THE PAPER OF THE EASTERN TOWNSHIPS

SHERBROOKE, QUEBEC, MONDAY, MARCH 4, 1946.

Forty-Ninth Year

Established 1897.

World News In Brief

Nuernberg, March 4.—Grand Admiral Erich Raeder's secret papers have revealed that British naval guns signalled the end of the German surface fleet December 31, 1942, off the northernmost tip of Norway.

It was then that two of Germany's finest cruisers—the Hipper and the Luetzow—were routed by Royal Navy warships escorting a convoy to Russia via the northern route. The blow was severe enough that it news occasioned a particularly colorful tantrum when it was brought to Hitler.

Raeder himself made a memorandum of the Fuehrer's rage on the occasion. The result of that northern debacle and Hitler's fury over it was the transfer of Raeder's job to submarine specialist Karl Doenitz and the immobilization of German heavy ships for the duration.

Cairo, March 4.—Sixteen Egyptians were wounded, some seriously, in a clash with Egyptian police today in Alexandria in the first violence of the nation's "Day of Mourning" for victims killed in the anti-British riots February 21. Cairo remained calm but uneasy.

A general strike, called by the National Committee of Labor, students and political leaders, paralyzed business.

The Interior Ministry quoted reports from Alexandria—site of a major British naval base—as saying police opened fire during a clash.

Egyptian troops in full battle kit guarded British and foreign ships in Cairo. (There were demonstrations of sympathy for the Egyptians in Syria and Lebanon where Damascus University students and workers in Beyrouth struck).

London, March 4.—A recent assertion by State Secretary Byrnes that the United States would not fight for reaction "should mean that real elections" will be held in Greece, the Moscow radio commentator "Analizer" said last night.

"The other day Mr. Byrnes made a speech in which he said it was not the tradition of Americans to defend the dead hand of reaction," the commentator said. "We fought against Nazism and Fascism not in order to stop the march of progress," declared Mr. Byrnes.

"These words should mean that real, honest elections, with all non-Fascist parties participating, will be held in Greece after normal conditions for such elections are assured."

(Mr. Byrnes, in a speech last Thursday in New York, said "it is not our tradition to defend the dead hand of reaction or the tyranny of privilege. We did not fight against the Nazis and Fascists who turned back the clock of civilization in order that we might stop the clock of progress.")

Pole Political Bitterness Grows As Bloc Plan Fails

By LARRY ALLEN

Warsaw, March 4.—(AP)—Bitterness increased in Poland's pre-election campaign today as Vice Premier Stanislaw Mikolajczyk came under increasing attack for his firm refusal to include his Peasant Party in the single "Democratic" bloc sought by other Government leaders.

Premier Edward Osobka-Morawski and Vice-Premier Wladyslaw Gomulka, President of the Workers' Party, both assailed Mikolajczyk, said by the Peasant Party press to have demanded 75 per cent representation in the Polish Parliament for his party.

The Premier asserted that the single bloc was the only way of preventing fratricidal strife and charged that Mikolajczyk had links with the western powers and was failing to co-operate for the good of Poland. Gomulka declared that Mikolajczyk's actions while he was Premier of the London Polish Government contributed to the destruction of Warsaw during the 1944 insurrection.

The Peasant Party press said that Mikolajczyk had made as a prerequisite to any talk of joining a bloc the abolishing of secret police and the Ministry of Public Security, and incorporation of that ministry into the Ministry of Public Administration.

Meanwhile, the Government moved to organize a volunteer militia apparently to assist in maintaining order. Rumors spread that because of the split between Mikolajczyk and other Government leaders the election might be postponed, but these received no confirmation.

General Plan For Raising India Health

Special Committee Recommends Extension of Health Services to All 400,000,000 of Population in Ten Years.

New Delhi, March 4.—(Reuters)—A 10-year plan to provide all of India's 400,000,000 people with an adequate medical service is announced in the report of the Health, Survey and Development Committee of the Government of India just published.

Many of the recommendations are revolutionary in relation to Indian standards of living and the most important concerns free medical treatment.

"No individual should fail to secure adequate medical care because of inability to pay for it," the report states.

As 90 per cent of Indian population lives in villages this would mean if the report were adopted, that for the first time in the country's history the problem of health has been tackled on a national scale. Every aspect of health from safe drinking water to town planning is discussed in the report.

It said the Central Government should be responsible for supervision of sanitary facilities and enforcement of all measures necessary to prevent the interprovincial spread of infectious diseases, in addition to the enforcement of standards regarding food and drugs.

An India-wide housing program, the Committee stated, should give first priority to the needs of the lower income groups and it recommended that sewerage schemes should be provided in all towns with a population in excess of 50,000 within the 10 years covered by the plan.

"The growth of the population is estimated that it is increasing by 5,000,000 annually—will become increasingly serious and the only practical steps that can be taken are measures to raise the standards of living and the spreading of the knowledge of birth control," the report said.

Some members of the committee, composed of 19 Indians and 5 Europeans, advocated the provision of contraceptives by the State. That a committee in which Indians formed nearly 80 per cent of the personnel should recommend birth control is considered a major step towards practical solution of the problem, for Hindu principles are opposed to such methods and the Hindus are the majority community in India.

Britain Proposes Aden Development

Aden, March 4.—(Reuters)—Extensive plans for development of Aden, important port on British Empire lines of communication and economic and cultural centre in the South Arabian area, are being considered by a local development committee.

The plans include improvements in medical, public health and educational facilities; development of natural resources by means of irrigation schemes to increase the purchasing power of the people and improve food supplies; and development of water and electricity supplies and communications to encourage expansion of private enterprise and provide employment.

The plans will be financed partly from the £800,000 (£3,600,000) which Aden is to receive from the British Colonial Development and Welfare Fund and partly from local government resources.

Washington Kept Informed of British Attitude in Connection With Reported Russian Refusal to Evacuate Troops From Northern Iran.

London, March 4.—(C.P.)—Authoritative sources disclosed today that Britain has asked Russia to explain her refusal to withdraw troops from Iran in accordance with the British-Russian-Iranian treaty.

A British note was said to have been dispatched to the British charge d'affaires, Frank Roberts, in Moscow for communication to the Soviet government.

The text of the note also was reported dispatched to the State Department at Washington.

A Foreign Office spokesman said the note was dispatched before the British Cabinet met this morning, less than 16 hours after Foreign Secretary Bevin returned from a rest in the country.

Mr. Roberts was asked by his government to "make inquiries" of the Soviet government concerning the Russian refusal to withdraw troops from northwestern Iran.

The spokesman said there had been exchanges between the United States and British government during the week-end on the situation.

Sources at the Foreign Office indicated they took a serious view of the situation, particularly because the Soviet government did not inform London of its action.

Moscow, March 4.—(AP)—Dr. B. E. Stein, Soviet lecturer and historian, said today Russia would defend "not in word but in deed" the sovereignty of all members of the United Nations, and would rebuff attempts by any power to "outflank" the Soviet Union.

Speaking at a large public meeting sponsored by the Council of Commissioners' Committee for Affairs of Higher Schools, Dr. Stein said Russia also would defend the rights of people for self-determination.

"The policy of the Soviet delegation at the first session of the General Assembly has shown—as in the energetic speeches of Andrei Vishinsky in connection with the situation in Greece and Indonesia and with the Syrian-Lebanon question—that any attempt to outflank the U.S.S.R. will encounter a decisive rebuff," he added.

Tehran, March 4.—(Reuters)—Four people were injured today in a clash outside the Persian Parliament building when a crowd of some 8,000 members of the Tudeh, Democrat, party staged a demonstration against prolonging the life of the present Parliament.

Today's parliamentary session was cancelled because of the demonstration.

The Tudeh party which led the home rule movement in Azerbaijan where Red Army forces still are in occupation, claimed that elections should be held March 12, irrespective of whether foreign troops had completed their evacuation by that date, or whether a settlement had been reached with the autonomous government of Azerbaijan.

Right-wing Persians pointed out that elections could not be held while foreign troops were in the country, and that the date of March 12 was fixed before the separatist movement became prominent.

Meanwhile the Government also was confronted with a Premier's demand that the United Nations Security Council charges that Russia has violated her agreement with Britain and the United States by not withdrawing from the country by the previously agreed date of March 2.

Dr. Mohamed Mossadegh, Parliamentary whip, told the Chamber of Deputies yesterday the Russians had not begun to evacuate their troops from Semnan, Meshed and Shiraz as promised and expressed his belief the Russians "intend to remain in our country."

The Russians said Friday that evacuation of these areas would begin Saturday.

There was no immediate government reaction to Mossadegh's demand for protest action. Premier Ahmed Qavam now is in Moscow with an Iranian mission conferring with Soviet authorities.

KILLED IN TRIANGULAR WRECK

Ashtabula, Ohio, March 4.—(AP)—An engineer was killed last night in a railroad accident involving three New York Central freight trains. Clarence L. Metzer, of Erie Pa., died in the crash. Twenty-eight freight cars were smashed and the right of way was torn up for a quarter of a mile as the trains collided at a cross-over. Two of the trains were westbound, the other eastbound.

Legislative Approval Of Deal Sought

Deal With Hollinger Company for Development of Ungava Believed to Have Exceeded Powers Given Government.

Quebec, March 4.—(AP)—A bill will be introduced in the Quebec Legislative Assembly shortly by Mines Minister Robinson for ratification of the 20-year contract granted Hollinger North Shore Exploration Company, Limited, early in January, for development of the natural resources of the Ungava region, it was learned from a good source here today.

The Order-in-Council granting the contract to the Hollinger Company is said to have exceeded the powers granted the Government last year by the Legislature and a new bill is reported to be needed to ratify the agreement.

Mr. Robinson told The Canadian Press last week that work on the $200,000,000 project to develop the natural resources of the 3,000 square miles of land bordering Labrador began several weeks ago.

Modern explorers, equipped with surveying instruments, maps and diamond drill, landed in the vast Ungava region several weeks ago and nearly $500,000 has been invested already in the mining development of this area known as New Quebec.

More will be known about the agreement shortly for Adelaide Godbout, leader of the Liberal Party Opposition in the Assembly, has asked for production of all Order-in-Council adopted in regard to the contract since May 24, 1945.

Tomorrow, third reading will be given a bill by Hon. J. S. Bourque, Minister of Lands and Forests and of Hydraulic Resources, authorizing Quebec-Hydro and Beauharnois Light, Heat and Power Company to lend their employees the necessary money to promote construction of family dwelling-houses. The measure is scheduled to undergo some technical amendments before being finally approved, however.

Boot Prints Hold Clue To Dual Killing

Bloomington, Ind., March 4.—(AP)—Two groundhog hunters' statements that they saw each other last Friday near an abandoned stone mill where the bodies of Russell E. Koontz and Mrs. Phyllis Coleman were found Friday night were being checked by authorities today.

Police related this sequence of events in a determined hunt for whoever beat a Bloomington businessman to death, garrotted his attractive companion, and threw their bodies into a sludge pit.

On Saturday police obtained casts of boot prints made beside the pit and 20 feet away. An automobile overturned Saturday night on Beanblossom road, west of here, and a farmer noticed that footprints of one of two Negro brothers in the car resembled the prints at the stone mill. A pair of boots with trends resembling the prints later was found in the Negro's home.

One brother told police he was hunting birds and groundhogs Friday in the area of the stone mill. He said he met another hunter there.

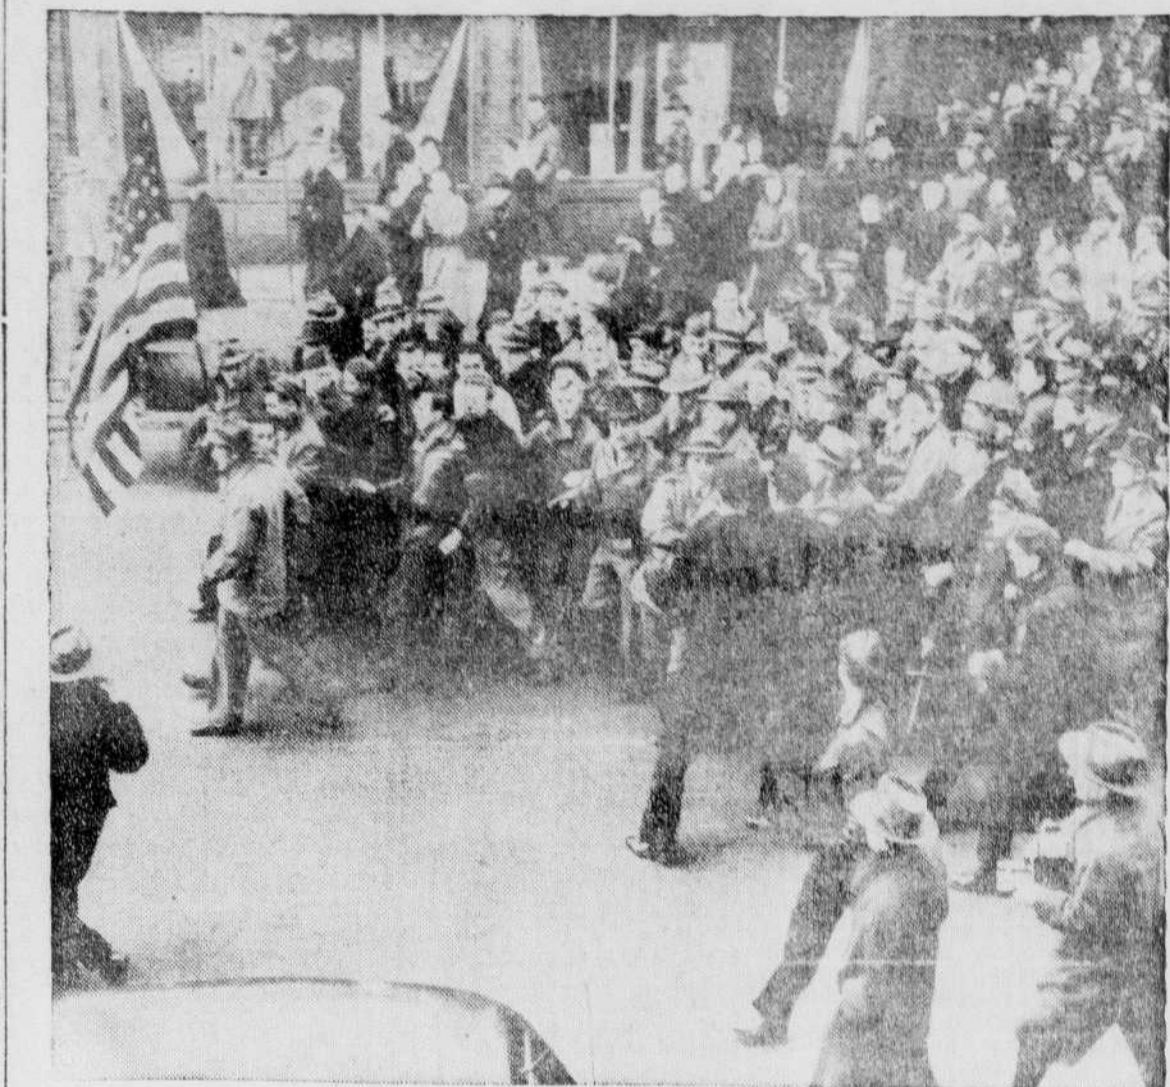

The other hunter told police of meeting the Negro about a mile from the mill, comparing with him the sights of their guns, and then parting. Both hunters said they didn't go to the mill.

List Manslaughter Charge For Court Martial Hearing

Ottawa, March 4.—(AP)—Two non-commissioned army officers, one Canadian and one British, will be tried by court martial at Winnipeg this month on charges alleging collaboration with the Japanese and ill-treatment of fellow prisoners of war after the fall of Hong Kong, it was announced today.

Their names were given as CSM. Marcus Charles Tugby, WO2, Canadian Army, and Cpl. (A) Sgt. John Hugh Harvey of Britain's Royal Army Medical Corps. Tugby will face an all-Canadian court martial March 18 and Harvey will face an all-British court a

New Efforts To Settle Two Major Labor Controversies In United States Useless

Canada Will Set Up Army Staff School

(Special to the Record)

Ottawa, March 4.—A Canadian Army staff college will be inaugurated at Royal Military College, Kingston, Ont., it is announced today by National Defence Headquarters here.

The college will be a purely Canadian institution with the best and most modern in staff training. It will provide adequate trained staff officers for Canada's peacetime army of 25,000.

Before World War II only three Canadian officers a year were able to take staff courses, two at the British school at Camberley and one at Quetta, India. During the past five years 12 Canadian war staff courses were held, the first in England and the succeeding 11 at R.M.C. under predominantly Canadian instructors. The last course will end March 22.

In the first year it is expected that 20 Canadians will be trained for the Army along with ten other officers of the Royal Canadian Air Force and American, British and Commonwealth armies.

The course will be designed to broaden the students' non-military education and will stress major civilian and government trends.

The first course will be a "junior wing" starting June 17 and running through to June 14, 1947.

"Junior" and "Senior" wings will alternate yearly. Date of the first senior wing and the number of students have not yet been decided.

On the college directing staff will be six, or seven, Canadian Army officers, one from the United States Army, one from the R.C.A.F., at least two British Army officers and, over the entire instructional staff, a director who, as yet, has not been named.

The junior wing will consist of majors and captains who will graduate qualified as second grade staff officers. The senior wing will include major and possibly lieutenant-colonels who have graduated from the junior wing or have had other staff experience and training. They will get an insight into the requirements of staff officers in higher commands and graduate as first grade staff officers.

27 Killed In California Plane Crash

San Diego, Calif., March 4.—(AP)—Bulldozers cut through forest and brush on the steep slopes of Thing Mountain today, clearing a path to effect the recovery of 27 bodies from a wrecked and burned American Airlines passenger plane.

Indications were that stretcher bearers would not be able to get the bodies, all but six of them charred, until late in the day.

West bound from New York to Los Angeles, the plane ramed into the side of the fog-shrouded mountain, 60 miles east of San Diego, less than an hour before its scheduled landing in Los Angeles.

Hail and snowstorms hampered the rescue parties and the patching of a new German plane, which was cleared by progress up the 6,000-foot peak was slow. A sheriff's party reached the crash scene, 1,500 feet from the summit, yesterday afternoon. They found all but the tail section and a part of the wing had been destroyed by flames.

The Minister, who said he preferred to remain anonymous, declined to elaborate. Nor was there any official comment from a Prime Minister Mackenzie King, known to be one of the few high Government leaders acquainted with the full story of the leakage of state secrets to the Russian Embassy here.

Schacht Claims He Sought To Replace Hitler In 1938

By DANIEL DE LUCE

Nuernberg, March 4.—(AP)—High collared Hjalmar Schacht swears he conspired in 1938 with discredited generals to overthrow Hitler and install himself at the head of a new German Government, but the plot failed because a division commander lost his nerve.

Schacht admits he told the Fuehrer, amid jubilation over the fall of France, "may God protect you!"

Then he set on the government bench in the Reichstag while Hitler oratorically gloried over the German conquest in the west.

"I did not want to commit suicide, sir," Schacht now proclaims. "Goering did not like me and I hated him. . . I would never admit Goering was an expert on anything, particularly not on the economic question. . . ."

"After I left the Reichsbank (January, 1939), I retired entirely from public life. I did not follow international figures or events; I devoted myself to farming and hunting. . . . My brain died but by attending his business."

Narrow Escape At Drummondville

Drummondville, Que., March 4.—(AP)—Albert Roch, a 26-year-old youth of Amherst, N.S., is recuperating in this Drummondville town of an adventure he shall remember all his life. He was leaving the station here last week as a Canadian National Railway train entered the station. Roch slipped accidentally and fell on the track. Unable to reach safety, Roch grabbed the cowcatcher of the engine and was dragged 100 feet before the train finally came to a stop. The youth was rushed to hospital but a thorough examination showed he had escaped injuries completely. He rested in hospital a few days to recuperate from a nervous shock and was then able to attend his business.

Report On Espionage Due Today

Ottawa Believes That Names of at Least Nine Persons Held in Connection With Espionage Inquiry Will Be Named Today.

By GEORGE KITCHEN
Canadian Press Staff Writer
Ottawa, March 4.—Names of nine persons, including some of those detained, will be made public today in a lengthy "interim" report from the Royal Commission inquiring into the nebulous Soviet spy activities in Canada. The Canadian Press has learned.

This information came from an authoritative source who said the nine names would include those of persons held since the inquiry was made public February 15 and "those of persons from 'other places'—an unexplained reference which could mean additional detentions have been made at some place other than Ottawa.

It had been considered possible the report might indicate the charges upon which any persons prosecuted as a result of the inquiry would be tried. The Government has disclosed its intention to prosecute in cases where the evidence warrants it.

While it had been known since shortly after Prime Minister Mackenzie King's original announcement of the spy ring February 15 that an interim report was planned, the report had not been expected so soon.

A letter from the Commission counsel to Justice Minister St. Laurent, made public February 23, said the Commissioners wished to make a report on "at least some of their findings" as soon as possible but that it appeared this could not be done "less than two or three weeks from now."

Information the report was coming sooner than had been expected stirred speculation as to the reasons which made possible this apparent change in plans and renewed interest in the case which had waned somewhat under lack of developments as the Government maintained the veil of secrecy which has cloaked proceedings from the outside.

The report had been anticipated eagerly with the feeling it would add concrete material to the sparse official announcements made during the first two weeks the public has known of the case.

"An indication it would be made came Saturday when a high Cabinet Minister told The Canadian Press following a Cabinet meeting that "quite an important announcement" could be expected Monday.

The Minister, who said he preferred to remain anonymous, declined to elaborate. Nor was there any official comment from a Prime Minister Mackenzie King, known to be one of the few high Government leaders acquainted with the full story of the leakage of state secrets to the Russian Embassy here.

armament promises of Versailles, I would never have stood for the rearmament of Germany. . . . I thought the armament was something which would help Germany even in international commercial markets, because even in economic negotiations there is always the right of respect which you have to put into the scale."

"1938 was the crucial year in my conflict of conscience," he related. "I could have escaped. . . nevertheless I had all my family in the country and did not know what would happen to them. Furthermore I have never thought the attitude of these emigrants sitting in Washington and writing articles about Germany to be very heroic. . . . I felt it my duty to stay and try to do my best to check Hitler as far as possible. I made an arrangement with Gen. von Wiltelen to do away with the Hitler regime and Wiltelen and I agreed to form a new government in case the plot should succeed. The thing could only be done, of course by military force, I being a civilian and having no power whatever. Wiltelen lost his courage at the last moment, so it failed.

"On July 20, 1944, my nearest connection. . . was Gen. Lindemar. He was a general of artillery and was captured afterwards and handed over. . . . Then there was Dr. Joseph Mueller, of Munich. He was in Washington in the confidence of the Vatican, of the Holy See. . . ."

"They tried as far as I know to get some beforehand arrangement with the Allies that if they succeeded in doing away with Hitler, Germany would be spared in some way, or would be treated ordinarily. On July 23 in the morning I was arrested. Since then until today I am in prison."

"If the Allies had kept their dis-

TAX PROBLEMS OF MELCHERS FIRM REVIEWED

A moderate increase in net profits, after provision for income and excess profits tax to $98,809.68 and an expansion of net working capital of $27,217.47, features the annual report of Melchers' Distillery released today.
In reviewing the activities of the company for the year 1945, Victor Marchand, the president, states that until August 15th, 1945, the entire production of the company had been used on war account, but that since that date production has been for its own account. The company has already received orders from certain Provincial Liquor Commissions which are expected to assure full-time operations for six months to a year, while other contracts are in process of completion.
The president's statement deals at length with the dispute now on with the Department of National Revenue who have seen fit to disallow or substantially reduce certain depreciation claims laid under the provisions of the excess profits tax. So far no final settlement has been reached with the income tax authorities to these claims which cover a period dating back to the 1941 fiscal year, but the directors are hopeful of establishing the justice of their case.
The customary dividends were paid and $23,809.68 was transferred to earned surplus account.

New Bank Of Montreal Appointments

Son of the late Sir Joseph Pope, former Secretary of State, Edward Pope, recently made an assistant general manager of the Bank of Montreal, following twelve years as manager of the bank's main office in London, Eng., has been named successor, Frederick Gordon Belcher, assistant general manager in charge of the bank's offices in Quebec, the Maritimes and Newfoundland. Mr. Belcher is assuming the duties of Otho Rupert Sharp, who is to retire shortly after service of 46 years with the bank, 24 of which have been as an assistant general manager.
Mr. Pope, who has seen service with the bank in France, as well as in Canada and England, recently returned from England where he had been present during the days of the "blitz."
A Maritimer by birth, Mr. Sharp joined the bank at Chatham, N.B., in 1900, and served in both Eastern and Western Canada before he was appointed joint manager of the bank's office in Mexico City in 1912. Promoted to the post of secretary of the bank in 1915, he was appointed an assistant general manager two years later. His successor, Mr. Belcher, has been with the bank since 1902 when he joined the organization in Winnipeg. He was appointed an assistant general manager in 1942 after seven years as superintendent of the bank's branches in Manitoba and Saskatchewan, with headquarters in Winnipeg. Mr. Belcher, who was born in Montreal, gained most of his experience in Western Canada.

Closer Link Of Anglo-Saxon People Urged To Keep Peace

"A challenge is confronting us today — the challenge of disappointment brought about by the present world conditions which have failed to fulfil a result corresponding to the sacrifices of war," declared Rev. Dr. A. H. McGreer, Principal and Vice-Chancellor of Bishop's University, guest speaker at the second in a series of banquets held in the Gertrude Scott Memorial Hall, Lennoxville, Saturday night in honor of veterans of Lennoxville and Ascot.

Attributing the current misgivings between Canada and the Soviet Union to the vast difference in fundamental backgrounds of the two nations, Dr. McGreer urged a closer alliance to the British Empire and the United States of America, "those countries with a similar background to our own."

Contrasting the histories of Russia and the British Empire, Dr. McGreer said that innumerable difficulties had to be surmounted before the differences of the two nations could be reconciled and urged in the meantime to "keep our heads."

"Look to the British Empire, our sister countries, Australia and New Zealand, and let us form one glorious league with a common outlook and appreciation of the supreme values of life," Dr. McGreer said. Suggesting that this was one of the most critical periods the world has ever known, Dr. McGreer called for greater co-operation between nations with a common bond "to steady human society in this great crisis."

Quoting statistics of the trend of population in a number of countries by 1950, Dr. McGreer said that in China the population would be over six hundred millions, India would exceed five hundred millions, Southeast Asia, outside of Japan, between twenty and thirty millions, and in Russia between three hundred and twenty and three hundred and thirty millions.

Urging a grouping together of this race under the banner of democracy "to educate others who have not yet learned the true meaning of this word," Dr. McGreer said that he felt there should

COMMITTEE IS ORGANIZED FOR MAYORAL FIGHT

At a meeting held in support of the candidature of Alderman Guy Bryant for the mayoralty attended by leading English and French citizens, a strong election campaign committee was set up. Plans were made for a well organized effort to ensure a good turnout of voters on election day, March 26.

The voting list is made up of 1945 taxpayers—that is any person who has paid either real estate, business, rental or poll tax. The three latter taxes must have been paid before January 1, 1945.

A map has been prepared by the city authorities showing how the city is divided into 93 polling subdivisions. Each sub-division is denoted by a number which will be permanent. A voter living at a certain address will remain listed under the same polling sub-division number. In addition to knowing your polling district number, it will be necessary only to find out through the newspapers at what address in your polling district your polling booth is located.

These addresses will be advertised in conjunction with polling district numbers seven days before the date of election. There will be about 50 polling booths required to take care of the 93 subdivisions.

The map showing the polling subdivisions will be displayed at the City Hall, post office, churches, stores and other public buildings.

Mr. Bryant's committee headquarters are located at 65 Depot Street, telephone 298, where inquiries will be answered.

Those wishing to help in the campaign, either as a poll worker or by offering the use of a car on election day, are asked to leave their names at this address.

MORE ARRESTS BY BLUECOATS IN PAST MONTH

In the monthly report of the Municipal Police Department issued this morning by Armand Clonon, assistant secretary of the department, a decrease of 19 in the number of February calls can be noted. Sixty-four arrests were made by local constables in February as compared with 59 in January while the number of summons dropped from 8 to 4.

Auto accidents remained the same as in the first month of the year with four in each period while the injured numbered 6 in February and 4 in January.

McGreer, Principal and Vice-Chancellor of Bishop's University, who acted as guest speaker, Mrs. Austin Scott, Chairman of the Ladies' Committee of the Rehabilitation Committee, and the Ven. Archdeacon A. Jones, Rector of St. George's Church, Lennoxville. Standing, in same order: Rev. Elton Scott, Bishop's University, J. A. Anniversary Services Held At Local Baptist Church

The significance of Nehemiah's words: "I am doing a great work, so that I cannot come down," spoken to his enemies, Sanballat, Tobiah and Geshem, who attempted to do him mischief, was explained to the congregation of the Sherbrooke Baptist Church here Sunday morning on the occasion of the church's seventy-fourth anniversary by Rev. R. J. McCracken, M.A., B.D., professor of Christian Theology at McMaster University, Hamilton, Ont., and president of the Baptist Convention of Ontario and Quebec.

Professor McCracken was the guest preacher again at night, when the congregation of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church united for the evening service with the Baptist congregation. In the morning, members of the Sherbrooke Snowshoe Club were present in a body for their annual church parade.

Both services were conducted by Rev. H. E. Secord, minister, with the choir rendering special music. Wright W. Gibson was at the organ.

Hymns for the morning service were "Glorious Things of Thee," "Holy Spirit, Truth Divine" and "O Love of God." The choir sang the anthem, "Lead Me Lord," and "Lift Up Your Heads," and a ladies' chorus, "I Lay My Sins On Jesus."

In his morning address, Professor McCracken developed three points—the greatness of being a worker, the greatness of being a constructive worker, and finally, the greatness of being a Christian worker.

The story of Nehemiah rebuilding the walls of the city of God provides all with an inspiring example of brotherliness, industry and co-operation, he said. "Here we find men working with a vigor that impresses the trait of idleness upon us as the worst sin. There each was for all, and all for each."

"Unaware, Nehemiah gave us a picture of himself as a man of prayer, action, swift resolute nature, with a capacity for getting others to work as himself and combining in himself the instincts of a saint and mystic and true born man of affairs. His strength of character was never separate from his religious beliefs and convictions. He believed that communion

Czech Underground Leader Reticent On Own Exploits

In a classic piece of understatement Dr. Josef Kotrly, second in command of the Czech underground throughout the war, said "Yes, it was quite exciting at times."

Dr. Kotrly, who was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. Jan Pick over the past week-end, is now the Czechoslovakian Consulate General in Montreal and has been in Canada but three months.

Dr. Kotrly, a giant of a man, with jet-black hair, speaks English remarkably well for a person who has been acquainted with the language for only a matter of months. He took his first lessons from three escaped English prisoners whom he harbored at his small country home in the early months of 1944.

By that time his hair-raising double life was nearly in its fifth year.

A lawyer by profession, practicing in the small town of Nachod in Eastern Bohemia, Dr. Kotrly plunged into the war of the underground at the moment that the Germans occupied his country in 1939. He did not confine his activities to Nachod, but travelled the length and breadth of Europe, organizing anti-German propaganda, the slowing down of work in factories, the aiding in the escape of prisoners, the harrying of refugees of every oppressed land and planning sabotage of every description.

When the Czechs staged their revolution in the streets of Prague in May of last year, Dr. Kotrly was there, organizing and leading. The first government of liberated Czechoslovakia was the underground and thus he became vice-president of the country for a short time before the arrival of Benes and Masaryk, as well as being in charge of the Ministry of Justice.

He led the Nazi Gestapo by only a step in the grim race of death that saw 60,000 executed and another 200,000 sent to concentration camps. Dr. Kotrly, who speaks perfect German, was for a long time not even suspected and when he finally was in early 1944 the Germans could pin no single act of sabotage on him or connect him specifically in any way with the underground movement.

He was once taken into custody by the Gestapo and threatened with the concentration camp but was later released. This was just at the time that his wife, who had studied medicine before the war, was busy looking after an escaped Russian who had been shot through both legs, and flogging rifles and grenades from German ammunition trucks. Petty pilfering and extortion were carried out in his home and he lost most of his furniture, rugs and silverware.

After experiencing the terrible condition in which his country is now, Dr. Kotrly says Canada is searched for a word and shamed. "The Germans took all there was," he said, "Czechs get just enough to keep them from starving—two pounds of meat per month, half a pound of fat per month, which includes butter, margarine and cooking oils, and two cigarettes a day—and just for men."

Dr. Kotrly would say almost nothing about himself, but he praised the way in which his wife and two daughters had managed throughout the terrible ordeal. "It is rather exciting," he said, "when you happen to be keeping escaped prisoners in your home and there is a martial law that declares any person caught harboring escapes will immediately be shot."

Members of the local Fire Department were summoned to answer a call from alarm box No. 14 at 7:25 last night where the Lion Gasoline Station on Wellington Street South, owned by Gerard Bourque, was ablaze.

The fire started in an electric motor at the rear of the garage and the flames spread to the ceiling where the most damage, although slight, was done by fire and water.

Ten firemen answered the call under the direction of Director Percy Donahue assisted by Lt. Pidgeon and Sgt. Harrison and one radio car.

SNOWSHOE CONVENTION SPOILED BY BEHAVIOUR OF FEW

Sherbrooke is always eager to welcome visitors, and honored to be chosen as the site of an international gathering, such as the snowshoe convention held in the city over the weekend. But the behaviour of certain of the snowshoers during their stay here can only be described as disgusting.

As early as Saturday morning some of the members of the convention, both men and women, easily distinguishable by their colorful costumes, were making their way up and down Wellington Street, scarcely able to walk, due to the influence of liquor. Nobody objects to laughter, songs and music, even though the business section of a city during working hours is perhaps not the best place for this entertainment. But when grown men and women stagger around the streets before noonday it is time to call a halt.

The route of the grand parade on Saturday night was very badly chosen, and the local authorities who granted permission for the parade, and designated the streets it was to pass along, obviously did not consider medical emergencies. The city's three largest hospitals, St. Vincent de Paul, the Sherbrooke Hospital and the Hotel Dieu, are all in East Sherbrooke, yet for half an hour the only street that leads to these hospitals, King Street across the Aylmer Bridge, was completely cut off to traffic.

One doctor making his way with a maternity case to the Sherbrooke Hospital was not able to get through, and although no serious consequences resulted, it is quite conceivable that this delay might have cost a life. The local police stationed on King Street near the market place were most co-operative, but it was simply impossible to make way for an automobile through the crowds and the parade itself. With only one route available, the hospitals should not be cut off.

Certain of the snowshoers continued their celebrations on Sunday, and in the afternoon, at 3 p.m., a group of men stood on the corner of King and Wellington streets, waving half empty bottles of liquor, weaving in and out of the cars, holding up traffic. With the streets in their present slippery condition an accident might easily have happened.

Snowshoeing is an ancient and respected Canadian sport. Most of those who follow it are decent citizens with a respect for the rights and sensibilities of others. It is unfortunate that a few, by their excesses, give a bad reputation to the whole group.

EASING A CRISIS

The announcement from official Iran quarters that the Russians will begin the evacuation of their troops from the Northern section of the country today in compliance with the agreement made in Moscow between the Foreign Ministers of the Big Three serves to ease what might have developed into a dangerous situation. For some days there has been grave apprehension in many capitals that the Russians might decline to carry out their commitments, which action would create a delicate problem for the United Nations, in that an open Russian refusal to evacuate Iran would force the major powers to take direct action to eject her or compel them to admit in the early stages of the game that the United Nations Organization was ineffective in protecting the interests of foreign powers.

This immediate danger has been removed by the Russian action and permits the chief powers to continue their negotiations towards solving a number of issues which still threaten to divide them.

The Russian decision might be taken as an initial victory for the definite stand taken by United States Secretary of State Byrnes, who, while decrying those who spoke of war between his country and Russia as almost inevitable, declared that his government intended to defend the United Nations charter and to outlaw aggression.

Mr. Byrnes' declaration was one of the frankest yet made by a senior United States official and without direct reference to the Soviet condemned in no uncertain terms many of the activities which have featured Russian policy in recent weeks and was also a warning to that power to withdraw its troops from Iran.

Whether the sudden Russian move to comply with the agreement is an answer to Mr. Byrnes' speech or not may never be determined, but in recent months the Soviets have shown a marked tendency to listen to plain speaking by any nation and there is a distinct possibility that the bluntness used by the American State Secretary may have had the desired effect in the Soviet capital.

Then the possibility remains that certain parties are showing too much concern about Russia's policies and attempt to read into her moves a meaning that does not exist.

THE TOURIST TRADE AND THE CANADIAN FARMER

To the average farmer who has not converted his residence into a tourist home, travel industry in Canada may be regarded as of minor importance with but little direct or indirect benefit. But statistics quoted recently by D. Leo Dolan, director of the Dominion Travel Bureau, show the tourist industry plays an important part in the agricultural economy of the nation.

Quoting Professor Kenneth Taylor, Wartime Prices and Trade Board economist, Mr. Dolan stated that among the food requirements of tourists for a single year were the following agricultural products: Four million pounds of butter, four million dozen eggs and eight million pounds of meat products.

Admittedly in the 1946 season the tourist consumption of such foodstuffs as butter might not be welcomed by the Canadian public in view of rationing shortages, but long-term meaning of these figures is obvious. Eggs, for example, usually are plentiful during the summer months, when prices are at their lowest for the year. If through the development of a large tourist industry, the egg demand was kept high during these prolific months, the price would have a tendency to maintain its higher levels and the benefit to the farmer would be self-evident.

The same would apply to many agricultural products in normal times, and would result in a greatly enlarged market for farm products during a period of at least four months during the summer.

Mr. Dolan made another suggestion that is worthy of consideration. He pleaded for improvement in the quality of Canadian food in restaurants, hotels and tourist resorts, and advocated the development of a distinctly Canadian cuisine.

This suggestion should not be overly difficult in the average Canadian community, as most districts have some distinctive crop or crops which could be featured on the menus at the height of the tourist season. But to make this effective, these must be developed to perfection. A cheap imitation of the original article would tend to detract from rather than promote a steady flow of tourists.

REORGANIZING LONDON'S CHURCHES

One of the major indirect results of the war on British life will be the reorganization of the parochial set-up of the Church of England, the most apparent effect being forecast in a statement by Dr. Wand, the Bishop of London, who announces that in the revision compelled by the German air blitzes some eighty-three parishes in his Diocese will be consolidated.

The Anglican Church is therefore taking advantage of a fine opportunity of carrying out a reform that has been a crying need for generations, particularly in the area known as the City of London, the financial area. In olden days that area was very populous and many churches were built. Today, the City is simply a collection of offices; it is not even a shopping centre except for cigar stores, a few haberdashers and a multitude of restaurants. By day it is crowded with very near a million people. After six o'clock at night there is nobody there except caretakers.

But the churches remain. Some of them are one thousand years old, and all of them are very beautiful. There are several that were designed by Sir Christopher Wren. Many famous people are interred in them, and they contain lovely memorials.

On Sundays, however, the Rectors preach to empty pews. The people who labor in the City live a long way from it, and the only worshippers are a small number of caretakers and the occasional City man and his family who drive in from their suburban homes. These churches are able to continue, however, because of the ancient endowments and ownership of properties. The question of sale was mooted on many occasions, but the former Bishop of London, Dr. A. F. Winnington Ingram, was against it purely for sentimental reasons—the historic associations and the demolition of beautiful structures.

The sites are very valuable and the sums that could be realized from them would be enormous in proportion to the extent of frontage and depth. With the money thus realized the Church would re-erect old churches where they are more needed, and consolidation would help solve the perennial problem of putting clergy where they are badly wanted.

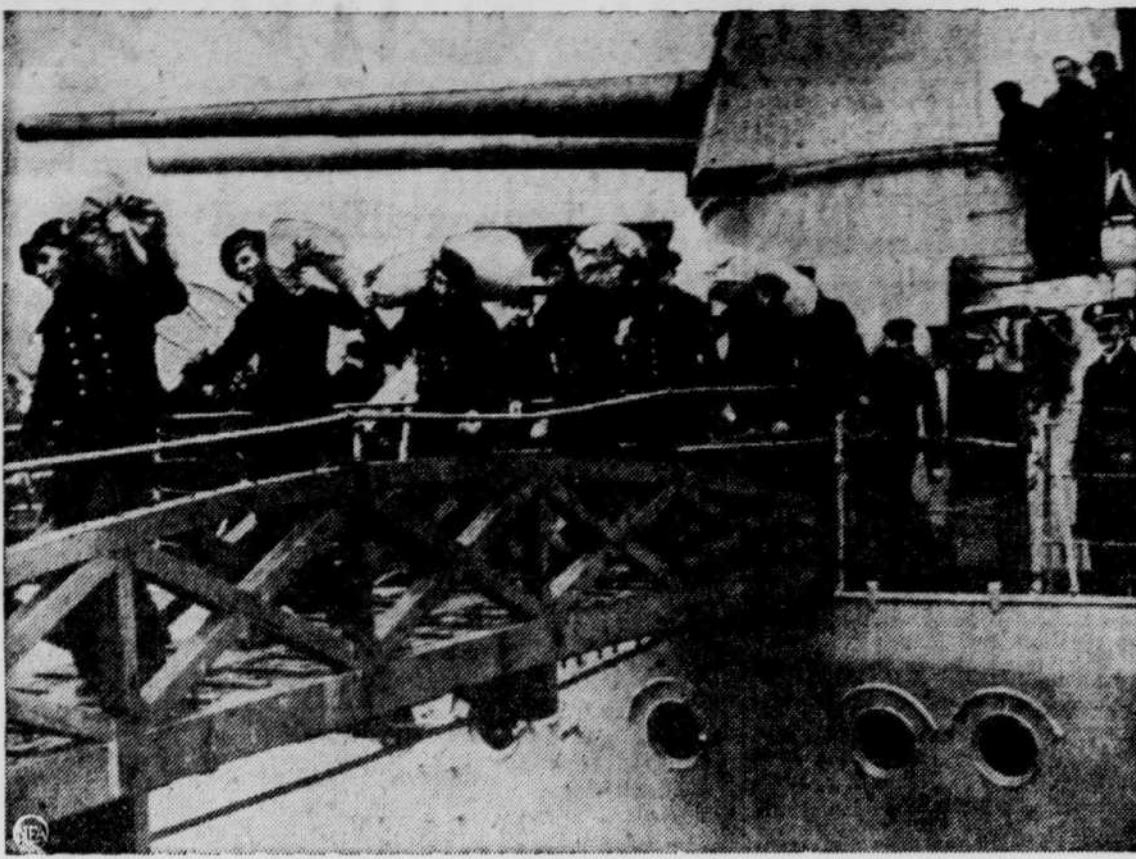

Sentiment is a strong factor in church matters, but in these days it is most desirable to be practical and put more churches in populous areas.

GERMANS GET ROUSING WELCOME IN PHILADELPHIA

Picture Editorial

The above photograph shows the Nazi crew of the former German cruiser Prinz Eugen filing down the gangplank at the Philadelphia Naval Base before leaving for New York where they will be transported to their native land. They were greeted by a welcoming crowd of some 5,000 German-Americans who showered the husky, healthy crew of 547 men with presents of sugar, food, fruit and clothes. It seems incredible that these Americans can overlook so easily the fact that this crew roamed the North Atlantic sinking Allied ships and taking American lives. The gifts would have served a much more useful purpose if they had been sent to the people of one of the European countries liberated from the plundering brothers-in-arms of the men shown above.

Letters To The Editor

A RESPONSE TO THE PREMIER'S REQUEST

Dear Sir—The request by Premier Duplessis for comments on the idea of levying new taxes throughout the province for the benefit of the school system as a whole has aroused a great deal of discussion. Another voice has been heard in the debate by the filing of a brief by the Saguenay Development Association—a voluntary association of persons, companies and municipalities interested in the prosperity of the Saguenay District.

In a brief forwarded to the Prime Minister and the Members of Parliament, the Saguenay Industrial Development Association maintains that Quebec must plan to increase its wealth at the same time and at much the same rate at which it increases its school standards. It believes that regions are not rich because they have good schools but, instead, they are rich. It suggests that the details of the system for collecting school taxes are susceptible to improvement and that revised methods of spending the collected taxes might offset a large portion of the existing deficit.

In opposing the adoption of a single school zone for the Province of Quebec, the Association advocates local autonomy, believing that successful democratic government requires that those who make the rules are also the governed by the rules. For that reason, it is held preferable that the school district, or the territory called the school municipality, be as small as possible so that, in theory at least, it contains a school with a very high standard. It still should be within the reach of those in the municipality. It is essential for proper control that school zones be comparatively small so that property assessors and tax rate adjusters themselves feel the weight of their own taxes and enjoy the benefits of the schools provided by those taxes. There have been instances when school boards have ambitiously adopted programs of expansion that have proved to be far beyond the ability of their district to support, and there have been occasions when facilities have been installed in school buildings above those available in other districts. The Association believes that it is unjust to now unload the burden of such expansion upon others who have been more discriminate and wise in their management.

In its final suggestion, the brief recommends that, if any school zone experiences a condition of unbearable deficit after the economy obtained by normal procedures has been applied to school costs, then such zone should be expanded by a Provincial "School Commission." It would be the duty of the School Commission to investigate the basis of financing, evaluation, tax rates and school facilities and procedures to determine whether the zone is operating on a reasonable basis and is entitled to assistance from the consolidated general funds of the province—without the unjustness of a special tax on power or pulpwood. If, on the contrary, the zone which applied for help is found to be operating abnormally, then the School Commission should take over the operation of that zone and retain control until it has been regularized.

Noting that the persons who have favored the uniting of the province into a single school zone and the application of further taxes on electricity are probably either persons from the more populous centres or are professionally interested in schools, the Association believes that such persons would naturally recommend measures which would promise to be immediately beneficial to them and would hardly be expected to give as much thought to the broad economy of the province as would those who are dependent upon industry, or who live by industrial expansion, or whose moves have always been based upon Quebec's industrial outlook. With due deference to the abilities of the sponsors of the new ideas, the Saguenay Valley communities are convinced that their viewpoint should be earnestly considered.

A large section of the brief is devoted to an exposition that the school standards and the general wealth of the province are closely inter-related. A comparison is drawn between the wealth per capita of New York State and

Those are expensive lights which the federal public works department is going to string across Seymour Narrows from the abandoned drilling barge cables above Ripple Rock.

That's all that coastwise mariners will have to show for $700,000 spent on an abortive attempt to blast out the rock. Until "new methods" are devised, the work has been halted and there is no telling how long that will be.

In the meantime the lights will illuminate nothing so much as Ottawa's inconceivable remoteness from British Columbia's actual problems. Ottawa could festoon the whole channel with electric bulbs and disaster would still threaten every vessel venturing into the hazardous whirlpools.

Navigators don't require lights. They know exactly where the rock will be found if luck isn't with them. The master of the government's own hydrographic survey ship was looking right at it one bright summer afternoon two years ago. But he couldn't keep it.

Government chiefs instruct the mariner, north-bound against a flood tide, to head straight for the obstruction. The current will drive his ship to starboard toward Mandie Island, just enough to pass neatly by. If he doesn't do what he's told he is likely to be set off and stranded against the further shore. The horror of Ripple Rock is that a ship may make the passage in safety 99 times out of 100. The hundredth time some small change in conditions, some slight miscalculation, some peculiar twist of the tide may bring disaster. Nine workmen were drowned there a year ago, although their pilot knew all there was to be known. To drop the removal plan now is unthinkable. Yet Ottawa has done it, apparently because drilling costs too much. No time for re-suspension or for starting a new method is stated. Ottawa, responsible for the safety of navigation, would sooner save money than protect life at sea. That is, on this coast.

McKENNEY ON BRIDGE

CINCH TRUMP TRICK BEATS THE DEFENSE

In today's hand West found himself with a trump trick which lost him another sure trick. Murphy Oliphant of New York, who played the hand, was able to make the four trumps in the opponent's hand work to his advantage rather than to his detriment.

The opening club lead was won with the king, a small heart led to dummy's ace, and the ten of diamonds played. West covered with the jack, North put on the queen, and when it held, he led the small club. Dummy's queen won and West dropped the four of clubs. Declarer now led a heart from dummy and cashed his king and queen, then threw West in the lead with the fourth heart.

West was end-played. His natural play was a diamond, which Oliphant let ride around to the nine-spot. He cashed the ace of clubs, discarding his three of spades, led a diamond to the ace, and cashed the seven of hearts, discarding a diamond from dummy.

MARRIAGES

BLUE-GEORGE

The marriage of Grace Marion George, daughter of Mr. C. H. George and the late Mrs. George, Conley Street, Lennoxville, to Lt.-Col. John Lawrence Blue, commanding officer, the Sherbrooke Regiment (R), son of Mrs. A. W. Blue, and the late Mr. Blue, High Street, Sherbrooke, was solemnized in Lennoxville United Church on Saturday at half-past three o'clock in the afternoon, with Rev. Norman MacLeod officiating. Mrs. Lee Watson acted as organist, and the church was decorated with mauve iris and cream-colored snapdragons.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. Fred Burbank, of Lennoxville, because of the illness of her father, wore a floor-length gown of bluish satin, having a shirred bodice and sleeves ending in points over the hands. Her ivory tulle veil was held in place by a coronet of orange blossoms and she carried a cascade bouquet of Johanna Hill roses with white freesia. Her only ornament was a three-strand pearl necklace, the gift of the groom.

Miss Marika Bey, of Thetford Mines, as maid-of-honor, wore a floor-length gown of mauve sheer, having a hooped skirt and a purple lace bodice. She wore a small hat of purple violets with mauve tulle illusion veiling and carried a colonial bouquet of purple violets and ivory-tone carnations.

Major Eugene Arnold, of Sherbrooke, acted as best man, and the ushers were Lt.-Col. George Logie and W.O. Lloyd George.

Mrs. George, stepmother of the bride, was in an afternoon gown of queen's blue crepe, having black accessories and a corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. Blue, mother of the groom, wore an afternoon dress of navy blue crepe with matching accessories and a corsage of white roses.

The reception following the ceremony was held at 133 Quebec Street, Sherbrooke, where tall standards of calla lilies were placed about the rooms, decorated with pink snapdragons, freesia and fern. The bride's table, covered with a lace cloth, was centered by a four-tier wedding cake, topped and flanked with freesia and fern. Johanna Hill roses in silver bowls and pale yellow candles in matching silver candelabras completed the table decorations.

Following the reception, the bridal couple left by plane for New York, the bride wearing a travelling powder blue gabardine suit, a pearl grey chesterfield topcoat, an off-the-face hat of black straw, with black accessories and a corsage of Johanna Hill roses.

Le-Col. and Mrs. John L. Blue will take up residence at 38 High Street, Sherbrooke.

Out of town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Glasse, Miss Gwen George, W.O. Lloyd George and Mr. Harry Blue, all of Montreal.

Graced by the presence of Mrs. A. V. Richardson, Past Commissioner, and Mrs. J. Dorrian, past president, the largely attended tea given by the Sherbrooke Girl Guides' Association on Thursday afternoon at the MacKinnon Memorial, was a very happy and successful social event. The guests, who included mothers and friends of the Guides, were cordially received by Mrs. L. Maskell, president, with Mrs. Gordon LeBaron, acting as cashier, owing to the absence of Miss Winifred St. Louis, treasurer. Tea and delicious refreshments were served under the convership of Mrs. T. Matte and Mrs. George Murphy Jr. presided for the largely attended tea and bridge, held in St. Patrick's Church Hall on Thursday afternoon. Acting as hostesses for the party were Mrs. G. D. GREAT SUCCESS MARKED LOCAL LIBRARY DANCE

"Gay Gambols," was the intriguing caption so aptly chosen by the Sherbrooke Library Ladies' Committee for its major effort, a pre-Lenten Dance, held through the courtesy of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Conway, at the Chateau Frontenac on Friday evening, and which proved to be one of the gayest and most efficiently organized social events of the season.

Practically the entire ground floor was placed at the disposal of the Library Committee. The Blue Room, decorated with flags and potted ferns, was reserved for dancing. Giz Gagnon's orchestra occupying an enclosed space at the far end, while the spacious lounge and Rose Room were filled with tables, reservations for which were in charge of Mrs. Arthur Cross.

In the entrance hall a large alcove, banked with potted plants, and baskets of beautiful cut flowers, all donated by the florists in the city, was arranged for the patrons and patronesses. These included Mrs. Everett Bayley, president of the Ladies' Committee, and Mr. Bayley; Mr. Wesley Bradley, chairman of the Library Board, and Mrs. Bradley, and Alderman Guy Bryant, representing the City of Sherbrooke, and Mrs. Bryant.

Although dress was "optional," the patronesses, officers and the majority of the guests, wore evening gowns.

Mrs. Bayley was wearing a graceful frock of black lace and chiffon, silver slippers and a corsage of red and white carnations; Mrs. Bradley wore a smart black dinner dress with a jacket embroidered in white, and Mrs. Bryant was in a chic black crepe dinner gown embroidered with black sequins and white applique, both the latter were wearing corsages of red roses.

Miss A. Evelyn Bradley, treasurer, acted as cashier at the entrance, while Mrs. Francis Hope and Mrs. Ralph Sanders supervised the decorations and the artistic arrangements in the reception alcove. Adjacent to the latter was a table reserved for Miss Agnes Duncan, librarian, Mrs. Milo Lohrop, past president, and other prominent members of the Committee. Several factions contributed to the amazing success of the quite evident community interest revealed in the large attendance, secondly the excellent arrangements made by the Committee, with the generous and kindly cooperation of the management and staff at the Chateau Frontenac, and lastly the guests themselves, who seemingly enjoyed to the full the world's most popular pastime, dancing. To the onlooker and to many guests, the revival of a few formalities in dress and social amenities lent prestige and dignity to the "Gay Gambols" pre-Lenten Dance, given for the benefit of one of Sherbrooke's outstanding and most deserving institutions, its own Library.

Outstandingly Good "SALADA" TEA & COFFEE

ADDERLEY The regular Farm Forum was entertained at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Lorne Kelso. There was a very good attendance. After the Farm Forum broadcast and the general discussion, cards were enjoyed. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Kelso and Mrs. Guy Little.

HOW THE BODY IS CONTROLLED
By William A. O'Brien, M.D.

The nervous system is the connecting link between the various parts of the body and between the body and the outside world. The central nervous system, consisting of the brain, spinal cord, and nerves, controls voluntary and involuntary acts. There is a separate nervous system for the control of the automatic action of the body. Glands of internal secretion also play their part by helping both these nervous systems handle their jobs. The brain, which is located in the skull, is protected from injury by a firm case of bone. It is covered by three membranes called the meninges. The brain is the place in which we record impressions we receive from the special senses of sight, hearing, taste, smell, and feeling. The sensations of pain and temperature are also recorded here.

Brain Directs Acts

As the brain directs the voluntary acts of the body, it is assumed that reason is located here. As babies, we learn about danger through pain, instruction and observation. A baby burns his hand on a hot stove and learns about the danger from the pain which follows. His mother could tell him the same thing and he could remember to stay away. Persons who lose their memory either have a disease or injury of the brain which makes it impossible for them to remember what they were taught or learned through experience.

The involuntary nervous system is a series of cells and fibers located in front of the spinal column from the neck down to the lower portion of the abdominal cavity. This system controls the automatic responses of the body such as circulation, respiration, perspiration, flow of digestive juices, and others.

The involuntary nervous system is the one which is most affected by our feelings. Persons who become anxious might disturb this system to such an extent that their hearts beat more rapidly, perspiration becomes shallow and rapid, and digestive juices are secreted in excessive amounts. As these reactions in the body are identical with those observed in diseases of these organs, the patient may believe that he has diseased organs (hypochondriacs).

Quiet Fears

The voluntary and involuntary nervous system also affect one another. Through reasoning and memory we recall that there is no real basis for our fears so we quiet our anxiety and stop the disturbance in our involuntary nervous system. This is what physicians seek when they urge patients to control their emotions so they may feel better.

The glands of internal secretion also help control the body. Each gland has its own job and it also affects the others. The glands of internal secretion system are related to the involuntary nervous system in effects on the body. When we are overcome by fear the involuntary nerves to the adrenal gland cause an outpouring of adrenalin, which in turn liberates sugar from the liver to help us through our crisis. In nervous individuals, weakness may follow continued stimulation of the adrenal glands from anxiety.

AUDITORS' REPORT TO THE SHAREHOLDERS

MELCHERS DISTILLERIES, LIMITED, Montreal.

We have examined the books of account and financial records of Melchers Distilleries, Limited for the year ended 31st December, 1945 and received all the information and explanations required by us.

The Inventories of Spirits, Raw Materials and Supplies on Hand have been certified to be correct by responsible Officials of the Company.

The Dominion Income Tax Department has intimated to the Company that in computing the amount of profits to be assessed for the year 1941 and for subsequent years, it proposes to disallow as deductions from taxable income a substantial portion of the amounts provided for depreciation in those years. The liability for taxes as shown on the above Balance Sheet does not include any provision for possible taxes that may be payable in this connection.

Subject to the foregoing we certify that, in our opinion, the above Balance Sheet as at 31st December, 1945 sets forth a true and correct view of the financial position of the Company at that date, according to the best of our information and the explanations given to us, and as shown by the books of the Company.

Montreal, 21st January, 1946.

P. S. ROSS & SONS,
Chartered Accountants.

Directors' Report To the Shareholders:

Your directors submit herewith the Seventeenth Annual Report of your Company covering its operations during the fiscal year ended December 31st, 1945.

The operating profit was $1,057,522.81 compared to $955,089.04 for the previous year. However, after deducting depreciation of $122,713.13 and making provision for Income and Excess Profits taxes of $836,000.00, the net profit was $98,809.68 compared to $97,402.28 for the year 1944. As in the previous year, all earnings over the standard profits were taxed 100% as excess profits, so that after deduction of the Preferred Cumulative dividend of $75,000.00, there only remained a balance of $23,809.68 for transfer to the surplus account. These abnormally high profits were, as in the previous year, due in part to a much greater demand for your Company's products, some of which were furnished to supplant other scarce products and part to continued low selling and sales promotion expenses. Very little publicity was undertaken owing to the still existing regulations of the Federal Government prohibiting the advertising of spirituous liquors. It is proposed, however, in preparation for the future, to enlarge the sales department and to resume advertising as soon as permitted. These additional expenses, when incurred, will result in a reduction in profits to a more normal basis.

The Balance Sheet shows an increase of $67,438.57 in Current Assets and a decrease of $9,919.10 in Current Liabilities thereby reflecting an increase in working capital of $27,219.47. Approximately $125,000.00 was expended during the year on a new case warehouse, major replacements, alterations and on new equipment.

In your Directors' Report of last year, reference was made to certain amounts that had been deducted by the Company for depreciation for 1941 and subsequent years, a substantial portion of which the Income Tax Department proposes to disallow. No final settlement has yet been reached in this dispute. So that shareholders will be fully aware of this situation, certain paragraphs from last year's report dealing with this matter are quoted below:

"These amounts are not in excess of those normally allowed by the Department to business in general in every Province of the Dominion, being 2 1/2% per annum on Buildings and 10% on Machinery and Equipment.

The effect of the proposed action of the Department would be to penalize your Company for being in a position, with the necessary machinery and equipment on hand, to produce war alcohol from either molasses or grain as soon as it was required by the Government. If it had been necessary for your Company to acquire special machinery and equipment for this purpose, the production of war alcohol would have been considerably delayed but your Company would have been in a position to claim special depreciation on the assets thus acquired at rates from 20% to 25% per annum. As mentioned previously, your Company has claimed only 10% per annum on Machinery and Equipment but the Department objects to this rate and wishes to allow less than 5% per annum. Due to the excessive use to which your Plant, Machinery and Equipment were put during these periods, the depreciation written-off should probably have been increased in proportion to the excess use. Nevertheless, your Directors, after giving much consideration to the matter, decided to write-off only normal depreciation. Because of having deducted only normal depreciation when a higher depreciation seemed justified, your Directors hope for a satisfactory settlement. Shareholders, however, may be assured that your Directors will use their best efforts and take whatever means that may be considered necessary to protect their interests in this matter."

During the war, your Company was ordered by the Controller of Chemicals of the Department of Munitions and Supply and by the Excise Department, both of the Federal Government, to cease beverage production and to turn its facilities over to the production of alcohol for war purposes. This was gladly done to the utmost capacity of its equipment. However, the relentless forcing of equipment in order to produce the maximum of war commodities, so badly needed, took its toll. The result is that a great part of the machinery and equipment has suffered from excess wear which has entailed replacement or major repairs and especially the steam plant, as an example, is now completely deteriorated and must be replaced. Under normal operating conditions, with normal demand and with sufficient experienced staff to take proper care of the equipment and to perform the necessary repairs, this steam plant could have been utilized for several years. Even with such tangible evidence before them, it would seem that the Income Tax Department, due to its own regulations, is either unable or unwilling to recognize the equity of your Company's claims. Much is heard these days concerning reconversion, etc., but how can industry be induced to make large capital expenditures on machinery and equipment under the present system by which depreciation allowances are fixed by arbitrary rulings instead of being determined on an equitable basis, having regard to special circumstances which may exist as in the case of your Company? According to information received, the Legislators at last are beginning to realize the bureaucratic and arbitrary manner in which the Income Tax Act is being administered and have appointed committees to investigate this whole matter. It is hoped that this Act will be brought up-to-date and completely remodelled on an equitable basis so that taxpayers will know where they stand and can conduct their affairs with confidence.

Your Company continued to produce alcohol for war purposes until August 15th, 1945 but since that time production has been for its own account.

Your Board believes that ample regular fire insurance, including malicious damage, is carried on your Company's buildings, equipment and inventories but the War Risk clause has been dropped and the Federal Government has discontinued its war risk insurance.

Your Company has already received orders from certain of the Provincial Liquor Commissions for six months and even for the whole of the current year. Thus, from orders on hand, it would seem that sales will be well maintained during 1946. Orders placed in advance in this manner enable your Company to arrange its production and bottling schedules to meet the present excessive demands for merchandise and to contract far enough ahead to assure ample supplies of bottling and packaging materials.

Reference was made above to the condition of your Company's steam plant. After having given the matter much serious consideration, your Board realized that this equipment was beyond economical repair and was not large enough to take care of our present demands much less to provide for future expansion. Your Company therefore has purchased two boilers complete with oil-burning equipment, automatic controls and other necessary incidental equipment which we expect will be installed within the next few months.

Labour relations between the Company and its employees are amicable and the previous contract with their union was renewed on October 18th, 1945 for an additional period of one year.

Your Board of Directors wishes to take this opportunity of expressing its appreciation for the faithful work of the officials and employees of the Company during the year just closed.

Respectfully submitted,
On behalf of the Board of Directors
V. MARCHAND,
President.

A very successful Valentine event was held by the ladies of George's Guild in Confederation Hall, when a bountiful supper was served to over one hundred guests. Five large tables covered with daisies and centred by red candles in silver holders placed on dainty red and white frilled paper lace doilies, presented a most attractive appearance and effectively carried out the Valentine colors. Each table was presided over by a host and hostess, who served the guests at the table. During the evening, Mr. Edgar Chadsey conducted a drawing for the door prize, donated by Mrs. M. E. Leavitt, who was in charge of the tickets. The lucky number was drawn by little Miss Ruth Walker, and Mrs. Arnold Goode was the holder of the winning ticket. The decorations were in charge of Mrs. Atkinson, assisted by Mrs. H. Merton and Mrs. Wood. Mrs. W. E. Hurd, was the supper convenor, ably assisted by a kitchen committee consisting of Miss Roderick, Mrs. Sloggett, and Mrs. Leavitt. Thanks are due to all members, who worked to make the event such a success, both socially and financially. The ladies were particularly grateful to Mr. Henry Moulton, who carved the ham so expertly.

especially in the lower grades they had bought stamps faithfully. Mr. A. H. Slack, chairman of the School Board, realizing that these young folks were very disappointed, took the matter up with the local member of Parliament, Mr. Hackett, K. C., and asked him if an adjustment could be made, therefore after much corresponding and the necessary proof that the pupils had stamps coming to them, which was available due to the record kept by the teachers, Mr. Slack received the cheque covering the one hundred and fifty-one stamps destroyed by the fire. A suggestion was made by the Department that the presentation of same be in the form of a special affair. Acting upon this suggestion, it is planned for Mr. Slack to visit the assembled school and explain to them just how the Department had made "good" their stamps and hoping to prove in this way that it is worthwhile to purchase War Savings Stamps with their weekly allowances.

It happened too fast for me to get a good shot at me. The room went dark and Shorty went through the window.

HEY, SHORTY? WHERE DID THAT GUY GO?

SHERBROOKE RANDERS WIN PROVINCIAL LOOP CHAMPIONSHIP

Down Saints 4-2 To Ensure Title But Lose 3-1 To Tigers' Defence

Sherbrooke Randers, who started their Provincial Hockey League season in the cellar, wound up on top of the heap on Saturday night by winning the hard way. They spotted St. Hyacinthe two goals and then roared back in an offensive splurge that left the Saints gasping for air.

Herbie Carnegie banged in two unassisted goals in the comeback climb, Marshall was set up by Lynn MacDougall and Adjutor Cote was aided and abetted by Roland LaBarre.

Yesterday's game at the Arena might have proved a sad anti-climax as Vics already had to be content with 2nd place. As it was, it turned out to be probably the best game on local ice this season. Play was clean, the defence was tight Victoriaville Tigers scored two first-period goals and then in some incredible manner hung on to their lead to last out 3-1 against Sherbrooke Randers yesterday at the Arena in the fastest and cleanest hockey game seen here this season.

The win was only a moral one for Tigers as Randers had already won the league championship the night before by coming back with four goals in the final period to break St. Hyacinthe Saints 4-2.

A crowd of 5,450, the biggest ever to muscle into the local rink, saw both teams discard the hacking that characterized their previous meeting last Tuesday night and wage a see-saw struggle (which sawed in favor of the Randers if anything) that ended only when Armand Bourdon flipped a rolling disc over Roger Dion's shoulder 13 seconds before time was up.

Ossie Carnegie got Sherbrooke's only goal early in the second period. Herbie Carnegie was kept on the ice with the third line in an effort by Randers to have him overhaul Tony Demers of St. Hyacinthe for the league scoring championship. Saturday night he rapped in two tallies unassisted, yesterday picked up an assist, fell two points short of Saints' great right-winger.

Only four penalties were called during the game, two going to each team, although fans (excluding the 450 who travelled from Victoriaville by special train) howled for a punishment when Lynn MacDougall suffered a twisted knee when cleanly body-checked by Roland Deneault, midway through the third period.

And it was Deneault who in large measure accounted for the Tiger triumph, although Paul Nadeau, who scampered about his cage in agile fashion and Roland Mallette, who forward and back-checked like a madman all afternoon, gave admirable support. Deneault body-checked effectively, set up more than few dangerous plays and covered up expertly in front of Nadeau.

In fact, both teams checked furiously. Only one goal, the last one, came on a breakaway. On two others there were so many players parked in front of the net, either trying to receive or to intercept, that neither Nadeau nor Dion saw the shots that beat them. Paul Gagnon, Moose Ranger and Bill Heindl turned in steady, heady games at the blueline and Paul Longpre continues to show improvement with every game.

Victoriaville wasted little time in snatching the lead. One minute after the opening whistle Marcel Bouchard decided home a lengthy drive that Dion didn't catch sight of till it was on the way out of the net. Near the end of the frame Roland Hebert wafted a high effort from the left wing that bounced off Dion's arm and into the mesh.

After that and until late in the last period Victoriaville hardly came within hailing distance of the Rander net. With Sherbrooke buzzing about Vics' cage for minutes on end the Tiger defence slipped for the first and last time when it allowed Ossie Carnegie to take a screened shot. He scored.

Paced by high scoring Johnny Waldie, Sherbrooke High boys slapped a crushing 58-31 defeat on Harold Pye's Lennoxville cagers Friday afternoon in a regular tilt of the E. T. Interscholastic Basketball League at Lennoxville.

Play roughened in the final period but no penalties were meted out. The covering-up process was carried to such a fine point that neither team was presented with a decent scoring opportunity. Vics muffed one when Prefontaine broke alone but neglected to shoot, but not the second, when Deneault set up Bourdon, who faked Dion from close in and then scored with a perfect nubbick loft over the goaler's shoulder.

Men who think of tomorrow are planning self-reading books, uninterrupted symphonies. Your radio-phonograph of tomorrow will bring you complete novels, dramas and symphonies magnetically impressed on small spools of steel wire. Hours of entertainment will be provided by a single spool no larger than your hand. And on spools of "blank wire" you will be able to make your own recordings—to keep permanently or to "wipe clean" for re-use any time you wish!

Yes, your Victory Bonds will buy greater pleasures and comforts tomorrow!

Men who think of tomorrow say "HOLD ON TO YOUR VICTORY BONDS TODAY"

NO ONE can repeal the law of supply and demand. But we can make it work our way by holding on to Victory Bonds bought to finance our nation at war.

Here's why: For many months consumer goods will continue to be scarce. Bidding for these goods with our extra dollars, thus driving prices up, only serves to devalue all of our personal wealth, and that of the nation.

By leaving our extra money in safe keeping with our government—for repayment when conditions have become normal—we automatically keep prices down and maintain the law of supply and demand in balance.

That's why your Victory Bonds may save you twice what you've invested in them—if you hold on to them now. When tempted to cash them in—think of tomorrow!
