Ford fires security leaders

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Ford has fired William Colby, director of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA), as well as Defence Secretary James Schlesinger and has asked State Secretary Henry Kissinger to step down as head of the National Security Council (NSC), senior Pentagon officials said late Sunday.

Unconfirmed reports said Colby is being replaced by George Bush, now chief of the U.S. liaison office in Peking, and Schlesinger is being succeeded by Donald Rumsfeld, White House staff chief.

Kissinger will remain as state secretary but be replaced as head of the National Security Council by air force Lt.-Gen. Brent Scowcroft, currently Kissinger's national security deputy, sources said.

The major shakeup in the U.S. national security apparatus caught at least Schlesinger by complete surprise, sources said. He was called to the White House Sunday morning unaware that anything was imminent, and then was dismissed, the sources said.

At a 90-minute meeting on policy issues with Ford Saturday, there was no mention of his forthcoming dismissal, sources said.

Schlesinger assured aides who heard rumors he was being fired that it was untrue. He was asked to come to the White House for a meeting with Ford at 8:30 a.m. Sunday when he was told of his dismissal.

NEW JOBS TURNED DOWN

Schlesinger was offered a range of other jobs, including ambassadorships, but turned them down, sources said.

Other unconfirmed reports said Colby also was offered other posts but declined them.

Ford and administration officials refused to comment.

(Sources in Washington, who preferred to remain anonymous, told The Canadian Press in effect that the reported removal of Schlesinger and Kissinger was initiated by Rumsfeld.)

Two sources close to the CIA said Colby was stepping down. "I understand it is true," said one source when asked if Colby was leaving the agency. The source said his information was based on a telephone call with White House officials travelling with Ford in Florida.

2 die in ET accidents

EASTERN TOWNSHIPS (GA) — Two single car accidents over the weekend took the lives of the drivers, according to Quebec Provincial Police. Dead are Robert Benoit, 20, of R.R. 1 Magog who lost control of his car at 9:15 Friday evening striking a stone abutment. He was pronounced dead on arrival at the Hotel Dieu Hospital.

Sylvie Noel, of the same address, a passenger in Benoit's car was admitted to Hotel Dieu Hospital where she is reported in satisfactory condition.

The second accident claimed the life of Raymond Dubeau, 47, of 422 Surprenant St., Drummondville. According to police, Mr. Dubeau was killed after losing control of his car on the 12th range in Notre Dame Du Bon Conseil at 4:20 p.m. Saturday.

In Quebec over the weekend 18 persons died in traffic fatalities, and one in a fire. A Canadian Press survey from 6 p.m. Friday evening to midnight Sunday revealed 54 traffic fatalities in Canada, eight fire deaths, five drownings, four persons killed in two plane crashes, a child killed when he fell into a construction pit and an elderly man killed when he fell into an excavation ditch.

According to the survey, the unofficial number of persons killed on Canadian roads so far this year is 3,042.

Firemen fight two fires

EASTERN TOWNSHIPS (GA) — Only two fires were reported over the weekend, one in Magog and the other in Sherbrooke. According to the Magog Fire Department a home owned by Mrs.

Bowen on Agamare St. was completely destroyed by fire at 2 a.m. today. According to a fire department official there was no one in the home at the time. The cause of the fire is under investigation.

In Sherbrooke, Fire Station No. 2 at 10 p.m.

yesterday extinguished a fire in a stove at Caruso Pizza Restaurant, at 2195 King St. West.

Quebec nurses reopen work-to-rule campaign

MONTREAL (CP) — A union official says Quebec's nurses will intensify a work-to-rule campaign they started Saturday unless the government makes an acceptable contract offer soon.

Premier Robert Bourassa said during the weekend that the Quebec government would announce wage offers for the nurses when the legislature reconvenes Tuesday.

They wore civilian clothes and refused to perform tasks not considered to be part of their duties, such as answering telephones and making beds.

Susan Pfeiffer, of the 7,000-member United Nurses Federation, said the nurses were "discouraged and fed up" with numerous delays in a wage settlement.

One official estimated that only 1,400 of the province's 12,000 nurses were working. Montreal hospitals reported little effect so far on patient admittance and care. Three city hospitals are maintaining injunctions which forbid work stoppages.

Postal talks resume today

OTTAWA (CP) — Negotiators in the national postal dispute were scheduled to resume their talks at 10 a.m. EST today after re-grouping during the weekend. The strike now is in its second week.

When talks adjourned early Saturday following a marathon round of bargaining last week, two non-monetary issues remained to be settled.

Spokesmen for both sides say they have been unsuccessful in their attempts to agree on the use of casual non-union labor and electronic surveillance as well as wages.

Joe Davidson, president of the 22,000-member Canadian Union of Postal Workers (CUPW), said Sunday the rank and file have been overwhelming in their support of their negotiating team. Mr. Davidson spent most of last week touring union locals in Western Canada.

Mr. Davidson, responding to comments from Postmaster-General Bryce Mackasey suggesting that his presence at the bargaining session could speed the talks, replied: "I have every confidence in the negotiating team and have no plans to join the talks."

TALKS TO MEMBERS
Meanwhile, Marcel Perreault, head of the Montreal CUPW local, and Jean-Claude Parrot, chief negotiator, addressed about 300 union members in Montreal Sunday.

"There hasn't been a single telegram or telephone call to the bargaining team telling us to go quicker and get the strike over with. This is unprecedented," Mr. Perreault said.

Mr. Parrot told the members that despite post office negotiators "systematically rejecting" all union wage proposals "the union will remain flexible."

"We know we will have to compromise," he said. Mr. Mackasey, who personally intervened in the bargaining last week, said Saturday he is unable to determine if the wage offer tabled by the post office is acceptable to the union.

The offer, recommended by a conciliation board report, is for a $1.70 an hour increase over 30 months. The letter carriers settled for the same amount last April.

The hourly rate now is $4.56 and the offer will increase this to $6.26 an hour or about $13,000 a year by late 1976.

The union has demanded a 51-per-cent increase over 27 months for its members who sort mail and man postal wickets.

AT LIMIT
Mr. Mackasey has said repeatedly that the government offer cannot be increased and that the union may have to settle for less money if it wants more in other areas.

He said the post office needs casual labor to handle sudden increases in the

Caouette steps down as leader

OTTAWA (CP) — Real Caouette, leader of the Social Credit party, said Sunday that because of his health, he will be stepping down as party leader.

At a weekend meeting of the party's national council, Mr. Caouette said his health has improved recently, but he does not wish to take part in another national election campaign.

Mr. Caouette, 58, has been a diabetic for some time. He will remain as leader until that time and will continue as MP for the northwestern Quebec riding of Temiscamingue.

In a speech to the national council delegates, Mr. Caouette called for national and party unity to overcome what he termed a general malaise in the country.

"There is a political vacuum in our country," he said. "People do not know where to go."

He also criticized fellow French-Canadians who place the blame for all their problems on English-Canadians.

"If Quebec hasn't developed, it's not English

Canada's fault, but the fault of some damned French-Canadians."

CONVENTION PLANNED
The council decided a leadership convention will take place between Sept. 1 and Nov. 30, 1976. The party's national executive will decide the exact dates.

Several MPs in the 11-man Social Credit caucus already have expressed interest in the leader's job. They include: Gilbert Rondeau (Shefford), Rene Matte (Champlain), Leonel Beaudoin (Richmond), and Andre Fortin (Lotbiniere). Other possible candidates are Mr. Caouette's son, Gilles, a former MP and now a full-time party worker, and Martin Hattersley, an Edmonton lawyer who was re-elected Sunday for a second two-year term as the party's national president.

Mr. Caouette said in an interview Sunday he will not intervene in the selection of the leader.

Another lull sets in Lebanon's civil war

BEIRUT (AP) — Another lull in Lebanon's Christian-Muslim war set in today, with only scattered shooting reported. Broadcasts and newspapers expressed hope that the 12th ceasefire negotiated by Premier Rashid Karami might be successful.

Security officials attributed the new lull to round-the-clock negotiations by Karami, Palestinian guerrilla leaders and representatives of the right-wing Christian Phalange party. Militiamen of both sides began to heed the repeated ceasefire calls of their leaders.

Left-wing Moslems and Palestinian guerrillas halted their week-long assaults on the downtown hotel district, where Phalangists and militiamen of the National Liberal party were holed up in the Holiday Inn, the Phoenixia, the St. Georges and other vantage points.

Residents of the area reported large numbers of armed men withdrew late Sunday afternoon and through the night.

The ceasefire in the eastern suburbs was delayed when Christian snipers killed two liaison officers, a Palestinian guerrilla from Yasser Arafat's Al Fatah organization and a Lebanese army major, as they were driving through the Moslem suburb of Chiyah.

The World in focus

Franco slept well

MADRID (Reuter) — Francisco Franco, 82, critically ill for nearly two weeks, slept all night without problems, a statement issued by his household said early today.

A medical bulletin Sunday night said the general remained in a grave condition. But it said there has been no increase in his internal stomach bleeding.

Kidnappers appear

MONASTEREVIN, Ireland (AP) — Kidnapped Dutch industrialist Tiede Herrema appeared briefly late Sunday at a window of the house where he is being held at gun-point and shouted at police: "Get back, get back."

Herrema, who has been a captive in the house for 13 days, was dishevelled and unshaven. Earlier his two kidnappers demanded food from police who have surrounded the building.

Bomb under car

LONDON (CP) — Police say three people were injured when a bomb exploded early today under a car in fashionable Connaught Square just off Hyde Park.

The car was lifted into the air by the blast and flipped over onto its roof, just as the owner, Richard Charnley, was about to drive off.

Charnley, a lawyer, was taken to a hospital and his housekeeper said she believes he has a broken leg.

A hospital spokesman said Charnley's condition was satisfactory and his injuries were not serious.

Police sources said his life apparently was saved by his wearing a seat belt and by the strong construction of the car.

Obituaries

MRS. GEORGE COWLES

of Derby Line
Mrs. George Cowles, the former Ethel Elizabeth Batchelor, of Derby Line, died in Newport on Tuesday, October 7, 1975.

The funeral was held on Friday, October 10, at one o'clock at the Converse — Rushford Funeral Home in Derby Line, Rev. John Cenco of Derby officiated.

The bearers were Ernest Nason, Bert Judd, James Stevens, Jr., Alfred Aldrich, Max Brouillette and Lawrence Dewey.

Interment took place in the Derby Line cemetery.

Mrs. Cowles was born at West Norwood, England, on October 25, 1902, a daughter to Mr. and Mrs. George Batchelor. The family came to Canada in 1913 and located at Stanstead, Que.

She was educated at Stanstead College and later employed at the Butterfield Plant.

June 28, 1923, she was united in marriage to Earl Courser and they resided in Derby Line. In 1946 they went to Arizona to make their home and where he was employed, and in 1948 was transferred to Manchester, Conn., where Mr. Courser died in 1949.

After his death, she returned to Derby Line to reside and in 1958, she married George Cowles of Derby Line.

Mrs. Cowles was highly respected by all who knew her and, during her years in Derby Line, she was active in the work of the Universalist church and was a helpful friend to many.

She is survived by her husband, George Cowles, a son-in-law and daughter, Everett and Cora (Courser) Dickson of Indian Harbour, Florida, three brothers and two sisters-in-law, George Batchelor, James and Ruby Batchelor, Stanstead; Fred and Helen Batchelor, Derby Line.

JOHN P. TAYLOR

of Austin
John Peasley Taylor passed away Sept. 28, 1975 at the Sherbrooke Hospital, following a short illness.

J.P. Taylor was born in Millington (Austin), Que., son of Mark Spenny Taylor and his wife Ella M. Channell, on Feb. 9, 1885.

He received his education at the local school and Stanstead College. He lived on the old homestead, settled by his great-grandfather Daniel Taylor who came from Danville, Vt., and settled in East Bolton (Austin), in 1789.

On Sept. 23rd, 1908, he married Ethel Diana Ingalls, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Ingalls of Farnham's Corner.

Of this union six children were born: Erma (Mrs. D. Hogen) Ottawa; Keith — deceased; Frances (Mrs. N. Evans) Georgeville; Olive (Mrs. C. Burbank) Knowlton's Landing; Marion (Mrs. E. Byham), Sherbrooke; and John D. of Barrie, Ont.

He was elected to East Bolton Town Council in 1914; and after the division of the municipality, served several terms as Mayor of Austin.

He was a member of Brome Co. Agriculture Society, and a staunch Conservative in politics, where he served in many local offices for his party.

He was a member of the Methodist Church, later the Austin United Church, where his fine tenor voice augmented the choir.

Due to the failing health of Mrs. Taylor, the farm was sold in 1969 and they went to Sherbrooke to live with their daughter, Mrs. E. Byham.

MARBLETON

Marion Guillelte

Week-end guests for Thanksgiving at the home of Mrs. Roy Davidson were her sons and their families, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Davidson, Kincardine, Ont.; Mr. and Mrs. John Davidson and children of Sorel; Mr. and Mrs. James Davidson and children of Baileboro, Ont. Mrs. E. Montgomery of Lennoxville and Mr. Donald Montgomery of Montreal, were also visiting at the same home.

Messrs Peter and David Stevens spent the week-end in Quebec City where they attended the "Purple People Hunt".

Mr. and Mrs. Brian Guillelte and baby Mandy of Sherbrooke, and Mr. and Mrs. Mark Guillelte and Karen of Ascot Corner were week-end guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Guillelte.

Following a lengthy illness, Mrs. Taylor passed away on Jan. 24, 1975.

On Sept. 23rd, 1973, Mr. and Mrs. Taylor were "At Home" to their friends on the occasion of their 65th wedding anniversary.

The funeral was held in St. Paul's United Church Magog, Dr. W. Close officiating.

Interment was in the family plot in East Bolton Cemetery.

Bearers were six grandsons: Bob and Eric Evans, Douglas and Bradley Taylor; Ross and Craig Burbank.

He was predeceased by his son Keith Nathaniel, and two grandsons Kenneth Taylor and Wayne Burbank.

Left to mourn his loss are his five remaining children, 24 grandchildren and 42 great-grandchildren.

By Oswald & James Jacoby

Oswald: "The American Bridge Teacher's quarterly is always a fine source for hands used by teachers to illustrate points of play."

Jim: "They are almost always very simple and straight forward, so that even beginners can understand and follow them."

Oswald: "Today's hand is described by Paul Boardman. It is an exercise in not drawing trumps."

Jim: "Paul points out a trump or diamond lead would ruin South's party, but the actual lead was the jack of clubs. This enables South to make the hand by the simple expedient of cross-ruffing out the hearts and clubs and finally throwing East in with his ace of trumps. The line of play is to win the first trick with the ace of clubs while discarding a heart from dummy. Ruff a club, cash ace of hearts, cross ruff the rest of the hearts and clubs and lead a spade."

East has to take his ace and must either allow South to ruff in dummy and discard a diamond or lead away from his king up to dummy's ace-queen."

Ask the Jacobys
A reader from Connecticut asks if you hold ▲ A Q 10 9 6 4 and are in a four-spade contract, how do you play your trumps if dummy is void?

The answer to this one is to play ace and then queen. In case one opponent held K x x x and his partner J x, this will pick up the jack and get you out with the loss of just one trump trick.

(Do you have a question for the Jacobys? Write "Ask the Jacobys" care of this newspaper. The most interesting questions will be used in this column and writers will receive copies of JACOBY MODERN.)

Ayer's Cliff school committee meets

AYER'S CLIFF — The Ayer's Cliff Elementary School Committee met at the school for their monthly meeting on Oct. 14 in the staff room. Nine members were present and they were later joined by Michael Savage and Norman Benoit.

The committee at this time accepted with regret the resignation of Mr. Savage as a member of the committee but were pleased to learn that he wished to continue to aid them as a member of the subcommittee on entertainment.

Due to the resignation of Mr. Savage it was decided to hold a general meeting at the school in the gym on Nov. 10, prior to the hour of its next regular meeting to elect another member for the committee. It is hoped all parents will attend this meeting and nominate their choice to serve on this committee.

Norman Benoit presented the financial report for last year and it was decided that a copy would be sent to each family. The committee wishes to take this opportunity to thank Mr. Benoit for his work on the committee last year. It was much appreciated.

It was also decided to renew at this time affiliation with the Quebec Federation of the Home and School Association and to submit the opportunity to become members to the parents as well.

The writer omitted in the last report the positions of the elected members of the committee. They are: Chairman: E. Wintle; Vice-Chairman: M. Savage; Secretary: B. Wintle; Treasurer: J. Holmes; Program Committee: M. DesRuisseaux; Cafeteria Committee: F. Whipple assisted by K. Elliot, as co-chairman; Volunteer Parents: M. Downs; Entertainment: M. Savage; Fund Raising: I. Sorensen; Publicity: G. Powers; Teacher Representative: previously chosen, L. Dyer. It is hoped that any questions parents may have as to the meetings, etc. of the committee will be quickly submitted to any of the above mentioned names.

Stanstead Historical Society meets

ROCK ISLAND (IH) — The executive, advisory and custodians committee of the Stanstead Historical Society met Wednesday, Oct. 29 at the home of the president, A.E. Curtis, and Mrs. Curtis in Rock Island. There were some 35 persons attending.

Mr. Curtis welcomed new faces. They were Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm MacDonald, Mrs. Enid Cooke, Mrs. W.B. Dustin, Captain and Mrs. Edward Brown.

It was with regrets that the resignation of Michael Atkins as archivist and Beverly Haselton and Beverly Haselton were heard and accepted. Mr. Atkins has other demands and Mr. Haselton is away from home a great deal of the time. Peter Foulkes will be added to the advisory committee.

Miss Viola Moranneville gave an excellent descriptive report on the September pilgrimage.

Mr. Curtis announced that the Life membership scrolls have been brought up to date, the work being done by Mrs. Peter Howard. Additional life members are Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Skelton, Mr. and Mrs. David Mansur, Miss Gertrude Ketcham and Mrs. Ruth Pomeroy Hood.

The society has for sale copies of the Belden Atlas, also Forest and Clearings, and volumes of the society journals. For information concerning these one may contact Mr. Curtis.

Dr. H. Banting gave the museum report noting that during this past season there were 930 visits made at the Barn and 1,021 at the Beebe museum. While this is good, she would like to see more people visiting. Publicity is what is required, she said. She displayed several brochures and suggested the society have brochures. This was approved by the members. Details are to be in the hands of the capable museum committee to have them printed and distributed in public places. A grant of $3,000 has been received from the Department of Cultural Affairs for 1976. With this Dr. Banting suggested that the society have three paid employees. Dr. Banting recommended procedures of decorations in the Beebe museum lower floor within the budget allowance. This was approved.

Miss Marion Morrill, librarian, stated a book on guns has been purchased and placed in the library as a memorial to the late Joseph Maheux, a valued member of the society and executive over a period of years. Also, a book on Old Quebec Homes is on order as a memorial to the late Harold Baldwin and will be placed in the society library.

There are 12 more cemeteries to be surveyed, reported Howard Aikman, and he asked for assistance to complete the records. He voiced appreciation to Miss Marion Morrill and Mrs. Byron Brown who assisted to survey the North Hatley and Baldwin Mills area.

Under new business, the tentative date of May 1 was set for the annual meeting. Douglas Farrow has made arrangements for the guest speaker. At the August summer meeting, J.D. Ferguson will be the speaker on Early Banks in this area.

The tea after the meeting will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. C.C. Colby in Stanstead. Conveners will be Mrs. Margo Skelton, Mrs. Lorne Ogilvie, Mrs. W.B. Dustin. Other names may be added before that time.

It was suggested that Miss Aline Ricard attend with others the November 22 Quebec Museums Association meeting at Joliette.

Hasti notes make lovely Christmas gifts and the society have more packages of 10 for sale, also a limited quantity of Christmas cards. These have sketches of historic items in the museum as decoration. It was suggested Christmas cards for 1976 be made up and on sale at the summer meeting. Mrs. J.S. McCannell and Captain Brown are to attend to this project choosing a suitable decor.

Appointed to the nominations committee were Kenneth Baldwin, J.D. Ferguson and Lorne Ogilvie.

Another meeting will be held in May to complete summer arrangements of events.

The news in brief

CARTOONIST DIES
ORLANDO, Fla. (AP) — Melvin Graff, retired artist who drew the Sunday comic strip Captain Easy from 1959 to 1969, is dead at the age of 68. Graff, a Cleveland, Ohio, native, died Saturday after a heart attack. Graff moved to Orlando in 1959 and drew the syndicated Sunday strip for 10 years while Les Turner did the daily strip which was originated by Roy Crane.

DEFENDS TERRORISM
NEW YORK (AP) — Jean Paul Sartre, the French writer and leftist theoretician, has spoken out in defence of terrorism. "Terrorism is always admissible" as a reply to the "uselessness and violence" of the establishment in some countries, Sartre is quoted as saying by Newsweek magazine.

FIND TIP OF NOSE
LONDON (Reuters) — Detectives investigating a break-in at a London shop Sunday found a clue—the tip of a human nose. They said they believe it belongs to a burglar who broke into a shop in the suburb of Harrow and stole a cigarette lighter.

Police said the intruder smashed a plate glass window and the tip of his nose was apparently cut off by the broken glass.

GROWS GIANT PLANTS
WILLASTON, England (Reuters) — A gardener here has won seven entries in the Guinness Book of Records for growing giant vegetables. Colin Bowcock has grown a cabbage weighing 96 pounds, a stock of celery weighing 35 pounds, and a lettuce weighing 25 pounds, says the newly-published 1975 edition of the Book of Records. He also established records for growing a dwarf bean measuring 17½ inches, a shallot weighing one pound and 10 ounces, a 10-pound parsnip and a tomato cluster weighing 20 pounds, four ounces.

GARDENER DIES
LONDON (AP) — Fred Streeter, 98, who talked to his flowers all his life and made radio broadcasts on the subject for more than 40 years, has died at his home in Petworth, in Sussex County. As the British Broadcasting Corp. radio gardener, Streeter often advised listeners in Britain and abroad to talk to their flowers to encourage them to grow and bloom.

WINS TITLE
TAHLEQUAH, Okla. (AP) — Clyde Enlow, a Cherokee Indian Nation employee, hurled a buffalo chip 106 feet to win the title in the first annual Chiporama. The contest was the feature event of the Cherokee Indian Nation's Fall Festival here Saturday.

SETS RECORD
HYATTSVILLE, Md. (AP) — After 236 hours, 42 minutes and 30 seconds, WLMJ disc jockey Jim Fitzgerald ended his marathon broadcast. Fitzgerald "looked kind of ragged" but probably might have gone on a couple more hours, a spokesman said at the end of the marathon broadcast Saturday. The Guinness Book of World Records lists the previous mark for staying awake and playing records as 208 hours.

Art exhibit planned at East Angus centre

EAST ANGUS (BP) — The cultural centre located at 288 Maple St. here will hold an exposition of paintings by Hassan Amin, between Nov. 9 and Nov. 14 from 2-4 and 7-10 p.m. each day.

Mr. Amin currently operates the studio Les Pharaons on a full-time basis in the Galerie Les Quatres Saisons shopping centre on 13th Avenue in Sherbrooke.

He was born in Cairo, Egypt, and later received a BA in journalism and a diploma in physical education at the University of Cairo. He worked following his graduation at an art gallery in Beirut, Lebanon and has held exhibitions in Egypt and other European countries.

Mr. Amin came to Canada in 1970 and taught arts and physical education in Montreal from 1971 to 1974. Two of his former art students, Diane Blais and Johanne Fortier, are now professional painters and have exhibitions in or near Montreal.

The East Angus exhibition will feature Mr. Amin's work, as well as a special exhibit of art imported from Egypt. This includes silver and copper wall plaques and linen applied wall hangings.

Mr. Amin will be present each night during the exposition.

Shefford County LIP grants announced

OTTAWA — Manpower and immigration minister Robert Andras Friday announced the approval of 56 projects funded under the Local Initiatives Program for 1975-76. These projects will provide 499 jobs creating 10,430 weeks of employment at a cost of $1,549,616.

LIP, now in its fifth year of operation, is designed to alleviate winter unemployment by providing funds for community improvement projects while creating jobs for the unemployed.

Projects approved in the County of Shefford, include one sponsored by Jean Beauregard, which aims at satisfying the needs of the elderly and the handicapped for leisure activities and without any means of transportation.

The project, which is expected to begin within a few weeks, will recruit 16 unemployed people through the Canada Manpower Centre. The jobs will last until the project is completed, or no later than next June 26.

Chrapafid (unemployed, handicapped, retired, artisans, pensioners, animation, formation, initiation, decentralization) wants to facilitate human contacts among the different people concerned, and decentralize cultural activities for them for this purpose. Eight artisans will regularly visit boarding houses and residences participating in the project (Villa-Bonheur, Centre Howard, HLM Laliberte, etc.). Many activities are planned (knitting, cut leather, batik, parlor games, "Soirees Canadiennes", etc.). Convenient transportation facilities will be available to those unable to move around.

Following is a list of projects accepted for Shefford County:

Comptoir Familial, (Valcourt), $31,500; Vestiaire St-Joseph, Granby, $34,560; Amelioration et Loisirs, St-Valerien, $11,965; Piste de Ski de Fond et Raquettes, Roxton Pond, $13,050;

Sentiers de Ski de Fond et Terrains de Jeux, Valcourt, $13,950; Action Plein Air, Granby, $56,565; A la Rescousse des Quarantes Ans et Plus, Acton Vale, $18,590; Chrapafid, Granby, $66,200; Participation Loisirs Communautaires, Acton Vale, $21,150; Faloic (Fabrique et Loisirs), Ste-Christine, $9,560;

After the Binge

Statistics Canada, which has no political axe to grind, views the nation's business prospects with "cautious optimism." In its latest report it foresees a good chance of "recovery later in the year," and "a relatively healthy domestic economy with the major weakness being in the foreign sector." A mass of complicated figures gives some support to this judgment. The accumulation of inventories, always a bad sign, has slowed down, consumer spending has increased and the Gross National Product has risen slightly. However, there is a slump in foreign trade, the foundation of the whole economy, as exports have declined faster than imports to ensure a record deficit this year.

The summer upturn of the American economy, if it can be sustained, should benefit Canada in the autumn but on the other hand inflation has begun to heat up again in the United States and interest rates, as a consequence are rising to discourage investment. These pressures must spill across the border, aggravating Canada's self-generated, cost-push inflation and the strikes, with lost production, that go with it. In any case Statistics Canada's report is necessarily a short view.

A longer view is taken by the Economic Council which now finds that its earlier, hopeful projections have not been confirmed. In December, 1964 the council's annual report set goals for the Canadian economy in the next five years. They included full employment, or not more than three per cent unemployment; yearly economic growth of about 5.5 per cent with productivity, or output per man-hour of work, rising by 2.4 per cent; reasonable price stability or a yearly increase of less than 2 per cent; and a tolerable balance of international payments.

For a few years these goals proved to be realistic, but in the decade of the 1970s Canada fell far behind them until they look wildly optimistic today. This year there will be high unemployment, little economic growth, a price rise of probably 10 per cent or more, and despite a recent one-month surplus, an unprecedented trade deficit of $4 billion to $5 billion.

What all the figures from Statistics Canada and the Economic Council really mean is well summarized by a respected economist, Judith Maxwell, of the independent C.D. Howe Research Institute. In a recent speech she warned that it is no longer safe to project the future out of past experience because much of the historic data has been made irrelevant by inflation which itself was the main cause of the current recession. "On the domestic scene," she said, "we have yet to admit that the go-go decade is over. I am not sure that as a country we understand that we have been on an enormous binge." It provided, she notes, not only a rapid rise in private living standards but such extra public services as universal hospital and medical care, greatly expanded university education, generous unemployment insurance (much of it at the taxpayer's expense), higher family allowances and large housing subsidies, among other things.

Palestine holds balance of power

BEIRUT (AP) — Increased support from the Palestinian guerrillas has given Lebanon's Moslems the upper hand in their war with the Christians, proving once again that the Palestinians hold the decisive military power in this small divided country on Israel's northern border.

Guerrilla units now are leading Moslem militias with new offensive tactics and heavy weapons that include batteries of Soviet Katyusha rockets.

As a result, the Moslems have advanced into several districts of Beirut formerly controlled by the Christians of the right-wing Phalange and National Liberal parties.

Zuhair Mohsen, leader of the Syrian-backed Saika guerrillas, said the Palestinians are defending their Moslem brothers from Phalangist incursions. But Bassam Abu Sharif of the radical Popular Front for the Liberation of Palestine said the much-larger guerrilla role has resulted in clearcut defeat for the Phalange.

LOSSES HEAVY
"They just couldn't take it," he said. "They suffered heavy losses when we changed the battle tactics of our nationalist forces. Instead of firing mortars from fixed positions we advanced into their areas and took them."

Small radical Palestinian groups had been fighting on the side of the Lebanese Moslems since the beginning of the civil war last April. But this is the first time in seven months that the larger, more "respectable" groups such as Yasser Arafat's Al Fatah and Mohsen's Saika are admitting that they are taking part.

Previously, they professed neutrality and tried unsuccessfully to enforce the repeated ceasefires in joint patrols with Lebanese security forces. Some Saika and Fatah men still participate in the joint patrols, but largely in quiet areas where they are not really needed.

CONTROL CAMPS

Except for Lebanon's 18,000-man army, which the Moslem politicians have kept out of the fighting because most of its officers are Christians, about 12,000

Palestinian guerrillas constitute the largest single military force in this country of three million people. They control refugee camps housing 250,000 Palestinian aliens and many areas of Lebanese Moslems around the camps.

The camps have become arsenals and guerrilla training bases immune from government authority. That is the main complaint of Lebanon's wealthy Christian minority, which supports several private armies of right-wing militiamen.

The Christians accuse the Palestinians of maintaining a "state within a state" and threatening to embroil Lebanon in war with Israel. They say their militias are fighting to reestablish government control over the camps and curtail the guerrilla activity that attracts Israeli reprisals.

The guerrillas believe the Christians are trying to evict them from Lebanon, which has become their last base of unrestricted operations against Israel since their ouster from Jordan in 1970.

Three languages for each child

Global culture key to world peace

EDITOR'S NOTE: The Institute for World Order has commissioned teams of social scientists in eight regions of the world to describe their "preferred world" for 1990 and to outline the steps necessary to attain it. The following article is excerpted from one of these World Order Models Projects.)

By Dr. Ali Mazrui

Where Henry Kissinger once saw a five-part design for peace composed of the United States, Russia, China, Western Europe and Japan, I see, in my preferred world of the 1990s, a design for peace based on five world languages: English, French, Russian, Arabic and Chinese. Every child would be required to learn three languages — a world language, a regional language and a national or local language.

I envision a World Federation of Cultures — a body which represents people on the basis not only of regional geography but of allegiance to a particular world language. I see UNESCO revitalized as a World Council on Science and Culture.

Underlying this vision is a belief that world culture is a necessary prerequisite for world reform. Human beings have to agree on what is good and evil, what is desirable and what is objectionable before mankind can develop the will to change the structure of global arrangements.

My own preferred world features a world culture which is truly global rather than Eurocentric or Western.

The world will not be tamed by outright force or by the outcome of the power struggle between the wealthy nations, but by shared values. And I believe that while we are no nearer to a world government today than we've ever been, we are nearer to a world culture.

There are ideologies, such as Marxism, that have believers around the world. There are languages, particularly English and French, which serve the human race as a whole. There are legal and moral ideas which have world-wide acceptance, for example in the field of international law. Science and technology are facilitating the globalization of culture as they are shared by societies otherwise vastly different from each other.

Educational systems are increasingly resembling each other so that each succeeding generation of humankind is likely to be a little more culturally

"The world will not be tamed by outright force... There are ideologies that have believers around the world... There are legal and moral ideas which have world-wide acceptance. Science and technology... are globalizing culture as they are shared by societies vastly different from one another."

homogeneous than the previous one. And there are problems, perceived as global, which range from seasonal ones like inflation to perennial ones like resource depletion.

But although we have been evolving a world culture, there is one hitch — that world culture is heavily Eurocentric. International law was born out of European diplomatic history and its state system. The most global forms of imperialism were Western — and therefore Western culture in recent times has spread.

There is more evidence of this Eurocentricity. The United Nations Charter itself emerged primarily out of Western concerns and has been struggling ever since to be more global. Virtually all the ruling elites of the world are either Western or Westernized. Even those which are Marxist in orientation have opted for one school of Western thought — a particular tradition of dissent in Western civilization. Almost every educated person in the world has two cultures — his own and Western.

No one is surprised to see a Japanese, an African, an Arab, an Indian, or a Chinese in Western attire. But there is something incongruous about a Japanese in Arab dress, an Indian in Yoruba attire, or a Zulu in an Indian dhoti. The elites of the non-Western world imitate the West — but they seldom emulate each other.

What emerges from this analysis are two conclusions, one positive and the other negative.

The positive conclusion is that the human race is indeed evolving a world culture — a potential foundation for the kind of consensus on values without which world reform is impossible.

But the negative conclusion is that the world culture which has evolved so far is tragically out of balance, ignoring most of the civilizations of the world and elevating only the Western heritage.

If we are to move towards a better future, we must maintain the trend toward a world culture, and make that culture less Eurocentric and more representative of the different civilizations of the human race.

The non-Western world therefore needs to embark on four strategies:

It should reduce cultural and economic dependence on the West and increase local independence and autonomy. The local educational systems must respond more to local needs. The local economies must become less export-oriented, more labor-intensive, more geared to serving local needs.

It should diversify what it produces. It should also diversify the sources of its economic and cultural largesse. To borrow from both China and the United States is less dangerous than to borrow from only one of them. A slave owned by only one person is more of a slave than if he is shared by potentially competitive masters.

It should infiltrate Western culture and Western economies. When Arab money buys shares in German industries, American real estate, French banks or British corporations, a reverse process of penetration is underway. Gradually Western economies are being made as vulnerable to Third World pressures as Third World economies have been to Western pressures — for so long a time!

Finally, the non-Western world should develop links and contacts within its ranks. Until now most economic interaction in the world has been between the developed industrial nations. The least significant economic links have been among Third World countries. Modest indeed has been interaction between, say, Tanzania and Argentina, or Pakistan and Brazil, or Egypt and Chile. This deficiency should be corrected in the future. There should be a Venezuelan presence in Bangladesh; a Saudi Arabian presence in Paraguay; a Nigerian presence in Malaysia. Trade, aid and investment should flow among Third World countries. Out of such interaction should emerge not merely tactical solidarity in international conferences but organic solidarity of the kind which would create interlocking economies among Third World countries.

While all this is going on in the Third World, what should the Northern Hemisphere do? It should at least permit these four strategies to get under way with understanding and cooperation. It should also give itself the assignment of preventing a nuclear holocaust, while mankind struggles to create a new cultural infrastructure for a more humane world order.

Saint John faced with million dollar deficit

SAINT JOHN, N.B. (CP)

Faced with unforeseen record wage settlements and a budget that cannot keep pace, Saint John is headed straight for a $1-million deficit in 1975—its first in 20 years.

"The problem is we need to budget appreciably in advance, and at times we find out our forecasts of spending levels turn out to be on the low side," says city finance commissioner Ronald Park.

Recognizing that, city council tried in late September to impose a temporary freeze on several areas of civic spending. Implementation of that freeze was about as popular as news of the deficit itself.

By not cutting back further, remarked one newspaper editorial, councillors "were sounding and acting very much like politicians, committing the civic ship of state to full steam ahead and damn the torpedoes."

"But those torpedoes, in the form of heavier tax burdens and deeper deficit payments, are now out there waiting for Saint John taxpayers."

Another editorial began: "Question: When is a freeze not a freeze?"

"Answer: When it interferes with somebody's convention plans."

FREEZE ABANDONED

The freeze was abandoned a few days later and council now seems prepared to pay for the deficit later.

Certainly few people here seriously doubt higher taxes are just around the corner. But how high will they go? Already this year the local property tax rate—$1.10 per $100 evaluation—is 23 per cent higher than in 1974.

Studies done by the city predict the rate could go to $1.50 in 1976 and $1.77 by 1977 if current trends continue, Mr. Park said.

About the only relief some city residents can look forward to is the phase-out over four years of the $1.50 provincial property tax.

But there is even a catch to that—the provincial reductions apply only to owner-occupied residences, not apartments or businesses.

There is a limit on just how much additional property taxes council can impose without enraging the populace.

The only other hope for more funds is to get the province to increase the unconditional grants it provides Saint John and other New Brunswick municipalities every year.

CONTRIBUTIONS RISING

Faced with increasing demands from all sectors for more money, the province notes its contributions to the cities have been increasing steadily for years.

The cities, on the other hand, are quick to note that in actual percentage terms, the province's contribution is going down.

In 1969 for example, the province's grant to Saint John made up 56.2 per cent of the city's budget. By 1973 it had declined to 47 per cent.

Acting on the urgings of the municipalities, which said the money wasn't enough, the province in 1974 changed the formula it uses to calculate the grants.

And, as Mr. Park says, grants in that year showed "a marked improvement" over those in 1973 and accounted for 52 per cent of the city's budget.

The respite didn't last long, however, because this year the province's contribution, in percentage terms, is back to the 1973 level.

The problem, says Mr. Park, is that the formula is based on historical rather than current budget figures. NOT CURRENT

"It doesn't reflect the kind of degree or rate of inflation that we are subject to today," he says, "and to this extent it is not based on figures that are as current as we would like them to be."

Simply put, the 1976 grant will be based on the average of the 1974 actual costs and the budget for 1975.

Calculations on year-old figures, says Mr. Park, cannot possibly keep pace with a budget that this year alone rose 23 per cent to $23 million.

"It's our chief source of complaint against the present formula."

Still, though, the city does not appear to be in bad financial shape. The per capita debt, although it's gone up more than 50 per cent since 1970, was still only $153 in 1974.

Almost apologetically, Mr. Park explains that it "shot up" because the city is "spending money on our general facilities"—money it hasn't spent before.

This year, for example, there is a "sizeable expenditure on recreation"—$4 million—most of which is going to build three new arenas.

Another indicator of the city's financial health is its success on the bond market to finance capital projects. Earlier this year Saint John successfully issued and sold $5 million in bonds, one of the largest issues in its history.

Arab boycott list

Jack Anderson's

Washington Merry-Go-Round

WASHINGTON — Some 2,000 American firms, ranging from Ford Motors to small pet shops, have been blacklisted by the Arabs.

The boycott list, identifying allegedly pro-Zionist companies for economic retaliation, was prepared in Lebanon. It is considered more important than earlier lists, because a Lebanese heads the Arab boycott office in Damascus.

A similar list, provided to the Commerce Department by firms that actually were approached by the Arabs, is now the subject of a hot controversy on Capitol Hill.

Commerce Secretary Rogers Morton has refused to surrender the list to Congress, contending that the firms were promised confidentiality. Rep. John Moss, D-Calif., whose investigating committee has demanded the list, is considering whether to cite Morton for contempt.

The Lebanese list was approved Dec. 6, 1974, at a closed cabinet meeting in Beirut. Rep. James Scheuer, D-N.Y., managed to get a copy and showed it to us.

Although this particular boycott list is treated with great gravity by Arab governments, it is curiously haphazard. For example, more than one insignificant pet store and a shoe repair firm are listed. Yet the United Jewish Appeal for the Film Industry has been removed from the list. Because some Arab diplomat or petty sheikh didn't like the service when he stopped to buy a canary or get his shoes heeled.

Some Arab countries, such as Syria and Saudi Arabia, treat the boycott list as if it were taken from the Koran. But in Morocco, say, it is virtually ignored.

Some Arab officials, according to our sources, use the list to extort bribes. For a little "bakshish," they can be persuaded to ignore the boycott.

Such firms as General Electric, Miles

Laboratory, Trans World Airlines and the Hilton hotel chain are active in Israel. Yet they still manage to do business in the Arab world.

The 2,000 blacklisted firms cover every facet of U.S. business, with special emphasis on communications companies. Such firms as CBS, NBC, United Artists and Otto Preminger Films are on the list.

A number of liquor companies, led by Calvert and Seagrams, are also listed, although Arabs supposedly don't drink and, therefore, should have no need to import liquor.

The U.S. oil industry, predictably, has all but escaped the boycott. Other companies have been removed from the boycott list, including Kaiser Steel, General Paper, General Tire, Monsanto, RKO General and a Yugoslav sewing machine plant.

A few of the blacklisted organizations and products include: B'nai B'rith, Brush On Eye Shadow, Coca Cola, Connecticut Mutual Insurance, Hartz Mountain pet foods, Hertz, Knopf and Random House books, Moon Drops, Laurance Rockefeller Associates, Republic Steel, Allstate Insurance, Bergdorf Goodman, Ronrico gold and white rum, Lazard Freres investments and Leeds Music.

Also Minkus stamps, Motorola, Playtex, Pratt and Whitney, Republic Pictures, Topps Cheating Gum, Xerox, Zenith Radio, Aetna Casualty, American Doll and Toy, American Electric Power, Beaunit Mills, Botany Mills, Bulova watches, Fairbanks Morse, Golden Bear oil, Harry Winston jewelers, Helena Rubinstein (listed three times, with two misspellings), Israel Numismatic Service and Jewish War Veterans.

Footnote: About 99 out of every 100 blacklisted firms are American. But companies were also boycotted in Britain, Taiwan, Tanzania, Turkey, Venezuela and Yugoslavia.

Mail Bag: We received a letter last week from Lynette "Squeaky" Fromme, one of President Ford's would-be assassins. She wanted to be put in touch with Dr. John Gofman, a noted nuclear physicist, whose warnings against nuclear power development we had published. Squeaky sought some information from Dr. Gofman. "I would get it myself," she wrote, "but I am presently incarcerated in the Sacramento county jail."

We reported last month that the FBI's computer center had been misused to hunt down non-criminals. One of the victims, Eric Staubes of Binghamton, N.Y., wrote to us about his experience. He was confronted with a computer printout 14 feet long. Police grilled him for six hours. He was wanted in two states, they charged, on 14 counts of auto theft. They claimed he had 40 aliases. It turned out that the supposedly foolproof computer system had fingered the wrong man. "Do you get the feeling Big Brother is watching?" Staubes asked us.

A Denver man, who asked not to be identified, has sent us his correspondence with the Postal Service over a lost money order. Exasperated, he finally decided to file a class action suit and wrote the Justice Department for background information. The letter was returned to him, stamped "Unable to Locate," by the mailman.

STANSTEAD — In the return game played here Saturday between Stanstead College and Bishop's College School teams, the visitors took a well played contest by a score of seventeen to five. After Stanstead's splendid showing against Sherbrooke High last week, it was generally expected that the Red and White would offer sturdy opposition to Bishop's College School, and they lived up to what was expected of them. The heavy Stanstead line was a constant threat, and only lacked the final scoring punch. Their backfield played a much better game than three weeks ago when Stanstead first met Bishop's College School and with a couple of breaks would have run their score higher.

Early in the first period, Grant dropped a field goal for the Lennoxville lads, which was followed by a rouge on a long kick by Glass. Bishop's opened a big hole in Stanstead line at the twenty yard mark and Gord went over for a touch, which was not converted. In this half, Stanstead also dropped a field goal and kicked for a rouge, the half time score being nine to four in favor of the visitors.

Lore-Wiggett

St. Paul's Chapel, Dixville, was the scene of a pretty wedding recently, when Patricia Ann, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Wiggett, Dixville, became the bride of Ying Lore, eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Fon Ark Lore, Montreal. Rev. Horace Gardner performed the ceremony. Mrs. John Dykstra, organist, played the wedding music and two selections, "For All We Know" and "We Have Only Just Begun", during the signing of the register. Two standards of white and pink doli, stocks, snapdragons, daisy pompoms were used to decorate the front of the chapel.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a pink and white gown of sateau de soie over taffeta, featuring a scoop neck, short sleeves, and an empire waist. Cotton lace appliques accented the bodice, sleeves, and created a scalloped effect on the skirt. She wore a picture hat with cotton lace and seed pearls attached to a chapel length train of white illusion, and carried a posy made of pink roses and stephanotis.

Miss Debby Roffey, a friend of the bride, as maid of honor, wore a gown of pink flowered organza over taffeta, featuring an empire waist and cap sleeves. She carried a posy of pink roses and white daisies.

Miss May Lore, sister of the groom, as junior bridesmaid, wore a similar gown in pale blue, and carried a posy of delphiniums, white daisies and pink roses, with a matching circlet for a head piece.

Miss Karen Cushing, a cousin of the bride, as flower girl, wore a similar gown in pale pink, and carried a basket of daisies and pink roses with a matching circlet.

Mr. Keith Lee, a friend of the groom, was best man. Mr. Peter Wiggett, brother of the bride, and Mr. Roger Chanu were ushers.

The mother of the bride wore a mint green floor-length silk gown with short sleeves and appliques on the bodice. Her corsage was of pink sweetheart roses.

The mother of the groom chose a floor-length blue figured silk gown fashioned with long sleeves and a high neckline. Her corsage was of delphiniums and stephanotis.

The reception was held at the Ripplecove Inn, where a buffet was served on the lawn. The head table was centered with a three tiered wedding cake, made by Mrs. Moody Davis, and decorated by Mrs. Horace Doyon of Stanstead. Baskets of pink and white summer flowers decorated the table and garden. During the reception, the groom's mother and grandmother observed the Chinese tradition of presenting the bride gold rings and a gold pendant. Mrs. Kathy Bowman was in charge of the guest book.

Later the bride and groom left for Hampton Beach, N.H. Upon their return, they were entertained at a dinner given by the groom's grandparents, and were presented gifts by senior members of the Chinese community.

Make the most of those season fresh vegetables

Your produce department always has seasonal vegetables available at attractive prices, and they can be a real inspiration for your budget and for interesting eating.

Why not make it a point at intervals to buy some of these vegetables and freeze them in off-the-beaten-track combinations? You'll find these home-frozen vegetables will brighten your table for very little effort on your part. If you're a busy woman (is there any other kind?) these ready-frozen vegetables will come in very handy when supper is a hurry-up affair but you don't want it to look or taste that way.

Right now you can take from the produce department some zucchini, carrots, green beans, onions, and combine them in a frozen medley that will do you proud. We give you exact instructions how to do this if it is new to you, along with the secret of using Ac'cent Brand Flavor Enhancer to help retain the fresh flavors and juiciness of the vegetables you freeze. This delicious vegetable combination includes an easy sauce to freeze with it, and makes a truly gourmet vegetable course every time it is served.

Such foods are expensive items ready-prepared at the store but by putting them up yourself, you can have them at affordable prices and with superb flavor and texture. Using the Garden Vegetable Medley and sauce as a basis, you can mix and match your own combinations and have an appealing variety of frozen vegetables to call upon, ready to heat and serve. We give a list of suggested vegetable combinations that will give you delightful accompaniments to perk up any meal. Choose your favorites and the vegetable world is yours!

GARDEN VEGETABLE MEDLEY

4 quarts (1 gallon) water
2 pounds zucchini, unpared, cut into 1/2-inch slices
1 pound carrots, washed, pared, and cut into 1/2-inch pieces

1 pound green beans, washed, trimmed, and cut into 2-inch pieces

4 medium onions, sliced, cut slices into quarters

Pour water into large kettle, bring to a boil over high heat. Place 1 pound zucchini in a cooking basket.

Plunge into rapidly boiling water, when water returns to a rolling boil, cook 3 minutes, remove basket and plunge immediately into ice water for 3 minutes. Repeat procedure for remaining zucchini. Repeat procedure for carrots and green beans, 1 pound at a time, reducing time to 2 minutes for blanching and ice water bath.

Combine all vegetables in a large bowl. Pack into 8 (1 pint) freezer containers, leaving 1/2 inch headspace. Add 2 tablespoons Butter Sauce to each container. To serve, place 1 pint frozen vegetables in large saucepan, add 1 cup water. Simmer over medium heat, separating vegetables with a fork and stirring frequently until sauce is blended. Stir in 1/4 teaspoon dried dill weed. Reduce heat; cover and simmer 3 to 5 minutes.

YIELD: 4 servings

BUTTER SAUCE

1/2 cup butter or margarine

1/4 cup cornstarch

3 teaspoons Ac'cent Flavor Enhancer

1 teaspoon salt

1 teaspoon celery salt

4 packets (.19 ounces each) powdered chicken flavored broth

1/4 teaspoon pepper

1/4 teaspoon nutmeg

In medium saucepan, melt butter over low heat.

Remove from heat, stir in remaining ingredients. To serve, in a saucepan, place 1 pint frozen vegetables and 1 cup water. Bring to a full boil over medium heat, separating vegetables with a fork and stirring frequently until sauce is blended. Season with 1/4 teaspoon dill weed. Reduce heat; cover and simmer 3 to 5 minutes. Serve hot.

YIELD: 4 servings.

Other combination ideas for Garden Vegetable Medley

1. Green beans, broccoli, chopped onion, mushrooms

2. Cauliflower, carrots, green beans, onions

3. Carrots, peas, green beans, cauliflower

4. Corn, tomatoes, green peppers, green beans
5. Broccoli, cauliflower, carrots, onions

Suggested Seasonings:

1. Dill weed, chives, mint, parsley, oregano, thyme
2. Almonds, walnuts
3. Orange or lemon peel
4. Packaged broth seasonings

DELICIOUSLY SAUCED frozen fresh vegetable medleys are yours using store-bought produce and flavoring to help retain fresh flavor, color and juiciness.

Ann Landers says:

Small businesses faced by problems

Dear Ann Landers: I'd like to ask the American people a few questions. It's a matter of economic survival to me as well as millions of other "little people" who have small stores.

Who do you ask to cash your checks? Who do you ask for credit when things are tight? Who do you ask to take ads for your organizations, yearbooks and programs? Who do you ask for contributions for your church suppers, raffles, etc? Who do you call after hours when you need a special item? Who do you ask to put up your posters for special events?

It's your local, hometown small businessman. After all, he's your friend, your neighbor.

But when you want to make a purchase, how often do you drive past his place of business and go to a giant store thinking you might save a few cents, without giving your local merchant a chance or even comparing his prices?

We are competitive with the biggest stores price-wise and our services are often better. But we can't survive much longer. When we go, you'll miss us. — Too Many To Name

Dear Too Many: Your letter reflects one of the major social and economic problems of our times. It's becoming more and more difficult for the small, independent businessman to survive. I wish I knew the answer.

Dear Ann Landers: I am 5-11 and my husband is 6-4. We have been married for five years and would love to have a child. The problem: we are both terrified that he (or she) would be abnormally tall.

Both of us suffered horrible ridicule because we were the tallest in our classes. We'd hate to bring a child into the world who stands a good chance of going through the same agony. You can't imagine the emotional burden. Please advise. — The Giraffes

Dear G's: I don't need to "imagine" the burden. My twin sister and I HAD the burden. We were the shortest ones in our class from kindergarten on. But it didn't bother us in the least — it just motivated us to try to be "tall" in other ways.

My advice is go ahead and have a child. He (or she) might inherit the genes of your Uncle Elmer or Aunt Hilda who were the runts of the litter. One can never predict the outcome in the game of genetic roulette.

Dear Ann Landers: I read that letter from the gentleman who wears a panty girdle because he claims his doctor recommended it for his back problems.

I see no reason why men shouldn't wear any kind of undergarments they wish — even with lace on them if they want to. But I hope you'll let them know if it's only back support they want, they can order specially designed elastic binders through almost any mail order house, or surgical supply or drug store.

These binders are a lot less confining than a panty-girdle and thousands of men attest to their effectiveness.

Give 'em the word, Ann. — I.B.B. Of Plainville, Mass.

Dear I.B.B.: Thanks for writing. I have a hunch some of these guys are going to keep right on wearing the lace, but for those who don't want to, thanks for the alternative.

Confused about what's right and what's wrong in today's "new morality"? You're not alone. If you want honest, down-to-earth information on your sex questions, read Ann Landers's new booklet, "High School Sex And How To Deal With It — A Guide For Teens And Their Parents." Lacquer thinner may be answer

By Polly Cramer

Polly's Problem

DEAR POLLY — I have some beautiful old silver plated pieces that the former owner had sprayed with clear lacquer to prevent tarnishing. This was not done adequately and the parts not completely covered have tarnished. I do not know how to remove the lacquer without further harming these beautiful pieces. Can you tell me how to do this? — PERPLEXED JEAN

DEAR JEAN — A silver plating company advised me to soak old rags in lacquer thinner (keep away from any fire) and lay them on the remaining lacquer, until it loosens and will wipe or wash away. — POLLY.

DEAR POLLY — If Theresa will put her cookie sheet in a cold oven and let it heat with the oven it will not turn up. I had the same trouble one time when I put a pumpkin pie on my cookie sheet and into a hot oven. In a few minutes I had pie filling all over my oven. My daughter was visiting me at the time and was surprised I did not know better. Any way, I have no more defiant cookie sheets. — MRS. C.B.

DEAR POLLY — My Pet Peeve is with parents who either cannot hear, or do not care what is going on. They allow their teen-agers to stay out until all hours especially on week-ends. They race and hot rod up and down the highways, screaming their motors and awakening and disturbing the entire area. Many residents must drive miles to work and need a decent night's rest. Many are old and ill and should not be disturbed. In our area this has been reported but nothing seems to be done about it. Any suggestions? — E.C.A.

DEAR POLLY — I am sure many readers have had eggs roll all over the counter top and/or on the floor, when baking or cooking and trying to use as few bowls as possible. I accidentally solved this problem when I put the plastic rings from a six-pack of beverage on my counter top. It is ideal for containing the eggs. I also think it will be great to use when dyeing Easter eggs. It will keep them from bumping into each other and ruining the colors. By rings I mean the plastic carrier used to hold six cans of a beverage together. — BEVERLY.

DEAR POLLY — When freezing peas, green beans, etc. I spread them out in a pan to freeze and then put in plastic bags or boxes. When they are to be used any part of a package can be used without thawing all of it.

To suspend a paint brush in cleaner cut cross slots in the plastic top on a coffee can and poke the handle of the brush up through to the top from underneath. The plastic will grip the handle and hold the brush suspended in the cleaner.

To prevent splattering when beating eggs cover the bowl with a plastic bowl cover, with a hole made in the center for the beater to go through. — MRS. L.W.

TODAY'S TREASURES

No slack appears in rush for bottles

Bottle collecting has become more than just a fad. Its devotees have made it a technical and fascinating collecting specialty. In the process they have added a wealth of "new" items to the marketplace.

These are not the liquor bottles or cosmetic bottles with "manufactured" value but the bottles that you search for in abandoned houses, junk piles, old store buildings... bottles that have reached or soon will reach the 100-year stature of antiques.

Basically, there are four general divisions of bottle collecting — whiskey bottles including flasks, bitters bottles, figurals and household bottles.

Whiskey flasks made from 1750 to about 1860 were among the first to attract American collectors, perhaps because they originally were made to be attractive as well as utilitarian.

Historic flasks are a result of the glassmakers search for bottles consistent in size. Free blown bottles varied greatly in size and shape. It was for this reason that factories early in the 19th century developed a molded bottle of standard size.

Bitters bottles should probably be classified as liquor bottles, too, because much of the "medicine" of the last half of the 19th century contained a higher alcohol content than whiskey.

One authority explained that bitters were invented to avoid the gin tax in England. However, there were more than 400 makers of bitters in the United States, which could prove that Americans know a good thing when they find it.

Household bottles are to be found in a wide variety of shapes and sizes and generally date from the last half of the 19th century.

Figurals are bottles shaped like a recognizable person or object. Whether old or new, they are very collectible.

Several properties which a bottle possesses will reveal its age. These include the method of manufacture, the top or lip, stoppers and closures and the bottom or base.

The free-blown bottle made until the early 1800s shows no mold marks. The mold-blown bottle will have seams down each side but the neck which was finished by hand will show no seams. Three-piece molds were used from about 1810 until the 1880s and bottles showing seam marks of a three-piece mold are considered rare.

Wooden molds in use from 1820 to 1880 often produced "Whittle" marks in the glass. These marks were not caused by poor carving, but rather by the cold mold and hot glass which created the wavy imperfection in the glass.

(NEWSPAPER ENTERPRISE ASSN.)

Whiskey and bitters bottles prove popular with collectors. Ruby red wine decanter (right) has sheared lip while amber color heightens appeal of Dr. Harter's Wild Cherry Bitters bottle.

UCW Christmas tea & sale

BURY — The U.C.W. held their annual Christmas Tea and Sale in the McKenzie Hall on Saturday afternoon Oct. 25, a beautiful warm sunny day. There was a good attendance with people from the area, as well as a few from Scottstown, Lennoxville, Sherbrooke, Waterville and Sawyerville.

The hall was attractively decorated with Christmas bells and streamers. The cloth-covered tea tables were centered with green candles in star-shaped holders, and Christmas serviettes completed the decor. A delicious lunch of dainty sandwiches and tea was served.

The food sale table, laden down with a good variety of home cooking proved to be very popular and was quickly depleted.

The fancy work table overflowed with a great quantity of useful items, which included aprons, lingerie, yard goods, vinyl, lace, stuffed dolls, dogs, teddy bears, kittens, a rabbit, novelties of many kinds, pillow slips, cushions, card table covers, pot holders, hot dish mats, place mats, wash cloths, mittens, socks, slippers, scarves, Christmas decorations, candles, serviettes, wrapping paper, Duraware dishes, new shoes, nearly new clothing, paper back books and many more articles. There is still a good selection of articles and they will be on sale following the Nov. and Dec. U.C.W. meetings.

The guests were welcomed by Mrs. W.A. Cathcart and Mrs. J.D. Harrison. Mrs. W. Atkins was cashier.

In charge of the food sale table were Mrs. Osborne Allison, Joy Statton, Mrs. Verna Hunting and Mrs. Lena Herring.

Those working at the fancy work table were Mrs. Raymond Morrison, Mrs. Dick Aulis, Mrs. Lillian Edwards, Mrs. H. Rowell and Mrs. T.G. Stokes.

Mrs. Thomas Lawrence and Mrs. Lionel Allison looked after the tea tables, with Mrs. Gwyllm Lawrence, Mrs. McKay, Mrs. Vilo Aulis, Mrs. Ron Stokes and Miss Evelyn Kirkpatrick in the kitchen.

Hallowe'en Party & dinner held

BURY — The Pope Memorial School in Bury was the scene of a great deal of excitement and activity on Wednesday Oct. 29, it being the day for the Hallowe'en Party and Dinner.

The dinner was sponsored by the Bury, Brookbury and Canterbury Women's Institutes.

Decorations in the gym included black and orange streamers, witches, ghosts, goblins, black cats and pumpkins. Jack O'Lanterns and candles were used as table centerpieces and Hallowe'en serviettes made the decor complete.

Hot dogs, french fries, orange jelly with funny faces, homemade decorated cookies and chocolate milk comprised the menu this year.

Troy Kerr, on behalf of the children and the teachers, expressed thanks and appreciation for the dinner.

As the tables were being cleared, the children from kindergarten to Grade 4 donned their costumes, returning to the gym representing many different characters.

Many games were enjoyed, including Bobbing for apples.

As the children left for home, they were given UNICEF boxes to be returned on Monday after they have completed their collection on Hallowe'en night.

UCW meeting

WATERVILLE — The meeting of the members of the Waterville U.C.W. was held at the home of Mrs. Walter McGovern with an attendance of 12.

The president, Miss Margaret Swanson, opened the meeting and members joined in reading the U.C.W. Purpose.

Devotions were prepared and read by Mrs. K. Spafford, the theme of which was living for today, or not thinking about the past.

Bible readings were taken from the books of St. Matthew and St. Luke. The hymn "He leadeth me" was sung with Mrs. McGovern accompanying on the piano. The minutes of the last meeting were read and approved.

The president distributed copies of the magazine Combo and Mandate.

The members made plans for their annual Christmas tea and bazaar, which is being held on Nov. 12.

Future programming was discussed and the meeting closed with the reading of the benediction by the president.

The hostess, Mrs. McGovern, was assisted at the tea table by Miss Edith Swanson.

EAST FARNHAM

Mr. and Mrs. Max Hall and her mother, Mrs. McCabe of Chula Vista, Calif., were visiting at the Collins home. During their stay some of the Hall cousins availed themselves of the opportunity to meet or renew acquaintances.

Miss Kathleen Moore of Cowansville, a day guest at this home was pleased to be included and meet the Hall relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Hadlock and sons Scott and Kevin of Chatham, Ont. were weekend guests of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. G.F. Sanborn and attended the wedding in Frelighsburg of Mr. Hadlock's sister, Sandra on Saturday afternoon.

It is with regret that relatives and friends learned of the re-entry to the C.H.U. Hospital, Sherbrooke on Monday, of Mr. Fred Shufelt.

All hope for a speedy and complete recovery this time.

Master Blair Horner is a patient in B.M.P. Hospital, Cowansville. Best wishes for a quick return to his home and parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Algier and children Christopher and Karen of Annapolis, Ont., were recent guests of their parents and family. Mrs. Bernice Thomas and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Carter.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wellington of Bedford, Mass., spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Luther King and Mr. Carl Gibson.

Bunny Larocque and Habs blank Rangers

Ed Giacomin returned to Madison Square Garden in style Sunday night.

Wearing a visitors' uniform for the first time after 11 seasons as goaltender for New York Rangers, he listened with tears in his eyes to a thunderous ovation that lasted for three minutes.

Then he kicked out 42 shots to help his new employers, Detroit Red Wings, beat the Rangers 6-4 in a National Hockey League game.

Gilles Villeneuve, the other Ranger goalie discarded by general manager Emile Francis last week, also came up a winner Sunday night.

Villeneuve stopped 26 Vancouver shots in his first start for Chicago as the Black Hawks dropped the Canucks 6-1.

SCOUTS ROUTED

In Sunday's other games, Philadelphia Flyers humiliated Kansas City Scouts 10-0, Buffalo Sabres trimmed Pittsburgh Penguins 7-2 and Boston Bruins blanked California Seals 5-0.

On Saturday, Philadelphia walloped Boston 8-1, Minnesota North Stars stopped Pittsburgh 7-3, Montreal Canadiens blanked the Rangers 4-0, Chicago topped Detroit 3-1, Toronto Maple Leafs shut out Kansas City 3-0, Los Angeles Kings topped Atlanta Flames 3-1 and Vancouver and St. Louis Blues tied 3-3.

John Davidson, the goalie Francis decided to keep was the loser in both of the Rangers' weekend games. New York outshot Montreal 38-29 Saturday and had a 46-30 edge over Detroit Sunday night.

To add to Francis' woes, last week's third discard, Derek Sanderson scored his second goal for the Blues Saturday night to help them salvage a tie.

GOT WAIVER PRICE

The Rangers got defenseman Doug Jarrett for Villeneuve, a draft choice for Sanderson and the $30,000 waiver price for Giacomin.

Bill Hogaboam scored two goals, both in the first period, and Nick Libett, Danny Grant, Barry Salvoara and Dan Maloney once each for the Wings.

Villeneuve, who had been in the Ranger organization since 1962-63 and had four full seasons with the team, helped the Hawks to continue their home-ice domination of the Canucks.

The Hawks from Chicago have won 13 games, lost one and tied two against the Canucks at Chicago.

Ed Giacomin gets standing ovation from Ranger fans in his first appearance

NEW YORK (CP) — More than 17,000 people stood in Madison Square Garden Sunday night and gave Ed Giacomin, former goalie for New York Rangers, an emotional welcome rarely seen in hockey.

"Eddie... Eddie... Eddie," they chanted, drowning out the Star Spangled Banner.

Giacomin, head bowed and wearing the bright-red road uniform of Detroit Red Wings for the first time, cried.

All the pent-up anger of Ranger fans, obviously bitter over the decision to cut Giacomin out of their lives, welled into the chanting, and the cheers everytime a Ranger got a penalty or when Detroit scored a goal, or when Giacomin made a save, at least for the first couple of periods.

"It was something I'll never forget," said Ranger captain Brad Park after the Red Wings piled up a 4-0 lead in the first period and defeated the Rangers 6-4, the first Detroit win on Garden ice since March 4, 1970.

Giacomin was picked up by Detroit for the $30,000 waiver price Friday night after more than 10 years as the Ranger goalie.

"I was thrown to the wolves," he said after being told of the decision Oct. 31 by general manager Emile Francis.

"The Ranger fans... the way they chant Eddie, Eddie, Eddie. It always sent chills down my spine. Now, I'll never hear it again."

PREDICTION OFF

But Giacomin was dead

wrong. After he heard it again during most of the game Sunday night, some of the bitterness had left him.

"Amazing, how everything sort of takes care of itself because the last couple of days were pretty sad. I made the decision to play (for the Red Wings).

"And off the ice when I met some of my players (his former team-mates) I tried to hold back. I've never been a sort of emotional man, I guess, but I just couldn't hold back."

One Ranger took a shot and told Giacomin he was "sorry."

Billy Fairbairn hit Giacomin high on the chest on a breakaway for the first Ranger shot and Giacomin said he was relieved. He stopped 42 shots.

"I wanted to get the game going because I was shaking so," he said. "I had the feeling that if you don't hurry up and get a shot on me, I'm going to collapse."

"Even through the game I really thought I might faint."

Giacomin is on the last year of a no-option contract. As a Ranger he was one of top-salaried players in the $150,000 to $200,000-a-year bracket.

Giacomin will fly to Toronto Wednesday for a game against the Maple Leafs. He said he will continue negotiations with Red Wing officials for a new contract.

Juniors earn tie and win against Beavers

By LEN O'DONNELL

A goal with only eight seconds left to play in the game gave the Montreal Juniors a 2-2 tie with the Sherbrooke Beavers Friday evening at the Sports Palace before 5,310 fans.

The Beavers dominated the first two periods and fired a total of 33 shots at Benoit Perreault in the Montreal net but only managed to chalk up two markers. The Juniors opened the scoring at 2:42 of the initial frame but the Beavers bounced back on a tally by Peter Marsh to even the count.

During the opening period the Beavers had 17 shots on the Montreal net but only one goal by Perreault. The Juniors were playing a solid game of defense play and Coach Jacques Laperriere had his wings picking up their checks at the blue line and in this manner they helped their defense.

Sherbrooke kept the pressure on the whole time but they were missing too many good chances of scoring. The Juniors were trying to work the long pass when the Beavers were on the attack but the Delage crew kept coming back strong to help out.

Montreal drew three minors in the frame and at one time they were short two players but despite this they managed to clear their zone in fine order. Mike McDougall came close when he got in but his shot hit the goal post.

Chicago's attack was led by Darcy Rota, who collected a goal and three assists, and J. P. Bordeleau, who scored two goals.

Bobby Clarke, Orest Kindrachuk and Mel Bridgman each scored two goals for the Flyers, who turned the game into a runaway with four goals in less than four minutes in the second period.

GETS FIRST ZERO

The Flyers, who outshot the Scouts 51-19, haven't lost at the Spectrum in their last 21 games. Goalie Wayne Stephenson picked up his first shutout of the year.

Lake Megantic tops Waterloo

Four unanswered third-period goals, two by Carol Labrie, lifted Lake Megantic Royals to a 6-2 win over Waterloo Maroons in a Quebec Junior A Hockey League game Sunday night.

In other action, Cap de la Madeleine Barons dumped Thetford Mines Fleurs de Lys 8-4 and Beauport Cascades edged St. Jerome Alouettes 5-4 in a game marred by a third-period brawl.

Labrie broke a 2-2 tie at Waterloo at 2:48 of the third period and added another goal at 15:42 before Luc Bonneville and Jean-Paul Pouliot scored in the final minute for the Royals.

The Barons held a 4-3 lead after 40 minutes at Thetford Mines before Robert Mongrain fired the winning goal at 1:23 of the third. The Fleurs de Lys had a 43-34 edge in shots on goal.

Benoit Perreault didn't let any rebounds get away from him, in fact every time the Beavers let one go he was grabbing and holding on. In this manner it killed the rebounds and cut down the Beavers chance for a loose puck in front. Normand Lefebvre was close on a back-hander but it was just a little wide.

The Beavers had another chance at the start of the middle frame but failed to capitalize on it. Hard luck was dogging them all the time. The teams seemed to be playing it cozy and waiting for the breaks. Sherbrooke had plenty but failed to click. Ron Carter was right in Perreault's door-step but his shot hit the post.

The Montreal team had managed only one shot on goal after eight minutes of play as the Beavers were all over them but couldn't reach the back of the net.

Finally Alain Belanger potted the third tally of the game to give the Beavers a 2-1 advantage. This stayed that way until the final seconds of the game. As in the first the Beavers were peppering Perreault from all angles but he was coming up with the key saves.

Mike McDougall managed to get in close but Richard Sevigny came up with the big save. Floyd Lahache, who played a strong two-way game, got his chance but failed. He pulled off a good play when he stood his ground to block a two-man rush.

Mark Green put Robert Simpson in close but he failed to click. The locals had 16 shots at Perreault while Montreal was held to just five during the period. At the start of the third frame the Juniors opened up and took command of the game and they held the upper hand for the final twenty minutes of play.

Belanger and Simpson had great chances to extend the Beavers' lead but failed again. Sevigny was making up for the easy time he had during the opening frames as the Juniors were really flying and kept coming back all the time. Sherbrooke was having trouble to control the puck as the Juniors had a man on the puck all the time.

Sevigny was making some great saves to keep his mates in the game. A scramble in front of the Sherbrooke net set up what proved to be the equalizer. The Juniors had the pressure on with an extra man in the game since Perreault was pulled. They batted away at the rolling disc and finally Frank Donnelly was at the right spot to poke the puck into the open side of the net. They had three chances just before but Sevigny held on. When the puck rolled loose the Montreal player shoved it home with only eight seconds left in the game.

Montreal rifled a total of 14 shots at Sevigny while the Beavers had only eight. Sherbrooke played a strong two-way game during the first two frames but the early pace had its effect on them in the final stanza. Only six penalties were called in the game with Montreal picking four to Sherbrooke's two.

The East Division title chase in the Quebec Major Junior Hockey League took an early-season turn for the tighter Sunday night, with only three points now separating the five clubs in the standings.

Trois-Rivieres Draveurs took over first place as they trounced Laval Nationals 10-3. Chicoutimi Sagueniens, previously tied with the Draveurs, dropped a 5-2 decision to Hull Festivals. Sorel Black Hawks downed Cornwall Royals 5-2 and Quebec Remparts whipped Shawinigan Dynamos 11-3.

Meanwhile, in the West Division chase, first-place Sherbrooke Beavers were handed their third loss in 15 games, an 8-3 shelling at the hands of Montreal Juniors.

The Draveurs scored three unanswered goals in the first and third periods at Trois-Rivieres as they bombed the Nationals.

Guy Dupuis, Gaetan Boucher and Daniel Desjardins scored two goals apiece for the Draveurs, while Pierre Langlois, Claude Periard, Daniel Horne and Michel Comtois had singles. Yvon Preston, Michel Bossy and Patrick Daley scored for the Nationals.

The Draveurs have a 6-7-2 won-lost-tied record for 14 points, while Chicoutimi and the Hawks have 12 each. Shawinigan and Quebec round out the division with 11 apiece.

THREE GOALS

Claude Laroche scored three goals to lead Festivals at Hull. Allard Leblanc and Jean-Marc Grandmaitre also scored for the winners, with Sylvain Locas and Daniel Poulin counting for the Sagueniens.

Yvan Boudreau, Remi Levesque and Carey Haworth scored two goals each for the Remparts as they thrilled 2,718 home-town fans. Pierre Lagace, Pierre Lacroix, Michel Frechette, Denis Turcotte and Eddy Godin fired singles, while Jean-Marc Bonamie, Richard Dubreuil and Jean Gaston replied for the Dynamos.

At Sorel, the Hawks jumped to a fast 3-0 lead and coasted to victory. Lucien Deblois, Gilles Parenteau and Denis Leduc all scored for the Hawks by 10:25 of the first period, while Richard David and Serge Menard contributed later scores. Dan Geoffrion and Bill Smith connected for the Royals.

Robert Picard and Robert Suwek paced the Juniors with a pair of goals apiece against the visiting Beavers. John Phillips, Mike McDougall, Normand Dupont and Brian Beauchamp also scored for Montreal. Ron Carter, Jerre Gillis and Robert Simpson replied for Sherbrooke.

In games tonight, Cornwall visits Laval and Chicoutimi goes to Sherbrooke.

Norm Dube pots four goals as Indians win 6-4 against New Haven, Voyageurs win 5-4

Norm Dube, a native of Sherbrooke, Que., scored four goals to lead Springfield Indians to a 6-4 victory over New Haven Nighthawks in one of four American Hockey League games Sunday.

The win was only Springfield's second of the season in 10 tries and left them with four points in the Northern Division cellar.

In other games Sunday, Nova Scotia Voyageurs edged Baltimore Clippers 5-4, Hershey Bears and Providence Reds played to a 6-6 tie, and Rochester Americans downed Richmond Robins 6-4.

On Saturday, Rochester and Hershey tied 6-6, Richmond edged New Haven 4-3 and Providence beat Springfield 4-2.

Don Seiling opened the scoring for Springfield at 7:15 of the first period to give them a lead that was threatened only once when New Haven tied the score near the end of the third period.

Dube's first goal came at 8:15 of the second period. New Haven made the score 2-1 at 15:45 on Tom Colley's goal, but Dube opened the third period with his second goal to increase the Springfield lead.

LOCHHEAD SCORES

Brian McCutcheon, Chris Ahrens, Bill Lochhead scored the other New Haven goals and Murray Kuntz scored into an empty net for Springfield in the final minute of play.

Two third-period goals within eight seconds powered Rochester past the Robins.

The Americans jumped out to a 2-0 lead in first-period goals by their top scorers, Doug Gibson and Doug Halward. Richmond's Dave Kelly scored the first of his two goals to cut the margin to 2-1 at the first intermission.

The Robins dominated the second period and pulled even on goals by Terry Murray and Bob Ritchie, but Harry Shaw scored just 34 seconds into the last period to narrow the Richmond lead.

Riders humiliate Als 46-6

portance of the game, I'd have to say it was my best game," Clements said. Coach George Brancato appeared to agree.

"He's had some good ones, starting with his first against Saskatchewan, but this has to be one of his better ones. He's getting better all the time and you just can't fluster him."

Clements was not around to be flustered—and hardly would have been anyway—when Steve Ferruggelli plunged three yards for Montreal's only touchdown midway in the fourth quarter. Jimmy Jones, who relieved starting quarterback Sonny Wade, missed Johnny Rodgers on a two-point conversion pass.

The Riders assumed control of the game early, gambling on a third-and-one play in their first series. Green slipped through an opening in the line, broke left and, with Moody Jackson providing protection, dashed 41 yards into the end zone.

"Sometimes you get lucky on those short yardage situations," Brancato said. "He caught them playing up tight and just slid outside."

RECOVERED FUMBLE

When Rudy Sims recovered a fumble by Wade moments later at the Montreal 51-yard line, the Riders marched again, with Organ kicking a 38-yard field goal. The momentum was established and Ottawa went on to score the first six times it had the ball and eight of the first 11.

Montreal coach Marv Levy, who said he was "more humiliated than disappointed," now must prepare his club for the Tiger-Cats, who qualified for the playoffs with 1:05 remaining in their game when Ian Sunter kicked a 42-yard field goal.

It was enough to give the Ticats a one-point edge over the Argos in the four games they split this year—and put the Hamilton club into the playoffs.

Sunter had booted three before that and added converts after touchdowns by Terry Evanshen—on a two-yard pass from quarterback Jerry Keeling—and Andy Hopkins, on a two-yard run.

Bobcats end season with win to finish fourth in league

LENNOXVILLE (BP) — The Bishop's-Champlain field hockey Bobcats concluded their season recently with a victory, but it was only the fourth in 19 contests.

Although it was a relatively poor season, the Bobcats on next year's team will have a season of experience under their belts, and an air of optimism encases their outlook.

The combination Bishop's University-Champlain Regional College squad finished fourth overall in the six-team Intermediate Field Hockey League and third in the annual Duffie Coat Tournament in Montreal.

In league action, Bishop's took their only win against Vanier College, and had four ties with Champlain (St. Lambert campus), twice, McGill and Vanier. The Bobcats lost twice each to John Abbott College and St. Lambert, with their fifth loss going to Vanier.

In tournament play, won twice against McGill and Vanier (default) while they tied St. Laurent and lost to St. Lambert. Five exhibition games were played during the season, the Bobcats coming out on top in one occasion. They beat Bishop's

College School but were defeated two times each by Alexander Galt Regional High School and Lyndon State College (Vermont).

Two fun games against the BU Geography Department and the BU men's soccer team were also played.

Gracia Comeau, a veteran of the squad, scored six of the 13 Bobcats' goals during the 19-game season. Following her were Helen Jackson and Kathy Nicholls with two each and Marie Moliner, Lorraine MacLeod and Michelle Dionne scored once apiece.

John Abbott concluded their season in first place in league standings, with seven wins, two losses and a tie. Second place St. Lambert also had 15 points, but their 6-1-3 record settled the tie. McGill was the lone holder of third spot with 11 points — three wins, two losses and five ties.

Bishop's, Vanier and Champlain were all tied for fourth position with identical 1-5-4 season records, but the Bobcats clinched fourth place by virtue of two more goals than the other teams.

The interested organizations and persons are requested to take notice that a meeting for the purpose of preparing the schedule for hockey games in Municipal parks will be held on Thursday, November 11th, 1975 at 7:00 p.m., in the main hall at the Arena.
