Fifty-sixth Year

World News In Brief

Paris, April 1.—(AP)—The French cabinet today named Jean Letourneau to be high commissioner for Indo-China. Letourneau, now the cabinet minister responsible for Indo-China, fills the post left vacant by the death in January of Marshal Jean de Lattre de Tassigny.

His appointment means that France's rich Far Eastern possession, solely beset by communist-led rebels, once more will have a civilian in the top post. The last such high commissioner was Leon Pignon, whom de Lattre replaced in December, 1950.

Halifax, April 1.—(AP)—The R.C.A.F. last night suspended its search for an airliner, missing since March 22 on a charter flight from Saint John, N.B., to Goose Bay, Labrador. Search and rescue officials said here, however, the hunt would be resumed when snow melts in New Brunswick and Quebec.

Pittsburgh, April 1.—(AP)—A traditional April 1 lull fell over United States coal fields today with some 475,000 miners taking a holiday to celebrate establishment of the eight-hour day in the pits. For the past several years, the United Mine Workers have had the April 1 lay-off written into their contract with the coal industry.

New York, April 1.—(AP)—A special narcotics court, believed to be the first of its kind in the United States, will start handling cases of young men and women addicts on May 1. Chief magistrate John M. Murtagh said yesterday the narcotics term of magistrate's court will open shortly before the state's new Riverside hospital starts receiving addicts. He said the hospital is the first in the nation specifically for adolescent narcotic users.

Fort Worth, Tex., April 1.—(AP)—Many piano tuners have to see President Truman leave the White House. That's on authority of F. X. Friedel of Cleveland, treasurer of the National Association of Piano Tuners, holding a regional convention here. The piano-playing chief executive was "of great service to our profession," Friedel said today, and pianos reached a new popularity peak.

Floods Leave 1,000 Homeless

Medicine Hat, Alta., April 1.—(AP)—Flood waters and thawing ground caused havoc in southern Alberta yesterday with the fiercest onslaught directed against Medicine Hat where 1,000 persons have been evacuated and more than 30 city blocks covered with water.

Rivers in the central part of the province were behaving but those in the south were sweeping over their banks or threatening. A retaining wall and a bridge collapsed near Lethbridge.

Medicine Hat city council last night estimated damage at $250,000. Some 300 homes, one school and several industrial basements were flooded by the Seven Persons creek.

Late last night public works foreman Rollie Cairns announced that flood waters were receding.

Farmers Will Get $311,449 For Slaughtered Livestock

Ottawa, April 1.—(AP)—The Commons last night approved parliamentary appropriations for payment of $311,449 to Saskatchewan farmers for livestock slaughtered in the drive to stamp out foot-and-mouth disease.

The amount covers recompense for 1,061 head of cattle, 127 swine, 97 sheep, one goat, 1,666 hens and 13,272 eggs, all destroyed since the outbreak of the virulent disease was discovered in the Regina area.

The vote was contained in supplementary estimates of $246,000, 000 for the fiscal year just ended.

Agriculture Minister Gardiner said the $311,449 total was approved by the federal cabinet on the basis of the recommendations of a board established in Regina to fix compensation for farmers whose animals were slaughtered.

The figure, he said, does not include payment for feed and farm buildings lost as a result of the outbreak. Those payments will be computed and placed before Parliament later.

While approving the vote, opposition members suggested the amount should be considered merely as a "token" payment to the livestock industry for losses suffered in what they termed a "national emergency."

Two States Are Holding Primaries

Washington, April 1.—(AP)—Nebraska and Wisconsin voters chose delegates to the Presidential nominating conventions today amid political activity stirred by President Truman's withdrawal.

Delegates with 48 Republican votes and 40 Democratic ballots were being selected by an expected 1,300,000 voters—1,000,000 in Wisconsin and the remainder in Nebraska.

Write-in drives by Republicans and a duel between Senators Estes Kefauver of Tennessee and Robert Kerr, of Oklahoma, among the Democrats were the features, plus nomination for Governor, two Senators and four Representatives.

These are two of the 16 state primaries held in the United States in election years with the idea of giving the voters a chance to indicate their preference for Presidential candidates.

Contending for Wisconsin's 30 Republican Presidential nomination delegates are Senator Robert Taft, of Ohio, Governor Earl Warren of California and former Governor Harold Stassen of Minnesota.

Senator Kefauver seemed a shoo-in for the 28 Democratic delegates since pro-Truman stances opposing him were left stranded when the President announced Saturday night that he would not accept the nomination for a third term.

Wisconsin does not count ballots with names written in by voters. Thus, there is no chance of a repetition there of the heavy write-in votes which Gen. Eisenhower received in the recent Minnesota primary.

Eisenhower is not entered on the ballots in either Wisconsin or Nebraska. However, in Nebraska Taft forces and the backers of Gen. Eisenhower have grabbed the limelight with a hotly-contested campaign for write-in support.

Only the names of Stassen and Mrs. Mary Kenny, who says she is a stand-in for Gen. Douglas MacArthur, are on the Republican ballot.

Among Nebraska Democrats, Senator Kerr sought to start his bandwagon rolling with a victory over Kefauver.

The big splash of the President's decision not to accept re-nomination was still rippling throughout the Democratic party.

In Washington it started a boom for Vice-President Alben Barkley. He declined to commit himself, promising to divulge his plans later.

Governor Adlai Stevenson of Illinois, reported to be Truman's favorite, went home from Washington amid a hubbub over his chances. Stevenson insists he is running only for the Illinois Governorship but has declined to say he would reject Presidential nomination.

could make no announcement before Friday, if then.

Mr. Gardiner told Hazen Argue (C.E. Assiniboia) he could not give the average payment per head for cattle, though he did know that the payments ranged from $300 to $700 a head for purebred livestock.

The compensation board, unanimous in its recommendations, fixed the value of a purebred bull at $700, a 10-year-old purebred cow at $350, a four-year-old grade cow at $320 and a grade male calf at $80.

Second Highest Score Of War Marked Up In Flurry Of Fights.

By STAN CARTER
Soul, Korea, April 1.—(AP)—U. S. Sabre pilots today shot down 10 communist MIG-15 fighter planes, the second highest bag for any day in the Korean war. They also probably destroyed three other MIG's and damaged 10.

The greatest number of MIG's destroyed in one day in the Korean war was 13 last Dec. 13.

The U. S. Fifth Air Force said five of the Russian-made planes were knocked down just south of the Yalu river, Manchurian-Korea boundary, when 26 Sabres ambushed 16 MIG's about noon.

Col. Francis S. Gabreski, commanding officer of the 51st fighter interceptor wing, got one of those and became the eighth U. S. jet ace.

The kill raised his total for the Korean fighting to 5½ MIG's. Five kills make an ace.

"The MIG's never even saw us," said Gabreski, a leading ace of the Second World War. "We had a perfect 'bounce' and we dived right down their tail pipes."

U. S. losses in the battles, if any, will be announced in a weekly summary.

The Reds probed allied lines in seven places Monday and early Tuesday. There were also a few scattered patrol clashes.

Allied warships pounded both coasts of North Korea Monday. Carrier based naval and Marine planes attacked communist rail and road networks and supply installations.

Munsan, Korea, April 1.—(AP)—Staff officers gave up today on the Russian question and handed it to top Korean truce negotiators to settle.

An armistice sub-committee meeting was scheduled for Thursday to take up the argument on whether Russia should be named a "neutral nation" to help police a truce in Korea.

Communists, who first raised the issue in a staff meeting six weeks ago, insisted on the switch to the higher level. The Russian issue is one of three major stumbling blocks to an armistice.

Despite the triple block, informed sources said Vice-Admiral C. Turner Joy hopes to have "a truce in his pocket" when he quits as chief allied negotiator to become superintendent of the United States Naval Academy at Annapolis. Vice-Admiral Robert P. Briscoe will relieve Joy as commander of naval forces in the Far East early this summer.

The sub-committee meeting at 11 a.m. Thursday (9 p.m. Wednesday EST) may also tackle a second key issue—whether the Reds will be allowed to repair and build airfields.

The third issue, involving exchange of prisoners, is being discussed by staff officers in secret sessions.

Both staff groups meet again at 11 a.m. Wednesday (9 p.m. Tuesday EST).

Staff officers who gave up on the Russian problem will continue working on details of the truce supervision plan. They have been arguing mostly over what to call "Korea" and the "United Nations Command" in the armistice document.

Limitations of the Korean language are responsible for the debate over "United Nations." The Reds want to use Korean words which translate as "allied forces." The U.N. command wants to use Korean words for "international allied forces."

Sentiment is blocking agreement over what to call Korea. The Reds want to refer to it as "Chosen." The allies want to call it "Han Huk." Both are ancient names.

The U.N. command objects to "Chosen" because that was the name the Japanese used during

U.S.-Bound Drugs Seized In Italy

Rome, April 1.—(AP)—Police, aided by tips from United States federal agents, seized more than $500,000 worth of U.S.-bound drugs and arrested at least seven persons in raids stretching from Milan to Sicily, it was disclosed today.

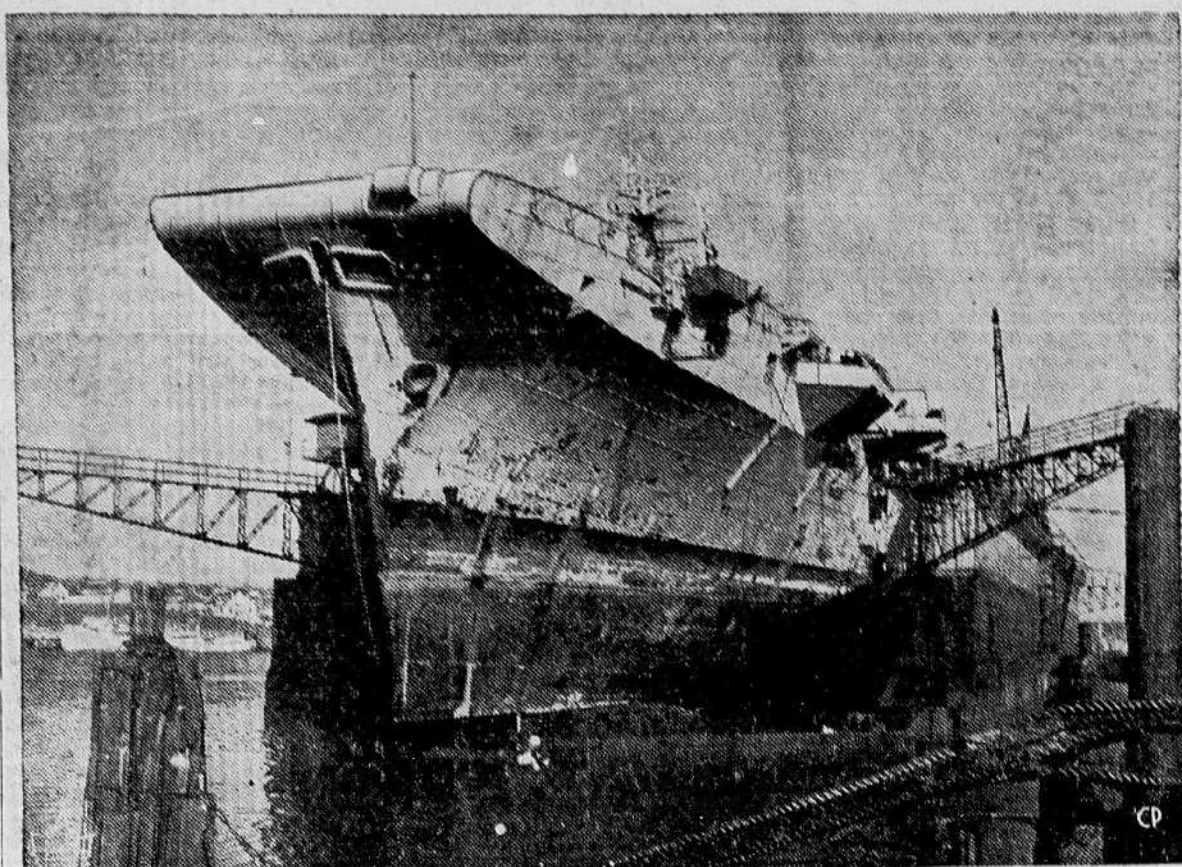

Among those arrested or still sought as suspects in an international dope ring are men reported previously deported from the United States.

The new cleanup of Italian elements in the ring started 10 days ago at Alcamo, Sicily, where police seized large quantities of heroin hidden in a false-bottomed trunk. They arrested Frank Mancuso, whom they identified as having been deported from the United States.

Officers said they later raided the residence near Rome of Frank Coppola and found another large quantity of heroin. Coppola, also identified as having been deported from the United States, escaped.

A series of raids in Milan produced six more arrests.

The arrest in San Diego, Calif., last September of a man named Salvatore Vitale is believed to have given the tip that led to the Sicilian raid and the arrest of Mancuso.

Willie Sutton Is Convicted Of Robbery

New York, April 1.—(AP)—An all-male jury today found Willie (The Actor) Sutton and Thomas (Scop) King guilty of the $64,000 robbery of a Queens bank two years ago.

The jury returned its verdict at 5:45 a.m. EST after deliberating more than 10 hours.

Kling and Sutton, a notorious bank robber and jail breaker, were found guilty on counts of robbery, burglary, assault, and grand larceny.

They were remanded for sentencing at an unspecified date.

Sutton, 51, and Kling, 45, were charged with holding up the Sunnyside branch of the Manufacturers Trust Company in Queens on March 9, 1950.

Each of the defendants faces up to 30 years in prison. Taking into account their previous records, the penalty could be considerably stiffer.

Sutton and Kling were accused of pulling off the robbery with John de Venuta, 37, who won a separate trial at a later date by turning state's evidence and testifying against Sutton and Kling.

Both Sutton and Kling maintained their innocence.

Sutton, for five years the nation's most sought bank robber and jail breaker, was arrested in Brook-

Presidency Made Money For Truman

Washington, April 1.—(AP)—Harry Truman seems likely to be more comfortably fixed financially when he leaves the White House than he was when he entered it seven years ago.

There is no information available on how much of his pay the President has been able to save, but some of his associates believe it's considerable.

The President, who announced Saturday night he would accept nomination for another term, has been drawing a $100,000-a-year salary since January, 1949—plus an annual $50,000 tax-free allowance.

When he took office April 12, 1945, the Presidential pay was $75,000 a year—all of it taxable.

As Vice-President under Franklin D. Roosevelt from January until April of that year, Truman was paid at the rate of $20,000 a year—a job that now pays Alben Barkley $30,000 and a $10,000 non-taxable allowance.

The big pay increase in 1949 seems to have headed off the expectation that Truman would step out of the White House with a heavy personal debt.

In addition, there were the three years the Trumans lived at Blair House—from November, 1948, until last week—while the White House was being remodelled.

Expenses were much less at the temporary living quarters across Pennsylvania Avenue. Less domestic help was required and there was a big saving on entertainment.

Truman is a frugal man and can be expected to live modestly when he returns to private life.

Truman's decision to bow out means some of his cronies in the government will be looking for new jobs next January. For example, the President's army aide, Maj.-Gen. Harry H. Vaughan, undoubtedly will go out with his chief.

In the cabinet, only the secretary of the treasury, John Snyder, is generally regarded as being in the category of Presidential cronies.

A new President will want to select his cabinet, so there probably will be new men running the top departments.

23 Convicts Surrender After Riot

Trenton, N.J., April 1.—(AP)—Twenty-three of the meanest convicts in New Jersey State Prison surrendered to their keepers last night after a 45-hour display of defiance and violence.

Sullen, hungry and cold, the 23 trooped singly from a three-story segregation building they had all but gutted in a desperate bid for privileges they said were denied them.

Killers, thugs and sex offenders, they had been placed in the building with 22 others to keep them all from mingling with the prison's 1,300 other inmates.

Early Sunday morning, a riot broke out in the building. The men, demanding better treatment, smashed cell doors, ripped out plumbing, set mattresses afire, broke up beds.

Six prisoners assigned trusty posts in the building were held captive. Prison guards lobbed tear gas grenades into the building, but they had no effect. By dawn a detachment of state police was on hand. The show of force convinced 22 who surrendered.

The others held out. They kept the trusty group prisoner. They fashioned weapons out of lead pipe and electric cable and defied prison guards to come in and get them.

The gang shouted complaints about food and medical treatment. Warden William Carthy refused to talk to them until they had named a spokesman.

Two Trenton fire trucks pumped heavy streams of water into the building for two hours. The convicts huddled against walls to avoid the water.

More tear gas was hurled into the building by prison guards. But the gas floated harmlessly through broken windows.

By nightfall, the convicts were dickering with Carthy. They reduced their demands.

"We want us to make some promises, but we would not," said Sanford Bates, state commissioner of institutions and agencies.

The men decided to release the trusty group. Finally, after more bargaining, the holdup convicts gave up.

The convicts will be "properly dealt with after they are checked through the hospital," said Bates, who added that no one was injured.

Time Helps West, Attlee Declares

Philadelphia, April 1.—(AP)—Clement Attlee said last night time is on the side of the western democracies and if a third world war can be prevented they will win out over communism.

"I do not think that if we can avoid war that Britain will remain impermeable," the former Labor Prime Minister said in an address here.

He joined with political leaders from four other countries in a symposium, "The Free World Speaks," sponsored by the Philadelphia Fellowship Commission.

Attlee, who spoke for Europe, said: "We are all greatly concerned today with building up sufficient armaments to deter any would-be aggressor. That is necessary but it is only one part of the task before us. We have to build up a community of interests between the people. We have to strengthen our civilization so that it presents an alternative of great attractive power, for the essential thing in this contest is not mastery by force of arms but victory in the spiritual battle."

"Our task today is to strengthen by every means we can inter-communication among the free people. We must seek to emphasize all the things which we have in common."

Big-Gen. Carlos Romulo, Philippine ambassador to the U.S., discussed Asia's "struggle for dignity, security and freedom." Kalu Exera, Nigerian student, expressed the aspirations of African youth, and the U.S. outlook was presented by Mayor Joseph Clark, Jr., of Philadelphia.

Dutch Queen Bound For N. America

Schiphol Airport, Amsterdam, The Netherlands, April 1.—(AP)—Queen Juliana of the Netherlands—cheered by thousands of her subjects—left by plane today for a month's visit to the United States and Canada.

The 43-year-old monarch's four-engine Constellation left the sunny, snow-patched airfield just before noon. The Queen is due in Washington at 4 p.m. EST tomorrow after an overnight stop in Garder, Nfld.

Traveling with her are her husband, Prince Bernhard, Dutch Foreign Minister Dirk U. Stikker and 11 others.

A main purpose of her trip is to say "thank you" for American aid to the Netherlands since the war.

In Washington, where she will make a three-day state visit, the Queen will be the first guest of

Cobra Venom Donors Put On Weekly Show In Siam Snake-Pit

(Editor's Note: Bill Boss, Canadian Press staff writer with the Canadian forces in Korea, recently visited Bangkok, storied capital of Thailand in southeast Asia. In this story, one of a series, he tells what he saw at a snake farm where venom is extracted from deadly reptiles.)

By BILL BOSS
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Bangkok, April 1.—(AP)—The king cobra reared its head, spread out its hood, and hissed.

Lat Tapnoi, 25-year-old snake handler at Bangkok's Pasteur Institute, did what mothers sometimes do to naughty children. He slapped it briskly on the head. The hissing stopped, but the hood stayed spread.

As spectators gaped over the snake-pit barricade, Lat slowly extended a hand, grasped the reptile gently two feet below the mouth, rubbed it slowly with his fingers, then raised it. The hood subsided slowly.

Gradually, hand over hand, Lat worked his grasp toward the cobra's head. Then he quickly seized the nine-footer between the jaws, expertly planted a bare foot on its tail and forced the jaws wide open.

His chief, 47-year-old Kamchat Synchai, chief handler at the institute, inserted a circular glass slide between the cobra's jaws. Young Lat forced them down upon it.

A clear, colorless liquid squirted onto the slide—enough to fill an eyedropper and enough to kill a man or an elephant.

The venom extracted, a long dropper filled with milk was poked about four inches down the cobra's throat. As Kamchat squeezed the liquid in, Lat worked his fingers over the cobra's gullet, helping down the milk.

Venom is extracted once a week from the three king cobras, 127 common cobras, 12 branded kraits and 70 Russell's vipers in the institute pits. They are fed twice weekly with milk, and small er snakes also are left in the pens as food.

Kamchat, here 15 years, has been bitten only once. He says it was his own fault.

"It was a hot day and the perspiration running down my forehead got into my eyes. I was holding a snake with my two hands and as I shook my head to clear my eyes I frightened it. It bit my arm."

"We find Samba much more exciting than Canasta," writes a Portland, Maine, correspondent. "Why don't you comment on it more often in your column?"

"Here's a question for you to wrestle with. My side has a canasta of eights on the table, and we also have A-K-Q-J-10-9 of hearts on the table. My right-hand opponent throws the eight of hearts. W. A. Stewart Named CP's Quebec Chief

Montreal, April 1.—Appointment of William A. Stewart, 38, as chief of Montreal bureau and supervisor of service in Quebec province is announced today by The Canadian Press.

Stewart will take over April 13 from Alan Randal, Montreal bureau chief for the last five years. Randal moves to the news staff of a CP member, the Montreal Gazette.

At the same time, George Kitchen, a native Montrealeur and a senior member of CP's Ottawa parliamentary staff, is appointed to Montreal staff as assistant chief of bureau.

The moves involve three veteran newspaper men, all still under 40, who have amassed an aggregate of 57 years CP service.

Stewart, a bilingual native of Riviere du Loup, comes to Montreal after more than four years as bureau chief in Quebec City. He joined CP as a junior editor at Halifax in 1934, served as staff correspondent at Sydney and Charlottetown, and in 1941 was assigned to London bureau, beginning six years of foreign service.

As a war correspondent he went to Sicily in midsummer of 1943 to cover the 1st Canadian division. He crossed to Italy and moved up the Adriatic before being recalled to England in 1944 to help cover the cross-channel invasion and the northwest European campaign.

In March, 1945, he was the first Canadian war correspondent accredited to the southeast Asia command. He covered the Japanese surrender and release of Canadian units captured at Hong Kong and after the peace remained in the Pacific area as staff correspondent in Australia till June, 1947.

Kitchen, 37, joined CP in 1933 at Montreal. After several years in Montreal and Toronto as desk man and reporter, he joined the parliamentary staff in 1942 and became a veteran of the press gallery. In 1940 he served as Ontario news editor in Toronto and later that year went to Washington as CP's staff correspondent at the U.S. capital. He returned to Ottawa the following year.

Randal, 39, is a native Winnipegger who joined CP in 1931. After serving in Toronto, Winnipeg, Ottawa, New York and Montreal bureaus, he became Ottawa news editor in 1939. He went overseas as London news editor in 1942, and served as a war correspondent on the northwest European front in 1944 during the clearance of the Channel ports.

He returned to Canada in 1945, was appointed general night superintendent at Toronto later that year, and in 1947 chief of bureau, Montreal.

FUNNY BUSINESS By Hershberger

"The wife takes him to and from work, but she won't let him ride in their nice clean car!"

Finds British Show Business Hard To Crack

London.—A young Canadian couple, Ken and Jean Buckley, find that making good in Britain's entertainment world isn't as easy as they thought.

"They've had a few tough breaks since they headed this way in September, 1950.

"Our biggest mistake at the start," said Toronto-born Ken, who lived most of his life in Montreal, "was in coming with too little spare cash." For anybody trying to break into show business over here, he suggests cash in hand to cover living expenses for about two years—just in case the going is tough at first.

Ken should know. After five year's radio experience in Canada, his first British job was three months in repertory at the princely salary of £2 a week.

"That took quite a slice out of our savings," said Mrs. Buckley, whose Canadian home is a farm near Thamesville, Ont.

Jean, a quiet, dark-haired girl who lets her husband do most of the talking, ekes out the family income by working as a stenographer in London's West End. She also has to cope with housekeeping in a tiny, one-room flatlet in the Kensington district.

Buckleys—Ken is 24 and Jean 21—met while working at a radio station in Chatham, Ont., were married at Windsor and came to Britain in search of experience in acting and script-writing.

For a time Ken worked as a usher in a movie-house, making less than £6 a week, and as a wine waiter during the Festival of Britain.

He was to have written the commentary for the Royal tour of Ceylon but that was postponed because of the King's death. He also provided a script on a Canadian's experience in British repertory, had it accepted by the BBC, and relayed—to the Polynesians.

Canadian Outbreak May Push Building Of Foot-Mouth Lab

Washington.—A dangerous outbreak of foot-and-mouth disease among cattle in Saskatchewan is expected to start a new drive for a multi-million-dollar laboratory to search for ways to stamp out the plague.

The Canadian outbreak is only 60 miles from the United States border. This may make it difficult if not impossible to keep the disease from spreading to the U.S.

The virus is perhaps the most destructive of all animal diseases. It spreads quickly and causes heavy losses.

Five years ago, when the disease broke out in Mexico, steps were taken to intensify research on it. Congress authorized the government to establish a modern research laboratory on Prudence Island, a part of Rhode Island, in Narragansett Bay.

Meanwhile, success was coming to a joint Mexican-United States program for stamping out the disease in Mexico. It now appears this country will re-open its borders to Mexican livestock late this summer.

Just as the agriculture department was getting set to start work on Prudence Island, congress called a halt. The lawmakers were under much pressure to cut non-military spending. Inasmuch as the disease was being brought under control in Mexico, they decided against going ahead.

The outbreak in Canada, particularly if it spreads, may well change the Congressional mind. But whether the department could get Prudence Island now is a question. Its option has expired.

Stanstead's Mayor, E. J. Struthers, Tells Local Lions About People

"People -- you, I and the other fellow" -- were the subject of an address given to members of the Sherbrooke Lions Club last night by E. J. Struthers, mayor of Stanstead and one of the Boundary district's best-known residents.

Mr. Struthers, illustrating his remarks with stories about the many people he has met or read about, emphasized that there is a great deal of difference between people.

He deplored the fact that the schools do not teach students about these differences and said that in any good system of education "we should let the factor of personality be explained."

"It is challenging to know how different people are," Mr. Struthers said. "There may be a gold mine of interesting experiences in the person beside you."

Some of the points that Mr. Struthers brought out were that you never know where latent talent lies.

Thomas Edison, for example, had 9,000 failures and was called a fake and a charlatan; Sinclair Lewis ranked 17th among 18 students in Grade 8, yet went on to write Nobel prize-winning literature.

Mr. Struthers also told about the varying personalities people have and remarked that truly "big" men are courteous itself and are not stuffy. "The busiest people, too, he said, are most likely to keep up the little courtesies, such as writing letters of sympathy."

In conclusion, Mr. Struthers said the thing to do with people is to be natural, "to be as you are."

Jean Scarth, John Newmark Share Spotlight

By MARGARET DOHERTY

Two fine musicians, soprano Jean Scarth and pianist John Newmark, shared the spotlight at Bishop's University last night in a joint recital sponsored by the Schubert Club.

The program was the type one would expect at a Town hall recital, with both artists outstanding in their respective spheres.

A member of the Schubert Club and a well-known figure on the local concert stage, Miss Scarth has in the past shown herself a serious singer whose programs are always of the highest standard and interpreted with a fine musicianship.

Last night was no exception. In the classic selections she chose there was great merit and an opportunity to display that versatility is not the least of her attributes.

We personally would have liked to hear one or two more dramatic offerings, which are so ideally suited to her big voice, but can appreciate her reasons for choosing a program which does not limit her to only one style.

Her German, as usual, was impeccable, and interpreted with a fine depth of feeling. Most successful, however, from the point of view of audience appeal, were the charming Roger Quilter songs which closed the program. Miss Scarth was enthusiastically received and returned with two amusing encores.

As to John Newmark, what is there to say that has not already been said, and in glowing terms, by some of the top reviewers?

There can be no doubt that he is an accompanist of the very highest calibre whose innate artistry complements the singer at all times. He actually seems so in tune with the artist that he touches a responsive chord, which, of course, results in the ultimate in interpretation.

In his piano groups, Mr. Newmark had an opportunity to display the excellent technique and musical sensitivity which have made his name such a respected one in the musical world today.

His lovely fluid touch made Ravel's La Valse des Cloches a thing of breathtaking beauty, and again in the delightful Moeran composition "Windmills" one was entranced with his musical dexterity. He literally plays with the notes.

The Habitant Sketches were particularly enjoyable, perhaps all the more so because they come from the pen of a Canadian composer, Montreal's Violet Archer. Christmas in Quebec, the Church Scene, and finally the Jig, led one through a typical holiday in French Canada, beginning with the strains of an old French carol and ending with the traditional folk dances.

We are indebted also to Mr. Newmark for an opportunity to hear two other modern composers, Hector Gratton and Robert Fleming. The audience, quick to recognize true artistry, greeted his performance with continued applause. At the close of the musically satisfying performance, Miss Scarth was presented with a bouquet of roses, from the Schubert Club.

Red Cross Society Collects $8,900, Still Needs $1,100 For Objective

The Red Cross campaign in Sherbrooke is still $1,100 short of its $10,000 objective, Society officials announced today, urging continued support for this drive which has always gone over the top here.

While the national objective was increased this year, the Sherbrooke total was unchanged from last year and it is imperative that it be reached if the Society is to continue its fine record of service.

The Red Cross Society is always answering calls for assistance and there is no way of knowing from where the next one may come. It may be right here in our own community and every contribution to the Society is a safeguard that it's fine work will continue.

Music For Brass And Organ To Be Heard April 15

A program of unusual interest to local concert-goers will be presented in the near future, when the Sherbrooke Brass Quartet and three local organists will play works especially written for brasses and organ together, and for brasses alone.

Works for this combination have been written from the 16th to 20th centuries, and composers of all these periods will be represented on the program. The members of the Brass Quartet are Jean-Paul Belisle, 1st trumpet, Florent Garant, 2nd trumpet, Harry Tinker, trombone, and Roland Erien, baritone horn. Organists to be heard with them will be John Codere, Jack Lenaghan and Pauline Roy.

Several numbers on the program are scored for larger combinations and the above artists will be assisted in these by Richard Veilleux, trumpet, Irving Richards and D. Turcotte, French horns, Paul Pigeon and N. Gaudoin, trombones, Georges Duchesne, Bass, and Gerald Sneath, snare drum.

Morris Austin, organist, will be heard alone in a Handel Concerto. Music for brass and organ was originally written as "Tower Music" and was heard antiphonally with the organ, or between two brass choirs placed in different parts of the building. Contrary to supposition, there is nothing "dead" about the works to be heard -- most of them are quite short and the variety of form and treatment runs from the quiet Chorales of Bach to the triumphant Poem Heroique of the 20th century composer Marcel Dupre.

Harry Long, well known director, will conduct the program which is sponsored by the Canadian College of Organists, Sherbrooke Centre. The concert will be presented April 15th at 8:30 P.M. in St. Peter's Anglican Church, corner of Montreal and Dufferin Streets. Admission is free, and a silver collection will be taken to defray expenses.

British Culture Will Be Subject So So-Ed Talk

Rev. T. W. Jones, of Cookshire, will be speaker Wednesday night when So-Ed holds its final program of its spring series.

Rev. Mr. Jones will address the gathering prior to the interest and craft groups on the subject "Present-day cultural trends in the British Isles," with particular emphasis being given the effect of the war on British culture.

The general public is invited to attend this lecture, which starts at eight o'clock.

Mr. Jones came to Canada from the Old Country only last summer and has been in close touch with cultural trends there.

A native of Oswestry, Wales, he received his B.Sc. from Aberystwyth University and went on to take his Bachelor of Divinity at Richmond College. After teaching and acting as principal of the Theological College of Lingnan University, Canton, China, for ten years, he returned to Britain preaching in Yorkshire and, at the same time, obtaining his B.A. degree from the University of London.

Mr. Jones, who paints in his spare time, has already achieved a reputation in this district as a fluent and interesting speaker.

He was scheduled to address So-Ed some weeks ago but this was cancelled owing to a heavy snowstorm.

Cruising Police Radio Car Foils Would-Be Automobile Robbers Here

The two-fold danger of illegal parking was vividly outlined this morning by Police Chief Edouard Moreau, who announced that at least four automobiles were on the verge of being stolen between last night and early morning today because their owners had parked them on the street overnight.

At approximately 5:50 o'clock this morning, Police constables Blondin Vaillancourt and Richard Blais, cruising in a radio car, came across some tools on a sidewalk opposite seven St. Sacrement Boulevard, beside a parked auto, whose door was open.

Investigation by the police officers showed there were tools also on the floor of the car. Looking further down the same block, the policemen discovered tools outside three other automobiles.

Later this morning, Police received a complaint from Gaston Brochu, 12 Second Avenue, that his car was discovered parked more than twenty feet from where he left it outside his home on retiring last night.

Further examination revealed that the speedometer of Mr. Brochu's car had been advanced between twenty and twenty-five miles since he last used the car.

Police Chief Edouard Moreau recommends that car owners park their vehicles in their back-yards, in garages preferably, to keep them from being stolen.

THE RETURN OF TRIESTE

Some people seem never to learn. Among these are the Italians now shouting and rioting for the return of Trieste. If they would think back fifteen years, they would recall standing under balconies and hollering for all sorts of territories on their borders, or in North Africa. They might recall what happened to Italy, and Italians, as a result during World War II, when their impetuosity got them on the wrong side.

Trieste is a trouble spot. It now is under international control, because both Italy and Yugoslavia want it. Historically, both have some claims, and this doesn't help any. Prior to 1919 it, and the area surrounding it, was part of the old Austria-Hungarian Empire. Then Italy got Trieste and part of the district, while Yugoslavia got some of the area. Now it is a city apart, with an unnatural border dividing the Italian and Yugoslav portion of the adjacent area. And it is cut off from its hinterland for which it for centuries served as a port.

It isn't easy to decide its future. But certainly it shouldn't be decided by the shouts of Italians who couldn't successfully defend it even if they did get it. And their present actions suggest it wouldn't be in very good hands if they obtained it. If Italians would spend more time solving their own problems rather than in aggravating other problems, it would be better for them and for the world.

RENTED HOMES VITAL PROBLEM

It is regrettable that throughout the hungry thirties municipal authorities adopted a policy of "soaking the rich" and drove out of the field many of the small investors who rented out dwellings. The result is that there are too few houses now available for rent.

When it became next to impossible to secure a fair return on the investment, through rentals, the small builder disposed of his properties and invested his funds in other ventures.

The present shortage of houses demonstrates the need for far-sighted policies in dealing with those who have investments in real property. If there is a tendency to take everything possible from those who have invested their savings in houses, fewer homes will be built as investments.

There is a great need at present for small homes which may be rented, and it appears that except during the depression when government authorities apparently looked upon the landlord as a parasite, investment in rental properties has been a sound investment. It is probably true that the gains have not been as spectacular as those from funds invested in successful oil wells. But the rewards, though small, have been safe and sure.

This is a matter which should have serious consideration by the general public, because there cannot be growth in this country without adequate housing for those who wish to work here.

Many families must rent until they can save enough to buy. Any aid which could be given by the authorities to lumber firms or other groups willing to tackle the problem would be a move in the right direction.

Building is a keystone of our economic progress because it reaches into every avenue of employment, from the raw materials of the mines and forest to the skilled artisan in almost all the trades. In addition people who are well housed are better citizens and are soon found among those promoting the cultural activities of the nation.

THE FARM BEAUTIFUL?

There is no denying that startling changes have taken place on the farm in the last 25 years. The horse is making its last stand against the never-tiring tractor. The kerosene lantern is being replaced by the electric bulb as hydro wires are being strung across the rural countryside like huge spiderwebs. The automobile has become an essential form of farm transport. But modern as they are, many Canadian farms require one highly essential thing to bring them up-to-date — a huge paint job.

Go anywhere in the rural scene and evidence will be there in abundance: weather-beaten houses and barns which too often haven't been touched by a paint brush for years — if at all; valuable implements brown with rust; dingy home and barn interiors. A farmer wouldn't think twice of providing a shelter for his poultry and livestock but protection of an investment of thousands of dollars is too often overlooked. Such thinking is difficult to understand.

There is another way to look at a good paint job. In recent years paint scientists have discovered that color has a definite psychological effect on human beings. Some colors will create an atmosphere of coolness and relaxation; others warmth and excitement, while some will set a depressive mood. Hospitals have recognized these facts and are decorating their operating rooms and wards with colors that help patients to get well more quickly.

In a farm home with its dozen and one daily problems, it is necessary for the setting to be as relaxing as possible. It should exude cheerfulness, optimism and well-being. A few quarts of good paint could go a long way towards achieving this end.

JOHNSTON FORMULA LIMITS STEEL INDUSTRY ON PRICE, WAGE RAISES

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent
Washington — (NEA) — In one of the early conferences on the steel industry wage increase bargaining, Economic Stabilization Director Roger L. Putnam told the steel company executives, "You are now gambling with your own money." What he meant was that as the official representative of the U.S. government dealing with such problems, he could not agree in advance that all wage increases would be covered by an Office of Price Stabilization-authorized increase in steel prices.

In other words, if the steel companies granted any substantial wage increases, the money to pay for them would have to come largely out of steel company earnings.

Mr. Putnam's authority for this position goes back to his predecessor in the stabilization job, Eric Johnston. Last April, Mr. Johnston issued what he called "the 85 per cent earnings standard for future increases in price ceilings." It was intended to cover situations such as have now arisen in the steel wage case.

What the Johnston formula was intended to do was define what constituted a "generally fair and equitable price," as required by the Defense Stabilization Act.

It attempted to set a standard for permitting industry-wide increases in ceiling prices where costs had risen so much that the ceiling was no longer fair and equitable.

It was a yardstick for determining the extent to which whole industries — though not individual firms in the industry — could be expected to absorb future cost increases out of profits. By this device it was hoped to avoid granting of a price increase every time there was an increase in costs.

Formula is a "Simple Complexity"

It is a tremendously complex thing. But in the simplest possible language the Johnston formula declares that if the average return before taxes on the net worth of any industry is below 85 per cent of the average profit for that industry for the three best years in the pre-Korea, 1946-49 four-year period, then price ceilings would have to be increased to bring the average return up to 85 per cent. On the other hand, if the profit average after cost increases is shown to be above 85 per cent of net worth, then no increase in ceiling would be permitted.

When the Johnston formula was first announced, it was variously construed as a freeze on profits control, or as a disguised means for rolling back profits. Actually it is none of these things. It is a standard to apply on an industry-wide basis, and not on a company-by-company basis. So far, the Johnston formula has been applied in only a few instances.

In one case, on lead storage batteries, an increase in the price of lead last year caused a cost increase for the whole industry. This threw its profits below 85 per cent of the best three-year average in the four-year period. OPS allowed a price increase.

The Johnston formula has been applied in only a few minor wage increase cases. It has been used to prevent price increases more often than it has been used to grant them. But it has had no wide application and it has not been used in any major industry case.

1951 Figures May Serve As Base

Industry figures for the last quarter of 1951 and for the full calendar year 1951 will not be available for several weeks. OPS says these figures may be used as a base.

Additional costs arising from any wage increases approved are then added to determine what future operating costs will be. Thus the steel industry will not have to operate below the earnings standard for any period of time before price relief could be applied for, if any such increase is justified under the Johnston formula.

"Net worth," as used in the Johnston formula, is defined by OPS as capital stock, surplus and surplus reserves. But the steel companies insist the term "profits before taxes" is meaningless, since taxes are a definite part of operating costs. All these indefinite factors make impossible any precise forecast on how the Johnston formula will fit the steel wage case. The best example that can be given on how it will work is hypothetical.

Suppose the steel companies' profits before taxes were 13 per cent of net worth in 1947, 15 per cent in 1948 and 14 per cent in 1949. The three-year average would be 14 per cent. Eighty-five per cent of that would be approximately 12 per cent. If the agreed wage boost did not cut steel industry profits below 12 per cent, no price increase could be approved.

The puzzle would then be to find some other formula that would satisfy the unions, prevent a strike, keep the steel companies prosperous and still not raise prices too much.

MARCH IN ENGLAND

Montreal Gazette
The people I meet in London's Hyde Park on a Saturday afternoon are simply not reacting to the national situation. Ignoring the prospect of less food and dearer living, they are actually enjoying themselves in the sunshine. Some are basking in deckchairs (yes, basking in March!). Undoubtedly one reason for our national good spirits is this extraordinary spell of pre-spring sunshine, unofficial and untaxed. Coming before its time, it has spread a mood of good humor and fellow-feeling and even optimism.

Don't Faint Away If Someone Should Say:

"But madam, I insist I can make room for you! Here let me help you with your packages!"

"To tell you the truth, boss, my arm never felt worse. Bet I won't win a game all season."

"Sure it's a lot of cash to pay for a lousy set like this. But I'm in business to make money."

"What will I do for you if I'm elected? Well, brother, I won't do a gosh-darn thing..."

"Of course others are waiting. But because you're on time, the doctor will see you now."

"You really owe us an additional $782.55. Just skip it. We're glad to overlook such mistakes."

If you hear any of all of the above highly improbable statements today, don't get excited and think the millennium is here. The only thing that's here is April Fool's Day.

Seven Newspaper Men Win Awards In Dominion - Wide Competition

Toronto, April 1.—(P)—Montreal, Ottawa, Vancouver and Toronto share honors in the third annual National Newspaper Awards. Seven newspaper men were named today as winners of the awards for outstanding work in their profession in 1951. An eighth was singled out for special citation.

The awards are open to men and women employed by Canadian daily newspapers. Winners received $400 each. The citation winner receives an engraved memento.

Awards:
Editorial writing—Gerard Filion, Montreal Le Devoir.
Sports news reporting—Gwyn (Joeko) Thomas, Toronto Daily Star.

Feature writing—Bill Boss, The Canadian Press.
Staff corresponding—John Bird, Southern News Services.

Spot news photography—David Bier, Montreal Herald.
Feature news photography—Peter Dunlop, Toronto Telegram.
Cartooning—Leonard Norris, Vancouver Sun.

Citation:
Douglas How, The Canadian Press, for outstanding spot news reporting on foreign assignment.

The awards will be presented at a dinner in Toronto May 2 given by the Toronto Men's Press Club, sponsors of the annual competition. The prizes are provided from a fund set up for a five-year period by George McCullagh, publisher of the Toronto Globe and Mail and the Telegram.

Filion, managing editor of the French-language daily Le Devoir, won the award in editorial writing with a submission of 10 signed editorials on a wide range of topics. They showed fine craftsmanship and were seen by the judges as "written with polish, understanding and wit on subject-matter unusually significant." Two dealt with international communism. Others included commentaries on the cost-of-living index, labor-management relations, the Quebec budget, yellow journalism and propagandists in international affairs. One was a thoughtful, affectionate welcome to President Auriol of France who visited Canada last April.

Thomas, veteran police reporter on the Toronto Star, won the spot news award with an exclusive death-cell interview from San Quentin penitentiary last Oct. 27 in which Stanley Buckowski revealed himself as the killer concerned in a Toronto double murder which had long gone unsolved.

Acting on a hunch, Thomas asked and got permission to visit San Quentin where Buckowski was under sentence of death for a killing in California. The criminal talked freely.

Four other reporters were especially mentioned by the judges in this category. They are Frank Lowe of the Montreal Star, for his beat last Aug. 17 on Count Jacques de Bernoville's departure for Brazil; Wilfred List of Toronto Globe and Mail, for his Vancouver story Sept. 23 backgrounding Pat Conroy's resignation as secretary-treasurer of the Congress of Labor; Robert Tyre of the Regina Leader-Post for an interview with a Russian refugee; and Mark Ronyne, St. John's, Nfld., Telegram,

Jacoby On Bridge

By OSWALD JACOEY

SURPRISE AWAITS YOU IN STRANGE HAND

Don't try to make much sense out of the bidding in today's hand. The hand was played in a rubber bridge tournament many years ago by my friend and associate Alfred Sheinwald. He needed a slam to beat his opponents on the last hand of the match. Bidding the hand normally would get him nowhere, so he just bid the slam.

West opened the king of diamonds and Sheinwald won with the ace. He immediately finessed dummy's queen of hearts, discarded a club on the ace of hearts, and ruffed a low heart with the ace of spades.

Even if the hearts had broken 8-3 declarer would have had only eleven tricks, but it was a bit disappointing when West discarded the four of clubs.

Undaunted by this disappointment, Sheinwald led the three of spades from his hand. West naturally played the four of spades, and dummy's eight was finessed to win the trick. This allowed declarer to ruff another heart (with the king of spades) and still get back to dummy on the third round of spades with the jack of spades to run the rest of the hearts.

All of these shenanigans impressed West vastly. Forgetting that the hand was played in a rubber or give up meekly. West decided that declarer must have the ace-queen of clubs for his bold bid.

West could see that dummy would soon get down to only three cards: one diamond and two clubs. He feared that he would be thrust in the lead with a diamond and forced to return a club to declarer's (imaginary) ace-queen. What could he do to avoid this end play?

West decided to throw his high diamonds and hope that his partner could win the diamond trick eventually. Then East would be able to lead through that much-leaved ace-queen of clubs.

Hence West carefully threw

Sheinwald naturally threw away his remaining clubs and led the four of diamonds from the dummy. He then calmly won the rest of the tricks with the diamonds in his hand, making his ridiculous slam contract with an overtrick.

Does anybody want to know why I take the space to describe such a fantastic hand? Look at the date of the newspaper.

The Record Short Story

NO SUSPENDERS

By MARIE DE NERVAUD

Betty drove down the long straight road at the good old Texas rate of sixty, and then some. Even though she'd get to the station ages ahead of time, and be a nervous wreck, probably, waiting for Sam's train, her tension demanded the release of speed.

She glanced unhappily at the scorched, August brown stretches reaching to the horizon, broken only by the hideous forests of gray timber that marked the oil wells. Somehow, she'd never thought of it as ugly and drear, but that was the way any stranger would be bound to see it.

Sam undoubtedly thought of Texas the way it was at the college, where they'd met. The country there, higher, rolling and wooded, had been vivid with the green of spring. Those nights on the campus, under the budding trees — color, rushed into Betty's cheeks, and the speedometer needle jumped past seventy.

Oh dear, why had the Air Force sent that bunch out for clerical training! And why did Sam, the "proper Bostonian," pick her out of a couple of hundred co-eds to make love to! "Proper Bostonian" applied to his background, but not his love making. She'd say that for him.

He finished his course in clerical typing, a course he furiously resented, in June, and they said good-bye — with realistic fatalism. It was the end. "Ships that pass in the night" and that sort of thing. But it hadn't been the end. There was nothing. "Proper Bostonian" about Sam's letters, either. Now, he had two weeks leave before going to Germany and he was taking one of them to come out and visit her.

Betty's cheeks flushed again as she pictured Sam sending their house even though she'd laughingly described it to him. It was her father's dream house, built twenty years ago when he'd first struck oil. If only he hadn't given quite such a free rein to his fancy for turrets and pillars and furbelows!

I won't be ashamed of it, Betty thought fiercely. Poor Dad, with his monstrosity of a house, large enough for the ten children he'd hoped to have. "And then, to get stuck with an only child, that's me!" she ruefully exclaimed to the steaming landscape.

Mom and Dad were as jittery about Sam's coming as she was. They knew she was crazy about him, and, unfortunately, she'd told them about his background. Ever since his letter came, Mom had been going to the beauty parlor every day, and was she putting Dad through a course of sprouts! No coming to the table in his suspenders. In fact, no suspenders.

In spite of her nervousness, Betty had to grin at the memory of his departing, "Damn if I can keep my pants up with a belt!" as he came to breakfast this morning.

Waiting at the station was even worse than Betty had anticipated, for stories on the winter search for a missing trawler and on the birth of a baby in the air during a mercy flight.

Boss's award for feature writing went to one story of the hundreds. Boss has sent back to Canada in the course of his 1½ years on the Korean front as CP's war correspondent with Canadian troops. It is the saga of Pte. Tony Edmond of Toronto and Grace Bay, N.S., who though badly wounded in action and ordered back to Canada, put up a fruitless fight to stay and see it through.

Bird, chairman of Southern News Services, won the staff corresponding award with a series of stories from Britain preceding the British election last October. He wrote from various localities in the English provinces, reporting colorfully on meetings addressed by leaders and effectively bringing out the flavor of the campaign.

Bier's award-winning picture in the spot news photography class is a striking shot of boxer Rocky Graziano standing over Montrealer Johnny Greco whom he has just floored with a right to the jaw. Bier's lens caught and highlighted the concentrated savagery in Graziano's face.

Working Expenses Absorbed 94 Cents Of Every Dollar Of C. P. R. Earnings

Montreal, April 1.—"Net earnings from railway operations were far below the level necessary to provide a sufficient contribution to dividends and a reasonable amount for reinvestment in railway property," W. A. Mather, president of the Canadian Pacific Railway, states in the annual report of the directors to be presented at the 71st annual meeting of the C.P.R. in Montreal, May 7.

Mr. Mather attributed the situation to the fact that, in consequence of higher prices, wages and tax rates, working expenses increased at a greater rate than revenues and were at an all-time high. Although 1951 was a record year in tonnage carried and gross earnings hit high peak, the working expenses absorbed 94 cents of each dollar of earnings, he explained. The rate of return earned on investment fell to 2.4 per cent from 3.5 per cent in 1950.

The C.P.R. president added that despite the unsatisfactory railway earnings, an aggregate sum of $72 million, part of a five-year plan designed to lower the costs of operation, replace worn-out facilities and enable the company to meet the needs of an expanding economy for efficient and modern transportation, was spent on improvements and additions to railway properties. "Capital outlays of $119 million have been made during the past two years to implement this programme," he said, "and further substantial expenditures will be required to complete it. Adequate rail earnings will be necessary to enable the company to finance these expenditures."

Referring to earnings once again, he said, "Railway net earnings were again adversely affected by the time consumed in obtaining authority to increase rates in the face of rising costs."

Despite the fact that application was made in December 1950 for an immediate five per cent increase in rates, followed in April, 1951 by an amending application for an additional increase of 14 per cent, it was not until July that a judgment was handed down granting an interim 12 per cent increase.

With the coming into force of this interim increase on July 26, the average effective rate on all intra-Canadian traffic, including grain in Western Canada which has not been subject to any of the post-war increases, was 42.3 per cent above pre-war level. An interesting chart in the report compared this 42.3 per cent increase in freight rates with a 96.4 per cent increase in material prices and a 102.3 per cent increase in wage rates.

It was only after the end of the year that a final judgment authorized a 17 per cent increase in lieu of the interim 12 per cent authorization. However, the total increase applied for, including an additional increase asked for in a second amending application in October to provide for the Defense Surtax was 23 per cent.

The report's income account shows that the net earnings of the railway amounted to $26,812,832, a decrease of $11.2 million from 1950, despite the fact that gross earnings were at a record peak of $428,911,639. Working expenses, which increased by $62 million, were also at a new high of $402,098,807. The ratio of net to gross at 6.3 per cent, was lower than in 27 of the previous 29 years.

Other income amounted to $29.3 million, an increase of $6.1 million, giving a net income after charges of $43,307,470, a decrease of $4.6 million.

Discussing railway operations, Mr. Mather said that freight earnings provided 82 per cent of the gross, showing an increase of $45 million over 1950. Traffic volume in terms of tons carried was 12.5 per cent greater than in 1950. The movement of grain and grain products in terms of ton miles increased by 44 per cent, owing mainly to the late 1950 harvest and last year's near-record wheat crop. As a result of the increase in the volume of this low-rated traffic, and despite increases in freight rates on other commodities, the average revenue per ton mile decreased from 1.33 cents to 1.31 cents. Passenger earnings increased by $3 million.

The increase of $62 million in working expenses was brought about by greater volume of traffic and by higher rates of wages, prices of materials and taxes.

Mr. A. J. Shaw, shown above, has been appointed to the newly-created position of Vice-President in Charge of Sales of the Chrysler Corporation of Canada. Limited, according to an announcement made today by Mr. E. C. Row, the Corporation's President. Mr. Shaw, with the Corporation over twenty-five years, will assume his new duties on April 1st.

Pictures Shown To Congregation At Cookshire

Cookshire, April 1.—As has been the custom for some months past, the Rev. P. W. Jones entertained the United Church congregation with slides and moving pictures, following the church service, the last Sunday evening in the month.

The pictures shown, were from the local district—the United Church, the High School, the Main Street, Sherbrooke Road, the river, the C.P.R. Station, a double-header train, etc. Of particular interest to the younger members of the congregation (and some not so young) were the hockey scenes, and the views of the members coming out of church one Sunday morning. There were also some views from the Bury district.

The beautiful scenery from Yorkshire, England—Robin Hood Forest, and many other places, swans and ducks of the water, beautiful hills, trees, etc.—made one think that they had been transported to England, and that April had really arrived!

Following the showing of the pictures, light refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Robinson, Mrs. Wootton, Miss Nelson, and assisted by Mrs. Jones and Mrs. Heatherington.

Instructs Chinese, Just Neighborly Act

Melfort, Sask.—A group of new Chinese Canadians here are learning reading, writing and English conversation. At the same time they are being taught how to conduct themselves in social situations.

For all this they thank a woman who began the work purely out of kindness. What started as a neighborly gesture for Mrs. J. C. Joslyn now is a five-afternoons-a-week class in a room above a Chinese restaurant. The students are eight children ranging in age from three to 19 years and two mothers, all of whom have been in this country only a little while.

All began about two years ago, Mrs. Joslyn drove a Chinese to hospital and discovered that his wife and son would be arriving shortly from China. She offered neighborly help.

When another Chinese family with three children came to town she was asked advice as to where they could get an English teacher. Mrs. Joslyn is not a teacher by profession but she agreed to help them as much as she could.

What makes this class just a little different from many that are being conducted for newcomers in various centres is that Mrs. Joslyn and her Chinese students can be seen any day out on the streets of the town. She takes them shopping or to visit any place she thinks would be of benefit.

"I try to teach them situations so that they will never be embarrassed in Canada," she says. She says she has never done anything she liked better. The qualifications most needed are "unlimited patience and to speak slowly and clearly."

Mrs. Joslyn still finds time for other activities. She works in her husband's law office each day, is secretary of the local branches of the Canadian cancer and arthritis societies, helped organize the town's St. John first aid and home nursing division and has been president of the Canadian Auxiliary.

Mr. Ralph Wells, of Bedford, was in town one evening attending a card party at Mr. Sidney Champion's home.

The Consolidated School has been closed for a week, Mrs. Gibb, a teacher at the school has gone home for ten days.

Mr. John Jones had the misfortune to be kicked in the face by a horse.

Mr. Loyal Wilson has moved into the cottage formerly occupied by Mr. Thomas Rushbridge.

The church wardens sponsored a card party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Sidney Chapman.

Miss Jean Wilson has left for London, Ont., for a few days, to escort Miss Myrna Beard, to the home of her grandmother, Mrs. Mary Beard, in West Shefford.

Miss Buelah Williams and Miss Lillie Halsworth, of Montreal, were week-end visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Wilson.

Mrs. Thomas Wilson has been very ill and under the care of Dr. Noissey, of Cowansville.

The friends of Mrs. Landon Beard, of London, Ont., will be pleased to know that she is recovering after surgery in a hospital in that place.

WATERLOO

At a recent meeting of Beaver Chapter No. 7, O.E.S., it was decided to sponsor a Home Economics demonstration under the auspices of the Canadian Westinghouse Company. This demonstration will take place on Tuesday evening, April 1, at 8:00 p.m., in the Masonic Temple, Court Street, in Waterloo, when the dietitian will be Miss Susan Plotkin. In addition to her demonstration, valuable door prizes such as a Westinghouse Mixer, Westinghouse Featherweight Iron, Westinghouse Automatic Toaster and other items will be won. The food cooked at the demonstration will also be raffled. This is opened to the public and tickets will be sold for the performance.

At a meeting of the Waterloo Town Council under the leadership of His Worship Mayor Albert Norris, it was unanimously decided to drill a new well in order to be assured of an adequate water supply for the town.

It was decided to drill this well right near the new reservoir on top of Clark Hill. In this way, it was agreed, the supply would be not only greatly increased, but much nearer to the reservoir, cutting down considerably on costs of pumping. The work on this well is to begin this week, and it is believed that this will greatly benefit the citizens of Waterloo, who have been suffering somewhat from getting unsatisfactory drinking water.

Harold Whyte of the Toronto Telegram and Jack De Lorme of the Calgary Herald, winner of the spot news picture award in 1949, were singled out for mention by the judges in this class.

Norris won the award in cartooning with a cartoon entitled "Canada's Undeveloped Border." The picture, published when the tobacco industry was complaining about cigarette-smuggling, shows a harassed tourist in a customs office being dissected by four Mounties while a fifth policeman burrows under his car outside. The judges noted: "It was felt he expressed clearly, with good drawing and striking pictorial effect, an idea of considerable public interest."

How was cited by the judges in the spot news category for his exclusive interview with Kurt Meyer at Offleben, Germany, Nov. 25, revealing that Meyer was out of prison on ticket-of-leave.

Dutch Queen

President and Mrs. Truman in the rebuilt White House. Her program in the Capital includes a speech to Congress, visits to Mt. Vernon and Arlington National Cemetery, three receptions and two state dinners—one given her by the President, the other her bread-and-butter party for the Trumanes.

After three weeks in the United States, Juliana is to spend a week's private visit in Canada, where Princess Margriet, the third of her four daughters, was born during the Dutch royal family's wartime exile.

The Queen will return home just in time for the April 30 national holiday celebrating her 43rd birthday.

Willie Sutton

The salesman, 24-year-old Arnold Schuster, was shot and killed outside his Brooklyn home on March 8.

Police, still seeking the slayer, took extraordinary security measures at the trial. They fear the killer might be a pathological hero-worshipper of Sutton.

For Sutton, the jury's verdict is academic. When arrested, he pleaded guilty to the illegal possession of a gun. It was his fourth felony, and under New York state law a fourth offender faces life imprisonment.

PUTTING PEP IN PASTURE The fertility of your soil is like a bank account. You can't keep taking it out, without putting some back in. Today's demands for more production and greater yield at lower cost need the proper use and application of fertilizers to pastures, grain fields and all areas where produce is grown. These fertilizers will help replace in the soil those minerals so essential to plant growth. The manager of your branch of The Canadian Bank of Commerce represents a bank that has for many years taken a keen interest in promoting better farming and in looking after Canadian farmers' banking needs. BRINGING UP FATHER

By George McManus

MARGE WAS GOING TO INVITE HER SISTER AND HER HUSBAND AND HER SIX KIDS TO COME HERE AND LIVE WITH US - BUT I THINK I'VE TALKED HER OUT OF IT.

JESS: DEAR - YOU WERE RIGHT! THERE ISN'T ROOM IN THIS HOUSE FOR EIGHT MORE PEOPLE!

I'M GLAD YOU SEE MY WAY.

-ASIDE FROM EVERYTHING ELSE - IT WOULD HAVE BEEN TOO CROWDED HERE WITH THAT BIG FAMILY.

THAT'S HOW MOTHER FELT.

SO SHE DECIDED TO LOOK AROUND FOR A BIGGER HOUSE?

By George McManus

BLONDIE

THE HOUSE WILL BE FLOODED.

I CAN KEEP IT FROM LEAKING IF I STAY HERE AND HOLD THE PIPE.

YOU'LL HAVE TO STAY THERE A LONG TIME - THE PLUMBER SAYS HE CAN'T GET HERE UNTIL TOMORROW MORNING.

MAY I SPEAK TO MR. BUMSTEAD?

HE'S IN THE BASEMENT - YOU'LL HAVE TO GO DOWN THERE TO SEE HIM.

ARE YOU MR. BUMSTEAD?

I USED TO BE. BUT NOW I'M JUST PART OF THE PLUMBING.

Vermont Couple Celebrated 60th Anniversary

Rock Island, April 1. — Mr. and Mrs. Arthur W. Lanphere, of North Hyde Park, Vt., held open house from 2 to 9 p.m. on Tuesday, March 4, in celebration of their sixtieth wedding anniversary.

A large number of friends and neighbors called during the afternoon and evening, and among the out of town guests were her sister, Mrs. James Perron, of Rock Island; Mr. O. Burt and son, of Jeffersonville, Vt.; Mrs. Cora Lanphere, Mrs. Karl Bohanon, Mrs. John Holden and Miss Verna Goodwin, all of Hyde Park, Vt.

The dining room table was centered with rose chrysanthemums and primulas and white tapers. The refreshments included a wedding cake made by Mrs. H. W. Lanphere, Mrs. Aither and Mrs. Maurice Heath.

Music for the evening was furnished by Miss Denise Bacon, playing the guitar and harmonica. Mr. Gardner Manoch and Mr. Loren Aither rendered guitar selections and were accompanied by Miss Verna Goodwin at the piano.

The groom gave several selections on the violin. Several years ago he entered a contest for old time fiddlers at Johnson, Vt. He has also played his violin, accompanied by Mrs. Lanphere at the piano for a number of years at dances and promenades.

The couple received a number of gifts, which included a guest book as a souvenir of this happy day, an electric clock, from their near neighbors, a lovely corsage from the bride's sister, Mrs. Perron, and a substantial gift of money. They also received a large number of congratulatory cards and a message of congratulations from Mr. Winston Prouty of the State of Vermont Senate.

The bride, the former Minnie Brennan, was born November 22, 1872, the daughter of Thomas and Margaret (Dow) Brennan, and the groom was born on March 3, 1872, the son of Harvey and Lovisa (Whitcomb) Lanphere.

The wedded couple of 60 years were married on March 4, 1892, in Morrisville, Vt., with Rev. W. E. Douglass officiating.

For two years they owned and operated the North Hyde Park Hotel. After selling this, they purchased a farm on Ober Hill, Vt., which they operated for thirty years. About thirteen years ago they retired and went to live in North Hyde Park, Vt., where they now reside.

They were parents of one child, a son, who died in infancy.

Although Mr. and Mrs. Lanphere do not enjoy very good health they are able to do their own work and every year Mr. Lanphere has had an excellent vegetable garden.

The president, Mrs. Holland, opened the meeting with a reading, "The Little Church," which was followed by the "Lord's Prayer" repeated in unison.

The meeting adjourned and a social hour followed and was much enjoyed at canasta and bridge.

Dainty refreshments were served by the hostess, Mrs. Holland, assisted by her mother, Mrs. Frost. The next meeting place will be announced at a later date, when the sewing project will be resumed.

THE JOLLY TWELVE

The Jolly Twelve Christmas Club was entertained on Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. William Comstock, in West Park, with ten members attending, and everyone was glad to have Mrs. Lloyd Broadbelt present following an absence of two months because of poor health. There were also two guests, Mrs. Edward Simpson and Mrs. Bert Chamberlain.

The business session was presided over by the president, Mrs. Floyd Webb.

The evening was spent playing

North Hatley H. And S. Assoc. Held Meeting

North Hatley, April 1. — The North Hatley Home and School Association held its March meeting at the Community Hall.

The president, Mrs. Henry Blachford, opened the meeting and conducted the business hour. A letter was read from Mr. Samson, principal of the North Hatley Consolidated School, regarding the opportunity given to two boys from the school to accompany boys from Sherbrooke and attend school in the district, on a trip to New York during the Easter holidays. The Association voted unanimously to assist these two boys, Carleton Miller and George Johnson, with their travelling expenses.

Plans were made for an old-time dance to be held on the evening of Friday, April 25. Mr. Frank Woodward consented to arrange for the music and callers, and Mr. Benton offered to be responsible for the posters, tickets, and advertising. Mrs. Woodward volunteered to be in charge of the soliciting and Mrs. Benton and Miss Parker offered their help.

The secretary informed the meeting that two letters had been sent from the Association, to the Central School Board, and to Dr. Willis, supervisor of education for Stanstead County, regarding the lighting system at the school, and the rate of salaries for the teachers.

The program of the evening was a continuation of the questions presented to the teachers for answering. Several interesting points were discussed. The teachers expressed their favor for the system of grading examination papers by letter rather than marks, and all were emphatically in favor of the parents discussing any problem or subject that might be considered a problem of the child with them, rather than with the child, or neighbors.

It was suggested that at all future meetings a brief period of time be given to questions and answers.

Mrs. G. E. Bennett reported for the committee working on the essay contest, and as it was agreed to hold the contest next school term, no final decisions were made regarding other rules and regulations.

At the conclusion of the business hour, refreshments were served by the hospitality committee.

Start This Season's Spring Cleaning Now With A Carefully Planned Safety Schedule

Spring cleaning can be hazardous as well as helpful unless you take every safety precaution. Cleaning the hard-to-reach slats of your venetian blinds will be easier and safer if you always use a sturdy stepladder (above). If you have a vacuum cleaner with a special moth-proofing attachment, follow the directions carefully (upper right). Chipped and cracked glassware may prove dangerous if left on shelves. Keep only the useable pieces (lower right).

New York. — In case you've been wondering about the anxious expressions on the faces of your family, they're probably caused by that seasonal hazard—spring cleaning.

A clean and orderly home does not make family living more pleasant, if it means suffering through accidents, exhaustion and general disorder.

The National Safety Council suggests "housekeeping—by plan," because the more order in housekeeping, the less chance there is for an accident.

Before you start taking the house apart, call your family together and talk the whole thing over. They may have some constructive ideas that will make the work a great deal easier.

Begin by making a list of all the things which must be done. Try to space the chores evenly over a period of two weeks. Take longer, if necessary.

Start with rooms which are easiest to clean. Put the kitchen in order first. Remove everything from cupboards and clean the shelves and cabinet walls. If the shelves are not permanently surfaced with clay tile, line them with some other easy-to-clean material, such as processed paper.

Wash all pots, pans, dishes, glassware and utensils in detergent suds. Rinse and place them on the drainboard to air-dry after a hot water bath. When the cabinets are back in order, wash the walls, drainboards, splashbacks and floor. Hang up fresh curtains or newly cleaned blinds, and the kitchen is ready for spring.

The dining room or dinette should come next. Clean away all wood. Wash leather, leatherette, plastic or cane chair seats with suds, followed by a clean sponging and drying with a cloth.

When you come to the living room, reverse the old dusting idea. Always dust before you do your floor with sweeper, vacuum, or dust mop. Start with one clean, lintless cloth and another wrung from warm soapy water. The damp cloth gets those fingerprints from tables, lamps and woodwork. Next do the walls, then upholstered articles.

Dust and wax venetian blinds. Wash baseboards, woodwork and floor, in that order. Remember to use both hands to save time and energy.

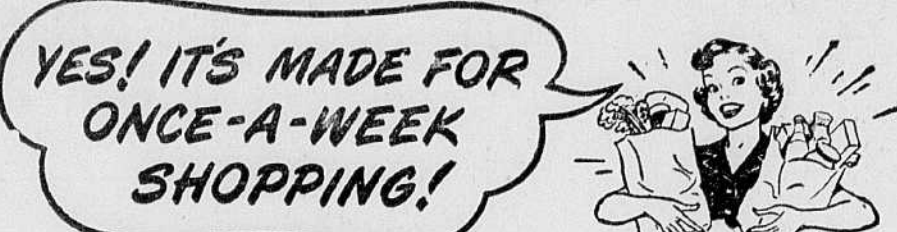

Each member of the family should definitely lend a hand when it comes to taking care of his own bedroom. Cleaning out drawers, closets, dusting, changing curtains and bedclothes are all part of the job.

Use only time and energy saving equipment and supplies when you houseclean.

Learn to use your vacuum cleaner attachments correctly and to their fullest extent. There's a brand new liquid wax that dry cleans and waxes in a single operation.

Protect your hands while you work with latex gloves that have a "sueded" inner finish. They'll feel better and give you a surer grip. Another aid is a combination sponge and chamois-type cleaning cloth that is made of a new cellulose yarn.

Split down for as many tasks as possible; schedule rest periods into every workday; and be sure all appliances are in good repair. And whatever you do—don't alienate the affections of your family during this all-out cleaning period.

The monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of Stanstead South Church was held on Monday afternoon, March 10, at the home of Miss Mirabel Robinson, vice-president.

The devotional period was followed by reports of the secretary and treasurer.

Readings were given from the February and March numbers of the "Missionary Monthly" in order to focus attention on present hour needs and opportunities in the fields of home, and foreign missions, one of these being the United Church training school about to be built.

"The Story of Peter Kelly" as given in "Home Mission Digest" was read by Mrs. H. S. Smith and received much attention. Peter Kelly is the physical and spiritual giant convert of whom it is said: "Were we the only Christian resultant of the mission to British Columbia yet that mission would have been worthwhile." He is a descendant of a proud Indian tribe, whose contacts with white civilization have too often been far from helpful.

Afternoon tea was served following the close of the meeting.

AN EASTER CANTATA

The members of the choir of the Advent Christian Church have been practicing for the past few weeks on a Cantata, which they hope to present on the evening of Easter Sunday. It is entitled "The Story of Easter According to St. Matthew," by Ellen Jane Lorenz.

They are under the able direction of Mrs. Ardice McCoy, while Mrs. Ruth Hill is the accompanist. Mr. Kenneth MacNeill, of the United Church Choir, is assisting in the bass section.

The Cantata comprises an attractive and impressive arrangement of the entire story relative to Easter, beginning with the Prophecy of Easter Week by Jesus Himself, and continuing on through Palm Sunday and the week of the crucifixion, culminating with the resurrection and closing with the Easter Benediction. This promises to be a most impressive service and everyone will be welcome.

Just like the eight preceding books in the series—Snacks, Leftovers, Cakes, Poultry, Pies, Soups, Salads, and Meat, "250 Different Fish and Seafood Recipes" is the ninth in the series of twenty-four cookbooks available to readers of the Record, is full of all sorts of ideas, photographs, and step-by-step instructions to make the preparation and eating of fish a delight to homemaker, family or guests. Have you ever wondered how the New Englanders make such good codfish balls? Here is the answer: CODFISH BALLS. I cup flaked cooked fresh cod 1 1/2 cups mashed potatoes 1 egg, beaten 1 tablespoon butter, melted 1/4 teaspoon salt 1/4 teaspoon pepper 1/2 teaspoon onion juice. Mix ingredients and beat until smooth and fluffy. Shape lightly into balls or cakes. Sauté or fry in hot deep fat (375° F.) until browned. Serve hot with Tomato Sauce. Serves 4. Add 1 teaspoon dry mustard and 2 teaspoons lemon juice. Salmon, halibut, pike, perch, freshened salt mackerel and other fish may be used instead of cod. Boil uncooked potatoes and fish together until tender, drain thoroughly, dry over low heat and beat until fluffy and smooth. Add remaining ingredients and proceed as above. Add 1/4 cup cheese to the Tomato Sauce. Codfish Puffs—Use 2 eggs instead of 1. Beat mixture 2 minutes with rotary beater. Drop from spoon into hot fat. The large variety of recipes and the imagination used in compiling this Cookbook give ample reason for owning it. Not only is it full of clear instructions for making standard preparations such as the proper way to boil fish, broil it, or fry it, but it is also full of suggestions for unusual sauces and fancy dishes such as oysters Rockefeller, deviled crabs, scallops en brochette, and many others.

This Is Shakedown Time For Majors As Teams Start Home; Regulars Take Over From Rookies For Trip North

With the start of the major league season only two weeks away, this is shakedown time. The managers have quit experimenting with rookies and now are starting their jaunts north and east with the hopes of getting the regulars in shape.

A quick look at the progress or lack of same of each of the teams is in order. Listing the clubs according to their 1951 finish, here's what has happened:

AMERICAN LEAGUE

New York—Casey Stengel's operations still are the ones to beat, even with the loss of Joe DiMaggio and the probable departure of Jerry Coleman to the Marine Corps. The Yanks still have a top pitching staff, backed by plenty of power and some smooth newcomers, namely young Andy Carey, who probably will take over third base.

Cleveland—The Indians have the best "Big Four" pitching staff in baseball, and if any team is going to beat out the Yanks, it should be the Tribe. Bob Feller, Mike Garcia, Bob Lemon and Steve Gromek can beat any team on any given day.

Boston—This is a puzzle. The Red Sox have been hitting, but haven't been getting much pitching, their trouble down through the years. There's a feeling around the grapefruit circuit that Lou Boudreau isn't satisfied with the team he inherited. The suspicion is that he'll give the veterans a chance and if they don't come through, he'll try to get rid of them.

Chicago—Manager Paul Richards seems to be in the same boat as last year when he astounded one and all in the first half of the season, then watched his club run out of steam. He says it will be a running team. But the question is: Will pitchers like Bill Pierce and Saul Rogovin come through? Most observers doubt it.

Detroit—No power, and Manager Red Wolfe knows it. He's hoping he can get a long ball hitter to back up a fair pitching staff. Art Houtteman ought to be of considerable help to the hurlers.

Philadelphia—This is the team that was old last year and is older this time around. Some experts are consigning the A's to the cellar.

Washington—The Nats, says Manager Bucky Harris, are a dozen games better than last year. They have a couple of top operators in third baseman Eddie Yost and outfielder Irv Noren who ought to draw in the trading mart. St. Louis—The Browns have a new manager in Rogers Hornsby, a new shortstop in Marty Marion and a whole crew of question mark pitchers like Tommy Byrne and Gene Bearden. If they come through to help Ned Garver, no one would be surprised to see the Browns jump a couple of notches.

NATIONAL LEAGUE

New York—Pitching won it for the Giants last year, and Manager Leo Durocher apparently is going to rely on his elbowmen again. He lost his top infielder, Eddie Stanky, and can only hope that Davey Williams fills the gap. Time will tell how much Stanky will be missed.

Brooklyn—Here's the club that was rated tops all through the season last year. Don Newcombe, who won 20, has been lost to the service, and Manager Chuck Dressen is hoping Clem Labine and Chris Van Cuyk can take up the slack. Otherwise the team is substantially the same.

St. Louis—The dark horse. The Cards have the power, and the word is that all they need is some pitching. They've been getting it all spring, and if young Willard Schmidt keeps up at his present pace, they'll make things tough for the top contenders.

Boston—Manager Tommy Holmes has not even decided on a line-up yet. He would like to go along with a group of rookies and youngsters, but he seems to be somewhat doubtful yet. Best guess is that he'll divide the assignments.

Philadelphia—The Phils have shown more spark this year than last, and are heartened by the fact that Curt Simmons is due out of the army. They have good pitching, little hitting. With Simmons back, though, they'll be contenders.

Cincinnati—This looks like a three-man team. Ewell Blackwell and Ken Raffensberger each won 16 games last year and outfielder Johnny Wyrostek hit .311. They'll need more to improve their position.

Pittsburgh—Ralph Kiner, George Metkovich, Erv Dusak and Gus Bell give the Pirates a good outfield, but only Murry Dickson is dependable among the pitchers.

Chicago—The grapefruit champions of '51 and the cellar-dwellers in the regular season. Looks like the same thing is going to happen this year.

Fredericton Caps Stay In Allan Cup Playdowns

Fredericton, April 1.—(P)—Fredericton Capitals stayed in the running for the New Brunswick intermediate hockey championships by swamping Bathurst Papermakers 13-3 last night. With the best-in-five finals tied at 2-2, the deciding game will be played here tonight.

Capitals, Eastern Canadian finalists last year, held Bathurst to one goal in each period while scoring five in the first, four in the second and another four in the third. Centre Boyd MacTavish did the hat trick and linemen Doug and Neil Sewell scored two each.

Punchy Walker, Fredericton goalie, required 14 stitches for a forehead cut inflicted by a flying stick. He finished the game.

Montreal, April 1.—Three St. Charles de Mandeville men are being held at Joliette for charges of illegally killing moose, it is announced by J. Firmin Bourque, Superintendent, Game and Fisheries Department, Montreal district.

Superintendent Bourque, who led his officers in a raid on a bush camp in Berthier County, said that Jerome Beausoliel, Ferrier Arsenault and Gratien Arsenault were found in possession of several hundred pounds of moose meat. This was seized, together with rifles, dogs and harness, sleds, hunting knives and other equipment.

Sub-Inspectors Ernest Gagnon, Albert Bourdon, and Alphonse Lavoie, with officers Arthur Larouche and Benoit Lambert, took part in the seizures. Two days were required to get the seized articles out of the bush camp.

The officers said that five moose, including two cows, had been killed by the poachers, and that Beausoliel faces a repeater charge, having served a prison term last year for firing at game wardens when being arrested for killing a cow

Sports Roundup

By GAYLE TALBOT

Los Angeles, April 1.—(P)—Whatever else may be said for Ty Cobb's recent magazine flogging of modern baseball players, it at least may be said for certain that the old Georgia Peach's outburst has supplied the principal topic of conversation within the fraternity for the last couple of weeks.

We've heard him blasted as a source of eccentric news, but he has passed by and we've heard some smart baseball men warmly support his contention that the game and its players have gone to the dogs. But we haven't in a single baseball gathering heard him ignored.

Those who played with or against Cobb appear still to be fascinated by the memory and, whether they liked him mildly or hated him intensely, as many of them undoubtedly did, they love to talk about him and to recall incidents from his fiery career. We must have heard a score lately that were new, at least to us, and they all were good.

Ever hear about the time he came into the clubhouse bleeding about the face and ears and with his shirt half ripped off? He began to change his uniform and one of his teammates asked him what had happened, possibly hoping for the worst.

"Nothing much," Ty replied. "I just got tired waiting to get into the phone booth outside and so I reached in and yanked this fellow by the collar. Turned out he had done a lot of professional fighting. He was real good."

Whether they liked him or not, they concede that Cobb was a fearless man. At one gathering, a former player said he had heard of Cobb backing down, but he was heavily outwitted by the other old-timers present.

"Don't kid yourself," one of them said. "Once the Philadelphia fans were so sore at him about something he had done that eight or ten cops escorted him into the park. There had been a lot of threats on his life. Once they were inside the park, old Ty shook off his escort and stepped grandly up to the plate to take his batting licks, shoving a teammate out of the way, incidentally. Then he turned to the crowd and told them what he thought of them, both with words and gestures. He was a brave man."

Superintendent Bourque also said the Judge Aime Chasse at Joliette, this week assessed fines of $200 or three months in jail on Roma Gravel and Omer Turcotte, of St. Gabriel de Brandon. These men were found in possession of 100 pounds of moose meat. Gravel paid the fine; his partner is serving his sentence.

Whether Tantiy Will Stay The Course At Aintree Is Canadian Charles Burns' Big Worry Just Now

London, April 1.—(P)—Tantiy, an 11-year-old bay gelding which will fly Canadian racing silks in next Saturday's Grand National Steeplechase, was the victim of a rather back-handed compliment today.

His trainer and part owner, Tom Hanbury, summed up the horse's chances this way: "He is a safe conveyance and will jump the course but my main worry is whether he will have the necessary stamina. But then, the National is not always won by a stayer."

M. Westwick, the amateur jockey who will ride the Canadian-led gelding in the toughest of all steeplechases, said somewhat more generously: "Tantiy jumps well and I expect him to give me a good ride."

Tantiy is by Foxhunter, renowned for stamina, out of Tivoli II, and has a consistent record, with two victories, five seconds and two third in his last 14 races. But he has been running in slightly inferior company and he now is one of several 100-1 shots in the National.

Burns will watch the race with his wife Janet, daughter of Senator Cairine Wilson of Ottawa.

Royal Tan, J. H. Griffin's Irish-trained jumper which finished second last year, held firm last night as the 100 to 8 favorite to win the National, run at Aintree over four miles and 650 yards.

Teal, a Yorkshire-trained horse which will be ridden by jockey Arthur Thompson, a National winner, was second choice at 100 to 7. Freebooter, 1950 winner, was the third choice at 100 to 5. Nichel Coin, last year's victor, was scratched weeks ago because of an injury.

In all, 27 of the 51 probable starters were mentioned by the bookmakers at their callover of odds. The field was cut to 51 yesterday when Hamstar, a 12-year-old mare, was scratched.

St. Katelyn, an Irish-trained horse recently purchased by Sam Small of the U. S., held at 40 to 1 odds.

Odds against other horses included: 25 to 1—Prince Pearly, Both Alberta and Saskatchewan said at the W. C. I. F. U. meeting that they were ready to resume intercollegiate football whenever the University of Manitoba finds it possible to field a team.

No odds were quoted on the other 25 entrants.

Bruins' Stanley Cup Hopes Depend On Ability To Maintain Pace Of Third-Game Victory Over Montreal

Boston, April 1.—(AP)—Coach Lynn Patrick said yesterday that if his awakened Boston Bruins just retain their new-found speed and hustle they can square their Stanley Cup semi-final series with Montreal's Canadiens tonight in the Garden.

After being outscored 9-1 in the first two contests in Montreal, Boston made a few line-up changes for Sunday night's third game and looked great while shipping the Canadiens 4-1. The best-of-seven series now stands 2-1 for Montreal.

"The thing I liked best about Sunday," Patrick said, "was our increased speed both on defence and on offence. We were slow at first in the first two games in Montreal, but in that third one we got rolling."

"Getting that first goal—something we didn't do in Montreal—gave us a tremendous lift, too."

While veteran defenceman Hal Laycoe sparked the Bostonians at attack Sunday night, many other Bruins could be singled out for praise. Youngsters Bob Armstrong and Leo Labine were a lot of help in their game after coming up from the Hershey farm in the American Hockey League.

Saint John Wins Way Into Finals Of Maritime Major League By Dropping Glace Bay Miners 5-1

Saint John Beavers and Halifax St. Mary's will discuss today dates and locale of the Maritime Major Hockey League finals.

Beavers swept through Glace Bay Miners 5-1 at home last night to take their best-of-seven semi-finals 4-1 in games and move into the finals with Saints. Halifax earlier eliminated Charlottetown Islanders in four straight games.

Halifax suggested last night the first two games be played at Saint John tomorrow and Friday. But a music festival ruled that out and the counter proposal was that the series open at Saint John Thursday and Saturday.

Officials of both clubs will talk it over again today by long distance telephone. If they are unable to reach an agreement, League President J. E. Hudson will rule that under terms of an agreement reached at a meeting several weeks ago, the series must open Wednesday of this week.

The biggest Saint John crowd of the season—more than 3,000—watched Beavers, the regular schedule winners by a mile, beat Miners into submission. An announcement informed the fans that Beavers, dogged recently by severe financial troubles, will continue in the playoffs. The announcement came from the Citizens' Committee which attempted to solve the club's problems. The team, previously, was operating on an almost day-to-day basis.

Though lacking stalwarts Al Buchanan and Bill McCracken, Saint John had no trouble as Glace Bay tired quickly. Both boys were injured in Friday's Glace Bay game. Buchanan will be out for the rest of the season because of a broken leg and McCracken's shoulder separation is expected to keep him out.

Hooking, holding, elbowing and tripping featured the first period. Playing coach Peanut O'Flaherty of Saint John joined the fray long enough to open the scoring and was followed by teammate Dusty Blair.

Miners opened the sandwich frame when Dutch Delmonte got their lone marker at the 30-second mark. Blair netted a second goal in that period and Nick Nicolle followed to put Beavers ahead 4-1. Ed Mulligan fired the last one in the third period.

The Nicolle-Blair-Mulligan line appeared to have the only zest on the ice. Play was ragged and both teams showed signs of wear from their playoff series.

Glace Bay pressed without success in a penalty shot when Sheldon Bloomer was charged with holding. Blair took it and missed.

However no decision has been reached yet on television or radio broadcasts of the fight. Tickets will sell for $3 to $20 and promoters hope that total gate to hit $400,000.

Bob Mudge's goal at 3:19 of the overtime period proved to be the winner. Jules Racette matched his second-period goal with a second in overtime. Paul Gagnon was the other Jonquiere scorer.

Fan Tosses Knife At Cager George Mikan

Minneapolis, April 1.—(AP)—Someone threw a knife at George Mikan during a basketball game at Rochester Sunday night. Max Winter, Minneapolis Lakers general manager, charged today.

The knife whizzed past the star Laker centre as he walked to the bench after fouling out with four minutes and four seconds of play remaining. Winter said, it missed Mikan by about 2 1/2 feet.

Winter said the weapon was a pocket knife with two open blades pointing in opposite directions.

The Lakers won the game 83-78.

Judge Declines To Dispossess Cheesman

London, April 1.—(AP)—A judge declined yesterday to dispossess Sylvia Cheesman from her home while she is training for the Olympic Games.

The landlady sought possession of the house on the ground that she wanted to live in it herself.

Sylvia, a 23-year-old sprinter and one of Britain's main hopes in the summer Games at Helsinki, protested that a move now would disturb her training.

Ruled Judge Tudor Rees: "She ought not to be disturbed at a time when she is hoping to exceed her own performance and add lustre to this old country in the realm of sport."

Jimmy Carter Risks Title With Lauro Salas

Los Angeles, April 1.—(AP)—Jimmy Carter risks his world lightweight boxing title for the second time tonight when he fights Lauro Salas, California featherweight king.

Carter, Cinderella champion from New York City with a rapid punch, rates the solid choice to whip his lighter foe in the scheduled 15-rounder.

However, Salas, a surprise choice whose scarred brows bespeak more than five years of ring warfare, figures he has a chance to pull an upset.

Carter figures to weigh in just under the 135-pound limit. Salas, whose previous fighting has been mostly in the featherweight class, probably tips 130.

McFater Awarded TKO Over Howard Leslie

Hamilton, April 1.—(AP)—Allan McFater of Toronto was awarded a seventh-round technical knockout over Howard Leslie of Saint John, N.B., last night. The decision almost produced a small riot.

Referee Jack Squires called the main bout—scheduled for 10 rounds—at 1:10 of the seventh after Leslie had been partly knocked, partly showed through the ropes. He reached through, pulled Leslie up and looking at a closed left eye, awarded the fight to McFater.

The crowd crowded about the ring demanding that the New Brunswick negro be allowed to continue. Although McFater had the better of the fight in the preceding rounds, they figured Leslie wasn't beaten.

Fred Steel, Ontario Athletics Commissioner, however, agreed with Squires' decision. "What do they want, murder?" he asked.

Murray Swartz, Leslie's manager, didn't see it that way. "My boy was perfectly all right," he said. "He could have continued."

The only reason it has not been put into effect was Corcoran's refusal to begin functioning until he gets approval from the executive committee of the P.G.A. itself.

Saint John Jacks Edge Bobcats In First Tilt

Montreal, April 1.—(AP)—Saint John, N.B., Jacks overpowered international Y.M.C.A. Bobcats of Montreal 53-46 last night in the first game of their two-game, total-point semi-final series for the Eastern Canada Junior Basketball Championship.

The second game will be played here tomorrow night and the winner of the series goes to Windsor for the Eastern Canadian basketball finals.

The first quarter saw the Maritimers take a 12-11 lead due to the efforts of dribbling expert Bill Harrison.

During the second frame Bobcats star Jimmy Lafferty led his squad, hitting the net for 13 points while Jim McDonald of the Jacks netted 10 to end the half at 23-27 in favor of the local Bobcats.

The see-saw battle continued throughout the third stanza with both clubs showing initiative, power and drive. Lafferty was again the main man for the international crew and McDonald and Harrison played standout ball for the Jacks. The Cats missed most of their lay-ins and Saint John took a 47-38 lead.

The final quarter saw the Jacks protecting their nine-point lead. They stopped attack after attack led by Bobcats' hook-shot wizz Jimmy Lafferty. Jacks' star Jim McDonald left the floor via the five foul route.

Jim McDonald was the top scorer for the Jacks with 19 points and Lafferty potted 22 for the losers.

Leafs Plan Lineup Changes In Effort To Halt Red Wings In Stanley Cup Semi-Final March

Toronto, April 1.—(AP)—Toronto Maple Leafs tonight hoped that a lineup shuffle would halt Detroit Red Wings' unbeaten string of victories in their Stanley Cup hockey semi-final.

Managing Director Conn Smythe said he planned "two or three changes" for the fourth—and possibly last—game of the best-of-seven series tonight. He declined to give details.

It seems likely that the big change will be in goal. Al Rollins, who was in the nets when the Leafs absorbed a 3-0 defeat in the opening game in Detroit, is likely to go back into action again. He sat out two games while veteran Turk Broda went down 1-0 and 6-2 in the 100th and 101st Stanley Cup playoff games of his career.

Word from the Red Wing camp at Hamilton is that they'll go with the same lineup that scored a convincing 6-2 victory in the third game. Len (Red) Kelly, injured in the second game is expected to sit out again.

Aside from the goalie shift, two or three changes are open to the Leafs. They can use defenceman Hugh Bolton, who played in the first game, or left wing Danny Lewicki, who has sat out all three games. Another possibility is

Canadian Olympic Association To Have Same Representatives At '52 Summer Games As Last Time In '48

Montreal, April 1.—(AP)—The Canadian Olympic Association at its annual meeting Saturday decided that Canada's representation at the 1952 Summer Games in Helsinki, Finland, will be no larger than that at the 1948 Games in London.

Approval was given for representation in the equestrian and shooting events—a new step for Canada. There will be no gymnastics team, application for which had been made.

There will be reductions, compared with 1948, in the number of competitors for some sports and additions in others. The heaviest cuts are in cycling and fencing, as well as in the number of general officials.

Along with the addition of equestrian and shooting representatives, there are increases for rowing, paddling and yachting.

Decision on a representation, approximately numerical to that of 1948, was taken, it was announced, because of the Association's financial situation and the proficiency status of athletes—lack of enough Olympic-calibre performers.

A total of 145 for the full Canadian team, including officials, was first aimed at. The tentative total now, to conform with that of 1948, is around 130.

The Games will be held July 19-Aug. 3.

The treasurer's annual report showed collections to date of $85,100, with $52,000 still needed.

Simple Safety Precautions Taken At Home May Avert Serious Accidents For Family

Spring safety check-up for the home includes grounding washing machine (above) to reduce chance of electric shock in laundry and tacking loose carpeting (lower center) to prevent accidents. These jobs are performed by home handyman. Ideal time to get them done is before Spring cleaning.

The home handyman also takes time (above) to tack strips on low, overhanging beam in basement. This rules out possible collision that could result in painful or serious injuries. It works for pipes or other low obstructions. Strips should be renewed when paper gets dirty.

New York. — The place for the home handyman is, naturally, in the home. And the time for him to make a safety check-up on your house is now, before the whirlwind that's known as spring cleaning gets under way.

The purpose of such a check-up is, first to make your home as accident-free as possible, and second, to get your husband out of his easy chair. Any woman knows how irritating it is to see a man settle down to enjoy himself. Break it up. Get him on his feet.

Tell him that home maintenance is his job and if he doesn't want everyone in the family to break his or her neck, singly and collectively, he'd better do something about the stairs.

Stairs provide the most logical spot for nasty falls. Seriously enough, they cause almost 25,000 unnecessary deaths each year, according to the National Safety Council. They also account for numerous broken bones and other injuries.

Here, then, is a good spot for meeting which were adopted as read.

The biennial meeting of the W. A. will be held in Quebec City on May 13 and 14. The delegates are Mrs. S. Foreman and Mrs. E. Fisher.

A very substantial food parcel was spent to an English Clergyman in England, in hopes that it will reach him for Easter.

The president made arrangements for a tea and food sale at the residence of Mrs. A. J. Hunt.

Rev. S. Foreman closed the meeting with the prayer partner's and members prayer.

ST. PAUL'S W. A. TEA
Mrs. A. J. Hunt very graciously opened her home to the St. Paul's Women's Auxiliary for a tea and your "Mr. Fix-It" to start. Stair carpeting that's loose or curled-up is dangerous. Ask him to tack it down securely, so that it can't possibly slip. Stairs should be well-lighted, should have handrails or bannisters, should never have throw rugs at the top, the bottom or on the landings.

The best way to check your house for safety hazards that you and your husband can eliminate is to do it room by room.

These are just some of the things for which you should watch: floors slippery from wax, telephone cord trailing on the floor where it may trip someone, defective and overloaded electrical sockets and frayed wires, loose window screens, scatter rugs that aren't anchored, poisons left about where children or pets can get at them, bathtubs and showers minus handholds and non-skid mats.

Disorder causes one out of every six home accidents. This means that when working and walking areas are cluttered, the odds in favor of an accident shoot up. It's easy to step on, or to strike against, objects that cause falls, burns, cuts or scratches.

Equipment that's not in good repair hospitalizes five per cent of the injured each year. Electrical appliances, cords, kitchen utensils, laundry equipment and garden tools should be checked at regular intervals.

Poorly planned housing features take their toll, too. This means insecure porch railings, for example. Better put your handyman to work here, since nine per cent of all accidents arise from such built-in hazards.

Lack of proper light produces four per cent of the injuries. Be sure you have adequate lighting for stairways halls, and all work areas. There should be a light switch handy to each door.

This will keep your husband busy until it's time to start spring cleaning and then you can make him really uncomfortable. Anyway, just tell him when it's all over, he'll have a safe, clean home in which he can collapse.

The guests were welcomed by Mrs. Hunt. The lace covered dining room table was centered with spring tulips. Tea was poured by Mrs. Foreman, who was assisted in serving by Mrs. Bown and Mrs. Fisher.

Mr. Morrow and Mrs. Lawrence were in charge of the food table.

General Notes
Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Stokes spent a few days in Montreal.

Mrs. Harold Mayhew has gone to her home in Canterbury, after spending two months at the home of Mr. C. A. Stokes, caring for Mrs. Bishop, while she was ill.

Miss I. Miller, R.N., Guest Speaker At WMS, Cowansville

Cowansville, April 1. — The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Missionary Society of Emmanuel United Church was held in the Church Parlours on Thursday, March 20, with a very good attendance, including visitors from East Farnham, Fordyce, Sweetsburg and Brigham.

Mrs. Elridge reported on the purchase of kindergarten supplies and arrangements were made to send them to the Mission Schools.

The president, Mrs. Smith, then introduced the guest speaker, Miss Isabelle Miller, R.N., of Brome.

Mrs. Smith voiced the appreciation of the members for Miss Miller's kindness in coming to tell them of her experiences as a missionary in Chengtu, China. As Miss Miller's home is so near Cowansville, the society feels a special interest and pride in her and her work.

As a campaign is now underway, sponsored by the women's organizations of the church, for the purpose of raising money to build a new United Church Training School for Women, Mrs. Smith asked Miss Miller, a graduate of the school, to give a few minutes of her time in explaining the work of the school and the need for a new building.

She gave many reasons for supporting this campaign. She showed how the work of the school was cramped for want of space and also pointed out the inconvenience of having the students housed in two buildings instead of one.

Miss Miller gave a very clear picture of her trip to Chengtu, China, her study of the Chinese language, the Chinese people, whom she encountered in everyday life and their characteristics and manners.

There was a great deal of unrest in the city during her stay. When she first arrived the threat of the Communists taking the city was very disturbing and when they did come the work of the schools and missions was closed and then reopened under communist control.

They started at once their propaganda to indoctrinate the people and the missionaries found that their further stay in the country would result in embarrassing the Chinese Christians.

Miss Miller liked the country and the people and was sorry that the work had to be abandoned indefinitely.

Miss L. Robinson thanked Miss Miller for her interesting address and presented her with a gift.

Miss Miller had brought with her some very beautiful embroidery, which she displayed at the close of the meeting.

Refreshments were served and an opportunity was afforded for the members to meet Miss Miller
