

Judge calls union-shipping talks in bid to avert strikes in river ports

MONTREAL (CP) — Judge Rene Lippe has arranged to bring together stevedores and shipping officials today in an attempt to avert a St. Lawrence River port strike scheduled to start Friday morning, a walkout which would seriously hamper shipment of 60,000,000 bushels of wheat to Russia.

The Montreal magistrate's court judge met Wednesday with Paul Asselin, president of the Montreal local of the International Longshoremen's Association CLC, within hours of being appointed federal government mediator in the dock crisis.

Judge Lippe, who has previously helped settle troubles in the trucking, bus, metals and textile industries, scheduled a meeting with the Shipping Federation of Canada today before attending the joint meeting.

Following the meeting with Mr. Asselin, he said he was "hoping" for a settlement and that "a strike would be disastrous not only to the men and their families and the federation but to Canada."

Labor Minister MacEachen said in a statement announcing Judge Lippe's appointment it would give a final chance for settlement of the dock dispute. Later in the Commons, Mr. MacEachen hinted that other steps were being considered by the government in the event Judge Lippe's intervention did not bring results.

The stevedores voted Sunday to strike Friday if nothing was done to settle the dispute in the meantime.

The dispute involves 3,800 longshoremen in Montreal, Trois-Rivieres, Que., and Quebec City.

The threat of a strike, which would hinder the shipment of wheat scheduled to move through St. Lawrence ports to Russia before the end of the shipping season, followed rejection by the stevedores and shipping federation of a federal conciliation report.

The conciliation board was held up after Montreal and Trois-Rivieres longshoremen walked off the job Sept. 9 and 10 to protest lengthy contract talks with the federation. Their last contract expired at the end of December. Union leaders said they opposed the walkout.

War goes well

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy's military advisers have told him the war in South Viet Nam is going well enough that it may be possible to withdraw most of the U.S. forces there in two years, the White House reports.

In a statement issued shortly after the return from Viet Nam of Defence Secretary Robert S. McNamara and Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, there was no indication of any change of U.S. policy toward the South Viet Nam government.

Alberta leader urges wise NFCUS leaders

EDMONTON (CP) — Premier E. C. Manning of Alberta drew applause from French and English students Wednesday with an appeal for both sides to seek wise leadership in the questions of bilingualism and biculturalism.

He urged 150 delegates to the 27th congress of the National Federation of Canadian University Students here not to be influenced by "emotionalism and political expediency."

The federation, comprised of 225,000 students from 41 colleges, universities and institutions, had nearly split less than 24 hours earlier over the question of French-English representation.

Mr. Manning said his viewpoint on the question of French-English relations had been widely misinterpreted.

"Some writers have alleged that I am anti-French, anti-

Negotiators indicate

May ban space bombs

UNITED NATIONS (CP) — U.S. State Secretary Rusk and Soviet Foreign Minister Gromyko have indicated a possibility of agreement to ban nuclear weapons from orbiting space satellites, but their talks so far have produced no specific accord on that or any other issue.

Rusk and Gromyko met for a three-hour discussion over dinner Wednesday night at the Soviet mission to the United Nations.

U.S. sources commented on the "cordial atmosphere" of the parley, the first exclusively U.S.-Soviet high level meeting since the signing of the limited test ban treaty two months ago.

They said Gromyko appears interested in some further limited disarmament accord, though just what remains unclear.

It was tentatively agreed that Gromyko would go to Washington sometime next week for further talks, including a meeting with President Kennedy.

Youth minister meets English school heads

By CUTHBERT JONES
(Record staff writer)

A meeting with Protestant school commissioners and educators from Eastern Townships English-language schools this afternoon was expected to highlight the four-day visit of Youth Minister Paul Gerin-Lajoie to this district. The Youth Minister is visiting a number of communities in the region in an effort to arouse public support for his bill reorganizing the educational system of Quebec, including the establishment of a Ministry of Education.

During his two forum meetings yesterday, one at Magog and the second at the Social Club in Sherbrooke, Mr. Gerin-Lajoie found a sympathetic reception. Generally the comments from his audiences concerned certain technicalities of Bill 60 which is scheduled to come before the Legislature early in the new year.

He indicated that most of these problems would be ironed out by the special committee which is being set up to study the measure.

Education ministry uncertain

QUEBEC (CP) — Chances of a legislature session this fall to adopt the controversial bill creating an education department appear to have lessened as a result of two statements by Premier Lesage Wednesday.

Mr. Lesage told reporters he favors a late November date for the coming federal-provincial fiscal conference and also said that the cabinet's legislation committee will start next week to review proposed amendments to the education bill.

When asked about the possibility of a session this fall Mr. Lesage was non-committal. A week earlier he said no decision had been made.

But circumstances appear to be moving against an autumn session.

French language and anti-French culture," he said. "Nothing could be further from the truth."

He said he still has reservations about a royal commission study of bilingualism and biculturalism but "a completely unwarranted interpretation" had been placed on a letter he wrote to Prime Minister Pearson outlining his views on it.

Mr. Manning said he was concerned about the vagueness of the commission's objectives and terms of reference.

By recording the viewpoints of various groups a royal commission also tends to remove the flexibility of thinking needed to arrive at intelligent conclusions.

"The great need is for all citizens of Canada to retain a proper perspective... but I'm afraid we may lose this because of emotionalism."

The Minister himself expressed the belief that he may be subjected to some searching questioning at the meeting with the Protestant educators this afternoon, especially in relation to demands that protection of minority rights be written into the new law.

The public meeting between the minister and the Protestant group was scheduled for 4 p.m. today at the Memorial Hall at Bishop's University. Prior to this session, Mr. Gerin-Lajoie was to confer with the faculty and students of Bishop's University.

The minister opened his tour at Magog Wednesday afternoon when he joined in the dedication ceremonies for the new technical school and met with Roman Catholic school commissioners and teachers from various sections of Stanstead County.

In the evening he addressed the members of the Social Club in Sherbrooke at their regular meeting.

During his remarks, the youth minister urged support for his department's program of setting up regional school boards.

"It is certain," he said, "that school reorganization such as we are presently experiencing constitutes only a first step in the establishment of regional civil powers."

"I have already said elsewhere that when present regionalization has been established on a solid base and has started to function in an organized program, it will be followed by progressive decentralization, at least in the area of education, of certain powers presently exclusively exercised by Quebec, to the profit of regional administration."

By placing education on a regional basis, he continued, more efficient planning of development would be possible.

Under existing conditions, he said, broad planning is impossible because there is no intermediate agency between the local school boards and the central authority in Quebec.

Mr. Gerin-Lajoie also declared that it was the hope of his department to bring all aspects of education in this province into a common front.

There was no intention he said of abolishing any of the existing institutions, whether public or private, technical schools, business schools, universities, classical colleges, primary and secondary schools, all had their place in the field of education, but he expressed the hope that their activities could be co-ordinated so that each could play a greater part in improving the qualifications of Quebec youth.

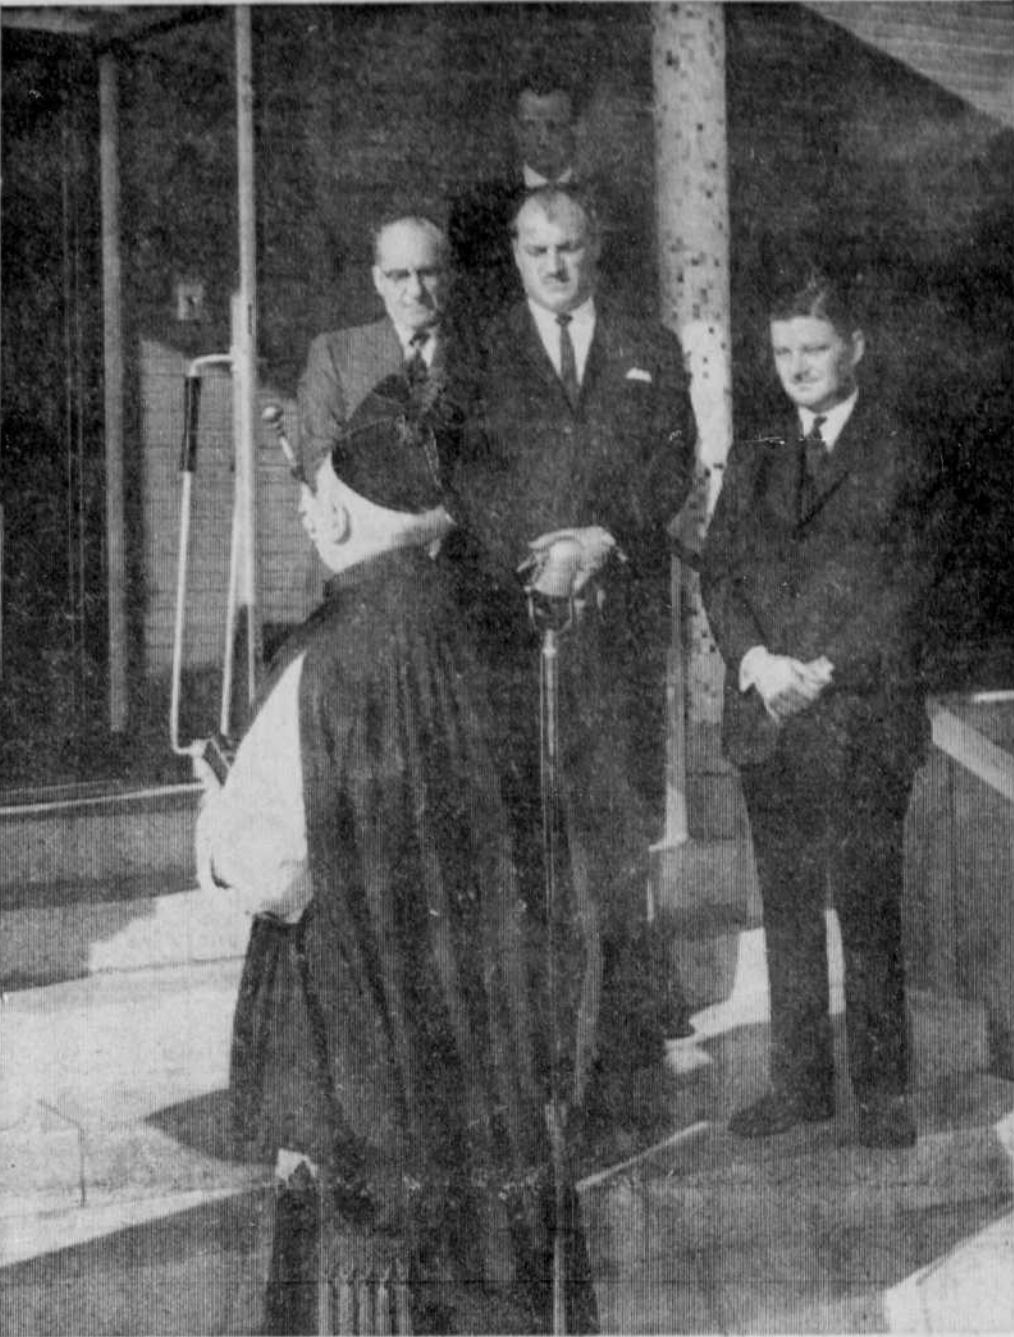

Jacques Lemieux, president of the Social Club, presided over the local meeting. The speaker was introduced by Pierre Bachand and thanked by Benoit Turmel.

The youth minister also expressed his belief in the greater coordination of educational facilities during a brief address at the benediction of the Magog Technical School. It was vital to provide youth with the means of earning a living, he said, but he believed that technical education was the key to this.

It's an ill wind that doesn't blow somebody's leaves into his neighbor's back yard.

PERSUASION IS TRIED TO END MUTINY OF BERBERS

ALGIERS (AP) — President Ahmed Ben Bella announced today he has assumed full powers to deal with the Berber mutiny in the Kabylia Mountains. He indicated he intends to try persuasion and moral pressures from Algeria's Arab majority.

Pledged to avoid bloodshed, Ben Bella said regular army troops will not be used against the insurgents.

The president made his announcement before a reduced National Assembly, meeting two hours behind schedule. Failure of 30 to 40 deputies to show up caused the delay.

"I assume full powers under article 59 of our constitution," Ben Bella said.

The assembly then voted him a resolution of support.

The action came as Berber civilians in the mountains were answering the call of rebel leaders to join the four-day revolt—a revolt in which so far not a shot has been fired.

Civilians, many of whom fought for Algeria's independence, grouped at assembly points in Michelet, 90 miles east of Algiers, Port National and other mountain towns. They were to be taken to rebel army units in the mountains.

The recruits were to be formed into guerrilla units. There was no way to estimate how many were answering the rebel call.

Not a shot has been reported since the Berbers staged a demonstration against Ben Bella's one-man rule last Sunday, then left their garrisons east of Algiers and set up armed posts in the Kabylia Mountains.

Government troops set up roadblocks on approaches to the mountains to seal off the dissident area, but there was no indication of a drive into the mountains.

Both sides repeatedly said they hoped to avoid bloodshed. Meanwhile they issued communiques and proclamations, repeating slogans and accusations.

In the capital there was no hint of an impending showdown. Ben Bella said he still intends to fly to New York next week to address the UN General Assembly.

Workers continued whitewashing building walls under government orders to "make the city white" before the Nov. 1 anniversary of the 1954 independence uprising against France.

Col. Houari Boumedienne, Ben Bella's defence chief, continued his visit to Moscow.

Sherbrooke lay Catholic teachers returned to classes this morning, but its "just a truce," says their association president.

"Our members have let us know that they will stay away from work again tomorrow if there isn't progress," says Gaetan Mageau of l'Association des Professeurs de Sherbrooke.

"I have to blame their gesture," he says of the almost complete walkout of non-clerical Catholic teaching personnel all day yesterday. The work stoppage closed all classes in the city's 42 Catholic primary and secondary schools, French and English, except those taught by clerics.

"It was illegal, but they were in a fix," Mr. Mageau said. The walkout coincided with the arrival of Quebec Youth Minister Paul Gerin-Lajoie in the city.

Association negotiators and officials of the Sherbrooke Catholic School Board were to meet at 2:30 this afternoon to try to break the impasse that has persisted since negotiations for a new contract began early last spring.

Director of Schools Richard Bergeron said it was "hard to tell" if there was new hope for a settlement.

The teachers spent all day yesterday in a meeting with their leaders at the Dollard snowshoe club, which became an unofficial headquarters for the walkout. They even ate lunch there, Mr. Mageau said, though the organizing was not done by the association.

There was no particular spokesman for the striking group, he said. The "meeting as a whole" told the association executive, some of whose members went to their schools prepared to teach yesterday, what they were demanding.

Two principal things remain in dispute, Mr. Mageau said. One is salaries, the other a fund set up four years ago out of which teachers are paid for days missed through sickness.

The school board wants to abolish the fund, Mr. Mageau says.

The question of "norms" of class sizes is a provincial one, the president said, and he could not comment on it. He had not met the youth minister — nor, he said, had strike representatives — and did not know if he would do so today.

The organization of the wildcat action by the teachers' rank and file remains a puzzle.

The executive says no individual spokesmen for the strikers has approached it, and it learned of a meeting on the eve of the walkout by an anonymous telephone call.

School board chairman Francois Thibault has hinted he suspects the association really approved the walkout, while disavowing it in public statements. "You have to read between the lines," he said yesterday.

The only lay teachers of the 447 the board employs who have been reported definitely at work Wednesday are English-speaking ones at St. Patrick High School. They did not teach their classes, however, since the pupils were sent home like most schoolchildren in the city.

One point in the association-school board negotiations which is "almost settled," says Mr. Mageau, is that of the medical examination teachers must undergo. The checkup was made more extensive at the beginning of the present school year with the association being consulted.

The Sherbrooke association belongs to a diocesan federation and to the Quebec Corporation of Catholic Teachers.

Mr. Begin was released on $1,000 bail. His preliminary hearing was set for Oct. 10.

Mr. Begin, who retired from politics last year after representing Dorchester riding in the Quebec legislature for 22 years, was one of five prominent Quebecers facing 76 charges of fraud or conspiracy to defraud the province of about $30,000 between 1955 and 1960.

Gerald Martineau, 61, legislative councillor and former Union Nationale party treasurer; Antonio Talbot, 62, Union Nationale member for Chicoutimi, former roads minister and briefly party leader in 1961; J. Alfred Hardy, now a newspaper man in suburban Sillery but formerly director of purchasing services under the Union Nationale government, and Arthur Bouchard, Quebec City businessman and president of the Baribeau-Ethemin Corporation, were arraigned last Friday.

The charges arise from a report of a royal commission into Union Nationale purchasing practices. The commission, headed by Mr. Justice Elie Salvas, found a system of kickbacks on purchases "immoral, scandalous, humiliating and alarming" and recommended that judicial action be taken.

Mr. Cameron said the pension bill has been treated as a political football while thousands of pensioners await financial relief.

He said the public has been watching MPs with "a very much more critical eye" since they voted themselves an $8,000 annual pay increase two months ago.

Health Minister LaMarsh indicated the government is ready to match the pension increase with $100 boosts in three other welfare programs—old age as-stance to needy persons aged 59-69, allowances to the blind and pensions to the disabled.

Costs of these three programs are shared between the federal government and the provinces.

In other business, supplementary spending estimates for $74,167,685 were tabled, bringing the total 1963-64 budgetary spending program to $6,626,671,200.

The new estimates include $80,650,000 to finance various aspects of the winter employment program and a further $10,000,000 for shipbuilding subsidies, bringing the total shipbuilding outlay to $40,000,000 this fiscal year.

MOTION DEFEATED In the third division in two days, the government beat down by a vote of 105 to 91 a Conservative motion asking the government to table a copy of the Canada-United States agreement for Canadian acquisition for nuclear arms.

Consider charging unionists

OTTAWA (CP)—A secret report on possible criminal charges against waterfront labor leaders has been delivered to the government.

Justice Minister Chevrier told the Commons Wednesday that the report is under study by officers of his department but he gave no details of its contents.

Mr. Chevrier's disclosure was made after Labor Minister MacEachen brought forward his resolution dealing with government trusteeship over marine unions for study by the Commons. There was no debate and Mr. MacEachen did not seek unanimous consent to consider the resolution immediately.

With the government planning to deal today with its spending estimates, indications are the resolution will not come up for debate until Friday.

The delay gives further time to United States and Canadian labor leaders trying to work out a private plan for cleaning up labor hoodlums on the Great Lakes, instead of a government trusteeship.

In a last-ditch effort to break a stalemate on the private union solution, the CLC sent a plan to AFL-CIO officials Wednesday with specific conditions which it feels must be met in any voluntary trusteeship imposed.

PUTS ONUS ON HALL

The proposal, contained in a letter from CLC President Claude Jodoin to AFL-CIO president George Meany, puts the next move in the hands of the AFL-CIO—particularly Paul Hall, president of the SIU of North America, who has balked at the prospect of giving trustees unassailable power to make changes.

Mr. Hall is reported to be holding out for an appeal procedure that would, in effect, allow the SIU a veto on decisions of the trustees.

GRAND SLAM CUE
NOW IS REVIVED

The late Ely Culbertson had one of the most fertile minds in bridge. His writings did much to popularize contract in its early days. One of his ideas that failed to gain acceptance during his life was the "grand slam force."

This bid was a jump to five no-trump to ask partner to bid a grand slam if he held good enough trumps. In most cases good enough trumps would be a suit that included two of the top three honors.

This Culbertson bids has gained popularity lately and today is used by almost every expert. It does not come up often, but when it does it certainly makes grand slam bidding easy.

South has a rockbottom minimum bid, or the nearest thing to one. North doesn't really care much how weak or strong his partner's opening is. All North wants to know is if South holds both the ace and queen of hearts.

The grand slam force reveals this very simply. He wastes no time in shilly-shallying or getting unnecessary information. All he does is respond five no-trump.

South is now in the position of the Light Brigade. He is not to reason why, he had just to do or die.

About Television

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP)—"Unique, unforgettable, powerful and exciting" were only a few of the adjectives used Monday night to describe a Hollywood portrait of the late Humphrey Bogart.

The half-hour NBC show, composed of lively scenes from old Bogart movies, newsreel film and some home movies, was the first of a new series, Hollywood and the Stars.

The basic appeal of the program is its nostalgia. The film clips are woven together with considerable skill and wit. Shrewd use of vintage material gives much of the show a freshness worn off in frequent movie reruns on television.

The narration by Joseph Cotton was reverent but slightly high-flown and never caught the frank, earthy quality of Bogart.

At one point, however, the narrator wisely let the pictures make their own point. It was a newsreel account of Bogart's funeral in 1957. Before the camera walked, one after the other, three of Bogie's good friends—Errol Flynn, Gary Cooper and Dick Powell.

NBC starts its exclusive coverage of the World Series Wednesday at 12:30 p.m. EDT with a 15-minute pre-game short followed by the big event. Thereafter, the series will be covered on the same time schedule when the games are in New York, and at 3:30 p.m. EDT when the series moves to Los Angeles.

NEW YORK (AP)—The much-discussed Judy Garland Show arrived on CBS Sunday night and proved a thoroughly entertaining if extremely uneven variety hour.

The entertainment was largely due to the star's debut in weekly television. She seemed nervous, but in what the producer designated as informal conversation. She was never nervous when singing, but making television small talk is a specialty and Miss Garland isn't Jack Paar—yet.

Generally, the show was gay and good humored. Guest star Donald O'Connor provided first-rate support. Jerry Van Dyke helped out with the comedy, including an amusing but too-long monologue.

But the show was Miss Garland, slim and svelte. And even with the rough spots—and perhaps partly because of them—it was fascinating.

Earlier in the evening a delightful comedy series had its CBS premiere. Called My Favorite Martian, it is a sly and witty fairy story about a Martian scientist, studying "this primitive planet" who crashed lands his space ship in southern California.

The martian is a gentle creature possessed of a pair of retractable antennae and ability to become invisible at will and to read minds. Ray Walston plays him in dry style.

OBITUARIES

OF SUTTON

SUTTON — A military funeral was held for William Staphenhill from the Sutton Funeral Parlor on Sept. 3, comrades from Sutton branch, No. 158 of the Canadian Legion taking part. Four comrades from the branch acted as bearers. Burial was in the military lot in Fairmount Cemetery.

Mr. Staphenhill had been staying at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Morse. A great lover of fishing and hunting, he had left the house as usual on Aug. 27. When he failed to return by the weekend, a search party was formed and his body was found near the sugar shanty a short distance from the house on Sept. 1. His gun was near by. Cause of death was accidental.

The deceased was 68 years of age. He was born at North Pinnacle, near Frelighsburg, son of the late James and Ellen Staphenhill.

In January 1916 he joined the 117th Battalion with his brothers, Thomas, Joseph, James and George, and a brother-in-law, Charles Maidment. Overseas, he was transferred to the 5th C.M.R. in France. George was killed in action. The rest returned to Sutton after the war.

Only his brother, Henry Staphenhill, of Sutton, survives him. He also leaves several more distant relatives.

CHARLES LAGUEX,

RICHMOND — Funeral service for Charles Lagux, who died suddenly at his home here on Sept. 8, was held at Holy Family Church, on Sept. 11. Solemn Requiem Mass was celebrated by Father Charles Doyle, a former curate here, assisted by deacon and sub-deacon.

Pall bearers were Pierre Masse, Donat Salvas, Andre Gregoire and Fernando Boulanger. Bearers were Calixte Trembley, Emile Martel, Auguste Bourbeau, Herman Bissonette, Jean Louis Parenteau and Arrel Boucher.

Burial was in St. Bibiane Cemetery.

Chartrand had been stationed for two years, are spending sometime with Mrs. Chartrand's brother, in-law and sister Mr. and Mrs. Robert Irving, before going to Oakville, Ont., where they will be stationed. Miss Barbara Jean Irving, Nurse-in-training at the Jeffrey Hale's Hospital, Quebec City, spent a few days at the same home.

Mr. Henry Labonte spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Eric Chester, in Lyndonville, Vt.

Youth work outlook for Y's Men bright

A brighter outlook in the field of youth work is now noticeable in all Y's Men's Clubs, the regional district governor told members of the Sherbrooke Club last night at the Magog Hotel.

Bryon Pinder said that Y's Men's Clubs have increased in numbers in Canada and the United States and the facilities for field work for Y members are many, he said.

Mr. Bryon talked of what the international organization can do for the local clubs and he also outlined the duties of the district governors.

The international organization functions to better the ideals of the YMCA, and Christian service, he said. The district governor's part in the Y is to keep clubs in his region in close contact with International and to aid in any way he can to promote club projects.

Presiding over the meeting was president Jim MacKinnon. Past President Roland Dewar introduced the speaker and was thanked on behalf of the club by Larry Jandron.

St. Francis SPCA reports active year

The Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Animals of the district of St. Francis has concluded the most active year in its history, president K. Y. Stanton said at the Society's annual meeting Tuesday night.

The SPCA president, re-elected for another term this year, said the Society had handled 1,664 animals during the year, over 80 more than last year.

The financial statement, however, showed a deficit for the year. Total expenditures were $4,370.33 and total receipts $4,031.48, leaving a deficit of $338.85.

While the income of the Society had increased the Society saw a decrease in members. Mr. Stanton asked the Society to aim for at least 700 members before December 31. At present the Society has 614 members compared with 619 in 1962 and 625 in 1961.

Membership dues during the year totalled $1,989.42 and the Society received donations totaling $785.85. The City of Sherbrooke gave a grant of $250. Tag days brought in $529.99.

"These monies are most sincerely appreciated but of much more importance is that these monies mean that we, as a society, have been accepted," Mr. Stanton said.

"It is tangible evidence of the fact that the City Fathers of Sherbrooke recognize that the SPCA is needed in this city and it is further evidence of the fact that hundreds of people throughout the district of St. Francis want the SPCA to prosper."

Speaking on the year's activities, Mr. Stanton said an innovation introduced during the year was that of an inspector being present at all of the county fairs in the district.

"I feel that this was a real step forward and hope the practice can be continued every year in the future," Mr. Stanton said.

On behalf of the Society, Mr. Stanton expressed thanks to the auditors, Mr. Ashton Tobin, the City of Sherbrooke and the mayor and councillors of North Hatley; the local press; organizers of the tag day and to the officers and directors of the Society.

Officers elected for the coming year are as follows:

President, K. Y. Stanton; vice-president, F. R. Pattison; treasurer and acting secretary, Miss Ruth M. Taylor.

Directors are Lyman Tomkins, Miss Ellen Beit Von Speyer; Mrs. A. H. Stoddard; Mr. and Mrs. Ashley McMullen, Col. N. H. Welsh, Donald Patrick, Howard Moffatt, Mrs. Edna Markey, Ernest Kirby, Ivar Lemon, John Lynch, Rixford Knight, Ivan Saunders, Tom Keane and Archdeacon T. J. Matthews.

Were federal aid areas consulted, asks Grafftey?

OTTAWA (CP) — Opposition MPs tried repeatedly in the Commons Wednesday to learn if the federal government consults municipalities before certain areas are designated for special government assistance.

Each time they asked, Labor Minister Alan MacEachen objected to them referring to the areas as distressed or oppressed. They are "areas of future opportunity," he said.

Heward Grafftey PC—Brome Missisquoi posed the first question about consultation.

Mr. MacEachen replied he's sure the municipalities welcome the special assistance provided.

The areas were designated for such aid on the basis of the unemployment and employment records in them.

Again Mr. Grafftey asked whether the municipalities were consulted.

Again Mr. MacEachen objected to what he called a "wrong emphasis" in suggesting they were depressed. They were really areas of future opportunity in view of special aid to industry to establish there.

"He doesn't know," taunted Mr. Grafftey as Alfred D. Hales PC—Wellington South asked

Mr. MacEachen to change the basis for designation from its employment record over eight years to some lesser period.

REVIEW EACH YEAR

Mr. MacEachen said such areas are designated for one year after which a review would be made. In that period, the government would try to perfect its criteria. He said it was inaccurate to say an eight-year employment record was used.

These areas were made eligible for special assistance because they failed to grow as rapidly as other areas, he said. The former Conservative government also used a test period in its assistance.

Mr. Grafftey interjected that the Conservative government always consulted the municipalities involved.

Opposition Leader Diefenbaker repeated Mr. Grafftey's earlier question—were municipalities consulted before being designated?

Mr. MacEachen replied the federal government felt it should take the responsibility for providing the assistance. It hadn't wanted to make the municipalities apply for it, as the Conservatives had done.

SUTTON ARTIST EXHIBITS PAINTINGS

By GORDON ENGLAND
(Sutton correspondent)

SUTTON — September 28 was a red-letter day for art-loving friends and acquaintances of Sutton artist James Cowan, for at that time they viewed an exhibit of his oil paintings.

In all, some 70 pictures were on display in several rooms and the studio-annex of the Cowan home, west of town.

Included in that collection were landscape scenes of Brome County, Vermont and parts of the Laurentians; seascapes of Nova Scotia, Maine and the British Isles, and also a few stills.

With an expert eye for color, effects of sunlight and shadow at morning, midday and evening, each of the four seasons was depicted in all its beauty. The lovely greens of spring and summer, the rich red-and-gold of jack-frost touched maple foliage in autumn, and the whiteness of our winter wonderland appeared in these examples of creative art.

The most vision satisfying of the Cowan productions, however, are the seascapes, with which the artist excels. His love for the sea and its surroundings are clearly and beautifully apparent in these paintings.

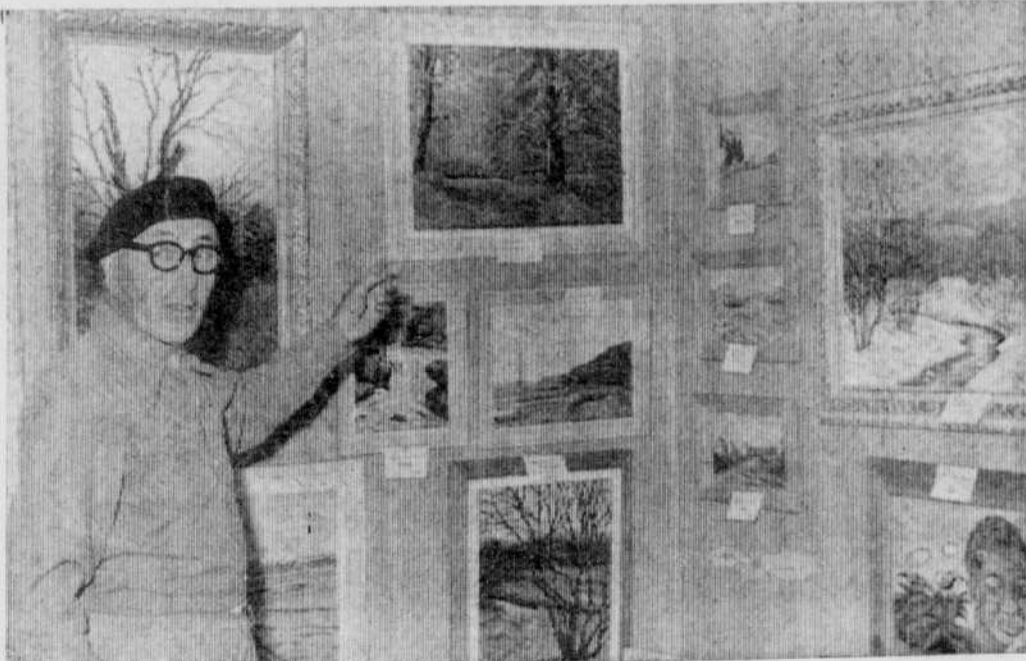

Although not a full time professional artist, James Cowan has always loved to paint, and for a time he studied art with the famous Canadian painter, Charles Kelsey of Westmount, whose stained glass window paintings are especially effective.

Like his wife, Mr. Cowan also has a green thumb for creation of beautiful flower-gardens.

Born in the Emerald Isle, James Cowan married an English girl, Amy Margaret Wood, of Leicester. In 1921, with his wife and two sons, Robert and Dennis, he came to Canada. A daughter, Shirley, was born in Canada. In Montreal for 35 years, Mr. Cowan was the manager of the shipping department of the Eaton factory. He retired from this position five years ago. Long before that time for retirement, however, he had seen and fallen in love with The Garden of Quebec, the Eastern Townships. After first visit to the region in 1926, he established a home in Brome County in 1932 and has maintained a residence here ever since.

He is now a permanent citizen of Sutton, where his two sons and his daughter, Mrs. Winston Dyer, also reside.

A week before he and his wife opened their home for the exhibition of art last Saturday, friends from Montreal, Dorval, Cornwall, Cowansville and other points, came to see the pictures. Of the collection the paintings entitled: Solitude—a most outstanding.

woodland scene, Sutton Mountain in Winter, An Early Winter's Morning, and some of the seascapes and portrayals of Autumn are perhaps among the mountains and of other scenic beauties. With such inspirational subjects ready to be placed on canvas, it is probable that many more fine paintings will be made by James Cowan.

WATERLOO — (Special) — The Recreation Club here at Foster Square is to be the center of activities for every one this fall.

Registration in a variety of courses is to be completed not later than the second week in October. In some classes, registration is accepted during the whole month. Men and women, boys and girls who are interested in these programs can choose a course to instruct or entertain, according to their desire.

The Recreation Club (Service des Loisirs) was formed two years ago by Reverend Marcel Paquet, and has steadily increased its service, especially for the young people.

During the past summer youngsters took advantage of the course and recreation provided by this active club. During the seven weeks of the season at least 500 boys and girls of 12 years and under and an even larger number of the older ones participated. Four mornings a week children from all parts of the town could be seen with their bathing suits and towels hurrying to the central points where buses were waiting to take them to Lac des Sources on the Granby road for a swim and games. Once a week an extra excursion was planned for the day, such as a trip to Orford or the Granby Zoo. Then a lunch was packed. Courses of 15 to 20 various types were given to the young people this summer.

Now the longer evenings have set in, adult education is being featured.

In this class are the following:

A bowling league has been formed for married couples. They will be held Sunday nights beginning at 8 p.m. President is Andre Cote and secretary is Gilles Clark. A bowling league for girls and women will be held in the afternoon. For more information call Mr. Cote at 539-1357.

3 great '64 Ramblers

One of them will suit you better than any other car you've ever owned...Read why

It's really quite simple.

Unless you're looking for a car that will go 180 miles an hour—or one that will give you 50 very uncomfortable miles to the gallon—or a $13,000 (plus chauffeur) limousine—the new car you're after falls into one of three basic categories.

The first of these is the car built primarily for economy. This should be a low-priced car that doesn't cost much to operate, with plenty of hip-and-leg room, and power enough to make highway driving fun. It's a perfect description of the all-new 1964 Rambler American (the car that started the compact trend).

Then there's the popular-size, popular-priced car. The important thing about a car in this category is selection. If you're looking for operating economy and low purchase price... or luxury and performance... or something between the two...

the right car in this popular class will give you exactly what you want. The Rambler Classic—with its economical 6, powerful V8, wide choice of interiors and wide range of options—is just that kind of car.

The third category is the out-and-out luxury car—with the performance, interiors, and extras that set young men to dreaming of the day they'll own one. This, beyond any doubt, is the Ambassador V8. No other car in Canada offers a more luxurious interior. Few cars made have a better power-to-weight ratio, few cars give better performance.

To make your new car the best car you've ever owned, however, takes more than the right size and performance at the right price. It takes value; the value that is a natural result of Rambler's "maximum usefulness to the user" philosophy.

This philosophy has made the following famous features standard on every car in the Rambler line: exclusive Uniside construction for greater strength and beauty; the world's best rust-proofing; guaranteed Ceramic-Armoured muffler system; guaranteed battery and coolant; curved-glass side windows; battery-saving alternator; self-adjusting Double-Safety brakes; reclining seats; 3-year or 30,000-mile lubrication; 2-year or 24,000-mile warranty on the entire car.

Needy families have been helped and assistance given to young persons furthering their higher education. The sick and shut ins have been visited at regular periods.

schools gradually should broaden their educational basis.

In a later talk to Roman Catholic commissioners and teachers at St. Patrick's School in Magog, said that the many suggestions made by various groups and individuals would aid the government in providing the final test for Bill 60.

Discussing the duties of the proposed Superior Council of Education, the minister said: "I am among those who believe that the people of Quebec are not so stupid as some would have us think and that education will improve the masses. We must assume our responsibilities."

Orientation was important in education, he said. It was not sufficient merely to have the student pass an examination. His entire school history must be reviewed to determine his inclinations and powers.

Parents and educators were the instruments of education, he continued, but they must have contact with the minister of education.

On his arrival at Magog by seaplane from Quebec City, Mr. Gerin-Lajoie was welcomed by Magog Mayor Ernest Simard and members of the Town Council. He was tendered a brief reception at the Tourist Bureau.

During his visit to Magog, he was accompanied by Georges Vaillancourt, M.L.A. for Stanstead.

In addition to his sessions at Bishop's University this afternoon, the minister had several other events scheduled for today. At noon he met the faculty and students of the University of Sherbrooke and this evening is meeting Roman Catholic school commissioners from the area.

Tomorrow afternoon he will visit Drummondville in the afternoon and Asbestos in the evening, where he will participate in ceremonies dedicating new technical schools. He will address public meetings in both centres.

To understand the difference between the '64 Meteor and all other cars in the low-price class—you must understand one thing. Meteor is a bigger car. It is bigger in size, bigger in performance, bigger in luxury and bigger in value. It is, in fact, the first car of medium-price size and stature ever to be sold in Canada as a really low-priced car.

Meteor's extra length means a big car ride

The '64 Meteor is a big 215.5 inches long. And as a bigger car, it straddles the bumps better to give you a really smooth big car ride. But the '64 Meteor just doesn't rely on extra length to give you a better ride—it gives you the extra comfort of Cushion Link Suspension that allows wheels to move backward and forward as well as up and down. This not only takes care of the shock you get from beneath the wheel—it also absorbs the shock you get from in front of the wheel from bumps and holes when you're travelling faster than 20 miles per hour.

extra width means easier handling

The big '64 Meteor is a big 80 inches wide. This gives it more natural stability on the road—handling and cornering are much easier.

big news for shoulders and hips

Meteor's extra size means lots of room and comfort inside. Shoulder and hip room, leg and knee room, and even headroom are plenty big enough for the biggest people. If there are six inside, you don't feel as though there are eight of you after you've driven 50 miles.

next best thing to air conditioning

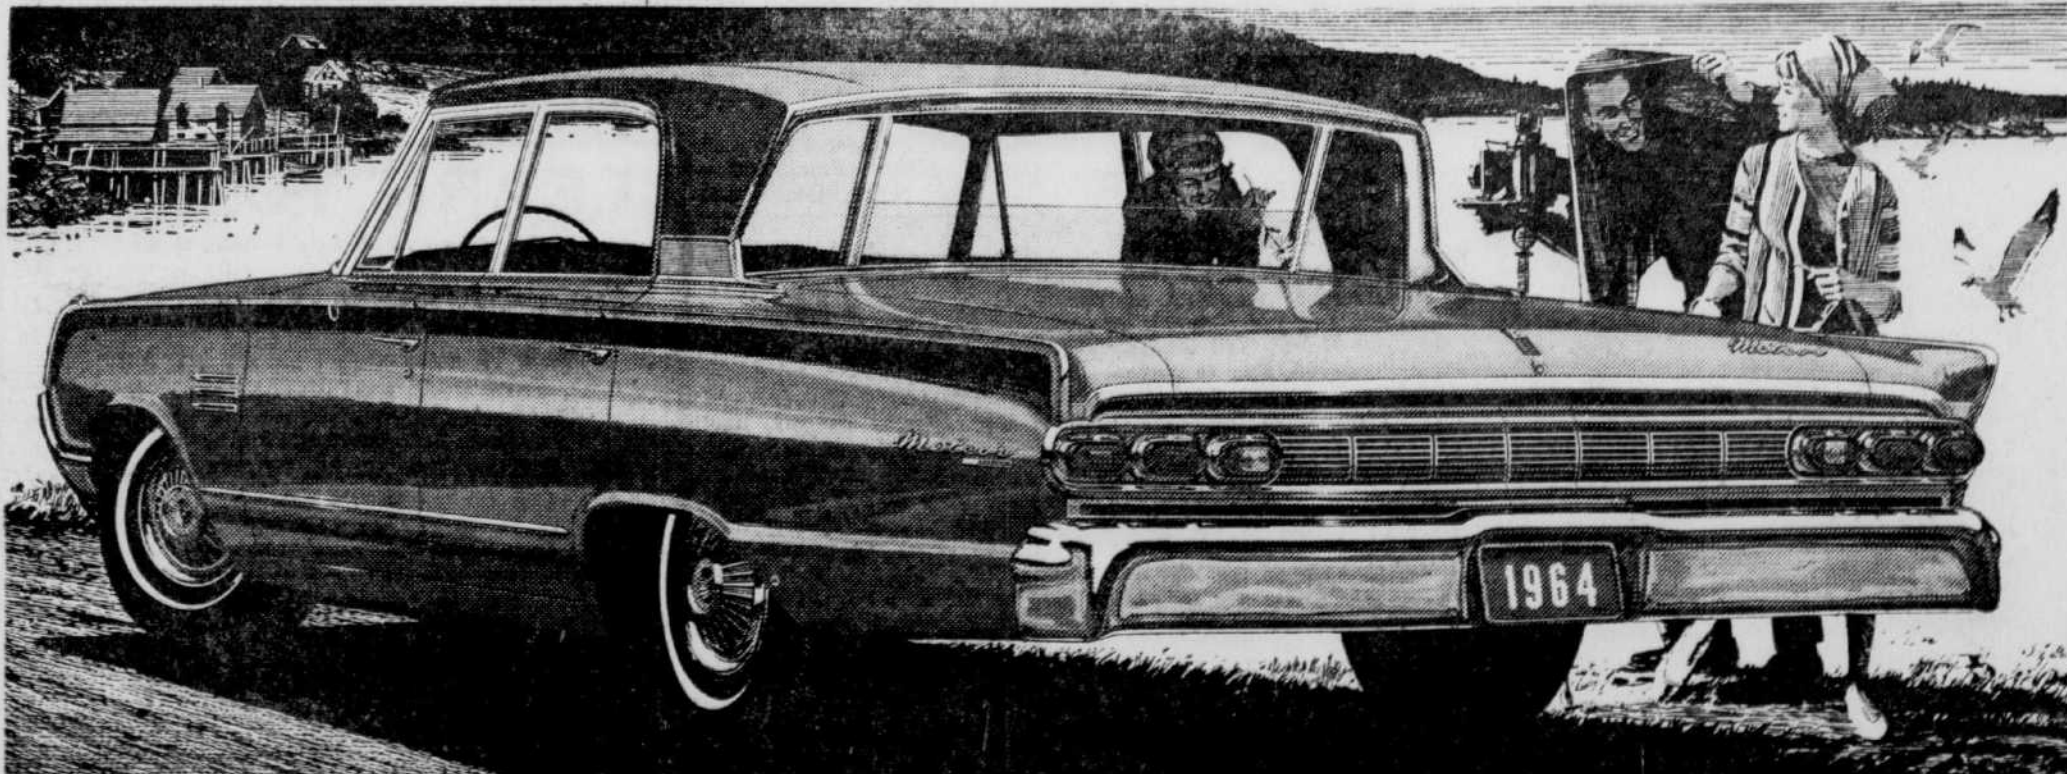

Here's a big advantage that no other low-priced car offers—an optional rear window that goes up and down. Press a switch and you get Breezeway ventilation all year 'round. In winter that rear window stays clear of ice and snow because it slopes away from the weather. If windows start to mist in cold weather, lower the rear window just a touch and your problem is solved.

big warranty for a big car

The purchase of a car is a major purchase—there's no question about it. So if you buy a '64 Meteor, you get a warranty from your dealer that covers the total car. This total-car warranty lasts for 24,000 miles or 24 months, whichever comes first—plenty long enough to prove the value and merit of any car.

Lennoxville High School sweeps twin from Stanstead College as Juniors win 1-0 and Seniors 4-1

Lennoxville High School and after two minutes play Billings added number three for the home team scoring with yesterday afternoon. The Juniors won their game by a close 1-0 count while the Seniors chalked up a 4-1 win.

The Junior game was played on even terms all the way with both teams playing heads up soccer. The home town boys seemed to have a little more method in their play. It was a scoreless game at the end of the first half which shows how even the play was.

Lennoxville's goal came at the four minute mark of the second half, S. Kingsley, the outside right, scoring on a pass from A. Bradley. Play after this went back and forth and the visiting boys tried hard to get back on even terms.

E. George and J. Crawford, Lennoxville full backs, with goalie J. Wark put up a stout defence in the closing minutes and time ran out with Lennoxville taking the game on a close 1-0 result. The Stanstead defence with G. Miller, in goal and Dagg and Mussey played well.

The Senior tilt was fought cleanly with both teams showing good ball control play in the first fifteen minutes. Lennoxville Seniors opened up the scoring with D. Rothney getting a goal on passes from R. Dunn and W. Billings at the sixteen minute mark. Mike Kingsley made it 2-0 eight minutes later getting his goal with Rothney and Billings assisting. This completed the scoring in the first half. On resumption

Sonny Liston says, pressure of racial disturbances caused him to fly back home from Europe last month

DENVER (AP)—Smiling and scowling at times, world heavyweight boxing champion Sonny Liston told a news conference Wednesday the pressure of questions about racial disturbances caused him to fly home suddenly from London Sept. 18 at the height of a successful international tour.

"Everywhere I went," Liston said, "they would ask me over and over, 'what about the Alabama bombing?'"

Liston, a Negro, said he got "real nervous when they'd be asking me about the race problem because I just didn't know how to answer them."

The champion said he "had a tremendous headache from all the questions and I just decided to come back home. I didn't bother to ask anybody—I just told the people travelling with me, 'my daughter's sick. We're going home.'"

At the time Liston gave that reason to London reporters, it was confirmed in Denver that his daughter, Eleanor, 13, was not ill but was attending school.

Questioned about his statement at the Denver airport upon his return two weeks ago that he was "ashamed to say

NEW YORK (AP)—Sandy Koufax conceded something that New York Yankees in particular and the nation in general might never have suspected Wednesday afternoon.

"I felt a little weak," Koufax said after striking out a Series record of 15 for Los Angeles Dodgers in their 5-2 victory over the Yankees in the World Series opener.

"I just felt a little tired in general early in the game," Sandy said. "Then I felt a little weak in the middle of the game. Then I got some of my strength back, but I was a little weak again at the end."

Koufax said he was not aware when he struck out Bobby Richardson in the eighth inning that he had tied Carl Erskine's Series strikeout record.

SAW NOTE ON BOARD
"It wasn't 'til I was going out for the last inning," he said, "that I saw the note about the 14 strikeouts on the message board. I figured I'd like to get one more in the ninth, but I was a lot more concerned about ending the game."

Koufax broke the record by striking out the last man he faced, pinch-hitter Harry Bright with a fast fall on a 2-2 count.

Of Tom Tresh's two-run homer in the eighth, he said: "The ball Tresh hit was a good fast ball. Sandy mopped his brow, and smiled."

"Honestly, it was a good fast ball. I thought my fast ball was even better at the end of the game."

So did Harry Bright. John Roseboro, who hit a decisive three-run homer for the Dodgers in the second, said he thought the drive might go foul.

"It was going right down the line," he said, "and then the wind seemed to catch it and pull it in a little."

FIRST OFF A LEFTY
Roseboro a left handed swinger, hadn't hit a homer off a southpaw all season.

Bill Skowron, whom the Dodgers acquired from the Yankees last winter, singled his first two times up and drove in the first and fifth Dodger runs.

"This is the nicest thing that's happened to me all year," Skowron said. "I finally contributed something."

Liston loosened up with the newsmen when one of them asked him about a London report he'd left angrily because a boxing official sent "two broads" up to his room.

Busting out in a grin, he cracked: "No, I might have resent it if he didn't send up two."

Liston said he will discuss with his adviser Jack Nilon in Philadelphia the possibility of resuming the abbreviated exhibition tour that touched Finland, Norway and Sweden before the unexpected ending in London.

On other subjects, he said: "He has only one daughter. This discounted previous reports he had two."

"Nilon is still Liston's adviser 'but he doesn't do the fighting and I tell him what to do. I let him know I'm the key to the treasury."

Skowron turns on his former mates, Yanks

NEW YORK (AP)—Maybe all Bill Skowron needed was to get back to Yankee Stadium, a place he called home for 10 years.

The Moose, as the big first baseman was called, was a lost soul at Los Angeles, where he just completed a poor season following the winter trade which made him a Dodger and brought pitcher Stan Williams to the Yankees.

Playing against his former Yankee teammates for the first time, Skowron emerged as one of the Dodger heroes in the 5-2 opening victory.

Tokyo—Love Allotey, 1304, Ghana, stopped Yukio Katsumata, 132, Japan, 4.

Speedy lefty had too much for power-hitters, whiffs 15 for new record, Downing-vs-Podres today

NEW YORK (AP)—The underrated Dodgers of Los Angeles, the object of new respect, suddenly found themselves slight favorites today to win the World Series following their stunning 5-2 triumph over Whitey Ford and the New York Yankees in Wednesday's opener.

The Yankees still ruled 7½-to-5 favorites to win today behind young Al Downing who faced veteran Johnny Podres in another left-handed pitching duel. But the odds-makers now have made the Dodgers an 11-to-10 choice to take the whole ball of wax. The Yankees had been a pre-Series 7½-to-5 pick.

Sandy Koufax changed all that with one of the finest pitching performances in series history. The 27-year-old Brooklyn southpaw established a Series' strikeout record by fanning 15 Yankees as he held the American League champions to six hits.

"We haven't seen anyone in our league who compares with him," declared Yankee manager Ralph Houk in high praise. "He was every bit as good as we were led to believe."

Koufax, weakened by a seige of flu that hit him last week, overpowered the hard-hitting Yankees, retiring 14 straight batters until Elston Howard singled with two out in the fifth. He fanned the first five Yankee batters to tie a 18-year-old record held by Mort Cooper of the 1944 St. Louis Cardinals.

TOPS ERKINE
The 15 strikeouts topped the previous record set by Carl Erskine, another Dodger, who fanned 14 Yankees in a game in the 1953 Series. The Yankee pitchers struck out 10 Dodgers for a combined total of 25, another new Series mark, bettering the 22 collected by the Cardinals and Browns in the 1944

World Series. "I thought I made quite a few bad pitches I got away with," he said. "If I strike him out, nothing can happen. If he hits, anything can."

The count moved to 2-2. Koufax went into his move, came around with the smooth, picturesque motion—fired.

Bright swung—missed. The crowd stood in a standing ovation.

Made a few bad pitches but I got away with them, says Koufax, after he had given striking performance

Als drop big passes, says Coach Trimble

MONTREAL (CP)—Coach Jim Trimble of the Eastern Football Conference Montreal Alouettes says there is only one way to establish good pass receiving—catch the ball.

Trimble's receivers lately have had a tendency to drop the ball in important second-down situations. This was the big factor, says Trimble, in the Als' 24-14 loss to the Tiger-Cats in Hamilton last Sunday.

Against Calgary here Sept. 24, Alouettes receivers were dropping quarterback Francis Marriot's passes all over the field in the first half. It cost Marriot his first-string quarterback job with the team because in the second half Warren Rabb, the back-up signal caller, got good receiving and went on to beat Calgary 25-17.

Rabb has since started every Alouettes game.

Trimble says there is no excuse for the dropped pass, if the pass is a reasonably good one.

COACH CRITICAL
Pitching coach Joe Becker had a more technical reason. "I told him he was trying to force himself," said Becker. "I noticed his co-ordination wasn't good in the sixth inning and he was over-striding."

"I didn't think about the strikeout record," Koufax said. "But when I came off after the eighth, I saw they had flashed the note on the scoreboard that I had tied Carl's record. But then Harry Bright's up, with two out and a man on in the last of the ninth and I'm aware I have to get him out."

"If I strike him out, nothing can happen. If he hits, anything can."

The count moved to 2-2. Koufax went into his move, came around with the smooth, picturesque motion—fired.

Arnold Palmer's right shoulder still hurts but he is going to play in $125,000 Whitmarsh Open PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Arnold Palmer's right shoulder still hurts, but he's going to play in the $125,000 Whitmarsh Open Golf Tournament starting today in hopes of holding on to his position as the year's leading money winner.

The Latrobe, Pa., better hasn't won any major titles this year. As they say on the tourney trail, Arnie hasn't won anything but money. Now his lofty status as top cash man is in jeopardy.

Should Masters Professional Golfers Association champion Jack Nicklaus take home the $26,000 first money at the Whitmarsh Valley Country Club he would supplant Palmer at the top of the cash list.

After playing nine holes of the 6,807-yard, par 72 Whitmarsh course Wednesday, Palmer said his shoulder still bothered him. He experimented with various shots, playing even par golf.

Palmer has earned $101,555 in 18 tournaments this year, while Nicklaus has pocketed $84,390 in 22. Should Big Jack win the lion's share here, and Palmer finish down the list, Nicklaus would take over the money winning honors, a prestige laurel.

Among the top pros seeking the first prize jackpot are U.S. Open champion Julius Boros, British Open champ Bob Charles, Tony Lema and Gary Player, fourth and fifth leading money winners respectively. Dow Finsterwald, Bruce Crampton, Bobby Nichols and Bill Casper.

Mirons turn down $500,000 for Tie Silk
MONTREAL (CP)—Laurent Bourgon, manager of Miron Stables, said Tuesday an offer by Walnut Hall Stud Farm of Doneraill, Ky., to purchase Tie Silk, prize-winning trotter, for $500,000 has been turned down.

Tie Silk, a seven-year-old, was purchased four years ago by Miron Stables and has since won $282,000, including a second-place finish behind Diller Hanover in the 1959 Hambletonian and a win in the International Trot in 1962.

Dressing Room Comments

NEW YORK (AP)—New York Yankees are impressed—and downright awed by Sandy Koufax.

"He has the best curve ball I have ever seen," said Tom Tresh, who accounted for both Yankee runs with his homer in the eighth of the opening World Series game won 5-2 by Los Angeles Dodgers.

"When you hit his fast ball, it seems easy. When you don't it seems hard."

"I thought he pitched real well the whole game," said manager Ralph Houk.

"No, I didn't give my batters any advice. I give them credit for knowing what to do. No, they don't make comments when they come back to the dugout after striking out. That's little league stuff. No, they didn't describe what Koufax was throwing. They didn't need to do it. You could see for yourself. No, he doesn't pitch like anyone in our league."

SANDY WAS SUPERB
In short, there was agreement that Koufax was superb.

There was one die-hard, Joe Pepitone. Joe came up in the ninth with one out and Koufax needing one more strikeout to set a series record of 15.

"I looked out there and I just thought I don't want you breaking any record when I'm up here," said Joe. He got a single to right, but Koufax got his record by striking out Harry Bright to end the game.

Houk wouldn't even acknowledge that the Yankees had Koufax on the hook in the fifth when they loaded the bases on three hits.

"You don't get as good a pitcher as him on the hook that quick," said Houk. He then struck out Hector Lopez for the third out.

Houk said the defeat did not change his plans—Al Downing goes Thursday as expected.

"John Roseboro's homer was the big hit," said Houk. "That put us too far behind too early."

Whitely Ford, who started out well but landed in a mess of trouble in the second inning, could not account for what happened.

"In the first inning, I was pitching low," he said with a faint smile. "Then in the second I was pitching high."

"That's when Frank Howard doubled to centre and scored on Bill Skowron's single. Dick Tracewski followed with a single and Roseboro whacked one into the right field stands."

Koufax came close losing his forefinger

NEW YORK (AP)—Two Dodger team physicians said Wednesday they came within a day or two of having to think seriously about amputating the forefinger of Sandy Koufax's pitching hand last year.

But they said a new drug saved the finger and the career of the Los Angeles Dodger pitcher. And no doubt the drug made the Dodgers part of the audience at the World Series.

Koufax, who beat the Yankees in the Series opener Wednesday, was disabled in the middle of the 1962 season by a circulatory disorder in his left forefinger. The flow of blood was reduced to a fraction of normal by constriction of an artery leading to the finger from the palm. Later the finger went dead.

The Dodger physicians, Drs. Robert Kerlan and Robert Woods, called in Dr. Travis Winsor of Los Angeles, a specialist in circulatory disorders.

Dr. Kerlan said a blood clot was dissolved after several injections of a new drug.

"It hadn't dissolved, he (Koufax) might have lost the finger. There just wasn't enough circulation to supply it, and a finger can't live without blood," Dr. Kerlan said.

Lennoxville library growing; quarters are becoming cramped

ries which offer free reading for school children and teenagers. The youngsters, from the left, are, Sharyn Richardson, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Richardson of 27 Clough Street; Brenda

Williams, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Garnet Williams, 21 Maple Avenue and Jane Fuller, 9, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Fuller, 17 Park Avenue. (Record photo by Gerry Lemay)

Lennoxville's growing library, organized in 1900, needs more room and storage space, according to librarian Mrs. W. R. Baker.

Mrs. Baker said Tuesday that at least one more room and additional storage space is needed to accommodate the some 6,000 books and overcome the cramped-quarters condition.

At present the Lennoxville library occupies a small room in the Town Hall.

The books are arranged in tightly-spaced shelves which Mrs. Baker termed "horse-stalls."

"You can't get more than two people looking at books in the same stall," she said. "There have been times I have had people lined up to the very back of the room."

Mrs. Baker said she had visited many libraries in towns smaller than Lennoxville that have nice libraries, some of which received municipal aid or were endowed.

Lennoxville receives neither a municipal contribution nor is endowed. The only financial aid comes from a very small government grant and a share of funds from the annual Sherbrooke - Lennoxville Community Chest drive.

The annual Community Chest financial campaign is now underway and continues to October 8 with a $24,000 objective.

Storage space is a problem according to Mrs. Baker. Supplies, etc., are kept on bottom shelves of bookcases which should be holding library books. The only storage space is two small cupboards at the back of the room.

Lennoxville library's circulation is 15,000, very high for a community with a population of just over 4,000 people says Mrs. Baker.

Comparing the Lennoxville figures with a provincial chart, Mrs. Baker pointed out that several other communities with a population of 6,000 or more have a library-book circulation only over the 6,000 mark.

"There have been days here when over 125 books have gone out in one afternoon. It's not only the youngsters who come in, but the adults too," she said.

The Lennoxville Library is one of the few libraries which offers free reading for school children and teenagers.

The library is open three days a week: Tuesday from 3 to 5:30 p.m. and in the evening from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. On Friday from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. and on Saturday from 3 to 5:30 p.m.

Membership to the Lennoxville Library is $2.50 for the year, or $1.50 for six months.

Multi-million dollar enterprise about to start mine operations

MATAGAMI, Que. (CP) — A multi-million-dollar mining development carved out of the evergreen wilderness of northwestern Quebec is about to swing into production.

By mid-October, men and machines are to start gouging zinc, copper, gold and silver from three mines.

It will mark the climax to a five-year drive to push the frontier far enough back to permit exploitation of the mineral deposits of Matagami Lake Mines Ltd., Orchan Mines Ltd., of Noranda, Que.

Where virgin forest stood in 1958 there now is a brass boom town boasting indoor plumbing, juke boxes, electricity and a population expected to exceed 5,000 when the mines reach full production.

Matagami, 400 miles northwest of Montreal, has highway and rail links with the outside. A 118-mile highway was built north from Amos, Que., for $8,000,000 under the federal-provincial roads-to-resources program. The CNR built a 60-mile link northwest from Kiask Falls at a cost of $10,000,000. Hydro-

Quebec strung transmission lines 135 miles north from Pandora, Que.

HUGE INVESTMENT

Noranda's investment to bring the three new mines to the production stage has been estimated at approximately $50,000,000.

Main product of the mines will be zinc, although copper will be mined along with some gold and some silver. About half the zinc output is expected to go to Europe and the remainder to the United States.

Mills at the pithead will smash and grade the ore and reduce it to concentrates. The zinc concentrates will be carried by train to Valleyfield, 30 miles southwest of Montreal, where a new Noranda refinery will convert them into metal. Copper, gold and silver concentrates will go by train to Noranda for treatment at refineries there.

The new mines and the refinery at Valleyfield are expected to provide new jobs for 1,000 men.

SEE WIDE PROSPECTS

And veteran residents of the north are saying the opening of the new mining town is only the beginning. Already prospectors are moving north from the town toward James Bay.

Some look on the town as a potential site for a pulp and paper mill because of huge forest reserves nearby. Others say nearby streams could supply additional hydro-electric power.

While talk of mining dominates the town's conversation, education and politics are other subjects.

A modern school has been built at Matagami for both French- and English-speaking children. The school's director is Abbe Paul Bernard, a missionary priest in the area for several years. The relations between the Protestant and Catholic school commissions of the area have been described as an example for the rest of the country.

The town will soon be called on to elect its first council. The present council was appointed by the Quebec government. The mayor is Mastai Lemieux, a land surveyor who was a pioneer in the area.

Board to censor publications in South Africa

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa (Reuters)—Sellers and distributors of "undesirable literature" stand to lose a lot of money when the newly-established Publications Board swings into action later this year.

In November the board will have the power to ban any offensive overseas literature, "and we will use it," says Professor Gerrit Dekker, chairman of the board.

"If distributors and sellers have big stocks on their hands when the ban comes through they will not be able to sell them. It will be their bad luck if they lose any money, and it will teach them a lesson."

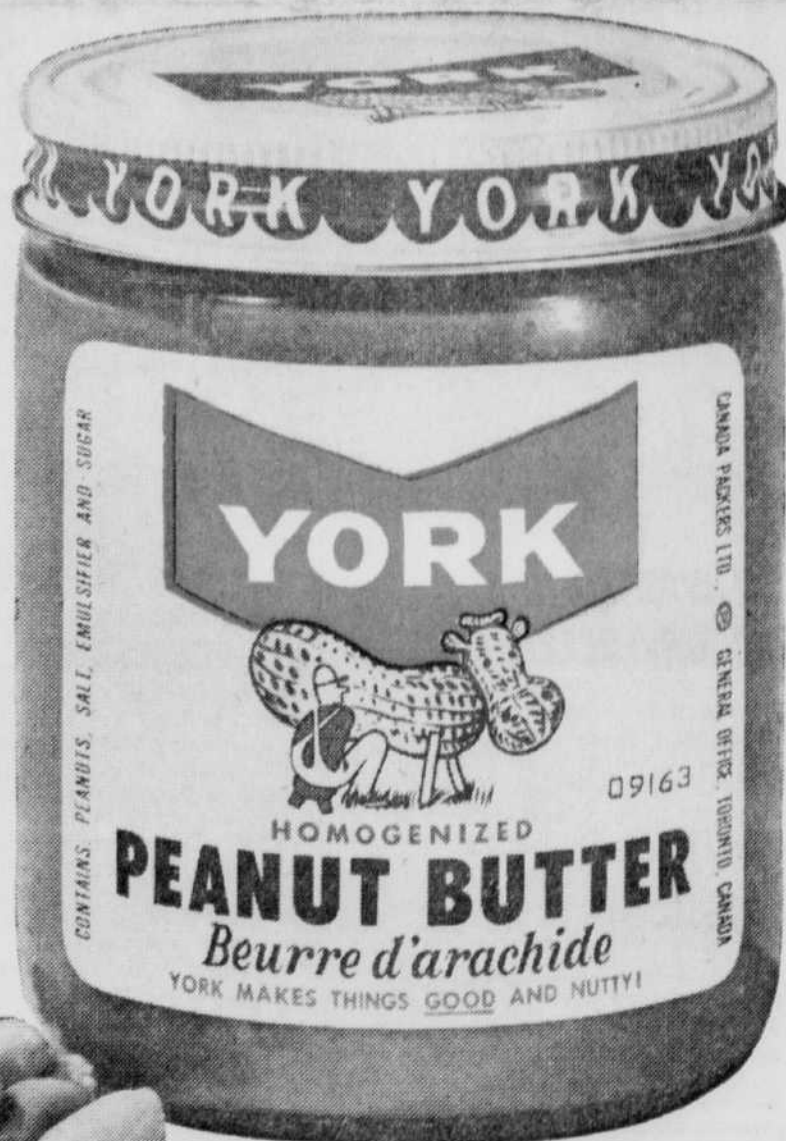

Dekker said the board's power would extend to comics, soft-cover books and magazines, in fact, any literature from overseas.

All the board needs to take action is a complaint. Any individual or organization in South Africa can complain to the board. After the complainant has paid a cash sum the board will investigate the complaint—and will ban the literature involved if it is found "morally lacking."

Dekker said the real problem was not one of pornography but the absolute degeneration of taste and moral standards.

We can't find anything Better than Peanuts for York Peanut Butter

REPORT TO MOTHERS: No matter how much we test and experiment we haven't been able to improve on the flavour and natural goodness of peanuts. They have to be especially good peanuts, mind you! They have to be skilfully cleaned, radiant-roasted and carefully homogenized to make sure the delicious nutty butter stays smooth and creamy right to the bottom of the jar. Apart from a pinch of salt and a smidgin of sugar we've found that nothing else can add to the satisfying flavour of what has become Canada's favourite Peanut Butter. We'll keep experimenting, naturally, but if you want wholesome peanut butter for your family... always make sure to get York Peanut Butter... smooth, or crunchy.

Bennett-Bennett

The marriage of Mabel Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman C. Bennett of Lennoxville, to Mr. Charles Lloyd Bennett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd A. Bennett, of Huntingville, took place in St. Peter's Anglican Church, recently, Rev. J. D. F. Anido officiated for the double ring ceremony. Mr. Morris Austin played the wedding music and Master Michael Cotterell sang "On the Wings of a Dove" during the signing of the register. Standards of red, pink and white gladioli, arranged with greenery were used to decorate the church. The guest pews were marked with white satin bows.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, was in a floor length gown of white corded peau de soie, with long sleeves ending in points over the hands. The bateau neckline of the fitted bodice was outlined with Chantilly lace and embroidered with sequins, the chapel train held at the waist by a large bow, was attached to the straight skirt by a bow on each side and trimmed with a border of Chantilly lace. Her elbow length veil of tulle illusion was held in place by a Chantilly lace headpiece, with clusters of pearls and crystal droplets. She carried a colonial bouquet of red and white American beauty roses. Her only ornament was a single strand of pearls and matching earrings, a gift of the groom.

Miss Helena Bennett, sister of the bride, as maid of honor, was in a street-length dress, fashioned with a fitted bodice of white brocade having a bateau neckline and short sleeves. The bell-shaped skirt was of white georgette chiffon over taffeta. A white brocade train was attached to the waist at the back ending at the hemline. Her short veil of blue tulle was held in place by a blue brocade bandeau. Her colonial bouquet was of red Independence roses.

The bridesmaids were Miss Thelma Bennett, sister of the groom, and Miss Geraldine Robinson, cousin of the bride. They wore blue dresses fashioned identical to that of the maid of honor. They carried colonial bouquets of pink sweetheart roses.

Mr. John Fraser acted as best man and the ushers were Messrs. Rodney Bennett, brother of the bride, and Terry O'Connor.

Mrs. Herman Bennett, mother of the bride, wore a sheath dress of blue brocade and a mink stole, a blue mari-bou and ostrich feather hat with black accessories. Her corsage was of pink sweetheart roses.

The groom's mother, Mrs. Lloyd Bennett, was attired in a figured charcoal rayon suit with a white hat and accessories and a corsage of red sweetheart roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held for 120 guests in the church hall which was decorated with white wedding bells, garlands and standards of gladioli throughout the hall. The head table was centered with a four tier wedding cake, made by the bride's aunt, Mrs. Earl Robinson, and decorated by the mother and sister of the bride. It was topped with a miniature bride and groom and flanked by flowers and four candles.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Bennett left by motor for Miami, Florida, via Brampton, Ontario and Detroit, Michigan. For her trip, the bride wore a mocha ribbed knit wool jersey suit with matching accessories and a corsage bouquet of Talsman roses.

The couple are now residing at 276 Churchill Blvd, Greenfield Park.

The honored guests received congratulations and dancing was enjoyed.

Mr. Robinson expressed appreciation on behalf of Mrs. Robinson and himself for the honor shown them.

Guests were from all surrounding districts and points in Vermont.

Canadian woman runs orphanage in Nigeria

PETERBOROUGH, Ont. (CP) — In a remote village in Nigeria a Canadian woman is struggling to bring relief to orphaned children after two similar endeavors in her own country failed to satisfy authorities.

Mrs. Bernia (Mom) Whyte had her home for children near Bowmanville, Ont., closed by officials in 1959 because of health regulations. A second home for children in Summerland, B.C., failed the following year when she was unable to obtain a licence.

Now Mrs. Whyte, who says God has instructed her to help those in need, heads an orphanage training centre and ambulance service at Aiyetoro in Nigeria's Kabba province.

Her village is far from any large centre and is without telephones, cars, electricity or running water. A small hospital with a doctor and two nurses is 14 miles from the village. Seldom does a day go by when her "ambulance" isn't called out to take sick people from surrounding villages to the hospital.

She describes her ambulance as an old pickup truck "on its last legs." It is covered with a tarpaulin and a door or similar makeshift serves as a stretcher.

LEAD VILLAGERS Her orphanage, Whytehaven Missions, houses 22 babies. The training centre is a community project, founded and supported by an advisory board of Kabba province chiefs and a working committee from the village.

The committee forms work bands, provides supplies and lectures to villagers on their duties. Its objectives are to care for orphans and train them as leaders and supervisors to help establish agricultural and child care projects in other villages.

Mrs. Whyte says her most urgent needs are a dispensary and its equipment, a van to be used as an ambulance, medical supplies and seeds to grow fruit, nuts and vegetables.

LENNOXVILLE U.C.W.

The United Church women of Lennoxville United Church held their fall meeting recently in the Gertrude Scott Hall, with the president, Mrs. A. B. Lovelace, in the chair.

A short service of worship was conducted by members of Unit 3. The program consisted of an interesting account of the Summer School for United Church Women at Macdonald College given by Miss E. Bassett, who was a delegate from the Lennoxville U.C.W.

The president reminded those present that Thank-offering envelopes for use by the women of the congregation would be placed in the church before Thanksgiving.

Letters of thanks were read, including one from Norway House for the parcel of Christmas gifts sent to them recently. A financial report was given by Mrs. D. Baldwin.

Mrs. Lovelace gave a short account of the Presbyterian Rally held in Plymouth United Church. She also mentioned the successful Vacation School conducted by Lennoxville United Church during July, which was attended by approximately 125 children, including 50 from other churches.

An interesting letter from one of the two children supported by the contributions of the Lennoxville U.C.W. to the Canadian Save-the-Children Fund was read. It was agreed that the members should continue to aid these children until their education is completed.

Mrs. D. Hadlock spoke about the Audio-Visual Workshop for Christian Education leaders, which had proved to be a most valuable project. The members were able to inspect the interesting exhibits set up around the hall to illustrate some of the different teaching aids now available.

A list of charter members and deceased members of the Lennoxville U.C.W. has been compiled and will be sent to Mrs. J. B. Moore for use in a permanent record.

Mrs. H. Robertson summarized the plans for the Christmas Bazaar to be held on November 27 and 28. Other upcoming events include a supper for the Choir and Youth leaders, and a rummage sale, convened by Unit 3, on Oct. 5.

After adjournment of the meeting, refreshments were served in the Ladies' Parlour by members of Unit 1.

CONFIDENTIALLY YOURS

MONTREAL, October 3rd — There isn't a gal I know who isn't pining for something or other, perhaps it's a new dining room suite, a new living-room rug — maybe, a dashing new fall outfit. If there is something you're yearning for, you can probably finance it through a low-cost BANK OF MONTREAL Family Finance Plan loan. This modern plan is life-insured for your protection and payments can be made in regular monthly installments spread over two years or even longer. Talk it over with your husband tonight — then visit your neighbourhood branch of the B of M tomorrow to arrange for your B of M Family Finance Plan loan.

NEXT TIME you have spaghetti for dinner, make your meat sauce the delicious Italian way, with a cup of Bright's MANOR ST. DAVIDS Claret added. . . then enjoy what's left in the bottle with your meal. This delightful red wine is perfect with good red meat of any kind. . . steaks, chops, roasts or meat sauce. First sip and you'll know that it's a wine worthy of connoisseurs' praises. . . yet you don't pay connoisseurs' prices for it. That's because Bright's Manor St. David's is a red wine of the country. . . made from grapes grown right here in the Niagara Peninsula. Just wonderful!

ALL THAT SPARKLES IS NOT CLEAN . . . for instance your kitchen sink, bathroom basin and tub may look immaculate, but dangerous germs breed in every drain. That's why I urge you to use GILLET'S DRAIN CLEANER every week, to combat the filthy muck where these germs breed. . . because liquid disinfectants simply can't budge it. The big difference lies in Gillet's special churning, boiling action. . . leaves drains fast-running, clean and sanitary. So keep your kitchen sink a safe place to wash food and dishes, your bathroom basin and tub immaculately clean. . . by putting 2 tablespoons of Gillet's Drain Cleaner in every drain, every week!

BREAKFAST IS THE MOST IMPORTANT MEAL of the day. And one of the most nourishing and flavourful ways many of my friends and I have found to get a good start on the day is with tasty POST BRAN FLAKES. It is ideal for modern diets; containing all the nourishment value of golden bran and other parts of wheat plus added Vitamin B. Serve crisp, golden flakes of toasted Post Bran Flakes with milk or highlight the bran-dandy flavour by adding your favourite fresh or canned fruit. Right from the first delicious spoonful you know that these toasted flakes of golden bran can only come from Post. Of course, many people also enjoy Post Bran Flakes because it is a natural, gentle and effective aid to regularity. It means so much. Start your day a little bit better with a cereal fresh from Post. BRAN FLAKES! P.S. Good cooks also use Post Bran Flakes for stuffing and toppings.

DON'T LET PAST HABITS BECOME A BLINDFOLD that keeps you from buying something better! Take Toilet Tissue as an example — I was happy enough with my old brand until I tried WHITE SWAN. What a wonderful difference! Yet it's not costing me one cent more per roll to enjoy the extra comfort that goes with White Swan's exquisite softness, absorbency and "Feather Touch" perforation. You'll like the greater firmness too when you get your White Swan Tissue in white or the popular new pastel colours. So do make it a habit to ask for White Swan and enjoy the luxury of this best-selling, much better toilet tissue!

A GREAT COMBINATION FOR A DELICIOUS MAIN DISH . . . Next time you want a hurry-up meal for your family, try this recipe starring easy-to-use Monarch TEA-BISK. The fluffy, golden topping is so quick and easy to make with Tea-Bisk and always turns out just right!

CASSEROLE CAPRI In a 1½ quart casserole combine 1 tin of condensed vegetable soup, 1 15-ounce tin of cut green beans (drained) and 1 lb. of ground-beef hamburger which has been pan-fried until lightly browned. Add salt and pepper to taste. Cover with Tea-Bisk topping following the easy recipe on Monarch Tea-Bisk package. Bake in 450 degree oven 15 to 20 minutes or until golden brown. Serves 4 to 6.

I THINK YOU'LL AGREE that one of life's pleasures is a wash that comes clean — really clean — from the washer. Well, there's an easy and inexpensive way to achieve this . . . with that wonder-working CALGON water conditioner. Just add it to your wash water, with less of your favourite soap or detergent, and to the rinse. Linens will gleam. . . colours come up bright. . . towels fluff up like new. . . regain their natural softness. This is why washer instruction booklets recommend Calgon. Yes, the pleasure of a really clean wash will be yours when you use Calgon!

THERE'S NO NEED TO LET YOUR WORK SUFFER because of rheumatic, arthritic or neuritic pain. This letter tells you why. — Mr. Francis Smith of Vancouver writes, "I have suffered a great deal from lumbago. I am a carpenter and the pain made it hard for me to bend or stoop. I have tried everything and have found that nothing compares with Templeton's TRC's for quick and satisfactory relief. Do try TEMPLETON'S TRC's if you suffer in this way. And for even faster, DOUBLE ACTION relief, apply Templeton's FLAME-cream Liniment (in the handy, roll-on applicator bottle) externally, when you take TRC's internally."

THAT MASCULINE LOOK — Shirts and boots with a masculine accent are the fashion in London. The low-heeled, thigh-length boots are patterned on 19th century cavalry boots. The mannish shirts are no-iron poplin with French cuffs. Each comes with three detachable collars. (CP Photo).

SEEK MORE RICE — The UN's Food and Agriculture Organization experts are seeking to increase Liberia's rice production five-fold in the next five years.

Chinese are keen on police duties in bigger cities

PEKING (Reuters)—Civic police are few and far between in Communist China, but most Chinese, especially in the bigger cities, have the spirit of a policeman.

The man in the street is actively encouraged to mind his neighbors' and strangers' business and to take independent action to prevent any irregularities which he may see. Newspaper articles frequently praise "busybodies" as loyal citizens.

Many people believe this is one of the reasons, though by no means the only one, for the all-prevailing honesty which is such a striking feature of China under Communist rule.

For example, a man who stole a bicycle and took it home would immediately attract his neighbors' attention. If he tried to sell it elsewhere, the prospective buyer would either report him or would himself be investigated by his own neighbors.

A waiter who took a tip, strictly forbidden here, would be criticized by his fellow-waiters. His action would be reported to his neighborhood street committee and he would be criticized until he promised not to repeat his misdemeanor.

FOREIGNERS WATCHED — Many foreigners in Peking, including ambassadors of countries on good terms with Communist China, have come across the diligent bureaucracy of the ordinary Chinese citizen.

Recently there have been several cases of Chinese citizens seeing foreigners take photographs which they think might cast a bad light on their country.

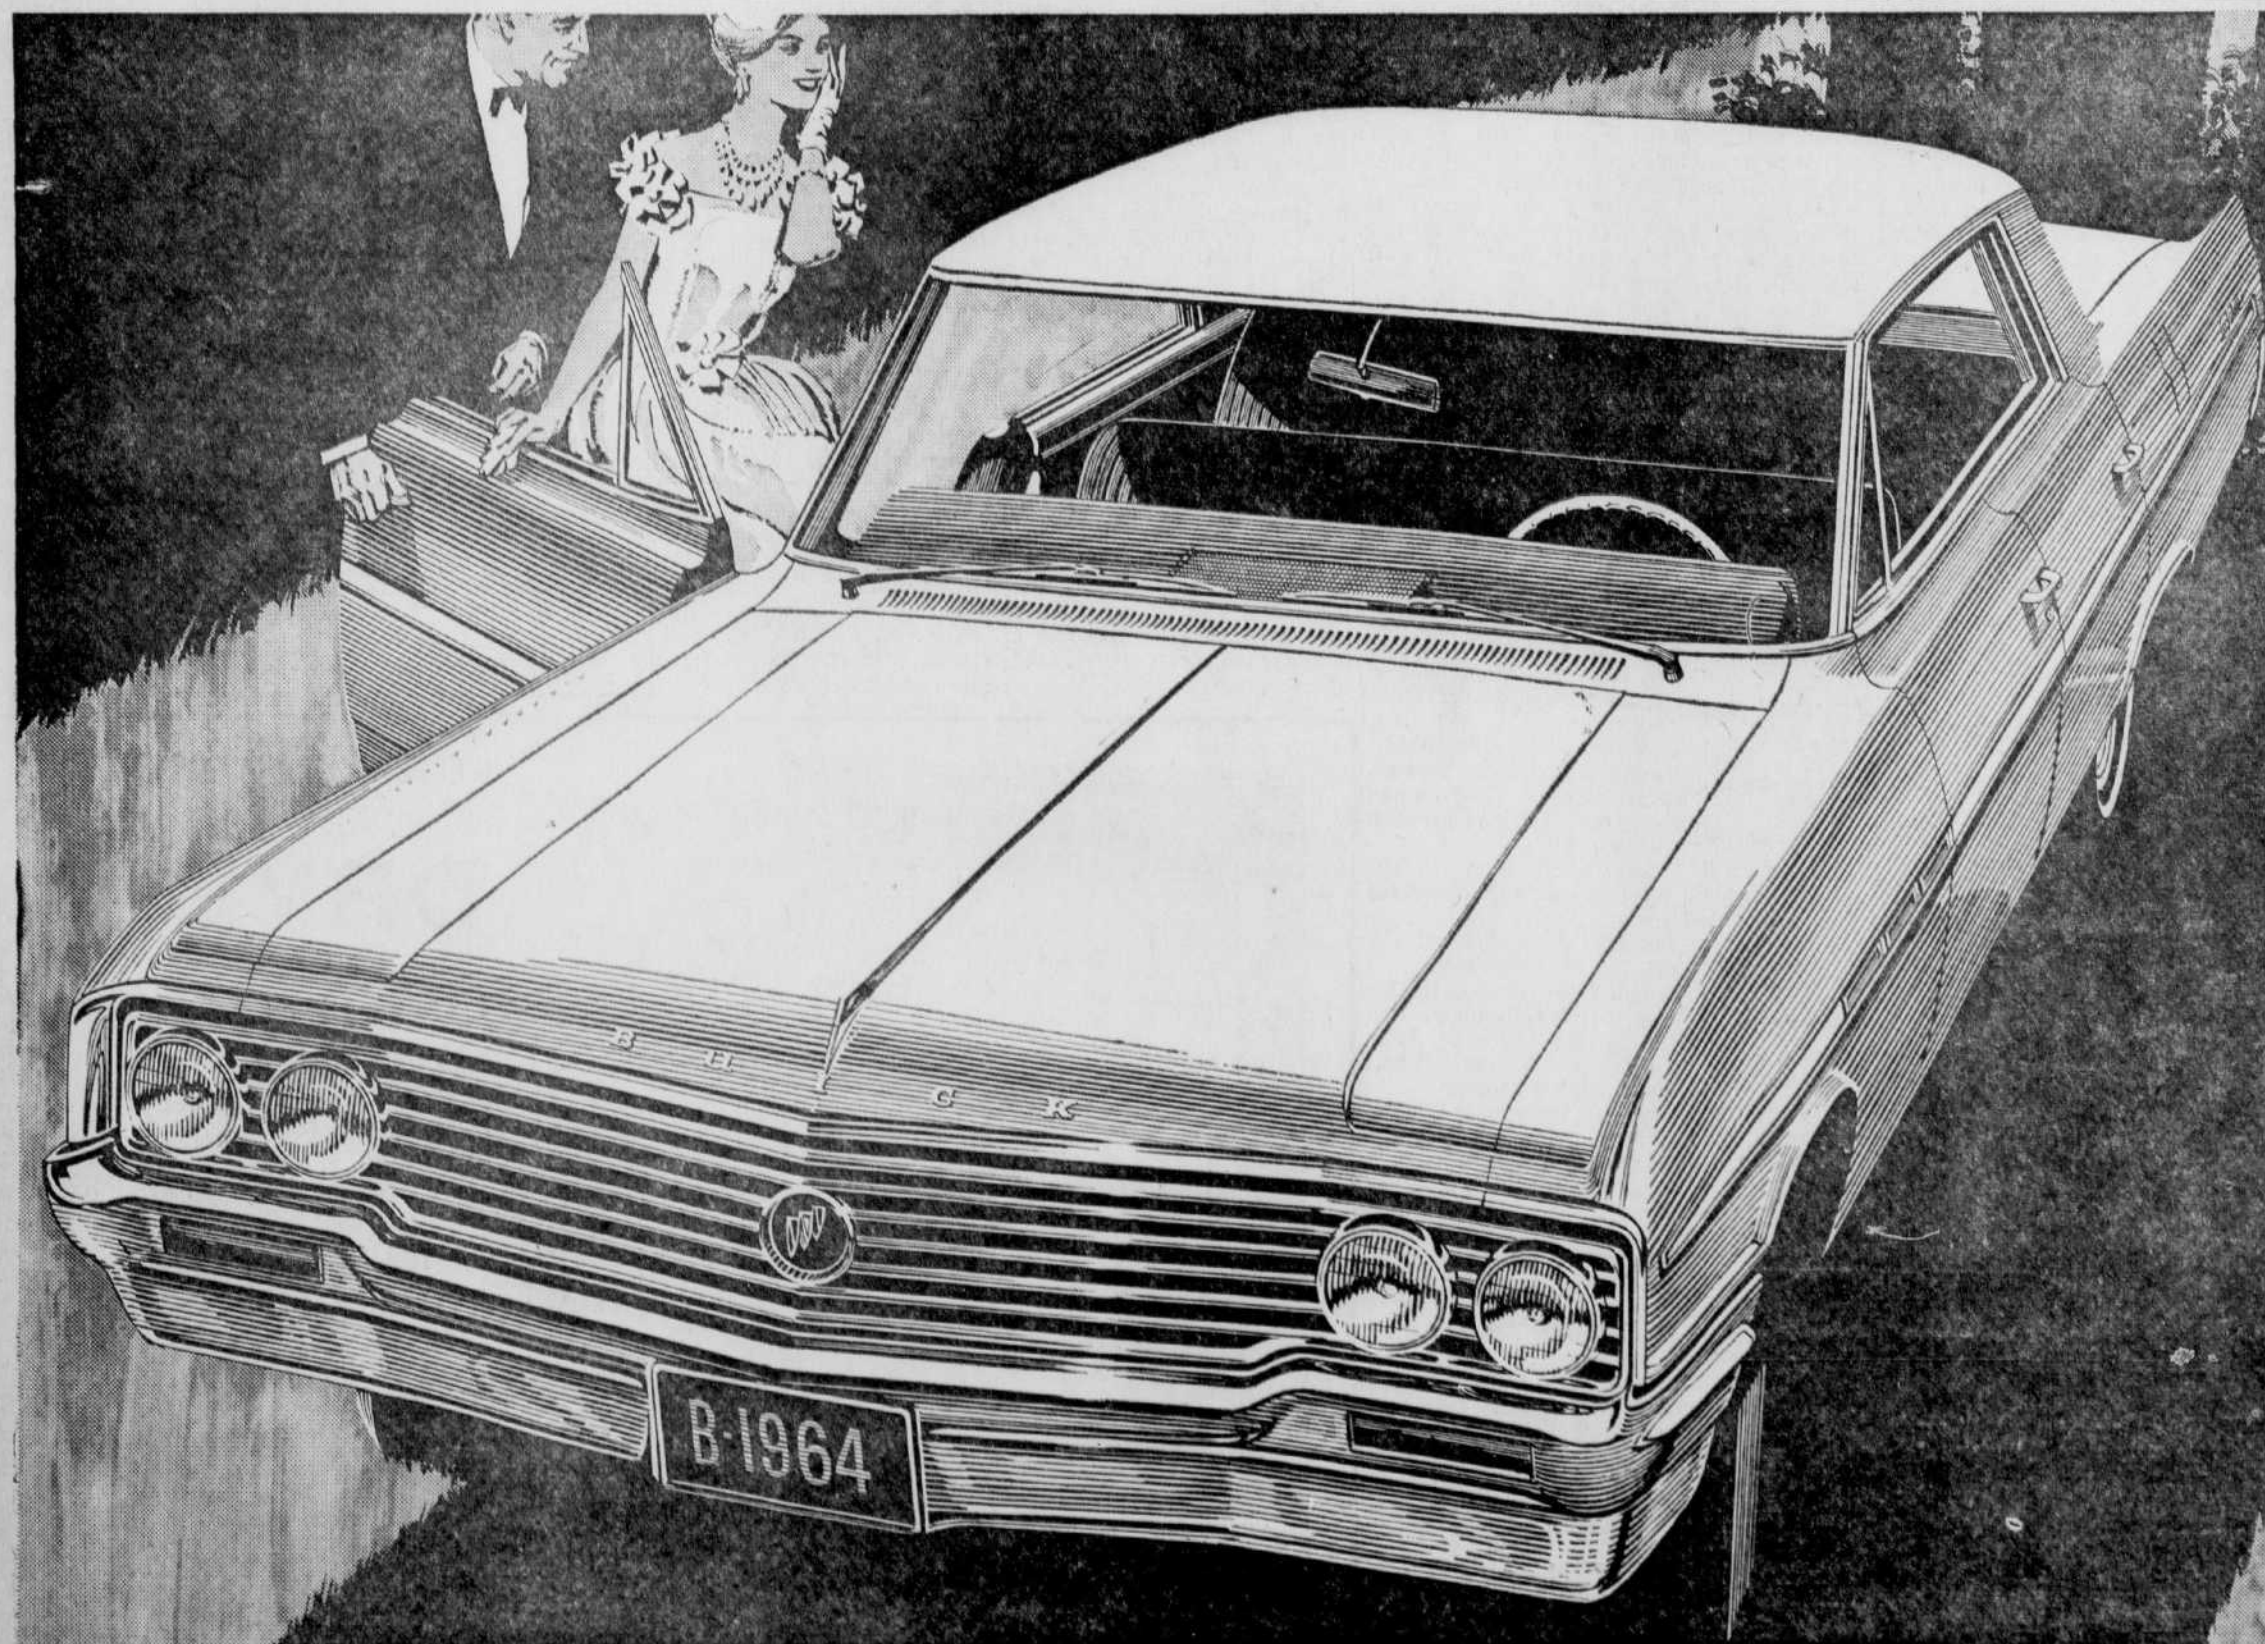

One acquaintance of this correspondent was "arrested" by a group of people and held incommunicado at the police station for more than an hour until his embarrassed Chinese hosts came to rescue him.

He had been photographing a pile of watermelons in the street. He had not noticed some children nearby picking up the seeds of the melons from the pavement—a popular pastime in China.

The citizens who arrested him, he was told, had thought he was taking pictures to illustrate food shortages in China.

Unofficial contact between foreigners and Chinese citizens of any category is strongly discouraged, presumably because it is thought the foreigner may try to spread "imperialist" or "revisionist" ideas.

Farmhouse used as meeting place for ragtime fans

TORONTO (CP)—The brash sounds of piano music coming from a 150-year-old farmhouse here may mean another meeting of the Ragtime Society is in session.

Or they may simply mean that Idamay and Allen MacInnes, interior designers by profession and ragtime enthusiasts by vocation, are trying out one of their three pianos.

Until three years ago Mrs. MacInnes, a pianist with a classical background, had never played ragtime or jazz of any kind. Then she heard Bob Darch, a professional ragtime pianist, at a night club.

She and her husband became eager converts to the ragtime revival. Experienced collectors of early pine furniture, they moved right on to collecting old ragtime sheet music and piano player rolls.

Collecting finally led to the formation of a Ragtime Society with two other enthusiasts and the result is a loosely knit group of more than 200 in widely separated parts of North America.

Communication is kept up through a monthly letter that carries news of hard-to-find ragtime sheet music and piano player rolls.

WATERLOO —

Mrs. Ben Ward, in company with Mr. and Mrs. Grant Strange, motored to Quebec City to meet Mr. Herbert Walker of Manchester, England. Mr. Walker arrived on the Express of Canada to spend six weeks with his sister, Mrs. Ward and his nieces and nephews of the Stretch family.

A recent guest of Mrs. J. L. S. Simpson was Miss Clare Lambert, of Melbourne.

Mr. Arnold Bridge of Kazabazua, who is spending a few days in town visiting relatives, is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. George Bailey.

Mrs. Russell Bockus returned from the Sherbrooke Hospital on Sept. 24.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Ward accompanied Mr. and Mrs. Grant Strange to Quebec City to meet Mr. Herbert Walker, of Cheshire, England, who has arrived for a visit.

Without outside assistance, the couple rebuilt two uprights, hardening the felt on the hammers to give the notes a banjo-like ring. The banjo played an important part in early ragtime, which had its beginnings around 1890 in Sedalia, a booming frontier town in Missouri.

The MacInneses also have a baby grand in the parlor of the refurbished old house in north Toronto but the two uprights in the rear of the home are the ones that get the real workout.

New computer

MONTREAL (CP)—An electronic weather computer which digests basic meteorological data at a rate of 100,000 computations a second was officially placed in service Tuesday at the federal transport department's central analysis office at Montreal International Airport. The computer produces weather charts showing actual and expected distributions of pressure.

Indonesia 'cycles won't go until '65

JAKARTA, Indonesia (AP)—Indonesia's lowly betjak, a passenger tricycle that gives thousands a living but snarls Jakarta traffic into a hair-raising mess, has won a reprieve from the junkpile.

Its planned abolition from the roads of this tropical capital has been postponed until 1965. With the reprieve the government stalled off potential trouble.

Last year the Jakarta city administration announced that the betjak (pronounced bet-jah), a sort of modernized ricksha with pedals, was to disappear from the city within 12 months.

The reason was in part an attempt to clear congested streets.

Another, equally important reason was that the sight of thousands of sweating, often emancipated betjak drivers clashed harshly with President Sukarno's off-voiced tirades against what he calls "exploitation of man by man."

AN ANACHRONISM

The betjak, the president declared, was an anachronism in Indonesia's "just and prosperous society" and a reminder of a hated colonial past.

An estimated 100,000 persons in Jakarta make their living, on one way or another, from the 40,000 betjaks in the capital. The government mentioned finding new jobs for them. But no concrete measures were announced.

The government, though having changed its mind, for the time being, has not given up its plan for a ban. Jakarta's governor, Sumarno Sostromidjojo, told betjak drivers, who generally stay in the saddle for five or six years before their legs wear out:

"Go find another trade . . . This is not good for your health. And it degrades the nation."

A Writer's notes

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—Things a columnist might never know if he didn't open his mail:

If you want to stay sweet-tempered, don't cut down on your calories too drastically. . . . Hunger makes you irritable and angry.

Good and Bad: One tradition says that a gift of pearls to a bride will bring her happiness. . . . Another tradition holds that a bride's pearls "represent the tears she will shed in her married life." (But most girls are glad to get the pearls.)

Some people claim they can read from 2,000 to 8,000 words a minute. . . . But tests show that anyone who reads faster than 1,450 words a minute is actually skimming. (When I read that fast, it makes my lips sore.)

Our Quotable Notables: "There was never yet a philosopher that could endure the toothache patiently." — William Shakespeare.

SUPERSTITIOUS SOULS

Oldtime vaudevillians were among the most superstitious of performers. . . . They thought it brought bad luck to whistle in a dressing room, to throw a hat on a bed, or get a No. 13 train berth. . . . Many also thought it was courting disaster to deliver the last line of an act during a rehearsal, or to rub on cheek rouge with a powder puff instead of a rabbit's foot.

Odd Legislation: In Kentucky, it once was a criminal offence to fire a gun that wasn't loaded.

Worth Remembering: "The best solution for dandruff is a tweed suit." — Arnold H. Glasgow.

Powerful: The heat created in the sun is equal to the energy produced by 1,000,000,000 hydrogen bombs exploding every second.

Nature Notes: Zoo gorillas are often fed raw meat, but in the wilds they are strictly vegetarians. . . . The erroneous idea that ostriches stupidly try to hide their heads in the sand when threatened probably arises from the fact that these birds, when resting, often squat down and stretch their necks out flat on the ground.

It was Elbert Hubbard who observed: "The world is moving so fast these days that the man who says it can't be done is generally interrupted by someone doing it."

The 14,000 Boy Scouts who attended the 1963 world jamboree at Marathon, Greece, used some 1,500 tons of water a day.

The offering was taken by Mrs. Murray Nugent, of Kinneear's Mills and Mrs. Russell Little, of Thetford Mines.

Following a solo, rendered by Mrs. Robert Gale, accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Robert Fallot, the guest speaker, Rev. Roy Jordison, was introduced.

Mr. Jordison, who had spent four and a half years as missionary in South Western section of Trinidad, where he had an 8-point charge, gave an interesting resume of the historical and racial background of Trinidad.

Asian Christian missionary work carried on among the Islam and Hindu people being made possible through support given to the Mission Societies of the United Church, he urged that this support be continued. Slides were shown to illustrate his talk.

At the close of the rally, tea was served and the day's session came to a close.
