'Arsenal museum' aids city police

IN THE GOOD OLD DAYS: Here Det.-Lieut. A. Jones and Deputy Police Chief Herb Ward recall boyhood days when fire departments in Greater Montreal used horses to bring equipment to the scene of an outbreak. They are holding bits actually used by Old Dobbin in the Westmount fire department. The bits are part of a display, mostly firearms, at detective headquarters in Westmount. The weapons — revolvers and rifles, starting and toy pistols, and other firearms, some old, some new — have all been effectively put out of action.

'Useful' say sleuths

Westmount police have an "arsenal museum" of a wide variety of firearms, old and new, which is both useful for identification purposes and decorative.

But in case any would-be thug suddenly gets big ideas, it should be noted that all the weapons have been put out of commission and, as such, are useless.

"Our display comes in handy for identification purposes," Det.-Lieut. A. Jones told The Examiner.

Visitors show interest

"Crimes involving guns are few in Westmount and we have the situation well under control. However, when the odd holdup does occur or when legitimately-owned weapons are stolen we are able to identify the firearms involved very quickly."

He added: "Then of course there is the fact that the display looks good on the wall and certainly is of interest to visitors."

The "arsenal museum," as one detective dubbed it, is located in the identification bureau. It is admired by all who see it.

Where did the weapons come from?

"Many have been taken from suspects," Lieut. Jones (Continued on page 6)

October 1 to 6

Improving generally after scattered thunderstorms, intermittent rains and gale winds. Snow in the north. Temperature range 30 - 75°F.

Bright through the middle of the week with some morning fog or drizzle and clear evenings. Montreal and Quebec regions often have heavy rains, thunder and soft hail at this time, with sunny periods.

Swim pool to close Sunday

Westmount's popular open-air swimming pool at Lansdowne and Western avenues will officially close for the season at 6 p.m. this coming Sunday.

The pool, built this past summer, was opened by Mayor Cushing on August 15.

Since that time, except for the odd cold day, the pool has been operating to full capacity.

Hockey helmets a 'must'

All boys participating in the 1962-63 Westmount Municipal Hockey program must wear helmets.

Registration for the program will commence the first week in October and boys who intend to play should endeavor to secure a helmet as soon as possible.

This safety measure is to ensure maximum protection.

Some serious head injuries were reported from other suburbs last winter.

I. GUARDS "ON PARADE" II. MUSIC AT THE CIRCUS

Canada has always been proud of the Grenadier Guards and their Band is a highlight whenever they perform. Last week a reception was held in the Officers' Mess on the occasion of the formal release of the Band Record "On Parade." Everyone loves band music, its entrancing beat that entices listeners to stamp in rhythm.

The invited guests were received by the Commanding Officer, Lieut. Col. J. G. N. Rushbrook, CD, ADC and Mrs. Rushbrook. The gathering of artistic and military people listened to the band perform in the drill hall where we all watched from the balconies. Conducted by WO J. A. Miceli, CD they certainly showed why the 25-member band has attained such a high reputation.

The Fife and Drum Band also participated; they parade in various positions and we enjoyed watching the 17 members. The leader, who twirled his baton with much ease was followed by nine fifes, five drummers and two cymbal players. They received generous applause.

First since war

"On Parade" made by RCA Victor is their first record since the last war and the first time in Canada that a commercial record has been made of a regimental band.

The debut of this record shows the regimental spirit of peacetime soldiers. It has already risen to 13th place in top selling RCA Victor Records.

Lieutenant-Colonel Rushbrook, following the concert by the band, made a short address about the record and thanked RCA Victor for co-operation and interest. Two officials from the famous recording company also spoke, Jim Yeatman and Len Hedley.

Localities among the guests were the Hannen brothers, The Honorable Mr. Justice F. Raymond Hannen, a past-president of the Notre Dame de Grace Community Council and Lieut.-Colonel J. D. Hannen.

Selections on the record include real favorites, among them are: Sousa's El Capitan — Carillon — Soldiers Of The Queen — The British Grenadiers — Old Comrades and many more. Recording engineer Harry Bragg has done an excellent job and the producer is Marcel Leblanc. A significant feature is that the information on the record is in French and English.

Music at the circus

It is not surprising that the Moscow Circus is drawing crowds to the Forum. Adults as much as children will enjoy this remarkable exhibition of precision, colorful costumes, Oleg Popov, clown extraordinary, Filatov and his marvelously-trained bears, all the other acts and last but not least, the really grand music.

Unfortunately, the program does not list the pieces but this orchestra plays wonderful accompaniments and music throughout the two-and-a-half hour show.

All that is stated is Band Leader; B. Osipov. He is a first class conductor and I sat entranced by the music as well as the splendor of the 11 acts. There is not one person who is not an artist.

Every member of the large troupe made a hit but I do think that the trained bears are the highlight. The attractive trainer, M. Filatov, will probably go down in theatre history as the creator of one of the most unique animal acts in circus annals. He is a genius.

On top of the word PROGRAM in the centre of the souvenir book, it says "THE GREAT MOSCOW CIRCUS." Believe me, it is just that.

Producer preparing series on Spain for CBC radio

Just settling back to life in his Springfield avenue home in Westmount is Herbert Steinhouse, CBC Public Affairs producer and author of the political novel, "Ten Years After". He returned recently from a year's stay in Spain, France and North Africa, where he was on a Canada Council grant collecting material for a new book.

Since most of his research was done with a tape recorder, he is now preparing a series of radio programs for the CBC. The first of these, a two-hour documentary entitled "Spain — The Struggle for Progress," will be presented on CBC Radio International at 8 p.m. tonight on CBM.

Youth makes its voice heard

Few if any radio documentaries have ever run to two hours but Spain, long confined to the travel sections of newspapers, seems about to leap into front-page prominence. Steinhouse quotes Alastair Reid, a British writer who has lived there for twelve years: "When you live in Spain, you belong to a giant conspiracy against the regime . . . Life has a tremendous tingle!"

While the Franco regime is trying to restore the monarchy, it also realizes that Spain must join the European Common Market. At the same time, the church and the army, two of the traditional powers, are changing radically as youth makes its voice heard in them.

Everywhere in Europe and North Africa, Steinhouse found changes brought about by increased prosperity, integration

Gemsey grabs tennis title

Robert Gemsey ended the three-year reign of C. W. Aikman in winning the 1962 Westmount Municipal Men's Open Singles Tennis Championship in a final match played last Saturday on the Adult Tennis Courts.

Aikman, who took five sets to eliminate Gemsey in last year's final, went ahead 6-0, 6-1, dropped the third and fourth sets at 8-6 and withdrew in the fifth.

Gemsey will receive the Open Singles Cup and the Crest at the City's Annual Awards Night to be held in the spring.

WE SAY

City police 'go modern'

SUBURBAN police and fire departments frequently are handicapped by lack of properly trained personnel and equipment — stemming mostly by an inefficient administration.

Not so in Westmount.

Let's take a look at the police department:

Not only are the men here well-trained, but they are also led by experienced and devoted officers who can always count on the backing of Westmount's city fathers.

An example of this was the introduction of tape recorders a few months ago for the purpose of taking down accidents and crime reports and for other general uses.

Beat and car patrol officers now simply record their reports, instead of the time-consuming method of writing or typing them, and these are duly transcribed by expert typists.

This has slashed paper work to a minimum.

Other modern methods, such as machine-duplicating accident reports, also have been introduced.

Time is saved — and so is some of the taxpayers' money; additionally, police efficiency naturally rises.

It is true that the building on Stanton street housing both the police and fire departments has become somewhat crowded, but the city council and the commissioners haven't been asleep on this score.

No official announcement has been made on the subject; however, it's an open secret that plans are well underway for a new building to be erected on the present site.

YOU SAY

Voter examines nationalization

Sir: The nationalization of any segment of our economy is a serious step to take.

Certainly Premier Lesage thinks so, as he has called a provincial election principally on this issue; specifically, do we or do we not nationalize the power industry in Quebec?

There are precedents in other provinces, including Ontario.

Nonetheless, any way you want to look at it, this is another step towards socialism — and socialism is supposed to be an enemy of capitalism or, if you like, free enterprise.

To paraphrase an old saying, today free enterprise "ain't what she used to be."

For instance, a goodly hunk of all public income — federal, provincial and municipal — is earmarked directly or indirectly for health and other welfare care.

Then you have unemployment insurance and other forms of what some people refer to as "social justice."

Most of these things are for the public good; this is not in dispute. Certainly the stabilization of power rates and the creation of a uniform power grid in Quebec are desirable objectives — and if private industry can't get together to accomplish them, and the government must step in, then let it do so.

There is much food for thought here, but let's not hide our collective head in the sand and boast about the great virtues of free enterprise as we knew them in days of old.

Capitalism is changing its character, largely because of the onslaught of socialistic measures which have much public appeal.

—Voter.

By the way . . .

The claim of a "world record" by a youngster who swallowed 24 raw eggs in two minutes 11 seconds, shows that youth is on its toes. Contests of this sort are going on all around us. I offer a prize of a gramophone record of Slug Nozzle singing "Oo-Ah-Oo" to the first man under 21 to burn an entire electric guitar covered with ice, using only wax matches. An eighteen-year-old tried this for two days, and collapsed from fatigue, boredom, neurosis, cramp, vertigo, nausea, and hay fever.

REPORTING FROM THE ZOO: IT'S THE HUMANS WHO ARE IN DANGER

TRUST NOT THE GENTLE ZEBRAS

By Angus McGill
THE zebras of the zoo seem to be nice, docile creatures. Who would believe, to look at them quietly grazing, that not long ago they kicked their newly-born foal to death?

The pumas lying in the September sun look dangerous but mutually affectionate. See how they snuggle up. Who would guess that they destroy, by deliberate neglect, all the pretty cubs that are regularly born to them!

Zoos are deceptive places. The animals, well-fed and playful, look as tame and lovable as a basketful of spaniel puppies.

They are nothing of the kind. Savage they were born. Savage they will die.

Dangerous

Look at the Tiger Cat, alone in his cage. He was found in the Amazon basin by an undergraduate who brought him back home and kept him in his rooms. When the college found out the Tiger Cat found a new home at the zoo.

The zoo thought the Tiger Cat would like a mate so recently they found him one. The male tolerated the female for four days. Then he killed her.

But humans sometimes kill their wives, too. Humans sometimes neglect and ill-treat their children. And of all the animals you meet in the zoo, humans are the most dangerous.

They don't mean to hurt the animals. At least most of them don't. The ones who throw empty bottles into the polar bears' pools, for instance, presumably think that polar bears like empty bottles.

What polar bears do, of course, is to grab the bottles, break them and cut their mouths. And polar bears are not the easiest animals to treat.

Last year the zoo had a baby elephant called Candy. It was a charming beast, greatly loved by the children who flock to the zoo all the year round.

One day someone fed Candy a large green cooking apple. Candy tried to eat it. He choked to death.

Today the zoo has another baby elephant, also called Candy. He trundles up and down, waving his little trunk, just as the old Candy did.

He is protected by a high wire fence. He is protected by large warning notices. But people have a way of ignoring warning notices and the zoo fears for Candy.

Don't feed the animals indeed! What cheek. That's what the animals are there for, isn't it? To be fed. Give him a chocolate biscuit, Mabel.

It all goes to illustrate one of the best known facts of zoo life. The bars aren't there to protect the people from the animals. They protect the animals from the people.

VITESSE SPEED 30 AHEAD

By Austin Carr

ON the theory that West Enders sometimes venture beyond the West End, even unto the wilds of deepest Quebec, we did some scouting the other evening in your behalf to see what's up.

Most valuable bit of information brought back for your edification and guidance is that 30-miles-per-hour-speed-limit signs guarding the entrances to the province's inhabited parts — virtually any community which can boast a place name — mean exactly what they say.

In fact, the more observant folk will have been aware that the roads department sign operatives have for the past while been putting up additional signs warning of the 30-mph limit coming up. It would appear, from our latest experience, that these were not meant to be ignored.

Grave mistake

In fact, it would appear that topping 30 in a built-up zone is regarded more gravely than exceeding the open-highway speed limit of 50 or 60 mph.

We were cruising from Exville to Zedtown about 10:30

Dear Abby...

He's a fast worker!

By Abigail van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My husband is a traveling salesman and makes a very good living selling on the road. His weakness is young girls, and in 18 years of marriage this is his third jam. A girl in Iowa claims he got her in trouble. He says he isn't sure he is responsible as he saw her only once. We have five children and my husband is 47. If this is made public it could cost him his job. How do we get out of this mess without having it in all the papers?

JERSEY

DEAR JERSEY: You need a lawyer! And your husband may have another mouth to feed, so he had better start making more calls and fewer stops.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: I am a 33-year-old divorcee (no children, thank heavens!), am considered attractive and have a well-paying job in elegant surroundings. A 38-year-old, never-married man wants to marry me. He is handsome, sober, has excellent character, money in the bank and treats me like a queen. I suppose you wonder what my problem is. Well, he works in a factory and the thought of having my husband come home in dirty, greasy overalls bothers me. I have seen him only scrubbed up and in his good clothes, and don't know how seeing him dirty would affect me. Am I childish? Do you think this is important enough to spoil our marriage? I am not crazy about the idea of having to say my husband is a common laborer.

NEAT AND CLEAN

DEAR NEAT: I would venture a guess that 99,999 women out of 100,000 wouldn't be "bothered" if a handsome, 38-year-old man of good character came home in greasy, dirty overalls — as long as he came directly home, sober, to treat her like a queen. But if it bothers YOU, do the guy a favor and introduce him to a woman who wouldn't mind putting her arms around a man like that — greasy overalls and all!

DEAR ABBY: We have a daughter who is 34 years old. She graduated from the State University so you know she is no dummy. She has been going with a divorced man for the past five years. According to her they have no plans for marriage. This man told our daughter that the best check he writes out every month is the one for his alimony, and he doesn't care to get married again. Our daughter is satisfied just to "go" with him. She has her own apartment and is self-supporting, but we think someone ought to tell her that "going" with a man with no marriage in sight is not respectable. Or do you think it is?

CHARLESTON

DEAR CHARLESTON: It is your daughter's privilege to "go with a man" if she chooses. Whether it is "respectable" or not depends on where she goes with him... and how far.

DEAR ABBY: When I was hired for this job I wasn't told that I would have to take vitamin pills every morning. Our boss is a real nut on the subject and she stands right over your desk to make sure you take the vitamin pills. Now I am 33 years old and I don't need anyone to tell me what's good for me. These pills come up on me (excuse me) and I have a very disagreeable taste in my mouth all morning. Must I quit a good paying job over something so foolish?

ANTI-VITAMIN PILLS

DEAR ANTI: Tell your boss (confidentially) that the pills disagree with you and I'm sure they won't be "brought up" (excuse me?) again.

DEAR ABBY: I have been driving for years and have never had an accident or a ticket. I have a friend who doesn't drive, so I drive her around quite a bit. It's no inconvenience as she is a neighbor. But she is a back-seat driver of the worst kind! Every minute I hear, "Turn left and use Main Street. Watch out for that car ahead of you! Don't pass yet! We're coming to a stop sign!" I don't want to hurt this woman's feelings, but if she only knew how her directions irked me! How would you handle this situation?

A "SLAVE" DRIVER

DEAR "SLAVE": Free yourself with one outspoken response: "I am driving this car and you, my dear, are driving me batty. Please be quiet and let me get us both there safely."

Jack Hutton's teens

Trick questions are in vogue

John Q., the only teen age practical joker I know, was wearing a fiendish grin when he stopped me on the street this week.

"If I had two coins in my hand adding up to 51 cents, and one of them wasn't a 50-cent piece," he whispered, "what would they be?"

When I hesitated, he spoke up in triumph. "A 50-cent piece and a penny. One wasn't a 50-piece — but that doesn't mean the OTHER one isn't."

Thousands of young Canadians will face similar "trick" questions this fall on tests which supposedly measure that slippery something that psychologists call "intelligence."

Almost every intelligence test has at least one question with a twist that separates the sheep from the goats. You can't really bone up for them, but the same old chestnuts reappear constantly.

For hte second year in a row I'm offering a few of them to you. Some of them take a bit of puzzling so don't fret if the answer doesn't leap to your mind. For example:

A gentleman had just started holidays when his butler wrote to say he couldn't send him mail because he'd taken the mailbox key. The chap immediately mailed the key back and received his back mail in a few days. What's wrong with this story?

The answer, of course, is that the butler couldn't possibly have got the key out of a locked mailbox. Easy? If you think so, sink your teeth into this next classic story.

Savages prepared to burn a missionary at a stake made him a sporting offer if he would make a positive statement. If it were a true one they'd shoot him with a poisoned arrow, or, if it were a false one they'd roast him.

The missionary whispered to the tribal medicine man who promptly announced that they'd have to let the prisoner go free. What did the missionary say?

His statement: "I will die by fire." Now, if this statement were true, the savages had promised to shoot him with a poisoned arrow. Therefore, it wouldn't be true.

But if the statement were not true, they had promised to roast their guest. Either way left the logical savages stymied so they allowed the missionary to proceed on his way.

Perhaps you've already heard the next one about the gentleman who asked his blind butler to bring him a pair of either black or white socks from his drawer. If the drawer had 20 black and white socks mixed together, what was the minimum number the butler could bring back?

The answer: Three socks. Or what about the 195-pound chap who has to carry three billiard balls, each weighing two pounds, over a bridge that only supports only 200 pounds? How does he do it?

The answer: He juggles them so that one is always in the air. Therefore, he never has to support more than two at a time, weighing four pounds, and reaches the other side in safety.

One last question, for which I'll supply the answer next week: A theatre manager carries the letters U, T, E, N, and I outside to his marquee but can't remember which word he wanted to form. What are the two possible words?

Send us any others that you think might be "stumpers."

Teen jargon

An American magazine claims that several new words have invaded the teen world during recent months.

A "twink" is supposed to be an out-of-date person. A "bonik" is something or someone stupid. And when a fellow says, "I'm shafted," that signifies that he's in trouble.

What about Canada? Do we have any slang words on this side of the border that teen-agers have originated?

"Russian students seem to be more serious than we are. They don't have the cars, clubs, books or magazines that we do, and so their life seems toned down a bit."

That was 18-year-old Philip Issenman of Montreal talking after a recent five-week visit to the Soviet Union with a party of young American students.

Philip, who has just entered Harvard University in the U.S., said two things impressed him about the young Russians he met: their ability to speak English and their said. "Others are war souvenirs voluntarily turned in by ex-servicemen. Some were found in various places and turned over to us."

There are all kinds of firearms — revolvers and rifles, starting and toy pistols, ancient army weapons and so on.

Also in the display are some bits which were once worn by proud and faithful fire horses.

"Oldtimers' eyes always brighten when they spot these bits," Lieut. Jones said. "I suppose nostalgia does mean something."

Lieut. Jones' eyes brightened, too!

p.m., alone. It was a wet night so we throttled back to a moderate 55, more or less. (The limit is 50.)

We noticed a pair of headlights behind, some distance back. They didn't gain, neither did they drop back. The miles slid past. We neared Zedtown, our headlights picking out the "30 Ahead" sign. We eased foot from throttle. We breasted the "30 Limit" sign, not yet down to 30 mph, probably between 35 and 40 but still slowing down.

In a trice that innocent following car was right behind, then we saw the red roof light start to flash, then he was beside us, then he was ahead — motioning us to the side of the road.

We stopped. The Provincial Police constable was at the window.

"Your driver's and car licenses, please."

"Yes, sir," we said.

Standing there in the inky darkness, a flashlight under his arm and clipboard in hand, he carefully took down all our particulars. It took a little while. Only question was, "What's your occupation?"

"Newspaperman."

He looked at us as if to say we newspaper people should know better than to do whatever it was we had done.

We were about to ask when he said:

Facts admitted

"Do you know you were doing 33 miles an hour in a 30-mile zone?"

"Oh, yes," we answered. "In fact I thought I was going a little faster than that. I was slowing down."

The local authorities had been complaining about speeders, he said. Please be more careful. He walked back to his car. Then returned.

"You know," he said, "I'm supposed to give you a ticket but you have been very polite. I find regular drivers, like travelling salesmen and newspapermen, are polite and understand. Please be careful."

We will.

No ticket as punishment. But what was far worse, just as we were stopped a couple of boxers were climbing into a ring in Chicago to settle a world championship. Part of our politeness had been to turn down the radio.

After we got going again we heard something like: "The champion is now back in his dressing room."

It wasn't for some miles, well within the speed limit, we learned the fight was over and who had won. That was our punishment.

past several weeks, the Club has been open for registration purposes and limited activity. Youngsters six to 16 living in the above mentioned districts are eligible to join the Club. The registration of new or old members will continue throughout the forthcoming season. A limit of 1,000 members has been set as the maximum number of members required to adequately carry on a program.

A new membership record was established at the Unity Boys' Club during the 1961-62 season with a total enrollment of 1,034. To-date, nearly 400 youngsters have joined and the

In order to carry on this important work in our community and others, we strongly urge the citizens of Westmount and St. Henry to support the United Appeal of Welfare Federation. Be a fair share giver. Support the Red Feather.

RED FEATHER: The Unity Boys' Club of Westmount, a project of the Westmount Rotary Club and under the supervision of the Montreal Boys' Association, is one of the 36 agencies for which Welfare Federation is conducting its annual campaign for funds.

With financial assistance and the implementation of a diversified program, the boys and girls of our community can rise above their environment, do well at school or college, be a useful citizen doing a useful job and practicing juvenile decency. But without this aid,

Obituary

Mrs. G. Gordon Hyde

Mrs. G. Gordon Hyde, 72, of 4200 Sherbrooke street west, mother of J. Richard Hyde, speaker of the Quebec Legislature and Liberal member for Westmount-St. George, died Wednesday, following a lengthy illness. Her late husband represented the Westmount-St. George Riding from 1939 to 1942 when he was appointed to the Quebec Legislative Council. He died in 1947.

Mrs. Hyde, the former Lilian Boronow, was active for many years in Montreal's welfare and social organizations. As a fundraiser she worked for the Salvation Army, Canadian Mental Health Association and Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society.

She was also president of the Montreal Soldiers' Wives' League, which visited veterans in hospitals, and regent of the Wolfe and Montclair chapter of the Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire.

Vice-chairman of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Royal Canadian Artillery was another post she held.

Mrs. Hyde was born in Montreal and educated in Germany.

Her son, Richard, a daughter, Mrs. Robert A. (Shirley) Tremaine of Evanston, Ill., survive along with two brothers, Robert R. Boronow, of Montreal, and Paul Boronow, of Appleton, Wis., and two sisters, Mrs. Eric Heuser and Mrs. A. B. Walter, of Montreal.

Funeral will be held at 2 p.m. today from Erskine and American Church to Mount Royal Cemetery. Body is resting at the William Wray Chapel, 2075 University street.

George Williams University under the sponsorship of the Boys' Clubs of Canada four-year scholarship course and who has been assigned to do his field work at the Unity Boys' Club, introduce new table games which should keep the small fry members occupied and interested.

Club members are invited to come into the Club and meet Jimmy Rice. He will be on hand to greet you on Mondays, Wednesdays, Fridays and Saturdays.

CREATIVE CRAFTS:

Girls' Work Supervisor Joan Strike has started a Creative Crafts class for Midget and Junior girls. This class will be held every Friday afternoon. A class in Puppetry is also in the planning stage; it will be conducted every Thursday.

NEWSPAPER: A much-needed club news report has been appointed supervisor in charge of the Games Room. In the planning stage for several years. Two years ago a group of boys became interested and made some attempt to achieve this goal. However, it was not entirely successful, probably due to the fact that an advisor to the group was not available.

Last week, a group of girls showed some interest in this type of project and an advisor in the person of Joan Strike was approached. Miss Strike accepted the challenge and meetings have already been held. The interested girls are Marlene Doherty, Susan Warren, Sharon Crothers, Cheryl Hogan and Geraldine Galley.

We wish our young journalists good luck in their new endeavors.

Car wash replaces hazing

Hazing—that hectic, frenzied, dangerous custom of student initiation — is definitely out this year for Loyola, it was reported this week.

It will be replaced by a car wash for charity, to be held this Saturday on the Loyola campus to aid the Montreal Association of the Blind.

A student spokesman said "hazing is inconsistent with the values which university students, as growing members of the community, should hold."

Along with the freshman car washers will be students from Marianopolis College for women.

The wash-a-thon will go on from 9.30 a.m. to 3.30 p.m. The rates are 25 cents for compact cars and 50 cents for standard-sized cars. Drivers are requested to use the Sherbrooke street entrance to the campus.

Volutron — a new development

By Givon Cornfield

The engineers at the Montreal plant of RCA Victor have developed a new, revolutionary-type of circuit known as "Volutron," capable of reproducing high fidelity at all volume levels.

As explained by W. B. Morrison, chief engineer of the company's home products division, it is necessary for standard equipment, in order to provide faithful reproduction, to "operate at high volume levels . . . levels that are considered by many to be objectionable. We discovered that most people preferred their home-entertainment music at low levels, but were often discouraged by the thinness of sound reproduction they received at reduced volume."

Normally, when the volume on a record player is turned down below a certain point, parts of the original recorded sound become inaudible, they are "lost".

With the new Volutron control in operation, the volume can be turned even below conversational level, allowing every instrument and every note still to be clearly heard.

It took the RCA Victor two years to perfect the Volutron circuitry. The idea was conceived following a survey that showed most listeners were using their high fidelity equipment at below conversational level.

Mr. Morrison described the new circuit as a major breakthrough in the field of home entertainment instruments.

"Certain engineering techniques were involved which previously had been available only in costly recording studio installations," he said. "One of the biggest problems of course, was to bring the cost of these features in line with that of the home instrument". The new control is included in a number of the new models for 1963, and will be demonstrated at the coming High Fidelity Show at the Mount Royal next month.

Dynamic circuit

Compensating volume controls are not exactly new. They were introduced in recent years in several amplifiers and were called variously Compentrol, Contour Control, etc. But these were fixed controls, able to boost certain frequencies pre-selected by the listener by way of compensating for the loss inherent in low level listening.

Volutron is constantly variable. The circuit senses the level and adjusts the gain of the amplifier accordingly, maintaining all low level passages at above the threshold of hearing.

Ravel's Bolero, says Mr. Morrison, is a good case in point. This well-known work, you will recall, starts out with a solo instrument playing the theme, over a low murmured accompaniment.

The theme is repeated 18 times, with more instruments being added at each repeat. The end is very loud indeed. Now if you start out listening to Bolero at a fairly high level, you will be forced before long to turn down the volume.

With Volutron, a good level selected from somewhere near the end is chosen, and the needle placed at the beginning of the record. Amazingly, the barely audible background is now present, whereas before all you could hear was the solo instrument.

Radio broadcast set for Sunday

At high levels, where the sound is well balanced and tampering is not desirable, Volutron is not noticeable.

Christian Science lecturer:
 'Religion needed in government'
 How scientific prayer enables each individual to make a really positive contribution toward the establishment of better government, locally, nationally and internationally, was discussed by a Christian Science lecturer in an address prepared for delivery in Victoria Hall, West-mount, on Monday evening, September 24.
 The speaker, Charles Louis
 Reilly of Los Angeles, is a member of The Christian Science Board of Lectureship. Mr. Reilly noted that there are millions of sincere people who recognize the need for individual responsibility in working for secure and honest government, but he thought a great many of them just don't know what they can do about it.
 The starting point, he stressed, must be clearer understanding of the basic principle that true government begins with God.
 "Government of the people, by the people, and for the people, will never become an accomplished fact," he declared,
 "except as it arises from a people self-disciplined under God. We all need to seek prayer-fully God's government in human affairs."

Westmount Baptist celebrates 60 years
 The 60th anniversary of West-mount Baptist Church will be celebrated this Sunday when Dr.
 N. H. Parker, the Principal of McMaster Divinity College, will be the preacher. Dr. Parker, who came from the Southern United States, has been on the staff of McMaster for over 30 years and is the first Principal of the newly-created Divinity College, still affiliated with, but independent from,
 McMaster University, the parent Baptist institution founded by Senator William McMaster and located in Hamilton, Ontario.
 The morning service will conclude with the ordinance of Baptism administered to four members of the Church School by the Pastor, Dr. E. J. Bailey.
The history
 Westmount Baptist Church was originally known as Grace Baptist Church, which was formed in the year 1890. The meetings were first held in a rented shop on St.
 Catherine street opposite Victoria street, and later in premises on Phillips Square, now part of Henry Birks store. The congregation grew to such an extent that only the week-day meetings were held there and the Sunday services were held in Queen's Hall, now part of the site on which Eaton's store stands.
 The next move was to Elm Hall on Elm avenue, but this hall proved so uncomfortable in cold weather, and as no suitable place could then be rented nearby, it became necessary to erect a church building. A site was procured at the corner of Olivier and Western avenues and the building was completed in January, 1894.
 In April, 1903, Westmount Baptist Church was incorporated. In the course of time these premises proved inadequate and in April, 1925, the congregation moved to its present building at the corner of Sherbrooke street and Roslyn avenue.
 It is interesting to recall that the first sod was turned by the Rt. Hon. David Lloyd George while on a visit to Canada in October 1923.
 During the past 60 years the church has been blessed by the leadership of giant men of God, including: Rev. F. S. Weston, Dr.
 G. O. Gates, Dr. O. C. S. Wallace,
 Dr. G. R. Maguire, Dr. A. T.
 Sowerby, Rev. J. M. Smith, Dr.
 J. R. Kirtley, Dr. J. A. Johnston and Dr. E. J. Bailey.
 Although the anniversary is being celebrated formally by special service Sunday, various events of considerable interest are scheduled during the three months, September, October and November. There will be a Congregational Fellowship Evening on Monday, October 1, with Dr.
 Parker as speaker.
 In October, Dr. E. J. Bailey completes his pastorate and leaves to assume the leadership of Kingsway Baptist Church in Toronto. His dynamic ministry has been richly used of God and greatly appreciated.

Many celebrities graduate from Speirs-Miller's

The Taylor Twins appearing recently at the "Queen Elizabeth", are proteges of Speirs-Miller Studios, fine clean cut young fellows, they have been on various TV programs within the past few months.

The precision and grace shown in their smooth tap routines, as taught by their teacher Peter Miller, must have been very gratifying, as the twins received an ovation nightly in their recent engagement.

Bernard Giroud of Montreal, known in Hollywood as "Tommy Nolan", also a pupil of Speirs-Miller, appeared several times on a program with Ronald Regan, with Judy Garland in the film "A star is born", when in Hollywood just a few months.

Tommy since then has been on many programs, including his own "buckskin". He is now twelve years of age. Betty Speirs recognized unusual talent as a tiny boy, and suggested Hollywood, six weeks after his arrival, he was chosen for his first film, playing opposite Sarah Churchill, in the life story of the Royal Family, Tommy taking the part of the Prince of Wales as a small boy.

These famous stars started their career as any boy or girl, with no special tuition, every pupil at Speirs-Miller receives the maximum of attention for their development, and the same opportunity for stardom in the professional field is open to all.

Peace and Power

The peace I sought seemed very far away,
My life lay strewn, — in disarray,
When swift, a shaft of light, pierced through the gloom,
As after virile seed, there comes the bloom.

No longer is my path, thorn-strewn, and bleak,
Now peace is mine, I need no longer seek,
I, from my imaged suffering am free,
For I have found a mental sanctity.

and a broad new bureaucratic elite in each country, the "technocrats." But the changes are not immediately apparent as ideological.

In Spain, for instance, the real secret of the "Spanish miracle" is, according to Steinhouse, the tremendous influx of tourists, mostly German and American, who amount to ten million a year, equal to one third of the population. They provide, among other things, sixty percent of Spain's foreign exchange.

Ideologically, the Spanish are as individualistic as ever. Steinhouse estimates there are thirty million political parties in Spain today, adding, "as any one of the thirty million Spaniards will tell you."

In trying to find out where these thirty million are heading, Steinhouse interviewed economists, philosophers, painters, publishers, numerous outspoken anti-Franco militants, and countless others.

The major problem posed by interviews was that they had to be with people who had something to say and who were articulate in English.

"I played detective, I played technician, I played reporter, I played political scientist," recalls Steinhouse, "and I tried to become a sort of half expert on everything from biophysics to painting, in order to speak to the people who are tied up with the real work of the future."

He adds that he tried to stay away from cabinet ministers and politicians, "who smack too much of the here and now!"

This last consideration reflects the ideas of Steinhouse the writer, for he does intend to transcribe all his experiences into a new political novel, which will concern itself with the whole Mediterranean area.

McGill class reunions expected to draw many

17 The Westmount Examiner, Friday, Sept. 28, 1962

Over 1,500 McGill graduates will face a busy round of activities when they return to the campus on October 12 and 13 for their Class Reunions. More than 50 classes from all faculties, from the years 1912 to 1957 at five-year intervals, will be represented at the Reunion Weekend.

An event of increasing popularity with the graduates, the Reunion Seminar will be held on Friday, October 12. This year's Seminar, on the topic The Mind of Man, will be devoted to an examination of present knowledge about man's mental processes and potentialities by a panel made up of six distinguished members of the McGill faculty.

Under Professor Frank Scott, QC, Dean of the Faculty of Law, as chairman, the participants will be: Dr. D. Ewen Cameron, Chairman of the Department of psychiatry and Director of the Allan Memorial Institute; Dr. George L. d'Ombain, Chairman of the Department of Electrical Engineering; Dr. William H. Feindel, William Cone Professor of Neurology and Neurosurgery; Dr. Stanley B. Frost, Dean Faculty of Divinity and Acting Dean, Graduate Studies and Research; and Dr. Donald O. Hebb, Professor of Psychology.

Busy schedule

The Seminar will be held in Moyse Hall at 2 p.m., preceded by a special Seminar Luncheon in Redpath Hall at 12.30 p.m.

The only event during the weekend which brings all classes together under one roof is the Football Luncheon on Saturday, October 13, at 12 noon in the Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gymnasium. This is held prior to the annual Reunion football match, which this year features the McGill Redmen in a league game against the University of Toronto.

Following the football match, Dr. F. Cyril James, Principal and Vice-Chancellor of McGill, will entertain graduates of the classes of 1942 and earlier at a Reception in Redpath Hall.

Two additional events of special interest are scheduled during the Reunion Weekend.

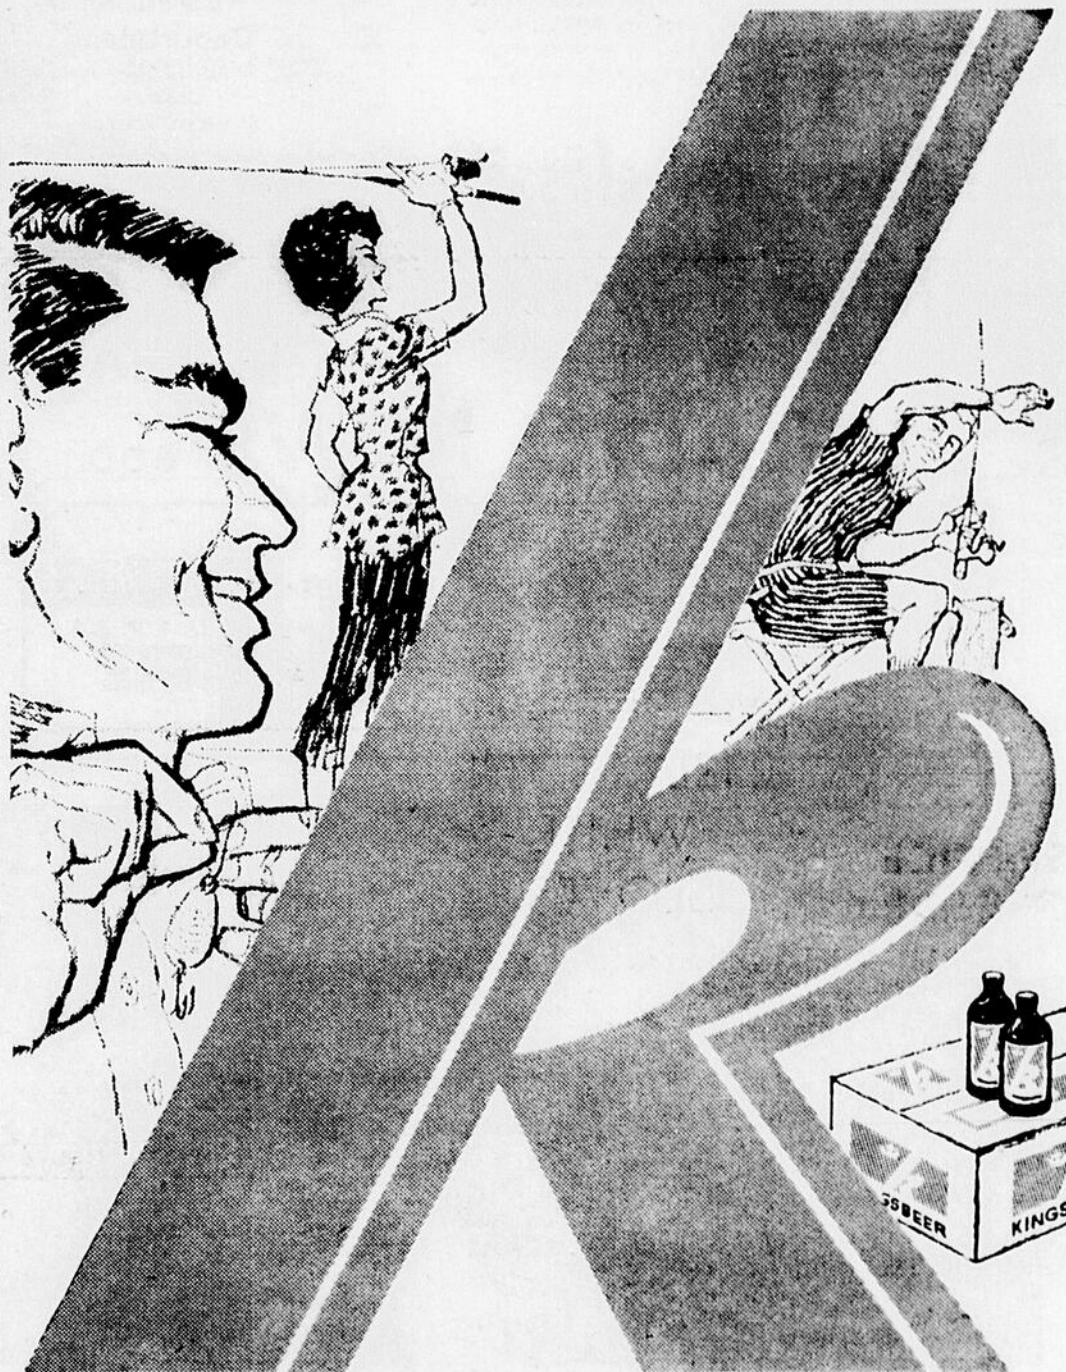

On Friday, October 12, the McGill University Contingent of the Canadian Officers' Training Corps, the first such unit in the British Empire outside of the United Kingdom, will celebrate its 50th anniversary. Past and present members of the COTC will attend a Mess Dinner in Bishop Mountain Hall at 7.30 p.m. and on Saturday following the football match, they will gather at an open house in the Officers' Mess, Sir Arthur Currie Memorial Gymnasium.

The other event is the campus-wide Open House, held once every three years. A combined student-faculty venture, the two-day programme will feature numerous exhibits and displays in the various University buildings as well as campus tours and entertainment.

Reunion graduates, however, will concentrate their attention on the individual class events which have been scheduled by their chairmen. Banquets, receptions and luncheons are being planned at various times during the weekend. Medical classes will hold a combined scientific session Friday morning and the School of Social Work has made special plans for its own graduates.

Gemesy cops Tennis Crown

Congratulations to Robert Gemesy winner of the 1962 Westmount men's open singles tennis crown. Gemesy defeated C. W. Aikman in a closely contested match that went five sets. This loss ended Aikman's three-year tennis supremacy in Westmount.

Less than six months ago Benny (Kid) Paret lost the welterweight championship of the world, and his life as he was brutally pounded by Emile Griffith in a title bout at Madison Square Garden.

At the time there was a tremendous public outcry by the public and there was an official investigation that did nothing to correct the evils that exist in the boxing racket, but exonerated all concerned with the mismatch of all responsibility.

Serious injuries in boxing will persist unless the weight of the gloves, now eight ounces, is increased to 10 or 12 ounces. It is evident that the kayo is what boxing fans want. Boxing skill went out the window the night that Jack Dempsey unleashed his hurricane attack on huge Jess Willard to capture the heavyweight crown.

This vicious sport has now crippled another former heavyweight title aspirant in Alejandro Lavorante, a 25-year-old Argentine heavyweight, who is fighting his greatest battle, for his life, after brain surgery that followed his knockout defeat at the hands of Johnny Riggins at Los Angeles on Friday.

Riggins of San Francisco halted Lavorante in the sixth round of a scheduled 10-round fight.

The six-foot-three-inch Lavorante was the favorite. With his graceful, stand-up style and long reach, the South American had an edge in the first four rounds.

But in the fifth Riggins hurt Lavorante. The end came after 2:12 of the sixth when Riggins landed a combination of blows. Lavorante went down. Referee Tommy Hart, who had started the count, halted it and signaled the end of the fight. Lavorante was out cold and could not be revived. Brain surgery followed.

Lavorante was knocked out in his previous two starts. His most recent knockout loss was a brutal beating at the hands of cagey old Archie Moore.

An executive meeting of the QRFU, (the oldest football organization in North America, it has been in operation since 1882), was held at the Belvedere Motel on Friday. The meeting was chaired by president Edmund T. Asselin, MP. Some important decisions were made at the meeting. The most important of which is the strict enforcement of rules. As a result the league leading Shamcats of the senior section lost a game played against the Cornwall Clippers on September 12. The game was awarded to the Clippers because the Shamcats used an ineligible player. The view of the executive is, rules are rules and they should be strictly observed and enforced.

On a happier note, president Asselin, expressed the opinion that both the Junior and Senior champions in the QRFU should go a long way in their quest of the Dominion title honors.

The McGill Redmen's coaching duo of Bill Bewley and Ron Murphy were keen observers at Trenholme Park on Thursday as the N.D.G. Maple Leafs exploded and soundly whipped the Rosemount Bombers 34-13.

Quarterback Ron Maddocks called a brilliant game as he led the Leafs to their third straight win. Maddocks connected for four touchdown passes, two to Allan Schreiber and two to Bruce Barnes. Schreiber scored a third major as he swept wide on an end run and galloped 50 yards.

A crowd of more than 3,000 was on hand to cheer the Leafs to their third straight victory... Gino Barretta converted four of the five majors.

Maurice Tellier, brother of Red, great athlete of the twenties and early thirties was on hand watching son Pete performing in great style as a member of the Economides, Hogan and Apostolatos, triumvirate who guide the destiny of the Leafs on the gridiron.

The ROY CHESLEY testimonial dinner is slated for Saturday, September 29, at the Town and Country Motel located on Cote De Liesse Road. Friends of Roy's, a great sportsman, are welcome to attend this grand testimonial to a man who has had much to do in making the boys under his influence good citizens. Those wishing to attend can make arrangements for tickets, (the better half is welcome) by contacting former Westhillian Grant Peterson at OX. 7-2612.

Huskies edge Mules, remain undefeated

The Huskies won their third consecutive game of the 1962 Municipal Eight-Man Tackle Football League, edging Mules 12-6.

Roger Harte scored in the first quarter from 10 yards out on a flip from Neil Fernandes and the league leading scorer, Robert Vaux, took a hand-off in the second quarter and romped 10 yards for the Huskies second touchdown.

Dick Aylett got the Mules on the score sheet late in the third quarter on an end around reverse from six yards out.

William McMaster, Peter Vuilemot and Paul Boucher played well for the Huskies with Gordon Norris, Jimmy Hotton and Kevin O'Halloran outstanding for the Mules. Both defensive units played well.

The Bulls came up with their best game of the season but were the victims of several miscues as the Broncs won their second game of the season by a 27-6 score.

Broncs scored two early first quarter touchdowns, one by Jon Churcher as he picked up a fumble on the Bulls' 25 yard line, Brian Hoffman converted, Steven Bourke intercepted a forward pass on the Bulls' 30 and went all the way.

In the second quarter Churcher scored again on a 40 yard pass and run play with Hoffman again converting.

Bulls' got their first touchdown of the year as newcomer, Ellis Cooper, galloped around left and from his own 45 with Peter Dickson throwing the key block on the play, by taking out Steven Bourke.

Phil Lecouffe took a pass-out from mid-field and ran a zig-zag course to score the Broncs' 4th TD with Hoffman picking up his third convert of the day, and 6th of the season.

Leafs, Lions, clash Friday

The undefeated N.D.G. Maple Leafs, entertain the Town of Mount Royal Lions at Trenholme Park tomorrow evening at 8.

The Lions presently hold down second place in the QRFU Junior Section with two wins and one loss. They defeated the Verdun Braves 6-3 in their last outing.

The Leafs soundly trounced the Rosemount Bombers 34-13 at Trenholme Park on Thursday as they registered their third straight victory.

Ron Maddocks the N.D.G. star quarterback, will no doubt display the Leafs powerful aerial attack as he aims for his favorite receivers Bruce Barnes and Allen Schreiber.

Zoppi twins linemen

Other local stalwarts who have shown well with the Leafs to date will be in action tomorrow evening, these include Richard Flis, Bobby Dougan, Terry Flood, Andy Leveille, Phil Chiarella, Jim Cascadden, Norm Ellemo, Pete Pokulok and Don Harris.

The visiting Lions are coached by Bruce Provencher, assisted by Ian MacDonald (who played for the Leafs three years ago), Milan Zipoy and Bob McCleery.

John Gilman and Jack Keating share the quarterbacking chores for the Lions. Other well know members of the squad are, backs Tom Irvine, Bob Fargey, Joe Arcaro and Brian Cleary. Linemen include the only twin combination in Canadian football, Rich and Bob Zoppi, Wally Ziobro and Wes Galloway.

The Maple Leafs organization invites all football fans in the West End to attend the game, and to root for and support the Leafs in their quest for a Dominion championship.
