Runaway car pins boy of 7

A seven-year-old boy was pinned underneath a runaway car on Tuesday at 4:45 pm opposite 719 Upper Belmont avenue when the parked car broke loose from its parking space and, driverless, rolled down the Upper Belmont hill.

Miraculously, the boy, Peter Nicholl, 758 Upper Belmont, escaped with minor bruises and burns to his back.

Peter was walking north on the west side walk of Upper Belmont with his older brother when they saw the car heading toward them. The older brother managed to dodge out of the way, but Peter was caught under the car, which mounted the sidewalk before coming to rest.

The car, a 1969 Rover, had been parked on the west side of the road in front of 754 Upper Belmont before it began its uncontrolled gambol. Driver of the car, Mrs. Elizabeth Watts, 353 Lansdowne avenue, was issued a ticket for improper parking.

Peter was taken to the Montreal Children's Hospital by Westmount Police patrol car.

WATERING PLACE: While the city's swimming pool at Westmount Park went into use over the past week, some kids just like to get wet any place—such as the pond at the corner of Sherbrooke street west and Melville avenue.

'Hotter'-house tenders

A report on the opening of tenders for a new heating system for Westmount's greenhouses will be one topic discussed at Monday night's city council meeting.

Also on the agenda is a proclamation for Canada Week. The city has received a letter from Ottawa requesting the city's support for the week, which runs from June 27 to July 4.

Two changes in the city's valuation role will be discussed. 202 Cote St. Antoine and a Selby street house which has been expropriated will be considered.

A report on the Montreal Urban Community and microfilming of city records are other topics to be brought up.

47 transfers

Sales jump prices drop of property

Property transfers in Westmount jumped in April with 47 listed transactions; 25 more than in March and seven more than in April 1970.

The city's valuation of the eight fully listed properties was 7.9 percent greater than the sales price. The city valued the properties at $324,000. They sold for $298,500.

In March sales prices of the fully listed properties were 2.9 percent more than city valuation.

Twenty of the properties were sold for a sum of money and considerations while six were sold for $1 and considerations. There were seven declarations, one delivered legacy, two expropriations, two judgements and one 87-square-foot transfer with no price or valuation listed.

Largest transfer

Largest transfer with sales price listed was 604 Carleton avenue for $71,000 and considerations from Gordon Burton Empey to John W. McGill. City's valuation of the property is $55,200. 4333 St. Catherine, subject of a judgement, is valued at $1,633,900. Smallest fully listed sale was some land on Victoria avenue for $6,000 from the estate of Hugh E. Burke to Mark

City goes from dogs

Either Westmounters are losing interest in their pets or the stray dog population of the city has jumped dramatically.

Thirty-two more dogs have been picked up by the dog catcher this year compared to last year's figure.

From January 1970 until June 3 last year 69 dogs were picked up.

For the same period this year, 101 have been caught by the city's dog catcher.

Nearly caught

A man, probably in his 30s, was almost caught in the act of stealing from a parked car on Friday evening outside 31 Bruce avenue. Stolen was an attache case, a coat and an engineering book, total value $95. The man escaped before the owner could grab him. The thief was seen fleeing down the street. No accurate description of him could be given.

$16,800 from Ottawa

Pre-school educational program funded

Westmounters will witness the blossoming of a full-scale pre-school educational program for children under five this summer as Westmount's pre-school committee sets in motion a carefully worked out plan which has just been endorsed by the federal government's "Opportunities for Youth" project.

The committee has been awarded a grant of $16,800 and will employ this summer 13 student nursery school teachers, one student nursery school director and one student psychologist at the master's level to assist in the program and evaluate progress.

Location or locations of the pre-school centres have not yet been decided.

Space is sought

Miss June McLellan, a community worker with the Office for Community and Social Development, a city-funded agency involved in the project says the committee is desperately searching for space for a pre-school.

Westmount Park School has been eyed as a possibility.

She cited changing social conditions which have brought to the fore the need for pre-school centres.

The advent of the working mother, mothers who wish to return to school, do volunteer work and participate in community activities, has helped create this need, said Miss McLellan.

"Also, a lot of mothers just need rest and relaxation," she said.

Other conditions causing this emerging need are the increase in one-parent families, increase of families living in apartments where there is no "safe place" for children to play, the need for "apartment children" to meet other adults and children, and the need for children to be provided with intellectually stimulating toys and activities.

A booklet published by the Vanier Institute of the Family says: "Readily available day care services will not mean that parents will neglect their children. Good day care services supplement what parents do for their children.

Supplementary child care services can assist parents, and at the same time enrich the lives of their children."

Triggered by ad

Formation of Westmount's pre-school committee was triggered by a Westmount Municipal Association notice in The Examiner in November 1970. Placed in the paper by the WMA's health and welfare committee, headed by Helen Rochester, 311 Elm avenue, the notice called for persons interested in pre-school education to contact the committee.

Miss McLellan contacted the committee and other interested persons and a 20-member pre-school committee emerged this April. Headed by JoAnn Issenman, 455 Elm avenue, the committee has placed questionnaires in most of Westmount's homes below Cote

Next Week's Weather

By ERIC NEAL

June 5 to 12

We always have morning frosts this June full moon week, also mountain valley mists. However afternoons are bright and very warm. The mercury often rises to 85 degrees F and pleasant holiday conditions are likely to prevail until next Sunday. The barometer indicates well over 30" all this week.

Tornado activity in mid-west and southern States is followed by severe coastal storms whose rainy fringes can extend into New Brunswick, Gaspé and the Townships. For northern counties, intermittent showers with snow grains and some thunder.

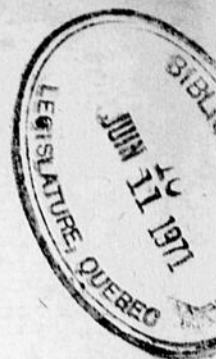

A pleasant weekend will be followed by cloudburst rains and violent winds.

Percy E. Jarman, ex-GM of city, dies at age 86

Percy Edward Jarman, one of Westmount's first city managers and an almost life-long resident of the city, died Tuesday at the Montreal General Hospital.

He was 86. He lived at 78 Chesterfield avenue.

Borne in Earls Colne, Essex, England, he emigrated to Canada in 1904 and joined the city's staff as assistant city surveyor in 1908. He climbed the municipal ranks, becoming city engineer in 1914 and general manager in 1930. He retired in 1951.

Westmount was a pioneer in the city-manager form of municipal government. Mr. Jarman was the second person to become Westmount's general manager.

He was a life member of the International City Managers' Association and past president of the Quebec chapter. He was also a charter member of the Rotary Club of Westmount, serving as the club's president in 1933.

A member of the Corporation of Professional Engineers of Quebec, he was also a life member of the Engineering Institute of Canada and at one time served as chairman of the board for the institute's Montreal branch.

He was also active in the Golden Age Club and the Canadian Club of Montreal. He was a member of St. Matthias' Church and a commissioner of the Superior Court.

He is survived by two daughters, Miss Dorothy E. Jarman, 78 Chesterfield avenue, and Mrs. R.P. Welland (Audrey M.) of Ottawa. His wife, the former Nellie Ida Tolhurst, died seven years ago.

The funeral was held today at 2:30 pm at St. Matthias' Church. Burial took place in the Mount Royal Cemetery.

RECEIVES DEGREE: Miss Janis Lynne Davidson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. T.N. Davidson, 4300 de Maisonneuve boulevard west, who will receive her bachelor of arts degree at the spring convocation of Queen's University. She is the fourth member of her family to graduate from Queen's. Her father received his BSc (electrical engineering); her sister, Judith Ann (Mrs. M.D. Palmer) has her MA in psychology (BA Mount Allison)—while in attendance at Queen's, she was the recipient of $3,500 in Ontario Fellowships—and her brother-in-law, Dr. M.D. Palmer, has his BSc and MSc from Queen's while he earned his Phd at the University of Toronto.

St. Antoine road. The questionnaires, asking for the type of day care facilities needed by residents, turned up about 60 families interested in a day care program. About half of the mothers of the 60 interested families have indicated that they would get actively involved in the day care project. The research program is not yet complete.

"But to be successful, the parents have to get involved with the school and with the teachers," said Miss McLellan. She added that the committee had run into a lot of apathy and reluctance of mothers to get involved.

According to statistics produced by the Montreal Council of Social Agencies from a study conducted in 1966, Westmount possesses 5,013 children under five years of age.

Expect big response

"We expect a big response when the program gets under way," said Miss McLellan. "It should be understood by mothers that the program will require their participation."

She added that the program will be free. "The only thing we're asking for is that mothers get involved," she said.

The pre-school committee is hoping that the program will roll on into the Fall and continue all year round.

"If that occurs we may have to create a sliding fee scale," said Miss McLellan. "Parents would pay according to their ability."

At present the committee is looking for toys, books, children's furniture, plasticine, records and other articles which can be used in a pre-school. The committee is also searching for persons who would like to assist in the nursery: golden agers who would like to read stories to children, teenagers, mothers, fathers and single people. Miss McLellan can be contacted at 1210 Greene avenue, 935-2668.

It is planned that the pre-schools be conducted bilingually. The 13 student nursery school teachers will be recruited from the University of Montreal. The psychologist will probably come from the Montreal Children's Hospital's department of psychology.

weekend — but it will all be friendly.

Westmount's Royal Montreal Regiment will be training in a wooded area near Brownsburg, practicing field tactics in their role as one of the backup forces for Mobile Command.

To add realism to the training, aircraft of two Air Reserve units, 401 City of Westmount Squadron and 438 City of Montreal

Squadron, will take part in the training by providing drops of equipment — re-supply from the air.

But the airmen will add even more realism. At times during the training they will "bomb" the ground forces, using harmless paper bags filled with flour.

Way Ahead march raises $2,000

Kicked off by leading Westmount personalities, Dawson College's "Way Ahead" march on Saturday to raise money for Way Ahead's social projects was a disappointment to optimistic organizers.

Nevertheless, the 100 persons who participated in the march managed to raise about $2,000 which will take a big chunk out of the organization's $8,000 debt.

Participating was Hon. Kevin Drummond, minister of lands and forests and Westmount's provincial representative; his assistant Miss Ann Dawson; Westmount's Director of Public Safety E.C. Harper, and Dawson's Director-General Paul Gallagher. At least two Dawson College professors also participated in the march: Henri Strub and his wife Mari-Ann. Mrs. Strub is a director of Way Ahead.

Pledges to the marchers, who walked a total of six miles, varied from $1.10 to $25 per mile. The march commenced at 11 am at Selby street to Summit circle and finished at about 2:30 pm back at the Selby campus where marchers were entertained by bands and refreshed by food and soft drinks.

The following building permits were issued at city hall during the past week:

- May 25
372 Elm: for Clifton Management by Rheaume Contractor, repair brick wall, $1,500;
362 Kensington: for W. Haskell by Hasko Construction, plumbing, $450;

- June 1
17 Chesterfield: for Mr. Kastener by Charles Roth Inc., testing gas line, $75.

NEW LIGHTS INSTALLED: Frequenters of the area believe there have been fewer squealings of brakes and near collisions since the new overhead traffic lights, seen above this week, went into operation at the corner of Metcalfe avenue and St. Catherine street. The old lights, specially westbound, were difficult to see.

Boy injured running a red on Cote road

An 11-year old Westmount boy was struck by a westbound car on Cote St. Antoine road at Strathcona avenue at 6:30 pm last Thursday when he ran across the road against a red light. John Salisbury, 451 Strathcona avenue, was struck by a 1966 Plymouth station wagon as he attempted to cross from the north to the south side of Cote St. Antoine. He suffered head injuries and scrapes to his right rib cage but is reported to be doing well. Driver of the station wagon was Allan Bercovitch, 52, of Montreal. John was taken to Montreal Children's Hospital by patrol car. He was conscious when first picked up by police but was unconscious on arrival at the hospital. He is one of The Examiner's original carriers. Other members of the family pitched in to deliver his papers last week.

After the march, early in the week, Way Ahead received good news from the federal government. Its summer program has been endorsed and Dawson's community action organization will receive a $35,000 grant, enough to employ between 50 and 60 students at about $65 per week as well as professional help. Way Ahead applied to the "Opportunities for Youth" for $116,000 to run two summer projects: a street recreation program and an urban day camp. The projects will be operated in lower part of Westmount, St. Henri and Point St. Charles and will involve taking children on outings to the parks and the country, workshops, sports and arts and crafts. Miguel Figueroa, a Way Ahead organizer, said students will be hired on the basis of their bilingual ability, experience with children, temperament and need for finances.

We Say

Banish 'lower' and 'upper'

A READER—who we forgive because of her senior citizenship for merely phoning and not writing more fully about her thoughtful views—has taken us to task for use of the term "lower Westmount" in this newspaper.

It is a term which, in fact, we usually eschew. As does the good lady, we regret any usage which tends to divide, stratify or classify.

But as we explained to her, citizens of the southeast corner of our city a while ago organized themselves under the name of Lower Westmount Citizens Committee and have managed to get themselves frequently in the news in matters relating to urban renewal of their area and, more recently, the resumed work on the Trans-Canada Highway which has affected them profoundly.

We are in no more position, except perhaps by persuasion, to have them change their proper name than, as we explained, the good lady's own name.

In this instance, it is up to the residents of the area themselves. And we commend the idea to them.

Perhaps the name "Lower Westmount" did draw attention to the particular neighborhood. But if it had to be geographical, "Southeast Westmount" would have been more specific.

And it would have had the virtue of not having what to some persons must be a self-denigrating tone in the word "Lower"—underdogs, "below the salt," down (even if not out), and all that sort of thing.

We suggested some while ago that the City of Westmount itself was perpetuating the two-level idea when council adopted the boundaries of three wards for municipal electoral purposes.

A great opportunity was lost by city hall to go a long way toward wiping out this strata complex by running the boundaries all north and south.

Instead, they simply made the existing state of mind more pronounced in fact, with two wards above de Maisonneuve boulevard and one below.

We would have expected some hue and cry from the southern reaches of the city; but apparently there was none.

For a true sense of community, a city such as Westmount should encourage as much as possible unity among its citizens.

The growth of supra-municipal government, in the form of the Montreal Urban Community, and other problems relative to other superior governments, call for oneness and an united voice.

Smaller neighborhood organizations are a good thing for concern with purely neighborhood issues—so long as such concerns do not turn against the broader community.

Far better that all citizens get to regard city council as theirs and the municipal association as their vehicle for action.

Which, of course, is a continuing challenge for the WMA.

A differing view on Michael Millman

Sir: Having read with interest your report of the interview with Michael Millman, and then the letter by Mrs. Prince the following week, I would like to add a few comments of my own.

First of all in order to provide a balanced coverage I would like to see an interview with a member of the "establishment" such as Mr. Hamilton or Dr. Pounder, and also an interview with a student holding different views to those of Michael Millman—such as David Edgehill who competed for the post of president of the students council.

Secondly, I would like to draw attention to the assumption in Mrs. Prince's letter that Michael Millman was elected by a

Hon. C. M. Drury says...

All out for the census

It is June 1 today as I write this article, and while millions of Canadians are busy completing their 2A or 2B forms, I would like to comment on the census and its value to all of us.

Everyone is by now aware that Canada takes a major census every 10 years, and this causes many people to enquire why it is necessary for the government to ask so many questions of a personal nature, such as those relating to an individual's income or his religion, or various details regarding the inside of a person's lodging.

The fact of the matter is that the census form, unlike an application form for a credit card or a mortgage loan, does not have as its basic purpose the collection of personal information for matters solely related to the individual. Indeed, the only reason for asking personal questions in the census is to establish sets of facts by grouping of totals. A person's name is never recorded in the computer, and the confidentiality of the entire census operation is assured by law.

This has not always been the case. Census traditionally used to be taken to assess the amount of tax which a citizen should be required to pay to the state. The Oxford English Dictionary tells us that "the first works of the census was to value every man's estate." This definition was made in 1646, and by 1818 the word "census" had evolved to actually mean "a capitation tax."

In the days of the Roman Empire, and in fact even at the height of the Babylonian and Egyptian civilizations, census, or more properly inventories, were taken to control particular individuals. The information was elicited not from a representative sample of the total population but from only particular categories of the population such as family heads or males of military age. In this way, the state was able to identify those who should be taxed, inducted into military service, or forced to work.

It wasn't until the 17th century that the concept of census changed from a means of identifying and controlling certain individuals to a method of enumerating the total population. The state began to see the census as a tool to understand the structure of society and to perceive trends within it.

majority of the students at WHS. This is simply not the case!

Since only grades 9 and 10 were eligible to vote for the 1970-71 students council, this excluded the graduating class and also grades 7 and 8 which are considered junior school!

Therefore the elected representatives of the school were chosen only by a majority out of two grades instead of out of a possible five!

Furthermore, at the time of writing no elections for next year's student council have taken place, and there is only a week left of regular school. Is this what the students wish—no elected representatives at all? This does seem cause for some concern.

(Mrs.) E. Ann Hannan
48 Windsor Ave.
WESTMOUNT 217

This enabled not only the state but also many areas of the private sector to plan rationally and to formulate policies based on accurate information.

Paralleling this evolution were the introduction of improved administrative procedure which were vital to the compilation of accurate statistics.

Federal Liberals to meet

The Westmount constituency organization of the federal Liberals is holding its annual general meeting of members and election of officers Monday at 8 pm at the Reform Club, 82 Sherbrooke street west. Hon. C.M. Drury, MP for Westmount, is expected to be present.

RCE unit here gets new CO; RSMs switched

No. 3 Field Engineer Regiment of Westmount got a new commanding officer Sunday afternoon, and a new regimental sergeant-major.

Brig. Gen. Pierre Charbonneau, commander of all Militia in Quebec, presided at the 3 pm ceremonies, at the armory, 3 Hillside lane.

Lt. Col. Guy Despatis was promoted to that rank from major and took over command of the regiment from Lt.-Col. L. Bergeron.

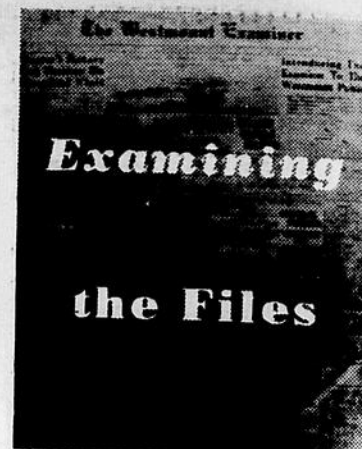

In the change of regimental sergeants-major, Chief Warrant Officer N.A. MacCubbin turned over to Chief Warrant Officer F. Nault.

Lt.-Col. Despatis, in civilian life chief electrical engineer with Langlois, Crossey, Cote, LeClair, was in the Regular Force from 1961 to 1964 after graduation from College Militaire Royal de St. Jean, Royal Military College and McGill University.

Lt.-Col. Bergeron came to the unit from No. 10 Field Squadron, RCE, in 1968. In civilian life he is a sales manager with Canadian Westinghouse.

Meanwhile, down St. Catherine street Sunday morning at the RMR armory following that regiment's annual parade to St. Matthias, Church, the regimental sergeant major, Chief Warrant Officer W.D. "Doug" Newcombe handed over the RSM's "stick" to his successor, CWO R.H. "Ron" Glen. CWO Newcombe, who joined the RMR in 1957, had been RSM since 1968.

CWO Glen served two years with the Royal Canadian Navy Volunteer Reserve during the Second World War. He joined the RMR in 1950. Both Newcombe and Glen had had Sea Cadet backgrounds.

"Three butter coupons will become valid during the month of June as the butter production in Canada continues to rise with the return of dairy herds to green pastures. Two sugar preserves coupons and four meat coupons will also become valid during the month."

"The proposed by-law to provide for funds for repair and widening of Sherbrooke street from Roslyn avenue to the western city limits received its third reading. The by-law will be put before the electors who are property holders, at a public meeting in the City Hall, June 11th."

"Graham Gould, well-known local lawyer, member of the firm Vien, Pare, Gould and Vien, has been named government candidate in the provincial election which comes to a climax with balloting on June 20.

"In opening his campaign Mr. Gould pointed particularly to some of the outstanding achievements of the provincial government of the National Union, which has conducted the affairs of the province for the past dozen years. Particularly he stressed achievements in health, education, social welfare, finance, and development of natural resources."

"With the pouring of the first concrete on April 22 at Westmount Square, the $25,000,000 commercial residential complex entered the final stages of phase 1 to plaza level. Tenders were called two weeks ago for phase 2 for the completion of the project above plaza level and it is expected that this contract will be awarded by the middle of this month.

"On completion in 1967, Westmount Square will be virtually a city within a city. To further the concept of total living, the concourse will contain a 700-seat theatre, restaurants and boutiques."

The leaders of Westmount's ginger groups

Three southern Westmount leaders have emerged in the past few years and have grabbed headlines in their fight against urban renewal and the Trans-Canada Highway.

Some Westmounters have accused the press of being "taken in" by these leaders and of helping to inflame problems which otherwise would have died a natural death.

How representative are these much-quoted leaders is the question asked.

Fernand Leclaire, president of the Lower Westmount Citizens Committee who was elected in November 1969 by about 50 lower Westmounters, admits that the LWCC organization has fallen into disrepair of late and that reorganization is necessary.

Fernand Leclaire

Mr. Leclaire, a 47-year-old Westmount property owner, bought property at 3201-3211 St. Antoine street in January 1968 and moved there a few months later. Almost immediately he became involved in local politics although he was never politically active before.

A Montreal-raised French Canadian, Mr. Leclaire was born in Lachine, raised in N.D.G. and is a product of the French Catholic school system. He is an electronics specialist by trade. He has found his involvement in local politics to be stimulating and rewarding and this summer will work as an organizer of the renovation program in southwest Westmount. He may not be paid. Federal funds pay only for student workers. As for his political views, he says he is not in total agreement with any present political party but agrees with some views of most parties.

"Since last Fall the Lower Westmount Citizens Committee has been disintegrating," said Mr. Leclaire. "Now there are just a few persons holding the fort and trying to reorganize."

He hopes to use the Federally-financed students who will be working on physically revamping the area this summer to help revitalize the organization. Mr. Leclaire reported that the LWCC will be receiving a federal government grant of about $15,000 this summer, enough to hire 15 students.

Bob Davis

He added that the main burden

of the fight against the Trans-Canada Highway ramp had fallen on the shoulders of Bob Davis, 1013 Greene avenue, whose home was directly affected by the planned ramp.

He said that Mr. Davis was highly representative of the Greene avenue residents who have just won the fight to save their homes.

Bob Davis, a long-haired, soft-spoken American who arrived in Westmount a year ago last February, has just left his $10,000 a year job with the Family Service Association because of his belief in the principles of the woman's liberation movement. His wife, Joyce, who has been taking care of the children for the past five years, is now at liberty to do what she wants.

Mr. Davis has a master's degree in social work from Indiana University. His speciality was case work, with an emphasis on psychotherapy.

"The Greene avenue residents almost unanimously had the same views as Bob Davis," said Mr. Leclaire.

He added that leaders of the LWCC had worked with the Westmount Action Committee after it sprang up to fight the highway.

David Carruthers

David Carruthers, elected president of the Westmount Action Committee, an incorporated organization, said the active core of WAC consists of 35 to 40 family heads from lower Westmount.

Mr. Carruthers, 126 Clandeboye, is a young researcher at the Canadian Pulp and Paper

Carruthers

Association. Married with two children, he at one time lectured in history at the University of Western Ontario and has lived in Westmount since August 1968. He became actively involved in local and provincial politics during the southeast Westmount uprising against the Trans-Canada Highway, when he was elected president of the Westmount Action Committee. The fight against the highway still goes on although WAC is now leaving most of the initiative to French-speaking groups in the east end.

He said that between petitions and letters, many persons had indicated support of WAC's position. About 100 persons, mostly lower Westmounters had contributed money to the organization from $5 upwards, he said. He added that he had received about 10 letters of criticism of WAC's position from Westmounters.

WAC's strongest link with upper Westmount is through the Westmount chapter of the Society to Overcome Pollution (STOP), said Mr. Carruthers.

Joseph Baker

Joseph Baker is a kind of elder statesman in the group of lower Westmount leaders. A professor of architecture at McGill University, he lives at 1087 Greene avenue and became involved in local politics during the fight over the position of the Quebec-Hydro station, which was moved from its planned position at the corner of Clandeboye avenue and Prospect street to Selby street. He later became involved in residents' struggles against the urban renewal program and, with his intimate knowledge of the area's politics, can be a highly influential leader. Residents have responded to his recent call for a liaison committee for the lower Westmount urban renewal zone.

John Leggat RMC graduate

One Westmounter was among the five young men from the Montreal area who graduated this spring from the Royal Military College of Canada at Kingston. They have completed extensive courses in academics, leadership and athletics, and will receive their bachelor degrees and commissions in the Canadian Armed Forces.

Officer Cadet Lennox John Leggat receives his bachelor of engineering degree in mechanical engineering. He entered RMC in 1967 upon graduation from the High School of Montreal and while attending RMC participated on the intramural lacrosse, volleyball, waterpolo and handball teams and on the varsity tennis team. He held the position of cadet wing publications officer and was enrolled in the land element. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. W.C. Leggat, 647 Grosvenor avenue.

Making full use of one's talents

There is a spiritual dimension to making full use of one's talents. This is a theme of the lesson-sermon entitled "God the Only Cause and Creator" to be heard this Sunday at all Christian Science church services. "The human capacities are enlarged and perfected in proportion as humanity gains the true conception of man and God," states a citation to be read from "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy. One of the Scriptural selections is from I Corinthians: "Now there are diversities of gifts, but the same Spirit. And there are differences of administrations, but the same Lord. And there are diversities of operations, but it is the same God which worketh all in all."

David Chesney ordained at Bishop's

David Chesney, a member of Dominion-Douglas congregation and son of Dr. and Mrs. Parker Chesney, was to be ordained to the ministry last evening at Bishop's University where the 47th Annual Sessions of the Montreal and Ottawa Conference of the United Church of Canada are being held. David Chesney grew up within Dominion-Douglas Church. He was recommended by the Session as a candidate for the ministry and has taken his training at Emmanuel College in Toronto. He has graduated with great distinction and among the prizes which he received is a fellowship for further study. He is however, taking a pastorate and has been transferred to the Maritime Conference. Later on he will resume his studies. He is married and his wife Heather is a school teacher. The president of the conference is Rev. R. Douglas Smith, minister of Dominion-Douglas and it is of special interest that he will be the ordaining officer when one of Dominion-Douglas is to enter the full time service of the church. Next Sunday morning the Island City Singers will present their Folk Mass in Dominion-Douglas. This group under the direction of Donald Patriquin, has become very well known for its contribution to the liturgical music in a modern medium. The group is composed of about 40 instrumentalists and singers. The Sacrament of the Lord's Supper will be administered at this service. Rev. David Chesney will officiate for the first time as a minister of the church. Following the service, a reception will be tendered Rev. and Mrs. Chesney in Tees Hall. There will also be a 9:30 A.M. communion service.

Induction ritual at Temple

Sabbath Services at Temple Emanu-El will take place tomorrow at 8:15 pm. Dr. H.J. Stern will speak on "The Threefold Benediction." At this service, the installation of the newly elected officers and board members of the Temple Brotherhood and Sisterhood will take place in a special ritual of induction. An Oneg Shabbat and kiddush reception follows the worship. The family picnic and field day at Camp Hiawatha will take place Sunday, commencing at 10:30 am under the auspices of the Temple Mister and Missus Club. The 89th annual meeting of Temple Emanu-El takes place Sunday, June 13, at 9:45 am. Worship and breakfast will precede the business meeting, when officers and board members will be elected. Special guests will be new members of the congregation. Conveners are David Metrick and Isidore H. Morrell. The following families have recently joined the the congregation: Mr. and Mrs. Jean Cholette, Mr. and Mrs. Elias Malka, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Rabinovitch and Mr. and Mrs. Timothy Wyse. Under the chairmanship of Jack Engels, the membership committee is now enrolling members for the new Temple season.

Staynor Park facilities enjoyed by residents

With the gray winter snow driven away by rain and sun, lower Westmount residents are finally beginning to enjoy the green, contoured hills and the improved recreation facilities of a rejuvenated Staynor Park. The 10' high fence which surrounded the park, making it look like a school yard, has been taken down and replaced with a waist-high wire fence surrounded by over 1,000 honeysuckle shrubs. Ash, Silver Maple and Birch trees which were planted in winter, dot the 1.3 - acre recreation area. Facilities in the park include two tennis courts, volleyball and basketball courts, a spray pool, sand box, swings, a jungle gym, seesaws and a children's play horse. At the east end of the park an area has been reserved for senior citizens with benches set in the manicured grass.

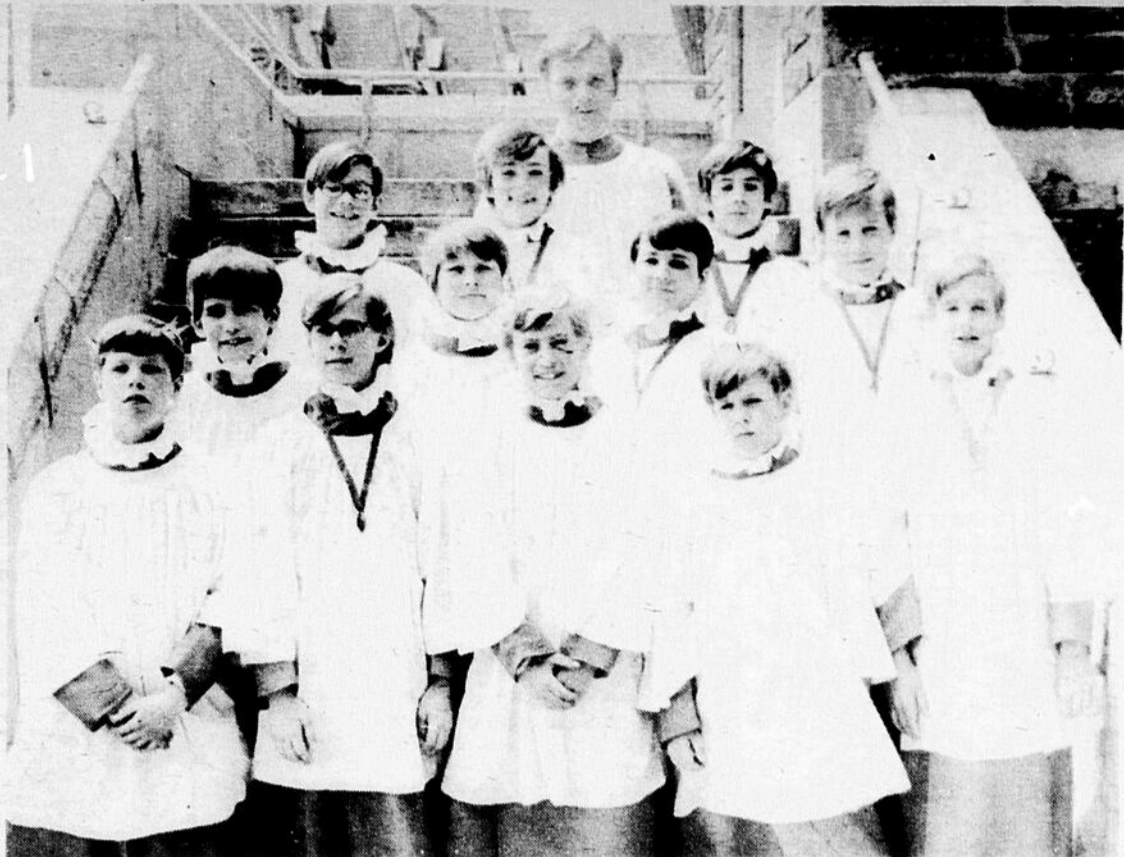

Prospect street. But "Operation Snoopy" nosedived and the city had to finish the work. Most residents appear to be pleased with the result. "The comments I have heard have been favorable," said Frank Davis, Westmount's director of services. He added that he noticed a lot of people with gardens bordering the lane which runs beside the park had improved their properties. The high fence around the tennis courts remains and floodlights stay on until 10 pm to enable tennis-loving residents to indulge their fancy after work.

Residents' pressure
Pressure for the refurbishing of the park came from surrounding residents who started work on the rejuvenation themselves in 1969 with "Operation Snoopy." The present park facilities are based on plans submitted by a resident Architect, Istvan Mezes, 47

Jack, Beanstalk opens Saturday at Youtheatre

Cages are being prepared for the odd menagerie of animals that soon will be at Youtheatre. With the exception of Rudolph the dog, the animals are friends of a boy called Jack. As well as Jack's animal friends, Twinky the bird, Clarabell the cow, Abracadabra the Giant's monkey, and Miss Gluck the hen who laid the golden egg, there will be Jack's eccentric Granny, a couple of bobos, the Giant's wife and the Giant. They will all appear in the Youtheatre production of Jack and the Beanstalk. This light-hearted play for children aged 4-12 is one of Youtheatre's most delightful productions. A Youtheatre's Jack will be performed at 2 pm weekends from June 5 until July 11 at their studio, 4175 St. Catherine street.

Earlier this year, the music master of St. George's, John Bradley, asked Mr. Crisp if he would be interested in supplying 12 boys from his own choir to join in this year's tour.

The boys have been picked on the basis of merit and musical ability. Much to their annoyance, a great deal of stress has also been placed on their academic performance at school, as they will be missing several exams!

Clelland says Blind Ass'n. ups services

The policy of the Montreal Association for the Blind in the past seven years has been to upgrade its services and facilities to meet the contemporary needs of blind people of all ages, reported W. Norman Clelland, 767 Upper Belmont avenue, at the 63rd annual meeting of the association last week. Mr. Clelland, who was elected president on May 11 to finish the term of his predecessor, the late Leslie G. Ogilvie, also of Westmount, said "even the buildings around us are a tribute to the achievement that was reached during Mr. Ogilvie's almost seven years of presidency."

The financial reports submitted by T.M. Kirkwood, honorary secretary-treasurer, showed a 4.1 percent increase in expenditures for the year, mostly attributable to new services for the blind, as against a 4 percent increase in contributions from the public. In the seven years of Mr. Ogilvie's presidency, Mr. Kirkwood said, "the considerable growth in the MAB services to the blind is reflected financially by a 107 percent rise in expenditures and a 155 percent increase in operating revenues." The great

On the revenue side, he continued, the number of private donors has doubled and the amount of their donations has tripled. Of utmost importance also is the fact that the Government of Quebec, on behalf of all taxpayers, has increased its assistance from $9,350 in 1964 to $266,765 in 1971.

Regarding public donations, Mr. Clelland paid tribute to the 1970 appeal committee chaired by A. Deane Nesbitt, 3269 Cedar avenue, with Mrs. Wilson G. McConnell, 80 Sunnyside avenue; Brig. J.A. de Lalanne, 633 Lansdowne avenue, and John E. Toten of St. Lambert. Brig. de Lalanne is also on the 1971 committee of which J. Leigh Bishop, QC, 250 Clarke avenue, a new governor of the association, is chairman.

Westmount Rugger off to fine start;
defeat Champion Irish by 16 - 13

Westmounters will have a chance to see their newly energized Westmount Rugger Club in action next Wednesday evening at 6:30 in Westmount Park, in a stiff contest against Town of Mount Royal — a club which Westmount never has defeated.

The last three years have been depressing for Westmount and their supporters and when Rodney Nichols was elected captain for this season, he stated that both he and Peter Mountain, his assistant, would do everything in their power to make Westmount a respected name in Quebec rugger.

Those who went to the high school last Saturday had their first chance to see the new Westmount — new in players, in ideas and sporting a new maroon playing strip. Their opponents were the champions of the last two years, Montreal Irish. The changes appear to have worked—Westmount outplayed the Irish and strolled to a well-deserved victory.

The Irish began with tremendous fervor and in no time Westmount were under pressure; penalties were given away at random and it was about 10 minutes into the game before Westmount mounted their first attack. This, though, was an attack of power and saw the fruits of the new enthusiasm in the club. Against the run of play, the Irish scored a penalty which John Peters tied moments later. The halftime score was 3-3 but Westmount had the measure of the Irish and with a little more luck they would have crossed over 10 points to the good.

Punch great holes

The second half started rather like the first and after six minutes, disaster fell on the home team—a high kick, a chase followed by a bad bounce left Dave Bezzant, a newcomer, not knowing what to do. The Irish scored and were leading 8-3. Driven on, from all quarters, Westmount fought back (last year they would have collapsed!) and Peters kicked another penalty goal 8-6. The forwards now began getting the ball and John Peters, Peter Mountain and Peter Howlett began to punch great holes in the Irish defence.

Pressure finally told when Bob "Bunker" Wilson, a West Indian powerhouse, sprinted over in the corner for the first try of Westmount's season; with Peters kicking the goal, Westmount had taken the lead 11-8.

The Irish aren't champions for nothing; another breakaway, a second mistake by the home side's defence and the Irish had regained the lead 13-11 with 10 minutes remaining.

With the minutes ticking away,

Westmount mounted attack after attack; the Irish held firm until one of the best movements of the last few seasons saw Westmount score. Deep in their own end, the forwards won the ball and Peters broke to the left. For a moment he looked lost but Mountain linked with him and between them they changed direction of the play; with 40 yards to the line, Peters found Howlett with a long pass.

Now we had the sight of Howlett, the former Alouette, striding for the line with three Irish defenders trying in vain to bring him down. They did, but not before Howlett had passed to Nichols, and there was the captain flying to score. Peters kicked the goal and Westmount were back in the lead 16-13.

Just one scare was left; with the last kick of the game the Irish had the opportunity to tie the scores, but the kick fell well short.

Art handicraft boutique opens on Sherbrooke

A new store has opened in Westmount. It is the Boutik des Artisans at 4909A Sherbrooke street west, presenting Canadian, particularly Quebec, arts and handicrafts.

There are works by well-known artists including Gabriel de Benny, Cisco, H.M. Cowan, N. Escaravage, Lanyi, Alain Stanke, etc. There are also fine works by lesser-known artists and it is hoped that by presenting these works, the public will become better acquainted with them.

It is the aim of the boutique to present not only paintings, sculpture and ceramics but also other fine arts such as weaving, crochet, batik, wrought iron, leather work, macrame, patchwork quilts, jewelry, wood work and other handicrafts of an original and artistic nature. It is very difficult for unknown but talented artists to have the opportunity to present their works on a permanent basis but Boutik des Artisans will endeavor to accomplish this task.

Maid's purse snatched

A Westmount domestic worker had her purse snatched at about 10:23 pm on Thursday at Westmount avenue and Sydenham avenue in a carefully coordinated attack. Her purse contained $67.

One young man approached her from the rear, snatched her purse and jumped into a small foreign-made car which was parked a short distance away. The car, driven by another young man, immediately took off.

The woman was on her way home when the attack occurred.

Executives said not more prone to heart ills

Periodic examination by a doctor is an incentive to better health and following his orders will prolong an individual's life, was the advice given to members of the Westmount Rotary Club by Dr. Donald C. Bews, medical director of Bell Canada, speaking to the membership at their regular weekly luncheon meeting in Victoria Hall yesterday.

On the subject of "Health and the Executive," Dr. Bews

DR. DONALD C. BEWS

stressed the point that all individuals should have an annual check particularly individuals over 40.

"There is no evidence that high pressure responsibility in one's occupation adds risk of heart disease to an individual. It has been found that persons holding top positions are no more prone to ulcers he said. "On the contrary, it has been revealed that upper management have better health than most individuals, despite the prevalence of heart and blood pressure problems dominant today."

Men have six times more heart attacks than women. Proper nutrition, rest and less use of cigarettes and smoking were advocated. He found that the misuse of alcohol also presented a great problem.

"Slow up or blow up," was his message in essence. Good health is necessary in business today.

The vote of thanks was given the speaker by President Andy Durso, who congratulated the membership for their good attendance.

President Durso welcomed the visitors and guests, two of whom came from England and Florida respectively. Blair Jardine and Willard Mace of the Montreal West Club were welcomed as well as Frank Williams, Westmount Rotary's latest member.

Dick Hertzler reported on the progress of international service projects.

An old people's demonstration for half fares on buses at the entrance of the Metro station at Atwater on Tuesday evening brought a unique twist to demonstration tactics.

All the old people were sitting down. They had brought their own chairs.

Nothing got out of hand. The six or seven demonstrators handed out pamphlets, held up posters and answered questions from curious passers-by.

According to a news release handed to The Examiner by Westmount's office for Community and Social Development, Montreal is the only large North American city not granting reduced rates on public transport to senior citizens.

It says there are over 200,000 Montrealers over the age of 65. Nearly 120,000 of them are under the poverty level, but only 5,000 are receiving welfare. Nearly 50 percent of Canada's mentally ill are senior citizens and some 15,000 need some medical supervision.

The release says that the high cost of travelling is forcing older people to remain indoors, cut-off from life-giving entertainment and friends.

The release claims that the cost of transport prevents golden agers from attending clinics, churches, friends, shopping, etc. It says that after the last fare hike, old people's attendance at clinics dropped by 25 percent.

In Westmount the fight for half fares for old people is supported by Interfaith and the Office for Community and Social Development.

Sneak thief gets $200 from purse at St. Matthias

A 25-to-30-year-old man who looked like a transient stole between $160 and $200 from the purse of the housekeeper of St. Matthias' Anglican Church at Cote St. Antoine road and Church hill yesterday morning.

The man was seen leaving the church at about 8:30 am by the housekeeper and the verger. When questioned about his business in the church, he replied that he had come to see the minister.

The housekeeper later discovered the wallet from her purse was missing. She phoned Westmount police but the man had ample time to escape. He was last seen heading north on Church hill. He spoke English.
