Historic Area

Fort Beausejour in New Brunswick was built by the French, between 1751 and 1755, during their long struggle with the English for the possession of Canada, but before it was actually completed it was captured by the English. During the American Revolution in 1776 it withstood an attack by the invaders. After the war of 1812-14 it gradually fell into ruin and in 1925 it was established as a National Historic Park. Too Small?

When George Hartley of Toronto was told he was too small to work for the C.N.R. as a freight handler 30 years ago, he just wouldn't take no for an answer. His insistence that he could handle as much as any man won him the job. Recently the 4-foot 8-inch Hartley met 6-foot 3 1/2-inch Donald Gordon, C.N.R. president. They are shown above as Mr. Hartley tells how he got his job in 1919.

Seventy-One Beds! For How Many Reds?

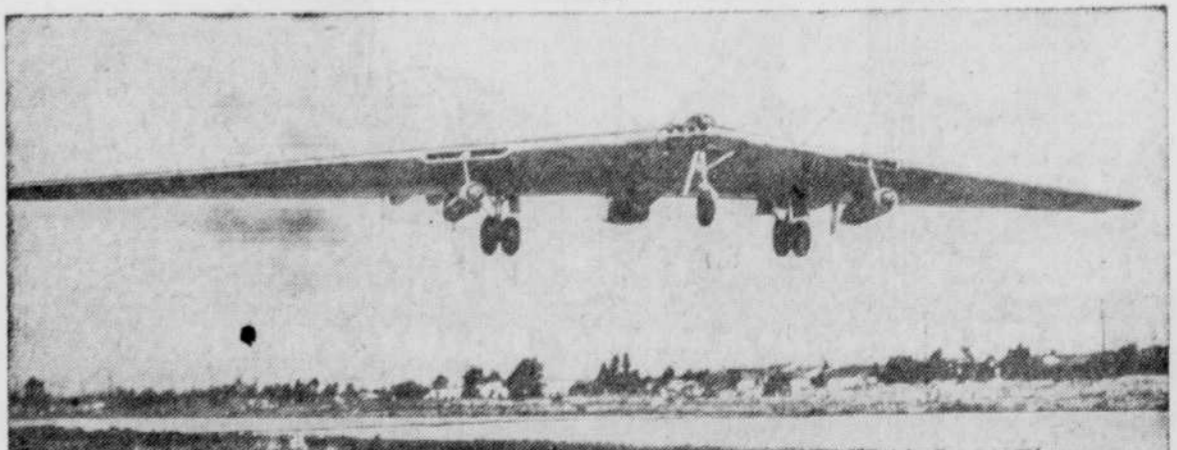

Neighbors to the old J. P. Morgan mansion, above, on Matinecock Point, Glen Cove, N. Y., are concerned about what their new neighbor, Leonid A. Morozov, Soviet diplomat at the UN, plans to do with the 71 folding beds recently moved into the mansion. If he plans to use the property for a summer resort, they say, he's violating zoning laws. The State Department was asked to decide whether Morozov's status as a UN diplomat makes him immune to local zoning laws.

How You Can Be As Graceful As An Indian Maid

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Envy of many a modern miss is the erect posture and graceful carriage of Indian maidens. But you don't need Indian ancestors to boast the beautiful posture of your redskin sisters.

So says Jeanne Carmen, lovely part-Indian actress in "Comanche Territory," whose great-grandfather was a Comanche chieftain. When I asked Jeanne the secret of her proud carriage, she admitted that daily exercises safeguarded the good posture habits learned in childhood.

I asked her to demonstrate the exercises which she learned at a famous Fifty Avenue salon. In the pictures at left and at right she shows you the simple routines that pull your body into proper alignment.

You will note that all are done with arms stretched overhead, and shoulders pushed back. This pulls up the chest and flattens the stomach. And it is a fine corrective for any tendency to slump.

Details of each exercise are given in the captions. Jeanne does each one 15 or 20 times a day, which takes about 10 minutes. It's a sound investment of time. As Jeanne points out, a good posture is not only healthy, it makes clothes fit better and corrects many figure faults.

Girls Up In Air In Florida City

Orlando, Fla. — This central Florida city probably has the most air-minded group of teen-aged girls in the country.

Instead of discussing the grooviest rendition of the current hit parade number, or the merits of this and that movie idol, talk among some 700 Orlando girls now turns to aerodynamics, wing stresses, cloud formations and the merits of 100-octane gasoline.

It started when girl scout Rosemary Adams wanted an aviation merit badge for her uniform.

Dr. Adams said, yes, he would fly his daughter so she could get an aviation merit badge. Rosemary suggested some of the girls in her troop might like aviation merit badges, too. Dr. Adams agreed.

The word spread. By the time Dr. Adams was ready to fly his daughter—and a few friends—some 700 other girls scouts had the same idea.

Confronted by the mass request for an airplane ride, Dr. Adams sought the help of flying friends. Four pilots, Frank Cabe, an insurance company branch manager; Col. C. D. McAllister, a military pilot with 6,500 hours of flying time; Gordon Gifford, chamber of commerce executive, and Clark W. Jennings, an attorney, volunteered to help.

Aviation Director Helps
The state aviation director, Wally Schanz, heard of the idea and volunteered the use of his plane. He promised other pilots would help if needed.

The idea spread to the Orlando Municipal Airport where ground crewmen, weather and communication technicians voluntarily set up a ground school, covering virtually every phase of aeronautics.

Now, Sunday is girl scout aviation day in Orlando. The first week five planes snuttled the young feminine enthusiasts in 25-minute flights. The next Sunday six planes, all flown by volunteer pilots, swooped over the blue lakes surrounding Orlando, laden with breathless girl scouts.

The boy scouts now want to get into the act. Dr. Adams estimates it will take 25 aircraft to check out Orlando's boy scouts for their aviation merit badge.

But that's a mere detail. Pilots from miles around have heard of the unusual project and are standing by, ready to fly a cargo of air-minded youngsters who want aviation merit badges.

Hull To Celebrate 150th Anniversary

Hull, Que. — The city of Hull, across the Ottawa river from the Canadian capital, is actively engaged in preparing ceremonies which will mark the 150th anniversary of its founding by Philemon Wright.

Leon J. Trepanier of Montreal, who has organized similar celebrations in a number of centres in the province of Quebec, is in Hull conferring with various committees in charge of the program. The anniversary will be observed June 20 to 25, inclusive.

It is planned to hold a pageant describing the life of Philemon Wright and his settlers in the early days of Hull. It will be but one of the many demonstrations. Old-time costumes will be worn for the occasion and parades, official dinners, fireworks displays and field days will all be included in the program scheduled for the last week in June.

Roy Fournier, president of the Hull branch of the Canadian Legion, said the war memorial which the Legion wants to erect in the city, near Jacques Cartier Park, would probably be ready for the opening day ceremonies.

Meanwhile, the Chamber of Commerce is busily engaged in a "let us clean our city" campaign, while the publicity committee has started issuing bulletins to all directly interested in the celebrations.

Prairie Airline Helps Open North

Prince Albert, Sask. — One of Canada's leading bush flying outfits operates over northern Saskatchewan. Its aim is to help in the development of natural resources.

Saskatchewan Government Airways, a crown corporation working northward from Prince Albert, last year flew the equivalent of 23 times around the world. It served hundreds of persons in scores of isolated settlements; freighted tons of supplies, equipment and food; and brought out some of the riches of the north.

Its services set the pace for a new chapter in fishing, trapping and mining activities in the province.

Prince Albert headquarters are based 17 aircraft, ranging from a converted Canso flying boat to Tiger Moths, each with a use in bushland flying.

Work of the crown agency, says manager F. R. Glass, Jr., includes forest-fire detection aerial photography, air ambulance work, freighting to mining camps, hauling fresh fish, flying tourist parties and regular mail, freight and passenger service.

Six pilots are employed. Last year, revenue miles flown were 581,688.

The play was very well received. Mr. Hugh Sargent and family, of Stanstead, have moved to Magog.

Three Main Factors For Happy Marriage

Southport, England.—Environment, personality and relationship are the three main factors contributing to successful marriage, say Dr. Mary Macaulay, chairman of the Merseyside Marriage Guidance Council.

Addressing a women's conference here, Dr. Macaulay described the three levels as follows:

Environment—Where the life of the couple touched other people in the immediate neighborhood. Bad housing and people living with in-laws were potent reasons for marriages breaking down at this level.

Personality—Those who had something wrong with their makeup which made them difficult to live with.

Relationship—Those who fail to adapt themselves to each other. An important thing for a couple to remember, she said, was to re-

Wage Freeze Hits British Judiciary

London.—Along with railway workers and coal miners, Britain's high court judges are feeling the nip of the wage freeze.

Promised an increase in salary last May, they now have been told they'll have to wait a little longer.

Sir Stafford Cripps, chancellor of the exchequer, told the House of Commons their case for more money will be reconsidered "when the economic situation of the country permits."

Anthony Marlowe, Conservative member for Hove, said legislation on judges' salaries had been promised May 3, 1949. He asked whether the government was "going back" on that undertaking.

Sir Stafford said there had been no undertaking. Instead, it had been promised legislation would not be long delayed.

Forty-three high court judges, each receiving £5,000 ($16,500) a year, would be affected by any increase.

It is estimated that taxation now takes nearly half the salary of a judge who is married.

A columnist in the Liberal Manchester Guardian suggested the judges might do a little lobbying for an increase.

"A procession of judges in full view from the Law Courts to Westminster might strike terror into the hearts of the most stubborn of ministers," the columnist said.

CHICKEN NOODLE SOUP—A light broth, the chicken flavour clear and true, the pieces of chicken and the egg noodles tender and tempting. A delicacy that appeals to every taste.

CHICKEN GUMBO SOUP—A hearty soup that is a light meal in itself—a dinner soup in the grand manner—or just the hospitable Southern note to start an otherwise cold supper.

BEEF NOODLE SOUP—Old-fashioned, simmered beef stock with diced beef left in the clear broth, bright carrot and parsley flecking it brilliantly, plenty of ribbon-like noodles; delicate, nourishing.

VEGETABLE SOUP—A savoury, substantial soup combining 14 different vegetables, fresh-gathered at their best moments, cooked with meat stock, zestfully seasoned, and with the alphabet macaroni that children love.

VEGETABLE SOUP WITHOUT MEAT—Fresh, fine flavours of 14 vivid vegetables, appetizing colour of sun-bright tomatoes in the stock, mild seasoning, alphabet macaroni—a grand soup for the school lunch kit, for quick meals any time.

SCOTCH BROTH—A grand old-fashioned soup that snacks of the heather and the heath... sturdy mutton broth with plenty of meat, vegetables, and, of course, barley; a "growing" soup for children, fine fare for all the family.

CLAM CHOWDER—A meal in itself, with the seafood flavour predominating, tomato given great importance, diced potato as expected, and sweet peppers contributing smoothly to a grand blend of flavours.

MOCK TURTLE SOUP—Different, distinguished, a special-occasion soup which the hostess will choose for a smart dinner because of its hot, spicy, distinctive character. Its zest marks this soup for use in making casserole dishes, too.

OX TAIL SOUP—Promising aroma, deep red-brown colour and rich savoury appearance—then real ox-tail flavour, the touch of excitement so many meals need; a super ingredient for made-up dishes, too.

PEPPER POT SOUP—A hearty, he-man soup—sturdy enough for the main dish at luncheon or supper; a rich broth full of savoury solids—tender white meat, succulent vegetables, all seasoned by a knowing hand.

BEAN SOUP—Hearty, stick-to-the-ribs fare—those famous Heinz beans, whole, tender, well-cooked and supported by savoury bits of smoked pork, in a rich golden-brown stock.

PUREE MONGOLE—A soup of distinction, quite special in character. Split peas, smoked pork and tomato give it heartiness and the charm of novelty, Fine family fare.

For flavour and freshness and nourishing goodness, there's nothing to equal Heinz Soups served alone. But from the descriptions above, you can readily see why Heinz Soups also lend themselves to so many cooking uses. They play a superior part as basic ingredients in a host of delicious, inexpensive and easy-to-prepare dishes—everything from souffles to meat pies. The Heinz booklet "57 Ways to Use Heinz Soups" gives you the recipes. Ask for it at your dealer's. When shopping, look for the happy Heinz Chef—the sign of the Heinz Soup Department!

Anniversary Of Founding Of Alexandra Lodge

Ayer's Cliff, May 11.—The 41st anniversary of the Founding of Alexandra Lodge, No. 59, I.O.O.F. was celebrated at the Lodge Hall on Tuesday evening when the Charter members and the 25-year jewel veterans were the honored guests.

Alexandra Lodge was founded March 5, 1909, and of the 39 charter members only seven are living. These are Dr. C. L. Broan, John N. Hibbard, Elwin Chadsey, Marshall H. Rexford, Edward Perry, Gordon L. Temple, and Orange W. Slack. Of these only two were present and they occupied the Noble Grand and Vice Grand chair for the meeting, Bros. Temple and Hibbard respectively.

Occupying the other chairs were the veterans with 25 year jewels, Warden, Bro. W. H. Rexford, Conductor, Bro. F. A. Johnston, R.S.N. G. Bro. W. E. Rollins, R.S.V.G. Bro. C. T. Adam, L.S.V.G. Bro. W. D. Thompson, R. S. Supporter Bro. H. S. Keeler, L. S. Supporter Bro. C. Tyler, Financial secretary Bro. F. M. Wyman, Chaplain Bro. V. A. Davis. The other chairs were filled by the regular officers, treasurer, Bro. S. R. True, inside guardian, Bro. R. G. McHarg, outside guardian, Bro. Robert Aulis.

Following the regular Lodge Sessions a short program was enjoyed. Two songs by Bro. Ernest Whipple, and Harold Smith accompanied Bro. Gordon Shipway. Bro. Malcolm Gilbert was enjoyed in two readings. Bro. Fred Wyman gave an interesting history of Alexandra Lodge from 1909 to the present time.

The meetings were held for some time in the Town Hall. Then they had the second floor of the Chadsey and Slack Block, until they purchased the present building in 1930. They have this free of debt and the ground floor occupied by L. D. Mosher's Store, George Lyford's Barber Shop and G. W. Philbrick, Notary office, and the Clifateria. Bro. Wyman referred to the many pleasant occurrences during the years and also of some of the lesser pleasant affairs, but in all and every instance how much Odd fellowship had meant to each and every one during the years.

Two 25 year jewels were presented. Bro. Elmer L. Colt was one honored veteran, the presentation was made by Bro. Temple, and the 2nd honored Bro. was Albert P. Little. Bro. Wyman presented the jewel to him. Both of these Bros. made suitable remarks and both expressed appreciation. Several Brothers were present from Victoria Lodge No. 16, Coaticook, and Tomifobia Lodge No. 18, Rock Island.

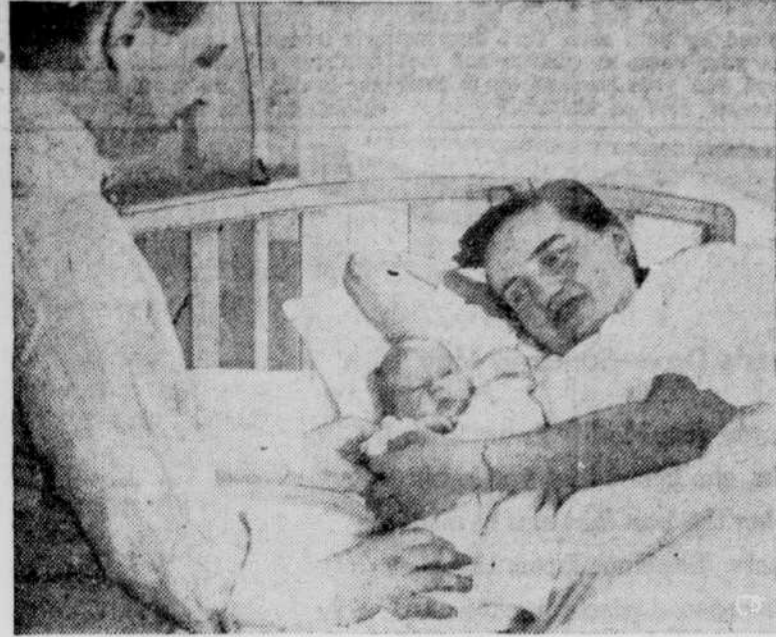

At the close of the meeting refreshments were served, and a social hour spent.

Three Easy Steps to a Prettier Pedicure

By ALICIA HART
NEA Staff Writer

Toes that will be on display in airy sandals need sprucing up for their coming-out party after a winter in closed shoes.

Pedicuring your toenails isn't difficult if you'll heed a few simple tricks.

It is easier, for example, to file and shape nails with an emery board before you bathe feet. A soapy scrub should follow the filing to soften up hard skin and tough cuticle. Use a stiff-bristled brush and scrub vigorously.

After toes are rinsed and dried, work gently around the cuticle with a cotton-tipped stick dipped in cuticle remover. Push the cuticle back lightly at the base of the nail and work your stick under the nail to loosen dead skin. Wipe nails free of loosened cuticle and any oily residue with polish remover on a cotton pad.

Trick to applying polish evenly is to separate toes with cotton rolls and to use very little polish on the brush. Cotton keeps toes steady while polish dries. Two thin coats of polish are better than one thick coat for preventing smears and streaks.

Fitting finish to a pedicure is a cream massage, stroking feet upwards from the toes. Pay special attention to the area around the heels where skin roughens easily.

Golden slippers worn by the dancer make a gleaming showcase for perfectly pedicured toes.

Schoolboy Designs Child-Size Dresses

London—Leslie Gordon, a London schoolboy, spends his leisure designing, cutting and sewing child-size women's evening dresses.

Leslie's dresses are so well designed and finished they have impressed some of London's wholesale fashion houses. They occasionally give him odd bits of material.

Most of Leslie's pocket money goes on materials and trimmings that he wants for special effects. His workshop is a corner of his father's tailoring shop and here on tiny dummies he sews, sequesters and embroiders.

"I've always loved the beautiful dresses in the shops," says Leslie, "and I wanted to try to make some. My brother taught me to sew and I made my drawings but I did not have any materials."

"So I went to a wholesale house and asked for any bits they had left over. They laughed at me at first, but now they are always very interested to see my finished models."

"At school my headmaster has helped me in my admission to a technical school where I shall study dress-designing and the practical side."

Finch's "Dopey" Gets Wanderlust

Ladysmith, B.C.—Spring may mean the end of a beautiful friendship here—a friendship between Rosey, a motherly purple finch, and Dopey, a puny song sparrow.

This story had its beginning during British Columbia's cold, cold winter, Dopey, hungry and friendless, wandered into the bird-feeding station of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Collinge where big-hearted Rosey is a permanent boarder. Although he was obviously starving, Dopey couldn't manage the swollen wheat flakes provided for him. "He was a shabby little thing," said Mrs. Collinge, "and we didn't think he had a chance of survival. But an amazing thing happened." Rosey went to work. She taught the little sparrow to break the big wheat flakes into smaller pieces. She huddled against him to keep him warm. She defended him from other birds. In short, she adopted him. And Dopey thrived. But with spring, a strong and healthy Dopey probably will leave his foster mother to see the world. Rosey, says Mrs. Collinge, will miss him.

Cradle Set Rates Lotions For Loveliness

Beauty care begins with babies. Mothers who want their daughters to be belles, not wallflowers, at the Junior Prom in 1967 must begin a regular beauty routine now.

At six months, your baby needs skin care, exercise, and hair care. Actually, skin care begins with her daily bath, given with water which is body temperature, baby powder and baby lotion. The lotion should be used all over her body but particularly in the folds and creases of skin. Such lotion not only lubricates her skin but protects it from diaper rash, heat rash, and chafing. Choose a creamy emulsion containing lanolin.

A bath tray, incidentally, is a step-saver. Use a flat-rimmed tray and stock it with bland baby soap, sterile cotton balls, antiseptic baby lotion, a safety-pin container, and baby powder.

After her bath, put your baby on a clean pad or sheet and let her squirm and kick. This is one form of exercise she needs. Gradually, help her to raise her knees to her chest, outstretch her arms, and lift them gently above her head.

The last step in a baby's beauty routine is a hair brushing. Pick a regulation baby brush, one with soft bristles. Daily brushing will help coax a wave into her hair and give it a luster.

The Doctor Says

FLORENCE NIGHTINGALE BEGAN "MINISTERING ANGEL" TRADITION
By Edwin P. Jordan, M.D.

Millions of people enter hospitals every year, either because of illness, or more happily, for childbirth. None of these millions ever enter a hospital which does not have nurses. Indeed, it would be unthinkable to have a hospital without nurses, and no hospital today could operate without them. It is only fair, therefore, that nurses should be given more attention and some tribute paid to their devoted services.

Modern nursing owes its origin to the great Florence Nightingale, the anniversary of whose birth occurs on May 12. Until her reforms began to take effect, hospitals were almost all filthy buildings. Patients with bad infections lay side by side with those who had no germ infections at all.

The results of this lack of cleanliness and elementary knowledge of prevention of disease can only be imagined. People who went to hospitals died like flies. Many who were sent to the "hospitals" of the pre-Nightingale era considered themselves practically condemned to death—and they were right! Florence Nightingale's first big opportunity came when the Crimean War broke out in 1854. She offered her services as a nurse. She found on her arrival at the scene of hostilities that in the barracks hospital alone there were four miles of wounded soldiers lying less than 18 inches apart. This was years before the part played by germs in diseases was known or the principles of antiseptic surgery discovered, but Florence Nightingale realized nevertheless that efficient nursing demands cleanliness. She found that the hospital had no basin, towel, soap or broom in the whole place. She set to work with nail and scrub brush and cleanliness followed shortly. The kitchen and the storekeeping quarters received her attentions next and required an equal amount of cleanup and reform. Of course, she revolutionized the profession of nursing. Before her day most nurses came in an entirely different model. They had had little training and their attitude toward patients was far from that of the "ministering angel," the ideal of which was ushered in by Florence Nightingale.

Labored Under Handicap
Miss Nightingale was an invalid most of her life which made her accomplishments all the more remarkable. She is considered the founder of modern nursing. Since Florence Nightingale's time, the nursing profession has gone through many trials and tribulations. In some respects and at some periods, nurses have truly been the forgotten servants of medicine. They have been underpaid and overworked. Now their economic situation is gradually improving. But today as always, the ideals of the nursing profession remain service to suffering humanity rather than financial or economic gain. Girls do not go into nursing to get rich.

Quads Perk Up Sleepy Eye, Minnesota ---

Three tiny girls and one boy, born to farm couple, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Seifert, have brought the drowsy little town of Sleepy Eye, Minn., just about the most excitement it ever had. In Sleepy Eye's municipal hospital, above, nurse Mrs. Thomas Yetter looks over the quads, who are "doing nicely." The father, a former athlete and sandlot baseball manager, said the addition of four to their previous six "sure creates some problems." He offered $10 to anyone who suggests the names used for the four, and said, "It looks like I'll have to do a little more farming and play less baseball."

What's Wrong With Joe? Ask Yanks As Red Sox Surge Upwards; Kiner Blasts Two Homers To Down Dodgers

What's wrong with Joe DiMaggio! — and we don't mean his health.

The star outfielder of the New York Yankees is in the midst of one of the worst batting slumps of his life.

DiMaggio is the first to tell you that he's never felt better in his life. What is the reason for his current puny .247 batting mark? The Yankee Clipper would give a large hunk of his $100,000 salary to know.

"I can't explain it," he said before last night's American League game against St. Louis Browns. "All I know is that my timing is off."

Joe got in some extra licks before the game. Still he went for none as the Yankees defeated the Browns 4-2. Lefty Ed Lopat pitched a three-hitter for his third triumph. Hank Bauer had a hand in all the Yankee runs. He singled and doubled against loser Joe Ostrowski, drove in two runs and scored twice himself.

Meanwhile Ralph Kiner, the National League's home run king, went on another batting spree last night. He blasted two home runs, one with the bases full and the other with two on, to almost single-handedly defeat Brooklyn. Kiner's sixth and seventh homers of the season enabled Pittsburgh Pirates to overcome a 5-0 deficit and whip the Dodgers 10-5.

Mel Parnell pitched Boston Red Sox into a first place tie with Detroit in the American League by defeating the Tigers 6-1. The Red Sox, led by rookie Walter Dropo, pounded Virgil Trucks for eight of their 13 hits. Dropo, subbing for the ailing Billy Goodman at first, hammered his second home run in eight games, and two singles.

Eddie Joost's eighth-inning home run enabled Philadelphia Athletics to shade Cleveland's slumping Indians 9-8. The A's scored seven runs in the fifth to take an 8-2 lead, but the Indians countered with five in the top of the eighth.

Lloyd Little turned in a 3-2 victory for Washington over Chicago White Sox in his first start of the season. The lefthander allowed nine hits, five of them coming in the seventh inning for the Sox' runs.

Back in the National League, lefty Johnny Schmitz hurled Chicago Cubs to a three-hit 6-0 shut-out over New York Giants. Giant Manager Leo Durocher, second baseman Eddie Stanky and pitcher Sheldon Jones were elected from the game during a seventh-inning argument.

Larry Janssen allowed only four hits in 3.2-3 innings, but three of them were home runs by Roy Smalley, Bill Serena and Wayne Terwilliger to account for four runs.

St. Louis Cards and Boston Braves were rained out, Philadelphia Phils and Cincinnati were not scheduled.

Two Sides To Patrick's Job With N.Y. Rangers

Toronto, May 11. — There was a "hearts and flowers" touch when Lynn Patrick's resignation as coach of New York Rangers.

Reports of the occasion had the National Hockey League club's front office wishing Lynn nothing but the best as he headed West to join his father in running the new Victoria entry in the Pacific Coast League.

But Milt (Toronto Star) Dunnell says the facts behind the departure of the freshman coach who nearly won the Stanley Cup are somewhat less pleasant than those that met the eye. For what it's worth, here's Milt's version:

"When Lester Patrick was near the end of his active connection with the club he put on the hockey map, Ranger President Gen. John Reed Kilpatrick told him he planned to bring up Lynn from New York's New Haven farm club to replace Frank Boucher as Ranger coach.

Milt says Lester didn't like the idea. The old Patrick claimed to have taught Boucher all he knew about the executive end of the

Two Former Argonauts Sign With Edmonton

Edmonton, May 11. — Two members of last year's Toronto Argonauts team—Doug Pyzer and Don Durno—have signed Canadian Ruby Union cards to play with Edmonton Eskimos in the Western Interprovincial Union this season, club manager Al Anderson announced yesterday.

Both are former team-mates of Annis Stukus, Edmonton coach, and were approached about coming west when Stukus and Anderson recently made a trip east in search of talent.

Pyzer is a 175-pound backfielder. Durno, 235-pound tackle, will be playing line coach.

game and felt Boucher was ignoring his advice.

"It's a bad time for him to take over," Lester told the president when he suggested Lynn as coach.

Lester explained to friends that his son couldn't win. Boucher was stepping out after a successful coaching career to take over as manager. If Rangers did well under a new coach, Boucher would get the credit. It not, Lynn was the goat.

Despite his father's warning that he'd never be happy under Boucher, Lynn took the job, feeling it was probably his only chance to coach an N.H.L. club.

"At the start," concludes Milt, "he and Boucher were buddies, but before the season was far spent, Lynn had decided Lester was right."

Willie Turnesa Claims Golf Uncertain Game

White Plains, N. Y., May 11. — (AP)—Willie Turnesa says golf is an uncertain game and anybody is apt to get bopped with a ball on a golf course.

To demonstrate his point, the former United States Amateur Champion doffed his natty sport jacket in supreme court here yesterday and smacked a few shots while the justice and jury watched with mouths open.

Turnesa was a witness for the defendants in a $150,000 damage suit.

Arthur W. Pickett is suing James R. Hand and the Tamarack Country Club of Port Chester. Pickett contends he was hit by a ball driven by Hand while the two were playing parallel fairways over the course two years ago and that he lost the sight of an eye.

Turnesa testified he had hit players with golf balls several times, the latest time last summer.

"If the ball were controllable," he said, "we would not have any more golf."

When Supreme Court Justice Lee Parsons Davis declined to let Turnesa estimate the speed of a driven ball, defence counsel asked for a demonstration.

A canvas-and-net backstop was set up in the court room and Turnesa smashed balls into it for 10 minutes. It created a furore in the court.

The trial continues today, but without Turnesa. He's sailing for St. Andrews, Scotland, and the British Amateur Tournament beginning May 22.

Golfing Brass Again Revise Handicap Rules; Sudden-Death Recommended In Match Play

New York. — (NEA) — The toughest job in any golf club is that of handicap chairman.

If you don't think so, ask the United States Golf Association.

After two playing seasons the golfing brass has had to do quite a bit of revising of its recommended system of handicapping.

While the "underlying principles of the system have not been altered," says the USGA, "changes have arisen from the experience of member clubs and sectional associations."

A revised edition of the booklet describing the system has just been published.

The most important change of all is a new recommendation calling for sudden-death play-offs in case of ties in match play handicap events, instead of the old method of playing an entire 18 holes.

The all-powerful Executive Committee now says the play-off should start where the match began and continue until one side wins a hole, strokes being allowed as in the prescribed round.

In stroke (medal) play, the committee recommends a tie should be played off at 18 holes, with handicaps. In case that be inexpedient, then it is suggested a shorter play-off be held permitting competitors to use an equitable percentage of handicaps.

Thus, if one player has three strokes more than the one with whom he is tied, the play-off might be played at six holes, if a stroke comes to the higher-handicapped player during that interim.

Other changes include a recommendation basic handicaps be computed on the lowest 10 of a player's last 50 scores, instead of the lowest 10 of an indefinite number of 50 or more.

The Handicap Table B has been eliminated, since it was designed for computation of match play handicaps only, and Table A now is renamed the "USGA Handicap Chart."

Bill Blaney of Boston leads the six-man Handicap Committee. Handicap allowances in four-ball play have been reduced and recommendations for allocation of strokes to the holes of a course have been completely changed.

New Bedford, Mass. — Leo Lebrun, 121, New York, outpointed Black Pico, 117½, Havana (10).

TOM GARD'S NOTE BOOK

Our new neighbours moved in yesterday and we had fun watching them start immediately to fix up the interior to suit themselves. With the house shortage being what it is, I didn't think it would take long to find a tenant. I have met the man of the house, "Red" Breast, but not his good wife—she was too busy! The two robins must have liked the shelter I put up for them in the early spring as they have decided to stay.

Most of our feathered songsters will be returning soon and looking for a nesting place. Help ease their housing problem by building one or two of the houses illustrated. Weathered wood without paint is a satisfactory building material. It's wise to stay fairly close to the dimensions as given in the booklet "Around the Home".

Does your doorway extend a welcome? It's a most important feature of the home that can be made very attractive by an arrangement of flowering shrubs for summer, ornamental evergreens for winter effect, and climbers. Perennial plants are best for the man who owns his property, annuals for the one who rents.

Rock Gardens

I spent two enjoyable hours in The Botanical Gardens last week admiring their beauty, listing some of the plants that are in bloom even at this early date, and getting some ideas for rock gardens. When asked what can be done with a sloping bank my usual suggestion is to build a rock garden. When carefully planned and executed, it's a decided asset to your property. You'll find directions and a list of plants that can be used in the booklet "Around the Home".
