SOME REGISTRATION NUMBER — Boston's finest would be hard put to try and trace the holder of the "State" of Montreal registration number Expo 67. Picked up by a Sherbrooke traveller on a recent trip to the U.S., the parking ticket seems to show that at least one Bostonian isn't quite sure of what's supposed to be happening in Montreal this summer. Or perhaps he just doesn't read the small print.

Ex-brass knock policy

OTTAWA (CP) — Four of the five men who comprised the top command of the armed forces last July now have criticized planned service unification before the Commons defence committee. The fifth has not been called as a witness.

Air Chief Marshal Frank Miller, chief of defence staff at his retirement last summer, said Monday night that there will be no military nor monetary advantage from unification.

But there would be disadvantages to the "unknown" of a single force. There would be "disruption" caused by the government unilaterally tearing up its present contracts with sailors, soldiers and airmen and forcing them into a unified force.

Previous critics of unification before the committee have included three former subordinates to Air Chief Marshal Miller. They are Lt. Gen. Robert Moncel, retired vice-chief of staff; Air Marshal Claire Annis, retired chief of technical services; and Lt. Gen. Frank Fleury, retired controller-general.

The fifth member of the five-man defence staff last summer — Vice-Admiral Kenneth Dyer, chief of personnel — has not been called as a witness.

Air Chief Marshal Miller, the final witness, is scheduled to complete his testimony today. The committee's plan is to return the unification bill, with several amendments, to the Commons no later than Wednesday.

The former chief of staff, who also served as deputy defence minister from 1955 to 1960, said there was no unification plan up to the time he retired.

He still did not know what the defence department meant by being spelled out as to timing or method.

Harold Winch (NDP—Vancouver East) said Gen. Moncel had testified that he (Moncel) had prepared four unification plans and that the one chosen for implementation he had himself rejected out of hand.

Air Chief Marshal Miller said he was not aware of any four formal plans though such plans would normally have gone through him to Defence Minister Hellyer. However, there might have been papers presented and discussions held when he was away.

He declined to say what advice he had given to Mr. Hellyer on the grounds this was confidential.

But he said in a later reply to Douglas Harkness, former Conservative defence minister, that he does not think any advice was given by the military chiefs to proceed with unification.

'Everybody the loser' says Dan in Ottawa's 'strange game'

TORONTO (CP) — Quebec Premier Daniel Johnson said today Ottawa and the provinces are playing "a strange game" in which everybody is a loser.

"When the federal government offers an option which is quite obviously designed for Quebec, it pretends to offer it to all the provinces," the premier told a dinner meeting of the Canadian Club of Toronto.

"And once Quebec has exercised its option, to re-establish uniformity, they ask the other provinces to pretend to want some too."

"In this game, everybody is a loser."

To enable the provinces to evolve a complete freedom, Mr. Johnson said "we will have to break through the wall of appearances and recognize once and for all the special situation of Quebec."

He praised Ontario Premier John Roberts' call for a pre-constitutional conference.

"We need changes of structure, changes in the constitution, and I am very pleased to see that throughout the whole country... people are more and more willing to consider such changes."

Mr. Johnson said the surest way to bring about the destruction of Canada is to confuse the national feeling of French Canadians with separatism.

"To be against Quebec nationalism in that way is an affront, not to the persons one might think, but to a whole people which... is conscious of forming a nation in the sociological meaning of the word; a people which wants to live and progress in the direction of its own special culture, at least in its principal homeland, namely Quebec."

Bilingualism was essential at the federal level "to preserve the right of every citizen to serve his country and to be served in his own language."

A copy of his speech was released in advance of delivery.

Quebec Tories decide against en bloc vote

MONTREAL (CP) — Delegates representing the Quebec Progressive Conservative Association at the party's national leadership convention in September will not vote as a bloc in support of any candidate, it was announced Sunday.

Unanimous support for any of the candidates on the part of the Quebec delegation would damage the province's relations with the rest of Canada, said Paul Trepanier, president of the Quebec association, following a weekend meeting of the group.

During the meeting, a special committee to choose the Quebec delegation to the leadership convention in co-operation with the provincial executive was established.

A new plan for reconstruction of the Conservative party in Quebec was also approved.

The plan would seek to strengthen Quebec's voice in national party affairs and to establish a strong provincial party organization. Its details were not made public.

'Constructive' says Johnson

Ky goes home, less militant after LBJ talk

GUAM — (AP) — President Johnson said today his two days of Vietnam talks on the Pacific island of Guam was instructive and constructive but produced no momentous decisions.

Johnson told a press conference before he took off for Honolulu and Washington: "We took no decisions of a military nature."

South Vietnam's premier Nguyen Cao Ky, and chief of state, Nguyen Van Thieu, flew back to Saigon. As seen as they arrived Thieu announced his government before the Guam Conference had asked North Vietnam to join it in a peace meeting. But he said no answer had been received from Hanoi.

"If Hanoi is ready to discuss peace with us, we are ready to meet with them," Thieu told a press conference at the Saigon airport.

The White House press secretary, George Christian, said he had no comment to make on Thieu's disclosure.

SEEKS SUPPORT — Johnson spoke to reporters in a hilltop navy officers club here, just seven hours earlier, Premier Ky had made an emotional appeal for united American support that concluded:

"There is no reason that you or other people should impose on us to surrender or accept domination from the Communists... We are willing to fight."

Johnson obviously was disturbed by the attention given to some of Ky's earlier statements which in effect called for sharp escalation in the war and rejected a place at any peace talks for the Viet Cong's National Liberation Front.

The president said he was "amazed" that the reporters gave so much attention to Ky's statement Monday that "even to permit the front to pose as representatives of any segment of the South Vietnamese people would betray the sacrifices made by thousands of Vietnamese, Americans and our other allies."

The president said he has always felt that the NLF would have no difficulty in making its views heard at any negotiations. And he said nothing that happened in Guam caused him to change his mind.

TONES DOWN VIEW — Ky himself toned down his comment at a press conference before his departure, saying he is ready to talk peace with Hanoi and "if they have the intention to have members of this so-called front of liberation with them, we have no objection."

Smile for today — The politician's favorite menu — applause and banquets.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The "doves" among Senate Democrats have about given up hope that President Johnson can initiate Vietnam peace talks before the U.S. elections in 1968.

A check indicates that most of them expect decisions growing out of the just-concluded Guam conference that will intensify military efforts. This, in their opinion, will make it more difficult to get negotiations started.

Their hopes that the administration's pacification program in South Vietnam might produce a slowdown in the fighting were jolted by a first-hand report from Prof. George McT. Kahin, head of Cornell University's Southeast Asia program.

Kahin, co-author of a book on Vietnam who just returned from Saigon, was quoted as telling 18 Democrats and three Republicans at a closed luncheon Monday that the program thus far has been "an utter failure" because it provides for no land reform.

Senator Joseph S. Clark (Dem. Pa.), who attended the session, called Kahin's report "very discouraging" to those who hope that the election of a new civilian government might give South Vietnam the kind of stability that could lead to peace negotiations.

DUPUIS APPEAL — An appeal against the influence of Yvon Dupuis, former federal cabinet minister, was to begin today in the Quebec Court of Appeal.

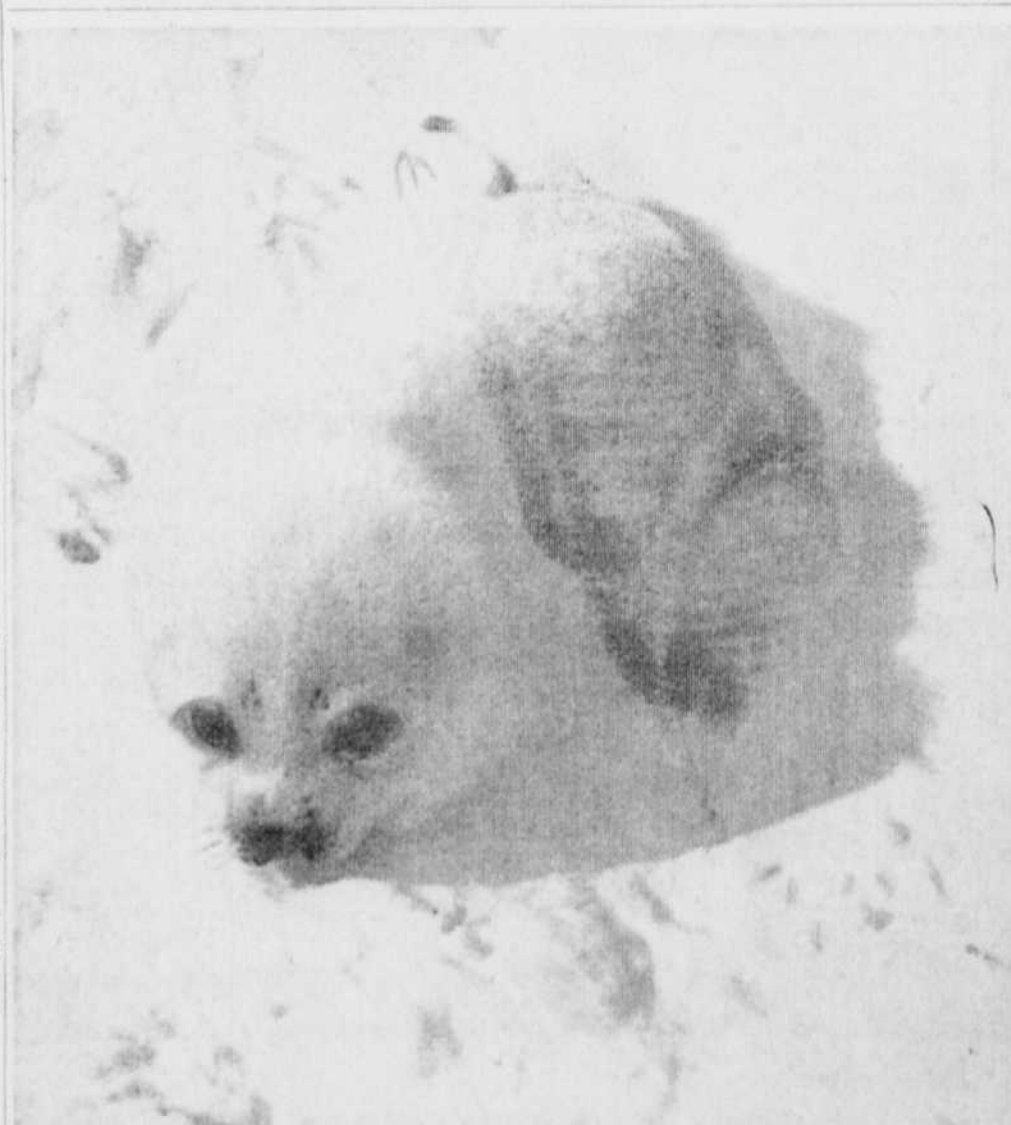

Mr. Dupuis, former Liberal MP for St. Jean — Ivesville Napierville, was convicted by a jury in Sherbrooke, Que., last April 22 of having accepted $10,000 in 1961 in return for supporting a St. John's, Que., group that was seeking a provincial racetrack permit. He was fined $5,000.

Dupuis resigned from the cabinet Jan. 26, 1965, at Prime Minister Pearson's request, and subsequently was defeated in the 1965 general elections. The racetrack permit in question was never granted.

RICHMOND — A banquet was held Saturday evening on March 4, at the Bellevue Hotel, Asbestos, to honor Mr. and Mrs. Emile Dionne, well known and highly esteemed residents of Richmond, who were celebrating their golden wedding anniversary.
Upwards of 200 guests were present at this memorable event, which was arranged by their sons, Robert, of North Bay, Ont., and Roger, of St. Thomas, Ont.

On arrival Mrs. Dionne was presented with a corsage of yellow poms and Mr. Dionne with a white carnation boutonniere. After receiving congratulations from the guests, to the strains of the Wedding March played by the Pinard Orchestra of Asbestos, the couple was escorted to seats at the head table.

Seated beside the honored guests were Father Leo Tremblay, Aime Tremblay, Mr. and Mrs. W. Costello, Josephat Dionne and Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Dionne. Father Tremblay proposed a toast to the honored couple, to which Mr. Dionne responded.

About Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Television, often a bit drab and predictable, proves it can be a pretty exciting medium, too. On a three-day period, it carried two of its greatest actresses working in graceful complement to each other as well as one of Broadway's classic musical comedies with the queen of the musical stage in her original role.

The NBC treats started with Friday night's Anastasia, with Julie Harris and Lynn Fontanne. The 90-minute drama, adapted for television from a Broadway play taken from a French play, suffered considerably in passage. The viewer was never given enough time to become really acquainted with either the troubled girl who agreed to pose as the Russian czar's daughter, Miss Harris, or the dowager empress portrayed so movingly by Miss Fontanne.

By the structure—even the workings of the plot to steal the imperial fortune if the old empress could be persuaded to accept the girl as a long lost granddaughter — was almost unimportant. The performances of the two fine actresses was the important thing.
By coincidence, Friday night on NBC was a sort of Julie Harris festival. Shortly before same home.

Show Business

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Last June, Fredric March, two-time Oscar winner, said that he'd had it with the acting business. He had just endured a harrowing location for Hombre and he said he was ready to "hang up my hat."

But now the 69-year-old March and his wife, Florence Eldridge, are back in Hollywood to star in a CBS Playhouse drama for fall release, Do Not Go Gentle Into the Good Night. "The title comes from Dylan Thomas' poem about the approaching death of his father," March explained.

"George Schaefer (TV producer-director) sent us the script, and Florence was enthused about it. I had to accept her judgment, because she also read and enthused over Skin of Our Teeth and Long Day's Journey Into Night, which we did on the stage."

"The subject of the play (an original by Loring Mandel) is one that concerns all of us—geriatrics," added Miss Eldridge.

"Everyone has older relatives about whom it must be decided whether to place them in a home or institution."

In the play, March enacts a retired carpenter who is sent by his children to live in an institution for the elderly. He is a cantankerous soul who is soothed by another resident, played by Miss Eldridge. In the end he decides to go back to his own house to finish out his days.

As for his own retirement, March indicated he has not got the hang of it.

"I'm still trying to learn how to live."

March won Oscars for Dr. Jekyll and Mr. Hyde in 1931 and Best Years of Our Lives in 1946.

TIE FOR OSCAR

His first Oscar was the occasion of the only tie in academy history.

There was a secret about who the winners were, and the all-powerful Louis B. Mayer was indignant that a newcomer such as March would win over veteran Wallace Beery, star of The Champ. Mayer applied all of MGM's considerable pressure, and a tie vote was declared.

March took it in good grace. His acceptance speech: "I understand that Mr. Beery has just adopted a baby girl. My wife and I have just experienced the joy of adopting a baby girl, too. In light of this, it does seem ironic that Mr. Beery and I would be selected to win the award for the best performance of the year."

March recalls that the Coconut Grove audience was silent for a moment, then erupted in laughter.

Used 44 cows as collateral on bank loan; Windsor man is charged with selling them

A Windsor man accused of selling his collateral is out on $500 cash bail or $950 property bail until his trial scheduled for March 23 as a matter of form.

J. Pantaleon Bernier sold 44 cows which represented his collateral for a $8000 loan with the Banque Canadienne Nationale of Sherbrooke.

Lawyer Jean Cormier asked the court to grant the man bail on grounds that he does not work, but wants to find a job, has a wife and three children to support and has no record.

Mr. Cormier explained that the case at hand was not ordinary theft. Mr. Cormier said that Bernier paid the bank about $2,500 and then went to Newfoundland to earn a living.

A Richmond woman was ordered to post a $200 bond to guarantee to keep the peace for one year in connection with a charge of stealing a wallet containing $65.

Henriette Tremblay of 271 Main Street pleaded guilty, yesterday before Sessions Judge Jean Louis Pelquin.

The court was told that the accused had no record, spent a day in jail, aided the police and the money was recovered.

When the judge asked

Crown Prosecutor Roland Dugre if he had anything to say he replied "C'est la semaine de sainte" (It is holy week).

A Sherbrooke man was acquitted of a charge of dangerous driving yesterday although the judge warned that the accused could be held responsible for the accident in a civil court case.

Gerard Lareau pleaded not guilty to the charges of dangerous driving yesterday in criminal court.

Lareau passed a car on a stretch of highway between Birtchton and Lennoxville, The road was clear and the line on the pavement was a broken line.

After having gone 600 feet an accident occurred. One of the cars flipped over on its back.

Judge Pelquin in handing down his judgment, said that the accused did not violate the highway code.

Lionel Delarge, of Sherbrooke, pleaded guilty to buying a deer. He was fined $10 and court costs.

Carl Goodsell, Graham Emery and Curtis Lunn, all of Lennoxville, are accused of violating the fish and game laws. Judgment and argumentation of the case will be heard April 4.

The three accused are accused of having been out "jacking" November 19, 1966.

According to game wardens George Audet, Seth Blake and A. W. Piercy they were parked along side a house when they saw a car with a light coming out of the side of it.

The car was stopped and the occupants were ordered to hand over their guns.

The three accused claim that because it was snowing the road was in such poor condition the men needed the flashlight to look for a place to park until the storm was over.

Roger Lauzier of Asbestos pleaded guilty to nine charges of attempted breaking and entering and four charges of breaking and entering in which netted him a total of $125 in loot.

Sentencing has been postponed until March 28.

Case of stolen bonds

Charged with receiving

Judgment will be rendered April 4 in the case of a Montreal man accused of receiving stolen goods.

Paul Verdon alias Roger Lemire is accused of having had in his possession $9,000 worth of Canada Savings bonds.

These bonds were later cashed in at the Sherbrooke Branch of the Bank of Montreal.

The theft occurred in April 1963 at a Montreal law office. The law firm reported the theft to the Montreal police department.

Several days later a man introduced by a Mr. Berube as his cousin cashed the bonds in Sherbrooke.

Although the bonds were missing, the Sherbrooke bank did not know it had the stolen bonds in its possession. Several years later, when the law firm moved to Place Ville Marie in Montreal, it was noticed that the bonds at the Sherbrooke bank were those that were stolen.

Berube pleaded guilty to having stolen the bonds in 1965. Part of the proof obtained in the case of Berube was used against Verdon. Verdon's trial was held in a Special Court of Sessions December 23, 1966, similar to the Court of Queen's Bench but without a jury.

Verdon claimed that he received the bonds from a man who was killed in a St. Vincent de Paul penitentiary.

Berube has been linked by Provincial police to the phony bankruptcies that spread throughout the province in 1964-65. The man is also linked to Andre Lamoth and Jean Jacques Gagnon accused of the capital murder of Henri Paul Chandonnet, who are presently before the Sherbrooke courts in the voluntary statement stage.

The Reverend Sisters of Lady of Mercy Convent and their guests from Villa Maria, Montreal, were given a special welcome.

Mayor Savoie of Richmond was represented by councillor E. Richard.

Past president Michael O'Donnell toasted the sister societies. Camille Fleury, representing the St. Jean Baptiste Society, replied to this toast.

U of S budget increases

An outline of the University of Sherbrooke's budget shows that it will need $8,417,000 to operate this coming year compared to $5,607,000 last year.

The total figure is split up two ways: $1,685,000 for the Medical Faculty and $6,732,000 for the rest of the faculties which are: Arts, Science, Commerce, Law, and Educational Sciences.

It will be costing the university $4,302,000 in teacher's fees for all faculties except Medicine where teaching staff will reap $1,152,000.

Tuition fees on the other hand will bring in $74,000 at the Medical Faculty and $1,639,000 at the other faculties.

Budget precludes late 1967 election

Barring some unexpected or accidental development, such as a Government defeat on a snap vote in the Legislative Assembly, the new provincial budget indicates that a general election is unlikely until sometime in 1968 at the earliest.

In many ways the budget is one of immediate pain and deferred benefits, a natural process for any Prime Minister anticipating an appeal to the people a year hence.

The rise in the sales tax is already in effect and while it will cause considerable grumbling most voters will have learned to live with it by 1968.

The new family allowance will not be paid on a monthly basis but will go to the parents semi-annually with substantial cheques being received in June or July of next year, the months most favored by politicians for a general election.

Surely such a windfall should impress the voters of the generosity of their government.

And think of the many other goodies that will be unloaded from the Quebec Christmas tree late next spring.

Those benefitting from the income tax rebates will continue to meet the same deduction as in the past for the year 1967, but will have the overpayments refunded when they file their return early in 1968.

And any well-programmed computer can be depended upon to see that the refund cheques are delivered during the height of an election campaign.

Further indications are that the provincial government plans to relieve farmers of much of the school real estate burden.

Probably this easement will be effective with the tax bills going out in May or June 1968.

So why worry about a fall election?

Funny how easy it is to solve other folks' problems while they are solving yours.

Municipalities in financial squeeze

Complaints by Sherbrooke's mayor, Armand Nadeau, and General Administration Department chairman, Marcel Savard, that the city has been neglected by the provincial government are not surprising.

They are in line with similar protests made in the past few weeks by spokesmen for many other cities and towns, including Lucien Saulnier, chairman of the executive committee for the City of Montreal.

But, unfortunately for the taxpayers, there is justification for their complaints that the municipalities have received a raw deal from the present and preceding administrations in Quebec City.

Over a period of years, the retail sales tax became an integral feature of any municipal budgetary operations. But in its wisdom the province decided to take over the municipal portion of the retail sales tax and return part of the collection to the cities and towns under a complicated formula which substantially reduced the amount available to the municipalities.

Hopes held a few weeks ago by some cities that they would be permitted to impose a special sales tax of their own have been dashed by the decision of the provincial government to add two percentage points to the tax for its own use.

One of the chief difficulties faced by the municipalities is the comparatively limited taxation base, realty taxes being the only major revenue source over which they have any control.

The Belanger report offered certain suggestions for easing the situation, but to date the province has done little to implement any of the proposals.

Until this is done the cities and towns must either increase the real estate tax or cut back municipal services dangerously.

Technicalities of Chinese language

Whatever dubious benefits Mao Tse-tung's cultural revolution may be bringing to China, it has to be admitted that it is enriching — or confusing — the language.

Take for instance, the term "extensive democracy," introduced last year by Mao's No. 1 heir apparent, Defence Minister Lin Biao, who called it "the perfect new model of government."

Extensive democracy, the rank and file were free to believe, stood for the process of free discussion and continuous mutual criticism within the revolutionary faction.

But revolutions have a way of devouring their own brain children.

One of the latest terms reported by Chinese watchers is "extreme democracy."

This term of abuse is hurled by Maoists at the growing number of Chinese who are attempting to practise extensive democracy — that is criticize the leaders.

Chinese who want to survive their country's current troubles will have to watch out. If a Red Guard asks them if they favor democracy, they had better know which kind.

Governments ignore cost warnings

Last week an economic survey of Canada issued by the Organization for Economic Co-operation and Development warned that this country should bring its inflationary trends under control before the economy is damaged. The report said that "an important aim of economic policy in 1967 must be to arrest in costs and prices" and suggested that policies designed to control wage and price levels might be necessary. It noted that labor costs in Canada climbed much faster than in many other countries, particularly the United States, and said that a continuation of this trend would have serious effects on Canada's ability to sell abroad.

As if to reinforce this warning, on Monday the annual report of the governor of the Bank of Canada said that rising costs and prices threaten to put Canada out of line competitively with the United States and that this could lead to serious difficulties for this country. On the matter of wages the report said that "there is very little to be said in favor of income negotiations — often difficult, prolonged and costly to all concerned — which lead to agreements that are bound to be greatly amended in their final effect by subsequent increases in prices." In other words, there is not much

The Winnipeg Free Press sense in getting a raise in pay if it is all eaten up by higher prices of goods that one has to buy.

All of which is sound, sensible advice — advice that has been given by other authorities many times in the past few months. But who is listening? Not, for one, the body that has, or could have, greater influence and control than any other agency over the amount of inflation the country must suffer; to wit, the federal government. Hardly was the ink dry on the OECD and Bank of Canada reports when Ottawa announced its intended expenditures for the fiscal year which begins on April 1. On behalf of some 20 million Canadians, the federal government intends to spend in the coming year some $11.5 billion — and that sum undoubtedly will be increased substantially by supplementary spending in the course of the year. This is an increase of $2.2 billion over the original estimates for 1966-67.

It may be argued that government spending has nothing to do directly with the cost-price spiral. But if expenditures are up by this amount, then the increase has to be raised by taxation of one kind or another. It may also be argued that the increase can

Bell Islanders leave home as one by one the mines close

By DON McLEOD

WABANA, N.B. (CP)—Bell Islanders of all faiths knew what Rev. Ed Lavelle meant last December when he remarked that 800 fewer Christmas envelopes were being sent to his parishioners.

Some 400 Roman Catholic families, representing about 2,000 persons in a population of 9,000, had left this hard-luck mining town to take their chances elsewhere.

Hundreds of others left, too, and the island—a gigantic slab of deep red, ore-bearing rock jutting up sharply out of Conception Bay — today is home to only about 6,500.

The big exodus followed the closing last June 30 of the Dominion Steel and Coal Corp. No. 3 iron mine, throwing 850 men out of work.

The industry had been operating for 71 years and when Dosco pulled out on two months notice, saying the low-grade ore was no longer competitive, the community was stunned.

The Newfoundland government bought the entire mining complex and tried to get someone else to run the mine. For a time it had hopes that Continental Ore Corp. of New York would be the answer.

But the cost would have been high and it would have taken 18 months to complete testing with no assurance that it would show the ore could be used. And so Premier Smallwood announced March 17 that the mine would not be reopened.

HOMES BOARDED UP

Even while the government remained hopeful, moving vans last summer could be seen almost daily shuttling down to the ferry terminal with furniture and family effects for the three-mile ferry trip to Port of Spain and 10-mile drive to St. John's.

Some men who left found work elsewhere in Newfoundland. Others have become hardrock miners in Northern Ontario.

Behind them, boarded up homes appeared in increasing numbers in Wabana, nestled on the northeast corner of the island, and today there are four or five on every street.

Often it's difficult to distinguish those shuttered since June from those abandoned earlier as successive layoffs cut the Dosco work force here from a peak of 2,250 in 1959 to less than 1,000 in 1966.

Some people still hold jobs in a 42-bed hospital built two years ago with the help of contributions from working miners. Others run the stores that remain open. The largest department store, a branch of Bowring Bros. of St. John's, was boarded up months ago, with a dampening effect on the morale of townspeople.

Many miners' life savings, tied up in their homes, were wiped out when property values fell last summer. Houses that had been valued at $15,000 to $20,000 simply cannot be sold today at any price.

Mr. Neary says the most urgent need is for federal government compensation for these people.

One small sign of hope is a large red brick structure just off the town square. It's the Wabana Boys Club, which drew national praise from the Boys Clubs of Canada in 1959.

It has 525 members but expects to exceed 600 this year. For while some members have been lost—some family with 11 members moved away last summer—others are added as the population of Bell Island gravitates toward Wabana.

The club continues to offer a full slate of sports and recreational programs, operating with a $3,500-a-year government grant replacing the $5,000 it used to get from Dosco.

But it too has its problems. Coal used to heat the building formerly was provided by Dosco from its Cape Breton mines for $14 a ton. Now it costs $26.50.

SOME STAYED ON

Some unemployed miners remained because they didn't want to gamble on getting work and living quarters in strange cities for their large families—the average is five people. They exist on welfare payments and unemployment insurance benefits.

Some forecast a big drop in population again this summer after the school year closes and extended unemployment insurance benefits expire in June. Others, such as Steve Neary, a labor leader and Liberal member of the legislature, say there will always be close to 5,000 people on Bell Island.

Some help will be forthcoming from sale of the island's mine machinery. It's expected to bring between $1,000,000 and $2,000,000 and all but a small portion will be used to help Islanders.

Bell Island had a population of 12,000 to 13,000 in 1938 and at one time was one of the wealthiest areas in the province.

Municipal tax revenue last year was $1,868, only 18 per cent of the town's budget. The forecast for this year is that only 15 per cent will be collected.

A policeman for every need

Policemen generate confusion

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—However, first you must determine what part of the city you are in. If you are in West Caracas, you should call a policeman. Here, however, you will have several to choose from.

"Here we have a policeman for every need," says a long-suffering Caracas resident who has learned to live with the confusion generated by this.

For example: If terrorists attack you, call the tiger, the political police. If your trouble is in the nature of a car accident, call the traffic police. Unless, of course, you are entering the city along a federal highway. If that is the case, you should call the national guard.

If you have been molested by a soldier, call the military police. If your house has been burglarized, call the judicial technical police.

But if you have been robbed in the streets, then immediately call in a municipal policeman of the Sucre district municipal council is down to four members, the mayor deputy mayor and a councillor having left last summer. The others plan to seek out three citizens who intend to stay and ask the provincial government to appoint them to council, saving the cost of an election.

PROVINCE HELPS

The volunteer fire brigade now has only 10 to 12 men, a quarter of its normal strength, although "they always managed to get a fire truck out when called upon," Mr. Neary says. Policing is the responsibility of the RCMP.

Along with other assistance, the province has sent $30,000 in direct emergency payments to maintain essential functions such as waterworks, formerly operated by Dosco.

Many miners' life savings, tied up in their homes, were wiped out when property values fell last summer. Houses that had been valued at $15,000 to $20,000 simply cannot be sold today at any price.

COMMENT

by Lubor J. Zink

OTTAWA — (TNS) — Figure skating on political ice: Hansard (the verbatim record of everything said in the House of Commons) is within short talking distance of 15,000 pages this session. At an average of 750 words per page, that represents over 11 million words, which equals about 130 full-length novels.

Non members may not realize it, but a good half of them could earn their living as fiction writers.

In addition to the marathon performance of the Commons, 27 parliamentary committees have been meeting during this session. To date they have clocked close to 850 meetings.

Printed verbatim transcripts of all the sessions of the committees are not yet available, but preliminary estimates put them ahead of the verbal output of the Commons.

The Defense Committee alone, which wrestles with the pros and cons of the Armed Forces Unification Bill heard 140 witnesses in about 100 meetings and still faces the task of clause-by-clause examination of the bill before reporting it to the House for third and final reading.

Since there is no provision in the committee system for minority reports by dissenting groups, the sharply divided Defense Committee faces a tough task in drafting its report on the basis of the millions of words of contradictory testimony it has to digest without hope of reaching a consensus.

A simple reform of the committee system that would provide for minority reports could overcome this particular difficulty.

Let's now move from the realm of words to that of dollars. Here we jump into the big league of billions and leave amateur political figure skating for the breathtaking performances of such professionals as Bank of Canada Governor Louis Rasminsky and the drafters of Government spending estimates.

The starting figure is that of our Gross National Product (the sum total of goods and services produced by the nation) which, expressed in money terms, reached $88 billion by the end of last year.

Using the fictitious "constant 1957 dollars" it's only $47 billion, which gave you an idea of the dilution of our money over the past 10 years.

The current rate of the dilution was pinpointed by Mr. Rasminsky when he listed an estimated 10½ per cent GNP increase in 1966 but added that "two-fifths of the increase was accounted for by higher prices rather than higher real output of goods and services."

In economic and financial circles this is called "GNP price deflator." To most people it simply means that a dollar now buys less than it did a year ago.

Anyway, Mr. Rasminsky noted that "the GNP price deflator rose by more than 4 per cent, in 1966 compared with an increase of about 3 per cent, in 1965."

The result is that, "after allowing for this large price factor, the gain in total output in 1966 was slightly more than 6 per cent, or marginally less than in the previous year."

In the other words, the rate of our economic growth has slowed down.

Government spending rises

The slowdown was especially marked in non-farm output which advanced by less than 6 per cent, compared with 6½ in 1965, although non-farm employment rose faster in 1966 than in the previous year.

Conclusion: "... the gain in productivity in 1966, as measured broadly by non-farm output per worker, was disappointingly small."

At the same time wages, salaries and prices made a great leap forward while corporate profit margins, contrary to the assertions of trade union and NDP propaganda, nosedived.

The relevant shifts are: labor income up about 12½ per cent, profits down by about 9 per cent, in manufacturing, and consumer prices up by almost 4 per cent. Simultaneously, "All levels of government made large increases in their expenditures on goods and services."

The inescapable interpretation of these trends is that Canadians are beginning to extract more from their economy than they are willing to put into it.

So far the victim has been the rate of Canada's economic growth. But if the scramble for unearned goodies continues, we'll soon start eating the substance of our economy and trigger a recession with disastrous unemployment.

The first to go down the drain of organized shortsighted greed will be our export markets which provide about one-third of jobs in Canada.

All we have to do to accomplish this feat is to go on pushing production costs up by widening the already dangerous gap between productivity and wages.

Last year we jumped ahead of the United States in this respect and established a world lead. Some trade unionists and "socialists" may regard it as a great achievement. The truth of the matter is the exact opposite.

Thoughtful Canadians should see it as combined economic and political writing on the wall of the figure skating rink.

Sweetsburg Court

After three days of testimony, Court awaits final plea

SWEETSBURG WARD — (Staff) — Karl Boomhower's lawyer, Francois Levesque, Bedford, will make his verbal plea on behalf of his client, April 14, 1967. Levesque, who had a motion of a written plea, rejected by Judge Guy Genest, following representations by the crown, will try to exonerate Boomhower by means of an alibi.

Boomhower is accused of having participated in an armed robbery, on the Canadian Imperial Bank of Commerce, May 20, 1965.

Boomhower pleaded not guilty to the robbery, that netted $2,390.

The first crown witness was Gilles Marcoux, the bank manager at the time of the robbery. He said that two masked gunmen entered the bank at approximately 2:30, that afternoon ordered the customer and staff to face the walls, while one jumped the counter and cleaned the tills, and any money visible in the open vault.

Marcoux said that the robbers spoke "broken French, and got away in what appeared to be a 1963 model Pontiac, four-door sedan."

Mrs. Laura Lamothe, then a cashier at the Mansonville branch of the CIBC, corroborated Mr. Marcoux's testimony.

Karl Kyling, 26, Bedford, prime crown witness, said that he, Boomhower and his brother Werner, had stolen a four door 1963 red and white Pontiac, in St. Hyacinthe, a week to ten days prior to the robbery. Kyling said that plans for the robbery were made a week previous to the execution. He added that Boomhower's cousins, Bob and Joe, agreed to conceal the car for a flat fee of $100.

Quebec Provincial Police Constable Andre Dube, said that he, in the company of constables Leo Jette and Yves Gaboriault, found a series of bills that were stolen from the Mansonville robbery, in Karl Boomhower's barn.

Bernice Dandurand, 23, Bedford, said that Karl Kyling and Karl Boomhower were in her kitchen, the morning of the robbery. She said that she only heard them talk about the weather, and other mundane topics. She said that Karl Kyling called later in the day, asking her to make some sandwiches, and said "Quigley will pick them up, and meet us later."

Mr. Guy Loiselle, St. Hyacinthe, testified that he had a 1963 red and white Pontiac stolen during the period covered in Karl Kyling's testimony. The Crown rested.

On the second day of the trial, defence lawyer, Francois Levesque, brought forth 13 defence witnesses. Ivan Sabourin's testimony was, in part, accepted by Judge Guy Genest, the balance rejected, as Karl Kyling has not informed Sabourin on his dismissal as Kyling's lawyer.

Levesque then called Karl Kyling as a defence witness. Kyling said that he had not told Quigley anything about the Mansonville robbery, merely had asked Quigley through a phone message to meet him. Kyling denied ever having been in Boomhower's barn. Kyling said that they had driven to Bob and Joe Boomhower's place in Karl Boomhower's blue and white automobile, then picked up the red and white car used in the robbery.

Terry Rhicard, 28, Stanbridge East, testified that he had borrowed a blue and white car from Karl Boomhower during the first week of May 1965, and returned it to Boomhower around June 1. Rhicard said he had an option to purchase when he first took the car, but couldn't scrape up the money in time.

Under cross-examination by crown prosecutor Claude Noisieux, Rhicard could not swear that he had the car in his possession on May 20.

Adrien Juneau, 61, Dunham, said that both Karl Boomhower and Karl Kyling were treated as ordinary prisoners when held in Sweetsburg jail.

Henri Marion, 54, St. Gregoire, said that he was on duty the night that Karl Boomhower was arrested. He said that Boomhower didn't feel like eating when he was brought in during the evening, and that Boomhower had had an accident and was sore. Namely, he had swollen jaws and blackened loenails.

A. Bourassa, prothonotary and sheriff, said that during the period that Karl Kyling was held with other crown witnesses, that he enjoyed no special privileges.

During her prison visits, Mrs. Bernice Dandurand, under cross-examination by Levesque, said that she had never been left alone with Karl Kyling, in his cell or elsewhere.

Mrs. Monique Wanzer, 23, Bedford, told defence lawyer, Levesque, that she had accompanied Mrs. Dandurand to several occasions. She said that Mrs. Dandurand was left alone with Karl Kyling for approximately 20 minutes, during an evening visit.

Levesque produced some letters allegedly written by Karl Boomhower an hour later asking for Kyling to Bernice Dandurand, Karl Boomhower, who was not that were in Levesque's possession, through Miss Jocelyne Cote.

Mrs. Dandurand said that she, concerning the letters forwarded to Mrs. Dandurand. She said that Mrs. Dandurand had given them to her, in the presence of Miss Cote.

Mrs. Dandurand said that the letters had disappeared from Mrs. Cote's dresser drawer after she had been threatened by her brother Karl, who told her to move from the apartment over the Kyling Garage. She cooperated, or he would "frame" her, said that she had not authorized her husband. She said that her husband is awaiting trial.

Mrs. Louise Couture, 21, Bedford, sister of crown witness, Karl Kyling, said that her brother Werner had lunch with she, she was aware of the letters and her husband and her young brother, Karl Kyling to Bernice Dandurand, on May 20, 1965. She said that Mrs. Dandurand said her brother Werner left her house at approximately 12:45 told her, Karl Kyling wants you to drive your young brother to read these in the presence of school. She said that she saw Mrs. Couture.

Werner at three that afternoon. Miss Cote said that she saw Mrs. Couture said that Karl Kyling in Bedford, accompanied by two Ontario Provincial Police officers, and said that Werner or Bernice. She said that he had a bottle of "champagne" when they should be out celebrating. Morin added, under redirect, that it was meant as Karl Kyling on the Boomhower and the bottle was still sealed. Under redirect, the "champagne" turned out to be apple cider.

By JOHN McCAGHEY

Nelson Boomhower, 37, Stanbridge East, father of the accused, said that he had seen Karl Kyling on his son's farm following the Mansonville robbery, he could not swear that he had seen Kyling in the barn. He said that he had seen Karl Kyling coming from that general direction, but emphasized that he had never seen him entering or leaving the barn.

Charles Morin, 53, Abercorn, said that Karl, Bob and Joe Boomhower used to clean out his poultry barns. He said that he was sure they were there on the day of the Mansonville robbery, Morin said that he went into the house, and his wife told him that the bank had been held up. He said that he returned to the barn and asked the boys what they were doing there when they should be out celebrating. Morin added, under redirect, that it was meant as Karl Kyling on the Boomhower a joke.

Still under redirect, Morin could not positively say that it was May 20, it could have been the 21st as the barns require two to three days for complete cleaning.

Morin's testimony concluded the second day.

Crown prosecutor Claude Noisieux then advised the Judge, that he had been advised of an alibi defence, and, to date, had not received it from Levesque, contrary to normal procedures. The third day opened with Jean-Marie Montagne, 23, Bedford, testifying that Karl Kyling had offered him $100 and a portable Television set, to act as an alibi witness in a trial on a furniture theft.

Peter Miller, 18, Bedford, said that Karl Kyling had offered him "good money" if he would provide an alibi for Kyling. He said that he would tell nothing but the truth, on the stand.

Miss Penelope Redmile, 25, a boarder at Karl Boomhower's farm from July 1, 1965, said that she knew Karl Kyling by sight. She said that she saw him on the Boomhower farm several times, during July and August 1965. She said that Kyling was often accompanied by Mrs. Dandurand, his children or David Quigley. She said that the usual time for Kyling's visits was between 10 and noon.

Miss Redmile said that she had heard some cars on the property during the night and had told Karl Boomhower about them. She said that Boomhower said "thanks, would you please tell me if it happens again."

Ronald Boomhower, brother of Karl Boomhower, brother of an accident while working on the Montreal-Portland pipeline on July 10, 1965. When he was not undergoing physiotherapy at the Royal Victoria Hospital, Montreal, he spent a great deal of his time doing chores on his brother's farm.

Ronald Boomhower said that he had seen Karl Kyling on his brother's farm, and he could remember two specific instances during July and August 1965.

He further testified that the premises were never locked, and that there was a probability that the farm could be left attended for a few hours. He added that the farm house was locked in late August or early September 1965, the first time in 30 years.

George Boomhower, 30, Stanbridge East, commonly known as Joe, said that he and his brother Bob, accompanied by their cousin Karl Boomhower, had made two trips to Abercorn on May 20, 1965, to pick up poultry manure. He added that he had never made arrangements with either Karl Kyling or Karl Boomhower to park stolen automobiles on his property, and that no money had reached him as the result of such activities.

Werner Kyling, 24, Bedford, said that he had never discussed the robbery with anyone, that he had not participated in it, and that he had not been involved in stealing the getaway car in St. Hyacinthe. He had never been charged with bank robbery.

He said that he had lunch with his sister, Mrs. Couture, then drove his young brother to school, and continued on to Frelighsburg where he had worked all morning, on a farm he had rented.

He said that he returned to Bedford that afternoon to pick up a chain saw and returned to the farm.

He said that his brother Karl told him about the robbery on May 21, and said that he had done it with Marce Falcon and only became aware of his own involvement, following Karl Kyling's preliminary hearing.

Werner Kyling, under redirect, admitted that he had been convicted of attempted murder, and was awaiting trial before the Quebec Appeals Court.

Robert Boomhower, 42, Stanbridge East, corroborated his brother Joe's testimony.

Anthony Miller, 26, Bedford, said that he had received an unvoiced message to contact Karl Kyling at lunch time on May 20. He said that he went to the Kyling garage and there was nobody there.

Miller testified that he had seen Mrs. Dandurand at noon

Two Bedford students win public speaking

COWANSVILLE — (Staff) — Two 15-year-old Grade 10 high schools were: Donna students, at Bedford High School, Crista Staudenmaier and Chris Testu, took first prizes in the respective sections, at a regional public speaking contest, sponsored by the Cowansville Lions Club, March 14, at the Maurice Hotel, Cowansville.

Miss Staudenmaier spoke on the character and complexities of Canada. She said that though Canada was only 100 years old, it has not shown any signs of becoming a melting pot, but rather a multi-cultural country, offering haven to immigrants who wish to retain a modicum of their native culture.

Chris Testu ventured into the world of Unidentified Flying Objects, the supernatural, including vivid dreams, in a witty teenaged "Breakfast at Tiffany's."

Miss Staudenmaier also won first prize in the Lions Club Peace essay, an international competition. Michel Naud, St. Leonard's School, Cowansville was the runner up.

Judges for the public speaking contest were: Mr. and Mrs. Ross Ladd, Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Smith and Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Staton. Mr. Staton thanked the contestants for their worthy efforts.

This London Life advertisement is specifically for men who plan to marry this year

If you buy life insurance now, you take full advantage of your youth and good health. Read how a London Life policy can actually grow with your family, and eventually provide for your retirement.

ON THE DAY YOU MARRY, your fiancée becomes both wife and dependent. You know life insurance will give her financial protection, but here are some facts you may not know:

(1) A London Life Jubilee policy is an unusually good investment. It gives you guaranteed cash values, and annual dividends. It is just as safe as high-grade bonds and much safer than most common stocks.

(2) You can take advantage of your youth and good health. If you are 25 and healthy, you can buy a $10,000 Jubilee whole life policy, with annual dividends, for $13.09 a month. If you are 30, the premium is $15.27 a month. At age 35, the premium is $18.11 a month. Change to annual premiums any time you wish.

(3) The sooner you start, the more money you'll save. In fact, if you start when you're young, you can actually double your money as well as protect your family.

For example, on a $10,000 Jubilee whole life policy purchased at age 25, you will have available about $14,170 at age 65—more than twice as much as you have paid in premiums. (This is made up of $5,580 in guaranteed cash value and $8,590 in accumulated dividends.)

(4) The dividends above are based on London Life's current dividend rate. Since the amount allotted to dividends is based on the Company's earnings, dividends cannot be guaranteed. However, for many years London Life's record of dividends has been outstanding, so the return on profit-sharing policies has been excellent.

(5) Dividends on profit-sharing policies are declared annually. One reason London Life dividends are high is because the Company invests wisely and profitably. (In 1966, the Company earned 5.93% on its investments—after investment expenses.) Dividends allotted to owners of profit-sharing policies for 1967 exceed $31 million.

(6) One reason London Life premiums are low is because Canadians, on the average, are long lived.

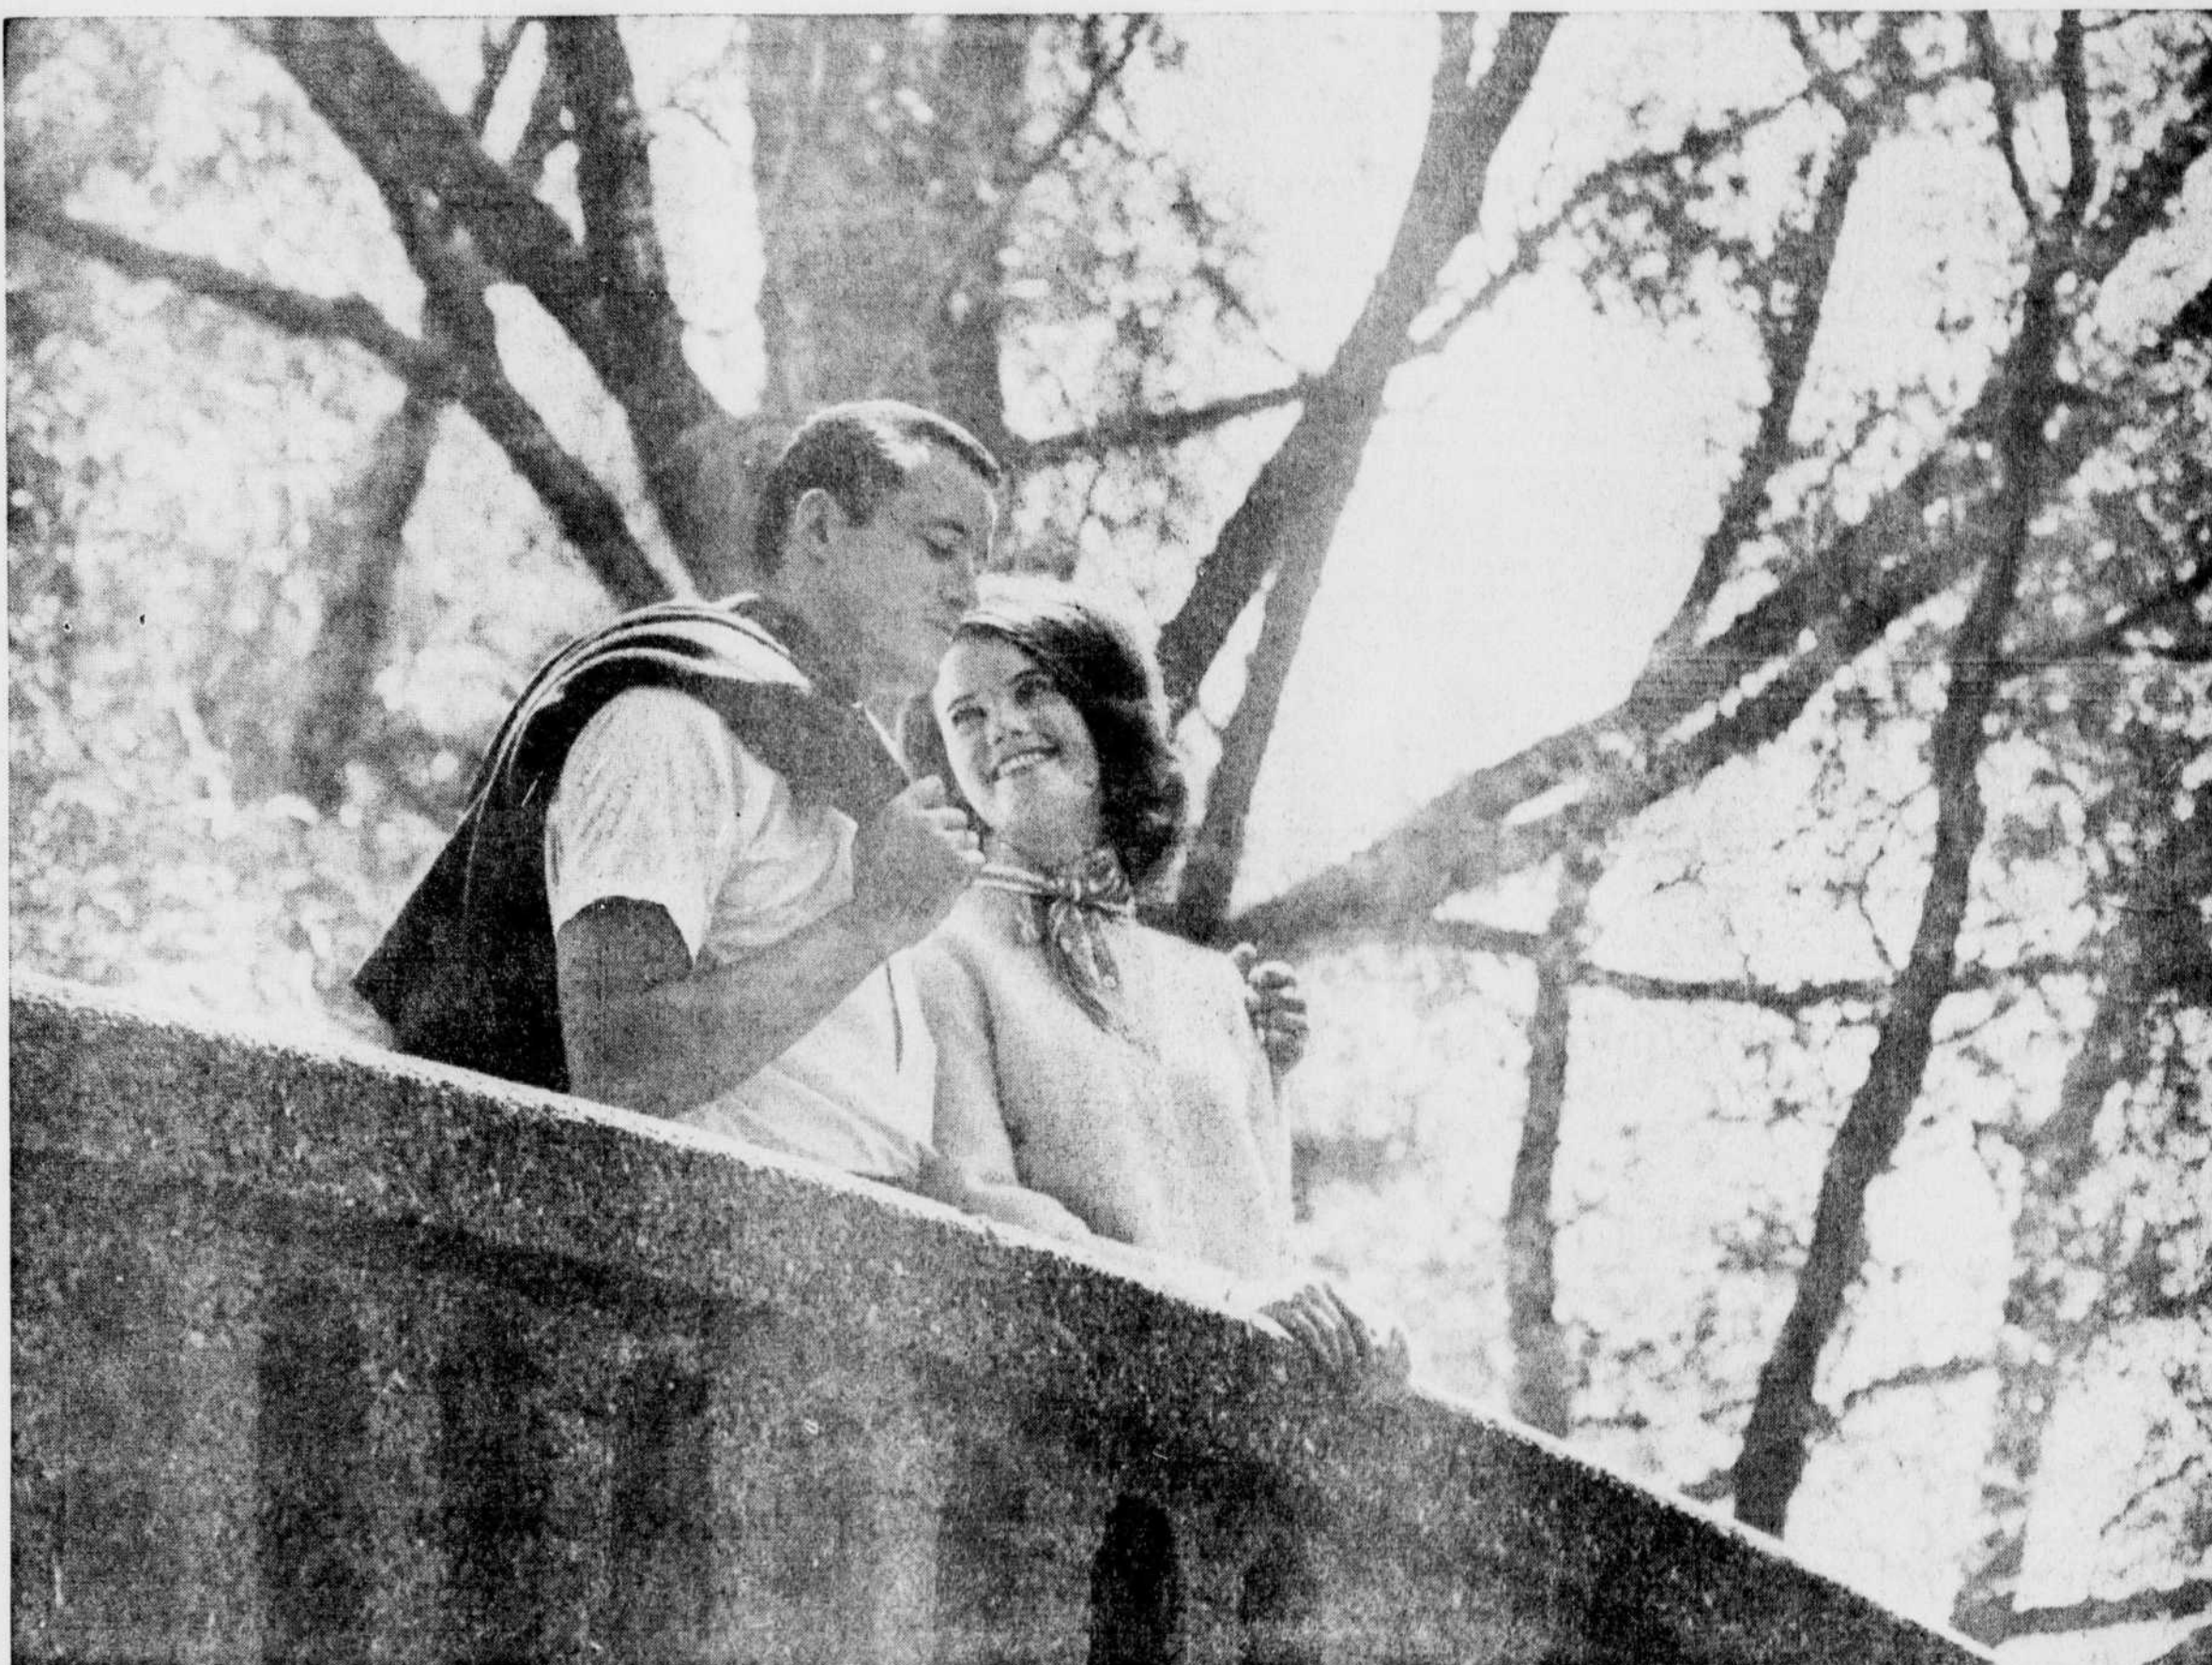

(7) You can reserve the right to buy more London Life insurance at regular intervals up to age 40 regardless of health. A small addition to your premium gives you this valuable option.

(8) If a financial emergency crops up, you can borrow from London Life on the cash value of your policy. Quickly and quietly. The interest rate is comparable with banks' regular lending rates and much lower than personal loan companies'.

(9) Your wife should know what life insurance you own and where you keep the policies. Make sure she gets to know your banker, your insurance man and your legal advisor.

(10) When you call a representative of the London Life Insurance Company, you'll soon realize that he has been schooled to develop an insurance program tailored to fit your needs.

Quebec cabinet studies British lottery bond plan

QUEBEC (CP)—The province of Quebec, facing difficulties on the bond market because of high interest rates, may try to raise revenues by launching a lottery—imported lock, stock and barrel from Britain.

Finance Minister Paul Dozois said in his budget speech to the Quebec legislature that the Union Nationale government is studying the possibility of adopting the British system of Premium Savings Bonds.

These bonds, known to the British as "Ernie," are sold to individuals only at British post offices in denominations beginning at £1. No interest rate is paid, but bond buyers may win prizes, ranging in size from £25 to £25,000.

Mr. Dozois said the government does not intend to issue Quebec Savings Bonds in the 1967-68 fiscal year because the high interest rate the government has been forced to pay has minimized their value as a revenue raiser.

So a study was started to find out how the British bond system operates, Mr. Dozois said. David Robillard, assistant deputy minister of finance, spent five days in England recently collecting information on the bonds, which were introduced in Britain Nov. 1, 1965, under a Conservative government.

Crime worries

MONTREAL (CP)—Jean Lesage, leader of the Quebec Liberal party, said Sunday night he and many other people in Quebec are worried about a possible increase in the provincial crime rate during 1967.

"Will 1967 be the year of crime in Quebec?" Mr. Lesage asked a Montreal weekend meeting, adding that international crime rings look upon Expo 67 as a golden opportunity.

He said Jean-Jacques Bertrand is both minister of education and minister of justice in the Union Nationale government of the province.

"How can you confide in one minister in 1967 the administration of two jobs as important as these?" the former premier asked.

The simple explanation was that the Union Nationale did not have a sufficient number of competent men in its ranks for adequate administration of the province.

Liquor price up

MONTREAL (CP)—Lorne G. Power, administrator of the Quebec Liquor Board, announced Monday that the price of all alcoholic beverages, except beer, has been increased by at least three per cent throughout the province as a result of tax increases by the provincial and federal governments.

The increase became effective Monday. Mr. Power said they result from a two-per-cent sales tax increase announced Thursday by the Quebec government and the federal government's recent "min-budget" increase of one per cent.

Jamaica PM ill

MONTREAL (CP)—Prime Minister Donald Sangster of Jamaica arrived here on a special U.S. government plane this morning and was rushed to Royal Victoria Hospital.

A hospital spokesman confirmed that the prime minister had been received at the hospital but declined to comment on the nature of his illness.

"It is reported that in Montreal during the recent teachers' strike over 4,000 high school students dropped out to get jobs. If their education were meaningful to them, would they be leaving it? This means that their process of learning is not a creative encounter."

Education is the hope for the future of our country, Father Konop said. Small towns are disappearing quickly. Young people leave to be educated and they very rarely come back. We should try to see the type of world they are going to be living in, and be concerned about our educational institutions.

There is unrest across the country among teachers and among students. Many teachers look upon their jobs as a 9 to 4 job and are not prepared to give any more time to their job than that. We have a shortage of the type of teachers who are leading their students on by inspiring them. We must be concerned about this, he said.

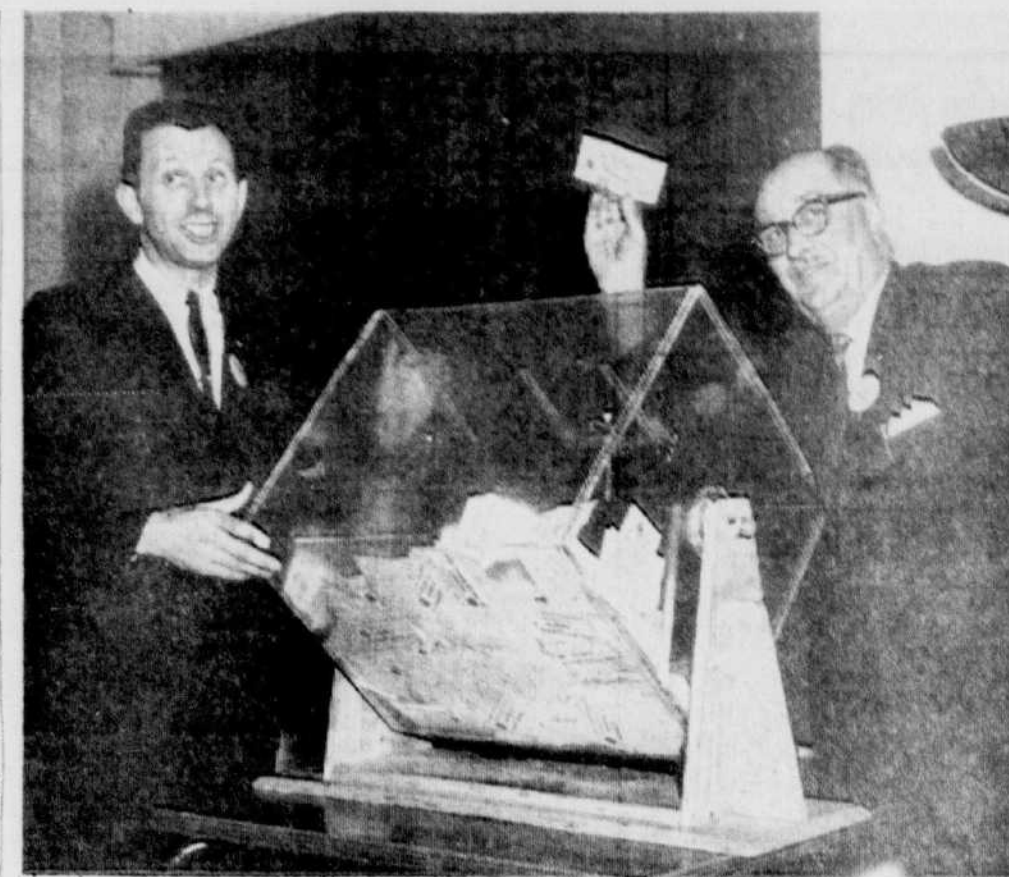

"You ask 'What can I do?' Encourage your sons and daughters to obtain as much education as they can. To get information, form ideas, formulate behaviour according to those ideas, is the purpose of education in our school years. When we become mature, we must become our own teachers."

"Finally," he said, "in all our work, in all our daily contacts, we must do everything to ensure that in this town our schools are always harvesters of people and not just devourers of men."

The speaker was thanked by J. H. O'Connor.

Seated at the head table were: Frank Dunn, first vice-president, Mrs. Dunn, Evangeliste Richard, Councillor Town of Richmond, Rev. W. E. Walker of St. Anne's Anglican Church, Father Bonneau, assistant at Holy Family Church, President Joe Burns, Master of Ceremonies Leo Delancy, Father Konop, guest speaker, Sister Edna Litchfield, Principal of Notre Dame High School, Father Cloutier, parish priest of St. Bibiane, Mrs. Camille Fleury, Mrs. W. E. Walker, Camille Fleury, representing St. Jean Baptiste and Mrs. Evangeliste Richard. The evening was concluded by dancing with the Roland Letourneau Orchestra furnishing the music.

On Sunday morning March 19 the procession formed at the Legion Hall and marched to Holy Family Church, where Father Konop sang mass and preached the sermon.

Compulsory guarantee sought for farm machinery part supply

VICTORIA (CP)—The British Columbia Federation of Agriculture Monday asked for provincial legislation making compulsory provision of repair parts for 10 years after sale of farm machinery.

The request was contained in a brief presented to the royal commission on farm machinery at its one-day hearing here. The commission under Dr. Clarence L. Barber, a Winnipeg economist, has sat in Winnipeg, Edmonton, and Calgary and leaves here for a session in Vancouver today. It will also sit in Regina and Saskatoon.

The federation's brief urged B.C. to adopt legislation similar to proposed legislation in Alberta.

"Briefly, the Alberta act requires that with every sale of new farm machinery there shall be a warranty that all repair parts for the said machinery are kept by the vendor at some centrally located point in the province, in adequate quantities for a period of 10 years following the agreement of sale," the brief said.

HAS OTHER IDEAS

The B.C. department of agriculture's submission noted the parts-supply problem, but said that it "should be the responsibility of both the manufacturer and the distributor to see that such a supply of spare parts is available to farmers."

"It should not be necessary to legislate to force the farm machinery industry to meet its responsibilities in this field," Alex Turner, B.C. deputy minister of agriculture, said there is a "general opinion" that such legislation would force whatever parts service now exists out of the province. Asked by Dr. Barber whether parts distributors in B.C. find operating costs prohibitive, Mr. Turner replied "I expect they charge the cost."

The federation said it conducted a survey of delays in parts provision in B.C. "One company appears to predominate in two areas where the service is inadequate," the brief said. "We therefore feel this is worthy of investigation by the commission."

Some parts, marked as ordered in mid-1965, were noted

a "still not received."

"A crop can be lost if the machines that plant it, spray it or harvest it are inoperative in the exact week that climate dictates," the brief said.

On the price of farm machinery, the federation said "we have no means at our disposal of knowing whether or not the retail price of farm machinery and parts is too high in relation to its cost of production, therefore we respectfully request that this matter be investigated further by the commissioner's research staff."

News Flashes from around the world

TORONTO (CP)—Three Canadian life insurance companies have stopped selling insurance in Trinidad, one reason apparently being a new insurance law that took effect there in December, 1966.

The companies are Sun Life Assurance Co. of Canada, Manufacturers Life Insurance Co., and Canada Life Insurance Co., which have about $55,000,000 of insurance in force and 13,850 policyholders in Trinidad.

The insurance bill requires that 36 per cent of the assets of registered companies must be in local investments. There is a provision for annual increases to a maximum of 60 per cent.

CHICAGO (CP)—The circuit court in Michigan, the FBI and Wisconsin's attorney general were asked Monday to halt "vandalism and terror" in the National Farmer Organization's drive to force up prices for the dairy farmer's milk.

Amid conflicting reports on the effectiveness of NFO's campaign to keep milk off the market, the Michigan Milk Producers Association sued the NFO for $1,000,000.

The suit filled in Logansport County circuit court also sought an injunction against alleged "vandalism and terror" tactics it said were interfering with the marketing of milk in Michigan.

TORONTO (CP)—College graduates do not necessarily make better executives than men with only high school educations, a Toronto industrial psychologist said Monday.

Jack H. McQuaig told 250 executives attending the annual convention of the Canadian Pharmaceutical Manufacturers Association that management may be wrong in assuming college graduates have more drive and judgment.

Many brilliant students who graduate from university have poor judgment, he said.

TORONTO (CP)—David Ben-Gurion, senior statesman of Israel, was eulogized by the acting prime minister of Canada on his 80th birthday Monday night.

External Affairs Minister Paul Martin, acting prime minister in the absence of holidaying Lester Pearson, said at a birthday dinner that Mr. Ben-Gurion has "a unique and honorable place in the history of the struggle for man's freedom."

Mr. Ben-Gurion was to leave today for Israel, vowing up a United Jewish Appeal tour that took him across the United States and to Montreal and Toronto.

VASTERAS, Sweden (AP)—Quintuplets were born today to another woman who had been treated with a hormone fertility drug, but one died shortly after birth and another died several hours later.

A spokesman for the Vasteras Maternity Hospital said the other three babies born to a 25-year-old Swedish woman were in fair condition.

The mother's name was not disclosed.

Karl Boomhower testified that he had never gone to St. Hyacinthe with Karl Kyling to steal the car, that he had not seen either of the Kylings or Quigley on May 20, and that he had an automobile accident on May 19.

Boomhower said that he received his blue and white car from Terry Ritchard, two weeks following the accident. He corroborated his cousin's testimony regarding the two trips to Abercorn, and backed up their statements that Morin had come to the barn and made some remark about the bank robbery.

Under redirect, Boomhower admitted to having pleaded guilty in St. Hyacinthe to charges of theft and robbery. The robbery charge was later reduced to attempted robbery.

Karl Kyling wound up the third day's session, testifying that he had never concealed anything in Karl Boomhower's barn.

Ontario Steel Products Co. Ltd. plans to make non-redeemable preferred shares convertible into common (3 common for one preferred) and redeemable at $145 a share.

Existence of the preferred shares (issued in 1927) in their present form is an obstacle to desirable corporate arrangements.

Shareholders (preferred and common) will meet April 19-67 in Toronto to approve the arrangement.

If the bill subdividing the shares of Interprovincial Pipe Line Co. 5 for 1 is not passed by Parliament before the current session ends, the authorizing by-law will have lost its validity and a new by-law will have to be approved by shareholders before a new bill can be introduced in Parliament, advises T. LENNOXVILLE BONSPIEL SETS RECORD

THE 35TH ANNUAL Lennoxville Curling Club Bonspiel set a record this year in the number of rinks competing in the event. A grand total of 62 rinks, most ever to compete, registered to play. This is a new high and if it continues the Bonspiel chairman will have his hands full trying to find ice space to accommodate them.

THIS YEAR IT WAS necessary to make use of the North Hatley ice as well as Sherbrooke and Lennoxville in order to run off the games on time and within the week. So if the number increases it will be a problem, but a nice one, and I am sure one which the Lennoxville Club will be able to cope with.

BESIDES SETTING a record with the number of entries I believe it also broke another when some odd 200 curlers were on hand for the dinner. This is one place where one and all make perfect shots in disposing of the "famous pies" once again. It isn't hard to explain where so many beautiful pies come from. The ladies attend to this part of the 'Spiel and have made themselves known throughout curling circles.

IT WAS INTERESTING and pleasing to sit there and see how the pies disappeared in such order. But the beauty of the thing was that there was always another there. In other words your request for a certain pie was always fulfilled.

AS FOR THE CURLING I don't remember watching so many close games for quite some time. Generally when the semi-finals are good the finals turn out just the opposite but Saturday was a different story. Several games weren't decided until the final stone in the last end was thrown and some required extra ends to determine the winners.

PETE CROSS AND HIS rink walked off with top honors in the main event. Gerry Carruthers, Ron Moss and Ron Smith form a great quartet and a battling one at that. They are never beaten and from the first stone until the final one never let up. They are keen curlers, great sportsmen and a credit to the famous game.

SKIP PETE CROSS is a son of Mr. and Mrs. Sid Cross, top curlers in their own right so it is only natural that Pete should follow in his parents' footsteps and like his father, turn into a great skip. The funny thing about the finals Saturday was that both father and son were playing, one in the main event and Sid in the consolation.

THE BORDER QUARTET has certainly established itself in curling circles as one which must be reckoned with in the future. Its members have come a long way since they first started and within the last couple of years have made their presence felt wherever they compete.

SKIP CROSS AND HIS Mates keep a chatter going all during the game but they don't lose their objective and that is to win. I have seen them lose but they never had anything but praise for their opposition. Win or lose they have proven to be real sportsmen and that is something in our present age when quite often we forget to play the sport for the fun of it and think too much about winning all the time.

STU FIELDS, BONSPIEL CHAIRMAN, did a great job for his first attempt and I think maybe earned the job for another year. Stu, that is the penalty of doing a good job so watch out. Don't say I didn't warn you. Congratulations, Stu. Despite a few hooks everything ended in a blaze of glory.

IT WAS INTERESTING to sit and listen to some of the window skips. They can play a great game behind the window. They never miss a shot and their running commentary is something to listen to especially when someone misses what looks like an easy shot but I suppose this is part of the game and what makes curling so popular. Everyone has their own idea how to play various shots, how the ice bends and what not. Anyway it was a very enjoyable day and to President Otis Burns and your committees, thanks for everything.

SHERBROOKE BEAVERS' reign as Eastern Canada

senior hockey champions came to an end last Tuesday evening at the Sports Palace when they bowed out of the Allan Cup hunt to Drummondville Eagles after an hectic all-out battle.

THE EAGLES ARE worthy representatives of the Provincial Senior League and they earned it the hard way. They were the underdogs when the playoffs started, but they knocked over the Gauls of St. Hyacinthe in four straight to head into the finals.

THEY CONTINUED THEIR fighting ways and came up with some fine positional hockey and from the first game in Sherbrooke took command to earn the title. They were out to win and went all out to do so. They knocked over the Beavers in Sherbrooke and set the pace from then on. The Eagles outplayed and outplayed the Beavers with the exception of one game to earn their first title.

THE OUTCOME OF the final game was only decided after 87 minutes and 32 seconds of play. It was the longest game on record in the League, including scheduled tilts. It was a great battle and the fans saw a terrific duel between two good clubs.

RONNIE RACETTE, who tallied the winning marker, came back to haunt his former mates, which is usually the case. He was left uncovered and he didn't make a mistake. Serge Aubry never had a chance on the shot, in fact it was in the net before he could move and that was it.

IT WAS THE BEST game the Beavers played during the finals and was a tough one to lose. They missed too many chances to score when they had the pressure on. Claude Cyr was terrific in the nets for the Eagles but Serge Aubry also stood out. He kept his mates in the game as they wandered around doing foolish things.

THE EAGLES HAD the desire and wanted to win while some of the Beavers had the impression that they could skate away from them when they wanted but they found out they couldn't. The Eagles had someone on the puck at all times and never let up and the Beavers just couldn't get organized. They bombarded Aubry from every angle and the little netminder was a very busy boy during the series.

COACH OSCAR AUBUCHON did a great job in handling his crew and deserves credit for the feat. Several of the Sherbrooke players failed to show any resemblance to their previous form and didn't help the club. This is bad especially in a hard series when everyone must do his share if the team expects to win.

THE BEAVERS DIDN'T worry too much as some of the players figured they could pull it out when they settled down. In the meantime the Eagles kept rolling. Foolish penalties hurt Coach Roy's crew and despite his warnings some didn't pay any attention to him. This is bad and I figure it played a big part in the Beavers' downfall.

COACH ROY WILL have to start a rebuilding plan and bring in some new blood. The Eagles did that and it paid off. The league should be stronger next year with the return of Granby and you may rest assured that Gaston Fausse will have a young club to represent his town. The sooner Sherbrooke realizes this the better it will be.

PLAYERS WHO DON'T come up with an all-out effort all the time are certainly no help to their club. Hockey today is developing into a real battle for the full sixty minutes and a coach can't afford to have players who only play part of the time as this hurts the team spirit.

I HAVEN'T SEEN a club with such spirit as the Eagles. Everyone connected with the club from the president down was the same. The fans came to life towards the end and I am sure that in the playoffs securing tickets will be quite a proposition as Drummondville will be out in force supporting their Eagles and this will be a big factor for them.

THE EAGLES ARE the representatives of the Province of Quebec and I am sure they will give a good account of themselves and have the full support of all the clubs. To the Eagles, keeping rolling and bring the Allan Cup back where it belongs. Good luck.

Eastern Townships Spring Jumping championships to be held at Mont Sutton on Saturday, March 25

SUTTON — A major Eastern Canadian attraction will be added to the traditionally good spring skiing at Mont Sutton Saturday, March 25 at 2 p.m. when jumpers from all over the province will convene for one of the last important jumps of the year.

The Eastern Townships Spring Championships, the first such event held since the founding of the region, will attract the province's best at this increasingly popular aspect of the sport. The Eastern Townships is one of the six jumping zones in Quebec. The Province that has emerged supreme in national jumping competition.

This will be the second major event on Mont Sutton's new jump, which received its competitive inauguration when National Junior Championships the jump is of a medium length last month. On that occasion the wind protection proved to be as sure as almost any area of feet.

Veteran Lou Burdette makes first appearance as Angels down Indians, Mays clouts homer as Giants win

Lou Burdette, 40-year-old pitcher now in his 20th year of professional baseball, made his first exhibition game appearance Monday and beat out a bunt single.

Burdette's right arm appeared to be just as strong as his legs as he worked two innings and allowed only an infield hit in California Angels' 6-2 victory over Cleveland Indians at Palm Springs, Calif.

In other games, rookie Mike Epstein's three-run homer gave Baltimore Orioles a 4-2 victory over Cincinnati Reds, San Francisco Giants outslug Chicago Cubs 9-6, St. Louis Cardinals topped Philadelphia Phillies 4-2, Boston Red Sox nipped Pittsburgh Pirates 4-3, the Chicago White Sox beat the New York Mets 7-4, the New York Yankees edged Los Angeles Dodgers 7-6 and Detroit Tigers downed Atlanta Braves 5-4.

Washington Senators didn't play, but they signed pitcher Camilo Pascual, a 28-day hold-out.

ENDED LOSING STREAK — Marcelino Lopez worked the first five innings for California, which ended a five-game losing streak. Jim Fregosi, Rick Reichardt and Jose Cardenal.

Art Skov hit by Stafford's toss almost quit tilt. TORONTO (CP) — Scotty Morrison, National Hockey League referee-in-chief, today confirmed a report that referee Art Skov threatened to quit after being hit by a program, allegedly thrown by Stafford Smythe at Maple Leaf Gardens Saturday night.

Smythe, president of Toronto Maple Leafs, had "no comment" on the incident that occurred during his team's 9-5 victory over Chicago Black Hawks.

The program was thrown during the game when Skov skated to the penalty box to give Toronto player Eddie Shack a minor penalty.

"Art was really cheesed off with the affair," Morrison said. "At the second intermission, he dangled his whistle on the end of one finger and told me to take it, that he was through, that he didn't have to put up with that kind of treatment."

"I finally managed to cool him off and he worked the third period. But for a while it was touch and go whether he'd shower, pack his bag and leave the rink."

"We came much too close to losing one of our senior officials."

Both men have two days to appeal to the Ontario Racing Commission.

Las Vegas—Dub Huntley, 160, Los Angeles, stopped Tevel Holman, 163, San Diego, 1.

VIENNA (CP) — Coach who had been warming the bench. Jackie McLeod revamped his puncheon main forward line and gave young Wayne Stephen son of Fort William, Ont., a crack at goal as Canada's unbeaten Nationals faced a fired-up West German team in their third world hockey start today.

McLeod looked for more firepower when he switched wings on the line centred by Montreal's Gary Dineen. The line produced only two goals in Canada's wins over East Germany and Finland. Dineen himself hasn't garnered a point.

Billy MacMillan of Charlotte, N.C., was replaced at right wing by Ottawa-born Ray Cadieux, a chartered accountant.

BAUER UNDISTURBED — Martin had to work hard against the Finns because of his team's many defence lapses, but team adviser Rev. David Bauer didn't seem disturbed about the performance Sunday.

"We've been slow getting off the mark," Father Bauer said. "But remember that some of these fellows are just recovering from bouts of flu and the boys who had examinations to write came late and are still getting used to the atmosphere."

The Roger Bourbonnais-Ped Hargreaves - Addy Tambellini line has been the most productive, with six of Canada's 11 goals and five of 15 assists.

Norm Ullman of Detroit stands third with 61 points, more than teammate Gordie Howe.

Chicago's unimpaired combination of veteran Glenn Hall and Denis DeJordy, continues to lead in the race among goal tenders with 155 goals against, nine fewer than the Rangers.

John Ferguson of the Canadiens continues as the individual penalty leader with 160 minutes, while the Canadiens lead the team penalties with 817 minutes.

NHL goalies had tough week as sharpshooters blast 74 goals, Bobby Hull aiming for record

MONTREAL (CP) — National Hockey League sharpshooters scored three goals and declared war on the league's goalkeepers last week and when had two goals and three assists.

It was all over, a total of 74 goals were scored in nine games, the highest scoring out of any week this season.

The previous high was 68 goals in 10 games during the week ending Sunday, Nov. 27, in a season set by teammate Bobby Hull last year.

Montreal Canadiens' line of centre Henri Richard, left wing Dave Balon and right winger Leon Rochefort, a successful trio in Montreal's Stanley Cup final against Detroit Red Wings last season, was re-united for the first time since early in the season.

The result was that the three players picked up a total of 19 goals, including nine by Richard, who topped the performance with a three-goal effort Sunday against Chicago Black Hawks, his fifth three-goal game in his career.

Richard also had two other goals and four assists in Montreal's three games and Rochester scored three goals and added two assists while Balon scored two goals and three assists.

Meanwhile, Stan Mikita of the Hawks continued to pursue records. With 92 points in the individual scoring race, he is six short of a record for most points in a season set by teammate Bobby Hull last year.

LEADS IN ASSISTS — Mikita also has a league-leading 59 assists, equalling the record he set for most assists in one season in 1964-65 and his point total is the most a centre has ever had in NHL history.

Hull is second with 77 points, including his league-leading 51 goals, the third time he has reached the 50-goal level in his career. He has six games remaining to break his record of 54 goals set last season.

Norm Ullman of Detroit stands third with 61 points, more than teammate Gordie Howe.

Chicago's unimpaired combination of veteran Glenn Hall and Denis DeJordy, continues to lead in the race among goal tenders with 155 goals against, nine fewer than the Rangers.

Canada and United States only undefeated rinks in World curling championships at Perth

PERTH, Scotland (CP)—Canada, with history on its side, and the United States, with two Canadians in its lineup, were the only undefeated rinks after two rounds of the world curling championship.

Canadian rinks have won the championship seven times during its eight-year existence. The U.S. rink is skipped by Bruce Roberts, a Pilot Mount, Man., native now living in Seattle. Another Pilot Mount native, Doug Walker plays lead.

Rinks from Scotland, Switzerland, Sweden and West Germany all had 1-1 won-loss records following the second round of the eight-rink round-robin bonspiel Monday.

Norway and France are winless in two starts. Canada was to meet Norway in the first of today's three rounds, while the U.S. played Germany. France played Scotland, and Sweden took on Switzerland.

The U.S. got off to a fast start in Monday's opening round, trouncing France 17-5, while the Canadians, with skip Alf Phillips Jr., third John Ross, second Ron Manning and lead Keith Reilly, edged Sweden 7-5.

IODE to award nursing bursary and scholarship

STANSTEAD — The Stanstead Chapter IODE annually awards a nursing bursary, known as the Mabel Stockwell Nursing Bursary, which was established as a memorial to the Chapter's first regent in 1924. Mrs. Stockwell, a registered nurse, was the wife of Dr. Stockwell, both loved and respected here for many years.

The annual award of $125 is made to a deserving student in Stanstead County enrolled in a qualified hospital school of nursing.

Application for the bursary must be in the hands of the committee by June 1, 1967. Each candidate must send with her application, certificate of birth, a written statement from the supervisor of the applicant's School of Nursing, approving the candidate, together with a transcript of academic standing, names and addresses of three persons to whom the committee may apply for reference.

The selection committee shall consist of the regent, the educational secretary, the treasurer and two other members of the Chapter appointed by the members. Applications should be made to Mrs. Hugh McClary, Stanstead College, Stanstead, Que.

SCHOLARSHIP

A scholarship of $100 will be awarded annually by the Chapter to a Grade 11 student of Sunnyside School in Rock Island who fulfills the qualifications.

The candidate must be Canadian born or a Canadian citizen. The scholarship must be applied within two years of being awarded; the recipient must be proceeding to further education and registered in a Canadian university or equivalent full course, or a registered school of nursing.

In awarding the scholarship, the committee will consider academic achievement and character. Preference will be given to a returned soldier's sister, brother, son or daughter.

Applications must be in the hands of the committee by June 1 and candidates must send with their application a certificate of birth, names and addresses of three persons to whom the committee may apply for reference.

A transcript of final marks obtained in June must be sent to the committee by August 15. If the candidate intends to write supplemental exams the committee must be informed at this date.

Application should be made to Mrs. Hugh McClary, Stanstead College, Stanstead.

NOT THE APPROVED WAY, BUT IT WORKS — Blowing into the barrel of a .45 caliber pistol to clear it may not be listed as an accepted method in the CI manual. But it is an effective way to get water out of the weapon, especially if you're a 25th Division infantryman who has just fallen into a waterhole during patrol in the Plain of Reeds, northwest of Saigon in South Vietnam.

Good balance reported at meeting of Missisquoi I.O.D.E. Chapter

BEDFORD — The monthly meeting of Missisquoi Chapter IODE was held on March 6 at the home of Mrs. Lewis Bockus.

The first vice-regent, Mrs. Lewis Currie, asked the members to observe a minute's silence in respect to the late Governor General George Vanier.

In the absence of the treasurer, Mrs. Hannibal Sheltus, Mrs. William Taylor, filled the position, reporting a balance of $226.77, with bills for wool and tags amounting to $41.93 ordered paid. A new type of tag, read by Mrs. Craighead, is now being used by the IODE, with an adhesive back, which only requires to be wetted and pressed on the garment, thus doing away with the tedious work of sewing on tags.

Mrs. Richard Craighead, secretary at home and abroad, read a letter from Mrs. Rowell, provincial convener of services at home and abroad, congratulating the Chapter for the large amount of work sent in and its excellent quality. There is a great need at the present time for knitted vests for Eskimo children, a request was made that as many as possible be sent in, that a large number might be sent to the National and Welfare by the end of April.

A letter was also read from Mrs. John Gibbs of the Franklin Hall Chapter, regarding further aid to be given on the Chapter to the Villa du Champlain at Clareville, a home for retarded children, also a request for stuffed toys.

After discussion it was decided that a number of the Chapter members would visit the institution as soon as possible to ascertain what help the Chapter could give. A donation of clothing and bedding has been already given by the Chapter. In the absence of Mrs.
