

On Tuesday in the Windsor Hotel, an interested gathering of the Progress Club at the regular weekly luncheon meeting heard our columnist, H. S. Ross, K.C., speak on "More Effective Voting—Proportional Representation."

Demonstrating the weakness of our present system Mr. Ross analyzed the results of the Federal general election of 1935. The Liberal Party polled 1,977,423 votes and won 175 seats. The average number of votes for each seat won was 11,000. The Conservatives had 1,259,420 votes and won 40 seats representing an average of 31,000 votes per seat. The short-lived Reconstruction Party received 378,562 votes and elected only its leader, H. H. Stevens. The C.C.F. had 338,956 votes and eight seats, representing 42,000 votes a seat. Social Credit won 137,493 votes and took 17 seats averaging 8,000 votes per seat. Other candidates had 75,275 votes and captured four seats.

While the successful party needed only 11,000 votes to win

About 500 soldiers and airmen came back aboard the Hospital Ship Lady Nelson, which docked in Halifax on Wednesday. Hospital trains will bring the wounded men homeward-bound this week-end.

Rev. A. Lloyd Smith Says Memory Helps To Furnish Secure Judgment

Preacher Points Out the Functions and Way to Receive God's Message of Truth

A sermon entitled "Remember All The Way," was delivered by the Rev. A. Lloyd Smith, of Dominion Douglas Church, on the first Sunday of the New Year. Following is the text:

One of the noblest faculties of man is memory. In a manner entirely inexplicable by the investigations of anatomy or physiology, memory treasures up life's experiences so that we are often surprised at the plenitude of its store. Indeed some psychologists hold the opinion that nothing which ever happens to anybody is ever entirely forgotten. All that is needed is the right stimulus to enable memory to recall it.

P/O W. Harrison Is Honor Graduate

Word has been received that P/O. William D. Harrison, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Harrison, of 100 Sunnyside avenue, was commissioned and given his wings at a recent graduation at No. 17 Service Flying Training School, R.C.A.F., at Souris, Man. Honor student of his class, he was presented with a War Saving certificate by the citizens of Souris. The pilot officer is a graduate of Westmount High School and was one of the first members of the Westmount Squadron of the Air Cadet League to join the R.C.A.F.

PUBLICATION DATE CHANGED

Due to changes in publication schedules dictated by war conditions, the Examiner from this week on will go to press on Thursday and distribution will take place on Friday.

Memory is a divine gift by which we are able to bind together past and present in a unity of experience. Memory has been given not merely to treasure all experience as a great cistern catches and holds millions of individual rain drops. It is the function of memory to furnish us with those materials upon which we may arrive at broad-based, secure and accurate judgments.

The book of Deuteronomy contains the admonition of Moses to the people of Israel before they attempted to possess the Land of Promise. In these addresses, over and over, Moses summons Israel to "Remember." The word sounds like a bell all through the book. "Remember" Moses says and again "Remember." In chapter 8, verses 2 and 3, Moses says: "Remember all the way which the Lord hath led thee."

That is an eminently appropriate thing for us to do on the first Sunday of a New Year. It may be that we think we have been choosing our own way, but if we have, God has arranged where such choices will lead us. We may have turned from Him.

Westmount Flier Wins First Victory Off Azores

F/O R. D. Thompson Gives Details of Attack — W/O Donald Maher is Also In Same Unit

Scores of Canadian airmen are operating with R.A.F. Coastal Command Squadrons from bases in Portuguese owned islands patrolling 1,000,000 square miles of ocean searching for German submarines, and to Westmount went the honour of the first submarine kill by Azores-based planes.

The sub, which sank less than two weeks after operations from the island were begun, was disclosed only now to have been destroyed by an R.C.A.F. Flying Fortress which blasted the surfaced U-boat with depth charges while outshooting the sub's deck gunners.

F/O Robert D. Thompson, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Thompson, 4633 Sherbrooke street West, had less than 50 hours flying time as the fortress' second pilot before the attack.

Sub Spotted

"We were on a convoy escort just after daylight when the front lookout saw a fully-surfaced sub," he said. "Everybody went to action stations, and we made a half circuit and attacked with our machine guns.

"We dropped depth charges on our second run over the target, and our top turret gunner picked off a couple of German gunners on the sub's deck. We laid our depth charges alongside the sub

January Crow Hailed Herald Of Early Spring

Pedestrians on Greene Avenue just before noon on Wednesday were startled to hear the loud and raucous cries of a large and very black crow which suddenly appeared overhead and zoomed up Greene Avenue toward Westmount Mountain.

Whether the bird was very late going south or very early coming north was a point of discussion. Several optimists saw the appearance of Blacky the Crow at this time of the year a sure sign of a mild winter and an early spring.

First Westmount Company To Meet

Boys' Brigade Resumes Regular Schedule

With the holidays now past, the 1st Westmount Company will return to their regular Friday evening schedule this week, the meeting taking the form of a dress rehearsal for the mid-winter display on the 14th. The precision squad has been keeping up its training throughout the holiday period and will get a final brushing up on Friday, while first aiders and P. T. teams will also come in for their share of coaching, that the part they play will be in keeping with the high standard of the past. Lieut. A. G. Anderson has been conducting a course in wayfaring and hopes to be able to present several phases of this work, in conjunction with his first aid display.

An inspiring service was held Sunday evening in Melville Church, the occasion being the annual enrolment service when 1944 membership cards are presented to enrolled boys. Following the service, the unit was inspected by Rev. Dr. W. Orr. Mulligan, chaplain of the company, who praised the boys on their smart appearance and told them how proud they should be of the

Living Costs Up 90 Per Cent on Islands, Rotarians Told

The submarine menace in the Atlantic Ocean, besides raising the cost of living about 90 per cent, over peacetime levels in some areas, had brought the British West Indian Islands "quite close to starvation," C. Rex Stollmeyer, Canadian Trade Commissioner for the British West Indies, told members of the Westmount Rotary Club at a luncheon meeting on Wednesday in Victoria Hall.

"Sometimes," Mr. Stollmeyer revealed, "ships bringing badly needed food were sunk by torpedoes within sight of the islanders."

At the same time, he continued, agricultural labor was diverted to the building of American naval and army bases, at wages the native workers had "never even dreamed of," thus decreasing home grown food supplies.

One result which affected Canada particularly was the increase in trade between the Dominion

That does not mean He has left us. We may have chosen—but all the time He has been directing and we, each of us, are where we are, because of His leading.

The purposes which Moses ascribes to God in His leading are threefold.

The first is "that He might humble thee." That may seem a rather harsh purpose and hard to reconcile with God's love. Parents cherish ideals for their children and want to see them come to something. Nobody has a measuring line long enough to compass the dreams which fathers and mothers cherish for their sons and daughters. Earthly parents want to lift their children up and encourage them to make something of themselves.

God wants to humble us.

The Bible does not let us long get away from its repeated teaching that this world, with all its engagements, is a scaffolding by which a building may be reared—a temple of character far more important than the temporary scaffolding. We are bidden look back on life believing that its joys and sorrows, its contrary circumstances, losses and sorrows are all for the purpose of doing something to us. They are to rock the self-confidence out of us—and bring us each to acknowledge as Jesus did "Of myself I can do nothing." Only when we know our own weakness that are we prepared to receive God's message to us "My grace is sufficient for thee"—and to know the truth of Paul's great affirmation: "When I am weak, then am I strong."

Another purpose which Moses said God had long ago in leading Israel, was: "to prove thee," that is, to discover by tests whether they were really willing to obey His commandments or not.

Good and evil are not resident in things or in events. They are qualities in the souls which respond to things and events. Worldly minded folk will say that health, and wealth are good—and that sickness and poverty are evil. But the facts of life modify that statement. Many people who are both sick and poor are happier and in much more wholesome condition of spirit than others who have both money and health.

When we hear of a serious accident the first question is, "Was there any loss of life?" Every other interest is subordinate to that. In the realm of spiritual life, which matters most, God is concerned to discover whether men and women are alive in the sense that even under adverse pressure they still choose to do His will. The man who gets the best of the bargain is always the man who is completely honest for the most precious thing a man can lose in any deal is the cleanness of his own soul. The man who gets the best of the argument is the man who is entirely truthful, for a quiet conscience is better than a silenced opponent. It profits a man nothing to gain the whole world and lose his own soul.

During the year, God has been busy proving us all to find of what quality we really are. I wonder what His verdict is?

The third purpose which Moses discerned in the leading of God was instruction: "that He might make thee know that man doth not live by bread alone, but by everything that proceedeth out of the mouth of the Lord."

There is no lesson to be learned so important as that. Does a man live by the word of God? Do those great ideas and ideals which take their rise in God, mean more and more to him? "The word of God"—not only the Bible, though that is a priceless depository of divine truth, but the Eternal Word that speaks in the heart of every man—calling to duty, to righteousness, to unselfishness, to unyielding devotion, to the best we know. Does a man ever more faithfully live than by that word?

Temptation says: "A man must live." Honour replies: "Yes, a man must live forever." What a difference adding that last word makes! If this life were all, if there were nothing after the grave, then it might be asked whether honour and virtue were really worth what they cost—but if we accept the teaching that man's duty is to live by the word of God and that it is his high destiny, to move forward into a larger life and closer fellowship where God's will is more clearly discerned than it is here, then the whole conception of life is enlarged and deepened.

Surely God has been searching the souls of this generation—seeking to drive from their hearts all pride and self-sufficiency, trying to find out whether they can learn by their mistakes and to discover whether after paying the penalty of their evil-doing, they will, at length, learn to obey His word. We do well to remember that and to move forward into the New Year with humble heart, determined to be more loyal and obedient to the God who, in His wisdom, has led us this hard way, to humble us, prove us and to teach us to live by His word.

seat the other leading party needed 31,000.

The speaker asserted that Proportional Representation aims to end the present waste of voting by a better representation of the opinions of the electorate in Parliament, and the return of truer proportions, which, while it would give the majority control, would also assure the minorities of a right to express themselves and the electorate a greater freedom of choice. Another result, he declared would be a greater freedom for the representatives, from the activities of pressure groups and a brighter prospect for the return to Parliament of the ablest and most trusted representatives.

Among those in favor of this kind of electoral reform, said Mr. Ross are Prime Ministers Churchill and King. He quoted a broadcast by the former in favor of P.R. on January 16, 1934.

One other reform of the franchise which he felt should be put through by the present Parliament to become effective at the next federal election should be proportional representation in our large cities.

Mr. Ross said that Proportional Representation is in use by the universities of Great Britain in election of members of Parliament, the cities of Winnipeg, Calgary and Edmonton, (in a modified form for rural Alberta and Manitoba), New York City, Cincinnati, Toledo and Hamilton, Ohio, Older Colorado, West Vancouver, St. James, Man., Dublin, Cork, Christchurch, New Zealand, Armadale, N.S.W., Eire, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Netherlands, Malta and in some sections of Northern Ireland, South Africa, Argentina, for election to the Educational Authorities in from stem to stern as we whizzed by. After the explosions the sub started to sink by the stern and heeled over to port.

"Then we did another half-circuit over the conning tower," Thompson said, "and dropped the rest of our depth charges. It was a beautiful 'straddle'. We circled around while the sub was sinking stern first and watched till it was all under water. Then there was an explosion under water, and oil spread over the water.

Spotted Survivors

"We saw some survivors. They'd apparently been knocked off during our first attack. We dropped a dinghy and some rations," the Westmount airman said.

Bob Thompson graduated from Westmount High School in 1941 and enlisted early in 1942 in the R.C.A.F. He trained at Valcartier, St. Hubert, Victoriaville and Moncton, where he received his wings and commission in July 1942. Later he took his G.R.C. operational course at Greenwood, N.S. One of the first things he did when arriving in the Azores was to help organize the Canada Club there, which is made up of Canadian airmen, and he is also a member of the Canadians' softball team.

During the holidays, Mr. and Mrs. Thompson received word from their son to the effect that he has been made a Captain and is flying his own plane with a co-pilot from Winnipeg.

W/O Maher Also in the Azores

In his unit is another Westmount officer, W/O Maher, 25, son of Mrs. W. H. Maher, of 345 Lansdowne avenue. Educated at St. Leo's Academy, Don enlisted in January, 1942, and trained at Toronto, Guelph, Jarvis, and he also took his operational training with Bob Thompson at Greenwood, N.S. His wife, the former Margaret Lawless of Coburg, Ont., is at present living with his mother in Westmount. Two of his brothers are Sergeant Harold Maher, 27, and Trooper Clifford Maher, 19, who are with the Royal Montreal Regiment in England. and the British West Indies. "Close to 75 per cent. of the islands' food supply is now imported from Canada," Mr. Stollmeyer said. "In fact we depend on Canada for nearly everything we cannot grow ourselves."

The speaker showed several moving picture films, which he said were mostly taken before the outbreak of war, and visually described the "brighter side of the islands."

Mr. Stollmeyer was introduced by J. S. Miller and thanked by Victor D. Spott. Chester W. McBride presided.

Scotland and by the Trades Unions of Britain.

The president of The Canadian Progress Club in Montreal is H. G. MacGregor of Snowdon, H. W. Emo of Westmount is secretary and A. G. Allen of N.D.G. treasurer. Former Alderman James A. Donnelly is a member, as are Robert Wood of Grey Avenue and W. H. Mack of Marcell Avenue.

One of the services of the club last year was distribution of 200,000 half pints of milk to necessitous school children.

Another service is represented by the war services information bureau on the ground floor of the Dominion Square Building, where 1,000 servicemen are helped every week. The bureau is staffed by members of the women's volunteer services.

great tradition behind the B. B. He stressed that this new year we had entered upon would be a hard one; it was quite likely that there shall be considerable casualties amongst our boys serving in the Armed Forces ere another year dawns; some perhaps, who a few years back were members of the 1st Company; however, he urged the boys to stand by the great text written on their membership cards, "Remember now thy Creator in the days of thy youth. In all thy ways acknowledge Him and He shall direct thy paths." He ended his remarks by saying that it was this solid foundation which had given the B.B. its greatness, enabling it to carry on during the past sixty-one years, and he assured them that it would certainly go forward with renewed vigour after the war. The fellowship hour which followed was under the direction of Capt. J. H. Richardson and during that period several of the familiar old Hymns were sung and the Misses Bertha and Olive Ferguson rendered two duets. Mrs. C. S. Forrest presided at the piano. Refreshments were served at the close of the evening.

Local Bird Notes In Our Own Neighbourhood

Birds that flutter about on the terrace outside of your window these days evidently did not make plans for long flights south, but will be staying in the city through the cold days of winter and be cheerful companions when other species have already flown to warmer latitudes.

Have you ever made a study of the birds that stay on your street in winter and kept a diary about them? This is an interesting winter diversion, and if two or three of your friends are doing it, too, you can have lots of fun comparing notes.

"Have you ever seen birds use air brakes," a young high school student asked the other day. "You will see that they throw back their wings and spread their tails to slow down for a landing," she said. So we watched the very next pigeons alight across the street on the roof and found that she was right. Birds do use air brakes.

Here are some pointers we got from local school children:

Watch pigeons and sparrows drinking, and discover how differently they go about it.

Find a bird that is putting on its raincoat—oiling its feathers to make them waterproof.

On a cold winter day, look for birds with their feathers puffed out to form warm overcoats.

Find a bird asleep.

See a flock of migrating birds, in the fall, in the spring.

Make a bird calendar. Keep all year records of the birds you see.

Examine chicken feathers, and sketch the different kinds—fluffy under feathers, smooth cover feathers, straight tail feathers for steering, strong wind feathers for flying.

Wings With Zippers

Use a magnifying glass to see the rows of tiny hooks on the web of the wing feathers. These fasten the web together like zippers. Open the web—then pull it through your fingers to zip it. Watch a bird using its tail to zip the web of wing feathers when they have been disarranged.

Watch the birds around your home and write and tell us some of the things you have observed them doing. If you watch birds closely, you may find out some things about them that even bird authorities do not know.

Lt. W. S. Bury Wounded In Italy

Word has been received that Lieut. W. Stewart Bury, has been reported wounded in operations in Italy while with the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment. Lieut. Bury, whose wife was the former Patricia M. Armstrong of 259 Metcalfe Avenue, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur P. Bury of Pointe Claire.

Lt. Bury was well-known as a hockey and football player, having played on the teams of Westmount High School and Lower Canada College. He enlisted in 1939 shortly after the outbreak of war, and joined the Guards where he earned his commission. On going overseas he was transferred to the Royal Rifles and later to the Hastings and Prince Edward Regiment.

Alaska salmon pack this year is expected to total 5,500,000 cases.

MURIEL ANGELUS: SIPS MILK BETWEEN SHOWS

"Milk—straight," is beautiful Muriel Angelus' formula for keeping her energy and vitality intact for her daily performances of a demanding role in the stage play "Early to Bed." Although Muriel's figure is beautifully proportioned, her problem is keeping her weight where it is, and not hitting below that mark. And for her, a glass of milk between meals and before retiring is the one sure way to do it. Of course, milk alone won't do the trick of putting on weight, or keeping it there, the actress points out. The complete formula, she says, is plenty of sleep, daily exercise, and a well-balanced diet.

The psychological effects of the Chinese war include the development of national unity and a national spoken language, and the elevation of the standing of soldiers in popular esteem.

POST-WAR PLAN

HOWARD S. ROSS, K.C., draws our attention to what he believes is one of the simplest and best post-war plans yet brought to his attention—and Mr. Ross has read about everything on post-war planning that has been printed. Mr. Ross quotes a letter from a private in the famous Eighth Army of General Bernard Montgomery—a letter written to a friend in Scotland. What does this private want after the fighting is over? His old job back, a new house for his wife and children, and from time to time a visit to his old darts club at The Mucky Duck. That's simple, and something that the government could readily give the boys. And it would cost a lot less than the pie-in-the-sky plans that some of our politicians think will be necessary to keep the boys quiet when they return to civilian life. Perhaps a poll of the boys in uniform on the subject of after-the-war plans would reveal some surprises.

HOSTS TO SERVICE MEN

ACCORDING to what we hear, this district played host to a great number of members of the armed forces over the Christmas and New Year holidays. There were many lads from out of town here who hadn't time, or couldn't make adequate arrangements, to get home for the holidays. Many of them were away from home at Christmas for the first time in their lives, and there is nothing more lonesome than a Christmas away from home. However, many local residents made the holiday as cheerful as possible for these lads at Christmas and New Year dinners and at New Year's Eve parties. It is impossible to determine the number so entertained, but if we are to judge from the number of instances that have come to our attention among our friends and casual acquaintances, a large number of the boys enjoyed the hospitality of local homes.

YEAR OF HOPE

WE ARE on the threshold of a new year—a year that promises to bring some light into the blackness that has encompassed the world for four years, and a year that holds out real hope to the oppressed millions under the German and Japanese tyranny. We enter the new year well on the road to victory, watching our enemies disintegrate on every front.

We can look back now. Little did we realize back in September, 1939, when news came that the French army had moved to the frontier, in the Belfort region, the terrible nightmare that awaited us. We thought of the security of the Maginot line, and we felt a little buoyed up that at last the long war of nerves was ended and that the show-down had come. We didn't know what we faced. It wasn't until the following May and June when the German machine rolled to the English channel, when news of the atrocities in Poland reached us, that we became dimly aware of the nature of the conflict. Then followed the holocaust, and long months of perilous urgency as we worked to prepare, for we knew that we were not prepared. Hardly a spark of hopeful news until the thousand plane bombing of Cologne. Then El Alamein, and Stalingrad. Today, on the threshold of the new year, we can breathe easier. Our enemies suffer the war of nerves. They, not us, are on the brink of the abyss.

A WORTHY RESOLUTION

THIS IS the time of year many people make resolutions. May we suggest a simple one that anybody can keep without great inconvenience and no expense and one that will be greatly appreciated by the men and women in our armed services. We suggest that you make a resolution now to keep all magazines and books you read and forward them to the troops. A used book or magazine! Such a small thing to give our men and women in uniform. So small that we easily forget that thousands far away from the comforts of home and the corner book-store, will appreciate that old book like "treasure trove." From Africa a lad writes: "You can have little idea what it means to have a book or magazine to read when the opportunity does occur. We have little time off, but those few minutes are grand." And from Ceylon: "...magazines arrived for the airmen and they certainly were appreciated... the first we've seen for over a year. We feel very far from home and gestures like this make us realize we are not forgotten." Give all you can.

THE FORUM

Conducted by HOWARD S. ROSS, K.C., D.C.L.

In Which Subjects of General Interest Are Discussed

The opinions expressed in this Forum are not necessarily those of this newspaper, and it does not accept responsibility for them.

There is a striking editorial in a recent issue of Life entitled "Long War: To Reach The Heart Of Japan We Still Have To Fight Our Way Through Two Vast Empires."

A few extracts follow: "Around the south-west rim of the Inner Empire, there is an Outer Empire, including the Philippines, the fabulous Indies, Indo-China and Burma—an area almost as big as the entire U.S. (if you count the water) and almost all conquered since Pearl Harbor. This Outer Empire probably makes Japan the richest single nation on earth in terms of natural resources. It is strategically important because it provides oil, tin and rubber; yet we must never forget that war on the Outer Empire is not war on Japan. Even if we have reduced the important base at Rabaul, a gain many times as great as we have made in the entire Pacific war, we shall merely be in a position to attack the outer Japanese empire, which protects the inner Japanese empire, which is wrapped around the heart of Japan.

"But also the war against Japan differs from the war against Germany in that Japan is a naval power. Somehow or other, whether by naval action or by air, her fleet must be sunk. If by naval action this means a big showdown, a Jutland of the Pacific, with the stakes all or nothing. But if by air attack, it means that we must acquire land bases for our own planes."

The closing words show the importance of China as an ally.

"There is no short cut to peace in the Pacific—it is a job that will require a good part of the efforts of an entire generation. Yet we cannot accomplish it at all without the help of Asia. And this means a China policy that will bind us together with those wonderful people who have resisted the Japs for six bloody years. There are four military routes into Japan. But politically—they all lead through Chungking.

Following is a definition of a "brick" taken from a report of a wartime committee in a country which shall be nameless:

"For the purpose of the inquiry bricks are defined as walling units which (a) consist of any hard and durable inorganic substance, other than refractory substances employed specifically on account of this property; (b) are suitable for building and bonding; (c) are of such a shape, size and weight that they can be manipulated by one hand."

Robert Maynard Hutchins, president of the University of Chicago, opened his 15th year as president of the institution on the Midway on Nov. 19. Once hailed as a "boy wonder" because he was but 29 when he came to the presidency of the university in 1929, there are now said to be but three presidents of institutions in the Association of American Universities who surpass him in length of tenure. Once viewed as a radical, he is now rapidly becoming an institution in himself. He has brought $52,000,000 to the university during his administration, $500,000 of it from the man who launched a campaign to oust him as a "red".

Life insurance companies (Canadian) subscribed $170,000,000 to the Fifth Victory Loan, bringing their total investments in loans since the war began to over $775,000,000—an average of $200 for every insured person in the Dominion.

Uruguay, only country in the Western Hemisphere which does not have a law requiring compulsory military service is debating the passage of such a law. Students are against it and the older people are in favor of it, says Worldover Press. The Association of Chemistry Students recently issued a declaration attacking the proposed draft.

John Foster Dulles, authority on International Law, and chairman of the Commission on the Study of Basis of a Just and Durable Peace, has endorsed the Moscow declaration as "a notable step toward realizing international order as envisaged by our Six Pillars of Peace. There still remain major omissions, notably the omission to deal with colonial or economic matters. The Moscow declarations go only part of the way. Even then they are still words. To move from words into functioning institutions infused with the spirit of Christian fellowship remains a political and spiritual task of immense importance.

A survey recently made by the Canadian publishers' war finance committee revealed that the average Canadian worker could get along for less than a month if he (or she) were to lose his job. Approximately 50 per cent of those under 35 years of age would exhaust all their savings and resources within six months.

LETTERS to the EDITOR

SKI OUTFITS WANTED

To the Editor,
Sir: Mrs. Harold Mills, president of the Westmount Women's Club, through their War Work Committee has just received an urgent request for twenty (20) sets of ski outfits, for R.C.A.F. boys at Mountain View.

It is thought that many of your readers will have ski sets stored in their attics or basements and would be glad to part with them if by so doing they would gladden the hearts of our R.C.A.F. boys, many of whom cannot afford the luxury of a set of their own.

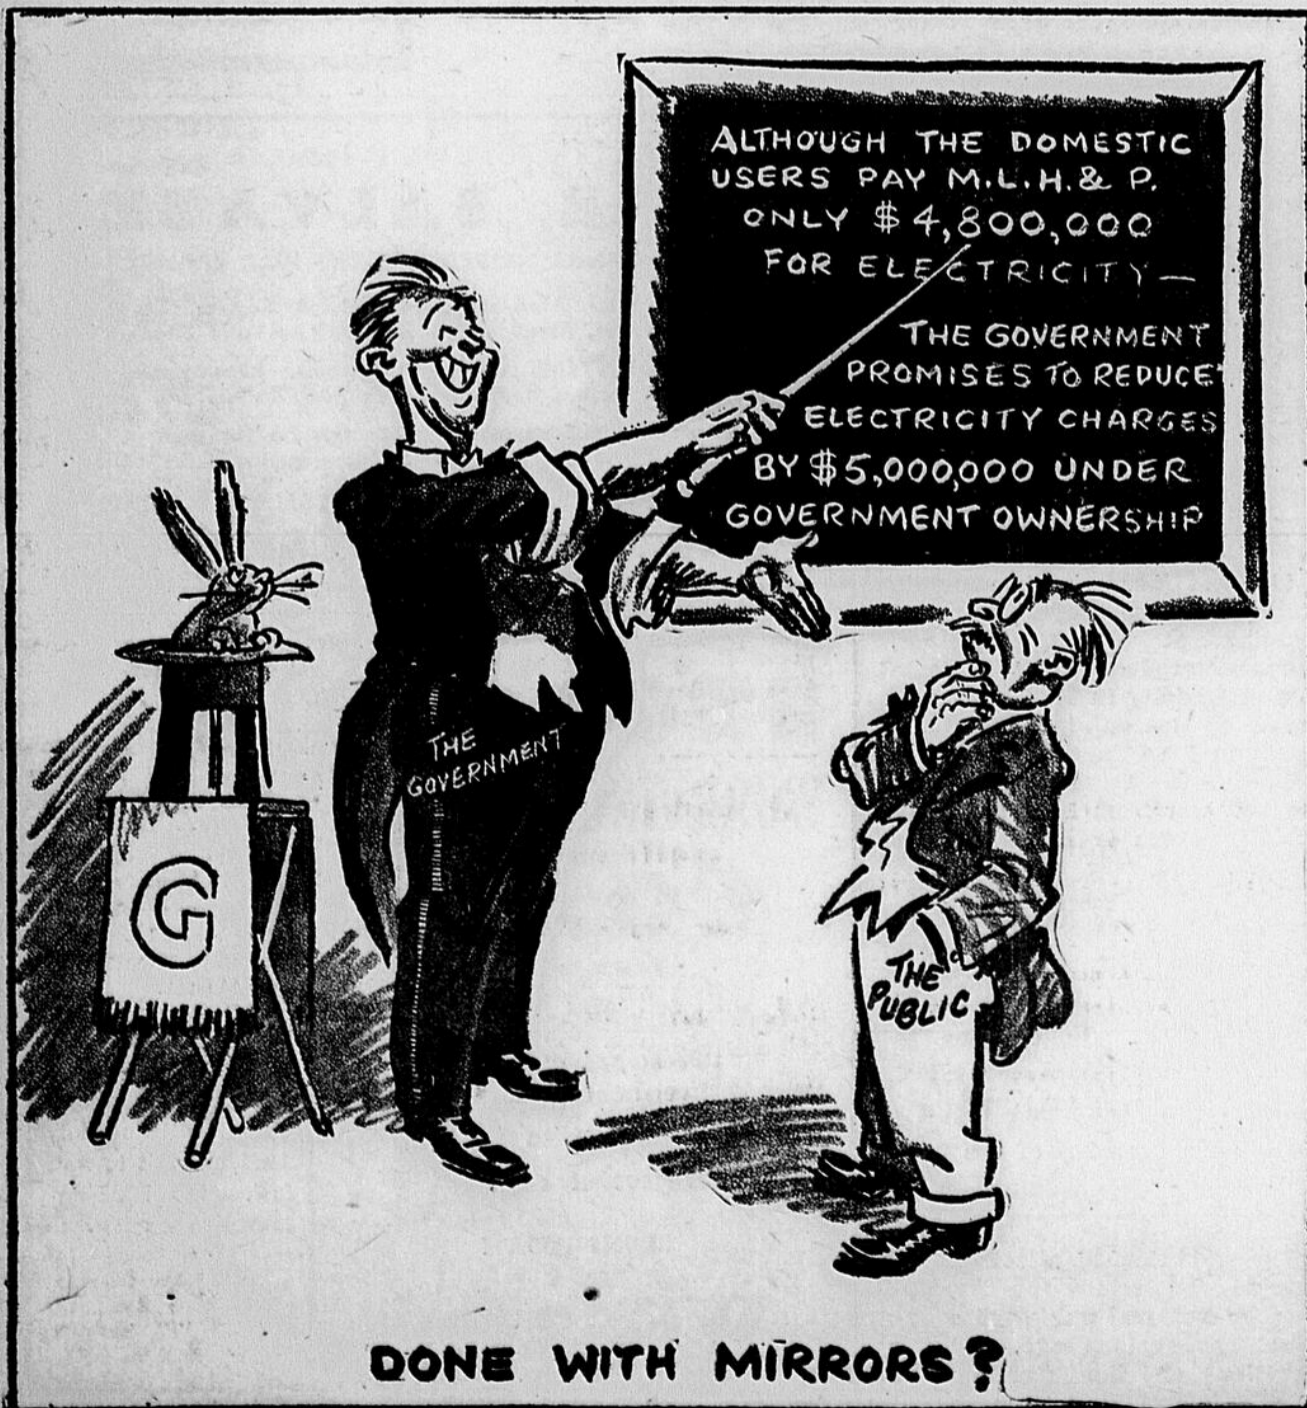

Skills and equipment may be sent to Mrs. Harold Mills, 344 Lansdowne Avenue, Westmount (or will be called for upon telephoning DE. 3290), who will see that any sports equipment so received will be shipped promptly to Mountain View.

Thanking you for space to bring this to the attention of your readers,

I am,

Estelle Jean Worfolk,
Chairman, publicity
Westmount Women's Club.

Iowa is raising pests to get rid of that other pest, the cornborer. Now, let's see, what can we raise for that fellow who's always trying to get free publicity?

DONE WITH MIRRORS?

✠ The Church Calls to Worship ✠

Westmount Park

Few of us are permitted to indulge in the luxury of first choices. We have very often to be content with second best, then the question becomes one of dealing with these second-bests. In his sermon on Sunday morning on "Handling Life's Second-Bests" Mr. Goth will endeavour to answer this question which is one of the real problems man has to face.

In response to many requests, Mr. Goth will preach on Sunday evening on "The Story of Adam and Eve." Was Adam really the first man? If so, whom did his sons marry? Where was the Garden of Eden? These are questions which honest folk have asked again and again. What answer can be made to these quite legitimate questions?

The Church School meets at 3:00 p.m. and the Primary Dept. at 11 o'clock.

The Red Cross group has resumed and will meet each Monday and Wednesday.

The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be held on Sunday, January 16th, at 11 a.m. Preparatory Service and Reception of new members will take place on Friday of next week, at 8 p.m.

The morning worship service will be held at 11 o'clock, with the pastor, the Rev. T. W. Jones, M.A., D.D., conducting the service and preaching the sermon on the theme: "Anywhere — providing it be forward." This was the meaningful motto for life of one of God's most honoured workmen. It is a stirring and challenging cry for us to re-echo and accept for our lives today.

The pastor will also conduct the evening service of worship at 7.30, the theme of the sermon being "In the School of the Master Teacher". Lessons for life from the parables. (a) The Prodigal Son.

The Young People's Union will hold its regular session on Monday evening, at 8.15 p.m., under the leadership of Mr. Sam Russell, convener of the Good Citizenship Committee. All young people are cordially invited to attend.

The Red Cross will meet in regular session on Tuesday from 10.30 a.m. to 4 p.m. in the church parlours.

Curtis, past president, will take the devotional period. The speaker will be the Rev. R. E. Spencer, Minister of St. Luke's United Church.

Preparations are well in hand for the celebration of the Sixty-seventh Anniversary of the founding of Calvary Church. Special services will be held on Sunday, January 23rd, while the annual meeting of the congregation will be held on the following Wednesday, January 26th.

A hearty invitation is extended to all to attend this friendly church and share its fellowship and service.

"Who steals my purse steals trash; but he who filches me my me poor indeed," as Shakespeare didn't quite say.

A verse for to-day . . .

He only is my rock and salvation; he is my defence; I shall not be moved.—Ps. 62: 6.

Westmount Fireside Fellowship follows the evening service. In this gathering "Youth seeks Times of Refreshing from the Presence of the Lord." Young men and women of the Active Forces are most cordially welcome.

On Sunday, January 16th, the Choir will present another in the series of Half-Hour Recitals of Sacred Music.

Ely Culbertson Outlines Plan For Permanent Peace

"No committee ever wrote a poem. It is a one-man job. No committee ever produced a system. This, too, is a task for a single mind, and so in its inception and at least in its general outline is any plan for lasting world peace."

The speaker is Ely Culbertson, whose many accomplishments and personal qualities are subordinated in his fame as the world's leading bridge expert. Mr. Culbertson, who will speak to the Montreal Women's Club on Monday, gained his position as the most celebrated figure in the history of intellectual games largely as a by-product of his real vocation — that of social sciences and mass psychology. It may be well that his reputation as a card player will, in turn, become secondary to a much more significant, more resounding, more humanly valuable prestige, as author of a plan for compulsory universal brotherhood.

ELY CULBERTSON

Broadly speaking, Ely Culbertson has devised a foundation and blue-printed a framework for enduring peace based upon a long and profound study of world political and economic conditions. Culbertson's formula for an abiding concord of nations is based upon total defeat of Germany.

"Of course," he says, "if Hitler wins he will make his own peace plan. But I don't expect Hitler to win. We shall have to face more disasters, I expect. But even if the war goes as it has been going, the axis will be beaten. Detroit alone will win this war."

He began work upon his system six years ago.

"That," he said, "was in 1937. At that time I prophesied that war would occur. I made bets that it would. I won the bets."

Asked if the plan to be announced was the outgrowth of a passionate pacifism, he shook his head.

Ely Culbertson hopes—and expects—this war will be the last for generations and generations, and still beyond, in which any one will have necessity for speculating about the course of international armed conflict.

NEWS OF THE THEATRE WORLD

AT WESTMOUNT THEATRE

Producer-Director Gregory La Cava, the maker of such diverse hits as "My Man Godfrey," "Private Worlds" and "Stage Door," put everything he had into the new film. And it hits the heights of just about every type of film entertainment, from comedy to drama to romance.

Co-starring for the first time, Irene Dunne and Robert Montgomery prove an ideal team and add to their stature as top-ranking stars.

Featured players Preston Foster and Eugene Pallette top all previous efforts as do other members of the supporting cast.

Has Popular Elements

Every element of popular film fare is contained in this one comedy-drama, as testified by enthusiastic reception by opening-day audiences to the varying moods of the picture.

The story, from a screen play by Eugene Thackrey, opens on an effective romantic sequence in which a small-town girl bound for New York meets a wealthy man-of-the-world on a train. Miss Dunne and Foster enact these roles.

The girl falls in love but the man does not return the affections. Later, in a spirit of adventure, she marries his younger brother, the latter played by Montgomery. The hectic life which follows is interrupted when Montgomery falls in love with his wife. Believing that she has some "unfinished business" in her love for the older brother, the wife leaves.

Later the older brother steps in to provide the surprise climax to the affair.

Stars Are Effective

Miss Dunne has never been seen to better advantage, Montgomery has one of his best roles, and Foster is also outstanding as the "other man."

Pallette plays an unusual but hilarious character as Montgomery's butler, and other excellent supporting players include Esther Dale, Walter Catlett, June Clyde, Dick Foran, Samuel S. Hinds, Kathryn Adams, Virginia Brissac, Rente Riano and Richard Davies.

According to the British Medical Journal Lancet, a cure has been discovered for the common cold. Brother, that's a Fifth Freedom!

Boy Scouts of Regina have inaugurated a new service for shut-ins. Twice each week they call at the homes of shut-ins to return books to the Public Library and bring new volumes.

AT THE MONKLAND FRIDAY!

Bob Hope and Betty Hutton who co-star in the romantic comedy "Let's Face It," which opens at the Monkland United Theatre on Friday playing until Monday night.

At The Snowdon

Joan Crawford and Fred MacMurray bring to life Helen MacInnes' storied characters in "Above Suspicion" starting Saturday at the Snowdon theatre.

Joan and Fred play a honeymoon couple who take advantage of their position as typical tourists travelling in Germany before the outbreak of war to track down a mysteriously missing British agent. The trail starts in Paris, leads to Salzburg, where bookshop owner Felix Bressart gives them the next clue. In Salzburg they become friendly with Conrad Veidt and Basil Rathbone and receive the clue leading to the end of the trail. They rescue the British agent and make their escape in a series of hairbreadth adventures.

Joan Crawford is at her best as the glamorous young bride and MacMurray uses his air of nonchalance to best advantage as her groom who must combine sleuthing with his honeymoon. This drama thriller was photographed against a breathtaking landscape of the Tyrol and the director's splendid handling of suspense and comedy make for excellent entertainment. The unusual casting of Veidt and Rathbone is one of the unexpected, "different" highlights of the picture. The added feature, "Gals, Incorporated" starring Harriett Hilliard and Grace McDonald with Leon Errol and Glen Gray and his Casa Loma Orchestra is a song-packed musical with "rubber-legs" Errol as a fancy free sugar-daddy who dabbles in a night club run by a bevy of beautiful girls. When straight-laced relatives attempt to reform him he becomes involved in a marriage hoax, which it is reported, sets several new "highs" in movie hilarity. Twelve song-hits may be heard in the film the most outstanding being: Chant Of The Jungle, Take It And Git, Can't Get Stuff In Your Cuff, Love Is All, Here's Your Kiss, Brazil, Hep, Hep, Horray. Latest news events and selected short subjects will complete the program.

Sings For Third Time In Career

HOLLYWOOD. — For the third time in her career, Joan Fontaine will sing a song in "Frenchman's Creek." And, in spite of that Academy Award, she is as nervous about it as the leading lady in a high school play just before curtain time.

Occasion of Joan's ordeal by song is the banquet scene in the picture when she, as the Lady Dona St. Columb, plays for time hoping that her lover, the French

England was the first country to form societies for the prevention of cruelty to animals?

NEWS OF THE THEATRE WORLD

At The Monkland

"Bataan" brings thrills, drama and stark realism in the most compelling story of the last stand battle of American heroes in a Philippine jungle to the screen at the Monkland United Theatre.

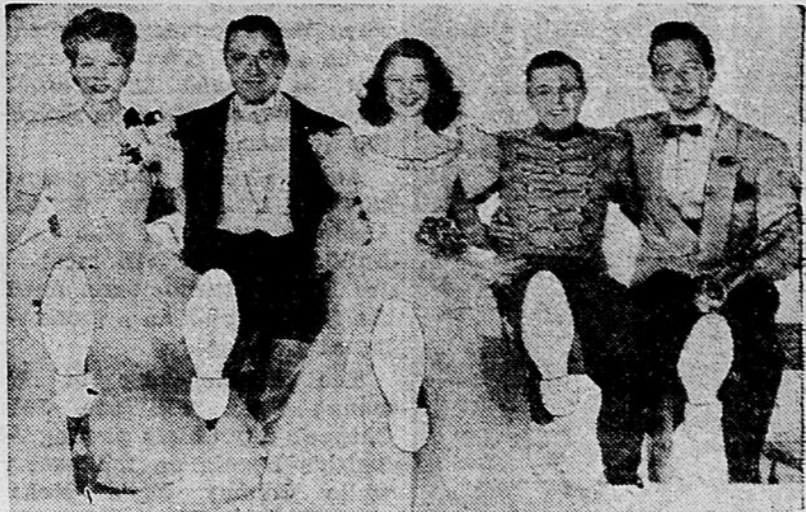

With a cast headed by Robert Taylor, the story deals with thirteen men whose nationalities make them a literal cross section of American life. They are detailed to blow up a bridge and fight a delaying action against the Japanese to cover the evacuation of Bataan Peninsula. The mission means certain death to all.

Among them a plot develops. Taylor, as the sergeant, recognizes a fugitive criminal in Lloyd Nolan. The human relationships of the doomed thirteen are enacted against the thunder of shell fire and the criminal lays down his life a hero. Spectacular is the blowing up of a bridge the Japs are trying to repair. Taylor is the last to give his all, firing his tommy gun from his own grave.

Taylor's role is the most vivid and dramatic in his entire career, and Tay Garnett directed the story with breath-taking realism.

Players include George Murphy as an army flyer stayin' with the

At York Theatre

Bringing to the screen for the first time the "inside story" of America's great secret weapon, the Norden bombsight, and how this nation came to adopt it, RKO Radio's "Bombardier" stars Pat O'Brien and Randolph Scott at the head of a brilliant cast and in one of the most thrilling pictures to come out of the war. The film is now playing at the York United Theatre until Friday night.

A friendly professional rivalry between the two stars and a four-cornered romance are additional features of the story, which opens in Washington and ends in Tokio but has most of its absorbing action take place at a bombardier school in New Mexico.

O'Brien plays the part of Major Davis, a strong advocate of high-level bombing with the newly-developed bomb sight, while Scott is cast as Captain Oliver, whose observations of Stukas in Europe have convinced him that dive-bombing is the only thing. A contest between the two types convinces high Army officers and a Congressional committee that high-altitude bombing is more accurate, and results in Davis being authorized to train Bombardiers to use the secret sight at a special school.

Oliver goes to the school as head of the pilot group flying the bombing planes, largely because he is in love with Davis' pretty secretary. Fighting obstacles of all sorts, Davis sees his dreams of a host of trained Bombardiers coming true—and then comes Pearl Harbor, and the chance of proving the predictions he has been making.

Promoted to Colonel and sent to the South Pacific in command of a bombing squadron, Davis again puts in for Oliver to accompany him. On a big night raid over Tokio, Oliver goes ahead to drop incendiaries and light up the targets for Davis' big Flying Fortresses, but his plane is hit and its crew captured. How Oliver daringly carries out his mission under the threat of Jap bayonets and Jap torture forms the gripping climax of the film.

Made with the full co-operation of the U. S. Army Air Force, much of the picture was photographed at the big Bombardier training school at Kirtland Field near Albuquerque, and the education of the hand-picked youngsters who are taught the carefully guarded secrets of the blowing up of the bridge, mopping-up operations with hand grenades and other thrilling battle action keeps the picture constantly at high speed.

Norden sight is shown in detail as a singularly realistic background to the romance and rivalry of the plot.

How the boys practice until they can literally 'drop 'em in a barrel' from altitudes so great that the big bombers are almost invisible, is vividly shown in the unusual film. Much of its story is said to parallel the professional career of a famous Air Force Colonel whose enthusiasm for the Norden sight was largely responsible for its present development and effective use.

ROYALS TOO GOOD FOR OLYMPICS IN FIRST MIDGET CLASH OF 1944; STAYNOR DEFEATS PANTHERS 4-2

Basil Boxer Dominates Scoring in 5-1
Triumph Over Dodick's Aggregation — Siemers Shines in "B" Group

R. Boxer's Royals, champions of the midget section in the Westmount Municipal Hockey League for the past two years, made their 1944 debut a winning one when they took Martin Dodick's Olympics into camp 5-1 in the loop inaugural on Monday night at Westmount Park. This was the first scheduled game in the "A" group of the section.

In the "B" group opener, Richard Lord's Staynor club handed Garth Gilhooly's Panthers a 4-2 set-back.

Basil Boxer dominated the scoring in the Royals-Olympics game, notching two goals and drawing as many assists. Other scorers for the winners were Bobby Smith, Bob Keebler and Ralph Edmison.

The Olympics turned in a surprisingly strong game, keeping the issue in doubt until the last period when the Royals rammed in two counters to make sure of the game. The losers tallied their lone goal when Boyd converted a pass from Jimmie Ross, they also netted another just as the second period ended but this was not allowed as period ended just before the puck entered the Royals' net.

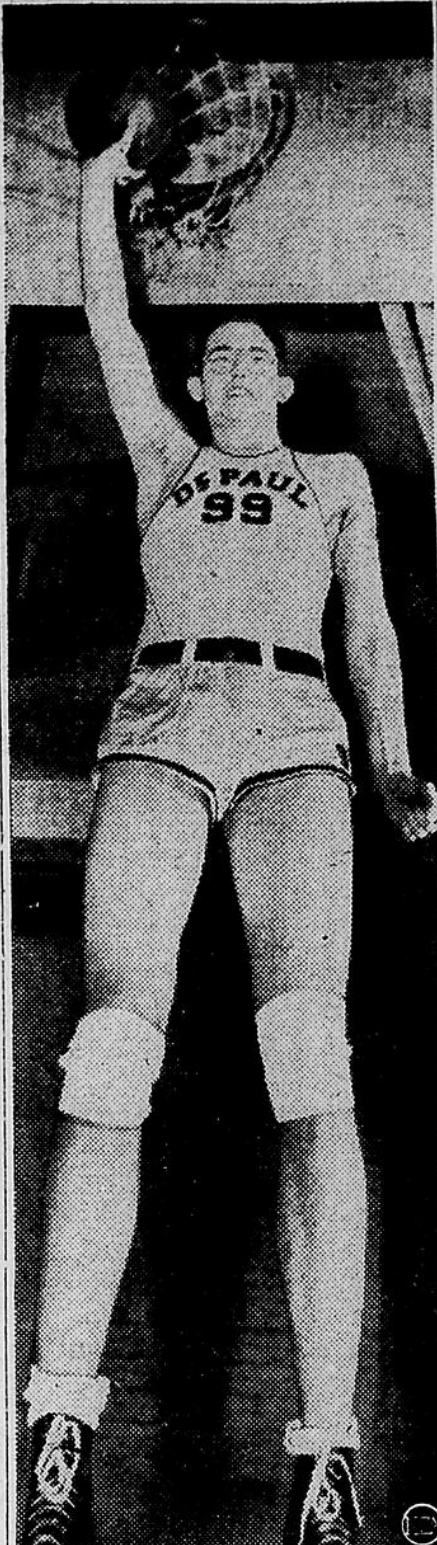

Three goals by Wolfgang Siemers handed the Staynor club their 4-2 victory over the Panthers in the B group game. Siemers notched a one man battle for the major part of the game outscoring the Panthers 3-2 till the last period when Jack Martin notched the winner's fourth counter.

Robert Burris and Ross Gillingham scored the two goals for the Panthers and along with Robert Putnam, Don Wadsworth and Ken Livingstone led the loser's attacks.

The following games are scheduled for this week, in the A group Golden Eagles meet the Falcons tomorrow night at Westmount Park in a game starting at 8.30 p.m. On Monday night the Olympics take on the Golden Eagles at Westmount Park with the game scheduled for eight o'clock while a doubleheader is slated for Westmount Park on Wednesday, January 12th, with Golden Eagles playing Royals in the first game and the Falcons meeting the Olympics in the second tilt.

Three games are slated to be played in the B group, tomorrow night the Greyhounds are slated to visit Richard Lord's team down at the Staynor rink, on Saturday afternoon the Panthers and Greyhounds hook-up on the Westmount Park rink in a game starting at three o'clock. On Monday night Staynor comes up to Westmount Park to meet the Greyhounds in a game starting at seven o'clock.

STR-R-R-ETCH

Long legs str-r-r-etching across half the picture, it looks like George Mikan is reaching right up to the basket—10 feet from floor. Mikan isn't that tall. It's the camera angle, but DePaul's center isn't far from the bucket when all out. He stands six feet eight and three-quarters.

Bantam Section To Start With Three Games Friday

The bantam section of the Westmount Municipal Hockey League will open tomorrow night when three games are scheduled to be played. Two of the games will be played at Westmount Park while the third is slated for the Staynor rink.

Andy McGillis has entered a bantam team from St. Leo's Academy, replacing Bob Lunny's Bulldogs, and it will meet Richard Lord's Staynor team down at the Staynor rink in a game starting at 7.30 p.m.

The doubleheader at Westmount Park will see Johnny Choyce's Sky Chiefs playing Allen Smith's Regals on the east rink while Johnny Fry's Mohawks meet Bob Beal's Golden Eagles on the west rink. Both games are slated to start at seven-thirty.

Three more games will be played on Saturday afternoon with the Mohawks meeting St. Leo's Academy on the east rink at two o'clock, the Golden Eagles playing the Sky Chiefs at the same time on the west rink while the Staynor club plays the Regals on the west rink at three o'clock.

GOLDEN EAGLES START WELL IN SWAMPING MONARCHS 7-2 IN TOUGH CONTEST ON MONDAY

Dougie Alexander's Golden Eagles, champions in the juvenile section of the Westmount Municipal Hockey League for the past two years, made an auspicious start in their 1944 campaign on Monday night when they swamped the Monarchs 7-2 at the Westmount Park rink.

This was the first scheduled game in the juvenile section of the league. Two more games were played on Wednesday night while Staynor meets the Monarchs tomorrow night at Westmount Park in the fourth game of the week.

Jim de Lalanne and Bill Coles played big roles in the Golden Eagles' win as de Lalanne notched three goals while Coles banged in two and was credited with an assist on another.

The Monarchs gave their more experienced opponents a tough battle in the first and third stanzas but were decisively outplayed in the middle period when the winners rammed home six goals.

Warren Chippendale played a smart game for the losers, scoring one of their goals while Geoff Messenger notched the other.

In addition to the goals scored by de Lalanne and Coles — Frank Read and Dave Harvey added two more to bring the Golden Eagles total to seven.

As mentioned above, Staynor will meet the Monarchs tomorrow night at the Westmount Park rink. Next Monday night the Monarchs will play the Army "B" team at Westmount Park starting at eight o'clock while the Army "A" club journeys down to Staynor to meet the home team. In the event the Staynor rink is not ready in time for this game, it will be played at Westmount Park starting at nine o'clock. On Wednesday, Jan. 12th, the Golden Eagles play Army "A" while Monarchs meet Army "B", both games at Westmount Park.

Westmount Highlights

by Buddy Cochrane

The clientele of the institution returned to their desks and their studious habits on Monday after a sixteen day rest. During those sixteen days many Westmount Highers served the public by working in stores and in the post office. Others skied. Others played hockey. Some loafed.

All agreed it was a glorious holiday. Purple and White Revue Rehearsals of the expected-to-be sensation "The Wedding" started this week at the home of Parker L. Wearing, adviser. The cast, consisting of Michael Fitzgerald, Valerie Dubney, Pram Arbo, Howard Chamberlain, Bob Sproule, Bob Munro, and Daphne Allen, met on Tuesday and discussed everything from costumes to Noel Toy.

The others members of the cast of the revue will start rehearsing immediately. Much is up to the cast itself for there will be very little supervision. Less than a month from now, February 4 to be exact, the revue will be staged in the auditorium of the junior high school.

Incidentally, the word auditorium comes from two Latin words: audio, meaning to hear, and taurus, the bull. In next week's Examiner you will find an almost complete program of the revue.

Vox Ducum

The entire staff of the magazine met in room 17 yesterday and when the meeting was over it was evident that much work is going to be done in the next month or two.

The graduation photos will be taken soon. The grad biographies are almost completed. Literary contributions are expected to start filling the contribution boxes in ever increasing quantities. The sports department will get to work immediately. The art department will also start work. Everywhere there will be intense activity.

Basketball

Joy of joys! Westmount's high scoring Andy Baxter has given up his hockey career and when the local yokels face Verdun at the institution he will be on hand. After two hard drills, one Monday and one yesterday, it looks as though the Westmounters will give the Verdunites a tough battle.

Playing for the glory of Westmount High will be Andy Baxter, Ray Binmore, Don MacIntosh, Fraser Vipond, Bob Keefer, Hugh Cameron, Alan Dibblee, Red Trueland, Bob Jones, Peter Taylor, Peter Ross, Jack Dudley, Charles McCrae and possibly two or three more.

Hockey

With practices being held at the rate of at least three a week it looks as though G. P. Smith's Senior A puck-chasers are going to go far this season. The schedule had not been released at the time of going to press and so I can't tell you when the first league encounter comes up.

The Senior B squad is also shaping up and it will be no push-over for any team in that loop.

Westmount Y's juvenile basketball team handed Southwestern a terrific pasting last week when they beat them by more than 35 points. The locals were making up for a defeat that they suffered the week previous at the hands of N.D.G. Y. Starring for Westmount are Don MacIntosh, Ray Binmore, and Jack Dudley.

Last Saturday night's servicemen's party was a great success. Despite the fact that it was New Year's night there was a good attendance.

Egerton School Enters Second Year Of Service

The Egerton School, inaugurated upon request to assist in the training of suitable persons in the trained attendant work at a time of particular need, has completed its first year.

During this time, fifty students have received instruction, the majority of whom are contributing towards relieving the shortage of nursing assistance in this city, while the remainder are serving their required time in several hospitals preparatory to placement on the School register.

The high standard maintained and the thorough training given in this branch of nursing is already receiving recognition and it is with the resolved purpose of constant improvement in this work, in choice of pupil, classroom curriculum and later supervision of the junior Trained Attendant, that the School approaches its second year. (A graduate Trained Attendant is considered a junior Trained Attendant until she has nursed for six months and merited her diploma.)

For those interested in this study the following outline illustrates how this work is conducted by this School.

Classes are arranged in small groups seldom including more than ten pupils so that individual attention may be given. A probationary period of two weeks is provided during which time the pupil decides if she really wishes to continue with the study. If it is thought that pupil is not likely to qualify she is asked to drop out, or if it is thought advisable she is given an extended period of time to prove herself. Registered nurses who thoroughly understand this work teach the students. Day and night classes have been conducted on parallel lines. Pupils of both classes receive the same course of instruction, pass the same examinations and are examined by the same board of examiners (Reg. Nurses) to qualify.

If pupils successfully pass their final examinations they receive their cap bands and pins but must put in six months of satisfactory nursing under the supervision of Registrar and physician attending case before receiving her diploma.

Night classes are conducted three nights a week from 8 to 10 p.m. and cover a period of five to six months. This course of instruction is never rushed or abbreviated. After this classroom period of lectures and demonstration has been completed, the student must put in two months of satisfactory day-time duty in a hospital or recognized Nursing Home under supervision of Registered Nurses before she is permitted to graduate from the school.

Kenneth Murray To Give Address

Arrangements have been completed to hold the next meeting of the Rosedale Home and School Association at Rosedale School, on Wednesday.

Kenneth Murray, student counsellor, Westmount Junior High School, will deliver an address on "Your Child and His Success."

The president, Dr. K. E. Norris, will officiate as chairman and a large attendance of members and guests is expected.

Obituary

WING CMDR. J. WILLIAMS

Funeral services were held on Tuesday afternoon at First Presbyterian Church, Prince Arthur and Jeanne Mance streets, for Wing Cmdr. John Scott Williams, M.C., A.F.C., aged 51, organizer of the Royal Canadian Air Force in 1921, who died Saturday night at the Royal Victoria Hospital, after a long illness.

A native of Goldenville, N.S., Wing Commander Williams, resided here at 6 Windsor avenue, Westmount. In addition to his wife and eight-year-old son, he is survived by five brothers and a sister in Vancouver.

Wing Commander Williams, who organized one of the first commercial air transport companies to serve the Canadian north, enlisted in the army at the start of the Great War as a private. Two years later, he transferred to the Royal Flying Corps, being commissioned as an observer with the 22nd Squadron. During his service with the R.F.C. he was awarded the Military Cross for conspicuous gallantry.

He was given his pilot's wings at Netherhaven, England, in 1916, after learning to fly with only 27 minutes of dual instruction. After serving for a time with the R.F.C., he was transferred to the Royal Air Force. Honored with the Air Force Cross for his service, he assisted in the reorganization of the R.A.F. in 1918. He later became commanding officer of a special flying school at Ayr, Scotland.

Organized Company

At the end of the war he returned to Canada, where he organized one of the first commercial air companies, linking the Noranda district with Haileybury, Ont. In 1921, his company loaned him to the Dominion Government for the work of organizing the

Prince Albert and Staynor Pee Wees To Play Saturday

The Prince Albert and Staynor pee wee sections of the Westmount Municipal Hockey League will get underway this Saturday, the Prince Albert games will be played in the morning while the Staynor games will be played in the afternoon.

No definite schedules have been drawn up as yet for either section as the final line-up of the teams is still unknown.

The first game in the Prince Albert section will be between Don McDonald's club and Ross Gillingham's Panthers and it is Canadian air force. He was posted to Camp Borden with the rank of wing commander and in July of that year turned over the command to the late Air Marshal Lindsay Gordon, and went to the United States where he acted as a test pilot.

A little earlier, he had helped to organize the Gosport flying system, which was presented to the British Air Council.

Wing Commander Williams operated a gold mine in Nova Scotia before the present war broke out. In 1940, he came to Montreal and enlisted for service in the R.C.A.F. He took part in the administration course at Trenton, Ont., with the rank of squadron leader, going later to Calgary and then to Picton, Ont. After an illness, he was posted to the Accident Investigation Branch at Ottawa.

In 1942, he was posted to No. 5 Manning Depot, Lachine, where he assumed temporary command when Air Commodore Adelard Raymond was assigned to the command of the Uplands centre. Later Wing Commander Williams was posted to No. 2 Initial Training School, Regina, as commanding officer.

scheduled for this Saturday morning at ten o'clock.

Down at Staynor Richard Lord's team will meet the new Tigers team headed by Brian Murphy, this game will start at one-thirty p.m.

The Staynor Tigers will be comprised of Brian Murphy, Andrew Kerr, Dougie Kerr, George Gatiepy, Telmus Brasant, Claude Belanger, George Fowler and others.

underwent extensive repairs during the holidays, re-opened Monday and is now back on its busy schedule.

The Y's hockey league started last Saturday when teams clashed at Westmount Park, King George Park, and the Roslyn School rink, Bob Bennett is in charge. The teams resume combat this Saturday.

The Listening Group resumed its weekly meetings this Tuesday when the subject for discussion was "The Questions People Are Asking."

New Year's eve was a gala event for those who went down to Central Y's six-hour party. Dancing started at 10.30 and did not end until 4.30. Favours, a buffet supper, prizes, a floor show, and the music of Ferguson's "Victory Serenaders" all combined to give the celebrators a very enjoyable New Year's eve.

The Friday night parties, which are sponsored by the Hi-Y, will be resumed tomorrow evening. This will be the first Friday night party since December 17.

Both Jack Sinclair's photography club and George Gay's woodworkers will meet at the Y this Saturday morning at ten. The boys are taking quite an interest in these groups.
