Gerda keeps hidden

MUNICH, West Germany (CP) — A shapely German blonde, named as the central figure in a sex-and-security case rocking the Canadian Parliament, remained in hiding Monday while offers as high as $10,000 were reported being made for her life story.

Mrs. Gerda Munsinger, 36, was "in an extremely distressed state after being chased by so many journalists," said press agent Josef von Ferenczy, who said he bought the world rights of her "shocking story" for a six-figure sum of marks. (The West German mark is worth slightly less than 27 cents Canadian.)

Ferenczy said he was considering offers in the range of $5,000 to $10,000 in United States funds for the story of the former beauty queen who went to Canada in 1955 and left for good in 1961.

While she was in Canada, she is alleged by Justice Minister Lucien Cardin to have associated with "two or more" cabinet ministers in the then Progressive Conservative government.

Prime Minister Pearson announced Monday the setting up of a broad investigation into the case which includes allegations there was a security risk involved.

BUYER MUST WAIT

The fact that whoever eventually gets rights to the Munsinger story will have to wait until April 2 to publish it apparently did not deter the many Canadian and other bidders for the story.

Ferenczy said Monday he discovered that the Toronto Star has the Munsinger story tied up until April 2. Originally a lawyer for Mrs. Munsinger said the contract with The Star, which originally located her in Munich last week, would expire Monday night.

Among the Canadian bidders is the CBC, which reported it is awaiting developments in its attempt to tie up the television rights.

HEADS MUNSINGER INQUIRY — Mr. Justice W. F. Spence of the Supreme Court of Canada has been appointed to investigate the Munsinger affair.

Mr. Justice Spence is shown in his Supreme Court office Monday afternoon, shortly after his appointment was announced in the House of Commons by Prime Minister Pearson.

Crown Prosecutor Jean Bienvenue described to a jury at the Sherbrooke courthouse this morning the proof he intends to submit in the case of Yvon Dupuis, former cabinet minister charged with influence peddling.

Mr. Bienvenue explained in what circumstances Mr. Dupuis became acquainted with St. John's chiropractor Roch Deslauriers who was trying to obtain a permit to operate a race track.

At the time, the prosecutor said, Mr. Dupuis was in such a precarious financial position he allowed a bank to take over his taxable allowances as an MP to pay his debts.

Yesterday, speaking to reporters Mr. Dupuis said that his defence counsel, Raymond Daoust could not attend his trial because he was needed in Ottawa in the Denis trial.

Substitute lawyer Paul Martineau told reporters that he would ask for a delay to allow him to study Mr. Dupuis' case.

The lawyers for the crown and for the defence met with Mr. Justice Evender Veilleux of the Sherbrooke Court of Queen's Bench for about 20 minutes.

At the result of the talks in private chambers lawyers and prospective jurors moved into the second floor court room. The press was at this time informed that proceedings would not be halted.

When Mr. Martineau was asked in open court by Judge Veilleux if he was able to proceed

Mr. Martineau explained that as he was only given the case the previous evening he had had insufficient time to study Mr. Dupuis' dossier and asked that the trial be postponed for two weeks.

Mr. Blanchette, Sherbrooke Crown Prosecutor, who will assist St. Jean prosecutor Jean Bienvenue, told the court that although he sympathized with Mr. Martineau's case was already postponed several times; all kinds of arrangements were made. Mr. Blanchette said that he insisted that the case proceed.

Judge Veilleux said that he understood Mr. Martineau's problem but would give all the help possible and ordered proceedings to continue.

The jury of 12 was chosen during the afternoon session.

The members of jury who were chosen by four o'clock yesterday afternoon were told that they would not go back to their homes. They were not to discuss the case at all with anyone, they were told.

Newspapermen were told by Judge Veilleux not to comment on the case while it was in process. He instructed them to report the facts objectively.

The charges against Mr. Dupuis resulted from unsuccessful attempts to obtain a racetrack charter from the Quebec government for a group in St. Jean-Bertheville - Napierville constituency.

Mr. Dupuis represented the constituency until the general election Nov. 8, 1965, when he was defeated.

Prime Minister Pearson fired him from the cabinet in January, 1965, after an investigation into the charges. An official Liberal candidate was named to run against him in the Nov. 8 election and Conservative Paul Beaulieu won.

After a preliminary hearing at St. John's, about 20 miles south of Montreal, a Crown application to change the trial site was granted and it was moved here.

Mr. Martineau was minister of mines and technical surveys in the former Progressive Conservative government.

Protesting discharge of general

SAIGON (AP)—Another general strike protesting the removal of Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi as commander of the South Vietnamese Army's 1st Corps paralysed Da Nang today.

Shopkeepers closed their doors for the second time in three days and most activities in the coastal city 380 miles northeast of Saigon halted.

Gen. Nguyen Van Chuan, named acting corps commander after Thi's removal by the military junta last Thursday, predicted the strike "will die of its own accord." He added:

"I have not taken any severe measures because there has been no violence and no infiltration by the Communists."

At his home in Saigon, Thi expressed surprise at the display of support in his old headquarters. He told a reporter he was awaiting orders from the government and declined to say what his present status is.

Thi, 43, held sway over South Viet Nam's five northernmost provinces in almost warlord fashion. He was considered a potential rival to Premier Nguyen Cao Ky.

The military junta's firing of Thi also gave politically minded Buddhists a wedge for renewal of demands for restoration of civilian rule.

Munsinger crisis rocking Commons despite inquiry

OTTAWA (CP) — The Munsinger crisis rocked the Commons Monday for the third straight day despite the establishment of a broad judicial inquiry into the social life of the German playgirl.

Prime Minister Pearson appealed to the House to return to normal business today and leave Gerda Munsinger to the inquiry. But Conservative MPs pressed for a revision of the probe's terms of reference.

Monday's debate opened quietly but gradually became hot and heavy. Some highlights:

—Opposition Leader Diefenbaker accused the Liberals of spreading "smeary, scuttled, scandal and smut" about his former cabinet colleagues in a last-ditch attempt to stage a comeback from disrepute.

—Justice Minister Cardin staked his Commons seat on the outcome of the inquiry and challenged Mr. Diefenbaker to do likewise. The Conservative leader denied Mr. Cardin's allegations about a security risk and ignored the challenge.

—George Hees, former Conservative transport and trade minister, said he may well have lunched twice with Frau Munsinger but denied there was any question of a security risk.

—David Fulton, former Conservative justice minister, said Privy Council President Favreau called him to his office about 10 days ago and warned that the Munsinger case would be divulged unless the Conservatives stopped hitting the government's handling of the George Victor Spencer security case.

—Mr. Favreau confirmed that he told Mr. Fulton the Spencer case was a trifle compared with the Munsinger affair and other secret files the Conservative had seen. He denied having threatened or blackmailed Mr. Fulton.

—Erik Nielsen (PC—Yukon) said the Munsinger inquiry under the present terms will amount to a "star chamber inquisition" where more than 25 former cabinet ministers will be called to prove their innocence in the face of unsupported innuendoes.

Mr. Pearson opened the debate with an announcement that the cabinet had set up the inquiry under Mr. Justice Wishart F. Spence, 62, of the Supreme Court of Canada.

The judge was to inquire into Mr. Cardin's charges that Mr. Munsinger was "involved" with Gerda Munsinger, whom he identified as a one-time Communist spy.

Mr. Cardin also alleged at a press conference last Thursday that Gerda's activities constituted a "bona fide" security risk worse than the celebrated Profumo sex-and-security scandal.

Mr. Fulton, recalling that Gerda Munsinger lived in Canada from 1955 to February, 1961, asked how she could be admitted as a landed immigrant if the government considered her a security risk.

Transport Minister Pickers-gill shot back that he isn't the least embarrassed by the fact he was immigration minister in 1955.

Mr. Pickersgill asked questions of his own. Was the RCMP file on Gerda Munsinger a security file? Why had she not been granted Canadian citizenship after completing the required five years' residence in 1960?

Mr. Fulton put another question: If the Munsinger case was such a threat to national security, why did the Pearson government wait nearly three years before unveiling it?

Mr. Cardin said he had no intention of blurring out the name Munsinger in the House March 4 or of discussing the case at his press conference Thursday. He had done so under great provocation by the Conservatives.

Mr. Fulton, Mr. Nielsen and David Lewis (NDP — York South) took exception to various aspects of the terms of reference for the judicial inquiry. They called for an all-party House committee to change the terms, saying they should refer directly to all allegations by Mr. Cardin.

Mr. Pearson rejected these demands and called for an end to the emergency debate, technically a series of questions of privilege by Conservative front-benchers. It was urgent for Parliament to return to the nation's business.

Michael Starr, Conservative House leader, shot back: "The prime minister has lost the confidence of this House as far as I'm concerned and any suggestion he has to make has no merit."

Referring to Mr. Cardin's press conference statements, Mr. Diefenbaker said:

"There never was a question of security in this matter." Mr. Cardin, by refusing to name names, had made a blanket condemnation of the Diefenbaker cabinet.

"This is fascism at its worst." If the Liberals had known about the Munsinger affair, and if it was a question involving national security, why had they been sitting on it for so long? Strictly for political reasons, Mr. Diefenbaker said. "To use on some future occasion."

Memories prove poor at inquiry

VANCOUVER (CP)—A judicial inquiry ran into memory lapses from a key witness Monday in attempting to track down the way 10,000 shares of Northern Ontario Natural Gas Co. stock were provided for Mr. Justice Leo Landreville of the Ontario Supreme Court.

The judge's fitness to continue on the bench after receiving a $117,000 windfall from the company — which got a franchise from Sudbury while he was its mayor — is being investigated by Ivan C. Rand, retired member of the Supreme Court of Canada. He will report to the federal government for Parliament, the only body that can remove a high judge.

As the unprecedented inquiry opened Monday, Commissioner Rand had difficulty getting circumstances of the stock deal from Spencer Clark of Seattle, Wash., an original NONG promoter and now chairman of the much-investigated company under the name of Northern and Central Gas Co.

SAIGON (AP)—Another general strike protesting the removal of Gen. Nguyen Chanh Thi as commander of the South Vietnamese Army's 1st Corps paralysed Da Nang today.

Tightened immigration rules urged in commission report

OTTAWA (CP)—The government Monday was handed a 9,000-word piece of advice on ways to close political loopholes in a leaky 13-year-old Immigration Act.

The report by Toronto lawyer Joseph Sedgwick seems aimed mainly at cutting down the number of unskilled immigrants who come to Canada through sponsors.

But it also sets sights on those who sidestep regular channels to enter the country, then rely on political pressure to stay.

Commissioned by the government, which is planning broad revision of the Immigration Act, the report was tabled in the Commons Monday by Immigration Minister Marchand.

"I think the act should state clearly that admission to Canada, either as an immigrant or non-immigrant, is a privilege and not a right," Mr. Sedgwick said.

"The mere physical presence of a person in Canada gives him no special privilege."

HAVE FINAL SAY

He made these proposals. —The immigration appeal board should have the final say on appeals of deportation orders or refusals of visas.

—Provision should be made for appeal of board decisions to the Exchequer or Supreme courts of Canada.

—To be truly independent, board members should be appointed until they are 70 rather than for fixed terms.

—Appeal of visa refusal in sponsored cases should be allowed where wives or minor dependent children are involved.

—Other alien relatives should be left to gain admission on their own merits.

Mr. Sedgwick said immigration has become almost totally sponsored from some areas. "Large numbers of unskilled or functionally illiterate adults have come to Canada through this movement."

The immigration appeal board under the present act was sterile since the ministers could review and make a final decision on deportation orders or visa cases. This left him open to pressure.

When board decisions on deportation cases were unfavorable, recourse to the minister was "almost automatic."

"This practice has become so common that immigration from some countries through normal channels is on the verge of chaos," the report said.

If the minister upheld refusal in a visa case, he was often called arbitrary or callous. Another criticism was that sponsors had no effective recourse to the courts. Mr. Sedgwick proposed that sponsors have the right to take their case to the immigration appeal board, provided only wives or children were involved.

He said the practice of passing special orders in council to give permanent resident status to landed or other immigrants should be discontinued. This had been another area of political pressure.

Immigration department figures would be registered and required to report from time to time said 91 per cent of Italian immigrants are sponsored by relatives.

The figure was 81 per cent for Greece and Portugal and 75 per cent for Hong Kong. It dropped to less than 12 per cent for the United Kingdom.

Mr. Sedgwick suggested that coming to Canada as a means of catching "criminals and imposters." On arrival, immigrants would be fingerprinted before required to report from time to time.

IT MUST BE THE SPIRIT OF SPRING — Trying to prove something or other seven British students, including one girl, wave as they reach the French coast at Calais, France, Monday on — or in — their seagoing bedstead. Equipped with oil drums for flotation, and two small outboard motors for propulsion, the bedstead took off from Ramsgate, England, and made the trip in a not very fast eight hours. After reaching Calais, the seven, from Hatfield College of Technology, once again boarded the "lugger" and sailed for home.

either remark although they are both rather shopworn by now, but we have a substantial quarrel with a man who is so anxious to talk that he doesn't see the wisdom of saving his ace until it will really be worth while for him to play it.

West opened the king of diamonds and the suit was continued until South ruffed the third lead. Then South played out his king of spades. West had learned a different remark to go with the play of the ace on the king and was so anxious to use it that he slapped on his ace with the comment "Not through the Iron Duke!"

The remark was new to West. It

Miss Evelyn Baker was guest of honor at a shower at the home of her aunt, Mrs. Warren Patterson, on March 5, when over 20 guests arrived, laden with parcels and good wishes for her future happiness.

The shower, originally planned by Mrs. Charles Baker, to be held at her home, was changed due to the serious illness of Mrs. Baker's small son.

The dining and living rooms were decorated in mauve and yellow, with a large chair given in place of prominence for the future bride. On either side were the prospective groom's mother, Mrs. Merlin Fraser, of Richmond, and Mrs. James Johnston, a close friend of Miss Baker.

Miss Donna Semple carried in a large yellow basket piled with gifts, and replenished it several times. The gifts were passed around, then placed by the bride-to-be's aunt, Mrs. J. Morrill, on a table at the back.

Miss Baker was presented with a yellow corsage by Miss Ethel Baker, her cousin. Later the guest of honor wore a hat, a creation made by Miss Semple of the bows from the parcels and an aluminum pie-plate.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Warren Patterson, Mrs. Walter Baker and the Misses Ethel and Isobel Baker, assisted by Miss Donna Semple.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. M. Fraser and Mrs. Ralph Fowler, of Richmond.

About Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—The three U.S. television networks did well in the public affairs area Sunday afternoon—perhaps a little too well for the conscientious citizen who had hoped to get away to lime his lawn.

It was hard to find time for such tasks between the information programs.

NBC assembled a panel of particularly alert and probing newspaper men to interview Vice-President Hubert H. Humphrey in an expanded edition of Meet the Press. Humphrey was never more fluent and well-informed than under their intelligent questioning.

ABC had a timely interview with India's new prime minister, Mrs. Indira Gandhi. And both NBC and CBS had special highlights of last week's Senate foreign relations committee hearings. CBS also had an unusual 20th Century program about the work of Synanon, the controversial self-help organization for narcotics addicts.

SPECIAL OFFBEAT — Stimulating and off-beat was NBC's Friday night special, Ballet for Skeptics. Its premise was that ballet can be fun to watch.

Roland Petit, the French dancer-choreographer, gave a short explanation of the basic form of ballet, the classic positions, the motions and then illustrated it with lively modern dances that encompassed comedy, fantasy, tragedy and even a description of a blight.

Danny Thomas' monthly NBC special concentrated on country and western music in a setting which some Hollywood producer obviously believed resembled a barnyard.

In spite of his frequent protests that he was really a country boy himself, Danny looked mighty uncomfortable in a rural setting, even a fake one.

The president, Mrs. S. Johnston thanked everyone for their co-operation in the past year and Mrs. M. Taber took the chair for the election of officers which was presented by Mrs. W. Admanson as follows: President, Mrs. S. Johnston; First vice-president, Mrs. G. Johnston; second vice-president, Mrs. M. Taber; secretary, Mrs. L. Driver; treasurer, Mrs. F. Roster.

Conveners: Agriculture, Mrs. W. Marshall; citizenship, Mrs. E. Crack; education, Mrs. N. Fowler; home economics, Mrs. J. Hawker; publicity, Mrs. E. Wilkins; welfare and health, Mrs. A. Smith.

Mrs. J. Hawker was appointed to attend the short course at Macdonald on May 24 - 27. Mrs. W. Nelson and Mrs. J. Wood were named delegates to the convention on June 22 - 24 at Macdonald.

It was decided to donate prizes of $2 and $1 each on homemade white bread and gingersnaps at Richmond Fair.

Mrs. S. Johnston gave a report of the county executive meeting. A letter from Mrs. McGibbon concerned centennial projects.

Patterns were handed out by Mrs. L. Driver for the Christmas stockings. Twenty-five dollars was donated towards the Richmond County Historical Society.

Mrs. E. Wilkins read the program for 1966 - 67.

The treasurer, Roland Perron, gave a gratifying report and stated that repairs to the church are still under way.

Committees were appointed for three groups: For maintenance of the church, Mrs. Real Laroche, Mrs. Annette Malboeuf and Mr. Raymond Fortier; the sanctuary committee, the three elders, Roland Perron, G. P. R. Fortier, Henry Malboeuf and Oswald Perron.

Mr. VanderWal wished the church much success in the future and the members of the board thanked him for his faithful work and interest.

The next meeting is to be held in the church hall on April 3 at 2 p.m.

The highlight of the evening was the presentation of the All Round Cord to Lynn Rowe. A thank-you was extended to the members of the Guild for the supper.

Daniel Johnson's mixed proposals

An Eastern Townships Member of Parliament of former years, then in the Opposition benches, once declared that:

"The Government has done much that is new and much that is good. But, unfortunately, that which is new is not good and that which is good is not new."

Slightly amended the words might be applied to the Union Nationale Opposition Leader Daniel Johnson who says much that is new and much that is good, but what is new is not good and what is good is not new.

During the past few days Mr. Johnson has come forward with a new proposal. He would abolish the office of Lieutenant Governor and replace the vice-regal representative by an elected president for Quebec. And Sunday he also made a good proposal, that the spending estimates be placed before the Legislative Assembly before the expenditures were made rather than have them merely reviewed by the Legislators months after the money had gone.

In calling for the substitution of a president for the Lieutenant Governor Mr. Johnson apparently is renewing his appeal for the support of the radical separatist elements in the next provincial election.

It is difficult to determine just what he hopes to accomplish by such a change, except to emphasize that this province is determined to sever every possible constitutional connection with the rest of Canada.

A case might be made for the abolition of the office of Lieutenant Governor on the ground that it is archaic and costly, but the fact he proposes to replace it by an elective officer indicates he believes it serves some purpose and the cost of an election would only add to the annual outlays.

No argument can be made against his demand that the spending estimates be placed before the House before and not after the money has been spent.

Under the existing system, all the M.L.A.'s can do is to register their dissatisfaction with the way the revenues have been disposed of. They can make no effort to control the spending, as is the case in Ottawa and the other provinces.

But it is a system which has prevailed for decades, including the period in which a Government of which Mr. Johnson was a senior minister was in power.

Space research could pay its cost

When the space scientists and those interested in faraway places, such as the moon and Venus, get tired of talking in millions of miles and hundreds of light years — and the billions of dollars involved — they might get more down to earth.

One of the greatest worries of many people today is the way in which man appears losing the race between population and resources.

Despite the expenditure of large sums by democracies to improve the economy of the more backward nations, the reports are consistently pessimistic. Especially in India and South America the gains in productivity are being more than offset by the expansion of population, with the result that on a per capita basis these countries are producing less than they did 10 or 15 years ago.

But even the more developed and prosperous lands are facing problems, such as water shortages in populous areas and the exhaustion of mineral resources.

Dr. Peter Castruccio, director of the IBM Federal Systems Division's advanced space program, has suggested that the diversion of a portion of the satellite activity to earthy problems might be of inestimable benefit to mankind.

Besides the much-talked-about possibilities of forecasting and controlling weather, Dr. Castruccio believes satellites could:

Discover tillable land below them as they scanned the world in their orbits;

Conduct geological surveys to locate new sources of fuel and minerals;

Examine crops by means of infrared techniques to spot diseases which are invisible from the ground;

Map the seas, locating concentrations of fish and edible seaweed;

Map snowfields and glaciers as possible sources of water and also detect underground schemes, which are estimated to carry 3,000 times as much water as known surface rivers.

Any one of the satellite services proposed by the doctor could more than repay that vast investment that has been made in space research.

Commissions undermining judiciary

The spate of judicial inquiries which have been ordered into almost every phase of Canadian life during the past few months may result in a breakdown of the administration of justice in this country.

Frequent complaints have been made by the legal profession that much of the delay in hearing cases has been the lack of judges to hear the evidence. Even under ordinary conditions the judges claim, and the lawyers agree, that they are overworked. Periodically demands are made for the appointment of additional judges to hear the backlog of trials.

But while it is apparent that judicial processes have become unduly delayed, governments have seen fit to withdraw judges from their ordinary duties to head Royal or judicial inquiries into such matters as railway operations, dubious land deals etc.

Within the past few days the federal government has assigned an Ontario

Supreme Court judge to investigate the Spencer case. Monday it placed the Mun-singer fracas in the hands of a Supreme Court of Canada justice and within a week a justice will be named to investigate the whole question of security.

The inevitable result is that the ordinary business of the courts must be further delayed.

Furthermore the wholesale appointment of judicial commissions tends to place the judiciary itself in disrepute.

Many of these inquiries are designed to serve some political end, the most common being to keep some embarrassing question under wraps.

When, after long inquiry, a judge does make a report, his findings are subject to such criticism from some of the parties involved that his independence and fair-mindedness may come under serious question.

Once judicial inquiries were regarded as an impartial means of finding out the facts. Today they have become a joke.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Anne Hutchinson was banished from Massachusetts colony for opposing the authority of the clergy 328 years ago today—in 1638—and went to Rhode Island where she and her colleagues founded a settlement. The Hutchinson case's documents all concern religion but the affair seems to have been one of politics. The Hutchinson party (which included the governor) was opposed to clergymen ruling all the colony's life under the belief they were following God's direct orders. The governor was replaced at the next election and the dissenters were expelled from the community.

First World War
Fifty years ago today—in 1916 — Austro-Hungary declared war on Portugal; French units at Verdun counter-attacked; Allied aircraft bombed the Krupp

Second World War
Twenty-five years ago today—in 1941 — Canadian hardrock miners arrived at Gibraltar to expand the tunnel defence system; neutral sources reported thousands of British troops were landing at Greek ports; Richard C. Hottel, a United States reporter, was arrested in Berlin on suspicion of espionage.

"REVERSE ENGINES!"

Now he's in command

Dean's diplomacy of dullness pays, not in peace, but power

WASHINGTON — (TNS) — For more than six hours millions of Americans watched the grilling of Dean Rusk by the Senate Foreign Relations Committee.

TV camera lights baked down on the Secretary of State's broad balding pate and bland, undistinguished face. Senators nibbled and tore at him hour after hour, but he never lost his almost-Oriental composure. Although a chain smoker, he didn't light a cigarette.

Patience, over and again, he repeated the things he has been saying for months—that the United States is in Vietnam to resist outside aggression; that it seeks peace but won't abandon its ally.

DISBELIEVERS
He gritted his teeth when the chief "dove" Senator J. William Fulbright put it to him that the reason America's friends were staying out of the war in doves was that they didn't believe what the U.S. leaders said.

Then he went calmly on with the same old story, the same old haskeyed phrases. Rusk believes in the diplomacy of dullness. He obviously dislikes the dramatic gestures beloved of Lyndon Johnson. Foreign relations is a matter for quiet level-headed men and peace can come only through long, aching, boring discussions.

'ASBESTOS PANTS'
For his endurance in endless conferences with another extremely patient man, Russia's Andrei Gromyko, he earned the nickname "asbestos pants."

Last week, Rusk's patience paid off, not in peace, but in personal reward. Johnson reshuffled his foreign policy machinery, putting the Secretary of State in overall command of everything but actual military operations.

So long as the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces build up in South Vietnam the U.S. will pour in more men. The bombing of North Vietnam has reached a new peak of fury.

For years Rusk had suffered silently through a spate of rumors that he was on his way out. Historian Arthur Schlesinger wrote that John Kennedy was about to fire him when he was assassinated. Recently one newspaper after another has reported that L.B.J. planned to dump him.

Defense Secretary Robert McNamara and White House adviser McGeorge Bundy were said to be making the real foreign policy. Now Bundy is out of the government, his "little state department" in the White House basement has been closed and the President says "Mr. Rusk is first in the Cabinet and first with me."

UNEMOTIONAL
The Secretary received the news the way he faced the Senators, the Russians and everyone else—unemotionally.

He has been in office five years now under two presidents and he has seen policies come and go. He believes, with Harry Truman that "the President makes foreign policy" and is prepared to advise, interpret and run his vast department according to that creed.

In the past year, he has appeared to change from dove to hawk on Vietnam policy. Sen. Stephen Young said he'd sleep better at night if Johnson would dismiss this "war-hawk."

But the change merely reflects the change in Johnson and changes in the war, which has a momentum of its own.

It is not an all-out war, but neither is it strictly a limited war.

So long as the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese forces build up in South Vietnam the U.S. will pour in more men. The bombing of North Vietnam has reached a new peak of fury.

NOT TOTAL VICTORY

The U.S. says it's not out for total victory and doesn't want permanent bases in Southeast Asia. Yet it supports General Ky, the South Vietnamese leader who refuses to have any dealings with the Viet Cong and it is building large, very permanent-looking bases.

Rusk defends this by trying to simplify it — "if only they (the North Vietnamese) would stop doing what they're doing we could have peace tomorrow."

"We will not give them South Vietnam — that's what the war is all about."

The more he is prodded on the hideous complexities of the situation, the more he tends to fall back on these one-liners.

In the wider field of policy he sees another simple truth — the U.S. stopped Soviet expansion in Europe by containment through a ring of allies and the threat of a big war; the same thing can be done with China.

REMAIN ALONE

He failed to convince the European allies of this — they see no parallel between the cold war in the developed West and a guerrilla action by poorly-armed peasants in the chaotic Far East. So the U.S. remains for practical purposes alone in Vietnam.

But Dean Rusk plods ahead, ignoring setbacks. He is unlikely ever to get the absolute control of foreign policy that John Foster Dulles exercised under Eisenhower. L.B.J. is too strong a President and too fond of power for that.

However, Rusk, son of a Georgia sharecropper, Rhodes Scholar and professor is now as powerful as the L.B.J. system permits. His patient wait paid off.

WATERLOO — In keeping with Education Week, the teachers, students with their parents and friends joined in an impressive church service on Wednesday afternoon in St. Paul's United Church.

Rev. E. D. Mitchell was in charge and was assisted by Choral Dean Harry Andrews of St. Luke's, who delivered one of the addresses to the congregation.

Rev. Andrews spoke briefly on "A pin" and compared how a child can favorably take some features of a straight pin and at the same time better himself. But always taking care not to become rusty or lose the point, the speaker stated.

Rev. E. D. Mitchell in his talk outlined the ten point program for better citizenship, for better scholars, and for a better community.

The PRAYER FOR TODAY from The Upper Room.

The sacrifice acceptable to God is a broken spirit: a broken and contrite heart, O God, thou wilt not despise (Psalm 51:17, RSV).

PRAYER: O God, our Father, take the bits and pieces of our lives and use them as Thou wilt. Fit them into Thy design. Touch our imperfections with Thy perfection, so that we may render our best to Thee. In the name of Christ, who takes away our sin. Amen.

Suddenly, he was irresistible

By GORDON DONALDSON

WASHINGTON — (TNS) — Last month Ralph Nader, a 31-year-old bachelor lawyer who leads a quiet, dedicated sort of life, suddenly discovered an uncanny power over women.

Shapely, strange but apparently respectable young ladies sidled up to him and tried to lure him into their apartments. At the same time, a private detective was asking his friends if he was a homosexual.

Other detectives, apparently from different agencies, followed him on the streets, on planes and through the Senate office building. There were so many that one private eye complained they were tumbling over one another.

The phone in Nader's Washington apartment rang at odd hours. The callers hung up when he answered. One night the calls went on until 4 a.m. he slept in and nearly missed his appearance before the Senate sub-committee on automobile safety that morning.

THE BOOK

All this took place in the last six weeks, after Nader published a book called Unsafe at Any Speed documenting his case that American cars are unnecessary dangerous and Detroit deliberately makes them that way because safety won't sell.

He put his views to the Senate committee and stirred up so much controversy that the government may now be getting somewhere in its long-delayed highway safety program.

Nader suspected who was shadowing him — the men from Detroit. And after Senator Ribicoff had asked the Justice Department to find out, General Motors admitted that it ordered an investigation of Nader through a Washington law firm.

The GM statement said: The investigation was prompted by Mr. Nader's extreme criticism of the Corvair in his writings, press conferences, TV and other appearances."

THE DENIAL

GM denied harassment or intimidation. It merely wanted to find out Nader's connections with attorneys who handled damage suits against GM by people hurt in Corvairs.

It is not yet known who set the other sleuths on to Nader. The Justice Department has not yet replied to Ribicoff.

But GM's admission was enough to raise a howl of shock and amazement from Senator Gaylord Nelson, a car safety enthusiast. "This could be a real threat to the democratic process and possibly constitutes contempt of Congress."

GM has been called before the sub-committee to explain itself March 22.

Nader's approach to the safety problem is so revolutionary that it's surprising only his sex life has been investigated and no one has yet called him a Communist.

He charges the "professionals" of the National Safety Council are in league with the automakers to convince the driver that he, not his car, causes the carnage on the roads. The safety establishment is a propaganda agency diverting attention from Detroit's sins, he says.

About 1,000 Americans die on the roads each week — 10 times more than are killed in Vietnam.

Nader says 75 per cent of these deaths are caused by bad car design. He cites weak body work, deadly

The voluntary examination was ordered allowing the accused time to provide further testimony on their behalf if it was available.

The preliminary hearings of the two women were held Monday afternoon on charges

Announce New Healing Substance: Shrinks Piles

Exclusive healing substance proven to shrink hemorrhoids and repair damaged tissue.

A renowned research institute has found a unique healing substance with the ability to shrink hemorrhoids painlessly. It relieves itching and discomfort in minutes and speeds up healing of the injured, inflamed tissue.

In case after case, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction (shrinkage) took place.

Most important of all—results were so thorough that this improvement was maintained over a period of many months.

This was accomplished with a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne) which quickly helps heal injured cells and stimulates growth of new tissue.

Now Bio-Dyne is offered in ointment and suppository form called Preparation H. Ask for it at all drug stores. Satisfaction or your money refunded.

Second Kyling found burrowed under coal

By JAMES McALLISTER (Record Staff Reporter)

PHILIPSBURG—The words, "I've found him," shouted by a Ste. Martine Quebec Provincial constable, the same man who set off the manhunt for three men, last Monday indicated the search had ended with the capture of Werner Kyling, 23.

The site was an old abandoned mansion owned by Judge Montgomery, of Montreal.

Werner, his brother Karl, captured in his Bedford home Thursday noon and Anthony "Tony" Miller captured Monday are wanted by police in connection with wounding a policeman during a gun battle Monday afternoon near Valleyfield.

Men of their description were seen in nearby Russell town by Constable Bernard Pauze of the Ste. Martine QPP Monday. He became suspicious of the car parked in town and approached the vehicle to question those inside.

As he approached the vehicle the driver took off at breakneck speed. By radio Constable Pauze alerted two companions patrolling the area and the chase was on.

Werner was arraigned Saturday at Valleyfield on a charge of attempted murder in connection with wounding Constable Leopold Bergevin, Bergevin of the Ste. Martine QPP lost a finger when three suspects fired on police at a roadblock, about 45 miles southwest of Montreal.

Werner is also charged with car theft, possession of illegal weapons and reckless driving, as are his companions.

Karl Kyling is to appear this afternoon before the Valleyfield court to answer to the charges on which he was arraigned Friday. Anthony Miller is in Valleyfield prison awaiting his hearing on March 22.

Karl Boomhower and two girls, associates of the Kylings, are in prison and are expected to be heard in the Sweetsburg Ward court today on charges of complicity after-the-fact involving aid given to Karl.

Werner was captured at 12:15 a.m. Saturday morning after he burrowed into a pile of coal in the cellar of a 60-year-old vacant house owned by Judges Montgomery of Montreal. The large eight-room house has been unoccupied for several years, except for an occasional hardy summer vacationer to whom the Judge has rented the place. The three-story, green-shuttered house only contained a bed or two, old bureaus and possibly pots and pans.

Werner was captured unarmed and without putting up a fight, police said.

Following the receipt of two telephone calls in the early

MANHUNT ENDED HERE

—The five-day manhunt for Werner Kyling, 23, of Bedford, wanted by police on a charge of attempted murder, involving the wounding of a Ste. Martine Quebec Provincial Police constable last Monday afternoon ended in this old abandoned mansion on the shores of beautiful Lake Champlain at Phillipsburg near the American border, Friday night. The arrest followed a telephone call from a villager wishing to remain anonymous, saying he was there. He had food and water for several days. A bill was found on Kyling, indicating that he had purchased the food himself or through the aid of a friend in the area. The arrow points to the cellar entrance where he was discovered by police. Broken windows indicate where police fired tear gas and smoke bombs into the house. (Record photo by Studio Eclair)

THE MARKET TODAY (Greenshields Ltd.)

Record consolidated net earnings of more than $36 million are reported by Noranda Mines Ltd. for the year ended Dec. 31, 1965, an increase of 12% over 1964. Earnings of $3.06 per share were up from $2.76. The world shortage of copper resulting in rising prices contributed to improved earnings, but these were somewhat offset by slightly lower metal production and higher exploration and operating costs.

Sales and earnings of Horne and Pittfield Foods Ltd. in the current fiscal year are well ahead of 1964-65. For the 40 weeks ended Jan. 15, 1966 sales increased 10% to $35,421,393 and net profit 42% to $4,065,514 (22.7¢ a share) from $32,226,386 and $2,886,396 (16¢ a share) respectively, for the same period of the year ended April 10, 1965. Balance of the current fiscal year is expected to record continued improvement in sales and earnings.

David Quigley, another associate of the Kylings, is a part-time resident of Phillipsburg, where his mother has a home and he was seen in town Friday afternoon according to a local store owner. He is presently under suspect by Cowansville QPP.

Quigley was pulled in by St. Jean QPP Wednesday for questioning. He denied giving the brothers any aid and was released.

A stolen car, used by the brothers, was found by police Thursday last week in Phillipsburg at a garage, police said.

The Kyling brothers were known by Phillipsburg residents to be top athletes. Werner, said residents, was quite a water skier, spending much of the summer at Missisquoi Bay. At the village, Karl, 26, and Werner, 23, owned a cabin cruiser with a 100-h.p. motor.

Werner was an amateur pilot and kept a seaplane at the bay. He also had a broken-down racehorse, said Chief Perron, and during the winter kept several Bluebonnet race horses in a barn on the St. Armand Road, Phillipsburg. A truck from the Montreal race-track Friday morning came to Phillipsburg and returned the animals; they hadn't been fed for a few days, said Chief Perron.

The boys also owned an expensive Thunderbird car with a motor reconstructed by Werner for high speed and easy maneuvering. A garage was owned by Karl on his land in Bedford, though this garage had not served as a commercial enterprise for some years.

Several policemen put on gas masks and entered the house. Soon after the black-grimed Werner was found by Constable Bernard Pauze of the Ste. Martine QPP under a pile of coal.

Werner gave police no resistance. He was not armed.

THE QUEBEC SCENE

Quebec (CP)—Quebec Superior Court issued an interim injunction Monday restraining the Quebec Government Teachers Union (CNTU) from striking March 16.

Mr. Justice Frederic Dorion set March 28 as the date on which arguments will be heard for the issue of an interlocutory injunction.

The government-employed teachers are negotiating with the government to get their first collective agreement.

The union said Tuesday 2,500 members would strike March 16 if no settlement had been reached.

Mr. Justice Dorion said the threatened strike would deprive some 30,000 students of teaching, to which they have a right.

"The academic year is coming to an end and the numerous pupils in the many schools concerned must soon sit examinations needed to get their certificates and diplomas."

A strike would be a hostile act by the teachers against the provisions of the law affecting the civil service and laws governing the teaching of special subjects in Quebec.

The justice ordered the union not to strike Wednesday and to revoke all orders and directives to its members to strike.

The union represents all teachers directly employed by the government in technical, fine arts and agricultural schools and as professors in some teachers' colleges.

QUEBEC (CP)—The Quebec health department said Monday the incidence of dysentery and the rare disease trichinosis increased in the province during January.

Although no figures were released, the department said there had been "quite a strong increase" in the number of these diseases.

The statement said health department doctors "have been able to trace the sources of con-

| Record consolidated net earnings of more than $36 million are reported by Noranda Mines Ltd. for the year ended Dec. 31, 1965, an increase of 12% over 1964. Earnings of $3.06 per share were up from $2.76. The world shortage of copper resulting in rising prices contributed to improved earnings, but these were somewhat offset by slightly lower metal production and higher exploration and operating costs.                                         |  |
| Sales and earnings of Horne and Pittfield Foods Ltd. in the current fiscal year are well ahead of 1964-65. ## Anglican Guild and W.A., Waterloo vote unanimously to amalgamate

WATERLOO — At a joint meeting of the W. A. and St. Hilda's Guild of St. Luke's Anglican Church, on March 9, the ladies voted unanimously to amalgamate into one group.

Preceding the joint meeting the ladies attended an Evening service in the church, conducted by Clifford Worden, then the W. A. and Guild held their regular monthly meetings separately.

Heading off the joint meeting was a report from Mrs. G. MacIntosh on the committee to discuss amalgamation of the two groups.

Mrs. MacIntosh reported the decisions of the committee as follows: That all women, of all ages, of the parish, should be included as part of the new church women's group to be formed even if they should not actively participate.

On this line, a card index will be kept of all these women, who will at some future date, be polled on various questions. The committee reported on their decision to have a central executive and establishment of various committees under the headings of such things as entertainment, missions, social service, etc.

At the W. A. meeting earlier, a letter from Dorcas headquarters was read, notifying the group of changes made for the annual Dorcas parcel from each parish.

The members of St. Hilda's Guild were reminded at their meeting to start putting clothing and other articles aside for the May rummage sales.

Reports were heard at the joint meeting from five ladies of the parish, who had attended the Bishop's conference at Anglican House, Montreal. Mrs. Katie Marsh, Mrs. Catherine Lawrence, Mrs. Ola Streeter, Mrs. Bernice Champagne and Mrs. Benita Hughes gave their impressions and ideas on what had been discussed there.

Bedford parents hear talk on regional school

BEDFORD — A Parent's Night was held at the High School March 9 to mark Education Week at which there was the annual art concert, with entries from all the grades.

This was followed by a talk by the principal, J. W. Dawson, about the Regional School which will be built at Cowansville. Grades Seven to Eleven will attend this school after its completion, and our school will become an elementary school, where most children will go for six years, with a few pupils attending for seven years, but none longer.

The position of a pupil in the Regional School will be determined by his performance in the elementary school. A great variety of courses will be offered, some of which Mr. Dawson mentioned. The program in the Regional School will be quite different, with some very large groups working together, and some very small groups as well.

Approximately 40 percent of the time will be spent in individual work, 40 per cent with teachers, and the remaining 20 percent will be a combination of the two. Aides will be used to do many of the routine chores now performed by teachers.

Following Mr. Dawson's talk, the finals for the Junior and Elementary Public speaking were held. Their were four speakers in the first group, Carol Norris, R. Smith, M. Kuhn, and Monique Gasser, the winners being R. Smith and M. Gasser. There were six speakers in the Intermediate group, L. Lippert, M. Kuhn, Leah Bradshaw, Andrew McKin, R. Marshall, and Janice Landon. The judges were Mrs. R. S. McIntosh, Mrs. W. C. Jackson and Stuart Bird.

Following the public speaking and presentation of prizes by Steven Miller, of the Students' Council, and Shields by Mrs. McIntosh, the parents were invited to visit the individual classrooms to see their children's work and discuss any problems with the teachers.

Guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Nutbrown were Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Nutbrown and two sons; Mr. and Mrs. Garland Morrisette, Lennoxville. Other guests at the same home have been Mr. and Mrs. Francis Nutbrown, son Harold, Lennoxville, and Miss Shirley Humphrey, Eustis.

Mrs. Walter Smith, who spent two weeks with her son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Smith, Fabreville, returned home, accompanied by Cindy and Debbie Smith. Little Cindy will be a guest of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Young, at Burroughs Falls, while Debbie will remain with Mr. and Mrs. W. Smith.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bean, of Springfield, Vt., were weekend guests of the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Rudolph Bean and Kimberly.

Mrs. John Smyrski and children, Montpelier, Vt., spent the weekend with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Provost.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Gaudreau and family, motored to Pittsford, Vt., to visit their son, Raymond, who is a patient in the children's hospital.

It was decided that the ladies on the joint committee, Mrs. V. Vintinner, Mrs. Benita Hughes, Mrs. Audrey Dickerson and Mrs. Gerry MacIntosh, meet to work on a list of questions for the purpose of surveying the ladies of the parish.

It was also suggested that each lady try to think of a name for the joint group which it is hoped, will be established soon.

Mrs. Doris Wilson, St. Hilda's Guild, and Mrs. Eunice Jones and Mrs. Hope Davidson, of the W. A., served refreshments.

Polly's pointers

DEAR POLLY—If you have to cook the family dinner before you go out to an evening party, be sure to wear a large bouffant-type shower cap. Your hair will stay fresh and sweet-smelling and will not carry those tell-tale cooking odors. This also keep your hairdo from drooping.—MARGARET

DEAR POLLY—One shelf in my closet used to be cluttered with my hats until my husband put his mind to doing something about it. He put cup hooks underneath the top closet shelf, tied a string to each one and then a spring-type clothespin to the other end of each string. I now put my hats in plastic bags and clip each bag with a clothespin. The shelf is left for something else, I can see which hat I want and it is easy to remove.—R. L. R.

DEAR POLLY—I had a badly tarnished, no longer used mailbox so I sanded it smooth as glass, painted it white and hung it on my kitchen wall. It holds Polly's columns, clipped recipes and so on until I find time to empty it and file things properly. This works great and looks most attractive against my turquoise wall.—BERTHA

BEAVERS UPSET GAULS IN OPENER
SHERBROOKE BEAVERS came up with an outstanding all-around performance Sunday afternoon in St. Hyacinthe to upset the Gauls in the opening tilt of the four-out-of-seven finals of the Quebec Provincial Senior Hockey League playoffs.

SERGE AUBRY was the star of the game with his terrific saves but he had great support from his rearguards. The Beavers ran into some trouble when they lost Lionel Robidas, one of their main pillars on the blue-line, but playing-coach Georges Roy stepped into the breach and turned in a top performance.

YVES COSSETTE, another solid rearguard, came up with his usual steady job on the blue-line. Yves isn't a player to steal the spotlight but if you follow him you will be surprised to see how many key saves he makes during a game.

THE TEAM on the whole battled every inch of the way with Jean Levesque and his mates coming through with the big rushes to relief pressure on Serge Aubry. The forwards were going all out both ways.

CLAUDE CARDIN, Sherbrooke's fiery winger, who can get into more trouble at times than any three others on the team, took everything coming his way and was not involved in any fracas. In fact I was told that he even skated out of the way to avoid getting mixed up, although the Gauls tried their best to get him to lose his head.

THE SERIES could go the limit but a lot will depend on just what happens tonight in Sherbrooke. The Beavers will have to win all their home games and with one in their favor could turn the trick. Let's not under rate St. Hyacinthe. They will be tough but if Sherbrooke stays on the ice and skates the whole way the outcome could swing the Beavers' way.

COACH CLAUDE SAVARY stated last week that his team wouldn't have any trouble with the Beavers, but his team hit a snag Sunday. It was a game which could have gone one way or the other but it seems that Sherbrooke's young legs were the difference.

THE GAULS tried their best and fought the whole way but they seemed to tire quicker than the Beavers. No doubt they will be tossing everything at the Beavers in an effort to square the battle. A loss would certainly throw a monkey-wrench into their plans.

I DON'T THINK any of the games will be big scoring affairs. I figure the series could go the limit hence the importance of Sherbrooke winning all their home games now. Penalties could be costly but if the boys stay out of the cooler it should be a real battle the whole way between two good teams.

DR. JAMES LUTHER will be the guest speaker at the March meeting of the Lake Massawippi Fish and Game Protection Club which will be held Wednesday, Mar. 23rd, at the Ripplecove Inn, Ayer's Cliff.

SLIDES TAKEN at Delta, Manitoba, during the past two summers will be shown and he will speak on his experiences as well. Members are reminded to be on hand and bring along a friend for the very interesting talk on conservation.

THE PROVINCIAL Senior "B" Basketball Tournament will be held in Sherbrooke Sunday. The ET Amateur Basketball Association is the sponsor of the event.

IT IS THE FIRST time Sherbrooke has ever played host for this popular annual event and six teams will take part in it. Rock Island Bandits and the Bean Clippers will represent the Townships and I think they will give a good account of themselves.

WE WONDER how Father Bauer and Coach MacLeod feel about things in World hockey circles now. When I was in Europe I said upon my return that no Canadian team could win the World title playing the Russians under international rules and it seems I was right.

THE REFEREES are terrible, in fact the best we ran into were in Sweden. In Russia we had a couple who refereed in World Tournaments and they were worse than anything we ever saw. The Russians are out to win at any cost.

IN TALKING with Lloyd Pollock, vice-president of the CAHA, who made the trip we contended that it would be a good thing to forget it until we can really send over a top club. As for playing under their silly rules I say, let's stay at home.

IN EUROPE one must not forget that they take their hockey very seriously. They place it on an international basis whereas we play for the fun of it. As for the Russians playing a NHL club they would get murdered as they play with their heads down most of the time and I don't agree with Coach Tarasov that they could beat Boston Bruins.

THE RUSSIANS are an out-and-out pro outfit and don't kid yourself. I asked several questions when I was there and was told that the team does nothing but play hockey. They are all in the Army and practice every morning, afternoon and evening when they are not playing. Quite a difference from our amateur clubs.

SO ALL IN ALL let's stay at home and forget them. Everyone here knows where the good hockey players are so let them blow off and enjoy themselves. It will be interesting to see what Gordon Juckes has to say about it upon his return. At the CAHA semi-annual meeting he said we should forget them.

THE LENNOXVILLE Curling Club annual Bonspiel opened last evening and will run through until Saturday evening. Games will be played in Sherbrooke and Lennoxville and some very good games should be witnessed.

THEIR FAMOUS dinner will take place Saturday noon and I am sure that very few curlers will miss this popular event. Each year it seems to get better and bigger. So boys don't miss as the pies are terrific.

Jim Maloney joins charmed circle with Koufax and Drysdale, teams settle down to more exhibitions

Jim Maloney, who tossed a pair of no-hit games in winning 20 for Cincinnati Reds last season, is in exile at his Fresno, Calif., home.

The Reds apparently are in no hurry to let him free after his rejection of their "final offer" of $42,500. The big right-hander is holding out for $50,000 on the strength of his 20-9 record, 241 strikeouts and 2.54 earned run average last year.

Cincinnati's last word: "Have a nice summer in Fresno." Maloney's answer: "Trade me or sell me."

Chances are that Maloney—and baseball's other illustrious exiles, pitchers Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale of the world champion Los Angeles Dodgers—will find their way back to the diamond before next month's season openers.

In the meantime, Cincinnati manager Don Hefner and Dodger pilot Walter Alton are making alternate plans. Alton said at the Dodgers' Vero Beach, Fla., training base: "We have some young pitchers who are pretty good. I liked Jim Lefebvre (National League Rookie of the Year) when he came up last year."

"Given a chance to pitch they might be able to do it. But it all depends."

While Drysdale and Koufax continued their campaign for a reported $1,000,000 package over three years, the Dodgers hoped to pick off shortstop Maury Wills today. Wills, who turned his down a $75,000 contract during the weekend, was to meet with club vice-president Brazzierebouncing completely baffled homer in two days and rookie Ollie Brown connected with two aboard for the Giants.

Baltimore Orioles' second baseman, Jerry Adair, suffered a bruised left wrist and a cut on the lower lip that required 21 stitches when hit by a Tony Cloninger pitch during the Orioles' 2-0 loss to Atlanta Braves.

Wills Mays hit his second homer in two days and rookie Ollie Brown connected with two aboard for the Giants.

Despite the absence of one of the Bean Clippers' top marks-men, Ken Pariseau, they were a constant threat throughout most of the game. At the end of the first half they trailed by only five points, the score board reading 39-34.

In the second half of the encounter the Clippers showed much aggressiveness as they narrowed the margin down to one point. The Clippers concentrated on playing serious basketball and certainly were capable opponents to the undefeated Bandit team.

However, in the last minute of play the superior Border team surged successfully ahead, as the Bean Clippers first couldn't keep up to the fast pace demonstrated by Rock Island.

For the Clippers it was Jeff Mills and Dick Lambert along with speedy Roger Warren who took the spotlight as they managed 22, 19 and 16 points respectively proving to be tops for their squad.

Credit for the Rock Island victory goes to Lindsay Black, with 22 points, along with teammates Rollie Denton and Roger Cartee gathering 20 and 13 points respectively.

Lineups:
Rock Island: Lindsay Black (22); Rollie Denton (20); Roger Cartee (13); Russ Simpson (10); Jim Murphy (6); Dick Rivard (5); Dave Rivard (2); Harry Webb; total: 78.
Bean Clippers: Jeff Mills (22); Dick Lambert (19); Roger Warren (16); Wayne Nugent (4); Richard Goodhue (2); Jimmy Wray (1); total: 64

Jean-Luc Bombardier wins Dow Trophy Can Beavers repeat?

PROVINCIAL CHAMPION—Jean-Luc Bombardier of Valcourt is seen accepting the Dow Trophy from Ivan "Doc" Beaulieu for winning the Provincial Ski-Doo championship held at Lake Brompton Sunday. Jean-Luc Bombardier of Valcourt won the 5th annual Provincial Ski-Doo Rally and the Dow Trophy Sunday at Lake Brompton. Bombardier in winning the event swept all the regular sections as well as the special open class for modified types. Close to 2,000 fans were on hand to witness the day long tournament. Contestants from all over the Province were on hand but several were eliminated when they ran into trouble on some of the tough courses. The main attraction was the Grand Circuit which was 15 miles long. The course was through the woods surrounding the Lake and also on the Lake at certain places. The Slalom and the Speed test were the other main events on the card. Following the races the Dow Trophy with others and prizes were presented in the evening by Ivan "Doc" Beaulieu, local representative for Dow Brewery. The contestants were more than pleased with the setup and layout of the courses.

More records to topple

Bobby Hull can set at least two more in remaining eight games

MONTREAL (CP) — Bobby Hull, whose goal against New York Rangers last Saturday broke two National Hockey League records, now stands to break at least two more in the remaining eight games Chicago Black Hawks have to play.

Hull's goal, which came on his 303rd shot of the season, gave him sole possession of the record for most goals in a season which he had held jointly with Maurice Richard and Bernie Geoffrion, former Montreal Canadiens stars. Hull had reached the 50-goal mark previously in 1961-62.

The goal also broke a record set in 1953-54 by Camille Henry of New York of 20 power-play goals in a season. The shot was Hull's 21st power-play goal.

Hull got another goal Sunday night to raise his goals total to 52 and his points total to 91. NHL statistics released today show that his nearest rivals, Norm Ullman of Detroit Red Wings and Chicago's Stan Mikita, are tied for second place in the individual points race with 88 points each.

NEEDS SIX POINTS
If Hull sets only six more points, enough to raise his total to 97, he will have broken a 96-point season record set in 1958-59 by Dickie Moore of Montreal.

If he can finish the season more than 24 points ahead of his nearest rival, he will have broken a 24-point lead record set by Gordie Howe of Detroit over Ted Lindsay in 1952-53.

Over the season so far, Hull has picked up an average of 1.6 points a game. If he continues this pace, he would finish with at least 103 points.

Ullman picked up a goal and an assist to move into the second-place tie with Mikita. Mikita got one goal in the three games last week.

Howe got an assist in Sunday's game to give him 64 points and 31 assists.

Gauls will be gunning for win, Lionel Robidas gets green light, coaches ready

Can the Beavers make it two in a row? The answer to this question will be answered this evening when the Gauls will visit Sherbrooke in the second game of the Quebec Provincial Senior Hockey League finals.

The Beavers got the jump on the league leaders Sunday in St. Hyacinthe when they upset them to take out a 2-1 victory in the opener. Tonight's game should be another big battle between two great teams.

The Gauls during the season in Sherbrooke were not very fortunate as they could only pick up two victories in their seven games on local ice but things will have a different look tonight.

Coach Georges Roy received good news yesterday regarding Lionel Robidas, who was injured in Sunday's game. His head struck the ice when he went down and upon returning to Sherbrooke he was taken to the hospital where x-rays will go on sale.

National team returns still bitter over refereeing, some may quit but officials think they should remain

WINNIPEG (CP) — Officials during the 1966 world hockey championships remained under fire Monday as Canada's national team arrived here from Europe.

"One would get the impression that it was a fix," said Seth Martin of Rossland, B.C., in an interview at the Winnipeg International Airport. Martin, was chosen outstanding goaltender at the Ljubljana, Yugoslavia, tournament which ended Sunday.

"It was the worst refereeing I've ever seen in international hockey," said Martin of the team's 2-1 loss to Czechoslovakia which shattered Canada's hopes of winning the title for the first time since 1961.

Canada finished third behind champion Russia and Czechoslovakia. Defenceman Gary Begg, who was named to the tournament all-star team with Martin and centre Fran Huck, said he will not play in another world tournament because "it's no use until those people realize that they ought to give us a fair shake."

While most players suggested Canada should not compete in future international tournaments, team officials disagree. "I don't think we should pull out. That's not the answer," said Gordon Juckes of Melville, Sask., secretary-manager of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association.

PROTECTIVE FACE MASKS AVAILABLE FROM 2 FIRMS

By Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

I have received a great many letters asking where the protective face masks I mentioned in an earlier column could be purchased. The washable, electrically heated mask is made by Carmen Commodities Corp. (2900 W. Peterson Ave., Chicago 60645) and the disposable fiber mask is made by Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing Co., (St. Paul, Minn.). Your local dealer can order one for you.

Q—Will exercise help to prevent varicose veins and spider veins? Would vitamins or minerals be helpful?

A—There is no relationship between the two conditions. The cause of spider veins is not known but they are aggravated by repeated pregnancies, tight garters, tight girdles, sitting with the legs crossed or a deficiency of vitamin C.

Some authorities believe moderate exercises will help to prevent them but there is no definite proof of this. They are in no way a threat to your health and most doctors recommend masking them with cosmetics rather than trying to remove or obliterate them.

Varicose veins are one of the penalties of walking or rather standing upright. Once they have occurred neither vitamins nor exercise will cure them but they can be prevented by pacing up and down instead of just standing while waiting for a bus or, when for any reason you must stand, by wiggling your toes, rocking on your heels or doing other stationary exercises.

Q—I am 30 and have varicose veins. Does having a sclerosing solution injected into the veins cure the condition or just give partial relief?

A—The injection of a solution to obliterate the varicose veins is now rarely used except to close off the smaller veins leading to the larger varicosities because the relief is temporary and the procedure must be repeated from time to time. Complete removal of the veins is preferred. Some surgeons now use an electronic device to destroy such veins.

Q—My doctor is giving me Cyclex for premenstrual tension. Will it have any harmful effects?

A—This is a combination of hydrochlorothiazide (which acts as a water pill or diuretic and blood pressure reducer) and meprobamate (a mild tranquilizer). When given for premenstrual tension, it is not noted until the tension is first noted. In the usually prescribed dosage it is safe, but it should not be taken by anyone with liver or kidney disease and should only be taken under close medical supervision during pregnancy—but, of course, pregnancy would give temporary respite from premenstrual tension.

Please send your questions and comments to Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.
