VICTORY LOAN OFF TO FLYING START

Boy Scout Buyer Of First Bond In Loan Opening

Fifteen-year-old Ross Whitehead Beat All Citizens to the "1st Man In" Honor

The resounding echo of the guns announcing the opening of the Fifth Victory Loan Campaign was heard by the enthusiastic canvassers of the Westmount Unit, already at their task of seeing to it that no one in Westmount was deprived of the opportunity of sharing in the success of the Fifth Victory Loan. Again the Committee appeals to the citizens to hold their subscriptions until their Victory Loan salesman calls upon them at their place of domicile.

The Patrol Leader of St. Matthias Boy Scouts Troop—E. Ross Whitehead of 12, Forden Avenue, arrived on his bicycle to Unit 201, Greene Avenue, on the opening of the Victory Loan and was registered as first bond-buyer.

Following on his heels—or rather—his wheels—came Robin Badgley aged 12, of 367, Elm Avenue, who for the second time just missed out on the honor of being first. Robin saved the money for his purchase from his spare time work as a newspaper carrier.

The St. Matthias Troop has done good service in helping to place the posters in the store windows all over the city.

The windows at Unit Headquarters at 1383 Greene Avenue, which are particularly striking this time, were gratuitously arranged by A. Gervais of Holt Renfrew Company Ltd.

A final meeting of the sales organization was held at Unit Headquarters, last Wednesday evening. The chief speaker was Gerald Barry of the General Sales Section of the National War Finance Committee. Also present was Arthur S. Torrey, Joint Vice-Chairman of the Island of Montreal Region. An air of confidence prevailed, and with the co-operation of the citizens of Westmount, the chairman felt that the objective placed upon this Unit would be reached.

Clarence McKenna, local organizer, told the "Examiner" that some criticism had been levelled at the Phillips Square decorations by persons "who didn't understand the facts."

"The cost of this platform, posters and all the etceteras so necessary to catch the public imagination is negligible compared with the sure effect it will have on results."

"The National War Finance Committee has specially thanked the Navy, Army and Air Force and also the merchants and private persons who contributed to the set-up of this striking open air theatre of Victory Loan effort," remarked Mr. McKenna. "It will surely 'Speed the Victory,' and persons who know little about dealing with the public and less about costs of such display, cannot be taken seriously as critics."

Boys' Brigade Toy Repair Work Makes Good Start

First, Sixth and Eleventh Companies Operate Shops—Work Pooled

As in past years the toy repair work and Christmas Cheer projects are being commenced this month and the Company is happy to have two neighboring units associated with them, each operating its own shop and pooling the work. Anyone desiring to have toys picked up may call F.I. 9356 and Sgt. Eddie Goring will arrange for a boy to call. These toys will be distributed to deserving cases at Christmastime.

Boys of the first squad are proud of their achievement in coming up from third to first place all in one evening. They still have a lead of nine points over the 4th Squad who have a record for holding the top rank and Corp. Bob Eastwood is likely to give them a tough run before the month closes. The competition is keen this session with each squad putting forth every effort to hold first place. Recruits are rapidly completing their requirements and as soon as a sufficient number are ready a special enrolment ceremony will take place. Monty Dugan, new arrival in the Company, was first to complete the course and now has enrolled in the Brass Band as trombonist.

There are numerous openings in the band and the company will still receive applications for membership up until the end of the month.

Homoeopathic Aids Many From Outlying Districts

The Homoeopathic Hospital's Out Patients' Department has served a number of persons coming from outlying districts of late.

About a quarter to ten on the morning of October 17th, Pte. Fred Robinson, aged 17, of 638 Ogilvie Avenue, fell off an army truck in Cartierville and sprained his wrist. He was rushed to the hospital and treated, and then went back to his headquarters.

Then a Sorel man, Hervé LaRoche, aged 29, whose home is at 75b August Street, was driving his automobile about 9 p.m., on October 17th, when he collided with a street car going south down Claremont Avenue at the corner of Cote St. Antoine Road.

LaRoche was slightly injured, but was able to take himself down to the hospital where he was treated for a cut on the right ear and on the head, and then drove off again.

For Gallantry

LT. GEORGE HENRY OLAF RUNDLE, R.C.N.R. (Temp.), son of Mr. and Mrs. George Rundle of 1489 Atwater Avenue, has been awarded the George Medal for displaying "gallantry, skill and coolness in carrying out hazardous duties." After leaving school Lt. Rundle was an apprentice with the Canadian Government Merchant Marine. At the outbreak of war he joined the Royal Navy and later was transferred to the R.C.N.R. and is now at Halifax C.O. of a "rendering-mines-unsafe" crew. Lt. Rundle was a former prominent member of Westward A.A.A.

S. Booth Conducts Stamp Auction; Success Recorded

The members of the Westmount Stamp Club enjoyed a very successful "member's auction" at last week's gathering of the organization in the Oak Room at Victoria Hall. Stan Booth conducted the event in creditable style, being helped a lot by the good assortment of stamps available.

The club will hold another meeting this evening at the same place when the feature event of the night will be another quiz contest. Efforts were made to have a speaker at tonight's gathering but as none were available other plans were made including the contest. Tonight's meeting will start around eight o'clock.

Business Men Renew Youth In 'Y' Gym Class

An average of 15 men, business and professional men with an occasional serviceman, are attending the late afternoon work-outs conducted in the Y.M.C.A. gymnasium by P. Murray McFarlane.

Mr. McFarlane pays individual attention to those who feel they require it, from 5 to 5.45. The actual class period lasts only fifteen minutes, but there must be few muscles in the human frame which are not brought into play in the bending, stretching, and breathing exercises to which the participants are subjected by the instructor. In the brief exercise period the body is given more healthful play than it would receive in many hours of uncoordinated physical effort. Results begin to show themselves almost right away.

G. H. Penrose Gives Illuminating Talk On Child Training

Facts of Value to Parents and Teachers Presented At Recent Meeting

G. H. Penrose's recent address at the opening meeting of the Roslyn Home and School Association's season 1943-44, gave an outline of the new attitude of educationalists to the treatment of children under their care.

Under the title "The First Ten Years are the Worst" some points of extraordinary interest both to parents and teachers were described by the speaker, showing the suffering of children in past years owing to obsolete methods with which they were handled and good advice for the future was given.

"Parents frequently express surprise that so many children today seem actually to like going to school, whereas in their own day the majority seemed to regard school attendance as an unpleasant necessity," began Mr. Penrose.

"To what extent this is true is difficult to say, but if children's attitude toward school attendance has indeed changed the reason will probably be found in the rapid growth of present-day knowledge of (among other things) the learning processes, that is, how children learn. In the school of today the aim is to make methods of learning as similar as possible to those most suited to real life. It assumes that in life people are largely engaged in solving practical problems, meeting new issues, and planning and carrying out purposeful enterprises, largely on their own initiative.

"The present-day school believes that the surest way to acquire ability to solve important life problems and carry out worthwhile projects is to begin early to do so. The more lifelike the problems and purposes are, the greater the transfer from them to life will be; and the more satisfactory the methods of procedure the more helpful they will be in meeting the situations in out-of-school life.

Modern Education Less Boring

"This tends to make educational methods less academic and less artificial; and, to the extent that the child plays an active rather than a passive role, in fact less boring.

"Nevertheless for a child starting to school for the first time, the change from the comparative freedom of pre-school days to the more ordered existence of school life is a considerable one and he will be subject to many influences which will threaten and endanger that normal feeling of security and well-being so necessary for his mental and emotional growth and development. If he is not to be thwarted and frustrated and so driven to anti-social or delinquent behaviour, it is necessary for us to examine a few of these hostile influences, with a view, of course, to guarding against them.

"First—the judging of children's actions by adult standards. "The child, with his limited experience, has frequently no inkling of the possible consequences of certain actions, such as those endangering the safety of others. A sure way to bewilder and embitter him is to assume at once that he foresaw the consequences and that he committed the act from deliberate malice. This is a common practice.

Honest Failure No Disgrace

"Next—setting impossibly high standards of achievement.

"While ready to assist our children in developing to the limit of their ability, we must learn to accept their limitations and not force them to attempt that which is clearly beyond their capacity. A child who is consistently behind the rest of his class should be permitted to repeat a year, if deemed advisable, without suffering the reproaches of his parents. On the contrary, they should do all in their power to convince him of the value of such procedure. It is no disgrace to fail after honest effort and should not be made to appear so. Furthermore, it is extremely doubtful whether above-average intelligence is of more value than emotional stability. The near-genius who works with you, or over you, may be a very clever fellow but he is frequently not nearly so pleasant to work with, or to work for, as his less-highly-endowed brother who is emotionally stable and whom everyone likes.

"Thirdly—a quarrelsome or overcritical atmosphere.

"Everyone knows the meaning of 'stage-fright' and its parallel in the classroom when a child's mind 'goes blank.' To do efficient work a child or an adult must be reasonably at ease and this is not possible if he lives constantly in an atmosphere of fear or hostility. The difference between those who can, as we say, 'manage' children and those who cannot, lies chiefly in this ability to put them sufficiently at ease to do their best work. Incidentally, all the graduates from the local teacher-training schools with whom I have come in contact in recent years appear to have this happy faculty in considerable measure. Many parents possess it and (See G. H. PENROSE on Page 3)

Eight Hi-Y Clubs Meet At Y To Plan Season Program

Bob Sproule, President of City Hi-Y, Leads Devotions — Bill Reid Gives Talk

In a day-long conference held in the Y.M.C.A. here on Saturday, officers of the eight Hi-Y clubs of the island of Montreal laid the ground work for organization of a program for the new season.

Problems of membership, attendance, weekly program, service projects, and relationships with other school organizations came before the meeting at which the experiences of many points, were pooled for the benefit of all.

After the personal informal introductions, opening devotions were conducted by Bob Sproule, president of the Westmount Hi-Y club who spoke also on behalf of the host institution, the Westmount Y.M.C.A.

Bill Reid of Strathcona High School and president of the Grand Chapter Hi-Y, outlined the purpose of the annual meeting in a talk entitled "Why we are here." A discussion on club activities was led by H. C. Cross of Central Y.M.C.A. James Samson, assistant national boys' work secretary of the Y.M.C.A., addressed the conference on "Hi-Y in Wartime." Club standards were the topic of a discussion led by R. C. Callan. It dealt with such topics as club regulations, administration and committee work. The opening statement on this discussion was made by Jack Rutherford of Lachine High School and Club. Another discussion took place on inter-club co-operation and "What can we do together to win the war." The leader was Walter Harris and the opening statement was made by Herb Bryant of Montreal High School. The closing meditation was led by E. I. Taylor, executive secretary of the Westmount Y.M.C.A.

The Hi-Y clubs of Greater Montreal consist of high school students of eight schools: Lachine, West Hill, Westmount, Verdun, Town of Mount Royal, Strathcona and Montreal High. The first of these clubs was established in Westmount in 1925.

WINGS

A campaign to raise $5000.00 for the "Wings for Britain" Benevolent Fund by the sale of colorful Christmas Cards has been announced by Alan Isles, executive secretary of the committee sponsoring the drive. Last year the sum of $3173.29 was turned over to the Fund and it is hoped that with the earlier start this year and much more attractive cards, the drive will reach its higher objective.

All profits from the sale of the cards are donated to the Wings for Britain Fund. These patriotic cards, now on sale in most departmental stores consist of eight different illustrations in full colour, mounted on white text paper with a double fold. There are two of each in a box, sixteen cards and envelopes together. Eight different greetings are included in the assortment and each card bears the Wings insignia and an inscription announcing that all profits are donated to the Wings Benevolent Fund.

The cards are packed in smart boxes, bright red and deep blue, and results from this source to date are very gratifying. Some schoolboys in the West End have been seeking the cards for sale to their friends and it is possible some cards will be disposed of in this way.

It is stressed by the committee however that some twelve thousand boxes must be sold to reach the drive objective of $5000.00 and everything is being done to acquaint the public with the fact that the new patriotic cards are particularly suitable for overseas mailing this year. It is felt that the objective is assured if a good head start can be made before November 1st, the last day for Christmas mail overseas.

Further information may be obtained by writing to Alan Isles, executive secretary, at 2151 Ontario St. East or by telephoning FRontenac 2111. Any concerns relating to arrange for an employee canvasser may obtain sample boxes, canvass sheets, and suitable posters by getting in touch with the above.

Many Meetings Arranged By West End Speaking Club

Jack Turner, Jr., President, Welcomes New and Old Members at Opening Meeting of Season

The West End Public Speaking Club held its opening meeting of the season on Wednesday at N.D.G. Community Hall. The new executive formally took over their office duties. President, Jack Turner, Jr., 4942 LaCombe Ave., gave an address of welcome to new and old members.

Mr. Turner traced the history of the club since its inception seven years ago and gave a brief outline of the syllabus for the current year. With him on the executive this year are Stuart Elkins, 5224 Globeret Ave., Secretary and Grant MacPherson, 5250 Cote St. Catherine Road, Treasurer.

Glen Buchanan, club instructor, briefly outlined the fundamentals of public speaking. Little time was spent on these preliminaries, however, and Mr. Buchanan, a firm believer in the theory that the best instruction is actual experience, soon had members, new and old, on their feet making their maiden effort. Criticism at these sessions is informal but keen and the members gain much invaluable instruction in hearing constructive criticism of others.

Stuart Elkins, Secretary, read the minutes of the last business session and announced that club membership, including new applications, was just about complete.

The Club will carry on for twenty weekly meetings divided into two series of ten meetings each, the break coming halfway through December until the early part of January. A mid-season dinner will be held preceding the second half of the session and awarding of prizes and cups takes place at the Annual dinner at the conclusion of the year.

SPEED THE VICTORY!

CANADA'S FIFTH Victory Loan got away to an encouraging start this week, but the road ahead is a long one and it will require the best effort of every one to achieve the huge objective. The local organizations report encouraging returns and a good reception from the public, but it is again the case that a large number of local residents are buying bonds downtown and the local teams get no credit for such purchases. If it is at all possible, please make your contribution through local canvassers. We have a big total to meet and need everyone's support.

When the canvasser calls to see you, give him more than a welcome. Buy as many bonds as you possibly can. Every dollar helps speed the victory now within our reach.

HITLER'S LATEST GAME

MR. MALCOLM MacDONALD, British High Commissioner to Canada, has placed his finger upon a crucial point which the public in all the United Nations should understand. It is perfectly clear, he says, that the Germans are on the defensive, that they plan to make as much of Europe as they can hold into "an impregnable fortress." Their design, of course, is to hold on in the hope of so prolonging the war that they may be able to make a compromise peace.

Many signs of this have been observed lately such as the pattern of the German retreat in Russia, the delaying action in Sicily, and again in Southern Italy. Hitler, in fact, has revamped his program. The new Nazi objective is a bitter defensive war centring upon "Fortress Europe" for the fruition of propaganda designed to create discord between the United Nations and so to promote a stalemate peace. It was with this possibility in mind, no doubt, that Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt nailed the flag of Unconditional Surrender to the mast.

There are weak spots in the Nazi program, of course. For example, the touted "Fortress of Europe" has no roof strong enough to keep out the blockbusters of the R.A.F. As the Nazis withdraw further up the leg of Italy, great airport sites like those centred upon Foggia become available to the Allies. Even Southern and Eastern Germany will shortly be in range of the heaviest shuttle bombing service.

But here on the home front it is vitally necessary to take note of the Nazi's present strategy. Hitler is playing for war weariness to show itself on our side. He is playing for a letdown in Allied production. He is pinning his hopes on dissension within our nation and between the Allied nations. The best news he can hope for is stoppages of work on our side and the easy optimism which might lead to a letdown in home-front efforts such as the present Fifth Victory Loan. As between the United Nations he wants to see a minimum of agreement between Russia and the Western powers and a maximum of irritation, for example between British and Americans. In this hope he is presently getting some help, free gratis, from bothead isolationists and ultra-nationalists strewn throughout the United Nations. The burly isolationist "patriots" who are busy defending General MacArthur from being supposedly "subordinated" to Lord Louis Mountbatten provide one example. These same "patriots", who take exactly the opposite tack when they charge that the American General Marshall is being made Allied Generalissimo for the Second Front because of a "British plot," are also helping out Goebbels.

If General Marshall is indeed appointed to head all the Anglo-American forces in the field, this will be done for three good reasons. Firstly, because Mr. Roosevelt and Mr. Churchill think he is the man for the job. Secondly, because he himself is willing or even anxious to do so. And thirdly, because there is no one with whom the British General Staff—and particularly General Sir John Dill, the British representative on the Combined Staff—would prefer to co-operate with in the field.

The home-front answer to Hitler's latest tactics is twofold. Firstly, maximum effort in war production, maximum drive behind the Loan campaign. Secondly, no rumor-mongering about splits between Russia, Britain, America, China and the United Nations generally. This is a time for solidarity at home and abroad.

YOUNG SOLDIER'S PRAYER

WHEN I AM newly dead, promise me, God, You'll let me come to earth in some dim form
And stand again in the old fields of home
To watch the splendor of a prairie storm
Blowing across the twisted fields of grain,
And feel the wind whipping my face again.

When I am newly dead, let me return
In some strange aspect neither seen nor known,
And let me move among my human kind,
And see my sweetheart as she grieves alone.

We were so shy, and words were hard to find
To tell each other what was in each mind.

When I am newly dead, let me come down
To where the water kissed the pebbled shore
Of our old pasture creek, and let me swim
Naked and clean, and let me feel once more
The swift exultant rapture of high flight
Cleaving the starry darkness of the night.

And oh, dear God, I pray you, give to me
The things of earth I did not live to see.

Letters to the Editor

AIR CREW

To the Editor,
Sir,
Perhaps I can help clear up part of that puzzle about air crew that is troubling perplexed. I just got my wings this month and I feel as badly as your correspondent can about the fellows who started the course with me, and were washed out, though they were every bit as keen. Nine out of ten of them volunteered for air crew straight away when they failed the pilot tests, but here I am clear through and most of them are still doing fatigues around the manning pool, and feeling pretty sick naturally. The trouble is that there's no sense training air crew unless you can supply the trained pilots to complete the crew. The training, as I understand it, is done in a ratio of so many air crew to so many pilots, and when the percentage of pilots in training lags, the aircrew men are held up, which is pretty tough for them but there it is. They'd feel just as sick if they were sitting around all trained and ready to go bomb Berlin, with no chauffeur.

PILOT, R.C.A.F.

Westmount Park

At the morning service in Westmount Park Church Mr. Goth will continue the series of sermons on The Ten Commandments—the theme being "Honour Thy Parents." This series of sermons has been designed especially to stimulate our thinking on some of these fundamental issues about which we are too prone to grow careless in this age of increased tempo. There are many ways in which we can honour our parents. Parents feel honoured when their children accompany them to church—gladly and proudly. Here is an opportunity to make your church attendance this Sunday, a family service in the nature of a tribute to parents.

The Rev. Ernest E. Long who will preach at the evening service, is a newcomer to Montreal, having come to Fairmount-St. Giles Church from Kirkland Lake less than a year ago. This will be his first visit to Westmount Park Church. Let us give him a goodly welcome!

The young people have planned a "Fire-side" to follow the evening service.

The Red Cross Group will meet on Monday and Wednesday.

The mid-week service will be held on Wednesday at 8.15 p.m. This is an inspirational service of prayer, praise and devotional talk and all interested are invited to attend.

Ancient Purpose Of The Creator Described By Dr. A. Lloyd Smith

Season's Natural Offerings and Old Traditions Form Subject of Sermon by Local Preacher — Victory Loan Sermon Broadcast

Under the title "God's Ancient Gracious Purpose" the Rev. A. Lloyd Smith gave an interesting sermon recently in Dominion-Douglas Church.

"The author of 'Onward, Christian Soldiers', the Rev. S. Baring Gould, was a student of folklore and made extensive studies into ancient customs," began Dr. Lloyd Smith. "He describes how hundreds of years ago in England each harvest time a youth or maiden was wrapped up in straw and then beheaded with a sickle as an offering of thanksgiving to the source of plenty. Dr. Baring Gould tells of similar customs in Phrygia, Africa and India, indicating how widely held was this ancient idea."

"That we are not so savage now surely should not mean that we are less appreciative. Every Canadian ought to respond heartily to the request of our Government to give thanks to God not only for the harvest but for many other things which are ours through the kindly action of a faithful Creator."

"The writer of Genesis had no unfailing harvest. In chapter doubt Who was the source of the 3, verses 21-22, we read: 'The Lord said in His heart, While the earth remaineth, seedtime and harvest, and cold and heat, and summer and winter and day and night shall not cease.'"

"This announcement of purpose follows the judgment upon the world which we call the Flood. Grievous sin had brought terrible punishment, even as it has again in our own day. But though God is just, He has no delight in punishment and the story represents God as thinking the situation over when the waters have subsided and saying: 'I will not again curse the ground any more for man's sake, even though the imagination of man's heart is evil from his youth, neither will I again smite everything living as I have done.' It is the expression of positive and settled goodwill. No matter what men may do, the course of nature shall not be interfered with. Summer and Winter, seedtime and harvest, without fail—God is of goodwill."

"That is a comforting fact upon which we need to reflect as individuals. The harvest reminds us of One who said, 'Be not anxious; your Heavenly Father knoweth. If God so clothe the grass of the field—how much more shall He clothe you.'"

"But the harvest is also testimony of God's care for His world. The harvest acres of our Province and the millions of acres of our Dominion are but a small fraction of the immense area visited and enriched by the hand of the Lord of Harvest. Though millions of men ignore, neglect or slight Him, He harbours no grudges and with nations as with individuals is always ready to make a fresh beginning."

"God's infinite goodwill found full expression in the gift of Jesus Who came to give Himself for the salvation of the whole world. Upon that faithful love and providence we may rely as implicitly as we do on day and night, seed time and harvest."

"The coming of another harvest reminds us of the immense patience and persistence of God. From Westmount mountain we look out upon a wide plain interrupted by the Montegregian hills, the remains of ancient volcanoes. How many millions of years the Creator took to fashion this part of Canada no one can be exactly sure, but geologists say many millions of years were used to prepare for the harvests which now grow so plentifully. "How many scores of thousands of years God has been at work on what we do not know exactly. Archeologists say not less than 500,000. With the same patience and perseverance He uses in providing harvests, God is moulding man nearer to His heart's desire. He will not fail nor be discouraged till He have set justice in the earth."

"Therefore in confidence we look forward. Indeed, we have reason for great encouragements as we look back over the events of the past year. In every theatre of war the initiative has been brought into allied hands and the outcome now is certain."

"Meanwhile we have learned lessons of enormous value: "We know now that isolationism is sheer folly. We live on a planet and any plans based on a narrower relationship are too small. When the war is over, the world will be far more closely integrated than it was in 1939. "We also have seen that by planned economy the government, which is simply all of us together, can provide employment for everyone. We now look forward to a new day of progressive social action and security."

"The harvest reminds us that we are in a world of God's making, under God's control. "Fierce though the fiends may fight, And long though the angels hide, The forces of truth and right

Have God's universe on their side."

"Contending for the Faith"—the subject of Dr. Lloyd's Victory Loan sermon last Sunday, was broadcast over C.B.M. at 11 a.m.

Calvary Church

The services in Calvary United Church on Sunday next, will be conducted by the Minister, Capt. Rev. T. W. Jones, M.A., D.D. The Church School will meet in all departments from beginners to adults at 10 a.m.

At the morning service the theme will be "Religion in a Changing World." What of the Christian Faith and the Christian Church in these critical times? At the evening service at 7.30 p.m., Capt. Jones will preach on the theme "What it takes and where to find it," a message based on stories from sailors, soldiers, airmen and civilians on both the Home and Overseas Fronts. Young people both in the "Services" and in civilian life are earnestly invited to attend this service.

The Young People's Union will meet on Monday night. In addition to the regular worship and topical periods, the election of officers for the year 1944 will take place, so that the officers elected may prepare their programme for the new year.

The Red Cross branch will meet on Tuesday from 10.30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

The Deacons will meet on Wednesday at 7.45 and the Church Board at 8.15 p.m.

There will be an afternoon session at 2.30 p.m. and the evening session at 8 p.m. The speaker for the evening session will be the Rev. T. W. Jones, M.A., D.D., the Minister of Calvary.

The Communion of the Lord's Supper, with reception of new members, will be held on Sunday morning, October 31st.

St. Andrew's Church

PSYCHOLOGICAL SERMON BY DR. KERR

In a series of sermons announced recently, Dr. Kerr has included several dealing with personal problems and situations that require an understanding of religious psychology. One of these will be preached next Sunday morning entitled, "Our Need of Self-expression, or Doing Something About It." In wartime more than in normal times, due to added pressure of work and overstrain, there is need of help in solving our hidden problems.

For the evening service A. Leonard Griffith has selected a topic of special interest to the young folks. In it he will show the importance of self-confidence and will cite incidents of failures in self-development because of a besetting sense of inferiority.

The Alpha Omega Society will have an unusual evening called "Information, Please!" Louise Stuart and Harvey Houston will conduct this program, while the selected judges will answer questions propounded by the young folks themselves. Membership in this society is steadily growing, and great interest is being shown in the forthcoming Social Evening arranged by Ian Fraser and Mona Reid.

Westmount Baptist

The sermon themes in Westmount Baptist Church concern matters most vital to everyone of us. In the morning Dr. Johnston will have as his topic: "Stopping Our Speeding Chariots—He commanded the Chariot to stand still."

If it be true that the Victorian era "Applied the Brakes," it is equally true that the Georgian era "Is stepping on the accelerator." The time has come when individually and corporately we must "Stop the Chariot" to face some issues, to solve some problems and to answer some questions.

At the evening service, the sermon theme carries the title: "Fid'ling on One String." This will be based on an experience of Paganini, the master violinist, and Paul, the Master's apostle. The strings on many of life's violins have snapped, but Christ can produce amazing music on one string.

Westmount Fireside Fellowship meets each Sunday evening following the service. Young men lead the service, and carry through the programme. The singing is inspiring and the large company of youth present enters into the fellowship with the utmost enthusiasm.

GREYHOUNDS LEADING SECTION IN BANTAM SIX MAN RUGBY

Red Wings Second in Standing—Rinkydinks Beat Latter Team 2-1 Last Week—McFadden of Greyhounds Has Total 35, Andy Blair, 25

Marvin Greenbaum's Greyhounds maintained their unbeaten record at the top of the bantam section of the Westmount Municipal Six Man Rugby League when they shut out Mike Tucker's Cardinals 11-0 in one of the three games played last week. In the other games Andy Blair's Red Wings split even, edging out the Dragons 5-0 but dropping 2-1 decision to Richard Lord's Rinkydinks. The Dragons and Cardinals were rained out on Saturday morning and it will be played this Saturday instead.

The Greyhounds did not have everything their own way in the game with the Cardinals, the winners garnered a 6-0 lead in the first half when Don Wadsworth gathered in a forward pass from Cammie McFadden to go over for a try which Ross Jolly converted with a drop-kick and they had to be content with this lead until late in the second half, when Cammie McFadden galloped over the Cardinal line, as the result of a smart end-run.

The Red Wings and Dragons battled it out for the greater part of their game without either team managing to score, but the Red Wings finally managed to break into the scoring column when Andy Blair caught one of Ted Tilden's forward passes just over the Dragons' goal-line for the only points of the game. This win sent the Red Wings into second place in the section standing.

Richard Lord's Rinkydinks, winless up till that time, created a big upset by beating the Red Wings 2-1 last Thursday afternoon. The Red Wings managed to grab a one point lead early in the first half of the game when Ted Tilden kicked a rouse, but they could not hold their slim lead throughout the game and the Rinkydinks tallied a safety touch in the second half, when Allan Turner broke through the loser's line and nabbed one of their plays behind the goal-line.

Cammie McFadden of the Greyhounds, increased his lead in the bantam scoring list this week with five more points for a total of 35. Andy Blair of the Red Wings is next in line with 25, followed by Ross Jolly and Don Wadsworth of the Greyhounds, with 16 and 15 respectively.

The following games are scheduled for this week:

Thursday, 4.45 p.m., Rinkydinks vs. Cardinals.
Saturday, 10.00 a.m., Rinkydinks vs. Dragons; 11.30 a.m., Dragons vs. Cardinals (postponed game).
Tuesday, 4.00 p.m., Cardinals vs. Red Wings.
Wednesday, 4.00 p.m., Cardinals vs. Greyhounds.
Thursday, 4.45 p.m., Red Wings vs. Dragons.

The standing of the section including games played up till Monday, October 18th:

	W	L	T	Pts.
Greyhounds	4	0	0	35
Red Wings	3	2	0	25
Dragons	2	2	2	15
Cardinals	1	3	2	16
Rinkydinks	1	4	2	15

standing Junior Hockey Clubs.

Flt. Sgt. J. Swift, R.C.A.F., was in town the other day renewing old acquaintances. Jimmy was quarterback of the 1940 Senior football team.

Brother Brendan, coach of C.H.S. Juniors expressed his opinion that the brand of football in the Junior Interscholastic League this season is far below last year's standard. The coach has turned down Gerald Berry's request to attempt to come down to playing weight for the Bantams. Berry's weight could well be used on the line but it was a wise move to weaken the boy reducing him and risking injury to his health. This is just another example of the school's strict policy of putting into force the winning of any game always comes secondary to the welfare of the boy.

The football Annual Social will take place on Friday, November 12th, in the Oak Room of Victoria Hall.

The graduation exercises will take place on Sunday evening at 8 p.m. in the Church of the Ascension of Our Lord. A number of the school's former athletes will be honored at this impressive ceremony.

Dave Manning is playing great football for the Bantams and looks like a real prospect. Frank Creaighen puts a lot of spirit in the Senior B practise with his continual chatter, but we hope he will soon begin showing the same interest in his school work. Work has started in securing names for an honor roll of St. Leo's former athletes on active service and nothing will be left undone to make this worthy of the sacrifices these boys are making.

A few of the boys would do well to hustle a little more in their studies as a few boys already have fallen under the axe of the Brother Director for showing indifference to their class duties. Jack Shannon, Lorne Cullinan and Milton Orr are in charge of the arrangements for the Football Social.

Use of Simple Words
"Then there is the use of language beyond the child's capacity to understand. When you shout emergency instructions to your child after he has enmeshed himself in the lamp cord or got into difficulties while swimming, his lack of response may, of course, be due to fear or excitement, as indicated earlier in this address, but it may also be due to lack of understanding of the words you use. Many people do not realize the limitations of a young child's vocabulary and put down to disobedience what is in reality due to lack of understanding."

"Lastly—Calling attention to adolescent clumsiness.
"The awkwardness of the adolescent due to lack of complete control over his rapidly-growing body and arms is known to all, yet many add to his embarrassment by ridicule of his clumsiness. No efficient work can be expected from an adolescent whose life is made miserable by the persecution of ridicule from parent, teacher, or any other adult with whom he has to come

Col. F. A. Gascoigne Quotes 'Buckshee' Latest Letters

Lt. Colonel F. A. Gascoigne, 492 Lansdowne, reports that among many other cards from troops overseas, a number have been received from men taking part in the Sicilian campaign. Among these is Pte. A. Beauvillien of the 14th Canadian Tank Regiment, who wrote:

"Your kind donation of cigarettes were greatly appreciated by all as there is a dire scarcity of cigarettes out here."
C.Q.M.S. Sullivan, of the 4th Battalion, also wrote:

"Many thanks for the cigarettes received somewhere in Sicily. Your kindness will not be forgotten."
Cpl. W. E. Crowe-Sworos, of the S.H. of C. said:

"It has been a real pleasure to receive the free issue of cigarettes from your fund, as Canadian cigarettes are more refreshing than any other. Things are going along fine here in Sicily and hope in future actions we Canadians can keep up the good work that has been started. Have seen sights that shall never be forgotten and also ones which cut the heart deep. Cheerio and may future cigarettes be the same."

The Buckshee Fund has just sent the first allotment of 5,000,000 cigarettes to be held in reserve for troops taking part in the invasion and subscriptions will be gratefully received for this purpose.

T. Harling's Death Regretted Locally

Famous Shipping Man Was Former Resident Here

Two Westmount residents, F. Norman Harling of 379 Roslyn Avenue, and Mrs. W. C. Nicholson, 4685 Westmount Avenue, have just suffered bereavement in the death of their father, Thos. Harling who died at the age of 55 in Toronto at the home of his eldest daughter, Mrs. O. R. Marin after a short illness.

Mr. Harling, who was one of Montreal's early shipping agents, had been in retirement for 10 years, after being associated with the North Atlantic shipping trade practically all his life, and had resided in Toronto for the past five years.

Born in Liverpool, Eng., July 5, 1859, son of Mark and Agnes Harling, he first entered the shipping trade in 1873 when he entered the service of Wm. Hunter and Co. at Liverpool and in 1895 came to Montreal as manager of Elder Dempster and Co. He organized Thos. Harling and Son in 1903.

For the duration of the Great War he represented British, French and Canadian governments in connection with transportation of war stores, was prominently identified with the development of the Port of Churchill, was a life governor of the Western Division of the General Hospital.

He married in 1884 Grace Parry, daughter of the late Henry Parry.

Besides his wife he is survived by another son and another daughter in addition to those mentioned, W. H. Harling of Montreal and Mrs. E. J. Grand of Toronto.

There are fifteen grandchildren, three of whom are in the armed forces, two of them overseas.

School Teacher Describes Escapade Of Youth To Hi-Y

Parker L. Wearing Talks of Hitch-hiking Experiences and Reads Treatise on "Women"

Parker L. Wearing, French teacher at Westmount High, held more than 150 members of the school's boys' and girls' Hi-Y clubs enthralled for more than half an hour last Friday evening when he spoke to them on his hitch-hiking experiences. The joint meeting was held at the Westmount Y.M.C.A.

Mr. Wearing told of starting his hitch-hiking career at the "ripe" age of four, when he boarded a train without his parents' knowledge and managed to travel to the next station before he was gently but firmly removed.

He did not resume his hitch-hiking until he was a few years older and was attending a boarding school on the Richelieu river. On a certain half-holiday, Mr. Wearing and a few accomplices decided that they would break a school rule. Accordingly, they left the school grounds, and walked to St. John's. The time passed quickly. The rule-breaking boys decided they'd better return to the school. They started off at a brisk walk but soon realized they would not be back in school in time for roll-call if they merely walked. They tried to thumb a ride. A car stopped to pick the boys up. An old gentleman beckoned them to the back seat. The old gentleman was the principal!

"I still know page 79 of West's 'World Progress' by heart," declared Mr. Wearing, who had spent most of the week following his escapade copying that portion of the historian's work.

Mr. Wearing related further hilarious instances of his career and branched off to some hazing stories of McMaster University, where he graduated with a B.A.

The popular French teacher, who is faculty adviser to the boys' Hi-Y club, the school annual, and coach of Westmount's basketball teams, is at present writing a book on his hitch-hiking experiences.

Before launching into his hitch-hiking experiences, Mr. Wearing read his original and laugh-provoking treatise on "The Origin of Woman."

Hal Leavitt introduced the speaker and Harvie Walford thanked him. Paul Grimaldi led the devotional period which preceded the speech.

clearly to all sections of the gathering. It must be remembered however that in case of inclement weather the units will meet in St. Willibrord's two halls and then proceed to the church where the same ceremonies will take place.

DEJEAN SCORES WELL IN GAME BETWEEN ORIOLES AND EAGLES

Orioles and Red Wings Best Winners in Midget Games of City Six Man Rugby Last Week—Dave Barnard, George McLanders and Bob Woodburn Scorers for Latter Team

Fred Dejean's Orioles and George McLanders' Red Wings were decisive winners in the two games played in the midget section of the Westmount Municipal Six Man Rugby League last week, the Orioles climbed into a tie for the leadership of the group with the Royals by swamping the Eagles 46-0, while the Red Wings went into a tie with the Eagles for the runner-up spot, when they shut out the Sharks 17-0. Two other midget games were postponed on Saturday morning and they will be played at a later date.

The Orioles had it all their own way with the Eagles and the only thing in doubt was the number of points they were going to score. Fred Dejean starred for the winners, scoring terrific gains every time he handled the ball. In all Dejean tallied twenty-six points for his team via five major scores and a convert, others to score were Malcolm Turner and Brendan Neeson with ten points each. Turner accounted for his with two touches while Neeson went over for one try and kicked five converts for the other five points.

The Red Wings ran up a 12-0 score in the first half of their game with the Sharks when Dave Barnard and George McLanders scored tries. Barnard achieved his major score when he broke away on an end run and dashed thirty yards or so to the goal line while McLanders accounted for his by gathering in a forward pass by Harold Young. McLanders converted his touch with a forward pass and Bob Woodburn added the twelfth point with a decisive kick. The Red Wings concluded the scoring in the second half when Bob Woodburn broke away for a forty yard run to go over for a touchdown.

Fred Dejean of the Orioles is now leading the scoring brigade with 36 points followed by Charlie Cook of the Hurricanes with 25 and Roy Howard of the Royals with 20.

The following games are scheduled for this week:

Thursday, Oct. 21 — 4.00 p.m. Hurricanes vs. Royals.
Saturday, Oct. 23 — 10.45 a.m. Sharks vs. Orioles (brought on from 11.30).

ST. LEO'S SPORTS

By BILLY HAROLD

The Senior football race is beginning to shape up and barring upsets it looks as if our own gang will come through in the Inter-scholastic League while Montreal West's formidable squad, unbeaten to date in the Protestant Union, will be our adversaries.

Arrangements are already under discussion as to the probable date and place for this City Championship game and there is a good chance it will take place on Saturday, October 30th at Loyola Campus.

According to the experts who have seen both teams play, St. Leo's will enter this game as the underdogs, as Montreal West is rated a really powerful team packing plenty of weight and class.

ODDS AND ENDS

Athletic coaches of our local High Schools are finding it increasingly difficult to secure the necessary equipment to carry out their program of physical fitness through competitive sports, and may well be prompted by the expression made famous by Prime Minister Winston Churchill, "Give us the tools and we will finish the job." It seems there should be some priority given to the schools, as there is no doubt school sports have done their share by contributing untold numbers of physically fit and comparatively young men to the armed services, and this seems like a poor time to curtail this source of supply through lack of equipment.

The Dixie football team from the Lakeshore are expected to meet our Senior B entry in an exhibition game on Saturday.

Johnnie Chenier, former academy junior hockey star, has left for Oshawa and will be seen this winter in the colors of Oshawa Generals, one of Canada's out-

HOME-MADE TREATS IN OVERSEAS BOXES

Christmas parcels for overseas must be mailed before November 1, warn post office officials. So it happens this year that, before the last leaves fall, Christmas preparations must be made in time.

No box from home is complete without a cake or a batch of cookies but these must be chosen and packed with care if they are to arrive at their journey's end whole and palatable as when they were first made. Bar and drop cookies are the best travellers and a tin box with the cover sealed by a strip of adhesive or gummed paper, the best container. Old-fashioned toffee or hard candies rate high with the boys. Please should be individually wrapped in wax paper and they fill in the spaces between drop cookies or odd corners in the box in a manner highly satisfactory to the recipient.

Keeping quantities and packability are ensured when you use the following recipes for this year's overseas boxes. The recipe for Overseas Fruit Bars was given last year and proved so popular with the boys that we are publishing it again.

The filling of Christmas boxes probably means some scripping on the family ration of butter and sugar, but who doesn't scrip cheerfully to send a reminder of home to those so far away?

- Overseas Fruit Bars
- 1 cup seedless raisins
 - 1/4 cup each—chopped, candied orange, lemon and citron peel
 - 1/4 cup chopped nuts (optional)
 - 1/4 cup orange juice or syrup from canned fruit
 - 1 teaspoon vanilla
 - 1/4 cup butter or 1/4 cup each butter and mild flavoured fat
 - 1 cup sugar
 - 1 egg
 - 2 1/2 cups sifted all-purpose flour
 - 1 teaspoon cinnamon
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - 1/4 teaspoon baking powder
 - 1/4 teaspoon baking soda

Rinse raisins in hot water and dry. Combine raisins, peel, nuts, orange juice and vanilla. Cream fat and sugar, add the beaten egg and beat well. Mix and sift the dry ingredients and add, combining thoroughly. Add the fruit mixture and stir until well distributed. Turn onto a lightly floured board and pat out 1/4 inch thick. Cut into strips 1 1/2 inches wide and 12 inches long. Place on a greased baking sheet and score in individual pieces without cutting. Bake in a hot oven, 400 deg. F., 18 to 20 minutes. For overseas packing, leave bars whole and wrap each in wax paper.

- Spice Sticks
- 1/2 cup molasses
 - 1/4 cup sugar
 - 3 tablespoons mild-flavoured fat
 - 1 tablespoon milk
 - 1/2 teaspoon baking soda
 - 1/2 teaspoon salt
 - 1/2 teaspoon cinnamon
 - 1/2 teaspoon cloves
 - 1/2 teaspoon nutmeg
 - 2 cups sifted all-purpose flour

Heat molasses to boiling point, add sugar, fat and milk. Mix and sift dry ingredients and add, blending thoroughly. Chill, roll thin and cut in fingers to fit packing box. Bake in a moderate oven, 350 deg. F., 12 to 15 minutes. Makes 4 dozen large sticks.

- Fruit-Filled Bars
- 1/3 cup butter or mild flavoured fat
 - 1/4 cup sugar
 - 1 egg
 - 1/4 teaspoon vanilla
 - 2 1/4 cups sifted all-purpose flour
 - 3/4 teaspoon baking powder
 - 1/4 teaspoon salt
 - Cream fat and sugar, add well-beaten egg, then vanilla. Sift dry ingredients and add. Chill. Roll dough 1/4 inch thick, cut in strips 1 1/2 inches wide and the length of the box in which they will be packed. Put strips together in pairs with fruit filling between. Moistened edges and press together. Mark in individual pieces without cutting. Bake in a slow oven, 325 deg. F., 35 minutes. Makes 12 six-inch bars.

- Fruit Filling
- 1 1/4 cups chopped raisins
 - 2 tablespoons sieved apple sauce or
 - 1 tablespoon fruit syrup or orange juice
- Mix and use as directed above. Mince-meat may be used or a mixture of chopped raisins and finely chopped peel or a thick jam.

HOME EDUCATION. LEARNING BY ROTE

JANET RICHARDS

It is customary, with many people, to teach very little children such jingles or rhymes as older persons take pleasure in hearing them recite. Many times amusement is aroused by the comical mispronunciation of words, or the glib manner in which the whole is rattled off.

It is true that little people learn quite easily, especially if what is taught has a rhythmic swing or rhyming sounds, but it is wise to use up the child's nervous energy in memorizing that which is meaningless and of no value whatever to him? If not, then let us consider what harm may be done through this practice of memorizing meaningless material—that is, meaningless to the child.

First of all, it is obvious, when we think about it, that too much drill in the way of memorization is sure to cause mental strain. A highly sensitive child will be likely to show this strain in restless sleep, nightmares, and perhaps daytime fears it cannot explain. This state of mind is due to mental excitement or over-cultivation of the imagination.

Second, memorizing that which is not understood and means nothing, encourages loose thinking, carelessness in the use of words, and superficiality.

Third, the little one who is asked to stand up and recite the jingles, learned for the amusement of others, is receiving encouragement in seeking attention.

Fourth, a child's waking hours are limited. Why should precious time and opportunity be wasted? Surely we can do better for our little ones than to teach them to say by rote a meaningless jumble of words and sounds.

This does not mean that we should not tell our children suitable short stories, sing to them, play little games with them—even help them to dramatize in their own simple way, the little plays and stories they enjoy so much.

The child will learn a good deal by rote without any effort. There is no harm in that. But when it comes to formal lessons or the definite, forced training of small children, it is a different matter entirely. Any selections to be taught to the young child should be closely linked with that child's own experience. Otherwise it is a mere memorization of rote sounds bound to confuse the child and clutter his mind unnecessarily. Every rhyme or jingle which

Literary Society Hears Dr. Norwood

Speaking before the Dominion Douglas Literary Society in Douglas Hall, recently, Dr. F. W. Norwood told his audience that Shakespeare's portrayal of character has never been matched for its scope and sincerity. Taking as his theme "Shakespeare as a Reservoir of Human Feeling," Dr. Norwood described the Elizabethan conditions in the theatre when the great dramatist wrote his plays and went on to point out Shakespeare's uncanny insight into human nature and his ability to put his thoughts into language admired the world over.

CALLING ALL HOUSEWIVES!

by Evelyn Gowan Murphy

I am not of the sex that shoulders arms and rides away to war. I am not employed in essential industry. I don't work in a munitions factory, making bullets to feed the guns, nor on a farm helping to produce the foods needed to stoke the human machine.

I am not included in any of these classes that, to date, have been called upon to give their utmost in holding our freedom and our Empire from destruction.

So What?

Well, I am listed in the largest category of all. I'm a housewife, —albeit a spinster.

Did you know that seventy-five per cent of the purchasing power of our Dominion rests in the control of her women? I qualify as one of these home-makers through whose hands pass 75 cents out of every dollar of purchases made in this country. That is a pretty tremendous thought!

We, the women of Canada hold the purse-strings that make these vast expenditures, and it brings us smack up against an even bigger responsibility. Are we investing a right proportion of the colossal aggregate we spend for shelter, food, clothing, insurance, household equipment — not to mention hats and cosmetics — in the purchase of Victory Bonds?

Only in this way shall we be doing our share in providing the tools for victory.

Here is where "Ladies First" comes into its own! We are nominated to show the world we can do it. Don't ever smugly pat yourself on the back when you have made three or four of these safe investments with good interest returns, backed by the whole of Canada. It is the soundest kind of good judgment to purchase and to "hang on" to these bonds.

We are no "Women's Auxiliary." The women of Canada from the age of nineteen years upwards to ninety years comprise approximately one-quarter of our population, and only a smallest proportion of us are ever intimately acquainted with the wolf on the door-step.

In no other place on earth do women live in such blessed freedom.

dom, safety and plenty as in the Land of the Maple.

And now, — as the Chairman would say, — "Let us resolve ourselves into a ways and means committee."

To many of us it will be a question of the regular saving of small amounts which keep the steady stream of savings flowing into the war equipment coffers.

In the day-by-day household marketing there is ample scope for saving.

And when you have purchased your Victory Bonds, don't let anyone persuade you to sell them before maturity. Stand pat! Don't undo all your good work. That is as unpatriotic and idiotic as knitting socks for soldiers and then unravelling them out again. You're just back where you started, only you have let your country down by being an "Indian Giver."

Invest in Victory Bonds for a tangible "something" in the future, and STICK TO IT!

CHRISTMAS IN OCTOBER

It's Christmas in October for this small family, because Dad's in the Army overseas. Mother and Junior know they must follow regulations and mail their gifts sometime between Oct. 1 and Nov. 1 — the sooner the better. Presents include cigarettes, flashlight, dried fruit, playing cards, pocketsize books, a photograph of the family, and many other useful items — all packed into a shoe box.

Re-Make Clinics Busy, Three New Ones Open

The Re-make Clinics operating in the Westmount Y.M.C.A. and in the Red Cross Centre in Snowdon, on Decarie Blvd., under the direction of the War-time Prices and Trades Board, have been so successful that applications for instruction at these and the other clinics have doubled. Confronted with the necessity for saving coal, with consequent lower temperatures in home and schools, women from all walks of life are patriotically planning how to dress themselves and their families more warmly this winter and yet at the same time save money and scarce new materials by remodelling old suits, underwear and indeed any worn but warm material whether or not it started out in life as clothing apparel.

Among the skilled needlewomen who are giving instruction voluntarily at the Westmount Clinic are Mrs. L. MacDougall, Mrs. C. Mallon, Mrs. P. J. Melvin, Mrs. de la MacDonald and Miss P. Maybury; and it should be noted by those interested that the Westmount Re-make Clinic has been moved from the old quarters on Mt. Pleasant to larger quarters in the Westmount Y.M.C.A. on Sherbrooke Street.

At the Decarie Blvd. Re-make Clinic, the volunteer women instructors include Mrs. C. G. Abhey, Mrs. J. K. Wyman, Mrs. W. H. Collum, Mrs. P. S. Dow, Mrs. J. P. MacRae, Mrs. E. Haddow, Mrs. M. Pascal, Mrs. P. Andrieux, Mrs. N. J. Dupuis, Mrs. A. Vidi, Miss H. E. Garrick and Mrs. A. Waldie.

Professional Men Designers Help

Among others who have given their time to instruction are the members of the Designers Guild of Women's Apparel, Louis Lazarus is the president and the group consists of professional men designers who assist the women in cutting and remodelling heavy garments such as coats and suits. These designers are the only men in Canada who have offered their assistance in this particular capacity.

Three New Clinics

To cope with the flood of applications for instruction, three new Re-make Clinics will be opened some time this month in districts which previously have not been served. This week an opening class was held in the Central Y.M.C.A. and it is intended that both day and evening classes will be available to the public at this centre.

Interest in re-making in Verdun has made it necessary to open a clinic in the Y.M.C.A. in Verdun. This will begin to operate by the end of October with afternoon and evening classes. The other new clinic which will be opened about the end of the month will be located in Iverley Community Center on Coursol Street with afternoon and evening classes.

Voluntary Instructors Needed

At the present time, with so many applications for instruction being received, and with the new clinics to be staffed, there is a great need for more voluntary instructors. Miss Elizabeth Garriere appeals to all women who are experienced in sewing to give a few hours a week to assist in the various clinics. A training center for voluntary instructors is operating on the third floor of the Post Office Building at 680 St. Catherine St. West.

A series of classes are held in this center to co-ordinate the work of the volunteers. Women who have had some experience in sewing and are willing to volunteer a part of their time may also register at this center as well as women who are in need of assistance in remodelling and re-making in the interest of national conservation of materials.

The instruction is entirely voluntary and space for the clinics and equipment for the workrooms have all been granted on a voluntary basis. Likewise there is no charge for instruction.

Father Sullivan Gives Talk On Democracy To Xavier Apostolate Guild

"Democracy is the slow flowering of christian principles," stated the Reverend Louis E. Sullivan, S.J., professor of theology at the Immaculate Conception College, in speaking recently before the Xavier Apostolate Guild in Congress Hall.

Father Sullivan spoke on "Christian Foundations of Democracy." He pointed out that under a democratic form of government, the infinite value of the individual human soul is recognized and the rights and privileges of the individual are safeguarded. A democracy has its drawbacks.

It is cumbersome and slow, as it has to await the formation of public opinion and then act through the slow process of parliamentary procedure. At the same time, the speaker said, it guarantees to the individual the God-given right to live his own life, educate his children, and practice his religion without any interference from the State as long as he does not infringe on the rights of others. A democracy respects the thoughts, aspirations and feeling of the individual and operates to promote the common good.

The speaker said that in a democracy any human being, when he is in need, regardless of race or creed, has every claim on the sympathy and generosity of his neighbor. These principles had been laid down by Christ Himself and had been taught by parables as read in the Bible.

Father Sullivan concluded by saying that any form of government, to prove its worth, must place no restrictions on the Church and its teaching for he said "The Church is the charter of all our human liberties."

Father T. Walsh spoke briefly. Mrs. J. Coffey thanked the speaker. Mrs. J. J. Berry, soprano, sang, accompanied by Mrs. Stephen McGivern.

Mrs. J. A. Clement presided.

Are you Holding Out on them

-now Victory's in sight?

ARE you telling yourself: "The war's nearly over. I don't need to save any longer. I can afford to spend?"

That would be a fatal mistake. We're winning the war all right, and we need every ounce of effort, every dollar we can summon, to speed the Victory. That means more individual buyers of Victory Bonds.

Some 5,200,000 Canadians are earning money on the home front. But in the last Victory Loan campaign, only about half that number bought Bonds.

Our fighting men are putting everything they have into this war. They're not holding out on YOU. Are you holding out on THEM?

The Victory Bonds you buy NOW . . . outright, or on the instalment plan . . . will speed the Victory, and will enable you to share in its fruits when it comes.

Hollywood Gossip

AT WESTMOUNT THEATRE

The teen age movie fan comes into his own in M-G-M's filmization of Lillian Day's popular novel, "The Youngest Profession," with Virginia Weidler, Edward Arnold, Marta Linden and Agnes Moorehead.

Virginia is president of her fan club comprising a group of adolescents bound together by their devotion to the movies and who spend their time collecting autographs from visiting stars.

While Virginia and her chum, Jean Porter, are busy tracking down visiting stars, a meddling governess, portrayed by Agnes Moorehead, starts a vicious rumormongering about her father and his pretty secretary, played by Ann Ayars. While this story is completely unfounded, Ann is really engaged to Dick Simmons, Arnold's partner. Virginia is heartbroken and sets out to save her parents' marriage. Her method is unique. Acting in the true movie style she hires a professional strong man, Hercules, enacted by John Carroll, to court her mother, pretty Marta Linden, and make her father jealous. Carroll does a good job and the brawl which results from his attentions to Miss Linden leads into a hilarious climax.

A Handful of Stars
Surprises are in store for audiences when they see many of their favorite stars in the picture in guest appearances. Among them are Lana Turner, Greer Garson, Walter Pidgeon, Robert Taylor and William Powell.

The film opens Sunday at the Westmount United Theatre playing until Tuesday night.

NEWS OF THE THEATRE WORLD

Theatrical Attractions

At The Monkland

Judy Garland goes glamour girl, gets plenty of opposition in the person of exotic Marta Eggerth, and charms no less an austere personage than Van Heflin in M-G-M's "Presenting Lily Mars," her newest singing appearance, now playing at the Monkland United Theatre. It tells what happens when a young singer sets out to attain stardom. Judy is the young singer. She tries to "crash" her way to the attention of a famous producer, Heflin, manages to make his prima donna, Miss Eggerth, plenty jealous, and amid comical complications and a touching love story the embryo star achieves success, musically and romantically.

Catchy musical numbers highlight the action. "Tom, Tom, the Piper's Son" is another hit for Miss Garland, and Miss Eggerth scores in the exotic "Kulebiaka," and the old favorite, "Every Little Movement," is guaranteed to evoke nostalgia.

Richard Carlson is well cast as a harassed young playwright, Fay Bainter and Spring Byington are effective as mothers of the two principals. Also Miss Eggerth's portrayal is strikingly effective. Bob Crosby and his band add musical moments of joyful entertainment.

In Scotland's Loch Ness, 751 feet deep though only a mile and three-quarters wide, the famous Monster has once more appeared, twelve yards of it and three humps being visible. The blooming critter evidently believes in keeping itself before the public so that it can once more act as a tourist attraction for its beloved Invernesshire when the war is over.

At York Theatre

A new movie star won the approval and applause of audiences yesterday at the York United Theatre, where Universal's comedy musical, "Mister Big," had its initial local showing. The star is young Donald O'Connor, singing, dancing, versatile juvenile who has attracted widespread attention with his amazing talents and likeable personality.

The new film is made to order for young Mr. O'Connor. He performs in a dozen different characterizations, each one a good show in itself.

Gloria Jean and Peggy Ryan hold top spots in the cast and with O'Connor, form an extraordinary screen trio. The three present eight special tunes written by Buddy Pepper and Inez James. "Mister Big," the story of a five-crazy gang of kids determined to sing and dance, but handicapped by a classical School of the Theatre, is one of the breeziest items of movie diversion to come from Hollywood in many seasons. Other prominent players in the fine cast are Robert Paige, Elyse Knox, Samuel S. Hinds and Bobby Scheerer. Singing highlight of the picture is Gloria Jean's fascinating rendition of "Moonlight and Roses."

AN ERSATZ MUSSOLINI? From the Peterborough Examiner German science, so ingenious in discovering substitutes, appears to have produced an ersatz Mussolini.

Margaret Speaks' Career Brilliant

The musical background of Miss Margaret Speaks, lyric soprano, who will appear here as soloist with the Montreal Masonic Choir in Stanley Presbyterian Church on Wednesday next, is an exceptionally brilliant one. Miss Speaks began her musical career at the age of three as a soloist in an Ohio Sunday School. She studied in New York, sang in musical comedy and opera, and has made concert performances with many symphonies including the Philadelphia, Cleveland, San Francisco, Portland and Toronto orchestras. Her appearances have drawn capacity audiences. She has also, for the past nine years, been featured as radio soprano on the "Voice of Firestone" program and her rating in yearly national polls is Most Popular Woman Singer in the classical field.

Australians are resenting Mrs. Roosevelt's reported remark that Americans are winning Australian girls because the Australian men are too reserved. The fact is that if Australian men were quartered in the States, one of the States in which many of them would become located would be the State of Matrimony.

FARMERS AND FARM WORKERS

If Your Farm Work has Slackened for the Winter, You Are Needed Elsewhere in Essential Employment

Lack of fuel wood will be serious to our population. A shortage of saw-logs and other necessary forest products would threaten our war effort. Therefore, any man on the farm not needed at home during the Fall and Winter, should offer his services at once for work in the woods until the farm again requires him.

Farmers engaged in essential work during the off season will be allowed to return home when needed. Also, those on postponement under Mobilization Regulations will continue on postponement while in approved essential work during the slack on the farm. Please answer this vital call NOW.

"I want him home"

"WHEN I read the war news my heart keeps saying: 'Hurry! Hurry!' They can't finish it up fast enough for me.

"Some of our boys have been over there nearly four years, I know, and Jim has been gone only eighteen months. But I want him home—soon, soon!

"I just can't sit still and wait. So I've got myself a war job. And when I'm not working, I'm planning, and that keeps my mind busy all the time.

"When the war loans come along I buy all I can, and every month I figure out how much we have cached away between us, and I write to Jim and tell him how much it is, and how we'll start out all over again after the war.

"I tell him about the little house we'll have—the shiny kitchen—the living room with a great big cosy chair — and the garden — I want hollyhocks all along the back fence — oh, I dream up the whole thing —

"I live on as little as I can, now, to help hurry things up, and so we'll have more money than we ever thought of having when he comes home. The way I feel these days I believe I could sell a lot of Victory Bonds. All I would say would be, 'I've got a husband overseas, and I want him home . . . soon.' Surely people would understand that."
