AVIATION HERE AND AROUND THE WORLD

Let's consider small airports

By Larry McInnis

This is Tourist Education Week in and around these parts. The week is planned to beat the tourist traffic and educate the localites on how to help tourists. And keep in mind, tourists bring real, green money with them.

The point is, tourists can come here by many means — boat, train, car, walk, and even by aircraft. I don't mean the commercial airliners, but the private, everyday aircraft. The only trouble is, the American traveller is in for a disappointment if he wants to fly-in here.

Two years ago the Customs Department set up an office at Cartierville Airport. It operated for a few months, then folded. As a matter of fact, I was the first one to go through the new office on a trip back from the police station in New York, where I and my crew had been arrested for "illegal" entry. (Actually, it was a mistake. We just landed at an airfield without customs clearance, and we were fined for "our" little error. Anyway, the Cartierville office closed in the Fall, never to re-open.

An American air traveller now must come into busy Dorval to clear Customs. Then, if he doesn't want to pay high parking fees there, he must fly the couple of miles to Cartierville.

If this traveller gets in after dark, he must leave his aircraft in Dorval overnight — Cartierville is not lit — and drive into town. He must drive out again the next day to ferry the plane to Cartierville.

This seems like a lot of trouble. And it is!

In short, let's get the Customs facilities back at Cartierville.

A fly-in fad has hit the Montreal Flying Club. But they too have a problem — where to fly-in to.

An enterprising committee of two, Ed Gates and Jacques Goulet, has been trying to find some airfields within reasonable range that are different. Know what? They've come up with about a dozen fields not marked on any air map. Some are paved, some are grass, some are public and some are privately owned. But they're there.

Another point: perhaps these smaller fields could get Federal, Provincial or Municipal aid for improvements.

The day has come when an airstrip, no matter how small, is a definite necessity for any municipality. Millions are spent on roads, but nothing on airfields. Air travel is here, and for a small investment any municipality can drag in businesses, businessmen, tourists, parties, and the like.

Besides, it's handy to have in case of an emergency, like a child being taken quickly to an out-of-town hospital.

IATA officials, speaking in Montreal, warn of the dangers of rushing headlong into the supersonic age.

They're right!

Supersonic air travel is bound to come, but there are many problems to be solved first, such as communications, navigational aids, and traffic control.

But the biggest problem they have to solve is how to get in from, and out to, the airport in a reasonable amount of time, and at a reasonable fee.

Furthermore, people like to be independent. Bigger and faster planes will mean fewer flights, but the airlines will never be able to keep everyone happy.

Fossils show is set to go

The Fossils Club 30th annual spring show will be produced by E. G. Kirwan and directed by G. F. Poirier. The book committee, under F. A. Dawson, has come up with an unusual plot, with 12 original songs and seven production numbers.

Art Morrow has made the musical arrangements and will direct the Glee Club and orchestra.

Proceeds from the Spring Show, opening April 25 at West Hill Auditorium, will go to Fossils' welfare work.

Tickets are available at Mitchell Photo Supply, Mitchell's Electrical appliances or telephone OX. 7-2333.

Unity Boys' Club

By MAURICE MARIASINE

Confirmation was received early this week from Rotary International Assembly headquarters at Lake Placid, N.Y. that the Unity Boys' Club Talent Parade has been booked for a performance at the Lake Placid Club on Sunday, May 7th. This marks the second appearance of the local Talent Club on behalf of Rotary International since June 1959 and the sixth booking before American and International audiences during the past two years.

Assembly Manager Paul E. Jaynes of Chicago, Illinois and his Committee scouted the Talent Parade's Variety Show recently at the Queen Mary Veteran's Hospital and on the basis of that performance the following acts were selected to perform at Lake Placid:

The Unity Rockettes, a precision dance group including: Diane Cahill, Pat Mumford, Erlana Fraser, Pat Collins, Deanne Scanlan, Linda Vaux, Catherine McMahon, Shirley McMahon, Carolyn Scanlan and Judy Todd; Boy Song Stylist Michael Ottier; The Irish Jig with Diane Bateman; Gerald Febrille and his Accordian; La Parisienne Francine Roch; Mr. Tap Toe Matthew Velli; Song and Dance Star Janice Folco; the Starlites; the Highland Laddie Ricky Johnston; Vocalist Hannah Leubhol; Lady of Spain Judy Todd; Hawaiian and Spanish Dancer Judy Matthews; Vocalist Carolyn Scanlan; Songs of Italy with Celia Orsini; at the Console, Will Tiemersma; Trumpet and Song with Billy Walker; Percussion Specialist Billy Smith and the Charleston Group. OTTAWA HIGHLIGHTS

A party of 55 club members and club leaders travelled to Ottawa last Saturday and had a real fine outing. Three Unity Basketball teams played versus the Ottawa Boys' Club and won two out of three games taking the overall aggregate 102-68.

Bob Fox-Decent's Travel Club and John Fleming's Street Clubs thoroughly enjoyed a visit and tour of the Parliament Buildings, Government House Grounds and the Canadian War Museum.

Many of the group enjoyed a swim in the Ottawa Boys' Club spacious swimming pool.

Robert "Mugs" McDonough joined the exclusive athlete's stitch brigade, when team mate Fred Lewington accidentally got in his way — the result, 5 stitches at the Ottawa Civic Hospital but even worse was the fact that Bob didn't get a chance to play the game — the principle reason he went to Ottawa.

Readers Digest

Large, new taxpayer moves to Westmount

Just for kicks on Monday, we took Reader's Digest up on its public invitation to "drop in for a look around". We should have brought our own cups of tea.

Receptionist, Denise Cadieux, gestured pigeonwise, and said, "We just moved in this morning so you can imagine what we're going through."

Mrs. Namona Thorley, who came down to the lobby to get us, fluttered her fingers over the elevator buttons with, "Where are we? I can't remember what floor we're on." Picking her way over boxes, "We are in an absolute shambles. You have to be careful." Past signs of copy paper scotch taped to the wall, Advertising, Personnel, Lounge.

Then she introduced us to Editor Douglas How, 10 Rosemount avenue, one of at least three Westmounters working in the latest addition to Westmount's collection of large buildings. The other two are President E. Paul Zimmerman and Editor Pierre Ranger, 542 Cote St. Antoine road.

Questions on parking and how Reader's Digest would affect Westmount led us past a giant sign, "Take Your Coats To Your Desks, the Cloakroom Will Not Be Opened Until Later!" through the Fulfillment department (where subscription orders are filled) to the strains of soft music to the office of Howard Candlish, the fact man who engineered the move. Mr. Candlish leaned back in his red chair, one of about 300 red chairs in the building exactly matching an equal number of red doors, and thumped out the facts. "We have on site parking space for about 90 cars, much more than we need. Thanks to Westmount's stringent zoning laws; we have to have 40 per cent of our net office space devoted to parking. There is no ingress or egress on Western or St. Catherine street, it is all on Redfern avenue. Reader's Digest does not own any vehicles. We have a contract carter who keeps his trucks somewhere else. Possibly 35 or 40 of our 400 employees bring their own cars so you see we have plenty of parking room left for the time being. We can still put on two more stories, the building is four stories in the front and two in the back, and keep within the law on parking."

"Let's see, what else would you want to know? The architect is R. Fisher. We start landscaping and our roof garden the first of May. We should be all settled in a couple or three weeks."

"Probably, other than being the employer of a substantial number of people, the single largest effect on Westmount from our moving in will be the gain of another large taxpayer. It will be a whopping amount.

Back down and out with Doug How who added that there should be a big spurt in the lunch business of the Caledonia Curling Club, eight of the staff having dined there that day.

Librarian says

Every week Library Week with Westmount readers

The close of Canadian Library Week, April 16 to 22, will return to Westmount Library its head librarian, Miss Kathleen R. Jenkins, 4643 Sherbrooke street west. Miss Jenkins, who has been with the Westmount Library for the past 34 years, is the first librarian to serve as executive director of the national effort to get Canadians to read more books.

"She has been on leave of absence for three months now," remarked Miss Margaret Good, assistant librarian, 52 Academy road. "It has been quite an honor for Westmount but we will be glad to have her back."

Miss Good, who admits to 30 year with the library, is in charge of research facilities at the library. She said, "No, we aren't doing anything special for Canadian Library Week. Every week is library week in Westmount. Our busiest months of the year are March and October and the busiest day of the week is Saturday. Last year our total circulation was 268,129. Our membership consists of 14,669 Westmount residents and 689 people from outside. Where do the non-residents come from who think it is worth $10 a year to use our library? All over, from the Lakeshore, Granby, Boucherville, Montreal West, Montreal, just about every community is represented."

When asked about parking, Miss Good began, "That is a sore point. Most people who come to the library only stay for ten to fifteen minutes so our one-hour parking facilities should be adequate. Where we run into difficulty is with the overflow from Victoria Hall parking. When there is a function going on there, people will get into a library parking space and stay there so that people coming to the library have to park several blocks away."

In answer to my question, Miss Good said, "Before we got our new extension in 1959 we were pretty crowded but now we are quite content. It is not that we are smugly satisfied to sit back and rest with what we have. Every library always has things it wants and needs to improve its service to the public. But, we are very well treated by the City of Westmount. A library is important in a city like Westmount where the parents are well educated, read a good deal themselves and want their children to read."

"Speaking of children, our new extension caused a big spurt in the use of the children's book section. Circulation of children's books increased by 71% during the past five years, a good deal of it since our extension opened. The population and public school registration in Westmount has shown little change during that time so the only answer is that the children

Hit-runs plague city; police launch inquiry

A minor plague of hit-run drivers struck Westmount last weekend. Between 4:15 Saturday afternoon and 12:35 Monday morning three cars were struck by drivers who departed from the scene without leaving their particulars. Police have charged one of the hit-runs and are investigating the other cases.

Ben Spears, 4815 Lacombe, reported that on Sunday at 4:15 p.m. as he was proceeding east on The Boulevard, a westbound large green late model car, seemingly not fully under control, swung over onto his side of the road, sideswiping his left rear fender, then continued on. Said Mr. Spears, "The driver seemed to be in a very excited state by the look on his face."

No licence number was obtained. On Sunday evening about 7:21, Lajos Kocsis, 1125 Greene avenue, told police he was proceeding north on Atwater about the center lane, "when for no reason another car, coming along on my right side struck me. This was just north of Dorchester. The driver of the other car got out and let me believe he would remain behind while I phoned for the police. When I returned, he had gone."

Mr. Kocsis' right rear door was buckled and his right rear fender pushed in. Police obtained the license number of the vehicle.

Fritz Malenda, 815 Marmier, was stopped for the light on Hollowell street at 12:35 a.m. Monday morning when, he said, "Suddenly, a car making a right hand turn from St. Catherine street south onto Hollowell street struck my car on the left front fender."

In this connection, Rosaire Lemire has been charged with failing to report an accident.

Rotary

Young orators finish course

Five high school students, graduates of the fifth annual Westmount Rotary public speaking course, spoke before the lunch meeting of the club Wednesday. The course, which was started by President Ron Mackay, is run by Ted Harrison.

The first speaker, Jackie Israel, 16, 728 Upper Roslyn avenue, spoke on Teenagers. Jackie is an eleventh grade student at Westmount high school.

She was followed by Paul Durocher, 16, eleventh grade student at St. Leo's Academy where his father, Cyril H. Durocher, taught for 35 years. Paul, who spoke on The Rise of the Colored Nations, is a silver medalist in a recent bilingual public speaking contest sponsored by Le Petit Journal.

Eric Hill, 15, 3762 Westmount boulevard, who is in the tenth grade at Westmount high school, followed with Survival through Understanding. Eric placed fourth in the last speaking contest sponsored by the Star and the Monitor.

Westmount's role in Greater Montreal

WESTMOUNT figured in the central role of a CBC program, "Let's Face It," last Thursday.

Its relationship to Montreal was examined.

As Mr. Louis G. Robichaud, QC, pointed out in a Gazette letter yesterday, the program represented Westmount only with persons who are against annexation to Montreal.

We don't believe Mr. Robichaud was suggesting that there is any appreciable body of resident Westmount opinion favoring annexation, but honest persons must admit that he makes two sound points:

(1) Westmount is well run and a main reason is that it is a small city and therefore relatively easy to run; and

(2) Westmount has no purpose in existence other than as a highly desirable residential adjunct of Montreal.

Could Westmount be annexed without losing its identity?

We must here disagree with Mr. Robichaud. Annexed, we would then be part of the admittedly more difficult to run bigger Montreal, would then not be so well run, would lose that essential character and difference which makes Westmount what it is.

No, annexation is not desirable for Westmount. But "Let's Face It!" Westmount must show greater concern for the problems of Greater Montreal, of which it is an inescapable part.

Or else Westmount's interests in these problems are going to be rather roughly trodden upon by other Greater Montrealers who don't happen to be Westmounters.

THEY SAY

No principle is more noble, as there is none more holy, than that of a true obedience.

The Bland report is food for thought

Sir: Food for thought is not exactly a rule of content in newspapers nowadays but I must enthusiastically confess that last week's Examiner had my intellectual digestive processes working overtime.

I am, of course, referring to the Bland Report which was so comprehensively treated in your paper.

"A premature admission is an unfortunate dismissal." I do not, at the moment recall who first uttered this profound remark but its import certainly was felt when I diligently perused the Report which you so ably and cross-sectionally outlined.

It would be unpardonably presumptuous of me to attempt a rationale of the report at this particular moment as I am still feverishly masticating in my mind the bulk and roughage which "vitaminized" your presentation of the problems which we Westmounters must intelligently face.

Therefore, after I have studiously applied what remains of my erudite faculties, I will venture to write to you expressing logical conclusions which, I trust, will be synthetically accurate.

In the meantime, thank you for providing me with some worthwhile reading material and I can assure you that last week's Examiner is not destined to the British newspaper fate of ending up enveloping a greasy portion of fish and chips.

BY THE WAY

A CORRESPONDENT asks if Captain Foulenough has gone into hiding for the winter. Alas, his disappearances are not regulated by the calendar, but by the malice of police and detectives. Sometimes he is "wanted" under so many different English names that he becomes a foreigner, as when, in the character of an Arab tourist, Spittin el Khuspidor, he passed through the Customs with a gross of Swiss watches under his capacious burnous. His baggage, when examined, contained nothing of interest but a couple of yashmaks for local color. He made no objection to their confiscation under sub-section 9 (H.L. 72 c/s 14, 267/94, 3D/80).

—Reachcomber.

ONE of the shortest streets in Westmount, Melbourne avenue is also one of the best streets on which to live, in the opinion of its residents. Only 340 feet long, it connects Metcalf with Melville avenue at a point about 200 feet south of Sherbrooke street so that both Westmount Park and the buses on Sherbrooke are within a few hundred feet of any one of the eleven houses on the avenue.

Named after William Lamb Melbourne, second Viscount and English statesman, who was British prime minister from 1835 to 1841 but never visited Canada, the name has little significance to Canada, though the names Melville Metcalfe and Melbourne form an attractive alliterative combination.

In any event, the residents do not appear overly dissatisfied. There is complaint, in fact, that Melbourne avenue in Mount Royal should change its name to put a stop to the confusion of the last dozen years since the newer street came into existence. Residents of the Melbourne avenues are continually having to pick up mail and parcels left at the wrong Melbourne.

Perhaps the most exciting event in the history of Melbourne avenue was the uproar generated by the proposal to locate the artificial ice rink on the corner several years ago.

The number of houses on the street has been reduced from 12 to 11 in recent years. The present owner and occupant of formerly 25 Melbourne avenue, G. O. P. Beullac, rebuilt and considerably altered the premises of what is now 381 Melville avenue. This cut the frontage on Melbourne by 50 feet, making the north side of the street shorter than the south side.

Mrs. Scadding, whose parents built the house in which she lives back around 1897-8, recalls a picture of a horse and carriage in front of her house which shows the lack of paving and the wooden sidewalk on the street around the turn of the century. She recalls also a line of huge elms running along the rear property lines of the houses on the south side of Melbourne which were destroyed several years ago as a result of the Dutch elm disease. Her mother told her these trees marked the end of the property line of one of the original farms which comprised Westmount not too long before the house was built.

Like much of Westmount, Melbourne avenue was at one time plentifully supplied with shade trees. Through accident and sickness the larger shade trees have been reduced to two rather unprepossessing specimens on the northern side of the street and five presentable ones on the south side. Those which have been removed are replaced by young saplings which appear to be flourishing.

A map — in the large collection of early Canadian books, maps and other documents — belonging to Thomas Morrow, 21 Melbourne avenue, shows Metcalfe avenue in its present position. It is his assumption and a logical one that Melbourne avenue came into existence during the 1890s or thereabouts. Mr. Morrow has lived on the street for about 50 years. He married the daughter of one of the earlier property owners on the street.

The street is a friendly one according to present standards. Some of the neighbors know each other as friends as well as neighbors.

The street is solidly English speaking with two exceptions. There are five Roman Catholic heads of households; the rest are Protestants.

One third of the heads of households are listed as retired, another is a widow, six are business executives and one is a lawyer.

All of the families own their own homes, and the properties are either in the name of the head of the household, the wife's name or listed as belonging to the estate of a deceased spouse.

The houses are all fairly close to each other in value, ranging from about $30,000 to $80,000. The vast majority fall into the $30,000 to $40,000 bracket.

All of the houses, with a single exception are one family homes. The other house is divided into upper and lower duplexes.

Columbia: The Blue Danube—A Johann Strauss Festival. The Philadelphia Orchestra conducted by Eugene Ormandy. ML 5617. There are countless collections of Strauss waltzes on records; nevertheless a program of this light fare performed by the superb musicians of the Philadelphia Orchestra is a gratifying listening experience. The numbers include the familiar 'Voices of Spring', 'The Emperor', 'Vienna Blood', 'Tales From The Vienna Woods', and 'The Blue Danube' in their original concert arrangements. Three collections of piano music by young pianists — two who are already established in the musical world.

On ML 5336, our own controversial Glenn Gould gives brilliant readings of three moderns: Berg, Sonata for Piano; Schoenberg, Three Piano Pieces, Op. 11; and Krenek, Sonata No. 3 for Piano, Op. 92, No. 4. As played and described in the jacket notes by Mr. Gould, this music is interesting and colorful, and is a rare addition to a collection of good piano music. And that cubist painting on the jacket cover is a terrific conversation piece!

We also recommend the great talent of 27-year-old Philippe Entremont on ML 5614, Claire De Lune—A Debussy Piano Recital with this young Frenchman deftly capturing the beautiful serenity of 14 piano pieces by impressionist Claude Debussy.

And introducing Ivan Davis Playing Piano Works Of Liszt on ML 5622, is an exciting disc debut of a young American from Electra, Texas, Grand Prize Winner of the First Franz Liszt Competition held in New York, Town Hall last year. His magnificently controlled techniques is brilliantly demonstrated in his fine collection of seven compositions reflecting the many and trying pianistic moods of the great Liszt. Recommended.

City Hall Beat

with Jane Hendershott

City Hall sources termed last week's condensation of the Bland report by the Examiner well done . . . well put together . . . claimed it gave the public complete information . . . that they couldn't ask for anything more . . .

Council is very pleased with the interest shown in the Bland report. It shows people are concerned with the welfare of the city. Of course, a lot more time will be spent besides what has already been spent before anyone can arrive at any sound conclusions . . .

The annual presentation of awards is fairly well lined up. It will be held May 11, 7:30 p.m. at Victoria Hall . . . Arrangements have been made to have either the original donors or their representatives present to give the trophies to this year's winners, among them the Honorable Chief Justice W. B. Scott of the Quebec Superior Court and several former mayors and aldermen . . .

After a year's study by the Bell Telephone Company and city officials, the decision has been made to modernize the municipal telephone communication system. In three or four months the whole municipal plant, including the library, ice rink, greenhouses, Victoria Hall, Police, fire and city hall will be tied into a dial system with an automatic board.

The different telephone numbers now prevailing can still be used. However, if it seems desirable to transfer a call to city hall to the library, for example, it can be done from the central switchboard.

The cost of the new system will total $825 per month, $300 per month more than the present. However, it is believed that the savings in time and convenience to the public will justify the additional expenditure.

Telephones to be installed in the comfort stations in Westmount, King George and Prince Albert Parks will be tied into the new central switchboard . . .

Council has engaged two civilian clerks to work in the police department to free police personnel for police work. It is calculated this move will make available the equivalent of the time of one lieutenant and one and a half constables and save a total of $6,550 per year . . .

Westmounters are reminded to take steps to protect their trees damaged in the February storm from rot and insect infestation. On parts of trees safely within reach can be applied any of the recommended products available in hardwares and tree nurseries. . . . Tree surgeons can take care of those wounds to the trees out of reach of the householder . . .

Norman Dawe, Westmount City Manager, is attending the annual conference of the Quebec chapter of the International City Managers Association at the Chateau Frontenac, Quebec City yesterday, today and tomorrow . . .

Boys and girls in Westmount are reminded to obey safe driving rules while on their bikes and to lock them when they are off them. This is the bike stealing season. . . .

The police are receiving many complaints about damage caused to gardens by dogs. Residents are reminded that the law requires a dog to be on a leash six feet or less in length from May through October and to be attended by the owner or a member of his family during the rest of the year. . . .

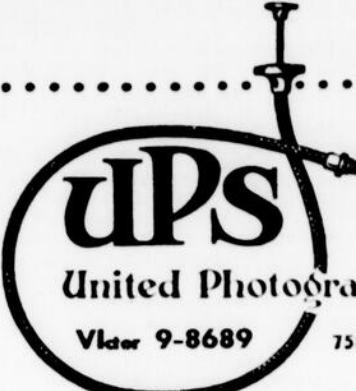

Spy suspect faces five new charges

The original charge laid against Westmount resident, Tomasz Biernacki, Polish engineer, was withdrawn Tuesday, at the request of Special Prosecutor Jean Miquelon, QC, and replaced with five specific charges of collecting data for the organization of an espionage ring and attempting to pass useful information on to an unnamed foreign power.

The charge which was withdrawn alleged actual communication of information and possession of plans, sketches etc. for a purpose dangerous to the interests and safety of the state.

Each of the charges, laid under the Official Secrets Act, carries a maximum penalty of 14 years in the penitentiary on conviction.

No application for bail was made before Judge Peter V. Shorteno who will hear preliminary evidence on April 25.

KING'S SCHOOL CHOIR, under the direction of MISS VERA JAMIESON, has been invited to sing at the Annual Quebec Federation Home and School Association Banquet on Friday, May 5, 1961, which will be held at the Sheraton Mount Royal Hotel. This choir sang with merit at the music festival at Montreal High recently.

"ON MONDAY NEXT" opens at Trinity Memorial Hall, Sherbrooke street west, on Wednesday, April 26 to 29 inclusive. Under the direction of Phillip King, the play tells the story of a not too successful repertory company beset with problems as they prepare a production for the Monday next.

MRS. J. BEAUDOIN HAND-FIELD, Aberdeen avenue, executive clubwoman, is heading up the Quebec Association of Hospital Auxiliaries which is holding its convention this week in the Queen Elizabeth Hotel. Bursaries to continue studies in nursing are being awarded to students chosen by the Quebec Nurses Association.

AUDITIONS will be held by Les Grands Ballets Canadiens, whose founder and artistic director is MRS. LUDMILLA CHIRIAEFF, at 1215 Stanley street, for professional classical ballet dancers, male and female, in view of the 1961-62 season, on Sunday, April 30. Please phone UN. 1-1245 for appointments.

A. G. SICKINGHE, 212 Cote St. Antoine road, is a member of the committee working on plans for the annual tulip rally for 1961 under the auspices of the Netherlands Association of Montreal "Je Maintiendrai", which will take place on Saturday, May 27, in commemoration of the liberation of Holland by Canadian troops in May, 1945, and the stay of Queen Juliana of the Netherlands in Ottawa. This event which is being organized for the fifth consecutive year, is a car rally with handicaps and entry is open to all automobile enthusiasts. The start and finish of the rally will be in Montreal. After the cars have travelled to Ottawa along a secret route, the tulip displays will be viewed along the "Scenic Route", and refreshments and sandwiches will be served on the main lawn of the Experimental Farm just outside Ottawa. After lunch the teams will again return to Montreal along a secret route. The event will be closed with a dinner and dance at 200 Metropolitan Blvd. (where everyone is expected to meet around 8 p.m.) and the main prize will be awarded to the winners. This is a special award to celebrate the Fifth Year of the Tulip Rally, and consists of a trip to the Caribbean for two, donated by the Holland-American Line.

MRS. H. C. LOUGH, Junior High English teacher, after taking part in the Annual Business Education program sponsored by the Montreal Board of Trade, made these important observations: "Most evident during the program was the stress on the use and study of good English by students while at school. Good English is an essential on all levels, public relations, salesmanship, foremen, office employees, etc. It was very encouraging to hear about the importance of good English in the industrial world today, and the comments had a ring of truth in them."

Hanna Ahroni, one of the most spectacular singers of Israeli and international songs, appears at Her Majesty's next Sunday, April 23rd. Hanna Ahroni's voice ranges over four octaves and is extremely flexible; critics consistently describe it as sensational. The program will consist of songs and folk-songs from many lands, Israeli, French, Yiddish, English, Spanish and more.

On Monday evening, April 24th, the McGill Chamber Orchestra under the direction of Alexander Brott, will give its final concert of the season. The entire program will be devoted to the music of Handel, and will take place in Christ Church Cathedral, well known for its beautiful Baroque Organ. The soloist will be Kenneth Meek, well-known Montreal Organist, who has chosen to perform the organ concerto opus 4 no. 1 in G minor and opus 4, no. 6 in B flat major. The chamber orchestra will be featured in the concerto grosso no. 4 in A minor and concerto grosso no. 9 in F major. Christ Church Cathedral will provide an authentic setting for the performance of these concerti, and the McGill Chamber Orchestra comprises the equivalent number of players as in Handel's time. The annual Handel concerts by the McGill Chamber Orchestra under Alexander Brott have become something of a tradition over the years, and an event that lovers of Baroque and good music in general eagerly anticipate.

A RECORD LENDING LIBRARY
The other day I had occasion to visit a unique venture, The Record Centre, located at 2000 Crescent St. at the corner of Burnside, where, for 30¢ a week, music lovers may borrow any record their hearts desire. This library, started in 1960 already boasts a membership of over 1000 members, and since its inception the library has already loaned 37,000 items. There are some 8,000 records to choose from, and these include everything from Classical recordings to spoken word, folk music, good jazz and even childrens records. Browsing through the well planned store I was pleased to find the complete Archive series, of incomparable value to students and scholars. This is but one example. Truly, you name it and the Record Centre has it (or they will get it for you in short order). The project is under the administration of folk singer Allan Mills and Sam Gesser, who told me that their advisers, a group of prominent figures of the musical world have been a great help in selecting the recordings.

NEW RELEASES
 Guitar Concertos — Julian Bream, with the Melos Ensemble / Victor LM 2487 (M), LSC 2487 (S)
British guitar virtuoso made his North American record debut a short while back with a recital of short works. This new album consists of two works in concerto form, with the excellent Melos Ensemble of London. Malcolm Arnold, the contemporary British composer, is represented by his concerto op. 67, written recently in memory of French guitarist Django Reinhardt. The second (and extremely delightful) work is that of Maori Giuliani, roughly a contemporary of Beethoven. The company is to be congratulated on this unique coupling of compositions.

 Chopin - Piano concerto No. 1 in E minor, op. 11/Maurizio Pollini, piano / Philharmonia Orch. — Paul Kletzki / Capitol G 7241 (M)
Pollini is the first prize winner of the 1960 Chopin competition in Warsaw, and if any proof of this youthful pianist's talent was needed, the present record more than amply supplies it. Paul Kletzki conducts with deference and follows every change of tempo, an ideal situation wherein the soloist is able to give his best performance without having to concern himself with the orchestra.

 Prima Ballerina — Ballet favourites / Berlin Promenade Orch. — Peter Cramer / MGM E-3910 (M)
Two of the selections on this album stand out — the Clog Dance from Lortzing's "Zar und Zimmerman" and the Tango in D by Albeniz. The works are all beautifully played and very well recorded, and include favourites such as Dance of the Hours (of course), Waltzes by Tchaikowsky and many others.

 Bloch — Sacred Service (Avodat Kakodesh) / Robert Merrill, baritone; New York Philharmonic & double choirs — Leonard Bernstein / Columbia MS 6221 (S), ML 5621 (M)
This is a work on a large scale, employing large musical forces, from the pen of a truly great composer. Its interest and power are beyond any specific religion; indeed, the choirs employed are those of the Metropolitan synagogue of N. Y. and the Community church. In years to come this work will be a classic, possibly the definitive composition in Jewish Liturgical music.

 Lalo — Symphonie Espagnole / Henryk Szeryng, vln / Chicago Sym. Orch. — Walter Hendl / Victor LSC 2456 (S), LM 2456 (M)
This is one of the not too many complete recordings of this evergreen, with the beautiful 3rd movement (Intermezzo) not omitted, as is so often the case. Szeryng's tone is bold and masterly, a true virtuoso of the bow, and the recorded sound is better than average, even for this day.

 Rimsky-Korsakov — Scheherazade / the Concert Arts Orch. — Erich Leinsdorf / Capitol P 8538 (M)
At first I had some misgivings, for just another Scheherazade could not mean very much. Happily, this is not the case; this is a real dazzler! I did not hear the stereo version, but the mono is one of the most exciting things I have ever heard.

DANCES FOR THE PIANO PART III

Some articles appeal to readers more than others and I had no idea that interest would be so high when I began this series. Phone calls from followers of music made me realize that with all the television shows, radio and concerts, there are still many who love to increase their knowledge and entertain themselves through reading. Again, thanks to these kind people. Incidentally, this is "Library Week."

Following the Allemand, Courante, Saraband, Gigue and Minuet in the celebrated Suites (dances) came the Gavotte. All ballet companies include the graceful gay dance, most frequently as a duo number. It got its title from the Gavots in the south of France and before it became a court dance it was danced by the people of the region of its origin.

The Bourree, a popular French dance in four-four time is somewhat like the Gavotte but much livelier. The next time you play or listen to the dances, notice that the Gavotte always starts on the third beat where as the Bourree starts on the fourth count.

Another peppy French dance, Rigaudon, in two-four time, became a favorite in England and is called Rigadoun.

The Loure is named after an instrument of the bagpipe family and is somewhat like the Gigue. It is said to have originated in Normandy. A fast dance that is attributed to sailors is the Pessipied (translated, meaning to cross the foot) It became so well liked that the French court adopted it in the 17th century.

One that we all know is the Polonaise, this beautiful dance that began in the Polish court in the 16th century. Although it is in triple time, it sounds like a march because each beat is split.

Shrine Circus to feature midget act

Thousands of youngsters and adults will welcome the outstanding show coming to the Montreal Forum May 6, the Shrine Circus.

The circus will unfold a big package of circus talent including 12 acts of stunts, exhibitions of physical daring and dexterity, proof of man's superiority over animals, all to provide great entertainment to the Montreal audiences.

This outstanding organization has been brought to Montreal under the auspices of the Karnak Temple in aid of the Shriners Hospital for crippled children, and other Karnak Temple activities.

Among the acts, a real treat will be the Alfredo Landon Midgets. These daring diminutive demons of dexterity originally came from Argentina, but curiously enough they were touring in Europe when they were contracted for their first appearance in the United States on the Ed Sullivan Show.

Since their arrival in this country they have appeared as a featured center-ring attraction at every major indoor circus in America, as well as leading theatres, night clubs, fairs and television networks.

The owner of the troupe, Alfredo Landon, originated his own comedy acrobatic act at the age of 16, and 10 years later organized the troupe with the three midgets — Mike, Nino and Victor.

Between engagements the Landons can always be found at the nearest lake or river, as they are all avid fishermen. They are also enthusiastic boxing and football fans.

Paralysis gets 'Irish' up

By JANE HENDERSHOTT

"You can't keep a good Irishman down" avers cerebral palsy victim, Jack Featherstone, 18 Selby street, in explanation of his gallant struggle of 42 years to live a full and satisfying life.

Slim Jack, whose racial heritage is betrayed by blue eyes with stuck-together black lashes, was injured by forceps used in his delivery. A nerve damaged at the base of his skull, doomed him to lifelong disability. He has a twin sister, Marjorie, 15 minutes older than he and a lifetime luckier.

His father, John, a Sun Life Insurance company clerk, and his mother, Catherine, took the boy to numerous specialists over the years. When he was a year old he underwent a successful operation to insert an artificial tendon in his heel so he could put his heel on the ground. After that, the child went to doctor after doctor who assured the parents, "He will grow out of what ails him." Then he met Dr. Wilder Penfield.

Dr. Penfield put the boy in the hospital for three weeks and went over him with a fine toothed comb. He was able to assure Mr. and Mrs. Featherstone, "Jack has received no injury to his brain. He ought to make a good citizen someday. But, there is nothing that can be done now for the dead nerve at the base of his skull."

Jack was lucky to meet another good man. When he was 20 he was through the fifth grade. Being pushed down a flight of stairs by a classmate on one occasion and getting bashed on the head by a falling coping stone on another combined with hospitalization and treatments for his cerebral palsy to keep him out of school for a number of years. When he applied for readmission to school at 20 he was told it would not be fair to the other students. He only wanted to learn, not compete. Then he met J. E. MacVicar, retired principal of Commercial high school.

The two made a pact, if Jack studied hard, if Mr. MacVicar found him capable, Mr. Mac-

Vicar would tutor Jack for three years. The three years stretched into five.

At the end of the five years Mr. MacVicar gave Jack a letter stating his training, mathematics, including geometry, commercial algebra and business mathematics, grammar, composition, classics, history, geography, four years of French, 3 years of Spanish, a year and a half of German and bookkeeping. He has the equivalent of at least first year of university. Also, he has the qualifications of a junior translator with a gift for languages. This is all according to Mr. MacVicar.

Says Jack, "I would like to have been a translator with ICAO or someplace like that but it is too strenuous physically for me. You have to be able to drive a car, work long hours on a moment's notice, travel quite a bit."

"Yes, I did work for ten years. I worked at the Gazette as billing machine operator. Charles Kelsey, job supervisor, Paraplegic association, talked to J. S. Miller, vice-president and general manager there, for me. The Gazette had this one job open as a billing machine operator. They held it for me six weeks while I went to Burroughs and learned how to operate the machine. I worked nights, starting at 6 p.m. I tried working days but found it too tiring. I can work better alone.

I didn't have a wheel chair at first but I do now. I don't use it at home but an under doctor's orders to use it when I go out. Anyway, a wheel chair is a problem when there are too many people around."

"I hoped to get a transfer to the editorial department as proof reader or copy writer but I never did. They were good to me; though, I had to take cabs and sometimes didn't get to work until 7 p.m., especially during the Christmas holidays when it was hard to get a cab. Mr. J. Wood,

Clues to Cashword Explained

ACROSS:

1. CARRIAGE, yes. A good CARRIAGE may account for a man's success, for often a favorable impression is given to others by a person's bearing and manner. What makes a good MARRIAGE may have very little to do with a man's success in business or his vocation.

7. APPEAL is preferred to APPEAR, for an outright request for aid on TV is likely to induce more contributions than mere appearance without the asking.

10. NOOSE is better than LOOSE because of its suggestion of a hangman's halter, a gruesome prospect. Too, there are many occasions when a knot is purposely made LOOSE.

15. WAIT is more certain than WANT. There is little question that having to WAIT can be a test of a person's patience. A WANT may be no more than a passing whim or caprice.

16. DUN rather than DIN. An insistent DUN can be annoying, particularly if payment was unintentionally overlooked and a gentle reminder would have been all that was necessary. If a DIN is insistent, one can usually take steps to remove oneself from the noisy area.

25. PAY is right. A miser is likely to be reluctant to PAY a bet, as it means he is parting with some of his wealth and getting nothing in return. He may be no more reluctant to LAY a bet than the next person if he feels certain of the outcome.

29. LEER is preferred to BEER, JEER or PEER. A LEER is the sort of thing a prim girl usually resents as she is likely to regard it as an affront to her character. One doesn't have to be prim to resent a JEER. BEER and PEER are unlikely choices.

DOWN:

2. ACE is to the point. A golfer's unexpected ACE, or hole-in-one, is bound to save him a number of strokes and may result in his winning a match. More information is needed to select ACT; what he does might as easily lose the match as win it.

3. RETORTS is more desirable than REPORTS because immediacy is implicit in RETORTS. It doesn't do any good to think of a suitable rejoinder later. RE-

Palette art at Vic Hall

The Montreal Palette Club's fifteenth annual spring exhibition of art work is on at Victoria Hall today and tomorrow from three to five in the afternoon and seven to nine in the evenings.

Approximately 50 paintings, mostly oils, are on display. Landscapes predominate with the Laurentians and Montreal outside favorites.

The exhibition is free. Programs can be bought for 25c, purchasers to participate in the raffle of a painting.

The amateur painting club, which meets every Wednesday in the Community Hall, 5311 Cote St. Antoine road, is a group of about 20 persons. Mechanics' Institute to mark Library Week

The most eye catching among the old, rare books on display at the Mechanics' Institute during Canadian Library Week is a pocket size Montreal City Directory for the year 1852.

Comparison of the early edition with the 1961 City Directory silently comments on the growth of Montreal during the past century or so since the early youth of the Mechanics' Institute. There are five times as many pages in this year's directory as in the 1852 one. Further, each of these pages is six times the size of those in the 109 year old volume.

In pointed contrast to the numerous books available to modern parents on how to be a model parent is "The Child at Home or The Principals of Filial Duty Familiarly Illustrated." Another volume of yesterday which could bear repeating is "Mercantile Morals — A Book for Young Men Entering Upon the Duties of an Active Life."

The other collection on exhibit at Westmount's 121-year-old library this week is that of 100 letters from twentieth century authors to Mrs. Lily Johnstone, 250 Lansdowne avenue. Included is one from J. B. Priestley in which he advises Mrs. Johnstone of his familiarity with the procedure used by office boys in copying out the letters in a copying book, having done "this myself as an office boy."

RCAF group told help in Germany is hard to find

There is no unemployment in Western Germany today, according to Dr. Gerhard Stahlberg, 565 Argyle avenue, Council General, Federal Republic of Germany, who spoke at the April 12 meeting of the RCAF Association, 306 Maple Leaf Wing. The meeting was in "The Mess," 4450 Sherbrooke street west.

"In fact," said Dr. Stahlberg, "Western German firms are seeking employees." He went on to explain that Western Germany has developed into a large manufacturing center. Also adding to the scarcity of help is the vast rebuilding program to repair war damage, instituted by the Government. He termed the economic recovery "terrific."

According to the German lawyer and diplomat, the political leaning of Western Germany is still toward the west. Since the lifting of the freeze on rearmament, the German republic has trained and equipped two divisions which are cooperating with NATO.

Dr. Stahlberg was appointed Consul General in Montreal in 1957. He has a son who is a McGill engineering student and a daughter attending Westmount Senior High School.

How do I save?

If there's a fool-proof way to save, I've yet to hear of it. But one thing I do know. The "Royal's" 2-Account Plan makes saving a whole lot easier. Try it: use a "Personal Chequing Account" to pay household and other bills...

and keep your Savings Account separate—an account reserved for saving only. The plan works. Because when you have two separate accounts you can curb that natural urge to dip into savings; you actually see your savings grow.

Resurrection

III

by

The Venerable
R. Kenneth Naylor, D.D.
Rector, Trinity Memorial Church

I used the expression two weeks ago "All the sons of God shouted for joy." That referred originally to the Creation, but there was a new Creation and all the sons of God continue to shout for joy. And who are the sons of God? John answers the question: "Beloved, now are we the sons of God, and it doth not yet appear what we shall be; but we know that, when He shall appear, we shall be like Him; for we shall see Him as He is."

"As He is;" that is, in His risen, glorified condition, as Scripture shows Him after His Resurrection—still the same Jesus, bearing the scars of His earthly warfare that won our salvation, but with even those scars glorified by victory: "Wherefore God also hath highly exalted Him, and given Him a Name which is above every name; that at the Name of Jesus every knee should bow, of things in heaven and things in earth, and things under the earth; and that every tongue should confess that Jesus is Lord, to the glory of God the Father."

That is something of the effect of the Resurrection on Jesus — "He was declared Son of God with power by the Resurrection from the dead." But what of its effect on us? What is God's purpose for us in raising His Son from the dead and showing Him to chosen witnesses?

The Resurrection affects us in three ways: It shows us what God is like: that He is a God of righteousness, of purer eyes than to behold iniquity, who cannot allow iniquity to prevail over perfect righteousness. God will still allow His saints to bear with Christ a share of the burden of the world's sin, for it is our privilege in Paul's words, to fill up that which is lacking in the sufferings of Christ.

Perhaps that should be noted as the second effect: there is a redemptive value in suffering and we are allowed to share in it. He bore His sufferings in His Body, and we are His Body.

The third effect of the Resurrection is that we have a new knowledge of the material world. The wise men of the first century held the material world and even the human body in deep contempt. A favourite phrase was that the body is a tomb; and the world was regarded as essentially evil. But in the Resurrection there is disclosed the fundamental rightness of the material world, stained by man's sin, but not utterly corrupt, still redeemable.

Perhaps we can say that the beginning of that redemption was that moment when it received to its Sabbath rest the tired, worn, bleeding Body of its Creator. That earth was of such a nature that its Creator could not remain its prisoner; it was not possible that Jesus should be held in death. Our knowledge of all things is changed in the Resurrection.

And correlative passages from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy will include: "To understand God strengthens hope, enthrones faith in Truth, and verifies Jesus' word: 'Lo, I am with you always, even unto the end of the world.'"

Stanley Church Minister leaves at end of April

The minister of Stanley Presbyterian Church, Westmount, for the past 16 years Rev. J. D. Wilkie, has accepted a call to the pastorate of Knox Church, Harrison, Ontario, effective at the end of April.

The call to the Ontario church was presented by the Clerk of Presbytery, the Rev. C. Ritchie Bell at a recent meeting of the Montreal Presbytery of the Presbyterian Church in Canada.

Tribute was paid to Mr. Wilkie by Murray Mitchell, representative elder of Stanley Church, Mrs. S. S. Jefferys, Miss Muriel Munn and John Kennedy on behalf of the congregation. An inspiring preacher, Mr. Wilkie was a faithful pastor who brought help to his people in trouble, sickness and death, representatives of the church said.

Rev. C. C. Cochrane of Melville Church, Westmount, spoke of Mr. Wilkie as a friend, and his nearest Presbyterian neighbour who welcomed him when he came to Westmount 13 years ago. The Rev. R. J. Berlis, of the Church of St. Andrew and St. Paul referred to Mr. Wilkie as "a wonderful Presbyterian and a more wonderful Christian" and joined with the other speakers in wishing Mr. Wilkie and his family blessing in their new sphere of service.

Dr. Standford Reid will be interim-moderator of Stanley Church session.

New publications for Sunday School

Four full-color weekly story papers for Sunday Church School pupils will be launched by The United Church Publishing House next September 3. Sample copies are being mailed this month to every United Church Sunday School in Canada.

Names of the new papers for primary, junior, intermediate and senior groups are: "Wonder," "Discovery," "Hi-Venture," and "Onward." Materials will relate directly to the church's new curriculum for Sunday Church School and will feature stories, poetry, hobbies, crafts, puzzles, cartoons, worship suggestions and book reviews. The mission of the church and emphasis on seasonal observances will be woven into the stories and feature material, with the various reader age groups in mind.

TOOTH TROUBLE

Whether the patient thinks he needs it or not, he should visit his dentist twice a year, or more if the dentist advises it. It isn't easy for the ordinary eye to see one of those tiny spots that mean dental caries but to the dentist it is quite plain. He can discover it and repair it before it spreads to destroy the tooth.

"We have investigated checking out books by automation. One drawback is that using that system we would file book slips by number rather than name which would make it difficult for us to reserve books. Doubtless something will be worked out. It is bound to come eventually. It would save a lot of time now spent in 'slipping' books and would mean that a book upon its return could go immediately back on the shelf into circulation."

Although more research work throughout the world is being done on cancer than on any other medical problem, scientists still have not discovered the cause.

The Plains of Peace

The endless noise and strife,
Above all petty grief and fear;
Of this discordant life
There is a peaceful realm
Our paths were meant to trace
As stars that march across the sky,
In their appointed place,
Could we but see, with faith's true sight,
Would we not mirror their true light?

DOROTHY SPROULE

Trinity senior WA

The meeting of Trinity Memorial WA, Senior Branch, will be held on Monday April 24 at 2:30 p.m., in Archdeacon Almond Room.

Social and Personal

Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Asselin (nee Hilda Frances Connors), 4612 Wilson avenue, N.D.G., announce the birth of a daughter at the Queen Elizabeth Hospital on April 15, 1961. Another little grandchild for Mr. and Mrs. J. O. Asselin of Westmount.

West End woman re-elected Maritime Club president

Mrs. W. P. McVie, continuing president, of the Maritime Women's Club of Montreal, Que., was most enthusiastic in her remarks regarding the progress the club has made during the past year, both in membership and the high quality of programs presented, and thanked the members for their loyal and unflinching support.

Several trips were arranged and thoroughly enjoyed. The Sea-way trip in the summer, Ausable Chasm in the autumn, and St. Sauveur in the winter.

The weekend spent in Fredericton, New Brunswick, last June, when the Club members were the guests of Lord Beaverbrook was an unforgettable experience.

The opening luncheon in October was served in the La Loire Room, Windsor Hotel, with John Pratt, MP, Mayor of Dorval, as guest speaker. Senators Mrs. Muriel Fergusson of New Brunswick and Mrs. Florence Elsie Inman of Prince Edward Island were guests of honor.

Other speakers included the Rev. Clifton J. Mackay whose theme was "Open Your Windows Eastward." Miss MacSparran addressed the meeting on Nova Scotia night with a most timely address. Prof. Trevor Lloyd — McGill University — gave an illustrated lecture on his impressions of Russia during recent vacation spent there. The Hon. J. W. Pickersgill, MP, addressed the closing meeting in April.

The Christmas meeting held variety: A reading — "Christmas at Vernon," by Mrs. Margaret Furness MacLeod. A debate —

The Junior Board of Trade — "Is bachelorhood preferable to marriage." A sketch — Mrs. Maritimer at home — Mrs. Grace Marr and Miss Mary Sutherland; Carols — Girls from Miss Elgar's and Miss Cramp's School, Inc., accompanied by Miss E. N. Morrison.

The Annual Musicals was a highlight of the year. Jan Simons, Baritone, accompanied by Laure Fink, in an arrangement of songs by various composers was an evening of rare enjoyment.

The Provincial Nights — Members from New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Newfoundland cleverly presented the history in both pageantry and the spoken word, together with many novel ideas characteristic of each Province. These were most enthusiastically prepared and received.

The reception for new members was held at The University Women's Club in January.

A Scholarship Bridge provides funds for needy Maritime students at McGill. The School for Graduate Nurses selected Miss Olive Keith of Havelock, N.B., as the recipient. The School of Social Work has not yet made a choice.

For the past 17 years a visiting committee, under the convener-ship of Mrs. A. J. Moore have visited the veterans at Ste. Anne de Bellevue Military Hospital twice a month. Funds for the usual gifts of cigarettes, magazines, Christmas parcels, etc., are raised by means of a Marathon Bridge. Those visits of friendship and goodwill are eagerly looked forward to, and sincerely appreciated by these men.

The stamps coming from darkest Africa now certainly belie the traditional description of this great Continent. To say the least of it, they are colorful and while some of us oldsters perhaps resented the radical change from the dull and staid varieties that have existed for a hundred years and more, the younger generation of philatelists are wasting no time in picking up everything that comes out of the newly independent countries.

Why not? This is a new era for them. In their eyes Ghana is not a simple change of name from the Gold Coast. It is a new country and they are in on the first issues. And let us try to understand the astounding change in the stamps of these new countries.

Coloured people everywhere are gay people, happy people, and I would say very brave people to have withstood the trials of slavery and abject poverty that has been their lot for centuries.

Nearly 50 years ago I visited a Kaffir Kraal, or village, near what is now the city of East London, in South Africa. I saw children romping as they do everywhere, carefree and laughing and naked. The men and women were not at all downcast and they seemed to be singing all the time, and there was color. Clothes were not plentiful and fashions did not exist. Men would work and save to buy their wives a length of cotton material from which they would make a dress of sorts — and the colors had to be bright and gay.

So, why not bright and colorful stamps, now that the coloured people are coming into their own?

Of all the stamps of Africa, the first of the Cape of Good Hope, the famous triangular, have always been a must with British office and the production manager, told me he didn't care when I got there so long as I did my work. He retired before I left." "I had trouble when they put in a system using rolls of carbon paper. When I am tired, startled or frightened, I get spasms. My hands shake and sometimes I break my glasses. That is why I only wear them when I am reading though I should wear them all of the time. Anyway, my hands would shake and spoil the carbon paper they used in this new system."

"Another difficulty I had, particularly after the volume of the work increased was due to my being a perfectionist. I took too long to check my work before it went out. I am sure that is what cost me my job in the end."

"No, I wouldn't like to do that sort of thing again. I would like to have something less tedious, I am a rapid reader and better educated than the average. I have read a good deal and would like to proof read, edit or write."

"Writing? Yes, I would like that. When I lost my job I wrote to everyone I could think of that might help me. Joe Laliberte, Paraplegic Association social counselor at Queen Mary's hospital, sent my letter to the editor of Caliper, the Paraplegic Association publication. The editor recommended I take a correspondence course from the New York School of Writing, the same one he had taken himself."

"My professor says I am doing well but I'll believe him when I sell a story. I have a lot to learn yet but I am enjoying it very much. I have always liked to write."

"I have written poetry since I was 15. Then I have written a few skits, some of which was put on by the Cerebral Palsy Association at Christmas for the Multiple Sclerosis Association, and the other about a child who has cerebral palsy which hasn't been put on yet."

"C. E. Halse, the founder and director of the Trinity Players, directs this group, the Sunday Readers, for the Cerebral Palsy Association. We meet every three weeks and read plays and discuss them. Most of the plays we read are professional. They did tear apart my efforts though."

"No, that is not the only group I have ever been active with. Starting before the war I was a volunteer worker for the City of Westmount. I was in charge of the Pee Wee Hockey League for about eight years."

"Then, during the war I handled a group of teenagers for about three years. It was called the Victory Club. Once when I didn't know what else to do with them I wrote a play. I used to Musical, sharps . . .

It was used as a processional promenade dance. The difficult polonaises by Chopin are not the same as the ones found in the Suites by Bach and Handel. Chopin used the same rhythm but elaborated on them to make brilliant concert pieces for people with advanced pianistic skill.

Purcell's Suites includes the Hornpipe, which derived its name from an old instrument that was used to accompany the dance.

We are indebted to Poland for the wonderful Mazurka, made immortal by Chopin. It is the national dance of that unfortunate country. In Polish it is called "Mazur," the rhythm has a waltz bass but the accent of the time comes on the third beat (sometimes the second). Chopin wrote 51 and used many folk tunes for the melody parts. Of this large number, some are rarely heard in public since they are not all attractive but the several which are performed constantly are real gems. Alexander Brailowsky and Artur Rubinstein have played all of Chopin's Mazurkas when they gave every piano composition by the Polish genius in their memorable all-Chopin series.

Encyclopedia, music dictionaries and musicologists differ on the origin of the Tango . . . some it originated in Argentina . . . others that it is of Spanish-American descent and still others say it originated in Mexico. It has been likened to the Habenera which is always referred to as a Spanish dance but some authorities insist that it was brought to Cuba from Africa by the Negroes and when introduced in Spain became such an instant success that it has been labelled Spanish ever since.

Although similar in rhythm, the difference between the Tango and Habanera is that the Tango is a faster dance.

send press releases in on them to the Examiner."

"Once a month, I am a guest of the Multiple Sclerosis for fun, games, cards, wheel chair square dances, that sort of thing."

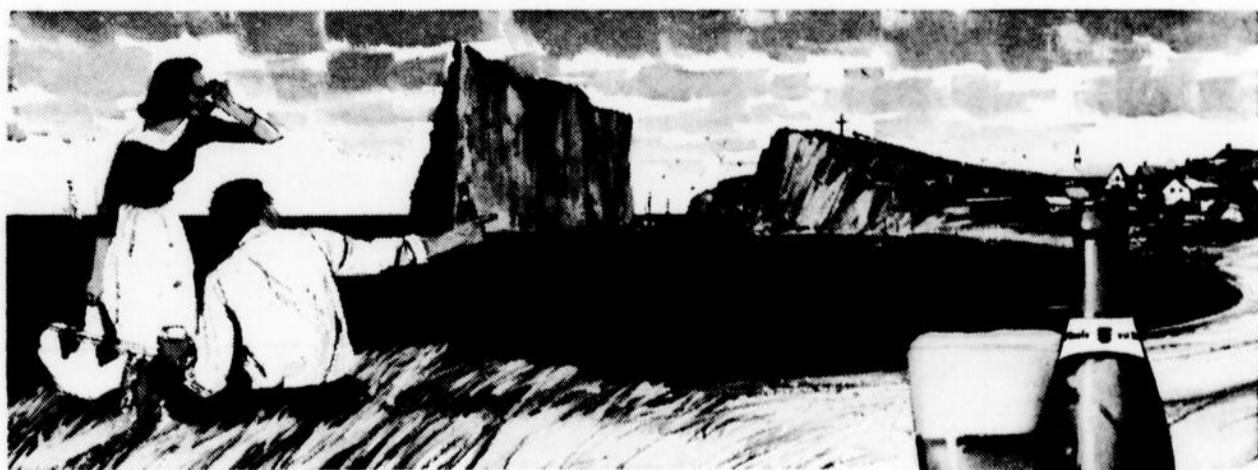

"Hobbies? When I was a kid I collected stamps and built model airplanes. Now, I like to sit on the front steps in summer and watch the blonds go by." He grinned.

"My biggest enthusiasm is my writing course. I lost my job last July and started taking the course in November."

"My unemployment will stop soon. I plan to apply for supplementary payments. My last resort will be to apply for the Quebec Provincial Disabled allowance but I don't want to have to do that. I hope I can get a job so that won't be necessary."

Unity biddy, bantam cagers beat Ottawa

The Heather Bonspiel consolation winners hailed from Wentworth who won over the Town of Mt. Royal 11-10 in another match that went into the extra end. Left to right: Joe Lemieux, lead; John Hogg, second; Jack Little, third and Al Taylor, skip.

UNITY Boys' Club Biddy basketballers defeated Ottawa Boys' Club 42-9 in one of three exhibition games played in Ottawa.

Unity Bantams won a 29-24 victory over the Capital city team but the midget squad from Unity were beaten by Ottawa 35-31, preventing the Westmount teams from making a clean sweep.

In the biddy game coach John McDonough's Unity team had no trouble from the opening whistle. Steve Alleyene was the top scorer with 16 points. The best for Ottawa was Gerry Saulier with four points.

Richard Cessford, coach of the bantam team had to put in a lot of drive into his charges for their close win of 29-24 over Ottawa. Art Driver was top man for the Unity team with 10 points. Tops for Ottawa was Ray Sequin with nine.

The loss of rangy Bob McDonough for Unity who was injured in the first quarter hurt Unity's chances of winning. Fred Lewington with 18 and Mike Dwyer with 11 were the best for Unity. Pat O'Brien was high scorer for Ottawa with 20 points, tops for three games.

Seagram's Martini-Master Most Happy Invention

MONTREAL—New ease and convenience in the preparation of martinis are now achieved through the use of the unique Martini-Master, the container for Seagram's Gin, the world's driest gin.

Made from antique glass with a gold-plated cap and easily-removed label, the Martini-Master is simple to use. Just unscrew the large golden cap to add ingredients and ice. Stir gently. To pour, replace large cap and remove smaller top cap. The narrow neck acts as a suitable strainer.

In addition to martini-making, the ingenious Martini-Master performs valiantly as a shaker for all cocktails. When entertaining, several shakers can be used to prepare and store a supply of your favourite cocktails. They also add a distinctive new note to dining when used to serve fruit juices, iced tea and iced coffee.

Try Seagram's Gin soon. It's extra dry, extra smooth because it's aged in special oak casks to the golden moment of perfection. This ageing imparts a delicious dryness that gives every gin drink a unique crispness.

Hill succeeds Harold Platt

Jim Hill, former Quebec Rugby Football Union director and president of the Lakeshore junior Redskins last season, was named by QRFU president Eddie Asselin as the senior league convener.

Hill replaces Harold Platt who held the post during the 1959 and '60 seasons.

Platt was also the referee-in-chief of the QRFU for 20 years before resigning.

Platt will, however, remain as a member of the Canadian Rugby Union's rules' committee.

A former QRFU player and a member of the Navy team in 1943, Hill's duties will mainly involve the problem of keeping the senior QRFU loop together.

The senior league was near the folding point at the close of last season when it was rumored Lakeshore Flyers would not continue to operate.

However, the latest report is that the Flyers will possibly field a team this season which would give the league three teams. Lakeshore, Verdun and Cornwall.

Burned-over forests and polluted waters will not support birds, animals or fish. Let us see what each one of us can do to stop fires in the forest and the pollution of our waters.

FMR captures ball title

Fusiliers Mont Royal wrapped up the Montreal Military Fastball League title in straight games, when they knocked off Black Watch 6-3.

The win gave FMR the best-of-three playoff in two games and the man who played the big role was pitcher Gaston Proulx who held Blackies to seven hits and chalked up 16 strikeouts in the indoor affair.

The action was in direct contrast to the 17-15 victory by FMR.

The teams played a close, exciting match with FMR collecting only 11 hits and Black Watch committing the single error of the fray.

Tom Litchfield was the bright spot for the losers, getting two for three at the plate. Lacoste and Guy Vandelaac with three-for-four apiece, topped FMR's hit parade.

Alistair Pryde handled Black Watch pitching chores with Tom Price receiving, while Remi Lusier was Proulx's battery mate.

High schools set spring track events

The spring program for outdoor high school sports was announced by Fred Urquhart, co-ordinator of the Greater Montreal Interscholastic Athletic Association.

First event will be the annual cross-country race at Mount Royal, May 2.

This will be followed by a series of track and field meets at Molson Stadium commencing with a relay meet May 19 and concluding with an all-day invitation meet June 3.

The annual twilight meet will be divided into two parts, with the first half slated May 26 and second half May 29.

Montreal West rink wins at St. George

At St. George Curling Club, Montreal West Curling Club rink skipped by M. C. Charlton downed Howick's K. McRae 10-6 to win the Rubra-Boyes Mixed Bonspiel.

D. Esmond of Pointe Claire was the consolation winner, defeating E. McLaughlan and Beauchateau 10-5.
