POSSIBILITY OF ARMED UPRISING DISCOUNTED

French Cabinet Facing Difficult Task -- Continue Debate

Many Extremists Are Rounded Up By Sofia Police

Having Proclaimed Martial Law, Bulgarian Government Now Has Ordered a House to House Search of All Soviets—Street Traffic Is Prohibited and Patrols of Soldiers and Police Pass Incessantly—Sofia Is in Mourning and All Stores Are Closed—Possibility of Armed Uprising Is Discounted, But Further Outrages Against Persons and Property Are Not Unlikely, and Authorities Are Taking All Possible Precautions.

SOFIA, April 18.—The Bulgarian Government is taking extraordinary measures to prevent any further development of the terrorist campaign marked by the attempt against King Boris and the bombing of the Sveti Kral Cathedral with the loss of one hundred and sixty lives.

Large numbers of Communists and agrarian extremists have been arrested, and it is reported that a number of Communists were killed during the night, this resulting from the feeling against them engendered by the Cathedral outrage.

Having proclaimed martial law, yesterday, the Government now has ordered a house to house search of all Soviets. Street traffic is prohibited and patrols of soldiers and police pass incessantly. The city is in mourning and all the stores are closed.

TWO BOXES OF EXPLOSIVES WERE DISCOVERED

The question uppermost in the public mind is whether the attempt against the King and the Cathedral bombing are the preludes of more serious troubles. The possibility of an armed uprising is discounted, but further outrages against persons and property are not unlikely and the authorities are taking all possible precautions.

Two boxes of explosives and automatic pistols are reported to have been found at the Kohtenez Station, on the Paris-Constantinople railway route. The explosives, it is believed, were to have been used in destroying a big bridge nearby.

ORTHODOX EASTER WILL BE SAD HOLIDAY

The orthodox Easter will be a sad holiday for the inhabitants of Sofia, especially the relatives of the Cathedral victims. Almost all the dead have terrible wounds about the head and shoulders, making identification difficult. No foreigners are believed to have been in the edifice when the outrage occurred.

The explosion was so severe that one of the three cupolas of the Cathedral collapsed, another is in a dangerous condition, and the great side portal was blown down. The dead include Police Prefect Kissoff, Departmental Prefect Medelechev, Mayor Paskaleff, five retired generals, Naidenov, Nezezoff, Zlatereff, Loloff and Popoff, former War Minister Davidoff, and four members of the Chamber of Deputies.

MANY OF THE WOUNDED ARE EXPECTED TO DIE

(Associated Press Despatch)
LONDON, April 18.—The death list from the bomb outrage in the Sveti Kral Cathedral at Sofia, Thursday, has reached 160, including five members of the Bulgarian parliament, it is stated in official despatches received here today. Many of the wounded are expected to die.

SHOOTING DELIBERATELY ORGANIZED BY COMMUNISTS

(Associated Press Despatch)
ROME, April 18.—Vladimir Molloff, Bulgarian representative to the Inter-parliamentary Commercial Congress now meeting here told the Epoca that the recent violent incidents in Bulgaria demonstrate the disintegration of Communism.

"If the Communists were really strong in Bulgaria they would not resort to such extreme terrorist and desperate means to gain power," Molloff said.

He expressed certitude that the shooting at the automobile of King Boris of Bulgaria, near Sofia on Tuesday, was deliberately organized by Communists.

"It is absurd to believe they would have attacked the automobile without knowing who the occupants were," he said.

NATIVES POUR INTO KANO TO GREET PRINCE

Newcomers Displayed So Much Enthusiasm and Made So Much Noise that Sleep Was Impossible—Scene Was Amazing.

(Associated Press Despatch)
KANO, Nigeria, April 18.—Crowds of natives poured into Kano all night long to get a view of the Prince of Wales, who arrived here yesterday. The newcomers displayed great enthusiasm, blowing horns and making so much noise that sleep was impossible.

The scene from the building tops this morning was amazing, great streams of plodding natives stretching for miles in all directions, converging on Kano like a swarm of ants.

The Emirs have already congregated for the Durbar (formal reception to native princes). Most of them travelled hundreds of miles, accompanied by hosts of retainers, and there were many deaths among the parties owing to the intense heat and jungle ailments.

All the Emirs are attired in new and costly garments, acquired especially for their interview with the royal traveller.

Attended a Dance

Despite the long train journey and his exertions at tennis, the Prince attended a dance after dinner last evening.

The history of the organization of the dance and the preparations for the event is interesting. Six weeks ago the site, two miles outside Kano, was ordinary bush, with a small fish pond in a valley below.

Stirred with enthusiasm over the Prince's forthcoming visit the inhabitants cleared the whole area, laid an excellent dance floor, installed electric lights and drained the pond, making it into an artistic flower garden.

Heavy rains tugged the garden into a swamp, but by strenuous exertions it was reconverted into an attractive little lake, which last night under the black African starry sky and the nearby artificial lighting presented a pleasing picture.

Many Visitors Present

Kano's white population is only 350, but five hundred were present at the dance, visitors having come from all parts of the northern provinces. Nineteen of the twenty five women present had travelled great distances to welcome the Prince.

The Prince received every person present and danced every dance. A striking scene awaited the Prince when he arrived at eight o'clock this morning for the Durbar. There were twenty thousand horsemen ranged in a horseshoe formation, all flaunting their colors. Mounted British officers commanding the native troops hurried about, completing their arrangements for the event. P.Press despatches were taken from Durbar to the Kano Post Office by mounted police who galloped across the fields to get the news of the event to the wires.

As the Prince arrived complete silence fell on the big arena, this being the Nigerian manner of showing respect. Then a Nigerian regimental band, the members of which played by ear, burst into a stirring march and hundreds of natives drums were vigorously beaten.

Immediately upon his arrival the Prince took a seat on the dais which was covered with a multi-colored canopy captured during fighting seventy years ago. A parade of Nigerian infantry and artillerymen, the latter carrying gun parts on their heads, was executed with beautiful precision. The crowd gave the spectacle a tumultuous reception, cheer after cheer breaking forth as the drums continued to roll.

Wonderful Display of Horsemanship
Troops of the Emirs' cavalry charged into the field almost to the Prince's feet, with their lances at point and their swords, many of them dating back to the Crusader times, waving in the air. At the last moment they pulled up spectacularly within a space less than two yards from the Prince, giving a magnificent display of horsemanship.

Great manoeuvres of cavalry followed, wave upon wave of horsemen, each headed by a band playing ancient instruments and all clad in the most gorgeous uniforms, carrying out their movements with veteran-like precision.

The Prince viewed the scene with the most intense interest, and the crowd went wild as the exultant drums rolled ceaselessly.

The whole procession, in which many thousands participated, passed off without the slightest hitch.

French Taxpayer Must Come To The Rescue Of His Menaced Currency--Lloyd George

LONDON, April 18.—(By Cable)—Germany and France are both confronted with problems which are in essence identical and in both cases the difficulties go to the root of democratic efficiency. France proved, in 1914-1918, that a democratic country can wage war with equal skill and greater tenacity than nations ruled by autocracies. But peace, following an exhausting war, has embarrassments, burdens and perils of its own which put an even greater strain on the quality of democratic institutions.

The French and German republics alike have yet to answer two questions of immediate practical importance. The first is whether a democracy is, in time of peace, capable of making the necessary sacrifices in taxation to balance budgets and restore credit. The second is whether, in periods of calm, the progressive elements in a democratic community are capable of uniting for a sustained effort to achieve common ends.

Germany seems, for the time being, to have surmounted her budgetary troubles. Germany seems, for the time being, to have surmounted her budgetary troubles.

Two Formidable Problems Are Taken Up By Painleve Cabinet -- Socialist Group Waiting For Government's Declaration

Attitude of Moderate Conservative Groups Shows that Cabinet Would Have Great Difficulty in Finding a Majority in Chamber of Deputies if Socialists Abandon It, Even if It Is Decided to Adopt a Conciliatory Policy Regarding the Religious Conflict.

(Associated Press Despatch)
PARIS, April 18.—The new cabinet met this morning for its first real grapple with the details of the formidable tasks before it, the first of which is to reconcile Foreign Minister Briand's advocacy of the maintenance of a French ambassador to the Vatican, with the opposition to this course by the majority in the Chamber of Deputies; and second, to overcome the eventual opposition of the Socialists to a financial policy that includes a capital levy.

Both of these important questions must be treated frankly in the ministerial declaration now being prepared by Premier Painleve and which will be read to the Chamber and Senate next Tuesday. The Socialists have already warned the Premier that the government's declaration must be clear and categorical on the final question, and that until it is forthcoming the Socialist group will reserve its attitude toward the new government.

The attitude of the moderate Conservative groups shows that the cabinet would have great difficulty in finding a majority in the Chamber if the Socialists abandon it, even if it is decided to adopt a conciliatory policy regarding the religious conflict. Foreign Minister Briand's intention is said by his friends to allow the Senate and Chamber to pass on all questions of a religious character without posing the question of confidence.

Discussing his policy after the cabinet meeting the Finance Minister, M. Caillaux said: "I must not be expected to produce exceptional or extraordinary solutions. It must be remembered that it took me three months to evolve the income tax (Caillaux was Finance Minister when the income tax was first put into effect in France)."

"I shall confine myself for the present to consideration of immediate and practical measures which must not be regarded as final solutions."

HERRIOT TO STAND FOR PRESIDENCY

(Associated Press Despatch)
PARIS, April 18.—Former Premier Herriot has consented to stand for the presidency of the Chamber of Deputies, a hundred thousand franc job to which a white elephant attaches in the form of an expensive mansion adjoining the Chamber, where the president lives, and for the upkeep of which he must pay a large share.

M. Herriot preferred to travel reconciliation between Trotsky and and had expressed the desire to make another trip through Russia to determine the actual situation there, but the insistence of his friends of the coalition overcame his objections.

DID NOT KNOW HE WAS INCLUDED IN MINISTRY

(Associated Press Despatch)
PARIS, April 18.—Deputy Jammy Schmidt, under-secretary for Liberated Regions in the new Painleve government, had a cabinet reception by President Doumergue at the Elysee Palace all by himself yesterday. He missed the official presentation of the new cabinet to the president yesterday morning because he did not know he was included in the ministry until friends began congratulating him when he arrived in the lobby of the Chamber at noon. He was convinced of the appointment by a copy of the decree in the Official Journal, but as the ministry had been presented without him he went to the Elysee Palace and the president received him alone.

Trotsky May Shortly Return To Political Life -- Zinovieff Still Enjoys Influence

Zinovieff, Who Was Violently Opposed to Trotsky for a Long Time, Has Been Silenced by More Moderate Figures in Communist Party, Although It Is Announced that There Is No Truth in Frequent Reports Published Abroad that Zinovieff Is About to Be Dismissed from Government Councils.

(Associated Press Despatch)
OSCOV April 18.—Leon Trotsky may soon return to political life. It is believed that the deposed war minister within a few weeks will be reappointed to an important post in the Soviet cabinet, probably to the Council of Labor and Defense, the Supreme Economic Council, or the Commissariat of foreign trade.

Since then Trotsky's former colleagues convinced that he had sufficiently "atoned for his political heresy," have been trying to find another place for him in the government. Meanwhile Zinovieff, who was violently opposed to Trotsky for a long time, has been silenced by the more moderate figures of the Communist party, although it is announced that there is no truth in the frequent reports published abroad that Zinovieff is about to be dismissed from the government councils. His recent acclaim of the congress of the Communist international, his re-election as chairman of the Leningrad Soviet, and his victory over Karl Radek are pointed to as evidence that he still enjoys power and influence.

A NARROW ESCAPE IMMEDIATELY AFTER SHIP BROKE AWAY; TELL OF SIGHT ALONG DUTCH COAST

Praise Lieut. Booth for Way He Handled Giant Dirigible—Engines Ran Perfectly and Did Not Give Any Trouble—Wireless Operator States that Engines Were Running in No Time and Ship's Nose Was Turned into Wind so Promptly that Before He Realized It He Was Telling Airdrome that R-33 Was Under Control.

(Associated Press Despatch)
LONDON, April 18.—Although the members of the crew of the R-33 had been forbidden to give interviews regarding their experiences during the runaway of the dirigible, some of them spoke before the order was issued or later were unable to withstand the importunities of reporters.

The correspondent of the Westminster Gazette at Pulham says he found Wireless Operator Keeley fairly loquacious. The operator described his own experiences thus: "I was walking toward the bow when the ship slipped. It gave me a fright when I saw the bow coming in on me. I dropped down the hatchway into the forecabin quicker than any monkey and in two seconds I was in my own room with the earphones on. I didn't have a chance to take them off again during the whole trip."

"Our narrow escape was within a minute after the breaking away of the airship. The dirigible, drifting helplessly, only just cleared one of the great steel wind screens on each side of the hangar. Lieutenant Booth got the engines going with such marvelous quickness and turned the ship's nose into the wind so promptly that before I realized it, I was telling the Airdrome we were under control."

"I sent 350 messages. My ears are still ringing with Morse," used the telegraphic instead of the telephonic code, because it was very much quicker for directional findings. "Until we reached the Dutch coast we drifted stern-on, all the while under control. When we began to fight to return to England we had to go steadily about it, as we did not know the actual extent of the damage. But as conditions improved our speed increased."

"We all take off our hats to Lieutenant Booth for the way he handled the ship in landing. It was a peach of a landing, and for his handling of the ship throughout." Engineer Little, who had charge of the starboard engine, said: "Nobody had any sleep but we did not care about that. The engines ran perfectly and did not give us a moment's trouble. I never saw such a sight as on the Dutch coast. When we were over it hundreds of motor cars were rushing along the shore flashing their lamps up at us to signal that they wanted to help us."

"We had no sleep and the little food we got was mostly bully beef."

engine running; 9.54, two engines running, ship under control and head to wind at slow speed; 10.02, wireless contact established with Pulham; 10.21, crossed coast off Port Lowestoft, attempting to make westerly course but driven eastward by gale; 11.47, position twenty-two miles off Lowestoft, speed increased to 31 knots which considered maximum of safety considering damage to bow.

At 2:05 p.m., the R-33 was 55 miles northeast of Lowestoft and the log continued to register the flight: 3:47, 44 miles northwest of Ymuiden; 5:05 was advised to head northerly direction, but only succeeded in maintaining stationary position; 6:00 the wind was still blowing from 40 to 45 miles an hour in a northwesterly direction, otherwise everything ok; 6:39 o'clock, the R-33 reported herself at Ymuiden, making eight knots but not able to increase her speed or make any headway westward until the wind decreased, engines ok; 8:25, ten miles south of Ymuiden, informed Godetia, which kept in the vicinity, that she was returning to England if the wind moderated.

At 8:44 the R-33 reported "returning to England." From 8:44 p.m., until five o'clock a.m., the dirigible made slow progress and had officially reported a position twenty miles northwest of Scheveningen. At seven o'clock she was ninety miles from Pulham; at 10:33 47 miles east of Pulham and was making twelve and a half knots. The remainder of the entries in the log simply record the arrival and the housing of the ship at Pulham.

ONLY EIGHTEEN MEMBERS WERE IN THE HOUSE

Debate on Budget Almost Counted Out Owing to Lack of Quorum—Talk Allowed to Continue.

(Associated Press Despatch)
OTTAWA, Ont., April 18.—The debate on the budget will be resumed by J. Archambault, Liberal member for Chambly-Vercheres, when the House of Commons re-assembles on Monday. The Senate will not sit until Tuesday.

The debate on the budget was almost counted out in the Commons yesterday afternoon. T. W. Bird, of Nelson, rose and drew the Speaker's attention to the fact that there was not the necessary quorum of twenty members in the House. Speaker Lemieux asked the clerk to count the members present. He found eighteen, two less than a quorum. In the interval, however, four members had drifted in. A second count was taken, the result announced as twenty-two and debate was allowed to proceed.

Quorum Should Be Raised.
Speaker Lemieux, commenting on the incident, said the quorum should be raised to fifty.

Continuing the debate on the budget in the House of Commons this afternoon, H. E. Spencer (Progressive, Battle River), referred to the difficulties which confronted the Government in reducing taxation in Canada under present conditions. He estimated that the debt, federal, provincial and municipal, of this country, was over four billions. The capital debt of a family of five persons amounted to about $2,740.

Canada was in the position of having issued bonds for many years to meet her deficits. The inflation of six years collapsed within one year in Canada, with serious results to industries, and particularly to agriculture. Mr. Spencer criticized the principle of the Government use of private institutions for carrying on its financial transactions. He quoted as authorities several prominent economists.

Control of Credits.
Mr. Spencer protested against the continued concentration of the control of credits, and suggested that the present difficulties of the Maritime Provinces were due largely to the centralized control of credits in the central part of Canada. Canada was overburdened with branch banks. The United

Children's Cozy Corner

UNCLE JIM'S LETTER

Dear Corner Family: Well, one week of vacation has gone, and many of the children will have to return to studies on Monday. I hope every one has had a jolly time, and that they feel like getting down to real hard work, so the reports at the close of the school will be fine.

We are delighted to have such a nice letter from our new niece, Carol, who is most welcome to our corner. She lives in a very interesting place, and sees many beautiful and picturesque sights for Levis and Quebec are full of history, and have ships and boats coming and going. It is one of the most interesting parts of our province. Yes, I am sure you enjoyed your visit to the farm in sugaring time, Carol, and I hope you may go again some spring. I have often seen Mr. Mitchell, your uncle, at meetings in Lennoxville, and I know many people you must know, too, for I have been in Lennoxville many times. I think that baby brother has a very nice name, as well as you have, Carol, and I hope you will think of our corner often and write when you have time.

Reginald speaks of pretty Easter cards made by his teacher, and we have something about some made by little children and sent to the hospital. It is very nice work, and is helpful in school work to do sketching and coloring.

We will have the list of winners in the last week Blot-Out in Monday's corner. I have not had time to choose the best ones to give to the judges. Some have sent in very neat work, while others are not quite so good, but all are doing them well and I am sure are having a jolly time with them.

Until Monday best wishes from UNCLE JIM.

LETTERS FROM THE CORNER FOLK

Dear Uncle Jim: This is my first letter to your corner, although I have often intended to write, and I do so enjoy reading the letters. I found Ambrose's letters very interesting and I loved to hear about the dear little lambs. We have quite a bit of snow down here yet, and I am longing to have it all go and the lawn to dry.

Last winter we had a very wonderful ice bridge between Quebec and Levis. As I was walking to the post office I could see many people walking across the huge blocks of ice. Daddy said it was very dangerous. In a few days the side rose and broke up the ice bridge and about one hundred people were carried up the river, but luckily they were all rescued. I am wondering if you had a good year of maple sugar making. Last spring I spent five weeks on my uncle's farm near Lennoxville during the sugar season and I had such a good time. I wonder if you know my uncle, dear Uncle Jim? His name is Mr. F. R. Mitchell, "Maple Braes," Lennoxville. My uncle is very good to me and has sent me some delicious syrup and sugar, some of which I have just had for my tea. I wish you were here and I would offer you some. I must tell you, before I close, that I have a dear little sister and a baby brother who is named Andrew Raymond Mitchell Roy. Much love, dear uncle.

Affectionately yours, CAROL JEAN ROY, Holy Trinity Rectory, Levis, Que.

Dear Uncle Jim: I thought I would write you a few lines during our Easter holidays. We are having until the 20th before our school begins. Our teacher gave a sugaring-off on Thursday, the last day before our school closed, and we enjoyed it very much. She also gave us a hand-painted Easter card each. They were very pretty. This is my first year a school and I am in the second primer. I am glad the little birds are coming back again. We have a deer's head mounted and it hangs on our verandah. Last spring there were some robins that built their nest between the horns and the day with their daughter, Mrs. M. B. Williams, who is still a great sufferer with neuritis and not able to be in her chair this week.

Mrs. Ernest Taylor entertained a large and enjoyable meeting of the Guild on Thursday afternoon. The next meeting will be with Mesdames Young and Chamberlin on the 30th.

The Misses Freda and Dorothy Sherwood, of Farnham, were tea guests on Saturday of their grandmother, Mrs. O. Sherwood.

Th many friends of Mrs. Lucy Bradley are sorry to learn that she is disposing of her household effects and leaving Foster soon.

Th ground on Thursday morning presented quite a wintry appearance with its heavy mantle of snow which really seemed out of place after the hard thunder storm on Wednesday.

Sugar makers, who held on to secure all, are quite satisfied that the season is past and are gathering in their buckets.

Mr. Charley Aiken has moved from Highwater into the Harding House, lately vacated by Mr. C. Davis.

Mr. Abe Woodard is back in Dunkin, after an absence of about twenty-six months.

Most farmers have called sugaring finished and have their buckets washed and put away. A few are sugaring in the elder places. A small crop is reported by all.

ONE WOULD EXPECT SO English paper—The story is of two children lost in a forest said to be haunted by an egress.

And did the kind egress show them how to get out?

Dear Uncle Jim: I have not written to you for a long time so I thought I would write today. There have been lots of letters from the corner cousins lately. I go to school nearly every day. I had two eggs for Easter. How many did you have, Uncle Jim? I went to Montreal a while ago and had a very good time while there. We have gathered the sap buckets. I went to one sugaring-off this year. Have you seen many birds this year? I have seen quite a few.

Your niece, RUTH JOHNSTON, South Durham.

BILLY VISITS A SPRINGTIME WOODS

Billy nodded his head in agreement, though he wasn't just sure why he should be specially glad of being alive just then. They hadn't seen anything yet!

They sat on the top of the old snake fence for a while, enjoying the feeling of the sun on their backs, and watching the squirrels, grey and black, frisking about in the upper branches, and leaping gracefully through the open spaces from one tree to another. Then they would change their game, and chase one another round and round the trunk of the home tree. They didn't wander very far, however, and seemed ever on the alert. Bob said probably they were keeping a sharp look-out for that peppery kinman, the red squirrel, who is such a fighter, and such a source of trial to so many of the forest folk.

"See, Billy, who is that moving across the corner there?" Bob asked. And Billy soon recognized the raccoon, one of the earliest greeters of the spring, who has in his home in April time three to six babies. Usually the number is four.

On the trunk of the rough-barked maple a red-headed wood-pecker was rapping out his spring tune. It isn't much of a tune to be sure, but he manages, through it, to express his love for his mate near by, and frighten insects out of their hiding-places in the limb he is drilling, and thus obtain a good meal. Bob wasn't very fond of Mr. Woodpecker, because he insisted on starting his drilling at about five-thirty in the morning, on the great tree just beside the tent in which Bob slept. But then I suppose the little red-headed fellow thought everybody should be willing to get up that early in the summer-time.

JUNIORS MADE PRETTY CARDS

The J.R.C. groups are doing many kinds of nice things for children who are lonely, or sick in hospitals, and the corner uncle has learned that the little children in Miss Van Vliet's private school here in Sherbrooke did something very nice for the children at Easter time.

Mrs. Shaw wrote that the Easter cards the pupils made and sent to her were lovely and that there were enough for all the children in one ward. She says: "So the Golden Rule group can feel that they had a part all their own." Two of the cards were kept for Mrs. Shaw's collection of best work done by groups, and she said the nurses at the hospital were surprised to learn how young the children were. The cards were made with colored crayons and were very dainty and attractive with chickens, bunnies and Easter flowers and emblems.

This would be very nice for other groups to do, and it delights the sick and crippled children to receive these little cards which have been made by other children for them.

"SAVE THE FOREST WEEK"

The week of April 16th-25th is to be observed throughout Canada as a "Save the Forest Week," and from Nova Scotia to British Columbia various ways to the necessity of preserving our forests. The Premier, Hon. Mackenzie King, and the premiers of the various provinces are going to broadcast short speeches on the subject, and the various service clubs, women's organizations and other similar bodies are all cooperating in this important work.

Thousands of booklets, blotters and posters emphasizing the value of the forests to the country and the need for conversation and preservation have been distributed through the schools and other agencies. The moving picture theatres are also assisting in the campaign. Special attention is directed to the dangers of forest fires, as it is pointed out that our forest industries provide employment for nearly 100,000 workers without counting their dependents and all the workers in other industries who cater to their wants. The attention of campers is particularly directed to the dangers of forest fires.

LOW-COST TRIP TO PACIFIC COAST

A captivating four-week tour of Western Canada and the Pacific Coast, with a trip through the United States on the return journey, is being planned for Canadian Teachers and their friends this summer. Those who take advantage of this trip will see the greatest scenery on the continent—the Buffalo herd, at Wainwright; Jasper National Park, with its unsurpassed mountain scenery; Mount Robson, the highest peak in the Canadian Rockies; the totem poles of Kitwanga and the mystic beauty of the Skeena River.

At Prince Rupert the party transfers from train to boat for the glorious water trip of 750 miles through the sheltered Scenic Seas of the North Pacific Coast to Vancouver, Victoria and Seattle. On the return trip five wonderful days will be spent touring Yellowstone National Park by motor, with a trip to Salt Lake City and three days at Rocky Mountain National Park, Colorado. Then it's Denver, Clear Creek Canyon, Idaho Springs and Lookout Mountain before heading for Chicago and Toronto.

The tour leaves Toronto July 9th, and you cannot afford to miss it. Full information, fares, etc., can be secured with illustrated booklet from A. E. Bryson, 44 Silverthorn Ave., Toronto; Martin Kerr, 4 Beulah Ave., Hamilton, Ont., or any Canadian National Railways Agent.

TWO-NIGHT PRESENTATION OF "THE COLONEL'S MAID"

The players presenting "The Colonel's Maid" at the Premier Theatre were greeted last evening by another crowded house, and gave the second presentation of the three-act comedy in the same artistic way as on the previous evening. The hearty applause and continued laughter was evidence of the keen enjoyment of the audience, and provided still more inducement than the play itself to the participants to do their "level best" in their respective roles.

The good management behind the scenes assisted materially toward the success of the two presentations, for everything ran smoothly, and the splendid assistance of Miss Dorothy Martin as prompter was much appreciated by the actors. The need of prompting was conspicuous by its absence, but the players felt assured that they had a reliable prompter when needed. Throughout the play each actor gave evidence of hard work and careful attention to detail, which means so much in true interpretation and Mr. Langston won double honors in his excellent work as director and as "Col. Rudd."

act the verdict on all sides was "well done, Sherbrooke Regiment." The financial returns, according to the statement made by the business manager, Capt. Scott, are as gratifying as the artistic success, while those who gave generously of their time and talent are deserving of great praise for again showing the staid patrons that Sherbrooke has its full quota of talent.

C.G.I.T. GROUPS HAD "STUNT NIGHT"

A large audience was present last evening in St. Andrew's Church hall to enjoy "Stunt Night" provided by the C.G.I.T. groups. Mrs. W. R. Price announced the various features of the programme, which were most amusing and demonstrated a good amount of practice on the part of the girls. Several pleasing numbers were given by the church school orchestra.

The stunts included the "Trials of Light House Keeping," (meaning may be taken two ways); "Mary and the Cow," in which the milkmaid had a difficult time in trying to make "boss" stand still; a take-off on Wild West movies; and the "Fatal Quest," each having a vein of satire and funny situations.

A short sketch, "Teacher's Pet," as also given, and with "The Government," and "The evil that men do lives after them," provided much amusement. A sing-song was a pleasing part of the programme, and the bright entertainment closed with the C.G.I.T. song, "Day is Done," during which the girls held lighted candles and the National Anthem.

ROAD DEPARTMENT HAS STARTED SPRING WORK

Although weather conditions have not been up to standard the past two or three weeks, the city road department men have already started operations in preparation for the summer's paving schedule. It is understood that the department intends laying all new pipes, including sewer, water and gas, on all the streets that are to be paved during the next few months. Although this precaution is not absolutely necessary, it is only natural that it will prove best in the long run, as the installation of new pipes means that unless something unforeseen occurs, the paving will not have to be disturbed for a number of years.

Workers are now employed on Portland Avenue and on St. Gabriel Street for this purpose, and it is the intention of the department to start paving operations as soon as the new pipes are in place.

The extensive operations which the department has been carrying out all winter in the north ward for the purpose of draining the swamp adjacent to Portland Avenue between Ontario and Vimy Streets are rapidly drawing to a close. This is one of the largest enterprises of its kind that has ever been undertaken, and one which will be of real benefit to the city when completed. At the present time the workmen are steadily blasting their way through fourteen feet of solid rock, through which the drain must be laid in order to reach the swamp.

The department is also busily engaged here and there throughout the city on jobs of a minor detail. On Frontenac Street the blocking of a pipe leading to the sewer in front of the Sun Life Building necessitated the removal of about a square yard of paving before the trouble could be remedied.

The legacies of these men have given a stability to local Association that has meant its life and the large place it occupies in Association work in Canada. In point of membership outside of Montreal, Toronto, Hamilton and Brantford, Sherbrooke stands fourth on the list in Ontario and Quebec. In the campaign that is projected the aim is to raise $10,000, $5,000 of which is to clear up the accounts for the past year and a deficit of $595 from the past four years' work. In this campaign the Association is being backed by the leading industries and merchants of the city and the publicity committee have been offered free space in the advertising columns of the Record by J. S. Mitchell & Co., H. C. Wilson & Sons, J. Rosenbloom and numerous others. The task before the Executive Committee is great, but with such sympathy and help the committee is very much encouraged and look forward to a very successful termination of the campaign.

DUKE OF DEVONSHIRE IS MAKING GOOD RECOVERY

Has Improved So Much that There Is Every Reason to Hope that He May Be as Strong as He Ever Was.

(Associated Press Despatch) LONDON, April 18.—The Duke of Devonshire, former Governor-General of Canada, who suffered a slight stroke of paralysis at his Irish estate, Lismore Castle, near Waterford, on April 12, is recovering.

A communication was received in Derby today from the Duke of Devonshire's son, the Marquis of Hartington, M.P., who is with his father, stating that the Duke has improved so much that there is every reason to hope not only that he may ultimately recover, but that he may be as strong as ever he was.

boy to enter the store, and help himself to whatever he wished, which consisted of four one dollar bills and six packages of cigarettes. When the boy had secured all that he wanted he decided to leave the store by the same entrance, but on his way down to the cellar was surprised to find the store proprietor facing him.

The young lad was forced back into the store, and a handy piece of rope which was at hand was used by the Chinaman and in a moment the boy's wrists were securely bound. A call was then sent for the police. Upon arrival Lieut. Prunier found the store proprietor sitting near the phone with his prisoner beside him, who still had in his hands the bills which he had apparently taken from the store drawer.

The young lad was immediately taken in hand by Lieutenant Prunier and papers were taken out for his arrest.

MUCH BUILDING TO BE DONE IN CITY THIS YEAR

Extensive Programme for Next Few Months—Will Give Employment to Many.

Building activities in the city during the next few months promise to be quite extensive. New building, extensions to buildings, and repairs will be under way in every ward within a short time, according to present indications, and as a consequence there will be employment for a large number of men.

The chief construction work that is under way or will shortly be under way includes the addition of three large wings to the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital, the rebuilding of the Skinner block on Wellington street, the reconstruction of the building formerly occupied by Desjardins as a garage on Wellington street south, completion of the new Normal School, and extensive improvements to the New Sherbrooke House, while if present plans are carried out, work on constructing the new Lord Dufferin Hotel will also be under way by mid-summer.

In many sections of the city minor buildings are being erected or repaired, while a considerable amount of interior building is also under way.

Work at Hospital Progressing Favorably

The work of excavating, which was begun a couple of weeks ago at the St. Vincent de Paul Hospital, is meeting with satisfactory progress. Although it will be a considerable time before the actual building will be begun, present indications are that the work will be completed in a comparatively short time.

When this large extension has been added to the present building and equipped in the manner that has been arranged, Sherbrooke will have a hospital of which it will be truly proud and one which will compare most favorably with hospitals of much larger cities.

No Time to be Lost on Skinner Block

In speaking to the Record this morning Mr. A. C. Skinner stated that no time would be wasted in rebuilding his three-story building on Wellington street which was destroyed by fire. He stated that as the plans had not been fully completed as yet, the contract had not been given out. It is likely that within a short time, however, tenders will be asked for. Several weeks ago the contract for removing the former gutter building was given to the Newton-Dakin Construction Company. Work was immediately started and this has now been practically completed. The four walls, with the exception of one small part, have been taken down, and soon the site will be ready for reconstruction.

When completed the building will no doubt be a great improvement to the appearance of Wellington street as Mr. Skinner intends erecting a modern and well equipped building to consist of stores on the ground floor, offices on the second and apartments on the top.

Front of New Sherbrooke House to be Enlarged

The New Sherbrooke House is coming in for its share of improvements this spring, and when the work now under construction has been completed the present appearance of the hotel will be added to decidedly.

The management of the hotel is making an extensive addition to the present lobby. The part of the hotel now used as a tavern is to be added to the present lobby, while another large part of the building on King Street, formerly occupied by Mr. Trudeau as a dry goods store, will be rebuilt and improved and will be used as the tavern. The basement of the tavern will be equipped as a washroom and toilet.

The entire lobby, tavern and wash rooms are to be tiled and equipped in a modern way. Additional large plate glass windows are to be added to the entire front of the hotel.

In speaking to the Record this morning Mr. Wright said that the work which is being done by K. B. Jencks Construction Company, was progressing satisfactorily, and that it was expected that it would be completed by July 1st.

Finishing Touches Being Added To Normal School.

The new Normal School of Sherbrooke, situated adjacent to the Redemptorist Monastery and facing on Ontario Street, is rapidly nearing completion, and it is expected that in a very short time the finishing touches will be given and the building put in a satisfactory condition for occupancy. It is understood that the workmen will leave the building some time during the latter part of next month. If this is the case, the structure, which was commenced in April 1924, has taken only approximately thirteen months for erection, not counting the laying out of the grounds.

At the present time the school is completely finished on the outside, and workmen are now engaged in washing down the surface of the bricks with acid so as to rid them of their white color. As soon as this work is done, the building will need no further attention on the outside.

On the inside, however, the workmen are still busily employed. The walls and ceilings have all received their coats of plaster, and the finishing boards are already in place on the two top floors. All that now remains to be done is to complete putting on the finishing wood-work on the other three stories, and install the electric fixtures.

The building when completed, will be absolutely fire-proof. To make doubly sure, however, two iron fire-escapes are to be placed within easy access of those whose business or studies keep them off the ground floor. It is expected that one fire-escape will be for each of the two wings, which extend from each end of the rear of the main building, and will be so placed as to insure a ready exit to pupils and teachers in case of an emergency.

The building is of solid concrete and brick construction, no more steel being used throughout its five stories than is absolutely necessary for reinforcing purposes.

There is also little wood, except for the window and door frames and the finishings. Even the floors will be left concrete, which will be covered with linoleum as soon as the building is ready for use.

The heating system which has been installed in the school is of a new type, and it is understood that it is the only one of its kind in the whole of Sherbrooke. The system has just recently come off the market, and is manufactured by the Robb Manufacturing Works, of Amhurst, Nova Scotia. The boilers for heating the water are so constructed so as to be capable of heating the building either by steam heat or hot water. The boilers too, instead of being constructed of cast-iron, are made of steel, and thus heat in much less time than the cast-iron ones. Another advantage of the present system is that no pump is necessary to start the water circulating, and in the building in question, twenty minutes after lighting the furnaces, warm water has circulated through the radiators on the top floor.

In the construction of this Normal School 372,000 bricks were used; 100,000 cubic yards of sand; 123,000 bags of cement and seventy-five tons of steel.

Many Sewers and Other Repairs Being Done.

The City itself has also undertaken considerable work in the city this year in the way of paving, repairing and putting in of sewers, and general needed repairs in the city. A considerable amount of work is also furnished this way and much employment is furnished where otherwise men might not be so fortunate in securing work.

THE NATIONAL RAILWAYS.

Sir Henry Thornton, president of the Canadian National Railways, is to speak in this city next Monday evening. This will be one of his first public utterances since the official announcement that the company over which he presides has finished the year with deficit of $54,000,000. An enthusiastic, light-hearted, optimistic after dinner speech, at first thought, would seem to be a good deal to expect in the face of such a statement. Sir Henry, however, is always hopeful and has never failed to express confidence in the future of the National Railways and the country. Under business conditions which have existed the deficit was expected and that it is not greater may easily be taken as an indication that it will disappear under the influence of better times.

It is interesting to note that this view is taken in prominent quarters at the capital. To quote from the Ottawa Journal:

"The report of the Canadian National Railways for 1924 leaves room for neither complacency nor anxiety. No room for complacency because a net deficit of $54,000,000 is, at our present juncture, a vast burden for Canada. No room for anxiety because, business conditions, a small crop and decreased rates considered, the capacity of the system to contract expenditure and to thus increase its operating revenue, apart from fixed charges is a sure guarantee for the future. With a return of prosperity, with continued growth of the country, with development of natural resources, with more people and traffic, and with anything like sanity in rates, public ownership will triumph."

These things, however, seem necessary. The first is that the Canadian National Railways be relieved of its ridiculous over-capitalization. The second is that railway rates be not reduced below possibility of traffic without profit. And the third is that some effort be made to reduce railway duplication.

The third point referred to by the Journal offers about the best opportunity of cutting down costs. Canada has two great railway systems and many trains are being run merely because of competition, where reduced schedules would save large sums of money, without resulting in such inconvenience to the public.

The burden of a fifty million dollar annual deficit is too great to be borne over a long period of years. The solution of this distressing situation must come through better times or through some drastic revision of operating plans.

A LOST NECKLACE.

A necklace has figured in history on more than one occasion. It is said to have been one of the causes of the French Revolution. Just now a necklace has a place in Old Country news, but in this case is not of a nature to suggest any serious national disturbance.

Mrs. Lloyd George, wife of the ex-Premier, recently lost a necklace. The London Daily Herald, Socialist organ, immediately took the matter up, placed a fictitious value upon the lost article, and took occasion to remark upon the capitalistic tendencies of Liberal statesmen, who once upon a time prided themselves upon belonging to the ranks of the people. The paper showed no inclination to correct its mis-statements with regard to the value of the necklace. This led Mrs. Lloyd George to address a letter to the Daily Herald, and to give out a copy to the press in general. This letter is worded in very forceful style and will be found of interest by readers here as well as overseas. It is as follows:

10 Cheyne Walk, Chelsea, April 1, 1925

Sir:—In today's "Daily Herald" you make an offensive attack on me, or rather through me on Lord Oxford and my husband, in connection with the report that I had lost a necklace supposed to be valued at £1,000. I have already contradicted the report as to the value, and publicity has been given to that contradiction in every paper except yours. It suits you rather to repeat this mis-statement.

If you are curious as to the real value of my lost necklace I can enlighten you. It was not worth one-fortieth, and probably not one-fiftieth, of the gift made to your leader when he was Prime Minister by one of his capitalist friends. I have no recollection that at the time of that princely gift, or since, you have rebuked Mr. Ramsay MacDonald as you do Lord Oxford and my husband on the proof that transaction gave of the betrayal of his class and the abandonment of the simple tastes of his youth. If that example of your partiality as a censor does not suffice, I can quote a few more from your own political household which are much better illustrations of your theme than my over-valued necklace.

Most of my pearls were given me from time to time, by my husband out of his earnings as a journalist since he left office. Is it a crime for him to earn high fees for writing? If he is to be arraigned for this offence many of the most prominent Socialist leaders—ex-Ministers and others—ought to be in the dock with him. In fine, had you not better cleanse your own stable first before you undertake to sweep the dust on the Liberal floor?

Yours faithfully,
 (Signed) MARGARET LLOYD GEORGE.

PRESS COMMENT

ROUTING THE PEDLAR.

(Toronto Financial Times)
 Retail merchants of Regina met recently to consider ways and means of curbing the activities of street pedlars. Ever-increasing competition from the house-to-house pedlar was one of the chief subjects discussed by retailers of the fourth annual convention of the Alberta Provincial Board, Retail Merchants' Association of Canada, held in Calgary.

It is claimed by these western retailers that unlicensed parties are cutting in largely on the sales of legitimate retailers, and that the city councils should take action to make the by-laws more stringent and to see that regulations made are thoroughly lived up to.

There is evidence on every hand that the hawk, pedlar and transient trader are not contributing their share to the general maintenance of the communities in which they are doing business. Associations can do much to interest local councils. But individuals should not neglect to show their customers the superior service they are in a position to give, says Dry Goods Review.

ORATORICAL PROFANITY.

(Indianapolis News)
 Some weeks ago a man who addressed one of the luncheon clubs prefaced his remarks with the statement that he was glad no women were present. "They cramp my style," he explained. As his talk proceeded his listeners realized that what he had said was true. The speaker would not have been able to swear so freely had there been women to hear him. The frankness with which actors and actresses curse in such shows as "What Price Glory" and others has not yet reached this portion of the country, and there are women who would be shocked if they heard profanity and vulgarity combined either in a public address or on the stage. For that matter, there are men who like their language straight. There are two styles of oratory—one for male audiences and the other for a gathering of men and women. Men's luncheon clubs and similar organizations have let it be known that they no longer will tolerate dirty stories. Any orator worth hearing can be emphatic and illuminative without resorting to the gutter. The orators who have two forms of speech are doing themselves an injustice. They must maintain two vocabularies—one for men only and the other for mixed gatherings. They must watch themselves constantly lest words intended for use only with the male meetings jump forth elsewhere.

TOURISTS ACROSS THE SEAS.

(Boston Transcript)
 Ocean steamship companies say they expect to carry 250,000 Americans to Europe this summer. That is nearly one to every four hundred of the population of the country. In proportion to the number of people in the United States less than one under fourteen years of age, who will not be largely represented in the tide of travel, the number of the tourists is much greater. The quarter-million Americans who go abroad will be withdrawn for some weeks from the productive life of this country. They will take away with them perhaps $150,000,000, and they will bring little of it back. The Nation's foreign travel bill is evidently not the least of its costs, both direct and indirect.

But it is well worth the money, especially in the case of the increasing number of travellers who go abroad with the intention of learning something of value about the countries that they visit. If these people take the pleasures of travel more seriously than do some of their companions, it does not follow that they do not have in reality as good a time. Many of them are coming into their own as valuable assets for the steamship companies, for they travel third-class in large numbers, and so fill a portion of the ships that might otherwise be empty. They have introduced the white collar to the steerage, but more than that, they have made the steerage a meeting place for well-bred and well-informed travellers who have learned that here is means of conserving their funds without loss of self-respect.

A FOREST SAVING DISCOVERY.

(Christian Science Monitor)
 The discovery by German chemists of a process for manufacturing synthetic methyl alcohol (commonly called "wood alcohol"), using carbon monoxide procured from producer-gas plants as the chief basic material, will, if it is as successful as experiments would indicate, do away with the annual destruction in the United States and Canada of many thousands of acres of hardwood forests. At one time the supply of this material, which is used in many important manufacturing industries, was chiefly obtained as a by-product of the manufacture of charcoal. The substitution of coke for charcoal in smelting iron resulted in making the alcohol and acetone derived from the destructive distillation of certain kinds of wood the more valuable product, and while the demand was to a large extent met by denatured "ethyl" alcohol, the total amount of wood destroyed each year for making methyl alcohol has made serious inroads on the limited supply of hardwood.

One feature of the methyl alcohol industry that distinguished it from ordinary lumbering operations was the fact that trees of all sizes were chopped down and burned up to furnish the raw material. This resulted in practically stripping the areas from which the wood was obtained of all the young trees, and thereby delaying for a long period nature's process of reforestation. With an abundant and cheaper supply of "methyl" made from waste gases, the hardwood trees on millions of acres should have an opportunity to grow to a size in which they will provide valuable lumber for furniture and other industrial purposes.
 According to reports as to the nature of the new synthetic product, it is essentially the same as that produced from wood; that is, it is poisonous, and therefore unfit for consumption as a beverage. If it should supplant some forms of the denatured alcohol now widely used in various industries, the problem of regulating the sale of industrial alcohol, so as to prevent it being diverted to beverage uses, would to that extent be made

CARE NEEDED IN PUTTING UP RADIO AERIAL

Energy Received Is So Small Loss Must Be Avoided.

A receiving set antenna actually handles but an infinitesimal amount of current. Its value can only be measured in micro-amperes; that is, a millionth of an ampere, and there is not enough energy to even make a house fly wink (if house flies do wink).

The average radio fan, listening to the crashing climax of a symphony orchestra, would do well to realize that the source of all this tremendous sound is a tiny, infinitesimal current caught by his wires from the ocean of ether, which current acts as the connecting medium between his set and the radiocasting station.

Realizing this fact, it behooves us to save all the energy possible and to improve our antenna installation as much as we can. The whole problem of correct antenna installation fortunately is quite simple, and with a few salient facts to remember the listener should have no difficulty in this respect.

An antenna should therefore be as high as possible and kept away from surrounding objects. It must not be strung in a courtyard between two buildings, nor should it be wired along the front or sides of a building running vertical to the roof. An antenna that is behind an apartment building or next to a wall will generally be shielded in certain directions and may never receive distant stations also in those directions.

If there are power-house lines, trolley wires, telephone or arc-light wires in your vicinity, unless you keep your antenna as far away from them as possible, radio reception in your home is apt to become a "boiler factory symphony."

Such power line and induction noises are problems in reception that are most difficult to solve. A considerable help when circumstances cause one to put up the antenna near such obstacles is to run the antenna at right angles to them. When the antenna and such wires run parallel for any appreciable length, unwanted noises are bound to increase.

Have your antenna well insulated at its various points of support to prevent leakage to the building and thence to the ground. If possible, see that the lead in wire to the set and the wire on the roof are in one piece. If a joint is necessary, it should be well soldered to prevent corrosion, which means high resistance and a loss in signal strength.

Finally, it should be determined what length antenna is desired. With most sets, it is true that distance and volume are helped by a long antenna, although the receiver may tune broadly, while a short antenna, even though the signals sound weaker, will enable you to obtain more selectivity in stations of nearly the same wavelength.

For such experiments, where circumstances permit, two or even three antenna will show interesting differences on results obtained, and, on local stations especially, an indoor antenna of 40 or 50 feet will be a revelation as to the absence of outside noises and clarity of signal.

The services in the United Church tomorrow will be of a specially interesting character. In the morning, Mr. Logie will preach on the place of children in the kingdom and will emphasize the importance of the childlike disposition in life. The evening sermon will contain a special message to men, when the elements of character that constitute true manhood will be discussed. A male voice choir will lead the singing.

Last Sabbath, Easter, the services in the Anglican Church were very largely attended and more participated in the morning communion than for a number of years past. Rev. B. Watson, the rector, officiated at both services.

PLAN A TRIP INTO UNKNOWN REGION OF B.C.

Intend to Fly from Prince Rupert in a High Powered All-Metal Machine.

VANCOUVER, B.C., April 18.

A second expedition into the unknown region of British Columbia lying north of the Stikine River, included within which is the mysterious "tropical valley" of the Far North, will leave here the latter part of this month. At its head will be George Platzer, a prospector acquainted with the area. He will be backed by Americans of wealth, one of whom is expected to reach Vancouver shortly to accompany the first supplies and the explorers by airplane, it is said.

It is planned to fly from Prince Rupert in a high-powered all-metal plane, said to be capable of a passenger capacity of several persons.

in addition to approximately a ton of freight.

The first expedition is already on the outskirts of the unexplored territory and it headed by Frank Perry, a Vancouver mining engineer. The Perry expedition is backed by Hon. Charles H. MacIntosh, former governor of Canadian Northwest Territory during the days of the rush to the Klondyke and Yukon. Associated with him is his son, Charles MacIntosh, who was his father's assistant in the Yukon administration. Col. Philip P. Longergan, pioneer engineer of Seattle, and other Americans are also backing the trial expedition.

According to reports it is to be a race of rival expeditions, each heavily backed by capital. The virgin area to be penetrated is reported by both parties to be rich in placer gold and platinum, as well as copper, iron and lead. It is also said that confined in the area is an oil lake and visible coal seams, making the great expanse one of great potential natural wealth, whose development would require a great outlay of capital and probably years to develop.

BUILDERS WILL SEEK A CHANGE IN CIVIL CODE

Want Construction Guarantee Period Reduced from Ten Years—To Educate Public.

MONTREAL, Que., April 18.—Amendment of the Civil Code to reduce from ten to one or two years the period during which architects and builders in the Province of Quebec are responsible for the condition of structures they erect, is the aim of a movement shortly to be launched by builders and contractors of Montreal.

A general meeting of members of all branches of the Builders' Exchange of Montreal will be held at the end of this month, at which time details of the campaign will be decided. Architects and engineers of the city will be invited to the meeting in question, and it is anticipated that their organizations may be induced to co-operate in the attack on the law as it stands today.

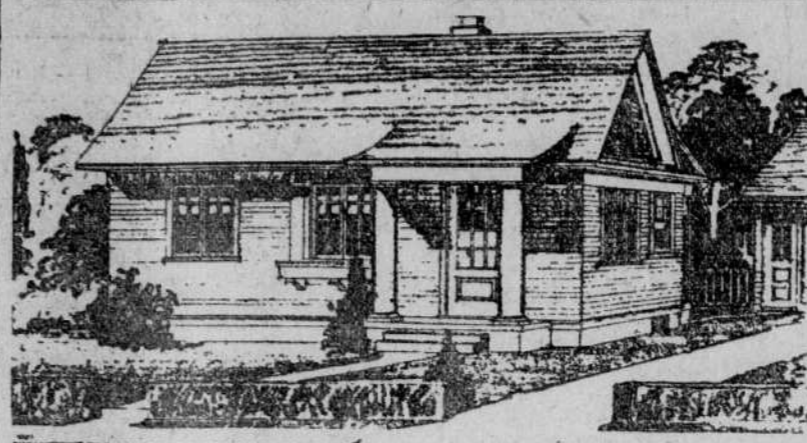

The Civil Code article which has roused the construction trades is No. 1688, which reads:

"If a building perish in whole or in part within ten years, from a defect in construction, or even from the unfavorable nature of the ground, the architect, superintending the work and the builder are jointly and severally liable for the loss."

Builders and architects consider this clause unjust. They point to the laws of the other Canadian provinces and of the United States, and declare that nowhere outside of the province of Quebec is an architect or builder expected to assume responsibility for a building after one or two years. In other branches of trade, they declare, the law does not impose guarantees of this character; for instance, they say, no guarantees are laid down by the law covering garments, etc. While willing to bear a reasonable responsibility in the matter, the builders and architects hold that ten years is altogether too long a period.

From time to time the Quebec law has been the subject of attack from organizations within the building trade. The question came up again at two recent meetings of the general contractors' branch of the Builders' Exchange, and it was decided that the time had arrived to try to have the Civil Code amended. It is realized that a campaign of education among the public will be necessary, and the idea is to conduct that during the summer and fall, preparing the way for application to the Legislature at its next session for the amendment desired. The principal opposition, builders and architects, will come from the legal profession which, besides its customary jealousy for all articles of the code, has appeared in the past to consider Article 1688 of paramount importance in its present form.

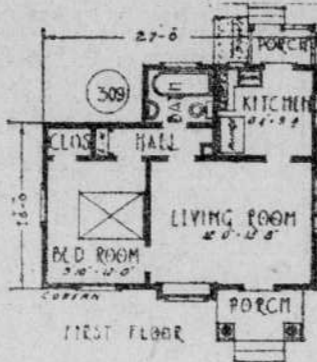

In the near future delegates of local branches of the International Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners will meet a committee of the Builders' Exchange to discuss the 1925 wage scale in Montreal and district. The men have adopted a resolution by which they ask 75 cents an hour; builders say that, at present, carpenters are getting from 50 to 65 cents an hour here.

THE one-story home is growing in popularity, as a result of the "help problem." To be successful, it must be well arranged, well lighted, and contain all the features in the way of built-in cupboards, linen cases, etc., that go to make the modern home.

Coburn, although not large, has more of these features than the usual small home, is well arranged, and is convenient and of good size for a small family.

The main floor contains a good sized living room, bedroom, kitchen, bath and service hall. In the basement there is ample room for laundry, fuel and storage. The exterior is handled in a pleasing manner. The front porch with turned wood columns is a feature of the house and completes the design, which is suitable for city or suburb.

ARCHITECTS TO HOLD EXHIBIT IN NEW YORK

Will Offer Many Events and Incidents of Keenest Interest to Profession—To Open Next Week.

NEW YORK, April 18.—The Architectural and Allied Arts Exposition, to be held in New York April 20 to May 2, is the first show of its kind attempted on these shores that is international in scope, the first in which North America will meet English and Continental designers on the same footing. It will therefore offer many events and precedents of the keenest interest to the profession. The big exhibition comes on the occasion of the annual convention of the American Institute of Architects, to which will be added the annual exhibition of the Architectural League of New York, postponed from the regular date in February. It will occupy four stories of the huge Grand Central Palace, and in addition to all the arts concerned in architecture, the engineers, builders and manufacturers of the world will be represented. Mr. D. Everett Ward, president of the institute, is chairman of the general committee. The other committees in charge of various branches of the undertaking comprise a roster of names in the first rank of the profession.

Of great value will be the opportunity to compare the progress of architecture in different sections of the United States. Fifty-five chapters of the institute will send delegates and examples of all types of work. Exhibits from the Atlantic seaboard will stand beside those of Los Angeles and Seattle, the south will measure ideas with the north. It is hoped thus to discover the beginnings of a national style in America's heterogeneous home architecture, matching the native characteristics it has evolved in the skyscraper type.

Small House Bureau.

Of special interest to the public will be the exhibit of small homes under the auspices of the Small House Service Bureau of the American Institute of Architects. More than 300 complete sets of plans will be shown for houses that can be built for $10,000 or less, and these plans, embodying the best thought on house building today, are available to the public at a cost of $20 to $30 per set. The work of the Bureau, of which Mr. Arthur C. Holden is chairman, is most important. More than $30,000 worth of plans were sold in the American northwest last year, and the service has done much to check the spread of cheap and ugly construction. Special houses on a miniature scale and a complete model of a village, in miniature, will be exhibited.

The architectural schools will be liberally represented. Students from seventeen American colleges and six foreign schools will send designs, and the winning drawings of the Paris Prize of the Beaux Arts Institute of 1922, 1923 and 1924 are to be exhibited for the first time.

A Score of New Results Emphasize The Difference

If a year ago the Chrysler Six had been merely another new car, its first-year production of over 32,000 cars—the largest ever recorded—would not have been required.

But the Chrysler Six is an entirely new type of car, built on a new kind of engineering which produces results radically different from any yet registered.

The difference of Chrysler engineering is emphasized by the fact that its 3-inch motor develops 68 horse-power, a speed of more than 70 miles an hour and 24 miles to the gallon of gasoline.

The difference is further emphasized by the fact that you can drive comfortably at 60 miles an hour over cobbled streets, that side-sway is eliminated, that it possesses an oil-filter to cleanse all motor oil as the car runs and an air-cleaner for the carburetor.

Everything that Chrysler advanced design means in the operation, comfort and high quality of a motor car will be made clear in a half-hour's driving. We are eager to prove that Chrysler is the best built car you ever drove.

We are pleased to extend the convenience of time-payments. Ask about Chrysler's attractive plan. Chrysler dealers and superior Chrysler service everywhere.

DAIRY PRODUCE

Montreal, April 18th. BUTTER.—There were no further developments in the market Wednesday, but the undertone was firm at the late improvement in prices noted owing to the continued steady demand for supplies from local and outside interests, and the fact that stocks of some grades were becoming somewhat small.

their holidays and sells for as good prices as dressed. At this season of the year it is more profitable to ship poultry alive.

CHEESE

The trade in cheese showed no improvement, there being little or no demand for supplies from any source at present, and this coupled with the increased receipts, tends to depress the market, and prices have a lower tendency.

COUNTRY PRODUCE

Montreal, April 18th. EGGS.—Receipts of eggs continue to increase and are becoming quite heavy. There has been very little change in prices but they are slightly lower.

HONEY

The market for honey was quiet, there being no improvement in the demand for supplies, but as the offerings were not large, prices ruled steady with No. 1 white clover honey in comb quoted at 22c to 23c per section.

POTATOES

The trade in potatoes continues slow, and the market was very quiet for the season of the year. The tone was steady, and prices were unchanged with car lots of No. 1 Green Mountain quoted at 70c to 75c per bag, and Quebec varieties at 60c to 65c per bag of 90 lbs. in bulk, ex-track.

HAY MARKET

Montreal, April 18th. exposed her once proud mark to the jeers of her foes in every market from Hangkoo to Valparaiso have now disappeared, and German coinage walks steadily to the counter where once it reeled like a drunkard.

The gold deposits in the German banks have, in a single year, made amazing progress. On the 31st December, 1913, gold mark deposits in the leading German banks were 5,808,991,754.

What about German industries? No doubt they are passing through a crisis. The stimulant of inflation having been suddenly withdrawn from them after a prolonged bout of wild indulgence, they are suffering from a natural but healthy depression.

The answer given so far to the first question by the French people has not been encouraging. It has been said that the French peasant will more readily give his life for his country than he will part with his savings.

It was more difficult after the war than during the war to impose such new and heavy taxes as would enable the state to balance its budget in the postwar period.

It is fair to point out that the French ministers of finance have had to find huge sums of money to rebuild the devastated area. They could not have been expected to raise that money out of current revenue.

But M. Herriot and his followers are now paying the penalty for the electoral advantage they derived from their opposition to increased taxation.

A French ministry with sufficient courage and authority boldly to handle the situation could put things right. In all the essentials, the position of France is healthy.

LITTLE OF INTEREST ON MONTREAL EXCHANGE

(Associated Press Despatch) MONTREAL, April 18.—With the exception of strength in some of the leaders, principally in Winnipeg Rails and Consolidated Smelters, little of interest was to be noted at the opening of today's stock market.

National Breweries was likewise strong at 48, up 1/2, as was also Ontario Steel Products, up a similar fraction to 48 1/2. Brazilian was in good demand, but sold unchanged at 50. Other leaders were neglected.

One of the questions put to a class of rural adults was: "In the sentence, 'The bird flew over the house' is 'flew' a regular or an irregular verb?" This proved a stickler for the class, but finally one man ventured an answer. Said he: "If the bird that flew over the house was a wild goose, it went in a straight, regular line, so the verb is regular but if it was a woodpecker then it went in a crooked, zigzag line, and so the verb is irregular."

All but the grammar-bound examiner were satisfied with this rational explanation.

JUDGE'S HOMER WITH THREE ON BEAT YANKEES

Washington Handed Out Another Setback to New York—Cardinals Broke Cincinnati's Winning Streak.

(Associated Press Despatch) NEW YORK, April 18.—Western teams held undisputed possession of first place in the two major league races today, with the champion Giants and Senators of the east gaining ground after their slow starts.

The Cincinnati Reds, who galloped off to an unexpected three game winning streak, with opening game slid back into a tie for the lead, with the Chicago Cubs yesterday. Their string was broken in an eleven inning game with the Cardinals, but the box scores does not give the real explanation of the reversal.

After three sterling mound exhibitions by Donohue, Rixey and Luge, the Reds were unable to call upon one of the stars of their twirling staff whose record gave indication that he would have improved their chances of maintaining the streak in his 1924 form. Carl Mays, the submarine hurler, who won twenty games for the Reds last year, is still unavailable because of a sore arm and the three moundmen who endeavored to fill the vacancy yesterday were hit at crucial periods for eleven timely safeties.

The Cubs outbatted the Pirates by 8 to 6. Hartnett and Miller leading in the attack. The former posted his fourth homer of the campaign, while Miller led the players of both leagues for the day with four singles in as many turns in the batters' box.

A sensational pitching duel, during which the Cleveland Indians produced another winner in Shaute, pushed the Speaker entry past the faltering Athletics into the American League pace making berth. Shaute duplicated Uhle's performance of the day before in limiting the Browns to four hits, Cleveland winning the game on a single tally in the opening frame, one to nothing.

With Boston leading by 4 to 3 in the fifth, the game was called and the Mackmen were defeated by the weather man.

The Senators again punted back the Yankees by 6 to 0 with a homer in the fourth by Joe Judge, which cleared the sacks.

The game was again punted back the Yankees by 6 to 0 with a homer in the fourth by Joe Judge, which cleared the sacks.

The New York Giants tied the Brooklyn team for third place in the National when Wayland Dean came through with the second shut-out game of the season in the senior class.

BASEBALL
CHARLES H. EBBETS DEAD
(Associated Press Despatch)
NEW YORK, April 18.—Charles H. Ebbets, president of the Brooklyn National League Baseball Club, died here at six o'clock this morning. He was sixty-six years old.
Heart failure, from which he had been a sufferer for many years, was the cause of Mr. Ebbets' death. He came to New York two weeks ago from the Florida training camp of the Brooklyn team, where he had sought relief, and was at first believed to have been benefited. He suffered a relapse yesterday and grew steadily worse until he died.
Mr. Ebbets was for many years one of the most prominent figures in the baseball world. He brought the Brooklyn Club out of the ruck of mediocrity and financial failure to an eminence of success and prosperity. He first broke into the game in 1888, as bookkeeper for the Brooklyn Club. CONFERENCE WENT INTO ITS FINAL SESSION

Believed that Decision Will Be Reached Between Workers and British Empire Steel Corporation Today.

(Associated Press Despatch) HALIFAX, N.S., April 18.—The conference called by Premier E. H. Armstrong went into its final session, it is believed, this morning, in a last effort to bring about by direct negotiations an immediate resumption of operations throughout the Nova Scotia coal fields, idle for the past six weeks owing to a wage dispute between the British Empire Steel Corporation and its 12,000 colliery workers. The bone of contention from the opening session has been the 1924 wage scale, the company adhering to its contention that this scale is economically impossible and the men insisting that they will return to work on nothing less.

Premier Armstrong, it is freely admitted, is an advocate of the 1924 scale in the light of all the circumstances, the fact that the company at one stage in the proceedings agreed to pay it on an interim contract, and the added fact that additional tariff concessions subsequently announced have placed the company in a better position to pay the scale.

Last night, it is assumed, there was a very frank position of the major points at issue, and a final decision on the part of the company is believed to be due today. None of the conferees would say anything this morning regarding the proceedings.

curling season. Among these were the splendid trophy donated by S. J. Forbes, the cup for singles by Dr. J. B. Winder and pins for the winners of the doubles by Col. R. J. Spearing. The ladies, who a year ago donated the first trophy that the club received, gave an electric plate which they have had installed in the Club House. Unfortunately the curling season was so short that it was impossible to hold all the competitions planned; among these were the singles, the doubles and the Forbes trophy competition.

Mr. J. P. L. Stewart, who gave the report of the match committee, informed the members that a record of all matches played is now being kept in detail. Rinks from the club were entered in the Governor-General, Royal Victoria Jubilee and District Medal Competitions. The latter, competed for against Theford Club, was won by Lennoxville. Matches played in this center for the Governor General and Royal Victoria Jubilee were all won by Lennoxville and rinks skipped by Robert McMurray and J. P. L. Stewart, which played in the latter competition in Montreal, reached the semi-finals by defeating rinks from Caladonia Club of Montreal and from Quebec. The matches played with Sherbrooke Club for the Canadian National Trophy were lost to Sherbrooke.

ORDERS BISHOP BROWN NOT TO SPEAK IN ANY PARISH OF NEW YORK DIOCESE

Bishop Manning Tells Dr. Guthrie the Latter's Invitation to Bishop Brown Is "Open Contempt and Defiance of Authority and Law of Church."

NEW YORK, April 18.—Bishop William T. Manning has forbidden Dr. William Montgomery Brown, former Protestant Episcopal Bishop of Arkansas, from officiating or speaking in any parish or mission of the New York diocese.

In another letter to Dr. W. N. Guthrie, rector of St. Mark's-in-the-Bowery, Bishop Manning said that Dr. Guthrie's invitation to Bishop Brown to speak in St. Mark's tomorrow was in "open contempt and defiance of the authority and law of the Church."

Bishop Brown was found guilty of heresy last year by a trial court of the Protestant Episcopal Church. Later a court of Review affirmed this judgment and ordered him "deposed from the ministry of this church."
