Y.M.H.A. PAY HOMAGE TO LATE ALD. RUBENSTEIN WAS HEAD OF ASSOCIATION

Joseph Cohen, K.C., M.L.A., Ald. W. S. Weldon, Alderman Seigler, Sol Kellert, Moe Levitt and Harvey Golden Spoke in Appreciation of the Great Athlete and Executive — Many Members and Friends Present.

"Futile is life unless that life had in it a purpose", was the thought expressed in sincere and heartfelt eulogies of the late Ald. Louis Rubenstein by Joseph Cohen, K.C., M.L.A.; Ald. W. S. Weldon, Sol Kellert, honorary president of the Y.M.H.A., Moe Levitt, acting president, and Harvey Golden, executive director at the memorial service held last Sunday afternoon, in the auditorium of the Young Men's Hebrew Association in honor of the late president.

Alderman Louis Rubenstein was the man who made good fellowship between Jewish and non-Jewish in this city. Mr. Cohen, chairman of the board of trustees, said in his keen analysis of the late communal worker's life. "He prided himself on his old traditional Jewish faith and throughout his life served as model of Jewish ideology by playing the game in a sportsmanlike and honorable manner. In his death," he said, "we have lost that understanding force between the ancient and the modern, the welding force between Jew and non-Jew."

Ald. Weldon gave a graphic and emotional account of his 50 years' friendship with Mr. Rubenstein. "Straight as a die, a thorough amateur sportsman and gentleman, no greater tribute could have been given to him than that accorded at his funeral. Would to God there were more like him in the city," he remarked.

Sol Kellert praised the great work carried out by Mr. Rubenstein in the building of the youths' athletic training quarters. "His notable example and encouragement led Jewish youth to assume their proper place in the field of athletics, and bred a new generation of Jewish sportsmen of which he himself was the outstanding figure. His death spells an irreparable loss to the Association," concluded.

Moe Levitt voiced the great esteem in which Alderman Rubenstein was held by the community at large. "He was most intimately connected with the Y.M.H.A. and it is but fitting that this organization should pay special homage and express sincere gratitude and deep affection for one who was its leading light and guiding genius."

A resolution of sympathy was read by S. L. Mendelsohn on behalf of the board of directors. Cantor Segal and Rabbi Bender, looked after the ceremonial proceedings. Alderman Max Seigler was present. Moe Levitt was in the chair.

Off For A Hike

Pat Brewster President

W.E. Round Secty.

The stand-out week in the west this winter will be February 7-14 when the Banff Winter Sports Carnival will be held. Paradise of skiers, ski-jorers, snowshoers, curlers, hockey, skating, tobogganning, sleighing, mushing, and every variant of winter sport, there is added to all these the incomparable beauty of a setting in the heart of the Rockies, clothed in their winter dress of emine beneath a sky of turquoise. The pretty little town of Banff is lit from end to end in a blaze of colored lights with, here and there, the tepees of the Stoney Indians and the colorful note of bright-hued blankets, befeathered head-dresses, beaded squaws and shiny-eyed paposes. As if all this were not enough to crowd into one short week, there is the great Ice Palace, lit up at night with fireworks displays, the annual trap shoot of the Banff Gun Club, the packing contest with its high light of the famous diamond hitch, and open air swimming in the hot sulphur springs, unique in the annals of winter sports. Masquerade balls keep the fun of the carnival going and it ends up with the election of the Queen for the ensuing year. Lay-out shows skiers in action under the shadow of the mountains with insets of Pat Brewster, president of the 1931 carnival, W. E. Round, secretary-treasurer of the sports and Miss Doris Winnifred Parkes, of Vancouver, Queen of the Carnival.

$36,207 DAMAGE BY FIRE DURING YEAR 1930; 167 CALLS ANSWERED

December Proves Heaviest for Local Fire Department — Many Alarms for Grass Fires During Month of April — No Fires in August.

According to a report issued by the local fire-fighting headquarters last week, the year of 1930 witnessed the loss of $36,207 of property in the City of Outremont by fires.

The sum total of alarms sounded during the past year were 167. Of these, only 42 were recorded as actual fires. Forty-five needless runs were made and eighty false alarms were rung during the twelve months.

The month of December is credited with the heaviest losses of the year. Building property damage is recorded as $5,570 and household fixture destruction is reported to be $2,655. January ranks next with building losses estimated at $4,215 and the lost contents of these homes were valued at $2,785. Midsummer is credited with the least number of fire casualties. No fires were reported during the month of August. Eight false alarms were rung during that period.

The greatest number of alarms were rung in April. There were twenty-two. Only four of these calls turned out to be fires. Damage during that month was estimated at $6,315. In October, there were twenty alarms and only one was a fire of any consequence. The damage resulted in the loss of a first-storey floor which cost $785 to replace.

FIREMAN TAKES LIFE AFTER ELUDING GUARD

In a fit of insanity, brought on through illness, Lieut Peter Beaudin, 41, of the Outremont Fire Department, slashed his throat with a razor in his home, 7253 Casgrain avenue, yesterday. He died instantly. The body was taken to the morgue, and after an inquest a jury under deputy Coroner Hubert issued a verdict of suicide.

Beaudin was married and father of four children. He had been in the service of the City of Outremont for 16 years, said Police Chief G. O. Baker. "He was extremely strong, and on eight occasions had given his blood for transfusion purposes," the Chief added. He had been sick for some time, and only last night, on a doctor's report that he was suffering from insanity, it was decided by his family to send him to the St. Jean de Dieu asylum.

This morning, according to Firemen Fahey and Sweeney, who were guarding him at his home, Beaudin left his sick bed to go into an adjoining room, which he locked before his guardians were able to follow him. A moment later the firemen heard a moan, and breaking the door they found the victim dead on the floor. A razor was found by his side.

HENRY HART DIED IN HIS 92ND YEAR

Prominent for many years in the furniture dealing business in Montreal, Henry Hart died Monday at the residence of his son-in-law, John McCabe, 850 Pratt avenue, Outremont, in his 92nd year.

Born in County Sligo, Ireland, in 1838, Mr. Hart came to Montreal in 1848 at the age of ten years with his parents. He was educated at local Catholic schools, and later entered the furniture department of Henry Morgan and Company, Limited, where he gathered sound knowledge relative to the intricacies of the furniture business. He later left that firm, opening up his own furniture store—Henry Hart, furniture, first on St. Antoine street, later on University street. Approximately 25 years ago he retired from business. A devoted Roman Catholic, he was long a member of St. Patrick's Church and later of the congregation of St. Raphael's Church.

AN APPRECIATION

The sudden death of Alderman Rubenstein has left a void in the Association which it will be impossible to fill.

For years the members of the Association have looked up to him as being the embodiment of all that is right, and in him have always found most admirably blended those finer qualities which go to make up the true sportsman.

In the years to come, we shall look back with pride upon his many achievements and his remarkably fine influence upon all those who came in contact with him.

S. Leon Mendelsohn, Honorary Secretary, Y.M.H.A.

Howard S. Ross Spoke To Members of Y.W.H.A.

Last Monday evening a lecture was sponsored by the Young Women's Hebrew Association public speaking and debating class at their St. Urbain Street headquarters. The subject chosen was, "Modern Poetry"—in the lighter vein, by Howard S. Ross, K.C. The class is under the supervision of Max Bernfeld, K.C.

Tuesday evening a lecture was given by Rabbi Julius Berger, on "What we would like our children to be." Both lectures were well attended.

Thieves Take Away Safe But Find It Empty

Burglars who would carry away Mount Royal were very much annoyed at finding the safe which they had taken the trouble to remove from the Stop and Shop store, 162 Fairmount Avenue, last Friday morning, contained nothing of any value.

They then placed it at the corner of St. Urbain Street and Laurier Avenue and left the vicinity.

In their great hurry to make off with their prize, the inefficient thieves forgot some of their toys. A jimmy and chisel were left in the store which were handed over to the police and taken to headquarters along with the safe.

The break was discovered early last Friday morning by Constable Senecal, of No. 20 station. The constable found the glass of the front door battered in and the door ajar. He immediately summoned the manager, Wilfred Ayers, who reported the loss of the safe but stated that it contained nothing of value.

Y. M. H. A. SYMPHONY ORCHESTRA PRESENTED FIRST CONCERT OF YEAR

J. J. Gagnier in Charge of Local Musicians

Under the leadership of Mr. J. J. Gagnier the Y.M.H.A. Symphony Orchestra which is now in the twentieth year of its existence, presented its first concert of the season on Sunday evening, last. A very fine program was given by the orchestra which is made up of over fifty musicians. The guest soloist of the evening was Mr. Isidore Gralnick, violinist, who is one of the outstanding students of the McGill Conservatorium of music.

The orchestra is probably the oldest of the educational projects of the Association and it has made great progress during the twenty years that it has been functioning. Many of the older members have grown up with it and in fact some of them have received most of their musical education in this organization.

The program was as follows:—(1) Symphony No. 92 "Oxford"—Hadyn; (2) Violin Concerto in D Minor, Opus 22.—Wieniawski; (3) Dubinskka-Rimsy-Korshov; (4) Lamento—from the Hebrew Trilogy.—Hamarik; (5) Molly on the shore, Jig.—Grainger.

Willingdons Say Goodbye

With the departure, yesterday, of Lord and Lady Willingdon, Canada loses one of its most popular Governor Generals. Lord Willingdon goes to take up a task from which most men would shrink in dismay and after a career of public service which would surely justify a plea for amply-earned repose. God speed to the King's representative, and may his term as Viceroy of India, be as successful as his stay in Canada.

North End Rents too High

The dollar, today, purchases more than at any time since before the war. You can buy more clothes, food, luxuries, and entertainment with the monthly stipend than was possible a year or two ago. There is one thing, however, that has not come down in price, and that is rents. This situation is unjust in the extreme to the householders, many of whom have to get along just now on reduced incomes. With money at its present high value, landlords are realizing as high as thirty per cent on their money invested. A rental of $60 per month, contracted for in 1929, is worth about $80 to the landlord today at the dollar's present purchasing value. A flat which was let for $60 in 1929 should therefore be rented for not more than $45 today. But a survey of the North End doesn't reveal many reductions. The landlords are making a killing and rents must be reduced.

Quebec's Health Laws

One frequently hears and reads criticism of the state of public health and the regulations governing public health in the Province of Quebec, and this province is shown in an unfavourable light when compared to other provinces of the Dominion. There are many phases of public health, however, in which Quebec is far ahead of the other provinces. As an example, take the regulations governing vaccination against smallpox. In Quebec, such vaccination of school children is compulsory, while in Ontario it is not compulsory to those whose parents have "conscientious" objections to vaccination. In the past three years, there have been only some two dozen cases of smallpox in Quebec, and each one was traced to "immigrants" from Ontario.

A Significant Achievement

Ten Italian bombing planes achieved one of the outstanding feats of aviation history by flying together across the Atlantic from the west coast of Africa to Brazil. The feat has won, and deservedly so, the praise of all nations.

It should make some nations think seriously, however. It is only a matter of a very short period of time until squadrons of bombing planes will be able to cross the ocean and return without stopping. After a few good-will flights, there might come squadrons of bombing planes, loaded for destruction, that could easily destroy many large cities on the Atlantic seaboard from Halifax to Cape Hatteras in a single flight.

The City Fathers are to be congratulated on their method of handling the recent snow storm. Scrapers and men, by the hundreds, were soon on the job, cleaning up the snow.

Ald. W. S. Weldon Pens Reminiscences of Late 'Louis'

Having been asked by some friends to jot down some reminiscences of the late Alderman Louis Rubenstein, it affords me great pleasure, though mingled with sorrow, that I do so. I first met "Louis" Rubenstein when we were young members of the M.A.A.A. away back early in the eighties; he was doing his stunts on skates while I was busy with snow shoes. When in the spring of 1889 I became secretary-treasurer of the M.A.A.A. I became naturally more intimate, as he was a director of that institution.

I well remember one night, in 1890, when a number of us, members of the M.A.A.A., escorted him to the train when on his way to take part in the Fancy Figure Skating Championship to be held in St. Petersburg. I have somewhere in my possession a letter which he wrote me from there telling of the way he was harassed by the spies and police; about the way in which they scratched out the words "British subject" on his passport, his arrest and then his liberation by the British Government, through Baron Rosen the British ambassador; winding up his letter by stating "Goodby, Billy, next time you hear from me, I will probably be in cold, cold Siberia."

Then came another letter announcing the fact that he had won two out of three contests, the third going to a nephew of the Czar.

Fished in Mountains
During that period, he and I used to go fishing in the lakes around St. Agathe, that is when the first trains ran there, and at times we were accompanied by one or two of his brothers and on one occasion by the late Eddie Shepperd.

There were no automobile roads at that time and scarcely passable roads for hackboards, but there were fish aplenty. On one occasion we had to load a Vercheres boat on a hay cart, and convey it to a far distant lake, and when we arrived at the only farmhouse we were stopped at the gate by the proprietor who refused to let us go through his farm to the lake, whereupon Louis exhibited his C.W.A. president's badge, which the farmer mistook for a Fish and Game Inspector's badge and we had not only entry but assistance with our boat to the lake and back over the hill to our haycart when we had made a good catch.

It was only a few weeks ago, when driving up to St. Agathe with my daughter-in-law from British Columbia and a party that I was showing them where Louis' party slept in the hayloft of fisherman Belisle's house at Trout Lake, there being too many occupants in the beds already.

Did Stunts Together
He and I used to do our stunts on the stage for the M.A.A.A. concerts, and on one occasion, he accompanied me to Rawdon, where my family used to reside every summer, and where we fished in the Ouareau River all day and helped at a concert in the evening, the proceeds of which was to be divided between the churches of the village.

It was intended to hold the concert in an abandoned Presbyterian church there as had happened before, but the trustees were adamant and would not allow the performance. The Reverend Father Baillargeon, the parish priest at that time, had just held a very successful bazaar in the large barn and the decorations and stage were still there, and he kindly told my wife that we could have the use of same. And not only that, but gave us the use of his piano which contributed largely to a successful entertainment enjoyed by hundreds of the surrounding farmers.

Of course, Louis was in police uniform regulating the traffic and the disposition of the farmers' rigs in their proper places and it was not until after he had sung his favorite song "Policeman McDuff" that the natives got on to the hoax.

One of the greatest events during the time I was secretary of the M.A.A.A. was the world's Skating Championships, where all the renowned skaters from various parts of the world took place. Louis of course, was the secretary-treasurer of the Canadian Amateur Skating Association and I was secretary of the M.A.A.A. so that both of us had charge of looking after it.

Then in 1914, he was nominated as a contestant in St. Lawrence Ward for a seat in the City Council while at the same time I was nominated for one in St. George Ward (the adjoining ward). We both won our election and sat together on the Council for four years. During that time when it was decided to build a bath in St. Lawrence Ward, I was instrumental in having it named "The Rubenstein Bath" with the unanimous decision of the Council.

I was then called to the collectorship of Customs and during the following years, he and I often opposed each other on the curling rink, but is nothing novel in that for me and I prefer to take it quietly for the rest of my days." But he kept at it and the slogan was broadcast and sure enough I did win, and the morning after the election, was elected by the Aldermen to a seat on the Executive.

Some people thought it strange that such a life-long friend of mine should vote against me, on that occasion, but knowing what was on, I took no notice of it and after the meeting he came to congratulate me, and to try to explain matters. However, I told him to be quite at ease as I know what can happen at times and asked him to forget about the incident and reminded him that nothing short of death would break our friendship.

At The Big Session.
Tuesday, the day of the memorable all-night session, I went over to his desk to speak to him during an intermission; it was then about four o'clock in the afternoon; he was complaining of heart pains and said that Dr. Reilly had given him something to relieve him from time to time. I advised him to go home as it then looked as though we would have an all-night session. He evidently took my advice and left the Council Chamber.

On Friday, the day following the first of the New Year, it was practically a holiday also (only a skeleton crew being at work in the City Hall, I did not go down there either). On Saturday A.M., when I saw the flag half-mast on the Annex Building, it struck me at once what it meant. Upon entering the City Hall, my secretary advised me of the circumstances and while naturally upset for the moment, I could not help thinking that I had diagnosed his case when I had asked him to retire from the meeting on Tuesday.

So passes away another of my life-long friends, quickly following his three brothers and Jim Taylor and Morris Michaels. Would to God there were more people on earth like the late Louis Rubenstein, yea and all the members of his family, who were beloved by all for their straightforward dealings and voluntary assistance to people of all creeds and nationalities in the time of affliction and dire distress.

PAPINEAUS DIVIDE TOP POSITION WITH SPEEDY RANGER SIX

Invaders and Concordia Still Battling for Contending Positions — Odd Goal Decide Last Week's Games — Sunday's Double Bill Should Prove Thriller.

(By H. W. Sylvester)

Climaxed by two very closely played final periods, the Outremont Hockey League games last Sunday afternoon, displayed two hectic battles, for first place in the loop, before a record number of spectators. A noted decrease in the number of penalties meted out this week, was a fair indication in itself, that all teams had settled down to the task of playing the game on a more resourceful basis.

Good checking and combination backed by an average of speed and vim, were deciding factors in this week's tilts.

Papineau line for many a shot, though without success.

Marion enacted a superlative pass, and when under cover of Webster and Dorais, managed to get the puck in front of the Invaders net. Landes was on the spot and finished the play with a goal.

It was soon after that B. Colvey went up wing and packed a swift one to Thomas G. Durocher who was next behind the goals scooped the disc in to play before the Papineau net, and B. Colvey made a desperate rush for it, that finally resulted in a score.

Papineaus Play Defensive

The results of Invaders last goal had played Papineau into a defensive frame, and numerous scrambles followed in front of their goals, Thomas proved himself a good goalie in warding off the shots that repeatedly besieged him, from Webster, C. Colvey and Alarie.

Dorais had last say in this period, putting the final touch to it with a terrific lift from centre ice at McPhee, but the latter stopped it. Mulcair too saved many a close one in this game, and kept generally on the alert for fast ones, in which he excels.

Concordia and Rangers seemed well matched this week, and played a very decisive game. E. Batson again showed that he packs a wicked shot, and gave A. Dussault many an anxious moment.

J. Dussault was not left unnoticed as he planted an ample supply of fast-bound shots into McPhee's mit, which the latter took quite capably.

Papineau climbed to first place after this week's victory, when Invaders were defeated by them 2-1. It was a close score and hard fought for.

The first period was well played, though with many good shots going astray. Marion and Poirier filled the bill with an unusual variety of good pucks, but with a tendency to over-drive, which they frequently did. Near the end of this period, Landes after stick-handling his way through from centre, met the Invaders goals with an open shot. He succeeded in out-guessing the goalie after milling around him for a few seconds, only to make the tally. Taking the lead at an early stage meant a harder struggle in store for them, and B. Colvey continuously passed the Papineau defence for a shot. Ernie Alarie gave Thomas a few trying moments, as he drove home numerous bullet-like shots from centre. C. Colvey played brilliantly this week, and crossed the

H. Claxton chalked the first tally for Rangers with a well-aimed shot, that left Dussault pondering of its result for awhile after. Hayes almost added another counter to the first one when he circled the Concordia goal for an opportunity to shoot. Lacoste forced his shot amiss, and drove the disc back to centre. Robert cleared many fine shots to the Rangers goal, but McPhee responded with the usual alertness. L. Claxton was fast and furiously with his drives this week, whose lightning shots were a dangerous flesh to the Concordia goalie. Rosman showed remarkable improvement in his clearances, and played a fast, hard-checking game. Annett kept a close watch over Lefebvre, and blocked many close shots on his goalie. E. Batson paved his way through the final stages of the game to score the winning goal for Rangers. From this time Concordia tried vainly to outplay the Rangers. J. Dussault, who was playing with renewed vigor and an ever-eagerness to raise the score for his team displayed striking combinations. Gagne was on the hop, and when hope was almost given up, converted a pass from J. Dussault, and rammed in, on a rebound.

DOLSON PROVES THEY DO COME BACK

"Dolly" Dolson

Although the theory gained ground, back in 1910 when Jim Jeffries the boiler-maker collapsed before the youth of the ebony giant Jack Johnson that athletes do not come back, the National Hockey League presents a striking instance to the contrary this season.

"Dolly" Dolson, the Detroit goalie, is the real "come-back" who makes the Jeffries theory look bad. Dolson was sent back to the minors last season because he was so fat he couldn't drop to the ice fast to block shots, and that taught him a lesson. The season before, he was a sensation in the Detroit nets, and regarded as one of the "finds" of that season. Thanks in part to his clever defensive, the Cougars, as they were named prior to this season got into the play-off.

Last year Dolson fell far below his form. Hockey goaling in these days when so many liberties are allowed attacking forwards around the nets calls for a good deal of speed and far more agility than goalers ever were asked to display before. The old-fashioned goalers who just stood up to block shots wouldn't have a chance today. They must drop and plunge right down into the thick of it and a goalie must be as nimble as a cat.

Dolson was too portly last year for any such speed. He was all right on long shots, but when the play got close, he lacked the speed to cope with the close-range drives on his net. Manager Jack Adams shipped Dolson back to the London team of the International League, which finished third in the race only two games behind the Cleveland champions. In 42 games, only 93 goals were scored on Dolson, just over two per game.

He came back to the majors this season, and is, possibly, the hardest training goalie in the major leagues. He does his daily hour, when Falcons are at home, with the Falcon team in practice. Then he practises an hour with the Olympics, the Detroit entry in the International League. After that, he does an hour on the stationary bicycle. As a result Dolson is in great physical condition, twenty-five pounds lighter than last year. He can drop down into play as quick as anyone, and slip out of his nets fast to clear a loose puck. "Wouldn't swap him for any goalie in the League," Jack Adams remarked recently.

DEBATE CAUSES GREAT INTEREST AT WOMEN'S CLUB

Mount Royal Members Hear Interesting Topic Argued

NEGATIVE WINS

Women Hold Power By Slight Degree, Is Decision

Woman exerts more influence over man than does money—but only by a slight degree. The question was settled in a debate held last weekend by the Mount Royal Women's Community Club in the local town hall.

The resolution argued was, "Resolved, that money has more influence than woman on man," and the team supporting the negative side, composed of Mrs. H. S. Adlington, leader, Mrs. A. G. Dilks and Mrs. W. T. Reid, was declared winner by a small margin. The affirmative was upheld by Mrs. R. G. Shaw, leader, Mrs. W. MacVicar and Mrs. D. M. Towle.

The speakers for the affirmative argued that especially in these days of commercialization, the desire for money and the power that money brings was the primary factor in the lives of the majority of men, it therefore following that its influence was greater than that of woman. Instances were cited of the type of man who in his desire for what might be termed "easy money," such as that gained by gambling either on the stock market or at the gaming tables, race courses and so on, will certainly not allow any woman's influence to deter him from these pursuits. Also, much to the amusement of the audience, it was stated that there was little likelihood of woman having much influence over man, unless he already had at least a fair amount of cash, because he was far too engrossed in getting a bit of money together to be of interest to her. The summing up of the affirmative arguments was that because money was necessary to existence, it exercised a wider influence than woman, who was what might be termed a luxury in his life.

Go Into History

The influence of famous women of history was stressed by the negative team, who not only dealt with such women as Florence Nightingale and others who have inspired and helped mankind in general, but cited the undoubted sway that such courtesans as Pompadour, Cleopatra and Delilah exercised over the men of their acquaintance. The fact that the famous artists, sculptors, poets and other torchbearers of beauty and vision all through the ages have certainly not been inspired to their best work by love of gold or creature comforts was brought out, and the influence of George Sand upon Chopin, of Beatrice upon Dante, was adduced. As a final argument it was urged that in the Garden of Eden man was not given a pile of bank notes or yellow gold to be his companion, but woman, who not only influenced him in the matter of the apple, but has down through the ages proved the main influence in his life.

"If anyone doubts that woman has a more powerful influence than money on man, let her try bribing him with cash to escort a small dog at the end of a leash through busy city streets. Will he do it for money? Not he, but he does it, nevertheless, the reason being that he is under the influence of the lady owner of the said pup," said the concluding speaker, amid laughter.

Rev. D. T. I. Forsythe, Mrs. W. G. H. Cam and Mrs. W. A. H. Henry were the judges. Following the debate, Rev. F. W. Poland spoke briefly on parent and child problems of everyday life. Mrs. Andrew Dempster sang, accompanied by Mrs. Carl Breese; Mrs. Milton Budd presented a short paper on current events, and Mrs. G. I. Payne thanked those who had taken part in the afternoon's entertainment. Mrs. Claude R. Morrison, president, was in the chair.

Mr. and Mrs. Forget left for New York, Bermuda, Cuba and Jamaica, the bride travelling in a crayon blue cloth coat, trimmed with American broadtail, over a crepe-de-laine frock of the same shade. Her hat of felt matched her costume, and she carried a small muff of broadtail. On their return they will reside in Notre Dame de Grace.

Outremont Tramway Petition

To His Worship, Mayor Joseph Beaubien of Outremont, Investigator into Tramways Conditions and to the Aldermen of the City of Outremont:

Gentlemen:—

We, the undersigned, Citizens of Outremont and Montreals with business addresses in the McGill Street district, or doing business therein, have learned with astonishment and strong disapproval of the proposal that the Montreal Tramways Company alter the southern limit of its Outremont Youville trams circuit by having its No. 29 trams turn at Victoria Square instead of at the Common Street loop.

We beg to energetically protest against such a change which would oblige thousands to walk to and from Craig St. to their work four times a day and would constitute an inexcusable source of irritation to all these people and to the thousands of other passengers of this City and from St. Lambert, Longueuil and the South Shore who use this Outremont Tramway line.

This circuit is absolutely necessary for our daily use, and the already overcrowded Centre St. line, of admittedly slow service, is inadequate to our needs. It would occasion long periods of useless waiting and also walking between Craig St. and St. James St., and from Wellington St. to Common, and to St. Peter St. Under such conditions, people would not wait...they would keep on...and walk all the way to their work or to Craig St. Is this what their tramway fare entitles them to, in the heart of our city?

Not only do we respectfully insist upon the Tramways Company continuing the present Outremont-Youville McGill St. route, but we would draw your attention and that of the Montreal Tramways Commission to the already poor service which for long past we have had to put up with on this line...waiting for 15 to 20 minutes on McGill St., especially during the evening rush hours, being an almost daily occurrence. And now we are threatened with losing this circuit altogether!

We would point out that the schedule which the Montreal Tramways Company is legally bound by contract with the City of Outremont to maintain is being illegally broken by the company at every hour of every day in the year. In proof of this, may we refer you to the civic surveys of Outremont-Youville trams taken at your City Hall, at your request, by City Engineer Lacroix, on various dates including December 6th, 1928 and on November 18th and 19th, 1930. On the latter dates the deficiency between the number of cars in service and the scheduled number contracted for, runs as high as 66-2-3 per cent deficiency. At every hour of the day the contract is being broken, until Mr. Lacroix's statement shows:

Between 12 N. and 1 P.M.; Contract schedule: 24 cars; Cars running 9.

Between 1 P.M. and 2 P.M.; Contract schedule: 24 cars; Cars running 8.

The last example shows 33-1-3 per cent of the service on this line which the Montreal Tramways Company is obliged by law to give.

Why are such conditions allowed to continue?

MISS MARJORIE SMITH LEADS YOUNG PEOPLE

Will Guide Fairmount-St. Giles C. E. During 1931

On Monday evening an interesting and impressive service was held by the Young People's Society of Fairmount-St. Giles Church. Miss Marjorie Smith, the president of 1930, was the leader. After the devotional service, she called on the Rev. Dr. Dobson for an address. He spoke on the theme "Consecration and Revival," emphasizing the fact that the moderator of the Gen. Council of the United Church of Canada, the Rev. Dr. Oliver, and the former Moderator, Rev. Dr. Gunn, who died last summer, had summoned the whole church to Christian service under this banner. After the address he called forward the officers elected for this New Year, and spoke to them on the privileges and responsibilities of their work, and while all the members stood, he inducted them as officers of the society.

A large meeting was present, and at the close of the service a business meeting was held in a "Round Table Conference," led by the president. Great enthusiasm was manifested in the whole meeting, which indicated future progress and development in many lines of Christian service.

The officers of the Fairmount-St. Giles C.E. Society for two years are: Advisory Councilor, Basil Howell; President, Marjorie Smith; Vice-President, David Anderson; Secretary, Gladys Pybus; Treasurer, Bob Gittus; Consecration, Lillian LeHuquet; Missionary, Violet Armstrong; Citizenship, Harold Barrington; Literary, Eileen MacFarlane; Musical, Evelyn Edisson; Social, Miss Irene Burrell and Mr. Rutherford Smith; Birthday Book, Miss Lily Last; Dorcas, Miss Helen Dobbs; Publicity, Miss Hazel Burrell; Lookout, Miss Dora Pauley and Mr. Malcolm Davies; Sports, Mr. K. Sheltus, Miss Laura Davies.

We were getting on very well with the Empire until we began to talk about it.—Sir Hugh Bell.

SIX PERSONS NEAR ASPHYXIATION FROM LEAK OF GOAL GAS

Six persons were overcome by coal gas shortly after three o'clock yesterday afternoon, while seven other families narrowly escaped asphyxiation, when a pipe connection to a furnace broke. Those partially overcome were given first aid on the scene and later sent to the Royal Victoria Hospital, where their condition was reported as not serious.

The patients are: Rabbi Moses J. Wachtfogel, 49 years of age; his wife and two children, Max and Benjamin, aged 22 years and nine years, respectively, and all living at 5688 Esplanade avenue; Mattie Brightman, 65 years of age, and her niece Rosie, three years old, living at 5692 Esplanade avenue.

Mrs. A. M. Lightstone, living at 5682 Esplanade avenue, whose home was slightly affected by the fumes, was the first to warn the occupants of the other dwellings.

Dr. A. M. Lightstone, of 5682 Esplanade avenue, whose wife was the first to give aid was not at home at the time of the occurrence. He was notified, and told that his own home was filled with the poisonous fumes. He rushed to the scene and after treating his family, rendered first-aid to his neighbors.
