ESTABLISHED 1808.—NO. 155. TWELVE PAGES. MONTREAL, MONDAY, JULY 3, 1905. TWELVE PAGES. PRICE ONE CENT

In The Judgment Seat.

Last Saturday's Herald was an object-lesson in local advertising. Its thirty-six pages—sold at one cent—were crowded with the announcements of the merchants of Montreal—the men who are in the best position to judge of the merits of the local papers as advertising mediums. The general advertiser was largely in evidence also, but it is to the local merchants that the crowded state of our columns on Saturday is due. They are the men who sit in the judgment seat and decide on the merits of the local papers for their particular purposes. Much of this advertising is exclusive, appearing in no other paper.

We feel safe in saying that no Canadian paper can point to a finer list of local advertisers, all under regular contract, than was presented in Saturday's Herald. Here is a list of 'em:

ONE REBEL SHIP AN EXILE IN BLACK SEA, ANOTHER GIVES UP

Dept. of Agriculture Copyright Archives Branch

Pobiedonosetz is Authoritatively Reported to Have Surrendered, and the Kniaz Potemkin is at a Roumanian Port, Its Crew Refused the Right to Land.

Bulletin.—Cronstadt, July 3.—The crew of the Russian cruiser Minine refused to put to sea to-day with the other vessels of the active squadron, alleging that the age and bad condition of the Minine prevented her participation in gun practice and manoeuvring. The ringleaders of this mutiny were arrested and the Minine was towed close to a fort, where she is now anchored.

Odessa, July 3, 1.35 p.m.—The surrender of the Georgi Pobiedonosetz was formally carried out this morning. The warship's officers returned from Nikolaieff, went on board and picked out the ringleaders of the mutiny and several of their followers, all of whom were sent ashore.

A torpedo boat destroyer and a gunboat arrived here during the night, bringing Rear-Admiral Chouknin, commander of the Black Sea Fleet.

The city is quiet. Many strikers have returned to work.

The torpedo boat destroyer upon her arrival here fired a blank shot across the bow of the British steamer Cranley, lying off Fontana, for the purpose of taking off British subjects if necessary. The destroyer signalled the Cranley to accompany her inside the harbor. The Cranley complied, the destroyer in the meanwhile keeping her guns trained on the steamer. Later Russian officials took possession of the Cranley and searched her for revolutionary refugees. The British consul-general protested to the Governor, saying there was no reason to suppose that any refugees were on board the Cranley. It is presumed she will shortly be released.

Washington, July 3.—The State Department has received a cablegram from Ambassador Meyer, at St. Petersburg, saying that Consul Heenan at Odessa reports that the battleship Georgi Pobiedonesetz, has surrendered and is now in the hands of the authorities.

Roumania Has No Sympathy With Rebels.

Bucharest, July 3.—The port authorities at Kustenji, Roumania, have been instructed to call upon the 750 mutineers, who are on board the Kniaz Potemkin to land from that vessel without arms, informing them that they would be treated as foreign deserters while in Roumania.

In the event of the refusal of the mutineers to submit to these conditions or of hostile action against the town, the Roumanian warships were ordered to use force.

There is much excitement on board the Kniaz Potemkin, where differences of opinion exist between the leaders, some of whom advocate landing in Roumania while other propose to return to Russia and join the other mutinous ships. The Prefect of Kustenji permitted a delegation of the mutineers to enter the town and purchase provisions. The sailors report that the Black Sea fleet not only did not try to capture the Kniaz Potemkin but that the crews of the ships openly rejoiced when the rebel battleship left Odessa. The crew of the Russian gunboat Psezonape, now at Kustenji, met some of the crew of the Kniaz Potemkin ashore and fraternized with them, the sailors embracing one another.

The Kniaz Potemkin is accompanied by a Russian torpedo boat.

About 500 Roumanian soldiers are being concentrated at Kutendi to meet eventualities and the cabinet ministers are proceeding there to-day to deal with the situation.

Major Grau, the military commandant at Kustendji, reports that he was received on board the Kniaz Potemkine by an engineer cadet attended by a numerous guard. The cadet informed him that the murder of the seaman Omiltchuk was merely a pretext for the revolt, all having been previously arranged by a revolutionary committee.

No Hospitality in Turkey.

Constantinople, July 3. The Turkish officials at Anadoli Kavak, Asia Minor, at the entrance of the Bosphorous, are taking precautions to prevent the possible use of that port by the mutineers of the Kniaz Potemkin. The Turks will not permit the battleship to pass through the Bosphorus after sunset. They even stopped the Russian guardship at Constantinople with a blank shot when returning with Ambassador Zinovieff after a short cruise in the Black Sea. M. Zinovieff landed and proceeded to Constantinople but the guardship was held until morning.

No Ground for British Action.

London, July 3.—In the House of Commons this afternoon Earl Percy, the Foreign Under-secretary, replying to a suggestion that friendly representations should be made to Russia, proposing a temporary suspension of the treaty excluding foreign warships from the Black Sea so that British vessels might safegaurd the lives and property of British subjects at Odessa said the present circumstances at Odessa did not offer sufficient grounds for such a departure from the treaty rules governing the Black Sea. There was nothing to show that the Russian Government had not adequate means of protecting British subjects in common with the rest of the population nor that the arrival of British warships would improve the situation.

A private telegram received here today from Odessa says the town is quiet.

THE LATE COL. JOHN HAY, U. S. Secretary of State and Ex-Ambassador to Britain.

SUPPLEMENTARIES WERE BOILED DOWN

Laid Before House on Tuesday- N.W.T. Bills Wednesday

Ottawa, July 3.—(Special.)—It is understood the supplementary estimates will be laid before the House on Tuesday. The government celebrated the Dominion's birthday by sitting in council from 11 a.m. to 6.30 p.m. pressing down the supplementaries. They have now been compressed into a reasonable compass.

The Alberta bill will not be taken up today owing to the absence of the leader of the opposition. The bill will be taken up to-morrow and the third reading for it and the Saskatchewan bill are expected Wednesday.

In that case the Finance Minister will bring down the budget on Thursday. Both sides are understood to be endeavoring to reach prorogation before August.

THIS YEAR RECORD ONE FOR LICENSES

Nearly $5,000 More Collected Than for Last Year Similar Period

According to a statement compiled at the City Hall this morning by Mr. Glackmeyer, of the License Department, over fifty thousand dollars was taken in by the city for license fees during the month of June. The exact figure was $50,200, while for the month of May the sum totalled $56,000.

All told, for this year's licenses there has been paid the sum of $130,200.

Last year for May and June the sum was $125,800, May, 1904, having $68,800, and June, 1904, $57,000.

PEACE ENVOYS HAVE FULLEST POWERS

Oyster Bay, July 3.—President Roosevelt authorized the following announcement to be made relative to the pending peace negotiations between Russia and Japan.

The President announces that the Russian and Japanese Governments have notified him that they have appointed the plenipotentiaries to meet in Washington, as soon after the first of August as possible. The two Russian plenipotentiaries are Ambassadors Muravieff, formerly Minister of Justice, and now ambassador of Rome, and Ambassador Rosen.

The Japanese plenipotentiaries are Baron Komura, now Minister of Foreign Affairs and Minister Takahira.

It is possible that each side may send one or more additional representatives. The plenipotentiaries of both Russia and Japan will be entrusted with full power to negotiate and conclude a treaty of peace, subject, of course, to ratification by their respective home governments.

Mr. and Mrs. James White, of this city, are spending a summer holiday at Stanley Island.

ANOTHER DROWNING ACCIDENT

ONE-THIRD OF POPULACE FLED FROM THE HOT CITY TO ENJOY DOMINION DAY

About one-third of the population of Montreal took advantage of Dominion Day to leave the city either for a few hours or for a couple of days.

Railway officials estimate that fully 100,000 people left the city between Friday and Sunday nights. This is not a hap-hazard guess or a mere careless estimate, for the figures were given out to The Herald, only after a careful compilation of the number of cars used had been made.

It was freely admitted that never before in the history of Montreal had there been such a rush to get out of the city. Dominion Day last year was supposed to have been a record-breaker in regard to passenger traffic. This year's figures were more than three times as large as last year's.

In addition to the railroad travel there were many holiday-makers who left the city by steamers. The Richelieu and Ontario Navigation Company estimate that about 15,000 people made use of their steamboats from Friday to Sunday.

Therefore fully 115,000 people, or enough to populate a good-sized city, took advantage of Dominion Day to leave Montreal for a short time.

The contributing causes to this great exodus were: Firstly, the fact that the holiday came on a Saturday; secondly, the fine weather, and thirdly, the increased prosperity which seems to be making itself felt in the city.

Suburban points were, of course, visited by the greater number of people, but Quebec, Toronto, Ottawa, and even New York each drew large crowds of excursionists. Extra sleepers were put on by both the C.P.R. and G.T.R. The New York Central excursion to New York had eight sleepers attached to it, while the trains leaving Windsor station for Valleyfield and intermediate points carried 15,000 people on Saturday and 2,000 yesterday. All the trains leaving Place Viger for the outlying districts were crowded and carried extra cars. The trains coming in and leaving Bonaventure station were also packed and the Grand Trunk reports a record business. Extra coaches were put on all the regular Grand Trunk, Central Vermont and Delaware and Hudson trains, and also on the I. C. R. Three G. T. R. excursions left yesterday, one for Point Levis, a second for Plattsburg, and a third for St. Johns.

WESTERN AUSTRALIA IMITATES CANADA

Grants 160 Acres to Settlers, Takes Them 14,000 Miles for £9 Per Head

(Canadian Associated Press Cable.)

London, July 3.—Western Australia is offering inducements to English agriculturists and will give 160 acres upon the same conditions as Canada. Arrangements with the Orient Pacific steamship line have been approved, and emigrants may go out for £13. The fare of emigrants only £100 capital will be subsidized by the agency in London £7 per adult head so that the long journey will only cost £9 from Liverpool.

OUR MANUFACTURERS ON TOUR.

(Canadian Associated Press Cable.)

Liverpool, July 3.—The Canadian Manufacturers begun their second tour arriving from London last night. 150 of the party this morning paid industrial visits mainly to the Lever works and model village at Port Sunlight. The speakers at the luncheon there were W. H. Lever, Sir Alfred Jones, head of the Elder-Dempster line, President George and Mr. John Firsbrook, of Toronto. On their return there was a reception by Lord Mayor Lee at the Town Hall. They leave in the morning for Newcastle.

The Liverpool Post Mercury referring to the visit of the Canadian Manufacturers Association says Mr. Chamberlain in his speech at Birmingham dwelt upon the sepatteness of Canada and other self-governing colonies from each other and from the Mother Country. This is a side of the international relationship that can easily be given too great importance. The representatives of Canada are welcomed in Liverpool not as citizens of a separate nation, but as fellow citizens of the British Empire.

The boys have been made honorary members of all the yachting and boating clubs of Halifax, and an enjoyable time is evidently in store for the young athletes.

NO IMPERIAL DELAY FOR URUGUAY AFFAIR

Canada Will Negotiate Directly About Case of Alleged Poaching

Ottawa, July 3.—(Special.—Canada is going to make an independent investigation into the Agnes G. Donahoe affair. The commission of Sandford H. Pelton, K.C., of Yarmouth, to visit Uruguay and ascertain the facts is a new departure in Canadian procedure abroad. Heretofore negotiations have been carried on through Imperial channels, but this method has been found too deliberate.

The captain and mates of the schooners are still in prison in Monte Video on conviction of having poached seals. Reports of the circumstances have been very conflicting up to date.

JAPAN WILL FLOAT ANOTHER BIG LOAN

Hundred and Fifty Million Dollars to be Raised in London and N. Y.

London, July 3.—Koretyo Takahashi, the special finance commissioner of Japan, on his arrival here yesterday definitely announced that Japan would take the earliest favorable moment to issue a new loan in New York and London and on the continent. Details regarding the loan, he said, were unsettled but it probably would be $150,000,000 and would be secured by the tobacco monopoly. He added that Japan was not in immediate need of funds but it was her policy to look ahead.

PLASTERERS WILL NOT GO ON STRIKE

Mr. J. H. Lauer Does Not Anticipate Any Trouble at Present

In conversation with The Herald to-day Mr. J. H. Lauer, secretary of the Builders' Exchange, expressed the belief that there would be no strike of the plasterers' this season.

"The union," said Mr. Lauer, "was agitating for an increase of wage, but they discovered that the contractors were extremely well organized. I don't think that any trouble in that direction is to be anticipated."

CHAIN OF FORTS FROM HALIFAX TO ESQUIMAULT

Minister of Militia Gives Definite Shape to Defence Plans.

A LINE OF MILITARY DEPOTS

Best Contribution Canada Can Make to Imperial Defence—Cannot Spend Where We Do Not Control.

Ottawa, July 3.—(Special.)—The officers of the Governor-General's Footguards on Saturday, at Aylmer, dined the officers of the 57th Peterboro' Rangers. The Minister of Militia was among the guests. Sir Frederick's health was drunk with enthusiasm and the speeches were replete with enthusiastic references to the progress the militia has made under his direction.

The Minister in reply disclaimed special credit for what has been done, pointing out that the recommendations he had made had been loyally supported by his colleagues. Referring to Imperial Defence, he said the best service Canada could render the Empire would be to equip the defences of this country as thoroughly as possible and relieve Great Britain of military burdens on this continent. The assumption of the defences at Halifax and Esquimalt was an earnest of what Canada is prepared to do. For his part he thought Canada could not undertake expenditure over which the Dominion would have no direction. He recalled the fact that both the races of Canada were loyal in works of Empire defence. The French-Canadians had served with their English brothers in South Africa, and history recorded the manner in which the French had rallied to repel invasion.

The Minister announced that it would be desirable to have in Canada a chain of military depots from the Atlantic to the Pacific. The Dominion now had strongholds at Halifax and Esquimalt. Gradually forts could be established between these points which would complete the line. He intimated that it was his policy to create these forts.

NO DIRECT NEWS OF ATLANTIC RATE WAR

None of the Montreal steamship lines have any direct information as to the reported cut in the steerage rates between Glasgow and the St. Lawrence, and no alteration has been made in the eastbound rates. Considering that many passengers are booked upon this side for relations or friends coming to Canada, the Allans and Donaldson line representatives here are disinclined to attach importance to the reported rate war.

A NEW WAFFLES STORY

I had not seen Waffles for ten dollars or thirty days, when, on the eve of Dominion Day, I received a laconic despatch:

"Be at the lacrosse match."

Hiking for Ottawa, I sat through the whole wretched performance, but still no sign from Waffles.

When the free fight was on, I hurried across the field, determined to get a crack at the first Cap. who was off-side.

Suddenly, out of the mix-up, Waffles, clad in the uniform of the Caps., charged full tilt at me, a Maltese kitten securely held on the net of his stick.

"What mystery is here?" I asked in wonder.

"Stupid gum head," said he, and his tone left a wound that will not soon heal, "this is the tiger of St. Madeleine. Pretend to get me a cigarette, and have the creature caged at once.

How he got it I have never learned, and as the kitten has forgotten I probably never shall.

HAVE FEW WOMEN SCHOOL MANAGERS

Canada, Says the National Council, is Far Behind Great Britain.

Charlottetown, P.E.I., July 3.—(Special.)—At Saturday's morning session of the National Council of Women a letter of greeting and regret at absence was read from Lady Aberdeen. A law case brought against some members of the Ladies Kennel Club, of which she was chairman, prevented her from attending. A suitable reply was ordered to be cabled her ladyship.

Mrs. Boomer, London, Ont., submitted the report on the subject of women on the school board. She referred to the recognition women had received for many years in Great Britain, particularly Miss Stevenson, for the past eight years the efficient chairman of the School Board of Edinburgh, and the first woman to have the freedom of the city of Edinburgh conferred on her. Canada is far behind Great Britain in the movement to have women members of school boards, but the local councils are doing excellent work. New Brunswick is the banner Province, with six women members. After an extended and lively discussion it was decided that, as women were not a generally recognized factor on school boards, that great care must be taken in choosing women for such positions.

Miss Peters, of St. John, submitted the report on "Vacation and Supervised Playgrounds." Excellent results had been obtained by this committee in having school grounds in many cities thrown open during the summer months for the benefit of poor children.

Mrs. Gardiner presented a report on objectionable printed matter. Many good results of the untiring efforts of the committee were set forth. In accordance with a request contained in the letter from Lady Aberdeen, a committee re public health was appointed. Reports of committees on custody and care of feeble-minded women and on the constitution were fully discussed. It was decided to improve the management of the "Messenger" and maintain it as the only organ of the Council in Canada. The report of the committee on the suppression of the white slave traffic showed great need of women banding themselves together for its total suppression.

Sermons with special reference to the Council were preached in all the city churches on Sunday.

DRIFTED THROUGH RAPIDS.

There was almost a panic on board the steamer Chateauguay on Saturday night when in shooting the Lachine Rapis a rudder chain broke and the vessel drifted out of her course, striking the rocks once or twice before getting back into the channel. There were three hundred passengers on board at the time of the accident, but the coolness and presence of mind of the officers allayed their fears and only one or two women fainted or became hysterical. At the foot of the rapids the vessel was stopped and the rudder chain attended to, but what damage the vessel has sustained from the rocks has to be ascertained.

YOU PROBABLY DESERVE IT

Sometimes you get up in the morning and feel as though you weren't expected to live. Do you know the cause? If you are at home the first thing to do is to square yourself. Some experts on squaring say that it is best to deny everything. Others advise a partial acknowledgment of the facts, together with a solemn promise that it will never occur again. We would respectfully suggest that you try the first. If unsuccessful, spring the second, and if both fail, be a thoroughbred, and take it like a man. You probably deserve it, but think of the fun you had the night before singing bass. Do not say that you missed the twelve o'clock car, and rather than walk you walked home. You may have arrived in a cab. Wonderful what a noise a small cab can make in the middle of the night. Well, the next thing is your physical condition. Your liver must be got going. Be wise. Take a pleasant tasting Hutch tablet that will put instant action upon your liver. Many a good fellow has his own troubles in the morning, and trying to find something that will stick, Hutch will stick, and what is more, will cool the blood, which naturally relieves the pressure on the head. For constipation, stomach and liver troubles, Hutch has no equal. It is probably the only remedy on the market to-day that will give relief in six seconds. Why subject yourself to possible salivation or calomen when Hutch is absolutely harmless, and will give you the better results? Keep our goods at your home, and when you are away from home you can get them at any drug store.

U.S. SECRETARY OF STATE HAY DIES VERY SUDDENLY

Was a Protege and Most Intimate Lieutenant of President Lincoln, a Litterateur of Distinction and a Diplomat of Great Gifts.

Newbury, N.H., July 3.—John Hay, United States Secretary of State, died at 12.25 o'clock Saturday morning. His last moments were peaceful and the end came almost without a struggle.

At the hour of 12, all was quiet. In another moment nurses and physicians found themselves summoned to the bedside. There had been a collapse. Twenty-five minutes later, all was over. So swiftly had the end come that the dying man passed away unattended by all of the members of his family, save his wife. The others, a son and a daughter, were summoned, but they reached the bedside to to find their parent dead. isPoS to find their parent dead. The patient had bidden his wife and physicians good night at ten o'clock last night. An hour later he was sleeping quietly. Almost at the stroke of twelve, the Secretary was seized with a turn. He called feebly and a nurse responded. The sick man was breathing with great difficulty. Dr. Scudden was speedily summoned and it required but a glance for him to determine that the end was but minutes away. The household was aroused. The wife reached her huband as he was breathing his last. The son, Clarence Hay and the daughter, Mrs. James A. Wadsworth, of Genesee, N.Y., hurried into the sick room, but they were too late.

The bulletin announcing the death read as follows:—

"Secretary of State John Hay died at 12.25 this morning. The signs immediately preceding his death were those of pulmonary embolism. Mr. Hay's condition during all of Friday had been entirely satisfactory.

(Signed),

"Charles L. Scudder, M.D."
"Fred. T. Murphy, M.D."

The illness which so weakened Mr. Hay's physical powers as to finally bring about death made itself apparent noticeably about last March. Tired and worn from the strain of overwork, he was ordered by his physicians to make a trip abroad in order to obtain special treatment and a complete rest. Some indication of the Secretary's condition was to be found in his collapse on the steamship pier in New York city just as he was about to board the White Star liner Cretic, bound for the Mediterranean. Secretary Hay, however, was determined to continue his trip and he was carried on board.

The body was taken from Newbury by special train on Sunday morning, and thence via the Boston & Maine road to Springfield, Mass., where the funeral car will be attached to the regular Boston-Chicago train for Cleveland, Mr. Hay's former home. Private services will be held in the Chapel at Lake View cemetery, Cleveland, on Wednesday afternoon.

Mrs. Hay received word that President Roosevelt will attend the service. It is expected that members of the cabinet will act as honorary pall-bearers.

John Hay was born at Salem, Washington County, Indiana, October 8, 1838. He was of Scotch and English descent. John Hay, the original head of the American family, settled in Virginia in 1750. His son Adam was a soldier in the Revolutionary army, and a friend of Washington. He was one of the early Virginian immigrants to Kentucky, whence, owing to his hatred of slavery, he crossed the boundary into Illinois. His son, Charles Hay, father of the Secretary of State, became a prosperous physician in the town of Salem, Indiana. On his mother's side Mr. Hay was of English stock. His mother was a daughter of the Rev. David A. Leonard, of Rhode Island.

Mr. Hay's most conspicuous boyhood trait was his love of books, which was stimulated by the cultured atmosphere of his home. In his choice of a university, Brown, he was chiefly influenced by his mother. At college he did well. His personal attractiveness, vivacity, and good breeding made him popular with both faculty and students. In college Hay wrote his first verses, some of them afterwards printed in the "Pike County Ballads." On his graduation in 1858 he began studying law at Springfield, Ill., in the office of his uncle, Malcolm Hay. Lincoln, then living in Springfield, was already well known. His office, in a degree, was the political headquarters of the young Republican party. Malcolm Hay was one of its closest friends. John Hay and Lincoln therefore frequently met. They at once became great friends. There was much in young Hay's temperament, his humor, his mental acuteness, his kindliness, to which Lincoln readily responded. The young Brown graduate had not been many months in Springfield, therefore before he was invited by Lincoln to enter his law office. This was the turning point in Hay's life; from that time until Lincoln's death he was daily associated with him.

INDISPENSABLE TO LINCOLN.

By the time Hay had picked up the scanty amount of law required for admission to the bar, the former had been elected President. All through the campaign Hay's services, as a writer, counsellor and occasional speaker, were constantly used. Hay was Lincoln's companion throughout the whole campaign of 1860, and in that period formed an intimate acquaintance with all the great party leaders. Probably no man in these latter years had a more intimate personal knowledge of the inner history and motives of that time. Lincoln found Hay so indispensable, both as a companion and as a fellow worker, that he took him with him to Washington in 1861. Just before he started, Hay was admitted to the bar, but he never practised.

Hay became Lincoln's assistant secretary. He also saw service in the field. He was Lincoln't adjutant and aide-de-camp, and, with the rank of major and assistant adjutant-general, he served for a time under Gens. Hunter and Gilmore. His real mission in the army was to secure information for the President. The assassination of Lincoln, however, did not end his career. He was sent to Europe, where he stayed for five years in the diplomatic service, serving as Secretary of Legation in Paris and as charge d'affaires at Vienna. Returning in 1870, he began writing for the Tribune. Horace Greely, it is said, regarded him as the most brilliant writer he ever had on his staff. Mr. Hay however, tired of journalism, and in 1875, removed to Cleveland, O. Meanwhile he had married Miss Clara L. Stone, the daughter of Amasa Stone, of Cleveland, a young woman of much beauty and cultivation. The marriage brought Mr. Hay great wealth, and permitted him to devote all his time to politics and literature. He returned to Washington to spend two years as assistant Secretary of State under President Hayes. Though active in all Presidential campaigns, appearing frequently on the stump, he held no offices of importance until President McKinley made him ambassador to England in 1897, a post in which he gained much distinction, although he only held it for a year and a half. On the resignation of William R. Day, as Secretary of State, in 1898, he became his successor.

Though the general public heard little of Mr. Hay from 1881 to 1897, he was by no means idle. Hi time was largely given up to literature. He turned his sojourn as secretary at Madrid to literary account in his "Castilian Days," a volume of essays descriptive of Spanish life and manners, much read at the time, and recently found popular in a new edition. In 1871 he handed "Jim Bludso," "Little Breeches," with other verses written at college, to James T. Fields, who liked them so much that he insisted upon their publication. "Pike County Ballads" was the result, a book that enjoyed enormous popularity, and shocked many pious people. When Mr. Hay was made ambassador to England, his reputation there was based chiefly upon his authorship of this book.

WROTE LIFE OF THE GREAT PRESIDENT.

In 1881, on his removal to Washington, he began, in conjunction with Mr. John G. Nicolay, his most serious literary work, "Abraham Lincoln," a history. This is virtually a history of the United States from 1830 to 1865; and, as far as Lincoln himself is concerned, the ultimate authority. Mr. Hay gave to its composition the best part of fifteen years. It was published in part in the Century Magazine from 1887-1889, and afterwards issued in ten volumes. With Mr. Nicolay he also edited "Lincoln's Complete Works," two volumes.

Probably none of Mr. Hay's verse is better known, and certainly none is more appropriate to-day, than these short stanzas:

My short and happy day is done;
The long and lonely night comes on,
And at my door the pale horse stands
To carry me to distant lands.

His whinny shrill, his pawing hoof,
Sound dreadful as a gathering storm;
And I must leave this sheltering roof
And joys of life so soft and warm.

Tender and warm the joys of life—
Good friends, the faithful and the true;
My rosy children and my wife,
So sweet to kiss, so fair to view.

So sweet to kiss, so fair to view,
The night comes on, the lights burn blue;
And at my door the pale horse stands
To bear me forth to unknown lands.

PROBABLE CABINET CHANGES.

Washington, July 3.—All of Secretary Hay's friends who called to bid him good-bye before his recent departure from Washington for his summer home realized that he would not again resume actively his duties at the head of the State Deparemtnt. His death was not anticipated, but every one saw that Mr. Hay's physical condition was such that his physicians would not allow him to take upon his shoulders the burden of another winter's work. His death will hasten the inevitable reorganization of the Roosevelt Cabinet.

Common report has had it for some time that Secretary Taft would be the next chief of the State Department. He is now on his way to Manila, and is not expected to return until the latter part of September. By this time the peace negotiations, barring some unforeseen hitch, will be in full swing. What every one is asking is whether Mr. Roosevelt will recall his Secretary of War before he reaches San Francisco, and insist upon his assuming at once the State portfolio, or whether the vacancy will be left to be filled in the autumn.

Mr. Cortelyou, Mr. Wilson and Mr. Bonaparte will form the nucleus about which the new Roosevelt Cabinet is to be formed. Mr. Bonaparte, it is believed, will go to the Department of Justice when Attorney General Moody resigns, and the impression has been that Postmaster General Cortelyou would succeed Mr. Shaw as Secretary of the Treasury.

MANY HEADS OF BEEF TRUST INDICTED

J. Ogden Armour and Louis Swift Charged With Rebating.

Chicago, July 3.—After an investigation of several months, during which more than one hundred witnesses were examined, a federal grand jury on Saturday returned indictments against seventeen men prominent in the beef packing industry for violation of the Sherman anti-trust law, and against four officials of Schwarzchild & Sulzburger for alleged illegal rebating agreement with railroads.

Besides these individual indictments, bills were voted against Armour & Co., Swift & Co., Nelson, Morris & Co., the Cudahy Packing Company, and the Fairbanks Canning Company.

The men indicted for alleged conspiracy in restraint of trade, which constitutes a violation of the Sherman act, are:

MR. JEAN PREVOST IS NEW MINISTER

Appointment of Minister of Colonization Goes to the Terrebonne Man.

Mr. Jean Prevost, M.L.A. for Terrebonne, has been chosen Minister of Colonization for the Province of Quebec, and will to-day be sworn in as the official head of that department.

The ministerial office, to which Mr. Prevost is appointed, is a new one, being only created last fall by the Hon. Lomer Gouin, since the joint department of colonization and public works comprised too much work for one official to do with any degree of satisfaction.

That the honor has been deserved, and that the office will be filled with all possible dignity and energy, none who knows the "little hustler," as the new minister is sometimes called, will deny. A man of indomitable resolution, and capable of doing any amount of hard work, Mr. Prevost will be an acquisition to the "powers that be" in the province.

While those on the outside, fairly well in touch with the political moves of the day, anticipated, in a measure, the appointment, many favored the chances of Mr. Bergevin, of Beauharnois, or Mr. Champagne, of Two Mountains, both of whom were loyal supporters of the present Premier during the late crisis.

It is understood that the fact of Mr. Prevost's constituency being the centre of an extensive colonization district was responsible in great measure for the choice of the party leaders, and since the new minister is a lawyer of exceptional ability, his friends expect much from him in his new sphere of action.

Representing his county since 1896, Mr. Prevost knows the needs of his constituency, as few men could know them, besides being extremely well posted as to the requirements of the department.

The new minister was the first man to break the Conservative power in Terrebonne, defeating Hon. Geo. A. Nantel in 1896, and cleaving the path for the subsequent victories of Hon. Mr. Prefontaine and Dr. Desjardins for the House of Commons. Mr. Prevost's appointment places the Montreal district on a par with that of Quebec, so far as ministerial representation is concerned, with one for the Eastern Townships. From this end of the province have been selected Hon. Messrs. Gouin, St. James; Prevost, Terrebonne; Allard, in the Legislative Council; McCordill, Brome; Turgeon, Bellechasse; Roy, Kamouraska, and Tessier, of Rimouski.

Quebec, July 3.—(Special.)—Premier Gouin re-organized his Cabinet this morning at a meeting of the Executive Council at the Parliament buildings, Mr. J. B. B. Prevost, member for Terrebonne, was sworn in a member of the Provincial Cabinet, as Minister of Colonization, Mines and Fisheries. Hon. A. Turgeo nwas re-sworn as Minister of Lands and oFrests, and Hon. Jules Allard as Minister of Public Works and Labor. The Lieut.-Governor proceeded to the Hotel Dieu Hospital, accompanied by Premier Gouin, to administer the new oath of office to the latter Minister.

The appointment of two legislative councillors to fill the vacancies was not made, but it is now expected that the vacancies in the Upper Chamber will be filled on Thursday next. In the meantime Hon. Mr. Gouin leaves for Montreal this evening.

GERMAN LIEDERKRANG A SPLENDID CHORUS

Complimentary Concert Crowds the Drawing Room of the St. Lawrence Hall on Sunday Evening.

Not in years has the great drawing room of the St. Lawrence Hall held such a crowd or such a brilliant gathering as was assembled, on Sunday evening to do honor to the German Liederkranz of New York. The foreign colony, not merely Teutonic but of other nationalities, was largely represented, and the rest of the gathering was mainly made up of prominent musicians and their families. The Liederkranz, about fifty strong, arrived in the city yesterday morning and inspected the lions of the place and the Lachine Rapids, during the day. After dinner they gave a complimentary concert to their friends of Montreal, which afforded an opportunity such as this city has never enjoyed before of hearing a brilliant and typical example of Teutonic part singing. The leadership of Mr. Arthur Cloussen was a remarkable exhibition of clearness and detail. He positively played upon his well-trained chorus, leaving not a point of expression or tempo unindicated, and he elicited a perfection of balance and a smoothness of finish that were beyond criticism. Naturally the limitations as well as the excellencies of the Teutonic temperament were visible. Solidity was at times a defect as well as a virtue; and a certain saccharine sentimentality and mechanical over-refinement suggestion that the German imagination has not the verve of the French nor the healthy vigor of the British. But Grieg's "Landerkennung," and Weber's "Sword Song" were far above such considerations and showed the full power and beauty of the chorus. Mr. Carl Schlegel's magnificent baritone was invaluable in the former work, and of other distinguished soloists who assisted one cannot omit to mention Mr. Leopold Winkler, whose piano solos showed great delicacy and fineness of tone.

The party participating in the excursion numbers over 150.

DR. JOHNSTON'S CONDITION IS SERIOUSLY WORSE

Member for Cardwell at Ottawa is in a Very Precarious State of Illness.

Ottawa, July 3.—(Special.)—Dr. Johnston, member for Cardwell, is reported this morning to be a great deal worse. The doctors now entertain the gravest doubts as to his recovery.

WALTER MARTIN UNDER ARREST

Walter Martin, at one time a hotelkeeper in Montreal, was arrested this morning by City Detectives McLaughlin and Sloan on a provisional warrant granted by Extradition Commissioner Lafontaine on a charge of having stolen $100 at Albany, N.Y. In the course of the day accused was brought forward and remanded for a week, bail being allowed.

THIS MAN DOES NOT WANT MONEY

Has $7,000 Waiting for Him, is Alive and Well, but Will Not Claim it

A curious case was revived at the City Hall, this morning when assistant City Treasurer Arnoldi received a notarial letter from a legal gentleman in a certain American city, touching a portion of a loan issued by the city nine years ago.

The client of the gentleman in question has $7,000 coming to him—his name is withheld—and although the city officials know his address, and have written frequently to him, he refuses to claim his $7,000—and has lost the interest on that sum for nine years. Why he persists in silence, or what his motive is, in leaving $7,000 lying idle, no one knows.

A big loan expired in 1896, and all parties were notified to come to the City Hall and receive their full pay, interest stopping from the date of notice. All the clients appeared and were paid in full, except this one gentleman.

Since that day he has betrayed absolutely no interest one way or another in the sum of $7,000 so ignored nine years ago. The interest alone at four per cent. would amount to $2,520.

SONS OF SCOTLAND PLAN ORGANIZE DAUGHTERS

Ladies Section Favorably Viewed by Toronto Convention—Officers Elected for Next Two Years.

Toronto, July 3.—(Special.)—At the biennial convention of the Grand Camp of the Sons of Scotland, held here last week, the following officers were elected for the ensuing two years: Alex. Fraser, Toronto, re-elected grand chief for the fifth time; Dr. Gilchrist, Orillia, grand chieftain; Major Robertson, Toronto, grand secretary; Alex. Hay, Toronto, grand treasurer; Dr. T. Wylie, Toronto, grand medical examiner; Rev. John Crawford, Niagara Falls, grand chaplain; A. Moir, Windsor, grand marshal; Fred G. McArthur, Winnipeg, grand standard bearer; Rev. A. E. Vert, Vancouver, B.C.; grand senior guard; George Atwood, Hamilton, grand junior guard; J. B. McKay, and John Tytler, Toronto, grand auditors. District Deputy Grand Chiefs—J. Inverarity, Windsor; S. M. Thompson, Brantford; J. W. Sutherland, Hamilton; Wm. Johnson, St. Mary's; D. A. McNabb, Orillia; James Hastings, Guelph, F. S. Mearns, Toronto; D. McMillan, Beaverton; Alfred McKay, Utterson; Alex. Westherston, Warkworth; John McIntosh, Belleville; William Williamson, Ottawa; R. K. McLeod, Dunvegan; Alex. Buchan, Winnipeg. The convention favorably considered the formation of a ladies' section to be known as the Daughters of Scotland.

DARING BURGLARS GET BIG HATL

Jewellery valued at three thousand dollars was stolen from the summer residence of Col. A. E. Whitehead at Dorval yesterday evening by daring burglars who visited the place during the absence of the proprietor. Up to this afternoon no clue by which the thieves might be traced had been found.

Col. Whitehead started for a short drive with his wife in the afternoon, leaving the door of his house locked and all the windows securely fastened. On their return in the evening they found the door still locked and everything apparently all right. On entering the house, however, they were surprised to see signs of some one having been through the rooms. A valuable diamond necklace and several smaller pieces of jewellery were found to be missing, and from the appearance of the rooms it was evident that the robbers had ransacked the house to find the articles of most value which could easily be carried away. Traces of the thieves were found in the different bedrooms and in the drawing-room, but the way in which they gained entrance to the house could not be discovered. It was evident that the burglars had been in possession of a key, had unlocked the door and after securing the jewellery had walked quietly away, locking the door after them.

The jewellery was the property of Mrs. Whitehead and was valued at about $3,000. The case has been put in the hands of the police.

CORONERS IN SESSION.

The first regular meeting of the Association of Coroners of the Province of Quebec was held yesterday afternoon in Laval University. Dr. Jolicoeur, coroner of Quebec, presided, and all present went away satisfied that there was always something useful to be learned at such meetings.

The most important resolution passed was one appointing a legislative committee to study the law as it relates to coroners especially, and to suggest changes that would make it act more in the interests of justice. The same resolution asked that the Attorney General of the province should add to the committee some members of his staff. The legislative committee consists of Coroners Jolicoeur, of Quebec; Trigonne, of Arthabasca, and McMahon, of Montreal.

WILLING GUESTS AT PENITENTIARY

Warden Beauchamp Gave Friends and Pressmen a Pleasant Day.

The majority of the villagers at St. Vincent de Paul, who are called upon to earn their living, have something to do with the big Government establishment on its outskirts, and so it came, that almost the entire population on the sunny side of fifty, who could be spared from business, were on the land of Warden Oscar Beauchamp, on Saturday afternoon, when that gentleman entertained his officers and friends to an enjoyable picnic and games. The weather clerk was kindly inclined during most of the time, but towards the close, the ladies were compelled to take their white clothes indoors to prevent the lace trimmings being put out of Sunday shape by the heavy rain drops.

Warden Beauchamp's place is attractively situated on the banks of the Back River, and apart from the fact that those tug-of-war men whose footgear were smaller than tens, had difficulty in holding in the softish soil, the place was nicely suited for a outing of the kind. The flower garden sloping from the pretty residence of the host, down to the fringe of grassland on the riveside, is redolent of the sweet scented summer flowers, and here the guests had pleasant paths on which to stroll during the intervals between the sporting events:

The visitors were promptly made to feel at home by Warden Beauchamp and his family and with an enthusiastic committee of officials from the institution, everything in connection with the outing went at a satisfactory pace.

Judges were Messrs. O. Beauchamp, G. A. Pratt (Deputy Warden Ubald, Chartrand (chief keeper); starter ,and judge of the tug of war, W. W. Gibson; general committee, Messrs. J. Desjardins; J. P. Forster, L. Normand A. Desjardins, N. St. Germain, G. Therien, E. Belanger, W. W. Gibson, G. J. Reneault, secretary; and amongst those who helped materially to make the picnic a success were Dr. Allaire, surgeon-physician of the penitentiary Mr. G. Malepart, bookkeeper and others of Mr. Beauchamp's large staff, of officials.

Among the guests were Mr. J. Wilson, ex-M.P., Mr. Charles A. Wilson, advocate of Montreal; Rev. Frank Pratt; Seigneur Lussier, Mr. Edward Kenney, former farm instructor, now of Montreal; Mr. Edward Adam, Mr. Simon Holt, Mr. J. E. Ligue, Mr. J. A. Dumas, Mr. Wm. Auclair, Mr. J. Laurin and Mr. Joseph Quevillon.

At the close of the proceedings, when the prizes had been bestowed Warden Beauchamp had a few kindly words to say, expressing the hope that there would be another such opportunity for meeting together a year hence. Mr. Charles Wilson, Deputy Warden Pratt, Dr. Allaire had also some interesting things to tell, and after being forcibly led forward by stalwart keepers, the press representatives Messrs. Jules Tremblay, La Presse; M. Marsil, Le Canada, and J. R. Smith, Herald; had each to reply to the many complimentary words said of their respective newspapers. The picnic was thoroughly enjoyable, and it is the intention to make the event an annual one. The results in the sporting events were:

150 yards dash, open to all officers—1, Joseph Therien; 2, Roderick Desjardins; 3, William Aube.

Fat man's race, 75 yards—1, Joseph Desjardins; 2, A. Trudeau; 3, A. Desjardins.

Three-legged race, 100 yards—1, Jos. Therien and R. Desjardins; 2, Peppin and A. Trudeau; Lynch and Belanger dropped out.

Tug-of-war—1st pull, J. Nixon (capt.) A. Trudeau, E. Boucher, R. Desjardins, Peppin, Oumette, J. Larin, A. Desjardins, Wm. McDonough, Eugene Leclair, Wm. Prevost. The same team won in the final after a stiff pull.

Breaking the pole blindfold—J. P. Forster.

Potato race, 50 yards—Joseph Aube; 2, Rad. Brisbois.

Sack race, 100 yards—1, Joseph Aube, 2; Rad. Brisbois.

300 yards special race—1, Joseph Therien; 2, Roddy Desjardins.

100 yards, special race, for prizes given by the Mayor, Seigneur Lussier, —1, D. Desjardins; 2, Albert Beauchamp; 3, Joseph Therien.

Several photo groups were taken by Mr. Dumas during the afternoon.

LOST HIS TROUSERS WHILE OUT FOR A TIME

Another man had his breeches stolen off his legs early yesterday morning, and needless to say the preferers did not transfer the cash from the pockets and insist on leaving it with its lawful owner.

William Thompson told Mr. Recorder Weir he had only been in the country a few weeks, and admitted to having been sampling the wine of the country while it was sparkling white. He believed it was the case he had been found on Craig Street with not even a kilt on, and expressed much regret at such a condition of affairs.

The court said if this happened more frequently it might have a good reclaiming effect among the tipplers, but after causing Sergt. Burns of the Court House staff to see that he was properly clothed in his lower limbs, accused was permitted to go.

PORT OF ST. PETERSBURG IS TIED UP BY GENERAL STRIKE

St. Petersburg, July 3, 4.10 p.m.—The nervousness which pervades all classes is increasing. The government's policy in keeping back the facts, bad as they are, is resulting in people giving a willing ear to all the stories which are set afloat. Nothing seemingly is too wild to receive ready credence. Many people are convinced that the country is actually in the throes of a revolution. Although the critical character of the situation can hardly be overstated, and while the danger of a general upheavan is undoubtedly real, there has been no open mutiny of soldiers yet, and until some regiments, following the example of their comrades in the navy, go over, the rising has little chance of success. At the same time there is enough deep discontent among many of the soldiers here to render it doubtful whether they will stand the test of obeying orders to fire on the people in the streets.

General Trepoff's warning to the newspapers not to print a word about the Black Sea fleet troubles, although obeyed in St. Petersburg, has aroused insistent demands for permission to publish the facts, while some of the Moscow papers openly defied the inhibition. The revolutionists are working with feverish activity in spreading the news broadcast, circulating proclamations to the soldiers, and summoning the workmen everywhere to strike and joined the movement for emancipation.

To-day the workmen of the Port of St. Petersburg, following the lead of the Cronstadt workmen, left work and commerce is at a standstill, and all the yards of the Neva are idle. Cronstadt resembles a city in time of war. The streets are patrolled by Cossacks, infantry and sailors. Some of the guard regiments have been brought from St. Petersburg to Krasnoe-Selo, and while outwardly the city appears calm no one knows what to expect from hour to hour.

It is rumored that the crew of the battleship Alexander II. have mutinied and sailed away with the vessel, but a telephone message from Cronstadt says this is not true.

Vice-Admiral Kruger's return to Sebastopol, and his drawing the fires from under the boilers of his ships and uncoupling the engines, is accepted as conclusive evidence that not only could he not rely on his crews to attempt to coerce the mutineers, but that the bluejackets are in such a rebellious spirit that it is feared they may take possession of the ships and join their comrades.

The exodus from Odessa continues. While the city is calmer, a state of terror exists. According to despatches received here, German and British ships are being held off the port by the consuls to take off foreign citizens in case of necessity. A British ship has offered hospitality to the Americans at Odessa.

THE FRANCO-GERMAN TROUBLE IS ENDED

Little Difference Between the Two Governments as to Morocco

Berlin, July 3. — The French and German Governments are not far apart now in regard to the proposed Moroccan conference. Prince Von Radolin, the German ambassador at Paris, telegraphed to the Foreign Office last night that Premier Rouvier, at their meeting yesterday, showed him a provisional draft of France's reply to Germany in which France says she will accept the Sultan of Morocco's invitation, although with certain understandings or reservations.

These conditions, the Associated Press was informed at the Foreign Office, offer no great difficulties in the way of a complete preparatory agreement between France and Germany. France has not formally accepted, but says she will do so when certain obscurities are cleared up. Germany naturally does not ask for a dissolution of the Franco-British treaty or the Franco-Spanish treaty. They are defined by Germany as matters outside of the discussion, and with which Germany has nothing to do. Some days are likely to elapse before France formally defines her position.

CHANGES IN C.P.R. LONDON STAFF

Mr. Harry Moody Retires From the Deputy Secretaryship

Mr. Harry Moody, deputy secretary of the C.P.R. in London, England, retired, on July 1st, from active service after twenty-two years of most faithful and intelligent attention to the affairs of the company that came within his province.

The directors have expressed their regret that owing to the state of his health Mr. Moody has found it necessary to relinquish the more onerous duties of deputy secretary, and it has been arranged that he shall remain connected with the company unofficially so that his services will be available if and when required.

Mr. Robert D. Morrison, formely registrar, has been appointed deputy secretary in London to succeed Mr. Moody and Mr. Edward F. Tremayne has been appointed registrar of the company in London.

The C. P. R. has also appointed Mr. Archer Baker, European manager with general supervision of the company's business affairs (other than financial negotiations) in Great Britain and on the Continent under the direction of the president and vice-president.

With reference to all matters of a strictly departmental character, officers in the territory of the European manager will report to their respective chiefs as heretofore, but they will frequently consult with the European manager and keep him fully informed about everything affecting the territory in his charge.

Mr. Baker's office will be in the Canadian Pacific Railway building, 62-65 Charing Cross, S.W., London.

CARPENTERS' STRIKE BRAGGING ALONG

Contractors Claim That the Men Cannot Win.

The carpenters' strike drags along without incident of a startling nature. The union is still professing confidence of success, while the employers unite in combatting the strike determinedly. Mr. Albert Strang, whose men went on strike on Friday, has signed the men's agreement. This morning the balance of the unionists employed by J. & W. Morrison were called out. Messrs. Morrison lost a number of men on Wednesday last.

"Speaking of the carpenters' strike," said Mr. J. H. Laver, of the Builders' Exchange, this morning, "several of the contractors against whom the union has been discriminating are now getting lots of non-union labor. In a few days there will be no need of a union. The men cannot win; they have nothing to win with. Their occupation will be gone in another week."

Discussing the act respecting councils of conciliation and of arbitration for settling industrial disputes, Mr. Lauer said that this law was of little use for the reason that its application was entirely voluntary. "The trades unions are not incorporated. One cannot get at them because they are really a collection of individuals. They should be forced to become incorporated. They are business corporations, and should be made to submit to the law as such. Why, there are enough of these unions lying about to raise enough revenue to pay the salary of another minister at Quebec, if they were made pay their $200 fee," said Mr. Lauer, laughing.

Mr. Felix Marois, registrar of the councils of conciliation and arbitration, is in Montreal at present, having been summoned to use his good offices in the present struggle. Mr. Marois states that he has communicated with the Carpenters' Union, but that they refused to listen to reasonable proposals."

LITTLE GIRL MET DEATH UNDER THE WHEELS

While playing in Adelain Street on Saturday little Regina Dupre was run over by one of Ewart's big ice waggons and died half an hour later at the Notre Dame Hospital. She had been playing about with several other children, and in some unknown way got between the wheels of the waggon. Napoleon Masse, the driver, states that he was going slowly down the street when some one shouted at him from the sidewalk. He stopped instantly, and looking round saw the child under the waggon. He does not know how she got there.

The shouts of the bystanders and the unusual crowd about, attracted the attention of the child's mother, who ran out just in time to see her little girl picked up. The ambulance was called and the child transported to the Notre Dame Hospital, where in spite of all that could be done, she expired.

SEVERAL DROWNINGS IN N. S.

Halifax, N.S., July 3.—(Special.)—Two young fishermen met a watery grave at Prospect yesterday. There were entering the harbor in a ten ton yacht, when it was noticed suddenly to sink, being heavily laden with fish. The lost lads were two brothers named Zinc and A. Morash, all belonging to Dover. Their bodies were not recovered.

James Johnson and Ernest Weatherbie, two 19-year-old boys, were drowned at Glace Bay, while boat sailing. The boat was an old one, but the boys apparently did not know how to handle it properly. They belonged to Springhill.

LONDON'S DOMINION DAY CELEBRATION

Ovation to Strathcona Was the Feature of the Cecil Dinner

(Canadian Associated Press Cable.)

London, July 3.—Some 500 guests, including the members of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, sat down to a banquet at the Cecil Hotel in honor of Dominion Day. It was one of the largest gatherings the hotel had ever had. Lord Strathcona presided, and was supported, amongst others, by the Duke of Argyll, Lord Minto, Lord Aberdeen, the Greek minister, Sir Wm. Mulock, Lord Wenlock, Sir James McGregor, the Bishop of Ripon, Lord Alverstone, Mr. George, Sir Thomas Barlow, Sir William White, Prof. Osler, General Laurie, Lord William Seymour, besides representatives of many of the trade guilds. The feature was the tremendous reception to Lord Strathcona, the whole assembly rising to its feet when he rose to speak. Scarcely less enthusiastic was that given to Sir Wm. Mulock in the course of the evening.

Lord Strathcona read a letter from Sir Wilfrid Laurier. It said: "Greetings. I join heartily with you and the Canadian and English guests assembled to celebrate the thirty-eighth birthday of Federation, and the first birthday of Alberta and Saskatchewan on Sept. 1st."

Lord Strathcona, giving the toast of the Dominion of Canada, referred to the enormous development Canada had made in the last few years, especially in the Northwest. This development was certain to continue. He looked forward to the time when there would be a four-day service between England and Canada. The Canadian Manufacturers' Association was a body which would become infinitely greater as time went on.

Sir William Mulock, in replying, said that Europe was considered a great continent under many flags. Who could anticipate the potentialities of a country larger than Europe, with one flag over all. The development of Canada should always be carried out in sympathy with the Mother Country.

Mr. George, replying for the visitors, said that Canada was a country of possibilities that even now it was impossible to grasp even faintly. They would return to Canada with stronger ties and deeper affections.

Mr. E. Marshall Fox chairman of the American Society in London, replying to the same toast, reminded Canada that the whole British navy was theirs. They had its wonderful benefit, being part of the great Empire that would protect her against everything.

Afterward the party adjourned to the Royal Institute of Painters, where they were received by Lord and Lady Strathcona. Fully 1,200 were present, and made a brilliant assemblage. A feature was the number of songs rendered by Canadians. Guy Sopra, Ottawa; Jean Newman, Montreal; Winifred Willet, Montreal; Edith Chandler, Brome, Que.; Edith Miller Portage la Prairie; Hope Morgan, Toronto; Eva Ganthier, Ottawa; Stanley Adams, Winnipeg; Pauline Lightstone, Donalda, Montreal, and Christina Barrie Dickson, Montreal, entertained.

HAULTAIN DEPRECATES PARTIZAN LEGISLATURE

Regina, N.W.T., July 3.—(Special.)—The Territorial Boards of Trade Convention adjourned on Saturday to meet next year at Edmonton. Resolutions were passed in favor of the Hudson's Bay Railway, in favor of uniformity in the educational systems of the two provinces, in favor of inviting members of Parliament to visit the West and on several other subjects.

Speaking at the banquet tendered the delegates, Premier Haultain expressed the hope that the new Provincial Legislatures would do their work as efficiently as had the other territorial assemblies. The growth of the assemblies had been strong, sturdy and gradual, like the development of the country. He attributed the success of the Territorial Assemblies to the absence of partizanship, and he hoped such would be the case in the new Provincial Parliaments.

AT FRIDAY'S SESSION.

Mr. Tweed, last year's President, was re-elected, Messrs. R. J. Hutchins, of Calgary and Justice Maguire of Prince Albert, Vice-Presidents and Mr. Trent of Regina, Secretary. It was resolved that members of the two new provinces should be liberally paid. A motion in favor of Government ownership of telephones was carried by a big majority. There was considerable discussion regarding the insolvency act, and a motion was carried by a large majority to make the act for the two new provinces and Manitoba uniform.

BIG RESERVOIR BREAKS ON RIDEAU CANAL.

Ottawa, July 3.—(Special.)—A big reservoir of the Rideau Canal at Westport, has broken and it is understood $30,000 damage has been caused. The canal department are sending men to report.

LATE CITY HAPPENINSG

Early yesterday morning Henri Lalonde, master of the barge Prescott, fell into the river near the foot of McGill Street and was drowned.

James Russell, laborer, City Hall Avenue, was fined $15 to-day by Judge Desnoyers on a charge of assaulting a watchman on Chabolilez Square early this morning. The latter carries marks of severe punishment.

The city police have had a busy time since Saturday forenoon, due doubtless to the combined influence of the holiday the heat and the circus visit. For the handling of Mr. Recorder Weir today there were no fewer than seventy-two cases, of which the majority were ordinary drunks, while carters who had left their waggon number plates at home also occupied many lines on the list. None of the charges were of a very serious nature.

It is charged against Thomas Leahy, twenty-four years old, residing on Centre Street, that because hotelkeeper Kelly refused to supply him with liquor after the latter had concluded he was well enough loaded, he used threatening language of a very alarming nature, and as the hotelkeeper seemed to consider he was in bodily danger, he swore out a warrant. To-day Judge Desnoyers decided the interests of justice would be served by binding over accused to keep the peace for two years, personal bail of $200, and two bonds for $100 each being called for.

The managers of the General Hospital were summoned to the Recorder's Court to-day, charged with a contravention of the city bye-law, by neglecting to provide smoke consuming apparatus. It was explained on behalf of the institution that on the date complained of, June 28, workmen were engaged completing the installation of smoke consuming plant, and that it was in full working condition next day. Under the circumstances, and having regard to the good work done by the hospital, Mr. Recorder Weir thought it a fair case for "suspended sentence."

N.S. STEEL OPENS FURNACES

Two Out of Four was Runing Ingots—A Car-Works Deal

Sydney, N.S., July 3.—(Special.)—Two of the four open hearth furnaces of the Nova Scotia Steel Co. at Sydney Mines were lighted on Saturday, and the first product of steel will likely be secured about the middle of the week. For the present only ingot steel will be produced.

The Rhodes, Curry & Edmand Co., of Amherst and Sydney, have purchased the plant of the Sdyney Manufacturing Co. in this city, and the franchises of that company to manufacture steel cars. The premises will be enlarged and the manufacture of steel and other railway cars commenced.

CITY'S HEALTH IS EXTREMELY GOOD

Very Light Bill for the Last Week at City Hall.

Last week's vital figures point to the fact that Montreal experienced in the seven days, 152 deaths and 143 births.

Diphtheria carried off two victims, measles but one, and infantile diseases eighty-three, while consumption claimed ten, pulmonary congestion, one and pneumonia, two.

Only five cases of diphtheria were reported during the week with six of scarlet fever and twenty-five of measles.

MR. R. TAYLOR WAS DROWNED

A sad fatality occurred at Lacoile Saturday afternoon when Mr. Robert Taylor, of Montreal, was drowned through the overturning of a skiff.

Mr. Taylor was fishing at Lacoile in company with two other young men. Saturday morning a strong wind was blowing and, as the water was very rough, the young men remained on shore. At noon the wind abated somewhat and Taylor and one of his companions named George Boaz, started out in spit of the warning of an old resident of the place, named Tansley, who was familiar with the river, and knew it to be dangerous druing rough weather. When the two men were about half a mile from the shore the boat began to fill and it soon overturned, throwing the occupants into the river. Boaz was rescued by witnesses of the accident, but Taylor, who could not swim, sank at once and did not come to the surface again.

Robert Tayor was twenty-one years of age, and lived at 1012 St. James Street. The body has not yet been recovered.

ROYAL MONTREAL LADIES DEFEAT BEACONSFIELD

SICK MAN JUMPED FROM 3 STOREY WINDOW

Joseph Montpetit, of 10 Pea Lane, leaped from a third storey window last evening at his home. He was suffering from typhoid fever and took advantage of his sister's temporary absence from the room to throw himself to the ground. Strange to say he suffered no external injury and when the Notre Dame ambulance arrived on the scene the doctor declared that he could find nothing wrong with the man. Internal injuries, however, may yet show themselves.

CIRCUS GAVE SECURITY.

That the managing of a circus is not all beer and skittles, the Montreal experience of the Sells and Downs organization would seem to indicate. As one result of the unfortunate accident which happened during the parade on Friday morning when a heavy van ran away on St. Lambert's Hill and mixed it up with the spectators, the circus management has had to post a large deposit at the Court House to satisfy many writs of seizure on circus property, sworn out by sufferers from the runaway.

Five writs of seizure for judgment were sworn out before Judge Loranger as follows: Mary Quinn, $500; Jas. Hughes, in the quality of tutor to Beatrice Hughes, minor $200; Dame E. A. Ames, $175; Dame M. Lemieux, $200; Dame R. St. Louis, $110. On Friday evening the bailiff visited the big show on Fletcher's Field and attached all sorts of strange beasts, lions, elephants, and so on. In order to get their circus moved, the Sells and Downs management deposited a sum corresponding to the various claims at the Court House, and once again the menagerie was free.

SOLDIER CRUSHED BY HEAVY WAGGON

Mr. James Armstrong Dies as Result of Injuries at Laprairie.

Mr. James Armstrong, of Scotstown, Que., who was brought to the General Hospital on Friday from Laprairie camp, succumbed to his injuries last night.

Deceased, who was a member of the Seventh Hussars, was helping break up camp, and was riding on the front of the last transport waggon when the wheels fell suddenly into a rut, throwing the unfortunate man to the ground. The wheels of the heavy waggon passed over his chest, fracturing a number of ribs and causing severe internal injuries. Mr. Armstrong was picked up and sent to the General Hospital, where his condition was regarded as very grave. His two sons, also members of the regiment, and Rev. T. L. Whitley, chaplain of the 13th, were with him till his death.

FOURTH FIELD COMPANY WILL GO INTO CAMP

Local Engineers Visit Ottawa and Defeat Capital Corps on the Ranges.

The Fourth Field Co. of Canadian Engineers will go into camp at Verdun July 14. The camp will last twelve days, and will be devoted to practical work.

Twelve members of the corps last week journeyed to Ottawa under command of Major Howard and Captain H. Harrison, and after a two days visit to Rockliffe camp, had a friendly shoot with the men of No. 3 Co., Ottawa. The Montreal team won out.

GENERATORS

Alternating Current Generators from 30 K.W. to 10,000 K.W., designed for one, two, three or multi phase; wound for any pressure up to 12,000 volts, operating at speeds from 90 to 1,500 R.P.M.

Direct Current Generators from 1 K.W. to 500 K.W., compound or shunt wound, for any pressure up to 600 volts, designed for any service.

Railway Generators from 100 K.W. to 2,000 K.W., operating at speeds from 90 to 600 R.P.M. Rotary Transformers to suit all conditions of railway and electrolytic work

MOTORS

Alternating Current Motors from 1-8 H.P. to 1,000 H.P., designed for one, two or three phase, 25 or 60 cycles, from 110 to 4,400 volts. Powerful when starting and of high efficiency.

Direct Current Motors from 1-4 H.P. to 800 H.P.; shunt, series or compound wound, slow and moderate speed, designed for any service. Hoist Motors, etc.

Railway and Crane Motors of all speeds and capacities.

Series-parallel Controllers and Sprague Multiple Control System for Interurban roads.

LAMPS

Enclosed Arc Lamps for Series Street Lighting.

Enclosed Arc Lamps for Interior Lighting.

Meridian Lamps for Office and Factory Lighting.

Searchlights for Steamers and Yachts.

Incandeseent Lamps of all candle powers and voltages for interior lighting, sign and decorative work.

TURBINES

Curtis Steam Turbines are built in conjunction with Direct Current Generators in sizes from 15 K. W. to 500 K.W. Alternating Current from 500 K.W. to 5,000 K.W. They possess high steam and electrical economy under all conditions of load, and occupy very little floor space per K.W. capacity, reducing to a minimum the cost of real estate and buildings.

STORAGE BATTERIES

Some of the results which may be achieved by using Storage Batteries are:—

Shorter hours of operation. Relief of peak loads, Regulaton of extreme fluctuations of load. Also Lighting Country Houses, Railroad Trains, Yachts, Carriages. Operating Electric Vehicles, Launches, Phonographs, Dental Machinery, etc. Railroad Switch and Signal Apparatus, Telephone, Telegraph, Fire Alarm Service, etc.

A 2,400 Horse Power Battery is now in use by the Toronto Railway Company.

WIRE

Insulated wire of every description.

Rubber covered wire and cable for house wiring and installation of generators and switchboards.

Weatherproof wire for outside construction.

Aerial and Underground Cables.

Silk and cotton covered Flexible Cord for drop lights and fixtures.

Fixture Cord, Annunciator Wire, Bell Wire, Cotton Covered Magnet Wire, Silk Covered Magnet Wire, etc.

SWITCHBOARDS

High Potential Switchboards, with specially designed switches and instruments to suit modern requirements.

Switchboards for all services, Exciters, Direct and alternating Current Generators, Transformers, Lightning Arresters, Railway Generator and Feeder Panels, Storage Batteries, Motor-Generator Sets, Rotary Converters.

TRANSFORMERS

Lighting Transformers from 1-2 K.W. to 50 K.W., 60 and 125 cycles, oil insulated.

Transmission Transformers from 50 K.W. to 5,000 K.W., 25 and 60 cycles, for any pressure up to 60,000 volts, oil insulated, water cooled or air cooled.

Step-up and Step-down Transformers designed and installed complete, including Switchboards, Air Cooling Apparatus, Water Circulating Devices, Lightning Protection, etc., etc.

Self-regulating Transformers for series street lighting circuit.

SUPPLIES

Meters and Measuring Instruments, Railway Line Material, Rail Bonds, Track Cleaning Devices, Heating and Cooking Apparatus, Fan Motors, Panel Boards, Enclosed Fuses, Cutouts, Rosettes, Knife Switches, Snap Switches.

Sockets and Receptacles, Brackets and Fixtures, Street Fixturest Shades and Reflectors, Cleats, Porcelain Knobs, Tubes, Glass Insulators.

Annunciators, Bells, Batteries, Push Buttons and general Electric Wiring and Bell Supplies.

BOILERS

Horizontal return tubular boilers, vertical boilers, locomotive boilers, marine boilers. Riveted steel plate work of every description. Smokestacks, stand pipes, elevated tanks. Flanged heads, domes, manholes, etc. formed in hydraulic presses of special construction and large capacity.

PUMPS

Direct Acting, Single or Duplex Steam Pumps.

Power Pumps, single, duplex or triplex, belt or motor driven.

Single or Multiple Stage Turbine Power Pumps for any pressure. Centrifugal Pumps. Compound, direct acting steam pumps. High duty pumps, crank and fly wheel type, horizontal or vertical. Condensing apparatus for stationary or marine work. Combined air pumps and jet condensers. Surface Condensers.

Edward's Patent Air Pumps for high vacuum.

Pumps for all duties—waterworks, mines, tanneries, fire protection, paper mills, boiler feeding, distilleries, etc.

STRUCTURAL STEEL

Steel work constructed of any size or design for:

Office buildings, warehouses, factories, stores, public halls, railway stations and sheds, roundhouses, skating rinks, exhibition buildings, etc.

Standard shapes, such as beams, plates, tees, angles, channels, always in stock.

LOCOMOTIVES

Steam locomotives for express, freight, yard or contractor's use.

Steam shovels, wrecking cranes and railway pile drivers.

Trucks for electric passenger or freight cars.

Marine engines, simple, compound or triple expansion to suit any condition.

COMPRESSORS

Air compressors for all duties, straight line and duplex types.

Self-contained, self-oiling, simple, cross compound, steam and air, or tandem compound, belted or motor driven.

Christensen air brake equipments for electric and steam railroad service.

BRIDGES

RAILROAD AND HIGHWAY BRIDGES.

Plate and lattice girders, cantilevers, viaducts, swing spans.

Roof trusses, tank trestles, travelling cranes and gantries.

Steel towers for electric transmission lines.

WATER WORKS SUPPLIES

Cast iron pipe for water and gas.

Elbows, tees and other special castings.

Gate valves, check valves, foot valves, hydrants, indicator posts and valves, flexible joints, valve boxes, drinking fountains, water troughs and ornamental fountains.

Riveted steel pipe for water supply under heavy pressure, steel flumes, penstocks, etc.

SCREWS AND NUTS

Milled screws and bolts of every kind.

Set screws, cap screws, coupling bolts, boiler patch bolts, planer bolts.

Special milled work of every description made to sample or drawing.

Square or hexagon cold pressed nuts, rough, semi-finished, finished or case-hardened

ORNAMENTAL IRON WORK

Wrought iron fences of all kinds.

Entrance gates, bank railing, office, window and door grille and railing, elevator cars and enclosures, iron stairs, spiral stairways, fire escapes.

Hand-hammered leaf work. Fire dogs, screens, fenders. Cresting.

Architectural details of all designs executed in any metal.

RUSSIA SPIKES HER OWN GUNS

Black Sea Fleet, Sailors Distrusted, is Partly Dismantled.

ADMIRAL KRUGER HELPLESS

Russian Admiralty Stupefied in Face of Recent Developments—Losses in Odessa Fire Enormous—Army Now Suspected.

St. Petersburg, July 3.—3:40 a.m.—The unprecedented spectacle of a powerful modern battleship, cruising around in the Black Sea in the hands of a crew who, under the rules of international law, cannot be regarded as other than pirates, and of the Admiral in command of the rest of the Euxine fleet frankly confessing his inability to cope with the situation and ordering the fires of his warships to be drawn, has stupefied the Russian Admiralty.

No plans for capturing her have been devised, and the policy of non-interference seems to be at present in vogue. The situation would furnish a libretto for a comic opera were not the elements of the plot so serious.

Despatches from Odessa and Sebastopol, which are confirmed by the Admiralty, clear up fully the present situation. The Kniaz Potemkin has sailed from Odessa, and is now at large, and her crew, reinforced by sympathizers from shore, is still in control of the vessel.

On the Georgi Pobiedonosetz, which cast in its fortunes with the Kniaz Potemkin after its arrival at Odessa and landed its officers, the more loyal and more timorous portion of them gained the upper hand and agreed to surrender and disarm the ship. The rest of the squadron returned to Sebastopol without venturing to take up the gauntlet thrown down by the mutineers on the Kniaz Potemkin, and Admiral Kruger, after a council of war, finding that he could not depend on his crews, ordered the fires drawn beneath the boilers of the ship and gave permission to all the disaffected officers and sailors to quit the vessels and go ashore.

The sailors of the Ekaterina II. were known to be so mutinous that the battleship was left behind when the squadron started for Odessa, the whole crew dismissed, and the ship disarmed. The Kniaz Potemkin, which was steering a southerly course when she left Odessa, would, within a few hours, be south of Russian limits, and may next be heard from at some Balkan and Turkish port.

IS THE ARMY ALSO ROTTEN?

The spirit manifested through the fleet goes far to explain the defeat in the Sea of Japan as a large portion of the crew, especially those of Admiral Nebogatoff's division, were drafted from the Euxine Sea, and were evidently not in a mind to offer a stout fight.

The proclamation attached to the dead body of Kniaz Potemkin's sailor, Omiltchuk, at Odessa, the text of which was received yesterday, confirms the statement of the authorities that the revolt was engineered by social revolutionists. The proclamation terminated with the slogan of the party, "One for all, and all for one." This makes the situation more serious than would have been the matter of simple disaffection, and gives rise to the great apprehension that the revolutionary organization may have conducted an equally successful propaganda among the soldiers, the results of which will be suddenly manifested when the army is called upon in some international emergency.

The Tsarya, a paper which has been dormant for some time, and therefore not responsible to the censorship, has been revived, and has printed an extra edition, giving full details of the mutineering and rioting at Odessa. Copies were snatched from the newsboys and read with avidity everywhere. Long mail accounts of the events at Odessa up to Thursday night have arrived, and have helped the public to become fully acquainted with the situation.

It is estimated that the losses by the fire Wednesday amounted to $25,000,000. Twelve steamers and fifty sailing vessels are said to have been destroyed.

MACHINE GUNS MOWED THEM DOWN.

London, July 3.—Describing the Odessa incendiarism a correspondent says: "I saw women and young girls helping to carry bundles of straw and firewood, saturating them with paraffine and then lighting torches, which were thrown in through the smashed doors and the windows until the whole harbor front was aflame.

"The mob of 12,000 or 13,000 persons fell back slowly, and resistingly before the rifle volleys of the troops, until the machine guns were brought into action when they literally mowed down the frenzied mob."

This correspondent estimates the number killed at 1,400 without counting those burned to death.

MUTINEERS AT LARGE.

Libau, July 3.—A hundred mutineers, who refused to surrender with their comrades, escaped to the forests, where they are still at large. Last night they attacked and robbed an old man in the suburbs. During the mutiny three men were killed and six wounded. All is quiet at the commercial port which is situated a short distance from War Port. The reports that navigation is interrupted here are untrue.

OFFCER'S HORRIBLE DEATH.

Kursk, European Russia, July 3.—An officer was burned to death in a railway car here by a mob last night after a short sharp conflict. The trouble arose through the officer on his arrival from Kieff, ordering the arrest of a soldier. The latter was impudent and the officer drew his sword and cut the man down. The surrounding crowd drove the officer into a railway car from which he defended himself with his revolver. Ultimately the mob saturated the car with petroleum, set fire to it and the officer perished. The rioters were dispersed by dragoons.

IN COLONEL'S TOWN

Things Happen.

From the home of the famous "Keyhnel Keeyartah, of Cartersville," away down South, comes an enthusiastic letter about Postum.

"I was in very delicate health, suffering from indigestion and a nervous trouble so severe that I could hardly sleep. The doctor ordered me to discontinue the use of the old kind of coffee, which was like poison to me, producing such extreme disturbance that I could not control myself. But such was my love for it that I could not get my own consent to give it up for some time, and continued to suffer, till my father one day brought home a package of Postum Food Coffee.

"I had the new food drink carefully prepared according to directions, and gave it a fair trial. It proved to have a rich flavor and made a healthy, wholesome and delightful drink. To my taste the addition of cream greatly improves it.

"My health began to improve as soon as the drug effect of the old coffee was removed and the Postum Coffee had time to make its influence felt. My nervous troubles were speedily relieved and the sleep which the old coffee drove from my pillow always came to soothe and strengthen me after I had drunk Postum—in a very short time I began to sleep better than I had for years before. I have now used Postum Coffee for several years and like it better and find it more beneficial than when I first began. It is an unspeakable joy to be relieved of the old distress and sickness." Name given by Postum Company, Battle Creek, Mich.

There's a reason.

REV. FATHER O'MEARA NEW SCHOOL COMMISSIONER

Rev. William O'Meara, parish priest of St. Gabriel's Church, has been named by his Grace Archbishop Bruchesi as a member of the Catholic School Commissioners' Board. Rev. Father O'Meara takes Rev. Father Martin Callaghan's place, whose term of office expired last Friday. The members of St. Gabriel's Total Abstinence & Benefit Society waited on Father O'Meara yesterday and congratulated him on his appointment.

WESTERN RAILWAY WRECKS.

Winnipeg, Man., July 3.—(Special.)—Geo. S. Morris, despatcher, and Wm. Bowen, operator, were both sent up for trial at the adjourned preliminary investigation held at Kenora into the recent train wreck at Kalmar. No further evidence was forthcoming. The accused were released on bail.

Engineer Barrett, injured by the explosion of a locomotive boiler near Kincorth, on Friday, is in a bad condition and may not recover. Foreman Pritchard is also suffering seriously from cuts in the head. The accident is ascribed to muddy water, which was taken for the boiler at Medicine Hat, where the Saskatchewan is in a flooded state.

REGIMENTAL EXCURSION ON SUNDAY.

Kingston, Ont., July 3.—(Special.)—The Lord's Day Alliance has entered its protest against the action of the 14th Regiment officers in arranging for an excursion leaving Kingston on Sunday. The resolution said: 'It is disappointing to find that those to whom we most naturally turn as the upholders of these institutions should be so publicly concerned in a violation of the day of rest."

The number of night lodgings given at the Protestant House of Industry and Refuge last week was 113, and the number of meals given was 198.

THE GREAT WISDOM COMPETITION

Never was there a competition more keenly contested than the Popular Wisdom Competition. We have kept a staff of expert examiners busy going through the thousands of replies. The prizes have been awarded strictly on merit, and the winners are to be most heartily congratulated, although they only won by a very few points. Hundreds of the competitors sent in answers of exceptional merit, which would invariably win a prize in most of our competitions. In several cases there were ties in the number of points allowed on orrect answers. Simple as these Puzzles seemed, there was not one competitor who was positively correct in every detail of the Forty Pictures. Execution of work came next to correctness—such as the drawing of the Little Green Man, placing the 15 chickens back into the egg, making up of the harp, etc. Cleverness of design and ideas, neatness in arrangement, were also studied in cases where the number of points for correct answers were the same. Only three competitors out of over three thousand were successful in placing the 15 chickens back into the egg so that not the slightest point of one chicken extended over the next. This extremely clever drawing was the stumbling block of most of the competitors. It is possible to cut out the 15 chickens neatly enough and place them in the egg in such a manner that even the lines will not touch each other. The special staff of examiners after hard work reduced the thousands of replies to fifty, selected according to merit and number of points. The thirteen prize winners were selected out of the fifty by the management. Every fairness has been extended, and the winners deserve every credit for the cleverness they have displayed in this interesting contest. Unfortunately two of the prizes were really won by competitors who neglected to enclose their names and addresses. As there was no means of finding out who their owners were they were disqualified and the prizes awarded to the next best. Letters will be mailed to-day to the winners whose names are published below. Upon presenting these their prizes will be awarded. Special mention is due to Miss Julie Garneau, the young lady who is the winner of the first prize of Ten Filled Books of Green Cash Receipts. Her work showed exceedingly great care and accuracy. The answers were very neatly mounted on separate sheets. The Little Green Men were cut out separately and arranged in all manner of clever poses. Miss Garneau deserves much credit for her careful perseverance, and we hope that the beautiful articles that her ten well earned books are entitled to will bring her much pleasure and happiness. We desire also to mention specially the work of G. Johnston, who won the second prize. For cleverness of ideas in execution Mr. Johnston was decidedly the best. His answers were bound under a Morocco cover and gilt edges. The book was a work of art throughout. It was completely filled, the first forty pages being devoted to the puzzles and the rest to very clever illustrated ideas of the Famous Green Cash Receipts. Miss Agnes K. Small, winner of the third prize, had the same number of points as Mr. Johnston, but was outclassed in execution, while Mr. Johnston was outclassed in accuracy of answers by Miss Garneau, which gave her the first prize.

The enthusiastic manner in which the competitors have gone into this great competition and the brilliant efforts made by over a hundred (which for lack of space we cannot give full details) makes a very gratifying conclusion of the most popular competition we have ever originated.

THE BUTTON-BOY COMPETITION

We are now searching through the thousands of answers to this popular competition. Three offices are literally packed with guesses and a special staff are looking for the thirty-three winners who will share the prizes of $100.00. It is an absolute secret, known only to the manager, how many buttons were originally on the suit. It is merely guesswork in this case on the part of competitors, as it would be an impossible task to count them so long as they remained on the suit. Competitors whose answers are in the neighborhood of 2,600 should keep a sharp lookout for the names of

A SHOCKING DISCOVERY.

After the retirement of a military earl from Canada last year, it seems to have occurred to some enterprising friend to look up the ancestry of Sir Frederick Borden. It at once occurred to the mind of the antiquarian that Sir Frederick might be remotely connected with the pleasant little hamlet of Borden—near—Sittingburne. It was the current belief that the name of this Borden is derived from the words "bear-den," and the experiences of the repatriated earl, including a certain element of precipitation, at once suggested the reflection that, if so, Sir Frederick must be of the original stock. The legend ran that in the old bear-hunting days a bear-den had been stationed at this interesting spot, whence earls and belted knights of an earlier day sought the creatures of their gentle sport. It would be a curious tribute to the influence of environment if it could be established that the inhabitants of an ancient bear-den had in process of time become ugly customers for baiting.

Unfortunately for this hypothesis, it was remembered in time that there is another Canadian Borden whose characteristics do not fit in with the bear-den idea. Investigation, therefore, had to proceed further, and it was discovered—horror of horrors, what will the Toronto News and the Hamilton Spectator think of this?—that this old hamlet of Borden was anciently the home of the Bourdons, and that the Canadian Bordens are their descendants. Mr. Borden, therefore, this chief of the anti-Quebec Tories, this leader of the hosts who denounce everything French, is nothing more nor less than a Bourdon in disguise, a Frenchman, no less. Thus is seen, once more, the irony of fate. It would be too much, no doubt, to assume that Mr. Borden and the Montreal Star parted company when this discovery was made, just as it is too much to suppose that Mr. Borden's recent conduct in cutting himself off completely from all political association with his Quebec colleagues was designed to show that he is sorry for being a Bourdon. But there the horrid fact remains. Dr. Sproule's leader, Billy Maclean's leader, Sam Hughes' leader, is none other than a Frenchman with his name changed from Bourdon to Borden.

In the light of such a revelation, all that is left is to beg of the Toronto Telegram to be merciful. It must see now that it was by instinct, rather than by choice, that he came to make the wretched blunders of which he is accused. It was not his fault.

THE PLAY OF INTEREST.

During the last few weeks London has had a constant succession of foreign visitors of distinction, the latest being the Prince and Princess Arisugawa, of Japan, fresh from a visit to Berlin. The King seems to have taken especial pains to ensure that their reception was not one whit behind that given the Crown Prince of Sweden. They are to be the guests of the King during the whole of their stay, which is to extend to the middle of the month, and to have royal escorts and various other honors it has been unusual to extend to Asiatic princes.

It is as yet difficult to know how great a practical benefit the United Kingdom has received from the Japanese alliance. The bulk of the money raised by Japan has not only been loaned in Great Britain but also spent there; beyond a few bookkeeping charges a sum of quite $250,000,000 must have remained in the hands of London bankers for local distribution, and no inconsiderble portion of the marked revival of trade in most of the leading industries can be traced to the satisfaction of Japanese requirements.

Not the least interesting function of the royal visit is to be the launching of the big battleship Katori from the yards of Vickers Maxim & Co., who built Togo's flagship the Mikasa at Barrow, while the Armstrongs at Elswick have just received an immense order for 12-inch guns such as were used in the last battle, all of which, said Sir Andrew Noble the other day, were built at the Newcastle works. Locomotives for Japan are being turned out by the dozen in British shops, and a vast quantity of labor-saving machinery is also on order.

It is, however, significant of the developments of local industries which Japan contemplates so soon as peace is signed, that already extensive preparations are being made to instal armor plate and gun factories in Japanese ports. By the middle of 1906 it is calculated that at Nagasaki there will be a breakwater and floating dock capable of accommodating vessels of 7,000 tons, while since the war commenced thirty torpedo boats and two cruisers of over 3,000 tons were actually constructed at Osaka, their guns and armor plate, however, being imported, it is said, via Chinese ports.

Despite an occasional individual unsuccessful venture, the British marine insurance companies have made immense profits out of the war, which has, of course, also helped the regular liners trading to eastern waters, forcing up freight rates out of all proportion to the loss in passenger traffic.

Looking to the future it is probable that the experience of Japan will be the same as that of Germany, and that in ten years time the factories and workshops of the island Empire will be busy turning out a variety of goods which have hitherto been almost entirely imported from Europe or America. Cotton mills were rapidly extending before the war and the raw material can be obtained from India as a rule more readily than from this continent. If a satisfactory peace is made with Russia, the growing demand for food stuffs can be met by the cultivation of some of the millions of acres which are within reach of the trans-Siberian Railway, land which, experts say, are as suitable to wheat cultivation as much of the land in our own West.

JOHN HAY.

"He set a lofty example of patriotism and duty," was the comment of ex-President Cleveland upon hearing of the death of John Hay, for nearly seven years Secretary for Foreign Affairs of the United States, after representing his country in Paris, Madrid, Vienna and London.

The late Mr. Hay was one of those men of whom it may be said with truth that he made his mark in every sphere of effort upon which he entered. At the bar, as a journalist and contributor to literature, in political and diplomatic, as in social life, he showed marked ability, combined with that courtesy of bearing and keen tact without which mere ability so often misses its opportunities. Since he gained such laurels in the diplomatic service his countrymen had ceased to look upon him as a politician, and the terse tribute of the Democratic ex-President seems singularly appropriate.

Canadians can heartily endorse the tributes paid to his memory from so many sources not usually in agreement, realizing that he was a man who strove, with much unselfishness, to promote the welfare of mankind.

A GENTLE ROAST.

With the Toronto Conservative press standing to Mr. Borden's back, and whooping it up for him as some gentle Ajax defying the lightning from Quebec, it seems almost impolite to take seriously what is written to Le Nationaliste by Mr. Kemp, M.P., one of Mr. Borden's leading supporters from Toronto. He says, with the sounds of battle in North Oxford and London still ringing in his ears:

"Racial issues are usually invented and their importance magnified by mischievous, cunning-minded politicians for what they conceive to be their own personal advancement.

"Canadians of French or English origin, who meet each other in either social, professional or business way have no differences because of their race origin. Such a thing is never thought of. It is chiefly the exploiter in politics who strives to create false impressions amongst those whose vocation prevents them from, coming in contact with others of a different race, who is responsible for misconceptions which sometimes exist."

Really, now, if leading Conservatives are going to get back to commonsense like this, the Liberals will have to get out and hustle for their victories.

CRUMBLING FOUNDATIONS.

Out of the confusion of reports from Odessa and Sebastopol, the facts emerge that the Kniaz Potemkin's movements are unrestrained and that the Black Sea fleet has been rendered impotent by dissension. The Czar orders; the remainder of his navy is unable to obey. His authority is challenged, and he is unable to enforce it. Revolution could not go much farther without parading monarch and aristocrats through the streets in tumbrils on their way to the place of execution.

This mutiny has given so convincing a demonstration of the thorough organization effected by the Russian revolutionary forces that one can scarcely doubt, especially when the training of shotted guns on the windows of the Czar's palace is remembered, that the army must be prepared for a similar outbreak when the occasion offers.

The Czar had better make peace with his people. He may not have the chance if he waits much longer.

THE FLY IN THE OINTMENT.

Ordinary Canadians will be pained to learn that the Toronto Mail repudiates Baker of Finsbury. There is no honor for Canada, that august organ announces, when one of its sons is found figuring on the reactionary side. Mr. Baker, therefore, having dared to give the Chamberlain candidate a sound drubbing, must bear up with what fortitude he can, under the knowledge that while a Canadian may apply, and may pass for a simon-pure Canadian in England, here where he is born his laurels of victory are regarded as a crown of dishonor. It may be, of course, that Mr. Baker might brave the Toronto Mail as well as the London Mail, but in that case he can only be thought a hardened reprobate, willing to win at any cost to the complacency of his opponents.

THE HIGHLAND CADETS.

Westmount, June 30, 1905.

Editor Herald,

Sir:—As several articles have recently appeared in the press, which would convey the impression that the Westmount Highland Cadet Corps is controlled by the Montreal Highland Cadet Battalion, and that the disbandment of the latter would affect the former, I would be glad if you would make it known through your columns, that there is no connection whatever between these two institutions. The Westmount Highland Cadet Corps, like the Montreal Highland Cadet Battalion and other corps, does not receive any Government aid in carrying on its work.

HIS QUESTION.

Judge Knox—Prisoner, have you anything to say before the sentence of death is pronounced upon you?

Prisoner—Yes. Who won the third race to-day?

Jim Bludso of the Prairie Belle.

(By John Hay.)

Wall, no! I can't tell whar he lives,
Because he don't live, you see!
Leastways he's got out of the habit
Of livin like you and me.
Whar have you been for the last three years
That you haven't heard folks tell
How Jimmy Bludso passed in his checks
The night of the Prairie Belle?

He weren't no saint—them engineers
Is all pretty much alike—
One wife in Natchez-under-the-Hill
And another one here, in Pike;
A keerless man in his talk was Jim,
And an awkward hand in a row,
But he never flunked, and he never lied—
I reckon he never knowed how.

And this was all the religion he had—
To treat his engine well;
Never be passed on the river,
To mind the pilot's bell;
And if ever the Prairie Belle took fire—
A thousand times he swore,
He'd hold her nozzle agin the bank
Till the last soul got ashore.

All boats has their day on the Mississip
And her day come at last—
The Movastar was a better boat,
But the Belle she wouldn't be passed.
And so she come tearin' along that night—
The oldest craft on the line—
With a nigger squat on her safety-valve,
And her furnace crammed, resin and pine.

The fire bust out as she clared the bar,
And burnt a hole in the night,
And quick as a flash she turned and made
For that willer-bank on the right.
There was runnin' and cursin' and Jim yelled out,
Over all the infernal roar,
"I'll hold her nozzle agin the bank
Till the last galoot's ashore."

Thru the hot, black breath of the burnin' boat,
Jim Bludso's voice was heard.
And they all had trust in his cussedness,
And knowed he would keep his word.
And sure's you're born, they all got off
Afore the smokestacks fell,
And Bludso's ghost went up alone
In the smoke of the Prairie Belle.

He weren't no saint—but at judgment
I'd run my chance with Jim
'Longside of some pious gentlemen
That wouldn't shook hands with him.
He seen his duty, a dead-sure thing,
And went for it thar and then,
And Christ ain't a-going to be too hard
On a man that died for men.

The Inventor of Shimose.

(London Daily Mail.)

To the writer who met him recently in Sasebo, the great naval arsenal of Japan, Doctor Gian Shimose declared modestly that he had spent "a little over eleven years" in producing the terrible explosive which now bears his name. He is an exceedingly modest little man, this War Chemist of Japan; and not from himself, but from high Government officials, was I able to learn that he was in the habit of spending entire days and nights in his laboratory, working year after year upon his powder.

On one occasion he was nearly blinded for life by a premature explosion during one of his experiments. Very frequently his hands and fingers were dreadfully burned; but nothing ever seemed to turn him from his purpose, and at length, when the now famous "Shimose powder" was a perfect chemical compound, he took it modestly to his Government, with results now known to all the world.

"It is the most wonderful stuff I have ever come across," remarked a Japanese Artillery major to the writer. "I have seen Shimose heap coals of fire on a stack of it, bang it with all als force with an iron mallet, and even fire shot into it. But the most alarming thing he could make it do under these and other conditions was to burn feebly like tar, and give off a sickly smoke. But only use the simple, little chemical fulminating device which its inventor has provided for it, and then indeed you will see the force which has annihilated the power of Imperial Russia.

"Dr. Shimose once sprinkled some of his powder in a circle on a flat iron surface two inches thick, and when he caused it to explode the more powder alone drove a hole right through the iron, exactly the same size as the ring of powder. This is one very peculiar feature of the shimose powder. I was present at a confidential experiment conducted by the Imperial Naval Department which interested me very much. Great balks of massive oak timber were piled up twenty feet high in a square of nine feet, forming a kind of massive tower.

"A shell was fired at this from a 6-in. naval gun, and the effect was truly amazing. The tower of practically solid oak was not only battered, the timber was splintered and pulverized—shattered into fragments and scattered like shavings. I have seen this wonderful powder, which we, at any rate, consider superior to that used by any other Great Power in the world, first strike through an object, and then expend all the terrific force of its explosion many feet beyond it. It seems to possess several distinct energies."

Thoughts For Every Day.

Love is heaven's light.
Hating reproof is loving ruin.
Sacrifice demonstrates sincerity.
There is no achieving without believing.
The Word of life is a lot more than words.
The smooth man has a hard road ahead of him.
No soul was ever yet caught by a steel-trap smile.
No one needs to sit still while waiting on the Lord.
The martyr's crown was never found by looking for it.
The people will go to the church that gives itself to them.
The greatest miracle is the casting out of the devil of self.
Love may be misunderstood, but it never misunderstands.
The love of the Lord never yet led men to hate one another.
Many a sister spoils her testimony in the church by her tongue in the kitchen.

STREETS, ROADS AND BOULEVARDS

"Greater Montreal," is a phrase that seems to come easily to the lips of Montrealers in these growing times. The citizens have visions of annexed municipalities that shall stretch the city limits so elastically as to include a very considerable part of the county of Hochelaga, and longing eyes are even turned in imagination to the future, when these same city limits will be marked only by the rivers and lakes about the Island itself, and "City" and "Island" be synonymous terms.

That we must extend is inevitable. All the outlying suburbs, independent municipalities though they may be, are, practically, extensions of Montreal. Today we have in population, without these suburbs, some three hundred thousand. With these suburbs we are some one hundred thousand richer in souls, and city and suburbs are both growing out into Hochelaga or Jacques Cartier counties, as a solid whole. Take the four most important of these suburbs, or municipalities, immediate to Montreal—St. Henri, Ste. Cunegonde, Westmount and Ville St. Louis, an aggregate in population of over fifty-eight thousand, and we will find every one of them an extension of Montreal. What is Westmount but a residential section for Montrealers? What are St. Henri, Ste. Cunegonde and St. Louis but industrial extensions? All four are dependent upon her, and she in return draws on them for that space and business extension, the necessity for which progress forces upon every growing city.

As with these four larger ones so with the other and smaller ones—Outremont, Maisonneuve, Delorimier, Ville St. Paul, Villeray, Notre Dame de Grace, Mount Royal Vale, Montreal West, Coteau St. Pierre, Petite Cote and Village Turcot. Every one of is an extension of Montreal, and dependent to some extent on the city.

And what is true of the immediate surroundings of Montreal is true of the whole Island. What are Dixie, Valois, Lakeside, Beaconsfield, Beaurepaire, Ste. Anne de Bellevue, Cartierville, St. Laurent and Bordeaux, Ahuntsic, Sault aux Recollets and Bout de l'Ile, but extensions of Montreal—summer resorts—or homes of industrious habitants who depend on Montreal market to sell their products. Is there one settlement on the Island of Montreal, large or small, that is in no way dependent upon Montreal city?

And if the city of Montreal and the Island of Montreal are dependent, and continually dependent upon each other, it is self-evident that the action of every municipality on the island reacts, in some way, on the city, and the other municipalities—even as Montreal's progress or retrogression continually affects the growth of these surrounding suburbs, and towns. Every public movement affects to some extent, the whole Island.

And there is one question whose demands for consideration grow more and more pressing, a question that affects every part of the island, and every city and village in it, and that is the question of its streets and roads. The beauty and symmetry of all Montreal Island depends upon present action in regard to the streets, and the extension of streets to the country roads throughout its thirty miles of length. Now, before the roads of the country become part of some village in their crude state, and narrowness, should they not be marked out to a proper and adequate width, and no buildings without a proper frontage be allowed to be erected alongside them? In this way, and this way only, can municipalities provide for that future when all Montreal Island will be settled, and the question of streets will altogether supersede that of roads. At that time will due appreciation be felt for a present day movement that shall force upon all growing sections of the Island a consideration of the width and straightness of the streets built, and shall provide for the laying out of roads by proper engineering and surveying.

If experience can teach, Montreal has a continual object lesson before her eyes, that should bring sensibly to her mind the need for seriously encouraging this movement. The narrow streets and alleys that abound in our city are far from being things of beauty or congratulation, for a growing Metropolis. We have only two streets that are wide and well laid out, and these are St. Lawrence and Craig, which for obvious reasons, can hardly be termed avenues or boulevards. There is Sherbrooke Street, in point of beauty probably the finest in the city, but, supposing it was desired to put two street car tracks through it, would the present width allow a comfortable avenue for vehicles on both sides of the tracks? Hardly. And is provision being made that Sherbrooke Street shall extend in its proper width out into the country toward the western extremity of the island as a continued avenue?

It is something to be decidedly and honestly regretted and deplored that there is not one street in the city of Montreal which, by its width, and also its beauty, make it a pride to the citizens. We should have a dozen streets like Sherbrooke (only wider), and some of the well laid out and well pavemented boulevards which are a pride to every city. But, in the whole city of Montreal we have not one, not one.

It is this same carelessness in regard to our street system that has allowed houses to be built without proper frontage, and even along the residential streets of the city nearly all of the houses are built to the sidewalk spoiling what might otherwise be pretty streets. Utilization of real estate has in the building of this city, continually superceded beauty,—and now, when the children have no place to play but the sidewalk, because there has been no provision for frontage, it is realized, too late, that beauty might have eventually proved useful.

The suburbs of Montreal have shown more wisdom than Montreal city. Westmount, Outremont, and Ville St. Louis have realized the value of well laid out streets, and have, each of them, made a good start in the right direction. But, consider what difficulties one street may have before it gets anywhere, definitely, Sherbrooke extends to Westmount. Westmount extends it in a good, and excellent condition to the town limits,—and then it is left to the mercy of the next municipality to continue it as humor or whim may please,—or not at all. What is true of one street is true of every other that touches the city limits of Montreal. The city may make it as beautiful as she please, the next municipality will continue it as it pleases,—and beauty and symmetry be sacrificed to short-sightedness. There is no uniformity, no combined and broad-minded treatment of the subject, and that treatment of it, alone, can accomplish anything. Montreal and her suburbs must act together, and the good of all be considered in the developments of one.

Westmount is by far the most advanced of the suburbs in the general beauty of its streets, and this is natural, as it is practically a residential section, but it, too, can go only so far and no farther in the building of avenues and roads. Outremont has the finest street in the city or suburbs, in its St. Catherine road, but is provision being made that it may be continued in its present width to meet the Cote des Neiges road, or, as it now seems, will it dwindle down to a narrow road, which will be so built up before the day of awakening comes, that nothing can feasibly be done to alter it?

Everywhere there is need of united action, a consideration, not of Montreal, or St. Henri, or Ville St. Louis, or Westmount, but of the city and all the suburbs, unitedly, and then of the whole Island, for the question will, indeed must, extend, as the city and suburbs extend, and thus will arise the question of roads.

Montreal Island has a wonderful chance to be a beautiful island. It needs only care and forethought to ensure such beauty to her, but the forethought must be there if the "narrow" idea is not to spread all over it from Bout de l'Isle to Ste. Anne de Bellevue. Nothing but a systematic laying out of roads, with a view to their continuity, and the forcing of builders not to infringe on the boundaries of those roads will provide for the symmetrical development of our island. The extension of streets to the roads, and the beautifying of the roads, by making broad avenues and boulevards is a necessity If we wish to make the Island a desirable place. Now, the roads are made, hit or miss, as pleases the farmer or the chance builder; no consideration given as to their beauty or continuity, but only of immediate usefulness. The whole island is cut up by these lines of communications, which have been established as the streets of Montreal and the surrounding municipalities, with an eye to immediate interest and use.

And what will be the result of this haphazard way of treating an important question? Montreal will awake some morning to find herself a carelessly laid out and thoughtlessly built city in the centre of an island, as thoughtlessly and carelessly laid out. The chances of its being beautiful gone, the chances of its having broad avenues and beautiful boulevards gone; it will be cut up by narrow roads and crooked streets, which will be a continual eyesore to coming generations, who will have to undertake that undesirable task of tearing down the work of their fathers, instead of being able to appreciate their wisdom and foresight.

Whatever action is taken it must be one aimed to include the whole Island not any one part of it. It requires the work of engineers and surveyors, of landscape architects and of unselfish public men—but every cent paid out will come back multiplied a hundredfold—to the different municipalities of Montreal Island.

For a number of years this problem has interested some of the public-spirited men of Montreal. A few years ago the question was gone into in detail by Mr W. D. Lighthall, who proposed the appointment of a Commission for the whole Island of Montreal, to ensure proper avenues and trunks throughout the Island. Such a scheme is the only feasible one, and now is the time to give it serious consideration and active support. The sooner such a Commission is appointed the better. Montreal is growing rapidly, and the sooner such questions are given broad-minded consideration the easier will it be to carry out the needed reforms. The cry of "Greater Montreal," should include a demand for such a Commission which shall give to us not only a "greater" Montreal, but a more beautiful one.

Mary Queen of Scots.

(Andrew Lang in N. Y. Post.)

One of the sufferers from the uncompromising brush of the old Court painters was Mary, Queen of Scots. She was hardly ever painted as even moderately good-looking. Yesterday, however, in a shop near Christie's, I came across a likeness of Mary which might satisfy her adorers. When the Queen was taken to die at Fotheringay, in 1656, the sheriff of the shire was a Mr. Thomas Andrewes, to him she was "delivered;" and he walked before her to the scaffold, "with her countenance fearless, importing thereby rather mirth than mournful chere," says a contemporary manuscript, published by the Hon. Mrs. Maxwell-Scott. Mr. Andrewes stood at the Queen's left hand, while the headsman used his axe. Now the portrait comes from the collection of a member of the Andrewes family, and the family tradition is that it was given to Sheriff Andrewes by the Queen. Why she should have done that one does not see, but when her property was dispersed, it may have come into his hands.

The bright auburn hair (a wig), the lofty brow, the long, straight nose, the delicate chin, and the hazel eyes are all Mary's, and so is the whole contour of the face. The shape of the eyes, however, is not so long and narrow as is usual in authentic likenesses, the mouth has perhaps been retouched and modified, and the cheeks have a delicate carnation, whereas Mary, says Brantome, was always of a clear, colorless complexion, never touched with red after the death of her first husband, Francis II. The carnation may be the result of retouching, or perhaps the Queen used rouge when sitting for her portrait. The work is excellent, on an old panel. Looked at closely, the Queen seems a young, as well as a beautiful woman. Her ruff, however, is of a pattern not known to me in pictures earlier than 1578, when she was thirty-six. On retiring a few paces from the picture, we see that the appearance of youth vanishes, and we behold the most melancholy of all faces, proud, wistful, lonely, a face etched by passion, shame and sorrow. The effect of the rouge is to deepen this impression. The portrait appears to be unknown to historians and critics. We know, from a witness of her slaying, that, by 1587 the Queen's face was flat and fat, as it is represented in a miniature of her last years. The portrait, therefore is, or should be, of about 1579, when the Queen was thirty-seven years of age, and at a moment when she had some hopes of release and reconciliation. The Queen is in black, she wears a curious arched cap of Italian lace, and lace of the same sort covers her breast; the picture is a quarter length. I confess that it interests me more than the much talked of "Lycidas," by a new sculptor in the New Gallery, a work thought to look its best when viewed from above. A very good photograph of the portrait of Mary, the size of the painting itself, has been done by the Autotype Company, No. 74 New Oxford Street, London, and may be recommended to amateurs. How a painter, almost necessarily a foreigner, almost certainly French, was allowed to visit the Queen in captivity, one cannot discover. Yet the mournful and beautiful face seems to have been painted from the life, or after a crayon sketch from the life, as was then the usual practice.

FIVE WERE ORDAINED TO THE PRIESTHOOD

Imposing Ordination Ceremony Was Conducted Yesterday by Mgr. Bruchesi.

Yesterday morning at 10 o'clock His Grace, Archbishop Bruchesi ordained five candidates to the priesthood. The archbishop was assisted by Rev. Father Rioux, P.P., C.S.S.R., St Ann's; Rev. Father Demers, secretary; Rev. Father Giroux, S.S., Montreal College, being master of ceremonies. In the sanctuary were Rev. Fathers Cullinan, St. Mary's; McShane, S.S., Notre Dame; Ouelette, S.S., St. James; Breen, Pembroke, Ont.; Perrin, S.S., Montreal College; McLennan, Alexandria; Polan, St. Patrick's; McPhail, C.S.S.R.; Rietvelt, C.S.S.R., St. Ann's; Killoran, St. Patrick's; Trudel, CS.S.R.; Fortier, C.S.S.R.; Flynn, C.S.S.R., St. Ann's; Rev. Father Strubbe, C.S.S.R., St Ann's, preached on vocation to the priesthood. The church was crowded to the doors with friends of the candidates.

The newly-ordained were: Rev. Fathers McCrory, Papineau; Hutchinson, Desroches and Barsalou. Rev. Father Hutchinson goes to the diocese of Dallas, Texas, while the others are for the archdiocese of Montreal. At the conclusion of the ceremony a banquet was held at the Redemptorist Monastery, at which His Grace and nearly forty priests assisted.

This morning at 8 o'clock Rev. James McCrory said his first mass at St. Ann's Church, which was attended by several of the city priests, relatives and friends. Rev. Father Barsalou celebrated his first mass in his native parish of Marieville, P.Q. Rev. Father McCrory will probably be appointed to Cote St. Paul parish to attend to the wants of the English-speaking Catholics there.

JUDGMENT GOES AGAINST THE CITY

Judge St. Pierre rendered judgment Friday in the case of Dr. Mary Fyfe against the city of Montreal. The plaintiff, who is a member of the College of Physicians and Surgeons of the Province of Quebec, through her attorney, Mr. J. M. Ferguson, took action against the city for $1,900 damages caused by a fall on the sidewalk on Park avenue near Pine avenue.

The court held that it was conclusively established that the city was in fault, and that the sidewalk was in a dangerous condition. It was shown that at the place of the accident there was a slight descent, and that boys were in the habit of sliding from Fletcher's Field a short distance along the sidewalk on Park avenue, thereby rendering it dangerous, and as the city took no steps to prevent this, it must be held liable. Dr. Fyfe's wrist was broken by the fall, and she was unable to practise her profession for several weeks, and the injury, moreover, was of a more or less permanent nature. Although the plaintiff had failed to give notice of the accident within the time prescribed by the city charter, she had done so as soon as possible, and the city was not prejudiced by the delay.

The court assessed the damages at $800, for which amount judgment went against the city, with costs.

PICNIC PARTY MARRED BY FATAL ACCIDENT

The drowning of ten-year-old John A. Morhouse cast a gloom over the annaul excursion of the Star employes on Saturday. The steamer Three Rivers was bringing back the party from Sorel whe nthe little fellow, who was playing with some other children on the deck, lost his balance and fell over the guard-rail and fell int othe water. It was about two miles on this side of Sorel, and the surrent is very swift, so that the lad was soon carried far astern. William Gilmour pluckily leaped into the water to save the boy, but before he could be reached the little fellow had disappeared and was seen no more.

The drowned boy was a son of Mr. John T. Morhouse of the Star composing room staff.

MR. W. J. BUCHANAN DIED YESTERDAY

Was Former General Manager of the Bank of Montreal.

By the death of Mr. Wentworth James Buchanan, who passed away quietly at his home at 4.30 yesterday afternoon, one has been added to the ever growing number of gaps in the ranks of Montreal's leading business men of the past. Few citizens of Montreal enjoyed a more distinguished business career or a wider acquaintance throughout the Dominion than Mr. Buchanan. As former general-manager of the Bank of Montreal, and as a prominent figure in other financial concerns, Mr. Buchanan has left many friends in business circles, here and elsewhere to join with his relatives and friends in Montreal in deploring his loss.

The late Mr. W. J. Buchanan, was born in Montreal, December 11, 1828, and was the second son of the late Alexander Buchanan, Q.C., of this city. After receiving his education at the High School, and other Montreal institutions, Mr. Buchanan studied law in his father's office, entering later the employ of W. J. Leacroft & Co., importers and commission merchants.

Mr. Buchanan entered on his banking career in 1845, when he joined the staff of the Commercial Bank of Canada in Montreal, going later to Bytown to close the affairs of that institution. He entered the Bank of Montreal in 1853 as a teller, and was in turn manager of the branches at Woodstock, Brantford, Coburg, Hamilton, Toronto and Montreal, in 1879 he was appointed assistant general manager and in 1881 he became general manager of the bank, retiring from active business in October, 1890.

Mr. Buchanan was connected as well with other financial ventures, acting as chairman of the Canadian board of the Liverpool and London and Globe, Insurance Company, and as director of other institutions. He was for some years a governor of the Royal Victoria Hospital.

In 1859 Mr. Buchanan married the youngest daughter of the late Major Arnold Burrowes, of the Scots' Fusiliers, who served on the staff of Field Marshall Lord Beresford during the Peninsular War. Mr. Buchanan was a member of the Church of England.

He is survived by a widow, three sons and two daughters. The sons are Mr. C. W. Buchanan of the Bank of Montreal; Mr. F. P. Buchanan, of the chief engineer's department of the Canadian Pacific Railway and Mr. R. T. Buchanan, of Woodlands, Que., Mrs. Frank H. Weir and Miss Buchanan are the daughters.

CANADIAN OPTICIANS CONCLUDE CONVENTION

Officers Were Elected at the Session of Saturday Afternoon.

The Canadian Association of Opticians resumed their convention on Saturday morning at 10 a.m., when the following delegates were in attendance: Professor S. Grant; Dr. Harvey, Toronto; E. Culverhouse, Toronto; D. R. Parsons, Rock Island; W. E. Montgomery, Toronto; Dr. Leys, Detroit; F. E. Luke, Toronto; W. H. Bockus, Granby; H. J. Gerger, Toronto; H. P. Knowlton, Athens; T. Coffin, Montreal; T. Butler, Montreal; Mr. Ganatsee, Lachute, and others. The morning session was chiefly occupied with the reading of and discussion upon Mr. E. Culverhouse's paper, entitled "Refraction, accommodation, equilibrium," treated in a purely technical fashion. Mr. Amsden of Toronto was unable through illness to give his address.

At the afternoon session Professor Grant read a lecture entitled "The Eye—Comparative Anatomy." Although the subject of this lecture was technical and scientific, yet it was treated in such a way as to be eminently interesting. Eyesight and vision in all forms of animal life were indicated and commented upon from the Amoeba, which is said to be sightless, but, as Professor Grant believed, not insensible to the influence of light to man himself with whose eyes were inseparably associated thought, mind, speech and the burning sensations of the human heart.

At the afternoon session officers for the association were elected as follows: President, Mr. F. E. Luke, Toronto; first vice-president, Mr. W. H. Ganebee, Lachute; second vice-president, Mr. W. H. Kearney, Renfrew; third vice-president, Mr. S. Kermier, Sherbrooke; fourth vice-president, Mr. Bockus, Granby; secretary, W. H. Geiger, Toronto. On conclusion of the afternoon session the association delegates attended an enjoyable outing to the summit of Mount Royal under the auspices of the Montreal Optical Company.

In the evening at 8 o'clock the delegates were present at a banquet held in the Piccadilly Cafe, when the newly-elected president, Mr. Luke, of Toronto, occupied the chair. In reply to the toast of "Our past officers," Professor Grant remarked on the pleasant nature of his two-year term as president, and the loyalty of the members of the association, which to-day was as prosperous as ever. The profession which they represented had made rapid strides, and whereas twenty-five years ago there was not an optical society on the continent, now each State had organized associations.

The toast of the "Wholesalers" was responded to by Messrs. T. Coffin, J. E. Normandin and W. Randell Brown, and Mr. Ganetsee proposed "The Ladies."

Mr. E. Culverhouse spoke of the work of the association in educating the members to a higher standard, while Dr. Leys, of Detroit, expressed the pleasure he had in meeting his Canadian brethren. There were numerous other toasts and vocal selections were rendered by Messrs. G. J. Mahoney and T. Collins, jr. With the banquet the convention came to an end. It has no doubt done its share to strengthen the hands of the members in procuring legal recognition of their profession.

ST. MICHAEL'S PARISH WILL TRY FOR SCHOOL

Parishioners Disappointed at the Decision of Department of Public Instruction.

At a meeting of the parishioners of St. Michael's, held last evening, much disappointment was expressed at the decision of the Department of Public Instruction to the effect that there was no way of giving them an independent school under the Act.

It was stated that it was because they had received assurances to the effect that such a way could be found that the parishioners had agreed to drop the bill introduced in its interests at the last session of the Quebec Legislature. This bill was intended to create a new school municipality in the North End of the city to be made up of the English-speaking Catholic residents of six parishes located at that end of Montreal.

The meeting decided to keep on attempting to secure the legislation necessary to remove the grievance complained of. It was also decided to at once proceed with the erection of a building to accommodate the children of those desiring education in English. As under the law the people who send their children to this school will have to continue paying taxes for the support of the regular schools of the municipality and, in addition, pay the cost of maintaining their own school, it was decided that an appeal for assistance should be made to those in sympathy with the movement.

MR. JOSEPH BEAULIEU DIES VERY SUDDENLY

Mr. Joseph Beaulieu, supply officer of the Montreal fire department, died early yesterday evening at his home, 1928 Notre Dame street. His death was unexpected, as he had been attending regularly to his duties, and appeared to be in his usual good health.

Mr. Beaulieu was one of the oldest firemen in Montreal, having joined the brigade in 1863. He was appointed guardian, or captain, of No. 4 station on Feb. 8, 1869. On Dec. 22, 1879, Mr. Beaulieu, while in the performance of his duty at the Benning & Barsalou fire, met with a severe accident, his leg being crushed by the falling of a heavy safe. It was found necessary to amputate the limb, and since then Mr. Beaulieu occupied the position of supply officer.

Mr. Beaulieu was organizer of and treasurer of the Firemen's Benevolent Pension Association, and carefully discharged his duties in this direction.

The funeral, which will be a fireman's one without band or flowers, will be held Wednesday morning to the Church of Notre Dame des Agnes, op Lagauchetiere street.

Galt Association Team Won the Dominion Championship

Defeated Westmounts Saturday 2 Goals to 1 in One of the Finest Games Ever Played in Canada.

Galt won from Westmount on Saturday by 2-1 in the fastest and most scientific game of football ever seen in Western Ontario. The Montreal boys fought under great difficulties and Herald readers will realize this when they learn that four of the team had to play in their ordinary boots and that the rest of the outfit consisted of blue overalls cut off at the knee, light undershirts and socks. The team left Montreal Friday night in splendid spirits and landed in Galt at 12 a.m. Saturday, a matter of two hours late. Light lunch was at once served and then the team learned of the mishap to their kit. However, the boys hunted round, but no boots could be obtained in the town, and the Galt Football Club dressing-room was turned upside down in a hunt for the discarded article. Luckily, many of the players were suited, but playing in strange boots with badly-worn tears is a big handicap, never taking into consideration the feeling of playing in such a get-up as adorned the bodies of the Westmount boys. Some one has got to foot the bill for the mistake and the matter is now in the hands of the proper officials.

The game was rather late in starting, but when the referee gave the signal both teams went off at a bang. Hollis, after a few minutes' play, had to drop back, owing to being unable to keep his feet on the wet grass, and for the rest of the game played as he has seldom played. He showed great judgment in that he refused to be drawn from the well-worn patches in front of goal. Woodburn went to half and played the greatest game ever played by a halfback on the Galt field. He had the famous Brady-Imlah combination played a standstill, and at the finish of the game found time to have quite a few shots on his own. Hughie has played many great games for the Westmount boys, but this, his last in the present season, was by far his greatest. Neville played just as fine a game as he did when the same teams met on the M. A. A. A. grounds, and had Hall held most of the time. Crabbe is a better half than forward and feeds his forwards nicely. Of the forwards they all played well and had hard lines with many shots. Clapp, in goal, did fine work, and Payne's tackling was one of the many features of the game. Of the Galt team it may be said that they were just as much out of it in the second half as Westmount were when they played on June 10. Linton astonished the natives with his display and received a great ovation when he left the field. The game was clean throughout, and the spectators cheered both teams for the many good plays.

THE GAME.

The game was started at 2.45 a matter of 45 minutes late, but the spectators were soon on edge as Whiteside tricked Douglass and shot just a shade high. From the kick, Galt attacked and Woodburn relieved with a nice kick. Hollis missed his tackle and Brady got through, but Woodie forced him to kick past. Westmount came back and Toomey forced a corner, which he placed weakly. Galt went back again, but returned empty-handed, and Whiteside placed nicely to Deans, who was unable to catch up the ball, owing to having received a nasty kick. Galt were now working hard, and from a nicely placed kick by Love, Hall shot among many feet and scored unexpectedly. Westmount seemed to feel their position and went at the Galt boys hard, and Nairn was right through when brought down for a foul, but no foul was given as the referee's view was blocked.

Galt again took up the attack, and in a scrimmage the ball passed the goal line, and here Westmount forgot the Western rule that the ball is in play till it touches the ground. Imlah caught the ball, tapped it back, and Hall had it between the posts while the Westmounters appealed. Westmount lay low and for the rest of the half had the best of matters. Half-time came, Galt 2, Westmount 0. During the interval Shortrede stripped and replaced Deans.

Galt started the game they played in Montreal, viz., high kicking, but it failed, and Westmount started to show the spectators some of the finest combination it has ever been their lot to witness. After a nice run, Nairn shot and struck the bar and from the rebound Toomey shot wild. It was now all Westmount, and Reynolds was showing footwork that made the Galt defence look sick. He put in a fine shot that struck the upright and went for a bye. From the kick, Hollis dropped on right on goal and forced Linton to save. Toomey was most conspicuous with a terrific shot which the goalkeeper had to put round the post, as the Westmount forwards were on him like a pack of hounds. The Galt forwards had now dropped back to assist the defence, and as soon as the ball came out Hollis or Payne rolled it back into goal. Excitement was intense as Nairn again got in a shot which struck the far upright and went into touch. From the throw in, Reynolds passed nicely to Whiteside and he scored with a shot that Linton was unable to hold. This appeared to put more life into Westmount, and they were soon back at Linton, only to find him as safe as the Galt people could desire. Shortrede was now playing a fine game and gave Nairn some fine passes; in fact, the combination was almost perfect, the whole five forwards often playing the ball during an attack. Towards the finish, Brady broke right through, but shot weakly. Westmount went back again and pressed hard right to the finish and had to retire defeated by 2-1. The teams:

Galt—Linton, Ducker, Gourlay, Love, Douglass, Fraser, Brady, Imlah, Hall, Steep, Finlayson.

Westmount—Clapp, Payne, Woodburn, Neville, Hollis, Toomey, Reynolds, Whiteside, Deans, Nairn; spare, Shortrede.

OTTAWA CRICKET ELEVEN BEATEN

McGill Won by 103 on One Inning's Play.

Ottawa went under badly in the game with McGill on McGill campus on Saturday, being beaten by 103 runs on the single innings. Several reasons might be assigned for the magnitude of the defeat. In the first place the bowling of Hill and Baber for McGill was absolutely splendid, Hill getting lots of speed and Baber lots of work on the ball. In addition, Ottawa did not get the very best of light on a pretty badly cut-up pitch, the sky being considerably overcast.

When McGill went to the wicket the ground was hard and true and really a batter's wicket, and Hill and Hainsworth began to get busy right at once. Although Hainsworth played a useful bat, his innings was hardly of the first-class description, he being badly missed twice and taken off a very easy catch at point. The brothers King made the stand of the McGill innings and A. C. King was very unfortunate in being run out when he had a good chance of carrying his bat. Both gave a really good careful exhibition of batting. Hill hit hard for his score of 16, and Sharman, while doing nothing brilliant, kept at the wicket well for his score of 15. Baber and Richards, of whom much is always expected, failed to come off. Johnstone bowled very well for Ottawa, keeping a good length and putting quite a bit of work on the ball. Ottawa's fielding was not quite up to its usual standard.

Ottawa's innings was more or less of a procession. With the score at 3, Bristow skied a ball to Holden. At 21, Lewis hit out at a nice trap ball from Baker and was well held at leg, and then the team went all to pieces until the advent of McGiverin. With Campbell and Pereira caught off successive balls from Baber the spectators held their breath in expectation of the sensational, and their expectations were realized, Baber securing the hat-trick by clean bowling Johnstone with the third ball.

In receiving a hot return from the outfield Hill burst a finger of his left hand, but a couple of balls later had Ackland caught on the outfield.

After Ackland's departure, McGiverin began to hit out, but when 12 was badly missed behind the wicket off Baber. He forced the running tremendously, stealing at least four or five runs, and his 20 not out was exceedingly meritorious. The Ottawa innings came to an end at 48.

Ottawa batted a second time in the wet and made things very lively—Ackland hitting the ball all over the field and defying the efforts of the whole McGill bowling brigade. The score was as follows:—

The feature of the game was undoubtedly the bowling of Baber, who had 7 wickets for 29 runs. In addition to securing the hat-trick he bowled with a surprising amount of "head" thrown in—bamboozling the batters time and again.

A. C. King run out with 39 runs to his credit, narrowly missing the bat presented by Dr. Moyse to the local man making the half century.

PRESIDENT'S XI. LOST.

The Montreal Cricket Club's annual match between teams picked by the president and captain was played on the M.A.A.A. grounds on Saturday, the captain's team winning by six runs. Wet weather made it impossible to finish the second innings satisfactorily, so the match was decided on the first.

LONGUEUIL BEAT WESTMOUNT.

The match played on the Longueuil cricket grounds on Saturday between the Longueuil and Westmount cricket clubs resulted in a victory for the home team, as will be seen by the following score. The victory was largely due to the effective bowling of Capt. Lightbourn, and to some clever catching in the field. Westmount was unfortunate in having to play the match with only seven men. Had they had their full quota the story might have had a different ending.

AMERICANS WIN DOUBLES AT WIMBLEDON SATURDAY

London, July 3.—Wm. A. Larned, the last of the Americans left in the men's tennis singles, maintained his reputation for inconsistency by making a poor showing against S. H. Smith, one of the British players selected to defend the Davis Cup, in the fifth round of their play at Wimbledon Saturday. Larned appeared to be altogether out of form, while Smith never played better. Larned's returns frequently were weak. He lost the first five games of the first set, but made a slight rally in the first game of the second set, but then his play again deteriorated.

In the Ladies Championship, Miss May Sutton, of Pasadena, California, got her most dangerous opponent in the fourth round of the singles in Miss E. W. Thompson, who was last year's runner up. Miss Thomson won the first set by dogged perseverance, but collapsed in the second set.

Holcomb Ward and Beals C. Wright played a pretty match with the Baddely Twins and held the upper hand throughout at all points. William A. Larned and Wm. J. Clothier gained an easy victory over E. R. Clarke and E. W. Timmins, and the same might be said of the match in the Ladies Open Doubles, which was won by Miss Sutton and Miss Morton over Miss Ripley and Mrs. MacAuley, 6-0 6-1.

SUMMARY.

In the gentlemen's tennis singles, fifth round, at Wimbledon, S. H. Smith beat Wm. A. Larned, 6—2, 6—4, 6—4.

In the third round of the doubles, Holcombe Ward and Beals C. Wright beat the Baddely twins, 6—2, 3—6, 4—6, 6—1, 8—1.

In the doubles, second dound, Wm. A. Larned and Wm. J. Clothier beat E. R. Clarke and E. W. Timmins, 6—2, ...—3, 6—3.

In the ladies' open doubles, second round, Miss Sutton and Miss Morton beat Miss Ripley and Mrs. MacAuley, 6—0, 6—1.

In the ladies' championship tennis, fourth round, Miss May Sutton, of Pasadena, Cal., beat Miss E. W. Thomson, 8—6, 6—1.

Shamrocks Were Beaten 12 to 9 by Capitals But Won Round

Saturday's Match Was Unusually Fast and Sensational—A Brisk Melee Added Excitement to the Occasion.

The fiercest melee that ever added unlawful interest to a lacrosse match in Canada, occurred during the Shamrock-Capital game at 'Varsity Oval, Ottawa, Saturday afternoon.

The Shamrocks lost the contest, twelve goals to nine, but they, assisted by the Caps, furnished 4,000 spectators with excitement that wasn't foretold in the small bills.

The most lurid of the exciting features was provided in the third quarter. The champions after reducing the Caps' lead of five to one to five to four, became unsteady and the Senators, who were playing lacrosse, which for them was unusually hard and fast, took advantage of this laxity and rushed in three more goals, making the score eight to four.

Then the fracas happened and it was a whirlwind affair.

Eddie Murphy and Jim Kavanagh were the leading men. Murphy scored the twelfth goal and a moment later he and Kavanagh were smashing at each other viciously with their lacrosse sticks.

Other players at that end of the field ran in to separate them and the engagement became general.

It was a brisk, businesslike affair with not enough love lost on both sides to fill a thimble.

For the time, the players were so many Berserkers and only blood, and oceans, of it, could assuage their angry passions.

Some dropped their sticks, and had recourse to nature's weapons. Biff, bing, bang and a clinch and a roll, the clinging pairs pummelling each other with an energy and earnestness worthy of a better cause.

The Shamrocks, who did not know what had caused the scrap, piled in with an eager zest. So did the Caps who were similarly situated. It was a war of green and red and lots of it.

The swinging sticks, flailing arms and tumbling bodies presented an animated picture. The crash of blows was the only sound that broke upon the afternoon air, for at the outbreak of hostilities, the spectators, fearful of the results of so dangerous a mixup, became as silent as Quakers at a communion service.

The fight started with lightning promptness, and became general in a twinkling. The spectators could hardly realize that a bitter fight was on, so suddenly had the incident swept into their range of vision.

It was only when half a dozen blue-coated, white-helmetted policemen ran across the sward that the stands began to riot with excitement. The onlookers were cooler than the players, however, and though they included ultra-loyal partisans of both teams, they were proof against the fighting germ and their one thought was to stop the battle. They were powerless to interfere beyond yelling to the players to "keep cool," "have some sense," "stop fighting," and certain other things that were more or less intelligible, principally less.

All this took but a few seconds, though it seemed much longer to those who were not active participants in the melee.

The policemen were treated with scanty respect by the pugnacious athletes, and one who was particularly zealous, was rewarded for his trouble with a blow from a lacrosse stick that sent his dazzling helmet hurtling through the air.

On the heels of the police, followed Billy Bramley, Bob Taylor, Tom O'Connell, Harry McLaughlin, Billy Foran, Emmanuel Tasse, Robt. Stewart, M.P., Mayor Ellis, Dave Mulligan, ex-Chief of Police W. F. Powell and A. G. Pittaway.

Their protests and entreaties, aided by the cops' brawny arms, put an end to the sanguinary combat. A few spectators who had bolted for the scene, were hustled back to the fence and the danger was over.

Then ensued a red-hot discussion. The players forgot their animosity in their loquacious efforts to fix the blame. The Shamrocks blamed Murphy and the Capitals blamed Kavanagh. Referee Bramley compromised by holding them both guilty and ruling both off.

He could not penalize all those who had taken part in the fight, for if he had the only people who could have been left on the field would have been the officials.

Two Shamrock men, Hogan and Robinson, had their heads cut open during the mix-up and several of the Caps received painful punches. As a matter of fact nearly all the players wore bruises and shame-faced looks, when they cooled down and realized the exhibition of unruliness that they had given.

When this trouble was disposed of another speedily intruded itself though it was resolved into a harmless war of words.

Referee Bramley ruled that the goal that Murphy had scored should not count.

Messrs. Foran and Tasse objected with many polysyllables. Goal umpire Dave Reynolds was drawn into the argument, which concluded in the Ottawans gaining their point.

After this lively chapter the Shamrocks and Capitals finished the game like thoroughbreds. They checked each other in anything but pink tea style, but they did not employ foul tactics, and the lacrosse they played was so sensational as to drive out of the spectators' minds for the moment all recollections of the fracas.

It is sad to record that the Shamrocks lost, and it is difficult to explain why they lost.

They broke into the game at a real Shamrock clip and rushed and scored right off the reel. That was unfortunate for it made them over-confident, and accordingly careless, and it ginnered up the Senators, who needed some such scourge to electrify them into playing like demons.

Lulled into security, the Shamrocks woke up a few minutes later to find that the Caps had run in five straight goals. That was like a dash of cold water in the face to the champions. It braced them up and they made a desperate spurt. By playing the brand of lacrosse that has brought them in so many championships, they scored three goals in quick succession.

Meanwhile the Caps were not idle, and any goal the Shamrocks got they earned. Fortune didn't favor them unduly, and it was only gilt-edged lacrosse that sent the umpire's hand up.

The score was five to four, and the champions, ever so slightly, relaxed in energy and vigilance. That slight lapse was sufficient, however, to give the Caps an advantage, and if they were slow to avail themselves of it, that fact could not be noticed with the naked eye.

They strove heroically, took daring chances and bored in on the nets with the result that the Shamrocks were confronted in the third quarter with a score of nine to fourth,—and the Caps in the lead.

The fight occurred at this juncture and when play was resumed, the Shamrocks began to show better form. The Caps scored again and had a lead of six goals.

The champions steadied down and made it ten to six. The Senators sandwiched in another and made it eleven to six.

Play became very fast and the Shamrocks aggressive to a degree. Sterling lacrosse on defence and home enabled them to tally thrice making the standing eleven to nine. The Montreal contingent seethed with excitement as their boys appeared to have the Caps going and a victory seemed more than a mere possibility. The home team was practically on the defensive, an occasional rush serving to kill time. One of these rushes however was the real thing, and Gaul beat out Kenny, making the score twelve to nine.

Try as they might, and they did try gamely, the Shamrocks could not score again before the whistle blew.

It must be said of the Caps that they gave an exhibition of lacrosse, the like of which had not been seen in Ottawa since 1900, when they last won the championship. They had speed, courage, system and staying power and made use of all these virtues.

They followed the Shamrocks' policy of getting an odd man loose on the home and then going straight in on the goals. That it was an effective policy was shown by the score. In almost every case, Kenny never had a chance to stop the ball.

Open shots he blocked cleverly, but it was impossible for him to handle the others successfully.

The Shamrocks did not vary from their famous line of attack, but ran directly towards the goal, wasting neither strength nor time in circuitous passing. Indeed, they scored enough goals to win an ordinary match, but it so happened that the Caps were dealing in the same line of goods with a more than ordinary degree of success.

Anyway it was lacrosse that was sensationally fast and scientific, and the spectators were agreed that they had got more than their money's worth, even without the free fight. There wasn't a single dull moment and the incidents came so fast and were so varied that the fans' nerves were kept at piano-wire tension.

It was lacrosse weather. The sky was slightly obscured and the air was warm—a thought too muggy perhaps. Not a breath of a breeze cooled the air and the players were soon limbered up, once the game started. In view of the heat, they stood the pace wonderfully well and the lacrosse towards the end was quite as fast as in the early stages of the match.

The contest had been the week's topic in Ottawa and though the Caps were thought to have a chance, few of their supporters expected them to win. The Ottawans showed their liking for the game by turning out in larger numbers than they have done in years. The main stand was packed to suffocation and the bleachers were crowded. The Shamrocks were accompanied to the Capital by several hundred friends, who were not at all afraid to root.

Every minute the game was in progress, the stands rocked with enthusiasm and each set of rooters had their innings. One moment it was Shamrocks, another, Capitals, and the next both.

The champions' contingent found much to admire in the work of Henry Hoobin, Brennan, Hogan, Smith, Robinson and Hennessy and the Senators followers liked the work of all their favorites but Eastwood, who gave a rather sorry exhibition.

Johnnie Currie played average lacrosse—better lacrosse than most centres could play—but he was not up to his old time standard.

THE MATCH ITSELF.

The champions got away to a flying start, bolted for the Caps' goal and scored. It certainly looked to be an easy thing for them just then.

The Caps became astonishingly active and in a trice, Butterworth, Allan, Eastwood and Murphy had engineered the ball in to the champion's nets and it was 1—1.

Billy Starrs rushed and tried a long shot. The ball struck the side of the net and Allan batted it in. Score 2—1

Allen, Murphy to Butterworth and it was 3—1.

Murphy shot and Kenny blocked the ball out from the ensuing scrimmage. Eastwood knocked it between the poles. Score 4—1.

Allan passed the ball from behind the Shamrock nets to Gaul and the latter turned the trick. Score 5—1.

The Shamrocks woke up and scored, making it 5—2.

Just before the first quarter ended Butterworth was ruled off for striking Smith.

SECOND QUARTER.

Allen was penalized for slugging Kavanagh and Shea was sent to the side for hitting Currie, who had to retire for repairs. Ashfield keeping him company. Shea went on just as Brennan passed to Hennessy, and before he could interfere, Hennessy had scored. That made it 5—3.

Hogan made it 5—4 on a wicked side shot.

THIRD QUARTER.

Pringle carried the ball down from the defence and passed to Murphy who made a quick shot and notched another for the Senators, making it 6—4.

It was only a moment later when Gaul duplicated the trick on a pass from Eastwood, the Shamrocks being two men shy as they where when the Caps scored the preceding game. Score 7—4.

After smooth combination Murphy scored for the Caps making it 8—4. Then the scrap.

Pringle, Butterworth and Gaul were responsible for the Senators' next tally making it 9—4.

Butterworth scored on a pass from Gaul and made it 10—4.

Capital stock was at a premium but it went down when Hoobin scored on a long shot, making it 10—5.

FOURTH QUARTER.

The Shamrocks were moving fast and had the Caps mainly on the defensive. They scored the sixteenth goal making it 10—6.

Allan, Gaul and Murphy bored in, the last mentioned sending the ball into the nets. Score 11—6.

Hoobin was playing a magnificent game and owing principally to his brainy efforts, the Shamrocks added three, making the score 11—9.

Unexpectedly, the Caps' home made an onslaught in which Butterworth, Allen, Eastwood and Gaul figured and Gaul scored the last goal of the contest, the final figures being 12—9.

NOTES OF THE GAME.

Constable Charlebois seized Johnnie Howard when the scrap was on and without waiting to see who was crowding him, Johnnie landed on the cop's eye. The policeman good-naturedly assimilated the jolt.

It was one of the very best lacrosse matches ever played in Ottawa.

The Caps' home gave a stellar exhibition of the national game.

Eddie Murphy was said to be all in, but it is doubtful whether he ever put up a better game than he did Saturday.

The Caps played two juniors, Gaul and Marsh, and both made good.

The teams expressed themselves as pleased with the work of the officials.

After the melee the athletes played as if nothing had happened to disturb the equanimity of their tempers.

The Shamrocks' defence was frequently nonplussed by the direct attack of the Capitals.

The Shamrock contingent was not in the least gloomy after the match. It had seen a brilliant game, and it knew that the Shamrocks led in the round.

The champions won the first game 7 to 2, and lost the second 12 to 9. They scored sixteen goals to their oponents' fourteen, so won the round by two goals.

That both homes were effective was evidenced by the big scores that were run up.

Twenty-one goals in an N.A.L.U. match. Pretty nearly a record.

Herb Ralph sprained his ankle last Thursday and was unable to play. Bowery Robertson, who had retired, yielded to persuasion and jumped into the game. He played great lacrosse.

Howard Stewart should be playing in the Caps' home in place of Eastwood.

As usual, Bones Allen got all the punishment that was coming to him.

Billy Starrs played his first game of the season, and was one of the best men on the field.

The visiting newspaper men were accorded every courtesy by President Emmanuel Tasse, Secretary W. F. Foran, and Messrs. R. T. Shillington, Dave Mulligan, W. F. Powell and A. G. Pittaway, of the Capitals' executive.

Two of the most interested spectators were Jack Garvin, who used to play for Toronto University and the Toronto N.A.L.U. teams, and Tommy Crown, who used to play goal for the Caps. Tommy said that the only scrap which he ever saw that compared with Saturday's was that which took place on the Shamrock grounds in 1892, when the Caps and Shamrocks were the competing teams.

The victory gave the Caps' a great boost in Ottawa.

The Shamrocks took up a great bunch of supporters with them and by the time the game started half the people in Ottawa seemed to be wearing the champions colors.

It was the playing in the first and third quarters that put the Shamrocks all to the bad.

It looked like a cinch when Hogan scored the first goal almost before the whistle was out of the referee's mouth.

And then something seemed to happen the famous green-shirted defence.

It went up in the air higher than a kite and five times did the ball land in the net during that quarter.

In the second quarter things took on a different hue.

And then the Shamrocks played the brand of lacrosse that no other team in the world can put up.

Their numerous supporters again took heart and it looked as if victory might be theirs after all.

But then came the fateful third quarter.

It was the fight in this quarter that practically lost the game for the Shamrocks.

Few saw how it started but in the twinkling of an eye sticks were swinging, fists were flying and players were locked in fierce embrace.

Neither team was one whit more to blame than the other, and although the scrap was regrettable it furnished lots of excitement.

When the air finally cleared big Jim Kavanagh was ordered to the fence.

The times that Jim Kavanagh has been ruled off can be counted on the fingers of one hand, for he is one of the cleanest players that ever handled a lacrosse.

Shamrock defence seemed to feel the loss of Kavanagah very keenly and with Reilly and Martin off, three games were scored against them in rapid succession.

In the fourth quarter the champions settled down once more and played in a way that made their followers shout with very joy.

It was magnificent lacrosse the green shirted boys were playing and they would probably have reversed the score had the game lasted much longer.

The home played beautifully throughout and took all kinds of chances.

Hoobin was back in his old place and there was always "somethin' doin'" around his diggings when he got going. He was as stalwart and as brilliant as ever.

"Spike" Hennessy, Jack Brennan and Hogan played for all they were worth and they kept their covers humping to look after them.

Brennan's playing was particularly good, particularly when it is considered that he had been unwell for ten days previous to the match.

Currie, Robinson and Smith are a trio of fielders which it is not so easy to beat.

Martin played a rattling good game for the fast company he was travelling in.

Phil Reilly played one of the best games in his career and time and again did he distinguish himself.

Jim Kavanagh was sorely missed, when, much to the spectators surprise, he was ruled off twice.

Howard was generally "Johnny-on-the-spot." The way he stood the policeman on his head during the scrap was a sight for the gods.

Kenney had his work cut out for him and he stopped many times more shots that the history of the game will ever credit him with.

Anyway it was a great game and Shamrocks pulled out with two goals to the good.

THOROLLA II. WON STRATHCONA CUP

Noorna Won Two Trials on Saturday—Thorella Took Strathcona Trophy.

The Thorella II. won handily in the race for the Strathcona Cup sailed over the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club's course on Lake St. Louis Saturday afternoon. The weather conditions were fairly satisfactory during the afternoon and some first-class sailing was seen. In addition to the race for the Strathcona Cup for Seawanhaka boats, a couple of trials for the same class, and the Hamilton Cup race for hobo class boats were sailed.

A large number of local yachtsmen took advantage of the holiday and good weather and the lake during the greater part of the day presented a gay appearance, with hundreds of crafts of every description sailing about, carrying the national flag. The club steamer, the St. Louis, went up to the course in the morning and remained all day, luncheon being served on board.

The races were not marked by any features of special interest, but considering the weather conditions the races were sailed in excellent time and the yachts made a good showing. The Alexandria was somewhat handicapped by a new mainsail which was being tried for the first time, and did not make as good time as she probably will later on when her sails fit better. She crossed the finish line nearly three minutes behind the winning boat in the race for the Strathcona Cup and in one of the trials won second place. Several of the members of the Royal St. Lawrence Yacht Club afteh the finish of the last race expressed themselves as well pleased with the work, and the opinion seems to prevail that she will prove to be a fast boat when a few minor defects in her rigging, etc., have been remedied.

Early on Saturday morning there was a dead calm,

Birds Lost Two Out of Three Games in Rochester Series

Dominion Day Contests Were Dumb Affairs and Bronchos Won Both—Birds Took Sunday's Lively Game.

The Birds, thanks to Pappalau's game efforts, actually won a fixture from Rochester yesterday afternoon by the nice score of five to four. Up to the eighth it looked to be easy money for the Yankees, but the locals tied at four all in the eighth and squeezed out the good one just before the third man was put out.

It was streaky ball on both sides. "Pap" handled the seductive floaters for the Birds, and worked all the time, Mr. Woelful again acting in the receptive position.

Schultz, for the visitors, uncorked his finest brands of puzzlers, and kept the Birds busy, yet, by good luck and pounding the ball at the right time, in the right place, and in the right direction, the Canaries pulled up even in the eighth.

Schultz showed signs of being about to blow up, and the ice waggon was despatched for a certain Mr. Cleary, who had been warming up on the side, ready for a forty-five innings game, or any old thing. "Weldy" picked out a bunt, and beat it out to the initial pillow; Meany and Lachance hit to Smith; Joyce drew a violet-colored pass, and "Weldy" trotted across the Glad Square.

A feature of the game was Yancey's hitting—he was right on the spot with his little stick. Once away down by the clubhouse, and again over the fence for his.

Thus the Birds pulled out one game of the three, and the Bronchos go away with two wins, and the sensation of having put in a "First uv July in Canadya."

The Sunday score was:

Atwater Ball Park was the Mecca for hundreds of Montrealers Dominion Day, but in spite of the fact that it was the "Glorious First," the Birds fell down twice to the Rochester Bronchos. In the morning engagement the Colts walked off with the victory in almost the last few minutes of play—it was three to one for the Birds in the seventh, but a swatfest for the Yanks brought the score to 7-4 in the ninth session.

Tom Raub met with a painful accident in the morning game, his finger being split open. As a result, since Gibson has gone to Pittsburg, a young chap named Woelful filled the position.

The afternoon exhibition saw nine young men in Montreal uniforms give a woeful exhibition of wooden ball, with a shutout to the tune of six to nothing against them. So bad was it at times that the heavens wept—but the game went on. At a few critical junctures the locals really woke up and tore off actual double plays of the second to first variety. Four times was this sprung, yet the tallies mounted with due regularity.

Leroy was on the rubber for the Birds in the morning event, with Woelful acting as receiver, and the Indian looked to have the game well in hand until the fatal eighth. With but one run to the good, the Americans sailed into Leroy's canary curves and only the presence of the Arena saved the spheres from being lost altogether. They all hit and swatted hard. Bunched their taps in fact, which always wins. Ten men came to bat, six of which romped along the alley and through the golden gate before the needed trio were retired. Payne, the Bronchos' catcher, when Stillman was on the bench, led off the festival. He made his first hit of the day, a pretty single, and was gayly followed in the good work by the next quintette, all punching the leather on the nose.

This was the finale, as Montreal, with two gone, drew two charities, and found but one hit, thus closing the seance with four runs.

THE AFTERNOON GAME.

In the afternoon the local ball tossers put up a peculiar game to say the least. "Doubles" of the hair-raising variety were sandwiched in between fumbles that would not be seen handed out by the Podunk Nine of Podunk, P.O., Ont.

Mr. Faulkner handled the benders for the visitors, while Felix tossed 'em up for the Montreal aggregation. He had no support at critical junctures while the Bronchos pounded the ball hard and generally safely.

Jimmy Bannon worked in a couple of beautiful errors that did much to help along the landslide; twice allowing the sphere to elude him in a way that caused the bleachers to weep copiously. Jimmy looks very earnest when running briskly after a ball that has gone between his feet—but it isn't conducive to victories.

As a matter of fact the local Birdlings could not solve Mr. Faulkner to any extent. They swung viciously but the ball was somewhere else at the moment. Only six scattered hits were garnered in, and Faulkner fanned no less than half a dozen of Montreal's heavy hitters.

Woelful contributed a smart three-bagger, but died on the corner. Bye the way Mr. Woelful is a Bird and no mistake. He hits well and, barring a little wildness in putting them down to second, played two good games Saturday.

Old "Candy" rose to the occasion, with two distinct efforts, rapping out singles as though it were easy, dead easy. One was of the scratch variety but the second was a sweet drive over seconds head, good almost for two pillows. Then Hartmann took two doubles—yet all the hits were scattered affairs not good to look upon.

Men even got as far as third, and were out at the plate, by the good right hand of Mr. Steelman, and on two or three occasions, the Arbitrator had to say which was which.

But the Birds were blanked as the score shows:

CUMMING WON OPEN GOLF CHAMPIONSHIP

Toronto, July 3.—Rain and foggy weather Saturday prevented good playing for the Golf Championships at the Scarboro Golf Club's links. The Open Championship and annual handicap events were pulled off, the former being won by Cummings, and the latter by D. Laird. The following are the net results in the open championship series. The first three named are winners:

Cumming 148, Barrett 151, Tait 153, Murray 153, D. Laird 154, Black 155, Locke 155, Freeman 160, G. S. Lyon 160, F. R. Martin 162, Bell 163, Brown 164, Keefer 164, Hendrie 165, Oke 165, McLeod 166, Lock 168, Russell 168, Black 169.

The following are the net results in the Annual Handicap series:

The first three named are winners.

D. Laird 146, G. R. Harvey 152, W. A. H. Kerr 153, J. Hill 157, Hon. R. S. Weir 157, H. E. Desvoux 157, W. H. Blake 158, D. C. Dicken 159, A. H. Campbell 159, G. Southam 159, C. B. Labatt 161, F. R. Martin 162, A. H. C. Proctor 162, Glees 163, G. S. Lyon 163, A. Deward 164, A. W. Mackensie 164, R. S. Strathy 166, M. E. Holden 163, H. J. Martin 168, H. H. Hansard 170, J. O'Flaherty 170, C. H. Pringle 160, R. C. H. Cassels 171, G. G. Mackenzie 171.

MR. CRERAR WON TROPHY.

In the competition at the Beaconsfield links Saturday, Mr. John G. Crerar won the Drummond Cup. The match was a 36 hole one, scratch play, and the competition excited great interest among the members of the club. Throughout the day the players were followed around the course by a large gallery. The winner's score for the 36 holes was 184, a handsome total when the fact is taken into consideration that the course has been recently lengthened and made more difficult.

The competition held Saturday was the annual one for the cup donated to the club at its inception two years ago, by Sir Geo. Drummond.

AT THE DIXIE LINKS.

A special competition at the Dixie links on Saturday was won by Mr. Percy Molson. Three tied for second place, Messrs. W. L. Bond, W. H. C. Mussen and J. Pinder.

The Orients, of Point St. Charles, played the Stars, of St. Lambert, on Dominion Day on the grounds of the latter and beat them 34 to 4 runs.

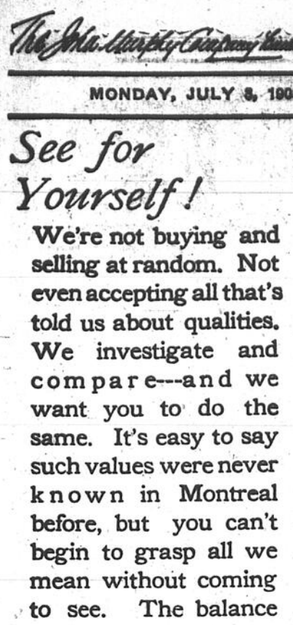
See for Yourself!

We're not buying and selling at random. Not even accepting all that's told us about qualities. We investigate and compare---and we want you to do the same. It's easy to say such values were never known in Montreal before, but you can't begin to grasp all we mean without coming to see. The balance of summer goods are selling now for less, in line with our policy to carry nothing over.



Canada's Woman's Store is Murphy's.

The Fate of a Crown

by Schuyler Staunton

A MOST ENGROSSING NOVEL OF LOVE and ADVENTURE

SYNOPSIS.

The scene is laid in New Orleans. Robert Harcliffe is sent by his Uncle Nelson to Brazil to become secretary to the noted revolutionist Don Miguel de Pintra. On board ship Harcliffe overhears a conversation relating to himself, a fellow passenger, named Cortes de Guarde, who turns out to be a spy of the Emperor of Brazil, tells the captain that he suspects Harcliffe to be in league with De Pintra, and determines that he will never reach his destination. Forewarned is forearmed, and Harcliffe decides to pit his wits against De Guarde.

CHAPTER II.—(Continued.)

"On the ship with me Uncle Nelson is sending a private secretary to Don Miguel de Pintra, who, it seems, is an anciet customer of our house, but is now more interested in politics than in commerce. This secretary is a remarkable fellow, yet so placid and unassuming that no one is likely to suspect his mission. He seems to know everything, and as astonished me, by his intimate knowledge of all that transpires upon the ship. For example, he tells me that my friend de Guarde, of whom I have already grown fond, is none other than a certain Valcour, well known in the secret service of his majesty the Emperor of Brazil. Valcour is on board because he knows the contents of a letter written by de Pintra to my uncle, asking for a shrewd American to become his private secretary, also Valcour is instructed to dispose of the rebel secretary before we land at Rio—meaning, of course, to murder him secretly. This seemingly horrible plot but amuses our secretary, for Valcour has only poor Captain Lertime to aid him whereas the wonderful American has a following of desperate men trained to deeds of bloodshed who will obey his slightest nod. From what I learn I am confident the plan is to assassinate my friend Valcour in a secret manner, for here is a rare opportunity to rid themselves of a hated royalist spy. Poor de Guarde! I would like to warn him of his danger, but dare not. Even then, I doubt his ability to escape. The toils are closing about him, even while he innocently imagines that he, as the Emperors agent, controls the situation. It would be laughable were it not so very terrible in its tragic aspect.

"But there! I must not mix with politics, but strive to hold aloof from either side. The secretary, though doubtless a marvel of diplomacy and puplicity, is too unscrupulous to suit me. He has actually corrupted the entire crew, from the engineers down, and at his word I am assured the fellows would mutiny and seize the ship. What chance has my poor friend de Guarde—or Valcour—to escape this demon? Yet, after all, it is not my affair and I dare not speak."

This entry I intended to puzzle Senhor Valcour, even if it failed to wholly deceive him. I wrote it with assumed carelessness, to render it uniform with the former paragraphs the book contained. These last were of a trivial nature, dating back for some months. They would interest no one but myself; yet I expected them to be read, for I left the diary lying upon my shelf, having first made a number of pin marks in the pane, at the edges of the cover, so that I might assure myself, on my return to the room; whether or not the book had been disturbed.

This task completed, I locked the door behind me and cheerfully joined the breakfast party in the main cabin.

De Guarde was not present, but no one seemed to miss him, and we lingered long in light conversation over the meal, as it is the custom of passengers aboard a slow-going ship.

Afterward, when I went on deck, I discovered de Guarde leaning over the rail, evidently in deep thought. As I strolled past him, puffing my cigar, he turned around, and the sight of his face, white and stern, positively startled me. The soft dark eyes had lost their confident, merry look, and bore a trace of fear. No need to examine the pin marks on my shelf. The Emperor's spy had, without doubt, read the false entry in my diary, and it had impressed him beyond my expectation.

CHAPTER III.

A GOOD REPUBLICAN.

During the remainder of the voyage I had little intercourse with Senhor Manuel Cortes de Guarde. Indeed, I had turned the tables quite cleverly upon the spy, who doubtless imagined many dangers in addition to those indicated in my diary. For my part, I felt a bit ashamed of the imposition I had practised, despite the fact that the handsome young Brazilian had exhibited a perfect willingness to assassinate me in the Emperor's interests. Attracted toward him in spite of my discoveries, I made several attempts to resume our former friendly intercourse; but he recoiled from my overtures and shunned my society.

In order to impress upon de Guarde the truth of the assertions I had made in the diary, I selected a young physician, a Dr. Neel, to impersonate the intriguing and bloodthirsty American secretary. He was a quiet, unobtrusive fellow, with an intelligent face, and a keen, inquiring look in his eyes. I took occasion to confide to Dr. Neel, in a mysterious manner that must have amused him, that I was afflicted with an incomprehensible disease. He promptly mistook me for a hypochondriac, and humored me in a good-natured fashion, so that we were frequently observed by de Guarde in earnest and confidential conversation. My ruse proved effective. Often I surprised a look of anxiety upon the Brazilian's face as he watched Dr. Neel from a distance; but de Guarde took pains not to mingle with any group that the physician made part of, and it was evident the detective had no longer any desire to precipitate a conflict during the voyage to Rio.

I do not say that Valcour was cowardly. In his position I am positive I could not have escaped the doubts that so evidently oppressed him. He secluded himself in his state-room, under pretence of illness, as we drew nearer to Brazil, and I was considerably relieved to have him out of the way.

Captain Lertine, to whom Valcour had evidently confided his discovery of the diary, was also uneasy during those days, and took occasion to ask me many questions about Dr. Neel, which I parried in a way that tended to convince him that the physician was none other than the secret emissary sent by my uncle to Miguel de Pintra. The good Captain was nervous over the safety of the ship, telling me in a confidential way that nearly all his crew were new hands, and that he had no confidence in their loyalty to the Emperor.

His face bore an expression of great relief when we anchored in the bay of Rio de Janiero on a clear June morning at daybreak, and no time was lost in transferring the passengers of the Castina to a small steam launch, which soon landed us and our effects upon the quay.

I had not seen Valcour since we anchored, but after bidding good by to Dr. Neel, who drove directly to his hotel, I caught a glimpse of the detective's eager face as he followed the doctor in a cab.

The whole affair struck me as being a huge joke, and the sensation of danger that I experienced on board the ship was dissolved by the bright sunshine and the sight of the great city calmly awakening and preparing for its usual daily round of business.

I despatched my trunks to the Continental Railway Station, and finding that I had ample time determined to follow them on foot, the long walk being decidely grateful after the days on shipboard. Much as I longed to see the beauties of Brazil's famous capital, I dared not at this time delay to do so, as my uncle had impressed upon me the necessity of presenting myself to de Pintra as soon as possible after my arrival.

Another thing that influenced me was the deception that I had practised upon the detective. Valcour, with the Emperor at his back, was now a power to be reckoned with, and as soon as he discovered that I had mislead him the police would doubtless be hot upon my trail. So my safest plan was to proceed at once to the province where my new chief had power to protect me.

I reached the railway station without difficulty and found I had a quarter of an hour to spare.

"Give me a ticket to Cuyaba," I said to the clerk at the window.

He stared at me as he handed the card through the grating.

"Matto Grosso train, senhor," he said. "It leaves at eight o'clock."

"Thank you," I returned, moving away.

A tall policeman in an odd uniform of black and gold barred my way.

"Your pardon, senhor Americano," said he, touching his visor in salute; "I beg you to follow me quietly."

He turned on his heel and marched away, and I, realizing that trouble had already overtaken me, followed him to the street.

A patrol was drawn up at the curb, a quaint-looking vehicle set low between four high wheels and covered with canvass. Startled at the sight I half turned with a vague idea of escape and confronted two stout policemen at my rear.

Resistance seemed useless. I entered the wagon, my captor seating himself on the bench beside me. Instantly we whirled away at a rapid pace.

I now discerned two men, also in uniform, upon the front seat. One was driving the horses, and presently the other climbed over the seat and sat opposite my guard.

The tall policeman frowned.

"Why are you here, Marco?" he demanded in a threatening voic.

"For this!" was the prompt answer; and with the words I caught a quick flash as the man called Marco buried a knife to the hilt in the other's breast.

My captor scarcely uttered a sound as he pitched headforemost upon the floor of the now flying wagon. The driver had but given a glance over his shoulder and lashed his horse to their utmost speed.

Cold with horror at the revolting deed I gazed into the dark eyes of the murderer. He smiled as he answered my look and shrugged his shoulders as if excusing the crime.

"A blow for freedom, senhor!" he announced, in his soft, native patois. "Dom Miguel would be grieved were you captured by the police."

I started.

Gray Hair Restored to Natural Color Free.

I WANT to place in the hands of every person whose hair is turning gray a free full sized bottle of Mary T. Goldman's Hair Restorer.

I do this as proof—there could be no fairer, surer evidence of my own belief in this preparation.

Hair, as our school Physiologies used to tell us, gets its color from millions of little pigmentary glands. If pigment sap is exhausted—prematurely or late—the hair becomes colorless or gray.

The only way to bring your hair back to its original color and gloss is to restore the natural pigment.

To every self-respecting man or woman the idea of dyeing the hair is repulsive.

The idea of restoring it by giving new life and secretions to the pigmentary glands is quite a different thing—a natural and proper cure.

How Mary T. Goldman Hair Restorer does this and restores gray and faded hair to its natural color in from one week to two—how, without coloring matter or sediment, it will give you bright, glossy locks in place of gray and colorless ones, is one of the marvels of modern medicine.

That it does do this, I have every means of proof.

It is as pure as water—delightful to apply—is not sticky nor greasy—does not stain the skin or scalp and does not in the least interfere with curling or washing the hair.

It is a mild stimulant to the scalp releasing the hair's natural oils.

Now, don't put this down as a mere advertising statement. Remember I deliver directly to you a free full sized bottle of this hair restorer, which in itself is the best proof of what I claim is true.

I ask you to use it fairly, paying strict attention to directions. When you realize that you are regaining a healthy and handsome head of hair you will be glad you took the trouble to write me.

Thousands of women have written me in doubt as to the power of my restorative to do what I promise for it. They have later assured me of their surprise and satisfaction that a remedy could be produced that would really bring the hair back to its original beauty in such a natural, healthful way.

The business world today objects to gray hair. Many men, not only for appearances, but to obtain better commercial chances, have used my restorative and have found it the secret of youthful appearance.

Write me today, enclosing 24 cents in stamps to pay postage for a free Dollar-size bottle and I will send it at once. You will have no duty to pay. This offer is for one week only. Be sure to mention original color of hair. Address MARY T. GOLDMAN, 777 Goldman Building, St. Paul, Minn. For sale by

C.P.R. Closes Fiscal Year; Clearings Make New Record

Clearings for Half Year Show an Increase of Over $150,000,000.

The local market had an exceedingly dull day. A very small number of orders had been received over the holiday, traders evidently thinking it would be better to wait till after to-morrow's holiday to see what would be the trend of prices.

The reports received indicated that the different Canadian railways and steamship companies had a very busy time over the holiday. The officials of the Richelieu & Ontario Navigation were particularly pleased at the showing made on the different lines. Traffic was particularly heavy on the Quebec and Saguenay routes. On Friday night the new steamer Montreal, on the trip to Quebec, carried close to 700 passengers, by far the largest list she has had up to the present time, while the special trip to the Saguenay was the most successful yet held by the company. The little movement in the stock of the company recently seems to indicate that a large number of the present holders secured their stock at much higher prices than those that have prevailed since the dividend was passed.

Canadian Pacific holds very steady, the only sale here being at 151 3-4. The railway closed its fiscal year at the end of June, and it is expected that the company's net earnings will exceed those of last year by about $1,200,000, but will be behind those of two years ago by $450,000. Soo common was strong, both here and on Wall street, selling at the highest figure of the present movement, 124 1-8. There continues to be some demand for Havana, the preferred selling at 61 1-2 and the common going at 15. Dominion Iron common was slightly lower at 22 1-2, and Detroit being in little demand, sold at 93 3-4.

The most interesting announcement received to-day was that Japan had decided to make another loan of $150,000,000. Owing to the large amount of the 4 1-2 per cent; now held in the city, much interest will be shown in the details of the new issue. It is not thought any of the new issue will be placed in Canada.

The Montreal clearings for the first half year are surprisingly large and show an increase of over a hundred and fifty million, as compared with the corresponding period last year. In the first half of 1905, the clearings totalled $627,150,249, against $473,395,317 last year, a total increase of $153,754,932. The clearings for each of the six months this year were as follows:

January	$ 95,249,202
February	88,620,765
March	116,945,122
April	105,099,247
May	112,234,706
June	109,010,207
	$627,150,249

Wall Street Market

Wall Street—Noon—Contrary to expectations in view of to-morrow's holiday, the market was exceedingly animated and a great variety of stocks showed notable strength. A few of the recent favorites, however, were comparatively quiet and made little additional progress upward after the opening dealings. Bonds were firm.

Amalgamated Copper, 82⅝; Atchison, 84¼; B. & O., 114¼; Brooklyn Transit, 72; Can. Pac., 151½; Erie, 46¾ to 47; do. first pfd., 82¾; Louisville, 149⅞; Mo. P., 100; N. Y. WALL STREET GOSSIP.

Mr. Evans, of the firm of E. & C. Randolph, wired: The bull leaders seem to have the market under full control, and are very much facilitated in their efforts to advance prices by the small amount of stocks for sale.

It is said that the market management of the big Brooklyn Rapid Transit pool has been handed to Mr. Keene.

Charles Head & Co.—The stock market this morning has been strong and a good deal more active than was expected in view of the pending holiday and the absence of many large traders from town. London sent higher prices and reported sentiment much improved with regard to the political situation. There was considerable increase in commission house buying, and advances were general, ranging from 1-2 to 2 per cent. in the active list. Some of the strong features have been Smelters, T. C. & I., U. S. Steel, B.R.T., and Metropolitan Securities. In the railroad list, Erie was the most prominent, advancing 1 per cent. further on large transactions. There was a good inquiry also for Penna., B. & O., Reading, Atchison and R. I.

BROOKLYN RAPID TRANSIT.

E. J. Berwind is credited with being the most active spirit in the market movement now proceeding in Brooklyn Rapid Transit stock. Mr. Berwind and Eugene Foss, of Boston, are both extremely bullish on Brooklyn Rapid Transit. Mr. Foss has been for some time one of the largest owners of the property.

E. & C. Randolph.—London prices came over higher this morning and sentiment seemed to be in an extremely cheerful state here. The opening was more excited and active than for some time past and in almost all cases at good advances over Saturday's close. Erie continued its leadership and advanced to 48. Union Pacific sold above 129, Steel pfd. above par and the common at 33,and in spite of these sharp advances the amount of stock pressing for sale was not great. The market has now slackened somewhat but the tone remains thoroughly strong.

Sales to noon on Wall Street, 408,550 shares.

J. S. Bache & Co.—Noon—The market has shown great strength this morning. London and Continent heavy buyers on prospect of early peace, and on strength of agreement between France and Germany. Erie was in good demand and advanced steadily. Union Pacific scored the largest opening gain. Penna. group strong. Reading advanced to new high record mark at 101. Tractions had a typical Monday morning move though the strength is probably discounting to-morrow's earnings.

LOCAL MARKET SHOWED INCREASED ACTIVITY IN FIRST HALF OF YEAR

The end of the first half of the year 1905 on the local Stock Exchange find values generally on a higher level than they were at the beginning of the year. The market was much more active than during the corresponding period of last year. Aggregate transaction of 64,987 shares and $701,590 of bonds for the month of June completes the record of the six months trading. The aggregate transactions for the six months were 623,017 shares, and $2,893,837 of bonds, compared with 262,046 shares and $1,305,516 of bonds for the corresponding period of last year.

The following shows the sales by months on the Montreal Exchange compared with the transactions for the corresponding months of last year:—

Hundred Million Increase in Toronto Clearings

Toronto, July 3.—(Special.)—During the six months ending July 1 the total clearings of the Toronto Clearing House amounted to $502,424,023, being an increase of $122,349,981 over the corresponding six months last year. The reason for this phenomenal increase, said Mr. G. W. Yarker, manager of the Clearing House, could be found only in the broadening of general business throughout the country.

Toronto Stock Exchange

The Toronto Stock Exchange has had a more active six months than it had during the same period las. year. The following shows the total sales on the Toronto Exchange for the two periods:—

	Shares.	Bonds.
Six months, 1905	410,266	$592,500
Six months, 1904	209,193	728,100

Week in Wall Street

The past week has been a rather notable one in Wall Street. At the beginning of the week prices began to advance, and there was an upward movement until Thursday, when the advance was checked by the Russian outbreak and higher money. The trading has shown more activity, the transactions for the week aggregating 3,694,250 shares and $1,729,000 of bonds, compared with 2,236,550 shares and $13,790,000 of bonds for the previous week.

Little Railway Building in United States

The Railway Age says: Although there are upward of seven thousand miles of new railroad under construction in the United States, the mileage of track laid during the first half of the year is less than that for any similar period since 1898. This does not indicate that the total for the year will be correspondingly small, for although the official returns received by the Railway Age show only 1,284 miles of track laid from Jan. 1 to June 30 on 122 lines in 36 states and territories, the additional road now actually under construction as indicated by the same returns, aggregates over 6,000 miles.

Transfer Tax Affects Business on Wall Street

Philadelphia.—Well-informed members of the Philadelphia Stock Exchange say that it is evident that the transfer tax law which went into effect on June 1 in New York, has had a beneficial effect on this market and many of them look for a further increase in business as a result.

It has been noticed that the business sent from New York to this market has been larger since the law went into effect, but it is said the greatest effect has been by reason of the local brokers trying to execute their orders for New York stocks on the exchange here before sending them to New York. In this connection it is claimed that before the passage of the New York transfer tax law many Philadelphia brokers had fallen into the habit of sending their orders to New York stocks to New York as a matter of course. This has now been changed and it is asserted that the brokers have found it profitable to go to the Philadelphia market first.

C.P.R. Land Sales Are Very Large

Canadian Pacific Railway land sales for June were 64,968 acres for $340,759. The sales of the Canadian Northern Land Company were 13,033 acres for $87,088. The C. P. R. sales were among the largest for any single month during the fiscal year, just closed.

SHIPS AND SHIPPERS

Yesterday morning the Dominion liner Southwark landed 250 cabin passengers; on Saturday evening the Allan turbiner brought 105 first and 298 second, and earlier in the evening the C.P. Atlantic liner Lake Manitoba landed 50 cabin passengers on the Montreal wharf. All three steamers reported fair weather and came out via Cape Race. The Southwark reports 18 hours and the Victorian 5 hours' delay for fog. The other ocean arrival was the Pomeranian, of the direct Allan French line which had 24 young Frenchmen of a superior class who intend trying farming in the Northwest.

The Allan liner Virginian made the passage from Montreal to Liverpool, inclusive of all stops and detentions, in 7 days 17 hours.

MARKET REPORTS.

Stronger Feeling Prevails in Local Butter and Cheese Markets

The local cheese market is stronger in tone in sympathy with the firmer feeling which prevails in the English market. In spite of the holiday on Saturday business was brisk at the country boards, a large number of buyers being present and the sales being heavy. The strong feeling was very noticeable in the country, sales being made as high as 9⅞c for Ontario. At the Brockville board bidding was started at 9½c, but the factorymen were not satisfied with that figure and held on to the goods until 9 3-4c was reached. Most of the offering went at that figure. The ruling price at most of the other boards was 9⅝c to 9 11-16c. At Chrysler, Ont., the market was very firm, over 1,000 boxes selling at 9⅞c. Locally, the market is quoted at 10c for Ontario and 9¾c for Quebec.

The market is unusually firm for this time of year and produce dealers say they are unable to account for the condition of the trade. At this time last year the ruling price in the country was from 8½c to 8¾c.

The receipts of cheese for the week ending July 1 were 86,165 boxes against 101,723 boxes for the previous week.

A firmer tone is reported in the butter market. Local exporters say that offerings are being received from the other side and a fair business is reported. Local quotations are steady at 20c for choicest creamery. There is very little business doing in dairy butter at present, the receipts being very light for this time of year. What little is being offered is of very good quality, however, and is easily sold at 16½c to 17c.

The receipts of butter for the week ending July 1 were 33,716 packages, against 33,642 packages for the previous week.

The egg market is steady and the demand continues slow. It is not likely that the condition of this market will change until the fall, and no change in prices is expected. Straight-receipts are quoted at 15c in wholesale lots and 15½c for single cases. The receipts of eggs for the week ending July 1 were 4,220 cases.

Cheese Boards

Brockville, July 3.—Even before the opening of the cheese board Saturday it was evident that the tone of the market was buoyant, and that good prices were expected. Subsequent developments showed that these expectations were well founded. Every buyer had orders to fill, and the auctioneer was kept busy deciding first calls after the standard price had been fixed and accepted. In a chorus, "9⅜c" would ring out from end to end, and it was with difficulty that the winners were picked.

Everetts took the opening bid at 9½c, which, of course, was not accepted. Others tried their hand at the same figure, and finding the price too low, it was given a boost, Webster taking the initiative at 9⅝c. Bissell followed at 9 11-16c, and Webster came back with 9 3-4c, at which price he secured four factories. Then 9 3-4c became general, and it was only a question of picking the buyer. All but four factories were chalked off when President Stafford announced the adjournment. There were: Fairfax, Lansdowne, Warburton and Edwards. The total sales reached 6,269 boxes out of an offering of 6,725, of which 3,883 were colored and 2,844 white. The buyers were credited as follows: Webster, 100 white, 750 colored; Bissell, 337 white, 1,107 colored; Gardiner, 155 white, 65 colored; Derbyshire, 745 white, 680 colored; Murphy 225 white, 220 colored; Charles Earle, 62 white, 170 colored; Dickey, 100 white, 645 colored; Patton, 148 colored.

The curb sales and regulars brought the total sales of the day to 11,000 boxes, divided as follows: Derbyshire, 2,500; Bissell, 2,100; Gardiner, 300; Everitts, 1,100; O. E. Earle, 200; Murphy, 1,600; Charles Earle, 400; Dickey, 1,200; Patton, 400.

Vankleek Hill, Ont., July 3.—Twenty-two factories boarded 1,849 boxes of cheese here. All sold on the board at 9 9-16c.

Belleville, Ont., July 3.—There were offered here 3,220 white and 120 colored cheese. Sales on market were 2,230 at 9 11-16c and 210 at 9⅝c, balance selling on curb, 9 11-16c ruling.

Cornwall, Ont., July 3.—At the Cornwall cheese board on Saturday, 1,619 boxes were sold, 1,245 white at 9 11-16c and 374 colored at 9 3-4c. At this date last year 2,347 boxes sold at 8¾c.

Alexandria, Ont., July 3.—At the meeting of the Alexandria cheese board, 1,363 boxes were offered, 1,103 white and 260 colored. All sold at 8⅝c.

Crysler, Ont., July 3.—At the cheese board 1,078 boxes of cheese were boarded. All sold. The ruling price was 9⅞c.

Lawrenceville, June 3.—At this butter and cheese board there were registered 800 boxes. There were amny buyers present. The highest price was 9 5-16c for the cheese and 19 3-4c for the butter. All sold.

Grocery Trade

The wet weather in the early part of last week had a depressing effect on trade and business was rather slow. It is expected that trade will assume a better tone now as the weather becomes warmer. The markets have been fairly steady during the week and there are few features of interest to report.

A further decline of 5c was reported in the sugar market last week. The best market is somewhat weaker. A little better demand is reported from country points. Granulated, brls, $5; do., bags, $4.95; Paris, lump, boxes and brls, $5.50; do., half-boxes and half-barrels, $5.60; Extra ground, brls, $5.35; powdered, brls, $5.15; Phoenix, $4.95; bright coffee, $4.85; bright yellow, $4.80; No. 1 yellow, brls, $4.50; raw Trinidad, $4.50.

The demand for molasses and corn syrups has been quiet, and prices are unchanged: Barbadoes, in puncheons, 38c; do., in brls, 40½c; do., in half-brls, 41½c; New Orleans, 22c to 35c; Porto Rico, 45c; corn syrups, in brls, 2¾c; in 38½-lb. pails, $1.30; in 25-lb. pails, 96c; cases, 2-lb. tins, 2 doz. per case, $1.90.

Business in tea during the past week has shown considerable improvement. It is probable that, should the proposed standards for China greens be adopted by the Government, there will be an advance of from 3c to 4c per lb. on stocks now held in Canada. Ceylon blacks and green have been selling more freely. Crop reports from Japan report a heavy shortage caused by frost. Japans, fine, 26c to 28c; do. medium, 20c to 24c; do. common, 12½c to 15c; Ceylon Pekoes, 17c to 20c; Indian, Pekoe Souchongs, 15c to 18c; Ceylon greens, Young Hysons, 16c to 18c; do. Hysons, 14½c to 15c; do. gunpowders, 13½c to 14c; China greens, Pingsuey gunpowders, 12c to 12½c.

There has been no change in the coffee market,business being fair, prices unchanged. Cocutas, 10c to 10½c; Jamaica coffee, 10½c to 11c; Java, 18c to 22c; Mocha, 17c to 20c; Rio, 9½c to 11c.

The strong feeling continues to prevail in the spice market and higher prices are expected for some lines. Peppers, black, 16c to 22c; white, 25c to 30c; ginger, 12c to 20c; cloves, whole, 17c to 30c; cream of tartar, 25c to 30c; all-spice, 12c to 15c; nutmegs, 25c to 60c per lb.

Business in canned goods is quiet on account of the attention given by the trade to new fruits and vegetables. Prices are steady at last week's quotations.

The demand for rice and tapioca is somewhat more active and business is reported to be satisfactory. B rice, in 10 bag lots, $2.95; in less than 10 bag lots, $3.05; C rice, in 10 bag lots, $2.85; in less than 10 bag lots, $2.95.

The Coffee Market

Henry Nordburger & Co., of New York, reviewing the conditions of the coffee market, says:—

The world's visible supply is now down to where it was three years ago. The increase in the same during the two previous years has been fully wiped out during the crop year just finished.

The new crop year begins to-day, and it is well to take cognizance of the fact that in the past two years about 60 per cent. of the Brazil crops reached shipping ports during the months July to October inclusive. We must therefore be prepared for a heavy movement to ports during that time.

It will be interesting to see what course consuming markets are going to pursue in order to replenish their stocks to the best advantage, and what stand the planters will take with regard to the low prices now ruling in Brazilian currency.

The work to start the new crop season at a low price has been successfully accomplished; nevertheless, we find consuming and pro-

Quebec Crop Reports Are Satisfactory

Reports from points in Quebec and Eastern Ontario state that the outlook is promising for a good crop in those sections of the country this year. The pastures in most sections are reported to be in good condition and potatoes are said to be coming up well. In some counties of the Province of Quebec the farmers are very optimistic and some of them are looking forward to a bumper grain crop. The concensus of opinion seems to be that what is needed now is a few weeks of dry warm weather with an occasional shower, the crops having already received almost sufficient moisture.

Wheat Markets

The Chicago market is closed to-day and to-morrow.

At the Winnipeg market this morning $1.05 was bid for July options. For October options 86 was bid at opening and later 86⅝ was bid.

Wheat Inspection

Winnipeg, July 3.—Wheat inspections here to-day were as follows: No. 1 northern, 9 cars; No. 2 northern, 27 cars; No. 3 northern, 11 cars; other grades, 12 cars; no grades, 1 car; total, 60 cars; last year, 122 cars.

Cattle Markets

At the east end cattle market this morning the offerings were 600 head of cattle, 200 hogs and 500 sheep. A large number of buyers were present and business was fair. Good to choice cattle sold at $5.25 to $5.60; and inferior grade at $4 to $5; hogs at $6.50 to $7, and sheep at $3.75 per 100 lb.

NINETY-EIGHT DIED VIOLENTLY

Heavy Record for First Six Months of the Year 1905.

Ninety-eight violent deaths were examined into by Coroner McMahon and Deputy Coroner Biron during the six months ending June 30. Of these ninety-five were found to be due to accident, while in the other cases a verdict of murder was brought in. Here is the ghastly list with the cause of the death appended:

Railways and tramways	25
Fire	23
Drowned	21
Suicides	8
Vehicles	7
Derrick	4
Homocide	3
Falls	3
Factory	1
Elevator	1
Electricity	1

Besides the above a large number of sudden deaths have been inquired into.

The three cases of homicide, were that of young Phelan who was killed by his father on Dorion Street, that of Filitrault, a butcher, in the St. Antoine market, who was struck on the head by Gaspard Petit, a cripple, and who died of blood poisoning two weeks after, and that of Miss Ellen Quinn, who was brutally murdered at Mile End two weeks ago. Phelan, who killed his son was declared insane, and sent to Longue Pointe asylum. Petit was acquitted by the jury in the Court of the King's Bench. The murderer in the Quinn tragedy has not yet been discovered.

MONTREAL REGIMENT HAD GOOD TIME AT FALLS

Second R.C.G.A. Was Entertained by Toronto Over the Dominion Day Holiday.

Toronto, July 3.—(Special.)—The second Montreal regiment, Garrison Artillery, spent a very pleasant holiday in Toronto and Niagara Falls, Saturday and Sunday and left for home last night. The regiment reached Toronto on Saturday morning and after breakfast proceeded to Niagara Falls in the special train which brought them from Montreal. Here they witnessed the sights and returned to Toronto in the evening and were quartered at the armories for the night. Yesterday, Dominion Day, a church parade took place at St. George church in the presence of a large congregation. Service was taken by the Rev. Canon Cayley. During the collection voluntary was performed by the Regiment. In the absence of Prof. Wm. Clark, D.C.L., who had been announced to preach, his place was taken by Rev. Dr. Tucker, of Montreal. After service the regiment headed by its band, marched to the armories. They were photographed on the parade grounds and afterwards dismissed for the afternoon. The regiment left for Montreal by special train at nine o'clock.

Rosalie Durocher, a seven-year-old child, who resides with her parents at 86 Beaudoin street, St. Henri, fractured her left leg yesterday afternoon while playing in the street near her home. She is being treated at the Notre Dame

INSURANCE

Mr. Charles B. Smithett, who for many years past has been the popular and aggressive general agent of the Confederation Life Assurance Co., Toronto, has had his title changed, and henceforth will be known as the special representative of that company.

Mr. P. H. Sims is secretary of the British America Assurance Company, Fire and Marine, at their headquarters in Toronto. He was appointed to his present position as far back as 1852 and has continued to discharge his duties with credit to himself and profit to the company. The onerous nature of these duties may be judged from the fact that the company, which is a most progressive one, has not only got a firm hold upon fire insurance in Canada and the United States, but has opened agencies in Mexico and at the leading ports of Africa and Asia with most satisfactory results. Previous to his appointment as secretary of the British

In 1903 he was elected president of the Insurance Institute of Toronto, and in March of that year read before a meeting of the Institute an exceedingly valuable paper on the "Progress of Fire Protection."

Returning Profits of Hyde Syndicate

It is officially announced that V. P. Snyder and J. C. Deming have turned into the treasury of the Equitable Life Assurance Society the profits obtained by them through the operations of their "James H. Hyde and his associates" syndicate. The profits are turned over under the same conditions governing the restitution of the profits of James W. Alexander.

The statement of Superintendent of Insurance Hendricks shows that H. C. Deming made $4,567 from the Hyde syndicate and V. P. Snyder $1,510. There is no string tied to the profits returned by the foregoing directors as in the case of the Hyde profits.

William H. McIntyre, George H. Squire, Alvin W. Krech, Louis Fitzgerald, Equitable Trust Co., Western National Bank, Commercial Trust Co. of Philadelphia, Franklin National Bank of Philadelphia, and the Mercantile Trust Co. also participated in the Hyde syndicate profits.

NO RAILWAY VOTES THIS YEAR.

Toronto, Ont., July 3.—(Special.)—The Globe's Ottawa correspondent says: "There is some speculation as to whether any railway subsidies will be submitted this session. Only the Prime Minister and his colleagues could give satisfactory answer on this point, but the rumor prevails that Parliament will not be asked to vote any railway subventions.
