Announcement expected

Only silence comes from cabinet meets

OTTAWA (CP) — Two days of cabinet meetings here so far have produced — for the public — only official silence. But it is expected that some announcements will be made soon.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker emerged from the secret sessions with his ministers at one point Thursday to report "very good progress on a number of important matters." He did not say what the matters were.

Socred 'summit' is held

ROUYN, Que. (CP) — A "summit meeting" of the Social Credit party was held here Thursday with indications that the party's two-man leadership looks to another federal election in about a year.

National Leader Robert Thompson flew here with his top campaign men to talk strategy with Real Caouette, deputy national leader and the architect of Social Credit's startling Quebec victories in the federal election of last Monday.

The party, wiped out of the Commons in 1958, won 30 seats, all but four of them in Quebec. It became the third - largest group in the Commons behind the 118-member minority government of the Progressive Conservatives and 97 Liberals.

Both Mr. Thompson and Mr. Caouette disclaimed any intention of seeking a new election this fall, something which undoubtedly would happen if Prime Minister Diefenbaker's government were defeated in a major Commons vote.

READY IN YEAR

But Mr. Caouette said the Socreds should be in top shape for an election in a year and Mr. Thompson said that "a year from now should be just about right."

Part of the discussions hinged on political strategy and the prospects of minority government with 118 of the Commons 265 seats. As usual in such talks, the cabinet staff did not attend.

Informants indicated there also was debate of when the next session of Parliament will open, and undoubtedly the question of how long Mr. Diefenbaker could stay in power without being over-run by the combined weight of 97 Liberals, 30 Social Crediters and 19 New Democrats.

DOLLAR DISCUSSED

Also discussed, it was learned, were some of the pressing national affairs of government, chiefly the problem of maintaining the dollar at its pegged rate of 92½ cents American.

As the cabinet met, the Bank of Canada reported—as it does every Thursday—the yield on the government's treasury bills. It was up sharply to 4.92 per cent, nearly a full percentage point higher than last week's 3.93. A week earlier it rose one-third of a point.

Cause of the sudden rise was not indicated immediately. It may have been due to market forces, government intervention in the money market, or a combination of both. Interest rates on government bonds — especially short-term ones — also have risen.

This is seen as an incentive to foreign investors to move capital into Canada. Such an inflow would ease pressure on the dollar. In trying to counteract that pressure the government reduced its gold and foreign exchange holdings by $579.

Election may clear nuclear arms issue

OTTAWA (CP) — One upshot of the election campaign and the election itself may have been some clarification of the nuclear weapons issue.

Prime Minister Diefenbaker didn't often refer to the subject in his campaign speeches. But when he did he appeared more and more set against acquisition of nuclear warheads for Canadian forces in peacetime.

Even if Mr. Diefenbaker were in favor of obtaining nuclear arms, his weakened position in Parliament would present him with a more difficult task in putting through such a policy.

The Liberals are cool to nuclear weapons in Canada though they haven't come out definitely against them. Both Social Credit and the New Democratic Party are opposed to nuclear arms in this country.

NOT IN PEACETIME

Mr. Diefenbaker did not come out with a definite statement that there will be no acquisition of nuclear weapons in peacetime. But he did say at one point — Vancouver, where most of his speech was drowned out by a demonstration — that his government doesn't intend to have them in peacetime.

The prime minister said at Trill, B.C., that the opposition for four years had endeavored to get a government declaration

PARIS — An Air France Boeing 707 jet airliner crashed today in the French West Indies with up to 100 persons or more aboard. Reports said there was no sign of survivors and the airliner's wreckage was scattered over a large area on the palm-fringed island of Guadeloupe.

It was also reported the huge $5,500,000 plane had burned.

Earlier reports reaching Air France said the Paris-Santiago, Chile, plane had crashed into the sea off Guadeloupe. Later word came that the airliner had gone down on the northwestern part of the Basse Terre section of Guadeloupe. Guadeloupe is composed of two islands, Basse Terre and Grande terre.

U.S. Navy Hurricane hunter planes reported the airliner was down four miles from the end of the airfield runway on the island.

This was on Basse Terre, about 2½ miles from the village of Debais.

First reports reaching Paris said the plane, captained by veteran pilot Andre Lesieur, was coming in for a landing at Pointe-a-Pitre when radio contact was lost. Later an Air France pilot in a light plane spotted the wreckage.

HAD 102 PASSENGERS

The plane had 10 crew members and 102 passengers aboard when it left Paris Thursday night, Air France said. The plane stopped at Lisbon and several passengers left and others went aboard.

The exact number aboard when the plane left Lisbon was not known immediately.

The plane put down for a brief refuelling stop at Santa Maria in the Azores and was due in Guadeloupe at 4:25 a.m. EDT. It was to have flown on to Caracas, Bogota and Lima, terminating its flight at Santiago, Chile.

To install cabinet Sunday

Laos factions reach agreement on all coalition differences

BULLETIN

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — Prince Souvanna Phouma announced today agreement has been reached among the three Laotian factions on all points of difference which have been delaying the inauguration of a coalition government. Souvanna, who will head the coalition, said the cabinet will be installed Saturday.

VIENTIANE, Laos (AP) — The right-wing faction today broke its compromise agreement to permit the installation of the new coalition government in Laos less than 24 hours after it was made.

Phoumi Vongvichit of the pro-Communist Pathet Lao group told reporters that Gen. Phoumi Nosavan, leader of the right-wing faction, had reversed himself and once more insisted that the royal decree installing the new government include mention of the Conservative-dominated National Assembly.

Vongvichit said in addition a disagreement had developed over two other constitutional points relating to inauguration of the coalition headed by neutralist premier-designate Prince Souvanna Phouma. The government is to include neutralists, pro-Communists and right-wingers, with Gen. Phoumi and Prince Souphanouvong, leader of the Pathet Lao, as deputy premiers.

Vongvichit reported the new obstacles after a one-hour meeting with Prince Souvanna and Gen. Phoumi.

The right-wing leader had announced Thursday night that the three factions had settled their differences and the way was clear for installation of the new cabinet Saturday. Phoumi said then he had withdrawn his insistence that the installation decree specify that the coalition was taking office after approval by the National Assembly.

The Pathet Lao had balked at recognizing the legality of the National Assembly. Vongvichit, chief political aide of Pathet Lao leader Prince Souphanouvong, flew here from the rebel-held Plain of Jars for a 45-minute meeting with Phoumi and Souvanna at which the dispute was thought to be settled.

Agricultural policy shift

Cuba hands state farms back to private owners

HAVANA (Reuters) — Some state-owned farms are being handed back to private owners as part of a major shift in Cuba's agricultural policy.

Government officials deny, however, that the move represents a setback in the general policy of "socializing" the land.

"We are not in a state of aggressive communism..." says Dr. Carlos Rafael Rodriguez, president of the National Agrarian Reform Institute.

"What we have to do is to eliminate harmful practices in our policy, which hinder the full development of the revolution as regards the poor and medium-poor peasants."

POLICY "IMPERILED"

The policy of respecting these classes, he said, had been "imperialled by many extremists and would-be experts, resulting in cases of persecution of the peasant in his right to produce, distribute and consume agricultural products."

The National Agrarian Reform Institute issued a ruling last month emphasizing a policy of respect for the small private farmer and making it clear that he must be allowed, within limits, to slaughter his own livestock and dispose of it locally. Local revolutionary officials, it said, had been interpreting too narrowly laws applying prison terms for unauthorized slaughter and sale.

In a speech April 11, Premier Fidel Castro referred to "discontent" among the peasants. He said "if we have to give back farms which have been badly intervened (taken over by the state), we shall give them back. We are not going to be afraid that this might look like a step backward. On the contrary, if handing back farms which were unjustifiably intervened brings happiness to thousands of people who will march with the revolution, it is better to hand them back."

SOME RETURNED

Some farms were returned to their owners in April in a clear attempt to win back some degree of lost support for the revolution.

The burning of sugar cane fields by disgruntled peasants undoubtedly contributed to the total yield from the 1962 sugar harvest being nearer 4,500,000 tons than the 5,500,000 tons originally forecast. And lack of co-operation by the farmers, amounting to "sabotage," has been officially blamed for contributing to serious food shortages.

Co-operative farmworkers, representing 40 per cent of Cuba's agriculture are regarded as owners of their land and equipment. They share profits made by the farm, and have been described as "more landowner-minded than were the big landowners."

Big disparities began to be noticed between the money earned by co-operative workers on the more prosperous former estates and the fixed wages paid to workers on the people's farms.

"The co-operatives never succeeded in being true co-operatives," Rafael Rodriguez explained. "The co-operative worker never felt himself master of communal property and he was not sufficiently consulted."

"Hence a falling in collective spirit and enthusiasm, and a resulting failure of material incentive."

City changes name to French version

QUEBEC (CP) — The city of St. Jean or St. Johns, today was given permission to dispense with the English version of its name by the legislative assembly's private bills committee.

But Premier Jean Lesage, after a long, acrid debate on the matter, would not allow the city, to give up publishing its official notices in English as well as French.

The City, which had been called St. Johns by English-speaking residents, has a French-speaking population of 25,990 and English-speaking of 1,550.

Roland Tremblay, counsel for the city, emphasized the large French-speaking majority of the population and said that the English version had slipped into the statutes through a translation error about 1878.

Ivan Sabourin, lawyer representing some 2,000 families wanted the situation to remain as it was, said that businessmen of the city, most of them English-speaking were offended by the proposed change.

He said the measure was linked with the departure of three industries from the city.

Premier Lesage said that nothing of the kind had happened.

Last survivor

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass. (AP) — Word was received here of the death in a New York City hospital Thursday of Mrs. Alta Rockefeller Prentice, 91, last surviving child of John D. Rockefeller Sr. She was the widow of Col. E. Parmelee Prentice, who died in 1955.

Rusk and Adenauer reach full agreement

BONN (AP) — Chancellor Adenauer says he and U.S. State Secretary Rusk had reached full agreement on Berlin and all other matters of mutual U.S.-West German interest at a private meeting today.

Rusk, continuing his tour of West European capitals, met for 70 minutes with the West German government head with only an interpreter present. Adenauer said they had "reached full agreement on all big questions."

"Our thoughts and aims coincide," the chancellor told reporters. "I am very happy that we could have this very frank, confidential talk."

Adenauer said specifically that the area of full agreement included Berlin, one of the chief previous issues in a disagreement between the chancellor and President Kennedy's administration.

Neither Adenauer nor Rusk gave further details of their talk, however.

Adenauer along with French President de Gaulle, has felt that nothing would be gained from exploratory talks on West Berlin between the United States and the Soviet Union. He also had bitterly opposed American proposals for a compromise with the Russians on Berlin.

Adenauer said he was grateful for Rusk's visit.

"I believe that the spoken word is more valuable and more impressive than all the long written notes."

Both men were smiling broadly for photographers. The 86-year-old chancellor appeared in an exceptionally good humor.

But attack a possibility

Island buildup thought defensive

HONG KONG (AP) — Most western intelligence sources in Hong Kong believe Communist China's current military buildup opposite the Nationalist offshore islands of Quemoy and Matsu is defensive. But they do not discount the possibility of a Communist attack.

These sources believe that any Communist attack most likely would be triggered by fears that President Chiang Kai-shek's regime was going to try to make good his vow to retake the Chinese mainland.

"I'd be very surprised if the Chinese Communists launched an offensive," one intelligence informant said today. "I think the chances are about 3 to 1 against it. But if they felt the predicting an offensive against Communist China for some time. But the possibility seems remote.

The Nationalists have said they would launch an attack only after an uprising on the mainland. The recent exodus of the Nationalist forces on Quemoy made several small hit-and-run raids on the Fukien coast June 14.

RECALL AMERY

In London, the British air ministry announced that Air Minister Julian Amery had been recalled to Britain on "urgent business" but it had nothing to do with the situation in Quemoy or China.

A Nationalist attack also is thought would need U.S. logistic support at least to have any chance of success. The United States has given no indication that such aid would be forthcoming. Nationalist officials in Taipei received Washington and London reports of the Communist buildup with outward calm.

"We are watching the situation closely," said James Shen, a secretary to President Chiang. A similar noncommittal answer was given by a spokesman for the U.S. Taiwan (Formosa) Defence Command. "The danger of Communist aggression against the offshore islands always exists," said Rear-Admiral Pei Yu-Feng, Nationalist defence ministry spokesman. "Our forces are constantly alert for any emergency."

REFUGEES CROWD INTO HONG KONG — Chinese refugees filtering into Hong Kong have added to the critical shortage of living space in the British colony. These are roof squatters' shacks built atop buildings in Kowloon. Bamboo rods are used for drying clothes.

About Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—The First Day, presented by CBS Wednesday night, more than made up for many long hours of tedious mediocrity and trivia presented during this television season.

The original play by Roger Hirson was a quietly powerful and shrewdly observant story about the reaction of family and friends to a not-so-young school teacher returning to home and—hopefully—job after three months in a mental institution.

Margaret Leighton, an actress of vast skill, played the teacher with understanding and insight, carrying the viewer with her through a triumphant struggle with the doubts, fears and nervousness of her family and associates. Ralph Bellamy, playing the ill-intentioned but uncomprehending father, also was just right—but then so were all the players.

The teacher's fumbling but determined efforts to find her own life made not only a gripping hour of television but shed some interesting light on shattering, cool-cruel attitudes toward convalescent and recovered mental patients.

ABC now plans to put its new Mr. Smith goes to Washington, with Fess Parker in the old Jimmy Stewart role, into its Saturday night schedule—a tough break for any show because it is a night with powerful competition on the other networks.

FULFORD —

The U.C.W. met at the home of Miss Minnie Willes on May 31. Lunch was served by the hostess prior to the business meeting, at which the ladies planned to spring clean the church.

Show Business

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—They laughed when Dave Guard quit the Kingston Trio, but Dave is doing the laughing now.

A year ago the Hawaiian-born singer walked out on the $1,000,000 Kingston combo. The trio was still coining money in all directions, but Guard and the other two-thirds—Nick Reynolds and Bob Shane—weren't getting along.

After making a financial settlement, Guard pondered his future. Obviously it would be concerned with folk music. And now he has come up with a new combination called the Whiskeyhill Singers.

The name? It comes from a hilly road in Palo Alto, Calif., where Guard spends his brief hours between tours.

"You've got to admit the name comes on strong," he explains. "Most singing groups have names that don't mean anything. But with a name like the Whiskeyhill Singers, you know you aren't going to get a group that comes out in tuxedos and hums Back Home in Indiana."

GROUP MAKES HIT

The new group appears to be getting off the ground. It has drawn enthusiastic response in its first six months of dates. The first Whiskeyhill album has sold 40,000 copies in three weeks.

The singers have been lately to record 15 folk songs for the sound track of How the West was Won, MGM's western in cinema.

Dave Guard was the acknowledged leader of the Kingston Trio, yet he quit because the dissonances within the group were causing unhappiness.

For the new group, he inherited David (Buck) Wheat, the little bass player of the Kingstons, who was given a chance to join in the singing. The second member was Cyrus Far- yar, an Iranian-born folk singer with whom Dave attended high school in Honolulu.

"Then I had the idea of adding a girl to the group," Dave said. "Nearly all folk singing combinations are male, which provides a certain sameness. He finally found Judy Henske singing at a spot in Oklahoma City. She's 23, a bright sprit from Chippewa Falls, Wis.

Stanbridge Hunting, Fishing Assoc. presents trophies at annual banquet

BEDFORD — St. nbridge Hunting and Fishing Association Inc., held its annual banquet at the Hotel Maurice on May 31, when a turkey dinner was served to about 60 guests.

Adolphe Leclaire, president of the Quebec Federation of Fish and Game Clubs and Sterling Pollock, treasurer of the Federation, were guest speakers. Mr. Leclaire conveyed a message of encouragement and explained that progress was being made toward better conservation of our natural resources. Mr. Pollock described the conservation essay contest in the provincial schools, the first prize for which is the Pollock Trophy.

The following trophies were presented: The Pollock trophy for the club member who has contributed most towards conservation in the past year, was presented by Mr. Pollock to Bob Robinson, of Bedford; the Selby Trap trophy to Bob Roy for breaking 74 birds of a possible 75.

The Molson trophy for a smallbore rifle team was presented to Austin Campbell, captain of the Bisley Pros., the following team members receiving engraved spoons: Roy Bockus, Beulah Bechard, Sandy Ducharme, S. R. McIntosh, Ray Wood, and Marcel Bechard. Engraved silver spoons also went to each team member who showed the most improvement in the second half of the schedule: Bisley Pros-S. R. McIntosh; Centra V.S., Delmar Wilson; Super-Cleas, Denis Larocque; Whiz Bangs, Richard Smith.

FISHING TROPHIES — Fishing trophies were presented to the following: Black bass, Sandy Ducharme; Stanbridge East; speckled trout, Paul Larocque, Stanbridge East; bull pout, Kevin Tremblay, Stanbridge East; perch, Donald Stollaker, Dunham; northern pike, Waldo Cleary, Cowansville.

Domination marksmen shields were presented to R. S. McIntosh and A. W. MacDonald; buck pins went to Jean Langevin, Michel Langevin, Gilles Geoffroy and Bob Robinson.

Holders of the lucky raffle tickets were Louis Moreau, Vernon Boomhower, Philip Raymond, and Louis Moreau.

Harry Wilsie, of St. Laurent turned in a perfect score to win the singles division of the regional trapshooting meet held in Bedford. At the end of the regular 150 birds, Wilsie was tied with Paul Lemelin, of Montreal, at 133 for a shoot-off for the overall title.

The Bedford meet was one of the nine being held by the Quebec Trapshooting Association to grade marksmen in the provincial championships to be held at L'Acadie on Aug. 11-12.

Retarded Assoc. at Coaticook elects officers — COATICOOK — At the election of officers for the Coaticook Branch of the Retarded Children's Association of Quebec, Mrs. Rosalie Guay was named president, of the group, replacing Mrs. Richard Rosenberg, who moved from Coaticook at the end of May.

Other officers elected were: Gaston Jean Marie, vice-president; Miss Martha Lemieux, secretary; Mrs. F. Pelouquin, treasurer; Mrs. E. Carignan, Dominique Vincent, Adrien Vachon and Rolland Mongeau, directors.

Reports from various committee conveners revealed that the operation of the class for retarded youngsters locally and activities connected with it have met with success.

Waterville UCW hears address on mission work

WATERVILLE — Miss Isabelle Miller, of Knowlton, Missionary on leave from Hong Kong, was guest speaker at a meeting of United Church Women, held in the church hall on May 30.

A large group of members, the U.C.W. of Hatley and North Hatley, several school teachers and a number of Sunday School pupils assembled to hear Miss Miller tell of her work at the Rennie's Mills Clinic.

Here thousands of refugees from Communist China are living in small sandbrick houses without plumbing or electricity. The shortage of water adds to the inconveniences.

T.B. has been a major problem, but with the help of an x-ray machine, bought by the W.A. and W.M.S., great advances have been made against the disease, she said.

Accompanying Miss Miller was three-year-old Judy, a little Chinese girl that Miss Miller has taken to care for. Though unable to speak English when she came to Canada last August, Judy now speaks fluently. She won everyone's admiration.

The speaker was introduced by Mrs. W. McGovern and thanked by Mrs. H. S. Ball. Mrs. K. Spafford conducted the devotions at the regular meeting, with Mrs. R. Beckett at the piano.

It was reported that an overseas bale weighing 29 pounds had been packed and sent.

A brief report was given on the activities of Messengers and a vote of thanks was given to the leaders.

Permission was granted to the school to use glasses and tea cloths for the school dance.

Following the meeting, refreshments were served by the ladies with Mrs. S. Hopper and Mrs. D. Ayer pouring tea.

SWEETSBURG — Mr. Alan Tait, of Montreal, is spending several weeks with his daughter, Mrs. Hugh Wilson, Mr. Wilson and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Donald Wells have returned from Pine Falls, Man., where Mrs. Wells was matron of honor at the marriage of her friend, the former Miss Helen Maroney, of the B.M.P. Hospital nursing staff, to Dr. Donald Hills, of Pine Falls.

Card party aids cemetery at Stanbridge East

STANBRIDGE EAST — The card party held in the Anglican Church Hall on May 31 for benefit of Riverview Cemetery was well attended and net proceeds amounted to $21.50.

Prize-winners were as follows: The $10 door prize, Mrs. Ernest Brown. (All ladies' prizes donated by Mrs. Orval Casey) 1st, Mrs. Claude Stone; 2nd, Mrs. Nelson Boomhower; 3rd, Mrs. Ernest Titterton.

Men's 1st, (donated by Mrs. Cyril Brown) Claude Larocque; 2nd, (donated by Mrs. B. J. Laycock; Claude Stone; 3rd, (donated by Mrs. James Wits) Neil Creller.

Lunch was served after the games. Much credit is due Mrs. Chas. Short and Mr. and Mrs. N. Creller, who were of so much assistance with the work of the committee, also to Mrs. Bruce Phelps, who sold so many tickets.

FALKIRK FAIRS — The famous annual fairs at Falkirk in Scotland have been held for centuries.

DUDSWELL JUNCTION — Mr. and Mrs. Frank Anderson, of Stanstead, visited Mr. and Mrs. Albert Willard. Other guests were Mrs. Dorothy Hodge and Mrs. Walter Burwick, of Bury.

Mrs. Aurore Lessard, of Sherbrooke, spent a weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Lucian Lessard.

Ex-Lennoxville resident

Dr. McMurray is president of psychological group

Dr. G. A. McMurray, former Lennoxville resident and a graduate of Bishop's University who now heads the psychology department of the University of Saskatchewan, has been elected president of the Canadian Psychological Association.

Dr. McMurray took office at the annual meeting of the association held recently at McMaster University, Hamilton, during the 1962 conference of learned societies. His term will extend until the association meets next year in Quebec city.

Members of the U of S psychology department took an active part in the proceedings at Hamilton. Dr. McMurray, besides being elected president, was discussing a paper on the "Effects of Attitudes and Motivation in Second-Language Learning."

Dr. G. J. Mogenson, assistant professor of psychology at the

DR. G. A. McMURRAY

U of S, presented a paper on the effects of adrenochrome on self-stimulation of the brain. And with a graduate student, A. D. Mullin, presented another paper on the effects of "fear" conditioning upon avoidance learning. Dr. D. A. Chambers, Provincial Hospital, Lancaster, New Brunswick, who will join the Psychology Department at the U of S July 1, delivered a paper on conditioning in psychotics.

Hits wife with hammer

He could not remember doing it

A 37-year-old Sherbrooke man who hit his wife on the nose with a hammer while she was sleeping last month was given a 12 month prison term by Judge Evender Veilleux in Sherbrooke Court of Sessions Thursday afternoon.

The accused, Leon Andre Lefebvre, changed his plea from not guilty yesterday, was given the sentence after he told the court he did not know what he was doing when he hit his wife.

Lefebvre also pleaded guilty to stealing over $100 of drugs at d'Youville Hospital.

The accused told the court he could not remember what had happened the night of the violent attack on his wife because he had been drinking.

He also told the court that he was taking drugs which he took from the d'Youville Hospital while working there.

Lefebvre told the court the only thing he remembered about the violent attack was his wife saying, "now look what you done, call the police and look after Marc." Marc is their two-year-old son.

The accused told the court his wife told him to "get out" before police came.

"I then left the house and went to my brother's home and stayed there until the next morning when I went to Sherbrooke Police headquarters and told detectives what happened," Lefebvre told the court.

A blood-stained pillow, a woman's night gown and a hammer were brought to court as evidence.

The accused who has been married for two years struck his wife in the face with a hammer and broke her nose on the night of May 26.

Crown Attorney Benoit Turmel told the court the accused had the longest record he had ever seen in court.

Since 1940 the accused has been sentenced to a total of 26 years and two months in prison on charges of break-ins, theft, passing false cheques and forgery. Most of the sentences were served concurrently.

Judge Veilleux told the accused while passing sentence he had committed a serious offence and he could have killed his wife.

"This is why I am giving you a 12 month prison term, so you can be left alone to think of the wrong you have done along with what could have resulted," Judge Veilleux said.

Diver acquitted of blast count

Lorenzo Lamontagne, 31, of Sherbrooke was acquitted in Sherbrooke Court of Session Thursday of a charge of being in possession of explosives.

The accused was arrested May 24 by Quebec Provincial Police officers after two bulldozers owned by the Couillard Construction Company of Coaticook were blown up. In his possession he had four feet of dynamite fuse and five dynamite caps, the Court was told.

Lamontagne pleaded not guilty May 24, to dynamiting the bulldozers at Deauville and was released on $1,500 bail.

His charge was changed to being in possession of explosives.

The accused admitted to the court he bought the fuse and dynamite caps in Magog, the day before the bulldozers were blown up and that he used a car given to him by Arthur Lapointe, strike director of the Confederation of National Trade Unions during the construction strike, last month.

Lamontagne told the court he bought the fuse and dynamite caps to remove rocks from the bottom of lakes and rivers in the Eastern Townships area.

"I plan to work as a diver this summer and use the caps to remove rocks from the shores of rivers and lakes," Lamontagne told the court.

The accused told the court he bought the fuse and caps in Magog because he did not know if Sherbrooke sold any and that he also wanted to take ride since it was a hot day in the city.

He denied having anything to do with blowing up the two bulldozers.

Judge Evender Veilleux acquitted Lamontagne. The dynamite caps it was noted, only had 50 pounds pressure, not enough to cause serious damage.

Julien Cimon, of Sherbrooke was fined $50 and costs in Sherbrooke Court of Session after he pleaded guilty before Judge Evender Veilleux of breaking a window during the Eastern Townships construction strike.

Salesman drowns at Little Lake

The body of a 28-year-old Montreal man, missing since Tuesday night, was found Thursday afternoon in Little Lake Magog.

Claude Labrecque, 6365 Rosemount Avenue, Montreal, a travelling salesman who was staying in Sherbrooke, drove three friends Tuesday night, to a tent situated on one of the beaches surrounding the lake.

After playing cards with his friends until three in the morning, Labrecque got up to leave, after which his three friends went to sleep.

When the three, Pierre Charon, Aime Germain and Oliva Chagnon, all of Sherbrooke, awoke in the morning and went outside Labrecque's car was still parked nearby.

Later Thursday morning when Labrecque still had not returned the three men studied the possibility of a drowning and began to search the banks of the lake.

Finally late yesterday afternoon, two Magog boys, Yves

Langlois and Michel Leblanc saw the body floating on the surface in front of the Auberge des Pins.

Police were called in and the body was taken from the water. The coroner's inquest was held this morning in the Sherbrooke Court House.

No mail service

J. C. Cayer, Sherbrooke division postmaster, announced Thursday that there will be no letter carrier delivery service in the Sherbrooke area on Monday, St. Jean Baptiste day.

Letter box collections and the delivery of mail will be as usual and the post office box lobby will be opened from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m.

General delivery, registration of letters, and postage stamp wickets will be opened from 8 a.m. till noon. There will be no money orders and savings bank wickets open Monday.

Civilian soldiers beginning to tire under camp training

Now in their last lap of a hard seven days camp here at Farnham, part-time soldiers of 9 Militia Group have begun to wear down . . . they're tired, and their fatigue is understandable.

Up at 6:15, with a full day of rugged training, sports in the evening, some studying and numerous personal chores, these soldiers rarely turn out their lights until 10 or 11 each night, but this is the grind that helps part-time servicemen prove to themselves and military officials that they're still an effective part of Canada's defence system.

All units have now undergone practical combat practice, small arms firing, and in case of the armoured and infantry units, blank ammunition has been used to live things up, or should I say, give the game a realistic touch.

ONLY 3 WOMEN
The two nursing sisters, Lt.

Phyllis Price and 2/Lt. Polly Holmes, and Sgt. Harriet Edmonds, all of the 8th Medical Company are brushing up on their bandage work.

BRIGADE PARADE
No. 9 Militia Group will hold a brigade parade Friday afternoon at 3:30. Brig. J. P. Gautier, Group Commander will be on hand to review the troops, make presentations and take the salute in a march past.

Tomorrow the civilian-soldiers of this group will leave for their homes before noon, and should be home before dinner time.

Pay parades were held this morning.

SPORTS
The camp softball competition commenced Wednesday evening, with The Sherbrookes downing the 7/XI Hussars 10 to 5. The 46th Field took a 12 to 1 decision from the 8th Medical Company, and the 27th Field beat Les Fusiliers de Sherbrooke in a tightly contested 4 to 1 game.

Not wishing to be caught by another default, as they were in Tuesday evening's opening volleyball contests, the 6ieme Battalion showed up, to find the 24 Technical Squadron absent, so the infantrymen had the pleasure of walking off with an uncontested win.

In the second evening of volleyball play, and the semifinals, Les Fusiliers de Sherbrooke won over The Sherbrookes by 21 to 17, and will not meet the 27th Field, who downed the 24 Technical Squadron in Wednesday's game by 21 to 7.

7/XI HUSSARS
No other unit at this summer camp has done as much to maintain inter-regiment competitions and alertness, than the 7/XI Hussars RCAC. A regiment with a long colorful war and peacetime history, these armoured men are deserving of their esprit de corps.

This year the 7/XI have eleven of their own trophies at stake. Some of them have been in competition from the time when the unit was cavalry.

The awards are for high score in small arms, squadron wireless procedure, wheeled vehicles driving team, annual sports team trophy, rifle drill

Steals pulp

A 32-year-old Sherbrooke man was sentenced to three months in Winter Street jail by Judge Evender Veilleux in Sherbrooke Court of Sessions Thursday morning for stealing 20 loads of pulp-wood, valued at $2,000.

The accused, Georges Gauthier, pleaded not guilty to the charge.

team, national survival team, tank formation and drill team, sub-machine gun team, squadron efficiency, high squadron average in small arms, and a softball shield.

GENERAL NOTES

The first bit of bad news received from home for members of 9 Militia Group Headquarters came from WO-2 L. C. Webster, who called back to camp Thursday morning, stating that he would be delayed in returning as his infant son passed away at The Sherbrooke Hospital. All officers and NCOs of this headquarters, and other militiamen throughout camp who know the Websters extend their regrets.

"That truck with the mesh over the windows is a paddy-wagon son. That's what they cart away bad soldiers in!"

Oh yes, there's one here too, like the one found at every military training centre, but it won't be needed. The permanent force staff of this camp have commented on the outstanding behaviour of 9 Militia Group members. As one WO-1, in charge of men's messing said, "They're a well behaved lot of men!"

Extensive news coverage has been given this camp, with news copy and pictures being distributed among 23 regional mediums. When you add up the media of the Townships, you'll appreciate the fact that some of the coverage is being sent outside the region. For instance, a resume of events goes to Sorel, St. Hyacinthe, Three Rivers, and in several cases, to the United States.

Capt. Henry Lepage, Quebec Command director of bands

BASE HOSPITAL

There's a smart base hospital here at Camp Farnham, and if the militiamen had of been aware of the pretty young woman doctor there, Miss Myriam Vincent, there would probably been more minor complaints.

Really, today's soldiers don't fake illness unless necessary . . . could it be they're afraid of what the consequences might be?

Two other doctors at the base hospital are: Dr. Andrew Wong, also a civilian; and Major Letourneau. Of course there are other medical men on the base, some militia and some callouts.

This hospital has three full time nurses, one a civilian and two of the permanent force, besides a number of orderlies.

TOMORROW

Saturday's "As You Were" column will carry a summary of today's brigade parade. On Monday a re-cap of camp will be carried, to end this year's series on 9 Militia Group camp life at Farnham.

Firm seeks conciliation

Officials of the Combustion Engineering-Superheater Ltd Friday made application to the Quebec Labour Relations Board for the services of a conciliator in its dispute with the Elesco Workers Association (IAM).

R. J. Scholes, Assistant Works Manager, stated that the company had been placed in an impossible bargaining position as a result of demands made by the union which include a straight wage increase of 20c per hour for a one-year contract, plus numerous fringe benefits totalling approximately 30c per hour, for a grand total of $0.50 per hour.

These fringe benefits include a pension plan, improved group insurance benefits, more liberal vacation pay benefits, a ninth paid holiday, triple time for work done on a holiday, shift differential pay increase of three to six cents per hour,

Faults in electoral list revision

Frequent complaints of the omission of names from the electoral lists for last Monday's federal vote lend strength to criticisms voiced by representatives of all parties that the present system of compiling the lists is archaic, costly and inefficient. Certainly it is the key factor in stretching out the time needed for holding an election in this country.

One party organizer estimates that over two thousand persons were deprived of their votes in Sherbrooke County alone because their names had been left off the preliminary and revised lists of voters. Admittedly, from a technical viewpoint, persons whose names were omitted from the revised lists have only themselves to blame.

But the complexity of the registration system makes it difficult for any but the closest student of the system to determine whether his or her name is or is not on the list, and just where he or she is to vote.

Typewritten copies of the original list are posted up in each polling division, but more often than not they are located at a place visited by few of the poll residents.

Copies of the list are mailed to each family whose names are inscribed thereon.

But if the names of the entire family are omitted, no copies are received. By the time the prospective voter realizes he has not received a copy of the list, it is too late to appear before the revision board.

If it is felt house-to-house enumeration is the best means of preparing the original list, it might be advisable to defer revision proceedings until, a few days before the election date when the average citizen begins to realize that there is actually an election in the offing.

The longest days of the year are almost over—those the kids spend waiting for vacation.

Must treat U. S. tourists fairly

Cars bearing license plates of states from south of the border is a positive sign that the summer trek of American tourists to the Eastern Townships has started.

The devaluation of the Canadian dollar to 92½ cents in U.S. currency is expected to boost the number of American visitors who will approach sales counters with a seven and a half cent difference in their favor. The prospect is especially encouraging for Townships merchants whose business with their usual customers drops sharply every summer as residents move out on holiday.

The dollar difference, though offering many advantages for the businessman, will also be the cause of some inconvenience. The Canadian Tourist Association suggests that retail store clerks, hotel and restaurant cashiers, service station attendants and other persons in business should let the visitors know the prevailing exchange rate and give the tourists the full benefit of the premium.

Merchants are urged to display placards distributed by the Canadian Government Travel Bureau which give important advice about currency and exchange. The association recommends that boards of trade, local tourist offices and other business organizations obtain a supply and distribute them to the various businesses.

The tourist association notes that holidaymakers from the United States should be encouraged to exchange their money at banks. This will reduce the inconvenience and annoyance that arise in trying to estimate the right exchange rate.

Irreparable harm could be done to the tourist industry if a lower premium than the one generally offered is given. There are few practices that can sour a tourist's attitude faster than being the target of a sharp dealer. The Townships is vitally interested in tourism and its growth. Incidences of visitors being victimized spread quickly and their effect can cripple a prosperous business which has taken years to build.

A tourist who has had a enjoyable stay in the Eastern Townships will remember it when he is preparing his holidays next year. This is a much more valuable asset than a few extra dollars earned by questionable means.

If you're able to think things will work out okay when you have a feeling they won't, we'd like to have you around.

Other papers say:

More emphasis on debates, essays

There are two forms of contest which once occupied a larger place in our lives than they do today, although they are enjoying something of a revival, especially on the high school level.

We refer, first, to the public speaking contest. It is painfully evident that a great many persons are not capable of expressing themselves in a meeting. To think on one's feet and give utterance to one's thoughts in a logical and cogent fashion is an ability to be sought after. It is attained, however, not by accident, but by diligent work and constant effort to improve.

A generation and more ago, debating societies were to be found in many communities. The speaking contest was a highlight of the season. We recall Friday afternoons in school when the entire time was given to this matter. Now, it is more often true that students participate in this sort of thing on a voluntary basis only.

An evidence of the result of it all is in the declining attendance at civic meetings. Another indication is in the deterioration of political presentations. An audience half a century ago would have had only disgust for the man who drew a sheaf of notes from his pocket with some such excuse as, "It will save your time and mine if I read what I have prepared."

The other contest of which we are thinking is that which has to do with the writing of essays. Here, again, is a medium of expression and communication. Except for the encouragement of prizes sponsored by certain organizations, there is little outside of the schoolroom to foster good writing. Teachers, of course, can do much, but their efforts always are hampered by pupil attitudes towards the academic program and discipline.

The English language, in spite of the derogations of aliens attempting to learn it, is characterized by great beauty. This, unhappily, is not apparent in the manner in which it is so often used. Those who ought to be employing it prefer to evade opportunities to speak and to avoid putting anything in writing.

We should like to see a revival of interest in this matter of expressing oneself. In the past, essay and public speaking contests have contributed to this end. It might help today if more emphasis were given to these activities.

The public should know about unions

"Selfless voluntary organizations" is the description of labor unions offered the federal cabinet by Canadian Labor Congress president Claude Jodoin.

ALL IN FAMILY

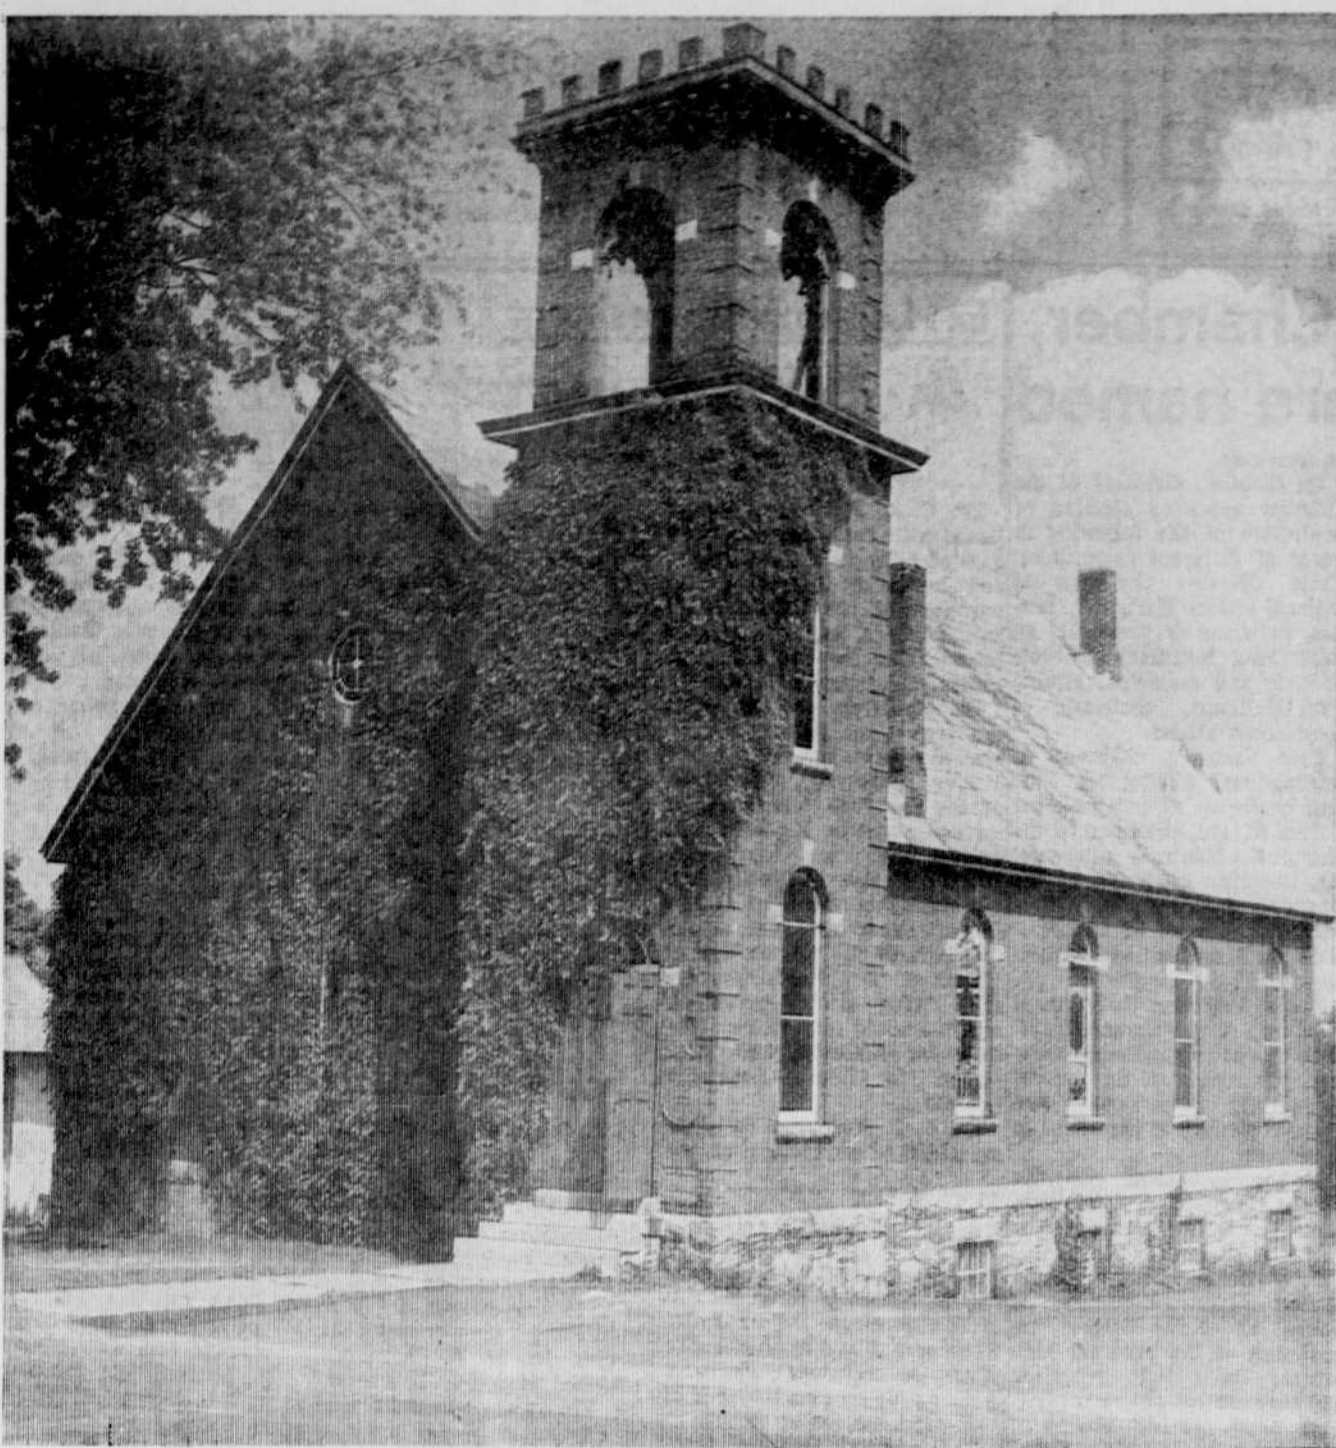

AUCKLAND, N.Z. (CP)—Senior Sgt. Walter Robertson Fleming is the name and title of two officers. The son, aged 32, has been promoted to the same rank as his 57-year-old father. Also in the force is Constable Jean Fleming, sister of the son.

Mr. Jodoin was making the point, in connection with the CLC's annual brief to the cabinet, that labor unions differ from business corporations and should not be included under the new government bill that would require both corporations and unions to file information with Ottawa. That may be a valid argument, but there is also the fact that wages and working conditions are no longer organized labor's sole, or even major, field of activity just in the course of presenting its brief to the cabinet the CLC offered advice to the government on the economic situation, social security, taxation, education, housing, meat inspection, postal rates, international issues, and a host of other matters.

There is also the point that in many of their policies, many of the Canadian unions are tied pretty closely to their American head offices. So it does seem reasonable that the public should know what union memberships amount to, or how much money they collect and what happens to it.

Long and full history

Waterville United Church marks 100th year in ceremonies Sunday

By R. L. GALE

On Sunday, the 100th anniversary of Waterville United Church will be observed, following the usual anniversary supper on Saturday from 5 to 7 p.m. in the Church Hall.

At the Sunday service, which takes place at 11 a.m., the Rev. Kirk L. Feltham, minister of the church, will preside and guest speaker, Rev. Dr. A. B. Moore will deliver the sermon. It is worthy of note that Dr. Moore's father—the Rev. Churchill Moore—for many years pastor of the Ayer's Cliff United Church, acted as a member of the Installation Council on May 31, 1892 when the late Rev. Galen H. Craik was inducted into the Pastorate of Waterville United Church.

On July 1, 1862 the "Congregational Church, Waterville, Quebec" (now Waterville United Church) was formally founded and the Rev. Cyril Pearl was installed as Resident Pastor. He continued to serve as Minister at the Massawippi Congregational where he had been appointed the preceding year. Twelve persons were taken into fellowship on this occasion, thus forming the foundation of the present Church.

Rev. Mr. Pearl's pastorate was regrettably brief since, being an American, he felt it to be his duty to join the northern forces as chaplain, this taking place in 1864 during the American Civil War.

However, he had labored wisely and well for the Waterville cause was firmly established and has continued to prosper over the years.

Equally brief in tenure, the following pastorate, by Rev. Joseph Forsyth was tragically brought to an end in September of 1866 when Mr. Forsyth was accidentally thrown from his carriage and died of the injuries received. He was a studious man of deep piety and had come to Waterville from the Wesleyan Methodist Church at Compton. Following Rev. Mr. Craik resigned in 1907 to accept a call from the Melbourne and Ulverton Churches.

On the 25th day of that month the longest pastorate in the history of the Church began. The minister was the Rev. George Purkis, a native of England associated with the Montreal Auxiliary Bible Society. Ordained and formally installed as Pastor on July 24th, 1867.

He inaugurated a long, faithful and unbroken pastorate of twenty-two years until 1889. During this time it is noted that he received into membership of the church 133 persons and officiated at 255 baptisms, 143 burials and 110 weddings, a truly remarkable record.

In 1880, having worshipped in the village school since its inception, the church constructed a neat, commodious structure of wood located opposite the present parsonage. Such was the ability of the Building Committee (Messrs. John McIntosh, Jr., ex-M.L.A., F. G. Gale, Charles O. Swanson, L. M. Johnson, Charles O. Swanson, Smith McKay and L. W. Wyman, Secretary) that the cost was held to $1617.72 and the edifice was turned over to the Church free of debt.

In 1888 another Building Committee was formed (Messrs. John McIntosh, Jr., ex-M.L.A., F. G. Gale, Charles O. Swanson, James McGovern, A. A. Blount, Wm. Thwaites and Lars Larson, Secretary).

They built our splendid brick parsonage, much as it is today, at a cost of $1893.00. In the following year—1889—Rev. Mr. Purkis resigned and the active work of the ministry. The progress of the church under the spiritual guidance of this well-loved leader had been remarkable. Not only as noted—had a new church and parsonage been completed, but in 1882 the Women's Missionary Society had been organized and the number of deacons increased from two to four (Messrs. Wm. McKay, James McIntosh, Nelson Johnson and Lars Larson) and the work of the Sunday School and adult Bible Class had been initiated and successfully carried on.

It is of interest to note, also that during this period—viz., 1876—the "Municipality of the Village of Waterville" was "set off" from the Township of Compton and formally organized. Thus the organization of our church—1862—predates that of the municipality by some fourteen years.

After two short pastorates the late Rev. Galen H. Craik, newly graduated from the Congregational College, was ordained and installed as pastor May 31st, 1892. Mr. Craik resigned in 1907 to accept a call from the Melbourne and Ulverton Churches. During this period much had taken place, the Ladies Aid had been organized—1892—with the following 12 Charter Members: Mrs. E. A. Bishop, Mrs. E. Brown, Mrs. G. H. Craik, Mrs. F. G. Gale, Mrs. Lars Larson, Mrs. J. McIntosh, Miss Mary Silver, Mrs. O. M. Swanson, Miss Christie Swanson, Mrs. C. O. Peterson, Miss Lillian Swanson, Mrs. G. W. Powers.

Mrs. G. W. Powers was elected president, Mrs. E. A. Bishop vice-president and Miss Christie Swanson secretary—treasurer. The record of accomplishment of this devoted seventy-year-old Society has continued abundantly and in full measure from that time to this when their energies seem to be occupied more fully and successfully than ever.

In 1900-1901 the present brick and stone church edifice was erected with Mr. J. R. Dougall of the former "Montreal Witness" laying the corner stone in September of 1900 and the formal opening of the church coming in May of 1901. Unique in design and finish, beautifully and substantially built this edifice has been the centre and hub of church activities from that time to this and bids fair to remain so for many years to come.

With the Rev. Ira W. Pierce as Pastor the 50th Anniversary of the founding of the Church was celebrated in 1912, the feature of the occasion being an address by Mrs. Robert Freeland, (daughter of the Rev. George Purkis, former Pastor 1867-1889).

Following Mr. Pierce was the pastorate of the Rev. Dr. Arthur E. Teale who served from 1914 to 1924, the oldest of our living former Pastors.

He married a Waterville girl—Miss Lillian Johnson and now has just brought to an end his last active pastorate. Since his time the following, all men of deep dedication and purpose, have guided our spiritual destinies:

Rev. Herbert D'Arcy Whitmore, 1924-1927;
Rev. A. T. Pollock, 1927-1928;
Rev. Victor C. Rose, 1928-1935;
Rev. John G. Fulcher, 1935-1942;
Rev. William H. Edwards 1942-1950;
Rev. John M. Butler, 1950-1955;
Rev. Benjamin Mallalieu, 1955-1957;
Rev. Alastair G. MacLeod, 1957-1961.

Theirs have been devoted ministries when the Church progressed and prospered. The 75th Anniversary of the founding of the Church was celebrated in 1937 with Dr. F. A. C. Dossie of Plymouth Church, Sherbrooke, guest speaker. The 100th Anniversary finds Waterville United Church with its face to the future. The members and adherents number more than ever before, the physical property—manse and church edifice have been thoroughly renovated and brought up to date and a splendid spirit of co-operation, dedication and service pervades the whole church.

Sausage making became a culinary art in the middle ages, and certain modern popular sausages derive their names from the cities in which they originated: frankfurters from Frankfurt-on-Main, Germany; Bologna from Bologna, Italy. While there is no documentary proof, it has been deduced that salami may have been named for the ancient Grecian city, Salamis, on the east coast of Cyprus.

Too much 'horse'

Spread of 'joul' concerns Quebec

By GEORGE FRAJKOR

MONTREAL (CP)—For several years French-Canada has been preoccupied with "joul." To be specific, with its extermination.

Joul is a common Quebec deformation of the word cheval, meaning horse. It isn't the horses French-Canadians want to get rid of, but the kind of French exemplified by the mispronunciation.

Andre Laurendeau, editor-in-chief of the Montreal French-language daily Le Devoir, was the first to use the term joul as a name for the type of degenerate French spoken so often in Quebec.

Brother Jerome, a Roman Catholic teaching brother, made it nationally famous in his best-selling book Les Insolences du Frere Untel—The Impertinences of Brother So-and-So.

In a chapter attacking Quebec's educational system as it existed several years ago, he said: "We speak horse; live horse; think horse."

One difficulty in trying to stamp out joul is that most people who speak it don't even know it's bad French. As far as they're concerned, everybody talks that way so why make a fuss?

Montreal writer Andre Turanne has undertaken the task of distinguishing what is bad from what is good in a little book published by Les Editions de l'Homme.

His Petit dictionnaire de Joul au Francais—Concise Joul: French Dictionary—attempts to pick out the poor French and render it in correct—or Academy—French.

Briefly, bad French is generally English. Not just English words adopted intact into French, but literal translations of English expressions as substitutes for perfectly good French expressions.

Take nuts for example. In English, a nut is a nut, whether you're eating it or screwing it on to a bolt. So in joul, un noix is un noix. But in correct French, Turanne says, un noix is something you eat and un ecrou is what you swear at when the wrench slips off it. A considerable number of Quebec garage mechanics, who have been turning nois for years, will be surprised to find they were really working on ecroux.

This is a case where English usage has influenced French, but it is fairly innocent. A more atrocious example is the use of fleur d'avoine, literally flower of oats. In French, the correct term is farine d'avoine, literally flour of oats—oatmeal. Somewhere some original joulais confused the English words flour and flower.

The joul phrase faire une reservation is a straight translation of the English for make a reservation. The French phrase, Turanne says, is reserver une place—to reserve a space.

Turanne's dictionary is testimony to the overpowering influence of the North American English majority on the French-speaking minority.

Some of his definitions are questioned by learned French-Canadians themselves, however. For example, he labels cabale as joul for political propaganda. But so eminent authority as the recently published Canadian Dictionary lists this meaning of cabale as perfectly respectable Canadian French.

Turanne sticks closely to Academy French, the best French spoken on the Continent. Thus he condemns hot dog steame as joul for steamed hot dog and proposes the correct French hot dog a vapeur. Hot dog, clearly an Anglicism, has been accepted into the French language by the Academie Francaise but steame hasn't.

In general, however, there can be little quarrel with the majority of the words and expressions Turanne labels joul.

Botcher (to botch); driller (to drill); canner des tomates (to can tomatoes); avoir un jour off (to have a day off) are self-evidently not French.

For convenience, Turanne has divided the book into two sections. The first, subdivided, deals with words used in daily activities: at the bank, railroad station, shop words, garage words, in restaurants, fishing. The second is a catch-all section labelled "generalities" and subdivided into such categories as Anglicisms, erroneous expressions beginning with a verb and erroneous expressions beginning with a noun.

One thing: The dictionary doesn't contain any entry defining the word joul itself, even as a corruption of horses. Joul has, apparently, become good French for bad French.

Operation costs higher at firm

MONTREAL — Modest improvement in shipments and orders in the first quarter of the current year are encouraging shareholders of Dominion Textile Co. Ltd., were told this week by F. R. Daniels, president. But good news had to be qualified by the fact that costs of operations were higher, he said, at the annual meeting.

G. B. Gordon, chairman, who seconded adoption of the annual report, pointed out that government took the lion's share of the company's earnings, $1.63 per common share going in taxes to federal and provincial governments, while shareholders received only 60 cents.

Mr. Daniels noted the pressures of an increasing number of low-wage countries seeking markets in Canada and said Dominion Textile must continue to develop and maintain maximum productive efficiency and "meet competition, wherever possible, with competitiveness."

Officers elected at CNIB board

On June 19th, the annual meeting of the St. Jean Baptiste Society of Montreal was held at the County Hall, Ayer's Cliff. Reports were received from the field secretary, Neil Tracy, and the annual financial statement was also read. Mr. Tracy reported on the activities under the head of prevention, placement, and social activities.

All blind cases were visited, glasses and operations were given with good results. Mr. Tracy also spoke concerning the activities of the St. John Bosco Club for the Blind of Magog and reported a very busy year in Cribbage, bowling and other social activities.

The financial statement showed a substantial deficit and it was decided to increase the campaign activities this fall.

The elections of officers resulted as follows: chairman, Mr. Jack Anderson, of Beebe; vice-chairman, Mrs. Isabel Ramage, of Rock Island, and Mr. Robert Vaillancourt, of Magog; secretary, Mrs. Gordon Shipway, of Ayer's Cliff; treasurer, Mrs. A. Arbery, of Rock Island.

Steps were taken to increase public interest in the activities of CNIB in the St. Jean Baptiste and to augment the membership of the board.

ANNOUNCEMENT

000,000 between Jan. 1 and May 31.

The exchange - fund position for June will not normally be announced until the month-end. But Liberal Leader Pearson said Wednesday the reserves had shrunk by hundreds of millions of dollars this month and that there is "a developing emergency in connection with the flight of capital from Canada."

NO ANSWERS

Finance Minister Fleming would not comment Thursday on Mr. Pearson's remark. In fact, none of the cabinet ministers would answer reporters' questions.

Less reticence was shown in Rouyn, Que., where Social Credit Leader Robert Thompson conferred with Deputy Leader Real Caouette, the Rouyn auto dealer who delivered in Quebec 26 of the party's 30 seats won in Monday's election.

Mr. Thompson said he does not intend to force an election this year "unless the government does something which leaves us no other course but to help vote it out."

"Just about a year from now should be about right," he said. In a press conference on the lawn of Mr. Caouette's Lake Dufault cottage, the two men said they would oppose any further deals to sell wheat to Communist China on credit or sterling-payment terms.

The Social Credit leader also suggested that Mr. Diefenbaker will "make himself look like a fool" if, at the prime minister's conference next September, he opposes British entry to the European Common Market.

National Leader T. C. Douglas of the New Democratic Party, meanwhile, was in Regina. In Vancouver there were reports that party colleague Erhart Regier has offered to give up the Burnaby-Coquitlam seat he won Monday so Mr. Douglas, defeated in Regina City, could run in a byelection.

L. W. PERRY
J. E. Smith, Vice President of General Manager of Albany Felt Company of Canada, Ltd., announces the appointment of L. W. Perry, R.I.A., to the position of Treasurer. Mr. Perry was raised in Halifax, Nova Scotia and attended McGill University, Montreal. He joined Albany Felt Company in 1956 as Chief Accountant.

Magog Home - School will sponsor autumn Community School courses

MAGOG — A second session of the Community School sponsored by the Magog and District Home and School Association is being planned for the fall.

A meeting was held at Princess Elizabeth High School, on May 31. M. Dufresne, chairman of the committee planning the activities, announced that it is expected four different courses will be given on Monday evenings commencing on Oct. 1st and continuing until Nov. 19.

The following are the courses planned: (1) Woodwork or king classes, conducted by H. Bacon, who teaches this subject at P.E.H.S. (2) Art classes, by R. Langley and A. Zabinski; who conducted the classes in oil painting last winter. There should be room for both newcomers and those who have already attended the first series of art classes. (3) Mrs. D. Macintosh will teach a course in home nursing, which should be of particular interest to mothers. (4) The fourth course entitled, Mind Your Own Business, will be given by a series of speakers — lawyer, notary, banker, insurance agent — each of whom can tell something worthwhile about running our own business affairs. Most of them will be two-hour classes.

The Community School classes held last winter at P.E.H.S. were most successful. Keep in mind the dates for the fall sessions and come out and join us then.

Mr. Tremblay said St. Johns was often confused with Saint John, N.B., and St. John's, Nfld., by postal authorities and telephone and telegraph companies.

The English version of the name, Mr. Tremblay said, had undergone several different spellings which showed its lack of official recognition.

Mr. Sabourin said changes were made over the years at the request of post office authorities.

TOLL FEARED

France's most experienced pilots, several times had flown the pilot from the local air club who flew over the area of the disaster could see no survivors. He reported black smoke billowing from the wreckage with debris scattered over a wide area.

Palm-fringed Guadeloupe, principal island of the French West Indies, lies about 400 miles from the Venezuelan coast, south of Antigua, and is surrounded by several smaller dependencies.

The island is divided into two sections — Basse - Terre and Grande - Terre — by a narrow strait four miles long.

The airport — le Raizet — is situated on Grande-Terre close by the town and harbor of Point-a-Pitre.

The Guadeloupe crash came only 18 days after another Air France Boeing 707 ran wild on takeoff from Orly Airfield and burned killing 130 persons in the worst single plane disaster in aviation history.

Remains resting at J. H. Fleury Funeral Home, Richmond. Funeral service in Richmond-Melbourne United Church, Saturday, June 23rd, at 2:30 p.m. Rev. L. Simpson officiating. Interment in Maple Grove Cemetery, Melbourne.

Card of Thanks

LEONARD — I wish to say a most sincere "Thankyou" to all who have been so kind to both my family and myself during my illness. I am grateful to those who sent cards and who called to see me while I was in the hospital and at home. The gifts and flowers were all appreciated as were the messages of cheer that they conveyed.

Sincerely,
ELISIE LEONARD.

SARRASIN — I would like to sincerely thank all my relatives and friends, for the beautiful flowers, letters, cards and gifts I received while I was a patient in the Sherbrooke Hospital, and since my return home. I especially want to thank Dr. Cooper, Dr. Hall, and Dr. Dougan; the nurses and nurses aides on the third floor. I also wish to thank Rev. F. R. Matthews, and Rev. A. B. Lovelace, and all who came to visit me.

Sutton graduates are honored at special events

SUTTON — A baccalaureate service in Calvary United Church at which Mr. Andrew Moffatt, pastor of Oliver Baptist Church was guest speaker, the principal's reception, and graduation dance, sponsored by Grade 10, were the highlights of events honoring the graduating classes, Grades 11 and 12 of the High School.

At the church service, June 2, Mr. Moffatt in his talk to the graduates stressed the fact that it was the way in which they directed their lives toward good works rather than the wealth they might accumulate that would count as their real measure of success. The school choir, under the direction of Mrs. Stanley Pergau, led the singing and also rendered an anthem.

At the reception in the school auditorium, immediately following the service, Stanley Pergau, principal, and Mrs. Pergau, received the guests, including the graduates, their parents, members of the Board with their wives and members of the staff. Mr. Pergau thanked Mr. Moffatt for his fine address and introduced each graduate. Tea was poured by Mrs. Austin Henry and Mrs. N. Blesser.

GRADUATION DANCE

The graduation dance held on June 1st, was largely attended. In the receiving line were the chairman of the Board, Douglas Brown, and Mrs. Brown, Mr. and Mrs. N. Blesser, Mr. and Mrs. Pergau, Richard Wilson, president of the Students' Council, and Miss Susan Phelps. The theme chosen for the decorations was, The Pepper mint Lounge and the auditorium was beautifully done in a color scheme of red and white, with a special section reserved for the graduates, who sat at small candle-lit tables, covered with red and white checked cloths. The graduates' pictures were displayed on giant lollipops, and other wall decorations included two animated lollipop figures doing the twist.

Miss Anglique Matthews was mistress of ceremonies, one of the highlights of the program was the presentation by Alan Whitford, of a large beautifully decorated cake made for the graduates by Bernard Norwood. Refreshments were served at midnight with Miss Margaret Robinson in charge, assisted by others from Grade 10. Alan Whitford was in charge of the tickets and Miss Susan Phelps of the decorating committee.

NORTH HATLEY —

Mr. and Mrs. Guy Woodard entertained on June 9, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Young. Evergreens and white lilacs were used in decorating. Guests were from Beebe, Ayer's Cliff, Massawippi, North Hatley, Sherbrooke, Notre Dame de Grace, Montreal, and Pointe Claire. The bride is the former Nancy Woodard.

MAPLE GROVE —

Mr. and Mrs. Chester Nugent and children from North Hatley were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Nugent.

Mrs. Bert Dinning attended a meeting of the Eastern Star in Richmond recently.

Mr. Warren Thomas, of Montreal, spent a weekend with Mr. and Mrs. Bert Dinning. Other visitors included Mr. and Mrs. M. Black, from St. Catharines, Ont., and Mr. and Mrs. Ken Wood, from Gould.

ALAN WARK, OF HUNTINGVILLE

HUNTINGVILLE — The funeral service for Alan James Wark, who died at the Montreal General Hospital on May 20, 1962, was held on Thursday, May 24, at 2 p.m. at Johnston's Funeral Chapel, in Sherbrooke.

Mr. Wark was born August 31, 1917, at Kinross, Mills. He was the only son of the late Alfred Wark and Emma McVety Cox, who survives him.

Mr. Wark was educated at Kinross's Mills, Lennoxville High School and Thetford Mines. He was employed in Hamilton for five years, returning to this vicinity in 1951. He then went to Sherbrooke Machinery, where he was employed for eleven years, until his accident and subsequent death.

In 1947, Mr. Wark, married Roberta Grace Dustin, of Ayer's Cliff. They had four children, Jimmy, born in 1949, Dawn born in 1952, Peter, born in 1955 and Jill born in 1957.

He is survived by his wife and four children; his mother, five sisters, Mrs. James Gilker, Earlene, New Carlisle, Mrs. Gordon Shaughnessy, Alice, Hamilton, Ont., Mrs. Thomas Smith, Irene, Petawawa, Ont., Mrs. Ralph Caunter, (Hazel), and Mrs. Wyatt Savage, Louise, of Sherbrooke; also several other relatives.

Andrew Patton, of Huntingville Christian Church, officiated at the service and also, sang the hymn, Abide With Me.

The bearers were Fred Caunter, Lyall Pariseau, John Lowery, Kenneth McGree, George McVety and Lorne Butler. Burial took place in Malvern Cemetery, Lennoxville.

Among those present were relatives and friends from Montpelier, Vt. Barre, Vt., Monroe, N.H., South Deerfield, Mass., New Carlisle, Hamilton, Ont., Kingston, Ont., Petawawa, Ont., Sweetburg, Brome, Compton, Ayer's Cliff and Stanstead.

MISS ALICE MACRAE, OF NORTH HATLEY

NORTH HATLEY — The sudden death of Miss Alice R. MacRae occurred at the Sherbrooke Hospital on May 16, 1962.

She was born at Huntingville, June 17, 1906, daughter of the late Albert MacRae and his wife, the late Mary Jane Cadden. At the time of her death she was living with her three brothers, Kenneth, Allan and Howard MacRae, at North Hatley.

Left to mourn her loss are four brothers, Kenneth, Allan, Ralph and Howard MacRae; her only sister, Gladys, Mrs. Monroe Wilson; and many other relatives.

The funeral was held at Johnston's Funeral Chapel, Sherbrooke, on May 19, the service being conducted by Dr. C. M. Currie, of Sangster Memorial United Church, Sherbrooke, assisted by Pastor Donald Williams, of the Seventh Day Adventist Church in South Stukely. Sacred music was played.

The bearers were Kenneth Dean, Reginald Conner, Roger LeBaron, all of North Hatley, Frank Knutson, of Waterville, Gordon Cascadden and Donald Cathcart, of Lennoxville.

In addition to the floral tributes, contributions were made to the Sangster Memorial United Church Women's Memorial Fund.

Interment was in the North Hatley Cemetery. Relatives from a distance present from Oshawa, Ont., Montreal, Littleton, N.H., Cowansville, Bury, Asbestos, East Angus and Cookshire.

HISTORIC COUNCIL

England's first national church council was convened by the archbishop of Canterbury in the seventh century at Hertford.

DR. J. A. MARCOUX, OF THETFORD MINES

THETFORD MINES — Dr. J. A. Marcoux, a highly respected resident and a doctor of 55 years standing, died on Sunday, June 10 at St. Joseph's Hospital, after a long illness. He was in his 81st year.

A native of St. Ferdinand d'Hallifax, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Marcoux, he was the eldest in a family of 14, six of whom are living. Graduating from Laval University in 1907, he came with his bride, the former Rachel Dion, of Quebec, to Thetford to establish a medical practice.

A quiet man who enjoyed his home and family he had, with the exception of the last few months of his illness, spent the intervening years serving the community in his capacity as doctor. In his younger days he had been keenly interested in municipal affairs and served as mayor from 1939 to 1941.

Left to mourn are his wife, a son, Paul, a doctor at St. Jerome; two daughters, Jeanne, Mrs. Marcel Lemieux, of Quebec, and Madeleine, of Montreal; six grandchildren; three sisters, Rev. Ste. Jeanne de Valois, of Quebec, Mrs. Maurice Cormier (Albertine), of Sherbrooke, and Mrs. Joseph Couture, Irene, of Quebec and three brothers, Emile, of Thetford, Jean Paul, of Three Rivers, and Dr. Jean, of Sherbrooke.

The funeral service was held Wednesday, June 13, at 11 a.m. at St. Alphonse Church, Thetford Mines.

MRS. JOHN FLETCHER, OF DITCHFIELD

LAKE MEGANTIC — The sudden death of one of this district's oldest citizens, Mrs. John Fletcher, occurred on June 10, 1962, after a brief illness.

Mrs. Fletcher, the former Louisa Dew, was born in Dundas, Ont., in 1874, daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. William Dew. She moved to her farm home in Ditchfield shortly after her marriage in 1893 and lived there until her death.

Mrs. Fletcher was predeceased by her husband in 1923 and by her eldest son Charles in 1950.

Left to mourn are two daughters, Mrs. S. G. Veary, of Ditchfield, and Mrs. G. Sinotte, of Waterbury, Conn.; three sons, John and Ernest, of Goffstown, N.H., and Nelson, of Ditchfield; also 14 grandchildren, 19 great-grandchildren and other relatives.

Her long life was devoted entirely to her family and the community, the Church, the Guild and the W.A., of which she was in charge for many years.

Marriages Allan - Guy

KINNEAR'S MILLS — The marriage of Phyllis Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Guy, of Kinnear's Mills to William Keith, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Allan, of Lemesurier took place on May 11, 1962, in the Candlish United Church, Kinnear's Mills. Rev. Eldon R. Hay officiating. Mrs. Lewis Eager was the organist. Vases of cut flowers and potted plants were used to decorate the church and the pews were marked with white satin bows. The bride who was given in marriage by her father wore a gown of white nylon lace and net, with a bouffant skirt, and a nylon net underskirt, the bodice being trimmed with simulated pearls, scalloped neckline and long sleeves. She wore a shoulder length veil of tulle illusion and carried a bouquet of American beauty red roses and white spray.

Mr. Ernest Allan, brother of the groom, acted as best man and the ushers were Mr. Hugh L. Wallace, cousin of the bride and Mr. Eric McCrea, brother-in-law of the groom. The bride's mother wore a seal brown crepe dress, white accessories and a corsage of red carnations.

The groom's mother wore a dress of nylon net over white and brown flowered silk, with beige accessories and a corsage of red carnations.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at Pontbriand, the bride's table being arranged with a white damask linen cloth, centred with a three-tier wedding cake, with white and blue decorations.

Later the couple left for a trip to the New England States. Out of town guests were from Hamilton, Ont., Montreal, Sherbrooke, Lennoxville, North Hatley, East Angus, Quebec City, St. Johnsbury, and Lyndonville, Vt., and Stanstead.

The couple are residing at 7 Depot Street, Apt. 2, Lennoxville.

MR. and MRS. WILLIAM KEITH ALLAN, photographed following their marriage which took place recently in Candlish United Church, Kinnear's Mills. Rev. Eldon Hay officiating. Mrs. Allan was the former Miss Phyllis Elizabeth Guy, second daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Guy and Mr. Allan is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Allan.

Boyce - Davis

BISHOPTON — The marriage of Sheila Joan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Davis, of Bishopton, and James Theodore, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Kenneth Boyce, of Williamsburg, New Brunswick, took place on May 26 at the Church of the Good Shepherd, Bishopton. Rev. Thomas Hardy officiated at the double ring ceremony.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. The matron of honor was the bride's sister, Mrs. Hartwell, of Eustace and the bridesmaids were Miss Patricia Outram and Miss Simone Bruneau of Montreal.

The reception was held at the Rolling Hills Motel, Lennoxville.

Later the couple left for a trip to New Brunswick and the U.S.A.

Mr. and Mrs. Boyce will reside in Montreal.

A lift that lasts

The heel lift on a woman's shoe is one of the little things that count. If it is worn out, she is considered badly groomed. A lift's unneeded loss during the day can ruin a good pair of shoes and a lift that's too hard can damage expensive floor coverings.

The power of women wearing stiletto heels is surprising—a pressure, in the case of a 112-pound woman, which is the equivalent of 3,000 to 4,000 pounds per square inch! It is no wonder that shoe manufacturers are constantly on the look-out for long-lasting lifts.

A new material now being used for heel lifts, an unusually tough synthetic rubber has proved successful. For instance, the "feathering" problem—the spreading which causes lifts to snag and ruin stockings or to become caught, loosened and lost in deep pile carpeting—has now been eliminated.

The cushioning action of these lifts serves as a comfort feature, too, since lifts act as shock absorbers on hard concrete or stone surfaces. A further advantage in this noisy world is a reduction in the clatter produced by metal lifts striking city sidewalks or hard-surfaced corridors.

Weight Warning

Here's a warning for the teen-ager who wants to gain weight. Don't go overboard with sodas, pastries and chocolate. You may gain the additional pounds, but you'll ruin your complexion in the process.

Airy draperies a breeze to make

Because modern homes are being built with larger windows, more and more attention is being focused on curtains and drapes. They're admired from both within and without. To complement the light, airy look that rooms have taken on, window coverings should be filmy enough to let as much light as possible in while still cutting down the glare. In addition, they need to be pleasing in appearance and this includes texture, design and color.

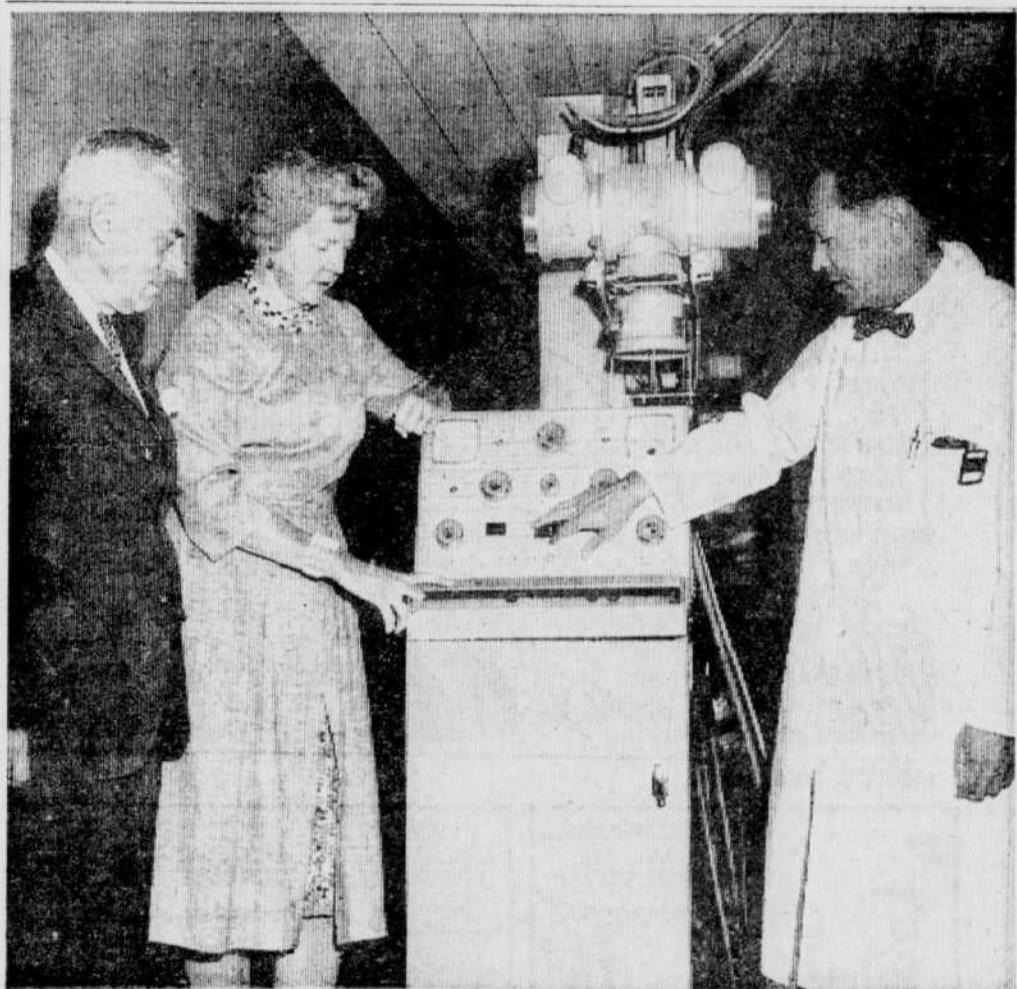

If the curtains and drapes you now have don't quite fill this bill, why not consider making new ones? You don't have to be a crack sewer to make them. All you need is the desire to beautify your window, a few simple instructions and the ability to run a straight seam. Many home sewers — even experienced ones — are timid about tackling a job like drapes. But that's because they don't realize how easy it is with some of the new fabrics like "Terylene."

For one thing, "Terylene" fabrics have enough "body" to be used alone, without the added complication of a lining. This fact not only simplifies the making up, it is also a saving. In addition, once the panels have been measured to the proper length, no further allowance needs to be made for shrinkage or stretching, for the fabric is stable and curtains will remain the same length, washing after washing. This again is a saving. But perhaps the greatest saving is the time and labor avoided due to the fact that the selvedge — which won't shrink or stretch either — can be left on. So you can either turn it in as a tiny hem, or leave it "as is," with no fear of rippling.

When it comes to sewing, smooth and lasting seams are assured if "Terylene" sewing thread is used, since it is strong and stable. And as an added precaution against puckered seams, try lowering the tension of the machine and using a slightly longer stitch.

Engagements

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Green of Coaticook, wish to announce the engagement of her daughter Marjorie Bailey to Mr. Richard Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Green, Lennoxville. The wedding will take place July 23, 1962 at two o'clock, in St. Stephen's Anglican Church, Coaticook.

Brush Brows

Never apply eyebrow pencil until your brows are completely free of other make-up. Since you will have used foundation and powder first, the only way to be sure your brows are ready for pencil is to brush them two or three times with an eyebrow brush.

Variation on a theme

Hamburgers are popular fare in most homes the year round. But they come into their own during the warmer months of the year when backyard barbecues provide both food and fun for the entire family, as well as friends who stray in at the right time.

However, the very popularity of this "all American" food can lead to a certain monotony—a situation that inspired one food enthusiast, to comment, when asked whether he preferred ketchup or relish with his hamburger, "I prefer mine served with a dash of imagination."

To answer the challenge, we have come up with a recipe for Open-Face Hamburgers that are as delicious as they are different. Split hamburger buns are spread with a savory ground beef mixture flavored with chopped onion, barbecue sauce and horseradish, as well as the traditional seasonings. The buns stay moist and the beef remains juicy right through the broiling.

Count on requests for seconds when serving them with a salad for lunch or with colorful vegetables for dinner.

OPEN-FACE HAMBURGER

(Yield—4 servings)
1 pound minced lean beef
1/2 teaspoon salt, 1/2 teaspoon pepper, 1/2 teaspoon monosodium glutamate, optional, 1 tablespoon finely-chopped onion, 1 tablespoon thick condiment or barbecue sauce, 1 teaspoon prepared horseradish, 4 hamburger buns, soft butter or margarine, Dill pickle slices.

Preheat broiler. Turn minced beef into a bowl and break up well with a fork. Sprinkle with salt, pepper, monosodium glutamate, if being used, chopped onion, thick condiment or barbecue sauce and horseradish; mix until thoroughly combined.

Split the hamburger buns and arrange them, cut sides down, on broiler rack; toast lightly. Spread cut surfaces of buns with soft butter or margarine and then cover the entire cut surfaces with the beef mixture. Broil until meat is cooked to desired doneness—about 3 minutes for rare. Garnish each open-faced sandwich with 2 or 3 slices of dill pickle. Serve at once.

ASK THE DESIGNER

by gaile dugas

Dear Gaile: I expect to have my eyeglasses changed soon and would like your opinion about frames. My present ones are a medium blue, which matches my eyes, and I also wear this color frequently. But there are other colors which do not look well with the blue frames. I wonder what would be the best color and type of frames which could be worn with any color. I am 65 years old and wear my hair short. I am short (5-foot-2) and weigh 116 pounds. My face is a round shape. Thank you for your help — Mrs. H.M.D.

Dear Mrs. H.M.D.: You've come to the right place for help. I've worn glasses for years and have had frames in London gray, plaid, garnet, ice blue, white, gold, tortoise and mauve. First, I think I'd dismiss the idea of finding one color that will go with everything. This just isn't possible. But a color that will blend well with your own facial coloring and intensify the blue of your eyes is possible.

I would choose mauve (lavender) if I were you. You'll find that this is a soft, misty color that doesn't clash with other colors. Use a very soft mauve or lavender eye shadow. You'll find it flattering to your blue eyes. And it will deepen the color of the frame. The mauve color in eyeglass frames is high fashion so if your optometrist does not have it, ask him to order it for you. It is made by several New York firms.

Dear Gaile: I am a seamstress, specializing in formal and theatrical dance costumes. I would like to know where I can get an idea of advance fashions. Where can I obtain fur (mink) by the skin? Where can I obtain, by the yard, material for the black sheath dress worn in the movie "Back Street"? Is there a place where glitter, sequins, beads and rhinestones can be purchased? — G.H.

Dear G.H.: I'll take your questions in order. The very best place to get an idea of what's new in fashion is the newspaper to which you sent this letter. Watch its pages regularly. For information on mink skins, I suggest that you write: Jack Axelrod Inc., 315 Seventh Avenue, New York.

For information about the black sheath dress worn in "Back Street," write the Universal Studios, Hollywood Calif. And for glitter, etc., by the yard, write to: Broadway Lace and Trimming Corp., 264 West 40th Street, New York, N.Y.

Scuff-proof furniture a mother's delight

At one time the living room of many Canadian homes was used for anything but "living." It was a show place where you entertained guests or sat quietly reading the paper or watching television. It was no place for boisterous children or romping household pets... and for a simple reason. The upholstery on sofas and chairs was too expensive and difficult to keep clean.

When vinyl fabrics were introduced after World War II, they were readily accepted as upholstery materials by furniture manufacturers; that is, furniture for the office, for restaurants, hotels and institutions. They were hard wearing, easy to wipe clean and came in a great variety of attractive embossings and colors. Many homeowners bought vinyl-covered furniture for their dens and playrooms, but somehow it just missed having the luxurious appearance and "feel" usually associated with living room suites. Thus the introduction of "breathable" vinyl fabrics such as "Vynair" by the "Fabrikoid" division of Canadian Industries Limited was heralded as a godsend, especially by harassed mothers of small, active children with no rumpled room for them to play in.

By means of a special process, vinyl is bonded to a cotton backing in such a way that the finished fabric is allowed to breathe, making it cool and comfortable to sit on, but still washable. Then, to add eye-appeal to function, traditional, contemporary and ultra modern patterns have been embossed on "Vynair" to give it texture in a wide range of decorator colors.

Today, when there is so much emphasis on easy care - both in the clothes we wear and the homes we live in - it is only natural that we should look for it in home furnishings too. "Breathable" vinyl fabrics may well be the answer to getting more "living" out of your living room.

PARTNER HELD RIGHT CARDS

Here is another tough slam to bid. When Barry Crane of Los Angeles and Bud Smith of Detroit held it in the Midwest Regionals in Youngstown, Ohio, they reached seven spades.

The opening spade, the two heart response and the raise to three hearts were made all around the room. Some North players merely jumped to four spades at this point. Others made Bud's bid of four diamonds.

When four diamonds was bid, most South players merely went to four hearts, whereupon North would bid four spades and once more there would be no slam at all. But Barry made the brilliant bid of five hearts. He had only 11 high card points, but he had ace-king, ace and a singleton, and if his partner were interested in a slam, so was Barry.

The five heart bid also told Bud that Barry was worried about the club suit.

Bud wasn't worried about clubs and after thinking things over carefully he came to the conclusion that Barry must hold the right cards for a grand slam. Then Bud went all the way to seven spades. Why did Bud go to seven spades and not to seven hearts? Either contract was lay down, but if Barry held two diamonds and two clubs the hand would still make seven spades, but it would not make seven hearts.

CARD SENSE
Q—The bidding has been:
South West North East
1 Spade 2 Dms. Dble. Pass
Double 2 Dms. Dble. Pass
Pass 2 Hearts Pass Pass
2 Spades Pass 3 Dms Pass

You, South, hold:
Spades K-J-10-6-5, Hearts A-2, Diamonds 6-4, Clubs K-Q-10-4.

What do you do?
A—Bid three hearts. You don't know whether your partner is trying for a slam or merely showing a diamond suit. In either case this bid will be the proper continuation with your hand.

TODAY'S QUESTION
Your partner continues with a jump to four spades. What do you do now?

STANBRIDGE EAST

Mrs. Leslie Lackey, Brown leader, entertained her group at a marshmallow roast at her home on June 1. All 14 members were present, as well as a few neighbour visitors.

Following the roast treats were passed out, after which the children played games and on the swings and slide.

No more meetings will be held until the opening of school in September.

STANBRIDGE EAST — The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Hebert was baptized at the morning service, in the Jeanne d'Arc Catholic Church on June 3, Father G. A. Houle officiating. The baby received the names, Brenda Lee, and the sponsors were Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Tremblay.

Mrs. Irene Cook, of Bedford, arrived on the weekend of June 2nd to be a guest of her brother and sister, Mr. Frank Ewing and Miss E. Ewing.

Granby Scouts retlize $344 from bulb sale

GRANBY — The Granby Boy Scout Association held a successful electric light bulb door to door sale. There were ten automobiles out with three Scouts and Cubs in each car. The number of bulbs sold was in excess of 1,350 with a total sales value of $344.

Another sale is planned for the fall, with fuller coverage of the City by many more Scouts and Cubs.

The bulb sale was under the leadership of Wilton Dressler, the money raised to go into improvements at the Scout Hall.

Most house plants flourish outdoors

By MARGARET E. DOVE

While most house plants respond to summering in the open garden there are a few such as African violets and Rex begonias that, because of their hairy foliage and fragile nature, are better off spending the summer on a protected window sill or porch.

Sometimes one does not wish to carry over old house plants for use in-door next winter. When this is the case take the plants from their pots and plant them directly in the garden.

Cuttings of fast growing plants such as geraniums, coleus, shrimp plant, impatiens, tradescantia and begonia semperflorens may be taken from these old plants any time now and new plants started for the winter window garden.

POINSETTIAS

If you have kept the Christmas poinsettia, report now with enriched soil, cut the stems back to about 4-inch stubs and follow same procedure as for any house plant.

Several shoots should develop from each stub and by late August a small healthy plant will be ready for the house.

All house plants should be lifted and taken indoors before the nights become cool. They will then have time to adjust to indoor conditions before the furnace is turned on.

Pinching and dis-budding can do a great deal for your flower garden. Pinching means nipping out with the thumb and forefingers the new growth at the top of a stem or branch. This forces the plant into bushier growth.

The michaelmas daisy (fall aster) responds to pinching now and at intervals during the next few weeks. Bushier plants will result with more flowers and the lower growth is better able to withstand heavy rain and winds.

Asters, snapdragon, stock, petunia, marigold, candytuft, pansies, salvia and zinnias are among the annuals which benefit by pinching.

Do-it-yourself

About basic types of nails

BY MR. FIX

Screws may be stronger and glue neater, but nails provide a faster and cheaper method of fastening pieces of wood together.

At the beginning, an assortment of nails—many dealers carry packaged mixtures—will be all you need for minor repair jobs.

But if you plan to tackle anything major, you will need special nails. There are hundreds of types of nails but perhaps less than a dozen that you are likely to encounter.

Four Types

For most needs, one or more of four types will do—common, box, casing and finishing nails.

Common and box nails both have flat heads but common nails are thicker.

Casing and finishing nails have very small heads which can be pounded into wood so that they won't show. Casing nails are about the thickness of box nails, finishing nails are thinnest of all.

A designation that may confuse you is the term "penny" in relation to size of nails—such as 4-penny or 10-penny nails. And when the description is written out it may be even more confusing since the letter "d" is This "d" is the English sign for penny.

KNOW FOUR BASIC TYPES

Smallest nail under the penny system is 2d which is one-inch long. Nails shorter than that are called brads or tacks and are measured in fractions of an inch. Nails longer than six inches are called spikes.

Handy List

Length increase 1/4-inch with each penny increase from 2 to 10. Beyond that point, penny designation increases faster in length. The following listing will serve as an aid when buying nails.

2d—1-inch; 3d—1 1/4-inch; 4d—1 1/2-inch; 5d—1 3/4-inch; 6d—2-inch; 7d—2 1/4-inch; 8d—2 1/2-inch; 9d—2 3/4-inch; 10d—3-inch; 12d—3 1/4-inch; 16d—3 1/2-inch; 20d—4-inch; 30d—4 1/2-inch; 40d—5-inch; 50d—5 1/2-inch; 60d—6-inch.

Use Long One

Use the longest nail that will not go all the way through and stick out the other side. If you are nailing a thick board and a thin one together, use a nail three times the thickness of the thinner board.

In general, the larger nail is the strongest. Use the largest nail you can without splitting the wood. Where appearance rather than strength is important, use finishing nails and drive the head below the surface with a nail set.

DRILL PILOT

When driving a nail in hard wood there is danger of splitting the wood. Drill a pilot hole first, slightly smaller than the diameter of the nail and about a third of its length.

Where extreme holding power is needed ask your dealer about some of the special purpose nails that have ridges or spirals along their shanks for greater holding power. If you use these remember that they have a greater tendency to split wood.

Venting dryer will keep moisture out of the air

Venting a clothes dryer is a very important part of its installation. Lack of venting will cause heat and moisture to be discharged into the air.

The amount of moisture might be enough to cause paint to peel, to cause wallpaper to become loose and to create mildew and rust.

Not venting is like tossing a bucket of water on the floor every time you use the dryer.

To Outside

Venting must be done to the outside. And it must be done by the shortest possible route with the least number of turns.

The job is done with either rigid or flexible ducts. You can use three or four-inch smoke pipe or flexible ducting made especially for the purpose.

Installation has been made simple by the marketing of special kits that contain all the necessary pipe, hood and other parts.

Right in Back

The duct is installed right on the back of the dryer. An opening is there with a ridge around it over which the duct fits.

Pipe is simply fitted over the opening. Flexible ducting is held in place with large clamps. The vent hood is for the other end, outside the house. The hood contains an automatic damper—a swinging metal plate—that opens when the dryer is in use, but remains closed the rest of the time keeping out cold air and insects.

Through Wall

If you go through the wall, measure the opening you are to make carefully. Drill a hole and use this as a starting point for a keyhole saw. After the vent hood is inserted from outside, cut around it.

If you go through a foundation wall—as you would in the basement—use a masonry bit and an electric drill or a hammer and star drill. Use a cold chisel and hammer to clear away the concrete. Fill in around duct with concrete.

Through Window

But the simplest installation of all is through a basement window. Simply remove one pane of glass completely and replace with a special aluminum insert that is available for this purpose.

The metal plate comes with a hole cut in the center to take the duct and hood.

Fasten the metal plate with glazier's points and putty, the same as the original glass was installed.

Wood Plate

Lacking the metal plate, use a sheet of 1/2-inch exterior grade plywood. Measure to size and cut to fit. Cut a hole in the middle the size of the duct you are using.

Secure this to the window frame with quarter round molding. Wrap insulation around the duct where it passes through the plywood.

In the case of window installations, secure the window so that it does not fall down or is opened by anyone accidentally. (TNS)

The Record's Farm Report

Wheat Export Pattern Shifts

Considerable change in the pattern of Canadian wheat exports are apparent this year. For the first nine months of the current crop year (August '61 to April '62) Canada exported 55 million bushels to Britain (58 million a year ago), 49 million (six million) to communist China, 36 million (41 million) to Japan and 35 million (24 million) to West Germany. In addition substantial shipments, eight million bushels, were made to East Germany and to Poland, 12 million bushels. New markets in the Middle East, Africa, Central and South American also accounted for increases, so that total exports of all wheat exceeded the same period last year by 34 million bushels.

Chip & Instant Potatoes Turn Consumption Up

Consumer demand for processed potato products is changing the outlook for potato growers. Last year about 16 per cent of the Canadian crop was processed into chips and various types of instant potatoes. One Ontario plant accounted for most of the instant potatoes produced in Canada. About four million pounds of this product were imported from the U.S., the equivalent of 600,000 bushels of potatoes.

This year new facilities for processing potatoes are expected to be in operation in Alberta, Manitoba, New Brunswick and Quebec and the variety of products will be increased. The increasing demand for foods which can be quickly prepared, coupled with the traditional place of potatoes in the Canadian diet are encouraging greater per capita consumption.

Baby baptized at Fitch Bay

FITCH BAY — The infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Thayer was christened at the United Church morning service on June 3. Rev. Ralph Rogers officiated and bestowed the names, Janice Lynne, Godparents are Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Statton, of Auburn, Mass., cousins of Mrs. Thayer.

Following the service Mr. and Mrs. Thayer entertained at a family dinner, which included a christening cake made by the baby's grandmother, Mrs. Cecil Whitman. The cake was decorated in white with doves and silver leaves and multicolored sprinkles. Mrs. Thayer also cut the top layer of their wedding cake.

Guests included Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Whitman, Rock Island, Mr. and Mrs. Statton, Auburn, Mass., Mr. and Mrs. Ferdie Meyer, Paramus, N.J., grandfather, Mr. Clarence Thayer, and uncles, Donnie and Rolfe Thayer, and Mr. Ira Thayer, all of Fitch Bay.

industry takes up to 43 per cent of the edible potatoes produced. Concern is now being expressed about the adequacy of the supply of potatoes suitable for chipping and it is expected that U.S. acreages will have to be expanded to meet the demand.

Soya Growers Ask 37c Increase

A request that the agricultural stabilization Board raise the support price of soya beans 37 cents to $2.50 per bushel, has been made by the Ontario soya bean growers marketing Board. The Board believes this would encourage sufficient increase in acreage to obviate the need of imports under an unfavorable exchange rate. In addition, the rising costs of production are reducing returns to soya bean growers and although the consumption of soya bean meal and oils is rising, Canadian production has been falling.

Apiaries Down, Honey Output Up

Honey production is following the trend to fewer and larger units and greater production. In 1961 the number of beekeepers declined by over 7.1 per cent, the number of colonies increased by three per cent and total production increased from 32 million pounds in 1960 to 35 million.

BIG CATS

The South American ocelot, somewhat similar to a house cat, may reach a length of four feet.

June compared to 118,000 for the same week a year ago, but prices continued strong. In Toronto, Grade A's sold for $31 to $32. Part of this price climb is due to packer competition to maintain hog slaughterings. So the flow of U.S. pork (mostly hams) into Canada for the past few weeks has increased. But U.S. hog supplies have diminished and prospects are good for stronger prices there before midsummer. This will bring U.S. and Canadian prices nearer to comparable levels and advantages of importing U.S. pork will diminish.

BETTER FARMING DAY

Better Farming Day which will be held at Macdonald College on June 26 will be an opportunity for vegetable growers and home gardeners to look over some of the new varieties of vegetables which have been introduced recently.

For example, some 50 varieties of tomatoes, and as many cresses, are grown for observation in order to select varieties which are better adapted to our conditions, looking particularly for earliness, disease resistance, yield and quality. Other vegetables and fruits are grown for the same purpose.

Plan a visit to Macdonald College with your family on June 26.

Zoo at Granby acquires elephant

GRANBY — A reception was held in Montreal by a Granby delegation, headed by Mayor Horace Boivin on June 2nd, for a new addition to the zoo, namely, a baby elephant, from Thailand. It was flown from London, England, via BOAC to Montreal, where it was met by Gilles Charbonneau, director of Granby Zoo.

The elephant weighs 800 pounds and comes to be company for the young elephant, Ambika now living in the Zoo. Ambika has been a very gentle animal since making her home here but of late has been showing signs of loneliness and it was decided to purchase the baby to be company for her.

The newcomer will be the only baby elephant of her species in any zoo in Canada. She was inspected by Dr. L. A. Labelle, veterinarian, who permitted her to be on her way to Granby via truck.

MARBLETON —

The flowers on the altar in St. Paul's Church on Father's Day were in memory of Mr. Ernest Munkittrick given by his daughters, Rena (Mrs. A. Halsall) and Betty Lou (Mrs. A. Smith).

Mrs. Mae Foster, of Portland, Me., is a guest at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Weyland. Friends of John Pudden will be pleased to know he has returned home from the Sherbrooke Hospital, where he underwent a tonsillectomy.

Sask. Moves To Extend Crop Insurance

Saskatchewan has signed a continuing agreement with Ottawa under the crop insurance Act, Agriculture minister Hamilton announced two weeks ago. This year insurance will be extended to 1,350 farmers. Total coverage will be $2.4 million for which farmers will pay an average of 7.5 per cent in premiums. A test plan including 194 farmers was tried last year, under which $130,000 was paid out. The 1961 scheme cost farmers $26,000 and the provincial government $6,500 in premiums.

Errors prove costly to Red Sox who drop 9-8 verdict to Tigers in LL, one game on tap tonight

Four costly errors which gave the Tigers three unearned runs was the big factor in the Red Sox 9-8 defeat last night at the Parade Grounds. Tigers could say they were fortunate in winning this one though you can't blame them for taking advantage of the breaks. The game was a tough one all the way with the issue always in doubt.

Tonight the Yankees meet the White Sox at the Parade Grounds and tomorrow morning Red Sox and White Sox meet at the Parade Grounds game time 10:30 a.m.

An error, a base on ball and a single by Jacques Guay sent the Tigers away to a one-run lead in the top half of the opening inning. Red Sox got this back in their half of the same inning with Mike Cotterell and Jean Paul Grondin hitting singles.

Daniel Gagnon started the Tigers off in the second inning with a single. This along with two free passes and another Red Sox error was good for two tallies. Red Sox duplicated the Tigers' feat by helping themselves to two runs in the second with Cotterell, Jimmy McLeod and Richard Blais getting hits.

Francois Salois and Mike Laurendeau got singles for the Tigers in the third but Bernier kept them off the score sheet with a strikeout and two in-field put outs. Red Sox went hitless in the third. Laurendeau and Salois, each coming up with their second hits in a row in the fourth inning increased the Tiger lead by sending home three runs. A single by Mike Cotterell was all for the Red Sox in the fourth. Tigers pulled off a smart double play which made it 6-3 for Tigers at the end of four innings. A triple by Jacques Guay and a single by Gilles Bernard was good for three more runs to put the Tigers further ahead in the fifth.

In the last of the inning the Red Sox made a desperate bid to get on even terms and came up with five hits in a row that produced five runs but the rally fell short by one run to tie the score. Tigers went down in the top of the sixth.

Red Sox with Don Schofield getting a hit tried again to get even but Guay with the help of two outfield put outs and a strikeout retired the Sox before any more scoring was done with Tigers on the long end of a 9-8 score.

In a game that saw plenty of action Guay, Laurendeau and Bernard stood out for Tigers. Mike Cotterell and Jimmy McLeod along with Blais stood out for the losers. Webb, Thompson and Gorham were the umpires.

The local racing season will open around July 15th, announced President Roger Trudeau last night at a special meeting of officials held at the Chateau Hotel.

President Trudeau stated that the stand may not be finished by then but it is expected that the pari-mutuel section will be ready for operation. The official opening will be held Sunday, July 22nd.

President Trudeau released names of the officials who will supervise racing at the local track. Andre Olney is back again as racing secretary with Roger Roberge returning as presiding judge. Frank Morehouse and Len O'Donnell will be associated judges while Marcel Vailancourt, Paul Bureau and Guy Gaud will act as patrol judges.

Louis St. Cyr will return as clerk of the course while Armand Lessard will act again as program director with Alexis Loranger as starter and Robert Caron as paddock judge. Egene Trudeau will be track superintendent replacing Pete Seminaro, who has left the job. Secretary Olney stated that around 80 horses were at the track undergoing training. It is expected that several stables who left for Three Rivers and Quebec will return once the local oval starts operation.

Millar's suspension, effective until July 15, is for "allowing medication to be administered to his horse Chopita" before a race at the track June 6.

Bill Millar is suspended by Blue Bonnets

MONTREAL (CP) — The Mount Royal Jockey Club, operators of Blue Bonnets Raceway, Thursday night suspended owner-trainer William R. Millar for the balance of the track's current 40-day thoroughbred meeting.

Millar's suspension, effective until July 15, is for "allowing medication to be administered to his horse Chopita" before a race at the track June 6.

Lennoxville curlers to hold meeting

A special general meeting of the Lennoxville Curling Club will be held at the clubhouse, Tuesday, June 26, 1962, at 8:15 p.m.

This meeting is called for the purpose of presenting to the members the estimates obtained for the cost of replacing the ice making equipment. The recommendation of the executive as to what action should be taken is based on the information prepared by the special committee named at the annual meeting in April.

In order to have ice machinery ready for use in October, contracts will have to be placed shortly. A decision will have to be reached at this meeting on which of several schemes should be used.

The executive wants all the members to have full information concerning this essential renovation program and are asked to make a special effort to be present Tuesday, the 26th at 8:15 p.m.

Bessette pitches four-hitter in first appearance as an Alouette, Monette, St-Vincent hit homers

Andre Bessette pitched a three-hitter and Jacques Monette and Claude St-Vincent each hit home-runs to pace the Sherbrooke Alouettes to 9-3 victory over the Coaticook Canadians last night.

The game, played in Coaticook, marked the fifth win in six games for the Larks over the Canadians. The victory moved the Als a half game from the second position.

Meanwhile the Drummondville Royals rallied and hung onto their second place standing in defeating the St. John Pirates 2-1.

Next game will be played tomorrow night in Granby when the Alouettes clash with the Knights.

Andre Bessette showed up well in his first game with the Alouettes. He limited the Canadians to four scattered hits, retired 11 batters at the plate and delivered seven bases on balls.

A new lefthanded pitcher, Steinhour, started on the mound for Coaticook. He lasted seven innings, giving up five hits and five runs. Little relieved him but the Larks pounced on him immediately and George Vardorian finished the game.

The Alouettes who were limited to seven hits when they played the Canadians Tuesday night, made up for it last night. Jacques Monette hit his ninth homer of the season in the ninth inning and Claude St-Vincent got his second in the sixth. Both home-runs came with the bases empty.

Other hits: Connie Mandala hit a triple and a single, Frank Kurty, a triple, Gilles Robichaud, two singles, and Normand Jacques, Chet Wodjle and Andre Bessette each picked up singles.

ST. JOHNS — The Drummondville Royals moved into a tie for second place here last night in defeating the St. John Pirates 2-1.

The game, a pitcher's duel between Marcel Guilbault and Ralph Shield, marked the fourth consecutive win for the Royals.

Guilbault, the winner allowed but four hits and struck out 13 men whereas Shield, tagged with the loss, allowed seven hits and struck out 10 men.

Drummondville put it away in the first inning with two runs on four hits. The only St. John run was unearned and it came in the fifth inning.

The two teams sparked in defensive baseball and the game was the closest yet seen this year.

Windsor's not so old, Old-Timers defeat Cardinals 11-8, veterans get 14 hits, 3 of them home-runs WINDSOR—(Staff)—Once a ball player, always a ball player. Windsor's not so old old-timers hit home-runs in the third, fifth, and seventh innings here last night and did what they weren't supposed to do... they beat the Windsor Cardinals 11-8.

The old-timer victory marked the first time in five years that they have won the annual event.

Roger Lompre, who since his playing days has been promoted to fire chief, hit a three run shot in the third inning. Philippe Cloutier followed with a solo in the fifth and Claude Couture topped it all off with a two on two out homer in the seventh.

Andre Couture started on the mound for the Cardinals but the veterans chased him in the third. Mike Raymond then took over and lasted two innings before George Guilbault, Jr., was called in to finish the game.

The old-timers got 14 hits and the Cardinals 12 but the veterans got them when they needed them. Five juniors were picked off the bases by Zoo Frenette and his weird pick-off motion.

For the old-timers Couture, catcher, Frenette, pitcher, M.

Lennoxville curlers to hold meeting

A special general meeting of the Lennoxville Curling Club will be held at the clubhouse, Tuesday, June 26, 1962, at 8:15 p.m.

This meeting is called for the purpose of presenting to the members the estimates obtained for the cost of replacing the ice making equipment. The recommendation of the executive as to what action should be taken is based on the information prepared by the special committee named at the annual meeting in April.

In order to have ice machinery ready for use in October, contracts will have to be placed shortly. A decision will have to be reached at this meeting on which of several schemes should be used.

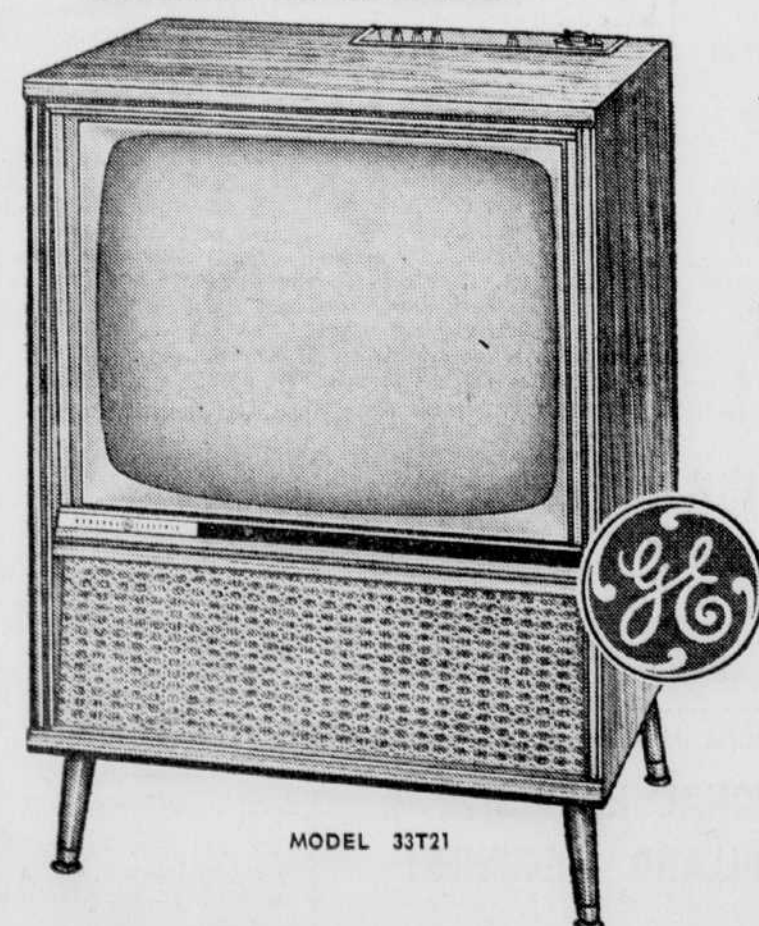

The executive wants all the members to have full information concerning this essential renovation program and are asked to make a special effort to be present Tuesday, the 26th at 8:15 p.m.

Whitey Ford ends losing streak for Yanks, blanks Orioles 3-0

31 --- Sand Shots

While the explosion shot is spectacular and gives a feeling of tremendous satisfaction when executed properly, it isn't the only way out of a sand trap.

It is so difficult that even the best professionals will employ it only when nothing else will do.

The reason the explosion is difficult for the average player is that the club must strike the sand behind the ball, which seems unnatural. Hitting just far enough behind the ball to take the proper amount of sand for the explosion is quite a problem.

A variation of the regular chip shot is most useful in getting out of traps when the bank of the trap is low enough and the distance is right. The BOB ROSBURG explodes.

YESTERDAY'S STARS

Batting: Carroll Hardy, Red Sox, hit a two-run homer for all the scoring Boston needed in a 3-1 conquest of the American League - leading Cleveland Indians.

Pitching: Whitey Ford, Yankees, shut out Baltimore Orioles on three hits before retiring after 8 2-3 innings, ending a five-game New York losing string.

NEXT: Close chips.

Comes up with three-hitter, Mantle starts tonight, Angels move into second, Phillies blank Cubs 3-0

If the American League has the shakes today, there are two good reasons for it.

One is Whitey Ford. The other is Mickey Mantle. The New York Yankee room-mates may hold the key to the league's pennant race. They've been on the injured list—Ford with an ailing arm, Mantle with an injured leg—and the perennial champion Yankees went into a tailspin to fourth place.

But Ford, a lefty who compiled a spectacular 25-4 record last season, threw a three-hit, 3-0 shutout of Baltimore Orioles Thursday.

And now the rest of the league is watching Mantle, the switch-hitting super-star who had 54 home runs, 128 runs batted in and a .317 average and helped Roger Maris to a record 61 homers last season. Mickey's going to make the best test of his ailing legs in Detroit tonight.

If he's sound, the Ford-Mantle combo would launch another Yankee drive to the top.

ENDS LOSING STREAK
Ford's effort over Baltimore marked his first victory since May 9, ended a five-game Yankee losing string and pulled the Yanks within three games of the top when the leading Cleveland Indians lost to Boston Red Sox 3-1.

Los Angeles Angels scrambled into second place, four percentage points ahead of Minnesota Twins, on the strength of a 3-1 triumph over Kansas City Athletics while Chicago White Sox beat the Twins 5-2. Detroit Tigers came from behind and stopped Washington Senators 6-3.

Art Mahaffey's five-hit shutout brought Philadelphia Phillies a 3-0 victory over Chicago Cubs in the only National League game.

Mantle has made only three pinch-hit appearances since he was injured May 18. The Yankees have won only 15 of 30 without him. There's still doubt that he has recovered.

Ford allowed only three hits and one walk before he developed a blister on his pitching hand and walked two in the ninth. He retired after 8 2-3 innings and Marshall Bridges finished up.

Clete Boyer and Hector Lopez drove in the first two New York runs and Bill Skowron's 10th homer completed the scoring.

WILSON GETS CREDIT
Earl Wilson and Dick Radatz combined for a three-hitter against Cleveland, Wilson (5-2), the Red Sox starter, got credit for the victory, but left after walking three men and allowing the Indians' only run in the sixth. Carroll Hardy's two-run homer was all the scoring Boston needed.

Chicago jammed in four runs in the first inning, then hung on behind the relief pitching of Eddie Fisher (3-3), to beat the Twins. Fisher allowed only two hits in 7 2-3 innings of relief.

A two-run double by Al Smith was the key hit in the White Sox big first inning.

Bo Belinsky, a lefty of no-hit fame, pitched Los Angeles into percentage control of second with a seven-hitter. He had to survive early inning wildness, stranding 10 runners in the first five innings, to record his first victory in a month and the Angels' fifth straight. He got help from Billy Moran's run-scoring triple and Felix Torres' homer.

Purnal Goldy's single in the seventh drove in the run that broke a 3-3 tie and put the Tigers ahead to stay against Washington. The Senators got homers from Chuck Hinton and Harry Bright, with Mike Roarke and Norm Cash hitting homers for the winners.

Mahaffey's shutout snapped a five-game Cub winning string and evened his record at 8-8. Rookie Ted Savage had three of the Phillies' hits, drove in one run and scored another.

Three rich races on agenda for weekend at Belmont, Arlington and Detroit, $135,000 at stake

NEW YORK (AP) — Three-year-old stars, both male and female, will be out in force Saturday with appearances in feature races at five tracks.

The fillies will race for the richest purse in the $100,000-added Coaching Club American Oaks over 1 1/4 miles at Belmont Park. Colts get their chance for big payoffs in the $35,000 - added Leonard Richard Stakes at Delaware Park, the $50,000 - added Warren Handicap at Arlington Park, the $50,000 added Cinema Handicap at Hollywood Park, and the $50,000 - added Michigan Handicap at Detroit.

Cicada, the hard-hitting filly star of C. T. Chenery's Meadow Stables, goes for completion of New York's triple crown series for three-year-old fillies in the Coaching Club Oaks. She previously won the Acorn and Mother Goose and a victory in the Oaks will be worth an extra $25,000.

Arrayed against her probably will be Tamarona, second in the Acorn, and Firm Policy, the runner-up in the Mother Goose. E. P. Taylor's Flaming Goose, who beat colts in the Queen's Plate at Woodbine last Saturday after taking the Canadian Oaks, could furnish a serious problem for the Meadow stable ace.

ON SIDELINES
With Kentucky Derby winner Decidedly and Belmont Stakes winner Jaipur temporarily sidelined, other contenders for the three-year-old colt title get a chance to bolster their claims.

Preakness winner Greek Money from Donald P. Ross' Brandywine stable and the Crimson King Farm's Crimson Satan, disqualified out of first money in the $100,000 Jersey Derby, head the field in the Leonard Richards.

Mrs. Moody Jolley's Ridan, idle since dropping a nose decision to Greek Money in the Preakness after running third in the Kentucky Derby, returns to action in the Warren Wright. He'll be the short-priced favorite.

The Cinema Handicap lists the top three-year-olds campaigning on the West Coast, including L. C. Sternberger's runner-up in the Mother Royal, Doc Jockey, Neil S. McCarthy's Royal Attack and Lou Do-Page, who beat colts in the Queen's Plate at Woodbine last able field of 10 or 12.

Valleyfield Golf Club to be scene of first O'Keefe Amateur tourney, 161 to compete in annual event

The "first Amateur Tournament of the O'Keefe Circuit" will take place during the week-end in the Hull, Chicoutimi and Valleyfield Regions.

Some 161 entries have already been registered at the Valleyfield Golf and Country Club, where Pro Kelly Burnett claims that the 6286-yard course is in perfect shape.

Amateurs here will try to out-do the club's record, 3 under par, 68, actually being held by Ray Plante.

This year, the O'Keefe Brewing Company is putting up a total of $13,000 in money and prizes for the 15 tournaments on the circuit. Pros vie for cash purses and trophies, while amateurs compete for trophies and merchandise awards in each event.

The "Hull Tournament" is being held at the Galtneau Golf Club, on Sunday, June 24; "Chicoutimi Tournament" at the Chicoutimi Golf Club, on June 23-24 and "Valleyfield Tournament" at the Valleyfield Golf and Country Club, on June 23.

Roy Campanella receives new silver plaque

NEW YORK (AP) — Roy Campanella received another citation Thursday.

It came in the form of a beautiful silver-trimmed plaque proclaiming the former star catcher of the Brooklyn Dodgers a member of a newly formed "Two Hundred Club."

The inscription on the plaque, above the signatures of league presidents Joe Cronin and Warren Giles, read in part:

"To Roy Campanella, the 35th major league player to hit 200 or more home runs."

Campy, who hit a total of 242 home runs, cracked his 200th on August 31, 1955, at Busch Stadium, St. Louis.

Roy's last season was 1957. He suffered a broken neck in an automobile accident in January of 1958 and has been paralyzed from the neck down ever since.

E. P. Taylor debates about starting Flaming Page in Oaks at Belmont tomorrow, Cicada is top favorite

In the first flush of victory after last Saturday's Queen's Plate, E. P. Taylor thought it was a "great temptation" to enter Flaming Page in today's Coaching Club American Oaks at Belmont Park. Indeed it was, his listeners agreed.

But Taylor and the sports writers surrounding him in the press box at Toronto's Woodbine Park looked at it differently.

The Toronto business tycoon was wondering if his black filly could stand the gaff of three big races on successive Saturdays. Maybe, he thought, it would be asking too much of a filly who just minutes before had licked the cream of Canada's home-bred three-year-olds.

She had won the $49,000 Canadian Oaks June 9, the richest race in Canada for fillies. She had beaten 11 colts and another filly in the $75,000 Plate and here, just seven days away was the $100,000 Oaks.

Flaming Page had picked up more than $75,000 in purses for Taylor in two weeks. The winner of the Oaks at Belmont gets about $75,000, and that's the angle Taylor's listeners were thinking about. It's chicken feed to Taylor.

STRONG FILLY — The only thing he was concerned about was whether the filly could twice run the Queen's Plate and American Oaks distance of 1¼ miles with in such a short period.

Taylor took the precaution, though, of shipping the filly to New York within 48 hours after the Plate running.

With Flaming Page went Horatio Luro, 61-year-old native of Argentina who has trained the U.S. division of the Taylor stable for the last six years. He is noted as one of the finest trainers in North America for long-distance features.

He took over Flaming Page last fall when Taylor sent the filly to the U.S. And Flaming Page finished a good second to Cicada in the Kentucky Oaks. That was her warmup for the 1¼-mile Canadian Oaks and the Queen's Plate.

"She had a tough race in Canada . . . but she is a filly with a strong constitution."

Doug Ford fires 69 to lead in Eastern Open

BALTIMORE (AP) — Doug Ford's 69, three below par, earned him the first-round lead Thursday in the $35,000 Eastern Open Golf Tournament despite a putting lapse on the last green.

Ford, disgusted because it took him three strokes to hole out from 30 feet on the 18th, nevertheless saw his score stand up against an assault by a flock of other competitors.

Ford, 39, a rider of the circuit for a dozen years and among the biggest money-winners for 10 of them, is going for his first victory this year since January, in the Bing Crosby.

The New Yorker held only a one-stroke margin over half a dozen other starters in the 13th annual eastern open. Among these shooting 70 over Mount Pleasant's 6,802-yard course were Bobby Nichols, Terry Dill and veteran Julius Boros.

Stan Leonard of Vancouver fired a 37-35-72.

Ford got a big jump on par by ripping off three straight birdies with fine putts on the sixth through the eighth holes.

Ford safely reached the green of the 346-yard 18th in two pokes only to putt, putt his way from 10 yards away.
