

"WEEK OF GAMES" SUGGESTED FOR NORTH END

CONFERENCE TO BE CALLED TO DISCUSS POSSIBILITY OF BIG MEET FOR ATHLETES OF DIST.

All Branches of Outdoor and Indoor Sport to Be Included—Delegates to Be Invited From Various Schools and Athletic Clubs—Would Bring Throngs to North End.

An athletic meet extending over a period of some days may be held in the North End before long. Executives of several organizations have been approached on the subject, and have pronounced it an excellent idea. The winter season amply demonstrated that there is a wealth of championship material scattered throughout the district. Luke Callaghan Memorial and St. Michael's A.A. have established records in hockey circles which will take a lot of beating, while the boxers and wrestlers of the Y.M.C.A. and the Y.M.H.A. are known to every lover of amateur sport throughout the city. North Branch "Y" is also noted for its swordsmen and fencers. In the latter class the fair sex has been particularly prominent, and the same applies to the performers in the swimming tank. Moreover, the splendid spirit shown by North End residents during the campaign for funds for the Y.M.C.A. just closed shows an awakening of community interest which leaves little doubt that any support required for an undertaking of this nature would be readily forthcoming.

The athletic week proposition is, of course, in a very nebulous state. But one factor which would greatly simplify it would be that it would require little financial expenditure. The plan as informally discussed calls for a programme extending from Monday to Saturday. With the exception of the swimming, fencing, basketball and other contests requiring special facilities, the competitions would, naturally, be held in the open air. It is unfortunate that there is no amphitheatre of sufficient proportions to justify the name available north of Mount Royal Avenue at the present time, but either Fletcher's or Rockland Fields would answer very well for a beginning. Most of the contests would be held in the evening, but the lacrosse and baseball eliminations could readily be run off, to climax with the finals, on the closing Saturday afternoon. There are a number of splendid tennis courts in existence, and it is felt their managements would readily cooperate in making a success of an enterprise which would mean so much in focusing attention on the North End, and in thus furthering, even if indirectly, their own best interests. Then, again, Strathcona Academy and kindred institutions could be invited to enter teams in the junior contests, and it is quite possible other performers of the calibre of Gwen Pherrill, who is herself a North End girl, might be discovered before the contests concluded. Miss Pherrill, it will be remembered, was one of the outstanding contenders in various track meets last summer throughout the entire country. A name suggested for the enterprise, if finally decided upon, is "Week of Games," and it would open with a monster parade of athletes, male and female, bands and banners, other interested organizations, civic officials, policemen and "motor cops," and all the "fuss and feathers" which go so far towards making exhibitions either of skill or industry spectacular successes from the very outset. It is believed it would attract a great many people to the North End, delegates from the various schools and athletic organizations will be invited to a conference shortly, at which the proposition will be thoroughly gone over from every angle.

NEW PLATFORM AT ARENA FOR ROGERS SHOW

Seeing is quite as important as hearing when "Buddy" Rogers comes to town. More than half the pleasure of the whole show will be the fact that he is there in person and not just a picture on a screen or a voice over the air. To make sure of complete visibility, a special platform is now being built in the Mount Royal Arena. This will bring "Buddy" in full view of everyone in the audience. The chorus will have ample space to do their dance numbers and every member of the cast will be seen to full advantage. Ned Jakobs, under whose banner "Buddy" Rogers and the rest of the Broadway show comes to Montreal, made a trip to New York last week to make sure that all would be in readiness for the opening night, May 8th. He reports that "Buddy" is looking forward to his first visit to Montreal with keen anticipation. Matinees have been arranged daily with the exception of the opening day, and there will be three performances on the 13th.

Luke Callaghan Alumni Dance

The outstanding social reunion of the present season will take place at the "First Social and Card Party," under the auspices of the Luke Callaghan Alumni Association in the Rialto Hall and Gardens, Friday, May 18th, at 8:30 o'clock.

The Association has secured the distinguished patronage of the Hon. Jos. A. Mercier, K.C., M.P., for Laurier-Outremont, Alderman and Mrs. David Rochon, Alderman and Mrs. Owen J. Callary, Col. and Mrs. John Long, Dr. and Mrs. L. P. Nelligan, Dr. and Mrs. J. R. Carson, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas F. Cuddihy, Mr. Michael Kavanaugh, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Neville, Mr. and Mrs. L. N. Panneton, Mr. Joseph T. McCarthy and Mr. F. Dube.

The aim of the organization, as announced from the pulpit by Rev. Father Singleton, of St. Michael's Church, is the maintenance of a link between former students and their alumnus. A provisional executive has been elected as follows: President, Luke McDougall; Secretary, Raymond Altman; Treasurer, J. Conway; Publicity, Charles Cornell; Dance Committee, George Johnston in charge of ticket sales; William Blaxall, orchestra; floor arrangements, Harold Burman; entertainment, Charles Lawrence; ladies' committee, Anna Liston. The "Little Players of the Air" will appear in person, and music is to be supplied by Syd Jessop and his "Rhythm Kings."

NORTH BRANCH "Y" ANNUAL MEETING

On Tuesday night, May 8th, the North Branch Y.M.C.A. will hold its annual meeting under the chairmanship of Mr. E. C. Townsend. Supper will be served at 6:15 p.m. by the Ladies Auxiliary. The speaker of the evening will be Mr. Guy Tombs, a vice-president of the Metropolitan Board of the Montreal Y.M.C.A. The report of the nominating committee will be presented and the slate of officers drawn up by them is as follows: For re-election: W. J. Bryant, I. R. Carlin, C. H. Cheasley, Reg. Dawson, Wm. Gilmour, G. W. C. Ginn, E. L. Gilbert, Edward Holden, Wm. G. Lambert, J. H. Swift, E. C. Townsend, Eldon Wegg, W. C. Wilkinson, W. A. Wilson, and the new members proposed are: A. W. Craigmyle, J. W. MacDonald and Burnham Toft.

Nominations to the Advisory Board include: R. P. Bissell, S. W. Cuthbert, Rev. J. F. Morris, Rev. Wm. MacLean, H. R. MacGregor, Rev. Dr. Jas. G. Potter, Geo. S. Rorke, Rev. B. H. Robison, Rev. Chas. G. Smith and G. H. Whitehead.

The financial report will be presented by the executive secretary, George Porteous showing a deficit on the year's operations of $291.00. This deficit is due largely to the falling off of membership income, but has been off-set to some degree by an increase in revenue from dormitories.

The programme reports showing great increase in activities will be presented in written form in order that those interested may carefully study them at their leisure. In place

INFLUX OF NEW RESIDENTS IS MORE BUSINESS

Lesson For Progressive Merchants—First Contacts Count

With the beginning of May, a considerable number of new stores are opening up in the North End. And, if moving trucks are any yardstick, many new faces will be seen in the shops from now on. Which means keener competition, if that be possible. It is, therefore, the part of wisdom for the established merchant who moves to advise his patrons of his change of address. It takes a long time to work up a good clientele. Yet it can be lost in the twinkling of an eye. Old customers will usually follow the firm they have been trading with for years—if they know where it is. But shoppers follow the line of least resistance. That is human nature. The new stores will undoubtedly be reaching out for their share. It is safe to say that they wouldn't last long if they didn't. So between the old and the new there must naturally develop a keen rivalry and a brisk bidding for business. To the progressive and aggressive will belong the spoils!

Last Minute Flash

Word has been received from Alderman Rochon that all the evicted tenants in St. Michael's Ward, of which there were originally some ninety, have now been taken care of. He wishes to express his thanks for the co-operation of the landlords the majority of whom have shown a very fine spirit, and to the trucking companies who gave free of their services in what was for a time a very difficult situation.

YOUNG PEOPLE'S HEBREW LEAGUE

A board meeting of the Y.P.H.L. will be held on Monday, May 7th, 8:30 p.m. in room 23 of the Hebrew Educational Institute, 269 St. Joseph Blvd. W. Election of officers for the year 1934-35 will take place. Some of the officers have already been elected by acclamation at the previous board meeting. These are: treasurer, Cecil Miller; financial chairman, Harold W. Margolese; corresponding secretary, Miss Libby Baum; recording secretary, Hyman Margolese, and inside house chairman, Manuel Sachs.

All board members are kindly urged to attend this meeting in order to choose the remaining officers.

of reading these reports at the meeting interesting oral sketches will be given by members of the Boys', Young Men's and Young Ladies' divisions.

All members of the Y.M.C.A. wishing to attend his meeting should telephone CR. 2253 to reserve their places at the table. After the supper the meeting will be thrown open to all the members who wish to attend the business of the evening, commencing at 7 p.m.

PRaise FOR ST.M.A.A.

Dear Sir:— In writing this letter, I am giving expression to my feelings towards the St. Michael's Athletic Association. My opinions are based on facts alone, which you will realize during the course of my remarks. I had occasion to read in the columns of your paper that this organization have just completed a very successful year, and before proceeding with my remarks, I wish to state that they have my sincere wishes for a prosperous and very successful year that will follow. It was not an uncommon sight to see, prior to the organization of this Association, a large number of men and young men loitering on certain street corners in the north end of the city. Now however, it is an unusual occurrence to see these same men "hanging the dog" as it were. This athletic body has done much for the youth of the North End in the manner of keeping them from the streets by supplying them with well organized sporting activities as well as the use of the club rooms where they may indulge in popular indoor activities. I go on record as saying that they are doing much to make of the youth, future respectable citizens, and not, thieves, kidnapers, bums, or any other form of public nuisances. Before concluding I wish to emphatically state that I have not the

PROSPECTS GOOD FOR ST. MICHAEL'S PLAYGROUND AGAIN

One of Most Successful Last Season, Say Officials

The purpose of the Montreal Parks and Playgrounds Association is to demonstrate in the various sections of the city, the need for more playgrounds and playing fields for the youth of Montreal, and also to point out the value of directed play by competent supervisors.

The St. Michael's Playground, which was operated last summer, is situated at the corner of Bernard and Casgrain streets, and proved very successful. The number of children using this ground during the summer months of July and August, was 29,497.

The programme included for the girls—Folk dancing, singing, games, handicraft instruction, athletics and team games, etc.; and for the boys—athletic leagues, track and field, horseshoes, volleyball, etc. A health clinic was also carried on.

The Association hopes to carry on in this area again this year, and has received the following communication from Alderman David Rochon, who says in part: "I certainly am greatly interested in the welfare of our children, and you can depend upon my wholehearted co-operation at all times as regards to playgrounds in the ward. I feel certain that the same arrangements which existed last year can be made this year."

The Montreal Parks and Playgrounds Association considers that St. Michael's Playground was one of the most successful last season, as the co-operation from parents, children, and the older boys and girls was very gratifying. Through the co-operation of the "North End Examiner" the Association was able to intelligently inform residents of the district about our programme and aims.

Y.M.H.A. URBAN CAMPS

After four years of experimentation the Y.M.H.A. Urban Camp opens its fifth season as the "dean" of local camps. The "home camp" idea took a good hold on Montreal and for the first time in history it will be possible to have inter-home-camp activities on a large scale. Among the organizations to sponsor this "stay-at-home" camp project are three branches of the Y.M.C.A. in various parts of the city, and the Mount Royal Chapter No. 85 of Aleph Zadik Aleph on Fletchers Field. In all there will be five such camps and leagues for softball, soccer, volleyball, as well as meets in track and field, and swimming are already being planned.

Because school closes a few days earlier this year, the "Y" Urban Camp will open on Saturday, June 30th with an appropriate Junior Congregation Service in the Boys' Synagogue. These services will be held every Saturday at 10:00 a.m. and the Jewish boys and girls of all the

Hoping to see this letter published in your columns, I am,

SO SAYS ALDERMAN ROCHON REGARDING COMMUNITY HALL

Street Cleaning, Fairmount Avenue Paving Being Attended To

Alderman Rochon is very much in favor of a Community Hall. He made that point clear in no uncertain terms in an interview today. He is in favor, indeed of much more than that. He wants a real Community Centre, right in the heart of St. Michael's Ward. This centre, he said, would consist of a suitable building, in which would be housed, on the first floor a public bath; on the second a clinic; on the third, check rooms and other necessary offices, including one for the alderman, where he would be readily accessible at all times to those who wished to see him; and on the fourth the Community Hall itself, where meetings and assemblies could be properly accommodated. To do the thing right, he admitted, would take a little time, since such an undertaking involves no small amount of money. He had, however, been offered twenty thousand dollars for the improvement of Turcotte Bath, which he had refused, believing that, in the first place, twenty thousand dollars would not put it into first class condition, and, in the second, that the situation was not what was wanted. Asked as to what was being done in the direction of cleaning up the streets, he pointed out that he had already succeeded in securing the services of several gangs of men, who are assiduously at work, and that the laying of the surface on Fairmount Avenue would be proceeded with just as soon as the frost was out of the ground. This latter project was all taken care of, he stated, and the task of improving conditions generally could reasonably be expected from now on to go steadily forward. "Too much could not be looked for immediately," he pointed out, since the funds available were none too plentiful, but on one matter, that of the Community Centre, he was most emphatic. "I am going to keep right on fighting for that," he said, "until they give it to me to shut me up."

The pressing difficulty confronting Mr. Rochon at the moment, however, is that of finding shelter for the unfortunates who have had their belongings put on the street, and, as he graphically expresses it, he "has his hands full."

other home camps will be guests of the Association. An appropriate Dominion Day ceremony will be held on Monday, July 2nd, in the Auditorium.

During the entire summer Friday afternoons will be devoted to trips of industrial and historical interest. Only two Fridays will feature different programs: August 3rd, Patron's Day, and August 17, movies. A special program of outdoor and indoor activities and a mid-season exhibit is being planned for Patron's Day. Arrangements are also being made to hold two open-air campfires in July and August.

From present indications registration in the urban camp will begin on June 18th, and continue for ten days. Medical and dental examinations will be held during the week of June 25th. Since there is absolutely no extra charge to members for the urban camp a record attendance is expected this year.

Winter Resort Menus Give Many Smart Tips

Tanned and gay, the lucky sun-seekers are returning from Florida, the West Indies, and Bermuda. They bring clever tips and new ideas to make life refreshing. In those sunny places where meat courses must be tempting, jams and jellies are served to emphasize the flavour of all main dishes.

At breakfast, there is always a fruity sweet dish to top off the meal as in Canada. At lunch, with cold plate or a salad, little individual cups, hold some sparkling jam or jelly. Toast or crackers always have their little jam pots.

Although relishes and salads are served at dinner, there is still the delicious fruit jelly to emphasize the flavor of meats. Some of the combinations were very interesting.

Roast chicken with currant or apple jelly.

Roast turkey with cranberry jelly.

Roast lamb with mint jelly.

Roast pork with cider or grape jelly.

Baked ham with pepper relish.

Filet mignon with spiced cranberry jam.

Boiled lamb chops with currant jelly or currant mint sauce.

Roast duck with orange jelly.

Broiled squab with currant jelly.

Even chicken croquettes had little bits of bright jelly in the slight depression on the top of each cone.

The currant mint sauce that accompanied broiled lamb chops is easily made.

Simply cut 1/2 cup red currant jelly into fine pieces. Cut into thin, short strips one quarter of an orange rind (yellow part only) and add this to jelly.

Then add 1 1/2 tablespoons fresh mint leaves finely chopped.

Makes 1/2 cup sauce.

Winter or summer, these southerners must have their meat sweet. Cider jelly is made at any time and has a stimulating tang for these spring days.

4 cups (2 lbs.) sweet apple cider

7 1/2 cups (3 3/4 lbs.) sugar

1 cup bottled fruit pectin

Measure cider and sugar into large saucepan and mix. Bring to a boil over hottest fire and at once add

Suggestions For Low-Cost Meals

The choice of unusual meats is quite a problem to the house-keeper who is working on a budget, especially if they must have the double advantage of being both savory and economical.

Today we are suggesting a number of meat dishes that are out of the ordinary and, at the same time, in the inexpensive class.

Hungarian Goulash

1/4 teaspoon pepper

A few caraway seeds

2 tablespoons flour

1/4 teaspoon paprika

1 teaspoon salt

1/2 teaspoon allspice.

Cut the meat in cubes. Cut bacon in small pieces and fry with the onion

Add flour mixed with a little cold water, the paprika and allspice. Mix well. Stew until meat is tender. If desired, potatoes cut in cubes may be added 20 minutes before serving.

Lamb and Green Pepper Hash

1 cup cooked lamb, chopped

1/2 small green pepper, shredded

1 cup hot water or stock

1/2 cup tomato juice

Melt the fat and add the onion; simmer to a golden brown, and add the meat and green pepper. Stir over the fire until well mixed, pour in the water and tomato juice. Cook gently five minutes, serve on toast fingers and garnish with parsley.

What One Girl Wore

By Betty Brownlee

The calendar can't be wrong. Spring is really here. And after that old debbil Winter of '34 that we'll all be telling our grandchildren about, we're ready to greet the new season more enthusiastically than ever.

We're out first of all to get as bright a printed frock as we can find. Prints, of course, are in high favor, and while patterns are smaller and more restrained than last year, they do run riot in color. Our new frock will have rounded shoulders—anglers are out, Paris says—and either a high or a low neckline. Both are smart, and we'll choose the one that is most becoming.

And, of course, there'll be a very exquisite and elegant evening gown in our wardrobe of crepe, or chiffon, or even tulle—all equally smart Spring fabrics. If we want to be very sophisticated we'll choose one of the new gowns with a removable train.

When the first really mild days come along and we're certain there's no chill in the air we're going to buy a coat-dress for street wear. We say one we liked very much this week and have sketched it for you today. It is fashioned of black crinkly crepe pectin, stirring constantly. Then bring to a full rolling boil, and boil hard 1 minute. Remove from fire, skim, pour quickly. Paraffin at once. Makes about 11 glasses of six ounces each.

and its collar and cuffs are edged with embroidered linen that boasted a star motif. Metal buttons, star shaped, fasten the skirt closing. The sleeves are the new length.

The Coat-Dress Makes Its Appearance in Black Crinkly Crepe with a Color Edging of Embroidered Linen. The Star Motif in the Linen is Repeated in the Two-Metal Buttons Used at the Skirt Closing.

SPEAKING OF HOLLYWOOD FASHIONS

Hollywood, Calif.—Guy Kibbee has just purchased a pair of the new style overalls to replace the pair he bought last year for gardening. The old ones are good as new except for the worn seat.

Joan Blondell, whose youthful beauty has often shone on the screen in attractive undress, refuses to wear this season's bathing suits on the beach because they are too revealing.

Zazu Pitts, now at Warner Bros. production of "Dames", is proudly wearing a sweater knitted by her eleven-year-old daughter.

Hugh Herbert has refused to buy his wife one of the fashionable new cocktail jackets. He claims it is foolish extravagance to have a special costume just for a friendly swig.

Ruby Keeler has bought her little Pekinese, "Happy", one of those mooshy woolen collars for these cold evenings.

Several Warner Bros. players have been fitted to a new style yachting cap, in case Warren William invites them for a cruise on the Pegasus.

The new "square beret" is introduced by Maureen O'Sullivan in "The Thin Man", a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production directed by W. S. Van Dyke. The beret is fashioned of velvet and caught at the side by a jeweled clip. The frock she was wearing was smartly tailored in oxford-grey wool. Beret and accessories were of bottle green.

Mary Carlisle, featured Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer player, bounded into the studio commissary with a pep that must have been inspired by her new sports outfit. It was of two-tone green sheer wool. Trimming was confined to the neckline and consisted only of diminutive tucks and a pair of effective gold sport clips.

"Something different" in formal wear was introduced recently by Madge Evans, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer featured player. Departing from the customary formal fabrics, Miss Evans chose a sheer wool in a deep mulberry shade. The bodice and tiny detachable cape were created in heavy crinkle-crepe plaid of blending colors. The smart simplicity of the ensemble was heightened by the fact that no jewelry, or ornaments were present to detract from the beauty of the design.

"Nautical but nice" is Jean Harlow's new sailor dress of heavy white crepe. The sailor collar of brilliant blue appears to be on backward—but that's the way they're wearing them this year. Instead of hanging properly down the back it is swung to the front to give a better view of the jaunty white silk embroidered anchors that decorate each corner.

Arthur Vinton, who usually plays deep-dyed villains recently donned a

Silhouettes of Your Favorite Stars

(This is a series of pen portraits of the various screen stars, and appears exclusively in this paper. If there are any stars that you would like to have included in this series, just address your communication to the Editor.)

Verree Teasdale was born in Spokane, Washington, on a certain March 15th, but moved as a child with her parents to New York, where she received her education.

Sara Teasdale, the famous poetess who died recently, was her cousin, and Edith Wharton, the novelist, is her second cousin. The name Verree (pronounced like Marie) is a family name dating from Civil War times when a young Northern officer named Teasdale married a Southern girl of French parentage, whose last name was Verree. And... it may interest you to know that to her intimates, Verree Teasdale is known as "Voo voo."

Her earliest ambition was to go upon the stage and all of her education was directed toward that end. Was active in dramatics in Erasmus Hall and at Miss Perkins School for Girls, then she began in earnest at Sergeant's School of Dramatic Art and the New York School of Expression.

Her first professional engagement was in Philip Barry's play, "The Youngest." Got the job by asking for it without any special pull or recommendation. Other Broadway successes followed, including "The Constant Wife", with Ethel Barrymore; "The Greeks Had a Word For It," and "Experience Unnecessary."

Then came the movies, her first picture being "Skyscraper Souls." She likes the screen as well as the stage and wants to be a big success on the screen. Outside of her dramatic work she likes to design clothes. Often plans the gowns she wears in a picture and has had numerous good offers to become a designer.

Her favorites in pictures are Adolphe Menjou, Helen Hayes, Ann Harding and William Powell. Of the stage she prefers Helen Hayes.

Likes the plays of Somerset Maugham, the musical comedy melodies of Jerome Kern, and the operas of Verdi.

Her favorite screen role to date is that of "The Duchess" in "Fashions of 1934", and she considers "Love, Honor and Oh Baby" her worst picture. Declares "Convention City" is the picture she enjoyed watching most. It had Adolphe Menjou in the leading role.

She is intensely interested in music, she plays the piano well and has a good singing voice. She likes to sketch—her interest in designing has made her adept at sketching. And she enjoys good books—especially novels by Somerset Maugham. Likes to read in bed.

Next to America she would like to live in Southern France, saying, "It is so centrally located. You can get on a train at night and be in a different world the next morning. The climate is ideal." Vive la France!

But she buys her clothes wherever the styles suit her. Often sends for a dress-maker and tosses her a sketch she has made and says, "Make me that, please."

To keep fit she sleep long hours and plays eighteen holes of golf every day—when she can get away

She Made It Herself

You'll have to excuse Betty Furness, film actress, if she boasts about this costume—for she made it herself. Of closely woven beige wool lace over brown broadcloth, the dress sports unique wooden buttons.

from the studio. She tans easily, rides well, and swims often.

Doesn't have to diet. Just eats what she pleases. Her favorite dish is Rice Purlieu, a Southern concoction. Likes corned beef and cabbage, but doesn't care for oysters. Has a Japanese cook who can make real Bird's Nest Soup and often does. She likes it. She was taught to cook by her mother but has conveniently forgotten all she learned.

For beauty aids she recommends soap and water and lots of sleep. She sleeps in a nightgown and dislikes pajamas except for the beach. Doesn't go for tricky beauty preparations. Mostly uses her own good sense.

She has no pet economies. Declares she is an expensive person but not an extravagant one. Adding, "There is a difference." But she drives a Ford car. Thirteen is her lucky number. Plays it when she gambles.

She likes popcorn, ice cream, and good puns. Enjoys cold weather and likes to ride on a roller coaster. She reads the "funnies", likes rocking chairs, and listens patiently to other peoples troubles. Is a fair bridge and backgammon player and likes to watch polo and tennis matches. Is an excellent whistler. Some say, better than Bing Crosby.

Can't resist having her fortune told at any and every opportunity. Doesn't always believe all the pleasant things these fortune tellers tell her, but declares it is all so comforting. However, she is not what you would call superstitious, although she will never have anything to do with an umbrella and she doesn't care for cats.

Has an unusual hobby. Is a collector of baby pictures. Has hundreds of 'em—maybe thousands. She keeps them, puts them away in trunks and boxes, then brings 'em out and looks at 'em. Doesn't know any of the babies personally.

She doesn't like to be on the top of tall buildings, doesn't care a ding about airplanes, hates elevators which descend too swiftly, and she very much dislikes obsequious waiters. Dislikes missing trains, but often does. Doesn't care for a tub bath, preferring a shower. Doesn't smoke cigarettes and dislikes being tickled because is very ticklish.

Is very much in favor of domesticity. At the present moment the gentleman in the case is Adolphe Menjou. Their wedding is scheduled for sometime in August (1934) and their honeymoon will be spent in Spain.

She has other pets. A West Highland terrier named "Ladie Boy", a canary called "Boots," and three turtles with "Forget Me Not" spelled out in brilliants on their backs—a gift from Adolphe Menjou. Also sports a bracelet on her right wrist from which dangle ten little gold good-luck pieces—a tiny whistle which blows, a tiny corkscrew which opens, a miniature washboard and tub, a four leaf clover and six other gadgets. A gift from Monsieur Menjou.

Is mildly interested in government politics. Is trying to comprehend what is happening to the dollar but admits she doesn't understand it very well.

Verree Teasdale is five feet six inches tall, weighs 125 pounds, has blonde hair and blue grey eyes.

You have seen her on the screen in "Skyscraper Souls," "Payment vidually. In each case, he measured the rhythm with a metronome.

"I believe parents of children who cry often should be envied rather than pitied," states Cremin. These children can positively be developed into the radio crooners and opera singers of the future."

It is his opinion that attention should be given to babies who cry continually, but not the coddling customary at present. Instead, the musical director and author advocates the use of metronomes by parents so as to control the youngster's howling. In this way he believes the little crying juniors can become future Crosby and Vallee's.

Swedish Y.M.C.A. Scouts have invited a British contingent to camp with them in the south of Sweden.

Princess Lingerie Moves to More Commodious Premises

The Princess Lingerie Shoppe, located for a period of years at 1059 Bernard avenue, transfers its place of business as from today to 1087 Bernard avenue, at the corner of Querbes, and just a few doors west of its former location. The new premises are much larger and more commodious, and it is the intention, the management states, to add a number of new lines to its already extensive assortment of women's wear, including additions to its dress department, which will enable it to carry the latest sports models, and an extensive array of linens. A cordial invitation is extended to visit the new shoppe.

Is It Cause for Joy or Sorrow? Crying Kids, Crooner of Tomorrow

New York. — Babies who cry a great deal possess singing possibilities, declared Arthur Cremin, noted music authority.

After making a study of infant wailing, Cremin has discovered that those baby cry yelps that usually send tired fathers to floor-walking in the middle of the night, actually have musical rhythm. Even in babies as young as six weeks of age, Cremin claims he found the presence of a melody in their cries.

The music authority listened to over one hundred children cry indifferently. "Love, Honor, And Oh Baby" and "Roman Scandals."

She is now under contract to Warner Bros.-First National, and her pictures to date include "Fashions of 1934", with William Powell and "A Modern Hero", with Richard Barthelmess.

"Too Old"

In its issue of March thirtieth last this newspaper published, under the caption "Youth's Tragedy," an editorial calling attention to the "persistence with which many employers have been jettisoning thousands of young men and women, on the plea of economy, and, it would seem, without the slightest consideration for the hardships involved in the jettisoning process." The editorial pointed out that "today, at twenty-one, twenty-two, twenty-three, perhaps, these thousands find themselves on the street, their youth slipping from them, and being told, with monotonous regularity, when they apply for positions, that they are 'too old.'" What might develop eventually from the situation, the article concluded, was difficult to visualize. Now it transpires that Mr. Haydn Davies, of London, entertains much the same thought—with this difference, however, that he paints even a more gloomy picture. Addressing the conference of the National Association of Schoolmasters, Mr. Davies, according to published reports, had this to say:

"We are rapidly approaching the day when the average boy of this country will be too old at twenty. We have to face the fact that the products of our schools today are destined for one thing only, and that is unemployment." He is presumably a qualified instructor, and should, therefore, know whereof he speaks.

And so the question arises: "What are we to do with our children?" We simply cannot start them out to school any earlier! Many of them now can scarcely toddle when we tuck their scribblers under their arms and give them an apple for "teacher."—said apple, incidentally, seldom reaching that dignified personage, we oftentimes fear; we cannot lengthen the study hours—they are too long already for the young bodies which need all the sunshine and outdoor activity they can get to bring them to their fullest development; and we cannot cram any more learning into them, for, if we may believe what the reports tell us, their teachers are having their hands full cramming into them what they should absorb now! So, what shall we do? If the student, at twenty, is headed for the "bread line," the only answer would seem to be to stop the school course at the fifth or sixth grade. It is scarcely conceivable that a country with the enormous natural resources and the sparse population of Canada cannot do better by its young men and women than to tell them that the more education they acquire, the less opportunity will be given to them to use it! But—there you are.

"OUR RECORDS SHOW—"

Some Queer Results from Combination of Card-Index and Bureaucratic Mind

The absurd lengths to which some modern "follow-up" systems of card-indexing can go is illustrated by an incident recently quoted in The Eastern Underwriter from The New Yorker. A photographer who had taken pictures at the marriage of a prominent young New York lady, phoned her four years later and asked if he might photograph her with her children. "I'm sorry," said the young lady, "but I have no children." The photographer was adamant, however. "But madam," he persisted, "our records show that you have." The extreme bureaucratic mind is exemplified further in the receipt of a note from a department store by a customer: "Your signature does not agree with the spelling of your name in our records. Would you please, in future, change your signature to agree..." etc.

In England, according to a new custom at parties, its time to go home when all the sand in a hour glass has run down. Here, the time to leave is after the ice melts.

Now that we have television it is going to be awfully hard on the near sighted who have to make long distance calls — telephone books will look like family albums — the phone company will have to install dark booths for sheiks who make blind dates.

LOANS TO WESTERN PROVINCES

Loans by the Dominion to the four Western Provinces outstanding on March 31 last totalled $50,740,000 it was revealed in the budget presented yesterday by Hon. E. N. Rhodes, Minister of Finance. The minister submitted a table showing the loans divided under three heads:

	Man.	Sask.	Alta.	B.C.	Total
Loans covering obligations maturing in New York	$1,693,000	$3,934,000	$5,111,000	$1,372,000	$15,020,000
Loans for assistance to farmers, including seed-grain purchase	304,900	4,893,000	140,000	—	5,337,900
Loans for provincial purposes, including public works, direct relief	5,170,000	14,728,000	4,800,000	5,676,000	30,383,000
Total	$10,068,000	$23,555,000	$10,051,000	$7,048,000	$50,740,000

"By cutting out the reading of the figures, Mr. Rhodes kept his pronouncement within reasonable bounds. Otherwise, the length of it would have done credit to a former minister of old and another famous son of Cumberland, the late Sir Charles Tupper. There were some sentences and expressions indicating that "R. B." had a hand in it—suggestions of his fine Macaulian finish. The budget, of course, is the pronouncement of the government though the main author and editor and general supervisor and the one who makes the speech is the minister of finance. It was a most worthy effort." — Charles Bishop in Ottawa Citizen.

H. S. Ross

A group of prominent men in England appealed recently through the London Times for a Parliamentary Enquiry into the monetary system, and the "modern paradox of poverty in the midst of plenty." The appeal declares that the present monetary system has broken down and must be replaced by "a system under which the issue and recall of currency and credit will be regulated on a rational, national and scientific basis so that the great number of money tokens shall be available to consumers to enable them to enjoy the output of production." The object of production is consumption, they point out, and this kindergarten thesis ought to be written large over the entrances of all Parliamentary institutions. With the illusions we have of unemployed by the million in the world, it would seem that the kindergarten principles of trade had not yet been learned. There is of course the excuse that for several generations we have been carefully taught that the law of supply and demand does not recognize the demands of starving and unemployed people. The law of supply and demand takes it for granted that everybody is employed at good wages and can buy all they want. This unfortunate commission in the London Times and the hope is that so many people not only in England but throughout the world will apply themselves to the working out of a solution.

W. G. Ernst, M.P., one of the younger and abler of the members of the Conservative Party of the House of Commons, a lawyer, a Rhodes Scholar, and a soldier with a brilliant record, in an address to the Bennett Young Canada Club at Ottawa, recently, reviewed the history of the Conservative Party since Confederation. The Bennett Government, he stated, had met with tremendous problems since 1930, problems of the world depression, more successfully perhaps than any other country.

As to the future, he stated, the problem is "Planned economics and controlled Capitalism, or Socialism."

HON. E. L. PATENAUDE
 "A former figure in parliament and public life was on the front pages on the day following the official, but anticipated, announcement of the Prime Minister that Hon. E. L. Patenaude had been made lieutenant-governor of Quebec. He was here as a minister of different departments in the Borden regime, then resigned at the time of conscription who made the appeal through the 1925 election, he essayed an independent role; professedly he was aloof from any entangling alliances with any party. He was to head an independent group. Nevertheless, the suspicion became deep-rooted that the detachment was not an enduring condition and that, if the Conservatives came back to power, quiet conversations might bridge the ostensible disruption in the family relation. Mr. Patenaude failed, however, to make the grade and next year, confirming the surmise, he came back to the Meighen cabinet. But its day was one of exceptional brevity. The minister was defeated in his district. He will make a good governor. He has evidently accumulated cash, and can keep his end up. But, like the others, he won't be killed by exhaustion from the onerous nature of the duties of a high social and official position." — Charles Bishop in Ottawa Citizen.

What is a Career?

by RUBY KEELER

For some reason or other, interviewers invariably ask me to give an opinion regarding a career versus marriage. Possibly it's because I'm so happily married and have a career too.

The point that I can't understand is why I'm the one singled out for this inquiry. There are countless happily married women who have their careers in conjunction with their wedded life, and why these two objectives can't be attained together—as so many think they can't—isn't for me to say.

I wouldn't know. In fact, I don't know of any reason. I can't really understand why the words "marriage" and "career" are always coupled together with the word 'versus' in between.

The whole subject resolves itself, really, to the question what constitutes a career. For a man, it appears to me, it's the line of endeavor adopted by which an individual hopes to win success.

The same definition may be applied for a woman, and for the most part the life success of a woman comes in maintaining a real home. According to the general scheme of things, marriage furnishes the real feminine career. There are those who think they can find a worthy career away from the home, and there is a third group, those who believe they can manage both careers.

I say both careers, for as I see it, marriage is sufficiently a career for any woman. Home and marriage are the basic career of my sex, and any other calling is really secondary.

I'm fortunate in having both careers. I'm very happily married and, I'm told, I'm popular with moving picture audiences. As long as I can maintain both without injury to either, I'll have both marriage and my screen work.

Should the occasion ever arise, however, when I must forfeit either, there won't be a moments hesitation or regret on my part in making my decision.

You see, I'm not really Ruby Keeler. I'm Mrs. Al Jolson.

In Training

As the temperature rises and the warm spring weather approaches, more schoolboys can be seen on Tuesdays and Thursdays at McGill Stadium, limbering up for the "Strathcona Annual School Meet," which takes place this season on May 17th, 1934.

For some, this is only a workout, but for the majority, it is an honest effort to end in the scoring column.

This year there is more activity than ever in preparation for school meets, as the boys from all the high schools in Canada are looking with envious eyes to a position on the "All Canadian" school-boy contingent that will tour Australia in the late summer. All those who have any ability, and are interested, should try their hardest for perhaps there is another Percy Williams or Phil Edwards in our midst whom only steady training will lift above the crowd.

Due to a tie game played last week, the boys from rooms 42 and 41 were forced to play another deciding game last Monday on the Guy Drummond grounds. The team from room 42 chalked up a decisive win, score being 7-1. Josephson pitched well for the winners, while Robert seemed a trifle wild for room 41.

Due to Monday's win by room 42, a three-cornered tie now exists, which will necessitate six more games to decide the title.

Exams

The last lot of exams before the semi-finals and matrics were written on Thursday, May 3rd. The school is now settling down for the last lap before breaking up for the holidays.

Harney, Chubb, O'Brien, Mulvanie. Beavers line-up: Horbas, McVey, Ambrosi, Grieco, Noel, Manning, Heaney, O'Connell, Shannon.

Lacrosse

In the face of a loss to the Mount St. Louis Lacrosse Team Saturday in the opening of the Senior Inter-scholastic Lacrosse League of Montreal, by a score of 7-5, the St. Michael's Seniors shaped up very well indeed, according to Benny Haynes, coach of the Senior team.

The line-up for the Seniors: Sage, Sallie, Davies, Boyne, Wilson, Lawton, McKinnon, McMullin, Coady, Corley and O'Brien.

The Juniors played a fine exhibition lacrosse game with Belmont School Sunday afternoon, upon the Globe grounds.

Debate Results

The weight of the fine idealistic arguments rendered by Gerald Dobby in denying that "Preparation for War is a guarantee of Peace," debated in the school auditorium Friday afternoon, was partly the reason for the judges' decision that the negative had presented the better case.

Gerald Dobby and Joseph Costanzo supported the negative for the Tenth while William Turner and John Granda upheld the affirmative for Ninth Grade. The judges were Jos. T. McCarthy, Charles R. Cornell and F. Mancini.

Glenda Farrell says that those new style bonnets may be shaped like a tray, but they look like the deuce.

Basketball

On Monday evening a very successful and interesting house league schedule came to a close with two teams fighting it out for third place and the right to enter the playoffs. The Patchers came through to defeat the Bears in the opening game of the night. This game was a very exciting and hard-fought struggle, with both teams checking hard. The Butchers started off on the right foot by taking a seven point lead at half time. Captain Jim Roberts did more than his share in collecting 10 points, while George Fitz-Gerald was the high scorer for the Bears. The score of the game was 32-17 in favour of the Butchers. Half-time score was 17-10 for Butchers.

The second game was almost as interesting and exciting as the first. The only difference was that there was nothing at stake, as the Maple Leaf, leaders of the league, had already cinched first place, while the Dynamiters were out of the running. The score of this game was 25-22 for Maple Leafs.

In the third game the Smoke-Eaters defeated the Toilers, and this eliminated them from the play-offs.

The final standing:
 Won Lost Pts.
 Maple Leafs 9 1 18

Bears	8	2	16
Butchers	5	5	10
Toilers	4	6	8
Dynamiters	3	7	6
Smoke Eaters	1	9	2

The Play-offs between the first three teams begins on Thursday. The Bears take on the Butchers in a sudden death game, the winner to meet the Maple Leafs on Monday and Thursday next week, in a two-game series, with the total points to count.

HERE-THERE-EVERYWHERE GOODYEARS COME FIRST!

Public preference for Goodyears was proved 44 times in 1933.

Investigators recorded the makes of tires on thousands of cars gathered at hockey games, race meets, golf tournaments, the Canadian National Exhibition and other important events.

Every tire—back, front and spare—on every car was carefully tabulated, and in every survey Goodyear Tires far outnumbered every other make. The public could not speak its preference for Goodyear Tires more emphatically, more clearly!

Next time you see a lot of parked cars, glance along the rows of tires. Goodyear! Goodyear!! Goodyear!!! You'll see for yourself that Goodyears are obviously first choice—the leading tire.
