SITUATION OF G.T.P. WORKSHOPS

Protest Against Removel of Marine Workshops Outside City.

Several important matters were discussed at the meeting of the City Council last evening, including a motion of Ald. Morin's protesting against the proposed construction of the Transcontinental workshops at Cap Rouge, and a resolution of Ald. Lavigueur against the removel of the Marine workshops outside of the city.

Mayor Drouin presided and among those present were Aldermen Lavigueur, Pouliot, Campbell, Mulroney, Lockwell, Morin, Lantier, Delisle, Cote, Guillot, Collier, Shink, Lamontagne, Levallee, Trudel Dinan, Fiset, Verret, Cummings, Gosselin, Plamondon, Jobin, Gauvin.

A letter was read from the Quebec Branch of the Retail Merchants' Association, to the effect that they had already requested the civic authorities to insist on the closing of certain stores on Sundays until noon and groceries all day. Referred to the By-law Committee.

A leter was also received from the Quebec Trades and Labor Council praying the City Council to inaugurate a thorough inspection of Chinese laundries. Referred to the By-law Committee.

A petition was read from Messrs. Hethrington, Demeule and other master bakers, asking for the apaointment of a bread inspector. Ald. Lavigueur spoke in favor of the apointment of such an inspector, while Ald. Shink was anxious to know who was going to pay for it.

Ald. Veret remarked that if an inspector was appointed his duties should include, not only the quality but also the weight of bread. The matter was referred to the Health Committee.

The reports adopted by the different committees during the past week, and already reported in these columns, were presented and finally adopted. The report of the Road Committee granting leave to the Q. R., L., H. & P. Co., to run freight trains on Ramsay street, as well as passenger trains, was strongly objected to by Aldermen Verret and Fiset, who protested against the city granting any further favors to the Company, until the later carried out its promise to run their cars to the St. Valier toll-gate. Mayor Drouin was of a similar opinion and the Council unanimously voted to allow the report to remain over for further consideration.

In reply to a request made at the last meeting, His Worship brought down a list of the insurance companies doing business and paying taxes in this city. As the name of the Lloyd's Company was not on the list, several of the Aldermen drew the atention of the Mayor to the fact that this Company was carrying on considerable business here and paid no taxes, and it was decided that they be placed on the same footing as the other companies.

Ald. Morin remarked that for some time past rumors had been in circulation that the Transcontinental Commssion was going to erect their workshops at Cap Rouge, and asked His Worship if he could state whether or not there was any truth in these reports.

His Worship replied that he knew nothing officially, but had heard it stated that the workshops were to be erected near the Quebec bridge on the north shore, although he did not think that there was any truth in the rumor.

Ald. Lavigueur congratulated Ald. Morin on bringing up the matter, which was a very important one for this city.

Ald. Shink remarked that several C.P.R. employes and their families had removed to Montreal owing to the recent orders issued by that company, and asked His Worship if he had received any further news in connection with his trip to Montreal lately to interview the C.P.R. officials.

Mayor Droun replied that in company with Ald. Cannon, he had called upon the President and Vice-President of the C.P.R. in Monereal, and if the employes had been forced to leave town, they themselves were to blame. Previous to the interview with the C. P.R. officials, he had been called upon by a delegation of employes, but since then he had never been able to see them, although he had made every effort to do so.

Ald. Lockwell thought that the Board of Trade ought to take the matter up. In his opinon if the employees of the C.P.R. had not renewed their request, it was due to the fact that they would probably lose their situations.

Mayor Drouin stated that he was again willing to take up the matter with the C.P.R. officials, but Ald. Fiset objected, on the ground that the Mayor and the City Council had done their share of the work, and if anything remained to be done, the Quebec Board of Trade should undertake that task.

Ald. Morin then moved that "This Council protests against all attempts to erect the future workshops of the Grand Trunk Pacific outside of the limits of the city or Banlieu; that the construction of said workshops in this city or Banlieu was one of the principal conditions of the sale of the Champlain Market for $100,000; that this Council declares that it insists upon the conditions of the contract, between the city of Quebec and the Transcontinental Commissioners, being carried out, and that His Lordship the Mayor be requested to convey the views of this Council to the proper uathorities.

Ald. Morin spoke at length in support of his motion, and was followed n a similar strain by Aldermen Lavigueur, Verret and Cote, the motion being finally adopted.

Ald. Morin also gave notice that he would move at the next meeting that the special committee for amendments to the city charter, ask the Legislature for leave to amend the Quebec City Charter, so as to establish a pension fund for the civic employes.

Ald. Lavigueur moved, and it was resolved that a special committee, composed of Aldermen Cannon, Lavigueur, Verret, Madden and Morin be named to study the question of the annexation of Montcalmville to the city and to fix the terms of annexation with delegates of Montcalmville.

Ald. Lavigueur also moved a resolution to the effect that if the Federal Government intended removing the Marine shops on the King's wharf, that they be removed near the Quebec Harbor Commissioners' property at the mouth of the St. Charles river and that the resolution be forwarded to Sir Wilfrid Laurier and Hon. Mr. Brodeur, as well as to the members of the city and district.

Mayor Drouin remarked that Hon. Mr. Brodeur had told him that if the cost of removing the works at present carried on on the King's wharf, was not too high, the works would remain in Quebec. The Harbor Commissioners offered free land for the removal of these works at the mouth of the St. Charles river, consequently there was now no reason to remove the works outside the city.

The Councoil then adjourned to the 9th December.

DEATH OF WELL-KNOWN LADY EMPLOYE OF TELEGRAPH.

Miss Murphy, whose death occurred last evening, will be remembered by a large number of Quebecers as one of the oldest employes of the Quebec Daily Telegraph, and the news of her passing away will be received with a pang of regret by all who knew her. The deceased lady had been an employe of the business office of the Telegraph from the days of the late Mr. James Carrel, the fonuder of the paper, and was a familiar figure with all citizens who had dealings with our evening contemporary. Ever faithful to her duties and diligent in the discharge of them, she was as highly esteemed and honored by her employers as she was by the general public. The deceased lady succumbed to an attack of typhoid fever after but a comparatively brief illness.

LAST ARTICLE OF TOLSTOI'S

Writing Shortly Before He Died, He Protests Against Capital Punishment.

St. Petersburg, Nov. 26.—The Associated Press received early this morning, from Vladimir Tschertkoff, literary agent of the late Count Leo Tolstoi, the last article written by Tolstoi. It is entitled "Effective Means," and was written by Tolstoi in the Optina Monastery Nov. 11, shortly after he began his self-imposed exile from home. The article was given to the Associated Press by M. Tschertkoff at the express wish of Count Tolstoi for dissemination to mankind. It says: "I am naturally eager to do all I can against evil, which tortures the best spirits of our time. I think the present effective war against capital punishment does not need forcing.

"There is no need for an expression of indignation against its immorality, cruelty and absurdity.

"Every sincere, thinking persons, every body knowing from the Sixth Commandment, needs no explanation of its absurdity and immorality. There is no need for descriptions of the horrors of xeceutions, they only affect hangmen, so men will more willingly become executioners and governments will be obliged to comuensate them more dearly for their services.

"Therefore, I think that neither the expression of indignation against the murderer of our fellow men nor the suggestion of its horror is mainly needed, but something totally different.

"As Kantwell says, there are delusions which cannot be disproved and we must communicate to the deluded mind knowledge which will enlighten and then the deusions will vanish themselves. What knowledge need we communicate to the deluded human mind regarding the indispensableness, usefulness or justice of capital punishment in order that said delusion may destroy itself?

"Such knowledge, in my opinion, is this: The knowledge of what is man, what his surrounding world, what his destiny. Hence, what man can and must do and principally what he cannot and must not do.

"Therefore we should oppose capital punishment by inculcating this knowledge to all men, especially to hangmen's managers and sympathizers, who wrongfully think they are maintaining their position thanks only to capital punishment.

"I know this is not an easy task. The employers and approvers of hangmen feel, with the instinct of self-preservation, that this knowledge will make impossible the maintenance of the position which they occupy, hence not only will they themselves not adopt it, but by all means in their power—by violence, deceit, lies, and cruelty—will try to hide from the people this knowledge, distorting it and exposing its disseminators to all kinds of privations and sufferings.

"Therefore if we really wish to destroy the delusion of capital punishment and if we possess the knowledge which destroys this delusion, let, us, in spite of all menaces, deprivations and sufferings

"Every sincere, thinking person, it is solely the effective means in the fight."

JOHN REARDON CAPTURED EVENT.

Jacksonville, Nov. 25.—John Reardon, heavily-played favorite at even money, captured the fourth race, a purse event of seven furlongs, which was the feature of a fair card at Moncrief to-day. A bad spill occurred in the fifth, when Tubal, ridden by Clement, crossed his front legs while rounding the turn out of the back stretch and fell heavily. Mon Ami, with McCabe in the saddle, stumbled over the fallen horse and threw his jockey. Neither boy was seriously hurt. Tubal broke a shoulder and had to be destroyed.

SPENT $3,000.00 BEFORE USING POSLAM

Cured of Eczema After Thirty-Seven Years—One Box Did More Good Than All Else.

"Mrs. Dodd suffered with eczema for thirty-seven years," writes Mr. William P. Dodd, Neva., Ind. "I spent over $3,000.00 in decorating it. ——— got me to try poslam. She is now cured. One fifty-cent box did her more good than all the doctoring I ha ddone."

There is no doubt about the efficacy of poslam. It is probably the most widely recommended remedy available to the public, solely because of its remarkable power to heal affected skin, curing all eczemas, acne, tetter, scabs, itch, etc. Bacterial infections so prone to spread are checked at once. Itching stops and minor troubles such as pimples, undue redness, rashes, complexion blemishes, etc., go quickly when poslam is applied. Whenever the skin ails poslam should be used first before anything less certain is experimented with.

Poslam is sold in two sizes (trial, 50 cents; regular jars, $2) by all druggists, particularly Henry Willis, 4 St. John St. For free sample write to the Emergency Laboratories, 32 West Twenty-fifth street, New York City.

New York, Nov. 25 — Arthur E. Stillwell, President of the Kansas City, Mexico, and Orient Railway, and the dominating influence in many important Mexican interests, to-day declared that the "Mexican Revolution," was a pure fake, concocted largely by persons who had interests to serve. "Inside of ten days you will forget you ever heard of it," he said. "I have telegrams from my agents at Zacatecas, where 500 were supposed to have been killed, saying that nothing of the kind had happened. My agent at Torreon says the fall of that place did not occur. From Chihuahua I have a message saying that all is peaceful."

Laredo, Tex., Nov. 25—There have been no developments to-day in the revolutionary situation and quiet reigns throughout the republic of Mexico.

J. Collins, of this city, received a telegram to-day from his nephew, W. C. Stewart, of Madero, stating that the town is quiet. Troops were started for the city, the telegram states, but insurrectionists wrecked the train near St. Andreas, killing 10 soldiers, three women and a baby. Mr. Stewart's story of the wreck is confirmed by Superintendent Rutledge, of the railroad (Mexican Northwestern). Mr. Rutledge says that wires were cut, but states that no bridges were blown up as had been reported.

Two indictments will charge assault with intent to kill; first on Mayor Gaynor, second on William Edwards, Commissioner of Street Cleaning. The other two indictments will charge carrying a concealed weapon.

Edwards and other city employees, who struggled with Gallagher, testified before the Grand Jury. The jury adjourned until next Tuesday, when the indictments probably will be handed down. The Quebec Chronicle

QUEBEC, NOVEMBER 26, 1910.

THE ENGLISH MAIL SERVICE.

The very unsatisfactory nature of the present arrangement for the carrying of the English mails has been repeatedly brought under the notice of the Government without avail. By the present plan a mail steamer leaves Quebec every Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock, and after a silly and unnecessary delay of about eight hours at Rimouski, proceeds on Saturday morning. Another steamer leaves Quebec at 7 o'clock on Saturday evening, and does not stop at Rimouski.

The consequence is that the mails by the first boat generally reach London on Saturday afternoon, after business offices are closed, and those by the other steamer on Sunday. So that both mails are delivered together on Monday morning.

The Quebec Board of Trade have protested repeatedly against this absurd arrangement, but without any result. The Board of Trade have gone further, and have urged upon the Postmaster General that Canada is quite big enough and wealthy enough to have three English mails a week, and that the Government should take advantage of the fast steamers now using the St. Lawrence route, getting faster ones if they can, and despatch mails at regular intervals, say Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday. Not only would this give us three English mails per week, and make Canada entirely independent of the New York route for our letters, but if proper fast steamers were selected the United States mails for England would come our way, and the speed and frequency of the service by our short route would attract a class of travel that would bring capital into our country.

The Government should not require such repeated urging to do a thing which is easy of accomplishment, and which would do so much good.

THE COCAINE EVIL.

It is evident that the cocaine evil is becoming an epidemic in Montreal. Scarcely a day passes without the appearance of two or three victims to the habit in the courts. In one day last week no less than twenty-five "dope-fiends" appeared at the same time. Men were selling the drug almost openly in the streets, and several of the jailers in the prison at Montreal were found to have been selling it in large quantities to the prisoners. His Honor, the Recorder, in speaking of the growth of the evil, said:—

"For a few dollars the druggists are exposing the families of Montreal to complete ruin, and the future of our young people to abject disgrace through the cocaine traffic.

"They are assassins. I can use no other word to describe their conduct. I declare that there are a certain number of doctors who are conspiring with the druggists to continue this traffic.

"Cocaine is the principal cause of the ruination of our young girls in this city, and the principal source of the demoralization of young boys. With the druggists conspiring against us, the police can do little. I am raising this cry of alarm to save the future of our families, and I call upon all public bodies to take all possible means to banish this cocaine traffic from legitimate commerce."

A month or so ago we pointed out that the cocaine habit was taking in Quebec. Since that time we have reason to believe that the number of people now using the drug has more than doubled. The victims for the most part are young and have very little idea of what the outcome is likely to be. If the spread of the drug continues at its present rate without let or hindrance, it will soon take on serious proportions.

Already some very bad cases have been reported, and the authorities will be greatly to blame if they take no measures to find out and punish those who are guilty of the sales. There will be absolutely no difficulty in discovering who are bringing it in and who are selling it.

THE OBJECTIONABLE CARTOON.

Try as they will to assume an attitude of virtuous indignation with regard to the Nationalists, Mr. Brodeur and his comrades are continually hoist with their own petard.

The instance of the cartoon is one of many such cases. During the Drummond-Arthabaska election Le Devoir produced a cartoon representing John Bull taking money out of the pockets of Jean Baptiste, who is portrayed as having both his hands on the Union Jack.

Of course Mr. Brodeur, who professes to have sloughed off his skin of Nationalism, took this question up, and denounced it as nothing short of criminal and those, who made use of it, as being beneath contempt.

But it is always better to look before leaping and Father Abraham Brodeur did not look long enough when he showed the cut from Le Devoir in the House. Had he looked more closely he would, as Mr. Borden told him, have noticed that the cartoon in question plainly stated on its face that it was reproduced from Sir Wilfrid Laurier's organ, Le Canada, and had appeared in that paper on the 26th of September, 1904, to do duty against the Conservative party. The Liberals had no scruples about using it then.

Mr. Brodeur may avail himself of all the gush and hypocrisy that is at his command. But in denouncing the Nationalists of to-day he is forgetting the Brodeur of yesterday.

MR BORDEN'S SPEECH.

Seldom has Mr. Borden made a better speech than when he defined the position of the Conservative party last Wednesday.

"We are not," he said, "in alliance with the Nationalist, and we have been denounced by them even more strongly than the Government. Nor are we in alliance with the Government on the naval question."

Mr. Borden believes in a useful naval policy. He realizes, and in this he will be upholding a naval axiom, that the supremacy of the Empire can only be maintained by one great naval force under one central control. Naval disintegration is liable to spell naval destruction. But he thinks that the people should be consulted on this point and he points out that the Speech from the Throne gives no indication whatever of any intention on the part of the Liberal Ministers to "consult the people on the naval policy of Canada."

IRELAND UNDER PROTECTION AND UNDER FREE TRADE.

In a series of articles written for the London Daily Express, Mr. J. Ellis Barker, the prominent tariff reformer, has set out 200 points for that policy. One of the most striking of these illustrates the ruin of Irish agriculture by free trade.

Up to the year 1846, Ireland's agriculture had steadily improved. Its improvement is attested by the fact that the population of that island increased from 6,801,827 in 1821 to 8,175,124 in 1841. In 1846, the year when "free trade" was introduced, Ireland's population was about 9,000,000.. Ireland's agriculture had more than kept pace with the expansion of her population. Up to 1846 Ireland was not only self-supporting as regards food, but was able to sell grain and flour in constantly increasing quantities to Great Britain, as the following figures show:—

Ireland's Exports of Grain, Meal and Flour to Great Britain.

1805.....	306,924	quarters
1815.....	821,192	"
1825.....	2,203,962	"
1835.....	2,679,438	"
1845.....	3,351,901	"

3,000,000 quarters of corn suffice to maintain 400,000 people during a whole year.

In 1846 the corn laws were repealed. "Free trade" in grain was introduced, and Irish wheat, oats and barley had to compete on equal terms not only in the English market, but in the Irish market as well, with the grain from the boundless plains of Russia and of the United States. Russian and American grain could be sold more cheaply in the English and Irish ports than Irish grain. Hence the withdrawal of protection led to the decay of Ireland's rural industries, as is easily seen from the fact that Ireland's acreage under wheat in 1847 was 743,871 acres. To-day it is only 43,606 acres, whilst the acreage under oats and barley is only about half of what it was sixty years ago.

ST. JOHN AMBULANCE ASSOCIATION.

In order to establish itself on a permanent basis, the Canadian branch of the St. John Ambulance Association is appealing to the public for financial support. There is no distinction of race, creed or party in the Association, and its objects should commend themselves to all.

A knowledge of "first aid" is one of the most useful things that any one can possess, and the association aims at teaching simple means whereby employers and employees, etc., will be able to prevent suffering and perhaps to save life in case of emergency, where medical aid is not always forthcoming at once.

During the first six months of this year there have been reported to the Department of Labor no less than 2,033 industrial accidents—that is, accidents occurring to workmen in the course of their employment, and in 656 instances the results were fatal. These figures do not include the many accidents happening to citizens generally, of which there is no definite information. On an average in Canada there are over 3,000 deaths from accidents every year, forty per cent of these being males between the ages of 15 and 44 years. Of the total number of deaths over 700 are drowning accidents Deaths from accident are nearly double the number of deaths from typhoid fever, and if, as computed, there are six accidents to each death, then there are over 20,000 accidents a year in the Dominion. This affords a wide field for the work of the association in furnishing instruction in "first aid" principles. In addition to this instruction is given in the very essential matter of transporting the sick and injured, as well as a general knowledge of the principles of hygiene, sanitation and nursing.

INTERNATIONAL PEACE.

The International School of Peace and many other bodies and newspapers are endeavoring to promote peace throughout the world. There could be no nobler work and there are many men who believe in the coming of the millennium which is foretold in the Bible. But the time is not ripe for it yet. And it is more than probable that the world will be in thrall to war until the trumpets of Armageddon.

Arbitration is suggested as a substitute for military warfare. But arbitration is not likely to prove more than a mere method of adjusting minor international disputes. When it is a question of national policy or honor the arbitrament of war must be the extreme resort. War is not only inevitable in certain cases but it is even necessary at times.

The Christian ethic of renunciation is gaining ground but Civilization is, after all, no more than an artificial superstructure built on the fabric of Sovereign Nature. We are still more afraid of being classed as physical than as moral cowards. We believe that—in a very few cases—the man, who turns his other cheek to the smiter, is braver than us all. But we also think that, as a general rule, the man who does not retaliate is more apt to be prompted by physical fear than by moral courage. And the probability is that the same sentiment will prevail for hundreds of years yet.

If one of the foremost military nations of the world were to lay down her arms to-day, other nations would applaud but would hardly follow the example. Arbitration can only be a success if disarmament is general. Nations are apt to be little different from individuals. Human nature is per se distrustful and even if a nation professed to be totally disarmed, in all likelihood it would still keep something "up its sleeve."

War, when all is said and done, is but the spirit of competition. If military warfare was abolished it would only be succeeded by commercial warfare which can produce almost as baneful results. But the predominant sentiment is that no such abolition is possible.

The experience of the past has tended to show that war is not altogether an unmixed evil evil; that it stimulates patriotism; that it makes men more virile; that it is a healthy stimulus among nations and that decay and disintegration are the fate of nations which do not maintain a state of preparedness for it.

One of the most intelligent writers on questions of the Far East, the recent storm centre of war, in a late work on "The Coming Struggle in Eastern Asia," uses this language: "The sterilization begotten of a long peace is as much the nemesis of a nation as the vainglory of a Napoleon who threw himself to the other extreme. Moderation in war and moderation in peace is the line along which the successful nation must necessarily progress. It is impossible to conceive of a world presided over by international lawgivers, such as is the strange ideal of some. To succeed in realizing such dreams it would first be necessary to emasculate mankind."

A local paper published a "special despatch" from Ottawa yesterday evening to the effect that Mr.d'Hellencourt, the editor of Le Soleil, the French Liberal organ of this city, had been named Hansard translator for the Federal House. The despatch also stated that Mr. d'Hellencourt would probably be succeeded as editor of Le Soleil by Mr. Ulric Barthe, of La Vigie, Mr. Geo. Morrissette, or a Montreal journalist, and that, as soon as the change was made, he would enter upon his new duties.

In conversation with a Chronicle reporter yesterday Mr. d'Hellencourt said that there was absolutely no truth in the above rumor and that he had never applied for any such position.

DEATH OF MR. W. KELLY.

The death of Mr. William Kelly, who was found dead in bed yesterday morning, came as a surprise and a shock to his many friends. Deceased some days ago was forced to give up work, owing to illness, but was able to be out and around, and last night showed no signs of any immediate serious happening taking place. In apparent health, he retired to bed and shortly afterwards was found cold in death. Much sympathy will go out to his widow, who has been so suddenly bereaved. The funeral will take place on Monday morning next to St. Patrick's Church, and thence to Charles' Cemetery.

ALL NEW.

As we are going to have a new store, we also intend to have new goods, consequently we will make a great reduction on our suits and overcoats, as well as on our fur lined overcoats. As we are at present selling at a very low figure this reduction will give everybody an opportunity of purchasing first-class goods at bargain prices. It is useless to boast of the Fit Reform Suits, as they are known among good dressers as the best to be obtained.

LAYMEN HEARD ELOQUENT ADDRESSES

Col. Halford, of New York, and Mr. Shurtleff Spoke at Annual Banquet.

Very eloquent and stirring addresses were made at the annual banquet of the Laymen's Missionary Movement, which was held at the Y.M.C.A. Hall last evening The room had been tastefully decorated with flags and mottoes for the occasion, and there was a very large attendance of guests. Among those seated at the main table were Mr. Wm. A. Marsh, who presided; Colonel Halford, vice chairman of the Laymen's Missionary Movement, New York City, and Dr. W. L. Shutleff, K.C., of Coaticook, the speakers of the evening; His Lordship Bishop Farrar, and other prominent gentlemen. A choice menu was thoroughly enjoyed by the guests, at the conclusion of which the health of King George was proposed and greeted with the usual loyal honors.

Mr. Marsh then briefly introduced the first speaker, Colonel alford, who, in his opening, spoke of the pleasure it gave him, born in England, to come to Quebec, the city about which so much romance and so much history was woven.

During the few years which the Laymen's Missionary Movement had been in existence it had made remarkable progress. From the Atlantic to the Pacific, there was diminition in enthusiasm. Canada had great problems to solve, and to Canada all eyes were turned for example and for inspiration. He gave some instances of what the movement could accomplish. His first suggestion was perseverance. The Laymen's Missionary Movement was a permanent one. No other country in Canada to-day occupied such a crucial position. Within a decade the vast West had come on with a rush that possibly no other nation has ever known, and the best blood of the nations was spreading out over its plains and prairies. The chaos of a mighty world is rounding into form. A tremendous duty lay before the citizens of Canada to see that it is made salutory and safe for the future of the great country. The commercial vision was a limited one. It was men who made the country and not the buildings. Manhood was the only thing that counts. The only religion that is vital and vitalizing is the religion of Christianity. The opportunity of the ages was now before the missionaries of the Christian religion. Civilization was impossible without Christianity. This was the opinion personally expressed to the speaker by President Taft, when the latter was Governor of the Philippines. This was the problem of the day and this was the problem in the hearts of the members of the Laymen's Missionary Movement.

The Laymen's Movement, said the speaker, was anxious to bring the men of the Church to an awakened sense of their duties, and as it had been practised in the days of the apostles. All through the pages of reilgious history some great layman's name stood out with brilliant prominence. Laymen have their part in the propogating of the Gospel, and a new era now is dawning. He was glad to state that the laymen's movement was a man's work, which called for the best that was in man. The Church and the age demands men. The time has come to see that this great nation is a big enough proposition to secure the support of every man who is a man. The new word of the twentieth century is "Brotherhood," and all who call upon the laymen, whether from Canada or from the uttermost parts of the earth, are brothers. At the conclusion of his eloquent and stirring address, only the barest outline of which is given above, Colonel Halford received a real ovation from the guests present.

After the singing of a sacred solo by Mr. Carpenter, the accompaniment being played by Mr. H. Gordon Perry, the second speaker was introduced—Mr. Shurtleff. He made a very practical address, and one which proved a most interesting sequence to the address which had gone before. The Laymen's Missionary Movement had been happily named, he said, for it was moving. It was a movement with a great purpose, the Gospel for the whole world during the present generation. He spoke briefly of the aims and the methods of the movement, and then described the field which lay before it, there being still one billion people who had never heard the name of Christ. The heathen world had been apportioned between Canada and the United States. He said that if Canada did not Christianize the great flow of foreign population to its shores the latter would heathenize it. The task which Canada must face was men and money. Could they be secured? Mr Shurtleff quoted figures to show that from the wealth of the country the money could be secured with very little difficulty, while the workers, if only a small portion of those now being trained in the Christian faith, should offer their services Ten cents a week by the present membership of the Church in Canada would be sufficinent to meet the apportionment of $4,500,000 which was given to Canada, while from the 700,000 boys and girls now in the Sunday schools of Canada one only from each would give 1,400 workers. The open door now offered everywhere and there were no excurses to be made to the divine command "to go into all the world and preach the Gospel to all nations." It seemed so mean, said the speaker, to receive so much, give so little and live so selfishly.

At the conclusion of the addresses a number of resolution were moved, among those who spoke being Judge McCorkill, Rev. Dr. Rexford, Mr. R. Stanley, Mr. J. Hamilton, Mr. J. H. Halt and others.

One of the resoultions passed was to the effect that the quota of the churches of Quebec toward the missionary movement should not be less than $25,000 for the coming year. Bishop Farrar pronounced the benediction.

CATARRH DESTROYED MY APPETITE.

PERUNA rarely fails to restore the appetite. Immediately upon beginning the use of Peruna patients begin to eat and digest. This is the universal testimony, coming from all parts of the civilized world.

Catarrh is a very frequent cause of loss of appetite and disturbed digestion. The beneficial influence of Peruna on catarrh completely restores the appetite in such cases.

To prod the digestive organs with medicines that are merely stimulants is a poor way to remedy such cases.

"I am now cured and cheerful in spirits, all through the agency of Peruna, which has cured me effectually and restored my appetite.

"My only regret is that I did not use Peruna sooner and I would have avoided all my previous suffering and misery"

—Mr. Joseph H. Conlan.

Removed Catarrh, Restored Appetite.

Mr. Joseph H. Conlan, 487 7th Ave., Brooklyn, N.Y., writes:

"I suffered from catarrh which completely destroyed my appetite and weakened my entire system.

"I am now cured and cheerful in spirits, all through the agency of Peruna, which has cured me effectually and restored my appetite.

"My only regret is that I did not use Peruna sooner and I would have avoided all my previous suffering and misery."

Torpid Liver, Stomach Trouble

Mr. James O'Byrne, 626 Madison St., Topeka, Kas., conductor Sante Fe Railway and member Order of Railway Conductors, writes:

"I suffered wth a torpid liver and stomach trouble, which made my complexion very sallow, and I felt miserable and tired all the time.

"An aunt wrote me that she was taking Peruna with such good results that she advised me to try it, and finally bought a bottle, although I disliked to take patent medicines.

"However, I found Peruna very agreeable to take, and effective, as I felt better in a week. I took only five bottles in all and I found that was all I needed.

"I am most grateful to you for what your medicine has done for me."

Dysentery Entirely Relieved.

Mr. W. N. Casey, Leamington, Ill., writes:

"In two weeks after beginning your treatment I was well. I used nine bottles of Peruna. My case was bowel trouble or dysentery.

"I also tried Peruna for a cough, according to directions, and it exceeds any cough syrup I ever used.

"I wish every one afflicted would give Peruna a trial."

Pe-ru-na as a Tonic.

Capt. R. B. Smith, Greensboro, Ga., writes:

"After using several bottles of Peruna I can recommend it as one of the best catarrh medicines on the market. As a tonic it has no equal.

"Peruna is all that is claimed for it."

Catarrh of Stomach.

Mr. Henry Neely, First Lieutenant, Co. "F." 86th Regiment, O. V. I., Box 623, Trenton, Mo., writes: "I suffered for years with catarrh of the stomach. Seeing an advertisemtnt of Peruna, I bought a bottle and every dose made me feel better. Seven bottles completely cured me."

A DESCRIPTION OF BRITISH COLUMBIA

By a Quebec Boy—Along the Line of the Grand Trunk Pacific.

The route of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway through the Province of British Columbia lies about 500 miles north of the C.P.R., and passes through a wild and uninhabited country, heretofore almost unknown, but full of undeveloped resources. A description, if this wonderful country, in which English and Eastern capital is already being plentifully invested, will naturally be extremely interesting at the present moment, and the Chronicle is able to present to its readers a description of the country written by a young Quebecer—Mr. Hope Scott—who made a trip of 1,400 miles last summer, from Vancouver to Prince Rupert by sea, and back through the interior, via Hazleton and Fort George.

Extract from diary of trip to Fort George:—

"Leaving Vancouver we took the C.P.R. steamer Princess Beatrice for Prince Rupert.

"The trip to Prince Rupert is grand. Huge mountains on every side clad in small timber, it rather reminded one of the Saguenay trip, only on a grander scale. On board the steamer we met all kinds of people, miners, prospectors and real estate men by the dozen. Some going to Portland Canal and others to Hazelton and different points along the route of the G.T.P. It was very interesting to talk with them. The service on board the C.P.R. boat is excellent, although I believe it is now surpassed by the magnificent steamers which the G.T.P. are now running.

"Price Rupert I was quite disappointed in. The harbor is magnificent and can shelter hundrsd of vessels and in this way, I understand, excels Port Simpson, which is not so well protected. The town consisting of about 5,000 is built on very hilly ground, at the back of which is a huge mountain, and from this mountain to the water front I do not think that there is more than a mile of frontage. The Grand Trunk townsite men have ruined the appearance of the place by cutting down nearly every tree. In this respect they have ruined the appearance of which cold be otherwise made a very beautiful place.

"The trip of 180 miles up the Skeena is a very grand one, being wild in the extreme. With its big canyons and swift running water, and, on either side of you, enormous mountains, covered in snow, it makes a trip that lives in one's memory. The Skeena is a very dangerous river, the average number of drowning accidents is about 20 annually.

"We passed numerous canneries on the way, but as the salmon were not running, we could not see the canneries in operation. In this I was very much disappointed, as I had hoped the spring run would be on. The only point of any importance between Rupert and Hazelton, at which we stopped, was a place called Ritsalas, interesting on account of a huge tunnel which the G.T.P. have to bore and which is nearly a mile long. At Ritsalas we had to make a transfer and take another boat further up the river, as the high water would not permit us to pass through a big canyon. We arrived in Hazelton two days later.

"From observations taken from the steamer I should say that it will be a long time before the railway will be completed from Prince Rupert to Edmonton. Not one single piece of steel had been laid on any one of the bridges, and I assure you that there is some difficult work to be done. The line is graded pretty well up to Hazelton, but there is an awful lot of work to be done yet. Lack of labor seems to be the chief drawback. There seemed to be very few men at work along the line, and I don't think there is much prospect of the road being completed within four years' time.

"Hazelton is a mining town with a floating population of, I should say, about five to seven hundred people. There is a big mining boom here now, and I staked a claim for myself which I hope may turn out to be good. We stayed in and around Hazelton for nearly a week, exploring lands.

"We were four in the party leaving Hazelton—myself, a timber cruiser and an Indian packer. We had six horses, each a saddle horse and two pack horses. Starting inland from the Skeena, we followed the Bulkley right up to Aldermere, which, as you know, is situated where the Bulkley and Telkwa Rivers join. All through this country is a veritable garden. Where it is not suitable for farming, there are magnificent timber limits abounding with all kinds of wood, which in size and quality would delight the lumber merchant of the East.

"Aldermere, in my estimation, is one of the best prospects along the line of the G.T.P. A division point of the railway, situated in the centre of a hundred square miles of coal (high grade), in the midst of a magnificent mixed farming country and with the Hudson Bay mountains close at hand in which large deposits of gold, silver and copper have been found, it truly present an attractive feature for the investor, who knows where to buy.

"From Aldermere on to Fraser Lake lands were staked in various places for our syndicate. It is needless for me to enter into a graphic description of these lands, inasmuch as you will get the report. I must say this, however, that we picked out the very best, all of which I have seen. Of course, it must be remembered that a farmer coming to British Columbia to settle must not think that he has only to put a plough in the ground like in Alberta. There is clearing to be done, but not a great deal. All your syndicate's lands I have seen, and I assure you that they were well chosen. They are timbered in very light poplar and in a great many places are ready for the plough. A couple of days after leaving Aldermere an unfortunate incident happened. We had a great many sloughs to ford and in crossing one of these, B—'s horse plunged and he lost his camera. It was an awful pity, as he was to have taken 150 pictures of the trip.

"From Aldennere to Fraser Lake good land is to be had, but after leaving Fraser Lake right to Fort George I was rather disappointed, as the country was pretty heavily timbered and had a sandy appearance. Of course, there were some good spots, but, on the whole, I was disappointed. We had only stayed at Fort George one afternoon and it was quite enough, as apart from the townsite, which we rode through, there is very little to see. There are only about 200 people there at present. There is no doubt about its being a big place on account of its position, but it will take time.

"Leaving Fort George we took the steamer Charlotte for Quesnel, and it was on this trip that the one really serious incident happened. At about 9 a.m. the captain seemed to lose his head and steered right for a big boulder in the middle of the stream. Well, we hit it, and you can imagine with what force when the boiler was moved 18 inches out of place. Steam spurted from all the pipes, and there was a general rush for the life buoys. However, the engineer managed to keep his head and managed to keep the engines going until we could get ashore by swinging into a back eddy. Our escape was nothing short of a miracle, as we were just coming into a big canyon and if we had ever got in there with the engines not working, none of us would have ever have come out alive. The crew managed to patch up things and we arrived in Quesnel that evening after a lovely trip down the Fraser. Quesnel is a pretty village, situated on the Fraser.

"From Quesnel we motored to Ashcroff, a distance of about 240 miles down the old caribou road, and from there to Vancouver. All the way down we saw lovely farms and ranches.

"I wish I could give you a better description of the country we passed through, but I am afraid I can't do any better, at least on paper."

Y.M.C.A. MEN'S MEETING.

The largest attendance of men at the Y.M.C.A. Sunday afternoon meetings was that of last Snuday, when nearly one hundred men were present to hear Dr. Brown. That attendance should be enlarged to-morrow when it is expected that Dr. John Forest, president of Dalhousie University and Moderator of the General Assembly, will be present and address the meeting.

The song service, led by a group of young men, always forms a bright part of the meeting. Meetings begin at 4.14; are short and interesting. All men invited.

Healthy Kidneys Are Essential to Health and Happiness

Many people have kidney trouble and do not know it. If you have dull aching pains in the back or have to get up often in the night you should lose no time in finding out if your kidneys are diseased. Mr. Edwin Denike, of 1121 Elm St., Peekskill, N.Y., suffered for years from kidney trouble and wants to let everyone know how he was cured.

In a recent letter Mr. Denike said: "I was sick a long time with kidney trouble. The doctor treated me, and finally gave me up as incurable. One day my wife brought home a bottle of Warner's Safe Cure, and I commenced using it. I cannot speak too highly of your medicine—it has done so much for me. I am sending this because I think it my duty as a man to tell my story to others so they can be helped also."

When the kidneys are diseased the uric acid is not carried off and this leads to Rheumatism, Backache, Gout and Bright's Disease. Warner's Safe Cure carries off the acid and soon the kidneys are healed.

Warner's Safe Cure is made from the fresh juices of plants and medicinal roots, gathered at the proper season in various quarters of the globe. It is prepared by men skilled in pharmacy and chemistry; is pleasant to the taste and agreeable to the most sensitive stomach. It is put up in 50c. and $1.00 sizes and sold by druggists everywhere.

Constipation and Biliousness.

Warner's Safe Pills purely vegetable, absolutely free from injurious substances, are a perfect laxative. They do not gripe or leave any bad after effects. 25 cents a box.

Trial Bottle and Box of Pills. To convince every sufferer from diseases of the kidneys, that WARNER'S SAFE CURE will cure them, a trial bottle an da sample of Warner's Safe Pills will be sent FREE OF CHARGE post-paid, to any one who will write WARNER'S SAFE CURE CO., Toronto, Ont., and mention having seen this liberal offer in the Chronicle. NEW PITCHER FOR THE MONTREAL CLUB.

Montreal, Nov. 25—President Lichtenstein of the Montreal club announced to-day the purchase of Pitcher Glaze, of the Indianapolis club of the American Association. Glaze is no stranger to the Eastern League, having played with Providence three seasons ago. Glaze is a graduate of Dartmouth, where he was chiefly noted for his ability as a football player. He was captain of the 'Varsity eleven, and five years ago was picked as one of the ends for the All-America team. VAUGHN PREFERS LAJOIE TO COBB

Yankees' Pitcher Thinks Big Frenchman is the Cleaner Hitter.

Oklahoma City, Nov. 25—"I believe I have seen Cobb credited with as many as twenty hits at Detroit. They seem to have an idea up there that when Cobb gets on first base he made a hit."

This is the statement of Pitcher Jim Vaughn, of the New York Highlanders, who has recently returned to his home in Weatherford, Texas, for the winter. In answer to the query who is the greatest hitter in the game, he immediately answered, "Lajoie." Vaughn said : "That's an easy question to answer. Lajoie is head and shoulders above them all. He can hit the ball harder than anybody I ever saw, and it is impossible to fool him. I struck Cobb out the first two times he faced me, and the third strikes were not called either. He made good, healthy swings at them. If Lajoie was as fast as Cobb, he would hit .800. I suppose that hitting of Lajoie's at St. Louis was all right. If the score keeper gave him the hits I believe he got them, but I believe that I have seen Cobb presented with as many as twenty hits at Detroit. They seem to have an idea up there that when Cobb gets on first base he has made a hit."

Vaughn gives glowing accounts of several of the Texas boys who are performing in the big leagues.

"Ward Miller told me a good one on Owen Wilson," he said, with a smile. "I am no great talker myself, but Ward says Owens tells them all howdy when he gets there and goodby when he leaves, and that is all they ever heard him say. He is a steady fellow, a steady hitter and a steady fielder, and you can take my word for it, Owen will be there a good long while. He is very much on the order of Hans Wagner.

"Earl Gardner played good ball all season, too, and is one of the headiest second basemen in the business. And Tris Speaker, well Tris has improved 50 per cent over last year. He is one grand outfielder. I think he helps Boston more than Cobb helps Detroit, and he is a fine fellow outside of his ball playing."

"I thought Philadelphia would win the series," said Vaughn, "but I had no idea their victory would be such a walkover. But I knew the mettle of that Philadelphia crowd, and I was never able to beat them during the season. I had two pitchers' battles with them, Coombs beating me 2 to 1, and Morgan 1 to 0. I knew any team would have trouble beating that bunch. They are a lively set of youngsters all around. The Athletics' pitchers are all to the good, and the Cubs' twirling staff is going backwards. The Cubs are not the baseball machine they were. Their inside work is good, but their pitching is not up to the old standard, by any means. The Athletics, on the other hand, are batting wonders. Take Murphy, for instance. He is a great hitter. Sometimes he steps back, sometimes he steps up, sometimes he stands still; but, in any case, he hits."

EASTERN AMATEUR STAND AGAIN.

Montreal, Nov. 25—There are a half a dozen or so gentlemen in Montreal at present, who while amateur athletes, will not be recognized as such should they intend to take part in any other sport but lacrosse.

This is the statement issued by Mr. Arthur Plow, Secretary of the Quebec session of the Amateur Athletic Union of Canada. "These gentlemen are unpaid players of the Montreal lacrosse team."

Mr. Plow brought the matter up at the annual meeting of the M.A.A.A., but claims that he was not given an opportunity to fully explain the situation, and he now announces that since these gentlemen did not comply with the rules of the A.A.U. of C., and did not ask permission of the authorities to play with and against professionals, he will refuse them amateur certificates should they desire to go into any other sport during the winter.

It seems that they will be able to get around the matter by making affidavits that they are amateurs. The matter may be brought up at the annual meeting of the union, which is to be held in Toronto on Saturday evening.

In the meantime, however, the gentlemen referred to, amongst whom are Ernie Hamilton, Andy Hamilton, Clarrie McKerrow, Roddy Finlayson, and a few others, are in a most equivocal position.

Boston, Nov. 25—Broken down by over-training, Jas. Cody, jr., a well-known all around athlete, died at his home in Newton late to-day, aged 26 years. He has gained notice as a high jumper and shot putter while carrying the colors of the Cambridgeport gymnasium, and for three years was the Y.M.C.A. State champion. He was picked to represent Massachusetts at the national championships at Chicago last summer and while training for that meet his health gave way.

CIRCLING THE WORLD ON STILTS

Two Acrobats Start on a Venturesome Journey on a Wager.

New York, Nov. 25—For a wager of $5,000 two German acrobats will attempt to circle the world on stilts They obtained a promise of police protection from Commissioner Cropsey this afternoon on the first leg of their journey through the crowded streets from the City Hall to the New Jersey ferry, and from there they will make their way to Philadelphia. The hour of the start has not yet been decided.

The young men are Albert Marder and Hans Hoeledampf, until recently stewards on a Transatlantic liner, and the purse they hope to win was raised by the steamship stewards Verein of Hamburg.

"We are expert stilt walkers," they said to-day. "We expect to walk eleven hours a day and we can travel five and a half miles an hour. We are not allowed to take any money with us and count on making a living by selling picture post cards. We will work our passage on the ocean laps of the journey."

NO MORE MATCH RACES SAYS C.A.A.U.

The C.A.A.U. have decided that henceforth no sanctions will be issued for meets having match races, that is, where the runners are billed to race in some special event and if the promoters are anxious to have certain runners compete against each other they will have to make the race an open event.

The C.A.A.U. have issued sanctions for the Burlington annual road race, of 11 miles, on Christmas Day, of which J. Armstrong, Burlington, is the secretary; also to the Martin road race at St. Catharines, a distance of 10 miles. In the past this race has always been held New Year's Day, but this year it has been changed to Christmas Day. W. A. Mooer, St. Catharines, is the secretary.

AMERICAN ENGINEER KILLED BY MEXICAN.

New Orleans, Nov. 25—James H. Reid. of Houston, Miss., a civil engineer, was according to a despatch received to-day from Mexico City, killed there by a policeman who sought by taking the life of an American, to avenge the burning of Antonio Rodriguez by a mob in Texas. In company with L. B. Loller, of Memphis, and some other friends, Reid last Friday had just stepped out of a restaurant when Sebastian Verderel, a policeman, fired two bullets into his body. When Reid fell Verederel exclaimed : "I have killed the gringo because the gringoes burned a Mexican." Verde rel was arrested and placed in jail. The shooting caused considerable excitement among the members of the American colony. The United States Ambassador has instituted a thorough investigation and will make demands for indemnity upon the Mexican Government. Reid was 33 years old. He had spent ten years in the Argentine Republic as a surveyor and civil engineer.

TRACK AUTHORITIES AGAINST THE POOL-ROOMS

Jacksonville, Fla., Nov. 25—As a move against the pool-rooms and handbooks through the country, announcement was made by the local racing association that beginning today the telegraph companies would not be allowed to send out any betting prices from Moncrief Park. According to the manager of the association, the matter will be adjusted in a day or two so that newspapers will be able to handle the results promptly and fully from the track.

SAFETY MUSEUM OPENED.

Many Devices For Guarding Life are Shown.

The American Museum of Safety established itself permanently in a large room on the sixth floor of the Engineering Societies' Building, in West 39th street, N. Y., last nighth, and by way of announcing the fact exercises were held in the auditorium on the third floor.

Themuseum exists for the purpose of displaying all sorts of inventions and contrivances for the preservation of human life.

The museum is the fourteenth of its kind in the world, but the first in this country. There are a dozen such museums in Europe and one in Canada. The room on the sixth floor of the Engineeirng Building is filled with a thousand and one devices, most of them of practically tested value. Here is a locking device, painted red, by which a boiler cleaner or repairer can head off all possibility of steam being turned on when he enters the boiler. There have been many accidents where boiler cleaners were scalded to death because some one, supposing the boiler to be empty, turned on the steam. The National Tube Company exhibits this device, with which its factories are supplied.

One simple device makes an ordinary gas cock lock automatically when it is turned either on or off, thus requiring a conscious effort for either operation. Its purpose is to prevent accidental asphyxiation.

The Travellers' Insurance Co., of Hartford, exhibits a device to be applied either to punching machines or printing presses to make it impossible for the operator to get a finger caught. The insurance company say pays to demonstrate this device and furnish free of charge blue-print diagrams for its construction.

C.P.R. LINE.

NORTH SHORE LINE.

R.&O. LINE.

Steamer Murray Bay left here for Montreal at 6 p.m. yesterday. She is the last boat of the line to leave for Montreal for the season.

WHITE STAR-DOMINION LINE.

R.M.S. Canada sailed from Liverpool at 4 p.m. Thursday for Halifax and Portland, with 97 cabin and 151 third-class passengers, of which 24 cabin and 34 third-class are to be landed at Halifax.

R.M.S. Laurentic will leave Portland for Liverpool on the 3rd of December, calling at Halifax for east-bound passengers.

DETAINED BY THE FOG.

Ocean steamers which left Montreal on Thursday last for sea had not reached here up to last night, being detained by fog and snow. Steamers Lake Champlain, Iona and Sloterdyk came to anchor yesterday morning off Batiscan and remained there all day, while the Navajo, which passed Three Rivers during the morning also had to come to anchor.

BROKE THE RECORD.

Halifax, Nov. 25.—The Empress of Ireland, Lieut. Forster, R.N.R., arrived yesterday morning from Liverpool, making her record trip of this port, travelling 2,455 miles in 5 days 16 hours and 26 minutes. Lieut. Forster stated that the weather was bad leaving Liverpool on Friday night last and they were obliged to carry the pilot on to Queenstown before landing him. On the following Tuesday rough weather was encountered, but during the rest of the trip the weather was good. The Ireland had 74 first, 156 second and 423 thirdclass passengers, and of this number 18 landed at Halifax.

CHANGE OF VENUE.

Montreal, Nov. 25.—Once more the venue of the inquiry into the collision between the Montcalm and the Kronprinz Olav has been changed. The order issued by the Department of Marine for the inquiry to be held in Quebec was inflicting not only a needless expense to the parties concerned, but also considerable inconvenience to the actual witnesses, since both the vessels will be in this port today, and there could be no adequate reason for ordering the members of the crews of the ships to make a trip to Quebec to give evidence when the same evidence could have been taken here at far less cost, both of time and money. The inquiry will be opened by Wreck Commissioner Demers this morning at 10 o'clock.

WAS THE LAW EVADED?

The Montreal Gazette of yesterday says: "The reported appropriation of $50,000 for new quarantine buildings at Grosse Isle has brought forth the thorough appreciation of every shipping firm in the port. That the present buildings are totally inadequate to the uses which they might be put to in time of stress is admitted on all hands, by none more than by the passengers of the Royal George, who have recently had occasion to inhabit them. Part of the block was built as long ago as 1835, when sailing ships were the only vessels which ploughed the waters of the St. Lawrence. At the same time, considerable comment has been aroused by the fact that the Royal George was allowed to come up the rive to Montreal and take on board passengers here for England. The contention is that if the matter was serious enough to cause quarantine regulations to be called into play, then it was also serious enough to have called for those regulations to have been really put into force. If this had been done every passenger on the vessel would have been landed at Grosse Isle, the ship herself would have been fumigated, and after she had taken on board the amount of coal she needed for the ocean trip, would have been sent back to the port from which she came. If this contention is correct, then there has been an evasion of the law somewhere."

OCEAN LINER'S MODEL.

That of Titanic to Cost a Small Fortune.

The most complete and painstakingly built ship model ever constructed is to-day on exhibition at the Flatiron Building, Broadway and Twenty-third street. It is a miniature reproduction of the White Star liner Titanic, to be launched in the early spring. Built on a scale of a quarter inch to the foot, the model has a total length of 19½ feet and a beam of three feet.

Eight men devoted their whole attention for practically a year in the Harland & Wolf shipyard at Belfast, Ireland, to the construction of this model. The hull they shaped from a huge oak log. Whereas nearly all other steamship models have been made of solid timber, this one has been hollowed and an electric ventilation system installed, it having been found that the solid hull invarably warped and split.

All the superstructure is of thin sheet metal, fine wire and brass castings. Everything is drawn carefully to scale, even to the tiny handles of the winches. In the interior of the model electric lights have been placed and these shine out through the miniature portholes in a very lifelike manner.

No details has been omitted. From the wireless apparatus to the binnacle the ship stands complete. It lacks only crew and passengers, and water to float it. A liliputian searchlight throws its pencil beam ahead, and port, starboard and masthead lights glimmer in conformity to the nautical law. Altogether this wonderful little craft cost the builders $12,500.

WHAT IS AN EQUINOX?

"Father," said little Tommy one day, "what is an equinox?"

Father—"Why, er—it is—ahem! For goodness' sake, Tommy, don't you know anything about mythology at all? An equinox was a fabled animal—half horse, half cow. Its name is derived from the word 'equine' and 'ox.' It does seem as if these public schools don't teach children anything nowadays."—Strand.

Gossip from the Footlights' Glow

While Quebec is revelling in the delights—more or less—of moving pictures and vaudeville, it has not altogether lost interest in things dramatic or operatic. The dramatic interest has been kept alive by the really superb work which the talented stock company at the Theatre Nationale is doing. For its operatic inspiration it depends largely upon the reviews in the Montreal, Toronto and New York papers. The remarkable success which the grand opera company of the Montreal Musical Society is meeting in the sister city has whetted the musical appetite of Quebecers, who hope to have the pleasure of hearing them during Christmas week.

As prophesied by Henry B. Harris early last spring, the current theatrical season seems to be one in which comedies predominate. The theatrical managers have long been known to follow in the character of their productions, the first signal hit of the season.

Henry B. Harris started off this season by scoring the first signal success with James Forbes' comedy, "The Commuters," and two weeks later "The Country Boy," another comedy which scored a big hit. Immediately following these two productions, every manager, in New York sent to the front, their contributions of comedies, and as a result, from the 15th of August, when "The Commuters" was produced on Broadway, until the first of November, New York has simply been swamped with plays built along comedy lines. The question now revolving in the minds of the managers is: "Has New York public seen enough of comedies; if so, what will be the character of the next turn of the public taste?"

Helen Ware, who is starring in "The Deserters," in a recent interview said:

"Women have no sense of humor, that's why they shouldn't be politicians and mix up the vote.

"Women would have a sense of humor if they hadn't smothered all their laughs century after century, because they have always been afraid they would laugh in the wrong place and incur criticism.

"Humor of the kind we have in our modern plays is visible. It touches some and pleases others, but invariably I hear the laughter of the men above the laughter of the women in the theatre.

"Women generally compromise between a titter a suppressed shout, if the humor of a situation has penetrated their 'literal' bones.

"If women had a sense of humor they wouldn't quarrel over men.

"They wouldn't say catty things about clothes.

"They wouldn't care whether their hats cost $5 or $50.

"They wouldn't try to vote.

"They wouldn't marry so often or so rashly.

"They wouldn't marry for money."

Robert Edeson, who is starring in "Where the Trial Divides," says that the most remarkable work that has been done by actors on the stage, has been in melodramatic roles. Take the late Sir Henry Irving, for example. The part, that brought him his first general recognition as the leading English actor of his time was "Mathias" in "The Bells." He followed this up with his duel parts in "The Lyons Mail," his wonderful study in "Louis XI," and then came his Napolian in "Mme. Sans Gene," and lastly his wonderful interpretation of "Robespierre." Mansfield, great character actor that he was, won lasting fame in melodramatic parts with his "Baron Chevreal" and his "Jekyll and Hyde." Kyrle Bellew made his first pronounced American hit in the melodramatic part of the Spider in "The Silver King." James O'Neil with his Edmund Dantes in "Monte Cristo"; in fact, from the very beginning of theatrical history in America, up to the present time, the sterling qualities of the melodramatic parts, with their ample opportunities of giving play to nerve-thrilling and heart-throbbing acting, have done more to establish the reputation of actors than all the comedy parts that have ever been written, or ever will be written.

It is the romantic actor with his melodramatic role that stamps himself while the actor who makes you laugh is forgotten in the rush of to-morrow's events.

Lawrence Hutton, in his work on "Curiosities of the American Stage," published by Harper Brothers, has the following to say on the early history of Ethiopian ministrelsy:

"Thomas D. Rice is generally conceded to have been the founder of Ethiopian ministelsy. Although, as has been seen, it did not originate with him, he made it popular on both sides of the Atlantic, and his image deserves an honored niche in its cathedral. The history of "Jim Crow" Rice, as he was affectionately called for many years, has been written by many scribes, and in many different ways, the most complete and most truthful account, perhaps, being that of Edmon S. Conner, who described in the columns of the New York Times, June 5, 1881, what he saw and remembered of the birth of Jim Crow. Mr. Conner was a member of the company at the Columbia Street Theatre, Cincinnati, in 1828-29, when he first met Rice, 'doing little negro bits' between the acts at that house, notably a sketch he had studied from life in Louisville the preceding summer. Back of the Louisville theatre was a livery kept by a man named Crow. The actors could look into the stable yard from the windows of their dressing rooms, and were fond of watching the movements of an old decrepit slave who was employed by the proprietor to do all sorts of odd jobs. As was the custom among the negroes, he had assumed his master's name, and called himself Jim Crow. He was very much deformed, the right shoulder was drawn up high, and the knee, which gave him a painful but at the same time ludicrous limp. He was in the habit of crooning a queer old time, to which he had applied words of his own. At the end of each verse he gave a peculiar step, 'rocking de heel,' in the same manner since so general among the many generations of his imitators, and these were the words of his refrain:

"'Wheel about, turn about,

An' ebery time I wheel about
I jump Jim Crow.'

"Rice closely watched this unconscious performer, and recognized in him a character entirely new to the stage. He wrote a number of verses, quickened and slightly changed the air, made up exactly like the original, and appeared before a Louisville audience, which, as Mr. Conner says, 'went mad with delight,' recalling him on the first night at least twenty times. And so Jim Crow jumped into fame and something that looks almost like immortality.

"Rice was born in the Seventh Ward of New York in 1808. He was a supernumerary at the Park Theatre, where 'Sam' Cowell remembered him in 'Bombastes Furioso,' attracting so much attention by his eccentricities that Hilson and Barnes, the leading characters in the cast, made a formal complaint and had him dismissed from the company; Corwell adding that this man, whose name did not even appear in the bills, was the only actor on the stage whom the audience seemed to notice.

"He went to England in 1836, where he met with great success, laid the foundation of a very comfortable fortune, and professionally he was the Buffalo Bill of the London of half a century ago. Mr. Ireland, speaking of his popularity in this country, says that he drew more money to the Bowery Theatre than any other performer in the same period of time.

"Rice was the author of many of his own farces, notably 'Bone Squash' and 'The Virgina Mummy,' and he was the veritable originator of the 'genus,' known to the stage as the 'dandy darky,' represented particularly in his creations of 'Daily Jim of Caroline' and 'Spruce Pink.'

"He died in 1860, never having forfeited the respect of the public or the good will of his fellow men."

SUNFLOWER PHILOSOPHY.

Atchison (Kan.) Globe.

Poetic justice is when some mine promoter is held up and robbed by bandits.

A man is rarely as prominent and popular in the town he comes from as he claims.

People don't do as much talking about you as you think they do, unless you are leading man in a scandal.

The first time a man is elected to public office his friends begin to tell it around that he is a new factor in politics to be reckoned with.

When a man buys a new suit his wife tells him it looks nice. When a woman buys a new dress her husband has to keep talking about it until it is worn out.

Get rid of the row! Don't look for trouble; look for peace! Other people are as tired as you are of unnecessary, damaging bickering and strife, and will meet you half way.

We are not very smart—as has been remarked many times during our long newspaper career—but we have yet to be fooled by a wig worn by a man. Women can fool us, but men can't.

Busy yourself with work instead of with gossip. Success in life is more enjoyable than the juiciest piece of scandal. Busy yourself with building yourself up, rather than in tearing others down.

SPLENDID PROSPERITY OF THE SOUTH.

In these days the South is the favored section of the United States. The value of its cotton crop, including the by-products, is placed at $1,000,000,000 for 1910. If the coal, iron and steel yield of the year could be appraised in anything like exact terms, it would also be found to reach a high figure. Moreover, half of the cotton crop which is retained in this country for manufactures is worked up in the South. Mills have been placed beside plantations. In the various fields of industry—agricultural, mining and manufacturing—all the South's people are profitably employed. Thus its natural resources are being developed and its activities are growing in a symmetrical way. One result of this expansion in the South's industries is shown in the census returns. While Baltimore, New Orleans and Louisville, its largest cities, have increased at only a moderate pace in the past decade, most of its other towns of importance have grown at a high ratio.—Leslie's.

'TIS VERY DULL HUMOR.

A stolid looking man sat in the train reading an Australian humorous paper. It was serious work to him, and one joke seemed very hard to appreciate. He turned to the man next to him and told him how stupid the humorist had been. The joke was about the conversation of some English workmen at the end of the day.

The first workman had said: "What do you think I seed to-day?"

"Dunno; can't guess. What war it?" said the other.

"Did you cut 'im down?" said his companion.

"No; he warn't dead yet!" replied the other.

NERVE AGONIES

Nerves that are over-worked or weak quickly indicate their distress by pain. That pain may be neuralgia or inflamed nerves, usually affecting the head, but often the spine and limbs. It may be nervous dyspepsia, easily started by worry, excitement or weakness. It may be St. Vitus dance, a common affliction among children, or neurasthenia, a condition of general nervous exhaustion accompanied by acute melancholy. Worst of all the pain may signal the early stages of paralysis or nervous decay. All these disorders signify that the hungry nerves are clamoring for nourishment in the form of good, rich blood. The numerous cures of the above named nervous disease and weakness in both sexes by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, are accounted for by the fact that these Pills actually make new, rich blood and so supply the starved nerves with the vital elements needed to strengthen them. Mr. Wm. G. Jones, Westmead, Man., says: "A few years ago it was my misfortune to suffer from nercous debility, brought about through a severe attack of la grippe or influenza. When the first effects were felt I tried to wake up in the middle of sleep trembling like a leaf, and in a bath of cold perspiration. Later the trouble grew so bad that I scarcely got a wink of sleep, and would toss about in bed, growing so weak that I feared for my life. A doctor was called in, and then another, but without avail. I became more and more low spirited, and without any apparent reason would have fits of crying. While in this condition, a nervous wreck, a pamphlet was given me telling what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills had done for others, and I determined to give them a trial. By the time I had finished a few boxes I began to get some sleep, and this greatly encouraged me. Then my strength began to return, my nerves grew steadier and in a few weeks more I was feeling as well as ever I did in my life, and you may be sure I will always gratefully recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to every one sick or ailing, as they restored me to health and strength after all other medicines had failed."

You can get these Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from the Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

SLAYER, BARRICADED FIRES ON ALL COMERS

Holds Fort in a Business Block After Killing One Man and Shooting Two Brothers.

Newcastle, Col., Nov. 25.—William Griffith, a saloonkeeper, enraged at his conviction for assault, shot and killed one man badly wounded two others in the street here to-day. He is now barricaded in a room in the Bank block and shooting through his window at every one who approaches.

William Davis, a bystander, is the man killed. He was shot through the head. City Marshal Remmix was wounded in the abdomen. Philip Carpenter, a pioneer of the town, who was passing was shot in the neck and will die.

Griffith was convicted in the District Court at Glenwood Springs yesterday on a charge of assault, the complainant being J. T. Sample. Pending an appeal he was released on bond. He returned to Newcastle and Sample was the first person he saw after entering from the car,

He opened fire on Sample, who fled, with Griffith in pursuit. Marshal Remmix tried to intercept the saloonkeeper and was shot, after which Griffith fired into a crowd of spectators.

CROWN PRINCE OF GERMANY VISITS BUDDAH'S SHRINE

Esoteric Religion of Orient Is Explained to Kaiser's Son in Ceylon.

Colombo, Nov. 25.—Mr. Anree, an enterprising photographer, approached the Crown Prince of Germany and the Crown Princess on Monday and asked:—"Would you mind?" After replying "Certainly not" Their Highnesses stood at the side of their rickshaw and an excellent photograph was taken.

They drove from Kandy to the Pallakelly estate yesterday and were welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. Murray and were shown the various operations of harvesting and the preparation of cocoa for the market, and rubber trees tapped, coagulated and made into biscuits. They visited the Temple of the Tooth this morning and were taken in charge by a Buddhist high priest and two picturesque garbed Kandyan chiefs, who showed them Buddah's tooth, the magnificent golden shrines bespangled with gems, an image of Buddha a foot high, made of the purest crystal, and the Oriental library, containing books, with pages of palm leaves and writing scratched on them with a style.

The Prince asked many questions regarding the Buddhist religion. He inquired if Kandy Lake were artificial, and when told expressed the opinion that Kink Sri Wyckreya Rajashinho seemed to have an eye for beautiful scenery.

WEAK SICKLY BABIES MAKE HOME WRETCHED

No home is happy where there is a sick baby. The sufferings of the little one makes the whole household wretched, for what mother or father would not rather suffer themselves than to see their little one suffer. But there is no reason for wretched homes because baby is ill. Baby's Own Tablets will cure all the minor ills of babyhood and childhood; not only that, but an occasional dose of the Tablets will keep baby well. Thousands of mothers have found happiness through the Tablets making their little ones well and happy. Among them is Mrs. C. C. Roe, of Georgetown, Ont., who writes: "I can heartily recommend Baby's Own Tablets as a help to the baby during the hot summer season. We have used them and are much pleased with their results." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

CLEVER RUSSIAN SWINDLERS.

The Plausible Old Military Man Who Made a St. Petersburg Jeweler Whom He Robbed Act as His Accomplice. The Energetic Police Agents.

Nowhere is a uniform more potent than in Russia, and that fact has more than once been utilized by swindlers in their daring operations.

Some years ago a jeweler on the Nevsky Prospekt of St. Petersburg received a visit one sunny afternoon from an old and decrepit officer in the uniform of a general. The old gentleman was assisted from his carriage to the counter by an attentive footman in livery. The smiling jeweler received him with the deference due to his rank and accommodated him with a chair. The gentleman had come to choose a birthday present for his wife.

The tradesman displayed his most valuable collars and tiaras. The veteran lingered over them lovingly. At last he made choice of a costly suit and intimated that it would meet his purpose.

Tremblingly the old soldier sought in his breast for his pocketbook. He had sallied forth without it. The disappointment of both shopman and customer was acute. The general, however, was not a strategist without resource. With apologies he asked for writing materials and essayed to pen a letter to his home. The excitement acting upon his palsied hands made his writing illegible. The jeweler was in despair. The old man sighed and remarked upon the sad consequences of campaigns. The jeweler was touched. He had an inspiration.

"Will your excellency permit me to write the instruction to your dictation?"

The general was delighted and most gratefully accepted the offer.

On the business paper of his firm the jeweler wrote the stumbling words of the veteran:

Dear Anna—I have need of money. Please take 5,000 rubles from my safe and return by bearer. Lovingly yours,

IVAN.

The general's own footman was dispatched with the note. The old man sat admiring the jewels until in due course the servant returned with the 5,000 rubles. The tiara was bought and paid for. The jeweler escorted his distinguished client to the carriage and stood bowing as he drove away.

That evening when the jeweler returned to his home his wife asked why he had withdrawn so large a sum from the family safe.

"What sum?" asked the shopkeeper in surprise.

"Why, the 5,000 rubles you sent for this afternoon."

"Five thousand rubles! I don't understand."

"Heavens, here's your letter!"

The wife produced the letter in the jeweler's own handwriting upon the jeweler's own business note paper, and he for the first time realized that the common name of Anna and the common name of Ivan were respectively those of himself and his wife as well as of the palsied officer and his visionary spouse.

Of the same genre, though differing in detail, was another swindle perpetrated upon a jeweler in St. Petersburg. The mystery surrounding the composition of the secret service force is the most effective, too, in the hands of the intelligent Russian criminal. On the Grande Morskala is one of the most magnificent jewelry stores in Europe, the house of Fauberge. To it one day drove up a splendidly appointed equipage, in which were seated two ladies. The ladies descended at Fauberge's and were received as customers of distinction. The older lady introduced herself as the wife of a well known statesman recently returned from abroad. She explained that she had been authorized by her husband to choose a collar of diamonds. The jeweler spread before her the gems of his collection.

After much hesitation the lady picked one of the most expensive, but to her dismay the price exceeded that suggested by her husband. The salesman dreaded to lose so profitable a customer. Could not madam obtain the consent of her excellency's husband to the purchase? The lady meditated and at length begged permission to drive to the office of her husband's ministry—the distance was not great—to show him the collar and gain his permission to buy it. Her companion would remain in the shop during her absence as a hostage. The jeweler was delighted with the suggestion.

The lady departed in her carriage. Time passed—quarter of an hour, half an hour, three-quarters of an hour.

Suddenly there rushed into the shop two police agents, who announced their authority and showed their official badges. They assured the astonished Fauberge that he had been swindled. The jeweler trembled. He produced his hostage. The detectives seized upon her. Protesting, she was hustled into a hack and driven away to the police office.

It was the last the jeweler saw of the woman, the police agents or the diamonds. The detectives were the coachman and the footman of the brilliant equipage, who had changed their clothes and returned to rescue their accomplice.

THE GRAND TRUNK PACIFIC

Offers for Sale its Splendidly Located Lots in the Townsite of

Melville

"the Wonderful"

Melville's Astonishing Growth

Three years ago Melville had but one building—to-day it has over 500 buildings and this number is constantly being added to. The assessed value of Melville real estate in 1909 was $512,360. The assessed value of Melville real estate in 1910 was 1,792,000, an increase in the past year of 350 per cent. The same forces which have caused this rapid increase in population and realty values are still operative, but their influence is cumulative, and the proportionate rate of growth in population and advance in values should increase from month to month.

Every day the traffic on the main line of the G. T. P. is increasing, and with every increase comes an addition to the force of railroad employes, making Melville their homes and headquarters. With every additional mile of steel laid on the Hudson Bay, the Regina, Lethbridge and International Boundary branch lines, Melville trade territory is increased.

A population of 10,000 for Melville will mean an increase manyfold in the value of real estate in all parts of the town, based upon present values. If real estate has advanced in some instances 500 to 1,000 per cent. in two years, during which time the population was increasing from 625 to 2,000, it is reasonable to expect a much larger proportion of increase in values while the town is advancing from 2,000 to 10,000.

Advance in Values at Melville

Melville Lots which originally sold at $75 to $100 a lot, are now being sold as high as $500 a lot. The site of the Municipal Rink was purchased originally for $225, and a year ago was sold to the city for $1,250. Two other lots sold originally at $100 and $150 respectively. J. Rowan bought the two lots later for $1,200, and sold one for $1,200 and the other for $1,500. Two other lots, which were originally bought for $350, were recently tendered to the city as the site for a town hall at $2,000 each.

A special correspondent of the Winnipeg Free Press writes of Melville real estate values as follows:

"In the central business sections lots average from $800 to $2,500, whilst upon the Main Street properties between Second and Third Avenues the sales have averaged $100 per foot. Prices of lots in the residental quarter average from $75 to $500 a lot. Recently a corner site, comprising six lots on Main Street, was offered to the town council for the new town hall, at the actual market value of $16,000. Last year a large number of business premises and residences were erected, which, according to official statistics approximated $300,000. Judging from the rate of building actively which now obtains, these figures will certainly not be lessened this year."

Buy Direct From Grand Trunk Pacific

The rapid increase in population of Western Canada towns has made fortunes for thousands of investors who had the foresight to discern the possibilities for profitable investments and the courage to back their judgment. You cannot make a mistake in buying lots in a divisional point city. The railroa makes the city and, in the case of Melville, no new city along the line of the G.T.P. between Winnipeg and Edmonton is likely to grow more rapidly.

The Grand Trunk Pacific does not plat into townsites land located in swamps or so far away from the city proper as to make the lots of questionable value. The purpose of the Grand Trunk Pacific in selling these lots is to encourage the upbuilding of Melville, from which the Grand Trunk Pacific will receive more benefit than from the amount of money secured from the sale of the lots. It is for this reason that the Grand Trunk Pacific is offering lots in this townsite at such a low price and on such easy terms. No interest is charged on deferred payments, and when the final payment is made the purchaser can rest easy in the knowledge that he will receive perfect title to his lots and that they will be located exactly as represented.

Melville Has No Near Competitors

Melville's future as a commercial centre is as assured as are its transportation advantages. It has no dangerous competitors within striking distance. In a commercial sense it is strategically located—a point the Grand Trunk doubtless had in mind when selecting it as one of the chief divisional points on their system. It is 279 miles from Winnipeg, nearly 100 from Regina, almost 200 from Saskatoon and over 150 from Brandon. These are the cities with which it must compete, and the distance from each is such as to permit Melville to expand and grow in friendly rivalry, and with even greater speed. To the north lies a vast territory, as yet commercially undeveloped, but which will be opened up by the building of the Hudson Bay Railway. Melville is ready to take immediate advantage of this development, and is of all other cities of Western Canada the one best qualified by geographical position to do so. The fact that it is sitting right at the gates of this coming business is one that is already recognized by wholesale and distributing firms. Manufacturers and distributors will here erect branch houses as they have done at Regina and Saskatoon, and this will involve not only large building expenditures and monthly pay-rolls, but also increased population and local business of a permanent and highly desirable character.

An Important Grand Trunk Pacific Divisional Point

The Largest New Town on the G.T.P. Between Winnipeg and Edmonton

Melville's Excellent Strategic Position

But few towns in Western Canada can approach Melville in the matter of transportation facilities. It is both a divisional and junction point on the greatest transcontinental railway on the American Continent—The Grand Trunk Pacific. The ardently desired Hudson Bay railway, the dream of the prairie pioneer, is now in process of construction, and is already completed from Melville to Canora and trains are running between these points. This road will bring past the doors of Melville the bulk of the grain crop of Western Canada, and make it one of the great traffic centres of the country. Another branch line is now being constructed from Melville to Lethbridge, by way of Regina, from which point another branch line is being constructed to the International Boundry. When completed this line will give Melville transportation facilities to all points in the United States. This road is already completed from Melville to Balcarres, and trains are now operating between these points. The main line of the G.T.P. from Melville will afford five water outlets, namely, Prince Rupert, B.C., on the Pacific Ocean, Halifax, N.S., on the Atlantic Ocean, St. John, N.B., on Newfoundland Bay, Fort Churchill, on Hudson Bay, and Fort William and Port Arthur, on Lake Superior.

Melville has many unquestionable points of superiority over other Canadian towns in the matter of transportation facilities. It resembles Chicago in "sitting at the gates of trade." The junction point of railways so important as the Grand Trunk Pacific and Hudson Bay Railway must, in the natural course of events, become an important City.

Melville as a Manufacturing Centre

It is inevitable that Melville must become a jobbing centre of much importance. Already several big concerns have made it a distributing point for their goods, others are seeking locations there for branch houses. Two big implement concerns, two brewing companies and one oil company now use Melville as a distributing point, and another oil company has established a branch at Melville and is negotiating for a tract of land near the railroad.

The lead taken by these institutions is about to be followed by others of similar importance, and in a short time the railway yards will be hedged in by warehouses and mercantile establishments.

As a distributing point, Melville has strategic advantages which wholesalers will not overlook. It will command a large part of the jobbing trade for a considerable distance up and down the main line of the Grand Trunk Pacific and the two important branch lines which centre there. Its shipping facilities make it an especially advantageous location for manufactories. The completion of the Grand Trunk Pacific branch line westward to Lethbridge will give Melville direct connection with the coal fields of Southern Alberta and provide one of the main requisites for a manufacturing centre—cheap fuel.

Backed by a rich agricultural district, an important railroad centre, a distributing centre and a manufacturing centre, Melville cannot help continuing to grow rapidly, and continued growth means continued increase in real estate values and big profits for those who invest in real estate there at present prices. To-day is the time to buy lots in Melville.

Why Melville Lots Will Increase in Value

A few years ago what are now the important cities of Western Canada were no larger than Melville is to-day, and probably had no advantages that Melville does not have. It is usually safe to judge the future by the past. Fortunes were made by the early investors in lots in Calgary, Edmonton, Regina, Moose Jaw, Saskatoon, Lethbridge and Prince Albert. Almost innumerable instances might be cited where lots located in these cities were offered to and refused by investors at from $100. to $300. a lot. These same lots, in some instances, are now worth upwards of $25,000, but the opportunity to reap the large profits that were made by the early investors in these cities, at ground floor prices, is gone forever.

History repeats itself. The profits that have been made by far-sighted investors in real estate in the growing cities of Western Canada will be repeated in Melville. But these profits will be made by those who have confidence in the future of Western Canada and invest in well located lots at present low prices—not by those who delay from day to day until this opportunity is gone also.

The Grand Trunk Pacific offers, in its splendidly located lots in the townsite of Melville, an opportunity to the investor to share in the large profits that will accrue to him as the result of the rapid growth of the town. When Melville lots have doubled, trebled and quadrupled in value it will be poor consolation for you to look back and remember that you had an opportunity to share in these profits but did not take advantage of it.

Now is the time to buy—the prices for choice lots are extremely low and the possibilities for profit practically unlimited.

We Will Select Your Lots

The building of the Railway from Melville to Hudson Bay will extend over a period of at least three or four years. During this time we believe Melville will be the best known Grand Trunk Pacific division between Winnipeg and Edmonton. This will necessarily create a great deal of activity in Melville real estate and this will redound to the benefit of the owner of Melville lots.

In order to secure well-located lots, it is not necessary that you specify the lot and block number. All the lots in this Grand Trunk Pacific townsite are practically level prairie land. The Grand Trunk Pacific does not offer for sale lots located in swamps or so far from the town proper as to make the lots of questionable value.

Mr. J. Rowan is our exclusive agent at Melville for the sale of lots in the G. T. P. Townsite. Mr. Rowan is one of the pioneer residents of Melville, and a member of the Board of Trade. He will take pleasure in giving information relative to these lots to any one interested.

Our representative is well acquainted with the location of these lots and we will select for you the best ones remaining unsold. Don't wait to write, but telegraph us, at our expense, the number of lots you desire us to reserve for you, and the price you wish to pay. Then forward your remittance direct to the Land Commissioner of the Grand Trunk Pacific.

If selection of lots made by our representative is not satisfactory the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway Company agree, at any time within thirty days from date of purchase, to give the purchaser his choice of lots remaining unsold, at the same price, or refund all money paid.

All telegraphic reservations and correspondence should be sent to International Securities Co., Somerset Bldg., Winnipeg, Man., and it is important that Melville be mentioned in such telegrams and letters.

In case you desire further particulars, maps, etc., before ordering lots, use coupon below.

FICTIONAL ACQUAINTANCES.

An enthusiast's dictionary of the novels of Sir Walter Scott informs us that there are no less than 2,836 characters in his stories. These figures serve to make us realize how surpassingly large is the circle of purely imaginative acquaintances whose names and characteristics and stories the lover of literature and art stories in his memory in the course of a lifetime, and how cosmopolitan the company is.

In infancy we are introduced to the early racial circle of acquaintances whom we inherit from our earliest ancestors—fairies good and wicked, heroes of many climes, imaginary people whom we never forget and do not allow to be forgotten by those who come after us. Then follow the giants of childhood—Robinson Crusoe, Christian the Pilgrim, Don Quixote, Gulliver. Passing acquaintances, once liked but readily forgotten, we pass over. And now the circle widens suddenly. The companions of a lifetime come trooping out of past and present: Homer's heroes and heroines, King Arthur's court, Canterbury pilgrims, Shakespeare's immortal company, the men and women Thackeray drew, a few of George Eliot's characters, Dickens' unforgettable types, and, from abroad, Dumas' swashbucklers, Balzac's crowded human comedy, some of Daudet's personages, Tolstoi's Anna, Kipling's Soldiers Three and junglefolk, Hester Prynne, Meredith's great creations, Anatole France's M. Bergeret and his contemporaries. We mention only a few.

Who shall compute the numbers of the acquaintances the average cultured man or woman makes in the imaginative realms of the arts? They are legion, and yet they, their names, their stories and their settings form but a small part of the harvest which the modern mind stores without effort and the modern memory easily classifies for instant reference. Room is found, besides, for the masterpieces of painting, from La Gioconda to Sargent's portraits.

HELPLESS CRIPPLE FROM RHEUMATISM

Five Boxes Of "Fruit-a-tives" Cured He

4 HOME PLACE, TORONTO, DEC. 15th, 1909.

"I was a terrible sufferer from Rheumatism for nearly a year, and my right arm was swollen and the pain was fearful. All down the right side, the pain was dreadful, and I could hardly move for the agony. I was treated by two physicians but their medicine did me no good, and I tried numerous other remedies but received no benefit. I was simply a helpless cripple and suffered from Rheumatism all during last winter.

I saw "Fruit-a-tives" advertised in "The Telegram" and decided to try this remedy. After I had taken one box, I was much better and the pain less, and I continued the treatment with good hopes. When I had taken three boxes, I was so well that I could use my arm again and the pain was practically gone. After I had taken five boxes, I was entirely well again—no pain—no suffering—and now I am as WELL as I ever was.

The cure of my case by "Fruia-a-tives" was indeed splendid because all the doctors failed to even relieve me of my sufferings.

For the sake of others who may suffer from this terrible disease, Rheumatism, I give you permission to publish this statement."

MRS. LIZZIE BAXTER.

"Fruit-a-tives" is the only remedy that actually cures Rheumatism, and Sciatica because "Fruit-a-tives" is the only medicine that actually prevents Uric Acid being formed in any quantity in the body. If there is no excess of uric acid in the blood, there can be no Rheumatism.

"Fruit-a-tives" keeps the stomach clean—the liver active—the bowels regular—the kidney strong and the skin healthy. These are the organs that rid the body of all waste. When "Fruit-a-tives" so regulates the system that all waste is eliminated, then there can be no waste or "urea" to be changed into uric acid. Thus, there can be no uric acid in the blood, to inflame nerves and cause the pain which we know by the names of Rheumatism, Sciatica, Lumbago, Neuralgia. "Fruit-a-tives" will cure very trace of Rheumatism, Pain in The Back, Swollen Hands and Feet, and other troubles due to the blood being poisoned by uric acid.

If you are subject to Rheumatism, cure yourself now with "Fruit-a-tives" and be free of pain this winter.

50c a box, 6 for $2.50, trial size 25c. At all dealers, or sent postpaid on receipt of price by Fruit-a-tives Limited, Ottawa, Ont.

FRENCH LANGUAGE IN PROTSTANT SCHOOLS.

The quarterly meeting of the Protestant Committee of the Council of Public Instruction took place yesterday morning under the presidency of Rev. Dr. Shaw, the other members of the committee present being His Lordship Bishop Dunn, Rev. Dr. A. T. Love, Principal Paterson, Prof. Kneeland, Rev. Dr. Rexford, Dr. Shurtleff, Dr. Robbins, Dr. Rowatt, Hon. P. S. G. Mackenzie, Mr. Sutherland and Miss M. Ferguson, the latter newly appointed representative of the Teachers' Association. A special committee, consisting of Principal Paterson, Rev. Dr. Love, Judge McCorkill, Dr. Shurtleff and Dr. Rexford, was appointed to wait on Sir Lomer Gouin and ask for a grant of money to secure the teaching of French in the principal schools.

A resolution of regret was adopted on the death of the late Hon. J. K. Ward, who was an active and energetic member of the Protestant Committee since 1903, and who never was missing from a meeting except when prevented from doing so by illness. Dr. Parmelee, the secretary of the committee, read the announcement of the election of Miss M. Ferguson as the representative on the committee of the Protestant Teachers' Association. The application of Pointe-aux-Trembles for a superior education grant was considered, and after discussion it was resolved that no such grant should be given to institutions that are not devoting themselves entirely to educational work. An application was before the committee from Mr. C. W. Ford, who applied for an inspector's qualifying examination. The request was granted and the secretary instructed to arrange for such examination.

A proposal to define a course of reading for the inspector's examination was adopted and a committe ws apointed to prepare such a course.

In the afternoon session the reports of the secretary and sub-committee regarding bursaries was read and other business was also dealt with.

THE BOARD OF TRADE BUILDING

Great Improvements and Alterations Made to It—Now an Up-to-date Structure.

For some years past the building in which the meetings of the Quebec Board of Trade were held had become unsuitable for which it was constructed. Therefore, it was decided last spring to make such alterations and improvements as would convert it into an up-to-date building suitable to modern wants of the Board and a credit to a city of the size and importance of Quebec.

A contract was given out and in the month of June the work of alterations and repairs was commenced. The building was completely gutted, hardly anything but the walls and roof being left standing. The work was pushed on steadily, with the result that the building was opened yesterday for inspection, and was visited by a large number of merchants, members of the press, etc.

Formerly there was only one room in use for the holding of the Board's meetings, reading room and Secretary's office. This room has been divided into three by placing folding doors across the centre and partitioning off the northeast corner as an office for the Secretary.

The walls have been wainscotted in stained white wood up to a height of six feet, the plastering above being painted in a pale green, while the ceiling is white. The meeting room is laid out something after the style of the Legislative Assembly Hall. At the head of the room are placed three chairs for the use of the President, the First and Second Vice-Presidents, the centre one for the President, who will have the Vice-Presidents either side. Down the centre of the room is a large table for the use of the Secretary and members of the Council of the Board. The members of the Board will occupy armed chairs on each side of the apartment, to the right and left of the President. Formerly when a member wished to make a motion he wrote it on his knee, but on the new seats there are placed moveable boards which can be used as a writing desk. All the furniture in the building is in oak, the chair seats being upholstered in leather.

In the old room the acoustic properties were very poor and it was hard for a person speaking at the upper end. Now by means of the folding doors, the meeting room is almost square, and a person speaking in a moderate tone can be heard on all sidess. The portion of the room outside the folding doors will be used as a reading room. Should a public meeting be held in the building by turning back the folding doors, accommodation can be afforded two hundred and fifty people.

Over the chairman's seat is a large frame containing photographs of past and present members of the Board, amongst them being that of Mr. John Glass, who has been a member since the board was organized.

Another object of interest in the building is the wind indicator presented to the Board in 1830 by the late Hon. William Bell. This indicator was out of order for some time, but has been repaired, and is now in as good working order as when first placed in position.

With the improvements and alterations which have just been made at a cost of between $4,000 and $5,000 theQuebec Board orf Trade possesses rooms, which for comfort, neatness and suitability are not surpassed by those of any similar body in Canada. It is the intention of the Board to have extensive repairs made to the exterior of the building next spring.

The Chronicle representative is indebted to Geo. A. Vandry, Esq., the gentlemanly and energetic President of the Board, for his kindness in furnishing information with regard to the alterations and improvemeits on the building.

It is intended to have a formal opening of the rooms on Tuesday afternoon at three o'clock, to attend which invitations have been sent to the members of Parliament representing this district, the Mayor and members of the City Council, members of the Retail Merchants' Association, members of the Builders' Association, etc. It is to be hoped that this meeting will be largely attended as some important motions will be laid before it, such as those relating to the proposed graving dock, the site for the Marine and Fisheries agency, the dredging of the St. Charles river, and the Custom House site. Quebeccers must now wo rk in one solid body if they desire to see their city progress.

WHISTLING CARUSO—
NEXT WEEK—AUDITORIUM.

Next week's programme at the Auditorium promises to be of the usual standard, and it is a safe prediction that the same crowded houses will prevail. James P. Johnston, known in the vaudeville world as Whistling Caruso, will introduce a specialty that has placed him in the head-line class on the different variety circuits. The dainty Loraine Sisters, with a chic, snappy singing and dancing number, is another item that will serve to amuse and entertain. These young ladies come highly recommended, and should meet with poular favor. Wood and Russell are also new faces to local patrons, and they are said to have a comedy offering that is above the average acts of this kind. In addition to the three above first-class vaudeville numbers, four reels of the latest animated views will be shown, which need no further comment, as it is an acknowledged fact that our pic— can not be excelled.

DISCOVERY OF A SEVERED HEAD

Astounding Explanation of Gruesome Find on Count's Library Table.

London, Nov. 25—A story that reads like a transcript from Edgar Allan Poe is told by the Hetfoei Hirlap, a Buda-Pest organ. Returning to his home, Castle Rosenberg, a day or two ago, Count Seefried walked into his library, and when he switched on the electric light was horrified to discover the head of a girl on the table. The count noticed that the library window stood open. Along the floor from the window to the table was a trail of blood.

None of the servants could give any explanation of the matter, and the police were put in possession of the facts. They failed to find any clue until a man came forward who said he had seen a dog trying to drag a headless body of a girl. After this the police made a systematic search of the railway line which skirts the grounds of the count's castle, and there they found the body of the girl, who had evidently thrown herself before a train, thus ending her life.

It is pretty clearly established that a huge dog, which the count owns, had found the body and head of the girl on the line, and dragged the head into his master's house across the park and through the window.

CENTENARY SERVICES.

As a compliment to the minister and memebrs of this old historic church, the Protestant members of the garrison will parade to the morning service at 11 o'clock, and occupy the west gallery. These special anniversary services will be continued on Sabbath, 4th December, when the Rev. W. B. Cooper, M.A., of Toronto, will officiate. NO DYSPEPSIA OR STOMACH DISTRESS

Settles Your Out-of-Order Stomach and Ends All Indigestion Five Minutes Later

There would not be a case of indigestion here if readers who are subject to Stomach trouble knew the tremendous anti-ferment and digestive virtue contained in Diapepsin. This harmless preparation will digest a heavy meal without the slightest fuss or discomfort, and relieve the sourest, acid stomach in five minutes, besides overcoming all foul, Nauseous odors from the breath.

Ask your pharmacist to show you the formula, plainly printed on each 50-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin, then you will readily understand why this promptly cures Indigestion and removes such symptoms as Heartburn, a feeling like a lump of lead in the stomach, Belching of Gas and Eructations of undigested food, water brash, Nausea, Headache, Biliousness and many other bad symptoms; and, besides, you will not need laxatives to keep your stomach, liver and intestines clean and fresh.

If your Stomach is sour and full of gas, or your food doesn't digest, and your meals don't seem to fit, why not get a 50-cent case from your druggist and make life worth living? Absolute relief from Stomach misery and perfect digestion of anything you eat is sure to follow five minutes after, and, besides, one case is sufficient to cure a whole family of such trouble.

Surely, a harmless, inexpensive preparation like Diapepsin, which will always, either at daytime or during night, relieve your stomach misery and digest your meals, is about as handy and valuable a thing as you could have in the house.

HOW TO CLEAN WHITE SWEATER.

Is your white sweater soiled and mussy looking since you returned from your vacation?

Take a pan of clean, sifted wheat flour and submrege the sweater, then pat and souse it for ten minutes, shake it well, and put fresh flour on it. Let stand about thirty minutes, shake it out, and let it hang where the air can blow through it, being careful not to stretch it. This is also good for white feathers.

If it is really dirty shake out all dust, drop it in slightly warm water, aid stir around. Place in clean, warm, soapy water with a teaspoonful of borax in it, gently souse up and down, and if there are any grease spots rub soap on your hands and manipulate the sweater, but do not allow a bit of soap to come in contact with the wool. Rinse in three clear warm waters and add a few drops of bluing to the final water. Press the water out, place in a large pillow case, and suspend the four corners by "bank" pins over the tub for three days, then spread on a sheet on the grass in the sunshine for a day or two until dry. This method was given by an expert cleaner.

HE FOUND THEM NO FAITH CURE

But Dodd's Kidney Pills Cleaned out W. F. Black's Sciatica.

He was in agony when a friend gave him a box. Now he recommends them to everybody.

Newcastle, N.B., Nov. 25.—(Special).—In these cold fall days when the chill winds crystalize the uric acid in the blood and causes the pangs of Rheumatism and Sciatic to bring sleepless nights to many a home, a man's best friend is he who can tell his neighbor of a sure cure for his tortures. Such a friend is Wm. F. Black of this place. He suffered from Sciatica and lame back. He was so bad that he could not lace his boots or turn in bed. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured him and he wants all his neighbors to know of the cure.

"Yes," Mr. Black says, in an interview, "I was so bad with Sciatica and Lame Back that I couldn't lace my shoes or turn in bed, when a friend gave me about a third of a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills. I started taking them without much faith in their curative powers, and found them all they were recommended.

"Now I am recommending Dodd's Kidney Pills to all sufferers from Kidney Disease."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are no faith cure. They're a simple but sure cure for diseased kidneys.

THE REAL THING IN PATHOS.

Jacob A. Riis, the brilliant author and journalist, was discussing in New York his experiences as a police reporter.

"They were intense experiences. The pathetic ones had, indeed, such an intensity that they couldn't be used in literature—they'd seem overdrawn.

"For example, one cold and dreary Thanksgiving evening, as I passed a famous restaurant, I saw a little urchin standing before the area. Through the area gratings the kitchen, brilliantly illuminated, could be seen. The cook, in his white dress, basted a half dozen great brown birds.

"'Hi, Timmy!' the urchin cried, and a second youngster turned towards him. 'Hi, Timmy! Come an eat yer crust in the smell from this here kitchen. It makes it taste just like roast turkey.'"

BRITISH ACCUSED OF KEEPING CHINA IN OPIUM THRALL

United Christian Society Says It is Ashamed of Own Government's Action.

Pekin, Nov. 25.—The government has received a lengthy cablegram from the British United Christian Society for the Suppression of the Opium Traffic. It says:—

"Many thousand British Christians are deeply ashamed of Great Britain's long continued national crime toward China in declining to grant China the immediate right to prohibit the importation of Indian opium."

The society declare that this prohibition of China's sovereign right and Great Britain's instance on a gradual reduction of the opium product is a "sin before God," and pledges its most active support to the efforts to induce Great Britain to do her duty by humanity at whatever cost.

The National Assembly has given a great impetus to the nationalization of the opium suppression movement by committing itself to the prohibition of interprovincial trade in Chinese grown opium after July next. This is supported by all the provincial assemblies and is designed to form the basis of China's prayer to Great Britain to be realized from the tentative agreement under which China is not permitted to prohibit the importation of the Indian product before the year 1917.

NOT THE REAL THING.

Lyman P. Sterns, the new member of the Senate Restaurant, said the other day, in response to a compliment on his cranberry sauce:—

"My cranberry sauce is made from a New England recipe. Hence, it is the real thing. Besides, New England cranberry sauce, any other kind seems unreal—as unreal as Sothern's pistol shot.

"Once, in the third-act climax of a play, the elder Sothern's pistol missed fire in his hand. At that critical moment, however, the great actor's presence of mind did not desert him.

"'Bang!' he shouted, at the top of his lungs.

"And the villain immediately fell dead."

THE REGIME,
NOT THE MEDICINE.

Upton Sinclair, apropos of the recent Church Congress discussion of Christian healing, said:—

"Pierpont Morgan, I see, is dead against any adoption of such doctrines by the church. Well, Mr. Morgan is undoubtedly right. At the same time, what good do drugs accomplish? A very lean man once called on a doctor. 'Doctor,' he said, 'I want to get fat. I look like a living skeleton.'

"The doctor filled a bottle from a demijohn, handed it to the lean man, and said: 'This will fix you up. Take a teaspoonful after every meal. At the same time, eat lots of soup, red meat, starchy vegetables, cereals and sweets, and take no violent exercise. Five dollars.'

"An hour later a very fat man entered the doctor's office.

"'Doctor,' he said, 'I want to be reduced.' 'This will fix you up,' said the doctor, filling another bottle from the same demijohn. 'Take a teaspoonful after every meal. At the same time eat no soup, red meat, starchy vegetables, cereals or sweets, and take lots of violent exercise. Five dollars.'"

THE BEAUTY DOCTOR.

"Beauty doctors achieve so many miracles nowadays," said Miss Lillian Russell in an interview in New York, "that a letter which once seemed ridiculous now seems matter of fact.

"A beauty doctor showed me this letter once with an angry gesture. She thought some one was guying her. The letter ran:—

"'Madame—For many years I have been aware that my head is too large and my legs are too short for my body. It is most annoying. As your advertisements make it plain that you possess great skill in beauty doctoring, will you be good enough to grant me an appointment with a view to correcting my case, either by reducing my head and lengthening my legs, or by lengthening my body and enlarging my head, or vice versa.'"

A SPLENDID CHANCE.

"Turkey raising is an arduous business," said Thomas Q. Rogers, a wholesale poultry dealer of Baltimore. "Day and night you must look after your birds, the same as you look after your horses.

"California turkeys are very fine. They are very well taken care of. It is no snap to work on a California turkey farm, I tell you. I was visiting a California turkey farm last month, when a boy applied for a job.

"'Your references are good. I'll try you,' said the farmer.

"'Will I have a chance to rise, sir?' the boy asked.

"'Yes,' said the farmer; 'a grand chance. I'll want you to have the feed mixed by 4 o'clock every morning.'"

To simmer is to boil slowly; if the liquor throws up bubbles above its surface, it is boiling at a gallop, and will harden any meat that is cooking in it.

TO many women the most puzzling problem that Christmas brings is, "What shall I get him?"

The list of possibilities seems surprisingly small, and as you run over them, and over them again, nothing seems to quite suit. It is so much harder to buy for a man than for a woman.

CORONATION YEAR COURTS ❋ SOCIETY ❋ ENGLAND'S SOCIAL PROBLEM

BRILLIANT COURTS PLANNED BY KING

First Two Will Be Held in February and Two More in May and June.

STATE CONCERTS AGAIN

Following Desire of Queen Mary, the British Ruler Is to Revive Functions Which Were Abandoned.

(Special Dispatch.)
London, Saturday.

The Court having now gone into half mourning, King George has begun making arrangements for the forthcoming season, so that his people may know as early as possible what arrangements they should make for themselves. It is only in the Court itself that half mourning will be observed up to May 7 next, and within that circle women are expected to dress themselves in black, with colored ribbons, flowers, feathers or gray and white dresses, with black ribbons, flowers, feathers and ornaments. Men, however, will have to go on wearing the same mourning clothes right to the end.

It has come as a surprise to a good many that there probably will be as many as five courts during the season. Nothing official has been issued yet as to whether they will be held by day or at night, but there will be two toward the end of February. That is assured. They will, of course, be "half mourning" courts, and the first will be confined exclusively to the official and diplomatic circles, with the addition of a few of the more intimate friends of the King and Queen.

The other courts will be held in May and June and will be very brilliant, as there will be so many presentations held over from last season in addition to those which will come along in their usual course. The fifth, which will be called officially an "extra" court, will probably be the most brilliant of the whole series and will be held virtually on the eve of the coronation. By that time the whole, or nearly all, of the official representatives sent from foreign courts and States to the coronation will have arrived in England, and it is expected that the function will be remembered on account of the number of heirs apparent to other thrones that will be present.

Among the Crown Princes expected are those of Germany, Greece, Sweden, Italy, Austria-Hungary, Turkey, Japan and Egypt, while two reigning monarchs are also likely to attend in the persons of the Kings of Spain and Norway.

The King has also under consideration the revival of the State concerts which were abandoned during the reign of King Edward. It is Queen Mary's desire that these concerts should occupy a place in the list of Court ceremonies, and two of these are likely to be given at Buckingham Palace in May. There is also likely to be a very large garden party at Windsor Castle a few days before the coronation, and during the coronation week there is to be a gala performance at the opera. Their Majesties, by the way, are continuing their subscription for the royal box at Covent Garden for the opera season, which means that it will be occupied by a royal party every evening.

CROWN JEWELS MAKE A DAZZLING SHOW

(Special Dispatch.)
London, Saturday.

A wonderful transformation has been wrought in the display of the Crown jewels and regalia, which have now been restored to the Wakefield Chamber in the Tower of London. The old idea seemed to be to keep the crowns and jewels as much in the shade as possible. Now they make a magnificently dazzling show. Against a rich background of velvet, and with an artificial arrangement of mirrors and electric lights, the crowns and sceptres, the gold plate and state swords, flash with almost blinding brilliancy as one passes round the big, grill protected plate glass case.

At the summit is the King's crown, which was originally made for Queen Victoria's coronation in 1828, when the chief jewels were taken from older crowns and the royal collection. Among them is the great ruby given to the Black Prince by Peter the Cruel after the battle of Navarre in 1367, and worn by Henry V. in the crown encircling his helmet at the battle of Agincourt.

The crown was enlarged and brightened for the coronation of the late King Edward, and then contained 2,818 diamonds, 297 pearls and many other jewels, the whole weighing thirty-nine ounces five pennyweights.

The Cullinan diamonds, which out of compliment to United South Africa, whose first Parliament was recently opened by the Duke of Connaught, King George ordered to be renamed the "Stars of Africa," have a prominent place in the regalia which will be used in Westminster Abbey next June. The crown has been altered to allow the large oblong "Star of Africa," weighing 309 carats, to be placed in front. For this new arrangement two new sapphires, fifty-six brilliants and fifty-two rose diamonds have been added. The smaller "drop," or "Star of Africa," cut from the original stone, is now at the head of the royal sceptre.

These royal emblems are, of course, very carefully guarded. To the burglar the jewel room is an impregnable fortress. It is a strong room, which it is impossible to penetrate without passing guard after guard, and even then the cage enclosing the jewels would defy the efforts and most cunning artifice of the cleverest burglar. At the touch of a button a steel grid closes over the case. If any part of it is touched during the hours when the Tower is not open gongs will automatically ring in various parts of the Tower.

Society Events in London Numerous for This Season

MISS MAY VAN ALEN. PHOTO BY AIMÉ DUPONT

American Hostesses Plan Quiet Entertainments—Miss May Van Alen and Her Father Will Spend the Winter in Northamptonshire.

(Special Dispatch.)
London, Saturday.

THERE are just now in London many more social events and more entertaining than are usual at this time of the year. The semi-mourning prevents anything yet being done on a very elaborate scale, but the younger members of society have little to complain about, because plenty of dances are being organized for their sake. There seems more and more inclination to follow the lead of the American winter hostesses by giving dances for the very young girls who are not as yet quite emancipated from the schoolroom, and these dances, running on close toward Christmas, seem likely to merge into the children's parties which, during the holidays, are so plentiful both in town and country. At any rate it helps to keep the ball rolling until the new year and the preliminaries of the coronation season.

The American and Anglo-American colony will be well represented, many American hostesses already opening their doors for quiet entertaining, headed by Mrs. Whitelaw Reid, at Dorchester House. Mrs. John Jacob Astor will be in residence all the winter at the house she has rented from Lord Sackville in Hill street, and she is bringing her little daughter, Miss Muriel, with her. Mrs. Bonynge is staying at her house in Prince's Gate during Mr. Bonynge's and Lady Maxwell's absence in America, and others expected here in the course of the winter are Mr. and Mrs. George Vanderbilt.

A well known American hostess who has been passing through London is Mrs. Wade Chance, on her return to England after a year's absence. She is now in Paris, where she will make her headquarters for the next year or two, paying frequent visits to London; but, though fond of English life, she will eventually make her home in America. Mrs. Chance has been travelling a good deal and has been on a visit to the Duchesse d'Uzès, at St. Hubert, and has also been the guest of Mr. Astor at the Sorrento villa. Since then her travels have taken her as far afield as Biskra, whence she returned to France on a visit to the Vicomte and Vicomtesse Vercelli de Ranzi and to other friends in the château country of the Loire.

Miss May Van Alen has returned to England and is putting Rushton Hall in order for her father's arrival. Mr. Van Alen was to have returned to England earlier had it not been for the unfortunate accident which laid him up for a couple of weeks. Now that he is returning, he and his daughter intend to spend most of the winter in Northamptonshire.

Two weddings of much interest to the Anglo-American colony are to take place shortly. One is that of Miss Ethel Robeson to an Englishman, Mr. William Stirling. Miss Robeson, who is an accomplished musician and whose home in Washington testifies to her artistic tastes, is in mourning, and, therefore, her wedding will be of the quietest.

The other wedding which is attracting much interest is that between Captain Stewart, the popular naval attaché at Rome, and Miss Gwendolen Story, whose father, Mr. Waldo Story, is well known as a connoisseur and sculptor. There is good deal of gossip about some difficulties the Italian authorities are raising on points of law, but it is expected that they will be overruled, as it is the great wish of the bride herself to celebrate her wedding in Rome, which has always been her home.

Wants $3,000 to See Coronation

King Lewanika of Barotseland Will Visit London if His Travelling Expenses Are Paid.

(Special Dispatch.)
London, Saturday.

KING LEWANIKA of Barotseland again has expressed his willingness to attend the coming coronation on condition that his expenses, to the amount of $3,000, are paid by the British government. These terms are the same as laid down by him when he attended the coronation of the late King Edward. Evidently he was aware of the necessity for taking such precaution, for although the coronation of King Edward took place the second week in August it was not until the 25th of the following November that this potentate reached the Zambesi River on his return to his African realm, his royal party having taken no less than five weeks to perform the journey from Buluwayo by ox wagon. Even when the Zambesi was reached this august personage was still three hundred miles from his capital, and he did not reach his own fireside until well into the ensuing year.

Throughout this arduous journey King Lewanika was accompanied by Colonel Colin Harding, the commandant of the Barotseland police, who is held to be probably the only living man wearing the distinction of having successfully encountered nine lions at one and at the same time. It was Lord Selborne who, during his period of office in South Africa, had an interview with this King at which thousands of the latter's subjects were present. On that occasion the High Commissioner was formally presented by His Majesty with the somewhat embarrassing gift of a tame Hippopotamus. It is probable that King Lewanika, as a result of his evident business capacity, will get the expense guarantee demanded and appear in full state at the coronation of King George V.

MARVELLOUS DOLLS GIFT OF QUEEN MARY

(Special Dispatch.)
London, Saturday.

Dozens of society women of prominence attended the private view of the annual doll show of the Children's Happy Evenings Association, which recently was held for the fifteenth year by Lady Wernher, at Bath House, Piccadilly. This organization, of which the Countess of Jersey is president, has celebrated its twenty-first anniversary this year, and at the present time is providing healthy evenings of play for 36,000 poor boys and girls in various districts of London. The girls look eagerly forward to the annual distribution of dolls. In the larger provincial towns affiliated associations have taken up a similar work.

This year's display of dolls was marked by the evidence of Queen Mary's whole hearted interest in the association, of which she is patron. Among the exhibits was a group of a dozen dolls, representing a wedding party, sent by the Queen. The group included not only the bride and bridegroom in conventional attire, but four bridesmaids dressed in lavender silk, and six guests, the picture being complete in every way, even including an imposing looking wedding cake. A wonderful Japanese doll was contributed by Mme. Kato, the wife of the Japanese Ambassador, while Lady Wernher and her household alone were responsible for the appearance of no less than one hundred dolls, and a South African friend added novelty by presenting a group of Zulu warriors.

Seymour Hicks as Richard III.

(Special Dispatch.)
London, Saturday.

After several years of preparation and a great deal of talk Mr. Seymour Hicks has made an elaborate and handsome production of "Richard III." at the Coliseum. The play is condensed into thirty minutes' duration, in which seven scenes are given, two of them being only stage pictures, in which no lines are spoken. These pictures show the murder of the princes in the Tower. The final scene is, of course, the duel between Richard and Richmond on Bosworth Field.

Mr. Hicks is by occupation generally a farcical comedian. As Richard he is not nearly so funny as he usually is. Still he made several people in the audience smile.

SEE FIERCE FIGHT IN HUMAN BODY

Battle of Phagocytes and Spirochaeta, Defenders of Life and Their Foes, Shown in Cinematograph.

(Special Dispatch.)
London, Saturday.

ONE of the most interesting and instructive cinematograph shows ever witnessed, in the shape of a fierce battle between an army of phagocytes and several million spirochaeta, was given in London the other evening by Dr. C. Levaditi, of the Pasteur Institute, Paris, before the Royal Institute of Public Health.

The phagocytes, which are the defenders of the human body, were seen in the living pictures fighting against the spirochaeta, which are the bacteria of a malignant disease. These cinematograph films, which are said to be among the most marvellous ever shown, illustrated the bacterial warfare which takes place inside the human body, and excitement was added to the contest owing to the fact that the audience knew that victory for the spirochaeta meant death to the human victim.

In the first few pictures the phagocytes had rather a bad time of it in their battle with the invaders, and, like a general commanding his forces, Dr. Levaditi cried, "See! They weaken!" following with his pointer the combatants appearing on the screen, like weird creatures conjured up in a nightmare. Again, still more tragically as a phagocyte fell outnumbered before a force of horrid shaped bacteria, he cried, "See! It is dead!"

The defenders, however, put up a great fight. Dead spirochaeta lay all round them, but still the phagocytes were being gradually outnumbered and crushed, till there were signs of reinforcements. The doctor had come to their aid. In the moment of victory the spirochaeta received a check. With their vast numbers and the variety of their attack—such as sharp, fang-like teeth, pincers and pointed, dagger-shaped tongues—they were too much for the phagocytes alone, but with the arrival of medical aid to stimulate the guardians of the patient's body they were demolished. Slowly at first, the wriggling things wriggled less. They grew tired, they weakened, they strove in vain to release themselves from the grip of the reviving phagocytes, they died.

This is the sort of fight which is going on daily, explained Dr. Levaditi, in the bodies of human beings, the fierceness of the fight depending on the malignity of the opposing bacteria. From a cold in the head upward the various human ailments entail a fight by the phagocytes in defence of their home, and the problem of the doctor is to discover the best food for the health soldier, according to the nature of the battle it has to wage.

NEW SOVEREIGNS DEFECTIVE

(Special Dispatch.)
London, Saturday.

Those who have been looking forward to the issue of the new gold sovereigns with King George's head on the obverse must possess their souls in patience for a little while longer, because the trial coins which have been struck have proved a failure, the trouble being exactly the same as happened with the new American five dollar gold piece last year.

The King's head has been made in such high relief that it is impossible to pile the coins, which, left to themselves, would immediately come down with a run. So new dies are to be cut in less bold relief, and until they have been tested there is to be no issue of new coinage.

Day of Great Estates Is Passing in England

LADY HENRY SOMERSET

Lady Henry Somerset Says That Radical Change Is About to Come Over Country Life Owing to New Land Taxes.

(Special Dispatch.)
London, Saturday.

LADY HENRY SOMERSET is among the prominent English publicists who have most recently undertaken to deal with the altering social problems of the United Kingdom. On all sides there have been contentions that British country life is about to undergo a radical change, the chief basis for this argument being grounded on the numbers of large estates that are to be broken up and disposed of at public auction, ostensibly because of the budget, with its new land taxes.

In the latest issue of the Windsor Magazine Lady Henry Somerset has discussed the possible future relations between the great county houses and the English villages, which usually have been created through their influences.

"In considering the relations of the village to the great house," she writes, "we come again to the burning question, 'What is wealth?' and over and over again we realize that our ideas have to be revised. There is the wealth of those whom we call rich—their money, their leisure, their houses, their gardens, their motors, clothes and jewels—all the material possessions which go to make up what we call a fortune; but, on the other hand, when we come to true standards there is the wealth of those whom we call the poor—their simplicity of life, their peace, their knowledge of life and death, their strength, their courage, their endurance. All these are spiritual possessions, and, just as material possessions are purchased by so-called riches, so these spiritual possessions are often only to be purchased by so-called poverty.

"Neither will probably know, now and here, the exact extent of their fortune, but when the true values are sorted from the false and life is shorn of its superficial adornment and stands out in clear and simple lines we shall understand better the real relations between those who have and those who have not.

"They tell us that the time for great estates is past, and I believe it is. The congestion in our cities must be relieved by the people's ownership in the land. The fortune from the rent of the farms will no longer maintain great houses. The present system is bound to die. Here and there great families have taken a new lease of financial life by uniting their fortunes to those who possess money made in new countries or in other channels, but the great bulk of the English landowners are unable now to maintain their estates.

"The old houses are let to men who have made their money in commerce; the traditions which bound them to the people who lived upon the soil are gone, the raison d'être of the English country house is at an end, for it is no longer anybody's home, but merely a pleasure resort wherein to spend a few idle weeks or give a few brilliant parties. There are still exceptions, but this is mainly the rule, and we who live in this present age must watch with anxiety and interest what will be the future development of the English village."

WOMAN CHOSEN AS MAYOR OF OLDHAM

(Special Dispatch.)
London, Saturday.

One woman who will attract attention during the coronation year is Mrs. Charles E. Lees, who has just been selected as Mayor of Oldham. A couple of very small boroughs have vested this executive honor in women, but Oldham takes the lead among the big towns of England.

Mrs. Lees has been a generous benefactor to her home town for many years. She has been a member of the Council for three years, and took an active part in civic affairs for a much longer period. She is the only citizen upon whom the freedom of that borough has been conferred. Possessed of considerable wealth, she is actively associated with the firms of Lees & Co., machinists, and Eli Lees & Co., cotton spinners, these houses furnishing employment to thousands of workers.

TORPEDO NETS USELESS NOW?

British Engineer Has Device Which He Says Can Cut Through War Ship's Protector.

(Special Dispatch.)
London, Saturday.

SOME interesting experiments have just been concluded in the Great Float at the Mersey docks with a new torpedo net cutter which its inventor, Mr. George Hazelhurst, a West Kirby engineer, believes will deprive war ships of the protection they have hitherto enjoyed in a large measure from the steel torpedo nets. In fact he asserts that what he calls his Dreadnought destroyer can always be depended upon to strike the ship against which it is directed in spite of the steel protecting net.

Mr. Hazelhurst got little encouragement when he took his invention to the Admiralty, but that did not trouble him. "The model was seen by an expert in London," says he, "and without any qualification he pronounced it quite feasible. An expert in Liverpool said the same thing, and then the Dock Board allowed me the use of the Great Float, where I carried out a successful experiment, though I was warned not to explode more than two pounds of gelignite at one time. I fired only one-third of a pound of gelignite at a depth of twenty-five feet, but the explosion was a loud one, a column of water leaping from four to five feet in the air on the fatal side of the net, so that it is now conclusively proved torpedo nets are no longer a defence to an ironclad."

Mr. Hazelhurst does not know what his next move will be, but he declares that in face of his invention it would be madness to spend more millions in building Dreadnoughts until the Admiralty has thoroughly investigated.

SEE PROMISE OF A GREATER CHINA

(Special Dispatch.)
London, Saturday.

Comment has been occasioned by a striking editorial in the Daily News which has not reflected the usual feeling of British jealousy over the growing friendship between China and the United States, but which takes Great Britain to task for her position toward the Chinese Empire by reason of her playing "second fiddle" in her "understanding" with Russia and her alliance with Japan. Referring most optimistically to China's decision to open the National Parliament within three years, this editorial continues:—

"The new China that is coming and the transition to the new China must set all the Powers considering their Chinese policy. The United States government has made up its mind what is to be its course. It means to do its best to help China on the road to liberty and reform. Only a few days ago the announcement was made that American financiers had agreed to give China a $50,000,000 loan for industrial and monetary reform. And this is the beginning, not the end.

"One need hardly emphasize the fact that the United States is the only great Power whose record toward China will bear looking at. We should like to think that this country took the same line as the United States. It would be good for China and it would be good for our relations with the United States. Unfortunately, we are badly placed for a liberal Chinese policy. We are allied with Japan and we have an understanding with Russia. Russia and Japan within the last few months have agreed to work together so far as China is concerned, and China's statesmen and every independent observer believe that this common Russo-Japanese policy aims at weakening China.

"Russia and Japan do not want a strong or reformed China. They want a corrupt and dying China. The mere fact of our association with Russia and Japan must make any divergence from them in China difficult; but it is plain beyond controversy that, however a weak China may profit our associates, our interests, commercial and political, are bound up with the regeneration of China. If we persist in backing Russia and Japan against China we shall in the Far East, as in the Middle and the Near East, be paying heavily for no perceptible gain, and in this instance the loss will be multiplied by the fact that we shall be brought into conflict with the United States, a country with which it is our interest and our desire to cultivate the most intimate relations."

ZULU ASSERTS HE SAVED LADYSMITH

Malinga Wants Reward of $200 and Eighty Head of Cattle for Planning Rout of Boers.

(Special Dispatch.)
London, Saturday.

IT was only on the sixth attempt, as every one knows, that the late General Sir Redvers Buller succeeded in relieving Ladysmith during the last Boer war. But if a story which has just come to hand after these twelve years be substantiated, Ladysmith might have fallen eventually into the hands of the Boers had it not been for the strategy of a Zulu chief who, at the last moment, came to the relief of the harassed British General.

The story, which comes from Durban, is to the effect that the Zulu chief Malinga is claiming through the court a reward of $200 and eighty head of cattle for the services rendered on the occasion referred to. Malinga declares that it was through him that the final attack on the Boers at Tugela Heights proved successful, he having originated the plan of operations after five previous efforts had been made without success.

The Natal Mercury, which chronicles the details of Malinga's claim, offers no opinion on its merits, but states that many of the points of the chief's story coincide with what actually occurred.

Briefly, Malinga says that during the siege of Ladysmith he was practising in the district as a medicine man. He had commanded an impi of warriors during the Zulu war, and when the natives were called together by General Buller he was asked if he could still handle an impi.

To this Malinga replied that what he had done before he could do again, and he was thereupon invited to assist General Buller's forces, being promised the reward he now claimed if he was successful. The Boers at that time occupied a position on the Makala Hill, and the adoption of Malinga's plan of attack ended in their complete rout. After the relief of Ladysmith Malinga returned to Nkandhla, to learn that General Buller had "crossed the seas." Having been later thrown into prison for his part in a native rebellion, he had been unable to make his claim for the promised reward until now.

DENY SPAIN'S KING INTENDS TO MAKE VISIT TO QUIRINAL

Being Catholic Ruler, Vatican Would Regard It as Affront to the Pope.

TO NAME HEAD OF EXTENSION SOCIETY

With Advice of Cardinal Martinelli Pontiff Will Choose President for Organization Here.

(Special Dispatch.)

ROME, Saturday.—The Apostolic Delegate at Washington this week forwarded to the Holy See the results of the first election of officers of the Catholic Extension Society, which was carried out under the new régime.

Up to June the extension society was practically only an interdiocesan organization. Then it was taken under the special direction and approval of the Holy See. The Archbishop of Chicago, pro tempore, is, under the new constitution, chancellor of the society, but the president will be chosen every five years by the Holy See from a list of three names selected by the Executive Board.

It is this list that has now reached Rome. The appointment will be made within the next month. The Pope will make a selection on the advice of Cardinal Martinelli, who has been officially appointed Cardinal protector of the extension society.

Cardinal Vannutelli's Portrait.

Cardinal Vincenzo Vannutelli yesterday sent a large portrait of himself for the office of the society in Chicago with his autograph and words of praise and blessing for its work.

The Tribuna makes the announcement that arrangements are practically concluded for the visit of the King of Spain to Rome early next year. Other papers announce that negotiations on this subject are being carried on with the Vatican. Whatever may be said of the first item there is no truth whatever in the second.

The most reliable authorities here declare that no inkling has been conveyed to the Holy See of the intention of King Alfonso to visit the King of Italy, and in any case the subject is not one of those which are subject to negotiations, as the Holy See has made perfectly clear that under present conditions the visit of the Catholic sovereign as the chief of a state to Rome is an offence to the Pontiff.

Pope Leo Was Obdurate.

Efforts frequently were made to induce the late King Carlos of Portugal to visit his royal cousin at the Quirinal, but it came to nothing in view of the opposition of Leo XIII. King Humbert twenty years ago paid a visit to Emperor Francis Joseph in Vienna, but the call was not returned.

For the same reason, when President Loubet, in spite of the prohibition, came to Rome in 1903, the Vatican sent an official private note to all Catholic sovereigns protesting against his action. This document was communicated surreptitiously to the French government by the Prince of Monaco and was used as the chief pretext for a rupture of diplomatic negotiations between France and the Holy See. Last year the protest was renewed when the Prince of Monaco himself came to Rome, although he professed to come as a lecturer on oceanography and not as a reigning Prince.

Italy, Too, Has Objection.

A few months ago it was the Italian government which raised an objection in the case of a Bavarian Prince who came to the Vatican with a German pilgrimage, and who, of course, could not have visited the Quirinal.

Certain it is, anyway, that a visit by the King of Spain to the Quirinal would be construed as a deliberate affront to the Pontiff, and King Alfonso is not at all likely to go so far as that.

The appeal of Comte Boni de Castellane to the ecclesiastical court of the Rota is not likely to be tried for at least six months. The ten judges already are overburdened with work. According to L'Italie, he bases his action for a declaration of the nullity of his marriage with Miss Anna Gould, who is now the wife of the Duc de Talleyrand, on the ground that he declared before the ceremony that he intended to contract marriage only in so far as it might be held legitimate by her own church.

A prominent canonist and theologian assures your Rome correspondent that if there is no better plea than this it is a mistake to introduce the case, because, even if true and thoroughly proved, it would not constitute a reason for declaring the marriage null.

Complicated Marriage Cases.

The Rota is likely to be occupied shortly with a much more interesting and more complicated batch of matrimonial cases. In Italy a case is now being brought before the civil tribunals here to declare null the marriage of an Italian countess who contracted marriage before Signor Ernesto Pacelli, one of the Municipal Councilors.

It is asserted that though he had at one time received the necessary delegation from the preceding Mayor of Rome, this had not been renewed at the proper time, and therefore all marriages celebrated before him are invalid. Nor is the Pacellis case the only one. It is believed that no fewer than seven thousand civil marriages celebrated in Rome are invalid in the eyes of the civil law. The Rota being purely an ecclesiastical court, it will not be called on to pronounce formally in such cases, but it is possible that the ten judges may be asked to study the situation and report to the Pope.

That Cold Room

on the side of the house where winter blasts strike hardest always has a lower temperature than the rest of the house. There are times when it is necessary to raise the temperature quickly or to keep the temperature up for a long period. That can't be done by the regular method of heating without great trouble and overheating the rest of the house. The only reliable method of heating such a room alone by other means is to use a Four quarts of oil will give a glowing heat for nine hours, without smoke or smell.

An indicator always shows the amount of oil in the font. Filler-cap does not screw on; but is put in like a cork in a bottle, and is attached by a chain and cannot get lost.

An automatic-locking flame spreader prevents the wick from being turned high enough to smoke, and is easy to remove and drop back so that it can be cleaned in an instant.

DIVORCED.

J. Pierpont Morgan, at one of the dinners marking the recent session of the church congress in Cincinnati, deplored the too common separation of religion and business.

"Too many employers," Mr. Morgan said, "are like John Nicholson. Nicholson advertised for a porter, and one of the applicants said to him: 'I think I'd suit, sir. I have a recommendation here from my clergyman that'——

"'That recommendation,' John Nicholson interrupted, 'is all very good as far as it goes. As I shan't need you on Sundays, however, I'd prefer a reference from somebody who can vouch for you during the week.'"

SHE'D SMILE AT FATE IN ELECTRIC CHAIR

Doctor Testifies that Mrs. Martin Told Him She Was Willing to Be Oslerized.

New York, Nov. 25.—The most violent outbreak of any in which Mrs. Caroline B. Martin has indulged took place at her insanity hearing in Newark, N.J., yesterday. She became so frenzied that Judge Ten Eyck ordered her taken from the room Screaming, she fought the constables, then collapsed. In a few minutes she recovered and begged to be permitted to remain in the room. The judge granted the request.

Dr. Christopher C. Beling, a State expert, testified that Mrs. Martin described the death of her daughter Ocey in the following words: "My daughter died from an overdose of morphine. She took too much, went into the bathroom and died. She had been talking of the subject for more than a year. We humored and temporized with her and thought that the idea had been removed."

"Mrs. Martin told me," Dr. Beling went on, "that both her daughter and her sister Virginia were addicted to the use of morphine and they kept the drug standing about as other persons do cologne. She said to me 'When you see us at the electric chair you will see me smiling and with my head up. I am not afraid to die, for the Lord giveth His beloved sleep. When a woman is sixty-five years old, no use to her family, nor to people in suffering, she should be Oslerized.'"

Following the testimony of Dr. Beling, with ears alert Mrs. Martin interrupted at one point to dispute his use of the word "equitable" in quoting her. The word I used was equable," she said. "I pride myself upon my English. I would rather be convicted and electrocuted than use bad English."

Dr. Beling admitted Mrs. Martin was right about the word and it was changed on the records to suit her. The case will be continued to-morrow.

Notice to Fat Women.

Presumably you know, ladies, that the proper caper nowadays is lines. Curves are passe. You have got to take off your fat. This must be done in one of three ways. By dieting, by exercise, or by means of Marmola Prescription Tablets. The two former will keep you busy for months and punish you pretty severely, the latter will cost you 75 cents at the druggist's. The tablets will not make any alteration in your diet necessary, and yet in all probability, before you have used up one case, you will be losing from. 12 to 16 ounces of fat a day Which method do you like the best?

If you fancy this pleasant method of getting off the fat, see your druggist instantly, or else write the Marmola Co., 854 Farmer Bldg., Detroit, Mich., to send you a case by mail. These cases contain so generous a quantity of tablets that the treatment is very economical. It is, also quite harmless, for the tablets are made exactly in accordance with the famous Marmola prescription.

ARISTOCRATIC IGNORANCE.

Mrs. Martha Lang Matthison, the Denver cooking expert, said in a recent lecture on "The Choice of the Thanksgiving Turkey":

"The most aristocratic girls are taught the science of the kitchen nowadays. It is no longer as it was in my childhood.

"In my childhood, as I waited in a butcher's, I heard a customer say:

"'What sort of a person is the woman who has taken the Chew house?'

"'Oh, a perfect lady!' the butcher cried warmly. 'She can't tell a sirloin of beef from a leg of lamb.'"

EAST INDIAN MONKEYS

A naturalist who has traveled in the East Indies says: "The effect on the monkeys of man's appearance is most interesting. The expression of their emotions is certainly almost human as they sit and stare at him, coughing and snarling with anger and contempt, drawing back their heads and throwing the hand before the face with a gesture of abhorrence and other movements indicate of shocked and outraged feelings. But predominant is the expression of absolute horror, which, coming from those we consider our still degraded cousins, is to our superiority very aggravating."

A HEALTHFUL COSTUME.

When the Fraser Highlanders landed in North America in 1757, it was proposed to change the dress on account of the cold winters and hot summers. The officers successfully opposed this and were ultimately justified by the highlanders being the healthiest soldiers in the army. In the campaign in Holland in 1794 some regiments lost as many as 300 from disease, but the Black Watch, which had 300 recruits in its ranks, had only twenty-five casualties, including the killed in battle.

NEW YORK STOCK MARKET.

By private wire to McDonald, Lesperance & Co., Hochelaga Bank Building:—

New York, Nov. 25.—The neglect of the stock market left it nearly idle to-day and the price movement was the merest drift. There was practically no outside participation in the dealings, and the floor traders operated in a languid way with small hope of producing any effects that would yield a profit. The remnant of the week, after yesterday's holiday, gave such small promise of profitable activity that many brokers did not take the trouble to attend. While the holiday period was called responsible for the neglect in part, it is recognized that deeperlying causes also are at work. Apprehension is growing that the period of trade revival must be set forward to some time next year. The distinct easing in the money market fails to bring improved investment demand for bonds and the railroads are forced to restrict themselves to only the most necessary borrowing.

Announcement was made to-day of the sale of the $7,500,000 remainder of 4½ per cent. equipment trust notes of the New York Central Lines, which were authorized to the amount of $30,000,000, the Public Service Commission attaching the condition that they must not be sold for less than 97 per cent. The sale of these notes was incidental, evidently to the increase in orders for equipment announced earlier in the week by the New York Central. Until relaxation in the money market offers more convincing evidence of stimulating investment the advantage to stock speculation will remain doubtful. The continued abstention of the railroads from placing orders freely for materials detracts from the effect of the professions of confidence that freight rate advances are practically assured. Incidents in connection with the rate hearings, in fact, serve to keep the subject open to continual uncertainty.

The week's currency movement has been in favor of New York banks, both from the interior and on sub-treasury operations, and a gain of nearly $5,000,000 in cash, allowing for a $500,000 bond shipment of gold to Canada is promised by the preliminary estimates.

The foreign exchange market moved higher in the morning, indicating a more rapid fall in interest rates here than abroad.

The action of the Stock Exchange authorities in admitting Lehigh Valley to the list gave some slight impetus to the speculation in Reading. There were rumors also that a decision was imminent in the anthracite trust cases in the United States Circuit Court at Philadelphia. A less serious view was taken of the Mexican situation than in the earlier stages of the news.

Union Pacific ended quarter higher than on Wednesday. Reading unchanged and United States Steel ⅛ lower. The narrowness of the whole market was typified in these stocks.

Bonds were irregular. Total sales, par value, $1,682,000. United States bonds were unchanged.

CLOSING LETTER.

By private wire to Neuville Belleau & Co., 93 St. Peter street, Quebec:—

New York, Nov. 25.—The various troubles among the South American Republics had little effect upon prices this morning, which opened firm at advances of ⅛ to ½ of a point and gained as much more during the first half hour. Business was in restricted volume, however, only 134,000 shares up to noon. Closing was dull and rather heavy at recessions from highest, but with little net changes. We should wait for breaks before buying and accept profits on all good rallies.

MONTREAL CLOSING LETTER

By private wire to McDougall & Cowans, 81 St. Peter street:—

Montreal, Nov. 25.—The interest taken in to-day's market was practically nil. Stocks were allowed to rest and the few sales that did take place were made in most cases by floor traders. Quotations show little change from yesterday's close. Rio was stronger on good news. The money market continued tight and present loans are being made subject to short call.

NEW YORK CLOSING LETTER.

By private wire to McDougall & Cowans, 81 St. Peter street:—

New York, Nov. 25.—"As idle as a painted ship on a painted ocean" is a term applicable to to-day's market; nothing worthy of note. Transactions to 2 o'clock were only 165,000 shares, against 196,000 on Wednesday, which was a notably dull day. The strength of General Electric has been the only feature said to be on good earnings and outlook for business. Estimated movements of cash indicate that the banks have gained from $2,500,000 to $4,000,000 and to-morrow's statement should show a material increase in reserve. Money, both time and call, was easier. The close was very dull and strong. Totals sales, 177,400 shares.

RETIREMENT OF INSPECTOR DREW

Not Due to Crippen Case—Investigated Druce and Jack the Ripper Mysteries.

London, Nov. 25.—It is stated that the retirement of Inspector Dew, although coinciding with the dismissal of the Crippen apepal, has not been in any way affected by this case. He had already seriously considered his resignation before he was concerned in it, but consented to remain in office until its completion.

Chief Inspector Dew will not actually leave Scotland Yard for several weeks yet. When he does, it is stated, he will set up in business as a confidential inquiry agent.

Joining the Metropolitan Police Force nearly twenty-nine years ago, Mr. Dew has been associated with the leading criminal cases of the past quarter of a century. He first came into prominence at the time of the "Jack the Ripper" crimes. For his services in relation to those cases he was promoted to the rank of detective sergeant.

Since that time rapid progress has marked his career, until he came to one of the foremost positions in the service. After some years as inspector at Bow street he attained the aim of every detective of the C.I.D.—he was four years ago appointed a chief inspector in succession to Mr. Frank Froest.

Chief Inspector Dew has produced proofs in hundreds of forgery charges. Several difficult murder casese were cleared up by him, and many huge frauds were exposed. Mr. Dew, after months of enquiries, had the satisfaction of securing the conviction of a clever swindler named Nicholson, who as an "orthnoogist" specialist, obtained thousands of pounds by a clever advertising method in conection with the solving of easy rebuses.

It was in 1907 and 1908, when the Druce case was in full swing, that Mr. Dew was given a watching brief by the Commissioner, as the result of which one Saturday night in January, 1908, he arrested at Sisters avenue, Lavender Hill, Miss Robinson, the Australian witness, on a charge of perjury. It will be remembered that Miss Robinson, the daughter of an ex-policeman, swore that she was an Australian, and that she was formerly a maid in the service of the fifth Duke of Portland at Welbeck, and that she knew, both from the Duke and the late Charles Dickens, that Druce was an assumed name of the Duke.

Prior to her arrest Miss Robinson had creater some sensation by offering a hundred pounds reward for the recovery of a mythical diary which she said had been stolen from her to prevent her giving evidence in the case. Inspector Dew arrested her on the collapse of the Druce prosecution, and secured her conviction on the perjury charge at the Old Bailey.

This Year's Sensation.

It was whilst at Hammersmith that Mr. Dew broke into a flat in the Fulham road and arrested "Harry the Valet," one of the most expert jewel thieves in the country, and the man who stole the Duchess of Suntherland's £20,000 jewels from the saloon carriage at the Gare du Nord. "Harry the Valet" was a very tough criminal, but he was taken by surprise, and gave no trouble.

In June of last year Mr. Drew obtained a long term of penal servitude for Conrad Harms, alias Henry Clifford, the clever swindler, who drew 91,700 from Parrs Bank at Notting Hill after a forged note of credit had been sent there from one of the London branches of a well-known foreign bank.

This Harms had cleverly forged in America and sent on in advance. When he came over his arrest was brought about in a curious way. With one of the £100 notes, the proceeds of the fraud, he purchased a watch in the Strand, and, later, as the watch did not keep proper time, he took it back to the tradesman to have it adjusted. In the mean time the note had found its way to the Bank of England, and the enquiries which followed led to the watchmaker communicating with the police.

Eighteen months ago Mr. Dew was sent to Salisbury to take up the case in which Mrs. Haskell was accused of the murder of her cripple son. It was only after a second trial that she was acquitted.

During the whole of the "Jack the Ripper" outrages Inspector Dew was stationed in Whitechapel, and took part in all the exciting searches, incidents, and enquiries which those crimes entailed.

He was entrusted with the difficult task of unravelling the mysterion disappearance of Belle Elmore, and after the flight of Dr. Crippen he directed the excavations at Hillsdorp Crescent, which resulted in the discovery of the remains of the missing woman.

When news came by the "wireless" of Dr. Crippen's presence on the Montrose, Chief Inspector Dew was able to take a faster boat to Canada, and await the vessel at Father Point.

Chief Inspector Dew has served twenty-nine years in the Metropolitan Police Force, ad was ,therefore, entitled to a pension three years ago. On the Continent, as in this country, his astuteness and tact have won him fame.

During the time he has been at Scotland Yard Mr. Dew has been in charge of the leading investigations. His quiet, unassuming disposition secured him considerable popularity among his colleagues, and the intimation of his ensuing resignation has been received with universal regret.

It may be not out of place to mention that the evening dress will be perfectly suitable on such an occasion.

Exhibited The Queen's Auto

Her Majesty's Knight Engine Car a Drawing Card at the London Show.

England's big annual automobile event, the Olympia Exhibition, closed a few days ago, and, according to despatches, proved one of the most successful ever held.

A novel feature was the exhibition of Her Majesty's, the Queen's, new 38 horse-power Knight engine car which attracted great attention. The selection of the Knight engine for Her Majesty's car has been widely known, but not until Olympia has the public had an opportunity to inspect the complete machine.

Another interesting exhibit was a duplicate of the 38 horse-power Knight engine car, with limousine body, recently built for Miss Marie Corelli, the distinguished novelist.

The date of the Olympia Show, so considerably in advance of the shows in the United States and Canada, is interesting as indicating the early demand for next year's models.

THE AUDITORIUM, DEC. 2.

As will be noticed in our advertisement column, our local Symphony Orshestra opens their eighth musical season at the Auditorium on Friday evening, Dec. 2. It is needless to say but what it will be a successful event, as already most of the boxes have been taken by Quebec's society, and many tickets have been sold. It is considered remarkable the diligence and enthusiasm that this corps of musicians have shown, and the progress made in their eight years of existence. The result is that the Director, Mr. Joseph Vezina, has all the tonal quality he wants, and on Friday next will, with his orchestra, make a showing surpassing all his previous efforts.
