Plaque Awarded Maple Leaf Grange in 1949 Contest

Award Made in Connection With Work Done County Park Project

Maple Leaf Grange was awarded a Plaque in the 1949 National Grange Community Service Contest, said State Deputy-Master James Tuggey, when he made his official visit Tuesday, March 21st.

The project undertaken was to establish a County Park on Lake St. Francis. Entry has been made in the 1950 competition with the same objective.

A letter was read from Mr. T. A. Delancey, Oswego, requesting information as to recent activities of Maple Leaf Grange, as he had been requested to make a special broadcast over Station W.O.S.E., Fulton, N.Y., giving an account of this Grange, which he organized with Mr. Fay Hapgood of Malone in 1941. He particularly wanted to know the progress to date of the Huntingdon Park project, in which a wide interest has been taken in the border State. The information was mailed the next day but it is not yet known whether it reached Mr. Delancey in time for the Friday programme called "Farm Fair" at 12.45 p.m.

"It was a great pleasure," said Mr. Tuggey, "to renew companionship with Canadian Grange members. State Grange will be held this year in October instead of December, a welcome change to Northern Grangers. New York leads in Grange members but Ohio is catching up with a gain of 7,000 last year and in the past seven years an increase of 45,000. More Granges in Canada would prove of benefit to Canadian farmers. He referred to the excellent letters sent by the Grange Legislative officer from Albany during the State Assembly, in which all bills affecting agriculture were fully noted and discussed. Recently efforts of Oleomargarine interests to repeal or amend restrictions were defeated by such swift information and action taken thereon by Granges in the State.

Mr. Tuggey noted the $50,000,000 loss to Canadian Dairy farmers with the displacing of 35 million pounds of butter by margarine.

Five hundred farm ponds were developed last year through Grange advice and instruction. This year the project is the promotion of Bird's Foot Trefoil, a pasture improvement grass that thrives on stony land and is highly drought resistant. Information and possibly seed may be obtained through the Farm Bureau in Malone.

Sister Tuggey, Deputy for Juvenile Granges, strongly urged that a group be formed to interest and instruct children from 5 to 14 years and asked that a Committee of three be formed to canvass the possibility and then report to a Conference to be held in Malone on April 14th. Mrs. Tuggey announced that the State Deputy for Franklin County had been awarded a gold pin for the hundred percent entry in the National Grange Community Service Contest last year.

Mrs. Gladys Stewart of North Bangor, Pomona Lecturer, gave an outline of the State programme of which "Acres of Diamonds" is the theme. It is taken from a legend from Asia written by Russel H. Conwell, intended to bring attention to the many blessings we enjoy in our way of life. In short, the more familiar saying, "Far away fields always look green."

The dates for "Neighbor Night" programs will be announced shortly. Mrs. Stewart urged members to participate in other projects, viz: One-act Play writing; Senior and Junior dressmaking and the Bread baking contest. The singing contests, solos, duets and quartettes offered opportunities for talent discovery, using songs by American composers prior to 1920.

Miss Margaret Wilson's solo, "Beautiful Dreamer" by Stephen Foster was highly appreciated.

The Lecturer, Mrs. W. L. Carr directed an entertaining comedy competition between two Irish families: Pa and Ma O'Flynn (Mr. and Mrs. Bert Rankin) and 10 children; Pa and Ma O'Kelly (Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Hawley) and ten children, including quartettes; hanging out clothes by Pa and bringing them in by Ma, in the costumes provided, to the tune of Irish Washerwoman, followed by Irish Hop. Violin and piano music by Ernest Watterson and Mrs. Minchinton. The judges, Mrs. Tuggey and Mrs. Stewart, declared a tie. The O'Flynns and O'Kellys pacified their unruly children by distributing the awards of chiclets and all-day suckers.

Bank Manager Ste. Martine Slugged By Hold-up Men

Thieves Wear Hallowe'en Masks—Get Away With $8,000 in Cash

On Wednesday, March 29, three masked gunmen held up the Banque Canadienne Nationale, at St. Martine, and escaped with more than $8000. Mr. Rosario Couillard, the 56-year-old manager was slugged by the bandits who forced him to open the vault and four members of the family were tied up.

The robbery occurred nearly an hour after the men entered the private home of the manager, who lives above the bank premises with his wife, his 86-year old mother and his four daughters: Micheline, Anne, Lucie and Celine.

Provincial Police said the armed trio, wearing Hallowe'en rubber masks that completely covered their faces, demanded to see the bank manager when they burst into the living room at 7.45 p.m.

One of Couillard's daughters told the men that her parents were attending a church service in the village and were not expected back for some time.

"That's all right with us. We know one of you girls has the combination for the safe," shot back one of the bandits.

He then ordered three of the four girls and their elderly grandmother into the kitchen, where their hands and feet were tied with rope and strips of bed-sheet.

One of the trio then turned to Lucie, who pleaded with them not to tie her up, "because I have a bad heart."

"It's okay," one of the men told her. "We know you are an accountant at your old man's bank and we need you to open the safe."

When the girl replied she did not know the combination she was pushed alongside her sisters and her grandmother. While one of the three men held them at bay, the two others went downstairs to wait for the Couillards to return home.

The couple walked into the trap shortly after 8.30 o'clock. Mr. Couillard was slugged five times over the head with the butt of a gun. Knocked half unconscious by the blows, he was given a wet towel to wipe his face and revive himself.

The 56-year-old bank manager, still too dazed to open the safe by himself, gave the combination to his daughter Lucie who was forced to open the vault. The robbers scooped up all the cash, estimated by Mr. Couillard at more than $8,000. They were believed to have fled in an automobile.

The manager notified Provincial Police headquarters in Montreal which immediately posted men at all bridge entrances leading into the city.

Shirts Get Quick Action

Butter Is Still Forgotten

By Gilbert McMillan

We have been treated quite lately to a fine example of human consistency in the uproar that has been raised over the importation of some cheap shirts and gloves from Japan, by the very same people who a little over a year ago were rejoicing over the fact that this country could now be flooded with cheap vegetable fats that would affect just as seriously the livelihood of perhaps 100 times more Canadian people.

The bitter part of all this is that the uproar of the smaller group should receive so much more consideration from our governing body than the larger group received from the other governing bodies upon whose mercies it were thrown.

A Parallel.

The cases are exactly parallel in the fact that the competing imported products are in both cases from countries with cheap labor and lower living standards. On the basis of cost in country of origin the vegetable oils will be the cheaper of the two. But here the parallel ends.

One is allowed to come in practically free and the other two are subjected to the severest restrictions our government can employ. Even then the howl is up that this is not sufficient and that new legislation must be introduced or the glove industry, employing three or four thousand people, will be ruined. I don't know how far the shirt people are prepared to go but I would expect their claims will be of the same order.

Only a Fed.

On the one hand we have two secondary industries employing at the most only a few thousand people getting all the protection the government can afford them. On the other we have one of Canada's greatest basic industries, depending entirely on the development of our own natural resources and seriously affecting the lives of nearly 400,000 Canadian families, getting practically no consideration whatever, simply on account of the public campaign that has been waged by the powerful interests who stand to profit most by the introduction of these cheap oils.

I hesitated seriously about returning to this question but these cases are so glaring I could not avoid it. If the injustices so clearly shown here are to be perpetrated indefinitely we may have a lot of people with the need for cheap shirts and gloves, if they are having any at all.

Even Worse.

If the story is true that one of these importations was the result of a barter deal for Canadian wheat I think it makes the protest against them even worse. While I am not defending the principal of bilateral or barter agreements if money, the token we use in exchange, is to set the price of goods rather than what the actual value of those goods is to the user something is screwy.

If the Government of Canada could at the moment barter 10 million pounds of butter with some country which could supply us with a lot of commodities, at half the price farmers are now paying, I wonder what the reaction would be.

I have been prompted to make the foregoing suggestion from the fact that when we protested recently to a man powerful in government circles at proposed prices for cheese and butter he immediately countered with, "But look at the prices they are getting now compared to a few years ago", forgetting entirely how completely the picture has changed. This shows, however, the line of thinking we have to combat.

Queer Reasoning.

I have also been seriously concerned by the line of reasoning behind a statement made by a speaker at the recent National Dairy Council convention, as follows:

"Price cuts for milk, butter and cheese may mean smaller incomes for Canadian farmers but they may prove a bonanza to the industry. Lower prices without a corresponding drop in industrial wages would mean increased sale of dairy products."

I do not believe that this represents the thinking of the real leaders in the manufacturing and distributing sections of the industry as these men must realize that this would be more likely in the end to prove a catastrophe rather than a bonanza to the industry.

No one with even a very meagre knowledge of milk production will claim that the present return for milk for manufacturing purposes is showing a profit and no product can be produced in volume indefinitely at a loss. That fact might as well be recognized. Either conditions will change or there will be a contraction in milk production, and few industries are prosperous when contracting.

Works Two Ways.

What will happen in the whole milk ffeld is hard to forecast but I would like to draw distributors' attention to the following fact: In no case when consumer prices were rising was the entire raise passed on to the producer, the distributor always being allowed a portion to meet possible decreases in sales and also often rising costs. When the move is in the opposite direction the distributor must be prepared to also accept his share in lower consumer prices, which it is hoped will increase sales.

If any attempt is made under present conditions to pass entirely on to producers the full amount of any decrease in consumer prices it is liable to meet with considerable resistance, despite the fact that distributors' costs are not decreasing either.

W. E. Bernhardt Speaker at Rotary Luncheon Meeting

Addressed Gathering on Work of Dept. of Immigration in Placing New Settlers

Mr. W. E. Bernhardt addressed the Rotary Club on Monday. He outlined the activities and responsibilities of the Department of Immigration and spoke of the success of the government's plan in placing Dutch immigrants in Canada.

Reviewing the history of Canada's immigration policy, Mr. Bernhardt said that in 1909 the department was affiliated with the Department of the Interior, and, at one time, the Department of Mines and Resources, before finally becoming a separate organization of its own, known as the Department of Citizenship and Immigration.

Prior to 1927 a great many new settlers came to Canada. Many of these went to live in the west, many to Quebec and Ontario. Persons from the British Isles, Denmark, Sweden, Norway, Holland and France flocked to this country in the hope of finding a new life here. The depression, however, brought this relatively 'open door' policy with regard to these countries to a close. In 1929 it became necessary to curb immigration and only recently have these restrictions been tempered.

The department today maintains a fairy progressive policy toward newcomers. Potential settlers are chosen with the utmost care. Each Dutch immigrant, for instance, has been recommended or sponsored by his own government and, although the Canadian department examines each individual, the records presented by the Dutch Government have been found to be very reliable and accurate. All things considered, the Dutch immigrants have been of great benefit to the community; moreover the quota imposed by the Canadian Government has meant that these hardy men of the soil are in great demand; there are not enough of them to go around.

Through its committments with the United Nations Organization, Canada also admits a number of displaced persons. Again these people are carefully selected and only preferred immigrants are allowed to settle here. The department maintains a more lenient policy towards natives of France, the United Kingdom and the U.S.A. but, in all cases, settlers must be in good mental and physical health and have enough skill and ability to make a success of their life in Canada.

Because of its ever-increasing responsibility the Department of Immigration in Canada has been divided into a number of districts: Pacific, comprising British Columbia; Western, consisting of the western provinces; Central (Ontario); Eastern, consisting of Quebec and New Brunswick and the Atlantic district which comprises Nova Scotia, Prince Edward Island and Newfoundland. The department is run by capable career men. Their standards are high; they are doing a good job of protecting the country from undesirables and at the same time bringing to Canada a wealth of new citizens who will undoubtedly make a valuable contribution towards the development of the country.

Mr. Bernhardt was introduced by Rotarian Noel Foisy and thanked by Mr. Stanley Currie.

Farm Picture in This Area Looks Good But Some Decline

Other Cash Crops Should Be Investigated to Bolster Income

Farmers of Huntingdon and the Chateauguay Valley have reported that, in general, 1949 was a fairly successful year. While there was some decline in income and prices, operations were still on a high level.

This statement also applies to Canada as a whole; farm and urban returns were fairy well in balance.

The Gleaner consulted, among others, Mr. Gilbert McMillan in an attempt to gain some insight into the agricultural economy of the district in 1949 and, if possible, the outlook for the next twelve months. Mr. McMillan said, "I dislike taking a gloomy view of anything; on the other hand, I cannot honestly paint as rosy a picture as the one given (in the Gleaner's business survey) a short while ago."

Mr. McMillan stated that high prices for wheat, coarse grains and beef cattle resulted in a successful year for agriculture in Canada. However, "Our locality, a strictly dairy (in some sections, fruit) region did not benefit from this, milk production, in point of returns, being at the bottom of the scale, about 15% below 1948. However, as the bulk of the milk made in this area goes to the whole milk trade, it did not suffer as much as districts producing milk for manufacturing purposes. It must also be said that milk manufacturing plants in the district gave their patrons higher returns than in most sections and have made a commendable effort to handle all their producers' output.

"Indications at the moment are that there will be a further reduction in the price of milk for manufacturing purposes this season and whether this can be prevented from affecting the whole milk trade is the 64-dollar question. As far as the cost of production or buying power of the people are concerned, there is no reason why it should; if it does, however, it will have a serious effect in this region, as the percentage of cut in price will represent the same percentage drop in the whole milk income of the district. The future of milk production is at the moment one of so much uncertainty that consideration should be given to the production of some other cash crops as have been developed in the Howick and St. Martine sections."

The export dairy cattle market and the high price for beef animals in the Montreal market represent two of the bright spots in the picture. In Chateauguay, Huntingdon and Beauharnois Counties there are approximately 79,000-80,000 head of cattle, a population which is ever-increasing. It is reported that 50% of these are Holstein, 35% Ayrshire and 15% are Jersey. Many experts agree that, while the favourable Montreal Market may not be permanent enough to switch from milk to beef production, it should be taken immediate advantage of at the moment to cull out all unsatisfactory milk producers.

Looking at the export market it is found that 3,292 head valued at approximately $200.00 each were shipped in 1949. This is considerably lower than in the previous year. In '48, 7,179 head were exported, valued at roughly $240. each. Various reasons have been put forward to account for this decline and one is that American buyers have found that the price of cattle is too high. Moreover, they have complained that the costs of tests, duty and shipping may add as much as $40 to the costs. Nevertheless, it should be stated that '49, all said and done, was still a good year, the previous year having been at an unusually high peak. There is every reason to believe that the dairy export market will be good for at least some time to come.

Locally, the short hay and grain crop had a serious effect and, as the prices for both products are high, those forced to buy it were faced with a real problem. In addition, the labour shortage is still serious and, in the words of Mr. McMillan, "The situation is gradually resolving itself into the pattern that the farm has to be operated as a family unit without hired help or extended to a large enough scale to allow the production of at least 600 lbs. of milk per day to cover expenses and overhead."

Mr. McMillan's report to the Gleaner concluded with these words which may be regarded as the moral of this article:

"While there is evidence of deterioration in some places, there are others in which there are indications of improvements and prosperity and, if the degree of management displayed in some of our best handled farms could be applied all over, there is no particular reason why this district should not at least hold its own. We have the land, the accessibility to markets, comparatively reasonable taxation and good public services; the rest is really up to the people."

Turning to the Canadian scene as a whole, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics report that farmers in 1949 earned slightly less than the previous year but that their 2.4 billion dollars of income last year represents a near-record high. Alberta and Saskatchewan were the only provinces to make more money in 1949 than the year before. Ontario, a victim of drought, took the biggest loss — down $27,000,000 from '48. These figures, however, are still above those of 1947.

Canadian farm prices were down in '49 in what was reported as the first decline in 10 years. The general average, however, was still over 2½ times higher than the 1935-39 level.

Responsible for the over-all drop were declines in prices of grains, dairy products, potatoes, vegetables and furs. Increased prices of livestock, poultry and eggs, fruits, tobacco and maple products failed to make up the loss.

The regional picture showed that there were small increases in Ontario, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia. These were offset by decreases in the other provinces.

Tabulations on Quebec's gross agricultural production were slightly lower in '49 but the year, in general, was a prosperous one. The Financial Post reported as follows:

Prices of farm products held up well in most cases. There was a decline of about 3% in total dollar volume of field crops, due largely to lower yields from several of the major types of crop. The over-all acreage in crop last June was slightly higher than at the same time the year before, but dry weather last summer retarded growth and cut down yields. Production estimates valued the provincial total for field crops at $190 millions compared with $196 millions in 1948.

Despite this decrease these are still prosperous times with value of production nearly 40% above 1946. Costs are up about 30%.

Milk prices and sales remained strong, although there was some reduction in both prices and production of some of the dairy products, principally butter. Butter output dropped to 93 million lb. from 96 million in 1948, and concentrated milk to 126 million lb. from 132 million. However, cheddar cheese was up to nearly double the 1948 figure (23.7 million lb. vs. 13 million).

This reverses an earlier trend which saw Quebec's cheese output decline from 62 million lb. in 1945 to 43 million in 1946 and 23 million in 1947, while butter rose during the same period from 88 million lb. to present levels. Dairy factories in the province are set up to switch easily from the one product to the other, depending on which price picture looks most attractive.

On the livestock side, prices held very well during the year: showed increases in several cases. There was a small decline in the province's horse, cattle and sheep population, but swine were up 14% and poultry 10%. The number of turkeys on Quebec's farms, especially, jumped sharply, increasing from 316,000 to 504,000 or 59.5%. Egg production was down slightly at 56 million dozen against 61 million, despite a 9% increase in the hen and chicken population.

Quebec had a bumper crop of fruits, including 16 million bushels of apples (up 33 1/3%), 7.5 million quarts of strawberries (up 44%) and 300,000 quarts of raspberries (up 36%). The blueberry crop was exceptional, totaling 20 million lb. worth $2 millions compared with 9 million worth $1.4 millions in 1948.

Annual Meet Board of Trade

To Seek Possibility Farmers Market

The Annual Meeting of the Huntingdon Board of Trade was held at the County Building on Thursday evening, March 30, 1950. The meeting, in the absence of the President, Mr. A. L. Sellar, was conducted by Vice-President, Mr. Francois Cleyn, who gave a short resumé of the year's activities, mentioning an expenditure of some $185 for improvements to the Board's booth at the fair grounds, the Stag Party which resulted in a profit of $190 (to go for the promotion of Old Home Week and the County War Memorial) and the drive for funds for the County War Memorial which is to be undertaken with the cooperation of the Legion and the Junior Chamber of Commerce.

The members of the executive for 1950 were re-elected from the old panel with the addition of Mr. Thos. Bell. They are: Messrs. Thos. Bell, Leo Cappiello, Francois Cleyn, Alec Fawcett, G. D. Goodfellow, Wilfred Grant, E. C. Martin, R. C. Morrison, N. F. Manning, A. L. Sellar and Harry Wooler.

There was some discussion on the problem of a public market. It was suggested that there should be a market place in Huntingdon where farmers might offer their produce for sale on specified days and it was decided that the opinions of the farmers be sought on this matter through a ballot published in the Gleaner.

It was also proposed that the Board should, as a long-term project devote some attention to the slum problem. Mr. Thomas Bell was appointed to explore the question.

Decide Skating Rink to Be War Memorial at Same Site

Will Be Up-to-date in Every Respect and Cost Said to Be About $35,000

At a meeting on Thursday evening, attended by the Old Home Week Committee and representatives of the County Council, it was decided that the site on King St. would be the most favourable location for the County War Memorial. It was agreed also that the building would be fashioned on a basis similar to the skating rink erected recently at Keene, Ont.; the cost is expected to be in the neighbourhood of $35,000.

The decision regarding the location of the building came after the pros and cons of this important question had been thoroughly discussed. Every aspect of the question had been presented and every opinion carefully considered. It was agreed that while the building might be of greater use to the Agricultural Society were it erected on the fair ground, problems of water supply and the fact that it would be out of range for small children and many persons, who now make use of the rink, outweigh any advantages to having it there. Moreover, the representatives of the Agricultural Society who attended an earlier meeting stated that the building would only be useful to them during the three days of the fair and that while they might find other ways of using it, the building was not an absolute necessity to them.

The resolution to erect the War Memorial on the King Street site and to fashion it somewhat along the lines of the skating rink at Keene, Ont., was presented by Mr. James Fox, seconded by Mr. J. A. Caldwell and was unanimously accepted. The committee will visit Keene, Ont., before final plans for the building are drafted.

The raising of funds will probably take place some time in June. Mr. N. F. Manning and Mr. R. Fortier have accepted the positions of secretaries of the War Memorial Drive.

Meanwhile the Old Home Week Organization is advancing on all fronts. On Tuesday evening the programme committee, under Mr. Noel Foisy, held a lengthy meeting. The principle events to take place during the celebration were discussed and sub-committees were appointed to ascertain the costs and make the arrangements for each item. To all appearances the programme will provide enough entertainment to satisfy everyone; there will be activity enough during the three days to belittle Ringling Bros. three-ring circus.

No doubt many outsiders, who have friends and relatives in Huntingdon, would appreciate an invitation to come here for 'Old Home Week'. If so, the committee will send them, not only an invitation but some account of the celebration. The Red Cross canvassers are at present distributing mailing forms and the public is asked to fill them in and mail them as soon as possible to the Gleaner Office.

Building By-law Proving Unsatisfactory --- Cause of Heated Argument

Bus Depot to Be Moved to Huntingdon Theatre— D.S.T. in Force April 30th

The regular monthly meeting of Huntingdon Town Council was held Monday evening at the County Building, with all members present. The minutes of previous meeting and a large number of bills were read and approved.

The matter of a light outside Legault's Store on Lake Street was again brought to the attention of the council and it was finally decided to give instructions to have one installed at this point.

A request was made by Achille Prevost for a permit to operate a coupon store on West Street. On the grounds that a permit could not be issued in accordance with the Building By-law because West Street is regarded as a residential street, the request was refused. The party asking for the permit said that other people had been allowed to locate in places classed as residential and felt that he should be permitted to do so. The by-law should be lived up to for everyone and not just the few. He was told to locate his business on a street designated for business. Mayor Cappiello said that there was no doubt the by-law needed some revision and that this would be done very soon. Other ratepayers complained that too much time was lost in making amendments to by-laws and meantime people concerned suffered as a result.

A complaint was made that bad odors were coming from certain sewers on Cemetery Street and it was thought that these came from seepage from gas tanks. The matter will be checked upon and remedied if possible.

Mr. Joe Duval asked for permission to put in water pipe before the road is built on Chalmers St. The permission was granted.

By a letter sent to Mr. Ken Hatton, Huntingdon Theatre, by the Provincial Transport Company, a request was made to move the bus terminal from its present site on Dalhousie Street to the Huntingdon Theatre on Bouchette St. The company reported that the facilities offered at Dalhousie Street were not satisfactory and that they had received many complaints from their patrons. They promised that if the new location of the terminal was granted that the buses would not be parked longer than ten minutes at any time. The council reported that complaints had been received as to the facilities at the present terminal and that they did not mind where it was so as it was off the main street. Some of the aldermen were not in favor of moving the terminal as they feared it would result in traffic tie-ups at this busy corner and the old question would thus again be raised. After a vote had been taken it was found that four aldermen were in favor and two against. It was decided to grant the permission with the understanding that the bus would not park longer than 10 minutes and only on the Theatre side of the street.

A request was made through Mayor Cappiello for a grant to be made to the present Red Cross Campaign. The council did not feel that it could concede to the request in face of the fact that no previous grants had been made and that the town is being thoroughly canvassed.

A complaint re. a tin shop being operated on Prince Street, brought on quite an argument and some personal remarks. The complaint was made by Mayor Cappiello, not as Mayor, but in the role of an ordinary taxpayer. He said he liked to keep up his property and there was no mention in the building by-law that businesses could be located on Prince Street. He had complained about the matter and the Police Chief had been sent to the owner of the shop and told that he could not operate a shop on that street. The owner had told the Chief that he would continue to operate until he was forced to quit. Mayor Cappiello felt that it was a direct contravention of the by-law and that proceedings should be taken to see that this party was stopped.

At this point Mr. Prevost mentioned the fact that A. Lefebvre had opened a shop on Lake Street after the by-law was passed and nothing had been said. Alderman Fournier stated that there were many contraventions of the by-laws in the town and he felt that the building by-law was no good. He also got into an argument with Alderman Foisy over the building of a warehouse on his property on Chateauguay Street, stating that he was of the opinion that it did not comply with the by-law for that street. There were many other things that did not comply and yet nothing was done about it. Alderman Foisy asked why it was he wanted to bring the public into it, it was a matter for the board, not the public. Alderman Fournier said he thought these matters should be discussed at the table and he was bringing them to the table. He was of the opinion that that part of Prince Street in question, was a business section and the by-law was wrong in recognizing it as residential and that it be changed to read that way. Mayor Cappiello objected strongly to this. Alderman Fournier started to show why it was a business section by stating the various businesses on that part of the street. He was told that these businesses had been on the street when the by-law was drawn up and that they were existing, but that did not mean that other new businesses could start up there.

It was finally decided to write Mr. L. Duheme, the party in question, and inform him that Prince Street is not a business street and he must re-locate his shop within fourteen days to a point classified as a business section, or stop operations.

This was put to a vote and there was only Alderman Fournier dissenting.

Permit for the new Roman Catholic Consolidated School was granted.

Mr. D. L. Kelly appeared before the council to ask that something be done about the parking of cars in front of his Funeral Parlor on Chateauguay Street. Before proceeding to go into the matter, Mr. Kelly said he felt called upon to ake note of what Alderman Foisy had said with regard to keeping things away from the public. He said Mr. Foisy and the other gentlemen around the table must remember that it was the public that put them there and they had a duty to the public in seeing that everything done was known to the public. There was nothing secretive about a council meeting. Going on to the matter of parking, Mr. Kelly said it seemed that some car owners used the streets as a garage and it was impossible for him to get near his establishment on many occasions.

A petition was in the hands of the council on this very same matter and it was decided that an adjourned meeting should be held to go once more into the question of parking and thoroughly discuss it. Mr. Kelly was assured that the matter would be dealt with and that some solution would be found to overcome the present difficulties that seemed to be confronting the business men on Chateauguay

I Want To Remind You about that pleasant custom — afternoon tea. I always have it at home when I'm alone, or at a restaurant, after shopping or the movies. Too, on many afternoons friends drop in by invitation. And what a thoroughly enjoyable way it is to relax and enjoy an hour of friendship while sipping tea! And here's a tip — inviting friends to afternoon tea is a splendid way to return a social obligation. Oh yes — another tea tip: Always make sure the tea brews fully five minutes for full enjoyable flavor.

Only The Rich could afford to drink tea in the days of Queen Elizabeth. Tea taxes in England were so high that tea smuggling was a common occurrence. In fact, more than half the tea drunk in England was smuggled into the country. The King's men whipped and hanged the daring smugglers, but they were regarded more as heroes than as criminals by the people, for tea, even then, was a much-sought-after beverage. In those days, it wasn't blended, but was consumed by single varieties and would be almost unrecognizable as tea to us. Today tea blending is an art . . . well-understood by the Blenders of famous RED ROSE TEA. Yes, you know from the first sip that Red Rose Tea is good Tea. Its famous flavour — its truly satisfying goodness — make it the favourite in thousands of Canadian homes — at tea-time — and all the time! And remember that Red Rose Coffee is as good as Red Rose Tea.

Gayer Than Springtime . . . that's what you'll think about this scrumptious JELL-O dessert when you serve it some evening soon! It's not only beautiful to look at — but the fresh 'n' fruity "locked-in" flavour of Jell-O Jelly Powders always brings plates back for more!

PEAR AND CHERRY MOLD

1 cup balls of canned pear

Dissolve Jell-O in hot liquid. Chill until slightly thickened, then fold in fruits. Chill in fancy mold. Unmold and garnish with pear, which has been cut into balls with a ball cutter. Makes 6 to 8 servings.

The Next Time You have odds and ends of meat to use up, try this tender Corn Meal Shortcake. The two-way action of CALUMET BAKING POWDER (first in the mixing bowl, then in the oven) makes the shortcake a dream of deliciousness — as it does with all my baking.

1 tablespoon sugar

Maple Shade Farm Produces Fine Maple Syrup Product

Blair Bros. of Franklin, Que., Have Been in Business For Many Years

Maple Shade Farm, at Franklin, owned by Clarence Blair, is devoted almost entirely to maple syrup making and provides a story that is interesting as one connected with a famous branch of spring work, as a cash crop. The maple syrup undertakings of the farm are worked in cooperation with Mr. Blair's brother Lewis and goes under the name of Blair Bros.

On Mr. Clarence Blair's farm there are 100 acres which is the original farm purchased by Mr. Blair's father, George, over 60 years ago. Clarence took this property over from his father about 25 years ago and the elder Mr. Blair died some years ago. Since that time other land has been added so that today Clarence has a total of 240 acres to look after.

The Blair family has been chiefly interested in the making of maple syrup, as their farm contains many acres of sugar bush, or maple trees. Only about fifteen head of cattle are kept and these are made up of Ayrshires and Holsteins. The milk is shipped to the butter factory at St. Chrysostome. The farm is equipped with tractor and all other types of machinery and has a good size barn and other sheds on the property, but the Blair's chief interest is maple syrup.

In this respect they are well equipped to manufacture the syrup and have a wide knowledge of how it should be done. As Clarence said, he has been brought up to it.

On the home place there are about 30 acres in maple trees and on the other farm which is situated on the Grimshaw or Prior Road, there are a further 1,800 trees. On the Lewis Blair farm there are another 15 acres of trees. The sugar house is situated on the Clarence Blair farm and another sugar house is located on the farm at Grimshaw Road. In the case of the first mentioned, this house is used when the tapping of the trees on Lewis and Clarence Blair farms is undertaken, as they are close together. The house is well built and the size is 27 by 36 feet and contains two evaporators.

One of the evaporators is 5 by 16 feet and the other is 5 by 14 feet. The first one has two smokestacks 36 feet in height and the second one has two smokestacks 30 feet in height. Stacks and stacks of wood are piled inside the building and around the building for keeping the fires going during the boiling period which usually lasts about five weeks, depending upon the season. The amount of wood is estimated at about 125 cords. On the Grimshaw Road farm the sugar house is 16 by 22 feet and has one evaporator size 5 by 12 feet.

During the sugaring season about nine persons are employed in gathering the sap and boiling to make the syrup. Only syrup is made, no maple sugar is manufactured, but the syrup is of top quality and shipped to customers as far away as British Columbia. Much is also sold locally.

8,000 buckets are used with which to gather the sap after the trees have been tapped and great care is taken of the sap to see that it will produce the maximum amount obtainable. About 2,000 lids are used to cover the sap buckets against the possibility of rain getting into the sap and thus diluting it or making it entirely useless. With so many trees to tap at one time, this precaution is necessary as it would be impossible to empty all the pails when it rained. Two teams of horses are employed to haul the big tanks into which the sap is emptied from the buckets, and when full, brought to the sugar house to be boiled. The evaporator tanks have a ridged bottom which allows the fire to get up around the sap and aids in the evaporation process that finally produces the syrup. This also aids in keeping the sap moving and thus forces the heavier syrup along to be drained off. When the syrup is ready in the evaporator, it is drawn off into filter tanks of which the Blair Bros. have three. From the filter tank it is run into the gallon containers.

Blair Bros. try to get the light type of syrup as this commands the higher price, but sometimes due to a number of reasons the syrup is dark and then it is sold to a dealer at a lower price. They make on an average from 800 to 1,000 gallons per year. The yield varies according to the season and the flow of sap. The quality also varies according to the degree of sweetness of the sap. Weather plays a great part in both quality and yield. For the past two or three years there has been a poor run due to the earliness of spring and the fact that the weather became warm and brought the trees into bud. Ideal weather is when there is frost night and morning and the days are just warm. If the warming up of spring is gradual in process, the yield is much greater. These factors are what determine the success of the maple syrup crop, but Blair Bros. are quite skilled in the processes and prepare well ahead of time for when the sap begins to run. Their bush is cleared of broken limbs and other debris so that the snow does not lie too thickly and hamper the tapping and tending of the trees. Wood is all piled close to the sugar house and enough of it is there to take care of requirements. The sugar house is electrically lighted so there is plenty of light when needed.

The syrup is sent to customers who have been taking it for as many as 47 years and a large number of these are in Western Canada and first took the syrup when the Blair Brothers' father was alive.

Editorial Notes...

Easter 1950

THE coming of Spring heralds that Easter is not far away and the two are synonymous with this time of year. Furthermore Easter is the next important religious festival to Christmas and a holiday period that is looked forward to.

Easter today is becoming almost as much commercialized as Christmas, yet its religious significance is more somber. At this time people of deep religious belief are cast into a period of mourning and their thoughts turn to the sacrifice made by Christ upon the cross that man's sins may be forgiven. This week is known as Holy Week and the climax is reached on Good Friday, when the crucifixion of Christ took place almost two thousand years ago. There was the triumphant entry into Jerusalem, the betrayal and trial of Jesus Christ and the sentence passed that he must die upon the cross. The days preceeding the Easter period are known as Lent and during this time services are conducted in the churches and a period of sacrifice observed. On Easter Sunday a more joyous atmosphere prevails as the news is known that Christ has risen from the dead. From that time on there appears to be new hope, new life, new understanding, people prepare themselves for summer months which lie ahead with brighter and warmer days.

Easter heralds the outdoor life and the coming of life to the whole world after the closeness of the winter months. Birds begin to return to favorite haunts and fill the air with their songs and calls, trees and flowers begin to burst into bud and the animals show great activity. Truly the world arises anew and places more than passing significance upon this Easter season.

But the world is still full of troubles that must be relieved and got rid of before the people can be said to be saved from their sins. We have not yet learned to live in a true spirit of brotherhood, there is hate aplenty where love and kindness should be the watchword. Fear abounds as to safety and well being, nations prepare for war not because war is apparent but as a means of preventing it. No one can be sure that the peace is secure and the whole world is happy and contented. There is starvation and want in many countries of the world and at the same time there is plenty and greed in other parts. In Canada and in America generally, we can feel quite satisfied with our lot for we seem to have plenty of all that we need and we are able to go about our business in the usual way without interference of any kind. True there is some fear as to prices of products not holding up to expectations, but we are not suffering to any great extent from shortages or inability to obtain the things we need.

Prospects seem to be good for the year 1950 and there is hope that the coming season will produce good crops of foodstuffs from the soil and as a result of such crops that other products will be in good supply. There is every reason to believe that this will be so. Other difficulties we may have to face, but with the new life and hope that come at this time it seems that more courage is given us to overcome them. Thus Easter 1950 can be looked forward to as a period of new hope in the future.

Crime Wave Spreading

THE Beauharnois district seems to be getting into the throes of the crime wave that was besetting Montreal and regions. During the past few months several crimes of a major nature have been committed in this area and the most recent is the bank robbery at Ste. Martine, which netted the thieves $8,000. The thieves who did this particular job must have taken some of their technique from the Brinks Robbery in Boston, Mass. They wore Hallowe'en masks similar to those worn by the Brinks robbers, these masks are supposed to be only procurable in the United States so this may be a lead. Hallowe'en is a long way off so that it is not likely these are a recent purchase. The robbers appeared to know the habits of the bank manager and his family as they told the daughter that she knew the combination of the safe and could open it. However, the bank manager who was out at the time was slugged when he came in and forced to give his daughter the combination to open the safe. These robbers were quite calm and evidently did not figure on any interference for they waited while the bank manager returned home from church after finding the daughter could not open the safe. They spoke both French and English and this might prove that the thieves were from somewhere nearby, so far they are still at large. Banks seem to be getting to be an easy prey to thieves and it would seem that drastic measures should be taken to make the task a little harder.

Murder is also becoming all too common and there have been two murders in this district in the past few months. Montreal is becoming a little too hot for the law breakers and it may be that they are spreading out to other fields which hold better prospects. A few months ago there was at least one hold-up a day in Montreal and sometimes more, for days on end. People in that city began to get panicky and new police tactics were put into force, this appears to have slowed up the crime wave there to some extent. Perhaps we need more police patrols through the outlying districts.

When so many cases of violence are reported where bank hold-ups are concerned, it is no wonder that the employees of banks do not attempt to argue with those who would hold them up. A man with a gun is not to be argued with or to take chances with, he may shoot and he may not, one never knows. Life is much harder to part with than the material things and only in self defence will the average person take a chance with a gun pointed at him or her. We understand that some banks have the teller cage equipped with steel shutters which can be closed at the flip of a switch faster than a shot can be fired. If this is so, then it seems that more of this type of precaution should be installed. Other types of signalling devices should be put into operation and if an employee is killed in the operation of his duty, then cognizance of the risk to himself and his family or dependants should be known well in advance. It may be well if armed commissionaires were placed in a stragetic position with ample protection at all banks during banking hours and also in control of signalling devices which would be set off in case of a hold-up. The duty of such employee would be to watch all persons coming into and while in the bank and to be ready to take whatever steps may be necessary to prevent trouble. If such precautions were known, would-be thieves may be deterred from making attempts at least during the daylight hours. Time locks and such devices control the locks on most safes in the banks and blasting would be necessary to break into such as these. In so doing alarm signals may be set off and the thieves would be caught before they could get very far. The more difficult the job is made, the less likelihood of thieves trying to carry out their plans. It appears comparatively easy today for hold-up men to carry out their plans and get away without incident.

Watching Government Spending

MR. WATSON SELLAR, Auditor General, made the headlines again the past week when he brought to notice the method of passing estimates used by the government. He pointed out that a closer watch should be kept on monies intended to be spent on government buildings and works. Much overspending occurred because contracts are not carried out according to specifications and allowed to amount to more than should be the case. Too much politics was used in connection with contracts and resulted in more money being spent on projects than should be allowed.

Mr. Sellar also felt that monies in other countries that had been paid to cover loans made by Canada to such countries, should not be spent in government buildings in those countries unless properly passed by parliament and given parliamentary sanction. He is not in favor of the blank cheque policy that now prevails in many of the government departments. By-passing parliament should not be allowed in any such matters.

Watchdog of the Treasury certainly seems to fit Mr. Sellar, for he does not allow very much, if anything, to escape his eagle eye.

Budget Holds No Surprises

THE bringing down of the budget in the Federal House the past week was perhaps the most insignificant for several years. When its contents became known it did not even stir a hair in anyone's head. Just a few minor changes were made and the results of these will not be known for some time and may not even have any effect on present rates of taxation. It had been hoped that there would be a few more changes in the income tax structure and that perhaps the sales tax would be abolished or lessened to help bring down prices. Nothing like this happened, but a surplus was reported and this it was said was required for defence purposes. Defence was costing so much that it was found impossible to make any changes in the taxation structure to permit less hardship. There may be a slight reduction in the price of toilet soaps, we may also get a little extra ice cream for the cone or dish, but this will amount to very little in the way of relief.

Socialism Evolves Into Communism

By LEWIS MILLIGAN

The appointment of John Strachey as war minister in the new Labor cabinet was vigorously opposed by the Conservative press on the ground that he was an "avowed Communist," and that he was therefore not a fit person to hold such a position which might bring him into conflict with Communist Russia. Anyone who has read Mr. Strachey's books can have no doubt as to his out-and-out Communist convictions and his admiration for Lenin and Soviet Russia. Those books are in all public libraries and have had and are still having a great influence particularly upon students in our universities who have been taught to regard Mr. Strachey as one of the greatest authorities on Socialism.

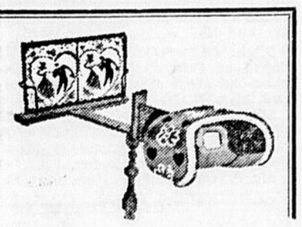
Mr. Strachey now states that he has never been a member of the Communist Party. That may be so, but his books have done more to promote the theories and the activities of that party than those of any other writer outside of Russia. It is not enough for him to say that he broke with Russian communism in 1940 when Britain was fighting alone; that was merely a matter of policy, and he has never repudiated the teachings of his books, from which he is presumably still drawing royalties. He is still a convinced Socialist and he must still believe what he stated as late as 1938, "Like all Socialists, I believe the Socialist society evolves in time into the Communist society."

In his book, "The Theory and Practice of Socialism," published in 1936, Mr. Strachey puts all the blame for modern wars upon capitalism, which he says has promoted nationalism to gain its imperialistic ends. He says that "Capitalism has become a wholly enslaving force," and he points to the Soviet Union as an example of peaceful nationalism void of all imperialistic aims. "Thus," he says, "the struggle of all the smaller peoples of Central and Eastern Europe to retain their independence will be one which every Communist and Socialist must support . . . The struggle of the smaller, and now actually threatened, nations of Europe, and the struggle of the subjected peoples of other continents, against the great predatory empires, is an important part of the general struggle for the abolition of capitalism, and so for relief from its torturing wars."

Compare that sweeping statement with the present situation in Central and Eastern Europe, where the smaller nations are surrounded by the Iron Curtain of Communism, which has become "a wholly enslaving force." Compare it with the present situation in China where Soviet imperialism has spread its tentacles and has the people of that vast country in its grip. The plain truth is that the policy and actions of Soviet Russia since the close of the war have quashed all Mr. Strachey's arguments in favor of Communism, and they have rendered his criticisms of capitalism trivial. Whatever may have been the faults of British imperialism, it was a benevolent influence compared with the tyrannical power that Communist Russia is wielding today over the nations and peoples under her control.

Replying to his critics, Mr. Strachey says: "The statement that I remain an avowed Communist is false." But he cannot deny that he remains an avowed Socialist, since he holds a high position in a Socialist government. If he has really rejected Communism and is now opposed to it, he should also reject and oppose Socialism which he has said "evolves in time into the Communist society." He is therefore in a false position as war minister in a Socialist government. To be fair to his new self as an opponent of Communism, and to the university students who have and are still being led astray by his text books, Mr. Strachey should denounce Socialism and stop the further publication of his books.

Random Glimpses of The Past Taken From Gleaner Files



April 2, 1908

The separation of Ireland from Britain is again to the front. On Monday in the Imperial house of commons, Mr. Redmond moved that legislative and constitutional control of all purely Irish affairs be given the people of Ireland. What meaning he attached to the words 'purely Irish affairs' he did not tell but what Redmond and his followers want is complete separation.

Ormstown—The danger of a big flood this year seems past, as the water has fallen again. The only inconvenience felt has been the loss of the electric light for about three or four nights.

Howick—There was a good audience at the Scotch concert on Friday considering the uncertainty of the weather. The singing of Miss Strachan delighted everyone and Mr. Spence was also appreciated, though he took up a good deal of time in unnecessary explanations.

Elgin—The contract with Patrick O'Connor to macadamize part of the roads has been entered into. There is half a mile to be made on the road leading to the Black bridge, half a mile on the Shearer sideroad, and three-quarters of a mile on the Levers' sideroad.

The Y's had an excellent audience on Friday and the entertainment proved to be better than most people expected. Rev. W. H. Stevens was a host in himself. Gilberta Boyd recited with her customary grace and the assistance from Athelstan of Mrs. W. Brown and Marion Wilson was most welcome. Mr. Shanks played the xylophone and Mr. Carr read a selection so well from the Habitant that he had to give another. The hit of the evening, however, was the Little Jack Horner quartette.

April 9, 1908

Beauharnois—Owing to a heaving of the rails on the G.T.R. line to Ste. Martine, a engine and two or three cars were derailed just as they left this station on Monday. . . . . Sleighing here has lasted long; wheels are out this week for the first time.

Athelstan—Monday night between 12 and 1 a.m. the cry of fire was heard when it was found that the dairy factory of J. A. McDonald was in flames. Nothing could be done to save it, and before long there was only a mass of embers to mark the remains of one of the best-equipped factories in the district. That the factory will be rebuilt is uncertain.

The staff of the academy for the next scholastic year will have several changes. Miss Muir takes No. 1 academy, Miss Hunter, who comes from Sutton, grade 2 model, Miss Cleland, grade two model and 4 elementary and Miss McMillan assists in elementary. Mr. Carr leaves for the west where he has an appointment as principal of a high school.

April 1, 1909

Ormstown—The W.C.T.U. has for some years made arrangements for the teaching of the quarterly temperance lesson to teachers and this duty was performed last Friday by Mr. Coates when a large class listened with interest to his exposition of the passage and setting forth of the evils of intemperance. His lesson was followed by an address by Mr. Ascah in which he gave a most interesting report of the provincial convention of the S.S. union.

The trouble in Turkey has assumed a threatening aspect and may end in civil war. The action of the troops in Constantinople in upsetting the ministry was not favoured by the army elsewhere and a large force at once started for the capital which it now surrounds. The wildest rumours prevail, including a report that the Sultan will abdicate.

Friday evening, Mr. Drummond presented a series of stereopticon views in the Methodist Church to a good audience. Owing to miscalculation the setting of the views was not what it should have been; they were seen to disadvantage.

The concert and dance Friday was poorly attended. Expenses were not cleared. Alex. Ferguson's imitations of Harry Lauder got much applause and Miss Ethel Gray danced to the liking of all.

April 14, 1910

Athelstan—A severe loss by fire has been sustained by the burning of the Tully saw-mill. The fire was first noticed by Mrs. Tully about 1 o'clock on Wednesday morning, but it must have been blazing for some time as the roof was falling in. Nothing was saved.

Lord Kitchener, in making a tour around the world, sailed from Australia to San Francisco instead of to Vancouver, giving the go-by to Canada. This is giving offence to our jingoes who are asking for explanations, apparently desirous of fixing the blame on Laurier.

LaGuerre—The oldest man in this part cannot recall such an early spring. Dandelions are in bloom and the plum trees in a few days will be white. . . . The Laguerre river is full of fish, but they are small. Perhaps some person had a net across the river and caught the big ones.

Our academy has sent forth many men who have distinguished themselves, judges, professors, physicians, clergymen (including one bishop) but so far it has produced only one millionaire, John McNaughton of Hinchinbrook. The Week at Ottawa...

OTTAWA, (CP)—Some idea of the cost of helping to fight a cold war, of maintaining national security and national welfare, was driven home to Canadians last week.

The man driving home the unpalatable facts was Finance Minister Abbott, and he did it right where it was likely to make the most impression—the pocketbook.

In direct contrast to his tax-slashing pre-election budget, Mr. Abbott last week brought down a 1950 budget that gave no major tax concessions. It was, in fact, a sort of musical-chairs budget that shuffled a few taxes around, dropping a total of $3,000,000 in some places and promptly picking the same amount up in others.

But the hardest-to-take point was a prediction that big budgets — with taxes running at about their current rate — are here to stay.

In blunt warning-laden words he placed the situation before the country.

"Unless we are prepared to reduce the scope or scale of government activities, we must now accept $2,400,000,000 budgets in future years," he said. "Nor can we escape the tax implications of this conclusion."

Economic Jargon

The main news for the man in the street lay in the facts that his income taxes won't get any heavier and that he might or might not get more ice cream and chocolate milk for his money.

The minister knocked a special five-per-cent tax off toilet soaps mainly because it's becoming so hard to distinguish them from other

Floods Cause Inconvenience At Chateauguay

CHATEAUGUAY — Residents of the village were surprised to find on Wednesday morning, the 29th, that the water in the river had risen during the night and closed the roads, on both sides, to vehicular traffic. There were two ice-shoves, one at noon and the second one at seven o'clock in the evening, which caused very high water and left cakes of ice on the road. One such large block crashed against an electric power pole on the west side of the river, a quarter of a mile below the bridge and as a consequence the village, Basin and Heights were without electricity for an hour and a half. The crew of the Shawinigan Light & Power Co. who worked in water, breast high, to repair the damage, deserve great credit. At time of writing, Monday, the ice still holds firm at the Basin.

It may be of interest to note that on April 1, 1886, the wooden bridge across the river at Chateauguay was carried away by the ice.

kinds; eliminated the eight-per-cent sales tax from ice cream and dairy drinks and prepared whipping cream; and allowed farmers and fishermen to use a new system of depreciation if they want to.

For the remainder, Canadians got little but a nod and an earful of economic jargon with a cheering boost of the vicarious type that could come from reading Mr. Abbott's encouraging statements about the economy of the country.

Adding up the amounts the government expected to spend in various ways and to take in from a variety of sources, the finance minister gave the results: expected expenditure for the 1950-51 fiscal year were $2,410,000,000, the expected revenue $2,430,000,000 and the expected surplus from these operations $20,000,000.

Senate Reform Likely

Senate reform is under consideration. Proposals will not affect continuation of the Senate as the second chamber of Canada's parliament.

In future appointees may be required to retire at a certain age, Senator Wilfrid Robertson stated in the Senate. The government leader said the same compulsory retirement age may be attached to future appointments to superior or supreme courts in the provinces.

While Senator Robertson did not state the retirement age it was learned later that it may be 75, the same age at which members of the Supreme Court of Canada retire.

At present members of the Senate and provincial superior courts are appointed for life under the provisions of the Canadian constitution.

The reform proposals may be made at the next sitting of the Dominion-provincial conference on the constitution. A date for the sitting has not yet been set.

Wins Major Test

Burly Donald Gordon, the wartime prices-board chief and former deputy governor of the Bank of Canada, passed with flying colors his first major test as a railroad president.

Just three months after taking over direction of the Canadian National Railways, biggest railway system on the continent, he displayed a grasp of C.N.R. affairs before the House of Commons railway committee that astonished his listeners and won their confidence.

To the committee, worried about the continual red ink written into the ledgers of the debt-ridden system, he outlined a definite scheme for refinancing the debt structure in order that the C.N.R. might operate in a more normal manner. The plan calls for elimination of much of the interest on government-held debts that the government owned line must pay each year.

He also outlined proposals for taking better care of his employees and of using oil in place of steam although he said he was not completely sold on the idea of eliminating steam locomotives entirely.

He told the committee that he expects to boost C.N.R. revenues about $16,000,000 above the $500,000,000 earned in 1949. And he forecast a budgetary deficit for 1950 of about $32,000,000 — some $10,000,000 less than last year.

But to his listeners, his employees and the country he gave a blunt warning that should all demands for wage increases now facing the company be met, it would result in an unprecedented budgetary deficit of $90,000,000 for the system.

The demands now being negotiated with some 59 labor organizations in Canada and the United States, he said, would boost the company's wage bill by some $58,000,000.

Canada in Mourning

A United States courier plans that crashed in flames outside the Canadian capital last week plunged Ottawa into deep, sincere mourning for the man generally recognized as one of the ablest and most popular ambassadors the U.S. has sent here in years.

The capital was stunned as it learned that genial, shrewd Laurence Steinhardt and four other Americans had died in a plane crash almost within seeing-distance of the city.

The sense of loss was felt far beyond the Capital, where, to an unusual degree, he had taken an active role in important negotiations and a trouble-shooter in all sorts of diplomatic tangles.

A New York lawyer who turned to diplomacy for a career, Mr. Steinhardt had probably travelled about Canada more than any of his predecessors. And everywhere he went his open personality and co-operative ability had won new personal friends and had strengthened the close ties binding this country and the one he represented.

Two days after the crash, Canada bade a last, solemn farewell to the ambassador.

While a 19-gun salute echoed across the city, the body of the 57-year-old diplomat was borne slowly through long lines of crack Canadian troops to Ottawa's Union Station and placed aboard a special train for New York.

WELL-TRAVELLED

CLANDONALD, Alta., (CP)—The United Church building is back from its travels after an absence of 15 years at Rusylvia. It is used to being moved. Built in 1908 near Clandonald, it had three different locations within this hamlet before leaving for Rusylvia.

MOOSE RANGE HOSPITAL

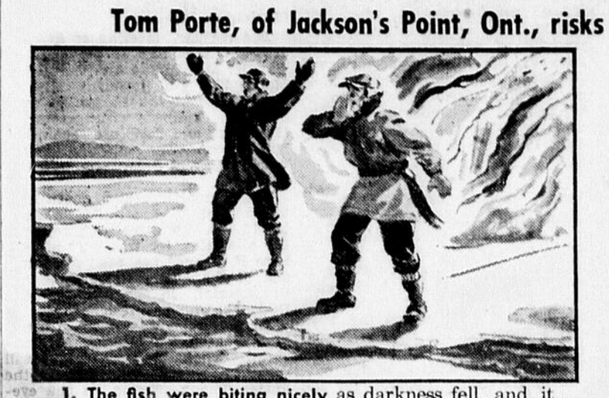
MOVING HAZARD

SHERRIDON, Man., (CP)—It's a dangerous job, moving houses in this north country. A caterpillar tractor hauling two houses from Flin Flon to Sherridon broke through the ice on Lobstock Lake into 15 feet of water. The driver was pulled out by friends and the houses did not go down.

INDIAN SWIMS 100 YARDS THROUGH ICE FLOES FOR HELP

Tom Porte, of Jackson's Point, Ont., risks life in Lake Simcoe to get aid for friend



1. The fish were biting nicely as darkness fell, and it wasn't until late that the two men noticed how the winds had separated the cake of ice from shore. As the gap widened, they shouted for help — then in desperation they burned their fishing shanty — but even that failed to bring assistance!

2. Tom Porte, a 25-year-old Ojibway, decided to act. Stripping almost completely, he plunged into the dark, wind-swept water and swam through the broken ice to shore, a hundred yards away. His shivering comrade, Joe Latremouille, remained on the drifting floe, praying that Tom would be able to win out in his gallant fight.

3. Piled-up ice prevented Tom from climbing out immediately. He was forced to edge another 20 yards along the shore. He ran to a boathouse . . . and soon a boat was sent out to the stranded fisherman. Tom Porte's courage has earned him not only THE DOW AWARD, but also the praise of his fellow Canadians.

THE DOW AWARD is a citation presented for acts of outstanding heroism and includes, as a tangible expression of appreciation, a $100 Canada Savings Bond. Easter Choral Service

The Easter Choral Service will be held on Sunday evening, April 16, at the St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church. The choirs of the three churches on that evening will gather under the direction of Mr. J. B. MacMillan to present what will certainly be an outstanding programme of vocal selections. The proceeds, according to custom, will go to the Huntingdon County Hospital. The service will begin at 8 p.m. and the public is asked to take note of the date which is April 16th, rather than Easter Sunday.

Annual Meeting Bible Society

The annual meeting of the British and Foreign Bible Society took place on Sunday evening at the United Church. It was attended by members of the three churches with the Rev. Mr. Thos. Knowles presiding. Two films on the work of the Bible Society were presented by the Rev. Mr. D. Raynor one of which dealt with a braille edition of the Bible prepared for the blind. The film told an unforgettable story of a blind man whose waning faith was restored with the inspiration given to him by other blind persons, and the use of braille and the braille edition of the Bible.

Mr. Alex. Fawcett was elected president for the year and Mr. C. Pace, secretary. The collectors' reports were presented: the collection for the year amounted to $228.92, an improvement over last year.

Missionary Meeting

The regular meeting of St. Andrew's W.M.S. met at the home of Mrs. R. McWhinnie on Wednesday, March 29. The president, Mrs. G. Paul, followed the Easter program in Glad Tidings, with prayer by Mrs. Hogg and Scripture reading by Mrs. Brown. The collection of the World's Day of Prayer amounted to $14.75.

The annual Synodical meeting is to be held in Brockville on April 18, 19, 20. The treasurer reported the allocation for this year is $400. Miss F. Turner has been appointed one of the Vice-presidents of the Presbyterial, in the place of Mrs. Ruddock, who had resigned.

An invitation was given to members to attend a meeting in Ormstown when Mrs. Williams will speak. It was decided to hold the Easter Thank-offering on the evening of May 5, at 8 p.m., Athelstan, Elgin and Rockburn to be invited. The speaker will be Miss Simpson.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by the hostess and helpers.

New Business on Chateauguay St.

Another new business has opened up in Huntingdon and we refer to the grocery and restaurant business operated by Lucien Pivin, at 15 Chateauguay Street. This business first opened in March and is situated in a building that once belonged to the Roman Catholic School and which has been converted into a very up-to-date and modern store. Situated as it is, it will provide the people at that end of town with a store in which they can do their shopping close to home. It also provides a good place for the pupils of the Catholic School to buy their candies, etc., at the recess periods.

Minstrel Show Soon

The Minstrel Show which is to take place on April 14, given by the Junior Chamber of Commerce is rapidly nearing perfection. Rehearsals for the show have revealed that the Jaycees have a wealth of hitherto undiscovered talent in their organization and many individuals who claimed that they 'just couldn't sing a note' are now flaunting their vocal chords with a gusto. When, a week from Friday, the curtain goes up, the public will have a chance to see for themselves. There will be plenty of laughs and a programme of lively old-time songs which will take many a person back to the days of dixie-land jazz and Al Jolson.

New Terminal for Bus Soon

According to resolution passed at Monday night's council meeting, the bus terminal will soon be moved to a new location, this being situated at the Huntingdon Theatre. Mr. Hatton, owner of the theatre, states that better facilities will be offered to bus patrons by this move as they will be able to use the Lobby Shop at the theatre and the rest room and facilities. This should prove a great convenience for bus travellers and the terminal will be more centrally located.

favorable to the flow of sap last spring for the province's maple syrup and sugar producers. However, the quality of the syrup was better and average price paid was 12c a gallon higher than in 1948, with sugar up 2c per lb. Total syrup production was 1.9 million gallons (1.7 million in 1948) worth $6.8 millions ($6.1 millions), and maple sugar output totaled 1.7 million lb. (2.2 million) valued at $598,000 ($744,000.)

One of the biggest gains was recorded by the sugar beet industry, one of the province's relatively new developments. Growers harvested 68,547 tons of sugar beets compared with 27,556 tons in 1948. Yield per acre was up to 11 tons against 9½ last year and sugar production rose to 17.4 million lb. from 7.9 million. The number of producers jumped from 1,235 to 2,179.

COVEY HILL — There has been a general complaint that the new maple syrup was not of the best flavor. But at the week-end there was a good run of sap and improved flavour.

Mr. Keith Edwards, who has considerable mechanical ability, received a painful injury to his eye which caused him great discomfort, but this has yielded to medical treatment received in Ormstown.

RANEY — In loving memory of our dear son and brother, Jimmy, who passed away April 6th, 1949 —
Your memory is our keepsake
With which we'll never part —

There is a thought of you.
Years may wipe out many things,
But this they wipe out never,
The memories of those happy days
When we were all together.

Building By-Law...

Street and elsewhere in town.

Alderman McWhinnie gave notice of motion that he would bring in a motion to amend the Traffic By-law as it applied to parking.

It was decided to purchase the skates for the goalie outfit owned by the Town and which had been bought by the Hockey Club. The price was in the neighborhood of $30.00.

It was reported that a daily record is to be kept at the Filter Plant and all particulars will be contained in this report.

More catchbasins are to be installed on King Street where needed.

A petition was read from taxpayers on Chalmers Street asking for the completion of that street and the building of sidewalks. This street is already on the agenda of plans of public works.

A resolution was passed whereby Daylight Saving Time will come into force at one minute past midnight on April 30th and continue in force until October 29th.

Another resolution empowered the secretary to borrow up to $10,000. for municipal purposes against the collection of taxes.

Additional insurance is to be placed on the Town Fire Truck to cover public liability, etc.

The Junior Chamber of Commerce wrote the Council asking that only milk dealers selling pasteurized milk be allowed to sell milk in Huntingdon. No immediate action was taken.

Another letter from the Junior Chamber of Commerce asked that no more permits be granted to Chip Vendors or Hot Dog Stands, in the interests of public health and sanitation. It was decided that none would be granted unless the town reached a population of over 5,000.

The following milk reports were read amid several cries of alarm and surprise: Belle Vallee 69,000cc and 3.6 butterfat; Elmhurst 11,000 cc. and 3.4 butterfat; Pringle Bros. 3,100,000cc and 4.9 butterfat; R. Goodfellow 140,000cc and 3.6 butterfat; Monique 15,000 cc and 3.3 butterfat; these were for February 28th. March 13th was as follows: Elmhurst 7,000 cc and 3.7 butterfat; Belle Vallee 120,000 cc and 3.5 butterfat; Monique 28,000 cc and 3.3 butterfat; Pringle Bros. 540,000 cc and 4. butterfat; R. Goodfellow 32,000 cc and 3.3 butterfat.

A discussion followed on the high bacteria content of some of the milk being sold in Huntingdon and it was noted that only 50,000 was allowed according to the by-law. Certain precautions had been taken to clear up the situation, but apparently it was far from being satisfactory. Nothing was done as to a course of action to be followed.

A permit asked for by Arsene Charlebois to build a house on Churchill Street, was granted.

Mr. Leduc of Garage Leduc asked the council's permission to erect a temporary building on a lot he is to use as a used car lot. The building is to be used as an office in which to transact business in connection with the sale of the cars. The permission was granted on the proviso that it was temporary and would be removed after the lot was not in use.

The meeting adjourned until April 17th at the same place and hour.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks and appreciation to our relatives, neighbours and friends for their floral offerings and their many acts of kindness shown us in our recent sad bereavement.
Agnes B. Paul,
Mr. and Mrs. Robert Rutherford.

Beauharnois H. & S. Assoc. Holds Successful Meeting

BEAUHARNOIS—Mr. H. G. Ferrabee of the Herbert Symonds School was the guest speaker at the March meeting of the Beauharnois Home & School Association held in the school on March 14th.

Mr. Ferrabee gave an interesting lecture on "Visual Education" and supplemented his talk with a showing of four films used in educating the school children. These were an enjoyable way of learning and covered the correct attitude towards civil servants—in this instance seeking aid and information from policemen; how Symphonic music comes into being and its rendition by a Symphony Orchestra; the growth and cure of tuberculosis; and travel by air across Canada.

A donation was received from the Badminton Club to buy sports equipment for the school children.

Mr. E. Sutton, Vice-President and Chairman of the meeting, stressed the importance of reading the Home & School magazine and drew attention to a few of the recent interesting articles including a correspondence column on child problems.

United Nations Appeal for Children Campaign Everyone was urged to help in this important cause by sending contributions to the School from where they will be reforwarded to headquarters.

A "thank-you" was expressed to the teachers for making themselves again available for interviews by parents for the half-hour preceding the opening of the meeting.

Child Study Group: Those interested in taking the course next Fall were asked to sign their names on the form provided at the meeting.

Parents' Bookshelf: A volunteer is being asked to act as librarian. It is not necessary to keep these books in the school, they may be kept in the home of the librarian.

Hobby Show: Will begin at 2.30 p.m., April 1st. Entries must be submitted on March 30th. The Pet Show will start at 1.30 on the same day. Tea will be served and a silver collection taken. Instead of prizes being given this year, a great many more ribbons will be awarded. All special and first awards will be taken to see the Westmount Hobby Show.

Mrs. Hill gave a report on the last Federal Home & School meeting and mentioned that a Programme Planning Manual had been co-edited by Mrs. F. Willows which was distributed to the Branches of the Home & School Associations.

It was moved by Mrs. Walsh that the following members act on the Nominating Committee: Mrs. W. C. R. Jones, Chairman; Mrs. R. Tait and Mr. Fred Hulme.

The Chairman thanked the Membership Committee under leadership of Mrs. Coburn for the work done in organizing the Room Mothers.

The Room Mothers for the evening headed by Mrs. Loucks were thanked for their efforts in supplying and serving refreshments during the social period which immediately followed the meeting.

The Banner was again won by Miss Elliott's class.

The speaker was thanked by Mr. Walsh.

Social and Personal

Mrs. W. Riddle, of Danville, Que., was a guest of Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Watson for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Lagden were week-end visitors to Cornwall, Ont.

Miss Boland was guest of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. R. Jones.

A surprise party was given for Miss Audrey Lagden on the occasion of her birthday on Friday.

Teen and Twenties' Club

Any Talent Scouts around? They would have had a fine time Friday evening. Albeit they perhaps would have found it difficult to choose any particular member of the talented teen agers who put on such a humdinger of a show, for us, it was unanimously voted a "howling" success.

As Master of Ceremonies, Robert Page was excellent. He handled his duties ably and well. The programme opened with the singing of Oh! Talent Night, by the Club, then the Master of Ceremonies conducted the audience in Community singing. Mr. Marcel Roy was next with his interpretation in the traditional Maurice Chevalier manner. As an encore Marcel sang Cheribinibin in a remarkably good falsetto voice. Followed by a "Fun Parade" in which the audience participated, everyone had a riotous time. Mr. J. Patton, Maple Grove, won the pie-eating contest. Mr. R. B. Calhoun and Mr. W. C. R. Jones added their efforts in this contest and seemed to have as much fun as the audience. Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Marchand and Mr. and Mrs. J. Lemay took part in the water spooning contest which also provided a heap of fun. Mrs. F. Hulme did an excellent job on her marshmallow swallowing and managed to dispose of six in a short time. Mrs. McIsaac was with Mrs. Hulme in this contest. Mr. R. B. Calhoun and Mr. George Graham, the newest barbers in town gave their clients a rough time in the barber's chair. No offers yet for future clients. Nick Vandreeck was Bubble Gum Champion, having blown the biggest bubble in the time allowed. Miss Margaret Page with her singing of Little Yellar Dog made us all feel she should be a real hit in the entertainment world. Bobby Turnbull and his co-partner, Bill Leet did a fine job in their comic skit, Black Face.

During the intermission the girls sold delicious home made candy.

Shadow acts were on the next part of the programme, and these were well received. The actors were most accomplished in their portrayal of varied subjects. Miss Cecil Dorais was the ballerina, Marcel Roy at the piano, Robert Page as the diabolically-fierce surgeon, Jacques De Serre the orchestra leader. Jim Page was the snake charmer. Jimmy "was later in the soup."

We have a budding Frankie Sinatra, in our midst, none other than handsome young Johnny McTague, who had the girls "swooning" over his fine rendition of "Maybe You'll be There" and "There's no Tomorrow."

A pantomime entitled "Doctor Cut", Marcel Roy as the patient while waiting for the doctor's return after suffering considerable agony from a badly infected tooth, dropped into the most tortuous slumber invaded by Mr. Sawbones himself, enacted gleefully by Jim Page, his assistant Phil Renaud and a most attractive nurse portrayed by Miss Maureen Good.

Jean Daigneault, our next star, played and sang beautifully. Jean has a decided talent of his own.

Jacque De Serres sang his two songs with a very professional air.

The final and very effective singing by Margaret Page, of that perennial favourite "Christopher Robin is saying his Prayers" made a fitting finish to a most successful evening's work by the Teen and Twenties' Club. The proceeds of the evening's performance went to the Beauharnois Home and School Association. Mrs. J. R. Clark was presented with a bouquet of flowers from the members of the Club for her help at the piano.

Junior Teens

The Junior Teens under the chaperonage of Mrs. H. Gore held a Masquerade Dance Friday evening in the school auditorium. The costumes were most attractive, the judges, Mrs. Ruth Hatfield and Mrs. Hettie Graham were pleased to give the decisions for the best costumes to an attractive pirate, Miss Beatrice McTague and a cute little Chinese girl, Miss Shirley Marin. Refreshments were served by Mrs. H. Gore and Mrs. C. McTague.

Best wishes for a speedy recovery to Mrs. Harold Hill.

Congratulations to Mrs. W. Pearson who celebrated her 80th birthday on Tuesday.

Nitro

The Willing Workers held their meeting in the Nitro Church on Thursday evening, March 23, with 16 present. The meeting opened with the Lord's Prayer, followed by the minutes of the last meeting. All business was discussed then refreshments were served by Mrs. W. Bevan and Mrs. G. Keays.

Four tables of Bridge were played at the Community Hall, on Wednesday evening, March 22nd. The winners were Mrs. F. Brown and Mr. R. Riseley.

Miss E. Collins, of the Children's Memorial Hospital, Montreal, spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. C. Paige, Riverview Avenue.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Mitchell, Mrs. L. Maither, Miss Beverly Maither and Miss Ann Furlong spent the past Sunday at St. Agathe and called at the home of Mrs. K. Hoyer.

Covey Hill

Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Edwards and daughter Margaret, Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Barr, and Miss Ella MacDiarmid were guests at the Fisher-Campbell wedding at St. Matthias Church, Westmount, on Saturday, March 25th. The bride, Miss Margery Campbell, is the younger daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Campbell of Lachine, and the groom, Mr. Maurice P. Fisher, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Fisher of Sackville, N.B. The bride is a graduate of Trafalgar School and the Royal Victoria Hospital, and the bridegroom, a graduate of Bishop's College School, was overseas with the Intelligence Corps.

The bride's grandmother, the late Mrs. Goldsworth, and the Ross Campbells and family spent many summer vacations on the Hill.

Quebec Fishing Regulations

QUEBEC,—The official summary of Fishing Laws and Regulations for the Province of Quebec, issued by the Minister of Game and Fisheries, Hon. C. E. Pouliot, M.D., shows some changes in 1950 laws which affect the possession limit of walleyed pike, listed as "Pickerel-dore" and the booklet clarifies some points with regard to local restrictions, notably in Brome County.

The legal fishing season for Speckled trout, Quebec Red trout, Sea trout, Grey trout and Brown trout is from April 19 (the third Wednesday) until September 30. Announcing this change, the Minister, in a message to sportsmen which appears in the booklet, says:

"Even at this date lakes are often covered with ice, and fishing under the ice is still prohibited."

Minimum legal lengths and daily bag limits for these fish vary as follows: Speckled and Sea trout, daily bag, 40 fish or 15 lbs. minimum length, 7 inches; Grey trout, daily bag 5 fish or 30 lbs.; minimum length, 15 inches; Brown trout, daily bag, 10 fish or 15 lbs., minimum length, 10 inches.

The legal fishing season for Rainbow trout in the province generally opens June 16 and continues until September 30, with bag per day, 5 fish or 15 lbs.; minimum length 10 inches. In Lake Memphremagog, however, the legal angling season opens May 1st, and in five named lakes in Papineau County, the open season is from June 15 to October 15.

Fishing for all species of trout through ice is illegal.

An angler is not allowed to possess, at any time, more than one day's legal catch of any species of game fish, but an exception is made this season in the case of the fish which are variously known as walleye pike, pickerel and dore in Quebec. The possession limit is now two days' legal catch. And here are the minimum legal length and other factors as shown in the official summary: "Pickerel-dore: Missisquoi Bay and north of Latitude 47 degrees, angling season, May 16 to April 15 following, bag per day, 10 fish or 30 lbs., minimum length, 15 inches. Elsewhere in the province the restrictions are the same, but the angling season is from May 16 to November 15.

Northern pike restrictions are unchanged. There is no closed season nor limit except north of the Ottawa and St. Lawrence Rivers, where the daily bag is 30 pounds and the legal minimum length 17 inches. One new listing, however, concerns Grass pike. In Brome Pond, near Sweetsburg, the angling season for these fish is from May 16 to April 14, with minimum legal length of 14 inches. No daily bag limit is imposed, and elsewhere in the province there is no closed season or other restriction on Grass pike.

Restrictions show that it is unlawful: For any person, non-resident of the Province of Quebec, to fish without a license, even if that person is the lessee of fishing rights or the member of a club; For any person, resident of the province, to fish without a license; For any to fish, without the permission of the lessee, in any territory under lease; For any person to fish by any other means than line, or rod and line; to use nets, seines, night lines and other devices prohibited, without special license.

The cost of the 1950 resident angling permit is $1.10.

Lacolle

Messrs. Cartier, Hood, Brooks and McGill attended the bonspiel in Montreal the past week but were unsuccessful in any of their games, due to the strong competition.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Hope and family spent Tuesday with Mr. and Mrs. F. Pelletier, Hemmingford.

On Sunday morning in St. Savior's Anglican Church, Lacolle, Rev. E. E. Dawson officiated at the baptismal service of the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. R. Derick. The baby received the names Brian Philip. Godparents were the paternal uncle and aunt of the baby, Mr. Robt. Derick and Miss Betty Derick of Lacolle.

Mrs. T. Burke and son Billy, of Verdun spent the week-end with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cahill.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Jones, Mrs. W. L. Dawson, Terry and Linda spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. T Cleland, Hemmingford.

Miss Mildred VanVliet, of Montreal, spent the week-end with her mother, Mrs. D. VanVliet.

Sorry to report that Mr. David VanVliet is a patient in the Western Division Hospital, Montreal.

Mrs. T. Brooks entertained the children of the Mission Band at her home on Thursday afternoon. After the meeting, games were played, then the hostess served the children with "Taffy" on snow.

It's not just Good Luck

"He's always lucky in transplanting things". One often hears a comment like that in the spring or fall when trees, shrubs, vines and other things that come under the heading of nursery stock are being planted or moved. But it's not luck at all. It is merely knowing how.

There is a great variation in prices of rose plants, shrubs and trees, and there is even a wider variation in quality. Good healthy stock is green, pliable, moist and equipped with sound buds, but not in leaf. It is only with such stock that one can be "lucky". When purchased, good stock will be well wrapped to keep in moisture and keep out the air, especially about the roots. The buyer should make sure he keeps it that way.

If not ready to plant immediately the stock should be "heeled in", that is, planted in a shallow trench with soil pressed firmly about roots and over the lower part of stem.

In planting permanently it is well to plant a little deeper than previously, spread roots out well, cover firmly with a fine, rich, soil, water well, then tramp down hard. A small tree or shrub usually needs a full pail of water and if it doesn't rain there should be more watering for the first few weeks. Trees should be tied firmly to a stake for the first year. This will give the tiny, new roots a chance to get firmly fastened in the new location. Without these fine roots the stock will die of starvation.

Can Make Good Soil

It's amazing what one can do with even the most unpromising soil. For confirmation all that is necessary is to look at what some city gardeners have done with the assorted blue clay, mortar and broken bricks some builders have used for grading up the backyard. Almost anything will disintegrate in time and what won't can be hauled away or used for drainage. With very heavy soil and lying fairly level some drainage is needed. With large plots this can be done by installing tile drains although an open ditch will be a lot cheaper and may do well enough.

After this, treatment for very heavy or very light soils is about the same. The main thing is to get in plenty of humus and cultivate. Humus is simply a high class name for ordinary manure. Grass cuttings, straw or even just green weeds and other plants. The more of this stuff that is dug in the more open and porous the soil becomes. Where possible it's a good plan to grow a crop of clover, fall rye, oats or some rank-growing thing and dig or plow this under. After a few years' treatment even the toughest or most barren soil becomes mellow and, as the old-timers say, friable.

Gerald Duncan Wins Honors At Macdonald

ORMSTOWN—Mr. Gerald Duncan returned home from Macdonald College, on Friday, having completed his course for this term. Gerald participated in the Macdonald Royal held recently and was awarded the grand champion showman. He was the recipient of two trophies. Gerald was a recent student at Ormstown High School and his school associates as well as members of the community are proud of Gerald's success. His experience as an enthusiastic member and officer of the Ormstown Calf Club for some time, no doubt contributed to his high ranking on this occasion.

SUCCESSFUL THREE-ACT PLAY PRESENTED AT ORMSTOWN PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

A three-act play, "Damsels in Distress" was presented on Saturday evening, by members of the Young Women's Auxiliary in the Presbyterian Church Hall, before an audience which filled the hall to capacity. Mr. J. Williams was chairman of the evening and requested Mrs. Lindsay Cullen, director of the play, to give the introduction.

The action took place at the rooming-house of Mrs. Guppy (Roberta Brocklehurst), a landlady with an eagle eye and a faculty for snooping on her roomers.

Occupants of the rooming house included two girls, Pamela Royle (Moira Duthie) and Geraldine Ware (Arabella Ovans) who are secretly attending art and dramatic school because of the disapproval of Pam's aunt, Eustasia Carstairs (Myrtle Cullen) and Gerry's poultry-minded uncle, Braymen Babcock (Alan Hooker). They become involved with Mrs. Meeks (Margaret Gruer), who loves a masterful man and her husband, Ethelbert (Dr. George Fisher) who has an ingrowing disposition when they borrow furniture from them to entertain their uncle and aunt, who come to visit. Natasha Federoona (Dora Barrington), a temperamental Russian actress, also a roomer, keeps the pot boiling with her outbursts of temper. Jimmy Love (Lindsay Cullen) a glamour boy, spends his time wrapped in Mrs. Guppy's tablecloth, under blankets and finally in borrowed clothes, keeping the audience in gales of laughter. Shelby Parsons (Clinton McWhinnie) a self-satisfied medical student, suffers a number of humiliating experiences to literally dampen his high spirits. Mike and Bill (Jack Barrington and Ted Holt) make their appearance as delivery men from the Slocum Music Company. The play was fast moving and there was never a dull moment for the audience. A repeat performance in Ormstown has been requested and will be advertised at a later date.

Obituaries

THE LATE MR. CLEOPHAS ST. AUBIN

There passed away on Friday, March 31st, one of our oldest residents, Mr. Cleophas St. Aubin, who died at his late home, where he and his aged sister lived for the past number of years.

Mr. St. Aubin, who was 98 years old, was very bright and of a cheerful disposition. The deceased was a tailor by trade, and was able to follow it up until a few years ago.

The funeral service was held on Sunday at 2.30 p.m. from Georgetown Presbyterian Church, and was conducted by Rev. J. Marshall. Interment was in Riverfield Cemetery.

THE LATE MR. ARCHIBALD CAMERON

Mr. Archie Cameron, in his 88th year, died at his home Thursday, March 30. The community mourns the loss of this respected friend and neighbor who, with his quiet, kindly disposition, made and held a large circle of friends.

The Cameron name has been well known in the Chateauguay Valley since 1832 when Archie's grandfather came from Scotland as a pioneer. In their home on Tullochgorum road, genuine friendliness and warm hospitality was enjoyed by the many friends and relations who visited Mr. Cameron and his late wife, the former Christina Roy.

During his lifetime, Archie Cameron showed active interest in all affairs of state, community and the church. In the latter he was an Elder for over fifty years. Even in recent months, when his health was failing, this keen interest remained, for when too ill to read the paper or listen to the radio, he would inquire anxiously as to the latest reports on such important issues as the coal strike or the British election.

His survivors include two sons, Roy and Hugh Cameron, Howick; 5 daughters, Mrs. Albert Hope and Mrs. Florence Mattice, of Howick, Mrs. J. D. Harrison of Bury, Mrs. Wilfred Bryson of Ormstown, Miss Christina Cameron of Montreal; seven grandchildren and a sister, Mrs. Sarah Wilson of Howick.

A large number of relatives and friends attended funeral services held in Howick United Church, Saturday afternoon, April 1st. Interment was in Georgetown cemetery.

The Late D. A. Macfarlane
(By Gilbert McMillan)

The passing away of David Anderson Macfarlane at the ripe age of 86, removed from the Ayrshire ranks one of its oldest, most loyal members. He died at his home in Elgin Township, Huntingdon County, Que., on March 7.

His advanced age, coupled with rheumatism had kept him pretty close to home in recent years but he was for several decades an active and loyal supporter of his favourite breed—the Ayrshire. His "Kelso" herd at one time enjoyed a more than local reputation and in 1907 his imported cow "Stately of Crosshouse" captured the female championship at Ottawa Exhibition. On several different occasions he won the Canadian-bred class at the same Exhibition.

He was one of the first owners of registered Ayrshires in Huntingdon County and at one time he owned a line-up of cows that would be hard to duplicate today. Many noted animals carrying a "Kelso" prefix have been exported to the U.S.A. He was a retiring man and never sought public office, but he was a man of sterling character in every sense of the term. He belonged to a decade when a man's word was as good as his bond and those who were privileged to know "Dave", as he was familiarly called, will always remember him as a man who never intentionally made an enemy or turned his back on a friend. He leaves two sons and a daughter to mourn his passing. His wife died several years ago.—Canadian Ayrshire Review.

The Late Mrs. Wm. Muir

Many relatives and friends attended a funeral service on Saturday afternoon for Mrs. Wm. Muir, wife of the late Wm. Muir, who died on Thursday, in Montreal, in her 92nd year. The service, held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church, was conducted by Rev. Randolph MacLean, assisted by Rev. J. B. Maclean, D.D. Mrs. Muir, a resident of Huntingdon for many years, was well known for her charitable work, and was a member of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church.

Among those attending the funeral service from Montreal were Mr. E. A. Evans, Mr. Edwin Evans, Miss Kathleen Evans, Mrs. Harry Maybank, Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Rowat and Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Cluff.

After winning some twenty-seven other awards, "All The King's Men", which plays at the new Huntingdon Theatre this Saturday night, Monday and Tuesday, was voted the "Best Picture of the Year" at the annual Academy Award ceremony last week in Hollywood. BRODERICK CRAWFORD the star of the film was named best actor, and MERCEDES McCAMBRIDGE was named best supporting actress. So "All The King's Men" which is the Easter week-end attraction at the new Huntingdon is a picture, not to be missed.

Waterfront on Stove Explodes—No One Hurt

ATHELSTAN — A distressing accident occured at The Manse on Sunday morning, when the water front on the kitchen stove exploded, completely demolishing the stove, parts of which flew through the kitchen ceiling. Minor fires started, but were quickly quenched when the contents of the thirty-gallon tank poured over the floor. Providentially, no one was hurt, although all the family were in the kitchen at the time. The trouble was caused by rust collecting and blocking the pipes. Since the present well was drilled some seven years ago, the iron in the water has given trouble by rusting the pipes and boiler.

Rev. De Courcy H. Rayner, District Representative of the Montreal Branch of the British and Foreign Bible Society, visited Athelstan on Sunday for his yearly visit. As this was the annual meeting, the following officers were elected: President, Rev. Mr. Conrad; Vice-President, Mr. H. G. Grace; Sec'y.-Treas., Mr. Bruce Elder. Mr. Rayner spoke of the progress being made in translating the Bible into other languages. The collectors had made the yearly canvass and the givings were about equal to last year.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Brunell and daughters, of Rome, N.Y., were week-end guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Foers.

Mr. James Brims, Clerk of Session of Athelstan Presbyterian Church, recently received a letter from Dr. A. S. Reid, Interim Moderator, thanking the congregation on behalf of Mrs. Reid and himself, for the good wishes sent, also the gift of money sent as a wedding gift.

Mrs. Lawrence McEwen is caring for Mrs. James Brims, who is quite ill at present.

Mrs. H. A. Hampson has returned home after spending the winter in Shawville, Que.

Mr. Arthur Hampson, Shawville, is spending a few days with friends here.

Signs of Spring

The welcome sound of the whistle of the International Cooperage Factory was heard on Monday, work being resumed for the season. With about two thousand cords of block wood to be manufactured into staves, there will be plenty of work for the staff.

Powerscourt

POWERSCOURT — Mrs. Pete Sutter of Brooklyn, N.Y., is spending some time with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ross.

Mr. James Wallace attended the induction of the new minister, Rev. Edwards, at Howick United Church, on Friday.

Church services were resumed on Sunday. On account of road and weather conditions, they were cancelled for several weeks.

Master Jimmy Ross underwent a tonsilectomy at Barrie Memorial Hospital, on Saturday.

Sunday supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. E. M. Wood were Mr. and Mrs. John Tittle and five children of Nitro, Que.

The infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Morris McLean, who has been suffering from pneumonia, was taken to Children's Memorial Hospital, on Sunday. Best wishes of the community are extended for a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. Lyle Thompson, of Massena, N.Y., were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wood.

Mr. George McHardy has secured a position as milk truck driver with Mr. John Elder.

A few farmers in this community are sugaring, but so far the run is not too plentiful and sap not as sweet as some seasons.

The W.A. of Rennie's United Church held a social evening on Friday, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Taylor.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Thompson and family of Massena, N.Y., were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Wood.

Howick

HOWICK — Mr. and Mrs. Dan Roy, of Bainsville, Ont., are spending a few weeks visiting with relatives.

The annual sewing circle of the Georgetown W.M.S., Howick group, was held on Wednesday afternoon, March 29th, at the home of Mrs. Wm. Currie, who was assisted by Mrs. S. Kerr, Mrs. D. Fiskin and Mrs. T. Kerr. Fifteen ladies were present; two quilts were quilted, also a number of useful articles were made. Other donations were given, which were very much appreciated. An enjoyable afternoon tea was served by the hostesses. The collection amounted to over $14.00.

James Cullen of Paisley, Champion at Bruce Co., Ont., Seed Fair

A Championship seed fair, sponsored by the Bruce County Crop Improvement Association, was held in Paisley, March 24. The fair was a climax to five regional fairs held during the past week at Lion's Head, Allenford, Formosa, Ripley and Paisley.

The Grand Championship and ribbon winner of the fair was James Cullen, of Paisley. Mr. Cullen won the silver tray awarded by the T. Eaton Co., and the silver tray presented by the Robert Simpson Co. He was also winner of the Beaver oats exhibits in the Paisley region fair.

Mr. Cullen is the son of Mrs. Jas. Cullen, of Howick.

EDMONTON, (CP)—Payments to Alberta farmers for crop failures under the federal Prairie Farm Assistance Act have reached a record high of $4,500,000. At the end of February payments had been made to 20,848 farmers who had crop failures in 1949.

SAFER THAT WAY

VICTORIA, B.C. (CP) — Commenting on a car-theft case recently, Judge H. H. Shandley endorsed police who draw guns before closing in on law-breakers. "That's what I'd do myself," he said. "It's the proper thing to do."

Alberta oil has changed his future

The boy doesn't know it yet. Many a grown-up doesn't realize it—but the new oil fields of Alberta brighten Canada's future.

Western oil is saving 100 million scarce U.S. dollars this year, dollars we don't have to pay out for oil imports. This means money to buy other imports we need—things that cannot be grown or made in Canada. Next year Alberta oil should save 145 million U.S. dollars!

Then, too, the search for oil is making a big new market in Alberta for things the rest of Canada has to sell. The oil industry is spending $3 millions a week in the west. Across the nation this money is fostering new industries, expanding plants, creating jobs, paying wages, building homes.

And in the prairies petroleum product prices are lower than they would have been if oil had not been found. Prairie consumers saved more than $30 millions last year. Anything that helps prairie prosperity helps all Canada.

Oil is important to us all. More oil means a higher standard of living.

The search for oil is unending, a costly business, often disappointing. But the job is pressing forward. And new-found oil is changing our future . . . promising a better, brighter future for Canadians—man and boy alike!

Bringing you oil is a big job . . . and a costly one

About Canada's Oil—At the end of 1949 potential oil production in Alberta was more than one-third of Canada's requirements. Three years earlier, Canada produced less than one-tenth of the oil she used.

More than 240 companies and syndicates are searching for or producing oil in western Canada.

It is estimated that the oil industry will account for almost 10 per cent. of all new business capital invested in Canada this year.

In 1949 Imperial Oil bought a total of nearly $40 millions of equipment and supplies from more than 3,000 Canadian firms.

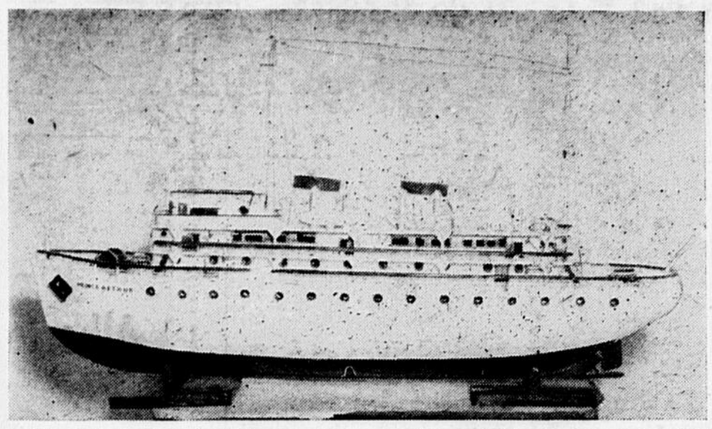
MODEL BOAT MADE BY HUNTINGDON MAN



Above is a picture of a boat made by Mr. Arthur Robichaud, age 26, of Huntingdon. The model represents a full scale ship that Mr. Robichaud worked upon for about one year and plied the Great Lakes. He has worked upon this model during the winter months and the size is: length 40 inches, width 8 inches and depth 13 inches. The model is a replica of the boat named "Prince Arthur". Mr. Robichaud has worked on lake boats for the past three years and is deeply interested in them. The model is at present on display at the store of Mr. Roger Legault, Lake Street, Huntingdon.

Group Practice

By HUNTLY McKAY, B.A.

Many laymen, and even physicians, are agreed that government health insurance is a necessity today because doctors themselves have not succeeded completely in offering an adequate and economic type of medicine to the public. High quality medicine, they admit, is available; but only at much cost, and too frequently only in large metropolitan areas. In other words, there is a scarcity of doctors in rural areas, and when the patient does go into the city for medical treatment, too often he is faced by costs which are beyond his means. Doctors, the critics argue, although recognizing this situation, have not effectively remedied it and now there is but one alternative — government control of medical services through national health insurance.

There is, however, one segment of the medical profession which has advanced a possible solution to the current medical problems — and in many instances without government control or insurance. These doctors have made a determined effort to bring economic, high quality medicine to the public, and in particular to make it accessible to rural populations. Their method is to organize doctors into what is currently known as "group-practice".

Before considering the advantages of this form of medical practice to the public, and to rural populations in particular, it is interesting to trace the origin of group-practice. Group-practice had its beginning on the North American continent in the town of Rochester, Minnesota. Here the first group-practice was started when Doctor Worrall Mayo entered into partnership with his two sons, Doctors William J., and Charles W., and founded the Mayo Clinic. This occurred about 1888. Since then the Mayo Clinic has grown until today it has approximately six hundred doctors on its staff, and has earned for itself a world wide reputation both for efficiency and for discovering new medical knowledge and technique. With the development of the Mayo Clinic there appeared all over the United States and Canada other group-practices, organized along lines more or less identical with the Mayo establishment. Estimates place the number of group-practices in the United States today at five hundred or more. Canada has close to two hundred such groups.

Initially all the group-practices were located in the western sections of Canada and the United States, and even today the greater percentage of these groups are to be found in these sections. But little by little this form of organized medicine has spread into the eastern sections of the States and Canada. Two group-practices have made their appearance, for example, in the area south of Montreal. One in Valleyfield and one in Ormstown. A partnership with prospects of becoming a group-practice, has also been formed in Ste. Martine.

What distinguishes group-practice from other forms of medical practice? And what are the advantages of group-practice for the doctor and the patient? Traditionally doctors have practised medicine on either an individual level or in partnership with one other doctor. But a departure from tradition occurred when groups of three or more doctors began setting up practices together across the United States and Canada. This form of organization came to be known as group-practice.

Group-practice, for the doctor, offers a variety of distinct advantages. A lone doctor setting up a practice finds it impossible to purchase all the equipment necessary for modern medicine. In group-practice, however, three or more doctors are able to share the same equipment. This reduces the cost of equipment, and in turn enables the doctors as a group to purchase much of the medical equipment necessary for high-standard medical service. Another problem of the lone doctor is organization of time. Many doctors, particularly rural doctors, are greatly overworked and seldom get much time for themselves or for study. Group-practice, on the other hand, solves this problem to a considerable extent. The presence of three doctors, or more, enables the organization of their days, weeks, and months into a more orderly schedule. Each doctor has an opportunity to take holidays as well as to do continuing post-graduate work. This last possibility keeps the doctors abreast of latest medical developments.

Group-practice for rural patients offers two major advantages. Graduate doctors are more inclined to go into rural areas if they can join a group-practice. And this is distinctly in reverse to the general trend of modern doctors which is to settle in large cities. In other words, group-practice makes it more of a certainty that rural patients will have their own doctors. Secondly it offers economic, high-standard medicine administered by doctors whom the patients know.

In western Canada, government health insurance and group-practice operate together. In eastern Canada, where group-practice operates without government health insurance, as is also the case in all the United States, it remains to be seen whether it offers a full solution to all the problems of rural medicine. It would appear to solve many of these problems, however, despite the extremists' argument that they cannot be solved except with government control and insurance.

BUTTER MAKES IT BETTER

For centuries the incomparable flavour of butter has appealed to people throughout the world. In Canada, the making of butter in the home was a part of pioneer life. The commercial manufacture of butter has been established for many years and produces a more uniform product. Today we have more than a thousand creameries producing about three hundred pounds of butter each year.

Rationing of butter during the war years taught us to spread the bread a little more thinly and to do without that delicious little pat of butter in the baked potato or on other cooked vegetables. Habits are easily formed, whether good or bad, but many of us are still foregoing a flavour treat as well as a good nutritional investment by continuing the habit of going easy on the butter.

No matter how good butter may be when purchased, care must be taken to retain its sweet flavour. Butter should always be stored in a cool, dry place, away from all foods which have a distinct odour or flavour, as it readily absorbs foreign flavours. It should be kept in a covered container or well wrapped in the parchment paper in which it is purchased.

Butter is so smooth and flavourful that it makes an excellent spread for bread or toast and it adds extra goodness to cookies, cakes, desserts, sauces and candies. The names "Butterscotch" or "Buttercrisp", where used in any of these products bring to mind mouth-watering suggestions of flavour and texture.

Nothing beats a topping of crunchy buttered crumbs on a casserole dish. Often such a topping makes the family forget that they are eating leftovers.

Another idea for topping is used on biscuits. Use your favourite recipe for baking powder biscuits but substitute ½ cup cornmeal for ½ cup of the flour. When the dough is rolled and cut, dip the tops of the biscuits in melted butter, then in cornmeal. Bake as usual in a hot oven, 400°F., and serve with butter and maple syrup, honey or jam.

The home economists of the Consumer Section, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, suggest trying the following recipes which they think are particularly good.

Apple Butterscotch Sauce

¼ cup butter
¾ cup brown sugar
3 tablespoons cornstarch
Pinch of salt
2½ cups apple juice (20 oz. can)

Melt butter. Blend in sugar, cornstarch and salt. Cook until mixture is slightly browned. Add apple juice and cook, stirring constantly, until sauce thickens. Continue cooking for 5 minutes. Serve with steamed fruit pudding or hot gingerbread. Yield: six servings.

Butter Tarts

½ cup butter
1½ cups brown sugar
1 teaspoon cornstarch
2 eggs
1 cup raisins or currants
1 teaspoon vanilla
2 tablespoons lemon juice
Pastry

Cream the butter and sugar. Add cornstarch and cream well together. Add well beaten eggs, fruit and favouring. Line muffin or tart tins with pastry and fill almost to top with mixture. Bake in a very hot oven, 450°F., for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 350°F., and continue baking until done, about 20 minutes. Yield: 24 small or 12 large tarts.

Butter Wafers

1 cup melted butter
¾ cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon vanilla
1¾ cups sifted pastry flour
OR 1½ cups sifted all-purpose flour
½ teaspoon cream of tartar
½ teaspoon baking soda

Add butter to brown sugar, mixing well. Add vanilla and unbeaten egg and beat well. Mix and sift flour, cream of tartar and soda and add to creamed mixture. Drop by half teaspoonfuls well apart on an unbuttered baking sheet. Bake in a moderate oven, 350°F., for 5 minutes. Yield: eight dozen small wafers.

PLAN HARBOR BRIDGE

HALIFAX, (CP)-Construction of a proposed bridge across Halifax harbor could begin by the summer of 1951, said Dr. P. L. Pratley, Montreal engineer. However, he said, the Halifax-Dartmouth bridge would have to wait for prior action on the Strait of Canso bridge project.

Hemmingford

HEMMINGFORD — A three-act Comedy was presented by the United Young People's Union on Friday evening, March 31st, and was much enjoyed by everyone. Each character played his part with unsurmountable ability. "The Pair of Country Kids", were played by Hi Hawkins, (Howard Wing) a country boy; and Sis Spooner (Twink Akester) who thought she was in love with Hi. Mrs. Starr, proprietress of a hotel, was ably depicted by Betty Brown. Lucindy Appleby, an old maid looking for a first husband was characterized by Sheila Holmes. Susan Grimes, looking for a second husband, was played by Myrne Akester. Ambrose Sneggins, a village horse doctor, was played by Andrew Kennedy; Mr. Roamer, a fresh city slicker, by Leslie Keddy; Mr. Roberts, a business man, by Warren Fewster. Robert Petch took the part of a young lawyer, Phil West, who was in love with Mrs. Starr's daughter April, played by Ethel Cookman. A piano selection was played by Arnold MacNaughton. During the intermission candy was sold by the C.G.I.T. Rev. W. Holmes played a cornet selection, accompanied by Miss Sheila Holmes at the piano, which was enjoyed by all.

Mayor Leo Fortin and Mrs. Fortin have returned from Europe. They had a very pleasant return crossing on the "Ile de France." They enjoyed their trip but are very happy to be home again.

Mrs. P. J. Simpson, Mrs. R. McCanse and Mrs. Sullivan spent Friday in Montreal, the latter remaining for a few days.

There are a few cases of scarlet fever. The village schools have been closed to prevent further spread of the disease.
