View from St. Catherine Street of the overall West End Plaza project which shows the roof gardens on which the residential development rises. The office building is located at the far east portion of the site so that it does not shade the recreation area of the roof. The apartment buildings cover only 20% of the site at this level and will rise respectively 30 floors and 27 floors. The small apartment building, not seen in this view, rises 9 floors. Work on these buildings is expected to start in 1966 after the shopping plaza is constructed.

Approved by ratepayers, Council

Construction of Plaza to begin by June 30

After years of delay, the way is now clear for construction of a $25 million office-apartment-shopping complex on the former Atwater Park site. Construction is scheduled to begin by June 30.

Only two elector-proprietors out of a possible 14 objected to the rezoning for the vast project which will ultimately see three apartment buildings, of 9, 27, and 30 storeys rising above a three-storey shopping arcade.

Three objectors were required to force a referendum. The opposition came from two of Westmount's oldest families: J. Arthur Barry of 4215 Dorchester and Reginald Tait Gaunt of 4263 Dorchester, a resident in the same home for the past 79 years. (An open-letter to the Mayor from Gaunt's son protesting the manner in which development plans have been presented appears on page 2.)

Local bookie fined $500

Joseph Paiement, operator of Joe's Handy Store at 3229 St. Antoine street in Westmount pleaded guilty yesterday afternoon to operating a bookmaking establishment. He was fined $500. by Judge A. Mct. Stalker. Police said Paiement had been picked up in late April on a charge of receiving bets.

Large Department Store Planned

First building to be constructed in the three-fold plan of operations will be a 3-storey retailing mall, encompassing a large department store to be operated by Steinberg's Miracle Mart, revealed West End Plaza president J. Eric Harrington. It will also contain a Steinberg supermarket termed "the most complete food store in Canada," and a variety of other stores including specialty shops. The area will be enclosed in a large indoor mall, covered by a transparent sky-dome.

Plans call for completion of this stage to be co-ordinated with the opening of the east-west subway in 1966.

The next stage will see the construction of three apartment buildings located entirely in Westmount and rising above the shopping mall which Mr. Harrington said will provide "a high standard of living accommodation to people of middle to upper income who wish to locate in this key area."

While most of the site is in Westmount, the portion in Montreal — 17.85 per cent of the total area — will contain an office building to rise 15 levels above the three level shopping mall.

A moving walk under St. Catherine street will connect the subway terminus, shopping mall with the bus stops at the Cabot Square terminal, architect Harold Ship explained. There will be parking for between 1,000 and 1,400 cars in the project, in a multi-level garage.

SHOPPING MALL

Shown is the main Mall of the Plaza with a giant sky-dome. In an open area it features four levels of shopping — the subway or budget level, the ground or general merchandise level, the second or fashion level and the third or furniture level.

16-storey building approved City following Bland report in zoning — Mayor

The amendment to permit construction of a 16-storey apartment-office building at Claremont and Western passed quietly into law Monday night, unopposed by a single eligible elector-proprietor. The only protest came from 27 ratepayers, living just outside the area to be re-zoned who presented a short petition to Mayor Drury.

Unable to vote, they declared they were strongly against any building in the area over six storeys in height and regulations which would permit one room bachelor-type suites. "This type of apartment encourages transient dwellers, which appears to be highly undesirable in a community of largely self-contained one-family residences," the petition stated.

Mayor Drury defended council's decision to give final approval to the project in a letter sent the following day to all signers of the petition. He said that council has been "at pains to follow the precepts of zoning for Westmount as outlined in

With the last obstacle cleared, construction of the 16-storey building is slated to begin in about three weeks. A project of the Campeau Construction Company, the structure will occupy a 53,000 square foot site fronting on Western, Claremont and York avenues with off-street drive-in entrances extending through the building.

It will contain three floors of underground parking with a 300-car capacity. Completion date is December 1965.

the Bland report," an overall plan for redevelopment of the lower section of Westmount published in 1960.

Mayor defends project

Buildings over six storeys in height have long been permissible in the Western-Claremont area, the Mayor argued. "I would like to draw to your attention that prior to March 1963 when the new zoning by-law was passed, the existing by-law then permitted structures in this area to a height of ten storeys. Before the new by-law was passed in 1963, the required public meeting was held at City Hall on February 26, and at that time an amendment permitting 16-storey buildings in this zone was given approval by all elector-proprietors in the city.

No opposition

"Since that time, therefore, structures up to 16-storeys in height have been permitted in the zone in question and there has been no expressed opposition to this legislation between that time and the date of your petition."

He added that the city was in "full agreement" with those who believe one room bachelor type suites are undesirable in the area. He said that the new amendment specifically provides that no suite smaller than two rooms — a bedroom and a kitchen alcove — will be permitted.

St. Léon elects R. Desjardins

Romeo Desjardins, QC, was re-elected by acclamation Monday to the School Commissioners of St. Léon de Westmount, it was announced by Guy Picard, secretary.

Now beginning another three year term, Mr. Desjardins, a Strathcona avenue resident has served the school commission for over 15 years. He becomes president in July.

Four-level department store

'Most complete food store in Canada' is set for Plaza

The large Miracle Mart department store to be located in the newly approved West End Plaza will be regarded as "the flagship" of Steinberg operations in this line. Nathan Steinberg said Monday at a press conference. "Our aim is to make it the most outstanding store of its kind in Canada."

No doors on Plaza

The main entrance to the West End Plaza Shopping Mall on Atwater will have no doors. The "air-curtain" principle will be used.

A canopy will radiate heat during winter and circulate cold air during summer.

Large department store

Planned is a multi-floor unit with selling on four levels, including an accent on fashion. "We will retain the most significant feature of our suburban one-floor stores, namely: customer freedom to shop the entire floor and pay at one central cash," Mr. Steinberg said. "The lay-out will include the now popular boutiques and selling bars."

He said that the Steinberg store will be the most complete food store in Canada, including many speciality departments such as a bake shop, gourmet shop and cheese shop. All will be built around a large indoor mall covered by a transparent sky-dome.

Customer parking will be available for over a thousand cars.

The selling area will total 132,000 square feet on the subway level, 121,800 on the ground level, 125,600 on the second level and 100,800 on the third. The mezzanine will be used for storage.

Parking retained

Patrons of the Forum, particularly hockey fans, will still have a place to park when construction of the West End Plaza is completed, president Eric Harrington said Monday.

"We are not turning the patrons of the Forum out of a snug haven to fend for themselves," he said. "Our structure will incorporate a multi-level parking garage of advanced design and we hope to accommodate a considerably greater number of cars in better conditions and with far less traffic complications than is now possible in the area on a hockey night or whenever the Forum is in use."

Entrances to the garages will be located on St. Catherine and Western.

Israeli Art to be shown at Temple Emanu-El

An Israel contemporary art exhibition, presenting works by Israel's foremost painters, will open at the Community Hall of Temple Emanu-El, on Sunday, at 3 p.m., under the joint auspices of the Consulate General of Israel in Montreal, Temple Emanu-El, and "Les Amitiés Culturelles Canada Français-Israel."

The exhibition will be open until June 17, daily, between 11 a.m. and 9 p.m.

Concurrently, an Israeli exhibition of graphic works and woodcuttings will be displayed at Galerie Hénaut, 1430 Sherbrooke street, west.

St. George's School graduation, June 12

St. George's School on The Boulevard will hold its graduation exercises next Friday, June 12, at 4 p.m. Guest speaker will be Geoffrey Andrew of Ottawa, executive director of Canadian Universities.

Resident hits projects in open letter to Mayor

Mr. Mayor, May I register a plea that you respect the rights and feelings of Westmount citizens?

I dislike the way you present your plans as faits-accomplis about which the citizens can do little. I suggest that your plans and projects should be assessed by all Westmount citizens before work is started. If the citizens are consulted then there is no need to label all your projects "progress" in order to stifle criticism. In addition I prefer the Mayor or Council to present future development plans in person, not to ask committed experts to plead the case for you.

Are you of the opinion that the Council should tell the citizens what is good for them or that the Mayor and Council are meant to represent and carry out the wishes of the majority of the citizens?

Please, Mr. Mayor, consult the citizens of Westmount first, so that we too can play our part in the development of our city.

LOWER THE FLAG ISSUE

For all the excitement and debate which for decades have been aroused by the question of a Canadian flag, it is likely that any reasonable design will be accepted by the great majority of Canadian people, and the issue will be laid to rest. All that has been needed is for a leader with sufficient courage to make a decision and stand by it. — Cochran (Ont.) Northland Post.

Expo '67 a challenge to Canada, Steinberg tells local Rotary

Rotarians who turned out at Victoria Hall Wednesday noon to hear Nathan Steinberg expecting to find out the price of hamburgers at the '67 World's Fair were doomed to disappointment — but they did learn a lot about the plans for the Canadian Universal and International Exhibition that hasn't been too clear till now, and some personal comments of the administrator of concessions that blazed a new trail in the role that service clubs and business sectors of Greater Montreal may play during the six months the Fair is open.

"It isn't just another world's fair" Mr. Steinberg stressed, "it is the first such exhibition ever planned for this continent, and is to be internationally recognized by the 31 member nations of the International Bureau of Exhibitions, and is recognized by the Bureau as a First Category exhibition."

Canada's reputation is at stake in this Fair, he said.

"You and I and all of us" he added, "will be judged as a nation by other nations and by ourselves in terms of what we offer the world at this exhibition in 1967."

Taxpayer's loss $47 million

Net loss to the Canadian taxpayer at the moment looks like 47 millions of dollars, he added, but it is expected that there will be 30 million visits, most of them by people from the United States and from abroad. These visitors are expected to bring some $400,000,000 to Canada and in addition the exhibitors are expected to spend between $200,000,000 and $300,000,000 on the site.

Expo '67, he said, is a challenge to Canadians and it can also be good business — and the more we believe in it, the greater the success will be, and the more our enthusiasm and faith will be repaid in coin of the realm.

Speaking of the restaurant concessions, Mr. Steinberg said: "The best in Canada can compete with the best in the world, my job is to make sure that our best is at the Expo."

There is an excellent opportunity, too, he added, for souvenir manufacturers. Ninety per cent of the souvenirs sold in Canada

At Council Meeting

Five policemen are promoted

City Council, at its regular meeting Monday night, approved five promotions in the Department of Public Safety. Sergeants S. G. Hugman and J. Schaeffer were made lieutenants. Promoted to the rank of Sergeant-Detective were Lieutenant W. Pryde, Detectives J. G. Lessard and F. Pilkionis.

Council also accepted with regret the resignation of City Accountant C. T. Williams and appointed T. Slipper in his place.

Mr. Williams joined the city staff in 1941. He has served as head accountant since 1959.

Mr. Slipper joined in 1962 as assistant accountant.

More demolition

Demolition on Dorchester is not yet complete and council accepted a tender of $1,400 from Panzani Ltd., for further work.

Also approved was an offer from Rodger Masson to sell to the city land and buildings at 4227 and 4231 Dorchester for $97,500.

The firm of Riddell, Stead, Graham and Hutchison was re-appointed auditors for the current fiscal year at a fee of $6,750.

New furnishings

Council approved a commitment of $16,436 to cover the cost of purchase and installation of furniture, furnishings and draperies for the offices in the Police wing of the new headquarters now under construction on Stanton street.

Charles A. Delafield of 65 Holton avenue was granted a permit to construct a garage entrance four feet over his actual building line. Ald. Backler explained that the permit was approved by the Architectural Commission and the City Engineer.

We Say Carnival deserves full support

WHAT does the public look for when they go to the Rotary Carnival, — prizes? Perhaps. Or maybe a Pontiac in the raffle.

Some folks go for entertainment, — and some go just for a change, and an evening out amongst the crowd. Perhaps it brings back the memory of some earlier days.

Then there are some who, for some reason, appear to have an inner desire to spend some of their hard earned cash where they think it will do some good for others, and at the same time provide a little entertainment as well. It's even possible most people fall in the last category, believing the community benefits very well as a result of their participation in this charitable undertaking of the Rotarians, their families and their friends.

We published a letter last week from one reader who didn't think he got very good value for his money, and didn't feel the little children were too well treated when they tried the games and lost. The Carnival is designed for one and all, and is intended to please the majority as much as possible, though not necessarily the volunteer workers who surely could find other outlets for their energies at less effort, if the fund-raising didn't matter. But the children need the kind of entertainment that doesn't make money if it is to be in line with their finances. So perhaps we may see some new features this year which will tend to round out the Carnival to suit everybody. We have it on good authority that something new may be added.

It doesn't seem necessary to write here about the Unity Club, Prospect House and the many other outstanding pro-

YOU SAY Charity aspect must prevail

Sir: — I read with some dismay the letter in your last edition signed "F.A." It is obviously from an individual that can be termed a 'spoilsport'.

I have attended Rotary Carnivals in this city for many years as well as countless fund-raising events of this type, and while I do not countenance bare-faced robbery — I believe that an event of this kind is permissible in the name of sweet charity.

Certainly there might be other types of carnivals and tombolas, but they wouldn't raise the same amount for good works, and as I understand it this is the avowed purpose of these affairs.

When one spends of a dollar or a five-spot or a ten at a Rotary carnival, it isn't the Rotarian (individually or the Rotary Club that benefits — it is the various good-work-projects that get the gravy.

I can think of only one way in which your correspondent can atone for the harm he may have done to this worthy cause by his ill-timed and ill-advised remarks — and that is to cough-up the difference between this year's Carnival total, and what the Rotarians might have expected, had he taken your space to boost the event, rather than knock it.

Happy Sucker

jects of Westmount Rotary, because most of the readers are Westmounters and they know. But we take off our hats to these hard working and energetic fellows for their contribution to society, — there must be quite a few who have felt their influence. But they don't ask for thanks and appreciation. They do ask for our support and yours, — to make this year's Westmount Rotary Carnival the best ever.

We would like to wish them Good Luck.

Prefers carnival to campaign

Sir, I doubt very much, as was suggested last week in a letter signed "F.A." that the spirit of the Westmount Rotary Carnival has become "increasingly rapacious" in recent years. I attended the carnival twice last year, first with my wife, then with my wife and children and we all enjoyed ourselves immensely on both occasions.

Our total expenditure for the two evenings was about ten dollars. My son who is something of an expert at the dart board won a good blanket while our young daughter won a small panda bear at the fish pond.

Most of our friends also walked away with objects of a definite value. Those who received nothing more than a souvenir ash tray or bamboo cane did not that the carnival was, at least, a more painless way of contributing to the many worthy projects of the Westmount Rotary than the ubiquitous charity drive.

Overwhelmed I am with appeals for various charity drives, all apparently most worthy. I would hesitate before contributing anything to the Westmount Rotary Club if approached by a canvasser. I am quite willing, however, to spend ten dollars at the carnival where I am given some excitement for my money.

LOWER-WESTMOUNT

Carnival attitude termed 'ridiculous'

Sir, It was quite apparent that the joker who wrote under the nom-de-plume of "F.A." is one of those cranks you find in any community.

His statements were ridiculous and I doubt if he spent a nickel himself at the Rotary Fair. I doubt, from his attitude, that he ever belonged to a service club or aided in any charity work.

He would benefit greatly if he joined a service club, of which there are many in this city, and helped to aid the unfortunate instead of throwing bricks at folks who give not hours; but days and weeks of their time . . . "Service before Self."

E.J.E.

Hon. C. M. Drury

OTTAWA — By this time of the year, most people have already made definite plans for their summer holidays. For us, members of Parliament, things are a little different because there is no way we can tell when we will be through with the work that must be done before a summer recess.

Just the other day the government gave the House a list of items which it hopes to get completed before we can even think of a recess, much less start packing for a vacation. The list contains quite a number of fairly routine items, but even those are given a thorough examination by the opposition before they are approved.

Pension Plan

Then there are also quite a number of major pieces of legislation on which we hope to make progress before a recess. For instance, there is an amendment to the BNA Act that must be obtained so that supplementary benefits to widows and orphans may be included in our Canada Pension Plan. Our new defence legislation, which has been given first and second reading in the House, is now being studied by a multi-party committee, and it is hoped that it will be brought back to the House for final approval before summer. The government also hopes to make early progress with its bill establishing a 12-mile fishing limit and its resolution dealing with the Columbia River treaty.

Other priorities are the extension of family allowances to children aged 16 and 17 still attending school and the proposal to provide interest-free loans to university students.

Your MP reports from Ottawa

The government is anxious, of course, to have these two measures in effect in time for the next school year.

For farmers, there are an increase to the volume of farm credit and a plan to bring forward legislation on farm improvement loans. The government also wants to establish its department of forestry and rural development, and improve federal provisions regarding crop insurance.

In all, the list includes 20 government orders, plus the normal supply motions and other routine items. From time to time, other matters may be brought up and given priority as will be the case this week in the matter of a distinctive Canadian flag.

Co-operation is sought

The agenda is indeed lengthy, but if all members of the House agree to settle down to work in an atmosphere of co-operation, then a great deal will be accomplished. In order to make this possible we are now close to an agreement, between all 5 parties, to set a limit on debates of government legislation.

At this particular time, there is at least one very strong incentive for members to be careful about the length of the debates — the idea that they too may eventually be able to go out in the sun, where many of their constituents will be.

C. M. DRURY, M.P.,
Minister of Industry.

Perhaps our efforts should be directed not to keeping 14-year-olds out of billiard halls, but to making sure that these places are in every way suitable for youngsters. — Chilliwack (B.C.) Progress.

The nation-wide bickering on the flag controversy appears to have brought forth some sort of a reaction from City Hall or could it have been this column? We noted last week that Westmount was the only municipality on the island still flying the Union Jack on its public buildings. Lo and behold, what should appear Monday on the newly erected flagpole in front of the Police Station but the much-maligned Red Ensign. Of course City Hall, Victoria Hall and all the others still retain the Union Jack. The City does own over a thousand flags of various sizes including many Red Ensigns kept in mothballs in a City Hall basement locker. Most of them will probably be resurrected for the Queen's upcoming visit although she will not be coming to Westmount.

It looks as though the $25 million dollar West End Plaza on the old Atwater Ball Park site may be completed before the Westmount Centre Project at Wood and Elm, in spite of a seven months head start by the latter group. Judgement on the legal petition blocking construction should be given within two weeks.

Ormstown Fair opens Wednesday

Quebec's largest agricultural exhibition opens June 10 at the fairgrounds in Ormstown, Quebec, as breeders and stockmen gather to compete in what is generally considered to be one of the most important exhibitions of the year for agriculturalists.

The 35-acre site on the outskirts of Ormstown is expected to be the scene of feverish activity as exhibitors and contestants vie for some of the endless number of prizes available.

A record number of entries has been recorded for the Horse Show. Over 230 entries are on the list for show and jumping competitions, while 81 draft horses and a number of light horses and ponies are also slated to take part.

A lot of bull

Thursday evening, June 11, features the "Calf Scramble", a local reenactment of Seville's Festival of the Bulls, where boys aged 12 to 17 try to catch a calf weighing 400-500 pounds, put a halter on it, then lead it out of the ring.

On Friday, there is a special exhibition of calves sponsored by the 4H clubs of Hemmingford, Howick, Huntingdon and Ormstown, while on Friday evening, the famous cattle parade will be held at the arena.

Saturday, there will be harness racing with a special pony show for children.

For those who enjoy a change of pace, The King Reid Shows feature 20 rides for children and the young of heart. Besides the midway attractions, there will be a ferris wheel and such rides as the "Scrambler" and the "Octopus".

The Show and exhibition opens at 7 p.m. Wednesday, June 10 and at 9 a.m. Thursday, Friday and Saturday, and there is ample parking on the grounds.

New sound June 15 for 482 numbers

The Monkland "482" telephone exchange is getting a new sound.

On June 15, telephone subscribers whose number starts with "482" will hear a new dial tone — the result of new switching equipment presently being installed by the Bell Telephone.

"One thing that worries us," stated Bell's West District Manager, H. E. Walker, "is that when people hear the new dial tone, for the first time, they may call our Repair Service thinking something's wrong with their telephone."

Rotary International, he said, is already active in planning large-scale children's participation in the Expo, through the Service Club Children's Advisory Committee, of which Bill Clark of Westmount Rotary is a member. In addition, he said, service clubs have been invited to participate in planning a host pavilion to receive service club visitors to the fair. By Millicent Hickmore

THREE OF EVERY TEN Canadian women color their hair, and within five years the proportion will likely be six of every ten, according to the head of a leading toiletries company.

"Coloring one's hair has not only become acceptable among women, it is fast becoming fashionable," said Jack Soderling, general manager of a leading Canadian firm.

It is estimated that Canadian women spent $12,000,000 on hair coloring last year and the market is said to be expanding at the rate of about 20 per cent annually.

When a woman uses hair coloring, she's making a serious commitment, therefore, before she changes the color of her hair, she wants to be sure that the product will not only make her more attractive — but that she is capable of using it in a way that will get the best results.

A new product on the market — with the ultimate ease of application — like a shampoo, tends to give women confidence about coloring their hair — and will probably expand still further the popularity of hair coloring.

COFFEE BREAK: Our office staff experienced a pleasant incident Tuesday morning at ten o'clock when the Salada Foods Limited Van drew up on Somerled avenue and two attractive young ladies dressed in chic navy blue costumes came up to the office and served the staff coffee.

Salada Foods, generally known for their delicious brand tea and instant tea, is now introducing instant coffee. The coffee is not bitter and has a most delicious flavor.

SUN BATHING: Each sun bath can now be a beauty treatment. No longer is there an excuse to allow skin to become parched and flaky while acquiring a tan. Elizabeth Arden's recently introduced tanning aid, "sun control," beautifully performs the function implied by its name to give maximum benefits from time spent out of doors. Sun control exercises control, cools the skin with rich emollients, moisturizing all the time it works to encourage a glowing golden color. The resulting tan will naturally be lustrous, for the skin has not been robbed of oils and moisture.

WESTMOUNT COMPANIES

For the past two weeks, most Westmount companies and packs have been busy with special year-end events. Parents attended meetings of 7th Pack (Westmount Park School) and 19th Pack (Shaar Hashomayim); Brownies of 9th Pack (Dom.-Douglas) entertained each other with a play.

Poor weather forced Brownie revels to move indoors for 34th Pack (Dom.-Douglas), also for 16th (St. Andrews) and 66th (St. Matthias) Packs. The latter two packs had combined forces, so for them St. Andrew's Church hall became Sherwood Forest where lurked many junior-sized editions of Robin Hood, Friar Tuck, etc.

53rd Co. (St. Paul's) gave a farewell party and presentations to Guide P. Courtwright, selected as a Heritage camper, and to Lieut. J. Swailes, who graduated from McGill.

34th Co. (Dom.-Douglas) were hostesses at their last meeting to the 9th and 34th Packs, when a large number of Brownies who had won their wings flew up to Guides in an impressive ceremony attended by many parents.

Last weekend, 26 hardy souls from 34th Co. proved their mettle by spending two chilly nights under cool canvas on Ile Bizard. In the hustle to keep circulation moving, they passed so many outdoor tests that they astonished even their captain, veteran camper S. Lerner.

Facilities Expansion
a must

The 18th annual meeting of the Canadian Paraplegic Association, Quebec Division, was held at Queen Mary Veterans Hospital last Wednesday. The chairman, General E. de B. Panet, stated there was an urgent need for facilities for quadriplegic patients who can not be cared for at their own homes.

Heather Curling Club elects Harold Child

The Heather Curling Club has elected Harold E. Child as president succeeding Bernie Lapointe. New vice-president is J. D. W. Campbell; honorary secretary, M. C. Willis; honorary treasurer, W. L. Gatehouse.

In his retiring address, Mr. Lapointe reported a successful year highlighted by the club's decision to move to Hampstead. Current plans call for a move in 1965 to new quarters on Cleve road on the former golf course site.

"We would like to remain in Westmount as many of our members live here," Mr. Child had said earlier. "But it's impossible. The club is in a residential zone, there is no room for improvement and it's difficult to park in the vicinity."

"The building will, no doubt, be quickly sold and torn down to make way for a high rise apartment," he concluded sadly.

Other officers elected at the meeting were: W. L. M. Bonn, ice; J. G. Weiss, dining; L. Martin, publicity; M. H. Stanley, speakers; W. G. Kent, match; E. E. Baxter, membership; L.

W. Kostaszek, social; R. D. Wood, R. G. Fellows, branch representatives.

Tennis instruction

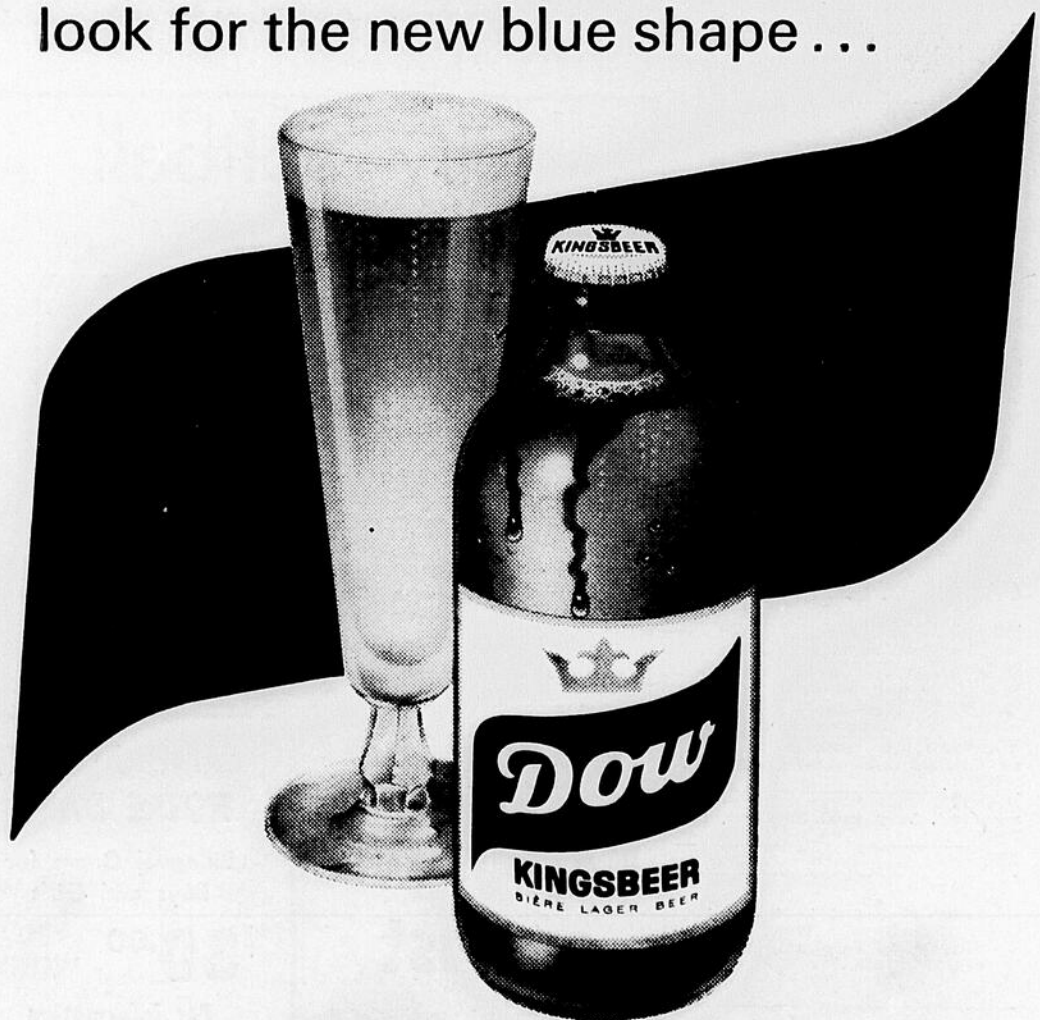

While the official registration dates have passed, there are still a few openings for those who wish tennis instruction during of July and August, the Westmount Recreation Department announced this week.
