THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL'S RECEPTION.

The reception extended to the Governor-General yesterday by the citizens of Montreal was as hearty and as loyal as could be desired. He was welcomed by the populace with genuine Canadian enthusiasm, and more than this no man can ask or hope for in the way of a popular greeting. In fact, the popular turn out was even greater than has been extended to any Governor-General in the past, interpret the demonstration as we please. As the representative of the Sovereign, as the official head of the Dominion, although coming to perform no act of state, Lord Lansdowne was assured of a satisfactory greeting. He was not the least certain of a warm welcome coming, as he has done, to show his sympathy with the national winter sports of the country, with the pastimes, as well as the serious business, of the people amongst whom his official life is cast for a season. In welcoming Lord Lansdowne Montreal welcomes the cultivated, sympathetic gentleman not less than the political head of the Dominion. That a British nobleman should find pleasure in extending encouragement to out-door sports and amusements was to have been expected, and Lord Lansdowne is no exception to the rule.

After the royal demonstration in honor of the Governor-General yesterday it is scarcely necessary that further words of welcome should be offered to His Excellency. He has been received with open arms by the people; he has been addressed by the representatives of the city in their official capacity; and during his sojourn he will, no doubt, receive satisfactory assurances in every quarter of the respect felt for the head of the Government and the high esteem in which the name of Lansdowne is held in Montreal and the Dominion. It is, we believe, the desire of every citizen of Montreal that the visit of His Excellency and Lady Lansdowne should be made as agreeable as possible, and we have no doubt that their Excellencies will have only pleasant reminiscences of their first stay in Montreal.

LOOKING TO RECIPROCAL TRADE.

There was introduced into the House of Representatives in Washington, yesterday, by Mr. Morrison, chairman of the committee charged with tariff matters, a bill which places on the Free List the following imported articles:—
Iron ore, copper in ore, lead ore, nickel in ore, bituminous coal, timber, hewn and sawed, and timber used for spars and in building wharves, hay, chicory, jute, burl, bristles, beeswax, lime, glycerine, fish, glue, sponges, extract of hickory and other bark used for tanning, cement, tar, dye woods.

The bill provides that in lieu of duties and rates of duty imposed on importation of goods, wares, and merchandise mentioned in the several schedules of the act approved March third, 1883, and hereinafter enumerated, there shall be levied 50 per cent. duties and rates of duty now imposed on said articles mentioned in schedule "A," cotton and cotton goods, in schedule "B," hemp, jute and flax goods other than in schedule "K," wool and woollens, schedule "C," metals other than ore, schedule "M," books, papers, etc., schedule "E," sugar, schedule "F," tobacco, schedule "D," wood and wooden ware, except as hereinafter provided, on all articles subject to ad valorem duty in schedule "B," glass, mirrors, glassware, schedule "G," provisions, except as hereinafter provided, schedule "N," sundries other than precious stones, salt, coal, bristles, and lime, schedule "A," chemical products, except as hereinafter provided.

No duty or rate of duty shall after first July, 1884, be levied in excess of 40 per cent. ad valorem or its equivalent on cotton or cotton goods; 50 per cent. ad valorem or its equivalent on metals, and 60 per cent. ad valorem on wool and woollen goods.

Provided nothing in this act shall operate to reduce the duty above imposed on any article below the rate at which said articles were dutiable under the act commonly called the Morrill Tariff; on all unpolished cylinder, crown and common window glass, unsilvered exceeding 24x60 inches square, on salt in bags, sacks, barrels, or other packages, or in bulk.

It will be noticed that the Bill makes large additions to the Free List, and in many instances articles in which Canada is particularly interested are included. Another Bill was introduced into the same Chamber yesterday by Mr. Dorsheimer, of New York, providing "for the free importation of coal, iron ore and coke, being the products of the Dominion of Canada." Both bills provide for making iron ore and bituminous free, but the latter appears to be the bill promised by the New York delegation who recently visited Montreal and Ottawa, and were so favorably received by our Government. Under the one bill it is proposed to admit all coal and iron ore free of duty; under Mr. Dorsheimer's these articles are limited to the produce of Canada, and is the most likely to pass Congress, as similar legislation is expected in the Canadian Parliament. It is possible, since the Nova Scotia coal mine owners are opposing reciprocity in coal, that the Government at Ottawa will have received new light on the matter of the coal duty, and may not prove so liberal in their views as they were a few weeks ago.

UNITED EMPIRE LOYALIST CENTENNIAL.

A circular, without date or place, has been issued and distributed among the newspapers and public officers of Canada, signed Geo. T. Denison, C. Egerton, David B. Reid, W. H. Withrow, "Committee on Correspondence." It is supposed to emanate from Toronto, and it urges the claims of the United Empire Loyalists to a centennial celebration, to be held in Toronto in June next. This is a worthy object and ought to succeed.

The committee say:—
We beg to request your kind co-operation in promoting the centennial celebration of the first settlement of Upper Canada by the United Empire Loyalists, which it is proposed to hold in the month of June next. In doing this it is only right to inform the public of the manner in which the scheme originated. When it was decided to hold a celebration of the semi-centennial of the incorporation of the city of Toronto, Dr. Wm. Canniff, who, as the author of the "History of the Settlement of Upper Canada," has drawn more attention to this subject than probably any other person, and who is himself of U. E. Loyalist descent, made the suggestion that, as the centennial of the founding of the Province fell also in the year 1884, a celebration of that event might be combined with the semi-centennial of the city of Toronto. This suggestion was adopted, and the committee of management of the semi-centennial set apart one day of the celebration week—Thursday, the 19th of June—for such centennial anniversary, and Dr. Canniff was requested to take the initiative in promoting the U. E. Loyalist celebration. A local committee was formed, and several preliminary meetings were held. As it is earnestly desired that this celebration shall not be a local but a Provincial movement, the first step taken was to invite, by correspondence and through the press, the co-operation of the different municipalities of the Province, and of all patriotic Ontario Canadians, and especially the descendants of U. E. Loyalists in all parts of the country—the term U. E. Loyalists being intended to embrace all who came to Upper Canada in consequence of the political troubles attending the Revolutionary War, whether their names were on the official "U. E. list" or not.

It cannot be too strongly affirmed that this celebration is designed to be a patriotic tribute to the heroism and fidelity of our U. E. Loyalist Forefathers, without pronouncing judgment on the political issues which divided the British American Colonies a hundred years ago.

The descendants of the U. E. Loyalists are to-day divided between the political parties of the country, and it is confidently anticipated that a generous tribute shall be paid to our common ancestry, without reference to party lines or political opinions. The hearty co-operation of the Press of the country is deemed indispensable in calling the attention of the public to the claims of the founder of Upper Canada to such recognition. It is also considered highly desirable that local committees should be formed in as many places as possible, to arrange for taking part in the proposed celebration. For this purpose this circular is sent to the provincial press, to county and township, municipal officers, and to other leading gentlemen, as the persons who most readily bring the subject before their respective communities through existing organizations or otherwise. Where there are any prominent descendants of the U. E. Loyalists stock in the various communities of the Province, it is especially desirable that this centennial movement be favored by their active co-operation. Immediate action should be taken, as no time is to be lost if the celebration is to be worthy of the occasion and of the heroic men and women whose memory it is designed to honor. The descendants of the Mohawk Indians who accompanied the U. E. Loyalist settlers, and took possession of the land between the Great Lakes and the Bay of Quinte and the Great River, it is especially expected, will take an active part in the celebration.

A meeting of all interested in this subject will be held in the City Hall, Toronto, on the evening of Tuesday, February 19th, at 8 o'clock, when it is specially requested that local committees throughout the Province should be represented by deputations, or that they should report organization, and make suggestions by written communications. It is desired to form a large and influential permanent committee, representing different localities and different points of public opinion, such committee to be appointed by open nomination and open vote of those present.

The pro-tempore committee does not presume to make any suggestion as to the mode of the celebration, leaving that to the consideration and decision of the public meeting hereby convened.

Then follows a list of prominent gentlemen "who have expressed sympathy with the movement and their purpose to co-operate in carrying it to a successful issue." The list includes the names of Lieutenant-Governor Robinson, the Anglican Bishop of Niagara, the Speaker of the Commons, the Treasurer of Ontario, Bishop Carman, Principals Wilson, Caven, Grant, Rev. Drs. Price, Rose, Dewar, many other clergymen, judges, members of Parliament and the Legislature, etc.,—altogether a very formidable showing. The Committee appear to have made a good beginning, and considering how large a proportion of the population of Empire Loyalists, there ought not to be any great difficulty in "booming" the movement, to use a speculative expression.

THE GOVERNOR-GENERAL'S REPLY.

It was not to have been expected that Lord Lansdowne, in replying to an address from the Corporation of Montreal tendering him the hospitalities of the city, would enunciate anything very new or original. A Governor-General at all events, the Governor-General of Canada has to keep his official lips closed on matters of politics and religion, and when these subjects are relegated to the rear, the limits of public discussion are considerably restricted. A subject almost equally troublesome is touched upon when references are made to race distinctions in the province of Quebec, but French and English will agree in pronouncing His Excellency's allusions yesterday under this head remarkable for good taste and satisfactory from every point of view. When His Excellency refers to the devotion and loyalty of the people of Canada to the Sovereign, he stands on solid ground and deals with a subject which never fails to call forth "loud applause" from a Canadian audience, whether large or small or wherever assembled. Here in Montreal especially, notwithstanding the presence of many Annexationists, Independentists, and political free thinkers,—the great heart of the people, of the masses, is thoroughly loyal to the British Throne; and of the loyal ultra loyal are French as well as English. His Excellency said many pleasant things of Montreal and its outdoor sports and recreations, and his remarks under this head will be accepted as sound and timely, and applicable everywhere. Altogether His Excellency's reply will be read with gratification, not less by Canadians outside of Montreal than by our own citizens. What was said was well said; the allusions were appropriate in all respects; and the heartiness and sincerity of the speaker were apparent in every sentence.

COSMOPOLITAN NOTES.

"Oh! stay with me, my darling stay," seems to be the cry of most of the damsels of society, regardless of doctors' warnings and the more touching admonitions of outraged nature. It is painful to see so many young girls—aye, and some old ones, too, who are quite old enough to know better—tied up so tightly in a pair of corsets that their attenuated waists remind one of the narrow joint in a wasp's body. I do not advocate the total abolition of corsets; but most strongly advise a more temperate use of those articles of attire. If girls knew one-half of the evils they inflict upon themselves by the tight-lacing fashion they adopt, they would certainly moderate their desire for slender waists. Napoleon I. declared that the corset meant decadence of the race, and he was right. The pathology of tight-lacing is replete with internal deformities of the human body, and if girls do not suffer from their folly to-day a greater punishment is in store for them to-morrow, when they become women.

Aradia cannot be such a pleasant place to live in as romancers may suppose, at least not the Ohioan Aradia—because a man has misbehaved himself in some way or other and made himself objectionable to his fellow-townsmen, a mob paid a midnight visit to the house in which his daughter resides and behaved in a peculiarly Arcadian style—they fired at the proprietor when he opened the door; they threw a hammer through Miss Askome's bedroom window, and they threatened to burn the domicile down. Such an exhibition of mob violence is disgraceful and inexcusable. In no judicial or religious code is man empowered to visit the sins of the father upon the children, and the little maid of Aradia ought to be protected from the unmanly and brutal display of force that threatens her safety, even if she has caused the trouble, and righteous indignation of the citizens. If the woman is attacked for her father's offences, it is simply savagery; if for her own misdeeds, it is unlawful vengeance; in either case it is unworthy of nineteenth century civilization that such visitations of mob violence should be possible.

Whilst the Witness is doubtless right at heart as to the training of boys, it is peculiar in argument. In the first place, the young fellows who ran away from their homes at Kingston may not be "two-jive little fools," as the evening moralist, ungraciously dubs them; probably they were two young rascals, in whom the love of adventure outweighed all other considerations. The remark that almost every boy is a born naturalist is a broad statement, and unless the writer has obtained the data for such a theory from witnessing children of another type than those I have seen. The absurdity of such a wholesale classification of children's proclivities is a piece of juvenile folly per se. I have seen children catch a common fly in the unguarded hour of sleep, and pull the helpless, struggling insect to pieces with as little pity as Nero would have dismembered a Christian. Not only have I seen the gamins of Paris perform such acts of juvenile atrocity, but have also seen a very little girl of high family and every social advantage, laughing over the same cruel feat. Cruelty is an instinct in many children, but they are not necessarily born naturalists. Then the delight of pulling a cat's tail, or making a frog jump, the adventure in bird-nesting and bee-hunting, stoning a stray dog, or poking in a cage with a stick, the evens of the deep interest a boy takes in the work of creation around him. Almost all boys are no more born naturalists than are almost all philosophers correct observers of human nature.

CANADIAN SCENES—SKATING.

I.
Upon the glassy shining rink,
Where meet the bold and tender;
Where rings the steel its resonant clink,
And trips each vain pretender.

II.
There glancing round with curious mood,
We note each graceful skater;
Admire the poise, the attitude,
And long to imitate her.

III.
Around the ring with agile fling,
Fast flies in constant flow,
The living stream, endeavouring
Youth's buoyancy to show.

IV.
Now hand in hand with backward wheel,
As one they glide together;
Now tempt the mazes of the reel,
Camelion changes ever.

V.
O, how expressive, full, and clear,
Eloquent, soft flashing eyes;
Bright mirrors whereon oft appear
Cupid's loving harmonies.

VI.
The student may enjoy his lamp,
And learning's precious lore;
The ball room 'tice with measured tramp,
And flush each rosy pore.

VII.
More tempting still the floating race,
Skimming icy plain and curve,
Which lights with pleasure every face
Still navigates each nerve.

VIII.
If we annex as erst we may,
The States to our Dominion,
We'll teach them every sportive play,
Life's higher, bolder pinion.

IX.
A manly life of industry
Combined with social pleasure,
Maintains the mind's elasticity,
Gives health's abundant treasure.

LOCAL NEWS.

MONTREAL GENERAL HOSPITAL.—Number of patients treated for week ending 31st inst.:—Out-door patients relieved, 468; in-door average daily, 140.

A FINE CHANCE.—Gentlemen who have not yet procured overcoats may possibly be fitted from a few very fine samples I have on hand. These sample coats are unsurpassable in material, style and general finish.—L. Robinson.

VISITING GOVERNORS.—Messrs. A. C. Hutchison and R. C. Jamieson are the Visiting Governors this week at the Protestant House of Industry and Refuge.

The largest stock of imported Havana cigars in the city. Cigars by the Box a specialty. Prices very moderate. S. Hyman, direct importer, 308 Notre Dame Street, [corner of French Cathedral.]

SEAL, otter and beaver sets for overcoats, a large assortment to select from, can be buttoned on any coat and fit better than if sewed on, buttons on coat sewed on in ten minutes, at L. Robinson's fashionable tailoring establishment, 31 Beaver Hall.

TO OBTAIN any overcoating, and to accommodate as many guests as possible, Mr. Hogan has decided to keep open daily, both dining-rooms at the St. Lawrence Hall during Carnival week.

SPECIAL SERVICE IN CRESCENT STREET CHURCH.—There will be a special service in this church on Wednesday p.m. (6th) from 4 to 5 o'clock. The pastor, Rev. A. B. Mackay, will preach on the occasion.

TEMPERANCE MEETING.—A temperance meeting is held in the West End Hall, Chatham street, every Sunday afternoon at 4.20 p.m., to which you are cordially invited.

Now that our guests are arriving it is advisable that they should know where to get the best genuine imported Havana cigars. If they go to the Vice-Regal Tobacco Emporium, 134 St. James street, opposite St. Lawrence Hall, they need not be afraid of having any imitation cigar foisted on them. Our advice is go there.

SEAL, otter and beaver sets for overcoats, a large assortment to select from, can be buttoned on any coat and fit better than if sewed on, buttons on coat sewed on in ten minutes, at L. Robinson's fashionable tailoring establishment, 31 Beaver Hall.

The report of the directors was considered a satisfactory one, and was adopted by the shareholders. The following gentlemen were then elected directors for the ensuing year: Mr. A. F. Gault, Hon. J. R. Thibault, Messrs. M. B. Gault, M. P. E. K. Greene, Jac. Grenier, Chas. Garth and J. H. Ward. At a subsequent meeting Mr. A. F. Gault was elected president and the Hon. J. R. SNOWSHOE and tobogganning suits in Landsdowne blue, bright cardinal, sunset red and snow flake, at the "Boston," 41 and 43 Notre Dame street, old St. Joseph street.

A GRAND MODE.—The manner now so fashionable of having fur collars and cuffs made for overcoats, so that they can be buttoned on and taken off at pleasure, is a good and economical idea. When made up from such rich materials as otter, seal or beaver, they are exceedingly handsome, and fit better than when sewed on as heretofore. L. Robinson has made many sets and has a superb selection of furs. Further orders are solicited.

AMUSEMENTS.

Academy of Music.
LA GRANDE DUCHESSE.

A large audience enjoyed last night an excellent performance of Offenbach's best work, La Grande Duchesse, presented by Mr. Maurice Grau's French Opera Co. Mile. Amice and Angele sang and acted charmingly and the favorite comedians, Mezieres and Guy kept the audience in continuous roar of laughter. The chorus and orchestra seemed to be at their best, and entered with spirit into the performance. To-night the last performance takes, and Andrews popular opera La Mascotte will be sung, and the principal parts are in the hands of Mile. Amice, Angele, Duplan, Mezieres, Lary.

MR. JOHN RAYMOND.
On Wednesday, Thursday, Friday, Saturday matinee and evening, Mr. J. T. Raymond, the popular Comedian. An exchange says:—The members of John Raymond's jury in "Colonel Sellers" are sometimes a peculiar lot, and their impartiality is as old as their appearance at times. It is the duty of the property man to secure the necessary number to decide the fate of "aura Hawkins" for her shooting of "Colonel Shelby." To do this he is obliged to skirmish about for those who will lend dignity to the occasion, but he is not always successful. Sometimes, after being secured, they will prove recreant to their trust and skip out after having done the performance up to the end of the fourth act. As this has been practiced a number of times, "props" hit upon the idea of seizing their hats and holding them until the termination of the play, thus securing the jury. Ed. Kilder was telling the other evening of a jury they had in one of the towns on the Texas circuit. At the beginning of the fifth act the District Attorney commences his address to the jury. In one of the most touching perorations he was suddenly interrupted by a tall, gaunt, and excited jurymen, who rose in his seat, shook his finger at the court official, and shouted out with a voice that trembled with emotion and whiskey: "Yes, he did shoot him, and she treated him d—n well right. I was down in them front seats and saw it myself." The whirlwind of laughter that broke from actors and audience tore the remainder of the performance to tatters, and even Raymond's indignation was not proof against it.

Queen's Hall.
THE ANGLO-AMERICAN COMBINATION.

We are pleased to see the Anglo-American Combination, comprising some very select and clever artists whose reputations are known far and wide. Miss Minnie Lee is a charming chanteuse; the Duncan Sisters in their duets are versatile and unique; the Kettie Kettie as a lady magician is second to none; the world-renowned dancing of the Girards, with a world-renowned reputation, are simply wonderful. The pantomime promises to be very funny, and we invite the visitors and citizens to show the difference in first-class entertainments with others now in competition in the city. Two hours amusement can be relied on by a visit to the Queen's Hall from Wednesday until Saturday, afternoon and evening.

Royal Theatre Museum.
The initial performances of an entirely new company at the Royal yesterday were great successes, and were witnessed by houses the size of which must have gladdened the heart of the management. Each individual member of the company is in the front rank of the several branches of the variety theatre, and merits unqualified praise. But to detail the programme in a manner that would do justice to it is well nigh impossible when all the items are so much above the ordinary standard. The great features of this week's show are Toretto and Frank Evans. To describe the former's thrilling feats on a wire stretched over the heads of the audience would require much more space than we can bestow, but all should see him. The psychological attainments of Master Frank Evans, who is described as the boy merest, surpass anything of a similar nature we have ever seen. Miss Daisy Kerr proved herself to be really a "be- witching little serio-comic," while Miss Annie Boyd attracted a great deal of favorable attention. Beattie and Bentley, as happy Hottentots, the boneless wonder, Matt Green, Edwards and Morton, and Moore and Haines were all exceptionally good. Miss Steward and Mr. Phillips ably maintained the favorable impression they made last week. The performance concluded with a farce entitled "Absurdity."

Dime Museum.
The reputation of the Mechanics' Hall as a place of amusement is fully sustained by this week's programme, which is excellent in all its details. The audiences yesterday were large and appreciative. Miss Carrie Wilson in serio-comic songs was liberally applauded, and the Howard sisters increased their popularity. Miss Nellie Roberts, in the same line, was fascinating and clever, and Alma the great female aerial gymnast, thrilled the audience with wonder and admiration. Weber and Fields, J. Byrne, and Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Cohen were all acceptable. John Van Brunst, who made his first appearance, is mysteriously described as a "pyro-pedal and cannon clog," whatever that may be. The Delmanning Brothers were good. The performance concluded with Larry Howard's afterpiece entitled "A Dutchman's visit to the Carnival."

PERSONAL.

Milwaukee has sent a highly respectable delegation to the Carnival. It includes Messrs. Bryden, Lawrie, Adams, Boardman, Smith, Currie, Middlemas, Morgan and Dingwell, all gentlemen occupying influential positions in the commercial world. They are competitors in the curling at Thistle Rink, being members of the Milwaukee Curling Club, which has a membership of 100, and owns buildings and grounds costing $2,500 or more. The gentlemen are stopping at the Windsor. The fact that they are personal friends of Mr. Shaughnessy, Assistant General Manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, will be no disadvantage to them in Montreal.

Mr. James Francis, of Messrs. Miller, Francis & Co., bankers and brokers, of New York, is a guest at the St. Lawrence Hall.

Mr. D. B. Lindsay, travelling auditor of the Intercolonial Railway, is staying at the Albion.

The Hon. R. M. Wauver, of sewing machine fame, will arrive in the city this morning to visit the Carnival.

CORRESPONDENCE.

The Half-Day School.
To the Editor of THE HERALD:
The greatest loss of the world is the needless loss and waste to the intellect of childhood of power and impulse to the interior organs of sensation, perception and intelligence which the daily labor and application of the child, equally with tools and books, could and should every day impart to these interior agents of the heart and soul. The two capacities are proved to be not incompatible or interchangeable, but, like the mainspring and balance wheel of the timekeeper, measure out the highest attainable results of every day alike. Nor can any less consecutive arrangement of hours answer as well for either work or study, if subsidised, with money, as the world's uniform half-day school, which is represented as solved for both and pays money and profit. Schooling is as free and universal as light, and the mind's entire freedom for the unrestricted growth of all minds is established by the present Half-Day School of England; and the mystery and magic of the self-mastered laborer is represented as solved with the assurance of the education of all laborers by a childhood and youth of schooling without the incongruity of strain to be compensated by blank and consuming vacations.

To deprive children of this is to hold the world to the rule of the past, and to choke and choke with the bones of past wars, diseases and vices.

The present school could only continue to remain the indissoluble partner of the reign of alcohol and all the great array of those vices; for its processes for children are mental weakness and palsy. The present school is represented as solved by the natural man exhibited by Paul as ever in conflict with himself and though for centuries the greatest ameliorator and improver of human life, it yet deserves that comparative credit the good charitable slaveholder deserved, viz., the credit of being the best of slaveholders from the time when all were slaves or slaveholders; so the current school, the best of civilizations to the credit of its heart, be it said, though, through the influence of its habits of manual indolence, it has not appreciated, has not seen the incongruity of the time, with its noble aims and all creation's harmonies, and the mental, moral and physical happiness and prosperity of man, and hence has failed to remove the world's manual slavery.

All men can never be equal till all children are equal in all school privileges, carrying to the school the same themselves and their teachers, carrying that superiority of brain force, the agent and channel of creation's "principal thing," "proof," which cannot be acquired without letters.

That flood of argument which leaves nothing open to indolent schooling but the back door, or the heights of universal hope in universal schooling, for escape is chinked, or if better rhetoric would say that argument fills every access of reason, every promise of prophesy, every requirement of faith in this fact, all born of woman with rational capacity, degrees, two hands and two eyes appear, and agree to less in being tributaries in degrees to those emanations of force from the world of forces which are and must be daily wasted every day they are not by every one occupied utilized in the school room. There is a period of every child's life every day due in the school room, and "the moment so due spent elsewhere, that is lost, is lost for ever," pre-eminently. The old Adam must be preached up to uphold indolent school- ing; but because God our Heavenly Father has placed all his power and skill in the great enterprise and in the glorious human harmonies of Isaiah, therefore we preach the "new."

E. H. FARRAR.

Henry Lee, the Cincinnati forger, was remanded at the police court this morning till the 11th on a charge of bringing stolen money into Canada. A warrant was issued this morning by Judge Boyd for Lee's extradition on a charge of forgery, and Lee was handed over to the custody of the Sheriff for his trial.

Benjamin Gould, the Jewish pedlar, has not yet got over his would-be matrimonial troubles. This morning he laid information against B. Goldstein, charging him with obtaining money under false pretences in that he (Gould) paid him $15 for marrying him to Bertha Goldstein, but no power to marry him to Miss Topper, about two weeks ago, and the marriage was a fraud.

The action of Miles vs. Roe, M.P.P. for Lennox, for $3,000 penalties, was dismissed at Osgoode Hall this morning owing to undue delay on the part of the prosecution.

The argument in the church case of Langtry vs. DuMoulin commenced this morning, and will last for three days. There are eight counsel to be heard.

A large and influential deputation waited upon the City Council to-night, urging upon them the abolition of liquor licenses to grocers. Stratton's efforts have been made by the promoters of the semi-centennial celebration to get the city council to grant $10,000 towards the expenses thereof. Numerous petitions from citizens in support of the grant were submitted to the council to-night and a report was adopted that a fitting sum be inserted in the estimates for that purpose, amount to form the subject of further consideration.

THE MARITIME PROVINCES.

A Clergyman Fined for Marrying with a License—Sad Story of Desecration—Serious Explosion—Incarceration—Scott Act Convictions in Prince Edward Island.

HALIFAX, Feb. 24.—The writ has been issued to compel a fine of $200 from Rev. W. G. Lane, Methodist minister, for marrying a soldier and a girl without a license. The history of the case is as follows: In the latter part of November last a notice appeared in the daily papers signed by a staff sergeant of the 19th Regiment in this garrison, in effect denying a rumor that he was married to a certain young woman. The clergyman who was said to have performed the ceremony on being asked about it, admitted having done so, but said there was some informality. The story, as told by the girl and her friends is as follows: Since last August Miss Alice E. Farrell has been living in the city, partly with her brother and partly with her sister, Mrs. Durfee, her father being dead. She is a young lady of 19, of prepossessing and sensible appearance. Early in September, when Sergeant Harfield, of the 19th, and of a short acquaintance became engaged to him four days after. On Wednesday evening, November 14th, the sergeant called at her residence with a cab and a brother officer, and accompanied by another sister, Mrs. Jones, and her husband and one or two others, the party proceeded to the residence of Rev. Mr. Lane. 41 Young street, where that gentleman was asked by Harfield to marry them. He was asked by the clergyman for his license papers but said he had none, when Mr. Lane refused to perform the ceremony. Harfield urged, saying he would procure the license in the morning, but was told it was impossible, as the action would make minister liable to two years imprisonment. On being further urged, however, Mr. Lane produced a marriage slip, and the names of the principals and witnesses having been affixed to it, the ceremony was duly performed with the understanding that the license would be procured next day, or he would publish the marriage in his church for two Sundays. Last night the young couple returned to Mrs. Durfee where a congratulatory party had gathered, and Harfield remained till the next day, telling his wife he would arrange to have her live in the barracks with him. On Saturday evening following, they went to Mrs. Jones, at Dutch Village, and stayed the night. On Sunday morning Harfield left, saying he would be back to dinner, but not returning, his wife visited him at the barracks that evening, when he said there had been a fuss about the marriage, and he wanted her to act as if it had not taken place, till his time would be up in six months and he would then settle down and live with her. After that he never went to see her, but a few days ago she went and had a talk to him, when he denied the legality of their marriage, saying he had got Mr. Lane's word for it and refused to live with her or have anything more to do with it. The young lady is respectfully connected.

To-day at Corner's wharf an iron pipe, with a quantity of ice in it, was placed on a hot fire to melt it. In a short time it exploded, scattering the iron in all directions and breaking many panes of glass in the neighborhood, and several people nearly wonderfully escaped injury.

Later reports from Bermuda mention several instances of incendiarism there. Not long ago the store of T. H. Pitt & Son was fired, then followed the burning of the brigantine Lizzie Zithloos and just recently the fine tug, Britania, was fired by an incendiary. A reward of $1,000 has been offered for the conviction of the perpetrators. The penalty is hanging. Trinity Church was fired and totally destroyed. The building cost $22,000 to build. The church was consecrated by Bishop Field. The Government offer a reward of $2,500 for the conviction of the incendiary.

St. John, N. B., Feb. 4.—There is a boom in Scott Act business in Charlottetown, P.E.I. One man was fined $300 for three second offences. Five summonses have been issued against another dealer, and one individual had no less than six served on him.

The conference also passed a resolution warning the people of America and Australia against placing reliance on Irish news telegraph by English news agencies and expressed profound sorrow at the death of Father Walsh, Treasurer of the Irish National League of America.

The Queen's speech.

LONDON, Feb. 4.—The tenor of the Queen's speech as communicated to the press, confirms the general expectation of the absence of any particular interest in or definite statement regarding Great Britain's relations with France on the Madagascar and Chinese questions, and concerning the Australian federation policy.

LONDON, Feb. 5.—The Times, in its forecast of the Queen's speech, says: The difficulty with France arising out of the ill treatment of Missionary Shaw in Madagascar has been arranged. The negotiations with Portugal as regards trade on the Congo river have resulted in a convention. The treaty of commerce with Corea is important to British trade. Diplomatic relations with Mexico have been renewed. The policy of Great Britain in regard to Egypt has not been changed. The direct authority of the Imperial Government over Basutoland has been resumed. The progress of peace and prosperity in Ireland is satisfactory. The enlargement of the franchise will produce beneficial effects. The speech will not make any reference to the redistribution of parliamentary seats. The speech will express a hope that the American fisheries will be settled satisfactorily.

PARLIAMENTARY NOTES.

First Division of the Session.—The Princess Louise Disaster—Indian Instruction—Petitions Presented.—Location of the C.P.R.—Our Imports and Exports—North-West Colleges—Manitoba Claims.

OTTAWA, Feb. 4.—The monotony of the proceedings was relieved to-day by the first division of the session, on the bill introduced by Cameron, of Huron, to further amend the law of evidence in criminal cases. In a vigorous speech he sought to show that the ends of justice were often defeated by the enforcement of the law which excludes the defendant or his wife from giving evidence in criminal cases. He thought both judge and jury would be placed in a better position to judge of a man's guilt or innocence if they were permitted to hear him give his evidence. Very often innocent men were convicted because they could not be heard in the witness box. Messrs. Lister, Woodworth, and Brecken supported the second reading in strong speeches, and Messrs. Ives, Oulmet and Daly supported the six months' hoist moved by Mr. G. H. Tupper. The yeas and nays being taken resulted in the defeat of the amendment by a vote of 63 to 100. Sir Hector Langevin voted for the amendment and Sir John A. Macdonald against it.

THE PRINCESS LOUISE DISASTER.

Mr. McLean laid on the table a copy of the report of Capt. Scott, R. N., and the assessment on the loss of the steamer Princess Louise at Point St. Ignace, N. S., on December 3rd. After dealing fully with the management of the vessel till its loss the Captain concludes his report as follows: "When the vessel left Cumberland Basin she ought to have been better prepared for a voyage. Her bowsprit and anchor should have been shackled on board and all her sails bent to be used in case of necessity. It is now impossible to ascertain why these things were omitted. When the hawser parted it was impossible for the Newfield to afford any assistance to the Princess Louise, as it was as much as she could do to save herself, but as she could have proceeded on their voyage with the wind abaft the beam, seeing that the barometer had been falling since noon, and that Capt. Guilford had a valuable cargo on his hands it was a grave error in judgment not to attempt to carry the ship into a place of safety before nightfall." Thirty-five pages of evidence accompany the report.

INDIAN HOME FARMS.

A return was laid on the table of the House to-day in regard to home and Indian instruction farms in the Northwest. The return shows that seven of these farms have been since January 1882, viz: At Bird Tail Creek, Fort Peck, Crooked Lakes, Qu'Appelle Lakes, Indian Head, Duck Lake and Prince Albert. The reasons for closing being that they were not in operation a sufficient time to give the Indians an idea how to farm, the instructors would be better employed giving their personal attention to the farms and gardens on the reserves.
