

GRAND TRUNK WILL TAKE FREIGHT TODAY

Such Was Announcement Made Last Night—Men Deny Statement.

Toronto, July 22.—Mr. W. G. Brownlee, general transportation manager of the G.T., in an official statement to-night said the day's work all over the road has been most satisfactory. Everything has been running smoothly and no trouble or disturbance of any kind has been reported. He announces that to-morrow (Saturday) the company would begin to handle freight traffic. The men, on the other hand, say they have confidential reports that passenger traffic at many points is demoralized and that the Co. is utterly unable to handle freight. That the Co., however, has made a good start was evidenced here when a through freight from Port Huron passed about 8.10 to-night, for Montreal.

The city police has been instructed to carefully watch all bridges, subways, and crossings of the company in the city limits, as if any trouble arises it will be in moving freight early to-morrow. The Co. in running the Kingston old boys' excursion to-morrow and will after Monday handle all such traffic.

The report from Montreal that Vice-President Murdock has accepted Hon. W. L. McKing's suggestions that points at issue be settled by a commission was the news to Vice Prof. W. Clark, acting director of the strike in Toronto this evening. "I have heard nothing about it," said he, and I hardly see how it can be correct with Mr. Berry in Detroit and Mr. Murdock in Montreal. None of them have been notified."

Mr. Clark was of the opinion that the real facts of the case were that Mr. Murdock was writing to submit the dispatch to arbitration on terms of his previous message to the Minister of Labor.

Arbitration Strongly Endorsed.

Brockville, Ont., July 22.—At a special meeting of the Brockville Board of Trade a resolution was passed strongly endorsing the action of the Minister of Labor proposing arbitration for the immediate settlement of the strike on the part of conductors and trainmen of the G.T.R.

Women Attack Strike-Breakers.

New London, Conn., July 22.—A crowd of women and boys to-day attacked strike-breakers at work in the Central Vermont freight yards, at East New London and someone in the crowd fired a shot. The police were summoned and arrested two men, but these were later released as they were able to prove that they were not concerned in the affair. It is expected that extra police will be put on duty at the yards to prevent further troubles.

Trainmen Alleged Incompetent.

Lansing, Mich., July 22.—Two hundred business men of Charlotte sent a telegram to the state railroad commission to-day asking that body to prevent the G.T.R. operating its lines with alleged incompetent trainmen, asserting that the strike breakers do not know signals nor wear uniforms and that the general public is in danger.

Strike-Breaker Arrested.

White River Jct., Vt., July 22.—Fearing that further disorder would follow that of last night when scabs manning Central Vermont passenger and freight trains were attacked, a large number of policemen were scattered throughout the local yard to-day. One strike-breaker was arrested this afternoon for flourishing a revolver in the face of a striking freight brakeman. As a result of this incident the railroad authorities immediately disbanded all the scabs.

McKenzie King and Hays

Ottawa, Ont., July 22.—Hon. Mackenzie King has written a further letter to President Hays, of the G.T.R. in which he expresses dissent from the latter's interpretation on his refusal to allow arbitration under the old Railway Disputes Act. He states that President Hays' reply to his offers of arbitration does not answer his suggestion for a new board.

Boards of Trade Protest.

Ottawa, Ont., July 22.—The Minister of Labor received a batch of telegrams to-day from Boards of Trade all over Ontario urging the settlement of the Grand Trunk strike by arbitration. The Belleville Board of Trade goes to the limit with a suggestion that if the matter cannot otherwise be adjusted Parliament should be summoned in special session to dispose of it by legislation.

Booth Denies Action.

Ottawa, July 22.—A rumor was rife to-day to the effect that Mr. J. R. Booth was entering suit against the Grand Trunk as a result of the

MARTYR TO SCIENCE KILLED BY X RAYS

Death Comes as a Merciful Release to Mr. H. W. Cox.

London, July 22.—Mr. Harry W. Cox died on Saturday at his residence at Lower Clapton.

Behind this bald announcement lies a tragedy the intense pathos of which has rarely been equalled during the whole history of scientific research. Only forty-six years of age, he died a victim to the science of X-rays, of which he was a pioneer, and his death deprives the world of a man who gave up the whole of his life to the cause of alleviating the sufferings of others.

Some fourteen or fifteen years ago Mr. Cox, then a smart and enterprising young electrician, took up X-ray investigation with enthusiasm. He worked hard at this new department of science, in which the late King and Queen Alexandra took so much interest, and during the course of his research, about twelve years ago, by accident placed the tube of the apparatus near his face, with the result that through the rays he contracted X-ray dermatitis, which in the end resulted in his death.

Although knowing that he was afflicted with this dread disease, Mr. Cox threw himself into the work of perfecting the apparatus, and so successful was he that he took out some eighty patents, one of them being a valuable invention, which, by means of two radiographs, locates not only the position of a bullet, but also its depth, so that a surgeon can remove the obstacle with the minimum of probing. This invention proved of inestimable service during the South African war, and Mr. Cox's apparatus was used almost exclusively by the British forces during that campaign.

It was while perfecting this patent that Mr. Cox received his "death wound." He knew that he was doomed, and that medical science could not aid him to any great extent, but he continued his work, and before long had the satisfaction of knowing that not only were his efforts recognized by the medical fraternity, but that King Edward himself had expressed a wish to see the practical results of his experiments.

CENTENARIAN STARTS OUT ON VISIT TO FRIENDS.

Peterboro, Ont., July 22.—Joseph Mantell, of this city, who has passed his 101st birthday, has left on a journey to Western Ontario, visiting London, Ingersoll and other points. Mr. Mantell is in splendid health and is particularly active and strong for his age.

OWEN SOUND VISITED BY A DISASTROUS FIRE.

Owen Sound, Ont., July 22.—Owen Sound was visited by a disastrous fire this afternoon, the damage of which was estimated at over $25,000. The fire broke out about 3 o'clock in an old log house on the river front occupied by some foreigner, and before it could be checked spread to the wood and coal yards adjoining, belonging to the Davis, Smith & Malone Company. All the buildings were destroyed, together with about 600 tons of coal and several hundred cords of wood. A strong wind which was blowing from the west carried the fire to the Dominion Transportation Company's warehouse and the grain elevator of Godfrey and C. Sibbald, both of which were entirely destroyed. At one time the warehouse and docks of the Northern Navigation Company were in serious danger, but these were saved with the assistance of the pumps on the G.P.R. steamer Assiniboia, which was lying in the harbor. While the fire was at its height the old Clifton House and the drill shed caught fire, as did a residence occupied by an aged couple at the corner of Eighth and Ninth streets. The latter house was fully three-quarters of a mile east of where the fire started. No assistance could be sent, as the entire fire brigade was occupied with the main fire. A young Englishman named Iles is under arrest on suspicion of having started the main fire during the past week. The loss will be heavy, as there was very little insurance on any of the buildings destroyed.

enforced closing of his lumber mill by reason of the strike. When questioned as to the truth of the rumor Mr. Booth declared it to be absolutely without foundation.

No Change at Montreal.

Montreal, July 22.—There is practically no change in the Grand Trunk strike situation. Both sides claim to be perfectly satisfied with the situation as it is. The chief question is as to the probability of arbitration. There is a strong demand from all parts of the country that the trouble shall be settled as soon as possible in the interests of the trade of the country. Mr. King, the Minister of Labor, is still exerting himself in this direction and it is hoped that some action will be taken within the next few days.

SUFFRAGETTES WANT TO JOIN MILITARY

Since They Claim Men's Privileges, They Want to Do Their Share.

Berlin, July 22.—A demand to be allowed to do military service of a certain kind is the latest plan adopted by the suffragettes in Continental Europe. The suffragettes declare that as they claim the same privileges as men, they should perform the same duties, and as military service is compulsory upon men, the women should do their share. The majority of them do not want actually to bear arms and fight, but demand such training as their inferior physical condition permits. Primarily, they suggest that they should be drilled in ambulance and hospital work with the army, and also in certain auxiliary departments, such as the commissariat.

The women maintain, however, that to qualify for this kind of work they should be thoroughly drilled in the use of modern weapons, to be used in emergencies in which auxiliary troops might find it necessary to defend themselves from unexpected attack.

The suffragettes also declare that the use of women in these positions at the rear would free thousands of able-bodied men for duty with the firing line, and that their demand ought, therefore, to be welcomed by every Minister of War. A small section of the suffragettes go even further, and demand the right to serve as soldiers, doing exactly what is required of the men in the ranks. The idea in this case is that the military duty should be done before marriage.

The demand is meeting with little encouragement from the German War Office, though the women are making it seriously.

PRESIDENT OF LADIES AUXILIARY OF A. O. H.

Portland, Ore., July 22.—Miss Anna G. Malia, of Scranton, Pa., was to-night elected president of the Ladies Auxiliary of the Ancient Order of I. O. O. F.

NEW PRESIDENT OF BANK OF MONTREAL.

Montreal, July 22.—At a meeting of the Board of Directors of the Bank of Montreal this morning, E. B. Angus, senior director of the Bank, was elected President, in succession to the late Sir George Drummond. The vacancy on the board was filled by the appointment of Mr. H. Vincent Meredith, assistant general manager.

DROUGHT IN WEST MAKES PROSPECTS BAD.

Winnipeg, Man., July 22.—Owing to the prolonged drought which has rendered fodder scarce, milk dealers are about to raise the price of milk. There is also no hay crop, and the outlook is bad for the winter. Market gardeners are in deplorable shape and vegetables promise to reach famine prices this winter.

NEGRO WAS BURNED AT THE STAKE.

Dallas, Texas, July 22.—Henry Gentry, a negro, who attempted to enter the room of a white woman at Belton, Tex., early this morning and who later killed Constable James Mitchell, who tried to arrest him, was burned at the stake to-night by a mob.

FORMER SPANISH PREMIER WOUNDED BY ASSASSIN.

Barcelona, July 22.—Antonio Maura, former Spanish Premier, was wounded to-day by a would-be assassin, who was arrested. His name is Manuel Posa, and he is native of Barcelona. Posa fired three shots at Senor Maura was leaving a train, wounding him in the leg. The ex-premier was hurried on board the steamer Miramar, where a doctor dressed his wounds, which are said to be very slight. He left immediately on board the steamer for the island of Majorca. Posa learned that Senor Maura was to pass through Barcelona on his way to Palma to spend the summer with his family. Owing to the excitement in Radical circles, extra police precautions were taken to guard Senor Maura, and it has not yet been learned how Posa eluded the authorities and got near enough to shoot the ex-Premier.

RACES AT MONTMAGNY.

The Montmagny Race Club will hold some important races to-morrow Sunday, at that place. Some of the best horses in the district of Quebec are entered, as for instance Major B. O. Jos. Liscoe, Billy Hurd, etc. An excursion will leave Levis about 10 o'clock to-morrow morning and will return the same evening or Monday. These races will probably eclipse all others previously held. They are well organized, good prizes are offered and there is every promise of success. A large number of the sporting fraternity from Quebec are expected to attend. A number of prominent Quebecers have subscribed, including Mr. D. O. Lesperance, who heads the list with a generous donation of $50.

ST. JOHN'S WARD.

Mr. Ulderice Gauvin has been present with a large and influential petition from the electors of St. John's Ward, to fill No. 2 seat left vacant by the recent death of Ald. Matte. Mr. Gauvin, who is well and favorably known in that ward would be an acquisition to the City Council, and has accepted to allow himself to be put in nomination.

KING GEORGE WILL BE CROWNED IN JUNE, 1911

Gorgeous Spectacle in London When the Announcement Was Made.

London, July 22.—The most magnificent ceremony witnessed in London since the coronation of the late King Edward was enacted to-day, when Englishmen were formally notified that King George would be crowned in June, 1911.

The ceremony of announcing the date of the coronation was carried out with medieval splendor. A long procession of trumpeters, or heralds, pursuivants, Kings-at-arms, Life Guardsmen and heraldic dignitaries paraded through the streets from St. James' Palace to the Royal Exchange, where the heralds read the Royal decree, the reading being accompanied by a fanfare of trumpets.

St. James, Charing Cross, Chancery Lane, the Royal Exchange and all the other streets through which the heralds passed were lined with the pick of the English Army, in full dress uniform, to hold back the enormous throngs that gathered for the ceremony.

HON. S. N. PARENT IN TOWN YESTERDAY

Had Busy Day and Completed Arrangements for Transfer of Champlain Market.

Hon. S. N. Parent arrived in town yesterday morning and returned to Ottawa last evening. During the day he had an interview with Mayor Drouin, when the contract ratifying the sale of Champlain Market to the Transcontinental Commission for a union station was agreed upon. Among those present at the time were Hon. L. A. Taschereau and Messrs. M. Chouinard, legal adviser, and C. E. Taschereau, N.P.

Speaking to a newspaper reporter after the meeting, Mr. Parent said that all that remains now is the preparation of the deed of sale which will be signed by the Mayor and forwarded to Ottawa, where the order-in-council for the payment of the site will be passed.

The price to be paid as stipulated in the contract is $100,000 and other conditions are that the sum of two million dollars be spent on the depot and terminals over and above the cost of constructing the road.

Mr. Parent stated that the work on the site will be started just as soon as the commission obtains possession of the property and the market hall is vacated.

CAPTAIN FOULKES WON CHAMPIONSHIP SINGLES.

Montreal, July 22.—In the lawn tennis championships of the Province of Quebec to-day, Capt. Foulkes, the champion, won the finals of the open singles, defeating McDougall, of Montreal, in three straight sets, 9-7, 6-4, 6-4.

In the doubles, Cassils and Sherwell, of Montreal, defeated Foulkes and Smith, 6-3, 2-6, 6-1.

FOREST FIRES ABATING.

Kenora, Ont., July 22.—All danger from fire seems to be over. Every available man was at work fighting the flames all night under the direction of the fire rangers. So pressing was the demand for men that telegraph operators were called away from their keys. Calls for assistance have been sent from towns in the vicinity. The whole of the country is ablaze with forest fires.

TWO CHILDREN KILLED IN AUTOMOBILE ACCIDENT.

Olean, N.Y., July 22.—An automobile driven by Bob Lang and carrying four little children was struck by a Lake Shore trolley here this afternoon. Irene Meder is dead. Lina Heath is dying from a fractured skull. Garrett Heenan and Marion Ball are badly hurt, but will live. Lang is badly bruised and delirious from mental strain. He had taken the children out for a ride and was running fast when the accident happened. The automobile turned turtle and the children were thrown clear.

TWO GIRLS BURNED IN RAINY RIVER DISTRICT.

Beaudette, Minn., July 22.—Forest fires around the village of Beaudette have been checked to-day. The fires around Rainy River, Ont., swept directly against the town and fear was widespread as to its safety. All available men have been fighting the flames. This afternoon it is hoped that the town will be saved as it looks as though the fire has been checked at the railroad right of way. Thousands of cords of pulpwood have been burned and the cabins of twenty settlers have been destroyed. It is reported that two little girls in the Rainy River district wandered into the forest and were burned. Conditions are practically the same on both sides of the boundary line.

ROMANCE OF AN AUSTRIAN ARCHDUKE

Court at Vienna to Decree That Johana Orth is Dead.

London, July 22.—That meteoric figure, the Archduke Johann Salvator, who chose to lay aside his royal dignities and become plain Johann Orth, is to be decreed dead by the High Chamberlain's Court at Vienna, unless authentic proof of his existence is forthcoming in six months.

His estate, after the income has made compound interest for twenty years, is said to be worth a million sterling. The action has been taken at the instance of the Archduke Joseph Ferdinand, a nephew of Archduke Johann, as one of the Archduke's heirs.

The Archduke's transit from European courts and Western civilization was due to an opera dancer. He had before proved an erratic figure, and had fallen foul of the War Office and the head of the Army.

His craving for military efficiency in Austria drove him at the age of 23 to publish a fierce attack on the army, which was bitterly resented, and he was imprisoned for his outburst. It was only at the special petition of his friend the Crown Prince Rudolf—whose tragic end some years afterward supplied another mystery to the world—that he was liberated.

Then he went to Bosnia, where he published another unfortunate work on "Drill and Drilling," lectured, argued, quarrelled—even with the Archduke Albrecht, a field-marshal—and in the end was dismissed, and forbidden the Court.

The archduke fell in love with Milli Stubel, a fascinating opera dancer in Vienna, and as she refused to become his mistress he determined to marry her. This, of course, meant a further breach with the Emperor Francis Joseph, and the sacrifice of his country and all his social prospects.

He married the lady in a London registry office and bought the Santa Margherita, an iron sailing ship of about 1,800 tons, at Hamburg. As Johann Orth he ran out from Chatham on his first voyage to South America with a cargo of cement. Here his captain fell ill and had to be paid off, most of the crew following suit. Johann Orth took over the command himself and engaged a fresh crew. At Iquique the Santa Margherita sailed for Valparaiso, doubling Cape Horn. Johann's will, which is deposited in Vienna, is still unopened.

TOWNS SAVED AFTER HARD FIGHT

Fires in the Boundary District of British Columbia Are Still Raging.

Nelson, B. C., July 22.—Latest news from the fires in the Nelson district is more reassuring and the government agent has information that most of the fires in his district are now under control. Rain has aided the fire fighters. Three Forks and Sandon are reported saved after a hard fight. Several bridges have been swept away in the boundary district. The fires are still raging. Yesterday men and teams were put to work removing powder from the magazine near Phoenix, which was in danger of destruction.

KING'S MESSAGE TO CENTENARIAN

One Hundred Years Old and Acts as Son's House-keeper.

London, July 22.—In the picturesque hamlet of Hatfield Hyde, which adjoins the Hertfordshire home of the Cecils, and is comprised within their domain there lives Mrs. Mary Mills, who on Saturday received from the King a letter expressing sincere congratulations on the attainment of her 100th birthday.

The bearer of this message was Lady Salisbury, who, with other members of the Cecil family, has long displayed practical interest in Mrs. Mills, as various treasured mementoes about her rose-covered cottage testify. These gifts she regards as household gods, and they are displayed with pride to visitors, but the greatest treasure of all is the letter from the King.

"You see," said this particularly hale old lady, "I can remember six successive Sovereigns. I remember six successive Sovereigns. I remember quite well standing against Hartfield Church when they tolled the bell for the funeral of George III. I remember, too we all had a good dinner when they roasted a bullock whole in Hatfield Park at the Coronation of Queen Victoria, although the meat was rather raw."

Mrs. Miller was born at Newgate street, another hamlet in Hatfield

ANTIQUITIES

Visitors to Quebec are cordially requested to call and examine our Antique Clocks, Antique Silver Wares and Antique Jewellery.

We have a number of fine old Hall Clocks at prices ranging from $60 to $250. One of these clocks is particularly valuable because of its history, having originally been owned by a famous French Canadian General.

Another interesting article is a large brass watch, weighing nearly a pound. This watch has an alarm and repeating attachment, and is in good going order.

In antique Silver Wares, we have a few pieces, English Hall Marked, dating back a hundred years or more.

In Antique Jewellery we display some fine old chains in solid gold, also pendants, bracelets and lockets. We would direct the attention of any one interested in cameos to a fine specimen blood-stone cameo pendant in a rich gold Etruscan mounting. The stone carved on both sides, is an excellent example of the cameo engraver's art.

The Quebec Chronicle

QUEBEC, JULY 23, 1910.

A BUSINESS MOVE.

For some time the Chronicle has been endeavoring to show that what Quebec most needs is the establishment of new industries in order to ensure its growth. Mayor Drouin is of the same opinion in this matter and thinks that something in the nature of a Business Men's League or a Special Committee should be organized for the purpose of offering inducements to foreign manufacturers to locate branches in Quebec. We have the Committee of Five raising subscriptions to start a campaign with the view of attracting winter tourists to this city. It is a good scheme and we hope that it will succeed, but when the advantages likely to accrue from an influx of winter tourists are compared with the practical benefits that will result from the coming of industrial concerns, there can be little doubt as to which of the two campaigns is the more preferable. In the one case it seems to us — though our opinion stands open to correction — that beyond the transportation companies, the leading hotels, the carters and a score or so of merchants very few others will gain by it. But more commerce would do good to the whole city. One working man is usually more worth to a town than fifty or a hundred transients and tourists, even though the latter are better furnished with the almighty dollar. As one of our leading commercial monthlies says: "The advisability of towns bonusing industries has been argued year after year in our Provincial Legislatures and press. Why do towns make such vigorous efforts to land new industries? Town after town is appointing its publicity agent, and is spending money on advertising its special advantages. Moose Jaw, Regina, Port Arthur, Camrose, have attractive advertisements from month to month. Every town in Canada is ready and eager to grant attractive inducements in the way of sites, reduced taxation, and other advantages, to manufacturing concerns. Why do they do it? Because they recognize that in industries mean life and growth and prosperity; that they will fill the houses and make busy the stores; that they will bring farmers in to supply the market; and that the conveniences that only come as a town grows in population and wealth will follow."

The policy of bonusing industries is questionable, and might not prove profitable. But if we had more industries not only the citizens but also the farmers in the neighborhood would be affected for the better. Where the best manufacturers are established, there, too, we find the best Saturday markets. Why is the farm land around big cities worth six or ten times as much as better land, which, bordering on small towns, cannot find a purchaser? It is the mechanics in the workshops who make the difference.

Mayor Drouin has therefore gone deeply into the question and it is his opinion that an "Industrial Committee" should be formed, the sole object of which will be to attract new industries. He considers that this committee should be composed as follows: Two members of the City Council, two members each from the Federal and Provincial Houses, like numbers from the Board of Trade and Manufacturers' Association, and two representatives of the local press. This would give a membership of twelve besides himself.

His idea is that this committee should have a permanent paid secretary as publicity agent. The expenses would be raised from the city, the Board of Trade and the Manufacturers' Association. This secretary would be expected to give all his time to the undertaking.

The object is not to have too large a committee. One that was constituted as the Mayor suggests would be representative, but we think that it would be much strengthened by the addition of railway representatives, who can add much to its efficiency.

We understand that Mayor Drouin is already working out the details of the project, and will discuss the matter at the next meeting of the City Council. This is a matter quite outside the pale of politics, and we consider that he should receive unanimous support in so vital a question as our commercial betterment.

"THE CAMPAIGN OF THE DOUBLE FURROW."

Mr. Roy, the member from Montmagny, is to have his chance after all. It may be remembered how that gentleman threw his reticence to the winds when he issued his challenge to the Hon. Senator Choquette, to have him contest the county of Montmagny with him on the difference of opinion between the Senator and Sir Wilfrid Laurier over the latter's naval policy. And we all remember how the same Mr. Roy took up with his reticence again when Mr. Lesperance accepted the challenge in behalf of the Senator's views. Now that the "campaign of the double furrow" is on in full blast, with a mass meeting to be held at the end of the month in Montmagny, as sequel to the meetings at Beauport and St. Eustache, Mr. Roy will no doubt be called upon to face his own challenge in a revised and practical form, which he will find it next to impossible to duck under as he did on a former occasion. Before or after, or at the meeting to be held in his own constituency, he will have to face the music whether he will or not; since we are told that the kind of ploughshare which Sir Wilfrid has been using all these years on what he has been accustomed to call his own domain, has come into the hands of others, with the ploughing match well under way. The great question in hand is whether the province of Quebec is to be continued to be looked upon as a "pocket borough" which he (Sir Wilfrid) alone has the right to make use of in the perpetuation of his discredited regime. We hope Mr. Roy will not put his constituency to the trouble of asking him to do his duty under the change that has taken place in the new phase of events.

SIR WILFRID'S BODYGUARD IN THE WEST.

The people of the West have been investigating the antecedents of Messrs. Pugsley and Macdonald, the two politicians who have been selected to accompany the Premier of Canada on his present trip across the continent, and, whatever the eastern "organs" may think "sub rosa," about the matter, the diagnosis has been anything but complimentary to the prudence of their versatile chief. Had Sir Wilfrid only attached to his train a "third party," in the person of Mr. Frank Broadway Caswell, member for Carleton, N.B., there would have been a rounding out of his bodyguard which might have placed Messrs. Pugsley and Macdonald in a safer kind of light. We do not care to repeat all that the western newspapers have been saying about Mr. Pugsley, and we are sure Mr. Caswell must have blushed at times while reading what they have been saying about Mr. Macdonald, his "alter ego," in the excruciating business of Sir Wilfrid's commissioners of enquiry. As it has been, the westerners are taking Sir Wilfrid as he is accompanied, and not as he might have been. The Premier has been playing his usual role of saying one thing and meaning another. He has been posing as a "plain man," "one proud of his country and laboring in her behalf; whereas, with Messrs. Pugsley and Macdonald as his openly acknowledged "bosom friends," he stands confessed as an accomplice in the making of Canada a by-word as far as malversation and mal-administration is concerned. Possibly Sir Wilfrid would pose as "a friend of publicans and sinners," and he certainly has been a friend and excuplator of many such since his advent to power. But the people of the West have been taking him and his henchmen at their proper moral value, as the people of the Dominion have been doing for some time back. "Does Sir Wilfrid Laurier," says one of the western newspapers, "imagine for a moment that the Canadian West is not capable of placing a proper estimate on the doings of men of the Pugsley-Macdonald type, or that it will not see, in his intimate association with such, a disposition to flout in the face of western public opinion all that is unwholesome and demoralizing in the tendencies of the most corrupt government that has ever been known." And in referring directly to Mr. Pugsley's career the same newspaper points out what an unsavory record that gentleman once made for himself as Premier of New Brunswick, and later as Minister of Public Works. And in dealing with Mr. Macdonald's record this is what it says:—

"Mr. Macdonald's activities at Ottawa have been confined chiefly to the successful blocking of investigation of crooked governmental transactions. Thus Mr. Macdonald was instrumental in suppressing the truth concerning the Transcontinental jobberies; he has been the chief factor in making ineffective any inquiry into the conduct of the public accounts committee; by brow beating witnesses and by the tactics of the skillful lawyer with a purpose to serve, he has succeeded in nullifying nearly every effort made to probe into well-grounded charges affecting the honesty of the Ottawa Government."

The announcement, meant no doubt as a feeler of public opinion, has been sent broadcast that the editor of the Winnipeg Free Press is to be made a colleague of Sir Wilfrid Laurier whenever a vacancy occurs in his Cabinet. Better a new Minister than a new Judge, under the conditions of promotion observed in Laurier circles. Besides the party strife has been allayed in prairie provinces until another general election, Federal or Provincial, comes in sight, and an editor or two can be spared for executive operations at the centre of things. There is a Walter Scott in the West as a Provincial Premier, and why may there not be a Defoe, too, as a Federal Minister representative of the West?

The refusal to marry divorced persons brings into view the objections to cousinship in marital relations, and the advocacy of at least one prominent clergyman that marriage should be refused when the contracting parties are unable to secure a doctor's certificate. The world has still a step or two to take in providing against race degeneracy beyond the putting of criminals on parole or the deportation of unsuitable immigrants. Think of the conditions of provocation in the slums of our large cities, and then marvel that the human family is not more degenerate than it is.

The contradictory reports concerning the wheat crop are again on their way every day to town. Some people are wisely enough beginning to refuse to read. What commercial interest they can be to Quebec, now that we have no grain elevator to supply, is more than the most of us can make out. Some people, however, maintain that such a granary is in the way of being restored; and, if our asking about it does not offend any of the members of the Harbor Commission, the Chronicle would like to know if there is any truth in the report. We all want to take an interest in the reports from the West about the wheat crop.

The Royal Commission on Industrial Training and Technical Education has not been slow in getting to work, and, what is more, they intend to make no close corporation of themselves, as has been done with so many of our educational administrative boards. They have begun their investigations in Nova Scotia, and the country will soon be in a position to learn where Canada stands in the matter of industrial education. The advice that will finally be presented to every province in the Dominion will no doubt be of the soundest character, the conditions of our Canadian life being taken into account in the after founding of a system under federal oversight. The Commission was looked for support to their missions from every section of the country.

The Manitoba Legislature is still partly in the hands of Sir Wilfrid Laurier. As an unmentionable personality referred to in Milton's "Paradise Lost," and elsewhere, once said, when he was in sore straits, "All is not lost." Of the thirteen Liberals elected during the late contest, not less than eleven of them are in the pay of the Laurier Government. We hope none of them are editors, or they might be induced to tell lies when called upon to do so by those who hold the whip-handle of them. As a contemporary remarks, Liberalism in the West seems to be strictly on a revenue basis, even to the appointment of judges and the undoing and promotion of Premiers. But what difference will it make to Sir Wilfrid when he comes down to Quebec to deliver one of his orations on provincial autonomy?

The Street Railway, in its activities, is a welcome sign of the times—a sign that bespeaks other activities which Quebec may have in time the courage to commend and not retard. The merger is here to make money for its shareholders, but it is also here to provide street railway conveniences for the public, without waiting for something to happen. There is no conundrum about its operations, as there has been for some time about some of our other prospects—namely, the building of a new dry dock, the opening of a naval shipyard, or the providing of the people with the best ferry boats that can be built under a contract that cannot be amended without the consent of both contracting parties.

CENTURY OF PEACE WILL BE OBSERVED

Celebrations Will Be Held at Toronto, Hamilton, Buffalo and Niagara in 1915.

Niagara Falls, Ont., July 22.—A celebration will be held between July 1st and October 1st, 1915, in this city, Toronto, Hamilton, Buffalo and Niagara Falls, N.Y., to round out the century of peace, and in memory of the signing of the Treaty of Ghent. The decision was arrived at at a meeting of the Hundred Years Peace Society, held at the Clifton House yesterday afternoon. The celebration will be extended to any other town or village associated with the War of 1812 whose civic authorities or historical association requests. The Frontier Society will likely affiliate with similar societies throughout Canada and the United States, and an international association taking them all in is proposed. At the afternoon's meeting a constitution was adopted. It makes provision for the election of President Taft and Governor-General Grey or their successors as honorary presidents of the society. It also provides for the election of a permanent memorial, to be selected and erected by the society. There is much talk of the memorial taking the form of a free bridge across the Niagara River. E. R. Biggar, representing the Old Fort Protection Association, Toronto, invited the society to Toronto for its next meeting. The meeting will be held in the City Hall of that City at the call of Provisional Chairman Emerson, probably within two weeks. At that time officers will be elected and organization completed.

LIFE A NIGHTMARE

Helpless and Broken Down,
Dr. Williams' Pink Pills
Came to the Rescue.

There are many who think anaemia is a trouble confined to growing girls and women, but this is not the case. Thousands of men are anaemic, and attribute their growing weakness to mental or physical overwork, or worry, and who do not appear to realize that they are swiftly passing into that condition known as general debility, and that their trouble is due entirely to the fact that their blood is watery and impure. If the trouble is not taken in time, they pass from one stage to another until the breakdown is complete, and often until a cure is beyond hope. To men in all walks of life there is no medicine so valuable as Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. If you feel jaded, weak or worn out these Pills will make that rich, red blood that puts vim and energy into every portion of the body. Making good blood is the mission of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and good blood is the one secret of good health and vigorous life. An excellent case in point is that of Mr. R. W. Ellis, of Balcarres, Sask., who says: "Just four years ago I was in England making preparations to fulfil the long cherished ambition of coming to Canada. My health at that time was normal, though I was never very strong. Three weeks before the time of my departure I was overcome with a feeling of general weakness and faintness which rendered me so inert and lifeless that my days were shrouded in gloom. Consultation with a doctor brought me no consolation. Debility was my trouble and I was on the point of a breakdown. 'Canada in your condition means death,' said the doctor. 'You must have a complete rest.' A rest, however, was out of the question, a fortnight's holiday I had and then back to earn my daily bread. The next years were a series of misery and despair, body and brain undermined with a complaint the doctor could only call debility, but apparently could not cure. Snatching holidays when I could I struggled on until the opening of 1909, when completely prostrated I was compelled to go to my parents and become a burden to them. My life was simply an existence and friends said, behind my back, 'consumption.' "In April, 1909, I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Three months later, on July 1st, I sailed from Liverpool on the Tunisian for Montreal, full of new life, energy and hope. In this great country I am making good and I owe it all to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. In three months they changed me from a nervous wreck to a healthy man. When doctors failed they succeeded, and I honestly believe they saved my life." "You can procure this great health giving medicine from any dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

LAMP OUT OF SEASON

The pretty young wife was reading Thomas Hardy's romance of "Far from the Madding Crowd," and had reached that part in which Gabriel Oak discovers the sheep have run over the edge of a precipice most of them to their deaths. "What fools sheep are!" she said. "Yes, lamb," the husband replied abstractedly. Then he wondered why she rushed out of the room, closing the door in an ungentle manner.—Vancouver Province.

STRANGER TOLD HE SHOULD BE PRESIDENT

While Col. Lewis Listened to Words of Praise, His Pocketbook Was Stolen in Car.

Chicago, July 22.—"Beware of men who want to make you President," says Col. J. Hamilton Lewis, "when they raise their hands to swear allegiance to you put your hands on your pocketbook." Yesterday Col. Lewis boarded a car, and owing to the usual crowd was forced to take a "strap seat." He noticed that he was being crowded and jostled a little more than he thought was absolutely necessary but paid no attention to it until a man standing beside him leaned on his shoulder and remarked: "I beg your pardon, sir, but you look a great deal like Col. J. Hamilton Lewis." "Well, people have told me that before," said Col. Lewis. "You even talk like Col. Lewis," said the man. "I have been told that before, too," replied Col. Lewis. "I believe that you are Col. J. Hamilton Lewis," insisted the man, and I want to say that you are the greatest man living. Some day you will be president." While the Colonel was trying to figure out who his admirer was the car stopped and the man got off. Col. Lewis discovered a short time afterward that his pocketbook had got off at the same stop.

MR. BORDON WILL GO WEST

Leader of Opposition Predicts Conservative Victory. Halifax, N.S., July 22.—Mr. R. L. Borden spoke for about an hour at a smoking concert at the A. B. C. Hall. He predicted a Conservative victory at the next general election, and that a change of a few thousand votes throughout the Dominion last time would have defeated the Liberals. The popular vote in Nova Scotia was about even, he declared, though only six Conservatives were elected. He declared that the people will in due time awake to the incompetency of the present Government. He reviewed his trip to the West and said that at all the meetings there was evidence of a growing dissatisfaction with existing conditions, and a desire among the people to return to honest and effective Government. In a jocular mood he referred to Sir Wilfrid Laurier's present trip, and said that later he was going west again and would make it his business to learn what misrepresentations had been made, and he would endeavor to disabuse the minds of the people of the influence and effects of the Premier's statements. Mr. A. E. Crosby, M.P., J. C. Mullin, and J. W. Regan also spoke.

OPPOSITION TO DECLARATION BILL

Nonconformist Movement Against Measure is Rapidly Gaining Strength. London, July 22.—It is becoming increasingly evident that the Government was wise in deciding not to postpone the final stages of the accession declaration bill to the autumn session. Many M. P.'s who were disposed to support the measure have already had their feelings so worked upon by sectarian deputations with petitions that they are in a condition to be easily stampeded. The nerves of the Scottish Liberals are in a highly agitated condition. The Unionist members have also been visibly shaken in the support which most of them were inclined to give. One hundred and fifteen Nonconformist members have decided not to support the second reading unless the terms of the declaration are altered. They object to the words making it obligatory for the King to be a member of the State Church. It is still thought, however, that if the Cabinet sits tight they will get the bill through.

WANTED, A WAVERLEY

Before the time of Sir Walter Scott there were societies a-plenty devoted to the world of traditions of the past. But the genius of this one man did more than all the rest could do, not merely to put life into the dry bones of ancient recollection, but, by so doing, to attract public attention to the subject and raise the whole movement of historical study to a higher level. This is said to have been the work of a powerful imagination. But that imagination was nurtured, not on airy notions of fancy and dreamy speculation, but on the very solid food of facts collected by the writer at first hand in his wanderings in the Border country and his talks with the old people who mused over their nook or by the bothie door. treasures of memory in the ingle. Every part of Canada offers opportunities for such a mind. But that which should attract his attention first, probably is the timbered section of present or recent times. There is an empire fabulously rich in reminiscence and tradition in the timber trade of Canada as it has been. Glimpses of its poetry are seen in the verse of Dr. Drummond, while its romance lends beauty to the stories of Charles G. D. Roberts and Edward William Thomson. These are the days of wood scarcity, almost famine, the days of forest conservation and sorting of chips and sawdust. The change does not afford a reason to repeat the words which Kipling so truly satirizes and to say, "Romance is dead." But when the idea that Canada's forests were illimitable was so common a belief that few even took the trouble to express it, there must have been a freedom in the life of the lumberman, a horizonless vision, vastly different from the

Kidney Trouble

For Five Months Completely Cured by Seven Bottles of Warner's Safe Cure

Mr. Adolf E. Syring, of No. 819 Jefferson Avenue, Toledo, O., who experienced this remarkable cure, writes as follows: I had kidney and bladder trouble and was ill about five months. I tried several kidney remedies, also some medicine from a doctor, but there was no relief whatever. I then heard of Warner's Safe Cure through an old friend of mine, but I did not care to try it, as I was afraid of patent medicines; but I found that I was mistaken, because as soon as I had used one bottle I was relieved. I used seven bottles in all and I was entirely cured in less than four months. I have never been troubled with my kidneys or bladder since.

Warner's Safe Cure is made from the fresh juices of plants and medicinal roots, gathered at the proper season in various quarters of the globe. Men skilled in botany and chemistry compound it. Put up in 50c. and $1.00 sizes and sold by druggists everywhere.

For constipation and biliousness take Warner's Safe Pills, purely vegetable, absolutely free from injurious substances, a perfect laxative. They do not gripe or leave any bad after effects. 25 cents a box.

To convince every sufferer from diseases of the kidneys and liver that WARNER'S SAFE CURE will absolutely cure, a sample bottle and a sample box of Warner's Safe Pills will be sent FREE OF CHARGE, postpaid, to any one who will write WARNER'S SAFE CURE CO., Toronto, Ont., and mention having seen this liberal offer in the Quebec Chronicle. The genuineness of this offer is fully guaranteed by the publisher.

JOAQUIN MILLER ENTERTAINS

Poet Gives Mexican Luncheon To Sixty Friends At His Home.

Joaquin Miller, the poet of the Sierras, gave a Mexican lunch yesterday to 60 members of the Sequoia Club at his home, on the Heights back of Oakland, where Fremont first saw the Bay of San Francisco and named its entrance the Golden Gate.

There was much speculation over the mysterious lunch, but it opened with cocktails mixed by the poet, who said the recipe came from General Fremont and Walt Whitman.

Then came barbecued beef and bacon and onions with California claret served in large three-gallon demijohns.

After lunch Miller told his first visit to his present home, when he surprised a black bear eating the carcass of a cow that it had killed. This looked like a promising place for a poet who wanted to lead the simple life, so he bought two acres. Since then he has added many acres and planted thousands of trees. He has raised a pyramid to Moses, built a Browning tower of rocks and a monument to Fremont.

The poet before he led his guests up the hill to these monuments warned them that no one who had violated any of the Ten Commandments could climb with him to Moses' pyramid, but every one went up the trail.

GUARANTEED DANRUFF CURE.

Beware of the druggist who tells you that any other hair tonic is just as good as Parisian Sage—he knows better.

Henry Willis, 4 St. John street, is the agent for Parisian Sage, and he won't try to give you something just as good, because he knows that Parisian Sage is guaranteed to cure dandruff, stop falling hair, and cure all diseases of the scalp in two weeks, or money back.

He knows that Parisian Sage is highly recommended as the most pleasant and rejuvenating hair dressing known. It makes the hair fluffy and beautiful. 50 cents a large bottle at Henry Willis, 4 St. John street. He will guarantee it. Made in America only by Giroux Mfg. Co., Fort Erie, Ont.

HIS EXPLANATION.

The elevator conductor of a tall office building, noticing that the colored janitor had ridden up with him several times that morning, remarked: "Sam, this is the fifth time I have taken you up, but you have not come down with me."

"Well, you see," Sam replied. "Ab been washin' windows on 'de leventh floor, and every now and again ah misses mah hold and falls out."—Success Magazine.

WHERE THE HUSBAND REIGNS

Wives Have to Toe the Mark in Japan and China.

According to a writer in a Japanese magazine, a wife in that country must needs be a model character.

"The two characters representing husband in the Japanese language," he says, "mean heavenly person. Accordingly his wife is expected to honor him as a thing from heaven. She does this by attending carefully to the duties of the household so as to leave her husband free to carry on the business of life. The true wife will sacrifice fortune and even life for the sake of her lord.

"Nor is it to be understood that the Japanese man is indifferent to the noble endurance of his wife. Though exacting, he must treat his wife with consideration and sympathy. The Japanese woman is loved as a wife and honored and respected as a mother. Thus, though her lot is arduous, her life on the whole is happy and contented.

"The sphere of the Japanese woman is the home. Domestic duties form her principal responsibilities, and to them she gives her thought. As the Japanese attach great importance to cleanliness, the wife must see that the house is daily attended to and kept scrupulously in order and that not a speck of dust is allowed to collect anywhere within the dwelling.

"Even the fate of Chinese women is becoming more endurable in recent years."

China has been a land of cruelty and oppression, treachery and taciturn hate, along with quite an allowance of good qualities, for something like four thousand years. Three or four religions have held sway in that time, and there have been invasions and conquests innumerable, but no change in the character of the people has ever resulted from any of these innovations or resolutions of either material or spiritual things.

For all these hundreds of generations the accepted, normal attitude toward women was that of a herdsman to his cattle, which he prizes and cares for on account of their productivity and pecuniary valuation. A Chinaman's wife, as everybody knows, is as much a bit of his personal property as his dog, his opium pipe, his store of rice or his shop, and no more. The ceremonies of her acquisition are elaborate and the offspring is highly prized; but she, personally, is given no credit for any of this, being merely a means to an end, a requisite convenience.

In a land where such notions have prevailed for a period which antedates Babylon, and where nothing changes, one does not look with much anticipation for any move in favor of woman's privileges. Yet under the new regime there have been several laws enacted which prohibit the sale of wives and children, regulate concubinage and tend generally to raise women to a higher level.

There has always been an edict preserved in Chinese moral codes and legal statutes forbidding a man to take more than one wife; but this has been assiduously ignored. The wealth of a merchant or statesman is measured by the number of his wives, although the first wife is the only one that is treated with a shadow of respect. The second is subservient to the first, the third to the second, and so forth. Some men have been known to boast as many as 76.

These secondary women could be bought and sold like the livestock of the peasants and were rated as little more than son producers. In times of famine or failure in business the Chinaman will sell his female stock, including his daughters, to the highest bidder. This would be so utterly impossible in any Caucasian country that a brief explanation of domestic life in the Celestial empire is necessary.

Marriages in China are made by a contract between the parents of the affected parties. The bride and groom know no wooing, no lovemaking, and consequently, no love. They are strangers until they are joined in marriage. Then it is the wife's part to obey, respect and serve her lord and his to order and abuse. Wife beating is a duty.

One of the cruellest household rules affecting the slave wives is that regulating the affection and obedience of their children. No matter who the actual mother may be, all respect and attention is due the first wife. The sons and daughters of the other women of the house are instructed to regard their mothers as their father's slaves and no more. If they have any kindness or tenderness to bestow, it must be directed toward the supreme wife and not to their own mothers.

As everybody knows, no Chinaman welcomes a daughter. She is expensive to maintain, and in his old age contributes nothing to his comfort or ease. Among the poorer classes the female children are raised if the fates are propitious. If things go wrong, they are exposed in the streets to die. If they grow up and a period of stringency comes, they are sold as slaves, and the father rejoices that he has actually realized something from what he considered useless livestock.

It is from these daughters of the lower classes that the vast army of slave wives was always recruited, and, inasmuch as their position was not secured after their first sale, they had to look forward to several transfers and, perhaps, being cast into the street in their old age.

These conditions have existed for unnumbered centuries, but now the Orient assures us they are to be abruptly and peremptorily ended. The new legislation forbids the sale of children, which will cut off the supply of slave wives, and forces every Chinaman with secondary wives to maintain them all, without the right to pass them on or discard them.

"I FEEL IT MY DUTY

To Give You a Statement In Regard to 'Fruit-a-lives'

HARDWIPORE, MIRAMICHI, N.B., Jan. 17th, 1910.

"I feel it my duty to give to you and the world an unsolicited statement in respect to the wonderful cure I received by taking 'Fruit-a-lives.' Chronic Constipation was the complaint I suffered with for years. My general health was miserable as a result of this disease, and I became depressed and alarmed. I was treated by physicians without the slightest permanent benefit, and I tried all kinds of pills and tablets but nothing did me any good.

I saw the strong testimonial in favor of 'Fruit-a-lives' by New Brunswick's 'Grand Old Man,' the Hon. John Costigan, and I knew that anything he stated was honest and true and given only to help his fellow-men. I tried 'Fruit-a-lives' and the effects were most marvellous, and now I am entirely well from all my Chronic Constipation that I suffered from for so many years. My general health is once more excellent and I cannot say too much to express my thanks for the great benefits derived from taking 'Fruit-a-lives.'

A. G. WILLISTON. "Fruit-a-lives" is not gotten up by druggists or expert chemists — who know nothing about disease and the needs of the human body—but is the scientific discovery of a well known physician, and is the only medicine in the world made of fruit juices. 50c. a box, 6 for $2.50, or trial size, 25c. At all dealers, or sent, post-paid, on receipt of price by Fruit-a-lives Limited, Ottawa.

QUEEN MARY'S BEST FRIEND

The Duchess of Devonshire Mistress of the Robes.

(From a London Letter.)

Queen Mary's most intimate friend is the Duchess of Devonshire, who has just accepted the appointment of Mistress of the Robes. In this appointment the Duchess succeeds her aunt, the Duchess of Buccleuch, who has held the post for nearly a quarter of a century, but has asked to be released from her duties on the ground of ill health.

The Duchess of Devonshire is about 37. She is the daughter of Lady Lansdowne, whom she resembles. Naturally as the eldest child of Lord and Lady Lansdowne she came into touch with life at the court when she was little more than a girl and after her marriage she began entertaining largely, though her husband had not succeeded to the duchy at the time.

The Duchess is like Queen Mary in character and they have many tastes in common. Both have large families, to whom they devote a great deal of time and personal attention. They are both very capable, with clear minds and the faculty of organizing, and they are both strongly opposed to extravagance and luxury, living in their own homes simple and quiet lives.

The Duchess has seven children. Two of them are sons, the Marquis of Hartington, heir to the duchy, who is just 15, and Lord Charles, who will be 5 in August. Of the five daughters Lady Maud is 14, Lady Blanche 12, Lady Dorothy 9, Lady Rachel 8, and the youngest of the family, Lady Anne, will be a year old in September.

TRAPPED FROM NEW ORLEANS.

His back bent with the load of many years and his head white as a mountain drift, Jim Turner, an aged darky, tottered into Richmond several days ago from New Orleans to look for an officer under whom he had served in the Louisiana Tigers in the Confederate Army.

He had walked the whole distance, making the long trip in three months. With him he carried papers from a court clerk and testimonials from prominent people as to his honesty and telling of his purpose in making a pilgrimage at which even a dusky knight would quail.

He searched the city high and low, giving passers by and the few acquaintances he chanced to make a description of the man he wanted to find, their names to be affixed to an application for a pension. But none was to be found. They had fallen before the last enemy, some of them having been dead many years.

The old man had made the trip for nothing. There were no others in all the Southern States to whom he could go. The only officers who, as he thought, were living were those who resided in Richmond, and to see them he tramped the dreary miles day in and day out, sleeping where he could and begging a small alms from those he thought likely to give.

People, he said, had been kind to him and he had never lacked. "When he reached Richmond he had 30 cents, but this was supplemented in a small way by a few generous people. After finding that the journey had been made in vain, the old man decided to return to his home and people, and last night he turned his eyes southward and shuffled off over Mayo's Bridge.

"I ain't got long to live," he said sadly, "an' I better go back whar I b'longs. But you'll folks been good to me, an' I thank you from de bottom of my heart." He unfolded his story to Policeman Gentry, and said that he wanted to go home to die. He showed his papers, all of which had been drawn up in proper order.

Turner fought through the war with the Louisiana Tigers, and was in every battle with them. He told of how he had helped the man he most wanted to see from the battlefield after the officer had been shot five times. He gave the officer a cup of cold water, and then dragged him from the line of fire. He himself had come through unscathed. He had been always loyal to the South and his people, and knew that they would help him now in his hour of need. But they had all gone before, and he said that he was willing to follow them now as he had followed them in the days of '61-65.

BAD TIME FOR HOTELS

Those in New York Lose Ten Thousand Dollars a Month in Summer.

(From the New York Sun.)

There are really very few hotels in New York that make money during the summer. Some of them have a good transient trade, composed for the most part of persons who pass a night or two here on their way to or from Europe, or others who are on their way to nearby watering places.

Every year sees an increasing number of Southerners who select the summer as the time to pay a visit to the metropolis, but so far as the greater number of the hotels are concerned the summer trade is poor compared with the rest of the year. Most of them have already cut their staffs to summer proportions, and at the various summer resorts from Atlantic City to Canada you will be apt to find New York waiters from now until the middle of September. Some find berths on steamers not only on neighboring waters but on the Great Lakes.

There is one hotel of moderate size that does a gilt-edged business from September 1 until June 1, but the manager was wishing recently that he could afford to close up for three months. Besides an excellent living for his family, the hotel pays the proprietor between $50,000 and $60,000 a year. During June, however, with a reduced staff, expenses just about meet receipts, and in July and August it is said the hotel is kept open at a loss of $10,000 a month.

July is generally said to be the worst month of the twelve for a New York hotel. In Europe this is one of the best months, because during that month and August the number of American visitors alone would keep most of the hotels going in many of the European capitals and watering places. The number of foreigners of all nationalities who visit New York in the summer time and who patronize first-class hotels would not keep one moderate-sized hotel going. Yet most of them who visit the United States come by way of New York. The statement was made recently by a hotel man that for every European who stops at a first-class hotel in New York there are at least fifty Americans who patronize the best or most expensive hotels in both London and Paris.

THE BRITISH MONEY MARKET.

The London correspondent of the New York Evening Post writes:—During July and August quite a glut of money is expected in the London money market, but there is still much doubt as to the position later in the autumn. The Bank of England's position is the strongest since the year 1896, and now that Russia has ceased for the time being to purchase gold there is a prospect of the reserve here rising to a very high level. It will doubtless be remembered that the years 1894 to 1896 were the years of cheapest money which this country has ever known, the bank rate remaining at 2 per cent for about two years. On that occasion, however, quite an exceptional number of favorable factors were operating, among them being the circumstances that all the indemnity paid by China to Japan was remitted to London. In the absence of any stock to credit, a repetition of such prolonged ease is not looked for at the present time, especially as trade conditions in this country are improving, and most people look for a considerable further expansion in your own commercial activity, with a marked increase in the value of your exports in the very near future. Already the loans offered in this country in the six months are not far short of the total for the whole of last year, and there is every indication at this time that the second half of the year may also be prolific in the matter of new capital flotations, in which case the twelve-month will establish a fresh record in this respect. In view of this fact, therefore, the more prudent are taking moderate views with regard to an advance in securities, and people who at the present moment are purchasing lines of consols as a speculation for the rise will be quite content with a 2 per cent appreciation.

THE FUR COAT.

Henry E. Dixey, the brilliant comedian, has a seasonable after-supper speech, called "The Fur Coat." The speech runs:—

"There is an 'atmosphere' about a fur-lined coat. Its wearer looks upon other men as pariahs. If you want to madden the sumptuous creature, hint that the fur he is so proud of is imitation, and he will foam at the mouth. When the fur is real, his rage is intelligible; and when it is false he is naturally beside himself at seeing his secret revealed to a derisive world. One of the bitterest moments of my dear friend Jasper Jay's life was occasioned the other day by the thoughtless jeer of a rude taxicab driver. "Jasper Jay had, thanks to the confiding and truthful nature of a Broad-way tailor, purchased a fur coat with a superb collar of astrakhan—the real thing. I assure you on my honor—the real thing. Jasper the other day was crossing Fifth avenue in this superb garment and had to hop hurriedly out of the way of a taxicab. The mud splashed him; he was irritated, and so he upbraided the driver. The latter sneered, and, taking his cigarette from his scornful lips, he said: "Aw, git out, ye curly-haired retriever!" Jasper was cut to the heart, for it was not a retriever; really and truly it was a fox. But a friend was with him, and the friend reported the taxicab man's words, and now whenever Jasper essays to show off his splendid coat in the club his fellow members shout in chorus: "Bow-wow-wow!"—Chicago Record Herald.

MRS. CURTISS ELATED AT HUSBAND'S SUCCESS

Wife of Successful Aviator Tells of Feelings During the World Flight.

The machine with which Glenn H. Curtiss made his flight from Albany to New York is not only the smallest ever employed in an important aerial trip, but aviators say is the smallest which ever has been utilized in a cross-country journey.

It is what is known as the biplane type. It measures from extreme front to extreme rear just 30 feet 1 inch, and it is 30 feet wide. The two plants, which are four and one-half feet apart, are also four and one-half feet wide. They are made of the fine rubber-silk cloth, which is Capt. Thomas Baldwin's contribution to aviation.

The planes and wings of the Curtiss machine are concave but rigid, in which they differ from the Wright machine in that its wings may be warped through lever controls operated by the rider. Instead of warping his wing tips Curtiss employs an aileron on each side of the machine. These ailerons are four feet long and two and one-half feet wide, and are fastened at each end of the machine to two of the upright rods at the front edge of the planes. The uses to which these ailerons are put are identical with those accorded by the warping wings of the Wright machine.

For almost every mile of the way Mrs. Curtiss had a clear view of the airship, and no one on the train was more enthusiastic. When she arrived at the station a squad of automobiles was waiting for her party, and she was taken as fast as the law allows to Governor's Island, where she arrived in time to throw her arms about her husband's neck and kiss him, while tears of joy brimmed her eyes.

"It was a beautiful day," continued Mrs. Curtiss, "and everything conspired to make the flight a most successful one. This is the happiest day of my life."

Mrs. Curtiss was trembling with excitement when she stepped from the train. She was the first to alight, and her first word was to ask where her husband had landed. When the special train reached Spuyten Duyvil it parted company with the aeroplane, Curtiss continuing straight down the Hudson, and flying so low that the hills hid him from the view of those on board. That was the last Mrs. Curtiss saw of her husband until she met him at Governor's Island when the flight was over.

Mrs. Curtiss carried a large American flag which she had waved to her husband whenever the train got close upon the aeroplane. A reporter told her that her husband landed safely at 214th street, and was preparing to continue on down the river. Without waiting to hear more she jumped into the automobile and urged the chauffeur to go as quickly as he could to the Battery.

"It was a most thrilling flight, and aside from the fact that my husband was in it, I would not have missed it for the world. It was by far the best flight Glenn has made. Will he make another soon? I hope not for a while. I think he has accomplished enough for the present. I will be satisfied if he never flies again, but of course he will. I do not know when his next flight will be. I am very proud and very happy, and that is about all I care to know just now."

TIMELY ADVICE UPON PRECAUTIONS AGAINST FIRE

In the matter of fire prevention, good advice is never out of place. In the last issue of the Canadian Lumberman a list of rules enforced by a large lumber company were published, and they contained some very practical ideas in concise form. Further suggestions along the same line are given herewith, which, like those of the previous issue, are culled from practical experience.

Spontaneous combustion, among other things, is a frequent and unnecessary cause of many fires. When once any discarded machinery or refuse of any nature is put away in a corner, this corner will soon become a dump heap for all sorts of cast-offs. In the course of time, if there is any old clothing, overalls, or similar garments among the refuse, sufficient heat will be generated to cause spontaneous combustion. Fire of this sort usually smoulders for some time and is as liable as not to break out in the dead of the night when there is no assistance at hand to suppress it. Well ventilated clothes-closets should be provided, and anything which is not in use should be properly disposed of.

Many a serious fire has been caused by a parlor match ignited by mice or by the heel of an employee. Workmen should be especially warned to use all due care to prevent fires of this nature. Matches should never be left in the pockets of work-clothes or any other place where they are liable to fall to the floor, or to be visited by rodents.

Watchmen's lamps of inferior make are often responsible for conflagrations. There are so many different kinds of absolutely safe lamps, burning non-explosive oils, that accidents of this sort appear excusable.

Carelessness in boiler houses is very often responsible for a great deal of trouble. Fuel is frequently piled up too close to the boiler front, a sudden back draft emitting sparks, which, unless promptly extinguished, might easily start a serious blaze. Firemen are not always careful to see that feed-pipes are removed from fire holes in the boilers the instant they are not in actual use, or whenever fans are stopped. In this way sparks frequently run back to rust collectors. Dust accumulated on boiler tops is very often known to dry out and char to such an extent as to ignite and spread fire to surrounding wood-work.

Frequently fires are caused by friction from overheated bearings. The danger from this source is so evident as to require but little discussion. Proper oiling and examination for frictional irregularities is about the only remedy.

The small fire-fighting apparatus usually found in connection with a saw mill should always be kept in complete repair. Not only should the main parts be kept ready for immediate use, but such small things as hose couplings, wrenches and nozzles should be frequently examined. Rusty iron nipples or hydrants can be put in proper shape with kerosene oil, or better still, they should be replaced by brass nipples. Hose should always

TAKE POSLAM WITH YOU.

Sunburn, Red Noses, Rash and Summer Skin Troubles May Annoy During Vacation Days.

A jar of poslam at hand during the summer vacation means freedom from many annoying little afflictions such as rash, sunburn, fever blisters, bites, stings, burns, pimples, itching feet and scalp, etc., which are liable to affect one anywhere. In quickly disposing of these minor troubles, poslam, which has accomplished such remarkable work in the cure of eczema and like serious skin diseases, has become a veritable household remedy. There is no skin disorder for which it should not be unhesitatingly used and which it will not benefit. It is an active antiseptic and contains nothing which can possibly injure the most delicate skin. Acne, herpes, tetter, piles, scalp scales, barber's and all other forms of itch, including itching feet, etc., yield to it readily.

A special 50-cent package of poslam, convenient to carry when traveling, is prepared for minor uses, and this, as well as the regular $2 jar, is for sale by all druggists, including Henry Willis, 4 St. John street.

A sample package of poslam will be mailed, free of charge, to any one upon request, by the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West 25th street, New York City.

be kept attached to the hydrant, and an extra supply be conveniently near for immediate use.

Scattered or badly piled timber in yards or sheds is not only unnecessary, but a dangerous proposition. Sparks are always more or less in evidence in the atmosphere around a sawmill, and the more compact the piles are the less danger there is of ignition.

As a final suggestion, this bulletin states that more time and labor is lost each year in filling empty barrels from which water has been lost by evaporation or by other causes, such as stock drinking or by trash accumulating in the barrel, than would be consumed in providing suitable covers for all.

A DELICATE COMPLIMENT

Many delicate compliments have been paid the fair sex by men subtle in speech, but the following comes straight from the heart of an illiterate negro, who was married in the South the other day, by a white minister. At the conclusion of the marriage the groom asked the price of the service. "Oh, well!" answered the minister, "you can pay me whatever you think it is worth to you."

The negro turned and silently looked his bride over from head to foot then slowly rolling up the whites of his eyes, said:

"Lawd, sah, you has done ruined me for life; you has, fo' sure!"—St. Louis Globe.

AMERICAN VERSUS BRITISH MANUFACTURERS.

In an article in Chambers's Journal for July Mr. Robert L. Jefferson, F. R.C.S., deals at length with the influence of the United States in matters commercial, industrial, and social in Canada's progress towards material prosperity. Many of the comments upon the potency of that influence are calculated to make Britons ponder as to whether they cannot do something to replace to some extent American features, which do undoubtedly characterize various aspects of Canadian life. The commercial side of the question is well deserving of attention, as we have lost no opportunity of pointing out. Mr. Jefferson notes as one explanation of the fact that, in spite of a preferential tariff in favor of Great Britain, the bulk of the manufactured goods sold in Canada are of American origin, the comparative meagreness of the advertising of British goods in newspapers and periodicals read by Canadians—a point recently reinforced by Mr. Arthur Hawkes in an article appearing in our columns. Geographical advantages are, of course, all in favor of the American manufacturer, and says Mr. Jefferson, "the Canadians have harmonized their desires to the standard set in America; consequently the manufacturer of the latter country possesses an enormous advantage over his British rival, who, in order to win trade in Canada, must adapt his British productions to the American standard of style and mode." This latter observation is hardly accurate, for the excellent quality of British goods as compared with American is fully appreciated in Canada; but there can be no question regarding the urgent necessity—as Lord Grey has just been pointing out, and as the Secretary of the Victoria League also said in an interview we published last week—for the British manufacturer to take full advantage of the opportunity he is too prone to neglect. Another aspect of the question is exhaustively dealt with in Mr. Hawkes' article on "American Enterprise in Canada," in the current issue of the Nineteenth Century. We are glad to be able to give details on another page of an organization which has been formed with the object of helping the British manufacturer to hold his own.—Canada.

SHE WAS THOUGHTFUL

One day when a rise in the price of bread took effect in London a little girl entered a baker's shop, and placing two pence halfpenny on the counter, asked for a loaf.

"Another halfpenny, my dear, please," said the baker.

"Has it rose again?" asked the little girl.

"Yes, my dear; bread went up this morning," said the baker.

"Well, then give me one of yesterday's" was the reply.—New York Times.

EARL GREY'S TRIP

Will Be Attempt to Make a Record in Time.

Not only will Earl Grey be the first governor general of Canada to make the rugged overland trip across country to Hudson Bay, but if the plans which are now being made at the mounted police department do not miscarry he will probably achieve the distinction of making the trip in record time. Earl Grey will leave Ottawa, August 2nd, and is timed to arrive at Fort Churchill August 15th. The entire distance to be covered is about 2,240 miles, of which about six hundred miles will be made by canoe and portage, the first stretch of 1,640 miles being covered by rail. The water trip is mostly down stream, but even at that it will be going some to complete the canoe voyage in ten days.

At Churchill the governor general will be met by the steamer named after him, the latest addition to the Canadian marine service fleet. The minister of marine telegraphed orders yesterday to Captain Brown, of the steamer Earl Grey, to sail from Pictou, N.S., on July 28th. It is calculated that she will easily make Fort Churchill by August 12th. On the return voyage the Earl Grey will call at St. John's Newfoundland, where His Excellency will make an official call upon the governor of the Ancient Colony. The Earl Grey is a twin screw steamer of 2,357 gross tons, 265 feet long, of 48 feet beam, 24 feet depth of hold and has a speed of seventeen knots, the indicated horse power of her engines being 6,500. She is an ice-breaker specially constructed to withstand pressure of the heavy pack in the straits of Northumberland, and last winter did excellent service on the route between Pictou, N.S., and Charlottetown, P.E. Island. She was built in 1909 by Vickers, Sons and Maxim at Barrow-in-Furness. Preparations are being made for a party of twelve.

HOW TO DESTROY LOCUSTS.

The locusts or short-horned grasshoppers are a class of insects which are extremely injurious not only to crops but frequently to grass. Locusts can be divided into two groups, the migratory locusts which, after they become full grown, migrate to another district, and the non-migratory locusts which do not migrate in that manner. The greatest injury to the crops in Manitoba, for example, is caused by two migratory locusts, the Rocky Mountain locusts (Melanoplus spretus Uhler) and the Lesser Migratory locust (M. atlantis Riley), both of which belong to the same family. These deposit their eggs in little packets, containing about thirty eggs, in the ground usually about August. They do not usually deposit their eggs on the prairie, but in soil which has been cultivated. They remain in the egg stage during the winter and the young locusts hatch out in the following year. There is no 'grub stage' in the case of the locusts. What corresponds to the grub stage is a little hopping insect, exactly like the adult insect that it has no wings. This stage compares to the grub stage of those insects that have grubs. In Manitoba it emerges in April or May. It begins to feed and these young forms are the forms which usually cause the most damage, especially in South Africa where they suffer so terribly from the attacks of locusts. The young form comes out and feeds voraciously and gradually changes into the adult form by the development of its wings, so that it can fly about June or July when it begins to migrate. In British Columbia there is another form the Pellucid Locust (Camunula pellucida Scudder) which is non-migratory, but frequently causes great injury. The Red legged (M. femur-rubrum De G.) and the Two-striped (M. lividatus Say.) locusts are to be found over the whole of Canada.

There is a very simple remedy for locusts which has been devised by a farmer in Manitoba, Mr. Norman Criddle, who is now doing some work of an artistic character for the Department of Agriculture. His remedy has been called 'Criddle's Mixture.' He found that locusts were very fond of horse-droppings and, knowing the habits of locusts, naturally conceived the idea of poisoning the horse droppings and farmers are now finding it a very cheap remedy. The method of making the Criddle mixture is as follows: Take 60 pounds of horse droppings to a pound of Paris green, which is the arsenical poison, and two pounds of salt. Mix them well in a barrel and then cart this barrel to the edge of the infested field, and by means of a spade, trowel, or woden paddle, scatter it around the edge of the field which is infested, or likely to be infested, and the locusts by feeding on these horse-droppings are poisoned. Another method is ploughing late in the autumn where there has been an attack of locusts. By so doing the egg capsules are ploughed under and the young locusts prevented from emerging in the following year. Another method which is frequently employed against locusts is that of using 'hopper-doers,' which are long narrow tin trays on wooden frames with two ends. The trays contain water covered with coal oil, and as they are dragged along the field, the locusts hop into the trays and are thus caught. Such a measure is frequently used, especially in the United States for catching locusts. Locusts are subject to the attack of many parasitic enemies, especially parasitic flies, and these frequently keep them in control.—Dr. Gordon Hewitt, Dominion Entomologist.

ON CHORUS GIRLS.

News comes from Charles Frohman, the eminent art fosterer, that the chorus of his new musical piece, "Miss Gibbs," is to be made up of English girls exclusively. Not a single corned dandelion from the Iowa steppe, not a single (or even married) ex-waitress from the dee-poh kaff at Wheeling, W. Va., will cut the pigeon wing in that enchanting band. One will miss (though perhaps not mourn) the robustness of the Kansas female baritone, the shrill pipe of the church choir soprano from Elyria, Ohio, the thunderous ker-thump of Chicago feet, the hearty bellow of laundry laughter. Every girl will be British-born. It will be, brief, a strictly exotic flock, and the pink, fog-kissed beauty of its members is expected to lift our marrying maniacs to the highest pitch of exogamous frenzy.

The differences marking off English chorus girls from their American sisters have long engaged the attention of ethnologists. The American chorister, upon a superficial examination, seems to have all the better of it. She is, in the first place, far more lively than the maid from over the ocean; she has a more strident and penetrating voice, her guffaw is more stentorian, her cartilages are more resilient; she is, as the professor of dancing says, "more lighter on her feet." Again, she dresses in better taste than the English girl, and, yet again, there is more variety in her beauty. The imported coryphee is stolid, stupid-looking, heavy-footed; she wears garish and impossible garments; her hair and complexion show the same tints to-day that they showed yesterday, and will show the same to-morrow.

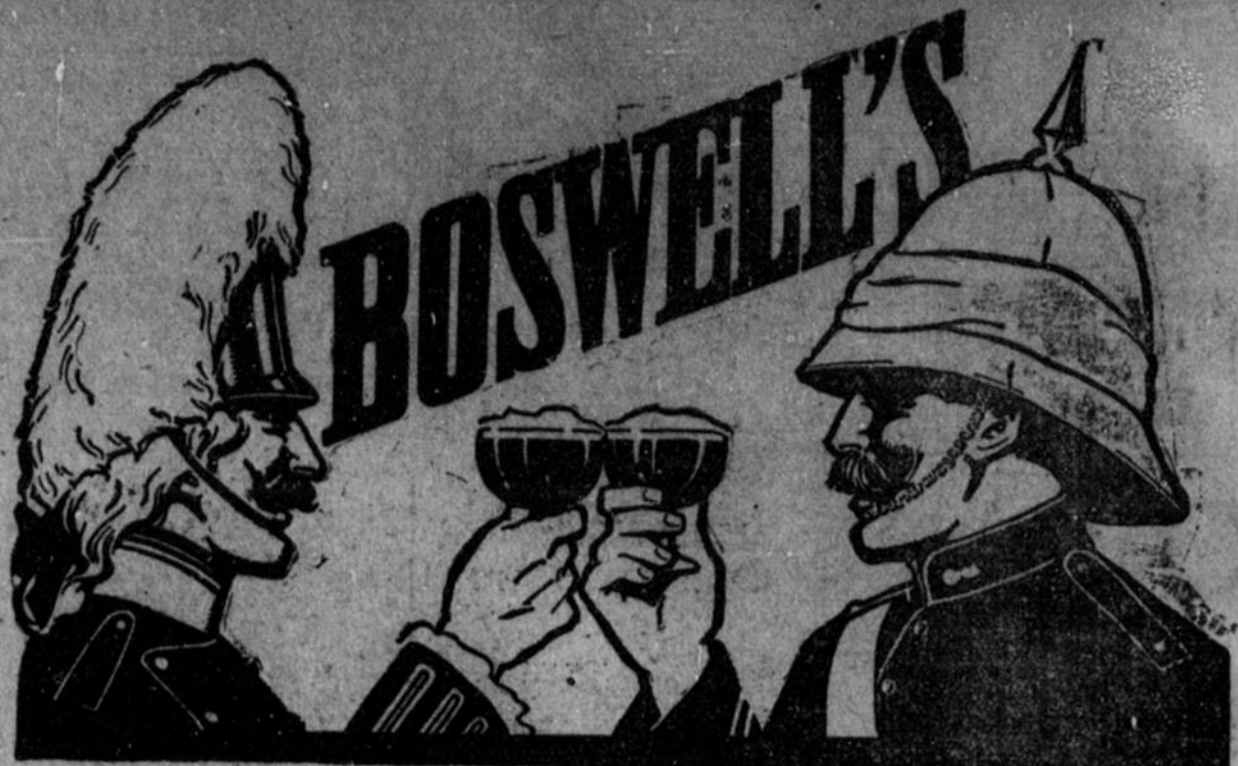

But for all that, there must be something extremely fascinating about the chorus girls of Britain, for scarcely a day passes without one of them snaring a number of their native aristocracy, and when any considerable force of them crosses the ocean there are always loud calls for clergyman along Broadway. Mr. Frohman's press agent announces that he will import 80 for "Miss Gibbs," which theatrical number means about 42 in reality. We are of the opinion that at least 20 of these Pittsburgh millionaires before they have been upon American soil 30 days, and in this view we are supported by the doctrine of probabilities, the Springfield Republican and Prof. William James of Harvard.

It seems impossible, indeed, for a rich Pittsburgher to resist the charms of a chorus girl, and particularly of an English chorus girl. Every Pittsburgher worth more than $5,000,000 weds a chorister at some time or other. It is part of a millionaire's education in that unearthy town. He does it instead of going to college or taking to airships or making the grand tour. It must be obvious, therefore, in view of this inevitability, that it is better for him to make the venture in his own nomenclature, when there is plenty of time ahead for leisurely repentance, rather than to wait until middle age, when the enterprise may make it necessary for him to rid himself, by tedious legal process and to the scandal of the human race, of his earlier wife or wives and his numerous children and grandchildren. In this opinion we are supported by canon law, the Hon. Ellis Corey and Ehrlich's theory of immunity.—Baltimore Sun.

ENGLISH HOME LIFE.

It is always of interest and profit for a woman who is running a home to know how the women of other countries manage their homes. Price Collier, in his entertaining book "England and the English," gives a graphic description of the excellent manner in which Englishwomen rule their households. "No man knows," he writes, "just how much tiresome routine and minute supervision go to make that sum total of comfort in his home. But every man knows that economy and system are the elementary principles which must underlie any such happy consummation. The economies practised in very many English households, both great and small, would almost be called—and wrongly—means with us. To begin with houses are less extravagantly, though quite as conveniently furnished in those regions not entered by the public or one's friends. The furnishings of the living rooms and sleeping rooms are curtailed, not however to the point of discomfort in order that the general average of comfort throughout the house shall be higher. The linen room, store room, and wine cellar departments are guarded by lock and key and managed with a scrupulous nicety of calculation. Soap, candles, tea, sugar, coffee, trifles for the stable and kitchen, in short, all the minor details of housekeeping are looked after as carefully as the minor expenditures in a great business house. The fact that a saving of candle ends, persisted in for a year, amounts to something is taken into account."

Anyone conversant with the workings of an English household knows how accurate is the picture he draws. The Englishwoman has her house-keeping down to a fine point. It is run on system and the more systematic the manner in which we all manage our households the better for all concerned. Not long ago I heard a young married woman say: "Oh, my cook used four dozen eggs in three days. Goodness only knows what she did with them!" Other women complain of the way in which the butter or sugar disappears. Such extravagances are not permitted in an English household. So much butter, so much sugar, so many eggs, all carefully weighed and counted and then the door locked. As Mr. Collier says, the economy of an English household is the economy of a business house. We are too inclined on this side of the water to poke fun at our English sisters, but it is well to remember that there are things that we can learn from them and household economy and system are among them. There is also a lesson to be learned with regard to domestic service, but that must be left until another day.

QUEER NAMES IN THE HOUSE OF COMMONS

The following curious analysis of the names of M.P.'s in the British House of Commons is interesting: Color is represented by a Black, a Green, a Grey, a Reddy and six Whites or Whytes.

Culinary matters are well looked after by two Boyles, a Cooke, and a Kettle, while Burns keeps them company in this department.

The animal kingdom is extremely numerous, with its Bird, Craik, Dawes, Fox, Haddock, Leach, Martin, Roches, Roe and Wolf, not to speak of a Bull and two Horne (s).

The surface of the earth is well defined by a Beach, Caves, Craig, Fell, Field, a Health, Hill or Hills, Moore, Lough, Mount, Parkes, Rockies, Sandys, Weir and three Wood (s).

Of places there are the Clyde, France, Holt, Jordan, Lincoln, London and Snowden.

Agriculture can claim Barnes, Clay, Croft and two Hodges; horticulture its Primrose and two Thomes; sport a Falconer, a Fisher, Bowels, Hunt, two Hunters and two Walkers.

Clothing is represented by Brace and Coates; nautical matters by a Helmet; ecclesiastical by a Bell, a Pell, Chaplain, Chapple, and a Churchill.

There are two Kings, a Chancellor, a Duke, and a Barran, and a Knight, while there is a Long and a Short of it, a Thynne, two Youngs, and two Youngers, the humor of the House being looked after by Smiley.

ENGLAND NO LONGER IN FULL MOURNING FOR KING EDWARD

BRITONS GLAD TO PUT AWAY BLACK

With July Comes the End of Term of Full Mourning and Public and Dealers Rejoice.

(Special Dispatch.)

LONDON, Saturday. HOWEVER much the country lamented the death of King Edward, every one was glad when the period of full mourning came to an end, and they will be just as glad when, with July, they are able to return to brighter and more seasonable clothes. They are, besides, too, the consideration of the Queen Mother and King George, who ordered that the public should not follow the rule of the court to keep in mourning for a full year; and, needless to say, drapers, milliners and tailors pleasantly anticipated the end of the public mourning to bring with it a revival in trade. And so it has. In fact, business is booming.

Says in the royal household any or every color may now be used, and every one who speaks with authority in matters of women's dress agrees in declaring that, provided the weather is favorable, this is going to be a white summer.

At the same time society generally is much influenced as to its wear by court mourning and so long as black rules with those who move in its circles there will be no disposition in the more exclusive ranks to assume bright colors. In society half mourning will not be cast aside during July, because in the dressmaking departments of the fashionable firms or at the court modistes there has been great activity in turning out costumes which will be suitable for the rest of the season in London, as well as for the country garden parties in August.

With other grays or mauves it has been possible to solve the problem of putting on a bright appearance while still preserving the conventional half mourning. Quite early in the year there was every sign that gray in all its shades, from delicate pearl to mole, would have been a marked feature in the season's styles, and the shops held very good stocks of it in all fabrics.

These are all now displayed, and, to quote the words of a buyer of one of the fastest distributing warehouses in London, "While it is going to be a great season for gray, we cannot turn out fast enough white muslins spotted or spigged with black."

Another prediction is that natural colored linters will be much seen, especially when rimmed with black. They looked like the early displays in the shops and were fairly extensively bought, but no opportunity arose for wearing them in the chilly days with which May opened. Now they are coming out again and it is expected will be a feature at Henley during the regatta week.

But the view generally expressed is that such soft tones as cream, lavender, biscuit and fawn will be more seen on the river than the stronger shades, and that white will be the most formidable rival to them. No reaction is expected till the autumn at the earliest.

BRITONS HIT BY WIRELESS WAVE

Private Stations Erected for the Purpose of Intercepting Aerial Messages Intended for Others.

(Special Dispatch.)

LONDON, Saturday. PRIVATE wireless telegraphy stations, erected for the purpose of studying or for the purpose of intercepting wireless messages of other people, are, as in America, becoming increasingly common in London. Indeed, the Admiralty's secret instructions sent out by wireless from Whitehall to the battle ships and naval stations around the coast are in some danger of leaking out at unexpected times.

"At our wireless stations here," said the manager of a London telegraphists' training college in response to inquiries, "we can if we wish intercept the private wireless messages sent out by the Admiralty. The messages are in the Admiralty's secret code, and of course we do not permit our students to attempt to unravel them. Wireless messages are often inadvertently intercepted here from Germany and France, as are other messages despatched within a five hundred mile radius. Throughout the day and night wireless messages containing private business and governmental information are being flashed across England. Many of these messages are continually cutting in on our station, and if we chose to unravel them they would make interesting reading."

"A number of private residences in London have wireless receiving stations fixed up in their gardens, with which they can intercept messages if they so desire. Anybody, in fact, can erect a pole in his garden and attach the necessary apparatus for receiving wireless messages."

Mr. T. Thorne Baker, a well known electrical scientist, who was in America recently, in the course of an interview told how popular wireless had become as a hobby with boys, and said:

Queen Mary's Regency Has Many Precedents

QUEEN MARY. Last Time Office Was Created Was When Prince of Wales, Afterward George IV., Was Nominated, Giving Title to Well Known London Street.

(Special Dispatch.)

LONDON, Saturday. SOME interesting precedents are recalled by the passing of the Regency act, whereby Queen Mary would become Regent in the event of anything untoward happening to King George before the Duke of Cornwall attains the age of eighteen years. Sovereignty being hereditary, it may happen to devolve by hereditary right upon persons who are incapable of performing the duties of the office, either by reason of youth or mental incapacity.

The last regency in England was when, owing to the insanity of George III., the then Prince of Wales, afterward George IV., was nominated Prince Regent, a remembrance of which survives to London in the name of Regent street, one of its most fashionable thoroughfares. Elsewhere in Europe, as in the cases of Brunswick (where the hereditary Duke, the English Duke of Cumberland, declined to accept the overlordship of the German Emperor and so is kept out of his Duchy), Bavaria, where the King is insane, and recently in Spain and Holland, when the King and Queen were minors, regencies are still, or were recently, in existence.

Technically, however, regency is of constant occurrence in Ireland, as the formality of the appointment of lords justices to act in his stead is constantly invoked whenever the Viceroy leaves the sister isle.

Until the reign of Henry III., when the great office of justiciar fell into disuse, it was customary that the holder of that office should discharge the duties of royalty during the absence of the King.

ANGLO-AMERICANS AMONG QUEEN'S VALUED FRIENDS

Absolute Denial of Reports That American Women Will Not Be Welcome at Court Under the New Reign of King George.

(Special Dispatch.)

LONDON, Saturday. AM in a position to state most emphatically that there is not one iota of truth in the assertion that henceforward American women will be "anathema maranatha" at the English court, owing to Queen Mary's "intense dislike" of all and every American.

The verdict of such Anglo-Americans who are settled over here and have known Queen Mary since she was a girl, is that this statement could have emanated only from an outsider.

One of Queen Mary's most valued intimates is the Duchess of Roxburghe, who is certainly an American of the Americans. Other Americans who were always among the guests "to meet the Prince and Princess of Wales" are Lady Alastair Innes-Ker and her sister, Lady Willoughby de Eresby. Lady Lister Kaye has been very frequently their hostess at her house in Manchester square, and to all the older settlers of the Americans over here Queen Mary has always shown the greatest friendliness.

It must be remembered, however, that Queen Mary is of a somewhat reserved nature, is a conservative through and through, and at the same time has a very strong sense of the ridiculous, which makes her keenly alive to the humorous side of the efforts of the "cimbbers" American women, however, who have any legitimate claim to recognition will find in her, as they did in the Queen Mother, all the graciousness of manner which is one of the leading attributes of the royal family, and they will find themselves as welcome as they have been heretofore.

English Newspaper in Brussels To Be a Morning Daily Issue

Under the Auspices of the Owners of the Soir, the Rosset Agency.

BRUSSELS.—A new English newspaper will make its first appearance in Brussels under the auspices of the Rosset Agency, which owns the Brussels paper the Soir. The new venture is to be a morning daily and will be able to tap the London evening papers, which arrive here about five A. M.

I am told that the new paper is to be run on the lines of the Soir—that is, it will depend for its money making on its advertisements and not on its selling price. The Soir is practically given the way, for it is sold in the kiosks at two durations of the concession.

LONDON MANAGERS ARE PLAYING SAFE

Theatregoers Must Content Themselves with Present Productions and Few Revivals.

(Special Dispatch.)

LONDON, Saturday. IT looks now as if it would be a very dull summer here so far as theatricals are concerned. Managers are flying low and preparing few productions. Theatregoers will have to content themselves mainly with the plays now going on and a few revivals. There will not be much stage activity until October.

"If terms can be arranged Miss Ethel Irving may go to America for a season. She has had a big offer to do so, but her husband thinks the terms should be still larger."—Pelican.

Somehow that sounds familiar. At last we know why American plays do not draw in London. The Globe has been kind enough to explain. In discussing the question it says:—"American drama to-day where in matters of the stage England, or, at any rate, London, stood in mid-Victorian times. It loves the unsophisticated drama, but we have ceased to tolerate it; hence the many failures of plays from the States."

So Americans are unsophisticated compared with Englishmen. Isn't it nice to know that we are so innocent? Remarkable that nobody ever discovered it before.

Mr. Bert Levy has just arrived from America with his carcases, and he is waiting to appear at the Palace, where he is always a favorite.

WIDE FIELD FOR MR. LAUDER. The Stage states that Mr. Harry Lauder has received an offer to visit every place in the world where English is spoken, including such out of the way spots as Alaska, Singapore and the Straits Settlements. The amount of the salary offered is not disclosed, but Mr. Lauder describes it as "stupendous." As Mr. Lauder is booked up under contract until 1911, it will be necessary for him, &c., &c.

Miss Oia Humphrey, a charming American actress, who was forced to close her season in London and undergo an operation for appendicitis, has now quite recovered and is visiting with Countess de Nevers at her place in Nightingale road.

Miss Adrienne Augard has just returned from New York, where she has been playing in "The Dollar Princess," bubbling with enthusiasm over American audience and consoling herself with the fact that she goes back next season. Meanwhile according to the Express, she will go on the Stoll tour with a one act play written by Mr. Norman McKinnel called "Dick's Sister."

The American song "Tip-i-diddy," ever which all London has gone daff for more than a year, has at last had its day at the Gaiety and has been out of "Our Miss Gibbs." In its place Mr. Grossmith sings one called "Angelica," of which he has hopes. Several other changes have been made in the piece, and Mr. Edmund Payne has returned to the cast after being absent all winter.

MISS REDMOND'S PLAY. The Referee says that Miss Johanna Redmond, a daughter of Mr. John Redmond, leader of the Irish nationalists, has written a play which will soon be seen in London.

Miss Mildred Kearney, daughter of the late Dennis Kearney, of San Francisco, has returned from Russia, where she has been singing for a year and a half. She will spend the summer in England and then go to America for a short visit. She is the fortunate possessor of a ten year contract to appear in Russia. Probably no other music hall artist has so long a contract.

Mr. Granville Barker is quoted by the Observer as saying that the average man has not much use for plays with present views of dukes and duchesses from the angle of the shopgirl. Mr. Barker's attention should be called to "The Bad Girl of the Family," which presents just that kind of view and turns people away at every performance.

The summer festival at Stratford-on-Avon will open July 25 and last three weeks. "The Piper," the prize play, by an American author, will then be produced. The Observer says that Miss Marion Terry has been engaged for the leading role.

"The Eldest Son" is the title of a play which Mr. John Galsworthy has just finished, and which Mr. Charles Frohman has secured for production at the Duke of York's Theatre next season.

London is to have another great Coliseum-Hippodrome-Empire building close to Victoria Station. It will be due to the indomitable energy and enterprise of Mr. Alfred Butt, the manager of the Palace Theatre, who is the moving spirit."—Express.

In partnership with Mr. Martin Beck, Mr. Butt will soon have a big music hall in Berlin and also one in Paris.

VENEZUELAN DELEGATES DENY Say They Proposed No Alliance Against United States.

BUENOS AYRES, Argentina, via GALVESTON, Texas, Saturday.—Senors Diaz, Rodriguez and Zunela, delegates of Venezuela to the Pan-American Congress, have addressed a letter to the Prensa denying the report that they had made an anti-American campaign during their sojourn in Chile. They say they have made no political utterances since their departure from Caracas, and, moreover, that they could take no action but what was in accordance with the policy of their government, which is inspired by sentiments of friendship and good will to all American nations.

A Chinese Competes in the Bisley Rifle Match

LORD ROBERTS ADDRESSING THE MALAY STATE GUIDES AND SINGAPORE VOLUNTEERS, WHO HAVE COME OVER FOR THE BISLEY MEETING.

Sergeant Tan Chow Kim, Admittedly a Good Marksman, in England as One of the Singapore Volunteers, and Shoots Away Despite Great Curiosity of Spectators.

(Special Dispatch.)

LONDON, Saturday. FOR the first time in history a Chinese marksman has been seen at the international rifle meeting at Bisley. And the Chinese is a good shot. This is conceded to him by those who watched as he practised at the ranges every day to acquaint himself with the light and fluctuations of wind. But all the curiosity evinced in Sergeant Tan Chow Kim is nothing to him. He lies prone, shooting away with all the placidity of his race.

He came to England as a member of the Singapore team. The most picturesque representatives of Malaya are the Malay State Guides, but they are all Indians under their old commandant, Colonel Frowde Walker. They are said to be among the finest fighting soldiers on earth. Colonel Frowde Walker's subalterns—that is to say, his native officers—are his personal friends, for he is not one who looks upon the yellow or black man as an inferior. He wants good fighting men, good shots, and in his guides he has them—the pick of India. He does not require to send all the way from the Malayan States to India for recruits. He is known far and wide as a stern but kind and considerate commandant, and men come to him from the Punjab and Northern India on their own account. He requires about one hundred and twenty recruits every year, and he usually gets about six hundred to choose from.

A feature in their camp, which attracts no little interest, is the temple, the Ghudwada, which they brought over with them, and re-erected, so that under the ministrations of the high priest, or granti, as they call him, they may attend worship daily, as is the custom of all good Sikhs.

Chinese Gentry Fail to Raise Railroad Loans

Once again announcement comes from Europe that the Hu-Kuang loan has been settled, that a hard and fast agreement has finally been reached between the various financial groups directly interested in this loan. The claim that such an agreement marks the final settlement of these negotiations leaves out of consideration an essential factor in the situation—the Chinese government.

Last year the responsible officials of the government of China manifested every desire to close up the negotiations for this loan and to push forward as rapidly as possible the important work of building the Hankow-Canton and the Hankow-Szechuan railways. The delay in reaching an agreement between the banking groups is responsible for developments in China that are calculated to postpone indefinitely, if not wholly wreck, this particular enterprise.

During the long period of waiting there has grown up in China a strong popular protest against the borrowing of foreign capital for railway or other enterprises. The advertising project received as the result of the fight for American participation and the wrangling between the various European groups has had the effect of greatly stimulating unfriendly opposition to foreign loans.

This grew so strong that finally the Board of Communications was compelled to grant to local companies the right to raise the money for these lines. These companies are now in existence, their organization sanctioned by imperial decree. They say they are going to be able to raise all the money necessary and that no foreign money is needed.

Foreign Governments' Position. In the light of the unquestioned responsibility of the British government for the delay that has brought this development it is difficult to see how foreign governments can have any moral right to attempt to force China to take this loan if she does not desire it. At the time the organization of local companies was authorized the British, German and French governments made representations to China on the subject.

The European bankers have always sought to create the impression that this American demand for participation was responsible for the long delay. The reply to this is that if the others had promptly acceded the Americans the participation there would have been no delay on this account.

The attitude of the Chinese government toward this and similar pending enterprises is this:—

In the light of the wrong provincial agitation against foreign loans China will enter into no loan contracts at this time. This attitude may be attributed either to lack of strength on the part of the central government or to shrewd politics on the part of the men holding high posts in the government. These men are politicians. Like politicians of other lands, they want to hold their jobs.

Must Cater to Gentry. Just now the sentiment against foreign loans is running strong in all parts of the empire. Officialdom has, accordingly, felt itself compelled to cater to this feeling by granting to the "gentry," or local companies, the right to raise money and undertake the construction of the proposed railways.

The Board of Communications fully understand that it will be impossible for these local companies to raise the money required for the construction of any considerable mileage in any of the provinces. The officials of that Board also realize that much of that which may be contributed will, in the light of past experience, be squandered by those to whom it is entrusted. The government of China is waiting on the provinces, and the money lenders will have to wait on the government.

Every one of these local railway organizations has sent its representatives to the rounds of the foreign banks in search of loans, either direct or through the medium of Chinese banks from which they are authorized to borrow. This demonstrates pretty clearly that the organizations have already begun to realize the futility of their efforts to raise money locally and that the people most active in agitating against foreign money would like to get some if they could.

These efforts of the local, or "gentry," companies to borrow foreign money, either directly from the foreign banks or by the indirect methods of foreign loans to Chinese banks, have so far failed. Nor are any of the foreign banks with experience in this field ready as yet to attempt to float bonds of a local Chinese railway. Every railway bond that has so far been placed upon the market has been a Chinese government bond, issued in the name of the government and secured by China's promise to pay.

The Imperial Pekin-Kalgan railway is pointed to by all Chinese as evidence of the ability of Chinese engineers and Chinese experts to build a first class railway. They have every reason to be proud of it, for it is a fine achievement. But that railway was built under the auspices of the Board of Communications, not by a local company. It was constructed by the one man in China who has demonstrated first class capacity as an engineer and organizer—Jemie Tien Yew, a graduate of Sheffield Scientific School, Yale.

It is pretty safe to say that none of the banks that have had experience in China will handle the local loans on their merits. Not only do the agents of these institutions regard such loans unsafe from a financial standpoint, but they see that any strengthening of the hands of the local control movement would mean the weakening of the hold of the central government and would postpone the day when the central government can go ahead with the building of its much needed main lines.

APPEAL FOR AID IN TUBERCULOSIS WAR

National Association Presents to the British Public Astonishing Facts Concerning Disease's Ravages.

(Special Dispatch.)

LONDON, Saturday. ALL over the kingdom the campaign against consumption is being carried on with as much vigor as circumstances and funds will permit, but every now and again pitiful stories of the results of the dire scourge are brought to light in the courts. One most pathetic case was told at Eritz the other day.

A little girl had been found with her throat cut, and her father confessed that he had been laid up with consumption, and, in sheer terror that he might die and leave his daughter a victim to the white scourge, he made himself a murderer.

"She appeared to be going the same way, so I thought I would put her out of her misery."

The most pathetic part of the story was told when the body of the child was examined; the doctor found her to be absolutely healthy and free from any trace of tuberculosis. The unhappy father is now in the prison hospital dying more from a broken heart than from consumption.

While in this campaign against consumption the National Association for the Prevention of Consumption is doing notable work. It has been, owing to the lack of funds, somewhat hampered in its benevolent activities. A special appeal committee, of which Lord Derby is chairman, has just issued an appeal to the public for support to the national association in order that a comprehensive educational crusade may be carried on.

In the course of this appeal it is pointed out that "in the United Kingdom there are at present from 150,000 to 200,000 persons suffering from tuberculosis, 60,000 die annually in the United Kingdom from consumption and 30,000 from other forms of tuberculosis. One person out of every ten dies of consumption."

USE OF SILK HATS IS NOW DYING OUT

(Special Dispatch.)

LONDON, Saturday. ONE might imagine, now that the tourist season is in full swing, that the travelling-trunk maker would have been the last among tradesmen to complain about slackness in business, but he is complaining, and evidently with reason. It seems another case of "cherries la femme." Time was when a woman did not go for even an all night visit to the country without a valise of trunks. But now, according to the boxmaker, she has divorced herself from these, and the result is that she no longer seeks an escort when travelling.

The reasons are obvious. The Saturday to Monday picnic or house party, fashion and the automobile have made as little luggage as possible a necessity. "Woman, too, dearly loves her taxicab, which is not a convenient vehicle on which to convey large baggage to and from a railway station. Therefore most articles for women travelling are now being made to fit into as small a space as possible.

To a long list of the things run down by the automobile must be added the once fashionable tall silk hat. A latter, once in a good way of business, has just attributed the failure of his business to the automobile, arguing that men who used to wear nothing but the silk "topper" now use caps.

"There is no doubt that the silk hat is dying a natural death, though the last agonies are somewhat prolonged," said a well known maker of hats ruefully when questioned about this assertion. "I should say that the purchasers of silk hats are now fully sixty per cent less than they were ten or even five years ago. This year has seen a fairly good revival of the trade, but that may safely be ascribed to the King's death and the civic and other ceremonies associated with it.

"The automobile undoubtedly—and naturally—has hit the silk hat trade very heavily. But another and little suspected cause may justly be ascribed for the decline of the 'topper' and this is the decline in church going. Silk hats and church going have been invariably associated, and the falling off in the number of churchgoers in recent years has without doubt reflected unfavorably on the hat trade."

LIQUID SPRINGS ON NEW CANNON

(Special Dispatch.)

LONDON, Saturday. A NEW cannon with liquid springs, which is said to have achieved unprecedented results, is shortly to be delivered to the British War Office from the Elswick firm of Sir W. E. Armstrong, Whitworth & Co.

The gun is a 14.3 pounder, similar in make to the latest pattern breech loading gun, with the exception that in this latter springs are used in the recoil apparatus. There have been done away with completely in the new weapon, and a liquid, which is the firm's patent, and air have been substituted in the recoil cylinders. By this means it has been proved possible for the gun to remain in the same position while ten shots are being fired. The gun needs only laying once to ensure this feat, and while the experiments were in progress all the shots hit the object aimed at. In fact, five of the shots went through practically the same hole in the bull's-eye—a remarkable result, never achieved before in the annals of gunnery.

OLD TIME OARSMAN FIRST TIME STEWARDS' CUP HAS BEEN LOST

James H. Riley Still Feels That He Can Pull an Oar With Men of Same Age. English Writer Says That Old Country Fours Had Not Trained for Race.

Confident of his prowess as an oarsman, although he is 63 years old and it is more than thirty-eight years since he won his first sculling race. James H. Riley of Saratoga Springs, contemporary of "Ned" Hanlan and "Charley" Courtney, is out with a challenge for either a match single scull or a contest against time for a purse of from $250 to $500.

For the first time in its history the Stewards' Cup will leave this country, and Englishmen will have the humiliating experience to-day of seeing the final fought, out between Canadians and Germans. This is the result of yesterday's racing—or perhaps it would be more correct to say the result of a sad lack of enterprise on the part of the home crews.

Rowing men are asking each other why the famous Magdalen four did not enter for this event, and it is no exaggeration to say that there is a general feeling of annoyance and exasperation that our best men do not take the trouble to train seriously when faced with foreign competition.

The "Grand" has now been won three times by the Belgians, and although they have not sent an eight this year, they have challenged our best crews to row them over a long course on their own water—a challenge which we have not had the pluck or courtesy to accept.

Having lived in Germany for a year and rowed with the Germans, I well know the feelings they entertain towards British oarsmen, but it is almost hopeless to expect any improvement in our methods. But the sooner our men know that it is not possible to learn to row a pair or a four properly in a fortnight the better it will be for British rowing.

I hereby challenge any man in the United States within three years of my age (63 years) to row a match scull race on Saratoga lake of Lake Lonely, Saratoga Springs, N.Y., or any other suitable waters—my expenses to be paid if outside Saratoga Springs, N.Y., for a purse of $250 or $500, $100 forfeit being put up with this challenge, which must be covered. If accepted entire purse to be put up six days before the race.

Many interesting names and incidents are linked with the aquatic career of Mr. Riley, which was always a clean one. One of his races against Charles E. Courtney, now the noted rowing coach at Cornell, gave rise to false accusations of poisoning.

Disatisfied with his barren victory Mr. Riley pressed for another race. With the late John Morrissey, politician and sporting man, giving the $500 purse, a triangular race between Courtney and Fred Plaistead was arranged. It was held on Saratoga lake, over a three-mile course with one turn, August 29th, 1877. The men finished in the order named after a desperate duel between Riley and Courtney. The New York papers gave several columns each to the event.

Prior to this the aged oarsman who from oarsmen of such rank as Wallace Ross, "Ned" Hanlan, F. Johnson and Ten Eyck, in beating Ross, Riley broke a record. Kennedy of Yale, C. E. Francis of Cornell—later United States Ambassador and the "father of rowing at Cornell"—Yates and Ackerman were other oarsmen who succumbed before the strength and skill of the Saratogan, who was a prominent figure for years at national regattas.

In later years, when he had represented the Neptune club of Staten Island for a time in a single Mr. Riley took up walking as a lad. Once on a bet he walked 103 miles in fifty-one hours.

The excursion of the National Lacrosse Club to Montreal last evening left at midnight, there being close on four hundred people in the party.

SCHOOL MARM WON FEATURE AT EMPIRE TRACK Empire City Race Track, N.Y., July 22—School Marm, backed from 13 to 5, 8 to 5, won the Tarrytown selling stakes, one mile, here to-day. Thomas rushed her into a big lead early and forcing a fast pace won in a drive by three-quarters of a length. Perry Johnson, who finished second, but was disqualified for foul, almost knocked Pretend down on the first turn and as soon as the horses finished the stewards disqualified Perry Johnson without a claim of foul. Pretend was given second money with Galley Shave third.

WOMAN TO ESSAY CHANNEL FLIGHT

Mrs. Frank Hewartson Will Attempt to Fly From Calais to Dover.

Paris, July 22—French aviators are preparing to leave for Calais, on the English Channel, to witness the cross-Channel flight to be attempted Saturday by Madame Franck (Mrs. Frank Hewartson), the first woman ever to hazard so daring a voyage through the skies in an aeroplane.

Madame Franck is already in Calais, personally superintending the assembling of her Farman bi-plane. She expresses perfect confidence in her ability to make the aerial journey to Dover, England, alone, and declares that nothing can daunt her.

Her instructor, Henri Farman, manufacturer of the Farman bi-plane, and one of the leading French aviators, declared to-day that Madame Franck was capable of manipulating the aeroplane in this ambitious flight, and that he had no doubt of her success.

A large number of private yachts will be spread out across the Channel to render aid to Mme. Franck should there be a mishap, while the fastest torpedo boats of the French navy will attempt to keep pace with her.

The cross-Channel flight has been attempted five times, three of the flights being successful. Hubert Latham tried it twice and failed. Louis Bleriot and Count Jacques De Lesseps, both flying Bleriot monoplane, have flown from Calais to Dover, while Captain Rolls, the English aviator, killed at Bournemouth in an aeroplane fall July 12, made the round trip flight from Dover to Calais and return without landing.

MORE JOCKEYS IN TROUBLE AT WINDSOR TRACK

Windsor, Ont. Race Track, July 22—The talent got a big upset in the first race this afternoon, when Mill on the Floss, a 2 to 1 shot, finished ahead of the 3 to 5 favorite, Capers Sauce. Jockey Pearce, on the favorite, delayed making his effort a little too long and was beaten a nose. His ride was unsatisfactory to the judges and Pease was set down indefinitely.

Erie, Pa., July 22—Glendale was the only favorite to win at the three races at the Lake Erie circuit meeting to-day. He took the 2:23 trot in straight heats easily. It was necessary to postpone the 2:20 pace and colt race until to-morrow. 2:19 trot, purse $420. Zoepatchen won fourth, fifth, sixth heats and race. Roy Brook, second; Dorena Dale, third. Best time, 2:19 1/2, by Roy Brook. 2:12 pace, purse $400. Margaret M won fifth, sixth and seventh heats and race; Henry Bedworth, second; Ideal, third. Best time, 2:12 1/2, by Ideal. 2:23 trot, purse $400. Glendale won in straight heats; Nundo O, second; Harold B, third. Best time, 2:21, by Glendale.

Grand Rapids, Mich., July 22—The final day of the Grand Rapids harness meet was marked by the lowering of the track record for both pacers and trotters; Giftline, who brought the pacing record down to 2:03 1/4 one year ago, to-day clipped it a full second to 2:02 1/4 in the first heat of the 2:03 pace. Later on, in the fourth heat of the 2:14 trot, Hail Worthy dropped the track trotting record to 2:07 3/4. Turf history was made when Willy won the first heat of the 2:14 trot as it was the first time that a foreign bred trotter had won a heat in less than 2:10. Willy made it in 2:08 1/4.

SAM McVEY MADE PETER RICE QUIT. Paris, July 22—Sam McVey, the American negro pugilist, to-night made Peter Rice, an Englishman, quit in the fifth round.

DALMATIAN MADE A NEW TRACK RECORD. Empire City, N.Y., July 21—Dalmatian, the 2 to 1 favorite, easily won the Yonkers handicap here to-day and made a new track record for 1:16 miles. He stepped the distance in 1:45 1-5, which is a fifth of a second faster than the best previous time made in 1900.

OTTAWA CRICKET CLUB WON A GOOD LEAD. Philadelphia, July 22—The Ottawa cricket eleven, which to-day started a two-day match with the Merion Cricket Club at Haverford, had a comfortable lead when stumps were drawn for the day. The visitors made 100 runs in their first innings and the home team had but 58 for the loss of seven wickets. O. Wallace was top scorer for the visitors, putting together 68 runs.

EMPRESS OF BRITAIN ATHLETIC CLUB

Distribution of Prizes Took Place Last Evening—Commander Murray Presided.

The distribution of prizes in connection with the recent athletic events took place last evening before three hundred of the ship's company. The commander, Captain James A. Murray, the club's president, presided, assisted by Mr. B. Coyle, vice-president. Mr. Johnston, on behalf of the crew, informed the captain how deeply they felt the honor he had conferred upon them by being present on this auspicious occasion, an honor he felt sure was gratefully appreciated by all the club's members. Captain Murray, who was enthusiastically received, said he was very pleased to be present and he felt sure the winners would be proud of their prizes, in the selection of which he considered the committee had shown excellent taste and judgment. He congratulated the winners each in turn on their successes, which were hard-earned and well deserved. He also spoke a few words of encouragement and hope to the unsuccessful competitors, who, he knew, if they persevered, would eventually be able to accomplish what they had failed in this time. Mr. Coyle said he duly recognized the keen interest Captain Murray had always shown in outdoor pastimes, especially sporting events connected with the Empress of Britain. Athletic sports he considered built up men physically and morally, and should always be encouraged. A sportsmanlike and manly spirit of unity should be fostered, and he trusted that in all future events the winners would as thoroughly deserve their victories as they undoubtedly did on this occasion. Mr. Bamford, on behalf of the committee, moved a vote of thanks to Captain Murray and Mr. Coyle and expressed great satisfaction over the kind words spoken by these gentlemen, whose support and assistance had been invaluable in building up this club, the members of which, being so enthusiastic, made the duties of the committee a pleasure. In supporting this Mr. Collett thought that all the members would assist him in every way in further promoting the club's welfare. Its success, he was assured, was due to the hearty co-operation of the president and vice-presidents, the businesslike method of the committee, who in turn were well served by a zealous treasurer and an energetic secretary. The singing of "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow" brought a pleasant evening well spent to a close. The prizes were as follows: 100-yard dash—1st, L. Neil, solid silver teapot; 2nd, F. S. Jones, alarm clock. 220-yard race—1st, L. Neil, mahogany and silver biscuit barrel; 2nd, F. S. Jones, electro plated teapot. 440-yard race—1st, H. Sheehan, silver and glass cake dish with knife; 2nd, T. Burns, glass and silver preserve dish with spoon. 3-length swimming race—1st, S. H. Smith, willow pattern and silver fruit dish with knife; 2nd, L. Neil, set of gold cuff links and studs.
