Pickersgill speaks at Bishop's University seminar

French urged for university entry

By CUTHBERT JONES
(Record staff writer)

English-language universities across Canada could play an important part in advancing the cause of national unity by insisting that all candidates for enrollment speak and write French fluently, Hon. J. W. Pickersgill, former Minister of citizenship and immigration, told the Saturday morning seminar of Quebec university students at Bishop's University.

In advancing his suggestion, Mr. Pickersgill said that the target date should be set at 1967 to permit the high schools across the country to adjust their curricula to the university edicts.

Mr. Pickersgill made no recommendations as to the course to be followed by the French-language universities as he felt that economic considerations would force these institutions to take some such decision concerning English requirements.

The former Immigration minister, now Liberal Member of Parliament for Bonaville-Twillingate, Newfoundland, was one of three members of the panel which discussed The Political Aspects of Canadian Identity.

He discussed the Impact of Migration on the Canadian Identity.

Other members of the panel were Heward Graftiey, M.P. for Brome-Missisquoi, who spoke on the Contribution of Canadian Political Parties to the National Identity and Professor Jean Guy Lavallee, head of the Department of History at the University of Sherbrooke, whose topic was The Role of the Provinces in Confederation.

Mr. Pickersgill's suggestion came in the discussion period which followed the addresses of the three panelists.

The opening speaker Mr. Graftiey, dealt largely with the part the Conservative party policies had played in creating a united Canada.

But, he admitted, he felt that the role of the political party in creating a distinctive Canadianism was often exaggerated.

"Politics," he said, "is often the art of the possible and parties, within their framework often merely reflect the national mood or temper of the times."

"Nevertheless, it is when our political parties exert real leadership that they contribute to a distinctive Canadianism."

Listing the contributions of the Conservative party to a distinct Canadian identity, he named establishment of Confederation, the construction of the Canadian Pacific Railway and the National Policy of Sir John A. Macdonald.

A distinct feature of Canadian policy which distinguished this country from the United States, he said, the exclusion of the idea that Canada was a melting pot designed to bring uniformity out of all races. In Canada, he said, the various elements in the population tended to preserve their cultured characteristics.

In the formal portion of his remarks, the Newfoundland M.P. said that Canadian history is the story of a small group of people from two races seeking to populate half a continent. Their problems were intensified by their proximity to a mighty nation.

Discussing the growth of the Canadian identity, if such did exist, Mr. Pickersgill said: "I often wonder if our Fathers of Confederation really set out to create a nation. I sometimes think that their's was a somewhat negative approach, based on a desire to halt the spread of certain features of United States life they did not like."

He believed that migration from one part of the country to another was a basic way of creating a Canadian identity.

"Migration promotes the feeling of solidarity," he commented. "Migration has intertwined the people of the various sectors. Even if a man has never moved from the farm on which he was born, very few persons indeed have not a brother, uncle or cousin living in other parts of Canada. This tends to a feeling of greater unity."

The bicultural nature of Canada gave Canadians a tendency to take a second look at things, rather than to make impetuous decisions.

Reviewing the factors entering into Confederation, Prof. Lavallee said that the differing natures of the components tended to make Canada a nation of blocs, which had learned the need of co-existence.

Hitting at the separatist movement, he said it was impossible to lead any one element out of Confederation due to the intermingling of the races across the country.

Leading off the discussion period, Mr. Graftiey expressed doubts of the existence of a single Canadian identity.

"I have never met an 'average Canadian' but rather various groups with distinct identities, each different from the other."

Which brought the remark by Mr. Pickersgill that there was "no typical Canadian."

One feature of the Canadian picture said Mr. Graftiey was the absence of class warfare which too often troubled the nations of the Old World.

Another contribution to national unity, he continued, was the fact that both major parties drew their support from all races in all sections of the country.

"Except for 1917, there is

Economic identity discussion

Foreign investment needed for growth

Faced with high unemployment and rising taxes stemming from the growth of state welfare benefits, Canada must look to foreign investment to speed its economic development.

On the international level, the federal government must decide how to best preserve Canada's identity in "the light of a changing world economy."

These were some of the points that emerged in a panel discussion and a question period Saturday afternoon as a banker, a businessman and an economist reviewed the influence of economic factors on the Canadian identity. They spoke to delegates at Quebec regional seminar of the National Federation of Canadian University Students at Bishop's University.

Panelists were C. M. Drury, of the Montreal Board of Trade, Professor Louis Roy, economist

Earle McLaughlin, president of the Royal Bank of Canada, who acted as chairman.

Discussion was based on the assumption that Canada has a distinctive character and that it is worth maintaining it.

Mr. McLaughlin pointed out that there are two theories about foreign ownership of Canadian companies.

"One is that there is no threat to Canadian independence," he said.

"We are where the United States was 40 to 50 years. I don't mean in physical resources but in the way we have developed. The welfare state is with us."

"The Americans had the opportunity, during the past 50 years to build up a tremendous reserve of capital."

Canada needs foreign capital to develop "because the high taxation of the welfare state on Canadian capital makes it difficult to raise money," said Mr. McLaughlin.

Mr. Drury claimed that until a satisfactory rate of growth is established, the country will have a large unemployment problem. Seasonal unemployment is characteristic of a growing economy and is the offshoot of Canada's changing climate.

With new trade alliance being formed throughout the world, Canada must decide what path it will follow in evolving economic patterns, he observed.

It has the following choices, he said.

1—Join the European Economic Community—the Common Market—as a full or associate member.

"This would have the effect of antagonizing our best customer, the United States. On the other hand, membership in the Common Market would have the advantage of allowing us to keep a greater measure of independence because of the distance between us and the European members. But the U.S. would probably deter us from taking such a course."

2—Closer economic union with the United States.

"Probably an attachment with the economy of the U.S. would be logical. However, all the economic decisions would be taken in Washington and Canada would find itself on the fringe," Mr. Drury.

3—Foster the notion of a North Atlantic Trading community which would embrace not only the European Economic Community but Canada and the United States.

"One disadvantage is that it would appear to other nations, especially the African countries, that the rich are growing richer."

Glenn try faced by bad weather

CAPE CANAVERAL (AP)—With the weather again doubtful, the U.S. man-space team set out on a new countdown today in hopes of launching John Glenn into orbit Tuesday after months of delays.

By his own description, astronaut Glenn was "relaxed as can be" despite 10 postponements since Dec. 20. These delays were caused by bad weather and troubles with his space capsule and the Atlas rocket geared to send him on his journey about the earth.

Officials of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration told reporters Sunday that weather experts were "cautiously optimistic. They figured that the condition of the skies over this launch base and of the wind and waves in the Atlantic Ocean recovery zones will be good enough to permit Glenn's takeoff."

But the official forecast said a new storm is expected to move into the Western Atlantic by Tuesday. This raised doubts about what conditions will be like in the Bermuda area where Glenn's Friendship VII spacecraft would be picked up after one or two orbits.

If he completes three orbits, as planned, Glenn will land in the Atlantic about 800 miles southeast of the Cape.

Some cloudiness was predicted in the Cape Canaveral area by Tuesday morning.

Stamps stolen

TORONTO (CP)—A thief broke into the home of a suburban Scarborough stamp collector Saturday night and stole stamps valued at an estimated $60,000. The stamps, owned by Enoch Myatt, are believed to be part of a valuable collection dating back to before Confederation.

Seven children killed in fire

NORTH BAY, Ont. (CP)—Seven children were burned to death Sunday night in a farmhouse fire in nearby Bonfield Township.

Provincial police said a fire fanned by high wind swept through the house and trapped the children inside. No one escaped.

Names of the dead were withheld by police while relatives were notified.

The farmhouse, about 20 miles east of North Bay, was destroyed.

Hasty meeting arranged

NDP caucus set to study Argue resignation

OTTAWA (CP)—The eight remaining members of the CCF-NDP caucus were expected to arrange a hasty meeting today to study the resignation of their leader, Hazen Argue.

Mr. Argue, scheduled to fly here today from Regina and hoping to address the Commons Tuesday, resigned from the party and its House leadership Sunday with a statement blistering the newly-reorganized socialist group for becoming "the tool of a small labor clique." He is still MP for Assiniboia. Chairman of the CCF-NDP caucus is Douglas Fisher, burly and outspoken MP for Port Arthur, Ont., who until a few weeks ago planned to quit politics because of the cost of maintaining his family at the Lakehead and a home here. He has since announced he intends to run again and to supplement his income as part-time journalist.

The caucus is expected to choose H. W. Herridge (CCF-Kootenay West) as its leader in the Commons. He is the senior CCF MP both in age—66—and in years in Parliament—17. He first entered Parliament and sat as an Independent-CCF MP, at odds with the party organization, and previously was a member of the B.C. legislature.

Mr. Argue's resignation, while vaguely rumored and stoutly denied for several weeks, apparently caught the parliamentary group by complete surprise. They had scattered across the country for the weekend when Mr. Argue called his press conference in Regina Sunday, a few hours after having conferred with the NDP national leader, T. C. Douglas, on the forthcoming election campaign.

The resignation sparked a flurry of speculation as to his future and the future of the NDP. It appeared likely Mr. Argue will be invited to join the Liberal party caucus, making him privy to their secret discussions and grooming him for Liberal party candidacy in the coming election — although Mr. Argue said in Regina he had not made a decision on this.

The Liberals need a spokesman for Western Canada and western agriculture. They have without a member from the west of the Lakehead since last year when Mervyn Hardie died. He was Liberal MP for the far northern riding of Mackenzie River, in the Northwest Territories.

Mr. Argue, a graduate of the University of Saskatchewan in agriculture and a farmer during what time parliamentary life affords him, could also de-side to lead a new farm party. Hints of this have been heard on Parliament Hill, but have been difficult to pin down.

Flood toll mounts in Germany

HAMBURG (AP)—North German coastal cities and towns, with wide areas still underwater, today struggled to bring some kind of order from the havoc of weekend floods.

Flags flew at half-mast for a mounting death toll that stood officially at 253. It was expected to rise as rescue squads in rubber boats and motor launches combed the area for more flood victims.

In Hamburg, a city of 1,800,000 people, the toll stood at 108 this morning.

Food and drinking water was becoming a serious problem for tens of thousands who had spent their third night in flood-bound houses. Rescuers were giving priority to distributing emergency rations.

General strike called off

An uncertain peace comes to Georgetown

GEORGETOWN, British Guiana (AP)—An uncertain peace settled on this capital today after a siege of rioting, looting and burning.

Labor leaders called off their general strike against leftist Premier Cheddi Jagan but his East Indian followers were reported plotting reprisals in the hinterlands.

British armed forces, hurriedly flown from Jamaica and London on appeal from Jagan, still were braced for trouble all through fire-blackened Georgetown was quiet.

British officials said Sunday night more troops were due in today to reinforce those that arrived Friday and Saturday.

The situation remained tense until it could be determined whether workers would obey their union leaders' call to return to their jobs.

Racial tensions between Negroes and East Indians appeared to run high after rioting Negro mobs burned one-half square mile of Georgetown's business centre and its East Indian stores last Friday. The rioting left six dead, scores injured and $11,000,000 property damage.

Jagan, an East Indian, gets most of his support from East Indian farmers and workers outside Georgetown. Negroes generally support Forbes Burnham, leader of the People's National Congress Party whom Jagan defeated in last August's election.

Tensions relaxed somewhat Sunday night, however, with the announcement of labor leaders that they had called off their week-long strike.

The back-to-work call came after the union leaders met three and a half hours with Jagan. One negotiator said Jagan agreed to a series of demands.

Reach Algeria accord

PARIS (Reuters) — Peace talks between France and Algerian Moslem insurgents have ended in agreement, sources close to the French government said today.

An official statement confirmed that the talks ended Sunday night.

It said they took place Feb. 11 to 18 and that the French delegation would report to the government on the results.

The statement gave no further details.

Early today, Arab sources in Geneva said a last-minute difficulty had arisen in the talks. Earlier indications were that the talks ended in complete agreement. According to information here an Algerian ceasefire will be proclaimed during the week.

PLANS REFERENDUM

Usually reliable sources said the final agreement included the make-up and functions of a temporary executive to be set up in Algeria after the ceasefire. The executive would organize and supervise the referendum.

Home bombed

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—Explosives set off against the home of Don Shoemaker, editor of the Miami Herald, damaged three houses and shook homes for blocks around early Sunday. No injuries were reported. John S. Knight, Herald publisher, posted a $5,000 reward for arrest and conviction of the bombers.

dam which would give the territory independence.

The sources said the Moslem chairman would be Abdel Hamid Farres, former president of the now-defunct Algerian Consultative Assembly.

Agreement in the talks, held in Switzerland somewhere near the French border, was reported from Geneva Sunday night after official sources earlier had reported a last-minute hitch.

Before any cease-fire is announced, the agreement will have to be ratified by the Algerian insurgent "parliament," which will meet in Tripoli to consider the conditions accepted by the provisional government's ministers.

Observers expected that the insurgents would ask for French economic aid after independence and that in return for this the French would obtain guarantees on the future of the Europeans in Algeria, leases for naval and air bases, maintenance of French troops in the territory and joint exploitation of the Sahara Desert oil resources.

The Soviet move came after a weekend pause in the Berlin air crisis. Sunday morning, Moscow announced it had rejected a three-power protest that manoeuvres of the Russian Air Force in the corridors were dangerous and illegal.

The Allies insist that air safety rules, in force for the last 17 years, require notification of each individual flight through the three 29-mile-wide corridors linking Berlin with Frankfurt, Hanover and Hamburg.

The Western powers charged the Russians were trying to change the rules by making "block bookings" for the Russian Air Force. The Allies do not dispute Soviet contentions the Russian Air Force has equal rights in the corridors but they insist on carrying out the rules for safety's sake.

REJECT PLAN

Western control officers rejected the Soviet flight plan and in the Berlin corridor to counter renewed Soviet pressure on the vital air lanes, informed sources said.

Military and commercial transports thrust through the Berlin-Hamburg corridor over East German territory, the informants said.

This Western operation was designed to assert Western rights in face of the renewal of harassing tactics by the Russian Air Force.

Western commanders gave orders for the transports to fly below the level the Soviets want for their exclusive use for a three-hour period.

For the sixth time since it started harassing Western air links to Berlin Feb. 7, the Russian Air Force told the Berlin Air Safety Centre Sunday night it was reserving air space up to 7,500 feet in the north corridor leading to Berlin from Hamburg.

Throne debate is resumed

OTTAWA (CP)—The Commons returns to the throne speech debate today, another indication that the government plans to allow the current parliamentary session to follow normal course for the next while.

The debate, which can last a maximum eight days, was interrupted at the half-way mark Jan. 26 so the government could push ahead with priority spending items and welfare and national development legislation.

Unemployment is likely to be a favorite subject as the throne speech resumes.

The slides revealed that this mountainous country has great contrast in ground conditions, some areas being dry but desert like while others have beautiful flowers and tropical growth.

Beautiful buildings of mosaic design contrast sharply with the bamboo and mud houses of the poorer class. Burros are seen carrying heavy loads and the bullfight is a colorful spectacle.

Guides Mrs. D. Halchak thanked Mrs. McIntosh.

Recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. William Barnes included Mrs. Ethel Baldwin and Mr. John Dean, of St. Albans, and Mrs. L. B. Elliott, of Bedford.

Miss Jean Darbe, of Macdonald College, was home for the weekend.

Mr. St. Laurent on Canadian identity

Mutual respect is principle for unity

The underlying principle of Canadian identity is mutual respect of the two main groups which make up our nation, former Prime Minister Louis St. Laurent Saturday evening told delegates to the Quebec regional seminar of the National Federation of Canadian University Students.

Speaking on the Canadian identity at a banquet for the delegates in McKinnon Hall, the 80-year-old statesman noted that this mutual respect was recognized and actually practised by growing numbers of young people.

Mr. St. Laurent said he was conditioned to this concept of Canadian identity by spending his formative years in an Eastern Township community made up of French and English-speaking Canadians.

Outlining the growth of the Canadian identity, he said that Canadian unity has always been imposed. It was not of our own choosing, but resulted from events over which we had little or no control.

Canada's geography, climate and natural resources tended to create a tradition for our ancestors — and for us today, he continued. This tradition, along with the ancient rivalry of England and France, and the American and French revolutions, shaped our identity.

The Quebec Act, which gave early legislative sanction to the duality of our culture, was initiated by some wise British statesmen who recognized the anxiety of the 60,000 French pioneers in Canada at the time of the British conquest.

It was regarded as the Magna Carta of the new subjects of the Crown, and the recognition of French Canadians continued in the British North America Act by the two groups at Confederation in 1867, he said.

"This was a great achievement, splendid and practical," said the former prime minister. "It was the art of the possible but did not solve all the problems of the two cultures."

"I admit," he said, "that French Canada is morbidly sensitive on the subject of historical rights and dangers of interference from outside — but I'm confident there will be no permanent rift."

"For 100 years, the two races have been engaged in upbuilding the nation and the development of a heritage — a heritage — blessed," he continued.

The early Canadians staked the future of the country on the determination that it could survive with two cultures — "For 100 years they have shown it to be right," commented Mr. St. Laurent.

He noted that seminars were providing a trend to a greater realization and responsibility of a greater partnership of the two races.

Quoting Professor Lower of Queen's University, he said: "The war of 1812 goes to the roots of Canadian life. For two and one-half years Canadians of both races struggled with all the power they possessed. They were both French and English yet neither French nor English — but Canadian. It had an early origin and is still being rounded out."

In an interview after his talk, Mr. St. Laurent said, "It was for the sake of unity that I accepted Mr. King's request to enter politics. To leave my law practice was an inconvenience — but it was a time of war and great danger."

"Everybody gave up something for the effort."

He said that a French Roman Catholic could not be prime minister again (since Laurier), and for the sake of unity I had to show them this was not so."

Visiting Lt. Gov.

GEORGE L. VAN KOUGHNETT, district lt. governor of the province of Quebec, visited the Sherbrooke Kiwanis club at their weekly meeting to be held tonight at the New Sherbrooke Hotel.

Born in Napanee, Ontario, he received his elementary education there and in Toronto. He won a scholarship to the Ontario College of Art, and furthered his studies in marketing at the University of Western Ontario.

When war broke out, he held a commission in the Reserve Artillery. This he resigned in order to get overseas, and joined the ranks of the 48th Highlanders. He was commissioned in the field, served in the Canadian Paratroops, and at the end of the war was Commandant of a prisoner of war camp in Holland.

After his return home, he joined his present company, where he is development manager for a liquor distillery company in their extensive overseas operation.

While in Peterborough, Ontario, he first joined Kiwanis in 1950. He was charter first vice president of the Kiwanis Club of Lake St. Louis, and served with great distinction as President in 1960.

In his spare time, he is vice president of the Advertising and Sales Executive Club of Montreal, a member of the Lakeshore Y.M.C.A. Board of Management, National Council Boy Scouts of Canada, and a member of the Masonic Order.

He is an active parishioner of the Church of St. John the Baptist (Anglican). He and his wife Dorothy have two children, Gregory 12, and Kathy 8, and they reside at 143 Lakeview Avenue, Pointe Claire, P. Q.

BUYERS TO MEET

The third general meeting of the Eastern Townships Branch of The Purchasing Agents' Association of Montreal will be held February 22nd, at the King George Hotel at 7:45 p.m.

A workshop type of meeting is planned, and time permitting, an industrial film will be shown.

All members and prospective members are urged to attend.

Allard explains actions

Discussing the reasons which led him to demand in the House of Commons the production of certain documents, Maurice Allard, Progressive Conservative MP for Sherbrooke, declared in a statement over the weekend that he was anxious to learn the conditions surrounding the sale of wheat to Communist China because of reports he had heard during his recent trip to Formosa, Hong Kong and Japan.

The Sherbrooke MP voted on February 14, in favor of two motions presented by an Opposition member calling for the production in the House of all contracts and the agreement between the Canadian Wheat Board and the China Resources Company covering the period June 1, 1961, to December 1963. He was the only Progressive Conservative member to support those motions.

Mr. Allard said that responsible parties doubted if the Communist Chinese company could make all the payments in cash. He recalled declarations made on this subject by President Chiang Kai-Shek, many ministers, Catholic and Protestant missionaries, a Canadian journalist living in Hong Kong and the Japanese Minister of Economics, Mr. Sato.

These people feared that during the next few years the Chinese Communists would invade dangerously the world markets with textiles, because the Chinese laborers worked for $1.82 and 25 pounds of rice per month.

The Sherbrooke MP said he must accept the belief that the Chinese Reds would attempt to pay Canada with textile products.

"This is why," he concluded, "as representative of people of a textile area. I wish to learn the conditions of sale and payment between the Canadian Wheat Board and the China Resources Company. In a field so important for our workers and our industries one must rise above political color and I do not intend to let go."

KATHY

Dear Kathy: I know I'm attractive and I have beautiful clothes. As a matter of fact, lots of other girls are obviously envious. I'm intelligent and tops in most school activities, too.

There is nothing wrong with me, but the girls who are less attractive seem to get all the dates. Boys just don't seem to go out with me a second time. I can't understand why. It doesn't make sense and I'm frustrated.—Rosemary.

Dear Rosemary: You are attractive, well dressed and intelligent but you forgot to mention the fact that you are also conceited! Most girls give a boy the feeling that it's nice to be with him. Your attitude on a date is, probably, "Aren't you lucky to be with me?"

Life won't be fun until you change your tactics. Stop adding up your assets and start looking for the nice things in other people. Right now you are looking for an attentive audience, not a date.

HASTY MEETING

Leader Ross Thatcher—himself a rebel from the CCF in 1955—issued a quick invitation to Mr. Argue Sunday to join the Liberal party, the important step is to be invited and to join the Liberal caucus here, if Mr. Argue intends to become a federal Liberal candidate.

The Conservatives believed Mr. Argue's resignation would strengthen their position politically in Western Canada. Mr. Argue's constituency of Assiniboia in Saskatchewan is the only one in the three prairie provinces not held by the Conservatives now.

By bolting from the NDP and charging it with labor "domination and control," Mr. Argue is generally believed to have dealt the new party a serious blow among farmers, who are always regarded as suspicious of organized labor.

If he joins the Liberals and brings to the main opposition party any sizable number of farm votes, there might be cause for concern among the Conservatives, some observers feel. However, the Conservatives are confident of sweeping the prairie farm voters again, on their record of disposing of the wheat surplus and meeting crop failures with acreage payments.

no English party or French party in Canada. And in 1917 Canada almost blew up."

Addressing the French Canadian members of the seminar, Mr. Pickersgill said, "With the exception of the party leaders, such as Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Mr. St. Laurent, too many French Canadian politicians come to Ottawa with the idea of 'protecting their race' rather than with the idea of advancing the interests of the nation."

"Aside from the party chiefs, the only French-Canadian politician to come to Ottawa in recent years with the idea of tackling national problems was Jean Lesage. As first Minister of Northern Affairs he did a noble job of creating our 'northern vision,'" Mr. Pickersgill said.

The Saturday morning session was presided over by Ogden Glass, principal of Bishop's University.

Unemployment figure up

Australia no longer shines as the good bread and butter country

By HAROLD TILLEY
Canadian Press Correspondent

CANBERRA (CP)—Australia's flow of immigrants, ever a fruitful source of controversy, is undergoing a particularly lively scrutiny at present.

Primarily, the examination is seasonal because this is the period marking the anniversary of Australia's founding in 1787.

Each year the anniversary furnishes an occasion for sermons, speeches, addresses and newspaper articles on national achievements, national aspirations and, in recent years, naturalization of a percentage of the non-British migrants. There is also a citizenship convention at which the main theme is migrants and their effective economic and social assimilation.

References to the need of more population for defence, of more men and machinery for production and of more men, women and children as a local market to use or consume the non-exportable surplus of production are in the seasonal pattern.

A factor adding zest to discussions this year is the fact that December's unemployment figure of 115,000 was higher than any since the depression of the 1930s.

TOO MANY MEN

But for the slackened 1961-62 migrant flow the unemployment figure would no doubt have

Obituary

MRS. JAMES MOLE, OF THETFORD MINES.

THETFORD MINES — The death of one of Thetford's residents of long-standing, Mrs. James Mole, occurred on Friday, Feb. 9, at St. Joseph's Hospital. She was in her 62nd year.

Daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. James E. Donovan, Mrs. Mole accompanied her parents to Thetford in 1904. Since the Donovan family has for most of the time lived on Alfred Street, after her marriage to James Mole, Mrs. Mole remained a resident of the street.

Surviving her are her husband; her sisters, Susan Donovan and Rosella, of Thetford; and Mrs. T. Griffin, of Montreal; her brothers, Joe, Maurice, Lewis, Leonard and Alvin Donovan, all of Thetford Mines; as well as numerous other relatives.

The funeral service was held at St. Maurice Church on Feb. 13. Hearers were: Winfred, Kevin, Jackie, Robert and Michael Donovan and Albert Dubois. Interment took place in St. Maurice Cemetery.

ECONOMIC IDENTITY

richer while the poor grow poorer."

4—Seek to continue in a modified form the objective of a free, world, multi-lateral trade and not the ourselves to either of the three colossi—the U.S., the U.S.S.R. or the Common Market.

Professor Roy noted that an economic program governed by isolationist principles leads to a higher cost of living and fails to encourage technological specialization.

Describing this approach as "negative economic regionalism," he said it is still held by "some people in Canada, and the United States, less in Europe but certainly many in Africa."

"The result of isolationism is that you make enemies. It also results in a need for diversifying your economy and, hence, you are unable to have the advantage of specialization."

"Positive economic regionalism," he said, requires that each area in a country be developed to maximum at a minimum cost.

"It is a new concept on this side of the Atlantic. This system has been used in France for a number of years. It means that an inventory must be made of each region before the plan can be put into effect."

He said private enterprise should carry out a program of regional development.

In answer to a question, Mr. Drury said the fact that Quebec Hydraulic Resources Minister Gerard Levesque criticized privately owned electrical power companies should not be taken as a sign that greater state control is about to sweep Canada.

He said there are several examples of state-owned electrical power outlets in the United States.

Mr. McLaughlin, during the question period, said there is a basic difference in approach to Communism between the United States and Canada.

"In the United States, people feel that they must touch anything from Communist countries. In Canada, we believe that trade with Communist countries can help raise the standards of living and bring about a capitalist system."

Scott Gordon, of Carleton University, who was scheduled to talk on The Threat to the Canadian Identity of Massive Foreign Ownership, was unable to attend the seminar.

For and about Women

MILLINERY FOR MERMAIDS — Bathing caps made with all the skill and flattery that usually goes into your best tea-party hat. "Printemps" a flower cap of multi coloured, shaggy asters, each with a little green centre. "Flowering Leaf" is a subtle swirl of leaves in three shades of green. "Flower Garden" a posy of every colour of flowers perched on top of a famous Save-a-wave cap.

Conversation will be colourful on the beach this summer

Bathing caps look like anything but bathing caps this season. The flowered concoctions would look well at a cocktail party... in fact, some smart young things have taken to wearing them in the rain, to compliment a bright coloured raincoat.

Other caps in a new line look as if they had just come from the bouidour and consist of row upon row of pastel coloured nylon net... as airy as a butterfly's wing but thoroughly waterproofed for practicality. In the same feminine vein are caps of white Broderie Anglaise. They too, are waterproofed of course. And then there are hats that look like hair! It's true... the cap is coated with a special chemical concoction that looks like hair, although nobody is quite sure just what curls coiffed in the latest buffant manner. The colours, though, are a little more exotic than nature provides... pink, powder blue, and yellow as well as black and white.

Eggs vital to health

GAYNOR MADDOX

Q—Isn't it true that vegetable juices have very special health-giving qualities?

A—No. According to "Food Facts Talk Back," published by The American Dietetics Assn., promoters of so-called "health foods" try to get people to believe that vegetable juices have magic health-giving qualities. "No vegetable or fruit or its juice has a specific disease-curing property," the dietitians state. "These juices contain the water-soluble nutrients found in the original vegetables and fruit. Whole vegetables are an important source of bulk in the diet."

Q—A health food expert on the radio told us eating an egg a day is harmful. Is he right?

A—Eggs are rich sources of protein, iron and vitamin A, all essential to normal health. Most accredited nutritionists advise eating one a day, or at least 3 or 4 a week. From what scientific research did your "health expert" get his information?

For the bright sunshine on the sea shore, this year, the makers have added further decoration in the form of frivolous little Cabana caps to shelter your tinted hair from the sun... these bonnets are really little pointed caps of net covered with row upon row of black or white nylon lace.

All this fun has a sound basis of common-sense, however, because every bathing cap in the new collection is made with their famous Save-a-wave base. This is an exclusive inner construction that keeps the cap sitting down snugly on your head, and your hair dry without the use of a strap.

Colour co-ordinated too, are sun hats and beach bags. Made up of straws specially woven and dyed in Italy, the bags and hats not only are planned to match your beach attire but are trimmed with rubber-petalled flowers which match your bathing cap.

It is easy to see that conversation will be colourful on the beach this summer!

Whenever I read that somebody or other has denounced the twist, I wonder if that person has ever spent an evening watching young people dance it.

It may not be the most graceful or romantic or dignified of dances — but it certainly looks harmless enough.

To begin with, a pair of twisters never embrace or touch each other. There's enough space between them for a chaperone.

And not only do the dancers never touch each other — they scarcely look at each other. So if the dance is suggestive, only those who aren't out on the floor twisting are aware of it.

The twisters themselves are too engrossed in their own twisting to watch their partners. The look on their faces is one of total concentration and what they are concentrating on is their own dance. They are a self-engrossed as runners in a race.

So why worry about young people doing the twist? When they're twisting they aren't romancing — they're working hard just how hard no adult could imagine unless he had spent a whole evening doing the twist himself.

Whenever a new dance comes along, some adults get alarmed and start calling it disgraceful. Often, those who complain the loudest have never taken the trouble to really take a close look — not only at the dance but at the attitudes of the dancers.

So let's lay off the kids who like to twist. The twist isn't wicked — it's just athletic. And haven't the very people who abhor the twist often also complained that young people no longer get any exercise? Well, they're getting it now — twisting.

Hanging Garden

After a wall can be turned into a hanging garden simply by suspending a series of potted plants from the ceiling in attractive containers held by chains of different heights.

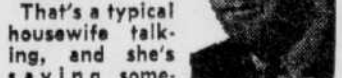

"I'd certainly like to send my husband's shirts to your laundry — but it costs too much, so I only send out the sport shirts that I can't do myself."

That's a typical housewife talking, and she's saying something that our drivers and the rest of us here at the plant hear almost every day. And, as painful as it is to hear, we wouldn't mind it quite so much if it weren't based on a widespread misunderstanding about prices.

The misunderstanding has arisen quite naturally, as you will notice in the comment I quoted above. It is customary for many women to send us only those shirts which are the MOST DIFFICULT to launder and iron. These women know that the shirts they send us are the most difficult to do, but just the same they assume that all shirts cost the same.

Apparently they do not realize that we must charge more for the more difficult jobs, because of the extra time, skill and materials involved. That's how it is that many women believe, quite erroneously, that our price for regular white or colored shirts is more than they can afford.

The fact is that our price for laundering and ironing any ordinary white or colored shirts is only TWENTY-FIVE CENTS. The most telling "sales talk" we have is not talk at all — but the results we can show for this price, which actually amazes many people who have never used our shirt-laundering service before.

Today's recipe

PORK CHOP RICE SKILLET

ASK THE DESIGNER

by gaile dugas

Dear Gaile: I haven't been at ease since the celebration of a New Year's Eve party. The reason is that I've been skeptical of my attire. I wore a black crepe dress with long sleeves. It was cut in a low V front and V back. The skirt was draped and had a rhinestone pin at the side of the waist. My shoes were gold. I wore a gold and rhinestone bracelet and gold Paris drop earrings.

This was my newest dress and my husband insisted that I wear it. I had wanted to wear my red lace. Will you please tell me if my clothes were right for the occasion. I also would like to know if I would be right in wearing a semidress hat with a turned-up front brim, flapper sort of style. I had in mind wearing gold semidress jewelry. The jacket is brown in color, the hat a few shades lighter. Will be most thankful for your answer.

— Mrs. M. W.

Dear Mrs. M. W.: For help on this particular problem, I went to designer Cell Chapman, who does beautiful late day and evening clothes. she says:

"You do not give your approximate age nor do you say if the party was a private one or held at a club. Assuming that you are in your middle to late 30s and that the party was held in someone's home, I'd say that the black dress was the right choice.

I think I would have eliminated the bracelet, however. As for your question about the hat, it sounds as if it might pair very nicely with the jacket."

To her advice, let me add this: By and large, it's best never to wear clothes in which we do not feel comfortable or at our best. I'm sure that if you sit down and explain this to your husband, telling him that you were ill at ease during the party, he will understand in the future.

Dear Gaile: I have bought a navy blue wool dress for spring. But it has a crossed-over front (called surplice, I believe) and I feel that I need something to fill in that neckline area. What do you suggest? A necklace would not look right nor would it fill in the entire area since the cut is rather low. (It is an afternoon dress.)—Mrs. L.N.

Dear Mrs. L.N.: I agree with you that a necklace would not be adequate here. So I talked with Sylvia Block, designer for Glentex scarves. This is what she says:

"This is such a common problem that I've designed just the scarf to fill the need. It's called a portrait scarf. It is circular in shape, like a ring. It fills in the neckline completely and can be anchored at one side with a handsome pin. It comes in a whole range of colors and in both sheer and opaque fabrics."

Here's new twist on viewing the dance craze

Whenever I read that somebody or other has denounced the twist, I wonder if that person has ever spent an evening watching young people dance it.

It may not be the most graceful or romantic or dignified of dances — but it certainly looks harmless enough.

To begin with, a pair of twisters never embrace or touch each other. There's enough space between them for a chaperone.

And not only do the dancers never touch each other — they scarcely look at each other. So if the dance is suggestive, only those who aren't out on the floor twisting are aware of it.

The twisters themselves are too engrossed in their own twisting to watch their partners. The look on their faces is one of total concentration and what they are concentrating on is their own dance. They are a self-engrossed as runners in a race.

So why worry about young people doing the twist? When they're twisting they aren't romancing — they're working hard just how hard no adult could imagine unless he had spent a whole evening doing the twist himself.

Whenever a new dance comes along, some adults get alarmed and start calling it disgraceful. Often, those who complain the loudest have never taken the trouble to really take a close look — not only at the dance but at the attitudes of the dancers.

So let's lay off the kids who like to twist. The twist isn't wicked — it's just athletic. And haven't the very people who abhor the twist often also complained that young people no longer get any exercise? Well, they're getting it now — twisting.

Whenever I read that somebody or other has denounced the twist, I wonder if that person has ever spent an evening watching young people dance it.

HIGHER AND HIGHER — There is a touch of the daring in millinery collections for Spring '62. Crowns are higher and dramatized, with swirled organza or net. Braids are rough and textured, often combined with smooth straw fabrics to give a bold, woven effect.

Beavers dump Rockets, Olympics upset Vics

Dube, Moore and Picard trio pace Beavers to 5-2 upset victory over Rockets, meet here tomorrow

DRUMMONDVILLE — Sherbrooke Beavers pulled the upset of the season here when they knocked over the highly-favored Drummondville Rockets 5-2 in the first tilt of Series "B" of the Eastern Townships Intermediate Hockey League before 1,250 fans.

The second tilt of the series will be played at the Sherbrooke Arena tomorrow evening. Manager Bob Beaudry announced that tickets for the game will go on sale this evening at the arena at 7 p.m. Season ticket holders have the right to retain the same for the playoffs.

The Beavers in posting their victory held the upper hand in the first and third periods and although Joe Lacoursiere had more stops to handle but the majority of them were from a distance and not too hard to turn aside.

The Beavers' defense of Bert Bourassa, Andre Black, Michel Ducharme and Andre Lemaire were standouts for the Dube clan. Bourassa and Black took part in setting up two goals besides turning in top jobs on the blue-line.

The trio of Gilles Dube, Roger Picard and Albert Moore accounted for three goals with Picard notching two and Moore the third when the score was 3-2 and it lifted a certain amount of pressure. Dube picked up three assists. Real Rousseau and Claude Genereux notched the others.

The Rockets were loose in their own zone, especially in the first period, when the Beavers had them bottled up. In the middle session the Rockets opened scoring and from then on the Beavers held onto their lead until the final siren to pick up the victory.

Jets move into sole possession of second place, defeat Richmond 7-5, Miners eke out 4-3 win over Magog

Two games were played yesterday in the St-Francis Valley Intermediate Hockey League. In Asbestos the Miners were forced into overtime before they succeeded in defeating the Magog Aces 4-3. At Richmond, the Braves and the Rock Island Jets also went into overtime before the Braves pulled out a 7-5 victory, to move into second place in the league standings. They passed the Windsor Paper Makers who were idle yesterday.

In Asbestos it was the same old story. The league-leading Miners running into difficulty against the last place, but stubborn Aces. Asbestos has had trouble with the Aces all season. It was Larry Drouin, with two, Roger Drouin and Jacques Champagne who scored for the Miners. It increased their lead to eight points atop the standings with two games to go before play-off time.

J. Butler tacked up Cookshire's third goal in the second frame, his goal being the only point of the period. In the third and final period, D. MacAskill came up with the tying goal - bringing the final tally in the struggle to 3-3.

In the Pee Wee match, D. Dhall fired in the first goal with his scoring drive being followed up by teammate Lebourveau. No more scoring was registered in the first frame and no points were tallied in the second period.

Indians upset Tech, Beavers belt St. Francis

TROPHIES PRESENTED — Two of the top trophies in the Sherbrooke Junior Hockey League were presented Sunday to the Tech School. On the left M. Bruneau is presenting his trophy to Rejean Leblanc for winning the league scoring championship while on the right Albert Poulin is awarding his trophy to Marcel Caron, club captain, for finishing first in the league. In the centre is President Ivan Dugre while in the rear is President Marc Courchesne of the Tech.

In the overtime period Ber-nier gave Tech the lead for the first time in the game at the five minute mark. With Pat Murphy's junior Beavers skate to an easy 9-2 win over the St-Francis team. St-Francis will have a chance to even things up tonight when they play the second game at the Sherbrooke Arena.

A game of a different kind was witnessed in the class "B" finals also played yesterday. Some 600 spectators watched Pat Murphy's junior Beavers skate to an easy 9-2 win over the St-Francis team. St-Francis will have a chance to even things up tonight when they play the second game at the Sherbrooke Arena.

The first period saw but one goal being registered. Guillelte came through for the Indians at 8:05 to give them a 1-0 lead. In the second both teams found the mark twice. Bernier evened the count for Technical school at 0:37 after taking passes from Marcoux and Brien. Palardy, Palardy scored his second of the game at 1:17 of the third period to give the Indians a 4-2 lead. Caron scored for Tech at the seven minute mark to cut the Indian lead to one goal. Leblanc made it all even at the fifteen minute mark when he scored unassisted.

St. Pat's win juvenile championship

JUVENILE CHAMPIONS — St. Pat's hockey team won the Sherbrooke Juvenile hockey championship for the second consecutive year yesterday when they defeated Optimist's 4-2 to take the best-of-three series 2-1. Jeff Mills, captain of the team, St. Pat's defeated the Optimists game on strong, Gilles Caron, top scorer for the team and won the Sherbrooke Juvenile championship for the second consecutive year. It was their first win in the best of three final. They won the first game 5-0 but lost the second 3-1.

St. Pat's jumped into a comfortable 3-0 lead in the first two periods. Sutton scored at 3:10 of the first period and Perreault followed at 9:20 to make it 2-0. The middle period saw St. Pat's stretch their lead to three goals when Leclerc scored after taking passes from Mills and Robitaille.

The Robinson legend and his previous victory over Denny made the old champ a 2-to-1 favorite. Even at 159 1/2 pounds Moyer's 159, Robinson looked flabby around the waist and jowls.

Bishop's drop final home games

Bishop's basketball Gaiters dropped their last two Ottawa-St. Lawrence home games of the season to Macdonald Friday and Sir George Williams on Saturday.

The verdicts for Moyer: Referee Art Mercante 7-2-1, judge Leo Birnbaum and judge Tony Rossi, 7-3 each. The AP card had it 7-2-1.

Gaiters fell apart badly in the Friday tilt, as the Aggies trampled the hapless club 36-25. They caught fire Saturday afternoon however, and held the highly-touted Sir George squad, losing only 74-41 to the taller and more experienced Georgians.

Moyer, from Portland, Ore., squared accounts with Robinson by belting him freely en route to a unanimous decision in their 10 - rounder Saturday night. Robinson won a close decision over Moyer last Oct. 21.

High scorer in the Macdonald match was Aggie's Teddy Pratt with 17, followed by Larry Eldridge and Kenny Taylor with seven each. Gaiter center Murray Smith dunked seven for the listless Bishop's outfit.

Robinson, former 147 - pound welterweight and five - times 160 - pound middleweight king, looked like a boy against a man. Moyer, although bleeding from the nose from the first round, smashed Robinson repeatedly with right - hand leads to the head and raked his body with left hooks and rights.

Gaiters managed a mere six points in the first half of the Macdonald game, scoring three field goals in 24 shots Down 20-6 at the half. Gaiters just could not buy a basket. They managed to outscore the farmers 19-16 in the second half, but this was not good enough to overcome the 14-point half-time deficit.

The New York dandy retired in 1952 after regaining the middleweight crown from Britain's Randy Turpin. He returned to action and won and lost the middleweight title three more times.

Montreal outplay Granby in all departments to post surprise win in series, meet tomorrow in second GRANBY — Montreal Olympics outplayed the Granby Vics in all departments here Sunday afternoon before 2,000 fans to chalk up a 2-0 shutout in the first game of Series "A" of the Eastern Townships Intermediate Hockey League playoffs.

The Olympics posted their first win of the current season over the Vics when they came up with one of their best displays this year. Connie Mandella and Claude Richard were the marksmen for the winners. Mandella tallied in the last minute of the opening frame while Richard got his in the third frame to sew up the decision.

Andy Payette was outstanding in the game and his work was responsible for holding the score down. In the opening frame he turned Montreal aside almost single-handed as they peppered him from all angles.

The game was a hard-hitting affair and a total of twenty-three penalties were dished out by the referee including two mis-conducts. The Olympics staged a terrific two-way exhibition and had the pressure on the Vics from the opening whistle until the final siren.

Payette was a standout in the first period when the Olympics held the upper hand. The Vics when they had the man advantage just couldn't capitalize on their breaks. Six different times during the game the Vics hit the goal post when they had Andre Binet beat.

Time after time during the opening frame the Vics had Binet at their mercy but they just couldn't get the disc by him. He robbed them of sure goals at close range. The Vics had good scoring opportunities, but kept the pressure off until the final whistle.

Mandella was left uncovered with only a few seconds left in the frame and he battled the loose disc by Payette for the first marker of the game. The Olympics held on despite Granby's pressure.

In the middle session the Olympics kept the Vics completely bottled up. The host club just couldn't do anything right. The passes were not clicking their shots were off the target and they seemed completely at sea.

Bishop's Gaiters edge CMR 4-3 in close battle minus three top players, end schedule Saturday

Bishop's hockey Gaiters trailed their Ottawa-St. Lawrence schedule when they meet third and defeated CMR College Militaire Royale 4-3. This, combined with last week's 3-0 home victory over the Cadets, put them in undisputed possession of the fourth place in the Ottawa-St. Lawrence League.

It was Jim Murray, Al Johnston and John Milligan who supplied the scoring punch. This time it was left-winger Nils Bodtker, who was playing with his right hand in a cast, scored the winning goal late in the second period.

The Gaiters played a good game, although not as sharp as usual. This may be attributed to the fact that due to various reasons they were missing the complete forward line of Jim Murray, Norm Webster and Dave Williams.

Dave Ewart, Gaiters' netminder, turned his usual steady performance. He held the Army scoreless throughout the third period, when they had pressure on looking for the equalizer.

From the opening face-off, play went into the Gaiter end. It looked as if the goal-hungry soldiers were going to hit the score sheet early but on Bishop's first rush Al Walker set up Al Johnston and he slammed it home.

Claude Maynard tied it up at 10:48 when he stepped around the disc between Ewart's legs. Payne banked one in from a scramble and Ron Kaubach sank a 15-footer to put Bishop's ahead 3-1 at the end of the first period.

At the start of the second period the Cadets played as if someone had threatened to reduce them all to privates. They literally swarmed around the Gaiter cage, and it paid off when Gilles Nappert made it 3-2 at 1:58. CMR continued to dominate the play tying the game up at 10:17 of the second on a 20-footer by Maynard, his second of the afternoon.

Bodtker stepped out of the penalty box and went in alone. He neatly faked a shot and slid the disc between CMR goalie Joe Florence's legs for the winner. With 15 seconds remaining CMR yanked Florence in favour of an extra forward and Ewart missed an opportunity when he fired a loose puck from center ice, only to hit the side of the empty net.

Next week-end, Gaiters round out their Ottawa-St. Lawrence schedule when they meet third and defeated CMR College Militaire Royale 4-3. This, combined with last week's 3-0 home victory over the Cadets, put them in undisputed possession of the fourth place in the Ottawa-St. Lawrence League.

Two-man committee formed by CFL to study interlocking schedule

Syd Halter re-elected commissioner

VANCOUVER (CP)—A two-man committee was established to further investigate the merits of an interlocking schedule and three rule changes were approved as the Canadian Football League wound up its annual meeting Saturday.

Frank Gibson of Hamilton and Ralph Parliament of Toronto were named to consider the CFL's partial interlocking schedule and report on whether they feel it is advisable to continue with the system.

The Eastern and Western Conferences of the CFL operated with an interlocking schedule for the first time last season and will do so again this year. The system had been adopted on a two-year trial basis.

Syd Halter of Winnipeg, commissioner of the CFL said the system has met with favorable reaction and indications are that it will be continued next year.

At New York, Rangers' Bathgate and Guy Gendron each scored twice. Wilson and Heberton added one each. For the Leafs, the scorers were Red Kelly and Bert Olmstead.

The feature of the Chicago rout was Don Marshall's 100th goal in his eight-season NHL career. Other Montreal scorers were Jean-Guy Talbot, Gilles Tremblay, Jean Beliveau, Bobby Rousseau and Billy Hicke.

Bob Turner and Bobby Hull tallied for the Black Hawks. Hull's goal was his 35th of the season, tops in the league.

Sunday night the Black Hawks struck for five goals in the first period and they never looked back.

San Mikita and Murray Balfour each scored twice while Bronco Horvath and Ken Wharham added singles.

Hall was outstanding in the Chicago nets, kicking out 30 Boston shots for his seventh shutout of the season — tops in the league.

There are no games in the league until Wednesday night when all teams are in action. Montreal will be at Toronto, Boston at New York and Detroit at Chicago.

Bob Bedard is Canada's Top tennis player

TORONTO (CP) — Bob Bedard of Lennoxville, Que., Saturday was named Canada's outstanding tennis player for the eighth straight year.

The Canadian Lawn Tennis Association, at its annual meeting, ranked him No. 1. Ann Barclay of Vancouver won the top spot on the women's section.

Bedard, 30, last month announced retirement from Davis Cup competition. He said he will continue to play in a few tournaments, provided they can be worked into his teaching schedule.

He has not been defeated by a Canadian player in eight years. The CLTA said that, though several younger players are showing marked improvement, none is seriously threatening to displace Bedard.

In the rankings, Don Fontana is missing for the first time in years. Business forced him to restrict tournament play.

Replacing Fontana at No. 2 is Francois Godbout of Waterloo, Que., who narrowly beat out Toronto's John Swann. The pair have an equal record, but Godbout got the nod for defeating Swann in the Canadian championships.

Gramshammer wins pro ski championship

THORNBURY, Ont. (CP)—Josef (Pepi) Gramshammer, blazing down treacherous Lightning Run, took top prize money back to Sun Valley, Idaho, with him after winning the unofficial combined title in the Canadian professional ski championships.

Gramshammer won $1,065 with second place in Saturday's slalom and first place in Sunday's giant slalom.

Ernst Hinterseer of Austria won the slalom, dominating the field, but failed in his effort to match Gramshammer's sizzling time in the giant slalom when he caught a tip at a control gate and was tossed through the air. He lost the binding on his left ski and could not finish the race.

In the slalom Hinterseer put together times of 55.7 and 57.8 for a total time of 1:53.5, a comfortable edge on Pepi's 1:59.5 combined total. Third in the slalom was Ernie McCulloch of Mont Tremblant, Que., with 2:04.7.

McCulloch, running with a high fever Saturday, took fourth spot in the giant slalom for a total of $610 prize money.

Next high Canadian money-winner was Jean Lessard of Mont Sutton, Que., seventh on the list with $190 for his sixth-place performance in the slalom and ninth spot in the giant slalom.

McCulloch earned fourth place with times of 57.0 and 58.8 for 1:55.8. He had only one race on the International Professional Ski Racers Association last year but will compete in two next weekend, at Mont Gabriel and Mont Orford, and then join the regular IPSRA circuit.

Canadiens belt Hawks 6-2 but lose 4-2 to Red Wings, Rangers dump Leafs 6-2 as Hawks blank Bruins Detroit Red Wings, led by substitute goalie Hank Bassen, look like the hottest club in the National Hockey League at the moment.

The Wings are undefeated since Feb. 4, the night Bassen took over in the nets for ailing Terry Sawchuk.

Sunday night they ran an unbeaten streak to six games—four wins and two ties—with a 4-2 decision over the league-leading Montreal Canadiens.

New York Rangers and Wings each have 51 points for a fourth-place tie. Detroit, however, has two games in hand.

The Maple Leafs beat the Blueshirts 5-3 at Toronto Saturday night. But at New York Sunday night, they were downed 6-2.

REDUCES MAGIC NUMBER: Montreal, in a runaway 11-point lead atop the standings, routed Chicago Black Hawks 6-2 on home ice Saturday night. This win, combined with Toronto's defeat, reduced the Hab's magic number to 10, meaning they can clinch a fifth straight title through any combination of 10 wins or Toronto losses.

Canadiens and Leafs each have 15 games to play in the 70-game schedule.

The third-place Black Hawks, five points behind Toronto, bounced back for a 6-0 rout of Boston Bruins at Chicago Sunday night.

Bassen blocked 30 shots for the Wings Sunday night. He has recorded two shutouts and given up only nine goals during the six-game stint.

Gordie Howe got two of the Detroit goals. The Wings' other marksmen were Parker MacDonald of Charlottetown and defenceman Bill Gadsby. Gilles Tremblay counted the two Montreal goals.

The Leafs Saturday night victory was their first in five starts.

Eddie Shack, Frank Mahovlich, Eddie Litzenberger, Dave Keon and Allan Stanley were the Toronto scorers. Earl Ingarfield, Johnny Wilson and Andy Heberton counted for the Rangers.

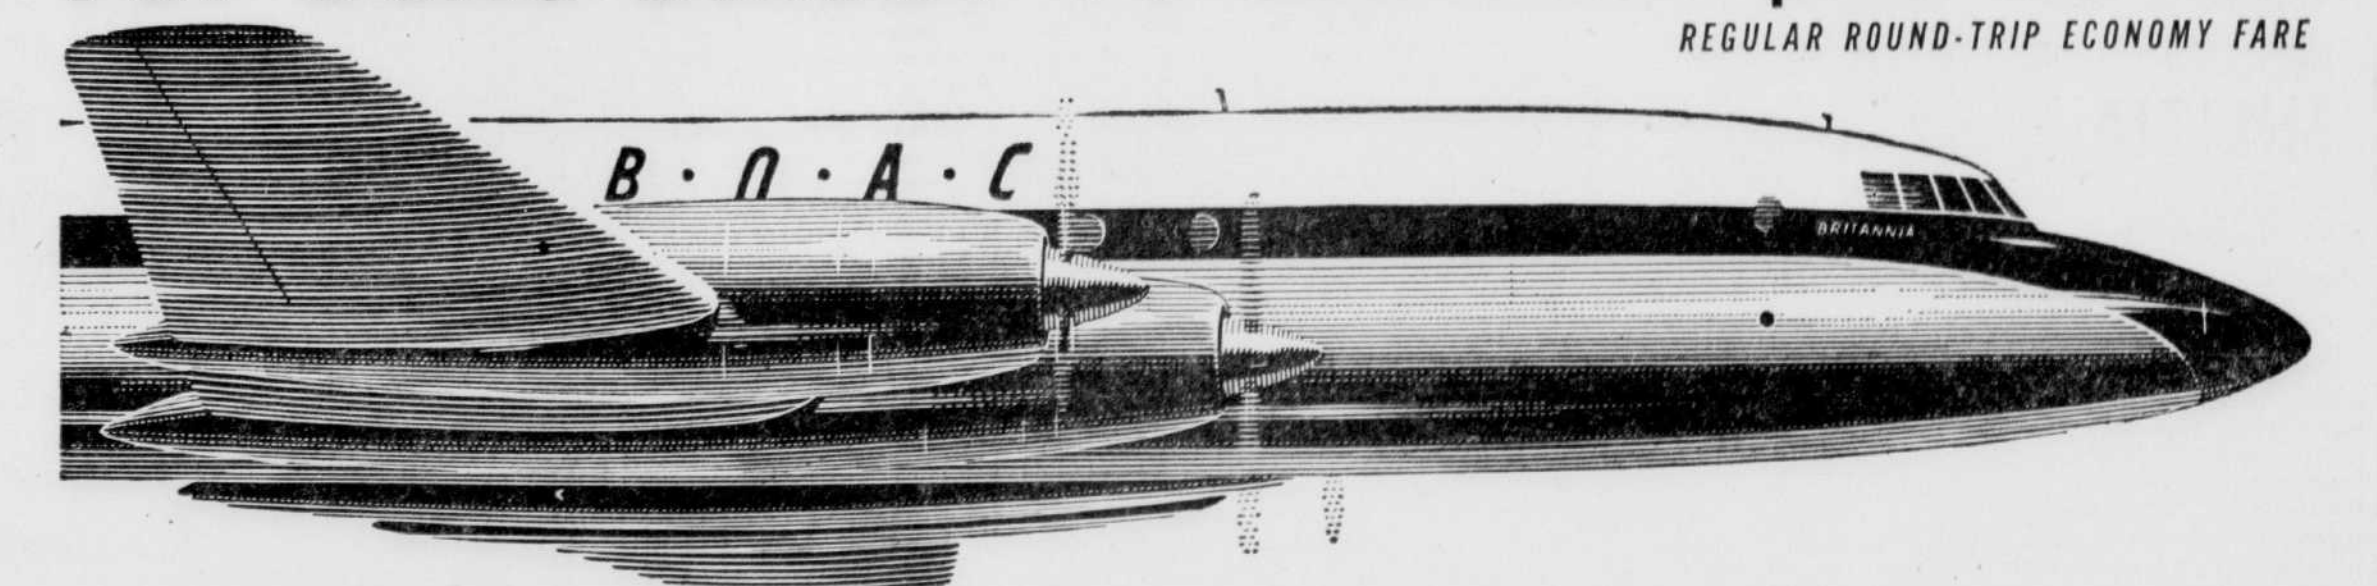

Andy Bathgate, the league's top point-getter with 72, drew his 49th assist on Ingarfield's goal which tied the record for most assists by a right winger in one season. Howe set the mark in 1960-61.

Shack, playing in only his third game after a six-week layoff with a knee injury was sidelined again — with more trouble, this time torn ligaments. Preliminary examination indicated he may be out another six weeks.

At New York, Rangers' Bathgate and Guy Gendron each scored twice. Wilson and Heberton added one each. For the Leafs, the scorers were Red Kelly and Bert Olmstead.
