Municipal Association Reports Progress In Membership Drive

Harold Corrigan, chairman of the membership committee of the Westmount Municipal Association, reports that considerable interest is being shown by the residents of Westmount in the Association's drive for new members, which commenced on Monday. He states that a number of applications for membership have been received, and that his committee is hopeful to obtain about 300 new members before the drive finishes on Saturday.

With a present membership of about 700 members, it is felt by the executive committee that an increase to around 1,000 would be generally beneficial to the Association and would also be a more representative cross-section of the community.

Aims and objects of the Association are well-known to the citizens of Westmount. Standing as they do for the best type of democratic civic administration in the municipal field, Association members feel that when these aims are presented to the residents (whether they be property owners or otherwise), the Association should be able to count on the support of citizens of the community.

Local Red Cross Campaign Gets Good Response

Westmount Division of the current Canadian Red Cross campaign for funds, which opened for a three-week drive on March 1st, had reached approximately 42 per cent of its objective on Wednesday of this week, it was announced from the local divisional headquarters in Dominion Douglas church. The average in Greater Montreal, as announced yesterday from the metropolitan headquarters of the campaign, has reached approximately 40 per cent of its objective.

These figures indicate a very creditable response in our community in support of a truly worthy cause, and they also reflect credit to those voluntary workers in Westmount who have done so much on behalf of the Red Cross Drive.

Our citizens are urged to remember that only through funds the Red Cross obtains in its annual campaign is it able to effectively carry out its humanitarian works toward "the improvement of health, the prevention of disease and the mitigation of suffering."

Three Vehicle Accident Occurs

Three automobiles were involved in an accident late Sunday evening, when a car, driven by H. E. Gillespie, of Mount Royal, going north on Victoria avenue struck a westbound car on Cote St. Antoine Road, ramming it into a southbound automobile, on Victoria avenue, which was entering the intersection.

The automobiles sustained varying degrees of damage. Mr. Gillespie suffered a bruised head and an injured left hand in the mix-up.

George Woods Describes Theatre To Alpha Omega

George Woods, co-founder and past chairman of the M.R.T. Theatre Club, and vice-chairman of the M.R.T. Theatre Guild, gave an excellent address on Sunday evening to members and friends of the St. Andrew's United Church Alpha Omega Society.

Touching on the history of the theatre from its early beginnings with the Greeks and Romans, Mr. Woods explained how, even before that time, primitive man had theatres of a sort in connection with their religious rites. He also told how, in the latter development of the theatre, religion and politics had been influenced by plays, and as an example described how "The Marriage of Figaro" influenced the French Revolution.

Dealing with the theatre in Montreal, he mentioned several of the excellent theatrical groups in this city, adding that there is no professional theatre here. He advised those who would go on the stage that acting requires a high degree of intelligence and great presence of mind.

He was introduced by Tom Earle and thanked by Rad Hall. Soloist for the evening was Miss Verna Waldron.

Bus Collides With Automobile

Shortly before nine a.m. yesterday morning, an automobile was badly damaged in a collision with a westbound autobus at the corner of Kensington Avenue and Sherbrooke Street.

The car, which had entered the intersection from the south side, was turning west on Sherbrooke when it was struck by the bus, whose driver's view had been blocked by a second car cutting across in front of it.

The bus forced the car into the street lamp standard and tramways steel line pole on the northwest corner of the intersection. The automobile was very badly damaged, and the light standard broken. Four passengers on the bus suffered shock, but no serious injuries are reported.

MINOR ACCIDENTS

Seven minor traffic accidents were reported in Westmount during the past week.

ALISTAIR FRASER, M.C., D.S.O., K.C., who was awarded an honorary degree of Doctor of Laws by Dalhousie University this week. Mr. Fraser is vice-president in charge of traffic, Canadian National Railways.

Help Needed To House YMCA Meet Delegates

Eastern Ontario & Quebec Hi-Y Conference is to be held in Montreal, March 29th-31st. Attending the conference will be about 100 delegates from Hi-Y Clubs from Ottawa, Sherbrooke, Quebec City, Cornwall and Kingston. Representatives from Three Rivers, Plattsburg, Burlington and Toronto are also expected to attend.

Special speakers for this Conference are Mr. Douglas J. Wilson, Editorial Staff of the Montreal Daily Star, Prof. J. H. T. Kimble of McGill University, Mr. Andy O'Brien, Sports Editor of the Standard, Merl Harding, National Y. M. C. A. Physical Director, and Mr. Jack Dunderdale, Secretary of the National Council of Y.M.C.A.'s of India and Parkistan.

Conference delegates will discuss the purpose of Hi-Y "to create, maintain and extend high standards of Christian character in school and community", and will endeavour to find ways in which their clubs can cause their platform of "clean sports, clean scholarship, and clean living," to be more effective in the school.

The Westmount Y.M.C.A. being near the center of the Conference has been asked to find accommodation for these out of town delegates, and the Westmount Hi-Y Club is serving as a billeting committee for the conference. Already, a number of billets have been secured, but some 50 more are needed to assure that the out of town delegates will have a place to stay while in the City. Residents of the Westmount Area who would like to assist in billeting boys from out of town Hi-Y Clubs for the nights of March 29 and 30, are requested to get in touch with the Boys' Work Secretary of the Westmount YMCA or with any member of the Westmount Hi-Y Club.

STOP PRESS NEWS

First crow of the season was seen flying over the intersection of Clarke and Sherbrooke yesterday afternoon at 4.30. Spring has come!

He outlined for their benefit the various functions of his department and after his most interesting address, answered questions put to him from the floor in a ten-minute question and answer period. He was introduced to the members by Mr. James and thanked by P. T. Golden.

A highlight of the evening was a presentation, made by D. B. Ross on behalf of the Association, to past president C. A. James, as a token of the members' esteem and appreciation for his efforts for the benefit of the Association while in office as its chief executive during the past year.

A meeting of the new executive will be held in the near future in order to draw up plans for the coming year. It is expected that this will be followed by a general meeting.

Radio Tower To Be Erected In Summit Park

Plans approved by the Municipal Council this week authorize erection of a steel radio tower and a service building in the western part of Summit Park under a permit granted The Honorary Advisory Council in Scientific and Industrial Research.

This is in order to facilitate necessary research in the radio field by the National Research Council, which requires for the purpose an unobstructed, practically visual direct line with Ottawa.

The tower and building, for research use only, will be erected and used for a period of eighteen months, and will be removed at the end of two years. The site will then be restored to its present condition.

Herbert Reddy President Resigns Nursing Superintendent Retires

William R. Bulloch, who took over the presidency of the Herbert Reddy Memorial Hospital five years ago, when it was the Women's General Hospital, announced his resignation, on medical advice, at a dinner held at the hospital on Tuesday evening.

Important additions to the board of trustees and changes in the medical board and medical and nursing staff of the hospital were announced at the dinner, given by the board of trustees to introduce a number of the new members of the board to the medical, nursing and administrative staff of the hospital.

Tribute was paid to the manner in which, during the presidency of Mr. Bulloch and the valuable services of the late Dr. Fraser B. Gurd, the hospital had been renovated, nurses' home rebuilt, X-ray equipment installed and the hospital generally modernized.

Chief among staff changes announced was the resignation of Miss Dorothy MacRae, R.R.C., superintendent of nurses since 1946, who is retiring in April to marry in Ottawa. A highlight of the dinner occurred when she was presented with a silver tea service by Mr. Bulloch, who recalled her distinguished association with the R.C.A.M.C. Nursing Service, for which she was awarded the Royal Red Cross. She joined the staff of the hospital in 1946.

The appointment was announced of Miss Helen G. Hewton to the superintendency of nurses. Also a graduate of the Montreal General Hospital School of Nurses, she served overseas with distinction and was also awarded the R.R.C.

Chairman D. A. Amory, vice-president of the board of trustees, announced that Dr. E. E. Robbins, who is on the consulting staff of the Montreal General Hospital and was on the teaching staff of McGill University medical faculty for 26 years, will be chairman of the hospital's medical board, succeeding the late Dr. Fraser B. Gurd.

Dr. S. Jameson Martin, assistant professor of surgery at McGill University, was named as surgeon-in-chief, a position Dr. Gurd also held. Dr. Martin was in command of the surgical division of No. 1 Canadian General Hospital overseas and consultant to the British Emergency Medical Service. Both were welcomed to the hospital, as were Harold G. Littler, Howden R. Horner and H. Heward Sturman as members of the board of trustees.

Large Film Production Studio To Open In NDG

By JOE ROBB

Completion of the big, modern "Renaissance Films" studio on Cote des Neiges Road in the near future will usher in the opening of what promises to be one of the most far-reaching developments in all-Canadian enterprise in recent years.

The studio is the first project of a 10 year program of expansion by Renaissance Films Distribution, Inc., which was formed to establish in the Dominion an essentially Canadian motion picture industry designed to produce all-Canadian films of high quality, using Canadian talent and technical ability. The company also aims to construct and acquire motion picture studios, laboratories and theatres in Canada, to acquire theatres also in the United States and Europe for exhibition of its films, and to produce, distribute and exhibit motion pictures, principally in English, French and Spanish versions in all forms, including television.

Original idea for the company was conceived by J. A. DeSeve, a realistic business man with a proven record of successful motion picture accomplishment in France and Canada.

Glen Ireton, former Canadian public relations' director for Warner Brothers Pictures, is general manager of all English speaking relations of the company in terms of administration, production, distribution and exhibition.

Wholly Canadian Owned

"Renaissance has more than an idea," declared Mr. Ireton. "It has tangible assets in real estate, studio, offices, production equipment, story properties, distribution deals and contracts with technical personnel. It is wholly owned by Canadian shareholders.

"We'd rather have many small stockholders than a few wealthy ones," he stated. "We feel that we have an obligation to the community of Montreal; therefore we wish to integrate our work with the community." He added that directors of the company feel that Canadian capital in the past has been too unwilling to develop new Canadian enterprise, that this is one reason why many highly-qualified Canadians seek opportunities abroad, to the detriment of our own country, and that development of Renaissance Films Distribution, Inc. would offer an opportunity to many such persons to utilize their talents in Canada.

New Studio

The new studio building itself was designed by Paul Lapointe, and will be a self-contained unit able to handle almost any type of interior sound production job. It includes a sound stage 60 feet wide by 120 feet long by 50 feet high, large recording studio, dress-sing rooms, rehearsal room, art department, carpenter shop and plaster shop where scenery is made, film vault, canteen, etc. Included also in the equipment are two mobile generators to supply power for filming location shots.

Mr. Ireton states that a second enterprise is planned on land acquired at the site of the old Dominion Park on Notre Dame Street, where the company plans within the year to begin construction on a project to comprise some 20-25 buildings, including three large sound stages, which will be completely self-contained.

This Income Tax Business Can Be Funny

Capt. J. P. Durocher, a Quebec Command Headquarters paymaster, certifies to the truth of this story:

Recently he was paying men of an Active Force unit when one local man asked to see entries in his pay book. Assignments shown were for his pension, bonds purchased on a time-payment basis and income tax.

Said the soldier after closely examining assignments marked in his pay book: "I don't mind the pay I assigned for my pension; the assignment for bonds is okay, but you'd better cancel this income tax because I never okayed that assignment."

Saga Of A Hero

Ernie Taylor, the man who used to serve as executive secretary of the Westmount Y. M. C. A. and who is now down at the International Branch in the same capacity, is leading the kind of life he loves.

Ernie is the man who served as a missionary in China for a good many years. Down at the International he's helping untold hundreds to hurdle the obstacles which bridge the gap between "newcomer to Canada" and "happy Canadian citizen."

He's doing it in a variety of ways — ways which take anywhere up to 16 hours a day of his time. These newcomers sometimes get into difficulties. Ernie helps them out. Some need jobs — Ernie finds them for them. Some need a place in which to live — yeah, Ernie looks after that too. He also provides classes for learning English and French, recreation and a dozen or so other things.

The most interesting thing about his job is the people he meets. He has them from all over Europe, from Russia to Poland, from Australia to Brazil — and they all have a story, usually an interesting one, to tell.

Last week he gave me the autobiography of a 25-year-old Pole who arrived in Canada less than a month ago. His name is Casimir B. Kowalewski, and here's his story, in his own words:

I was born in Brwinow near Warsaw in February 20th, 1923. By 1942 I had my Senior Matriculation and entered the Warsaw Institute of Technology. During this time I was active in the Polish Underground Army. In the latter part of 1943 I was arrested by the Germans for underground activities and after a month when I was about to be sent to a concentration camp I escaped.

In 1944 I attended a draughting course for three months and was employed as draughtsman for 6 months by the Precision Optical Instruments Company in Warsaw. Again arrested by the Germans, I was freed during the Warsaw uprising of 1944. After the entrance of the Russians in January, 1945, I was arrested by the N.K.D. for anti-communistic activities. I escaped in October, 1945, and in December left for American Occupied Germany. There I joined the Polish Guard Company attached to the American Army and passed through an Officer's School.

Having learned, however, that my brother was in England, where there would be good chances for the continuation of my studies, I left for the said country in 1946.

In England I entered Polish University College. Then in February 14th, 1948, I entered Canada to join my relatives.

And that's his story. It's the story of an average "new-Canadian."

Radio Public Servant Ron Morrier Tells Rotary

The field of radio is yet in its infancy — radio, as we know it, is only 37 years old; and yet, in its early years of development it has grown phenomenally into an industry capitalized at many millions of dollars; and it has done a great job in public relations. So declared Ron Morrier, program director of CJAD, in an address to the members of the Rotary Club of Westmount this week.

Speaking on the subject "Radio — Public Relations or Public Nuisance", Mr. Morrier stated that it has its advantages and its disadvantages, but that when properly administered, it performs a valuable service to the community. This he said as a member of the staff of CJAD, which has the largest "listenership" in the Greater Montreal area.

Dealing first with the disadvantages of radio, he said that there is a certain amount of truth in the claim that radio is a distraction to many individuals, especially when it carries raucous music: However, by means of proper programming, it can be made to carry suitable programs to suit the varying tastes of different groups at the right times. Public nuisance number one in radio are soap operas, he declared. However, they have established themselves firmly, and no competition has yet been found to successfully compete with them.

Transcribed spot announcements are another headache which have caused much criticism in the past, especially those dealing with medical goods. Who wants to hear about gastric troubles at meal-times? Due to action on the part of radio stations themselves, the situation is much better than it was a few years ago, and is steadily improving, Mr. Morrier stated. He mentioned other things about radio which have drawn criticism, and said that they are being remedied.

Community Service

On the other hand, "it is part and parcel of our existence to do a community job," he declared. One of the little-known features of service CJAD performs for the community is its extensive coverage in emergency work. Types of emergency vary, from the little girl who has lost her dog to matters of life and death. "We will cut in on any program at all in an emergency," he said, adding that four people owe their lives to such action by CJAD.

One service close to the heart of radio staffs, said Mr. Morrier, is the service it can perform for the benefit of shut-ins. "We try to do all we can for them, and program their requests as much as possible.

Radio bears a grave responsibility to the youth of the community, he stated. It must constantly be aware of the way in which it can impress young people, and therefore carefully watches the language and programs it carries.

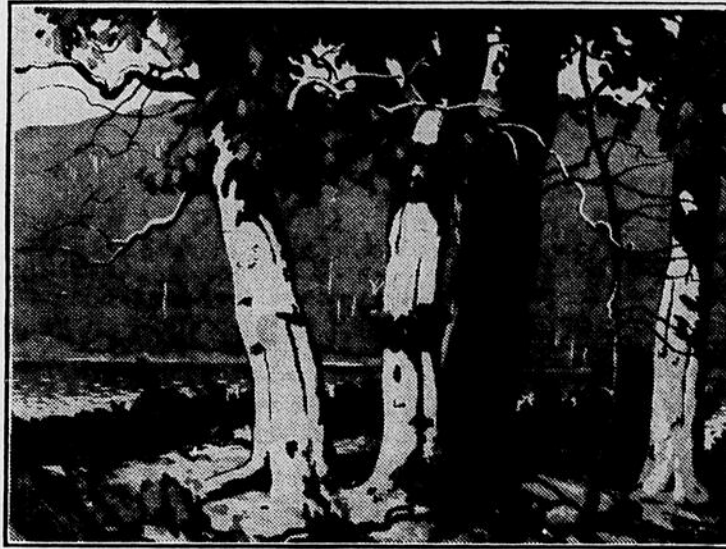

Mr. Morrier concluded by telling his listeners that CJAD does a large community job in sports coverage, adding that it was a subject close to his heart. He gave his listeners many of the impressions he has gained as a sports reporter, and concluded his address by answering several questions.

Official Visit Paid To Mackay School

Excitement ran extremely high among handicapped pupils of the Mackay Institute School, Decarie Blvd., on Tuesday afternoon, when Her Excellency Viscountess Alexander of Tunis paid an informal visit and showed keen interest in the work being skillfully done to educate the deaf and dumb children.

On arriving the Institute from a luncheon held in her honour by the lady members of the Board of Directors and Managers, the Viscountess was welcomed to the school by Principal M. S. Blanchard, after which she made a tour of every classroom on the premises, accompanied by Mrs. Robert Loring, School President.

First group to be visited was a kindergarten class where children of five and six years old were asked to repeat the words of their teacher which they did with alarming cleverness amid the flash of cameras and the chatter of visiting dignitaries.

Her Excellency inspected the weaving room, which was of particular interest to her, and asked many questions of the teacher, Mrs. S. Bang. The students were particularly eager to demonstrate their skill on the looms and other weaving appliances for Viscountess Alexander.

Another room, where smart dresses, dolls, and other novelty items were on display for Her Excellency, captured her interest, after which she visited another class of older boys and girls who were also in kindergarten because they had never been to school before coming to the Mackay Institute.

Work Demonstrated

Other classes were inspected, each revealing new phases of the work accomplished at the school. One of the highlights of this work was demonstrated when the music teacher had several children stand around the piano and sing "Mary Had a Little Lamb", after which she explained that the children, not able to hear the music, keep their hands on the piano and sing with the vibration of the instrument when the chords are struck. Before going to the cooking room and woodworking shop in the basement, Her Excellency stopped to admire a copy of her radio address given on February 12th, which one of the students had carefully printed for her to see.

Following this final visit, the Viscountess returned to the office and signed the visitors' book before leaving to visit the Home and Crafts Studio of the Mackay Institute on Victoria Street.

For the occasion of her N.D.G. visit, Her Excellency wore a rust-coloured ensemble and an orchid ornamented the lapel of her suit.

Viscountess Alexander concluded her official visit by remarking on

Canada Year Book Is Now Available

The Canada Year Book, published by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics, contains a great deal of information regarding the Land of the Maple. This volume has been issued annually since the year of Confederation, in one form or another, and records the development of Canada during its eighty years of existence. The current issue runs to well over 1,200 pages.

The issue, which has just appeared, brings nearly up to date the tables of statistics which are invaluable to students of public affairs. There are also numerous articles on phases of Canadian life, which are informative and interesting. Some of these outline the national agricultural program; the history of the CBC; discuss noxious forest insects which are seriously depleting forest wealth; and detail the development of insurance in Canada since 1925.

A valuable addition this year is the directory of sources of official information, which ought to save many a reader much time in obtaining facts needed from our vast government structure. Numerous maps, diagrams and graphic help to elucidate the text, which is far from as "dry" as official publications are wont to be.

It is to be obtained from the King's Printer, Ottawa, $2.00 per copy.

the amazing benefits derived from special training the Mackay Institute handicapped children are receiving.

Her Excellency's visit marked the third time that a Royal representative has visited the Mackay School. Other visits were of the Earl and Lady Athlone in January, 1944, and the inspection made by the Earl of Bessborough in 1931.

STAMPS FROM THREE NATIONS HONOR "CONFUSION LAND"

Rival claims in the Antarctic by Argentina, Chile and the British Empire's Falkland Islands Dependencies are portrayed on these three postage stamps issued last year. The claims of the three nations all overlap one another. To add to the confusion, the U.S. does not recognize the land stakes. The U.S. Board of Geographical Names calls the disputed area "Palmer Peninsula," in honor of Capt. Nathaniel B. Palmer, who explored the mainland south of Deception Island in 1820.

Martin Wolff Dies In Barbados While On Vacation

Formerly a member of the engineering department of the City of Westmount, Martin Wolff, of 442 Argyle avenue, died Saturday while vacationing at Hastings, Barbados, B.W.I. He was in his 67th year.

Born in England, Mr. Wolff was educated at Clifton College, Bristol, and later took the Civil and Mechanical Engineering course at the City and Guilds of London Technical College. During the South African War, he served with the Royal Engineers of the Imperial Army in Cape Colony, Orange Free State and the Transvaal, winning the Queen's Medal with five bars.

In 1906 he came to Canada, where he became engaged in survey work with the Canadian Northern Railway and the National Transcontinental Railway. At the outbreak of the First World War, he attended the O. T.C. in Quebec, later being attached to the Department of Militia and Defence, Quebec District, on secret service, and to the Imperial Ministry of Munitions.

After the war, he was appointed assistant engineer in the department of economics, Canadian National Railways, and later joined the staff of the engineering department of the City of Westmount.

Recently he was associated with the firm of M. D. Barclay, Inc. He was a life member of the Engineering Institute of Canada and a member of the Royal Empire Society.

Mr. Wolff maintained a life-long interest in the congregational work of Spanish and Portuguese Jews, serving for 15 years as treasurer of the Congregation Shearith Israel of Montreal, Canada's oldest Jewish congregation, and recently as assistant Parnass and chairman of the building committee of the new synagogue of Shearith Israel. He was a member of the Dominion Council of the Canadian Jewish Congress and chairman of its archives committee since its inception in 1934.

He was also well known for his contributions to periodicals. He was the author of "History of the Canadian National Railways" and "History of the Jews in Canada."

In 1909 he married Irene Rachel Joseph, daughter of the late Montefiore Joseph of Quebec City. She died in 1940. A daughter, Miss Fanny Wolff, died a year later. The survivors include five daughters, the Misses Sarah, Annette, Rachel and Esther Wolff and Mrs. F. Victor Elkin; and four grandchildren. Also surviving is a sister, Mrs. Rachel Singer, of London, England.

Funeral arrangements have not yet been made.

REFUGEE INDUSTRY IS COMBING WOOL

A refugee business that fills a gap in Canada's woollen industry is a combing plant for the more rapid processing of wool. Before the establishment of this plant, Canadian wool was usually exported for combing, while Australian and New Zealand wool went to England for sorting, scouring and combing before being shipped here in the form of tops.

Using home-grown and directly imported wools, this plant now produces about one-third of the country's total consumption of wool tops.

THE BEGGAR'S OPERA

By JOHN GAY

On March 17, 18, 19 and 20, McGill University will present in Moyses Hall the Beggar's Opera. This production has been made possible through the co-operation of many of McGill's allied departments and faculties. Dean Douglas Clarke, of the Faculty of Music, is in charge of musical direction, while Jack Waud, a man familiar to all Montreal theatre-goers, is general director of the production. Original sets and costumes have been designed by Robert Esdalle, of the School of Architecture, in collaboration with students of that school. The construction of scenery is under the capable supervision in Mr. Hall's drama classes are building the sets.

The University hopes that this 1948 production of the Beggar's Opera will establish an annual tradition and that, in future years, similar production of equal cultural value will be possible.

The Beggar's Opera was first produced on January 29, 1728, at the Theatre Royal in Lincoln's Inn Fields, London. It proved to be the biggest box-office attraction of the eighteenth century in England, and the gay wit and brilliance of this "ballad opera" are attributes which will have an immediate appeal to any public in search of living theatrical and musical entertainment. It is clear, from many significant jokes and comments in the text, that Gay was consciously writing mock opera. He challenged the vogue of aristocratic formal (Italian) opera and of foppish musical taste. Gay set his own words to a great variety of British-ballad and dance tunes and joined these songs organically to the pattern of characters, dialogue and action. His simple device was thus able to accomplish what English composers had been unable to do since the death of Purcell — it stemmed the foreign invasion. Works such as John Gay's drove Italian opera from the stage and made a beggar of Opera.

Among the striking details of this fabulous story is the success of Lavinia Fenton, who created the role of Polly. "No actress or singer could have been more popular at any period of the Drama". A whole literature celebrated her charms of voice and person and all the arts paid homage. The middle-aged Duke of Bolton, hearing her sing "O Ponder Well", felt young again and, against remarkable competition, removed her from the theatre at the end of the first season. Eventually she became Duchess of Bolton. It may be of interest to the reader that Frank Ford, who plays the beggar in the production, is directly descended from the original beggar, Samuel Chapman, of 1728.

And so, at 8:30 p.m. on March 17, 18, 19 and 20, the Moyses Hall's curtain will rise on one of the greatest spectacles of amusement that English theatre has to offer.

Life Anything But Dull Says ASN Cameraman

The life of a newsreel cameraman is anything but dull, according to Ross Beesley, veteran lensman for Associated Screen News on the West Coast.

His latest assignment took him by air from Vancouver to the Yukon Territory to cover the Canadian Army's Arctic "Exercise Haines II". Finishing with the Army boys, Beesley flew to Calgary and thence by bus to Banff to cover the Dominion Ski Championships event. Packing his equipment, he entrained again for Calgary to shoot the Macdonald Brier Curling bonspiel in that city.

The next leg of his trip took him to Vancouver, where he boarded a boat for Victoria. The news story there was the rugby match between the touring Australian team and the Victoria "Crimson Tide" squad.

Beesley logged over four thousand miles on this particular junket, yet the total time his edited film will appear on the screen of your local theatre will be 5½ minutes!

On Long Trip Of Good Will

Five young Canadian business men will embark on a five thousand mile flight to Rio de Janeiro next week, to take part in the Annual Conference of Junior Chamber International slated for March 21-28 at the famous Hotel Quitandinha. Leading the delegation is Philip T. R. Pugsley of Montreal, who as Executive Vice President of the Canadian Junior Chamber of Commerce, will act as official spokesman. Others in the party include Marcel Lafaille, Montreal City Councillor and President of La Chambre de Commerce des Jeunes; Bruce Thorpe of Brantford, Canadian Chairman of the International Relations committee of the Junior Chamber; William Fuller, President of the Sioux Lookout (Ontario) Junior Chamber of Commerce and Guy Peliquin, Montreal editor of "Le Vigilant", a local Junior Chamber magazine.

Messrs. Thorpe and Fuller will leave Sunday night, three days ahead of the main party, in order to clear the lines in Rio with Maurice Belanger, Commercial Secretary of the Canadian Embassy. Mr. Belanger has volunteered his services to assist the delegates in learning somewhat of the customs and language of Brazil. The Department of Trade and Commerce at Ottawa has arranged for displays depicting Canada's industrial and commercial development, to be erected at the scene of the conference at which forty-two foreign nations will be represented.

Sixteen Newest Style Sleeping Cars For C.N.R.

The prototype of sixteen new style sleeping cars was introduced here recently by the Canadian National Railways, and officially inspected by R. C. Vaughan, C.M.G., chairman and president of the system, and other company officers.

The first of its kind in Canada, the "Whycomagh", it embodies two improved types of modern overnight accommodations, an original interior color scheme, distinctive furnishings, and other distinguishing characteristics designed and developed by the C.N.R.

A spacious drawing room is furnished with three individual beds, a fold-away bed, a convertible sofa and an upper berth. A section of the room may be curtained off for additional privacy if desired. Two movable upholstered arm chairs are set up during daytime travel and five persons may be seated comfortably in the room.

The old style "open sections" are replaced by a deluxe version. These offer a degree of privacy far beyond their predecessors. Bulkhead: run from the aisle to the wall and to the ceiling in one solid section. The seats, upholstered in foamed latex, are designed for easy adjustment to upright or reclining positions.

New facilities in all berths upper and lower include a holder for magazines, eye glasses, and watch, a mirror at either end of the bed and reading lights.

More than 1,000 Canadians meet "Death by drowning" each year. For only one out of every ten Canadians can swim, and fewer know the rudiments of water safety.

To reduce this high rate of drowning fatalities, the Canadian Red Cross joined with other interested associations to promote a nation-wide Swimming and Water Safety Programme. Although this branch of Red Cross work has been in operation for only two years, more than 1,000 have passed tests as qualified instructors each year, and over 10,000 as qualified swimmers. Many more thousands have also taken advantage of free Red Cross lessons in Water Safety.

Through this work, as well as through free Blood Transfusion service, nation-wide First Aid training and Outpost Hospitals, the Red Cross is constantly at work to prevent loss of life. Your life perhaps, or the life of a loved one, or a neighbor.

FOR SAFER DRIVING

It is gratifying in these days of mounting street and highway accidents to see an institution of the dimension and standing of McGill University take an active hand in remedying such a situation. It is barely a year ago that McGill launched a motor vehicle fleet supervisors' training course, designed to provide fleet owners, operators and supervisors with advanced information regarding methods to be employed in the training of personnel, and particularly in efficiency and training measures.

The results of that venture have been far reaching in the automotive field, and graduates from that class returned to their particular business with a well defined idea of how to make their own fleets more safety minded, and more aware of the courtesies of the road. Splendid results have been reported.

A second course of this nature will be launched next week at McGill, again offered by the Extension Committee and the Faculty of Engineers, in co-operation with the Automotive Transport Association. It brings the foremost figure on this subject in North America into our midst again, in the person of that great disciple of highway safety, Professor Amos E. Neyhart, administrative head of the Institute of Public Safety, Pennsylvania State College. He is ably backed by Prof. W. Arch Bryce, of the University of Toronto. Professor C. A. Robb, of the Department of Mechanical Engineering, represents the University, and for the second year, V. W. Hugman, of The White Motor Company of Canada Limited, will serve as course director.

The automotive industry and highway transportation has become tremendous business across Canada, and will continue to add to its stature. It is the responsibility of those directing and operating large fleets of trucks and busses to scout every possible means of bringing greater safety to the streets and highways, and with many owners strict driving training is an established rule.

A course such as starts at McGill next week warrants much consideration on the part of those associated with automotive transport, for street and highway safety is a subject close to every Canadian home.

VITAMIN PILLS MAY BE HARMFUL

No one should attempt to diagnose and treat his own troubles by taking vitamin pills — such pills should be used only when prescribed by a doctor. Such is the advice given by Dr. E. H. Bensley, Director of the Department of Metabolism and Toxicology at the Montreal General Hospital.

"In view of the widespread indiscriminate use of vitamin pills, it is fortunate that there has been no evidence to date that harmful effects are produced by vitamins in the doses ordinarily taken," Dr. Bensley writes. "It is true that vitamins can act as poisons if they are taken in amounts far in excess of those recommended for either the prevention or correction of deficiency diseases." He says this has occurred sufficiently often in the case of one vitamin (D) "to be worthy of note."

He adds that although harm may not be caused directly by the indiscriminate use of vitamin pills, this practice, like all forms of self medication, may be indirectly harmful in that it gives the individual a false sense of security and leads to delay in seeking medical advice.

Dr. Bensley says that there is no evidence that health is improved by giving extra vitamins to a person who is not suffering from a specific vitamin deficiency disease. Vitamin pills alone cannot correct dietary deficiencies. Pills may help but chief reliance must be placed on a balanced diet.

He adds, however, that condemnation of vitamin pills, as being of little or no value would be absurd. Vitamin pills or similar forms of concentrated preparations of vitamins, he states, are of value under two sets of circumstances. They must be used — but only when prescribed by a physician — first to prevent the development of diseases due to deficiency of vitamins in the diet, and second, to treat diseases due to vitamin deficiencies.

BREAD TODAY WILL SAVE EUROPE

I wonder what has happened to Marcel? Marcel with the pipstern arms and legs; the pinched little face and big black eyes. Eyes that should have been filled with child-like wonder but looked at you with fear and distrust.

I first met Marcel in Caen. He was five, and howling his head off. He had good reason. His mother and father were under the rubble of what once was their home.

We were feverishly trying to clear the debris away from La Presse Caennaise to publish the first issue of The Maple Leaf. We weren't making much progress because the Jerries were less than a few hundred yards away trying to hold the River Orne and making it hot for all and sundry in the district.

I grabbed Marcel from the open and dragged him down before he got picked off by mortar shrapnel.

There was nobody in this city of death to claim the waif so we kept him with us.

Like any kid of that age he quickly adapted himself to new conditions. His little legs were covered with sores, probably from lack of nutrition. He didn't play like our kids do; he just didn't seem to have the energy.

It was surprising what a difference a few weeks of good grub made to that kid. He put on weight and started to romp about. In no time he was the idol of the unit and the amount of chocolate and candies that kid stuffed into him would do your heart good to see.

But even though he fattened up and played, that look of fear and uncertainty never left his eyes.

I suppose the psychologists would say that the kid will always have an amount of this feeling in his lifetime. He may even grow up to be an unstable citizen.

Came the time for our departure from Caen. It was impossible to take Marcel with us. The French by this time had a sort of provisional government set up. So we reluctantly passed him over to the authorities.

The last time I saw Marcel, he was standing in the street waving forlornly as we drove away in our trucks.

I wonder what has happened to Marcel. I suppose I will never know.

This much though I do know. If he is not taken care of he will grow up to be an embittered young man; and an easy prey for those marshalling their forces against our way of life.

Heaven forbid that some day he and my son may meet on a field of battle.

The Legion is one hundred per cent behind the Canadian Appeal for Children Fund.

For those who shrug their shoulders and say, "It's no affair of mine," okay, chum. Then chew on this practical approach. Which would you prefer, bread today . . . or bullets tomorrow?—Doug. Smith.

TOPICS OF THE WEEK

By R. J. DEACHMAN

WHAT'S THE ANSWER?

I have a letter from a young man thoughtful, earnest, but disturbed. I see his point of view I do not agree entirely with what he writes yet I am glad that he has stated the case for there is nothing more helpful in a free country than honest opinions, frankly expressed.

"I find it very difficult," he writes, "to appreciate any political party. Like Pat, I'm agin them all", and I know I'm not alone in that point of view. Party politics is an extravagant thing—people no longer like party labels. Each candidate should run on his own ticket and, if he is the most intelligent and most competent man for the office the public will put him there. If our government were comprised of free thinking individuals with no political ties, we would have a better government."

I do not know the writer of that letter personally but I take him to be a fine upstanding young man who feels that our democratic system of government goes round in circles and that free untrammelled minds, not tied to party, but seeking only the truth, as they see it, would give us better government than we now have.

My friend, if I may now speak to you directly, there is, on earth no single thing more difficult to find than truth, unless perhaps it is to recognize it when it is found.

There are illustrations by the thousand of the wide divergence of views on very simple subjects. France at the moment is trying to curb inflation. The government is acting on the theory that a reduction in purchasing power is essential to a reduction in prices. Many of the ablest economists agree. It seems obvious, yet Charles Rist, a noted French economist takes the opposite side and asserts that a reduction in purchasing power cannot solve the problem — only increased production can lower prices.

Come nearer home. Should the sales tax be repealed? I doubt it. If it lowered prices demand would increase. We have not sufficient labor to increase, to any great degree, our total volume of production. Its repeal might even increase prices but two years or may be one from today I might hold a different view. I feel that it is highly probable that I may.

PARTIES ARE INEVITABLE

I have mentioned only two subjects—I could name a hundred on which the brightest minds might differ. What then would happen if party labels disappeared and the members of parliament met in a new session where every man was free? Groups would be formed—parties would grow out of groups. For a time they would dissolve, then coalesce. Men of like minds will always come together for a common purpose, the achievement of the common objectives they have in view. In other words, if parties did not exist they would have to be created or—progress would take a holiday.

What then is necessary to improve things so far as our government is concerned? It needs a higher type of member. That calls for a higher type of constituents and that again runs back to better educational institutions and more careful thought in the selection of members.

An M. P. must not be turned into an office boy seeking favors for his constituents. He should attend more strictly to his job. The absentee M. P.—that is, absent from the House of Commons most of his time, should be left at home. There should be less narrowness of view. There are today still living and sitting in the House of Commons men who lisp the accents of pre-confederation days. They have read too much history and too little economics. They do not know how to apply the lessons of yesterday to the problems of today, so they limp back a half century or more and find their happiness in the past.

PARLIAMENT GETTING BETTER

Parliament is getting better—that is my personal opinion. It is still narrow in spots but the angles of vision widen with the years. There are many members who would not be missed if they never come back, but there is a high degree of intelligence in the House of Commons. So to my friend I say: Do not get discouraged, belong to some political party. Do what you can to make things better but remembers the march of the human mind is slow and—youth is impatient.

Above all never become cynical, take a balanced view of things. The stream rushes on to the sea but not always in a straight line. There are obstacles over which it cannot climb it must go around them. Eddies may, at times, whirl it backward. Even when it reaches the ocean its task is not yet finished. It may rest for a while on the face of the infinite deep but in the end it returns to the mountains, in snow or rain and begins again its race to the sea. Humanity will never reach its goal. There will always be something more for which mankind will strive. It is not given to you and to me to finish the task but this must not be taken to imply that we should give up the fight.

Mrs. L. Morris Funeral Held

Funeral service was held at the Chapel of Joseph C. Wray, on Monday afternoon, for Mrs. Louise Jacobs Morris, widow of the late A. E. Morris, who died on Saturday at her residence, 4497 Sherbrooke street west.

Mrs. Morris was born in New York on December 1, 1866. But for more than 60 years she had been a resident of Montreal. Six years ago she and the late Mr. Morris celebrated their golden wedding anniversary. Her husband pre-deceased her by three years.

Noted for her facile pen, brilliant wit and a warm-heartedness that endeared her to everybody with whom she came in contact. Mrs. Morris was especially beloved of small children. Long ago she contributed humorous sketches to The Star under her own name, but in latter years she has used Louis Morin as her pen-name, and as such was well-known to readers of Canadian publications. Quite recently a humorous piece appeared in Saturday Night under her nom-de-plume.

Mrs. Morris at the time of her death was a member of the Montreal Branch of the Canadian Women's Press Club, of the Canadian Authors Association. She was one of the organizers of the Welcome Club for young women and its first president. This group afterwards was merged into the Young Women's Hebrew Association. Her philanthropies were many, known to few.

Mrs. Morris is survived by a sister, Mrs. Alice Miller, of Westmount, and by two brothers, S. M. Jackson Jacobs, of New York, and Michel Jacobs, the internationally-known artist, of Rumson, New Jersey.

George Fox Funeral Held

Funeral service was held at St. Stephen's Church, Westmount, on Saturday afternoon, for George Fox, of 2294 Marcell Avenue, who died at his residence on Wednesday following a brief illness in his 79th year.

Born and educated in Liverpool, England, Mr. Fox came to Canada 41 years ago this spring, landing in Montreal on Whitsunday.

Shortly after his arrival here, he joined the Steel Company of Canada, with which he worked for 27 years until he retired 14 years ago last December.

He was a member of St. Stephen's Church for many years.

Mr. Fox is survived by his widow, the former Jeannette Maud Vincent of Liverpool, and two daughters, Mrs. Jeannette Maud Bailey and Mrs. Violet Coderre Smith, both of Montreal.

Rev. A. T. Love officiated at the funeral service. Interment took place in Mount Royal Cemetery.

Christian Science

"Substance" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon to be read in Churches of Christ, Scientist, on Sunday.

The Golden Text is from Psalms 119: 89, 90, "For ever, O Lord, thy word is settled in heaven. Thy faithfulness is unto all generations."

Among the citations which comprise the Lesson-Sermon is the following from the Bible:

"Now faith is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen. What doth it profit my brethren, though a man say he hath faith, and have not works? Can faith save him? Yea, a man may say, Thou hast faith, and I have works; show me thy faith without thy works, and I will show thee my faith by my works." (Hebrews 11:1 and James 2: 14, 18).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook "Science & Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy.

"Faith is higher and more spiritual than belief. It is a chrysalis state of human thought, in which spiritual evidence, contradicting the testimony of the material sense, begins to appear, and Truth, the ever-present is becoming understood. Until belief becomes faith, and faith becomes spiritual understanding, human thought has little relation to the actual or divine. Every trial of our faith in God makes us stronger. In Science we can use only what we understand. We must prove our faith by demonstration." (Pages 297, 410, 329).

"The Futility of Flight From God". This will be the Theme of the Morning Sermon. The question of the Psalmist of old is our question, "Whither Shall I go from Thy Spirit, or Whither Shall I Flee from Thy Presence!" Men in every generation from Jonah to Francis Thompson have been trying to escape the inevitable. Nothing is to be gained by Flight from God. Everything is to be gained by flight to God.

At the evening service Dr. J. A. Johnston will speak of "The Strange Case of Obed Edom"—Bringing the Ark of God to Zion. Few of us may even recognize his name and yet this Foreigner had an experience that might well be coveted by everyone today. The Ark of God either brings disaster or blessing. Obed Edom demonstrates how the thing that brings peril to others has possibilities for us.

The Younger Married Couples of Westmount will have their Monthly Meeting on Tuesday, March 18th. A fascinating program has been arranged. This will include an address by Dr. T. E. Dancy, the chief Psychiatrist for Veterans' Affairs in Canada. His subject will be "Psychiatric Treatment for Veterans". The balance of the evening will be spent in games, refreshments and good fellowship. At the close of the programme, Dr. J. A. Johnston will conduct Family Worship. This promises to be a grand gathering.

The Mid-week Fellowship of the congregation is held on Wednesday evening at 8 p.m. A part of this meeting is devoted to Free Discussion of questions of great importance.

HOME EDUCATION

Effect of Fear on Children

JANETTE STEVENSON MURRAY

I was in one of our parks last summer when my attention was attracted to a well-dressed woman with her two little boys. One was about three years old, and he kept running away. Finally, in exasperation his mother shook him, saying, "If you don't stay beside me, I'll throw you into the bear's pit and the bear'll eat you up."

Another distraught mother, when in a big hotel, silenced her obstreperous son with, "Now, you make less noise or I'll go away and leave you here alone."

I was in a store one day when a woman, whom I knew to have had a good general education, came in with her three-year-old daughter. Soon the child began handling things on the counter. "Don't do that!" exclaimed the mother, "or the man will put you in the cellar." Threats about the "bogy man" have, we hope and believe, gone out of fashion. These other threats, however, are still used, causing positive terror when the child first hears them; and the shock that ensues is never overcome — except in cases of a radical change in the mental outlook — even though he soon learns that his parents have no intention of doing as they say.

Vigorous brushing brightens up dull hair.

Fear's Effect Is Adverse
A child should never be punished by being shut in a closet or a dark room, never forced to do anything he greatly fears. As much as possible, fear should be kept out of the little child's thought. If he is afraid to go up to bed alone, attention should not be called to the fact, but someone should go with him through the dark hall and shadowy stairway, to encourage, befriend him, and make him happy, so that he will forget about his fears.

The use of fear in disciplining should be strenuously avoided. A frightened child is cramped and handicapped by lack of confidence, by chronic anxiety, and morbid dread. He has little desire to use his powers or to assert his ability.

Repressed Attitude
Here is a notable instance. From the time Martha was three months old, she had been so severely punished by her mother that she had grown into a thin, nervous, secretive, fear-haunted child. She had always been restrained — never allowed to talk freely or to give vent to her feelings — so upon entering school she would not open her mouth. She knew how to read, but she would not read aloud. The teachers knew she could read, because they noted her interest in the printed page when she thought herself unobserved.

An aunt and a neighbor went to call on her teacher, who, upon hearing the story of Martha's life, became especially interested in this pupil. Since then, persistent kindness and encouragement at school have helped the child to overcome some of her fear. She

A natural shine in your hair will win as many admiring glances as a bright gimmick tucked into your coiffure.

Take brush in hand now, you who want to work up an eye-catching gleam on your tresses. Be warned, however, that a few desultory strokes will not accomplish what you're aiming at.

But the dullest hair, if painstakingly brushed, will yield a luster within a week's time. To whip up luster, single out a strand of hair at a time and stroke first up, then down. When one wrist gets tired, switch your brush to the other hand.

Apply the most strokes to top hair. Here's where gleam has the best chance to dazzle. One girl with dazzling hair — dressed to hug her head like a silken cap — claims that she gives the top layer an extra 50 strokes after she winds up a 15-minute stint of all-over brushing.

now reads aloud in class, and the teacher is planning to have her read before a visitor as soon as she is quite willing.

Bereft Of Voice

Another timid child became so frightened when spoken to by a rather stern teacher that he could not read. His mother went to see the teacher and told her that the boy was affected in somewhat the same way by his father's austere manner and gruff voice. The mother said, "Tom's throat fills up and he can't read. Try a little gentleness and praise; he will then get rid of his fear and be able to read." The teacher tried this. It worked out just as Tom's mother had said it would.

GERRY'S Chatter Column

Where To Chat After Shopping

Easter is early this year, and let's hope that the mild weather will soon be here to allow us to sport our "NEW LOOK". The fashion shows have already started, and the stores are beginning to look very attractive with all the new Spring styles. From now on there will be more mornings spent shopping, which is bound to leave one a bit limp. Now, I know of nothing more wearisome than, after having spent a few hours admiring lovely clothes, or listening to a very bright, spirited commentator discoursing on the new styles to come, and then crowding into street cars or buses, possibly to stand all the way home, and then finally have to pick something up for lunch. Well, ladies, the next time you have to spend the morning down town, bring your companion with you to THE MOUNT ROYAL HOTEL CAFETERIA, to enjoy that Spring-like atmosphere, delicious food. I especially recommend their salads, which, after all, are sufficient in themselves if one has dinner at night. And, when you arrive at the cashier and learn how inexpensive this delightful lunch is to cost you, besides the convenience of having a bus girl carry your tray to where ever you wish to sit, you will agree with me that THIS is the solution for the lunch hour rush. Besides you are able to sit and chat without feeling that someone is waiting for you to vacate the table. As I have told you before I consider this spot "MY" eating place, the only one in town where economy, nourishing food and congenial surroundings can be had for so little. Plus the delightful music of Dorothy Perron at the Hammond organ, piped into the cafeteria for lunch and dinner.

'Treating Your Peter'

The most famous strain of the Hartz Mountain Canaries in Germany, is what is called the "Trute strain". Some years ago a poor miner named Trute kept as a hobby quite a large number of these Hartz Mountain birds, as there was a ready sale for the better singers, this miner in his spare time trained his birds, and finally succeeded in producing a number of songsters which in competition swept everything before them. The "Trute strain" soon became the rage, while the miner unwilling to reveal his secret of training his birds, sold many at high prices. It is from them that the Trute strain was developed, and the very finest singers came from the Hartz Mountains. Now maybe your little "Peter" can trace his ancestry back to the "Trute strain", and if so, only the best of bird food should be his daily diet, which is BROCK'S BIRD SEED, and just watch him call for his BROCK'S TREAT, how they like to nibble at this delicacy, and with its yeast content, you are assured that the bird is receiving the proper vitamins for producing its brilliant tones. There is a treat in every package of BROCK'S BIRD SEED. Hang the canary's cage near the window, but preferably off a little to one side, where the bird will not be in direct sunshine, and away from draughts. If your canary is not singing, or if you think there is something wrong with him, write to Mavis Trill, care of Nicholson & Brock Ltd., 125 George St., Toronto, Ont., and she will gladly advise you on what to do, free of any cost or obligation on your part.

Let's Go Back Into the Attic

Have you ever noticed while looking through magazines that various types of objects are being used today for lamp bases? Only last week I noticed an old army rifle, set onto a base to form part of a floor lamp to be used in a play room. I am sure those of you having an old fashioned attic will find all kinds of odd objects that had been placed there for no other reason than that they were too valuable to throw out, or have some sentimental value. I know while passing along Sherbrooke Street on the bus, you must have noticed at one time or another the unusual lamp bases in Barbara Shuster's windows. Miss Shuster, whose shop is situated at 1390A Sherbrooke Street West, in the Sherbrooke Apartments on the ground floor, has an original mind when it comes to designing lamps. If you have any old wine bottles, vinegar jars, or lanterns, coal oil lamps, plain or decorative, bring them to Miss Shuster and let her use them to create a modern lamp for you, and she will also design the proper shade, and in shapes that you will be enchanted with. There is the most exquisite Ming China tea caddy made into a beautiful lamp that some one may just be looking for. If you are only interested in having shades made, then you will be delighted with Barbara Shuster's designs.

Concert Series Planned For Vets

The Scripture Foundation is sponsoring several concerts under the direction of Margaret Scripture, for sick Veterans, Shut-ins and the Under-Privileged. Winifred Bambrick, world-renowned harpist will play two groups of numbers. Grace Forrest, pianist accompanist will preside at the piano. Margaret Scripture, soprano, will be the soloist and Dr. A. E. Cliffe, Author and Lecturer will give a short address on "Lessons in Living" at the Queen Mary Veterans Hospital Auditorium, on Wednesday night, April 7th.

Several organizations as a group and many individuals are presenting door prizes and securing candy bars for the Veterans and are assisting at the concert as hosts and hostesses to the Sick Veterans.

The Scripture Foundation which includes Literature, Music Art and Philanthropy is a world-wide service to encourage everybody everywhere to do something for somebody every day.

The visiting of the sick and shut-ins and under-privileged with a song and cheery smile is as old as the hills and as modern as the Atomic Bomb. Regardless of race, creed or colour, The Scripture Foundation aim is to endeavor to unite all people for the betterment of humanity.

A vacuum cleaner lags on the job when the dust bag is clogged with dirt. Empty the bag after each use, and brush it inside and out. Never wash it.

An English Sea-Horse

More and more people are discovering what lovely objects there are on sale at The C.S.L. Gift Shop, 1480 Sherbrooke St. W., near Guy, and also the fact that this is not an exclusive shop for prices, only for quality. Last week after leaving the bus at Guy Street, I was surprised to see how many ladies were going to visit "The Shop" on La Rue Sherbrooke. This shop is continually receiving new merchandise that probably you have just been searching for, so drop in some day. I'm sure many of you are interested in Moorcroft ware, and if so you will find some beautiful vases coming in three sizes. Here is a smart idea for a gift — a small chrome-plated cocktail shaker having four cups, all fitting very snugly into a leather case, complete for $10.00. Some new stemware has just been received from England, it is White Friars glass, coming in different sizes, being extremely plain in design. While on the subject of glasses, how about an English Sea-Horse bottle stopper adjuster? This is rather a clever gadget to have around as it will seal any size bottle, also there is a bottle opener attached, which has been molded into the shape of a Sea-Horse, very attractive, for $2.50. If you visit the handicraft room in the rear of The Shop, you will be surprised at all the smart ideas that are on display here. Have you ever thought of using hand woven material for drapes? Come in and see the colorful combinations that are to be found.

An old lady's advice on choosing a gardener: "Look at his trousers. If they're patched in the knees, you want him; if they're patched in the seat, you don't."

Rare Oils And Spices Travel From Afar To Perfume Maker

There is a narrow house down in the Hammersmith Road in London, England, where one can sniff and sniff and not be counted ill-mannered. In fact, that is the first thing everyone does who passes through the green door.

This door leads to the Picot House, where many things from many different parts of the world go to make a bottle of perfume.

From herb garden and jungle, from arctic sea and tropical desert, from places as far apart as France and the Philippines, Iceland and India, come drums of raw materials.

Months, or even years, later, after skillful blending, freezing, filtering, maturing, bottling in cut glass and crystal, the perfumes, nestling in white quilted satin, travel to many parts of the world to earn needed foreign currency for Britain.

The export goal for Picot has been stepped up to 50 per cent of production in accordance with the nation-wide appeal for more and more exports. Some of the perfume returns to the lands which have grown and sent the original raw materials. From Baghdad and Teheran, for instance, come spices of the Orient. Back to these Near Eastern lands go the crates of bottled perfumes.

Eleven thousand materials are used in this alchemy. Precious attar of roses from Bulgaria, jasmine from France (twice the price of platinum), ambergris from arctic whales, vetiver from Indian and the Seychelles Islands—these grass, patchouli from Singapore are but a few of the names on the bottles which line the laboratory.

If you are planning to have a big bowl of sliced, chilled fresh fruit or an attractively arranged tray of whole fresh fruit for dessert, add this very different touch made with baker's doughnuts. Cut each doughnut crosswise into 2 rings. Sprinkle cut surface with light-brown sugar and cinnamon. Brown under broiler until golden-brown and bubbly. Arrange on heated plate; serve at once.

dampened and smoothed with an iron. Then the hundreds of tiny quilting stitches will create a pleasing design on the front as well as on the seamless sheen of the back. So both sides of such a spread can be enjoyed, bringing in a nice decorating change at any time.

HINTS ON Fashions

Here is a gay red wool cape for spring that can also pinch hit for evening wear. This one is a good representative of a most popular and new fashion. It has a black taffeta shoulder yoke that ties in a strong bow at the neck. A narrow cuff of the fabric outlines the yoke. The cape is lined in black taffeta and is shown over a black taffeta afternoon dress.

Hand-made Quilts May Be Reversible

As a rule treasured, hand-made quilts are used and displayed on one side only. Yet there is a very easy way to make the back of a quilt almost as attractive as the front, thereby providing a reversible, dual-purpose heirloom. Instead of buying white percale or broadcloth by the yard and sewing together three widths of the material, purchase a wide percale sheet for the backing.

First, the hems of the sheet are ripped out. The hem creases are ture of privileges and responsibilities," he stated.

He then went on to describe the word "Citizen" historically, dating back to the early tribes and ending with the meaning of the word as we know it today. He also stressed the point that when you're a Canadian citizen, you are also a British subject.

Dr. M. Winspear Addresses NDG Charter Day Luncheon

By JOAN FARLEY

"Young Women of 1948" was the theme of the address given by Dr. Mary Winspear, at the 26th. Annual Charter Day Luncheon of the N.D.G. Women's Club, which took place in the ballroom of the Mount Royal Hotel, on March 5th.

Dr. Winspear, for three years Dean of Women at the University of Alberta, and now head of West-on school, in Westmount, was introduced by Mrs. V. Muir, President of the N.D.G. Women's Club, who gave an outline of Dr. Winspear's life. Mrs. Muir also expressed the hope of having a "Mass Rally" of all clubs in Montreal.

"The women of today are all involved in mankind. There is no isolation what-so-ever of the modern woman," were the words emphasized by Dr. Winspear. She also reviewed women and women's aim in life from the early date of 1748 to the present time.

Women in 1748, and on through the Victorian Age, had the same psychological instincts. Their own resolve in life was to lessen the amount of bachelors available. Their entire view and out-look on life was one of extreme dependability on the male sex.

Dr. Winspear stated that women were always isolated. Education was an actually minor incident, while "swooning, weeping and an artificial behavior," was well practised and at times perfected almost to an art.

By 1928, Dr. Winspear continued, circumstances began to change. Times became more hectic and unsettled, and gradually the woman of today began to take form.

Dr. Winspear then went on to describe the woman of today. "They are frank, willing to learn about life scientifically, and have a high standard of behavior, but they do not want to accept responsibility?"

"What the parents of today should do to aid the parents of tomorrow, is to try and develop in our children, a direct sense of humour to relieve the tension that now prevails amongst them. They take life and life's problems much too seriously. Relaxing is the only antidote."

Dr. Winspear was then thanked by Mrs. Harry Maude.

The soloist, Mr. Harry Maude, bass-baritone, sang four entertaining songs, accompanied by Mrs. Mossatti.

Luncheon was served previous to the address.

Decoratively Speaking

By FRANCIS JAMES

Dear Miss James:

Would you please give me some advice on the decoration of a bedroom for an eight-year has a pale pink background with a pale blue stripe. We are going to replace this and would like suggestions for a suitable paper. The furniture consists of a large crib which we are going to discard, a chest of drawers, and a wardrobe which we painted in cream with pink bunny transfers. I'd like to keep these since they are still in good condition, but am planning on repainting them. Could you suggest a suitable color? I would also appreciate your advice on a bed and bedspread for our child.

The room is quite small (9' x 12') with a dormer window facing north. At present the curtains are cream voile but I would like to change these. We have had two rag rugs on the floor—one in pale pink, the other in pink and blue. Do you think these are too babyish for a girl's room?

Mrs. N. A. M.

Dear Mrs. N. A. M.:

Beginning with the question of wallpaper, your youngster will probably want a complete change from the former nursery-like wall-covering. With an eye to the small window and the northern exposure, I would suggest something in pale yellow and a delicate lacy-green background.

Using this as your theme, you could then turn your attention to the new bed and bedspread. For the bed I would suggest the continental type. So many attractive things can be done with it. One of the most attractive, and practical for your purposes, would be a pleated skirt extending from the top of the box-spring to the floor. This could be done in a plain green fabric to blend with the green in the wallpaper pattern or in a plaid of pale yellow and green. For the spread proper you could use unbleached cotton, made up in three sections. This would provide two seams which could be piped in the fabric of the skirt.

For window treatment the tie-back drapes in unbleached cotton, trimmed again with the skirt fabric, would be your best choice.

If the recess in the wall beneath the window is deep enough, you could make interesting use of this space by building in a knee-hole desk for future homework. Or, if she's the ultra-feminine type, you could delight her heart by building a dressing table here. For the skirt, use the fabric of the bed skirt and pleat it or gather it according to its texture.

As to the chest of drawers and the wardrobe—why paint them in a different color? I would, of course discard the pink bunny transfers and either leave them plain or get other transfers of flowers or birds in greens and yellows.

The present colors or your rugs are a bit babyish—but these rag rugs dye easily. A good color, I think, would be green in a fairly deep tone to blend with the wallpaper pattern and other green touches in the room.

Happy smiles light the faces of these Montreal children as they enjoy morning milk period at their school. In fifty-five schools in Greater Montreal free milk is distributed daily to underprivileged children through the Progress Club Milk Fund, which has provided more than 3,000,000 bottles of free milk during the past sixteen years.

Dipping Hems, Spring Shades Shown At Shaar Zion Revue

Fabulous mink coats, gay print, sophisticated, and Gibson girl dresses, tailored and ballerina suits, bright coloured shorties, and evening gowns, were part of the fashion show that took place at the Shaar Zion Synagogue, on Tuesday, March 9th, and sponsored by the Shaar Zion Sisterhood. Greetings were made by Mrs. I. Beinhaker, who introduced the commentator, Mrs. F. Alexander.

The accompanist was Mrs. A. Benjamin, former music teacher.

The clothes were supplied by Ruth Gordon, furs by Alexander, complimentary flowers by Cecil's, hats by Ethel Modes, and accessories by Leathercraft Mfg.

Types of suits shown were tailored, ballerina, and one bell skirt type. The bell skirt number was a yellow-lime coloured suit with a fitted and not too high waisted jacket. Another enchanting ensemble was a grey tailored suit with a pencil slim skirt.

Wool and print dresses, cocktail, sophisticated, feminine, and sport dresses in various styles, were the order, while a black veiled ballerina length and style, gained much attention. Another item appeared. It was a black whirl skirt dress with dipping hem-line at the back.

Hats, also were one of the features. The trend seems to be in large and flowered hats, while the Gibson girl hats, are also in vogue.

Previous to the show, a desert luncheon was served.

Ticket conveners for this event were, Mesdames C. Rosenheck, S. Rosenthal, and I. Stein, while the program committee was, Mesdames M. Caplan, C. Goldstein, and C. R. Gross.

There is still a strong vogue in Paris for all-the-shoulder décolletage. Jacques Heim's evening dresses own to Victorian necklines which emphasize the new sloping shoulders.

Another interesting neckline for evening is one which fits high in the front and is cut down in a deep point almost to the waist at the back.

Children Ask Popular Play "Little Women" At Vic. Hall

The Children's Theatre, Montreal's talented juveniles directed by Dorothy Davis and Violet Walters, has for the past fifteen years, endeavored to give the theatre-minded children of Montreal, the type of plays which appeals to them, and the directors of the Children's Theatre asked for suggestions last season for the forthcoming production. Hundreds of young people wrote in asking for the play "Little Women", which indicates that the charm and wholesomeness of Louisa M. Alcott's famous story has retained its popularity throughout the years.

It is the story of the March family, of Jo, the heroine, 15, a lovable tomboy, which will give Shirley Grant her first big opportunity in a major role, of 16 year old pretty Meg, aspiring to be a young lady, to be played by Annette Heller, of Beth, a shy timid girl of 13, played by Ruth Heller, and of Amy, the youngest, whose ambition is to be an artist.

Amy will be portrayed by Elizabeth Kraminer, who will be remembered for some of her former Children's Theatre successes, notably as Judy in "Daddy Long Legs". Willa McKillop will be seen as Mrs. March and Gloria Wolfe as Hanna, and Myrna Rapoport as Aunt March. The role of Laurie will be played by George Kasatchenko, and the other male members of the cast are Walter Wakefield, Cyril Berlin, Don McMullen and Bernard McMurray.

The adventures and experiences of the March family in their fine old New England home, make the kind of play that every boy and girl loves, as well as adults. The performances takes place on Saturday afternoon, March 20th, at Victoria Hall.

Allow For Shrinkage When Buying Sheets

Before you shop for sheets measure your beds. Follow these suggestions for getting the best-fitting size:

Sheet Length. Sheets may be purchased in lengths of 90, 99, 108, and 113 inches. The 108-inch length usually is most satisfactory. Although 108 inches may seem long for a 72-inch mattress, you must deduct for hems, shrinkage in laundering, and covering the depth of the mattress at the head and foot. This leaves only 6 or 7 inches to tuck under the mattress at each end. A 90-inch sheet will allow less than 3 inches tuck-under at each end of a 72-inch mattress and practically none for a 75-inch mattress.

Excellent Musical, Comedy Program At Seville

AT THE MONKLAND STARTING SATURDAY

Maureen O'Hara and Rex Harrison are involved in a tumultuous romance in "The Foxes of Harrow" the filmization of Frank Yerby's best-seller novel of conflict and violence in early New Orleans which opens a four day run starting Saturday at the Monkland Theatre. Added attraction brings Edmond O'Brien, Ella Raines and William Bendix in the Universal-International presentation of the murder mystery packed full of thrills and romance, "The Web."

"The Foxes Of Harrow" "The Web" At Monkland

Charged with the blood and fire of Frank Yerby's sensational best-Fox's eagerly-awaited film version of "The Foxes of Harrow" selling novel, Twentieth Century-opens Saturday at the Monkland Theatre. From all advance reports, the film, which stars Rex Harrison and Maureen O'Hara with an outstanding supporting cast, is being acclaimed as one of the most exciting novel-to-screen triumphs Hollywood has yet achieved. Once again the studio, that has been pre-eminent in the filmization of outstanding books, is said to have scored a smashing success with this rousing story of passion and conflict in pre-Civil War New Orleans days.

Rarely has a first novel by any author won the phenomenal success of "The Foxes of Harrow" which, for a period of an entire year, has stood high among the country's ten best-sellers.

Set in Violent Era of Early New Orleans

"The Foxes of Harrow" is set against the background of our country's most flamboyant era. New Orleans, through the troubled days between 1825 and the Civil War, was a city of white-hot passions and animosity that stemmed from the dazzling social world of the Creole aristocracy whose plantations dotted the banks of the Mississippi.

It is into this fabulous world that there comes Stephen Fox; he of the angel-look and cunning hand. Ostensibly a gambler, he is dashing, daring and reckless. His resources: a ten-dollar gold piece, a pearl stick-pin — and an indomitable passion for power.

Wanda Tuchock's screenplay unfolds the surging drama of his climb to power and his ruthless battle to win and build "Harrow", the greatest manor house and plantation in Louisiana. It also tells the story of the three women who love him, all in different ways: the proud and beautiful Odalie, who is repulsed by his savagery, and yet is drawn to him and to a bitter destiny forged by fate at its cruelest; gentle Aurore, Odalie's sister who hopefully longs for Stephen's affections; and the voluptuous Desiree who is forced to remain in the background of his life, suffering heartbreak and social ostracism to be near him.

Added Feature

"The Web" is a romance-murder story that starts off with a wallop and maintains a high pitch of excitement every minute until the fade-out on the last scene. The Universal-International film co-stars Edmond O'Brien, Ella Raines, William Bendix and Vincent Price.

Love interest is provided by Miss Raines and O'Brien who also busy themselves trying to solve two murders. In the process they manage to entangle themselves in a network of circumstantial evidence that seems sure to send them both to the chair until Bendix, as the fox-dumb police lieutenant, comes through with an intriguing twist at the closing of the yarn to slap the blame on Price and leave Ella and Ed free to entangle themselves once more — this time in the network of love.

Black and white will be smart for Spring. If the vogue could only last until platform-writing time.

The delightful picture that has been so thoroughly enjoyed by movie-goers everywhere starts Saturday at the Seville Theatre. "It Happened On Fifth Avenue" is considered to be one of the funniest pictures ever to come out of Hollywood. Victor Moore is priceless as the hobo who takes up winter residents in the mansion of an industrial tycoon while the later is vacationing down south. He then proceeds to help other unfortunates who are in distress and in the end straightens out the private affairs of his new acquaintances. Charlie Ruggles is as usual very funny; Gale Storm is beautiful to see and possesses a delightful singing voice; Ann Harding is lovely as her mother; and Don DeFore is tops in his role of the G-I fighting for the veterans' rights.

The added attraction is a grand musical-comedy "Down to Earth" filmed in lavish Technicolor. Heading a wonderful cast is Rita Hayworth.

We'll not take any chance on spoiling your big thrill which will certainly come when you see Rita in an enchanting, wonder-filled musical spectacle. You'll see her dancing as she has never danced before, singing like an angel, oozing glamor from every fold of her breathtaking wardrobe. You'll thrill to the most exciting role Rita has had in years!

You'll discover, that "Down to Earth" is something special in the way of entertainment. It has that imaginative technical perfection that has always been within the grasp of the motion picture industry, that extra something which is the best argument for the existence of movies For it presents the type of diversion to which no other medium could do justice

The film's cast makes most of the happy blending of music and comedy. Larry Parks shares top honors with Miss Hayworth, and the youngster who shot to fame in "The Jolson Story" gives every indication that he means to stay at the top. As Rita's dancing partner, Marc Platt is a brilliant study in rhythm And there are other players who stand out—the distinguished British actor, Roland Culver; in comedy roles, and making the most of them, James Gleason and Edward Everett Horton; for extra glamor.

According to a professor, you can tell a man by the way he leaves his bathtub. If the ring's still there, he's still a boy.

"Odd Man Out" Starting Sat. At The Avenue

In these days of constant superlatives — every product is the world's best—it is indeed difficult to find words to describe the greatness of the film. Seldom in motion pictures does a movie have everything; story, acting, music, direction, sets. But "Odd Man Out" definitely fits into the role of a film that could be no better.

Starting Saturday at the Avenue theatre, the film stars James Mason and Robert Newton, with supporting roles going to Fay Compton, Kathleen Ryan and the unbeatable Dublin Abbey Players.

Mason plays the idealistic leader of an Irish underground army who has escaped from prison. In an attempt to recoup the organization's funds by holding up a linen mill, he is shot and left in the street while his compatriots escape. Wounded and on the run from the police—he accidentally killed a man during the holdup—the picture depicts his eighth hour struggle to return to his friends.

Though Mason is the central figure of the picture, oddly enough it's the people with whom he mingles while in flight that provide the film's drama. They are a queer jumble of oddities. F. J. McCormick as the, half-witted, half-starved little man who wants to sell him to the highest bidder; the drink-crazed artist, played by Robert Newton, who paints him while he is dying; the policeman with legalistic views of innocence debating with the humble parish priest who looks on guilt through different eyes; the ragamuffins and the drunks; but in particular, Kathleen Ryan as the girl who is willing to sacrifice, even life itself, for her man; all join to make it an unforgettable movie.

Second Feature

The added feature is the musical comedy starring Betty Grable in the title role, with talented Dan Dailey, a sure-shot for overnight stardom with his heralded performance in this film, the Technicolor picture, "Mother Wore Tights." It is a true story, based on the happy hilarious life of a pair of lovable hoofers, Myrtle and Frank Burt, a real-life vaudeville team whose adventures were chronicled by their daughter, Miriam Young, in the best-selling biography, "Mother Wore Tights."

As such, the picture is being acclaimed as the true, intimate story of the kind of people who made show business like no other business on earth. A warmly human story, it recounts the merry marital adventures of a (Continued on Page 18)

Canadian children are sure to get the same amount of enjoyment from the production as their "south of the border" cousins.

Action Film Starring Alan Ladd At Snowdon

Film action at its Alan Ladd best will be seen at the Snowdon Theatre starting with Ladd's latest picture, "WILD HARVEST", in which he shares starring honors with Dorothy Lamour, Robert Preston and Lloyd Nolan.

The setting is the novel one of America's great wheat country where giant combine crews battle each other and the elements for the profitable job of harvesting the vast fields of golden grain. Ladd portrays the leader of one such combine crew; Preston and Nolan are his friends and co-workers.

Ladd gives an excellent account of himself as the hard-driving, hard-hitting leader of tough men. For the first time he plays opposite Dorothy Lamour, who has the finest role of her career and the first straight dramatic part she has had in many years. Dorothy is seen as the discontented niece of a farmer. She wants no part of the farm and is determined to leave no stone unturned to get away from it. She thinks Ladd will provide her escape, but when he finds that he must choose between her and the combine crew, he prefers the latter.

Dorothy gets even by marrying his best friend and co-worker, Robert Preston. Over Ladd's objections the crew permits the newlyweds to accompany it, which gives the spiteful Dorothy a chance to heckle Ladd and her husband to such an extent that a blow-up is inevitable. What happens at that point adds to the thrill pile that "Wild Harvest" rolls up from the very start.

Second Feature
The added attraction, the beautiful technicolor film, starring Annabella and Henry Fonda, provides a thrilling mixture of drama, spectacle and surprise, including the spectacular changing of the Guard at Buckingham Palace, home of the English Kings, and the most sensational Derby ever run, with jockey Steve Donoghue riding his most thrilling race.

Annabella, first appears in the prologue, as Marie, a gypsy princess. She marries Leslie Banks, the Earl of Clontarf, who dies on the hunting field five months later. Marie goes back to her gypsies to be told that her descendants will be cursed for her marriage for three generations.

Modern times bring us Annabella as Marie, the great-granddaughter, fleeing from Spain in the midst of revolution to a quieter Ireland, where she can have her horse, "Wings of the Morning," trained for the English Derby. Victory in that would provide her with a dowry to marry her Spanish fiancé.

Kerry Gilfallen, a young Irish trainer played by Henry Fonda, also has a Derby candidate, but he falls in love with Marie, agrees to train "Wings" for the big race, and gives a party for Marie at which John McCormack sings.

When her jockey breaks his leg, Kerry even arranges for his own jockey, Steve Donoghue, to ride Marie's horse, although he knows that victory for Marie may mean defeat not only for his own horse but also for his love for Marie.

talented, hard-working dance team (Miss Grable and Dailey) and their fight to combine a successful hoofing career with the raising of two rambunctious children, played by Mona Freeman and Connie Marshall. And while the picture has been geared to set a new pace in motion picture spectacle and melody appeal (the film introduces six new hit songs destined for hit parade fame) it is primarily devoted to unfolding the private dramas and joys of the Burt family.

It is in this change of focus, that "Mother Wore Tights" marks a radical departure from previous films dealing with theatre people. The main emphasis is not on backstage professional jealousies and trials, but goes beyond the stage door into the intimate lives of show people. It is when the curtain falls that their private dramas and joys really begin.

Beauteous Florence Marly, flame-haired European actress, who had the leading feminine role in "Les Maudits," French film which won the Cannes Festival award as Europe's best motion picture in 1947, is now making her initial Hollywood appearance playing opposite Ray Milland in "Sealed Verdict."

Bing, Bob, Dotty In "Road to Rio" At Westmount

America's number one laugh highwayman — Bing Crosby and Bob Hope — are hitting the road again, this time the merry, merry "Road to Rio". Of course they have for their co-star and co-traveller the luscious Dorothy Lamour, without whom no "Road" picture would be complete.

The comedy, opening Sunday at the Westmount Theatre, is reported to be the funniest of all the three stars' adventures in hilarity. Bing and Bob will be seen as a couple of footloose musicians, Bing a clarinet player and Bob a whiz with the trumpet. For reasons stemming from Bing's interest in pretty girls, the two men are down to their last buck and are forced to do carnival work. When they manage to wreck the place, as only they can, it becomes urgent to leave the country in a hurry.

Without anything to their names but Bing's suit and Bob's circus tights, they stow away on board a luxury liner bound for Rio. They make themselves cozy in a lifeboat from which vantage point they see the lovely Lamour about to commit suicide. Bing hops to the rescue in spite of Bob's frantic efforts to keep him from the inevitable disaster he's sure Dotty represents.

At this point the plot thickens with the discovery that the very rich Dorothy is under the influence of her wicked guardian, portrayed by Gale Sondergaard, who is determined that the girl will marry her brother, even if she has to hypnotize her to get her to go through with it. Dorothy's behavior when under the influence of hypnotism is vastly different from her normal moments, which makes life for Bing and Bob pretty complicated. How they resolve Dorothy's problem and their own is said to make "Road to Rio" reach riotous proportions.

Lending assistance to the hilarious proceedings are Jerry Colonna in a surprise bit, Frank Faylen, the Wiere Brothers and the Andrews Sisters.

Westmount Wins Cage Honours

Cop Junior M.B.L. Crown

Westmount won its first Junior M.B.L. crown when Canadian Converters' defeated Georgian Juniors in two straight games 54-44 and 63-42, thus polishing off the hitherto undefeated Georgians in somewhat easy fashion.

Gordon MacLeod continued his brilliant showing by hipper-dipping 34 points through the hoop and, as one observer remarked, his "Whirling Dervish" tactics had the opposition completely baffled. Jack Dudley was by no means second best, pouring 30 points through the mesh, closely followed by John Field with 27 in the two games. Jim Henderson played outstandingly on guard and also contributed 16 points, while Keith Wray was particularly outstanding on guard in the first game, snaffling rebounds with consummate ease and passing up the floor to his eager team mates.

The first game, played on the Central "Y" floor, was a real hum-dinger, with John Field and Gordon MacLeod leading the way with 21 and 17 points respectively. Ben Tissenbaum with 14 and Meyer Knobovitch with 12 lead the Georgians. The homesters led 24-20 at the half, but this lead was short-lived as the Converters' gradually took the lead early in the second canto on some pretty basket potting by John Field and Gordon MacLeod, to finally win out 54-44.

Dudley Big Gun

The return game on the Westmount Junior High court saw the young Converters' assume a 29-24 margin at the half and then run away from their rivals in easy fashion, racking up 34 points to their opponents' 18. Jack Dudley was the big gun in this tilt with 20 counters, followed by Gordon MacLeod with 17 and Jim Henderson with 12. For the Georgians, Ben Tissenbaum and John Waldie were tops with 14 and 10 respectively.

In the semi-final round, the Converters' polished off the Y.M.H.A. squad 94-70 in a total point two game series, after vanquishing Southwestern "Y" 98-63 in a similar series.

The Westmounters posted 309 points to their opponents' 219 in the six game playoff series, with Gordon MacLeod tallying 96, Jack Dudley 79, and John Field 55 to lead the Converters' to six decisive victories.

At the moment of writing, it is likely that the locals will tangle with the Sherbrooke winners this Saturday, either away or at home.

Scoring Summary

SWEENEY'S IDEA

Lethbridge, Alta. — Addressing an Amateur Athletic Union convention Dave "Sweeney" Schriener, former New York Americans and Toronto Maple Leafs star, gave his idea of what an amateur really is. Now coach of the Lethbridge Maple Leafs, Schriener said an amateur was one who played the sport for the love of it.

Schriener recalled that in the Stanley Cup finals of 1942, the Toronto Leafs were three games down to the Detroit Red Wings and won four in a row to take the cup. At that time, Conn Smythe asked the men what system to use to beat Detroit. Schriener had said: "Let's go out and play hockey like we used to before we were paid for it."

Westm't Ski Club Holds Enjoyable Friday Program

Last Friday evening the Westmount Ski Club held a very enjoyable program with skiing on King George Park followed by refreshments at the Westmount YMCA.

Members of the Westmount Skigulls Club gave a fine display of platoon racing over a course laid out by Kenneth Lindsay. The success of this event should make it possible for the club to arrange regular competitions and instruction in slalom skiing in the future.

The next ski tour of the Westmount Ski Club will be held this Sunday when the members will proceed by bus to the Laurentians and ski in the vicinity of Sun Valley Farm, near St. Adele. The bus will leave the Westmount YMCA at 8.30 a.m. and members are invited to bring their friends.

Ladies to Race

The Westmount Ski Club will be represented in the International Ladies races being held at Mont Gabriel on Saturday and Sunday, March 13 and 14. Ann Bushell, a Junior member of the club, who has performed very well in competition in the Laurentian Zone this season, has been nominated a place on the Canadian team, which consists of eight ladies. This appointment is an important one as it is Ann's first season of racing in Laurentian Zone competitions, and being the Westmount Ski Club's first year it is hoped that the progress of such members will attract many more skiers who wish to improve their skiing by entering competitions.

NO BLOOD NEEDED

Many fans may be under the impression that if a player bleeds, that no matter how the wound was inflicted, a major penalty must be handed out. There is no mention of "blood" in the rules. The rule they are thinking of is 58, paragraph (c) and deals with High Sticks and it reads: "When a player carries or holds any part of his stick above the height of his shoulder so that injury to the face or head of an opposing player results, the Referee shall have no alternative but to impose a major penalty on the offending player." Note again that it says "injury" and that there is no mention of "blood."

THE LAST STRAW

This, to those who have followed with sympathetic interest, the doings of Westmount High's Senior A pucksters this season, must be the last straw.

Last Saturday morning the A larrigans met the school's Senior B squad — and lost! The final count of the exhibition encounter was 3-1.

Dennis Hardy tallied the A boys' sole tally while the B's' counters came from the sticks of Dave Cox, Bruce Simpson and Dave Dorion.

Westmount Pucksters Bow 6-3 To Montreal West

Westmount High's Senior A pucksters wound up their regular schedule in dismal fashion at the House of Selke on Tuesday afternoon when they went down 6-3 to a battling Montreal West sextet.

The Montreal Westers ran roughshod over the Purple and White, ramming home a single counter in the opening period, four more in the middle session to put the game on ice, and a singleton in the abbreviated third period.

Ranson scored the only goal of the first period after ten minutes and 15 seconds of play when he scored on an unassisted effort.

The Westmounters tied it up at the six-minute mark of the second frame when Ingram tallied but then the house fell in on the Purple and White as Cliff

Cochrane and Gord Newhook tallied in rapid succession and then Bill Paterson scored twice — all before the end of the disastrous middle period.

Two For WHS

The Westmounters came fighting back in the final period but they started to play real hockey too late in the game. Ingram scored his second goal of the contest at 1.25 and Graham Nicholson came through with the locals' last goal 15 seconds later.

Paterson made it a hat trick at 2.02 and the completed the scoring.

Old Boys' Game

Next Friday afternoon the school team will clash with the Old Boys at the Forum in what proved last year to be a very entertaining contest.

Golden Glove Show Plans Near Completion

Judging by the performances of some local fighters seen in recent club shows, the 1948 Golden Gloves which is again being sponsored by The Rotary Club of Montreal (Golden Glove Committee), should be better than ever.

Inaugurated in 1935, The Golden Gloves has produced a great many champions who have gone to the top in their respective weight brackets after reverting to the professional ranks, amongst them being Johnny Greco, Gus "Pell" Mell, Harry Harry Hurst and Danny Webb.

Sponsorship of the tourney was handed over to Service Clubs three years ago, when the 1946 Golden Gloves was run off by the University Settlement with great success. Last year, the annual fistic classic was featured by the Rotary Club of Montreal under the guidance of Rotarians Mike Gladney and Frank Lewis and proved such a success that Rotary was immediately requested to take over again for this year's affair.

Since the announcement of this year's tourney appeared for the first time three weeks ago, applications have been received in great numbers daily both from local and out of town clubs which will assure an entry list of over 400 fighters.

Elimination meets will be staged similar to those which were run off last year, with the first show scheduled for early in April. Dates for the various club shows will be decided at a meeting called by Rotary which will be held at the Central Y.M.C.A., Drummond Street, on Friday, March 12, commencing at 8 p.m.

Westmount High Wins Ski Meet

Westmount Senior and Juniors Highs' hickory artists swept the honors in the school boy meet held atop Mount Royal last Saturday. The Westmounters took all the points in the downhill and slalom departments with one of the most impressive displays of teen-age skiing seen locally in many a moon.

The chappies from the Senior High, that's the little school below the police station, grabbed most of the points. They ended up with seven team championships. The Junior crew won the other three titles, two slalom and one downhill. For Westmount it was quite a day.

This championship meet climaxed an action-packed season of ski competition for the schools.

St. Leo's Sports

The Academy's classy Senior B Hockey Club, made it four straight city school hockey titles out of four tries since 1944, when they finished on top of the Protestant Association Senior B League. In 1944 St. Leo's won the city hockey honors by defeating West Hill High in the play off and since then have proven an unbeatable combination. The school did not ice a B squad in 1945 but came back strong in 1946 to start a march to three successive city school 'B' championships. For the first time in a number of years it was not necessary for a play off as school senior B competition has narrowed down to one league of fourteen school entries.

This year's team, although not too well favored with strong reserve power, made an impressive showing and were easy the class of their league and as a matter of fact were looked upon as one of the better school hockey aggregations in the city. The team featured a smart passing attack that was backed up by a formidable defence pair in team captain Vince Heney and Louis St. James. Mickey Bourassa, Albert Losita, Pat Palmer, Donald McDonald, Phil Martin, Harold Wolfe and Peter Ciceri formed the Academy's two front line operators and all played sound and consistent hockey throughout the schedule. Bourassa in particular was a standout with his smart play-making and goal getting ability. Neil Walsh, Ernie Sciampacone and Stew McGarr were three boys who did not see as much action as their mates but filled in well when called upon. In goals was the reliable and steady young Bernard Durrille.

With no less than seven regulars due to graduate this year, coach Andy McGillis will be forced to start a rebuilding plan next season.

The Juniors after a bad start in the Junior League, finished the season in fine fashion and last Saturday chalked up their fourth straight win when they shut-out St. Laurent 5 to 0. This little team is deserving of a lot of credit for their fine spirit and sportsmanship and it was nice to see them work their way up from the bottom of the league to finish in a second place tie with Verdun Juniors. It is true barring a few of the bigger boys, not many of them will burn up the ice in Senior B company but at any rate the team can be sure of a winning spirit and this after all is the fundamental aim of all St. Leo's sport program.

St. Leo's Old Boys game is set for Saturday, March 11th at Lachine Arena with the face-off at 11.00 a.m. Tiny Hudon and George Mulligan are rounding up the former Academy hockey stars and are predicting that they will ice a squad that will make this year's champions look like chumps. The first beef of the big game to be played has already been registered with the announcement that George Mulligan is planning to officiate in the game and if this materializes St. Leo's 1948 gang feel that this will be the first time they will be playing against a seven man team.

Two former St. Leo's athletic greats, the Shannon twins Jack and Bill will play defence for the Old Boys. It is not known yet whether Jack will be accompanied by the recently elected Queen of his Fraternity at McGill, Miss Nancy Fagan but at any rate if the pretty miss does show up we will ask her to do the honors of facing off the puck.

St. Leo's Junior Ski Club will be up at St. Sauveur this Sunday to engage in the Downhill and Slalom events of the Annual Interscholastic Ski Competition. Neil Potter looks like the Saints best bet to take top honors in these two events.

The Boxing season officially opened Thursday but it is yet too early to size up the material at hand. The school's new Boxing ring is a smart looking job as it nears completion.

Vaughan McVey, is probably one of the most improved hockey players on the Junior team. Vaughan played Senior B football and is also expected to shine in boxing and right now looks like a strong candidate for St. Leo's Junior All Around Athletic award.

Silver Cross Women Hear Talk

Advice to buy only advertised products, sold under known trademarks, in the field of plastics was given Tuesday night to the Montreal chapter, Silver Cross Women of Canada, in a meeting held at Victoria Hall in Westmount.

"Plastics are certainly not miracle materials; they are of many different types, as varied as different types of woods, and their correct applications are as restricted," the women were told by William E. Lynes, advertising manager of Canadian Resins and Chemicals Limited, manufacturer of Vinylite plastics.

"Consumer satisfaction with products so comparatively new and so varied as plastics relies heavily on the experience and dependability of the company which produces the consumer articles," said Mr. Lynes. "Generally speaking, a company which puts its trade-name on the product has taken care in the development and the manufacture of that article, and is sure that it will give satisfactory service to the buyer."

The phrase "genuine plastic" in itself means nothing, the Silver Cross Women were told, because each type of plastic has its correct applications and its limitations, and an informative label on each article of plastic should state the material from which it is made, the name of the manufacturer, and what can be expected from that material.

Illustrating his talk by an exhibition of plastic articles which included lampshades, upholstery covering, women's and children's shoes, table cloths, toys and luggage, Mr. Lynes emphasized: "The plastics industry is trying to bring about less talk of miracle products and more realistic understanding—fewer people believing that plastics are a cure-all and more refusing to condemn all plastics because some have been incorrectly used."

is a poignant and heart-warming drama of a boy's devotion to his horse. It is also one of the most thrilling action pictures this reviewer has even seen.

Impressive with its many sequences of visual splendor, "The Red Stallion" tells the story of a youngster who trains his horse in order to sell it to a racing stable owner and get enough money to keep his grandmother from selling her ranch.

Highlight sequence is the night fight in the mountains between the courageous stallion and a vicious bear.

Leading players Robert Paige, Noreen Nash and Ted Donaldson are expert in their performances with youngster Ted especially winning in his sympathetic role. Jane Darwell, Academy Award-winning actress, Guy Kibbee, Ray Collins and Willie Best head the supporting cast with performances to match those of the leading players.

Of course, quite a few air force personnel got their faces smashed in crack-ups. But a girl... well, girls have a very special feeling about their faces. And when they brought the tall slender WD corporal into hospital—one of the eight of twenty-seven left alive out of a flight that crashed between Vancouver and Prince Rupert—she was about the most unrecognizable Airwoman still breathing in this country.

They flew Helen—and Mary, another WD with a badly burned back—to Toronto's Christie Street Military Hospital, for skin grafts and burn treatment. A Red Cross worker told me she'd never forget it. The Red Cross room is in the heart of the wards, next door to the room those girls had.

For weeks workers just tiptoed in and out on their rounds—writing letters, supplying stamps, cigarettes and chocolate bars to the patients.

'No Visitors'

One operation followed another through the weary months in which doctors built a new face for Helen and treated Mary's back. The girls became great friends with the Red Cross workers. But they didn't want to meet people from the 'outside', right then. Even when the 'No Visitors' sign went down and Air Force boys and other vet. patients wheel-chaired and crutch-tapped in, they were still shy about seeing 'just people'.

The Red Cross was different. Those women in the deep blue smocks were part of their own submerged world of pain and illness, yet attached to the country outside. They did the little things the girls needed—feminine bits of shopping, letters and messages, planned small celebrations.

New Trades

As the girls progressed, going from one hospital to another for treatment, the Red Cross was always there. Supplying ambulances, at first—later, escorts to hockey games, concerts, plays, offering quiet practical assistance whenever it was needed.

Today Helen and Mary are learning new trades. Helen can no longer teach physical education or model. Mary cannot continue her typing, because of permanently stiffened fingers. But while DVA prepares them for their new lives, the Red Cross still stands by as they do with all our Canadian veterans in hospitals everywhere. In proof that we, the people, have not forgotten.

Red Cross Services include: Blood Transfusion, Outpost Hospitals, Aid to Sick and Disabled Veterans, Treatment for Crippled Children, Disaster Relief, Nutrition Services, Home Nursing Courses, Swimming and Water Safety, etc.
